Farm Strike Declared Only Solution Outside Revolution

Reno Foresees Long Fight To Obtain Rights

Farmers Of Nation Are Urged To A Supreme Effort To Get Rights Without Trouble By Holding Products

President Roosevelt Plans To Offer Crop Loans As Strike Is Called; Deadline Is Set For Noon Today

(By The Associated Press)

MILO RENO, president of the National Farmers Holiday association, last night asserted the farm strike he called to start at noon today was "perhaps the only solution outside of revolution" for low farm prices.

Milo Reno

In a statement at Des Moines, Ia. headquarters of his association the holiday proponent said it might be "a long drawn-out battle" and urged farmers of the country to "a supreme effort to obtain their rights without trouble."

Public Is Aroused

He professed to see a better chance for success of the strike this time "than ever before" asserting "the public conscience is aroused." He said he will urge the association groups in more than 20 states to use persuasion rather than force in the fight for "the farmer's rights."

As the strike call was spread by holiday leaders, President Roosevelt and his cabinet discussed plans to offer crop loans to farmers in Washington. After the cabinet meeting it was announced the president would give his views in a speech Sunday night.

The strike program was described by its leaders as a climax to a current protest against low prices of farm products which already caused Gov. William Langer of North Dakota to order an embargo on wheat shipments.

Retail Code Is Given President

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP) — President Roosevelt was reported reliably today to have stricken out of the master code for retailers the provision that would have declared sales below invoice cost plus ten per cent an unfair trade practice.

Informed sources said this was decided upon definitely at the White House conference Wednesday, which was attended by cabinet officers and recovery officials.

However, to the extent to which the administration would attempt to protect independent stores by banning unfair competition through price slashing still was an official secret as President Roosevelt departed for a week-end trip. Shortly before he left, Donald R. Richberg, the NRA counsel, took to the White House the new edition of the code, but no announcement was made as to how the cost plus provision had been amended to meet the objections from consumers' representatives and the farm administration.

Markets Rally; Plan To Expand Trade Is Formed

Prices Jump Higher As Recognition Of Russia Rumored

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.— Financial markets rallied today under influence of moves expected to expand trade with Russia and the growing belief that agitation in agricultural areas might prompt more aggressive measures to raise prices of farm staples.

The share and wheat markets swung sharply higher for a time, and closed well above yesterday's final levels, although much of the day's extreme advance was lost in the late trading.

Speculators Uneasy

Speculators remained uneasy as the French franc again weakened against both the dollar and the British pound, and were quick to sell at the higher levels. While some market analysists expressed the opinion that an abandonment of the gold standard by France might in the long run prove a bullish influence on our markets, Wall Street was inclined to feel that the immediate response to such an eventuality, which French officials insisted would not be permitted, would be unsettling.

Wheat at Chicago surged up the full 5 cents a bushel permitted in a single trading session, then fell back to close 2 to 4 above yesterday's final prices. In shares, many issues registered extreme gains of $2 to $5, and at the finish were up $1 to more than $3. There was notable demand for issues calculated to benefit by increased trade with Russia, such as shares of farm implement and machinery manufacturers.

Gains Are Modest

Gains in commodities other than wheat were modest. Corn closed about a cent higher, cotton up 25 to

Assurance Of Texas Relief Being Offered

Hopkins And Roosevelt Wire Marvin Jones At Amarillo; Action Comes After Jones Appeals To President

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Oct. 20.—Assurance that sufficient funds necessary to furnish employment for certified needy cases on emergency road projects in the Texas drouth and hurricane areas was given Congressman Marvin Jones, of Amarillo, today in a telegram from Harry L Hopkins, director of the national relief administration.

The advice came after the congressman had appealed to President Roosevelt in the controversy over a special appropriation of $8,900,000 for drouth and flood relief road work and which was halted Wednesday when Director Hopkins refused to agree to the relief administration's portion of the appropriation.

Matter Is Discussed

The public works administration had authorized expenditure of $2,670,000 on the relief projects with the agreement that the relief administration would furnish the rest of the total.

President Roosevelt today wired the Amarillo congressman that he had "discussed the matter with Secretary Ickes and Harry L. Hopkins."

"There is some misunderstanding about the situation, but these two men will get together and as soon as a conclusion has been reached, you will be advised," the president wired.

Relief In Three Areas

The emergency construction program is for relief projects in 19 drouth-stricken Panhandle counties, the Midland drouth area, and the Rio Grande valley hurricane zone.

The Panhandle is slated to receive approximately $5,000,000 of the special appropriation.

Director Hopkins said in his telegram that "it is impossible at this time to state precisely how much money will be spent. Adequate funds are available to meet the need. It must be clearly understood that this is a relief proposition and the total expenditure depends upon relief needs. The public works administration has made adequate provisions for materials, truck hire, and supervision and federal and state funds are available to make sure that every needy person who is employable can get work on the roads."

FAKENHAM, Norfolk, Eng., Oct. 20. (AP)—A young bull, frightened by the traffic, today rushed into a small shop where Queen Mary was inspecting goods.

The animal was within a few feet of her majesty when a clerk dashed to the rescue and drove it outside.

The princess royal and the ladies-in-waiting were with the queen, who was much amused at the incident and continued her shopping.

Clothes Drive To Open Today

Blast Of Whistles Today Will Signal Start; Residents Of Lubbock Are Being Urged To Offer Cooperation

The blast of whistles at industrial plants at 9 o'clock this morning will be signal of a drive to assure all needy Lubbock residents that they will have sufficient clothing this winter.

Pleasant Indian summer weather delays the realization that a blue norther may be just around the corner, Joe Wilson, executive secretary of City-County Welfare association, reminded last night in calling atention to a third annual old clothes drive.

Frost Close At Hand

November 2, normal date of the first killing frost is only two weeks away.

When the whistles blow, Boy Scouts will begin calling for old clothing which Lubbock residents have been asked to place on front porches. The boys will be carried over the city in cars, for which Jack Douglas arranged.

Mayor J. J. Clements, chairman of the drive, said all plants had agreed to sound their whistles as the campaign opens.

Cooperation Urged

Mr. Wilson, in urging co-operation in the drive, declared that "if we do not get ready now for the cold weather, children whose parents are unable to provide sufficient clothing for them will suffer not only lack of protection without clothing but also loss of opportunity by having to stay out of school."

UVALDE, Oct. 20. — For 30 years John Garner's townspeople and the constituents of his old congressional district have been wanting him to make a speech.

He always has been prejudiced against making them but he was re-elected every time he asked to go to Washington. He became speaker of the national house of representatives and then was elevated to the vice-presidency.

Makes A Speech

He made a speech here today when he brought into town Big Jim Farley, postmaster general of the United States, and there was a great crowd of folks at the airport when they and other members of their party stepped from their airplanes after a flight from San Antonio.

Garner climbed to the platform and made his first address to his own people. Farley spoke to them and Will Rogers, the comedian who will be one of the star performers at a specially-arranged rodeo for the Farley party at R. W. Morrison's ranch a little farther down toward the Texas-Mexican border, kept them laughing for a time.

Great Receptions

The Garner-Farley party had great receptions in the airplane hops from Dallas to this home town of the vice-president. At San Antonio the military arms of the Government greeted the leaders with demonstrations. At Randolph Field, the army's aviation training school, the group spent ten minutes.

Fort Sam Houston's second division turned out to salute the dignitaries and then they went to Foch Field, hopping off later from Kelly Field.

Subsistence Homesteads In This State Are Being Asked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP) — Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief director, today began a campaign to obtain government funds for establishment of a number of subsistence homestead projects in that state.

After preliminary conferences, he arranged a meeting for Monday with D. M. L. Wilson, director of the program. The first step, Westbrook said, would be to seek approval of proposed sites.

Thirty-seven applications for establishment of such projects have come from Texas, Westbrook said, adding that he had reason to believe that at least three would be approved.

Heavy Revenue Reported In Federal Tax On Beer

Treasury Is Richer By $74,944,483 In First Half Year

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—In the first six months of legalized beer, taxes on the 3.2 beverage enriched the treasury by $74,944,483.

This was disclosed today by the publication of treasury figures bringing internal revenue collections up to October 1. In addition to the tax on beer, the government realized in the six month period $105,121 from 3.2 wine and $6,164,967 from special taxes on brewers and distributors.

Collections Increase

The statistics also revealed total internal revenue collections of $613,258,977 for the first quarter of the current fiscal year, an increase of $255,150,912 over the corresponding period of a year ago.

For the month of September, internal revenue receipts aggregated $318,985,678, a total $102,504,391 greater than in September, 1932, and $155,828,076 more than was realized in August, 1933.

Of the latter increase, $120,251,528 was accounted for by a jump in income tax collections, due to the regular quarterly payments in September.

Some Taxes Fall

If receipts from beer taxes continue at the present rate for the next six months, the first year of the legalized brew will show collections from this source of about $150,000,000.

Admissions taxes increased from ~~$943,384 to $1,283,383~~, a jump of $339,999.

These increases, however, were offset by declines in several categories, noticeably cigarettes, which dropped from $33,569,728 to $28,585,235; capital stock transfers, $7,614,782 to $2,173,221; gasoline $22,420,634 to $18,528,448; and tires and tubes $4,007,866 o $2,126,585.

Two Killed In Floydada Fire

Young Child And Aunt Claimed By Death; Mother Is Burned So Seriously She Is Unable To Give Details

(By The Associated Press)

FLOYDADA, Oct. 20. — Flaming gasoline in the kitchen of a farm home 25 miles southeast of Floydada Thursday cost the lives of two persons and the serious burning of a third.

Martha Genel Mercer, 2, died in a hospital early today and her aunt, Mrs. N. N. Roe, died later while the child's mother, Mrs. Selma Mercer, 21, was burned so seriously about the face and arms that she was unable to talk and tell how the fire started.

Flames Extinguished

Cotton pickers in fields adjacent to the house extinguished the flames. Three other children of the Mercer and Roe families were playing in the yard and were unhurt.

The tragedy occurred when Mrs. Roe poured gasoline into a new stove the Mercer family had bought yesterday morning. The women, who were preparing the evening meal, did

Roosevelt Opens The Way To Better Understanding After Inviting A Delegate To Call

America's Action Marks First Time Since The Overthrow Of Czarist Regime That Two Great Governments Have Been In Direct Communication; Litvinoff Chosen As Emissary

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Roosevelt suddenly opened the way today for relations between the 16-year-old communistic government of Soviet Russia and the United States.

In a matter-of-fact letter to Mikhail Kalinin, president of the Soviet republic, Mr. Roosevelt ten days ago invited him to send a representative here "to explore with me personally all questions of standing between our countries."

On Wednesday, Kalinin cabled acceptance of the invitation and designated M. Litvinoff, commissar of foreign affairs, to come to Washington to talk with Mr. Roosevelt. A date for the conference remains to be set.

Today in his office packed with newspapermen, the president read his letter and the reply.

At the same time in far away Moscow the exchange was made public. It was the first time since the overthrow of the czarist regime in 1917 that the governments of these two great nations had been in direct communication.

Meaning Emphasized

Flicking the ashes of a cigarette as he concluded reading the two letters, Mr. Roosevelt smiled and emphasized that the letters simply meant what they said.

"Participation in such a discussion would, of course," said the president in his letter to Kalinin, "not commit either nation to any future course of action, but would indicate a sincere desire to reach a satisfactory solution of the problems involved. It is my hope that such conversations might result in good to the people of both countries."

Death Claims Victim Here

Sleeping Sickness Is Blamed For Death Of Warren Morris Of Sudan; Another Case In City Reported Cured

Encephalitis, or so-called sleeping sickness, claimed the life of a 23-year-old Sudan resident, Warren J. Morris, in a sanitarium here yesterday afternoon. Morris had been ill about three weeks and in a coma several days.

The case was the second treated at the sanitarium this month. Clinton Phillips, 12 of Dimmitt was dismissed about 10 days ago, apparently recovered. He remained here for treatment two weeks, the first five days of which he was unconscious. His illness was more typical of encephalitis, which claimed many lives in the St. Louis area last summer than that of Mr. Morris. There was no doubt of the diagnosis of the latter case, however, it was said.

Unable To Talk

When Mr. Morris was received here early this week he was conscious but unable to talk, a physician said. After the patient lost consciousness, only nourishment he received was glucose and saline injected intravenously. Death came at about 1 o'clock.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Sudan First Methodist church by Rev. Mr. Thomas, pastor. Mr. Morris was a member of the Methodist church. Sanders Funeral home will direct burial in a Sudan cemetery.

Survivors were the parents, Mr and Mrs. W. L. Morris of Sudan; two brothers, Homer Morris of Sudan and Shelby Morris of Dickens, and five sisters, Mrs. J. M. Mayo of Dickens, Mrs. Floyd Bradley of Dickens, Mrs. Velma Howard of Sudan and Misses Alma and Syble Morris of Sudan.

MOSCOW, Oct. 20 — Russia announced tonight its acceptance of President Roosevelt's proposal to negotiate for the American recognition of the Soviet union, believing that such action will serve the cause of world peace.

Morgan Returns From Europe With Praise For England's Condition; He Refuses To Talk Of Recovery Drive Here

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. — J. P. Morgan, back from Europe, says he doesn't know what the new banking laws mean.

He arrived on the Berengaria today and granted an interview on shipboard, something he never has done before.

"When I went away three months ago," he related, "I said I didn't know what the new laws meant and what we would have to find out first and then do whatever we are supposed to do."

The comment was given in reply to a question as to whether he felt private bankers would have to concentrate on investment banking rather than commercial banking as a result of the new law.

"It is the business of banks to obey the law, but I don't know yet what that means."

Another banker had stated, he was told, that the new law was "impossible" and would have to be rewritten.

"If it makes banking impossible," Morgan said, "then it is hardly worth while to have banking, is it?"

He was in a high, good humor as he listened to a series of questions that he wouldn't answer. Sometimes he waved his hand and said, "I can't answer that because I don't know what has been going on in America."

Sometime he just chuckled.

But about England, he could talk.

"England is getting on very well. Improvement certainly is well set in there. The heavy industries are showing improvement and the whole feeling there is that things are better and improving."

The observations, he said, were based on facts gathered by the house of Morgan in England.

As to Germany's defection from the League of Nations and disarmament conference—"universal statesmanship is not my business."

Japan Adds Her Voice To Many Others Raised Against Jew Treatment; Indignant Over Inferior Branding

TOKYO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Japan has added her voice to those raised in protest against racial discrimination.

The government and the people of Japan, said a foreign office spokesman in discussing the protest, are "highly indigant at Germany's branding us inferior."

Germany's attention has been called, he added, to "the fact that speeches of Nazi leaders and legislation by the German government have specified discriminatory treatment of the Jews, negroes and other colored races—banning mixtures thereof with the Germanic race."

Even in the United States, the spokesman went on, Japanese are not subjected to the same treatment as negroes; yet Germany has linked them in the same category.

The spokesman said the vice minister of the German foreign office had promised careful consideration of the Japanese protest.

Attempt To Extort $5 From Man Brings Suspended Term

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Using the mails in an attempt to extort $5 from Roy M. Andrews, superintendent of schools of Del Rio, caused Kennis Malloys, 22, who said he needed money to eat while en route to his home in Tampa, Fla., to draw a two year suspended sentence in federal court here today.

The letter was alleged to have been mailed in Eagle Pass, January 23, 1933, and was addressed to Andrews in care of "high school, Del Rio." The copy included in the indictment stated the writer was certain the superintendent was a good fellow and expressed regret at "having to do this."

Soothsayers Claim Cards Show Fate But Condemned Men Seek Diversion

McALESTER, Okla., Oct. 20. (AP)—Some soothsayers claim that cards show the fate of men but prisoners condemned to die and knowing their fate, often turn to the playing deck for diversion.

Like dozens of condemned men who have walked "the last mile" at state's prison here, Ted Patton, who killed his boyhood chum, found a card partner in an adjoining cell in "death row" during his last days on earth. The partner was Earl Quinn, accused of killing two school teacher sisters.

Patton and Robert Wall, negro attacker, were electrocuted shortly after midnight. Only a few hours previously, Patton and Quinn had joked about their score at cards. The former told Quinn "to bring the cards along when you go."

Warden Sam Brown explained that condemned men like to "have something to keep their minds off their fate" before they are executed, but he disapproved of Governor Rolph of California granting the request of a condemned man for "plenty of good liquor."

Brown said some prisoners work out intricate problems for diversion before they go to the chair. Only a few mull over their fate, he said.

Why Broadcast Body Odor?

New Way Ends It Instantly Leaves No Medicine-Smell

Famous chemists have discovered the effective answer for body odor—deep-pore cleansing. A new kind of bathing in hard water, made possible by Kirk's Coco Castile soap.

Ordinary soaps, with their thick, sluggish lathers, are being rapidly replaced by this 100% pure vegetable oil soap, made by America's largest soap makers. In this hard water Kirk's Coco Castile breaks instantly into a searching lather that cleans deep into the pores, actually removes stale perspiration beyond reach of ordinary soaps, then rinses out in a flash. Thus body odor is ended in the only effective way—by removing the cause.

Kirk's Coco Castile is delightful to use and stimulating to the skin. Free from offensive M. S. (medicine smell), it ends body odor the odorless way. A big bargain, 50 per cent larger than ordinary toilet soaps, it is sold everywhere at the lowest price in history. Be sure to ask for Kirk's Castile by name—at your grocer's.

Insull Confident Of Beating Case

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 20. (AP) — Samuel Insull today expressed confidence that he would be successful in resisting the second attempt of the United States to extradite him to face charges in Chicago in connection with the collapse of his utilities interests.

The hearing will begin tomorrow. "My London and Chicago lawyers have not been lazy all this time," said Mr. Insull in the nursing home where he is staying. He was smartly dressed in a dark suit and wore a blue necktie with white polka dots as he sat in an arm chair.

Mr. Insull said he would be glad to get the case over since he had been detained a long time. He finds time hanging heavy on his hands, his only occupation being the writing of private correspondence, reading and occasional interviews.

He expressed his anxiety to know the Greek public opinion in reference to his case.

Prospects Of North Atlantic Route By Air Next Year Are Fast Fading

LONDON, Oct. 20. (AP)—Prospects of a North Atlantic air line via Greenland next year faded today as British aviation experts discussed the results of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's Arctic survey as disclosed to them by the American airman.

From their conversations with the pilot, now on a visit here with his wife, the experts have reached the conclusion that Lindbergh's summer survey led to his forming the opinion that summer service offers no difficulties which could not be overcome.

The idea of winter service, however, is considered out of the question for the present and there would need be a test of winter flying before a definite conclusion on this point could be reached.

However, the Telegraph's commentator reported today, Lindbergh "is manifestly in no way perturbed in respect to Arctic storms or fogs or provision of suitable landing places."

The Times' commentator said "a winter flight along the route may be expected to follow Lindbergh's summer survey and no one can forecast its result.

"The flight which has just ended is a step in the right direction, although establishment of regular service by any route may have to await a number of other experiments."

Drinks Liquor And Walks To Gallows Friday

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Oct. 20. (AP)—Offered all the whisky he could stand in his walk to the gallows, Dallas Eagan, 40, steadily and alone climbed the 13 steps on the scaffold here today and was put to death for the murder of William J. Kirkpatrick of Battle Creek, Mich., in a Los Angeles holdup last July.

Prison authorities said Eagan took only one small drink of Kentucky bourbon a half hour before he was executed and asked for no more. The order to give him all he wanted was made a few days ago by Governor James Rolph, jr., after Eagan had refused to seek clemency and had proclaimed his willingness to die by the noose, which he referred to as "the best way out."

Eagan refused spiritual guidance after first talking with a Presbyterian minister and then with the Rev. William J. Meade Catholic priest.

Farm Strike Starts Today

from St. Paul to Omaha to obtain support of business men for the movement and then to Des Moines to look over the Iowa situation, Gov. Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska extended his sympathy to the purposes of the strike, and Gov. A. G. Schemedeman of Wisconsin pledged his administration to assist "in a forceful but dignified demand which will immediately put agriculture in Wisconsin on the road to restoration to its former high position."

The Omaha business men with whom Reno conferred acceded to his request with the pledge: "it is the sense of this meeting that we favor guaranteeing the farmer cost of production."

Order Shipments Stopped

To fortify his embargo order, its effectiveness still unproved, Gov. Langer ordered North Dakota sheriffs to stop shipments of wheat from the state by refusing to permit elevators to load grain. The aim of the national guard was promised in enforcement of the decree. Railroads persisted in their stand that they would not observe the order, contending that federal laws governing interstate commerce demanded that they accept shipments of grain when offered.

The administration at Washington was manifestly concerned over the restlessness in the middle west and the situation was discussed at length in the cabinet meeting. The White House afterwards gave out word that there would be no change in the government's policy seeking to bolster prices of farm commodities.

Announcement Expected

Secretary Wallace of agriculture said that "we may have something to announce shortly."

Specifically, the cabinet talked of making available federal loans to farmers which would enable them to hold their crops during the period of sagging prices.

Hugh Johnson, recovery administrator, in a statement on the Nebraska farm situation to which attention was called by the resignation of Keith Neville, president of the state recovery board, said: "The recent events in the middle west are more or less natural."

He added that when the full program of the recovery plan was in operation he was "quite sure that the forebodings expressed in the recent enunciations will prove unfounded."

Pace Not Attained

Neville and Gov. Bryan both complained that farm recovery had not attained the pace reached under the NRA for industry, and in his statement of sympathy with the farm strike move.

R. L. Rickerd, Oklahoma state president of the holiday association, ordered his followers to begin a farm strike today. President Tom Horsford of the Montana branch asserted that upwards of 15,000 of the state's 40,000 farmers would obey the strike edict.

Walter M. Singler, president of the Wisconsin cooperative milk pool, called a meeting Wednesday of Wisconsin and upper Michigan farm leaders to decide on joining the general strike. Members of his own pool, he said, will strike — "everywhere they are straining on the leash."

Noon Is Deadline

The Wisconsin Farm Holiday association itself will start a strike today under orders from Arnold Gilberts, president, who set noon as the deadline. "Gov. Scheman warned "there must be no violence."

Gov. Tom Berry of South Dakota agreed with Gov. Bryan of Nebraska that speedy relief for midwestern farmers is essential, but said he felt that "we should follow the leader" in the crisis and advised support of President Roosevelt.

Plan Accepted

point of view is well known to the United States.

See No Obstacle

"We do not see any insoluble obstacle to a normal relationship and no contradictions between the two countries.

"We hope therefore that President Roosevelt's message is the first step toward fruitful cooperation between the two countries which will be useful in the cause of peace and which might even be able to change the international scene."

It was understood here that President Roosevelt will personally conduct the negotiations with Litvinoff in Washington.

Today's announcement occasioned universal satisfaction in the U. S. S. R. because from the resumption of official relations Soviet Russia hopes for a threefold result:

Threefold Result

Greatly increased credit facilities, the lifting of American barriers against some of its goods, and a strengthening of its position in the far east with a respect to its relations with Japan.

Russia has virtually made the first two the conditions for any serious revival of Soviet-American trade, which has been declined since 1931.

Moscow needs long-term credits for any purchases it may make in the United States because its exports are not sufficent to pay for the goods it wishes to buy abroad.

Insist On Equality

At the same time, it insists on equality with other countries in access to the American market, which it claims it does not now enjoy because of what it alleges to be discriminatory restrictions placed on goods produced by "forced labor."

Believing that the general economic crisis has placed a powerful bargaining weapon in its hands through the accumulation of surplus stocks in the United States, the Soviet government in effect has established the principle that America now must meet its terms if it wants to trade with Russia on any large scale.

These terms are sufficient credits with which to make the purchases it represents itself as ready to order in America and the removal of restrictions against its exports.

It is considered not unlikely that the Russians will seek credit facilities from the United States at least equal in term to those they now enjoy in such countries as Germany, England and Italy.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP)—The eagerly awaited rally finally appeared in stocks today. It was fostered by a good upturn in wheat, by reports that the government was planning action to allay agricultural unrest and by rumors that the matter of Russian recognition had attained more definite status.

Net gains of 1 to 4 points were a pleasant reversal of the market's dominant trend this week. Undoubtedly prices had slid to a level that offered appeal to traders willing to play for a turn on the long side; also it seemed reasonable to assume that a recently expanded short interest was willing to cover, for when grains rallied stocks followed after bobbing up and down erratically in the forenoon.

Reports on Russia heard during market hours apparently encouraged some speculative buying in shares of companies which might be expected to profit by broader trade relations with the soviets, such as the machinery manufacturers.

The rediscount rate cut here appeared to have little effect on stocks. Call money eased slightly in the unofficial quotations; the stock exchange held at 3-4 of one per cent.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20. (AP)—An advance of nearly $1.50 a bale in cotton today induced by bullish mill takings met realising in late trading and before the offerings were absorbed 17 to 20 points of the gain were lost. The market closed steady at net advances for the day of 5 to 10 points. Trading was moderately active.

The opening was about steady 1 to 2 points down. Liverpool was a shade better than due but sterling was slightly lower. Prices improved, however, in sympathy with stocks. December advanced to 9.25 and March to 9.44, or 12 to 13 points over the previous close.

After reacting 2 to 4 points around noon on a little realizing the market turned very firm and more active on a sharp upturn in wheat and a report from Washington indicating that the recognition of Russia was impending. December moved up to 9.38 and March to 9.57 or 26 to 29 points above the early lows and 26 to 27 points above the previous close. Prices eased off 17 to 20 points in the late trading on some reaction in wheat and on realizing. December closed at 9.18 up 7 points net for the day and March closed at 9.40 up 8 points net.

Port receipts 81,591, for week 377,133, for season 2,844,415, last season 2,421,261. Exports 35,777, for week 222,616, for season 1,946,324, last season 1,757,298. Port stock 3,867,903, last year 3,884,756. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 164,781, last year 112,475. Spot sales at southern markets 34,708, last year 70,996.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP)—Cotton advanced and retreated today. Early irregularity was followed by sharp advances on buying promoted by a firmer tone in the wheat and stock markets and expectations of a "stimulating" statement concerning Russian relations.

After selling up from 9.12@9.42 for December, however, the market met realising or southern selling and lost a good part of the advance with December closing at 9.22 the market ended steady at net gains of 5 to 8 points.

Active months sold 25 to 35 points above yesterday's closing quotations with May advancing to 9.78, but the demand tapered off somewhat at these figures, and there were reactions later under realizing, or a renewal of liquidation and somewhat increased hedging from the south.

Exports today 34,327 making 1,960,878 so far this season. Port receipts 75,397. U. S. port stocks 3,860,350.

Recognition

of war by other nations.

Mr. Roosevelt seemed to emphasize the following sentence as he read the reply of President Kalinin:

"'I shall take the liberty further to express the opinion that the abnormal situation, to which you correctly refer in your message, has an unfavorable effect not only on the interests of the two states concerned, but also on the general international situation, increasing the element of disquiet, complicating the process of consolidating world peace and encouraging forces tending to disturb that peace'."

Problem Is Studied

In writing to the Soviet president, Mr. Roosevelt explained that he had contemplated since the start of his administration "the desirability of an effort to end the present abnormal relations between the 125,000,000 people of the United States and the 160,000,000 people of Russia."

His letter followed intensive study of the Soviet problem.

The Republican administrations of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover opposed recognition of the communist government.

The American Federation of Labor and the American Legion recently have reiterated their opposition to recognition.

In recent weeks efforts have been under way in Washington to work out arrangements for credit through which the Russian government would buy large quantities of cotton and other farm products and machinery. Several months ago a credit was arranged by which several million dollars worth of cotton was sold to Russia.

Lubbock Cotton Men Interested In Plan

Lubbock cotton men last night were deeply interested in American overtures toward recognition of Soviet Russia. Several called the Morning Avalanche for information on the situation, after they had heard rumors.

"The news should have a very bullish effect on the stock market and commodity prices, in sympathy, may be expected to rise sharply," one cotton broker forecast.

"I view the situation very optimistically," he continued. "Recognition of Russia should open some new cotton markets, too."

The broker said he was "taking a chance" and buying cotton last night.

The spot market for middling seven-eighths staple closed here at about 8.60 cents. The best market to the farmer this fall has been about 9.50 cents for this grade.

Some gins in rural sections, however, have paid as much as 10.50 during what was called a "ginning fight." The loss in these instances was more than a cent a pound, if the cotton was re-sold at the same time. The fight became so intense that for a time some cotton was ginned free and only charge was $1, a customary fee, for bagging and ties.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 20. (AP) — Demand was reported improved, especially for coarse grains, here today. Receipts included: wheat 3 cars and corn 9 cars. Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to point of delivery.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Extensive wheat purchasing for United States government account, and reports that intended broad measures to alleviate farming communities' apprehension, helped rush grain prices upward today.

In a sudden late wave of buying, wheat, corn, oats and rye all bounded up to the utmost limit allowed during any one day; wheat and rye up 5 cents a bushel, corn 4 cents, and oats 3 cents, but big profit-taking sales led to violent reactions from the top. Trade advices out of Washington said the administration was working on plans to distribute approximately $70,000,000 to wheat farmers participating in production control, and that loans to be extended on wheat would be similar to those on cotton.

Simultaneous with price jumps were intimations of radically unfavorable crop developments in Argentina, big export business in Canada and of steps toward diplomatic recognition of Russia by the United States.

Wheat closed flurries, 2 to 4 1-8 cents above yesterday's finish, corn 7-8 to 1 1-2 up, oats 1 1-2 to 2 1-4 advanced, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

not understand how to operate the stove and thought the fire had gone out. As Mrs. Roe poured the gasoline, flames ignited it and spread the liquid over her clothing and that of the child standing nearby.

Woman Is Burned

Everett Huckabay, a cotton picker, threw a coat around Mrs. Roe, extinguishing the flames. Mrs. Mercer was burned when she put out the flames on her baby.

The victims were brought to Smith and Smith sanitarium here for treatment immediately.

The child and its aunt will be buried in the Lakeview community near here.

Clothes Drive

There is a big demand for children's clothing, especially school age, 6 to 15 years, Mr. Wilson said. The association will distribute the contributed apparel.

"We need boys' suits, shoes, stockings and underwear, and girls dresses, underwear, stockings and shoes," he said.

"Several families have told us that when cold weather comes they will not be able to send the children to school because they do not have the proper clothing for winter."

Mr. Wilson urged those contributing to mark their bundles or packages, "For Old Clothes Drive." Last year, he said, several reports of laundry being taken in place of clothing, were heard.

Others Being Treated Here

Five Persons Are Brought To City For Treatment After Accidents; Two Reported In Grave Conditions

While two persons injured in accidents since Wednesday remained in a critical condition, five other persons were treated in hospitals after mishaps Friday. Gas poisoning and an accident at an oil well strike caused the most recent injuries.

Unconscious since the automobile in which she was riding was in collision with a truck near Wolfforth Thursday afternoon, 22-year-old Mrs. C. R. Martin of Pauls Valley, Okla., was believed to be near death at Lubbock sanitarium last night. She had a severe skull fracture.

May Save Life

Blood which his mother gave may save the life of Jim Williams, about 16, of Lovington, N. M., whose ruptured spleen and two quarts of blood were removed in an operation at the sanitarium Friday. Mrs. R. C. Williams, the mother, gave 600 c. c. of blood for the transfusion. Williams, victim of a car smash, is expected to recover.

Brought here in a Spartan C-3 airplane, Oscar Giles, 39, was treated at the sanitarium for a compound comminuted fracture of both bones of his left leg. He was hurt when a piece of steel was thrown against his leg when an oil well blew in near Jal, N. M., Art Chase was pilot of the plane. Mrs. Giles accompanied her husband here.

Of four persons treated at West Texas hospital yesterday morning for carbon monoxide gas poisoning, only one, W. C. Harp, Amarillo, remained in the hospital last night. He is to be dismissed this morning. Another man, a woman, and a boy about 10 years old, all of Amarillo, were the other patients. The gas seeped into their automobile, in which they were en route to Pyote, Texas. Two of the persons were said to have become unconscious in the 800-H block of Avenue H.

Although several persons offered to give blood to young Williams, only that of his mother corresponded to the type necessary for the transfusion.

Garner Speaks

tary calls was a luncheon given by the Democrats of San Antonio at which Garner and Farley spoke. The group planned to spend the night at Morrison's Anacacho ranch and complete the whirlwind swing over Texas at Houston tomorrow.

Knows Who To Appoint

Rogers told Garner's hometown citizens that "as good a man as is Franklin Roosevelt, he did not carry his home voting box for the presidency while Garner did get nearly all of the votes counted here for the vice-presidency."

"But," he added in his inimitable drawl, "the difference is Garner knows who to appoint to count the votes."

Farley told the crowd that the trip just about to be completed was one of the most enjoyable he ever had.

"We have been staying up late at night and getting up for 6 o'clock breakfasts," he said. "They tell me that when we get to the Morrison ranch, there will be a rodeo, something to eat and that those of us who do not want to stay up and celebrate can go to bed. I mean to ask to be shown my resting place soon after I get there."

Silliman Evans, fourth assistant postmaster general, addressing his remarks to the vice-president's wife who stood out in the crowd, said:

"Mrs. Garner, I want to tell you that the vice president has busted his 9 o'clock to bed rule and that he has not been taking his daily siesta.

"And, he has not had any pecans to eat."

About The Farm 'Strike'

THE "national farm strike", called at St. Paul late Thursday by the National Farm Holiday association, may cause some difficulty and disorder but cannot be seriously considered as a country-wide menace.

The National Farm Holiday association is not national in either scope, strength or popularity and its appeal is frankly radical.

Where Milo Reno, the Holiday's chieftain, and his advisors make their most serious mistake is in acting too brashly and too quickly. Trying with might and main to aid the farmer, along with his city brother, the Roosevelt administration is never-the-less no miracle machine and cannot be expected to accomplish wonders in a few weeks.

In his forthcoming brush with the Holiday group, the president will go into the fray with one insurmountable advantage, namely, the support and confidence of the nation as a whole. And as General Johnson recently said, "Public opinion is the essential power in this country. In the end, it will break down and destroy every subversive influence."

Everyone sympathizes with the farmer in his plight. And others share it. The salaried man, making no more today than he made six months ago, realizes as well as his agricultural brother that increased commodity prices make a bigger dent in his little income than was the case before NRA set in. And many an employer, with higher payrolls, more employes and little more business, likewise finds himself in a fearful position.

But the salaried man and the employer realize that unless NRA works to a reasonable degree of success he's likely to be worse off than he is. And, believe it or not, the farmer could be worse off than he is, too, in spite of the fact that his present position is unworthy compared to his contribution to the nation's welfare.

This is no time for rioting or hot-headed semi-revolt.

Instead, it is time for patience, for co-operation—on the part of everyone, laborer, employer, salaried man and farmer, combined.

Few of us are contented with our present plights.

Yet we should give Mr. Roosevelt a fair chance to do the job he is trying to do and to complete the recovery program he has launched with promise.

The farmers deserve relief, yes.

So does the employe of the business concern—and the owners of many business concerns who likewise are "in the soup."

Most people, we think, agree with that idea and will be patient enough to give the National Recovery administration a fair trial.

And that is the reason Mr. Reno's "strike" is doomed to do nothing more important than hold up recovery operations for a spell.

ENVIRONMENT AND CUPID

In times of old when knights and maids were not so bold the romantic notion prevailed that in all the world there is only one girl for each eligible bachelor and that he must find, woo and win her, and will pine away if he does not; and conversely, that if the lady discovers her soul-mate and is prevented from haltering and altaring him she will either go swiftly to the grave or else endure a long life of spinsterhood.

That was a romantic idea, indeed, but it doesn't hold water today. Believe it or not in the theory of environment, particularly the theory that it has anything to do with love and marriage, but the fact is that environment, not romantic visions, determines one's partner through life or part of it.

The residence record of 5,000 marriages in Philadelphia tells the prosaic story. In 12.64 per cent of the cases the principals lived at the same address; in 4.54 per cent, in the same block; in 6.08 per cent, one or two blocks apart; and in a majority of cases or nearly 52 per cent, they lived within 20 blocks of each other.

That leaves about 25 per cent for the Lotharios and Sir Launfals who, failing to find the one and only at home, set forth to spy and win her wherever she may be in this broad world. How many of that number go in search of fortune and come back. Hymenized one can only conjecture, but many will ruefully confess that a new environment did it.

There is a lot of silly, impossible stuff on the screen but that overworked plot about two persons of opposite sex cast upon a desert island discovering that they are soul-mates isn't as unreal as it seems. Love is like that.

Woman Communist in Philadelphia had herself chained to a post so the cops couldn't hustle her away. Of course, her mouth was free.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

CONFIDENTIAL reports from the Far East lead many observers to believe Japan is not far removed from a war waltz with the Russian Bear.

Tokyo had three objectives two years ago when the little brown men invaded China and Manchuria. Two have been attained.

Washington hears that many more Japanese passes at the third will mean a run-in with the Soviets.

Manchuria and Jehol have been annexed for all practical purposes. The Russian Maritime province alone remains. Japan points to its position on the map and asserts it is "a dagger pointing at her heart."

Hurried war preparations are on throughout Nippon. Armaments are being increased. Munitions manufacture is swelling. A war budget is being created. Talk of a "Japanese crisis" is general with many predicting it will burst into fiery bloom by the first of the year.

The Japs say they fear an aerial attack at any time from Vladivostok and want to wipe out the danger.

Heat between Japan and Russia over purchase of the Chinese Eastern railroad rises daily. This road is the life artery of the Maritime province. Once cut, both Russia and the province would be laid out cold as it joins the Trans-Siberian at Chita.

American observers are speculating on the probability of Japanese seizure of the junction town. It would not be much of a military operation. A little above would give the Japs control of the valuable coastal fisheries—also a source of friction.

Look out for a "Chita incident," Washington is warned.

WHITE ELEPHANT: In these times of depression it is refreshing to run across a case where a mortgage keeps the wolfe away from the old homestead door.

That is exactly the situation with the national organization of the Republican party.

If the national committee of the G.O.P. didn't have a deficit to pay off those now in control would be tossed out into the cold, cruel world.

Insurgent Republicans (many of whom supported Mr. Roosevelt in the last election) assembled recently to discuss plans for taking the party over.

They accused National Chairman Everett Sanders and his assistant, John Cal O'Laughlin, of window-dressing for Herbert Hoover, Andrew Mellon, Ogden Mills, Pat Hurley et al. In another huddle were Jim Watson, of Indiana, and his cohorts with the same idea. They aren't insurgents but they don't like the Hoover set-up.

Both factions remembered the deficit in time. If they took the committee over they'd have to pay it off. They suggested indirectly it would be a nous idea if Chairman Sanders raised the money from Mellon and Mills, et cetera, because the Hoover forces had spent it all.

But from this point of vantage it appears Sanders and O'Laughlin are going to keep the mortgage well frozen until after the next convention if they possibly can.

WINES: Americans soon will drink their French wines out of ingeniously sheltered bottles. The first sample shipments arriving here disclose that each bottle is protected by elaborate wire nets, double seals and whatnot. The French are afraid that with all the high import duties and taxes old Mr. Bootlegger may specialize in the bottling racket.

After the neat imitations which have been palmed off on the American public during the lifetime of the "noble experiment" can mere safeguards deter our enterprising boys?

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

NEW YORKERS back from Washington are pulling a Jeremiah to their colleagues about the prospects for amending the Securities act.

They did their best to sow the seed in the right places about the damage done to the capital market and recovery. They got the ears of administration circles but Congressional ears were something else. There the dope was that the act might be amended all right, but not in the hoped-for direction.

They got no sympathy from the Federal Trade commission either. The commission insisted they were seeing ghosts and ridiculed the idea of unjust persecution. Commissioners pointed out that American directors of English corporations have not felt it necessary to resign because of the English Companies act. This was a sad blow because they expected to convert the commission.

EXPANSION: The best inside estimates indicate that the next few months will see the fruition of administration plans to promote purchasing power. The best obtainable figure on deposits to be released in closed banks is three and one-half billion dollars.

At the same time the government itself will be spending money at the rate of about $400,000,000 a month. The prediction is made with authority that $1,000,000,000 will have been put out on the public works program within six months.

REPAYMENT: The repayment of $610,000,000 in RFC loans by banks and trust companies apnears good business on the surface. But local experts say this has actually retarded recovery and criticize the RFC for being so keen on repayment. They claim the adjustment has only been possible by the liquidation of investments with a depressing effect on market prices, or by calling and refusing to extend loans at the very time the government urged the banks to bigger and better lending.

SALARIES: What have the salaries of Hollywood movie stars to do with the hardboiled executives of eastern industrial corporations? You'd be surprised.

The president's intimation that perhaps some of the film favorites are overpaid has stirred tremors among top-flight companies. They want to know why the government has to horn in on such personal matters.

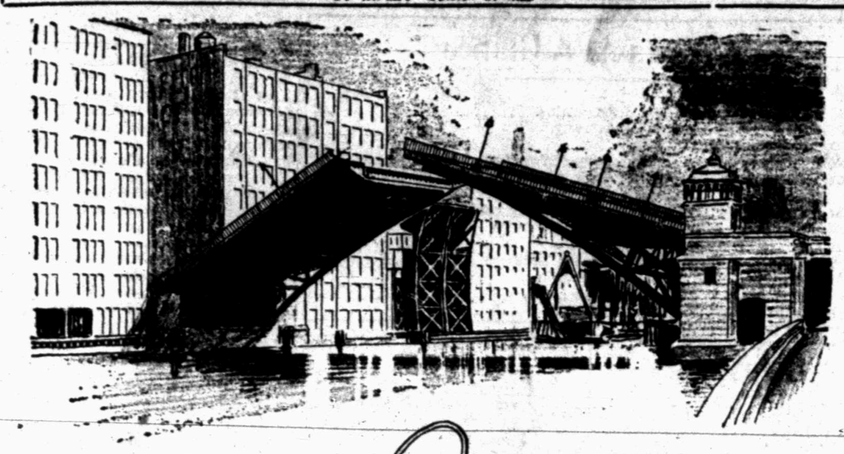

If the government does get around to investigating corporate salaries it will find some paradoxes. There appears no connection between merit and pay. Officers of companies in the red for three years are drawing more than officers of successful concerns in the same industries.

THE ALPHABET INVENTED BY AN ILLITERATE

Sequoyah, whose English name was George Guess, was a half breed Cherokee Indian born in 1770. Chancing one day upon an English spelling book, he hit upon the idea of creating a Cherokee alphabet. For this purpose he used the characters of the English spelling book, the sounds of which he did not know. Some of the letters he transposed; others he turned upside down. He devised a few of his own imagination. Thus he completed the invention of an alphabet of his own, consisting of 85 characters, each of which expressed a syllabic sound of the Cherokee language. The alphabet, which was immediately accepted for printing and writing, has been termed the most perfect alphabet ever devised for any language. Sequoyah died in 1843 and was honored by having the giant sequoia trees named after him.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOB WESTON, son of a millionaire, has fallen in love with JOAN WARING, pretty Memphis girl. Bob had come to Memphis in connection with a textile plant under construction for his father's company.

BARBARA COURTNEY, a society girl, is scheming to win him away from Joan.

PAT, Joan's younger sister, is infatuated with JERRY FORRESTER, son of her employer. MRS. WARING, hopeful that her two daughters will marry well and escape the drudgery that has been her lot, bends every effort to give her daughters advantages.

Joan is invited to a house party through Barbara's efforts. Barbara realizes Joan will be ill at ease among so many strangers and will therefore appear at a disadvantage before Bob. Joan, offended by Bob's neglect, plays into Barbara's hands by driving to a barbecue supper with JIM WARFIELD. Barbara draws Joan into a bridge game after discovering that she is a novice and Joan, as Bob's partner, shows up badly among the experienced players.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

Joan was determined not to show her embarrassment, trying to think sensibly, conscious of her strained voice and stiff smile. Queer how anything so unimportant as a bridge game could seem so terribly important, as though it might affect the rest of one's life.

She wished she had refused to play. She would never have allowed herself to be drawn into a tennis game, knowing she was a poor player, or gone to a dance if she danced badly.

Barbara was playing an unusually good game. She seemed to make impossible contracts by some psychic bid or lucky play. Twice Bob praised her with a brief, "Good work, Barbara!"

The second rubber ended. Barbara suggested another rubber, since she and Fred were winners.

"I'm afraid we're not lucky today," Bob said. "How much do we owe you?"

"It's a 30 rubber. That's $1.50 each. We'll have to take you and Joan on again."

Joan was thinging passionately; "Never again with me!" She felt sick, bruised, as though she had taken a beating.

On the way upstairs to get her purse she passed the table where Jim was playing with Enid, Charlie and Carol.

How'd you come out?" Jim asked.

"We lost," said Joan.

"You'll always lose to Barbara," Jim said dryly. "She knows her game."

Yes, Joan admitted to herself. She would always lose to Barbara.

"Bridge is a fool pastime, but I'll teach you more about it if you'd care to learn," Jim said. "I'm cutting out of the game after this rubber. If you like I'll give you a lesson."

Joan accepted. She was grateful to him. She felt easy and natural with Jim.

"Jim's going to give Joan lessons," Barbara said.

"Jim knows lots of games," Fred agreed. "'Wine, women and song.' The line was written about that fellow."

"Better warn your friend, Bob," said Barbara. "She seems to be falling fo Jim's line."

Bob said nothing. He was thoroughly annoyed. He had been so proud to bring Joan here but something had certainly gone wrong. Joan didn't seem to be the same girl he had known in Memphis at all.

Upstairs they were dressing for dinner. Joan, looking through her meager wardrobe, inspected Pat's red chiffon, loaned for the house party. She had brought, also, the white dress she had worn the night she sang at the Junior League benefit. Joan finally decided on the white. It was simpler but smarter than the chiffon.

She slipped into the dress, dusted clear skin with powder and added more rouge than usual to her lips. In the mirror she saw Barbara watching her. Their eyes met and held.

"Why," Joan thought, with a flash of intuition. "She's afraid of me!"

Barbara was wearing a black frock with a cape of gold sequins. She was a picture of sophistication with her highly colored finger nails and smooth, perfectly waved hair. No detail of her toilet had been overlooked.

"We are like two fighters girding for battle," Joan thought. There was a touch of high comedy about it all. She studied her reflection for a momment, then unclasped the antique necklace that had been her grandmother's, lifted it from her slender throat and laid it aside.

"Oh, Barbara, that dress is gorgeous!" cried Sally from the doorway.

"Barbara's out for more scalps. As if the blond scalp she's flaunting shouldn't be enough for any girl," said Carol. "Shades of Helen of Troy, Cleopatra and the Queen of Sheba!"

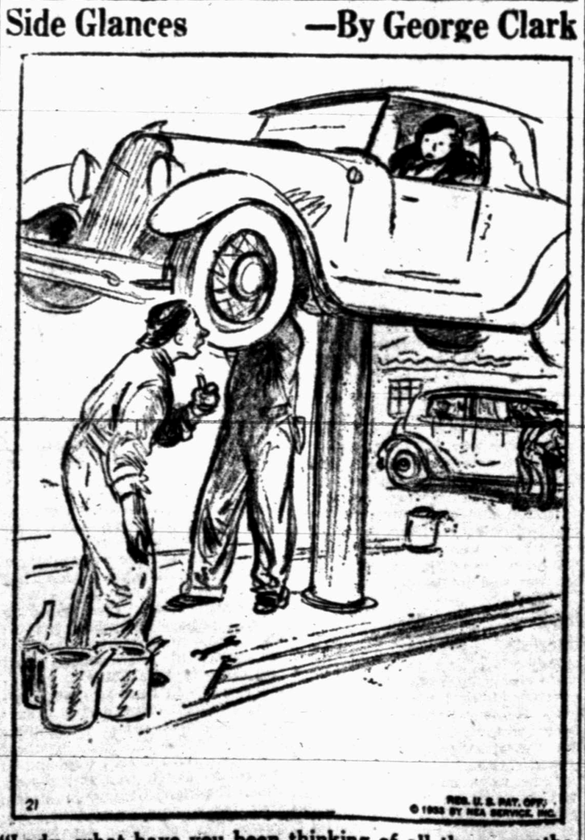

"The girl has glamour," said Sally.

"Joan, you're lovely," Carol said. "I like your pale look. It's mysterious and alluring."

Bob was in the hall when the four girls descended. The sight of Joan stirred him. There was something forlorn about her, despite the gallant set to her head and shoul-

AUSTIN, Oct. 20. (AP)—The "fighting forty-third," the sobriquet given the 43rd legislature at the regular session because of the unusual number of fistic and near fistic combats, lived up to its name in the closing hours of its first special session.

During the regular session, which extended through approximately five months and debated much legislation of a controversial nature, approximately six instances were recalled in which blows either were struck or would - be combatants held apart before doing any damage.

The early stages of the first special session went along smoothly despite the senate's long investigation of relief fund disbursements in which many touchy subjects arose.

The closing days, however, saw a change in the mood of the lawmakers. They became more belligerent and in many cases figuratively trampled on each other's toes.

Senator Joe Moore of Greenville almost had two fights on his hands the same day and within a few minutes of each other.

Rep. R. J Long of Wichita Falls and Rep. Fine G. Bedford of Galveston were involved in a flareup on the closing night. The incident occurred in the senate chamber. Long had criticized an item of $122,000 in the general claims bill to pay farmers of the coast country for losses sustained in the hoof and mouth disease quarantine. Bedford resented it. Only one blow, and it was not damaging was struck.

Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston was one of the two with whom Moore had his difficulty. Holbrook was credited with getting off one of the sharpest comments of the session.

Moore had been speaking in favor of a bill opposed by the Galveston senator. Moore's shock of long hair kept falling in his eyes as he gesticulated vigorously.

"Why don't you get a hair cut?" Holbrook asked him.

Matadors Turn Back Louisiana Poly, 40 To 10; Westerners Win, 19 To 7

Bulldogs Make Touchdown For An Early Lead

Texas Tech Goes Via Air For Scoring Party In Last Half As Bulldogs Weaken; Put Up Gallant Game At First

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

The Texas Tech Matadors put on a show for the folks—about 4,178 of 'em—last night, and routed the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs, 40 to 10.

But there's a long story behind the final score.

Although the count was 14 to 10 at the half-way mark, it was not until the fourth period that the crowd settled back and drew an easy breath.

Taken completely by surprise by a club they evidently expected to kick with little trouble, the Matadors and their fans suffered a severe shock early in the first period when Mr. Louis Garrett, slippery-hipped halfback, sneaked through a hole between tackle and guard big enough to build a house in, cut back toward the outside and, preceded by a trio of good blockers, tore through the secondary and was off for Louisiana.

After passing his interference, Garrett successfully warded off Tech's safety and rambled on down the field to cross the goal line untouched. It was a 64-yard run, having its origin on the Bulldog 36-yard line. Davis, who directed the Bulldogs' attack from the fullback position, booted goal for extra point.

Momentarily stupified, the crowd rallied and gave Garrett and the Bulldogs a big hand.

Matadors Perk Up

That seemed to inspire the Matador "shock troops," who had been putting up a rather pitiful exhibition hitherto. Butts and Scoggin ripped up a first down and a pass was incompleted. It was Tech's second incomplete pass, and that great aerial attack that the Matadors had promised seemed doomed.

The next pass, however, was not incomplete. Gwynn Dowell, who had fumbled at a critical moment early in the game, hoisted a long one to Adrian Clark, who raced to the Louisiana 9-yard stripe. The pass originated on Tech's 39-yard line. Dowell heaved through the line for 5 yards, again for three, then he lost one, but it was the same big fellow, transplanted from tackle to half, who charged over for the touch and Butts kicked goal for extra point.

That only tied the score. In the second period, with the "shockers" still in the game, the Bulldogs opened up an aerial attack that shaded Texas Tech's. As far as that goes, the Bulldogs were nearly always shading the Matadors where spirit and fighting were concerned. Louisiana's numerous passing efforts—the Bulldogs tossed 22 passes—later proved their downfall, but they never gave up.

He's Off Again

Garrett got away for another long dash after Curfman's 69-yard punt had cleared the goal line, and brought the ball from his own 20 to Tech's 45. The run was manufactured much like the first one, an off-tackle rush and cut-back. Davis tossed a pass to Johnson for 20 yards more, but the next was incomplete. Failing to gain, Davis fell back to the 30-yard line and attempted a place-kick. It fell short. A 15-yard penalty imposed on the Matadors for holding, after Sollis had dashed off 11 yards, but the ball back on Tech's 16-yard line. After a short gain McElroy was rushed for a 7-yard loss, in which he fumbled and lost the ball. Hitchcock threw Garrett for an 8-yard loss, but it was called back and Tech was penalized 5 yards. Davis took the ball on two plays to Tech's 5-yard line, but the Matadors held, and on the fourth down, Davis fell back to the 15-yard line and place-kicked a beautiful field goal.

Curfman Goes Over

The "regulars" in now, McKeever returned the kick-off to his own 8-yard line. McElroy flipped a pass 'way down the field to Curfman, who toted the oval to the Louisiana 7-yard line. It was a 56-yard gain. Curfman then waddled off around left end for a touchdown, and Gaines Davis kicked goal.

The hard-fighting Bulldogs were tiring then, Texas Tech's reserve power having done the designed trick.

As the second half opened, Coach Cawthon brought eleven men to the field, leaving the balance of the squad in the dressing room. The third period was half over before the squad came out.

A Tech pass was incomplete, and the Matadors kicked to mid-field. The Bulldogs failed to gain, and kicked back. McElroy ripped off 9 yards at the line, and his pass was knocked down. He then tossed nine to Curfman for a gain of 20 yards. Curfman ran with the ball for 14 more, then 6 more. A pass from the 8-yard line was incomplete, and the ball went over.

"Cut That Out"

Came another drive, including some fancy passing, and again the Matadors passed, incomplete, over the goal line. Cawthon sent in some new men, apparently to tell the team to quit doing that sort of thing and try running with the ball now and then.

They did, Dowell and Sollis clipping off 10 yards at a time on five consecutive times. With the ball on the 6-yard line, Curfman fumbled, and Johnson recovered for Louisiana Tech. Tech was losing ground at the other end of the field when the quarter ended.

Boomerang Passes

Then the fourth, and the routing of the Bulldogs. It was high time. Curfman picked up 22 yards, Dowell 20 more and Curfman 15 more. The ball was on Louisiana's 20. Executing a neat end-around play, Martin grabbed the ball and shunted off tacklers on a wide sweep to cross the pay-off line. The kick was no good.

Beauchamp, Sollis and Curfman carried the mail for another touchdown a few plays later, Beauchamp intercepting a Bulldog pass on Louisiana's 40. Curfman went over for the counter, and Gaines Davis converted.

Louisiana's punt, a little later, was killed in mid-field. Sollis tossed a southpaw slant at Martin, who took the ball to the 7-yard line. There was a 15-yard penalty and a fumble.

Trying desperately to score, the Bulldogs threw one pass after another. Sollis intercepted one in mid-field and ran it back to the 10-yard line, picked up 4 yards and Ted Wilson carried it over. Davis' kick was good. Martin intercepted a pass a few plays later and ran it back to the 5-yard line, from where Sollis went over.

Oklahoma Teachers Outfight West Texas To Win By 12-0

ADA, Okla., Oct. 20. (AP)—East Central Oklahoma Teachers won their first victory of the season today by outfighting the West Texas Teachers, 12 to 0.

The lighter Oklahomans set the Texans back on their heels after the first quarter, Vickers scoring the first touchdown in the second period as the Tigers launched a rapid-fire attack. In the third period, the Tigers swept the visitors inside their five-yard line but were unable to score.

Lawson returned a punt 17 yards to start the second touchdown drive in the final period, and then circled end for 19 yards. Vickers rammed the line for the second score.

Lubbock High Scores Early To Win Scrap

Lubbock High Off To Flying Start In District Race As Newton And Ryan Do Heavy Work In Backfield

(Special To The Avalanche)

BORGER, Oct. 20. — Working on half-time basis, the Lubbock Westerners went on a three-touchdown scoring parade in the first half of their district debut here tonight against Al Akers' Borger High Bulldogs, and then folded up like a cot in the last two quarters. The score was 19-7.

What looked like a scoring fiesta for the Westerners until the half, turned into a grim battle, hard fought in the sand swirls of Borger's athletic field with the Bulldogs shading Coach Chapman's men.

Lubbock's forward wall and speedy backfield functioned smoothly at first. A relentless drive up the field, featuring Ryan, Hale and Newton, was good for a counter when Newton crashed over from the five-yard line, and then converted.

Bulldog Drive Dies

Borger then started an offensive but it was stiffled by the neat work of Phillips, Young, Doherty and other forwards. White, of Borger kicked over the goal line and the ball was brought to the 20.

On the first play Ryan was smeared for a 5-yard loss. His Irish, apparently up, after this, Ryan proceeded to step around the Borger left end for 80 paces and Lubbock's second counter of the evening. Newton's kick went under the cross-bar.

A swarm of Westerner reserves took the field in the second quarter and kept up the swift pace.

Alderson, heavy heaving little quarter, tossed to a wingman, Starkey Whitehorne, for 42 yards to place the ball on Borger's 14-yard line. Borger was penalized 13 2-3 yards for unnecessary roughness, placing the ball on Borger's one-foot line. The Borger crowd, exceedingly blood-thirsty all evening, raised a howl at the referee.

Granbury Dives Over

Granbury took the ball on the succeeding play and dived over the center of the line for the tally. Aycock's attempt at conversion was wild.

The Westerners kicked off to Borger over the goal line, and a few plays later Borger punted to the forty, where Alderson was stopped in his tracks. Hanna, of Borger fumbled and Lubbock recovered. Weston, Borger quarterback, was removed from the game with a broken wrist.

Hanna butterfingered the ball and Lubbock recovered as the half ended.

As the third quarter began, Borger began to play the Westerners like a piccolo. After kickoff White intercepted Hale's pass and returned it from the 20 to the 29. Borger failed to gain and kicked to mid-field where Newton fumbled. Borger recovered the ball and Hanna quick-kicked to Lubbock's 28.

Borger Pass Scores

In the final quarter with the ball in Lubbock's possession on Borger's 28, Lubbock fumbled on a mix-up of plays and Borger recovered. Hanna's pass to Howard placed the ball on the Westerners' 12-yard line. Hanna then passed to Kendrix for 13 yards and Borger's touchdown. Kendrix was nearly out of the park when he caught the toss.

The closing minutes of the game found the Westerners steadily advancing the ball up the field with Newton doing most of the lugging.

Post Goes Down Before Big Lamesa Tornadoes, 56 To 0

POST, Oct. 20. (Special) — Coach F. T. McCollum's Lamesa High school Golden Tornadoes invaded Post today, holding Ox Emmons' Antelopes scoreless while piling up 56 points to win a Class B contest.

Post's offense was completely bottled up by the charging Tornadoes, who scored early and late in rapid-fire order. The Antelopes made only two first downs.

AMARILLO, Oct. 20. (AP) — Here's one for the football books —a touchdown, but no one knows who scored it.

Amarillo's Yannigans, in a game with the Pampa Gorillas at Pampa, scored a touchdown in the fourth period. One of the players described the play.

"Four of us rushed the Pampa passer back to his goal line. He threw the ball, and it was knocked straight into the air. We all tried to catch it, and in the jumble we crossed the goal line. The referee said we scored."

Picadors Bump Amarillo Team By 13-0 Count

Jim Neill Scores Touchdowns In Final Quarter To Give Tech Freshmen Victory Over Amarillo College Badgers

(Special To The Avalanche)

AMARILLO, Oct. 20—With the tide of battle apparently swayed by the high wind, Dell Morgan's thick-legged Texas Tech Picadors deadlocked with Amarillo college for three quarters, then went on a rampage in the nightcap quarter to blast the Badgers, 13-0.

Played before a small crowd filling in the gaps at Butler Field, the game was replete with fumbles, wildly thrown incompleted passes, and thrills.

Ten minutes before the gun in the fourth quarter, Wiggington, stellar Picador pivot man, intercepted a Badger pass in mid-field and brought it to Amarillo's 34 yard line. Winters, of the Freshmen then crashed Kimbrough's line for a first down, and a 20-yard pass to Duval placed the ball on Amarillo's three yard line.

Mill Goes Over

Jim Mill, Freshman offensive big shot, took the ball and crashed over for the first counter of the game. Tech failed to convert.

Sixty seconds later, Tech kicked off to Amarillo's 12, and Smith, Badger safety, was smeared in his tracks by a mob of Tech tacklers. On the next play Smith fumbled, and big Guthrie, of Texas Tech, recovered.

Neil whirled through the middle of the line for a first down on Amarillo's three yard line, and then fell over the goal line for a tocchdown. Duval's kick was good.

Howes Is Star

Smashing Bob Howes, former Sandie, Badger fullback, was the outstanding man on the field. Howes, in addition to gaining considerable yardage on line crashes, kicked beautifully all evening, and in the final quarter got off one boot for 77 yards. Lee and Foster, were impressive on the Badger forward wall.

For the freshman, in addition to Neil, Hale, Spear, Duval, and Guthrie played good games. First downs were Tech 10, Badgers 8.

Southwest Texas Teachers Plunge Pirates To Win 7-6

GEORGETOWN, Oct. 20. (AP) — The Southwest Texas Teachers college Bobcats from San Marcos ripped their way to a 7-6 victory tonight over the Southwestern university Pirates, with the Pirates not scoring until the last four seconds of play.

Both teams on occasion were able to gain long yardage but the opposition finally held, repeatedly, keeping scoring down. The outstanding ground-gainer of the contest was Porter, lanky Bobcat back, whose right line plunges through the opening left by the Bobcat right wing netted them their touchdown. The pointer was made in the second period, Carnes kicking the extra point.

Tarleton Plowboys Open Up Air Attack And Are Beaten

STEPHENVILLE, Oct. 20. (AP) — Abilene Christian College downed the John Tarleton Agricultural college Plowboy passes from the air and converting them into touchdowns.

Although making consistent gains through the line in the first quarter, the Plowboys opened up an air attack in the second period that spelled their defeat.

Large Day For Football Over Entire Nation

Michigan And Ohio State In Big Ten Feature; Army Goes To Play Illini; Notre Dame Meets Carnegie Tech

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—The football picture of the nation tomorrow is a sort of a volcano, rising evenly from one coast to the other to a flame spouting peak in the mid-west.

There the major drama of October's third Saturday will roll out like lava waves as two eastern leaders provide the intersectional high lights of the day, Ohio State and Michigan hook in a battle that may determine the new Big Ten champion, and the Big Six works its way to a climax.

Nothing the East, the Far West, the South and the Southwest offers for the day can outweigh Army's first major engagement of the season against the rising power of Illinois in Cleveland, the invasion of Minnesota by the Golden Panthers of Pittsburgh, and Notre Dame's assault once more on the troublesome Tartans of Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh, on the fringe of the mid-west.

Chicago And Purdue

The greatest crowds of the season, probably totalling close to 300,000 will see these major engagements, the Big Ten battles of Northwestern and Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin, Chicago and Purdue, and the crowning conference struggle of Ohio State and Michigan's defending champions at Ann Arbor.

With Minnesota tied by Purdue and Indiana, and the latter beaten by Notre Dame, Northwestern trimmed by Iowa and Wisconsin walloped by Illinois, the Ohio State-Michigan duel brings the Big Ten to an early climax. Both have displayed tremendous power — the Buckeyes is slaughtering Virginia and trouncing Vanderbilt, Michigan beating Michigan State and crushing Cornell 40 to 0 last Saturday. The winner has only late developments at Illinois and Chicago to fear.

Army sends the lightest, fastest eleven to represent the military academy in ten years into battle with Illinois and is the under-dog in its first invasion of the midwest since 1930, but the other two eastern machines have better than even chances of success.

Pitt Given Edge

The Pittsburgh team that smothered Navy last week 34 to 6 should be more than a match for the brilliant sophomores of Minnesota at Minneapolis, and Carnegie Tech always has been a particular thorn in Notre Dame's side. This season, coached by Howard Harpster, the quarterback who piloted the Tartans to victory in 1926 and 1928, Carnegie is again a power, while the Hoosiers under Hunk Anderson have been none too impressive.

With Nebraska and Kansas State, Oklahoma and Iowa State, narrowing the field of title contenders in the Big Six conference, the East and South trail in matches of championship significance.

Columbia, smart and versatile, tackles the sophomore power of Princeton in a battle of the unbeaten while Colgate runs but slight chance of an upset against New York university and Syracuse appears too strong for Cornell. Pennsylvania and Dartmouth promise a real battle at Philadelphia.

Yale In Trouble

Jimmy Crowley's power at Fordham is ready for Boston College while Harvard faces a desperate tussle keeping the slate clean against Holy Cross and Yale is in all kinds of trouble with Brown on its hands. The old Blue and Crimson both may be lucky to escape deefat.

The Southern slate is headed by Tennessee's efforts to resume against Alabama the victory string Duke shattered last week and the chances are less than even. In the Southwest Texas Aggies appear to have their best chance in years to wallop the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian and sweep on to a conference title.

Along the Pacific coast the Southern division takes time out from its own wars to rally against the North as Southern California meets Oregon State and California takes on Washington State in the main engagements.

TRINITY WINS 13-0

WAXAHACHIE, Oct. 20. (AP)—Outplaying their opponents throughout, the Trinity University Tigers won a 13-0 victory today over the Stephen F. Austin Teachers college Lumberjacks from Nacogdoches, thus retaining their undefeated standing in the Lone Star conference.

A short pass, Kroulik to Miller gave the Tigers their first marker in the second period. The second touchdown came in the third period when Pat Jameson, all-conference Trinity guard, caught a lateral that had been knocked down by Jack Dunaway and ran 91 yards for the counter.

Razorback Flash Stirs Southwest

Ralph LaForge, 145-pound halfback of the University of Arkansas, has created a sensation in Southwest conference circles by his touchdown dashes.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 20 (AP)—Reeling off a series of long runs for touchdowns this season, two of them against Texas Christian University, Ralph LaForge, 145-pound halfback of the University of Arkansas Razorbacks, has became the most feared scoring threat in the Southwest conference.

Playing his second year, LaForge in the opening game this season against College of the Ozarks ran 68 yards from scrimmage for a touchdown, and a week later against Oklahoma Baptist University ripped off 60 yards for another touchdown.

Against Texas Christian, LaForge took the opening kickoff and raced 90 yards untouched for the Porkers' first touchdown in their campaign for the conference title. Later in that same game, LaForge on a cutback sidestepped his way 35 yards through the secondary to complete the rout of the Frogs.

His total points in the Porkers' first three games was 25, which placed him near Frenchy Domingue, Texas A. & M. halfback, and Bohn Hilliard, flashy Texas University halfback, for the conference scoring leadership.

Big Spring Nips Slaton, 13 To 0

(Special To The Avalanche)

BIG SPRING, Oct. 20. — Big Spring's large but green Class A squad got organized after a first half marked by wasted scoring opportunities, and scored twice to take an interesting game here today from a fast Slaton Class B outfit, 13-0.

In the third quarter, Olie Cordill, Steer backfield ace, blocked a punt, picked it up and ran 20 yards for the first touchdown. Jones kicked extra point.

Hare went over from the two-yard line in the fourth period for the second counter after Neel, midget substitute back, engineered passing and running drive from midfield. Cordill and Neel were forced out by injuries which may prove costly when the Steers open their district schedule here October 28 with San Angelo. Each team made eight first downs. Yards gained, Big Spring 183, Slaton 84. Passes completed, Big Spring five for 66, Slaton five for 71.

The locals had ball inside the 10-yard line three times in the first half. Slaton held once, and penalties stopped two drives. Slaton passed thrice in third quarter and had a first down on the four-yard line but lost on downs.

First Skeet Shoot To Be Staged Sunday; H. I. Stock Sets Up Traps Near Here

Skeet shooting, an exercise for nimrods only, will make its debut in Lubbock's sporting circles Sunday afternoon.

H. I. Stock, of the South Plains Hardware and Supply company, has set up skeet traps near the Amarillo highway just north of the Lubbock Country club, and invites all local shooters to look 'em over.

The first shoot will begin at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Interested persons are cordially invited to the grounds. It is intended to make skeet shooting a popular sport here.

Abilene Lightweight To Meet Mexican Threat In Main Bout In 4-Fight Box Card Tonight

Woody Windham Opposes Nick Santos In 10-Round Scrap At Rex Theatre Ring; Card Begins At 8 O'Clock

It promises a lot of leather-pushing and footwork tonight when Woody Windham, Abilene's delegate to the Texas boxing convention, swaps punches with Nick Santos, young native of Mexico whose headquarters are at Fort Worth, in the 10-round main event of Dee Puckett's professional show tonight.

The card begins at 8 o'clock, and will find two of the cleverest young lightweights of the section against each other as the main attraction. Both Windham and Santos have proved popular in some of the larger cities of the south, and at Fort Worth Santos is a big attraction any time.

Three Other Fights

Three other bouts, totalling 14 scheduled rounds of nip and tuck fighting, are on Puckett's program tonight. The fights are to be held in the building formerly occupied by the Rex theater, on the east side of the square.

In the semi-final, Sammy Matlock of Breckenridge, who has appeared on main events over Texas and who has gained quite a reputation, will trade blows with Jack Tucker of Houston. This is billed as a 6-round fight. The contestants are light weights.

A couple of middle-weights will tangle in a four-round preliminary. O. H. Brittain, popular young athlete of Texas Tech, will meet Sonny Smyers of Lorenzo.

Guthrie Meets Flake

Harry Guthrie, king of the Texas Tech heavyweights, is carded to meet "Snow" Flake, another Tech athlete, in the four-round curtain-raiser at 8 o'clock.

Promoter Dee Puckett has announced lower admission prices for tonight. General admission is 40 cents, with ringside ducats going for 75 cents.

The theatre building will accommodate 700 fans, and Puckett expects a record breaking crowd at his second show under the new state boxing regulations.

Tramel May Return

Puckett is planning to card a fight program within the next few weeks on which Duke Tramel, one of the southwest's best welterweights, will meet an opponent to be selected in the main event. Tramel appeared here on Puckett's first card and ended a scheduled 10-round bout after 20 seconds of the second round by knocking out "Scrap-Iron" Megritt of Waco.

Arlington Downs Crowd Is Smaller; Favorites Score

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Oct. 20. (AP)—An estimated crowd of 5,500 saw the second of the twenty-one day racing meet here today. They saw the thoroughbreds running true to form with four favorites and two second choices carrying off honors in six of the seven races.

Today's program was well-balanced but a comparatively cheap card, all being strictly $600 purse races. While today's attendance did not compare with the estimated 15,000 of yesterday, jockey club officials reported an increase in the play of the pari mutuels. Less confusion was noted today at the windows which indicated that fans attending the meet were rapidly learning how the new legalized wagering system operates.

The long shot players rejoiced today when J. B. Partridge's Pat C scored in the six furlongs, fifth event, and returned $20.80 for a straight $2 mutuel.

Last Minute Touchdown Is Savior For Temple, 13-7

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20. (AP) — A last minute touchdown after a 35-yard advance gave Glenn (Pop) Warner's Temple university Owls a 13-7 victory over West Virginia's football team before 20,000 fans in Temple stadium tonight. Johnny Stonik made the final touchdown Quarterback Don Watts counted for Temple and Left Half Covey scored for the Mountaineers, both in the third period.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN, No. 60

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan of the Apes Did Not Know That Already a Plot Was Being Hatched Against Him. Because of It He Again Went to His Beloved Jungle.

Watch for the New Picture-Story:

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN

The next morning as they prepared to embark upon the cruiser, Tarzan said to Jane: "Wild beasts are supposed to be devoid of sentiment. But nevertheless, I should like to be married in the cabin where I was born, beside the graves of my mother and my father, and surrounded by the savage jungle that has always been my home."

And so beneath the shade of the primeval forest there was a double wedding. For Lord Tennington had won the hand of Jane's friend, the American heiress. Afterwards, as the cruiser got under way, Tarzan, immaculate in white, leaned against the rail, a graceful girl beside him. Filled with happiness, the forest-god bent down and kissed his mate upon her lips.

Twenty naked, black warriors, waving war spears above their heads, shouted farewell to their king as he departed on the "great canoe." And Tarzan, waving good-by, said to his wife: "I should hate to think that I am looking upon the jungle for the last time, dear, were it not that I know I am going to a new world of happiness with you forever."

TARZAN OF THE APES DID NOT KNOW THAT ALREADY A PLOT WAS BEING HATCHED AGAINST HIM. BECAUSE OF IT HE AGAIN WENT TO HIS BELOVED JUNGLE. BEGINNING TOMORROW: THE BEASTS OF TARZAN.

Perfection Of Organization Of Wheat Control Group Is Expected; 87 Contracts Are Signed In County

Perfection of the organization of Lubbock County Wheat Control association is expected to be made this morning at a meeting of directors from three sections of the country, chosen recently by wheat farmers. The session is to start at 9 o'clock in the office of O. G. Tumlinson, county agent.

Directors, who also are group chairmen, were named by the following communities: G. K. Horton from Shallowater; J. L. Snyder from Monroe and W. L. Brashear from Becton.

87 Contracts Signed

A total of 87 contracts have been signed up. There are 147 wheat farmers in the county, according to reports to Mr. Tumlinson and the contracts represent approximately 60 per cent.

The government's preliminary estimate showed Lubbock county has had an average of 24,000 acres in wheat for the past five years. Based on an estimated average of 9.4 bushels per acre, the average yield has been 226,000 bushels annually and the allotment for the county is 121,988 bushels. This should bring into the county approximately $34,-131.

Acreage Figures

Acreage for 1930, 1931, 1932 and 1933 for the three communities are as follows:

1930—Shallowater, 3,045; Monroe, 5,013; Becton, 5,479; total 13,537.

1933—Shallowater, 1,130; Monroe, 4,818; Becton, 4,706; total, 10,654.

Yields Are Given

Yields for these communities in 1930, 1931 and 1932, were:

1932—Shallowater, 35,862 bushels; Monroe, 43,291; Becton, 50,375; total, 154,681.

1933—Shallowater, 35,862 bushels; Monroe, 50,240; Becton, 60,597; total, 106,059.

Committee members of the three communities are: Shallowater, G. K. Horton, chairman; Bob Crump and Ches Wright; Monroe, J. L. Snyder, chairman; Ward Crim and W. F. Buske; Becton, W. L. Brashear, chairman and Bob Brown and George Whiting.

Convicts Dare Sleeping Sickness Death

Ten convicts in the Mississippi prison at Parchman who are risking their lives by voluntarily submitting to the bites of mosquitoes which previously had bitten St. Louis sleeping sickness sufferers may be pardoned by Governor Conner, upper left, for their daring. Convicts awaiting possible effects of the insect bites are shown right, above, whiling away the tedious hours during the experiment by playing cards. A view of prison farm buildings is shown center. Pair Wounded In Silk Fight

Rioting Breaks Out Friday In Strike Torn Silk District Of New Jersey; Attempt To Stone Factory

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 20. (AP) — Two men were seriously wounded by bullets today as rioting broke out in the strike torn silk district of northern New Jersey. One of the injured may die.

The major disturbance occurred at the plant of the National Silk Dyeing company in East Paterson where a crowd of about 800 pickets engaged in combat with 50 policemen, allegedly as the result of the strikers' attempt to stone the factory.

One officer, Fred Krueger, attempted to dispel the strikers with a tear gas bomb, when a bullet whizzed through the windshield of his car. It was the first bullet fired in the long-continued strike in the district, and was followed by others.

One slug struck Dino Brunt of Paterson, in the head and he was taken to a hospital in a critical condition. John Bartolozzi of East Paterson was shot through the shoulder. Ten others, less seriously wounded, were treated and released.

Speakers included H. W. Morelock, president of Sul Ross Teachers' college at Alpine; J. T. Bickley of Alpine, deputy state superintendent and school supervisor in this district, and H. G. Secrest, superintendent of the Rankin schools.

What Is Becoming Of Our Shrimp?

Experts Of Bureau Of Fisheries Are Puzzled And Worried As Millions Of Crustaceans Are Disappearing Annually

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP)—Another mystery of the sea—what becomes of millions of shrimp which disappear annually from the fishing grounds off the South Atlantic and Gulf coasts of the United states—is puzzling experts of the bureau of fisheries.

This mighty migration into the unknown, in which vast numbers of the crustaceans disappear without trace at the end of their spawning season when they are one year old, is of great importance both from the standpoint of value of the shrimp fishery, set at several million dollars a year, and the future supply of shrimp.

The mass - disappearance of shrimp was discovered by experts of the bureau of fisheries and the states of Louisiana, Georgia and Texas, which have made the first complete study of the life history of the crustacean that finds its way into seafood dinners, salads and appetizers from coast to coast.

The large shrimp disappear after spawning from March or April through to August or September, and never reappear else where in the sea so far as is known. It may be that the process of spawning is fatal to the shrimp, so that, like the salmon of the Pacific coast, they become weakened and soon succumb to natural enemies and disease.

It may be also that they migrate in hordes to some new, undiscovered home. All that is certain is that they disappear from the fishing grounds.

The short life of the shrimp on the fishing grounds—one year from hatching to the time the adults disappear—tends to make the supply more precious, the bureau of fisheries points out, so that if the shrimp begin to be depleted there will be sudden and voilent fluctuations in the supply that will be disastrous to the industry. In 1929, a prosperous year for the shrimp fishermen the catch amounted to 113,263,000 pounds, worth $4,575,-000 to them.

Government Pork Declared Not Fit For Hogs To Eat

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 20. (AP)—"Irish Tommy" Griffin, who conducts a helping hand mission for the poor, complained today that some of the government's salt pork being distributed to the needy by the local relief administration was "not fit for a hog to eat."

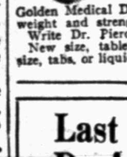

Dr. Walter H. Miles, city health director, inspected several slabs of the pork which had been given Griffin's wife and declared the meat was not fit for human consumption.

Griffin said the pork was handed to his wife, who aids him with the mission, in a wrapped package "and she didn't know what shape it was in until she got home. It was absolutely walking."

Forgotten Sweetheart

cers. He thought she looked beautiful and a trifle sad.

"Hello," he said to Joan.

"Hello." Her voice was not quite steady, husky.

"Will you go in to dinner with me?" What he wanted to say was, "What's happened, Joan? You've had me on pins and needles."

"Why, of course," Joan told him.

The table was centered by a silver basket of roses and jonquils. Dainty place cards marked the places of the guests.

"Sally—you and Fred there," Carol was saying. "Bob, you here by Barbara. Joan and Jim are over there."

"I'm toasting the best looking girl at the table," Jim whispered to Joan. "Will you drink it with me?"

Joan was about to say, "I don't drink," but stopped. Across the table Barbara had touched Bob's glass with her own, saying "Here's to a good girl but not too good, for the good die young and I do hate a dead one."

"Barbara, my child, where did you resurrect that ancient toast?" Fred gibed. "That was my grandmother's favorite."

"I just happened to think of it," said Barbara.

Joan's thoughts were traveling a new path. "If I had been more like them he would have liked me better," she told herself.

She lifted her glass smiling at Jim.

"I thought you were a young woman with ideas about life," he said. "What made you change your mind?"

He added when she did not answer "It's sensible to let the stuff alone." As Joan put down the goblet her feeling of depression lifted. Later she was even more lighthearted, laughing a great deal.

It was this young clear laughter that caused Bob to frown down at his plate. People were smiling at this too-gay Joan. What was the matter with her? Attracting attention so boldly!

Dinner was over and Joan rose from the table. She stumbled slightly and stooped to untangle a fold of her dress from the chair. Jim put a steadying hand on her arm.

Bob heard Charlie saying to Sally "Our little friend hasn't learned how to hold her liquor."

A colored orchestra in the alcove under the stairs began playing. Joan swept from the arms of one man to another felt as if she were in a different world. Fred was cutting in frequently. Charlie was bringing up new men and introducing them. Jim seemed always just at her elbow. She felt gayer than she had ever been in her life, yet paradoxically there was a tightness about her heart, a pain somewhere.

"All I needed was to be like the others," she thought. But the thought did not bring happiness. Only that tight feeling again about her heart.

Bob standing with the stag line against the wall was trying to keep his eyes away from the slender figure in white the long skirt swirling about as she danced. He had never seen Joan looking lovelier, more vivid, more shining. It was as though all the light in the room was concentrated on the slim form.

He would cut in the next time she danced past and he would tell her exactly what he thought of her strange behavior. Then a voice spoke behind him.

"The little girl from Memphis seems to be waking up. Guess it takes old Jim." Bob did not hear the rest of the sentence. He had walked away from the group Joan floated by and he met her eyes nodding coldly.

He had the next dance with Barbara. She welcomed him with a radiant smile pressed his hand and whispered, "Bob I have a raging headache. Will you sit out the next dance with me?"

Some one claimed her and he stood back again watching Joan. This new strange Joan, having a whirl. Her dark eyes shining recklessly, her lips too scarlet. Held too closely in Jim Warfield's arms.

He cut in, crushing her against him savagely. Joan felt his arms tighten violently, possessively around her, and responded with a lift of the spirit, a surge of happiness.

Their steps fell together rhythmically. Her head was close against his shoulder. But when she glanced up at him, his face was set and cold.

"He doesn't like me any more," she thought. The happy mood slipped from her, replaced by one of dull misery.
