REFINERY BLAST TAKES LIFE OF THIRD VICTIM

Spur Father Shoots Man Accused In Daughter's Death

SINGLE SHOT FROM PISTOL HITS MECHANIC

C. R. Foreman Surrenders After Wounding Of J. N. Edmondson

GIRL FOUND DEAD

Edmondson Under Bond In Girl's Death After Night at Hotel

SPUR, Texas, April 16. (AP)—J. N. Edmondson, mechanic, was shot and seriously wounded here late today, following the shooting of C. R. Foreman surrendered to officers.

Edmondson was at work in a garage when Foreman, armed with an automatic pistol, walked in. The shooting following. One bullet struck Edmondson in the right side and he was removed to a hospital.

Miss Elsie Foreman, daughter of C. R. Foreman, was found dead at Crysbyton Sunday after having spent the night in a hotel with Edmondson.

Edmondson, against whom a charge of murder was filed, has been at liberty on bond pending action of the Crosby county grand jury.

Foreman Arraigned

Immediately following the affray, which occurred at a local garage where Edmonson was working, Foreman was arrested by Chief Deputy Sheriff J. W. Nichols, who witnessed the shooting, and was arraigned before County Judge O. C. Newberry at Dickens. He was charged with assault with intent to murder and waived examining trial. His bond was set at $1,000.

More than a dozen Spur citizens made the trip to Dickens to sign Foreman's bond and as many more called by telephone and offered to act as securities, according to Sheriff Arthur.

The accused man declined to make a statement, officers said.

The shooting occurred shortly after 4 o'clock, following a long talk between Foreman and Edmonson, Deputy Nichols told Sheriff Arthur.

Shooting Described

"The men stood outside the garage for some time talking" according to the deputy. "Edmonson turned and walked into the shop, to be followed by Foreman. Nichols, who had been watching to prevent trouble, went to the garage door. When he reached the door he heard the report of a pistol and rushed inside to see Edmonson running toward the front of the building with Foreman after him.

"Foreman fired another shot as they were passing through the storage room," Nichols said. "The shot went wild."

Edmonson took refuge in the women's rest room and Nichols caught the pursuer and disarmed him of a .32 caliber pistol. Neither Foreman or Edmonson said a word after the shooting affray, according to Nichols."

Girl Died at Hotel

The mechanic was charged with murder Monday following an investigation into the death of Elsie Foreman at a Crosbyton hotel on the day previous.

She and Edmonson were said to have occupied a hotel room in that city all night together and Edmonson said that he found the young woman dead when he awoke the following morning.

Edmonson was released on bond of $2,000 to await action of the grand jury.

The girl's viscera was sent to the state laboratories at Austin to be examined for signs of poisoning.

Hembree Dies For Attack On Teacher

Stoical Indian Scorns Spiritual Council to Last

M'ALESTER, Okla., April 17. (Friday)—(AP)—E. S. (Choc) Hembree, Choctaw Indian, was electrocuted at 12:11 a. m. today in the Oklahoma penitentiary here for criminally attacking and shooting a woman school teacher.

Hembree walked to the electric chair with the same stoical unconcern that marked his last hours before the execution.

The prison chaplain had tried to prepare the doomed man spiritually for the death chair, but he steadfastly refused to discuss "the hereafter."

Greets Executioner

Before sitting down in the death chair, Hembree reached over to the back of it and shook hands with Rich Owen, the executioner. After coming into the death cell he had shaken hands with 14 men in the room, mostly the official witnesses, wardens and deputy wardens, doctors and the prison chaplain.

When asked by Warden Brown if he had anything to say, Hembree said: "I appreciate all the favors you have done for me. That is about all."

As the death helmet was being placed over his head and face, Hembree looked up at the spectators, and smiled—a smile that seemed forced. Then he appeared to grit his teeth as the helmet descended over his head. But before his left arm had been tied, he waved it in farewell to the spectators.

Hembree was pronounced dead less than four minutes after the electric current was turned on.

Woman Friend Absent

Mrs. Jessie Neff of Oklahoma City, a friend whom Hembree had invited to witness his execution, failed to appear in the death chamber.

State prison officials refused the doomed man's brother permission to visit him late in the day.

While his wife and parents were denied permission to be with him during his final hours, Hembree invited a woman friend of the family to view the execution, and she accepted.

Mrs. Jessie Neff, the woman invited, left Oklahoma City for McAlester this afternoon to be present in the death chamber.

Hembree was permitted to have present five persons of his own choosing, but chose no others.

The two brothers were convicted last July for a criminal attack on Leota Bosley, 23, Loco, Okla., school teacher. The young woman also was robbed and shot, as was her companion, Chad Thurman, Nocona, Texas.

Hembree's father told newspaper men that "A. Y. let Choc take the rap."

PARIS GREETS DEPOSED KING

Alfonso Joins Family In French Capital

PARIS, April 16. (UP)—The royal family of Spain, evicted by the proclamation of a republic at Madrid, gathered in Paris tonight to consider their future as exiles.

Alfonso XIII, deposed king of Spain, arrived in Paris from Marseilles by train at 11:10 p. m. A great throng of upwards of 8,000 persons rushed the train. Alfonso barely escaped being trampled.

The former monarch was smiling as the train from Marseilles halted at the station. He appeared frightened, however, when the mob surged forward, cheering deliriously. The crowd kept him pinned in for 10 minutes before he could move.

Alfonso refused to be interviewed, but hurried to the Hotel Meurice to join Victoria, dethroned queen of Spain, and their children.

There was a touching family reunion as the queen and children greeted Alfonso. Victoria's eyes filled with tears when he reached the hotel and hastened to her suite.

Outside, the police pulled down the hotel's iron shutters. They fought back the throng of thousands. The crowds choked the streets.

Tom Anglin Accused Of Gun Threat

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., April 16. (UP)—State Senator Tom Anglin late today allegedly assaulted Tom Phillips, owner and publisher of the Holdenville Daily News.

The senator threatened his life with a pistol, Phillips said.

Phillips described the alleged assault in a statement to the county attorney. Anglin had not been arrested late today and had made no statement.

Phillips said he was standing on the street corner talking to a friend when Anglin approached and attempted to quarrel with him.

Phillips has opposed Anglin politically and has attacked him and District Judge George C. Crump, aligned with Anglin's political faction in editorials.

Phillips said Anglin clinched after the senator allegedly drew a pistol. Frank Willis, who was talking with both men, disarmed Anglin.

Phillips' statement to the county attorney:

"As I approached Anglin he walked over to me and I thought he wanted to shake hands, I addressed him as senator and proffered my hand. He struck at me and we clinched. Persons around separated us.

"I then proceeded toward my office and stopped across the street to talk to a friend. Presently Anglin again appeared and attempted to make me strike him first. He kept one hand in his pocket. I asked him what he had in the pocket.

"He struck at me again and then drew the pistol. I clinched him and Frank Willis took the pistol away from Senator Anglin.

"We had disagreed politically but I was surprised at his action."

Phillips is 30 years old, the youngest newspaper publisher in the Southwest. Anglin, on the other hand, is a veteran politician, who will retire after his present term in the legislature.

R. K. Krull Pays Penalty For His Heroism In Fire

Panhandle Worker Who Shut Off Oil Supply Joins C. R. Walker and J. A. Horne in Death; Refinery Men Risk Lives in Halting Spread of Tragic Blaze

R. K. Krull, who Thursday morning stayed in the blazing inferno of the Panhandle cracking plant to shut off the oil supply while flames licked at his clothing and burned out his eyes, died at 6:10 Thursday night, the third victim of a blast that tore away the top of the treatment tower and scattered liquid fire to threaten the entire plant and 15 other lives.

C. R. Walker and J. A. Horne, trapped with Mr. Krull in the receiving room just below the tower, died in a hospital four hours after the terrific explosion enveloped the equipment in flames.

O. B. Males, plant superintendent who arrived at the refinery at the moment of the blast, was caught by the air-carried fire and slightly burned. Lawrence A. Worthley, operator's helper was hurt in battling the spreading flames. Neither is seriously injured.

The heroism of Krull and the reckless courage of Panhandle employes and helpers from the Conoco and American plants in fighting the flames in the face of acute danger were believed to have prevented the explosion of storage tanks and oil cars lying within range of the fire.

At 10 o'clock Thursday morning, the three victims were at work in the receiving room while hot oil, under pressure, was being treated with 30 tons of clay, technically known as fuller's earth, in the tank above. The pressure gauge registered normal. In the skimming plant several hundred yards away, approximately 15 men worked quietly.

A terrific explosion, as yet unexplained, hurtled the top of the treatment tower through the air and released the 30 tons of sand, saturated with hot oil and vapor. It was as though the very air were aflame. The three men in the steel room below were instantly enveloped. Flames burned all clothing from their bodies, and within a few seconds they were blinded and seared almost beyond recognition.

Victims Blinded

C. B. Davis, assistant foreman who ran from the skimming plant at the roar of the blast, saw Walker stagger from the death trap, run blindly against a tank 100 feet away, and crumple. Horne, who was handicapped in his walk, was seen to crawl on hands and knees out of the fire area. Horne and Walker were without clothing when they emerged and only a few scorched tatters clung to Krull's body.

Meanwhile the vast amount of saturated sand was burning through the air and carrying menace where it fell. It fell on tanks where vapors from gasoline ignited. Flames licked up the sides of the tanks and the heat made other, more terrific blasts imminent. As far as a quarter of a mile away the blazing bits were scattered, falling on railroad tank cars where members of the crew held their ground to make the cars air tight.

The roaring blast belched clouds of heavy black smoke shot through with flame, visible for miles around. Gas and fire filled the air while workers battled to check the spread of the blaze. Flames leaped upon the earth and spread in spurts about the grounds.

"Fire foam," chemical extinguisher which must be mixed with water, was sent into the inferno. The struggle was handicapped by the lack of water pressure, for the blast had thrown the electric pumps at the plant out of commission. Later the Wichita Falls fire department supplied two engine pumps and gradually the valiant men at the hose brought the flames under control.

W. F. Sims, general manager of refinery operations, and Plant Superintendent Males worked all Thursday afternoon in a futile effort to explain the mystery of the blast. The investigation will be continued by the company's own men, Roy B. Jones, president of the company, said. He joined plant directors in commendation of "the courage and forethought of the three victims and the men who fought to save the plant.

Veterans in Work

Walker, Horne and Krull are all veterans at the plant and in oil refinery work. All are married men and were residents of Wichita Falls for many years. They were selected for care and skill, company directors said, and are believed to have no responsibility in the explosion.

A bulletin board just inside the company grounds announced Thursday as the 611th consecutive day in the plant without a serious accident. The company was awarded a safety throphy in the last meeting of the industry at Tulsa. The last accident which cost working time occurred on Aug. 29, 1929, company figures show.

C. R. Walker, 1302 North Ninth street, was 40 years old, an employe of the company for many years and was an assistant to the cracking plant operator. J. A. Horne, who made his home on the Charlie road, was 59 years old, and another veteran, known as a pipe fixer. Krull, 39, an experienced operator, was in charge of the plant at the time of the blast. With his clothing ablaze and his eyes burned out, he groped his way to the controls and cut off the oil supply, the first and most vital step in checking further disaster.

Damage $25,000

Mr. Jones said the skimming plant would be in operation again at once and that the cracking plant would start up again within 10 days or two weeks. He estimated the damage at between $25,000 and $30,000.

Completion of funeral arrangements for the three blast victims was not expected before Friday, relatives said. Services probably will be held Saturday. Arrangements for Walker and Krull are in charge of the Hines mortuary. Arrangements for Horne are in

HOUSE FAVORS SUNDAY MOVIE LAW'S REPEAL

Newcastle Minister Pleads For Separation Of Church and State

AUSTIN, April 16. (AP)—Over the vigorous protests of Representative Forbes of Weatherford, the house today engrossed a bill to repeal the statute prohibiting operation of Sunday motion picture shows. The bill would give incorporated cities and towns authority to prohibit Sunday movies by ordinance.

The bill was engrossed 81 to 23 and lacked only a few votes of being placed on final passage.

Opponents claimed the bill would permit operation of motion picture shows outside cities that had prohibited Sunday movies.

Preacher Opposes Law

One of the high lights of the debate on the bill came when Representative Fisher of Newcastle, who said he had preached the gospel for 40 years and had not attended a picture show in 30 years, opposed arguments advanced by Representative Forbes.

Fisher declared the legislature was not organized to run the affairs of churches and pass church legislation. "There is a distinction between the church and the state, and the legislature should intelligently distinguish this distinction." He advocated letting the churches run their own affairs and the legislature the affairs of the people.

Forbes Wages Fiery

Forbes made a vindictive speech against the bill. "My soul is on fire and my bones are ignited by this pernicious bill," he shouted. "It is a worse bill than the one to legalize race track gambling. If movies continue like they are now we will have 'free love' in another 100 years. I have not attended a picture show for 20 years and will not if I live to be as old as Methuselah."

The senate spent the afternoon arguing over a house bill proposing to make the school district consolidation statutes retroactive to include schools from 1921 up instead of 1927.

Redistricting Bill

The house refused to concur in senate amendments to the Metcalfe congressional redistricting bill. The senate amended Metcalfe's bill by adopting a complete substitute sponsored by Senator Greer of Kemp. The house asked for appointment of a free conference committee to iron out the differences between the two bills, with many legislators expressing the belief that no redistricting bill would be passed at this session.

The house passed a bill by Senator Oneal of Wichita Falls to permit property owners to invoke the statute of limitations against delinquent taxes. The bill would not be retroactive.

Four bills, approved by the Texas' judicial council, to speed up court procedure were passed by the house.

Youth Slain, Girl and Policeman Wounded in Open Gun Battle

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio, April 16. (AP)—Charles Saunders, 20, St. Louis, was killed by the police, Wonetta Ross, 20, St. Joseph, Mo., was wounded in the head and City Policeman Ralph Castner seriously wounded in the stomach in a gun fight in the business district here today.

Ruth Saunders, 20, Kansas City, was captured but a man, said to be Ted Shea of St. Louis, escaped.

The two couples had been frequent visitors here for the last week and aroused the suspicions of the police when they started to spend money lavishly. When police stopped their car, the occupants opened fire on the police car. The officers returned the fire, killing Saunders, and wounding the Ross girl.

After Castner fell to the ground seriously wounded Shea jumped into the car and left the Saunders girl standing in the street. She refused to answer any questions at the county jail except to give the names of her companions, officials said.

A large sum of money was taken from the pockets of the dead man, police said.

government's failure to protect United States property in Nicaragua, and it was presumed this was discussed. The action indicated a purpose to stand firmly by the policy.

This action also followed a new outbreak of fighting in which eight United States citizens lost their lives—seven of them being reported executed after capture by the insurgents—and sanguinary fighting and bombing which claimed the life of Pedro Blandon, one of three of the insurrectionist leaders.

The fast modern cruiser Memphis was proceeding full speed tonight to Puerto Cabezas, where some 300 United States citizens are reported almost in panic, despite evacuation of many by ships. The slower gunboat Sacramento, from the Canal zone, was sent to the nearer east coast Port of Bluefields, and this will enable naval officials to take the cruiser Asheville, already on the scene, to Cape Gracias a Dios, where a later outbreak has occurred.

The two new ships may reach their destinations tonight or tomorrow.

Another landing of marines from the Asheville at Puerto Cabezas late yesterday, was reported to the department today.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 16. (US)—Nicaraguan bandit rebels today appeared to be withdrawing their forces from Puerto Cabezas to the Honduran frontier where they are reported to have looted the seaport of Cape Gracias a Dios.

Rama, another town in the northeastern coastal section, was reported attacked by the insurgents.

Advices from the American consulate at Bluefields declared the brigands captured and looted Cape Gracias a Dios yesterday, making their escape as two bombing planes attached to the native Guardia Nacional appeared over the town. The planes bombed the retreating rebels.

Withdrawal of the brigands from the neighborhood of Puerto Cabezas is believed to have been prompted by the arrival of the U. S. gunboat Asheville with marine reinforcements from the Canal zone. All but 27 of the American women and children gathered in Puerto Cabezas aboard the Cefulu, a Standard Fruit and Steamship company boat. The town is now believed safe from attack, but should the rebels reappear in the vicinity the marne garrison is confident of driving them off.

Veteran Loans Called Source of U. S. Profit

WASHINGTON, April 16. (US)—A profit of about $10,000,000 a year is being made by the government on its loans to world war veterans, Representative Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican, of New York, declared today.

Striking back at claims of Chairman Wood, Indiana, of the house appropriations committee, that the action of congress in increasing the loan value of veterans' compensation certificates had helped cause the treasury deficit, Fish declared the deficit could not be blamed on the soldiers' bill.

"And we do not have a republican flag," said the captain, "so we'll let the post go barren."

"Viva le republic," the sailors shouted as they sailed.

"ATHLETE'S FOOT" INFECTION STOPPED BY NEW DISCOVERY

Have you noticed an annoying itch between your toes? Has the skin become thick, white and moist, or red and inclined to peel? Or has it developed a scaly dryness?

Any of these symptoms may indicate the mysterious new infection called "Athlete's Foot," which has preyed upon at least ten million people throughout America.

You need not be an athlete to contract this annoying trouble. You can pick it up anywhere—in public places—even in your own bathroom. Sometimes called ringworm of the toes, and many other names, it is caused by a tiny germ, tinea trichophyton.

And now, after exhaustive tests, a famous New York laboratory finds that ABSORBINE JR., the mild, soothing, yet powerful, antiseptic, is especially deadly to the tinea trichophyton germs.

So if you have any of the symptoms, don't take chances on serious complications—douse ABSORBINE JR. freely on your feet, twice a day. It is safest to use this germ-destroyer after every foot exposure to wet surfaces, as specialists advise. For the tiny parasites breed and lurk simply everywhere, and are always ready to attack. All druggists, $1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Loose DANDRUFF offends

How to get rid of it

quickly–pleasantly–inexpensively

LISTERINE, NOTED ANTISEPTIC, FOUND HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

If your scalp itches or burns, if your hair is thinning or you are troubled with loose dandruff, begin using full strength Listerine, systematically, as an antiseptic shampoo. Simply douse it on and massage the scalp as vigorously as you can.

Literally tens of thousands have rid themselves of a dandruff condition with Listerine. They are simply amazed by the speed with which it gets results—often in cases where other, more complicated treatments had failed. One or two applications are frequently found sufficient.

What loose dandruff is

Loose dandruff is the visual evidence of a diseased or infectious condition of the scalp. It is most likely to manifest itself when the seasons change.

Evidence seems to point that the condition is of germ origin. At any rate, the fat glands about the hair become over-active, throwing off a disgusting, greasy, whitish substance known as sebum. This forms in crusts and scales that betray you as a careless and unhealthy person.

Neglect is dangerous

The hair, meanwhile, seems literally to be stifled. It grows lustreless, lifeless, falls out. The scalp feels hot and itchy. If the condition is not treated promptly, eczema and baldness may follow, and usually do.

At the first symptom of trouble, the fight against loose dandruff should begin. Consider Listerine's effectiveness against this condition.

Why Listerine succeeds

If infection is present on the surface of the skin, Listerine attacks it. A powerful germicide, it kills bacteria in 15 seconds. The fastest killing time accurately recorded by science.

Listerine helps to dissolve oily crusts and quickly removes them, as well as horny scales. And Listerine quickly relieves that burning, itching sensation. It soothes inflamed or irritated areas of the scalp.

If scalp is dry

If scalp is excessively dry, a little olive oil may be used in connection with the Listerine shampoo, or independent of it. The oil aids in dissolving crusts and scales and keeps hair from drying out. Get a bottle of Listerine tonight and try it if your scalp is troubling you. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. Gypsy Luncheon-Program At Forum Is Beautiful Event

Tables decorated with long streamers of black overlaid with orange and red and the masses of blue bonnets and of orange and red and purple wild flowers made a lovely setting Thursday at the Woman's Forum clubhouse for the gypsy luncheon and program given as the last feature of the literature department for the club year.

Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, chairman of the department, made a gracious talk directly preceding the program, thanking each person who had taken part on the programs and in luncheon arrangements during the past year and introducing Mesdames Pearl Calhoun Davis, Phillip Oviatt, Flora Anderson Greenwood and J. E. Hall, who took part in a series of beautiful musical numbers.

With Mrs. Oviatt accompanying, Mrs. Davis sang her first number, "Butterflies," by Seiler, the voice and accompaniment actually suggesting the graceful winging of prettily colored butterflies. In "By a Lonely Forest Pathway," by Greffes, as beautiful an interpretation was given, the music suggesting shadows and loneliness. Possibly the most exquisite number was the last when four supreme artists took part. Mrs. Davis sang "Doris" by Nevin, with Mrs. Oviatt at the piano, Mrs. Flora Greenwood, cello and Mrs. J. E. Hall, violin. Long and steady applause brought smiling bows from the group.

Mrs. Harry Fuller was next introduced and gave a short history of gypsy life, telling interesting old legends and stressing the fact that though they call no country home, all the land beneath their feet is theirs, and that lack of freedom will kill them. "They replace the word 'duty' with love," she said, "and 'possess' is replaced with 'freedom.'"

Miss Eloise Wofford and Dr. V. E. Wratten gave an act in costume from "The Spanish Gypsy," by George Elliot, adapted and directed by Mrs. Fuller. Mrs. Wayne Holmes accompanied at the piano. Miss Wofford was charming in her brilliant gypsy costume singing with tambourine in the first act; Mrs. Fuller told the story of the interlude and Dr. Wratten and Miss Wofford showed real talent in the second act, the last of the scene reaching the height of interpretation.

Mrs. C. N. Alexander was chairman of arrangements and Mesdames J. J. Perkins, J. C. Humphreys, E. B. Carver, John Martin and Henry C. Fulcher, working with her were responsible for the beauty of the setting and the uniform ease of all arrangements. Miss Clara Schulz, Mesdames C. N. Alexander and Ralph DeShong were in charge of the tickets.

Mrs. John Martin and Mrs. Henry Fulcher, lovely gypsies in their colorful costumes, greeted guests at the door and officiated in the dining room with Mrs. Humphrey.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

It is a strange thing that when people look upon a scene of surpassing beauty they remark "It is just like a picture." And when artists strive to create a masterpiece, their endeavor is to make it just like nature.

Very often those people who find beauty first in the picture are the same who have a liking for paper flowers and plaster urns—art of indescribable sort.

Probably they prefer French pastries to pound cake—this entire generation, however, may do that for there are few real old-fashioned pound cakes made. I have neuritis at times in my right arm and I think it was brought on by beating pound cake when I was a girl. In an age of electricity, it is a shame that some one doesn't invent a beater, so that the world in general may become acquainted with the rich and not too rich cookery.

And speaking of art and nature, we will always remember with a faint curiosity an item on the bill of fare at the Stephen F. Austin coffee shop in Austin. "Cultivated frog legs," it read. Never having made our stomach remain quiet at the thought of frog legs twitching in the skillet as they cooked, we did not try them.

But consider it a moment. Were the legs cultivated or were the frogs cultivated? And when you catch and tame frogs, what would you feed them to make them more of a delicacy? Do cultivated frogs sing in a more pleasing tone than those that croak through the night in boggy places?

There are some peculiar things about gastronomical ideals, anyway. It's beyond our comprehension that one can eat frog legs and shy off at the "innards" of a cow. Baked heart with a nice tomato sauce to pour over the dressing; cold sliced tongue with horseradish, liver broiled and kidney stew with mushrooms are palatable dishes. Of course the cow was killed, but no one saw it hopping around in a skillet. Maybe cultivated frog legs learn not to hop.

Oh well, it is a settled fact that no one likes everything—not in any phase of life. I liked everything about my trip to Austin except ex-Governor Ferguson's road out of Temple. There may be those who like that.

Some people have an antipathy to soap and water. I heard a masseur only Thursday, say that one should never use water and soap on the face—use creams, astringents, etc. All my life I have used soap and with one foot practically in the grave I refuse to work nightly and of a morning at creams, and pay the price.

And that even in the face of what I heard a woman say when I was taking a trip on the Tennessee river. "Why I've an uncle," she exclaimed, "who hasn't taken a bath in his life and he is immaculately clean." I never said anything. Often I say nothing. But I think a lot.

Classic Given As Program Of Readers Club

An ideal interpretation of Maeterlinck's "The Intruder" made the meeting of the Readers club Wednesday at Mrs. J. T. Harrell's home one of unusual artistry, and proved the ability of the club members to present a classic as perfectly as a modern cutting from some lighter play.

Mrs. Harrell took the part of the old blind grandfather; Mrs. John Thomas, the father; Miss Mary Hamilton, the uncle; Mrs. James G. Oakley, the daughter, and Mrs. Sterling Crumpler, the sister of mercy.

The setting was beautifully artistic; Chinese panels hung at the back of the room and the double French doors were given the effect of opening on a terrace with blue lights and stars showing beyond them.

Before the curtain was raised, Miss Anabel Harrell played Chopin's "Prelude," behind the scenes giving in music the atmosphere of the act.

Members present included Misses Marguerite Fisher, Jeanette Moore, Catherine Sue Ralston, Dorothy Nolen and Mary Hamilton and Mesdames John Thomas, James G. Oakley, Sterling Crumpler, E. L. Fulton, C. H. Reid, Homer Karrenbrock, and the hostess. Mesdames Paul Harrell, Leslie Humphreys and Joe Goodlett were guests.

Five Injured When Girl Prisoners Riot

LUMBERTON, N. C., April 16. (AP)—Five officers and firemen were injured in quieting six girl prisoners, who early today spread terror in the Robeson county jail for an hour. The girls tore down electric light fixtures and broke out window panes after setting their bunks afire.

They attacked the jailer, cutting one of his fingers almost off and slashing his face with glass. Firemen and other officers were attacked similarly.

Finally the insurgents were overcome and locked in new cells, containing no furniture.

The girls had been brought to the jail and charged with arson three weeks ago after a dormitory at Samarcand, state school for delinquent girls was burned. They had been inmates of the school.

Junior C-C to Take Lead in Forming Chapter of Aeronautical Association

A chapter of the National Aeronautical association is to be organized here immediately, it was announced Thursday by Joe B. Carrigan, chairman of the Junior chamber of commerce aviation committee.

The decision to organize a branch of the association here results from a visit of W. M. Neely, of Kansas City, a representative of the national organization. Mr. Neely met Thursday afternoon with the Junior chamber aviation group. He explained the advantage of having a local chapter of the association to take the lead in aviation development. The national organization is committed to the promotion of aviation over the entire United States, and local chapters concentrate upon aviation affairs locally.

Mr. Neely suggested that an aviation meet be held here during the summer, and spoke of the possibility of having the meet officially sanctioned by the National Aeronautical association in the event a chapter is formed here. The Junior chamber aviation commitete will take the lead in organizing the chapter here, Mr. Carrigan said.

STRAWBERRY MERINGUE CAKE

½ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
½ cup milk
1½ cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon vanilla

Blend fluffy Crisco (which comes already creamed) with sugar and eggs. Beat until light and fluffy. Sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the milk. Add vanilla. Mix well. Turn into Criscoed shallow cake pan (8"x10") and bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) 30 minutes. Cool and cut in 3" squares. Hollow out centers. Fill with vanilla ice cream and top with strawberry meringue.

(Or serve only with strawberry meringue.)

STRAWBERRY MERINGUE:
1 cup crushed strawberries
⅔ cup granulated sugar
1 egg white
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Put crushed strawberries, sugar, lemon juice and egg white in large mixing bowl. Beat with Dover beater until light and stiff.

ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL—Recipes tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by the Procter & Gamble Co.

When I was a little tomboy, I always was ready to dress up for a strawberry festival. Didn't even mind it when my mother washed my ears! You see, I had my mouth all set for a taste of the season's first ripe, red, juicy strawberries.

Well, the first strawberries of the season are thrilling—but often they're expensive. Here's Mrs. B——'s solution, a delicious strawberry meringue cake.

When Mrs. B—— gave me the recipe, she said, "This is the best way to give a cupful of strawberries twice as much strawberry taste." She's right. She puts her fluffy strawberry meringue on a delicate Crisco cake. She knows anything made with Crisco will taste good, because Crisco tastes good by itself!

If you'd tasted as many fats as I have, you'd find that they differ as much as fresh and storage eggs. A fat that smells tallowy gives itself away. It's bound to put an inferior taste into your cooking.

I do hope you use Crisco that keeps its pure and sweet quality without ice-box help right through the summer.

Fluffy Crisco comes in the can pre-creamed, too, to save your cake mixing time. It blends with the sugar and eggs in one brisk stirring.

No slow hard creaming. No dribbling in the sugar slowly. You can stir up this light-hearted tender cake in less than 10 minutes.

When you're in a hurry, try this strawberry meringue on a baker's sponge cake. Good bakers prefer Crisco because it tastes as sweet as newly-churned, unsalted butter.

2,000 APPLAUD "LOVE DUEL"

Barrymore Proves Right To Stage Leadership

By W. L. UNDERWOOD
The Record News Staff

Nobility of simplicity in the realm of dramatic speech and action was brilliantly demonstrated by a foremost leader of that art at the Memorial auditorium Thursday night when Ethel Barrymore, greatest of today's American actresses, obviously thrilled an audience of about 2,000 persons in her performance of "The Love Duel."

Simplicity was the outstanding quality in Miss Barrymbre's consummate portrayal. Those who have been privileged to hear and see her in earlier plays witnessed again the magic of her unadorned speech, the captivating naturalness of every little gesture—not schooled gestures of dramatic expression, but the spontaneous expression of emotion by a little quiver of the hand, a turning of the head, when voiced words prove inadequate to the moment.

Audience Moved

The Barrymore voice was hardly at its best. It has endured long service, and it contended Thursday night with a troublesome cold. But it was potent with resource sufficient to wring hearts with passionate tenderness, to freeze them with the tragedy which its deep, breathy intensity vividly reflected at interest-peaks in the play. During the third act, it reduced the auditorium finally to complete quietness by the subdued, almost whispering pathos with which it brought the "love duel" to a sudden, delightful ending.

The play, originally by Lili Hatvany, has been skilfully adapted to Miss Barrymore's capacities by Zoe Akins. It is replete with subtle, pungent lines.

The play also was quite European in its free handling of amorous affairs. But, with inspired assistance from Miss Jane Bramley as the exasperating blonde adventuress in love, Miss Barrymore imparted a pleasant delicacy to such elements which was quite disarming even had the audience been slightly given to American propriety.

Excellent Cast

Walter Gilbert, as the male half of the love-duelling pair, had at his command a voice of surprising richness—an asset quite as potent as his impressive bearing. Anita Rothe as Marie, the maid; Harry Plimmer in the role of a friendly doctor; and William Kershaw as an ambassador who was undoubtedly an epicure, contributed brilliant characterizations.

Such light as John Drew Colt and Ethel Barrymore Colt threw into the picture was purely lunar—they appeared briefly by reflection in the light of the sun, their mother. Musical atmosphere was provided by a small orchestra directed by Maurice Nitka, whose entre acte numbers drew generous applause. Elaborate costumes and stage settings fulfilled all expectations.

Miss Barrymore was presented in Wichita Falls by H. C. Cheshire, whose activity as a booking agent here for metropolitan talent has brought most of the national attractions which have visited the city in recent years.

Ethel Barrymore "Delighted" With Texas, She Tells Reporter Here

Ethel Barrymore, "first lady of the stage," broke her rule barring interviews Thursday night in Wichita Falls after her intense performance in "The Love Duel" at the Memorial auditorium, and admitted a Record News reporter to her dressing room for an undisturbed conversation for several minutes.

Unbelievably tired, but more youthful and charming in private than on the stage, Miss Barrymore held her mascara-laden eyelids open by sheer nervous energy and handled a sparkling three-fourths of the conversation, answering all "whys" directly and surprisingly.

Asked, for instance, why she suddenly broke all precedent by booking one-night stands across the continent when she could have been so much more comfortable in New York, she almost interrupted to explain "—but I wanted to—that's why. I love to travel. I had never seen Texas. I grabbed the opportunity." Her large, wide eyes opened in delight as she spoke of Texas. "I have been more than repaid for coming," she said. "I have had large, appreciative audiences. Here, tonight, I have had a larger audience than I expected and I believe they liked my play."

The rule barring reporters was carefully explained in the air of one trying not to offend an old friend. "You understand," she said. "If I see you every night—not you, but you here and two or three reporters there—and if I go everywhere I am invited, I have no energy left for my play. It isn't fair."

"Sometimes I think it's the wrong thing to do," she continued. "But then sometimes I am horribly misquoted. I see something I never said in all the newspapers and I think I'll never see another one."

There was a knock. Twenty or 30 high school and college girls were waiting to see Miss Barrymore, the stage manager explained. "I don't know what to do with them," he sighed, wiping his forehead.

Miss Barrymore smiled. "I'll see them," she said.

Carrigan School Carnival Tonight

Twenty-seven children singing songs of various countries in native costume will appear in the production Friday night at the Carrigan school auditorium of an operetta, "The Land of Make-Believe."

The occasion is the annual spring carnival of the Carrigan Parent-Teachers association and the story of the operetta was written especially for the carnival by Miss Ruby Faye Myrick, instructor of music at the school. Miss Myrick is to be assisted by Miss Marion Roberts, also a teacher at Carrigan, in the play's presentation.

Attractions expected to prove popular at the carnival are boxing matches under the direction of Miss Josephine Blake, art director of Carrigan, who will supervise contests in the manly art of self-defense between juvenile contenders.

Charleston dances in charge of Miss Mary Williams and Lela Welsh of the Carrigan faculty in which colored dancers from the Washington school will perform promise another hit for the evening.

Other attractions are fish pond, Mrs. Leon Cygon; ice cream and lemonade, Mrs. A. E. Kepley and Mrs. W. R. McKinney; popcorn and candy, Mrs. C. B. Clement; Mystery Valley, Mrs. J. M. Farrell.

Prospects for a record attendance and a successful season of entertainment are bright, according to Mrs. G. Galmiche, who is in general charge of the affair.

ATTORNEY DIES AFTER HEARING

Stonewall County Official Stricken at Home

Special to The Record News.

ASPERMONT, Texas, April 16.—Judge Ernest Herring, 65, Stonewall county attorney, fell dead in the dining room of his home here today hardly an hour after he had participated in the state's successful fight against granting a new trial for Homer Altman.

Altman recently was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary for the slaying in February of Sam Tanner at the Tanner ranch 18 miles southwest of Aspermont.

Judge Herring left the courthouse shortly before the noon recess, and death struck him at 1:15 o'clock. Acute indigestion was believed responsible for the fatal stroke.

Judge Herring had been a resident of Aspermont for 30 years. He was made county attorney Jan 3, when the office was left vacant by the appointment of H. F. Grindstaff as district attorney. His widow and five daughters survive. Funeral arrangements had not been completed late Thursday.

HOMER ALTMAN DENIED NEW TRIAL IN CASE

Special to The Record News.

ASPERMONT, Texas, April 16.—Judge Claude Grossom of the 39th district court today refused the plea of Homer Altman, convicted of slaying Sam Tanner, for a new trial and set his bond at $7,000. The defense gave notice of appeal.

In arguing the case before Judge Grossom, the defense charged misconduct on the part of the jury, and offered the testimony of one juror that he agreed to a 10-year sentence provided the other jurors would help secure a pardon after half of Altman's sentence had been served. This juror testified he favored acquittal. Other jurors denied the testimony.

Charges that the state used an ex-convict as a witness were also made by the defense. The state offered in evidence a pardon for the man signed by Governor Sterling.

Alman has been in jail here since Feb. 25.

Dairy Dishes Are Appetizing and Most Valuable to Growing Children

One of the best foods for children are those considered dairy foods. Rich oat meal, swimming in pure rich cream. Then there is cereals of corn and wheat, rye, rice and many others.

For a change secure three or four packages of these choicest cereals and order an extra quart of pure sweet milk and pint bottle of double thick cream.

Parents will be surprised how the children will relish these dishes. In fact dads and mothers will like them, too.

Milk is necessary for the health of adult or child. Drink more milk, use more milk in cooking. Milk is plentiful now and it is rich and sweet. The pastures of the Wichita Valley are abundant and the cows are the finest quality that can be found in any dairy herds in Texas.

Just remember to tell your milkman to leave an extra quart of milk and a bottle of double thick cream. You will be surprised how you can reduce the family table expense by using more milk.

Why Rackets Thrive! Is It Racketammany? A Useful Servant Dies When Mama Loves Papa

By EMILE GAUVREAU

The law-abiding citizen rubs his eyes in amazement when he reads that Mr. Crain, New York's district attorney, admits frankly that he knows there are rackets, he knows the people who carry them on, but he is powerless to put a halt to them.

It takes courage to put the clamp on racketeers, but if the district attorney has any job at all, this is his job. A man not temperamentally suited to the task of prosecution should not be asked to do that sort of work. The fight against crime is a never-ending battle in New York. And the honest citizen is the man who pays the penalty for any lack of enthusiasm in the district attorney's office.

Commissioner Seabury, investigating the district attorney's office, gives some indication of the power of the racketeers by surrounding himself with state troopers. There are rumors that underworld agents have invaded his chambers to smother testimony. Witnesses testifying in such cases talk in fear of their lives. How can they believe that the law will protect them from murder when District Attorney Crain admits that he is powerless to do a thing? Tammany will do well to clean up this situation before it comes to be known throughout the nation as "Racketammany."

There will be genuine mourning over the news of the passing of Nicholas Longworth. Few men in politics have held so steadfastly and courageously to singleness of purpose, devotion to an ideal of service and probity in performance. Theodore Roosevelt recognized these qualities in Longworth and gave him his daughter, "Princess Alice," in marriage. Longworth hoped to be president and his wife hoped with him, but he dies with a record for service greater than those of some gentlemen who have graced the White House in the past.

Mr. Heywood Broun, entertaining, if not always logical, discusses newspaper ethics in connection with recent items printed about Mayor Walker and what he graphically describes as the "city fracas." He is distressed at the journalistic enterprise which makes Mrs. Walker say: "I love Jimmy and Jimmy loves me." Any managing editor, getting out a good, family paper would say that is pleasing and constructive news.

Furthermore, this constructive item first saw the light in Mr. Broun's World-Telegram, which emblazoned it on its front page under a conspicuous headline after this exclusive information was rushed all the way from Florida by the United Press. In these sad days of graft and racketeering, when a great news service announces that a wife loves her husband and is with him to the end, that's news. And if more of this kind of refreshing news appeared in print Mr. Broun wouldn't have so much to write about.

The dry law in Finland has worked as much havoc with that country as it has with ours. But in Finland the women have taken matters into their own hands. One hundred thousand of them, in a signed petition, demand immediate repeal.

These women are not lappers of liquor. On the contrary, they declare themselves to be "advocates of true temperance." And it is because they are what they represent themselves to be that they show such concern over the results and perils of prohibition. They express particular anxiety for the fate of the generation now growing up under the influence of a law that nobody obeys and most everybody seeks to profit by. The petition says that prohibition in Finland is supported by "fanatics and more than 100,000 bootleggers."

Providing Steady Work

ONE of Jim Williams' recent "Out Our Way" sketches provided material for a good deal of serious thought.

It showed a group of men in a machine shop. They were dancing and hugging one another in glee; for a clerk from the business office had just come in with the information that a big order had been received, one that would provide the shop with steady work for at least six months to come.

Now it happens that Williams got his joke out of the superintendent's effort to remain calm and unemotional in the face of the good news; but the thing that sticks in one's mind, somehow, is the picture of these workingmen, beside themselves with joy because they know that they are assured of steady employment for the next half year.

It reminds one, inescapably, of the way in which the ordinary man in these days is completely at the mercy of business forces about which he knows very little.

When a man starts out into the world to make his living he more or less takes it for granted that things are strictly up to him, once he has passed his apprenticeship. If he is a good, honest worker; if he gives 60 minutes of reliable work for every hour's pay; if he tends to business and does his job capably—then, he believes everything will go nicely.

That, to be sure, is the way it should be. But it doesn't always work out that way, and Williams' sketch is a tragic reminder of the fact.

A man can be the best worker in his trade. He can be sober, conscientious and everlastingly reliable. He can be working for an old established concern that has the reputation of treating its employes with fairness.

But still he cannot be sure of his job. He cannot have that security which is essential to a sense of well being.

If the orders do not come in properly he is out of luck. He is completely at the mercy of economic forces which he cannot understand. A slump in business, originating 2,000 miles away, can reduce him to the status of the incompetent and the rebellious misfit. Neither skill nor sobriety will help him if the plant produces goods that cannot be sold.

It is this simple fact that is the most damaging accusation yet leveled against our economic system. Somehow—and the worst of it is that nobody seems to know exactly how—this has to be changed. We must have conditions in which an honest, capable and industrious worker will always be sure of steady work and a steady income. Williams' sketch reminds us how far we have to go to reach these conditions.

Irresistible Currents

PRESS dispatches from Spain and France during the past two days have carried vivid word-pictures of an oft-repeated drama in Europe's modern history—the "withdrawal" of a royal family which becomes a flight as the full surge of public feeling mounts upon the knowledge that a new era actually has begun.

Certain predominant elements in the drama have become more or less familiar—almost commonplace. The rise of democracy, the partial surrender by royalty of its age-old prerogatives, the inevitable capitulation of monarchy, and the immediate birth of an embryo republic. But there is a particular phase in the picture which the public will view with concentrated interest. As a flooded, swollen stream sweeps on its way, carrying on its irresistible tide the fixed landmarks of yesterday, eyes of the onlookers are turned to the quivering tree which wrestles stubbornly but vainly to maintain its hold upon the washing bank. There is sympathy for its brave but futile resistance; there is a pang of sorrow when its roots finally are wrenched from their last meager anchorage, and the tree whirls dizzily into oblivion.

The same sympathetic but passive interest will be centered upon the 200 "voluntary exiles and monarchist sympathizers" who awaited the Spanish queen upon her arrival Wednesday at Hendaye, France—an exile. Their ardent demonstrations of loyalty reveal how deeply custom and tradition become rooted in human hearts. They represent that element of society for which progress extends not into the future, but into the past. They provide a striking, if pitiful, definition of ultra-conservatism.

Their position is doomed. The soil in which the roots of monarchy, the pomp and splendor of royalty, was nourished has been caught in the flood waters of onrushing democracy and has been quickly dissolved to blend with other social organisms in the formation of new soils. But during the last moments of their sincere, inherent, courageous struggle against the eddied current, onlookers will feel a kindly, though passive, sympathy with their certain plight.

JILTED —By Margaret Widdemeyer

SYNOPSIS

When Helen Heather becomes engaged to Tommy Delamater there is quite a stir in the social circles of Kingsway. Helen is by far the most popular girl in town. And Tommy, has an assured social position, as his father is president of the bank in which Helen is a typist. Helen lives with her cousin, Nina Higginson, a young and wealthy widow, who had married a man much her senior, after throwing over the courtly Ethan Gingsway. Free again, Nina sets her cap for Ethan once more. She even follows him to Europe. Tommy's father has secured a place for him in a bank in Wisconsin. Helen prepares to join her future husband. She gets a letter from Tommy breaking the engagement. It is plain that Mrs. Delamater has encouraged Tommy's action. Doris Milliken, who is secretly engaged to Nina's stepson, Ronny, tries to comfort Helen. Half sick, Helen wanders into the Kingsway grounds, not knowing Ethan has returned from Europe. Ethan and his little cousin, Patricia, sit on a bench near Helen. In trying to get away, Helen strikes the limb of a tree and is stunned.

INSTALLMENT XII

"She's coming to," said a soft voice across her. She opened her eyes, conscious first of a violently aching head; next, that the head was on a linen-covered pillow, and that she was undressed and in the middle of a wide mahogany sleigh-bed. She moved the head—which shot sparks inside as she did it—and saw the pile of magnificent red hair, the irregular-featured, kindly face, the slightly bent slim figure of Mrs. Kingsway, whom she had seen driving by now and again but had never known. She leaned on a cane lightly and spoke to someone across the bed, who came into view, a known figure also; gray-haired, pleasant Dr. Gaynor who came to dine at Nina's as often as he could manage it. He said with professional cheeriness:

"Well, well, Helen, what have you been up to? Bumping your head on Mrs. Kingsway's pet tree, eh? Here, my child—" to Patricia, whose restlessness made Helen perceive that she had also joined herself to the party, "never sit on an invalid's bed without an invitation. How do you feel, Helen?"

"As if I'd bumped my head against a tree," said Helen ruefully, "and rather silly."

"She'll be all right," said the doctor, prying Patricia off the bed, which she took as calmly as she did most things. "Keep her there, Mrs. Kingsway; I know you like petting young things."

She had suddenly returned to an environment of friendliness and kindly ways.

"I'm not tired," she said. "I must get up and go back." She turned gratefully to Mrs. Kingsway. "Thank you ever so much for being so kind. I must go now. . ."

Mrs. Kingsway paid no attention, beyond saying, "My Marietta is always complaining she hasn't enough to do. She adores bringing people trays, and I think one's on the way now." She smiled down on Helen, about her face and whole personality a sweetness and charm that won Helen irresistibly, and smoothed out the wide old-fashioned lace collar that was on Helen's nightdress, a garment of soft transparent linen.

"You're so much taller than I am that I had to put a nightdress on you out of my mother-in-law's trousseau," she remarked irrelevantly.

"Cousin Ada looks like the godmother in Cinderella, with the cane and all," remarked Patricia, who never liked to be long out of a conversation, and was not delicate in her consideration of feelings. But Mrs. Kingsway only laughed.

"And my nose, too," she added cheerfully. "I inherited it from the wrong side of the family. Now I'll go back and reassure Ethan, who doubtless thinks he has murdered you, and leave you to Marietta's trays."

She bent and kissed Helen in a motherly fashion, and was gone, more lightly than one would have thought it possible to anyone who was crippled with rheumatism. Marietta Clarkson, the wife of Andrew the handy-man who lived at the little lodge outside the gates, entered very shortly with the tray Helen had heard of. It was worth hearing about, and only recalled Mrs. Birch's by its difference; a beautiful old oblong japanned tray all bright irredecent patterns, such as Nina had bid high for at the last auction they attended, and failed to get; but more perfect. On it was set a large two-handled bowl, blue and white, with a pine-cone pattern; besides it lay an embroidered napkin and an oddly shaped clumsy silver spoon. Helen cried out:

"Why, they're all museum-pieces!" She knew a good deal about old glass and silver and china. She'd had to study such things to help Nina, and besides had a natural love for them. She loved everything that was beautiful. And these were each lovely of their kind.

"Yep, heirlooms," said Marietta with pride. "The soup's good just the same. The Kingsways is queer that way. If Ethan was livin' down suller where nobody sees him he'd use this sort of things just the same. And there was a time he could have used the money the stuff brought. Here, le' me take the lid off."

She set the tray across Helen's knees, and propped her up. Helen found herself really hungry; she rarely took more than a glass of milk for luncheon, and this morning hadn't wanted much breakfast. She dipped the oddly shaped spoon in the old Worcester bowl and found the food was very good; a perfect cream of mushroom soup, the kind Nina never had because it was fattening.

Marietta scarcely waited for her to be through before she began to ask questions.

"How'd you get in?" she demanded. "All I know is, Mr. Ethan came in with you in his arms like a big doll—he's strong as a horse. And that imp of satan he brought home from France after John Kingsway died dancin' around him all the time askin' questions, so I never got time to find out anything."

There was a note of defraudment in Marietta's voice; for times when Marietta Clarkson didn't find out anything were said in the village to be rare. Helen hastened to tell her something.

"I thought the family were away; and the gate was open. Then I got excited, talking to Mr. Kingsway, and tripped and backed into a tree."

"Mrs. Kingsway's pet walnut," Marietta checked up. "Well, you couldn't have hurt it none."

Patricia, who had been swept out by the doctor, slipped in again the minute Marietta was gone.

"Are you through being stunned?" she demanded. As she stood over Helen her startling blonde beauty was more manifest than ever. She was like a small Valkyr, it occurred to Helen; her features, clear-cut in miniature, her thick blonde hair, her slim erectness, all giving an uncanny feeling that here was a grown woman masquerading as a 10-year-old child.

"Yes, I am. Why does Marietta call you an imp of Satan?" demanded Helen lazily.

"Because there isn't a soul on earth can manage me, except Cousin Ethan, and he's away a lot," stated Patricia with complacence, smoothing down the close-fitting sweater which was just the blue of her eyes. "You simply can't reason with me, and punishments have no effect!"

"How do you know?" asked Helen.

"I've had four governesses in six weeks, and this one's leaving," said Patricia blithely, "and they all said it. To Ethan's mother. She laid up with art—something like Arthur—most of the time. . . . Sometimes I get so bored, hearing about myself—" Patricia sighed a little, but with an imp of excitement gleaming in her eyes.

Helen decided on a line.

"I should think people would have been bored hearing about you," she said, at which the child semed not only surprised but shocked. The idea that she could bore anyone was evidently new. "Why don't they send you to school?"

Patricia looked a little embarrassed for the first time. "Father's ideas of education were different," she said. "He said education ruined women's charm. He always talked to me like that. We were each other's favorite friend." he caught her lip in her teeth suddenly, and her eyes filled with tears. "But he left me fab-fab'lously rich," she gasped defensively. Helen reached over and caught her in her arms.

"You poor baby," she said. "I understand." The child pulled away, haughty and erect.

"He said Kingsways never cried," she said. Then she spoke to Helen with an assumption of courteous patronage which closed any possibility of further sympathy: "You're still feeling stunned, aren't you? I'll go let you rest."

Helen, left alone, found her mind taken out of itself for the first time in months. Patricia was interesting. Helen remembered vaguely, now, hearing of a John Kingsway, very wealthy, "higher headed than the most of the Kingsways even," Tacy had said, whose wife had left him, and who had then buried himself in Europe. Evidently she had also left the little girl, and her father, embittered and whimsical, had made her a confidante and plaything—half older, half younger than her years, caring little what he did to a plastic, sensitive little mind. . . . She was suddenly awed by the strength of the Kingsway tradition. Even this impish girl-child was held by it—"Kingsways never cried." She began to understand Ethan Kingsway's character better. He had the hand of a dozen generations of "steel-and-velvet cavaliers" on his shoulder. No wonder he wouldn't stop being responsible for the village, no wonder he wouldn't turn the Kingsway place into cheap building lots, no wonder he expected such terribly high standards from people! She thought of the high walls, of Mrs. Kingsway's kind, merry face, and turned over and went to sleep.

She woke next day to face what she thought at first was a painting of Ethan in fancy dress hanging on the wall at her bed-foot. Then she realized that it must be the ancestor of whom he had told Patricia, the first American Kingsway. The same air of quiet, smiling certainty that yet somehow held a challenge; the same fair hair, allowed here to curl to the shoulders; and under the plumed hat the same steady gray eyes. Only the cavalier was a little gayer, a little less thoughtful; a redder and fuller mouth under the longer mustache, a less firm hand, though as long and slender, under the lace ruffle. She dreaded, somehow, meeting Ethan again, among all these things that explained him.

Marietta entered in what Helen began to regard as her normal tray—bearing state. This tray had more on it; fragrant coffee, hot rolls with butter and raspberry jam, small brown sausages in a row. And she said, smiling with obvious pleasrue at feeding somebody, "Now, you set right up and eat this. You must be slept out. It's 2 in the afternoon!"

Helen ate with appetite. The food was so much better than Mrs. Birch's—she almost said so, then she remembered that Marietta was her sister-in-law.

Marietta took the empty tray, surveying it with approval.

"Now do you think you could dress and go talk to Mrs. Kingsway? This is one of her down days."

"Of course I could!" Helen set upright, and put one foot out of bed.

"All right. Your clothes are on the chair, and there's always lots of hot water in this house since we got the new water heater. The bathroom's there."

She pointed to a door, and left Helen to dress.

She found, when she was dressed, that she had been brought a flight upstairs. Her door fronted on a wide hall, and a door across, half open, must be Mrs. Kingsway's. She could see a canary fluttering up and down in his bright wire cage, and a piece of the cretonne curtain, patterned with baskets of roses, bellying in the air of the window. A bar of sunshine lay across the floor. She knocked, was asked to come in and entered.

Q.—What is the name of the theme song of the Coca-Cola hour? —D. W.

A.—The National Broadcasting company says that the musical signature for the Coca-Cola program has no name. It was composed by Leonard Joy, the program's director, and is not published.

Q.—Has the drouth been broken? —J. W. B.

A.—The drouth has been broken in the sense that rain has fallen in various parts of the country. Rainfall, however, is still deficient and the amount so far measured is considerably below the normal.

Q.—Where did George Washington deliver his "Farewell Address"? —H. F.

A.—It was delivered in Independence hall, Philadelphia.

Q.—Who was the inventor of the automobile electric starter?—A. K. C.

A.—In the light of present knowledge the homing instinct of the pigeon should be considered as a specialized form of migration developed and exploited by man through training and selective breeding. Other factors contribute largely to the effectiveness of the instinct and these are the qualities that respond to systematic training. The most important is an acute vision coupled with a wonderful memory.

He was a French minister of finance, who was so rigidly economical that he often withheld funds from worthy subjects. His name came to be applied to anything imperfect or incomplete. Silhouettes were first popular in 1750. They are made now as they were formerly, by cutting out pictures from black paper.

A.—The approximate weight of an elephant at birth is 160 to 200 pounds.

WOMEN 'ANTIS' MAP CAMPAIGN

Prohibition Reform Group Ends Session

WASHINGTON, April 16. (INS)—Pledged to vote wet regardless of party, the women's organization for national prohibition reform started a drive today to make prohibition the paramount issue in the 1932 presidential elections.

A thousand members of the organization were homeward bound to 32 states after a two-day program of speeches, planning and wet agitation. Armed with an expression favoring prohibition repeal by Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and other leaders, they plan to take their cause to the women of the nation as based on "sanity" and the necessity for an end of a regime of "crime racketeering" and lawlessness which is fast injuring the moral fibre of the nation."

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, New York club woman and chairman of the organization, predicted phenominal increases in the reform group's membership and declared honest women voters would soon make it impossible for the politician to dodge the prohibition issue.

"I predict that more and more candidates will stand or fall on this issue," she declared. "I predict it is the one issue they will learn not to dare to evade. The ever growing army of women which our organization represents will not let them evade it.

"That army of women will go into convention and the primaries to force their parties to face this issue in their nominations. If the parties fail the women there—then, disregarding party affiliations in the greater duty to the country, the women will prove to them that the ballots of an aroused people are irresistible in the achievement of a fundamental project."

Changing their previous decision not to visit President Hoover the women went to the White House and left a petition asking that the public be given an opportunity to vote for prohibition repeal.

Trio Marooned 13 Days in Small Boat Saved From Starvation

BAYONNE, N. Y., April 16. (UP)—Three men who lived 13 days in a drifting boat on a diet consisting of a can of corn, six onions and three fish they had speared with a long stick arrived today aboard the oil tanker Samuel O. Brown.

The three men, Joseph Roberts and Joseph Knight, Key West, Fla., and Carlyle J. Montecino, Miami, started from Bimini, the Bahamas, on March 31 in a new power boat for Miami. A few hours out the crankshaft broke and the little craft drifted, helpless.

"We didn't worry much at first," Knight said. "We figured we would be picked up soon. But it didn't work out that way."

The second day a heavy rain fell and the three men replenished their water supply. Then the corn and onions—taken sparingly—gave out. They rigged up a spear with a long stick with a nail fixed at one end. With this they caught three fish.

"But three fish in about eight or nine days is not much of a catch," Knight remarked.

They burned oil-soaked blankets and flares.

They sighted a number of vessels but they were off the ship lane and could not attract the passing steamers.

Their water finally gave out. The situation was becoming acute when there was a cloudburst and they collected five gallons of water. A day later they were rescued by the Brown.

Jack McGurn And Woman Deny Charge

CHICAGO, April 16. (INS)—"Machine Gun Jack" McGurn, member of the Capone homicide squad, and Louise Rolfe, his beautiful blonde, walked arm in arm today into federal court and entered pleas of not guilty to charges of conspiracy to violate the Mann act.

McGurn is charged with having taken Louise to Florida and back to Chicago. Prosecutors said they would produce hotel employes to testify that the couple had stopped at various places as man and wife.

Miss Rolfe gained notoriety when police, seeking McGurn as a suspect in the St. Valentine's day massacre two years ago, found her with him in a suite in a loop hotel.

The Mann act charge against the couple was made a short time after McGurn's arrest in connection with the massacre. The case today was set for trial on May 25.

W. M. S. ADJOURNS

SAN ANGELO, Texas, April 16. (AP)—Selecting Gonzales as the 1932 meeting place and adopting resolutions condemning liquor and tobacco, the Womans Missionary society of the West Texas conference of Southern Methodists adjourned here at noon today. Resolutions urged constant watchfulness by officers on legislation affecting child welfare.

POISON BLAMED IN MAN'S DEATH

Pair Held in Jail Denied Bond by Justice

EASTLAND, Texas, April 16. (AP)—Officers here announced today a report from the state chemist Austin showed an analysis had revealed poison in viscera taken from the body of Jack King, who died suddenly March 25 at Rising Star.

Bill Sheehan, Ralph Pancake and Harry Sheehan, held in jail here on murder charges in connection with King's death, today had made no effort to obtain bond.

Formal complaints lodged against the men charged them with having caused King's death by mixing a poison in whisky which King later drank.

King and the men charged with his death were old acquaintances.

After King's death, members of his family, suspicious of foul play, reported the matter to County Attorney Joe H. Jones. Jones and members of Sheriff Virge Foster's department immediately started an investigation and King's body was exhumed.

King, who left a widow and two small children, was a member of a prominent family at Rising Star.

Justice of the Peace Jim Steele at Eastland, before whom charges against the three men were filed, said he had not fixed their bonds and would not allow bond unless required to do so by habeas corpus proceedings.

County officials expected to present evidence in the case to the grand jury due to convene April 27.

Thompson Urges Co-Op Marketing

CHICAGO, April 16. (UP)—Five years as head of the American farm bureau federation have taught Sam H. Tompson, recently appointed to the federal farm board, that cooperative marketing is the salvation of the farmer, Thompson said in a radio address today.

He said he had gathered figures which show that, through organized effort, "agriculture might add four or five billion dollars to its annual income," swelling the income of the individual farm family $750 a year.

Thompson said the fact that millions of men are unemployed and hungry while farmers' grain bins are bursting with stores of unsalable wheat constitutes "a strange commentary" on current marketing methods.

The extensive inter-relation between the prosperity of agriculture and that of industry in general was pointed to by the new farm board member as indicative of the need for corrective measures, such as cooperative marketing, on a large scale.

EXIE APPEALS 'BALM' VERDICT

Indian Woman Denied New Trial of Suit

MUSKOGEE, Okla., April 16. (AP)—Denied a new trial in the alienation of affections suit whereby Mrs. Jess Adair was awarded a $20,000 judgment, Exie Fife, 25, Creek Indian, announced today through her attorneys she would appeal to the state supreme court.

Judge W. J. Crump set $40,000 appeals bond.

The attorney said if the bond is made and Exie loses the appeal, Mrs. Adair may collect from the bond. As the case stands now she must collect from the agency of the five civilized tribes, which has not yet passed on the case.

Indications were there will be no appeal pending a ruling by the Indian agency.

Remove carefully the Humidor Pack from a package of Camels and fill it with water. If you have not injured the seal at the corner you will note that it holds the water perfectly without leaking.

Now make the same test with the ordinary Cellophane or glassine wrapping found on other brands. See how quickly the water seeps through and escapes.

Cigarettes in prime condition have a moisture content of about 10%. It will be seen by the Chart that cigarettes in the ordinary wrapped package lose more than half of their total moisture in thirty days and that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

All is not moisture-proof Cellophane that glitters

DO NOT be misled by a mere shiny wrapper. The Camel Humidor Pack should never be confused with either the glassine or the ordinary Cellophane wrapping sometimes found on other cigarettes.

Our Humidor Pack is made of moisture-proof Cellophane, which costs nearly twice as much as ordinary Cellophane and is air-sealed at every point.

It is not put there merely to catch the eye but to perform a real service to the Camel smoker.

Because it is both air-sealed and moisture-proof, it keeps Camels always in mild, factory prime condition. It also guards the cigarettes within from contamination by dust or dangerous germs.

As you light a Camel fresh from the Humidor Pack, note how mild and cool and easy it is to your throat. Compare its fragrant mildness with the bite and burn that comes from the smoke of a stale or dried out cigarette.

Everywhere today people are talking about the new delight they have found in this blend of choicest Turkish and mellowest Domestic tobaccos.

Remember, Camels are the only cigarettes in the true Humidor Pack.

Switch to Camels for just one day, then quit them tomorrow if you can.

A Search for Happiness

In a recent article, "Study Mental Science," I mentioned a number of articles which were ready for free distribution, among which was one with the title, "How to Have Happiness." Within three days after the publication of the list so many requests had come in that my entire supply of these articles was exhausted. I have never had so great an immediate response for any other article, and this must be an indication that almost everyone is reaching for that elusive condition of happiness.

It seems strange that in this world of today, where there are so many opportunities for advancement and so many interesting things to do and so many conveniences that one should have such flighty moments of joy followed by such long periods of anxiety, worry or mental unrest. Most of us stumble through life haphazardly, blindly groping for things and experiences which will make us happy. We search for the treasure of happiness in various channels, but so often the pleasures we taste leave only a bad taste in our mouths afterwards. This is probably because we have not thoroughly learned to adapt ourselves to life's plan. We are deluded into pursuing mirages which bring us no lasting contentment.

We often plan too far into the future and expect to find happiness at a distant time when we will have acquired enough money, secured a certain position, or achieved a desired object. While most people continue to waste their opportunities day after day, hoping that in some distant future they will be rewarded for the misery they are experiencing now.

There can be no real happiness without health. There can be no real happiness until one has found out the purpose and arranged the plan of his own life. There can be no real happiness until one has found a means of obtaining food and shelter and some of the simple enjoyments of life. There can be no real happiness until one has found someone or something to care for. Usually this is in finding a desirable mate with whom you can travel down life's pathways. There can be no lasting happiness until we learn the joy of passing along helpful ideas to others who are also struggling on to the goal of happiness.

The important thing to remember is that now is the only time in which we will ever be happy—the ever present now. By taking care of our present opportunities, poor as they may seem, we will find joy in doing whatever duties life brings. This attitude of mind is essential if one is to have sucecss in the search for happiness.

QUEESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—R. M. D. writes: "I am 29 years old and have been troubled with high blood pressure for the past two years. Have terrible headaches, and my legs and arms ache. What is the cause of high blood pressure and is there any cure for it so it won't come back again?"

Answer—High blood pressure is caused by hardening of the arteries or from hypertension of the arteries due to nervousness. There is no question about a cure through dietetic means if you are willing to follow a very strict diet. Please send for my special articles on the cure of high blood pressure, as the complete information you need cannot be given in this column.

Reducing Limbs

Question—L. M. L. writes: "Kindly advise me whether massage will reduce unsightly fat calves when remainder of body is fairly slim. Also, please discuss the foods used or the habits of living which go to cause the formation of uric acid."

Answer—Soaking the lower limbs in hot water and epsom salts for from 15 to 20 minutes, followed by a massage without the use of oil, although mineral oil may be used if you desire, rubbing the leg from the foot towards the hip, is often helpful in reducing the calves of the legs. Walking is also advisable. The best exercise to use is to stand on one foot, balancing the body by placing one hand against the wall and rising alternately on the toe and heel. Uric acid is normally produced in the urine. An excessive amount is sometimes present in such diseases as rheumatism and gout and is due to improper metabolism in the body. The regimen outlined in my cleansing diet course will usually correct this trouble.

GULLIC SWATS TWO HOMERS AS CATS NOSE OUT SPUDS, 7-6

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

The Spudders played pretty rotten baseball in the opening game Wednesday. The fielding was awful and what hitting there was didn't accomplish what hitting should. But the Rambler hasn't shed any tears yet.

It was a blow to lose the first game of the season. We've infested the press coop only a little more than a year now, but the two big openers—the league opener last April and the first game of the play-off with Fort Worth last year—were won by the home outfit, so the loss Wednesday kinda left me bewildered.

But the Spudders won the two big openers last year behind the pitching of Harold C. Wiltse, and the 1931 Spudders have no Wiltse. If Hal had pitched Wednesday we believe the Spudders would have won even if the team had made 50 errors.

However, as we started out to say, we haven't flicked a single tear-drop from our orbs yet. It is too early in the season to tell what a club can do. The sensational hitting of the Cats was that of a championship team, no less, but how can we tell the Panthers will maintain that pace? And you can't say the Spudders will always be as weak as they were Wednesday.

What the Rambler would like to see, and what he confidently expects to see, is something like this: Let the Spudders get off to a bad start, improve gradually, and along in the second half of the season start a long, homeward-bound drive for the top notch.

You no doubt recall that that is just what the Panthers did last year. Things are in reverse this season. The Spudders, though ragged in fielding, started off winning last season and were never headed during the entire first half, while Fort Worth was just another ball club the first half.

But they overtook the Spudders after June and won the latter half of the race.

Now if the Spudders buckle down to it, they can do just what Fort Worth did last year. The Cats looked so powerful in the opening game that they impressed us as a team that would be hard to match in the first half. But mighty-hitting teams have been known to lose their batting eye, as witnesseth the Wichita Falls Spudders in the second half last year—with Bettencourt fanning four times in a row, Burns grounding weakly out, Crouch fanning, Storti whiffing, and the others performing in like manner.

We are convinced the Spudders have the stuff, even if they did look sad Wednesday. Art Scharein played short plenty good enough, even if he did make two bobbles. In the first inning when Fowler lined a hot one through his legs one fan said: "Aw shucks, now Jim Levey woulda stopped that!"

But the Rambler will bet an ice cream cone that Jim Levey, on April 15, 1930, couldn't have stopped that hard hit ball at all.

Again, in the eighth, Scharein, after making a great play on Engle's high line drive, threw the ball away, and again some loyal Spudder sighed for old Spider.

But our bet is that Levey, at that early stage of the game, would have thrown that ball clear to Gainesville.

The fans remember the great Levey of the middle and last parts of the 1930 season. They don't re-

Memphis Football Schedule Completed

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 16.—Coach Nolan Walter announced last week that the football schedule for next fall is practically complete with the addition of the Amarillo Yannigans to it. This game is to be played in Memphis on Oct. 2. This addition leaves only one date open on the Cyclone schedule, this date being Oct. 9. Plans are being made to secure a game with the Vernon Lions, either here or there.

The Yannigans are composed of the ineligibles and those who are not coming out for the Sandie squad. They have always presented a strong team and no doubt the local team can expect a fight. The Yannigans are undoubtedly one of the hardest teams in this section of the state and have in the past beaten some of the class A teams in the district.

The renewal of football activities with the Vernon Lions will bring back to the minds of the Memphis fans that Memphis has never beaten Vernon, although the locals have held them to close games. These games should prove interesting to the fans and should offer a new type of football in this section.

GALVESTON, April 16. (AP)—Black Bill Harris was in mid-season form today and the Galveston Bucs had no trouble taking the second game of the season from the San Antonio Indians, 6-2. BRADBURY HITS ONE OUT TOO

Stanton Lifts Double and Triple in Tight Duel

By FRED THOMPSON

Though they were nosed out, 7 to 6, Thursday, the Spudders made amends for their crushing shut-out in the league opener, when Ted Gullic, Buck Stanton, and Arthur Bradbury pooled their swatting to thrill Wichitans with a parade of home runs and blows for extra bases.

The mighty Gullic, playing his first game of the season with Wichita Falls, blasted two home runs, one in the fourth and one in the eighth, each sailing over the left center field fence with Buck Stanton on base in both instances, and Arthur Bradbury bolted one out of the park in the seventh with Scharein aboard to give the Spudders their six runs. Stanton had doubled in the fourth, and tripled in the eighth just before Gullic, batting in the clean-up position, delivered the home runs.

Gullic's raps were terrific and the tremendous ovation accorded him after his performances were a fitting welcome to the great right fielder whose tall, rangy figure and smiling face were familiar to Spudder fans of 1929.

Cats Count in Fifth

It was a thrilling battle. The Cats pounced on Roland Flinn in the fifth inning, scoring seven runs off seven hits and Badgro's error, after the New Englander had turned in an excellent job the first four frames, holding the Cats to two hits in that time. Florrid relieved Flinn in the fifth and pitched immaculately, allowing not a single blow the two innings he worked. Florrid went out for a pinch hitter in the seventh, when the home towners were making a thrilling uphill fight, and Cooney replaced him. Cooney likewise pitched no-hit ball the inning he worked. Then he, too, went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth, and Forrest Pressnell, like Gullic, made his 1931 debut in Wichita Falls. Pressnell succeeded in blanking his foes in the ninth.

Gullic's tremendous wallops disposed of Henry Hardaway, who was relieved in the eighth by Dick Whitworth. Whitworth turned back the final, desperate Spudder rally.

The Spuds journey to Fort Worth today for Pantherville's opening game of the season. Skipper Art Phelan announced that Roy Hansen, a southpaw, would be the starting flinger for the Cats. Skipper Williams did not name a starter.

Flinn Dodges Blow

Though Dalrymple nearly socked Flinn with a line drive through the box, the Maine beanstalk retired the Cats easily in the first. Flinn had to hit the dirt quickly to avoid being hit by Dalrymple's smash, which went to center with plenty of smoke on it. Gullic made his first play of the season when he caught Brown's fly to right for the third out of the inning, Moore having flied out to Badgro and Fowler having popped up to Scharein. When the Spudders came to bat, Garms followed in Dalrymple's footsteps and lined a hit to center, but Kelly forced him at second, short to second, Stanton flied out to left and Gullic's high ball to center was caught by Eddie Moore to retire the side scoreless.

In the second it was three up and three down for the Cats. After Badgro had gone out swinging, the Spudders almost, but not quiet, scored. Geygan doubled to left, and went to third on Scharein's infield out, but Bradbury lifted one to center to retire the side.

The Spudders' initial double killing and Moore's infield out disposed of the Panthers in the third, but the Spudders were as easily retired in their half, Flinn and Garms grounding out and Kelly hoisting to left.

Gullic's First Sock

Flinn threw out Dalrymple and then let Scharein scoop up grounders by Fowler and Brown to dispose of the Cats in the first of the fourth, but the game finally got interesting when the Spudders came up. Stanton's double to left sent Perry, Cat left fielder back to the fence. It hit Perry's glove but bounced off. Then Gullic's first home run scoring Stanton ahead of him registered the first two runs of the game. Badgro, Geygan and Scharein then went out in order, Badgro and Scharein flying out to center while Geygan was called out on strikes.

The Cats resented the Spudder scores and bounced Flinn out of the box to open the fifth. Perry, first up, doubled to center. Kelly made a fine running catch of Cox's fly to center. Yaryan singled to left, scoring Perry, and continued to second when Badgro let the ball get through him. Engle doubled to left, scoring Yaryan. Hardaway singled past Scharein, scoring Engle. Moore forced Hardaway at second, Geygan to Scharein. Dalrymple singled through short, Moore taking second. Fowler walked, loading the bases. Brown singled to left, scoring Moore and Dalrymple, and sending Fowler to second. Fowler and Brown then executed a double steal. Perry singled through short, scoring Fowler and Brown. Florrid relieved Flinn and Cox grounded out, Scharein to Stanton, for the third out after the Cats had scored seven runs.

Hardaway retired the Spudders hitless in their half of the fifth, and Florrid did the same to the Cats to open the sixth. When the Spuds came to bat in the last of the sixth, Kelly, first up, lined a hard one to left for a single, but Stanton, Gullic and Badgro went out in order, Stanton popping up a foul which Chet Fowler handled and the other two flying out to center.

Bradbury Gets His

Garms threw out Dalrymple and Scharein threw out Fowler and Brown to retire the Cats in the first of the seventh. Geygan speared one through Fowler's legs for a single to open the Spudder half, but Scharein forced him at second, short to second. Bradbury then lifted his homer over the left center field boards, scoring Scharein ahead of himself. Fuss batted for Florrid and grounded out, short to second. Garms lifted a Texas leaguer over short for a base hit, but Kelly arched one to center to retire the side.

Bob Cooney was on the hill for the Spuds when the eighth opened. Geygan let Perry's grounder get through his legs. Cox struck out and Yaryan flied to Gullic and then Cooney struck out Engle to make it two whiffs in one inning and retire the side.

Then the exciting moments came. Stanton, first up in the last of the eighth, tripled against the center field fence and Gullic scored Stanton and himself with his second home run. Whitworth relieved Hardaway on the mound and Badgro grounded out, pitcher to first. Geygan grounded out, second to first. Scharein and Bradbury got singles, but Bryant, batting for Cooney, grounded out, pitcher to first, and the attempt to tie the score failed.

Pressnell went to the mound for the Spudders to open the ninth and he blanked his foes, giving the Spudders another chance to either tie the score or win. But they failed to do either. Garms, first up in the last of the ninth, lined out to short; Kelly flied out to right, and Stanton fouled out to the catcher.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 16. (AP)—After advancing a few points at the opening today in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables, cotton eased off under a renewal of liquidation and some commission house selling which appeared to be influenced by reports of favorable weather in the South and the action of the stock market. July contracts which advanced to 10.45 on the early demand, declined to 10.37 and closed at 10.39 compared with 10.38 at the close of the previous day. The final tone of the market was barely steady with prices net 2 points higher to 3 points lower.

Further May liquidation was reported which included some selling against purchases of later deliveries by brokers who are sometimes credited with trading for cooperative interests. Trade interests were credited with buying May against sales of later months and closing quotations showed very little change in the differences.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 16. (AP)—The cotton market was decidedly sluggish during the greater part of today's session and price fluctuations were comparatively narrow but developed no particular tendency in either direction. Good cables and map prospects for the market soon turned easier with stocks, helped by selling by ring traders and prices gradually eased off 8 to 10 points from the highs.

The decline attracted fair trade buying and also induced a little covering and prices rallied about 4 points around noon. Some utterances by the head of the farm loan board were bearishly construed and may have helped the decline of the morning.

The market ruled rather quiet and steady practically all the afternoon, fluctuating narrowly within the earlier range and closing 3 to 5 points above the lows, the general market showing net unchanged to 1 point down for the day.

Market Shows Trace of Fight Against Continued Pressure

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 16. (US)—Prices on the stock exchange today continued to display a declining tendency, although net losses were not as substantial as the previous day.

Volume increased somewhat, however, indicating that greater liquidation was being induced by the constant wearing away of quotations. Nevertheless, the market from an unbiased observation seemingly signified an increasing resistance which may take a little further time to find reflection in quotations but which undoubtedly represented a much better type of buying than for some weeks.

Railroad stocks slumped to a new low on the average of the principal issues, but the actual net decline was only a small fraction. Industrials and utilities were also lower, the former about two points among the leading issues, the utilities less than a point.

A moderate rally in progress during mid-day was halted by an outburst of selling in National Biscuit. This old-line investment broke four points. The stock has been selling on a very liberal price ratio to earnings per-share, as previously pointed out here, and it has been reported that income for the first quarter may not equal the dividend requirement. There is no question concerning the dividend, and the stock always has been entitled to a higher price-to-earnings ratio than most stocks. Of late, however, there has been some selling from quarters which considered the stock out of line with the general market.

Steel common was again the target of the powerful bear clique which has been primarily responsible for the latest price decline, and the premier steel issue was forced to a new low and closed down more than a point.

The General Motors March sales report, showing sizeable increase in business over the previous month, failed to exert much influence on this stock or the remainder of the group, and most of them were off with the general list. Nervousness was increased over the Packard dividend, the stock selling down to a new low. Otis Elevator likewise established a new low and American Radiator was in supply a fraction above its former low for the year.

Both these stocks of course are reflecting the low rate of activities in the building industry. Radiator, which now wields about 6 per cent on the $1 dividend, probably will meet long-pull investment buying on any further setback, although speculative interest may lag until building shows greater activity.

American can which with National Biscuit has always ranked among the favorites of the powerful First National bank group, was heavily sold but closed less than two points lower. This stock time and time again has baffled day-to-day traders and of late it has been reflecting sizeable bear selling.

The market, judging by the average price of the 70 leading stocks, has now retraced its steps back to December 30. It is but 3.3 points above the absolute December lows reached in the middle of that month.

There was a good deal of short covering today, although as yet the dominant thought of the most successful interests to date in the bear market still leans chiefly to a rally.

Paramount was the weakest member of the active group. Fox, however, rallied a point. Case Threshing Machine, Bethlehem Steel and Vanadium were also able to counter the general swing by recording small net gain.

External news included withdrawal of support to the Argentine pesos as an outgrowth of the political difficulties in that nation. Silver advanced one-half cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 16. (AP)—Reports that Argentina had deluged transatlantic countries with wheat offerings unsettled grain prices today. Exchange rates on Argentina suffered a break, and Buenos Aires wheat quotations dropped 2¼ cents per bushel. These results were attributed to disturbed political conditions in South America and in Europe. Late speculative trading, however, in which Chicago September and December deliveries of wheat were bought against sales of July helped to bring about rallies.

Wheat closed irregular, ranging from ⅜ cents setback to ⅞c advance, corn ⅜c off to ¼c up, oats ¼@¼c down to ¼c gain, and provisions unchanged to 15 cents decline.

Bears in wheat laid much stress on big shipments from Argentina and the Black sea, the Argentine total for the week being 4,410,000 bushels, against 1,670,000 a year ago.

Corn and oats were under considerable selling pressure at times, partly on account of wheat weakness and partly owing to larger receipts of corn.

Provisions sympathized with declines in cereals, notwithstanding upturns in hog values.

Closing indemnities—Wheat, July 63¼c, 65¼c; Sept. 62¼c, 65c; Dec. 65¼c, 67¼c. Corn, May 60⅝c, 62c; July 63¼c, 64¼c; Sept. 61¼c, 62½c; Dec. 54⅛c, 55c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, April 16. (US)—Easiness of the early wheat market led to expectations for a technical reaction, but the resistance of the market on declines tended to restrict selling. The Winnipeg market showed a relatively firm tone, considering the quieter export demand.

Private cables spoke of heavy offerings by Argentina to Amsterdam on the break in exchange, but this was not confirmed. It was generally conceded that the slow demand at Winnipeg was an aftermath of recent heavy purchases. At the same time the Canadian market reported evidence of a good underlying seaboard interest.

While sentiment toward corn has been markedly indifferent, locals tending to neither side except for minor trading turns, there is some expectation that May liquidation may develop shortly.

The Kansas weekly report says field work is in full swing. Planting of corn has begun in the Southwest and South Central counties and should begin in the northeastern sections in another week or 10 days.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 16. (AP)(USDA)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by a moderately active trade on hogs at prices unevenly strong to 25c higher. Total offerings were around 61,000 as compared with 57,321 a week ago.

Fat lambs were on a firm to unevenly higher price basis, springers at some centers up 25@40c. Mature killing classes of sheep were unchanged. The supply approximating 62,700, was 4,500 less than last Thursday.

MADDEN WELL PROMISES OIL

Kilgore and Joiner Pools May Be Joined

Special to The Record News.

HENDERSON, Texas, April 16.—Further proof that the Kilgore and Joiner pools will eventually be joined together was in evidence here today when the E. B. Madden No. 1 Mose Mayfield cored seven feet of saturated sand topped at 3698 feet as possible extension of the Kilgore pool one mile southeast of present production. Casing is being set and the plug will be drilled early next week.

This is Madden's first test in the East Texas field. He has been operating in the Wichita Falls district for several years.

GREGG ANNEXES 29TH PRODUCER

Special to The Record News.

LONGVIEW, Texas, April 16.—Keeping in step with its record of annexing one or more producing wells per day, Gregg county today added its 29th successful well. The completion was the Pilot Oil company's No. 1 G. E. McGrede. The test was flowing at the rate of 5,000 barrels per day through choke and was said to be good for from 10,000 to 12,000 barrels daily wide open.

The completion was a half mile north extension of the Lathrop pool. Sand in the Pilot test was topped at 3592 feet. Several feet were cored. Heavy gas pressure brought the test in today without effort on the part of the crew. Production was turned into tanks after the well had cleaned itself. A pipe line has already been laid to the tanks.

Two other Gregg county tests today had cored the sand and were preparing to run and cement casing, preparatory to making production tests some time next week.

Lampton's No. 1 church lot, south offset to the Ealick producer, was preparing to run casing after having cored the sand last night. Tanks and a separator are being erected.

The Simms Oil company's No. 1 Harley, located midway between the Yount-Lee Oil company's No. 1 McKinley producer and the Woodlet No. 1 Harley tests which is now on the sand, is erecting storage and setting up a separator.

The Republic Production company's No. 1 Fisher and the Yount-Lee Oil company's No. 1-B Lathrop are expected to core sand in the next few days. Yount-Lee's No. 2-B Lathrop is erecting storage after coring the sand Tuesday.

The Rambler's Corner

member him when he played raggedly toward the first of the season.

Of course, that's a fine part of his career to forget. Now the chances are we'll be forgetting some of Scharein's bobbles ere long.

I'll bet poor Herb Kelly didn't exactly use Sunday school language when Perry's line drive to center in the seventh bounced over his head and rolled for a triple.

Poor fellow. I certainly felt sorry for him.

He was playing the ball exactly right. It hit in short center. To run up and nab it before it hit the ground was impossible, and Kelly didn't try. He stayed back to get it on the bounce. But just as he stooped down to get it, the ball hit a boulder or something in the center pasture and away it went.

Badgro could have played left field a little more efficiently. That roller that he allowed to get through his legs didn't look so well.

Freddie Vincent's lack of control was a source of considerable worry to the loyal spectators last year, and he opened the season Wednesday as wild as ever. But rival batters will be seeking the storm cellar when he does get that fast ball controlled. And that shouldn't be in the far distant future.

The reason we believe old Stormy will come around is the fact that he is playing the games this year with a truly determined spirit. When he heaved his fast one against the Panthers Wednesday, it was with the old will to do or die, and when a man gets too enthused he's liable to be a little off key. It was different last year. Freddie was a sick man and battling against odds. This year he's in good shape, his temper is controlled even. An even temper, a few more games to get him started and he'll be one of the most feared pitchers in the league.

And old Freddie carries his own determination to the plate with him. He took tremendous cuts at the ball Wednesday even if he didn't do much hitting, and that's something most pitchers do not.

One Mr. Ash Hillin is also going to do some fine pitching for Wichita Falls this year if his 1931 debut Wednesday is an indication. If he can hold the Cats the way he did during the last innings Wednesday, he can turn back any club in the league.

DECLARER'S PLAY TO A NO TRUMP (c't'd.)

IN AUCTION BRIDGE, entry cards are of great importance. Good cards in both hands should be utilized. To do this, certain entries must be held or created in both hands. Very often certain cards which would not ordinarily take tricks can be made to do so if the combined hands are properly played. Declarer should give entry cards first thought when mapping out the play of his hand.

ROTARY HEARS C-C MANAGER

Boswell Tells of Trials And Joys of Work

Elements which provide a chamber of commerce secretary with an abundance of variety in his daily work were discussed more or less humorously by John Boswell, general manager of the local chamber of commerce, in a classification talk before members of the Rotary club at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon.

The wide range of propositions and appeals presented daily to the chamber of commerce executive was suggested by the speaker with numerous illustrations.

"A man must have a screw loose somewhere to stay with such a job as mine and enjoy it," Mr. Boswell declared. Chosen portions from the code of ethics of the national association of commercial secretaries were read by the speaker as reflecting the standards which such workers pledge themselves to maintain.

A list of 12 men from whom six will be chosen as directors next Thursday was submitted to the membership as follows: James Biggs, Don Bowie, Walter K. Campbell, J. W. Chatham, B. D. Donnell, Darrold Kahn, E. B. Lehrack, Dr. S. S. McKenney, Henry Olsen, Edgar Ratcliff, Ralph Schultz and T. C. Scott.

The local Rotary club will be represented at the district convention at Plainview, April 20 and 21, by Linton H. Estes, Dr. Ted Krohn, John Boswell, Horrace Robbins and R. E. Shepherd, according to Ed Bebb, who presided in the absence of President Herbert C. Voelcker. Tom B. Smock and Walter D. Cline also will attend the convention, it was announced.

Walter Robbins, tenor, accompanied by Mrs. Robbins, sang "The Desert Song," and "Lover, Come Back to Me." Thursday's program was arranged by Joe Farabee.

Music furnished by A. B. Rische, cellist, and Miss Lorene Tucker, pianist, and a short talk by Dr. S. S. McKenney comprised a short program held in memory of T. L. Coplin, Rotarian, until his death last Monday.

It was announced that prior to the recent death of Mr. Coplin, Dr. J. W. Cantwell, J. A. Kemp and Albert V. Moller, the Rotary club had lost none of its members in six years.

Testimony Completed In Cemetery Suit

Taking of testimony in the action of C. H. Mataska et al. against Jerry Vinson et al. before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court was furnished Thursday afternoon, and the arguments of attorneys were given to the jury before the court recessed at 5 o'clock.

The plaintiffs in the case seek to obtain a permanent injunction against the defendants, forbidding their development of a four-acre tract near the Petrolia road east of this city as a negro burying ground. Deliberations of the jury on the mass of evidence taken since Wednesday afternoon will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning, it was said.

Presbyterian Missions Receipts Show Loss

ATLANTA, Ga., April 16. (AP)—The department of home missions of the Presbyterian church in the United States reported today receipts for the year ending March 31, 1931, were $464,647, or $57,722 less than the previous year.

"This decrease," a statement of the executive committee said, "made necessary the fifth successive reduction in appropriations, and a further curtailment in the church's home mission activities."

Despite the decrease, the committee said 4,864 were added to the Presbyterian church upon profession and 2,380 by letter" through work of home mission agents.

JUNIOR C.-C. LUNCH TODAY

Members to Visit Laundry After Meeting

Pond's laundry will be the place of visit on the third industrial tour conducted by the Junior chamber of commerce Friday, it was announced Thursday by Ralph Pond, chairman of the industrial committee.

The tour will take place immediately following the semi-monthly membership luncheon of the Junior chamber Friday noon at the Kemp hotel. Leaving the hotel at 1:15 p. m., the touring party will proceed to the laundry for an inspection which will require approximately 45 minutes. Representatives of other Wichita Falls laundries will be on hand and will act as technicians to explain operations. Mr. Pond announced that souvenirs would be awarded all persons making the trip Friday afternoon.

The luncheon program preceding the tour is to be of a varied nature, it was announced. Music, short addresses and a round table discussion will be featured.

Rail Commission Hearing Friday

Application of the Ligon Truck service of Byers to the Texas Railroad commission for an order regulating ice rates from Wichita Falls to Petrolia and Byers will be heard by a member of the commission here Friday according to announcement received by the traffic division of the chamber of commerce.

Two applications, both by the Ligon Truck service, will be heard. The commission's representative will hear the first at 8 o'clock at the Kemp hotel. The application is for an order authorizing a commodity rate of 15 cents per 100 pounds, with a minimum weight of 3,000, on truck loads of ice from Wichita Falls to Petrolia and Byers.

The second application asks for an order for a flat rate on all commodities between Wichita Falls and Dan, Byers, and Petrolia, to meet interstate truck competition. The application will be considered at the Kemp hotel at 8 o'clock Friday night.

All-Night Radio Broadcast April 18

A second all-night broadcast over radio station KGKO will be sponsored from Saturday midnight to 6 o'clock Sunday morning, it was announced Thursday by Paul Hines chairman of the radio committee. The broadcast is in celebration of national radio week, April 12-18, as set aside by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Wide recognition was given Wichita Falls and the Junior chamber of commerce as a result of the first midnight to dawn broadcast here several weeks ago, Mr. Hines said, resulting in the decision to put on the air several all night programs during the year.

A wide range of special talent, in addition to KGKO's regular staff of artists, will be used during the broadcast.

TRAFFIC COMMITTEE

A number of important matters will be discussed by the traffic commitee of the chamber of commerce, which will meet Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, it was announced Thursday by Dudley B. Foy, traffic and industrial manager.

STRAND: "The Front Page" with Pat O'Brien and Adolphe Menjou. Short subjects and sound news.

MAJESTIC: Warner Oland in "Charlie Chan Carries On." Chester Conklin comedy, novelty act and sound news.

GEM: Wally Wales in "Hell's Valley." Chapter 9 of "Finger Prints." Fable comedy.

It is indicative of Warner Oland's artistry that the same people who had dreamed bad dreams about him as Dr. Fu Manchu are now chuckling affectionately over his Charlie Chan. It is remarkable that he can so easily shed the mantle of awful mystery and don the garments of genial good nature.

"Charlie Chan Carries On" was one of those pictures that was infinitely better than expected—a rare happening these days. It had good acting, a thrilling mystery story and plenty of snappy lines to quote later to those who didn't go.

After scoring the best success in years with "A Connecticut Yankee," the Strand is presenting one of the year's best plays which will not be so universally appreciated—"The Front Page" (not recommended for children).

But the smaller audiences will at least make up in the quality of their guffaws the lack of quantity of box office receipts, for "The Front Page" is as hilariously funny as it is naughty. It is the most rapidly directed play yet produced. I'm going back to get some of that dialog I missed in the natural sleepy slowness of a midnight matinee . . . and to see just once more that charming (not handsome) Pat O'Brien who plays the part of Hildy Johnson. He is what is usually described as a "find."

SHRINERS TO VISIT BURK

Caravan to Leave Here Late Saturday

A caravan of Shriners will leave Maskat temple auditorium at 6:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon for Burkburnett for a good will trip, it was announced Thursday by J. Marshall Franklin, chairman of the good will trips committee.

Members of the Maskat temple band will give a street concert in front of the Rexall drug store from 7 to 7:30 o'clock after which the local Arabic patrol will give a drill.

An entertainment consisting of several musical, vocal, dance numbers and addresses will be given by the local group at the high school auditorium from 8 to 9 o'clock. The feature of the entertainment will be a Masonic address by Al Ellis, recorder for Maskat temple, while other numbers will include a vocal solo by Dr. J. H. Fletcher; dance by Maxine Aubrey, guitar numbers, Glen Saunders; solo, Luther R. Thurman; solo, Ed Reeder; Miss Thelma Adams at the piano and musical selections by Jesse Smith and his Hawaiians.

The welcoming address will be given by the mayor of Burkburnett to which Potentate W. B. Hamilton will respond. Sydney A. Gaines will act as master of ceremonies while Mrs. Kindel Paulk will be the general accompanist. The evening will be completed with a dance at the Legion hall.

Siamese Twins Prefer To Lead 'Double' Life

Contrary to what might ordinarily be expected, San Antonio's "Siamese Twins," Daisy and Violet Hilton, do not want to be separated, but prefer to go through life as they are today—inseparably linked to one another. They are contented and happy. Despite the strange human phenomenon nature created in their birth, it denied them few pleasures enjoyed by other well educated and talented girls of 18.

Any surgical operation that had as its object the separation of Daisy and Violet Hilton would be nothing more than an experiment—hazardous and dangerous in the extreme. Why should they place their lives and future happiness in jeopardy? they ask. There is little to gain; much to lose. "No Siamese Twins" have ever been successfully separated after babyhood.

Many of the world's most famous surgeons have examined the Hilton twins and their opinion has been unanimous that such an operation would probably result in the crippling of one or both of the girls if not in their deaths.

So Daisy and Violet Hilton prefer to go on as they are—carrying on their work in vaudeville—as musicians, dancers and singers—in a happy, cheerful optimism and spirit of contentment—forgetting the few pleasures nature denied them. They are to appear at the Majestic theater next Saturday in addition to the regular program which includes Buster Keaton in his latest comedy riot, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath."

BOSWELL TO PLAINVIEW

John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce here, will attend the Panhandle press convention Saturday at Plainview. He will also attend the district Rotary convention there Monday, it was said. Mr. Boswell will leave here Friday to go to Plainview, his former home, and will also visit with his father, George J. Boswell, there.
