

Tuition hike, seat belts...

White faces 400 bills

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White says he still has some 400 bills to consider before a midnight Sunday deadline.

Among those remaining are the $37.2 billion state budget, a bill to triple college tuition and one to require motorists to wear seat belts. They must be signed or vetoed by midnight Sunday, or they become law without White's action.

The governor said anti-crime legislation he signed Thursday shows the state can protect its citizens.

"We are doing something about crime in Texas. We are doing something about criminals and we are doing something for victims," White said.

White said the anti-crime bills passed this legislative session "will ensure that every individual in every house on every street in every city in Texas will be safer."

The victims' bill of rights calls for notifying and explaining procedures in the criminal process to victims, including pretrial release of suspects, trial, sentencing and parole.

It also provides for written input from victims regarding the physical, financial and emotional effects of crime on them, and says that will be considered by the parole board before a prisoner is released on parole.

The legislation to have parole laws explained to juries was sponsored by Sen. Buster Brown, R-Lake Jackson.

During hearings around the state, he said, "Witnesses decried the fact that juries are not allowed to know the full facts about sentencing. With the passage of the jury instruction bill, the blindfold will finally be removed from the eyes of juries in Texas."

The bill allows juries considering punishment recommendations to be told the effects of parole laws and "good time" rules on the length of time an inmate serves in prison.

Another bill signed by White will require lawyers to bring up an error in an indictment before the time of trial. The state then will have an opportunity to correct the error.

The governor also praised bills that he said will help crack down on inhalant abuse.

Water shutoff at noon

The city's main water supply from Lake J.B. Thomas remained shutoff at noon Friday, although service was expected to be restored by mid-afternoon.

The main water valve from Thomas was closed around 8 p.m. Thursday as workers prepared to connect a new 500 ft. section of 21-inch main water line.

The line had been laid previously beneath what will be the new channel for Deep Creek between 30th and 37th Sts.

Local citizens who were asked to cutback on their water usage Thurday afternoon and Friday morning are now asked to continue these conservation steps through Saturday noon.

City Manager John Gayle said Friday morning there should be an ample supply of water, however, since the city was able to top out its storage facilities by late Thursday.

This gives the city some 3.7 million gallons in underground and overhead storage. In addition, the city has at its disposal another potential for 4 million gallons from underground wells.

A normal daily consumption through the water treatment plant is some 4 million gallons.

The job which faced contract crews from HBH Construction of Odessa Thursday was to connect the two ends of the newly laid pipe to the existing pipeline.

It was initially hoped the work could be completed before sunrise Friday, but minor problems — including a wait as the water drained from the affected line — caused the delay.

The east end of the pipe was connected shortly after dawn and by 10:30 a.m. crews were preparing to lay in place an approximate 25-ft. section of connecting pipe to the west end.

Other small connecting pieces — cut to provide 45-degree angles for the fit — were also in place. The fitting of these was expected to take from four to five hours, according to City Engineer Rick Conner, who had remained on site through the night.

Locals are asked to conserve water through Saturday, however, as the city refills its

The second piece at left is the end of the new line. This connection at the east end was completed around dawn Friday and work was continuing at the west end at noon. City officials hoped, to have the job completed by mid-afternoon. Until that time, the city's supply of water from Lake J.B. Thomas is shut off and water conservation steps are asked. Sesqui committee gives project list

An update on projects planned for Scurry County's celebration of the state's Sesquicentennial was held at noon Thursday.

Chairman Charles Anderson asked for a report on the variety of activities planned. The year-long celebration will begin with White Buffalo Days in October and will climax with the same celebration in 1986.

Jean Everett said the committee is seeking bids to print a Scurry County cookbook and that Carol Bullard is heading up an oral history project.

Bob Clifton is in charge of a local speaker's club and June McGlaun is in charge of a flag project with will include a contest. She will also head a store window decorating contest.

Jimmy Krenek reported that the band stand project on the southside of the courthouse is almost finished. Krenek said painting was the major item still required.

Also planned is a reunion project. Elizabeth Jenkins is heading up a reunion for Lincoln School and Fred Castillo will chair a Dias-y-Seis celebration.

Other projects include school involvement headed by June Brock and a time capsule headed by Brad Boren. Aline Parks is in charge of a walking tour guide project and Carol Bullard will seek to establish a community band.

Britt Canada and Shirley Leftwich gave a report on the recent wildflower project and that an expanded project is planned as part of the celebration.

Elizabeth Potts displayed commemorative items that can be purchased for resale. The committee authorized the expenditure of $500 for items such as bumper stickers, shirts, caps and buttons which will be resold at community events.

Anderson reported that a steam engine will be in Snyder on Aug. 5, 1986 as part of a statewide tour of the historical engine.

Planting date nears for crop insurance

Next Thursday, June 20, is the final planting date for insured cotton and grain sorghum in Scurry County, according to representatives with the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. (FCIC).

In addition, insured cotton and grain sorghum planted by this date must be reported by June 30 to receive full crop insurance coverage. The acreage report reflects the actual acreage planted and reported by the farmer.

To provide some flexibility, a late planting option may be exercised by farmers who find themselves unable to plant due to adverse weather conditions.

This option provides insurance for the late-planted crop, but at a lower guarantee.

Those who wish to use this option must sign an agreement with FDIC officials prior to next Thursday, however.

Farmers should contact their local authorized crop insurance agent to discuss local conditions that may affect planting.

Found guilty

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — A court today convicted three leaders of the outlawed Solidarity union of inciting civil unrest and sentenced them to prison terms ranging from 2½ to 3½ years.

Inflation up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising energy prices more than offset sharply lower food costs in May and sent the wholesale inflation rate up 0.2 percent, the government said today.

The 3.4 percent gain in energy prices compared with a 5.8 percent increase in the preceding month. Analysts have said the spurt in such costs, which began in March, probably has about run its course. Evidence of softening on world petroleum markets is already evident.

Food, the other major component of the Labor Department's Producer Price Index, fell 1.1 percent in May, the sharpest drop since an identical decline in April 1984. Those prices have not risen since December and have showed declines in four of the last five months.

Couple Fears Stolen Jewelry Could Stir Up a Family Feud

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: An expensive piece of jewelry was taken from our home recently. The sad part is that we have good reason to suspect a teenage relative who visited us at the time.

The young relative reads your column faithfully, so perhaps seeing this in your column might result in the piece being quietly returned. There would be no questions asked.

We carry insurance, but if we report the loss to our insurance company, they will insist on a police report, and the police will want a list of people who were in our home at the time in order to question them. We are afraid that our young relative might break down under questioning, which would cause very bad feelings in the family.

Should we get the law involved in this? Or should we risk talking to the parents? We've considered talking directly with the teen-ager, but if said teen-ager denies taking it and tells the parents of the accusation, it still spells family trouble.

We are waiting for your answer. We want to help—not punish—the young person, Abby. To me that is more important than getting the jewelry back.

A LOVING (AND HURT) RELATIVE

DEAR RELATIVE: Pass the word around among the family concerning the missing piece, stressing that the insurance company wants a police report, which will include a list of people who were at the house at the time. If that doesn't cause the piece to turn up, then speak privately to the young person you suspect. If that doesn't bring results, proceed with the routine report to your insurance company.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Many years ago, my one and only love decided he should not marry me, so he told my father, "Your daughter is too good for me"!

Ever since then I have wondered if this was a cop-out, or if some men really feel they aren't good enough for the women they love.

I'd like your opinion.

STILL WONDERING

DEAR STILL: If a man tells a girl's father he isn't good enough for his daughter, all concerned should believe him. He knows himself better than anybody. And if it's a cop-out, that's further proof that he's neither good enough—nor brave enough.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our son, 42, is getting married for the second time. His first marriage ended in divorce nine years ago. The woman he's marrying is 22, and this is her first marriage.

Her parents are planning a large church wedding with all the trimmings—the kind our son had the first time. What part do we play in this wedding? It's 17 years later, and our lifestyle has changed considerably. My husband is retired, and we are in much more modest circumstances now. We hosted one lavish rehearsal dinner the night before the wedding, as is customary for the groom's parents, but we are in no position to do it again. The bride's parents are fine people—younger and better off financially than we are.

We want a good rapport with them, so please tell us how to handle this.

PARENTS OF THE GROOM

DEAR PARENTS: Explain your circumstances candidly to the bride's parents. Don't do any more than you can comfortably afford. Parents who have participated in one wedding have paid their dues, and are exempt from the obligations of repeat performances.

An emergency communication system on a farm or ranch could reduce the seriousness of an injury and even save a life.

Farming and ranching is one of the nation's most hazardous occupations, and accidents often occur in remote locations. Precious minutes and even hours often slip away between the time of a farm accident and medical attention because of inadequate communications.

A system for keeping in touch with the home base of operation or for summoning help immediately in case of an accident can be a lifesaver.

The following suggestions may help farm and ranch families keep in touch with each other and be able to get help if an emergency occurs:

—Install two-way radios on tractors, trucks and self-propelled equipment.

—Establish a means of field SOS communication, using hand-signals, flashing lights, flag, boat horn -- anything to get attention and convey to others help is needed fast.

—Before going out to work, tell someone and approximate your time of return.

—Give special attention to monitoring the young, the elderly and those with special health problems.

—Teach all family members, even young children, how to get help. Keep emergency medical numbers handy at every phone. Be prepared to give directions to emergency medical personnel if the location is hard to find. Write out directions and place near the phone for use by employees. Practice giving directions with children.

—At least one person on every farm or ranch should be well-versed in first aid, including cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR). Local Red Cross or health agencies can supply information or training.

—If living alone, keep in phone contact with a relative, friend or neighbor. "Calling in" every day after work is a good practice.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

What's a summer picnic without some plump ripe tomatoes? Vary this year's tomato salads with herbs and spices and different salad dressings.

For a Swedish touch, add dill and horseradish to the basic vinegar and oil dressing. A sweet-and-sour dressing includes cinnamon for an interesting change.

SCANDINAVIAN TOMATO SALAD

- 4 medium-sized tomatoes
- 1 small onion, sliced in rings
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1 to 2 tablespoons fresh dill or 3/4 teaspoon dried dill weed
- 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons white vinegar

Use tomatoes held at room temperature until fully ripe. Core tomatoes and cut into wedges. Arrange wedges around the edge of a serving platter. Place onions in center.

Combine oil, dill, horseradish and salt; set aside for 10 minutes for flavors to blend. Add vinegar; mix well. Spoon over tomatoes and onions. Garnish with additional dill, if desired.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

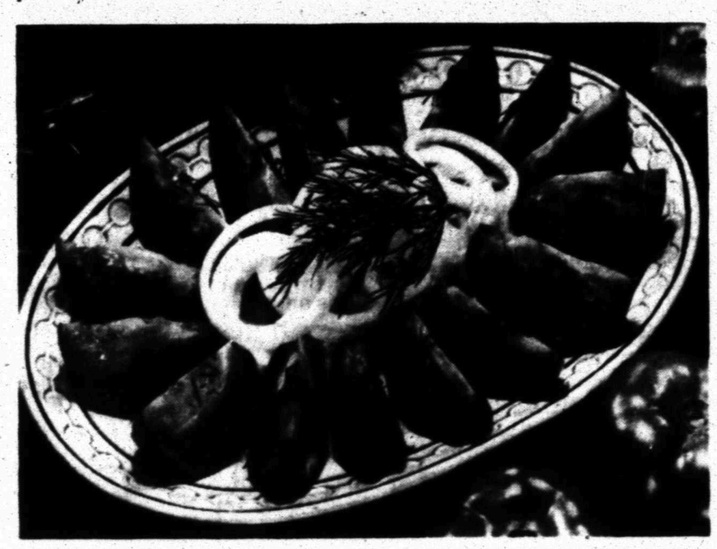

SWEET AND SOUR TOMATO SALAD

- 4 medium-sized tomatoes
- 1 cucumber, cut into 1/4-inch thick slices (1 1/2 cups)
- 1/2 cups cider vinegar
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 3/4 teaspoon salt

Use tomatoes held at room temperature until fully ripe. Core tomatoes and cut into 1/2-inch thick slices. Arrange tomatoes and cucumbers on a platter.

In a small bowl combine vinegar, sugar, cinnamon and salt; pour over tomatoes. Serve as a salad with cottage cheese or as a meat accompaniment. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

CLAM PASTA

8-ounce package thin spaghetti
1-3 cup olive oil
2 large cloves garlic, crushed
10 ½ ounce can minced clams, undrained
Salt and pepper to taste

In a large saucepot cook spaghetti according to package directions; drain in a colander. In the clean dry saucepot heat oil, garlic and clams; add spaghetti and toss over low heat until most of clam liquid is absorbed. Add salt and pepper. Serve at once. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

"Awesome Adventures" program in full swing

The Scurry County Library's "Awesome Adventure" summer reading program is in full swing according to Janice Mitchell, head librarian. Children, kindergarten through sixth grades, can still sign up for this program.

As of June 12 a total of 325 children had registered and, of those participants, 30 have read at least 15 books and have received their certificates and T-shirt transfers.

Every book read by a child is recorded on a poster with the school's name on it in the library. At the current time, there are no names on the Ira and Hermleigh school posters.

The Snyder Elementary School standings include West Elementary and North Elementary being tied for first. Standfield and Northeast elementaries are running a close race for second place and East Elementary and Central Elementary are behind.

Students reading 15 books include Dawn Bilberry, Shelly Englert, Trisha Jerome, Cody Lewis, Shannon Canada, Nick Johnson, Kasey Neill, Christopher Mitchell, Michelle Spencer, Michelle Banta, Mollie Rumpff, Holly Sanders, Cynthia Insel, Cara Belcher, Sebastian Albarez, Edward Albarez, Rosa Vasquez, Diana Rodriguez, Lisa Thamez, and Virginia Pointeau.

Those reading 30 books include Glenn Lewis, Tricia Cunnington, Kristina Kornegay and Josh Kornegay.

Vicki Green, Farrah Severs and Jackie Severs have all read 45 books, and Veronica Guerrero, Joe Guerrero, and Tracie Morris have read a total of 60 books each.

It will help your bridge if you remember Jacoby's Rule: "When your contract looks easy to make, ask yourself how you can go set." We've all seen hands where it is a mistake to play too many rounds of trumps. This deal is unusual in that even one trump is too many to play.

After winning the ace of clubs, declarer blithely played a heart. East won the trick and had two ways to defeat the contract. If he continues with his high heart and another, declarer can gather only nine tricks. Should he continue instead with a second club, then eventually he will be able to overruff the third spade as declarer attempts to ruff. He will then cash his other high trump, and once again declarer bites the dust.

Sure, South was unlucky to catch all three opposing trumps in the East hand. But he will always be able to score 10 tricks if he doesn't touch the heart suit. He can play the spade ace and ruff a spade, come back to his hand with the diamond ace, and ruff another spade. That will be overruffed, but East can't beat the contract.

Declarer does not really give up on overtricks by playing this way. If by some chance the spade king appears on the third round of that suit, he can return to his hand and then risk playing a trump.

SANDWICH COOKIES

1 cup hazelnuts
1 and 1-3rd cups all purpose flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup sugar
½ cup butter
1 large egg beaten with 1 tablespoon milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla
Fruit Jam

Toast hazelnuts in a preheated 400-degree oven for about 10 minutes or until browned; rub off skins; chop very fine. Stir together nuts, flour, baking powder and sugar; cut in butter until fine. Stir in egg mixture and vanilla. Wrap tightly in saran and chill until firm enough to handle; shape into a ball. Work with ½ of dough at a time; keep rest refrigerated. Roll out to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut into 2-inch rounds; cut a hole in the center of half the rounds with a 1-inch cutter to make rings. Roll and cut out other half of dough. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets, about 1 inch apart, in a preheated 375-degree oven until pale gold — 6 to 7 minutes. With a wide metal spatula remove to racks to cool. Just before serving, spread rounds with jam; top with rings. Makes 36 to 42.

Bert Otto and Gary Gunset sparked a double apiece for the Oilers, now 1-1 in second-round play, while John Pena had two singles and Mark Kuss and pitcher Kevin Dollins chipped in a single apiece.

Snyder will host a six-team Division IV girl's softball tournament Saturday at Towle Park.

Action begins at 8:30 a.m. when Snyder takes on Midland A and Odessa squares off against Abilene South.

Midland B and Andrews received first-round byes and will play at 11. Andrews plays the winner of the Odessa-Abilene contest while Midland B challenges the Snyder-Midland A victor.

The championship game is slated for an 8 p.m. start.

Double-eagle buys early lead at Open

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) - Tze-Chung Chen had never shot a double-eagle and the U.S. Open had never seen one. Not in his 26 years and not in the golf tournament's 85.

But on a Thursday in which lightning flashed across the face of the Monster known more prosaically as the South Course at the Oakland Hills Country Club, Chen ("Just call me 'T.C.' It's easier.") caught lightning in a bottle.

In his first U.S. Open, his extraordinary shot on the 527-yard, par-5 second hole started the fifth-year pro from Taiwan on the way to a 5-under-par 65.

It made him the first-round, one-stroke leader at the front of a seven-man squadron of players who broke par.

Fred Couples, whose driving had driven him crazy for the past three weeks, had driven to a 66 and was the leader in the clubhouse when Chen birdied No. 18 to finish off the round and the Monster.

Mike Reid, Andy Bean, Jay Haas, Tom Kite and Rick Fehr all came in at 1-under 69 and eight others matched par in a 14-hour stretch which, as defending champion Fuzzy Zoeller put it, "showed us all four seasons" with warmth, chill, sun, rain and, through it all, a precocious wind.

Zoeller had a 1-over-par 71. So did Spain's Seve Ballesteros, one of the pre-tourney favorites. So did Curtis Strange, the PGA Tour's leading money winner.

Tom Watson, the 1982 U.S. Open champ who had said par just might be good enough to win this one, came in 5-over 75. Jack Nicklaus was a stroke farther back, as was Lee Trevino.

Carmichael retires

Orioles hire Weaver again after giving Altobelli boot

BALTIMORE (AP) - The Earl of Baltimore is back, and the faltering Orioles will soon find out if his old fire remains after 2½ years out of baseball.

Earl Weaver, who quit at the end of the 1982 season following a highly successful 14½-year tenure with the Orioles, was lured out of retirement Thursday as an interim manager to replace the dismissed Joe Altobelli.

"We're not playing well," outfielder Gary Roenicke said of a slump that had reached 11-17 before the Orioles beat Milwaukee 8-3 Thursday night. "If anybody can light a fire, it's Earl."

The 54-year-old Weaver was hired only for the remainder of the season, at which time the managerial situation for the future will be reviewed.

Although the official announcement ended 48 agonizing hours for Altobelli as speculation swirled over his fate, Weaver missed Thursday night's game because of a prior commitment and third base coach Cal Ripken Sr. handled the team.

Ripken, a 29-year veteran of the Baltimore organization, said he felt no animosity after being bypassed as a managerial candidate for the second time in less than three years. But Altobelli was highly critical of the way his dismissal was handled.

"I thought this was a class operation, but I guess I was sadly mistaken," Altobelli said as he headed for his clubhouse office to clear out his personal belongings.

The deposed skipper said he telephoned Peters twice from Detroit on Wednesday, after getting numerous queries from the media on his status, and was merely told by the general manager to "hang tough."

In taking over for Altobelli, Weaver succeeds the man who replaced him and led the Orioles to a World Series championship in 1983 - matching Weaver's record for his four appearances in the fall classic.

Owner Edward Bennett Williams, noting Weaver had rejected numerous offers to manage other clubs since he left the Orioles, said: "I think he came back out of loyalty to this organization. We went to the best possible source we could get."

Westwood grad inks golf pact with WTC

Matt Smith, a graduate of Austin's Westwood High School, is a new recruit for the 1985-86 Westerner golf squad, coach Dave Foster has announced.

Smith was a four-year starter for Westwood when the team won consecutive district championships and qualified for regional and state competition. He was captain of the team his junior and senior years.

Smith was highly recruited in the Austin and Houston areas, and Foster noted he felt WTC is fortunate to have signed him.

"Matt is a fine young man. He is a 3.8 student in high school and his golf achievements are many. he will also be a good leader on the course," Foster said.

Smith comes from the same high school as former WTC students Petey Petri, Bobby Rucker, Jimbo Cotton and Criss Johnson. Petri currently plays for the University of Texas while Rucker and Cotton play for Baylor. Also hailing from Westwood is Pat Fitzpatrick, who will be a co-captain of the 1985-86 Westerner team.

From the five players who have attended WTC from Westwood, three were named Freshman of the Year, two were Most Valuable Player and four have served as team captains.

"I know what you're saying, Harriet! Somehow, I, too, wish the Von Bulow trial had never ended."

Von Bulow: I kept my affairs discreet

NEW YORK (AP) — Claus von Bulow, acquitted this week of twice trying to kill his heiress wife Martha, says she tolerated his extramarital affairs.

"Provided that I kept it discreet, she had no objection," he told interviewer Charlie Rose today on CBS-TV's "Nightwatch," "and I kept it discreet."

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is it really possible to control emotional and behavioral problems by following a special diet and taking vitamin supplements?

DEAR READER — Most of us feel better when we eat correctly and take care of ourselves. Sometimes we can't — or won't — eat balanced diets that provide adequate supplies of vitamins. We then run the risk of illness or, rarely, emotional instability due to malnutrition. In general, a properly balanced diet is appropriate for both physical and mental health.

There are some people who believe that special diets and megavitamin therapy can help control emotional imbalance and behavioral aberrancies. I am not aware of any valid study that shows this to be true. Despite testimonials by occasional "media personalities," the value of diet- and vitamin-therapy is, at best, anecdotal and unproven.

It's important to remember something called the "active placebo" effect. Human nature being what it is, we all derive benefit from any treatment that we believe to be effective. This fact of life confuses more doctors and fouls up more experiments than you can imagine. However, we deal with active placebos every day, and I'm not going to deny that special diets and vitamins may work because some patients want and expect them to be effective.

DEAR DR. GOTT — How often should I (a diabetic) go for a checkup to see if there need be a change in the amount of insulin I should take?

DEAR READER — This is a question that only your doctor can answer. Diabetics vary enormously with respect to the severity of the disease and the response to treatment. If you have been well controlled on a consistent amount of insulin, take good care of yourself and have no obvious complications of the disease or the treatment, infrequent routine followup would be all right.

If, like many diabetics, you have problems in one area or another, more frequent medical evaluation would be appropriate.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is there a surefire way to rid oneself of plantar warts? Since they're caused by a virus, they seem to be impossible to get rid of permanently, even after they're cut out.

DEAR READER — Because they occur on the plantar surface (sole) of the foot, plantar warts are sometimes resistant to treatment. They become painful because, like a stone in the shoe, they cause a build-up of dead skin that is hard and presses on the deeper skin of the sole.

Sandpapering the callus and then treating the wart with topical medicine, like Vergo, usually takes care of the problem. Acid treatment, freezing and local excision are more complicated therapies that may be necessary. They may have to be repeated but, after awhile, the warts do not return. Plantar warts commonly disappear by themselves.

Although I may be shot for saying this, folk medicine and herbal remedies are often more effective in getting rid of warts than are the more expensive and painful techniques used by doctors.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Steven Spielberg witnesses birth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Director Steven Spielberg, who brought Indiana Jones to the screen and ushered in "The Goonies," had a close encounter of another kind witnessing the birth to actress Amy Irving of their son Max.

The 7-pound, 7½-ounce baby was born Thursday, said Ruth Crane, publicity coordinator for Warner Brothers.

Miss Irving, 31, who was nominated for an Oscar in 1984 for her role as a docile Jewish maiden in "Yentl," had called motherhood "the role I've been waiting for all my life" during her fourth month of pregnancy.

Stacy project on agenda for CRMWD

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will be gearing for action on the Stacy project when they meet June 20 in Big Spring.

Authority to execute water sales contracts with Midland, San Angelo and Abilene will be sought. These proposed documents have been submitted to the three, each of which is contemplating acquiring rights to 15,000 ac. ft. of water annually from the Stacy reservoir.

In order to execute the Abilene contract, which actually will be through the West Central Texas Municipal Water District, authorization will be asked to file a trans-basis diversion amendment on the Stacy permit.

Abilene is in the Brazos basin, whereas Stacy is in the Colorado, and under Texas law water cannot be interchanged without a permit. This diversion was made a part of the agreement when the CRMWD and LCRA settled their differences over the Stacy project 25 miles southeast of Ballinger.

Directors also will consider naming First Southwest Company as the fiscal agent for the Stacy bonds and McCall, Parkhurst and Horton as bond attorneys. In all probability, CRMWD will sell the Stacy bonds before the end of the year, although actual construction may be nearly two years away.

A $17,000 amendment to the budget will be sought to fund additional expense in adding early retirement and disability payments to employee benefits.

"Subjectivism in Religion"

By Randall Gray

The word "subjectivism," as used in the context of religion, means the elevation of what you feel, what you like, what your emotions tell you--over any outside authority.

Here's an example. I was studying the Bible with a lady from Tennessee. She read some things in her Bible that she didn't like at all. Turning to me, she said, "Preacher, I don't care what that book says, I know what I feel in my heart?"

That's a classic example of someone who has elevated subjectivism (her emotions) over objective fact (the Bible).

What you feel, think, like, want, the emotions you experience, these subjective things should not be the basis of your religion. Why not? Because emotion can lead you astray. We have all had experiences where we truly thought we were right, but were wrong!

The Bible is never wrong.

A much safer route to religious and eventually eternally security is to follow the objective, authoritative standard of God's word!

Woman's bond hearing set

DALLAS (AP) — A bond reduction hearing was scheduled today for a Hutchins woman accused of fatally shooting her third and fourth husbands and burying them in her back yard.

Betty Lou Beets, a 48-year-old waitress and bartender, and her daughter, Shirley Stegner, 26, of Corsicana, remained in Henderson County Jail Thursday. They are both charged with murder in the deaths of two of Mrs. Beets' husbands.

The women are being held on $1 million bond apiece.

Meanwhile, Dallas County records have revealed that Mrs. Beets shot her second husband twice in the back 13 years ago. She was indicted on a felony charge of assault with intent to commit murder with malice in the 1972 shooting of Billy York Lane, records show.

She later pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of aggravated assault, a misdemeanor, and was fined $150, records show.

Hijackers reportedly freed 19 before taking off again

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Hijackers seized an Athens-to-Rome TWA flight today with 153 people aboard, mostly Americans, and forced it to land in Beirut after the pilot said they beat and threatened to kill hostages.

The hijackers, reportedly armed with grenades and machine guns, freed at least 19 women and children and the plane took off. The pilot said he was ordered to fly to Algeria, according to the Beirut control tower.

One of the freed passengers, Irma Garca of Laredo, Texas, said the hijackers had shot a black man, apparently a passenger, in the neck. She said the man did not appear to be in serious condition.

Initial reports said three hijackers were on the plane. But Lebanese Transportation Ministry spokesman Ziad Kassem told The Associated Press there were only two.

The hijacking was the third this week involving the Beirut airport.

Mrs. Garca, who was flown with other freed American passengers to Larnaca, Cyprus, said she did not know why the man was shot, but apparently had resisted the hijackers in some way. She said two young gunmen ordered passengers to put their hands behind their heads and confiscated their passports.

A yellow escape chute was lowered from the plane's front door and the freed passengers slid down to the tarmac in Beirut. The passengers then raced across the tarmac to a fire station, where they were picked up by airport vehicles and an ambulance.

Reporters in Beirut said the freed passengers appeared stunned. "Are you a good guy or a bad guy?" a white-haired woman with an American accent screamed at a British journalist. "My husband's still on board with the others."

Dan Howard, public affairs officer of the U.S. Embassy in Cyprus, said the the Algerian government had refused permission for the hijacked jet to land there. He said 17 American women and two infants were released and flown to Cyprus.

One hijacker issued a statement to reporters through the Beirut control tower, saying the "organization of the oppressed in the world" was responsible for the hijacking. He demanded that all Lebanese Shiite Moslem guerrillas held by Israel be turned over to the Red Cross in Lebanon's southern port city of Sidon.

Cheese linked to deaths

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twenty-eight deaths or stillbirths and 86 cases of sickness were linked to contaminated cheeses sold mostly to Hispanics, state health officials announced as they ordered the products removed from stores throughout California.

The manufacturer of the cheeses closed down voluntarily.

Most victims of the flu-like illness that has struck since April were women and their children, and all were in Los Angeles and neighboring Orange counties. But state authorities Thursday ordered all cheese produced by Jalisco Mexican Products Inc. off market shelves.

The Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta said bacteria called Listeria monocytogenes were detected in samples of Jalisco cheese sent by Dr. Shirley Fannin, associate deputy director of health programs in Los Angeles County. She studied 50 to 60 different foods beginning in mid-May after health officials detected a link in a rash of influenza-like illnesses in the two counties.

Ms. Fannin said she learned Thursday that the cheese was contaminated.

Dr. Claire Broom, chief of the respiratory and special pathogens branch at the CDC, said Listeria monocytogenes, "attacks either people who have some underlying disease like cancer, or pregnant women.

"But not every pregnant woman who is exposed will become ill. You can't predict what's going to happen — you can just have a probability."

CRMWD on target with financial sums

When it comes to net, the Colorado River Municipal Water District was right on target through May in its financial projections.

Income of $4,780,348 was under estimates by $227,397, or 4.55 percent; expenses of $2,792,871 were under estimates by $213,995, or 7.12 percent. Net for the period was $14,634, or .7 of one percent under projections.

Most income, $4,575,336, came from water sales, which were 4 percent under estimates principally due to a wetter, cooler first five months. The biggest item of expense was $1,966,684 for electric energy for pumping, which was 9.85 percent under estimates.

Water deliveries for the period aggregated 6,720,937,280 gallons, of which 5,933,636,600 went to cities and 787,250,680 went to oilfield and industrial uses in non-potable water.

Of total production, 854,775,700 gallons came from city and district wells, 5,185,138,910 gallons from lakes. Another 681,026,060 gallons were in non-potable diverted water.

At the end of May Lake E. V. Spence contained 22,061 ac. ft. or 45.43 percent of capacity; Lake Thomas has 26,596 ac. ft. or 13.04 percent of capacity. (June showers brought Lake Spence contest to 225,820 ac. ft. and Lake Thomas to 31,460 ac. ft.)

Animal treatment complaint filed

Police filed a misdemeanor cruelty to animals complaint Thursday afternoon.

At 1:37 p.m., officers went to a residence in the 3700 Block of Noble Dr. in response to a report that a dog was being kept chained to a clothesline without food, water or shelter.

Police had made a similar call to the residence Tuesday and Thursday's action was prompted by the apparent lack of action to improve the situation.

The recent rains and cool weather — conditions that reduce water consumption — prompted city officials Thursday to move ahead with plans to connect the 21-inch line.

Initially, the city had planned the work as late as this fall, after the peak-use periods of summer had passed.
