DEMOCRATS LEADING

HELENA, Mont., July 18 (AP)—Senator John M. Erickson was trailing two opponents for the Democratic nomination to complete the remaining two years of the term to which the late T. J. Walsh was elected as returns were tabulated today from 423 out of 1317 precincts in yesterday's Montana primary election. James E. Murray, Democratic state chairman, was leading with James F. O'Connor, Livingston attorney, second.

For the Democratic nomination for the regular 6-year term, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, the state's senior senator, made a runaway race, leaving his lone opponent, Bert Replogle, Lewiston, far behind.

GUARDS REPULSE SEATTLE STRIKES

SEATTLE, July 18 (AP)—Strikers and sympathizers said by police to number 1200 stormed pier 41 here today but were repulsed by guards equipped with tear gas bombs. Nine ships at the pier were being unloaded by non-union men behind the police lines.

"NO NATIONAL SIGNIFICANCE TO STRIKE"

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—William A. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today asserted that the general strike at San Francisco was neither ordered nor authorized by the A. F. of L. and has no national significance, as far as organized labor was concerned.

Doctors Get Real Break In Maine

PORTLAND, Me., July 18 (AP)—The news may be a delight to the medical profession, but it's a pain in the pocketbook to Maine orchardists.

The "apple a day" treatment, which traditionally "keeps the doctor away," is likely to be sharply curtailed this year. A reduction of 72 per cent in this season's Maine apple crop compared with last year was estimated today by the state department of agriculture.

KIDNAP PROBE COLLAPSES

POLICE CLAIM CONNOR EVIDENCE INDICATES NO ABDUCTION

(By The Associated Press)

HARTSDALE, N. Y., July 18—The kidnaping theory in the Bobby Connor case collapsed today.

While the little curly-haired son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Connor lay seriously ill in a hospital, to which he was taken after being found yesterday in a bramble thicket near his home, federal agents and police announced their investigations were ended.

Given "Fair" Chance

They were convinced, they said, that the 21-month-old Bobby who disappeared last Thursday, wasn't kidnaped at all. All evidence showed, they declared, that he had toddled alone into the woods and had spent the five days there.

Suffering from starvation and exposure, the child is a "very sick baby" but has a "fair" chance to recover, said Dr. Claude W. Munger, attending him at the Grasslands hospital.

Frank Fay, agent of the department of justice, announced the end of the federal investigation in a statement in which he said it had been established that Bobby simply wandered from home.

Fay said investigators had traced the child's movements to the thicket where he was found by policemen Rossele Dunckel and Jerome Hogan. Bobby walked a block with 3-year-old Ruth Schwagerman, neighbor girl, and then wandered alone along a wagon path into the woods, Fay said the investigation had determined.

Dr. Munger said Bobby's condition "clearly indicated" that he had

WARRANT ISSUED FOR NEAL MYERS, STILL SOUGHT IN PROBE

(By The Associated Press)

NORMAN, Okla., July 18—A murder charge was filed today in the court of J. D. Grigsby, justice of the peace, against Neal Myers, El Reno youth sought for investigation into the death of Marian Mills, University of Oklahoma beauty queen, in a purported effort to prevent motherhood.

Although preliminary findings of an autopsy into Miss Mills' death have not disclosed the cause of death, Hazel Brown, fraternity house cook at whose home the campus beauty died eight days ago, told investigators that the tragedy followed use of a quack remedy to prevent motherhood.

Hunted In Texas

Young Myers, a junior pharmacy student at the university, vanished after summoning a physician to the Brown duplex and was last reported seen in Brownsville, Tex., and Matamoros, Mex., after abandoning his motor car at Houston, Texas.

Mrs. Brown is detained here as a material witness.

County Attorney Paul Updegraff, in drawing up the murder charge against the pharmacy student specified that the accusation was based on "an attempt to commit abortion by means of unknown instruments and having administered medicine of unknown quality."

Warrant Issued

A warrant was issued immediately for the arrest of Myers.

The county attorney requested newspapers to print the boy's picture again.

Although they could not determine the exact cause of death, the three physicians who performed the autopsy said they were certain it was not from natural causes.

Private Probe Into Killing Is Planned

SAN ANTONIO, July 18 (AP)—A private investigation of developments from the killing of Ralph Kerr, 72, in Duval county last October until his arrest at Rio Grande City will be launched by R. S. Bolling, oil operator, who has been charged with the killing.

"It's ridiculous," Bolling said, "and I am going to sift the thing through and get to the bottom of it.

The oil operator, whose home was burglarized and $68,000 worth of loot taken here recently, declared that he was in Hollywood and other California cities from September until November of 1933.

Utilities Capital Structure Reduced

ABILENE, July 18 (AP)—Capital structure of the West Texas Utilities company is being reduced by nearly $4,000,000, it was announced today from the company's home office. About $400,000 of preferred stock, unsold and in the treasury, is being withdrawn, and about $3,500,000 of common stock is being written off, with holders' consent, for purpose of caring for depreciation in values due to general liquidation over the country. No dividends have been paid on common stock for several years.

OFFICE IN DALLAS?

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Informed congressional sources said today the Home Owners Loan corporation planned to establish a southwestern headquarters with offices in Dallas.

They asserted this was the corporation's present intention—subject of course to possible change—despite official denials from that body that any such step was contemplated.

OLSON ORDERS WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS

LANGER DEFIES STATE COURT WRIT OUSTING HIM FROM OFFICE

(By The Associated Press)

BISMARCK, N. D., July 18—Two men acting as governor of North Dakota clashed in exercise of executive authority today as Lieutenant Governor Ole H. Olson, acting governor by court order, called on the adjutant general's office to withdraw national guardsmen and end state-wide martial law ordered by William Langer, recently convicted of a felony and ordered ousted by the state supreme court.

Olson also issued a proclamation revoking Langer's call for a special session of the legislature, scheduled to convene tomorrow noon.

Who Is Boss?

For the time being it was uncertain whose orders would be followed.

National guardsmen, armed with bayonets, were scattered throughout the statehouse, still acting under Langer's martial law order issued last night. Although Langer declared martial law to cover the entire state, Bismarck was the only city where guardsmen were used.

Whose orders members of the legislature would follow remained problematical. Langer in a telegram last night informed them to convene Thursday. Olson today wired the legislators he had filed a proclamation with the secretary of state revoking Langer's special call.

Writ Must Be Service

Service of a writ of quo warranto on the governor was necessary to complete the supreme court proceedings in which the justices ruled, four to one, last night that Langer's conviction of a conspiracy to solicit political contributions from federal relief workers disqualified him from holding office.

The court plans to issue the writ today, but in the meantime Langer continued to exercise executive authority.

Lawyers questioned whether Langer's authority ceased with the issuance of the court's decision or must await issuance and service of the quo warranto writ.

Bismarck streets were peaceful today after the demonstrations last night by approximately 200 persons, including some of the federal relief strikers, who paraded through the

Youth Charged In Illegal Operation

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 18 (AP)—Lowell Johnson, 20, of Tahlequah, sweetheart of a 19-year-old girl near death as the result of an alleged illegal operation, faced manslaughter charges today in connection with her attempt to avert motherhood.

Kelly Davis, 27, also charged with manslaughter in the case, was released on $500 bond.

Dr. Edward A. King, negro physician, who allegedly performed the operation, drowned himself rather than face arrest after the girl's screams attracted investigation to his home Monday.

TWO ARE DEAD IN ACCIDENT

SIX OTHERS INJURED, TWO CRITICALLY, IN SAN ANGELO WRECK

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, July 18.—Little hope is held this morning for the recovery of Joe, aged 7, and Vernon, aged 3, children of M. L. Elliott, seriously injured last night in an automobile accident three miles northwest of here on the Carlsbad highway, in which their mother, Mrs. Ida Elliott, 28, and baby brother, Roneke Lee, aged one, were killed.

The two children are suffering internal and head injuries.

Elliott, 38, a relief worker and two other Elliott children, Vealin, 5, and Orval, 2, and a niece of Elliott, Mrs. S. J. Elliott, 34, were also hurt on the wreck. Mrs. S. J. Elliott remained also in a serious condition this morning.

Asked Federal Aid

Identification of the dead and injured was made by officials of the county relief office where a complete record was recently obtained as the family had made application for government aid.

The accident occured as Elliott, driving the light coupe in which the family and two pet dogs were riding, cut in front of a large truck, one of a fleet returning here after moving office fixtures and equipment of an oil company from San Angelo to Midland. The two dogs were not hurt.

The Elliott family was en route home northwest of here after visiting with friends in the city.

Funeral arrangemenst for the two dead were pending location of relatives.

WARNING SOUNDED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18(AP)—A warning the health of hotel dwellers is endangered by closed laundries was made today in a plea of the San Francisco Hotel association that the strike-bound laundries be reopened.

SUB-MACHINE GUN IS USED BY PAIR

BETWEEN $5,000 AND $6,000 TAKEN AT NOON TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

ALBANY, July 18—The First National bank of Albany was robbed of between $5,000 and $6,000 at 12:12 p. m. today by two men who herded three employes and three customers into the vault with a pistol and submachine gun after making the six sit on the floor while scooping the money into a sack they had brought along.

The robbers fled westward, either toward Stamford or Abilene, in a late model V-8 Ford sedan, tan with yellow wheels. The number was 316-019, said bank officials who rushed out of the building as the machine disappeared.

PWA Withdraws 15 Allotments Today

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The Public Works administration today withdrew 15 allotments aggregating $528,230 for non-federal projects.

The revisions were made because the applicants had advised PWA they would abandon the improvements, that they desired to do their own financing, or because they had failed to sign bond contracts and grant agreements for their allotments and had not begun construction.

The list included Rosenberg, Tex., $28,000 for improving the water system; Bastrop, Tex., $51,000 for a sanitary sewer system; Liberty Hill, Tex., $500 for a school.

"Sextuplets" Found To Be Only Twins

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 18 (AP)—Medical circles were briefly agitated yesterday by a report from the village of Jontesti that a woman had given birth to six children.

A pilgrimage of scientists to visit the mother, Mrs. Joha Jordas, and her sextuplets was immediately begun. But the movement collapsed when it developed that the message of announcement, printed in a Bucharest newspaper, had been garbled.

They found it was only a case of the birth of twins.

Move Against Cut In Valuations Made

AMARILLO, July 18. (AP)—A writ of mandamus to prevent the trustees of the Borger independent school district from further reducing property valuations is sought in a suit filed in United States district court here today by the Woodmen of the World.

Federal Judge James C. Wilson has set the case for hearing in Fort Worth July 23.

The lodge organization claims that bonds voted by the district are endangered by the lowering of valuations. About $25,000 worth of bonds are held by the organization, but the suit seeks to collect only $3,900 worth of unpaid coupons, plus interest, and to prevent further reductions.

Fifth Victim Dies In Highway Mishap

DALLAS, July 18 (AP)—Burns incurred in a disastrous bus wreck near Dallas caused the death of a fifth victim, Mrs. C. C. Harpold, 59, of Italy, Tex.

The tragic accident occurred the evening of July 4, when a huge Greyhound bus, en route from San Antonio to Dallas, blew out a tire and crashed against a bridge abutment near Lancaster, 14 miles south of Dallas. The bus caught fire when its gasoline tank exploded and many passengers suffered burns.

EXPENSES ARE ANNOUNCED

CANDIDATES TELL HOW MUCH SPENT IN THEIR VOTE CAMPAIGNS

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 18 (AP)—C. C. McDonald, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has spent $5,713.83 and received contributions of $1,065 in his campaign, his manager, Senator Roy Sanderford, reported to the secretary of state today.

Edward K. Russell, gubernatorial candidate, reported he had spent $1,824.30 and had received no contribution.

United States Senator Tom Connally, seeking re-election, filed a statement showing contributions of $3,120 and expenses of $1,798.03, including $900 advanced to his campaign headquarters. J. C. Rice, his campaign manager, reported receipts of $4,590, including a $1,000 loan and the $900 remittance from Connally. Expenses incurred by the campaign manager totaled $4,484.10.

McAdoo Divorce To Face Investigation

LOS ANGELES, July 18 (AP)—The divorce of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo and Mrs. Eleanor Wilson McAdoo, daughter of the late President Wilson, faced an inquiry today by President Judge Frank C. Collier of the superior court.

Mrs. McAdoo was granted the divorce by Superior Judge Allan B. Campbell in a hearing lasting about five minutes yesterday — within twenty minutes after she filed suit.

"It would be possible for a complaint to be filed and go through the regular processes in the time which this action took," Judge Collier said, "but I want to know that all the processes were duly followed in the case."

ALLRED FLAYS FERGUSONS

CANDIDATE SPEAKS IN HEARING DISTANCE OF "MA'S" HOME

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

James V. Allred, Texas attorney general for four years, appealed to a vast Central Texas audience at Austin last night to elevate him to the governorship.

The young candidate spoke within hearing distance of the governor's mansion, and some things he had to say might have burned the ears of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and her husband, former Governor James E. Fergusson.

"No Special Favors"

"I could have had a mansion, probably, too, out in that restricted (Enfield) residential district," Allred said. "But, as you residents of the capital know, I have lived in a little modest home in a section where dwellers are humble persons. There are some tricycles, kiddie cars and other baby things out on the sidewalk. The dust flies in there every time the ice wagon passed where I live with my wife and two babies, but one who offers his money for favors dares not show his face there."

At Port Arthur, Maury Hughes impressed on his audience the need of the states upholding President Roosevelt in his recovery plan.

"The states must join in the battle," he said. "We must not dump all our problems into the lap of the president and look for miracles. The president needs the help of governors and legislators. I always have upheld the president and if you make me governor I certainly shall try to be of some comfort to him."

NEW HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT PRESENTED

LABOR RESOLUTION IS HELD POSSIBLE WAY OUT OF CRISIS

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18—An arbitration proposal gave new hope today to San Francisco and the other strike-prostrated bay cities.

The general strike committee called opposing forces in the Pacific coast maritime dispute for a "Showdown," voting to arbitrate differences and send all strikers back to wrok as soon as shipowners agree to recognize the maritime unions.

Seen As Way Out

Though the proposal failed to forecast specifically an end to the general walkout of nearly 100,000 union workers, which has paralyzed the normal service to 1,300,000 people of the metropolitan area, it was quickly hailed as a possible way out of the demoralizing crisis.

The resolution adopted by the committee after seven hours of debate followed a day of increasing tension as 30,000 eastbay workers joined in the walkout and raids and riots struck the region. More than 300 alleged radicals were rounded up by police while self-styled vigilante groups stormed known communist headquarters.

National guardsmen, in control of the San Francisco waterfront and touring the eastbay cities in squads, aided hard-pressed police in guarding the beleaguered region.

Johnson Raps Strike

Increasing evidence of federal concern over the spreading strike was seen as Hugh Johnson, NRA administrator, branded the general strike a "bloody insurrection" in an address at Berkely and P. A. Donaghue, chief examiner of the new national labor reference board, arrived here by airplane from Washington.

The general strike committee's

FRAME-UP CHARGE MADE BY DEFENSE

LOS ANGELES, July 18 (AP)—Testimony that the morals of Dave Allen, former head of the Central Casting bureau, were under discussion long before his indictment growing out of an alleged "wild party" was before a superior court jury today.

Appearing as the first of a number of defense witnesses which Attorney Jerry Geisler said would prove that charges were a "frame-up," was Mrs. Myra McKinney Russell, secretary of the Motion Picture Supporting and Extra Players' association. She testified that Miss June DeLong, film extra and the state's star witness, came to her office and wanted to "make a statement concerning the morals of Dave Allen," four months before he was indicted by the grand jury on charges of an offense against public morals.

Allen and Miss Gloria Marsh, red-haired actress, are accused of participating with Miss DeLong in an immoral party at her apartment last April 26.

Enters Plea Of Not Guilty In Slaying

BRIGHTON, Eng., July 18 (AP)—Tony Mancini, a "stuttering waiuer," pleaded not guilty today when formally charged with the hammer murder of Mrs. Violette Kaye, 42-year-old professional dancer.

Mancini, who was charged under the name "Jack Notyre," was remanded to jail for a hearing July 26.

Mrs. Kaye's body was found stuffed in a trunk in the cellar of a lodging house here Sunday and Mancini was arrested in London yesterday after a widespread search.

QUAKE RECORDED

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—An earthquake described as "very violent," was recorded on the seismograph at Fordham university at 8:43 o'clock last night, university officials reported today.

SO THIS IS PEACE-TIME WARFARE?

BY RALPH H. HEPPE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18. (AP)—So this is peace-time warfare!

Tanks. Bayonets. Machine guns. Armored trucks. Steel-helmeted humans. Sand-bag barricades.

Much there is akin to those portentous days of 1918 in France. But there's something strangely lacking. It's all too quiet and ominous, like those minutes before a lone 75 barked out its signal of zero hour.

The scream of "H E" (high explosive), the thud of bursting gas shells, the whine of machine gun bullets, the staccato bark of French 75s—all that's missing here. But what portends?

From Islais creek, to the south end of the waterfront, to the northwestward we worked. Guards walking post everywhere, passes scrutinized closely and you move into the military zone.

Here's the sergeant of the guard, Leo M. Gray, a veteran of campaigns in the islands, China and Siberia. Tall, experienced, decorations on his blouse, he knows what it's all about.

At the "P C" (post of command), the "skipper" is out somewhere. There's a familiar picture, though. The boys roll-

"GEO. B. TERRELL" IN COURT AGAIN

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, July 18.—Election officials here were puzzled over the controversy that has arisen since a Dallas man went into court and had his name changed from Jefferson T. Baker to "George B. Terrell."

Immediately after the change, this man became a candidate for state treasurer and his name has been printed on 100,000 ballots in Dallas county alone. His name is listed on the official ballot under "state treasurer" as "George B. Terrell."

Now comes Congressman George B. Terrell with a suit asking that Judge Tom A. Work, who granted the name change last May 31, annul his previous order. Congressman Terrell alleged that Baker took over his (Terrell's) name for political purposes. Congressman Terrell pointed out that for many years he had been known favorably by his name in Texas.

Judge Work set Congressman Terrell's application to annul the previous order for hearing Friday.

In his application to change his name, Baker set out as his reason that it would help and assist him in business.

One Hundred Call At Evening Party

Mrs. W. A. Jackson entertained with an al fresco tea Tuesday evening on the lawn of her home, 2512 Twenty-second street, for Miss Emma Dee Darden of Meredian, guest in the Jackson home, and Mrs. J. H. Pipkin of Beaumont who is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Temple Lewis. Approximately 100 guests called.

Guests were received by Mesdames J. O. Ellsworth and A. B. Cunningham. Others in the house party included Misses Dorothy Lomax, Quanah Lewis, Mesdames Fred W. Standefer, Lewis, W. P. Clements, Clark Mullican, Frank Winn, Naomi Moore and M. E. Ogden.

Tech Alumnus Plans August Wedding

Engagement of John F. Clingingsmith of Dallas, former Texas Technological college student, to Miss Kathryn Huneke, also of Dallas, was announced at a bridge tea given Saturday in Dallas' by Mrs. Frank Huneke, mother of the bride-elect. The wedding is to take place August 4 at the Highland Park Methodist church.

Mr. Clingingsmith is the son of Mrs. Belle Clingingsmith of Nacona. He is a former student of University of Oklahoma and Southern Methodist university and a member of Lamb da ChiAlpha fraternity. He attended Tech during the years 1925-27.

NEGROES SEEK DEMO VOTE

MOTION IS FILED IN APPEALS COURT TO DEMAND SUFFRAGE

DALLAS, July 18 (AP)—The first move in an effort to mandamus Dallas county Democratic election officials to permit negroes to vote in the July 28 primary was made here Tuesday in the fifth court of civil appeals.

R. Q. Mason, through attorneys, filed a motion for leave to file a petition with the court seeking a mandamus against Murrell L. Bucker, Democratic county chairman, R. S. Quillen, secretary, and all members of the Dallas county executive committee, precinct election judges and assistants and Robin Adair, county clerk.

The mandamus petition itself asked that the defendants be required to ignore the recent opinion of Attorney General James V. Allred that the 1932 state Democratic ruling against negro participation in the primaries was valid.

Sixteen Injured In Mexico Train Crash

MEXICO, D. F., July 18 (AP)—The fast Laredo-Mexico City train was wrecked Tuesday between Endo and Carrasco, injuring 16 persons, some of them seriously.

As a result of the accident a special train of excursionists from Oklahoma was delayed several hours.

Two trains from Queretaro were dispatched immediately to take care of the injured and bring the passengers to the capital.

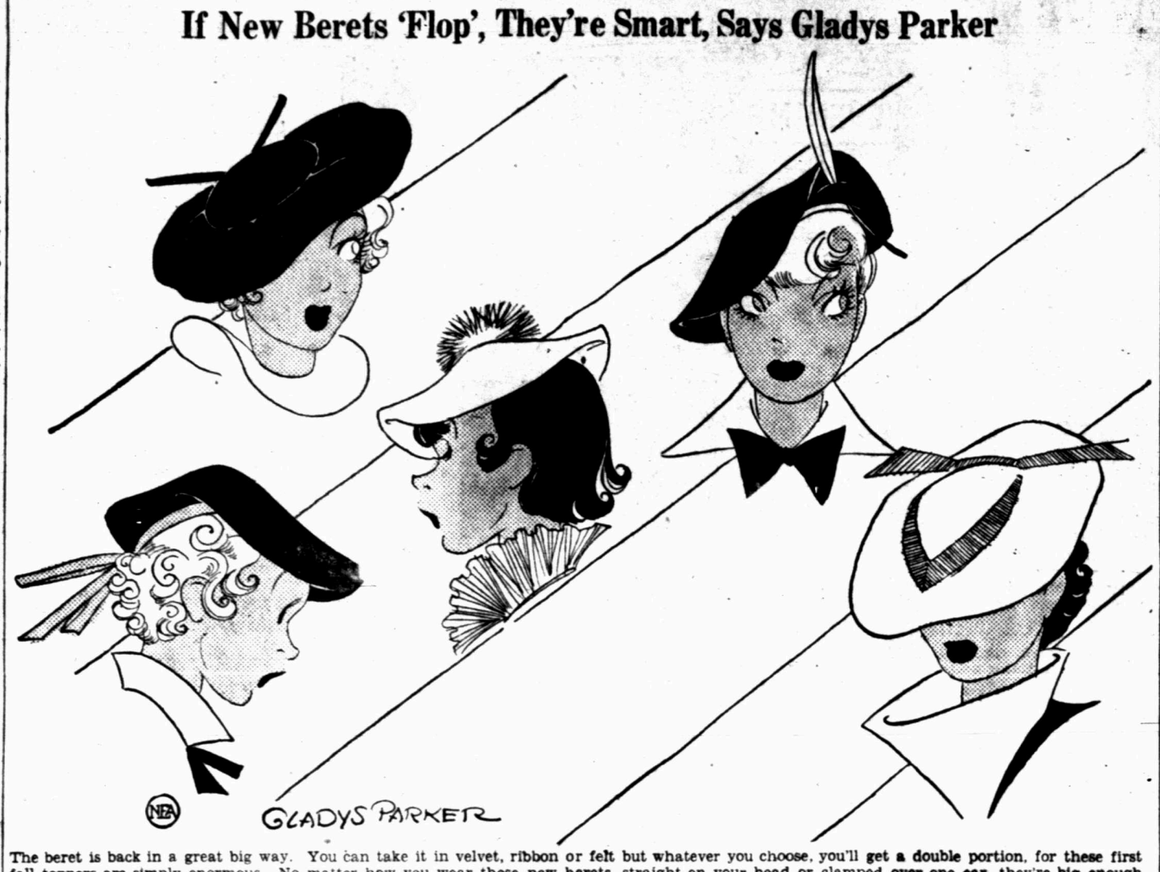

HERB GARDENS

The herb garden is rapidly becoming an American institution. All sorts of English favorites are found to grow well in American soil. The best place to plant the herb garden is right outside the kitchen door where it will be handy for the plucking. Herbs that add spice to the cooking and that are easily grown in the average back yard are: tarragon, mint, chives, majoram, sage, parsley, leeks and various other members of the onion family.

EMERGENCY LAUNDERING

If you are stopping in a hotel and find your supply of hosiery is running low, wash the stockings, wrap them in a towel and place on a radiator to dry.

If New Berets 'Flop', They're Smart, Says Gladys Parker

The beret is back in a great big way. You can take it in velvet, ribbon or felt but whatever you choose, you'll get a double portion, for these first fall toppers are simply enormous. No matter how you wear these new berets, straight on your head or clamped over one ear, they're big enough to flop all around in a most seductive manner. They make a swell late summer pick-me-up for a tired wardrobe and will add sophistication to the most demure frock.

At the top, left of the sketch, black Lyons velvet is used with a corded top to give the effect of a double brim. Dark brown felt makes the tam at the lower left of the sketch. It has a biege grosgrain ribbon band and streamers. In the center a very Scottish tam is made of green velvet with a matching silk pom-pom at the top. At the top, right, black faille is used for a very rakish looking beret with a stiff lacquered feather holding up the left side. Deep blue felt makes an exaggerated affair so wide it is based on a skull-cap bandeau to keep it in place. Red grosgrain ribbon borders this skull-cap section and forms the back bow.

Mr. And Mrs. Alred Are Complimented

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Gene Alred, members of the Calvary Baptist Willing Workers B. Y. P. U. group and several friends entertained Monday evening at the home of Mr. Alred's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Alred, 2119 Texas Avenue. Mrs. Gene Alred was Miss Connie Green before her marriage, June 21.

Those participating in the entertainment were Misses Kathleen Green, Evelyn McCrummen, Billy Lewis, Blanche Moseley, Ada Belle Pruitt, Ruby Rawls, Mary Lee Green, Edna Mae Allen, Fannie B. Bratcher, Janet Howard, Frances Jones, Iris Green, Ruth Mae Alred, Violet Weed.

Messrs Bundy Bratcher, Overt Copeland, Hall McCrummen, J. A. Nunley, Aubrey McCarty, Melford Alred, Lloyd Simmons, James Ray, Grady Alred, O. Chambers, Messrs. and Mesdames Luther Green, L. F. McCrummen, J. A. Alred, J. C. Cox, J. W. Crowder, Charles Rhodes, Mesdames B. B. Simmons, O. T. Simmons, Roy Parks and two children, J. W. Crowder, jr., and Toddy Crowder.

USING LEFT-OVER DRESSING

The left-over dressing from chickens or turkeys need not be lost. It can be served as a delicious course. Roll it into balls, wrap bacon around it, attaching with a tooth pick if necessary, and then bake or fry. It makes an excellent dish for luncheon or a light, hot supper.

Cigarets in their modern form were introduced into America and Europe about 65 years ago.

BRIDE WITHDRAWS DIVORCE SUIT AS HUSBAND'S THYROID GLAND REMOVED

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—With his thyroid gland removed, Fomler M. Peterson will make a good husband, his bride of six months believes.

For that reason she withdrew yesterday the divorce suit she filed against him last March and they left Judge Walter J. La Buy's court together to seek the domestic felicity long withheld by his illness.

Cruelty Charged

The Petersens were married here January 27 and after their separation March 11, she filed through her attorney Irving Eiseman a bill for divorce, charging cruelty.

He beat her three days after their wedding, she said, choked her, burner her hair and neck with a cigaret he threw at her, threw cigarets at her in the bathtub and locked her in a closet.

Five weeks ago Petersen, a bond salesman, underwent an operation for removal of his thyriod, which had enlarged and become overactive, termed a toxic goiter.

Two weeks ago, his attorney, Robert E. Cantrell, jr., pleaded with Judge La Buy for a delay of the trial of the suit, asserting that the operation had changed his client so that he thought Petersen could live happily with his wife.

Wife Agrees

Tuesday, after a two week test period, the wife agreed with him. Petersen had lost all the irritability, nervousness, unstable temperament that physicians said went with the toxic goiter and had the possibility of becoming a comparfionable husband, she said, and she was willing to return to him.

The thyriod is a ductless gland in the neck which maintains the activity of all the cells of the body at the normal level.

James Roy Cagle Has Birthday Party

James Roy Cagle was complimented on his sixth birthday when Mrs. C. R. Cagle, his mother, entertained Tuesday morning with a picnic at City park. Guests were Martha Ann Hallmark, Jennie Herd, Dorothy Simms, Edwin Cozby, Thurman Reynolds, Ruth Gray, Gene Gray, Betty Jean Bennett, John Richard Bloom and Sedly Levey.

Tuesday Bible Class Has Meeting

At a meeting of the Tuesday Bible class in the home of Mrs. L. V. Risinger, 1906 Avenue O, there were 20 members present. The lesson was taught by Mrs. W. H. Trice.

The meeting next Tuesday will be in the home of Mrs. M. H. Duncan, 2205 Sixteenth street at 4 p. m.

WITH WOOL TAILLEUR

PARIS (AP)—A big belt of brown leather gives a smart touch to a suit of beige wool which the Marquise de Jaucourt wears this spring. The tailleur, which is cut in simple trig lines, is worn with a blouse of brown and white printed crepe de chine.

Mrs. Leroy Patton Is AAUW Hostess

American Association of University Women members and guests called at an informal tea on the patio of the home of Mrs. Leroy Patton, 2415 Nineteenth street, Tuesday evening.

An informal discussion was held, during which Miss Eunice King, formerly of Pernambuco, Brazil, where she taught at the Collegio Americana Baptista, talked of South America.

Mexican Motif

Flowers were arranged in Mexican pottery vases on tables placed around the patio and punch was served by Mrs. William Dingus from a Mexican pottery bowl. Miss Martha Brooke, a guest in the Patton home, and Miss Ruth Callan, who is visiting Mrs. Dingus from Fort Worth, assisted in serving refreshments.

Special guests were Mrs. Kenneth Oberholtzer, Miss Eunice King and Miss Pella Phillips.

Mrs. R. V. Mullenix Is Club Hostess

So and Such club members were guests of Mrs. R. V. Mullenix at her home, 1916 Avenue N, Tuesday afternoon.

Attending were Mesdames C. B. Akers, E. E. Morris, Mike Barrier, Jess Williams, W. F. Brewer, Wayne Parish, Miss Marie Kincaide and a visitor, Mrs. Si Hamilton.

Mrs. Jess Williams will be hostess, July 31 at 4 p. m., for a picnic at City park.

LOCALS

Mrs. Herbert Meurer and little daughter, Jeanette, left last night for their home in Muenster after visiting here the past ten days with Mrs. Muerer's sister, Mrs. C. W. Ratliff, 2625 Twentieth street.

Mrs. J. H. Pipkin of Beaumont is here visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Temple Lewis, 2513 Twenty-second street.

Mrs. W. F. Fry and daughter Klipstein, 2621 Twenty-first street, have returned from a five weeks vacation. In Dallas, Miss Kilpstein attended a state meeting of the Rainbow Assembly. In Houston they visited Mrs. Fry daughters, Miss Ruth and Mrs. W. A. Mamlett, and her son, S. W. In Austin they visited another daughter, Miss Mary Phillips Fry, University of Texas student, who accompanied them home for a few weeks visit.

Mrs. Tom N. Pyka of San Antonio is visiting in the home of Mrs. H. J. Smith, Acuff community. She will be here about two weeks.

Miss Mary Hoyle Heatly returned Tuesday from Austin where she has been studying toward a Ph.D. degree at the University of Texas this summer.

NEW GAS RATE IS OFFERED

CITY DADS ARE GIVEN OPTIONAL CONTRACT FOR STUDY

An optional rate contract designed to effect savings for some gas consumers of Lubbock was presented to members of City commission for study Tuesday by the West Texas Gas company as a second stage in the company's plan to offer revised rates on a trial schedule over a period of 12 months.

Several weeks ago, officials of the company requested the commission to permit them to put into effect an optional rate which would reduce the cost of gas to the average domestic and commercial user in the city of Lubbock. At that time, the commissioners took the matter under advisement and requested the company to submit them the form of contract they proposed to use in applying the optional rates which offers 50-cent gas after the first thousand cubic feet of consumption.

Would Reduce Bills

R. F. Hinchey, vice president and general manager of the company, declared Tuesday that "if the city commission would permit the use of the optional rate under the contract submitted, that the majority of annual residential bills in the City of Lubbock would be materially reduced, resulting in a substantial saving annually to those domestic consumers having an average or better than an average gas consumption." The saving to those average domestic users under the proposed optional rate and contract would range from $5 to as high as $50 annually, depending upon the amount of gas used, he said.

"For this reason," Mr. Hinchey said, "we are confident that the optional rate will meet the approval of the gas users in Lubbock."

Users Would Benefit

He said commercial users of gas, such as mercantile establishments, cafes, rooming houses, apartment houses, etc., would also benefit substantially under the proposed new rate, making savings in their annual bills of from 15 to 20 per cent, depending upon the amount of their annual gas consumption.

"If the city commission will permit us," Mr. Hinchey said, "to put this optional rate into effect, Lubbock will have as low, if not the lowest, gas rate of any city in Texas situated this far from a gas field.

"Under the proposed optional contract, there is no chance for the consumer to lose," he continued, "since the contract provides that if the annual bill under the optional rate should be greater than the annual bill figured at the present applicable published rate, the company is obligated to refund the difference within 15 days after the end of the contract year.

Increase Is Sought

"The company hopes that by putting in this optional rate it will be able to secure additional consumers and increase the volume of its gas sales and thus increase and stabilize its revenues.

"We are not asking the commission to revise or change our present rates nor to change their plans or policies in any manner, but we hope," Mr. Hinchey said, "that the city commission will permit us to put this optional rate into effect and pass on this saving to our consumers, and if permission is granted we will at once begin submitting the contracts to our consumers so that the work can be completed before cold weather, with its attendant increase in gas consumption is upon us."

Mr. Hinchey said it was the intention of the company to request the city councils of other towns served in this area to permit the company to put this optional rate in effect and that officials planned to push the matter as rapidly as possible.

Contract Is Cited

The optional rate contract submitted to the commission follows:

"The undersigned (hereinafter called consumer) in consideration of the special rate granted herein, hereby agrees to take and use Natural Gas for a period of not less than 12 months continuously from this date, at ----- street, occupied by consumer as a -----; such gas to be furnished by the West Texas Gas company (hereinafter called the company) at the following maximum rates:

"First 1,000 cu. ft. per month, $1.50.

Next 49,000 cu. ft. per month at 50c per thousand cu. ft.

All additional cu. ft. per month at 30c per thousand cu. ft.

Minimum bill $1.50 per month.

"Additional charge — one-ninth (1-9th) of bill will be added if not paid within 10 days after date rendered.

"This contract does not cancel the contract consumer now has with the company for the furnishing of natural gas, but supplements the same, including the right of cancellation by reason of removal from the city, or of substituting a new location for the one designated above. The consumer agrees to take and use the gas furnished hereunder subject to all the rules and regulations and provisions contained in said original contract except as herein modified.

"It is further understood that the consideration for the granting of the rate hereinabove specified, is the agreement of the undersigned consumer to take and use said gas for a continuous period of not less than 12 months from this date, and that this contract is not subject to cancellation by consumer until the expiration of said 12 months' period, except upon payment by consumer to said company for all gas used under this contract up to the date of such termination at the rate applicable to consumers of the same class in said city or town who have not elected to take gas on the optional basis; provided, however, that bills will be computed on the optional rate if this contract is cancelled by virtue of the circumstances detailed in the preceding paragraph. It is agreed that the total annual bill under such optional rate shall never be greater than the total annual bill under the applicable published rate of the company in the city or town of ------ for the same volume of gas consumed by months during the yearly period herein provided for, and in the event such annual bill under the optional rate shall be greater, refund for the difference shall be made within fifteen (15) days after the end of the contract year.

"It is agreed and understood that this agreement shall run for an initial period of one year from the date hereof, and may be renewed for twelve (12) months' period thereafter at the option of the consumer, but not to exceed a period of three years from December 31, 1934."

It has been found that constant intoxication has no effect on the health of mice, rats, or fowls.

MAHON BRINGS DRIVE HERE

COLORADO CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS GIVES PLATFORM IN TALK

Young, bass-voiced George Mahon of Colorado, candidate for congressional nomination from the 19th district, brought his campaign to Lubbock last night in a speeck delivered from a truck in the street east of Hotel Lubbock.

J. K. Wester, chairman of the Lubbock County Democratic Executive committee, introduced the candidate. A loud speaker system was used. A responsive crowd of a thousand or more people heard the address.

Delegations Present

Before the meeting several delegations, including a group from Levelland, and others from Lamb and Crosby counties, met with him. Groups from Amherst, Levelland, Littlefield, Abernathy, Ralls, Crosbyton and other towns, were in the audience.

After declaring himself a Democrat who had followed his party and always "supported the nominees of my party," Mr. Mahon launched into an outline of his platform. He pointed out that the 19th district was composed of about 254,000 people living in the 25 counties of the district, with a voting strength of 60,000 "of as pure American stock as can be found in any district on the American continent."

In discussing the taxation problem he pointed out that one-third of the national income is spent for taxes. He urged a change in the present system that would lighten the burden on labor, the farmer and the public generally. "Our government has gotten closer to us in these troublesome times," he said. "A proper political policy would have a great deal to do with the American people getting out of our present situation."

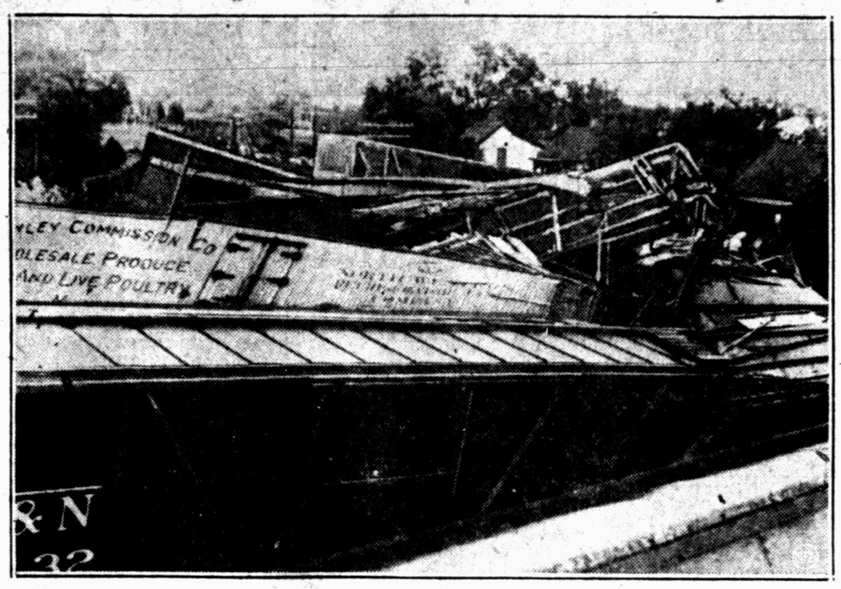

Opposes Tax-Free Bonds

Mr. Mahon pledged himself to stop the vicious practice of issuing tax-free bonds and other government securities. "If I go to congress as your representative," he pledged, "I will go dedicated to and pledged to work that there would never be issued by the American government another tax-exempt bond or security."

The speaker said he was in "full accord with the policies of the national administration to reduce the gold content of the dollar," in a discussion of the monetary problem facing the nation. He said he favored an "expansion of the money in circulation, in the paying of an honest debt of the government" referring the payment of adjusted compensations due to world war soldiers.

Eight Vagrants Died in This 22-Car Pile-up

From this grotesque heap of splintered wood and twisted steel—the wreckage of 22 freight cars derailed on the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, near Lavergne, Tenn.—the bodies of eight dead vagrants and more than a dozen injured were removed. A broken wheel was blamed for the wreck. No trainmen were injured, the engine and about half the cars staying on the track.

Restoration Of Trade

International trade should be restored, he pointed out, if the nation and if Texas are to prosper. Our trade, he said, had dropped in about four years from five and a half billion dollars to one and a half billion dollars. In normal times, he said, 56 per cent of the Texas cotton crop was exported. A few years ago Texas exported over a million dollars worth of cotton daily.

Cheers greeted his statement that he favored an interstate law restricting and stopping the shipment of "vile, indecent literature and motion pictures," from one state to another, that corrupt the minds of the youth and "break down the morals and purity of our boys and girls." He pledged himself to work for such a law if elected to congress.

Wealth Redistribution

A redistribution of the wealth of the nation and a strong inheritance tax law that would prevent concentration of money in the hands of a few families and the passing of huge fortunes from one generation to another, were urged.

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 18 (AP)—Retrial of William and Edna Mapes, husband and wife, on a charge of murder opened in Maricopa county superior court here Tuesday.

The trial moved swiftly and before court recessed last night the state had rested its case and the defense had called two witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Mapes are charged with murder of Dallas Finchun, Mrs. Mapes' former husband of Southland, Texas. He was shot to death last June 9 in front of an auto court cabin here occupied by the Mapes.

Problems Studied By German Experts

BERLIN, July 18. (AP)—Experts of the reich's finance ministry assembled hastily Tuesday to consider what to do about a decision by the three Dawes loan trusteers to withhold for foreign bondholders about 200,000,000 marks which normally would have been used to pay some of the government's domestic bills.

A government statement said the Dawes loan trustees—three foreign bankers—are jeopardizing the reich, and assurance was given that the "necessary action" would be taken.

What that action is to be was not fully disclosed, but the government announced that the revenues of certain internal duties would no longer be credited to the trustees

Today's Losers Will Be Ousted

ROPESVILLE, MORTON, OLTON, WOLVES SEEK TO STAY IN MEET

Two teams will have been eliminated from the fourth annual Avalanche-Journal Invitation Baseball tournament when the double header at College Avenue Park is over this afternoon.

Ropesville, loser to Wilson Monday, meets Manager Fred Rich's Wolfforth Wolves in the first game which starts at 2:30 o'clock.

Morton and Olton, two good teams who tried too hard to win yesterday's games, will meet in the second contest, beginning about 4:30 or as soon as the first game is over.

They'll be hard losers today, and no wonder. It's their last chance for a comeback and the gold and glory that goes to the tournament winner next Sunday. Four fighting teams will furnish the fans of the South Plains a show worth the dough this afternoon.

Morton and Olton lost yesterday in as fair a pair of games as you'd want. The final scores were a trifle top heavy, Morton bowing to Abernathy, 6 to 10, and Olton beaten by O'Donnell 3 to 11, but the games were fast enough to be interesting through the ninth inning of each.

Meet Senor Costello

In the first game, Manager Johnny Rodgers sent his pet pitcher, the cool-headed Juan Costello, to the mound. The fighting Morton team greeted the lanky Latin-American with a four-run attack, but they didn't get that many hits off him. Costello's support failed to stack up after he failed himself by dusting off the first man to face him, McGee. Patterson singled and big Rutherford, who has played here numerous times with the Levelland club, slashed out a double to score both runners. Billy Holloway failed to get one in center field and Manager Buck Green of Morton went to third, scoring on an infield error.

Then Senor Costello, who started cold when Manager Rodgers flipped a coin to determine the starting tosser, struck out J. Green. Howall was tagged off first and Burke popped out of second.

Except for a couple of infield errors in the third which let in a run, Costello pitched great baseball to win. He struck out 11 batters, and allowed only three hits after the first inning. Rutherford scored in the third after being safe on a muff when Buck Green also was safe.

Morton got their sixth run on hard hits and a sacrifice. Howell singled in the eighth and went down when Vaughn, replacing J. Green, bunted. Groves fanned, but Alldredge doubled, scoring Howell. In the two preceding innings, Costello fanned four men, three of them in the sixth frame.

Holloway Hits Homer

Abernathy, one of the pre-tournament favorites, scored first when Holloway, first up in the second, sent one across the fence for a round trip. After two outs, Barret singled and scored on big Herschel Galey's circuit blow.

Hurley started on the mound for Morton, pitched four shutout innings with two scoring innings in between. In the fifth, Hurley's support failed and after the first two men were out, Chuck Webster, R. D. Prather and Bradford were safe on fumbles, the first two scoring on the last boner. It was enough to break up any pitcher, and Holloway singled, Pressley and C. Berry walked to fill the sacks, but Barrett was out at first, Patterson to Rutherford.

Jess Harp To Hill

Jess Harp went in for Hurley, walked Bradford, who stole second, and Pressley hit a homer for two scores. Harp, a veteran campaigner in these parts, struck out Berry and Galey, and Holloway was out to center. The last two scores came in the eighth. Costello singled and came home on R. D. Prather's out to center. Webster got a double, and scored on Bradford's single. Another Berry replaced Harp, dusted off Pressley, struck out Scott Prather and caused Barrett to hoist to second, to end Abernathy's day at bat.

The second game was a well-fought contest between two other teams making their debut in the tournament. O'Donnell, with J. Reeves toiling, showed a real championship threat by scoring when scoring was needed and holding the opposition to a minimum of hits and runs.

Reeves was touched for nine hits, but he kept them well scattered over the route. G. Richard's home run in the second with Catcher Sessions on board gave Olton its first runs. Until the sixth, Reeves had the battling Olton batters under his thumb. Qualls' triple in that inning scored G. Richards, who had singled. Two were out and the next man was out, Strudevant to Melton.

O'Donnell Takes Lead

O'Donnell, managed by youthful Cecil Tredway, led off with two runs in the first. Lemmons hit a single. Melton was safe on a shortstop error and White's punch to second scored them both.

In the third, Lemmons doubled, and came in ahead of Melton who bagged a four-baser. Smith was pitching for Olton, and doing a fair job of it then for the next two innings, allowing two scattered hits and participating in a neat play to catch a runner at the plate and another at first. Then he was removed in favor of Dill, who ran into trouble, after pitching a nice seventh inning. O'Donnell batted around in the eighth, scoring seven runs. Strudevant's triple scored three of them, A. Tredway, Lemmons and Melton, and Sturdevant tallied on Ritchie's single after Dill was replaced by Helms. Prior to that, Ritchie had hit safely and scored on Johnson's triple, Johnson coming home on J. Reeve's single.

Helms struck out Johnson to stop the rally and the inning, and in the ninth, O'Donnel went down in order, Bennett to Dill, three times.

Nearly 6,000 persons in Great Britain, 1,200 of them living in London, were born on the high seas.

DALLAS TAKES SHABBY TILT OFF BUFFS

TEAMS GIVE EXAMPLE OF WHAT'S WRONG WITH BASEBALL

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A few hundred baseball fans saw one of the things wrong with the game at Dallas last night.

They saw the Steers and Houston go through the routine of nine innings without hustling or making a half-hearted attempt to win.

Errors Mark Contest

Dallas won, 3 to 2, in a game filled with shabby errors. If they could be overlooked the rank base running by both aggregations could not.

In the eighth, when Dallas scored twice to gain a one-run lead, Kalbitz, Houston first sacker, was charged with only two errors but he should have easily handled a batted ground ball that he allowed to bounce through his mitt for the winning run.

In the ninth, Euller, first up for Houston, singled, and instead of trying to sacrifice him to a scoring position at second, Gutteridge and Foster were allowed to hit easy pop-ups for outs. Then instead of trying with a pinch hitter, Copeland, who had looked pitiful at the plate was allowed to bat. He retired the side.

At Forth Worth, Peaches Davis worked hard to win his fifteenth game of the season when he pitched the Cats to a 2 to 1 victory over Beaumont in ten innings. Tom Holley, former Beaumont infielder, cracked a single through the box to center with the bases loaded to break the 1-1 deadlock.

Indians Scalp Padres

The league leading San Antonio Missions slipped a few percentage points when they lost 10 to 8 to Oklahoma City. The Indians clouted sixteen hits off Pitcher Wiltse, and San Antonio got fifteen hits off pitchers Shoaf and Evans.

The Galveston Buccaneers moved into second place with a 5 to 4 decision over Tulsa. Tulsa out-hit the Bucs, to to 8, but the Oilers were erratic in the field, making four errors.

BASEBALL TODAY, WRESTLING TONIGHT, at College Avenue park and the Auditorium respectively.

It's a tense day in the baseball tournament. The field will be trimmed to six clubs after today's double header. Two of the starting field of eight will bid us bye-bye. You may expect some bitterly fought baseball. No team is going to give up its entrance fee and a chance for the big money without a struggle.

Fred Rich's Wolfforth Wolves will meet Ropesville in the first game today. Both played great baseball Monday except for a couple of innings each. Ropesville settled down after the first inning to play Wilson on almost even terms for the balance of the way. Manager Carter's team will be back at 'em this afternoon, not Wilson, but Wolfforth.

Tomorrow's first game will find the Hub Clothiers, alias the Lubbock Ramblers, battling the Wilson team in the first game. These clubs looked more like good minor leaguers in their first games than any team we've seen in the last season or two. They go into their second game with an unusually low "runs and hits allowed" records. Wilson's big Spradlin came mighty close to winning a shutout over Ropes, holding the team scoreless until the last inning and then permitting one tally. He gave up nine hits, but they were well scattered. A long, lanky guy, Spradlin was nicked in the neck by a hard pitched ball in the first inning and had to have a runner, but he went on the mound and hurled fine baseball, keeping his head like a veteran and puzzling the batters with a slow ball.

The Hub Clothiers, sponsored by Sam Rosenthal during the tournament, backed up Tracy Watson's six-hit pitching to blank their first round quarry. That's a hustling club, and a sparkling one, what with their black uniforms and white undershirts, and all.

Fans at the park so far have been getting their money's worth, judging by the cheers and the fact that they stay right there until the last out is recorded.

OTIS CLINGMAN, cream of the light heavyweights or heavy middleweights, will be the main figure in tonight's wrestling show at the Auditorium. He takes on dangerous Dan McShain in the main go, and if McShain doesn't slay him with an illegal blow or hold, Mr. Clingman, one of our nicest and most intelligent grapplers, will make McShain wish he'd stayed in Ireland.

It'll be another rough night at the Auditorium. The three toughest men of the circuit, McShain and Rod Fenton, hold places on the semi-final and main event. Fenton is to meet the New Yorker, Vic Webber, in what looms as an exposition of mayhem and semi-manslaughter.

A newcomer will be introduced tonight in the preliminary. He is Doug Henderson, who rassles in Dallas and Fort Worth most of the time, and is a favorite villain at both places, also at Abilene and San Angelo. It is his first trip to Lubbock. He meets Don Carver, and he'll just about tear Carver to pieces. He almost did that to Sheik Mar Allah in Abilene the other day, and the Sheik's hand is still swollen where he biffed Henderson on the chin in an effort to break a bad hold.

There's another feature at the auditorium tonight. Candidates for county and district political offices will be introduced from the ring. Have your pop bottles ready if one of them even looks like he might make a speech.

Promoter Sled Allen has received a letter from Jack Van Bebber, local fair-haired boy who never lost an amateur or Olympic match and has been faring almost as well as a professional. Jack is in California, but not in the strike district. He says the state is overrun with wrestlers, and it's the guy with the biggest voice that gets a match. He's been fighting semi-finals and special events mostly, and has not lost a match since he left Lubbock. Says he ought to be breaking into the main events soon, as he's getting pretty chummy with promoters the longer he hangs around and continues to win.

But the purpose of the trip, Bebber explains, is to "rest up" and absorb the California sunshine so's he'll be ready to go against the real tough boys in this circuit next winter. If the California sunshine is any stronger than that of Texas, he should be plenty good when he gets home.

LUBBOCK COUNTRY CLUB, who put on a fine golf tournament for the folks last week, will be host to a "get acquainted" tennis tournament next week. It's to be a men's singles tournament. Attractive prizes are to be awarded by Walton's, The Man's shop, and you register at Walton's if you want to enter the tournament. Deadline on registrations is Friday at 9 a. m. Play begins Sunday and continues through the following Sunday, with one match per day. This is arranged so that the business man may have plenty of time to play. The losers in the first round will form a consolation flight, and winners in the championship and consolation will receive equal prizes.

HELEN JACOBS RETURNS TO AMERICA, CONFIDENT SHE WILL RETAIN TITLE

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—While Helen Jacobs suffered one of the greatest disappointments of her career when she failed to win the All-England championship at Wimbledon, the Berkeley, Calif., tennis girl was back on her native shores today, brimful of hope and confident she will retain her national title next month.

Miss Jacobs, who lost to Dorothy Round in the Wimbledon finals, returned to the United States last evening on the liner Olympic, and planned almost immediately to whip herself into condition for her title defense at Forest Hills Aug. 13-18.

Helen revealed she had wrenched her right ankle in the finals of the French hard court championship against Margaret (Peggy) Scriven of England and played in the Wightman cup and Wimbledon matches under the handicap of that injury. Toward the close of the British championships she developed a heavy cold.

With a national title already to her credit and confident of retaining it this summer although she fears Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., and Betty Nuthall of England, Miss Jacobs said her ambition now is to win the Wimbledon crown.

34 Miles Given In 2,000 Walks To The Bambino

NEW YORK, July 17. (AP)—Thirty-four miles of free transportation to first base through the wildness or caution of American league pitchers—that's Babe Ruth's record to date.

The Babe received his 2,000th base on balls in yesterday's game with the Cleveland Indians and thus reached another milestone in perhaps the most remarkable career in baseball history.

Eleven times Ruth has led the American league in total walks. Twelve times he has been given more than 100 free tickets in a season, setting up an all-time record of 170 in 1923. The two walks he was given yesterday brought his total for this season to 67.

ROD FENTON TO MEET VIC WEBBER IN A SEMI-FINAL GO

Danny McShain, exponent of a nefarious school of neck-twisting, and "Squeeky" Clingman, chunky technician from Amarillo, wrestle tonight in the main event at the Auditorium arena.

So, as has been stated above, they meet in a wrestle contest, although Squeeky has heavy chores ahead of him to keep the affair from being mis-named. For to call McShain a rassler is to make the orthodox mingler cringe with the sheer nervous shock of it all.

During the course of a bout, Danny usually applies about three "holds"—when he is cornered and cannot kick or slug his way out. This does not include the drop-kick which is no hold at all.

With his variety of Jumping Joe Savoldi's patented boot, and with dull, thudding blows to the base of the skull or nicely calculated punches south of the beltline, Danny scales the heights to victory.

Henderson Makes Debut

Lightning Rod Fenton, Edmonton, Canada, quarrels with Vic Webber, long-nosed, cleanly built New Yorker, in semi-final bout on the program.

Doug Henderson, Fort Worth mat-ruffian, collides with Don Carver, New Mexico, in the curtain-lifter.

Candidates for public offices will be introduced from the ring, Promoter Sled Allen has announced. There will be no speeches.

JIMMY SANDERS SETS HIT PACE

DURHAM, N. C., July 18. (AP)—A relentless drive the past three weeks has shoved Manager Jimmy Sanders of Martinsville in the Bi-State league to the front in the national competition for the batting championship of the minor leagues.

The table compiled this week by the National association press bureau shows Sanders setting the pace with an average of .419, displacing Johnny Rizzo of Elmira, who rests in second with .408.

PARMELEE'S PITCHING AND HITTING HELP CHAMPS TO WIN

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants moved into the final game of their duel with Chicago's second-place Cubs today with the same two-game lead they had at the start and with even better reason to believe they will stay on top.

The extra reason came from Leroy Parmelee, the sturdy young picther whose feats of hurling and hitting gave the Giants an even break in yesterday's doubleheader. Parmelee, who hadn't won a game since April 19 and had been inactive for two months because of an appendicitis operation, held Lonnie Warneke even in the mound duel but broke up a tie game by socking a home run with the bases full. That clout gave New York a 5 to 3 decision in the first game. The second game was different as young Bill Lee outpitched Carl Hubbell 2 to1. Hubbell gave only five hits in the seven innings.

Cards Miss Chance

The third place Cardinals lost a good chance to overhaul the leaders when they dropped a 7 to 6 decision to Brooklyn on Len Koenecke's homer in the seventh. The blow came after circuit drives by Jim Collins and Joe Medwick had helped overcome an early Dodger lead. The Phillies completed the national league program by trouncing Cincinnati 7 to 0 for their fifth straight victory.

In the American league, the Tigers and Yankees returned to the point at which their "crucial" series ended two days ago when the league leaders beat out the Senators 4 to 3 and the Yanks took a 13 to 5 drubbing from the Indians.

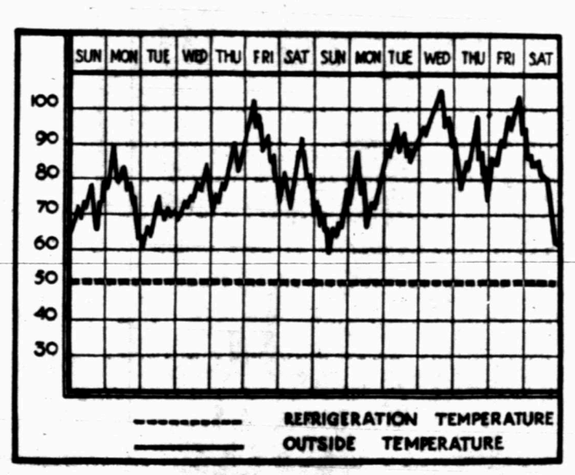

Ferrell Wins Again

Wesley Ferrell picked up a share of the day's pitching laurels when he limited the White Sox to six hits and chalked up his seventh victory for Boston against a single defeat. The score was 6 to 2.

Connie Mack's Athletics equalled a major league record when three of them, Bob Johnson, Jimmie Foxx and Pinky Higgins, hit successive homers off Jack Knott in the fourth but they lost to the Browns, 7 to 4.

EXAMS TO END LATE TODAY

REGISTRATION BEGINS TOMORROW AT TECH FOR SECOND TERM

Registration for the second term of the summer session at Texas Technological college will begin Thursday morning. Final examinations for the first term were to end late this afternoon.

Twenty-six students are to register Thursday and leave Friday morning for a four-week anthropological and archeological field trip to Mexico, D. F., under the leadership of Dr. William Curry Holden, professor of history and director of anthropological research at Tech.

Members of two college-sponsored field courses, in botony and geology, are scheduled to return this week from the mountains of northern New Mexico.

Teachers from all over the northwestern half of Texas are expected to gather in Lubbock for a curriculum conference which is to be held for three days, July 23, 24 and 25, under the direction of the department of education at Tech.

About 1,000 invitations to Texas teachers have been mailed according to Dr. A. W. Evans, education department head.

Principal speakers will include Dr. Carleton Washburne, educator of international fame from Winnetka, Ill.; Dr. F. C. Ayer, University of Texas; L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, Austin; and Dr. H. F. Alves, state department of education, Austin.

Texas Tech's first annual band school closes a six-weeks session Friday night with a concert at the Lubbock High school auditorium. Prof. D. O. Wiley and high school and college band directors enrolled for the course will direct the concert which is a feature of the summer artist course program at the college.

Rancher Explains Relief Operation

Operation of the federal drouth relief cattle buying program in New Mexico, was explained yesterday by W. L. Bailey, local cotton buyer, who owns a ranch near Fort Sumner. Mr. Bailey returned from the ranch Tuesday.

"I sold 280 head of cattle to the government and 110 of them were condemned and killed," he said. "A committee inspects the cattle and appraises them. A veterinarian looks them over and picks out for slaughter the animals that cannot stand a train trip to market.

"He cuts out the poorer animals and they are shot down on the place. The veterinarian is very good in selecting cattle that cannot make a train trip to market.

The government paid Mr. Bailey $4 a head for the calves that were condemned and $12 for the cows. Calves that are to be shipped brought $8 a head and the cows $14 to $17. The majority brought the higher price.

Last rain on his ranch was in August, 1933, Bailey said. "The drouth situation around Fort Sumner is very serious; thousands of cattle have been sold to the federal government," he said.

Candidate Charged After Altercation

EDINBURG, July 18 — Santiago Guzman, candidate for county commissioner, yesterday was charged with assault to murder and Harold Lemburg, son of County Clerk F. W. Lemburg, paid a fine for assault and battery after an altercation Monday in the county clerk's office.

Young Lemburg was accused of knocking down Ignacio Rodriguez, opposing Guzman in the commissioner's race, as a climax to an argument involving Rodrigues' demand for supervisors to oversee absentee voting.

Guzman, an employe in the county clerk's office, was alleged to have drawn a gun, lined Rodriguez and others against the wall and threatened to shoot.

RELEASED ON BOND

LLANO, July 18 (AP)—J. S. Morgan, 22, charged with murder for the stabbing of Lloyd Fleming, waived examining trial Tuesday and was released under $2,500 bond to await action of the grand jury. Fleming was stabbed in an altercation at a domino party last Thursday night.

"Wild Man" Rumor Ignored By Boys

Lubbock's younger generation is camping out on the vacant lots or sleeping in the backyards during the summer in large numbers, although a story about a wandering "wild man" is being circulated.

This "wild man," according to some witnesses who say they have actually seen him, has the carriage and mannerisms of a wrestler, eyes like a sea-fish, and is a great frequenter of alleys.

As a result of this some of the kid's camps present a very military appearance with rubber-guns, wooden spears, and nigger-shooters much in evidence.

In the early mornings the boys get up in the trees and woo-hoo after the manner of Tarzan.

FOREST FIRES ON INCREASE

FLAMES RAGE IN HALF A DOZEN NATIONAL FORESTS TODAY

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—Lookouts on mountaintops watched the nation's forests anxiously today as the forest fire menace grew more ominous.

Fires raged in a half dozen national forests and although the flame-fighting record so far this year has been good, the most dangerous season lies ahead. Drouth has made the situation more serious.

Fires Above Average

There have been 4,295 fires this year, compared with an average of 2,411 during 1931-1933. The area burned this year has been 78,503 acres, only slightly more than the average of 64,886 acres.

The forest service is not abnormally concerned but neither is it too optimistic about the coming months. One official likened the fight to a baseball game which might blow up in the seventh inning, despite an excellent record thus far.

Many lookouts are sleeping on their map tables on mountain peaks and fire-fighting crews are on their toes.

Veteran rangers and forest service officials give much credit to the Civilian Conservation corps for its assistance.

In the past week a fire on the Roosevelt watershed of Arizona burned over 6,000 acres. Two fires were reported to have burned more than 4,000 acres in Colorado national forests up to yesterday. Flames in the Washakie forest in Wyoming have burned 2,000 acres.

The number of accidentally man-caused fires has been larger than normal, 2,625 compared with 1,676, but incendiary fires have decreased.

Absentee Ballots Continue To Climb

Absentee ballots have been mailed to Lubbock county residents now visiting in 15 states and two foreign countries, it was said yesterday at the office of County Clerk Ed D. Allen.

A total of 189 persons yesterday had cast absentee votes. Of the total, 116 had appeared at the clerk's office and 73 had sent in ballots by mail. About 100 other ballots were in the mails. Voting in person will close July 25 and by mail, July 26.

Persons wishing to cast absentee votes have been urged to bring their poll tax receipts with them.

That Girl on Broadway says poise is that quality which keeps you from making explanations when somebody catches you eating in the kitchen.

About the only excitement a timid man ever has is when his wife hears him advising young men not to get married.

A LOT of men think they are masters of their lives and the captains of their souls, as "Invictus" has it, but they're just kidding themselves.

The master of all men's lives and the captain of all men's souls is that inexorable thing we call 'time'.

Every human has a day of 24 hours, each with 60 minutes.

As far as time is concerned, everybody has an 'even break'.

But time says it must be used and used well; if not—then the mastery of time turns into an overseer—a slave-driver.

None of us, no matter how we may be blest with riches or prestige, can escape from time!

OLD Sam Staggs, the Slaton Poet, is on the job again. His poetry isn't as good as Longfellow's, or as Kipling's, but it's pretty good at that!

Here's his latest composition, which you'll probably enjoy.

"They plowed up my cotton and deleted my pigs—
Junked my potatoes and depopulated my figs—
Sent me a check from Washington, D. C.,
Which my banker said was as good as could be!

"'Writ' me a letter 'bout supply and demand;
('Bout producer and consumer, on one hand;)
Allus bein' gigged by the durned middle man.
Who has us floured up and into the pan.

"'Course I be'ant an educated man but I can see
That what they're doin' is duck soup to me;
So I'll just keep a-ploddin' down the row
A-shovelin', a-diggin' and usin' my hoe!"

* * *

MR. Staggs, we repeat, is no Longfellow and he's no Wordsworth. As a matter of fact, his metre and his rhyme give him a lot of trouble.

But his thought is good—and refreshing.

And, after all, that's what counts!

The final proof of metropolitanism is to accept the stranger's hand without pretending to remember him.

That Man on Avenue Q says it's much easier to be humble if you have the power to smash anybody who may take advantage of it.

Texans usually elect their officials by voting against somebody, rather than for the man who is best fitted for the job.

CALENDARS move and years give way before them, as was noted in the first few paragraphs of this item.

But that doesn't mean anything, as newspapers go.

W. E. Lavendar, the Ford salesman, proved that to The Plainsman a few days ago and made him like it.

In Colorado the other day Mr. Lavendar came upon a copy of the Denver Post of the vintage of May 4, 1902—a plain 32-plus years ago.

And looking it over the average reader doesn't see much difference between it and the papers we see today.

ONE classified ad, to be sure, is rather cocky. It tells how a certain bicycle shop is so much ahead of the others that it isn't even funny.

But the balance of the ads are just about like the ones you'll see in The Journal today, except there is no reference made to automobiles.

One striking thing about the 32-year-old paper is that it has a women's page very much like the feminine sections of this day.

Illustrations of the latest styles—including bustles—take a prominent part.

All in all, we may congratulate ourselves on how we grow, progress and expand.

But our printed pages do not show it!

BE careful of your appendix. You never can tell what will happen to put you on the surgeon's table—and when you land there you'll soon find that the old pocketbook ain't what it usta be!

A Lubbock surgeon of more than ordinary success and ability had an appendix patient the other day and, after a careful examination, decided the 'snapper' had to come out.

After he yanked it out he found the cause of all the trouble.

It was a bristle from a toothbrush that had lodged in the appendix and caused the irritation leading up to the operation!

Moral: don't brush your teeth!

AMERICANA: Movie photographer risking his neck to get a certain 'shot' and the audience responding with "Aw, nertz! That's a fake!"

FAR be it from The Plainsman to be a bore on this business of politics and also, far be it from him to sit idly by while smart verbjugglers make monkeys out of a believing electorate.

Before you fall for the old hokum and hooey that is Fergusonism; before you swallow, hook, line and sinker the applesauce that is Allredism, and before you believe all the bedtime stories Tom Hunter is scattering about in the hopes that he can squeeze into office, look into the sensible, calm and well worked-out ideas of Clint Small, who is with us now as he has always been in the past!

The Man On The Flying Trapeze

Now Jean Parker Treats Her Boy Friend, Francis Lucus, Because At First He Could Shower Her With All Favors

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 18.—In pictures a brief 18 months and on the threshold of stardom, Jean Parker's principle thought is of Francis Lucus, the "only boy I ever have cared for in my whole life."

Reams could be written about this 17-year-old brunet who was plucked from a New Year's Day Rose Parade float and cast into the movie spotlight, but nothing could more clearly reveal her character than her thoughts of the boy she loves.

When they met as high school students in Pasadena, about 15 miles from Hollywood, Lucus was the scion of a wealthy family with all the worldly possessions a youth could desire. Jean, a poor girl working her way through school. Eighteen months have completely reversed their positions.

Lucus' father died and his wealth shrank to practically nothing. Jean, on the other hand, has skyrocketed through the cinema heavens and now has all Hollywood at her feet.

Yet her thoughts are of Lucus and what effect her tremendous success will have upon their romance.

"I am afraid of what people will say," she told me at lunch the other day. "Not that it makes a particle of difference to me, as he is the only boy I ever have known for whom I really care. But such a situation is tough on any man."

That Jean will not let temporary screen-fame, no matter how great that fame may be, alter the course of her personal life—and I am confident that she won't—is one of the many proofs that she deserves the starring honor which has been bestowed upon her.

And to be starred by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which means having her name placed alongside those of Garbo, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, Jeanette MacDonald, Helen Hayes, and Jean Harlow, is an honor.

Now that she has been elevated to stardom, there seems little doubt as to Miss Parker's future. She is the type of star the screen needs. Charming, beautiful, and completely wholesome, she never could have anything but an uplifting influence in any picture.

As a matter of fact, she would be completely misplaced in any but the cleanest of films.

Away From Pampering

Little Shirley Temple has been taken away on a vacation—her first since she made her sensational hit before the cameras more than six months ago.

"It isn't so much that she has been overworked as it is that I want to get her away from the continued praising and petting she receives from everyone," the child's mother declared just before they departed for an isolated mountain resort, where it is hoped Shirley can spend a month as a normal child instead of a pampered movie star.

Although she is facing a pretty tough job, Shirley's mother is trying to keep her a normal youngster, despite the fact that everyone in the studio caters to her every whim.

A Real Reel Mother

Whenever you're speaking of movie mothers, don't overlook Rose "Ma" Curley. In addition to playing mother roles on the screen for years, Mrs. Curley in real life is the mother of 16 children. That's why she is so good before the camera. No director has to tell her what to do.

Sticks to Hollywood

Although she may never be a glittering star again, Betty Blythe is going to stick close to the film colony. And when she isn't acting, she'll write about the activities of others. After completing a role in "The Scarlet Letter" recently, she enrolled for a course in journalism at the University of Southern California.

This is not an alibi, but I feel that with generations of show folks back of me, the theater is my natural heritage.—Ethel Barrymore Colt, daughter of Ethel Barrymore.

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

WHY SHOULD WE HELP RUSSIA?

One of the most incongruous suggestions to come to the attention of The Journal in recent weeks has been that Americans gather money for starving Communists in Russia and that the United States government give official sanction to a nation-wide drive to that end.

While the Russian people, like ourselves, are human beings we fail to see the logic in a nation-wide "Help Feed Starving Russia" campaign while right in our own country the government is the target for all sorts of violent plots hatched and directed from the land of the Soviets.

Everyone who has paid any attention to what is going on knows that Russia has been violating its non-meddling treaty with the United States ever since the minute American recognition of the Stalin government became final. Everyone who reads the newspapers or who sees the news reels knows that much of our industrial unrest and many of our strikes have been and are fomented by Communists both in this country and abroad.

The Journal has no desire to see people starve, whether they be Russians, Chinese or Malayans.

But we can't see the 'percentage' of a national campaign in this country dedicated to feed and foster our enemies.

As we view the proposition, American Communists and their sympathizers should do the contributing and collecting of monies destined to go to help Russians who are starving because their system of government has failed miserably to care for the situation.

American Communists apparently like the Russian system of doing things and if they like it so much they should be willing to support it—not only on soap boxes and with clubs and guns but with hard cash, as well.

As far as this newspaper is concerned, we wouldn't suggest that any patriotic citizen of the United States give a pound of flour or a dime in cash. To do so would be like aiding an enemy nation during an armed conflict.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

Dutcher

(Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 18 — The "summer bachelor" situation here may not be as serious as some of our other situations, but it leads to just as much disturbance, delight, and talk as any of the rest.

Maybe it's pretty important, too. Everybody knows the New Deal couldn't get along without the females who act as assistants and secretaries to New Dealers.

If those females — they're not such sour numbers, either, Charlie—can have their dear hearts gladdened, it stands to reason they will be doing their jobs more gayly, energetically, and efficiently.

You see, this is a town where the girlies outnumber the men. Males seldom are found weeping about that. But it's a great bore to single women and a positive agony to hostesses, who often have to kidnap grocery boys or taxi drivers to make their parties come out even.

But social life has suddenly gone topsy-turvy on us. Last year the wives and daughters of the New Dealers stayed through the heat, just to see the excitement. This summer most of them have been packed off to beaches, mountains, and countryside.

And the single gals are having a swell time. Anybody who tosses a party immediately runs in to the problem of "too many men." A by-product of the situation is an epidemic of stag parties.

Mr. Ickes Gets Told

Harold Ickes ponders the question of how one gets to look like a secretary of the interior.

On his recent tour of inspection through the department and PWA, when he found quite a few employes loafing or playing dominoes, he reproved one fellow who sat idly with feet on a desk. The retort was:

"Who the hell are you and what business is it of yours?"

Uncle Sam—Sweatshopper

For all his "snooping," Ickes is liked by sweltering government employes because of his vocal insistence on better working quarters for them. As an apostle of air-cooling and administrator of PWA, he has been able to make days more bearable for thousands. (Though a lot of the cooling systems go blooey on the hottest days.)

Nine Census Bureau employes were prostrated the other day before the staff was sent home.

Seventeen low-salaried AAA workers passed out before an administration which boasts of abolishing sweatshops realized it was operating one of the very worst. A force of 300, working on commodity contracts, checks, and audits, was assigned to a space in the old Postoffice Building, sheltered from the sun by two glass roofs.

After employes had begun to collapse, it was discovered that a lot of nice boilers and steam pipes were operating in the basement below. The force was moved away from there.

"Sweatshop conditions prevail in some offices, due to disgraceful overcrowding," Ickes says. "Some are in factory-type quarters which no commercial organization would occupy.

"The old temporary buildings still being used are firetraps for workers and valuable records, structurally unsafe for human life. They are unbearably hot in summer, drafty and poorly ventilated in winter."

(Maybe this will keep a few jobhunters away.)

Week-end MURDER

NEA FICTION PLAY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When elderly AMOS PEABODY falls to his death from the second story balcony of TOM AVERILL'S Long Island home LINDA, Tom's wife, believes it is murder. Peabody was her cousin. Rushing to the balcony, Linda feels something thrown about her throat, almost strangles and faints.

She and Tom decide to pretend Cousin Amos' death was an accident, meanwhile devoting themselves to solving the crime. They have four guests, all of whom became suspects; MR. STATLANDER, business associate of Tom's; CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome Belgian; MARVIN PRATT, former suitor of Linda's; and LIAN SHAUGHNESSEY, Irish writer. On one excuse and then another the guests are persuaded to finish out their weekend visit.

Linda finds the towel with which the attempt was made to strangle her (identified by a smear of sunburn ointment) in Statlander's bathroom. Tom, suspicious of Shaughnessey, searches his room. The Irishman discovers this and to set matters right Linda tells him the whole story, asking him to help solve the mystery.

Just before dinner Sunday evening Linda is alone with Statlander. She is inattentive until she hears him say that when Cousin Amos was found dead De Vos appeared from the far end of the hall instead of his own room. This means DeVos must be the guilty man. Dinner is announced and Linda has no opportunity to tell Tom what she has learned. DeVos appears and Tom says, "Sorry, I'll have to keep you waiting a moment." A little later they both depart. The telephone rings and Linda answers. Returning she tells her guests, "That was police headquarters. Mr. De Vos is going to be arrested—for murdering Cousin Amos."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVII

"I suppose if I leave you two young idiots alone you'll talk all night." Kathleen Averill, standing in the doorway, surveyed her son and his wife with marked disfavor. Tom looked away guiltily and Linda, sitting up in bed, smiled disarmingly.

"We will," she said. "But, Kathleen, don't you see I've got to? It's the one thing I need. I'll burst if I don't."

"And you'll be sick if you do. Well—I've nothing to say about it. Tom won't be turned out and once you get him alone he hasn't the backbone of a jellyfish."

"Backbone! I wish you'd seen him," cried Linda indignantly, "going off all by himself with that terrible man!"

"Don't!" Under her delicate, becoming rouge Tom's mother turned white. "I shan't sleep a wink tonight and you're a—a monster if you do."

"All the more reason—"

"There's no reason in you—either of you." Ashamed of her momentary weakness, Mrs. Averill spoke sharply. "It was a crazy thing to do and it's a wonder you're both alive to tell the tale. Now don't argue with me, Rosie's fixed me a shake-down in the nursery and if you have hysterics or any of the things you should have after such an experience, bang on the bathroom wall and I'll wake right away. That is, if I'm asleep," she added hastily, "which I doubt I shall be. Good night!"

And she firmly closed the door behind her, leaving neither of them at all misled as to her real anxiety and affection.

"She's a lamb, isn't she?" commented Linda, settling herself luxuriously among the cushions. "But, oh, Tommy—I thought I never would have you all to myself! Now, for heaven's sake, talk. I'm frantic to know all about it."

"Are you sure you ought?"

"Don't be an absolute goat! Do you want me just to curl up and die?"

"Heaven forbid!" He still found it difficult to do anything but look at her rather hungrily. "Where shall I start?"

"At the beginning. That is, we went downstairs and that Statlander man caught you and you went off to the garage. What I don't see, Tom, is how you knew—because I found out while you were gone—and you thought it was poor Marvin."

"Poor Marvin—poor me! I was having fits talking tenni sto that man thinking you'd got the goods on him somehow and that I had to leave you and drive DeVos to

THE PLAINSMAN GETS SOME MAIL

READER DOESN'T LIKE TO "VOTE BLIND"

Dear Plainsman: If I could have Aladdin's wishing lamp there is one question I would surely ask. How can I, a voter, vote with intelligence in our county and state election?

Since the number of people asking for public offices is unusually large, and each candidate and his friends think he is ideally suited for the office he wants, how is the mass of voters to decide with any degree of sense who does and will measure up to their ideas of what an officeholder should be? How is one to know if the candidate will serve with honesty and vigor, the state or himself?

There is always the question, too, that with so many different types of intelligence, beliefs and desires represented by the many voters, it would be utterly foolish to say, this man or woman is the ideal person for office. That person might not measure up to my own ideals at all.

What I wonder is—wouldn't it be fine if some newspaper took the stupendous task of printing the salient facts about all the candidates in one issue. Not, you understand, a lot of campaign promises but a few statements of what they are, have been and really believe. Then a voter could choose the person whose true record best suited his or her idea of a proper office-holder. I doubt this plan ever being tried but wouldn't it be fine?

I hate voting blind, but that is what I'll be doing this month I'm afraid.

Sincerely,
A Voter,
Mrs. R. L. Fletcher.

(Dear Mrs. Fletcher. Thanks for your letter. Newspapers do try to print salient facts about various candidates. In fact, Lubbock newspapers have been doing just that in promoting the candidacy of Clint Small for governor. The trouble is whenever newspapers do that, opponents claim they're supporting a candidate for some selfish or ulterior reason which, as informed people know, is a lot of baloney. Write again any time. The Plainsman.)

HAN IS SLAIN BY OFFICERS

ICTIM KILLED WHILE TRAINING PISTOL ON DOOR OF HOTEL

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 17. —A an identified tentatively as J. R. Donnell, 28, was shot and killed police today as he lay on a bed a West Main street hotel room re today, training a pistol on the or.

A pretty blonde woman who of- ers said was Mrs. Myrtle Boien, e landlady, screamed and fled to a closet when the shots rang t. She was being questioned with r mother, Mrs. F. E. Bingaman.

Barrow's Friend Missing

Officers D. A. Bryce and Charles an had gone to the hotel to ar- st the man and Harvey Pugh, hom they described as a former end of Clyde Barrow, slain Texas tlaw. Pugh was not in the room.

Arriving at the place they went the door of the room with Mrs. ngaman and shouted: "We are licemen, open up!"

There was no response and they ng the door open. Inside, they id, the suspect lay on the bed, veling an automatic pistol at the or and using both hands for a eady aim.

Officer Opens Fire

Bryce, a crack shot, leaped to one e, drew his own pistol, and shot e man five times before he could l the trigger. He died instantly. The tentative identification was de from cards in the dead man's cket, but police believed the me, "O'Donnell," was an alias.

ce" call came from a turbulent ting of the members at the la- emple at which John A. O'Con- secretary of the central labor ncil, collapsed and was taken to home in a serious condition.

n its resolution stating the offer, strike committee called upon the 000 marine and dock workers of coast to submit to arbitration a federal board appointed by sident Roosevelt.

Recognition Demanded

mployers likewise were asked to e issues in dispute in the hands he president's board and the en- proposal was made contingent employer recognition of all the aritime unions whose strike has led shipping since May 9.

he longshoremen's demand for plete control of hiring agencies, ch has been a stumbling block mediation attempts thus far, was mentioned in the resolution.

time union members of the mittee came from the meeting lously angry and Harry Bridges, tant longshoremen's representa- declared the proposal "will er be accepted by the men."

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 18 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady today with fair overnight buying orders in evidence. Liverpool was observing a holiday owing to the visit to that city of the king and queen. First trades were 7 to 8 points up and prices improved slightly further after the start, October trading at 13.30 and December at 13.44, or 8 to 9 points net higher and even with the season's highs established yesterday.

The market reacted 5 to 7 points in the course of the first half hour on realizing, October dropping to 13.25 and December to 13.37 leaving the price level one to four points above the close of yesterday. Continued drouth in the west and a better feeling about the strike situation were sustaining influences.

The market was moderately active all morning. At the end of the first hour, prices ruled firmer in anticipation of a bullish weekly weather report. October advanced to 13.33 and December to 13.45, or 9 to 12 points above the close of yesterday. While the weekly report was considered bullish it did not quite meet expectations and selling by tired longs caused October to drop to 13.18 and December to 13.32, or 13 to 15 points below the early highs and 3 to 4 points under yesterday's close.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Cotton futures opened firm 5 to 10 higher on commission house buying, continued dry weather in Texas and a somewhat more favorable view of the labor situation. July 13.12; Oct. 13.32; Dec. 13.43; Jan. 13.47; March 13.53; May 13.58.

All active months made new high ground on the movement on the initial demand and, while the advance to 13.34 for October attracted considerable realizing, it was absorbed on comparatively slight reactions early.

Expectations of unfavorable features in the weekly report of the weather bureau may have accounted for some of the buying. There also was covering or rebuying by recent sellers influenced by the continuance of the Texas drouth and unfavorable private crop advices.

Owing to the special holiday in Liverpool, there were no quotations from there. The south was a moderate seller during the early trading, but offerings were supposed to be largely in the way of realizing.

After selling about 10 to 15 points above yesterday's closing quotations on the early demand with October advancing to 12.35, the market eased off following publication of the weekly weather report. This was evidently less bullish than anticipated by some recent buyers but except for realizing, selling was held in check by the outlook for continued dry weather in the southwest, and there seemed to be some scale down buying through trade and commission houses. October eased off to 13.21 and was ruling around 13.24 at midday when the market was about 3 to 4 points net higher.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—Most financial markets today showed tendencies toward improvement.

While many stocks recovered fractions to around a point or so, the trading activity was still of the drab pattern which has marked recent sessions. Only a sprinkling of different customers was to be seen in the boardrooms.

With equities virtually devoid of speculative interest, commodities continued to furnish the principal field for profit hunting. Wheat and corn got up a cent or more a bushel at one time, but most of the grains shaded their extreme advances under realizing. Cotton moved into new high territory for the past four years before meeting offerings which canceled some of its gains. Silver and rubber futures firmed. Bonds steadied and international dollar rates were somewhat higher.

Shares of Phillip Morris reached another new year's high with the gain of a point. Others up about as much included Chrysler, Columbian Carbon, American Can, Du Pont, Case, Johns- Manville, Western Union, McKesson, American Sugar Refining, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, U. S. Smelting and Bethlehem Steel.

Moderately higher levels were attained by Consolidated Gas, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, American Smelting, Howe Sound, American Commercial Alcohol, National Distillers and Schenley. Packard slipped to a new 1934 low and Corn Products and United Aircraft were a trifle heavy.

Grain Market

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, July 18 (AP)—Demand continued good today on the cash grain market. Wheat and sorghums were especially easy selling. Estimated receipts were: wheat 90 cars; corn 2; oats 17; barley 2 and sorghums 8.

Prices quoted by the grain committee of the Fort Worth Grain and Cotton exchange, based on bids, offers and actual sales to midday, ranged as follows, basis carloads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to delivery point:

Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: wheat No. 1 hard 1.04 1-2 to 1.06 1-2. Barley No. 2 nominally 71 1-2 to 72 1-2; No. 3 nominally 70 1-2 to 71 1-2. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 1.50 to 1.55; number 3 nominally 1.48 to 1.53; number 3 kafir nominally 1.44 to 1.47; No. 3 kafir nominally 1.42 to 1.45.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn No. 2 white 86 3-4 to 87 3-4; No. 2 yellow 82 3-4 to 83 3-4. Oats No. 2 red 52 1-2 to 53 1-2; No. 3 red 51 1-2 to 52 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—Corn and rye today reached new high price records for the season, but profit-taking in the late dealings partly wiped out gains in all cereals.

Bullish crop developments continued, although willingness of rural holder of corn to sell on advances tended to make speculative buyers of every kind of grain more cautious. Unofficial estimates today placed the 1934 wheat crop of the Canadian prairie provinces at as low as 228,000,000 bushels, against an expectation of upward of 350,000,000 a few weeks ago.

Wheat closed firm, 3-8 to 7-8 above yesterday's finish, September new 1.00-1.00 1-4, corn 3-8 to 7-8 up, oats unchanged to 1-4 up, and provisions at 5 to 10 cents decline.

Wheat, No. 2 red 1.00 1-4 to 1-2; No. 3 red 1.00; No. 2 hard 1.03 1-4 to 1-2; No. 1 mixed 1.01-02; No. 2. mixed 1.00 1-2; No. 2 red smutty 99; corn No. 1 mixed 65 (mainly white); No. 2 mixed 63 3-4; No. 2 yellow 63 1-2 to 64; No. 2 white 66; oats No. 2 white 47 1-2; No. 3 white 45 1-2.

STRIKE SCENE STILL INCLUDES OREGON AND ALABAMA

(By The Associated Press)

From Oregon to Alabama the nation's turbulent labor currents swung into smoother channels today.

The most striking example was in San Francisco, where the general strike's board of strategy took the lead to divert the longshoremen's controversy into a more peaceful course.

Arbitrate or lose our support, the general strike committee virtually told the maritime workers. "Left wing" leaders roared in vain. The Waterfront Employers' association was to decide today its stand on the arbitration proposal.

Red Centers Raided

Police and self-appointed vigilantes raced each other late yesterday to raid communist and other radical centers in a determined drive to dam the unrest at its front. Police arrested 340.

National guardsmen took charge of Oakland's waterfront.

Portland's proposed general strike was held in abeyance to permit labor leaders to confer with Senator Wagner, the government's representative in a move for mediation.

In Berkeley, General Hugh S. Johnson termed the general strike "civil war." It is "bloody insurrection" to deprive a whole people of the necessities of life, he said.

The mayor of Houston, Tex., named a committee to seek a solution of the maritime strike which has taken three lives there.

Miners at the Raimond Red Ore mine, near Birmingham, Ala., returned to work. Their agreement with the Republic Steel corporation wrote the last chapter in a strike which called out 8,000 workers and cost two lives.

Mine Properties Stoned

In Montana, where 5,800 employes of the Anaconda copper mines are on strike, mine properties at Butte were stoned.

Rioting at one mill inaugurated the textile mill workers' strike in northern Alabama. The walkout and consequent shutdowns left an estimated 15,000 employes of 20 mills idle.

Minneapolis remained orderly despite the strike of 7,000 truck drivers. Picketing was casual. A new federal drive to end the strike was begun.

Eight hundred truck drivers struck in Baltimore and a spokesman for their union said as many more would be called out today.

Mediators sought to restore peace to Kohler, Wis., once labelled the "model village" because of the relations between the Kohler company, plumbing equipment manufacturers, and its employes, now on strike.

St. Louis police today arrested 46 of the 1,008 striking employes of the Century Electric company, where a strike has been in progress since June 29, for the purpose of "averting future attacks on working employes of the company." The strike started when the company refused to grant a 10 per cent wage increase.

TEXAS POLITICS

ence that with the help of the legislature he could put over his recovery program.

"I am not kidding myself that I or any one man can put over my program single handed," Hunter said. "I do know that with the aid of the great masses of the people my proposals can and would be put over."

Clint Small, speaking at Sherman, said that to set up an old age pension would necessitate a constitutional amendment, which would cause the present tax rate to be "more than doubled." He said his opponents were advocating that pension for "vote getting purposes" only.

Edgar Witt assured a Dallas audience that he could rescue the state from "a deplorable condition" under which it is costing Texas "a million dollars every three days for certain of its public servants to play politics instead of tending to business."

Relief System Hit

Edward Russell said at Hillsboro that administration of unemployment relief in Texas had been a failure. He said the manner in which "our relief funds are being handled and administrated is a shame and a disgrace."

C. C. McDonald spoke at Vernon, again advocating a pension of the aged and unemployment insurance. He said he would endeavor, as nearly as possible, to carry out the policies of the Ferguson administration because he felt it had been wise and economical.

WARFARE

ed up in "od" blankets, trying to snatch some sleep. Others lying on their bunks writing to the folks back home. But here's something the Yanks of '17 didn't have—a portable radio crooning in softest tones. Now to the field kitchen. Same old hospitality to a stranger. Have a piece of cornbread. And do we eat, comments the mess sergeant with a rising inflection and emphasis on eat. Well, look at this—canned pears, scrambled eggs, bacon, oatmeal or mush, cornbread and coffee for breakfast. That's far more than this reporter had, what with all the restricted food situation hereabouts. Boxes of food lying open, lettuce, radishes, cabbage, cucumbers—no shortage here.

We push on up the front, to the northward. Don't see any gas alarm shells. Just mistook some milk cans, though, for those thermal cans we used to use in lugging food to the front. These were used for gasoline.

More sentries, more looking at passes. Here's the first barricade, where Third street enters the embarcadero Several officerss, including the major in charge of the battalion, tell of the speedy mobilization.

Now we are on the embarcadero. Tracks and freight cars to the left as we proceed. Piers to the right, with ships warped along side. Some cargo is being worked. Sentries with bayonets walking post at every pier. Sand-bag machine gun nests at strategic points. Two tanks equipped with one-pounders, being groomed—for what?

More saluting going on so we must be approaching headquarters. Yes, here it is, second floor of the ferry building. We pass in. The usual stir, bringing back more memories. But here's something. The radio and telephone room, with the guard's own wire system connecting various points along the front and the radio flashing orders in code to all guard stations in the state.

In a vacant lot they're doing "squad right." Same old gag—drilling for the next war. We heard about it, too, 16 years ago. Here's a single file, towel in hand, bound for the showers.

So it goes, all along the six-mile strike front taken over by the guards. Not so different from the days of 1918 in France, except the lack of action—frontline action, you know. But don't expect too much, because this is just peacetime warfare.

MR. COMMON CITIZEN IS BEGINNING TO GRUMBLE ABOUT GENERAL STRIKE

BY MAURISE A. RAISER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18 (AP) — Mr. Common Citizen, admittedly appalled when the general strike started, began to grumble today.

Strike gossip assumed the same status as the stories of the big fish that got away, and the ravings of a new papa about his junior.

If married, the sight of more food from tins gave Mr. Citizen a headache. If single, he was exhausted from battling at lunch counters for his fodder.

Beans Are Out

He resolved firmly never again to look a can opener in the eye. And beans, unless he was forced to join the army, positively were out.

The former cheerful little greetings which awaited him upon his arrival home, once so carelessly ignored, were borne home with unusual vividness.

"Well, what was new at the office?" Mrs. Common Citizen used to remark with a smile, as junior romped forward to rumple his old man's hair.

Now the fearful question is: "What's the latest on the strike? Do you think there will be bloodshed?"

Of course, Mr. Common Citizen doesn't know the answers and thereby he loses that firm grip he once imagined he had on his household.

So the womenfolk come forth with their bits of gossip gleaned from backyard conversations.

Mr. Citizen mentally drew up a set of resolutions for his future conduct—after the strike is settled.

"Hereafter," he resolved, "I'll always smile at the pretty waitress who serves me steaming meals and big cups of coffee.

"I'll pass a cheery time o' the day with the gas man who fills up my tank.

"The groceryman will get a sound slap on the back.

"My barber can talk to his heart's content and I'll listen with interest."

Yes, Mr. Common Citizen is fed up with the strike gossip.

been lost in the thicket the entire time. Cut and scratches from bramble bushes covered the shrunken little body. His stomach was swollen from lack of nourishment.

At the hospital it was determined that Bobby had eaten quantities of grass.

Dr. Munger said Sunday night's showers probably saved the baby from dying of thirst. Enough rain water would have entered the pores of the skin to prevent complete dehydration, he said.

Bobby gained a pound and 13 ounces last night after being given a quart of glucose and water.

At four-hour intervals he was given a spoonful of whisky and water.

SUBSIDIES TO BE CHANGED

STEAMSHIP COMPANIES MAY BE PAID ON A WEIGHT BASIS

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The system of subsidies to the American merchant marine is expected to undergo far-reaching changes within six months.

Steamship companies which carry the mail probably will be paid on a weight basis, a change which officials hope will save the post office department $10,000,000 a year.

Would Scrap Present Idea

As to new means of helping build up the merchant marine, observers pointed to recent report of Secretary of Commerce Roper. After recommending that the present idea of mail subsidies be scrapped, he suggested specific subsidies to lines in direct competition with foreign interests. These subsidies would be for building and operating vessels.

The White House announced last night that President Roosevelt has ordered Postmaster General Farley to report within six months whether exisiting ocean and foreign airmail contracts should be modified or scrapped.

Hearings Proposed

The holders of these contracts will be given public hearings. This is a departure from the procedure followed in cancelling domestic airmail contracts. Critics complained at the time that no hearings were granted.

Officials estimated that if ocean mail had been carried on a poundage basis last year the cost to the government would have been $3,900,000. They said the actual cost under the system of virtual subsidies was $26,000,000.

streets shouting " we want Langer."

Declaring he would oppose "by force if necessary" any attempt to remove him as the actual governor of North Dakota, Langer remained closeted with his political adherents through the night, issuing a statement meanwhile that the declaration of martial law was designed to "prevent bloodshed and rioting."

Possibility of a conflict between state and federal authorities was seen as a high judicial offfcial said that federal troops may be asked for in view of Langer's defiance of the supreme court order.

WOMAN DIES HERE

Mrs. T. A. Harris, 42, of O'Donnell, died in a sanitarium here about 10 o'clock this morning. The body was taken to Tahoka. A widower survived.

Goat raising has been taken up by Cape Cod residents on expert advice; the goats clear the land of undesirable bushes and vines in addition to giving milk.

THAT WAS THE WARNING TO RICH OLD PIERRE DUFRESNE

But the man police found shot to death in the old Dufresne home was an imposter—a mysterious stranger disguised as Dufresne and wearing his clothes.

Lovely Mrs. Dufresne fainted at the sight—but not until the disguise was removed and she saw the face of the man behind it.

Who was he? What was he doing in this vacant mansion? Was he—? Sergeant Harper digs out the answers, reveals the solution in a gripping climax in

CHARME TISSUE CREAM

Charme Cosmetics surprise the beautician world by announcing a Liquid Tissue Cream for Dry Scalps . . . now a Tissue Cream for the Dry Scalp, as well as a Tissue Cream for the Face.
Charme Liquid Tissue Cream is sold only through the Beauty and Barber shops.

Its easy . . . and lots of fun, too. Here is the way. Make a "chuckle" by combining any three lines in the classified ads. For example:

"Used typewriter desk, chair, $11. Used 5 acres, well improved, to exchange for furnished apartment, private bath."

You must use the entire line, without omitting a single word, and the sentence must contain three complete lines.

The four women who submit the best and cleverest "Chuckles" will each receive a $1 size jar of Charme Vegetable oil Tissue Cream, FREE.

All entries must be at the Avalanche-Journal Classified Department, before 6 p. m. Friday, July 20th.

CONSTABLE'S SALE

The State of Texas; County of Lubbock.

Whereas, by virtue of an Order of Sale issued out of the 72nd District Court of Lubbock County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said Court on the 22nd day of May, A. D., 1934, in favor of P. H. Sammons and Carl Scoggins and against Joseph A. Smith No. 5003 on the docket of said Court, and to me, as Constable, directed and delivered, I did, on the 13th day of June, A. D., 1934, at 3 o'clock p. m., levy upon the following described land and premises situated in Lubbock County, Texas, and belonging to Joseph A. Smith. Being a part of section 13, Block J. S., beginning at a stake set in the south boundary line of said section, 297 vrs. west of the southwest corner; thence north 1900.8 vrs. to a point in the north boundary line of section 13, 297 vrs. west of the northwest corner; thence west 435.3 vrs. to a corner in said line; thence south 1900.8 vrs. to the south line of said section; thence east 430.5 vrs. to the place of beginning, and containing 147 acres of land.

That said above described lands to be sold as per the order of the court entered upon the 22nd day of May, 1934, to satisfy a judgment in the sum of $881.51, and the cost of said action, and that the judgment, cost and interest as set forth in said order of sale and judgment of the court as directed by said order and the statutes of the State of Texas, on the 7th day of August, A. D., 1934, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. on said day at the Courthouse door of Lubbock County, Texas, in the town of Lubbock, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction for cash, all the right, title and interest of the said Joseph A. Smith in and to said property.

Witness my hand, this the 2nd day of July, A. D., 1934.

L. H. HOLT,
Constable, Precinct No. 1, Lubbock County, Texas.
G. L. EATON, Deputy.

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas: County of Lubbock.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable 72nd District Court of Lubbock County, on the 2nd day of July, 1934, by the Clerk for the sum of One Hundred Seventy and 46-100 ($170.46) Dollars and costs of suit, under a Judgment rendered in favor of Panhandle Construction Company in a certain cause in said Court, No. 5565 and styled Panhandle Construction Company vs. R. M. Jarrott, et al and, placed in my hands for service, I, Tom Abel, as Sheriff of Lubbock County, Texas, did, on the 2nd day of July, 1934, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Lubbock County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

South 26 2-3 feet of lot eight and the North 13 1-3 feet of Lot nine in Block 3 of the Pickett and Penny Addition to the City of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas. Against John W. Jarrott, R. M. Jarrott and C. D. Shamburger Lumber Company, a corporation, and levied upon as the property of John W. Jarrott, R. M. Jarrott and C. D. Shamburger Lumber Company, and that on the first Tuesday in August, 1934, the same being the 7th day of said month, at the Court House door of Lubbock County, in the City of Lubbock, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale, I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said John W. Jarrott, R. M. Jarrott and C. D. Shamburger Lumber Company.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Avalanche-Journal, a newspaper published in Lubbock County.

Witness my hand, this 10th day of July, 1934.

TOM ABEL,
Sheriff, Lubbock County, Texas.

Week-end MURDER

by GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

the Stoners. How did you find out, Binks?"

"One of those 'little things.' Statlander was rambling on and suddenly he said something about the nursery. I was wool-gathering, but I made him repeat what he said and in that humorous, careful way he went over it again. About how curious it was that when I collapsed in Cousin Amos' room, Mr. DeVos appeared from the other end of the hall—our end. I never did know how he got on the subject. That hit me, Tom, just like a real blow. I couldn't get my breath. There it was—the small thing we'd been waiting for. I thought I must get to you—and then dinner was ready and Marvin came down and Mr. Statlander had a sudden fit of manners and went off to get you. I was so full of excitement and suspense I thought I'd pop! While you, poor dear—"

"Oh, I had Marvin picked for the guilty one, all right. I was afraid to look at you and all the time you were waiting to set me right if I did!"

"That meal was ghastly. I kept waiting to hear—his step—in the hall and when I did and he came and stood behind me—! But then, Tom, something hit you. You started to get up perfectly cheerfully and naturally—"

"Binks—it came over me and I nearly gave the whole show away right there. He stood there smiling, with his eyes sort of droopy—you know—and a little mocking, somehow, as if he knew something I didn't. I see now he has looked that way all the time but I just put it down to his cool, superior foreign ways—"

"But, Tom, what—?"

"Oh—his white shirt from Binks."

"His what?"

"That was it—what I saw from the raft, the 'something' I couldn't locate. As soon as I saw him there it came back to me in a flash. I saw him just the way I did then, only not so far away. You see, Marvin had been in undershirt and trousers and Statlander in a terrycloth bathrobe but DeVos hadn't undressed that night. He had his coat off and a long, dark robe on, but from the raft I caught that splash of white—horseshoe shaped. It stood out from the black rest of him. In daylight it just looked wrong. But I never could place it."

"He didn't undress? But—"

"Yes. He must have lied to you. You told me that when he talked about it with you he said he undressed and sat and dozed in the big chair by the window—"

"Wait a moment, Tom. He didn't quite say that—but I did have that impression." She hugged her knees and bent her head on them in concentrated effort to bring back the exact words. "He said, 'I made myself comfortable in the chair by the window and dozed off there—' That was it, Tom. I misled you. When he said 'made myself comfortable,' I took it for granted he meant he undressed and repeated to you that way. I'm awfully sorry!"

"That was perfectly natural. I'd have gone on the same assumption. I suppose he took off his dress coat and put on the bathrobe. Now I think about it, I remember something else that should have told me a lot. When he joined us in Cousin Amos' room he had a very long robe on and it was drawn close across his chest—lapped way over. Of course that hid the white shirt front and made him look entirely different."

"How—how did he take it?" Involuntarily Linda shivered violently and immediately his hand was laid over hers.

"Don't talk about that, Binks. Don't think about it!"

"I can't help thinking," she pleaded. "So it's better to talk!"

"Well—badly—"

"He was—violent?"

"Clear off his nut. I told you it'd be all a bunch of us could do to manage whoever it turned out to be, when the time came. They sent four men—thought I was crazy when I called but somehow I put it over and we needed every man of them. It wasn't a pretty scene."

"I suppose he killed Bunty?"

"He laughed about it—jeered at me—for caring about a fat old dog, I suppose. He was a maniac, Binks. Yes, he went out that night and prowled about—"

"Suffered from insomania. Another thing I forgot. When we met in the city at the office early in the week he spoke of it—said he always slept badly in hotels. It was just an allusion and I forgot all about it. Added to this blazing heat—this sort of spell always strikes a European as direct from hell—he was probably all keyed up from at least two and perhaps three or four nights without sleep. The first night he went out and roamed around—and Bunty suffered for it. You can imagine she'd be right on the job with an unknown prowling about after midnight, poor sphnky little cuss! Then the next night after the row at the club and the dance he came back to that hot room—it was the worst night of all, you know—and knew he hadn't a chance in the world to sleep. So he just 'made himself comfortable' in the chair and probably sat there brooding over the quarrel and the insult he endured from Cousin Amos, and full of morbid, half-insane thoughts—"

"And the door went rork-rork-rork—"

"His window was parallel with that door and he could hear it louder than anyone else."

She sighed. "Well—Tom—we did it. Thank heaven it's over!"

"But by a very narrow margin," he added soberly. "The chance remark of Statlander and my impression of the shirt front."

"If he'd kept his head and jhst laughed at the idea—"

"We'd have proved it bnt it would have been a long, hard fight. This way, Binks, his family'll hush it up somehow, and I'll be bound he's put quietly away and it will never come to trial. Surely we won't push it."

"Speaking of Mr. Statlander—" Linda's impish grin was, in a moment, as dauntless as ever. "You're not very complimentary about your senior, are you, darling?"

"Well, he is an old fool. He's made more trouble, unnecessary trouble—"

"Have you talked it over with him?"

"Lord, yes. We've all hashed and re-hashed. After you pulled the faint—don't be peevish, honey, you had plenty of provocation and nobody blamed you!—Shaughnessey turned you over to Rosie and she called up mother, and the two of them bundled you off. Meanwhile our Irish friend had the time of his young life—a grand yarn to tell and an audience that was pop-eyed with excitement. When I go back—dog-tired, dishevelled and sick with worry about you—they all fell on me like wolves to hear the end of the story."

(To Be Concluded)

Census figures give Texas 308,121 illiterates, about equally divided between males and females, representing 6.8 per cent of the state's population.

Production Control Machinery Set Up

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—A widely spread semi-official organization was completed today to help handle what officials concede is the most revolutionary production control program ever attempted in this country—the cotton reduction plan provided in the Bankhead act.

The farm administration announced community committees scattered through the 1,000 counties of the cotton belt had been selected. They will cooperate with county committees, already set up, in assembling the data by which the allowed cotton production of 2,000,000 farmers will be determined.

"Mahatma" is a Sanskrit word meaning "great soul."

Roosevelt Resumes His Trip To Hawaii

U. S. S. HOUSTON, July 18. (AP)—President Roosevelt resumed his trip to Hawaii last night after a quite afternoon off Clipperton island, a tiny spot of land out in the Pacific.

Treacherous shoals and heavy swells made anchorage impossible, and the president passed up a fishing excursion.

Several members of the party, however, took off for a try at fishing, including Franklin Roosevelt, jr., Captain Wilson Brown and Gus Gennerich.

More than 2,000 musical instruments made by primitive tribes are in the collections of the Smithsonian institution, Washington.

Delegation Sought For Short Course

W. L. Brashear, W. W. Johnson, and George Whiting have been named members of a committee to obtain a county-wide delegation to attend the 25th annual short course at Texas A. and M., July 30 to August 3. P. T. Montfort, county agent, has announced.

The men are maintaining offices in the county agent's office.

Board and room for the five days of the course will be $6.

Arrangements have been completed for chartering a school bus at a minimum rate of $50 for the car. Capacity is 25 people, and a deposit of $3 is asked of those signing up for the trip.

No special railroad rates have been announced. Regular fare is $16.42 for coach trips and $18.25 in first class, with Pullman fare additional.

Revision of Texas' sanitary code and medical statutes, enacted 25 years ago, will be asked of the next legislature by the state board of health.

Salvation Army's Outing Is Planned

The Lubbock corps of the Salvation Army and the army's Sunday school will have an annual one-day outing for members on July 25, Capt. John G. Churchill, commandant, said Tuesday.

Place of the picnic has not been decided on, Captain Churchill said. It may be at one of the county parks or the city park. The Plainview unit, of which Sergeant Major George Ellis is in charge, will join with the local group.

Captain Churchill expects an attendance of about 125.
