AIM Not Happy With 'Red Tape'

By Pat Blair
Representatives of AIM Home Health Care in Rockport expressed their frustration over "red tape" during a workshop exploring the needs of elderly, handicapped and the chronically ill Saturday, May 17.

A primary purpose of the one-day workshop -- held in the Corpus Christi State School Pavilion in Corpus Christi -- was to stimulate development of services and systems providing alternatives to institutionalization of elderly, handicapped and chronically ill individuals.

Among those attending the workshop were Kathleen Akin and Dawn Orlando of AIM Home Health Services in Rockport.

The workshop was divided into four task groups -- pediatrics (children), mental health-mental retardation, adults and geriatrics (the elderly) -- whose members met to discuss problems and make recommendations on how to meet the needs of elderly, handicapped and chronically ill individuals in the Coastal Bend area.

Recommendations made in the workshop -- one of three being held statewide -- will be taken to Austin on June 11 for presentation to state legislators and agencies.

Copies of the recommendations will also be presented to local governments according to Carolyn Lewandowski, occupational therapist and coordinator of the workshop.

The goal, she said, is to gain recognition of the needs of elderly and handicapped persons in the Coastal Bend, particularly in providing alternative support so that those who are capable of leading independent lives do not have to be placed in an institution.

As an example, said Terrell Philen, leader of the task group on geriatrics, many elderly persons are institutionalized in nursing facilities "when they aren't that sick."

"Institutionalization is not the final answer," he said, adding that people live their entire lives with their own friends, their own social groups. "We're all different," he said, "but when we reach age 62, we're all herded together."

Among recommendations of the task group on geriatric care was for ex-

Rev. Charles Fake of Rockport's First Baptist Church will preach a sermon and the closing benediction will be given by Mr. John W. Goodwin of the Church of Christ.

WHOA, WIND!

Sailboats are supposed to be powered by the wind, but this one got carried away a little bit [literally]. The catamaran, which belongs to Johnny Washburn, was on the beach on the east side of Key Allegro's Bay Shore Drive before the winds came up early Monday morning. When it was over, the boat had been carried across the street and deposited on the grass near the Key Allegro bridge. One person reported that winds reached over 75 miles per hour.

Memorial Day Closings

The Aransas County Courthouse, City of Rockport and the local financial institutions will all be closed for Memorial Day on Monday, May 26.

Island Surf And Sunwear Comes To Rockport Friday

Island Surf and Sunwear is coming to Rockport.

The firm -- which presently has stores in Corpus Christi and on Padre Island -- is opening its third store in Rockport Friday, May 23.

The store, to be located at 508 South Austin -- formerly Sundail II -- will "offer everything we offer in the Corpus Christi stores," says John Trice, plus some special items of interest to Rockport residents.

Trice and his wife, Molly, are partners in Island Surf and Sunwear.

Tentative plans call for the new Rockport store to be open from 9:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Mondays through Sundays. Susan Tyler will be coming to Rockport to manage the new store, and the Trices

"have hired two people so far," says John.

Island Surf and Sunwear specializes in clothing with the casual look, from swimwear to comfortable clothes that can be worn to the office.

Clothes for both men and women are available, including sundresses, tops and shirts, pants and shorts...even footwear.

Among possibilities for the store, says John, is a line of casual footwear -- and of course, the store will feature a complete line of surfing equipment.

A lot of the fashions available have the "Hawaiian look" says John -- and it's authentic Hawaiian, because they're made in Hawaii.

And it's all coming to Rockport Friday.

Final Four Bingo Winners Named

The last $100 in Newspaper Bingo money was divided among four area residents as the 13-week game came to an end Friday, May 16.

It was the third win for Dickey, who was playing a red card that he received from The Smokery. Mrs. Hagy's card, a purple one, also came from The Smokery; she reported playing 70 Bingo cards.

During the last week of the game, all color cards were eligible to win, but the remaining two cards -- those of Mrs. Kepper and Ms. Honeycutt -- were red.

Mrs. Kepper played 46 cards, and the winning one came from Monroe's. Ms. Honeycutt played 20 cards and the winner was from Super D.

Many Families Make Pilgrimage To Lamar Retreat

About 1,200 people came by chartered bus, motor-home and automobile to the Schoenstatt Retreat in Lamar last Sunday, May 18, to take part in the annual May Pilgrimage to the Shrine of the Blessed Mother.

The year 1980 has been called the Year of the Family, and the event was a time of family dedication to the Blessed Mother, as groups from San Antonio to Laredo and points in between journeyed to Lamar for the activities.

The special day marked a time when families were dedicated to the Mother

Thrice Admirable, Queen and Victress of Schoenstatt. The Shrine, which is located on the Schoenstatt Retreat grounds and is an authentic replica of the original shrine in Germany, is a public chapel where people worship daily. It was a focal point for the day's activities, as many of the pilgrims passed through to see and pray in the chapel.

The program for Sunday included private worship in the Shrine, confessions, talks in English and Spanish, Holy Mass, a picnic lunch and a special benediction with blessing of the families.

Wear High Heels With Care Says A&M

Don't wear those "high-est" heels too long. Vary heel heights daily to exercise all muscles in leg and foot, says Nancy Brown, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Also, the higher the heel, the farther forward your body center of gravity shifts — and the greater the tendency to fall.

LABOR-SAVER BREADS

Growth to the convenience food industry is an indication that time and labor-saving meals have considerable appeal for modern cooks. And the sales of small appliances, such as food processors, appear to confirm it. How much time and work new products save is actually up to the user. Savvy cooks may not be tempted to change their ways, but adventurous cooks seem to welcome innovations. One of the recent ones is making yeast bread in a food processor.

Most food processors make a single loaf of bread, which is fine for small households. The accompanying recipe, for Sour Cream Herb Ring is an example of how little effort it takes to prepare distinctive yeast rolls and bread. Today, measuring of ingredients takes more time than mixing and kneading. In less than two minutes of mixing the dough is kneaded and ready to put aside to rise.

Unlike the making of cakes, cookies and casserole dishes that take time to prepare and bake, yeast bread doesn't require constant attention from the cook. Once it's mixed and kneaded, it does its own thing. It can be quickly shaped after one rising so the cook is free to perform other kitchen tasks. The aromatic blend of herb and sour cream flavor makes the following recipe a superb accompaniment for soups and salads and summer meals.

HERB SOUR CREAM RING Makes 1 loaf

- 2-3/4 cups unsifted flour
- 5 tablespoons Fleischmann's® Margarine
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 1/4 teaspoons dried oregano leaves
- 1 package Fleischmann's® Active Dry Yeast
- 1/4 cup warm water (105° F.-115° F.)
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/4 cup milk

Food Processor Preparation
With metal blade in place combine flour, 3 tablespoons margarine, sugar, marjoram, thyme and oregano in bowl; process 5-10 seconds to combine. Dissolve yeast in warm water; pour through feed tube. Add sour cream and begin processing. Pour milk through feed tube in a fast stream until ball forms, about 10-15 seconds. Continue processing for 60 seconds to knead dough.

Carefully remove dough from processor bowl. Shape into a ball and place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Divide into 10 pieces and shape each into a ball. Arrange balls in a circle in a greased 6-1/2 cup ring mold. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour, 10 minutes.

Melt remaining margarine; pour over dough. Bake at 375° F. for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan and cool on wire rack.

ACUTE ILLNESS
Possibly due to a lifetime accumulation of immunity to varied illnesses, elderly individuals are acutely ill only about 70 percent as often as younger individuals. — CN$

The second, a traveling gift game, was won by Mrs. Paul Keith—the prize was perfume given by Mrs. Ferguson.

The class sang "Jesus Never Fails," "Love Lifted Me," "I Know Whom I Have Believed," "Every Day With Jesus" and "The Family of God."

The devotional by Mrs. Harry Cameron consisted of two poems, "Mothers" and "Home" by Nick Kenney, and a scripture from Proverbs, followed by a prayer.

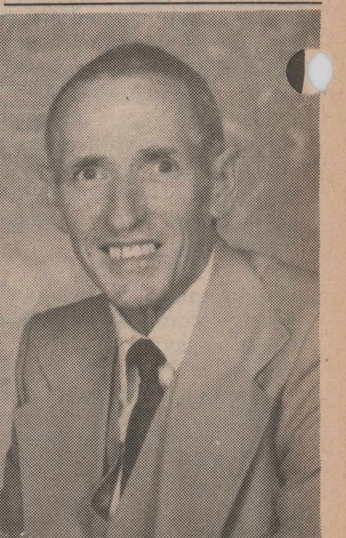

Mrs. Truett Roach read a poem, "Something To Think About" by Marty Hale.

Special music was a song entitled "My Mother's Prayer" sung by Mrs. Cameron. She was accompanied by Mrs. Keith at the piano. Mrs. Fay Henderson presented a recipe for a "Happy Home."

Miss Evelyn Townsend gave the Secretary-Treasurer's report, followed by the preparation of "Thinking of You" cards to be sent to the sick. The meeting closed with a prayer.

Review the Congressional Record Daily)

VIETNAM VETERANS MEMORIAL

Senator Dale Bumpers (Ark.) "...Senate Joint Resolution 119, as reported from the Senate Energy and National Resources Committee, would authorize the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund, Inc., to erect a memorial to the men and women of the United States who served in the Vietnam war.

The memorial is to be located in the District of Columbia in the area of West Potomac Park known as Constitution Gardens...

"I feel strongly that the sacrifices of the men and women who served in Vietnam should be appropriately acknowledged..."

Senator Robert C. Byrd (W. Va.) "...I do not often cosponsor measures...I am proud to be a sponsor. There are not many measures that have 100 sponsors..."

Senator Howard H. Baker, Jr. (Tenn.) "...I am pleased to join in sponsoring the memorial to veterans of the Vietnam war..."

Senator Mark O. Hatfield (Oreg.) "...We must remember and honor the 57,000 who died, the 300,000 wounded, and the 100,000 handicapped or seriously disabled. This is a fitting way to remember those Americans who served in that most dangerous and difficult time..."

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, (Md.) "...Equally heartening to me is the overwhelming support we have received for this project across the country of all political persuasions...I think it is worthwhile just to mention a few of them."

"Among them are Vernon Jordon, president of the National Urban League; Ruben Bonilla, national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens; Carol Burnett, who played the mother of a soldier killed in the war in the TV drama 'Friendly Fire'; First Lady Rosalynn Carter; and former First Lady Betty Ford; Bob Hope; Father Theodore Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame; Rocky Bleier, a wounded Vietnam veteran who came back to star with the Pittsburgh Steelers; and Adm. James B. Stockdale, formerly a POW and now president of the Citadel."

"This is the kind of broad support which indicates to me that this proposal is truly an idea whose time has come. This is the kind of a day of reconciliation for which we have waited..." (The Joint Resolution 119 passed the Senate unanimously.)

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Full recognition to the men and women who served in the Vietnam war will not be complete until a Vietnam war casualty is buried in the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

CARTER VETOES

On Aug. 17, 1978, President Carter vetoed a $36.9 billion Defense Appropriation Act because it contained $1.9 billion for a fifth nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

Hunting Season To Open October 4

From the Permian Basin across the northern Edwards Plateau to the coast, the season will be the first Saturday in October through the last Sunday in February (October 4, 1980, through February 22, 1981). This represents an extended season for most of the counties in that region.

Biological investigations

Food Storage Important Large, economy-size is no bargain if you cannot store it properly, or if food is left over and you risk the chance of spoilage, reminds Linda McCormack, a family re-have shown that hunting pressure has little or no effect on javelina populations.

In another wildlife matter, nutria were classified as furbearers but will be eligible for harvest at any time. However, their pelts may be sold only during the general furbearer season.

Falconers in the state will benefit from a change extending the falconry season. Game birds may be taken with licensed raptors from September 1 through March 1 of each year. However, game animals and furbearers may be taken only during the regular open seasons.

BLOOD DRIVE WINNERS

The National Honor Society sponsored the blood drive campaign for the local high school and did very well. Students from the whole school took part in donating blood, and the result was a very nice trophy from the Community Blood Bank in Corpus, which said that RFHS had the highest percentage participation in a high school blood donor program. In two separate days, the local students gave over 110 pints of blood. Shown here with the trophy are some of the students who helped with the local drive: from the left are, Kyle Dietze, Meredith Montague, Julie Adams, Alvina Sanchez and Helen Pearson. BOARDS

Tax Office at the corner of Omohundro and Broadway. The City of Rockport's equalization board will meet at City Hall on June 5, from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. to go over the tax rolls of real and personal property in the city.

and school district equalization boards will meet in a joint session from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. to fix valuation on mineral and utility holdings inside their respective taxing districts. The joint meeting will be at the Aransas County Courthouse. There are two basic situations in which taxpayers are entitled to receive an adjustment in their tax value:

If the property owner can find and submit to the equalization board evidence indicating the value assigned to his property exceeds local market value, he is entitled to a reduction in valuation. And regardless of what other property is selling for, the value of a piece of property on the tax roll should be about the same as for all similar properties in the jurisdiction.

The board of equalization has authority only over the value of property. The actual tax rate is established by the taxing district.

AIM

pansion of intermediate care and in-home services for elderly persons in the Coastal Bend area -- which would also mean expansion of state funds to help provide for these programs. Also recommended was expansion of skilled care facilities in outlying areas, such as Aransas County, to provide services that might be available in Corpus Christi but are unobtainable by many of the elderly because of distances involved.

A third recommendation was for reduction of the "red tape" involved in trying to establish in-home services for the elderly.

Mrs. Akin pointed out, during the task group meeting, that AIM started more than a year ago trying to establish an in-home nursing service in Aransas County.

"We are now in the final step," she said, "but we have found it very frustrating" dealing with the paperwork involved. "I've been to Austin twice," she said. "You deal with different people on each step (of the application process) and each person asks the same questions. The red tape could be whittled."

Recommendations from other task groups -- recommendations that will go to Austin on June 11 -- called for more barrier-free housing for handicapped persons, more transportation facilities for the handicapped and more cooperation between the various agencies established to deal with handicapped, elderly and chronically-ill persons.

The workshop was sponsored by the Texas Occupational Therapy Association Inc. with support from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Public Health Service, Division of Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health.

If you have any old photographs of the area, we would like to borrow them. They will be returned to you following publication of the Progress Edition.

Just bring your photos by the Pilot office -- or give us a call at 729-9900.

Commission Changes Hunting Laws

AUSTIN -- The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, meeting in Austin, adopted far-reaching regulations aimed at increasing the annual harvest of antlerless deer across most of the state's deer range.

Two of the regulations -- a buck permit system and an early 16-day antlerless only season -- represent extensions of management programs in effect in some South Texas counties last hunting season.

A new regulation, however, establishes an either-sex white-tailed deer season permit system, and allows hunters to harvest three deer of either sex, but no more than two bucks.

Hunters in these counties will not be required to obtain antlerless deer permits from landowners, but rather will attach antlerless deer tags from their hunting licenses to the carcasses of does taken during the season.

Commission members stressed that landowners still would retain the right to control the numbers and sex of deer taken from their property under the either-sex plan.

However, persons planning to hunt in these counties this fall should be aware that some of the county commissioners courts have the authority to approve or disapprove proposed department regulations. The regulations will go into effect prior to the start of the 1980-81 hunting season.

Either-sex counties were selected based on the following criteria: (1) less than 50 percent of the antlerless deer permits were utilized the previous hunting season; (2) less than 20 percent of the total deer population is being harvested; (3) antlerless deer permits have been available for the past three years; and (4) as determined by deer and hunter surveys, there are at least four deer per hunter.

Counties selected for the change are: Atascosa, Bandera, Bell, Bexar, Blanco, Burnet, Coke, Comal, Concho, Crockett, Edwards, Gillespie, Hays, Irion, Kendall, Kerr, Kimble, Kinney, Lampasas, Llano, Mason, McCulloch, Medina, Menard, Mitchell, Mills, Nolan, Real, San Saba, Schleicher, Sterling, Sutton, Tom Green, Uvalde, Val Verde (east of the Pecos River) and Williamson. The season will be November 15, 1980 through January 4, 1981.

Wildlife Division officials are confident that the either-sex season will not adversely increase the number of antlerless deer taken during the hunting season, since traditionally less than half the allotted antlerless deer permits are utilized by hunters in these counties. However, the change is expected to cut red tape and expense for both the department and landowners. Antlerless permit issuance rates are based on the concept that all permits will be utilized.

The buck permit change expands the Webb County experiment to five additional South Texas counties. They are Dimmit, Frio, Maverick, Zapata and Zavala.

Wildlife Division Director Ted Clark said the contiguous area will form a "Quality Deer Management Unit," in which buck permits would be utilized with three major aims: (1) to enable landowners to manage their deer herds without neighboring exploitation, (2) to maintain 30 percent of the buck harvest at 4½ year or older age classes, and (3) to shift additional hunting pressure to the antlerless segment of the population, which aids in controlling overpopulation of the deer range.

Clark said the buck permits will be required only for fork-antlered bucks, and the permits will be issued the first year on an unlimited basis in the five new counties. Buck permits in Webb County will be issued at the same rate as for the 1979-80 hunting season, with all landowners receiving at least one permit.

Buck permits are issued to landowners at the same time they receive their antlerless deer permits. Hunters are required to fill out and attach the buck permit to the antler of any fork-antlered buck taken in those counties. There will be no check stations in any of the buck permit program counties.

Clark told the commission that experience with buck permits in Webb County showed that the permit system failed to make noticeable improvement in overall deer body and antler quality within age classes, but it appeared to shift some of the hunting pressure to the doe segment and improved the age composition of the buck population.

The Webb County deer herd has doubled in the past 10 years, causing a decline in the general quality of the herd, he said. Buck permits in Webb County did improve the age structure of the herd by permitting more deer to reach maturity, Clark added.

Three additional counties were added to the special 16-day early antlerless deer season in South Texas. The early season, designed to increase the harvest of antlerless deer, was conducted for the first time in 1979 in Dimmit, Maverick and Webb Counties. The early season will be continued in these counties in 1980, and Frio, Zapata and Zavala Counties will be added.

It was stressed that increasing the percentage of mature bucks through the use of buck permits and reducing the doe population by means of the early antlerless-only season are considered a management package. Both control of the buck harvest and the overall deer population must be achieved to expect an improvement in deer quality, Clark said.

A change affecting archery hunting for deer and turkey will start the season in all regulatory counties on the first Saturday in October (October 4, 1980), for 30 consecutive days, rather than October 1-31 as in the past for most counties. This change was designed to guarantee five weekends of hunting.

It will allow increased opportunity but not impact upon the resource, as less than one percent of the statewide deer harvest annually is by archers.

In general, archery regulations such as season length and bag limits have been no more liberal than the gun season regulations in a given county.

The general season for white-tailed deer in most regulatory counties will continue to be as in the past, starting this year on November 15, 1980, and extending through January 4, 1981. However, exceptions to these and other regulations occur in many counties throughout the state, and hunters should contact local game wardens, department offices or the 1980-81 Guide to Texas Hunting, Fishing and Trapping Regulations booklet which will be published in August for specific county regulations.

Additional information also may be obtained by calling the department's statewide toll-free telephone number, 1-800-252-9327.

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

Decide in advance what your alternatives would be if someone in the water was about to drown and crying for help.

As the season for living out-of-doors entices more of us to the shore or the river bank, you could find yourself in this situation. The few seconds or minutes you would save by knowing what to do if this happens could save or lose life.

Extending your reach is the recommended first choice, without option for the non-swimmer and preferred for the swimmer when it is possible. A stick, a broom, an oar may extend your arm far enough to hold out life to the drowning person.

Anything which floats and can be guided to the drowning person is a good option.

The swimmer who is trained in lifesaving can dive into the water and make a rescue, whatever the depth of the water. The person who is an average swimmer may think he can do that.

But the drowning person can panic and fight the rescuer. Both can drown.

Because of the high instances of drownings in the region, a Coastal Bend Water Safety Committee was formed recently. Its aim is to avoid emergencies and cope with them when they occur.

Committee chairman is Ann Dugat, who is a Red Cross swimming instructor and life saver. The committee plans to hold workshops for water safety instructors and those who train instructors.

These instructors are those who will teach the children of the Coastal Bend to swim, in municipal pools, in Boy and Girl Scout camps, at church day camps or wherever.

Every community in the Coastal Bend is near enough to water for the residents to enjoy outings along Gulf or Bay shores, lakes, rivers or around a pool. Few schools offer swimming as a part of physical education as they do in some parts of the country. Yet some knowledge of swimming is important for everyone.

Even babies, too young to be able to learn to swim, can be given some instruction and experience in the water so that they will have a better chance in an emergency of avoiding fear and staying afloat until help reaches them.

This is not official Red Cross training. Some call it water proofing.

For young children, or for adults who want to know enough to survive if they find themselves in the water through accident, there is a beginning course teaching basic skills to insure reasonable safety.

From then on, the swimmer can advance, mastering more skills. There are basic and advanced survival courses and basic rescue and advanced life saving.

A call to the Red Cross Chapter in any community can be made for information. A staff person or volunteer will know what classes are being taught where and when.

All the courses follow an established procedure. Anyone successfully completing a course is certified at that level.

Swimming has many advantages. It is a fun form of recreation. It can save your life. It is good exercise that can help you to stay in good health. It is highly competitive for those who adopt it as their sport. It is a sport for all ages. The youngest child enjoys it as much as the adult.

Swimming can be enjoyed all your life, long after some sports become too strenuous.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz

Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

THE MOST COMMON INTERNAL PARASITES OF CATS

Parasites devitalize an animal and lower its resistance to disease. More serious still, parasites often carry bacterial and viral infections with them.

This makes it doubly dangerous in the sense that they not only open the way for disease, but actually transport it as well.

The most common parasites of cats are hookworm, ascarids, tapeworm and coccidia.

1. Hookworms: These worms locate in the intestines. They suck blood, so the host cat will soon show signs of anemia, weakness and blood in the stool.

Infection from hookworms usually comes from the cat ingesting larvae which have hatched from the hookworm eggs and contaminate the area.

2. Ascarids: These worms locate in the intestines and are most common in young cats and kittens. The cat will appear malnourished. He may have frequent loose bowel movements, a dull coat and a pot-belly appearance.

The worms are passed in the bowel action and are occasionally vomited up. Heavy infestations may block the cat's intestinal tract.

Infection takes place when the cat ingests roundworm eggs picked up on the fur and feet from contact with infected areas. Eating intermediate hosts such as insects, rodents, chickens, etc. can cause the infestation.

3. Tapeworms: These worms locate in the intestines and cause digestive upsets, loss of physical condition, excessive appetite and even occasional convulsions in young cats.

Tapeworms require an intermediate host to reproduce and the cat uses the flea for this purpose.

4. Coccidia: This is a protozoan disease. These are intestinal parasites which cause diarrhea, poor appetite and weakness. This infestation can be very deadly, particularly in young cats.

In the next article, I will discuss the other internal parasites that are occasionally found in cats.

If you have any questions concerning the health and care of your pet, send them to the Rockport Pilot, 1002 Wharf, Rockport, Tx. 78382. Dr. Lutz will respond in the weekend edition.

Forty-three AARP members attended the business meeting of AARP Rockport Chapter 1536 on Wednesday, May 14. Coffee and cookies were served at 9:30 a.m.

The guest speaker for this meeting was unable to attend. John Mitchell, program chairman is getting the material for our use on hurricanes, evacuation, tidal surge and how to protect your families and property.

Mrs. Pat Works, Asst. State Director of AARP District 7 South gave a talk in the U.S. and 392 of those are in Texas.

The principal aim of the American Association of Retired Persons is to help our fellow man and the community in which we live. It is a way of aging with dignity and purpose. To grow old is magnificent if one stays young.

The next meeting of AARP Rockport Chapter 1536 will be Wednesday, May 28, at 11 a.m. There will be a short meeting and then a covered dish luncheon will be served.

The luncheon on May 28 is the last until cooler weather. During June, July and August the Sunset Suppers will be served at 5 p.m. on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

After supper, bridge and bingo will be played until approximately 8 p.m.

The AARP District Picnic for the 22 district chapters will be held on Friday, May 23, from 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. in Robstown at the air conditioned Show Barn.

Members will bring a covered dish and the food will be served as a covered dish luncheon. Bring paper plates, cups, napkins and plastic knives and forks.

For members who do not have transportation, the plan is to meet at Encina Plaza at 8 a.m. All cars will leave the plaza at 8:30 a.m.

Members who take five or more in their cars will be reimbursed for the gasoline by Chapter 1536. If possible, attend the picnic and give Rockport Chapter 1536 a good representation.

There is a dance on Wednesday, May 21, at 7 p.m. Remember that you do not have to be a member of AARP to attend the dances.

During July and August, the dances will be discontinued. They will resume on the first Wednesday in September.

Bridge will be played at Paws and Taws on Thursday, May 22, at 1 p.m. Winners on Thursday, May 15 will be published next week.

We ask that more members make an effort to attend the bridge parties every Thursday at 1 p.m. Prizes are given and refreshments served.

The availability of fresh mushrooms year round now makes it possible to do all sorts of marvelous things with them: broil them for breakfast, stuff them in pita for lunch, serve them sauced with pasta for supper, slice them raw for snacks or salads. This Crustless Mushroom Quiche is an elegant and unusual dish for brunches or light suppers. It's put together in a half-hour and baked while your guests are lingering over conversation and chilled fruit juice. Broiled tomatoes and bacon would be ideal complements.

CRUSTLESS MUSHROOM QUICHE

- 3 cups milk, scalded
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
- 2 slices stale bread, cubed
- 8 ounces fresh mushrooms
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper

Preheat oven to 325°F. In a medium bowl combine milk, 1 tablespoon of the butter and bread cubes; set aside for 10 minutes. Rinse, pat dry and slice mushrooms (makes about 3 cups). In a large skillet melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Add onion; saute until tender, about 3 minutes. Add mushrooms; continue to saute for 5 minutes; let cool. Add eggs, salt and black pepper to cooled mushroom and onion mixture; mix well. Pour into a greased 1-quart baking pan or quiche pan. Set pan in a larger pan containing hot water. Bake, uncovered, until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean, about 45 minutes. Serve for brunch with bacon and broiled tomatoes, if desired. Yield: 4 to 6 portions.

Heating a house with a forced air system can be more energy efficient if you clean or replace the filter monthly.

Carrot Marmalade

Steam carrots until tender. Cook 20 minutes, stirring often, in a large pot of water. Drain. Puree in a food processor or blender. Add sugar and lemon juice. Cook 10 minutes. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal.

NEWS OF NUTRITION

The Impact Of Fortified Cereals On Breakfast Nutrition

The importance of ready-to-eat cereals as a source of many nutrients needed at breakfast is shown by a study of the breakfast habits of 250 children: those who usually included ready-to-eat cereals in their morning meal skipped breakfast only 6% of the time, while those who did not eat these cereals skipped breakfast 20% of the time. Thus the convenience and taste appeal of ready-to-eat cereals encourage children to consume needed nutrients at breakfast.

The nutritional content of the foods eaten by these children was also analyzed. As shown in Figure 1, the breakfasts that included ready-to-eat cereals contained more vitamins and iron than breakfasts which did not include these cereals. Calories, protein and minerals supplied by the cereal and non-cereal breakfasts were similar. In contrast, breakfasts which did not include ready-to-eat cereals contained twice as much fat as the cereal breakfasts and nearly five times as much cholesterol. Similar trends were reported in December 1978 in a Michigan State University study of the nutritional content of 4,468 breakfasts chosen by more than 600 five- to twelve-year-old children. Breakfasts containing ready-to-eat cereals provided approximately twice the amount of thiamin, niacin, riboflavin and vitamins B₆, B₁₂, A and D as breakfasts which did not include these cereals. The cereal breakfasts were also much lower in fat and cholesterol than non-cereal breakfasts, but higher in vitamin C, folic acid, iron, calcium, potassium and copper. Thus, fortified ready-to-eat cereals markedly improved the nutritional content of children's breakfasts in both studies.

Manufacturers produce a wide variety of ready-to-eat and hot cereals which meet the varied taste preferences of a large, diverse population. Included among the ready-to-eat types are many vitamin- and iron-fortified brands, some that are protein- and vitamin-fortified, a number of whole-grain types, a few more highly fortified multivitamin and iron supplement cereals and a number of granola-type cereals.

CHAMPUS Claims Impact Aransas County

At a recent Health Care consumer's Council meeting at the Naval Regional Medical Center, a request was made by the CHAMPUS Coordinator to alert the Rockport - Fulton - Lamar areas about increasing misinformation concerning the Naval Hospital in Corpus Christi and CHAMPUS use.

Military retirees and dependents of both active and retirees who are eligible for health care in military facilities are urged to check first.

with the Naval Hospital for all but emergency care. This area (including Lamar) is within the 40-mile straight line control circle of the Naval Hospital; therefore CHAMPUS claims may be rejected if the care was available at the Naval Hospital.

The hospital is now more fully staffed than in the immediate past. Some services previously unavailable are now being offered. The "after-the-fact" CHAMPUS authorization may not be granted for civilian medical care if that care was available at the Naval Hospital.

The best advice is to check first.

Bill Patman's Long-Term Record

VS.

Bob Barnes' Short-Term Politics

STATE SENATOR BILL PATMAN:

- ★ Has been disclosing his personal finances for years as Senator, including in this campaign.
- ★ As a Senator, helped pass the first disclosure law applying to state legislators.
- ★ Has voted to stop "Executive (closed) Sessions" of the State Senate and has fought in the Senate for Open Meetings Laws to bring people into their government.
- ★ Has voted in the Texas Senate for:

 - A bill extending disclosure to top employees of state agencies.
- ★ During 19 years in the State Senate has supported all bills to encourage open and honest government.
- ★ Has voluntarily returned his salary as State Senator since entering the congressional race.

COUNTY JUDGE BOB BARNES:

- ★ During 21 years in public office NEVER made a financial disclosure until 4 days before the May 3 primary election.
- ★ In county government has offered neither leadership nor personal example to encourage disclosure.
- ★ Believes decisions on spending your tax money should be made in closed meetings.

Judge defends closed meeting

The administrative duties of a county commissioners court justify some closed meetings, County Judge Robert N. Barnes said yesterday.

Barnes' comments came in answer to a Times reporter's questions about a closed meeting Thursday afternoon in the commissioners courtroom. It was on the subject of planning the new jail complex. A Caller reporter was not allowed to report on the meeting.

The county judge had told reporters Thursday afternoon that they could stay if they took no notes and agreed not to report anything about the meeting.

He said at that time the meeting would be held "somewhere else" if these terms were not accepted.

Barnes said the session was "just another in a series of discussions with architects about the new courthouse-jail complex." He said a number of these have been held since the September bond issue proposal for the $14.5 million complex.
