Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas, Friday, September 2, 1955

Number 47

Monday Designated First Bale Day Here

Monday has been designated as "First Bale Day," and the first bale of 1955 Lynn county cotton will be sold at auction on the First National Bank corner in Tahoka at 4:00 p. m.

Troy Copelin, who lives seven miles north of Tahoka, ginned the first bale at about 6 p. m. Friday at the Carmack Gin in Tahoka, and since that time the bale has been on display in front of the First National Bank.

Last year's first bale brought the grower, Mrs. Beatrice McLaurin of O'Donnell, more than $1,000. This year's first bale is expected to bring that much or possibly more.

Ginners of the county and Tahoka merchants have made up a special premium which on Tuesday of this week totaled more than $600.00, and the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce guarantees at least 40 cents per pound for the cotton. However, bids are expected to go higher than this amount.

On request from ginners and farmers over the county, the first bale premium is being sponsored by Tahoka Chamber of Commerce and Tahoka Jaycees, the latter raising the premium from merchants.

Mr. Copelin's first bale ginned out 435 pounds of lint and 800 pounds of seed from 1700 pounds of seed cotton, C. O. Carmack, the ginner, said.

It was picked from 15 acres of irrigated hybrid cotton planted late in April on the Copelin irrigated farm north of Tahoka on the Lubbock highway. No sample was taken of the cotton.

On "First Bale Day" next Monday, several merchants are offering special prices, and people from over the county are being invited to come in and see the bale sold.

Middling 15/16 cotton is worth 33 or 34 cents. The News is informed, and cotton seed is currently worth about $47.00 per ton.

Plan Activities For THS Band

Tahoka High Band will make its first public appearance of the year tonight at the football game under the direction of the new director, Don Wortham, of Fort Worth and Texas Tech.

Lynn Strickland is the drum major, and twirlers are Wilma Scott, Othelda Freeman, Betty Phipps and Sandra McNeely. Miss Freeman is president of the band group.

Officers of the Band Boosters Club are: Mrs. Jack Adams, president; Mrs. Buster Phipps, vice-president; Mrs. Louie Weathers, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. W. R. McNeely, reporter.

The Club will entertain both the Tahoka and Seagraves bands following the game in the Band Hall and will serve cokes and cookies.

Next week, the Club will send sandwiches and cokes on the bus to Crane to be sold to band members.

Mrs. Dwight's Mother Dies At Lubbock

Mrs. H. K. Porter, 84, mother of Mrs. C. C. Dwight of Tahoka, died Thursday morning at 9:20 in Muse Rest Home in Lubbock.

The aged lady came to Lubbock county in 1902, and lived at Shallowater before aged and ill health caused her to enter the rest home.

FLIES TO SEATTLE

Mrs. A. M. Cade left Sunday night by plane for Seattle, Wash., to visit her only sister, Mrs. Laura Shoop, who lives in nearby Bremerton, Wash.

Ask Help For Storm Victims

Lynn county has been given a quota of $280.00 for the Red Cross Disaster Fund to aid the areas in the East who were victims of the recent storms.

Bill Griffin, Lynn county Red Cross chairman, asks for volunteer contributions to meet the quota, and hopes that a solicitation campaign will not be necessary.

The American Red Cross is seeking a total of $8,000,000 for this Disaster Fund.

People of the county who wish to help out on this worthy cause are asked to leave their contributions with Mr. Griffin, at the county agent's office; J. A. Robinson at Lynn County Tractor Co.; Frank Hill at The News; John Ellis, in O'Donnell; or A. L. Holder, in Wilson.

Mr. Griffin says Mrs. Beulah Pridmore has been named the new secretary-treasurer of the Lynn County Chapter.

Collier Promoted By Pharmacists

Wynne Collier, local druggist, was promoted to first vice president of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association at its recent annual convention held in Fort Worth. He will be in line for the presidency next year.

Last year he served the body as second vice president, and before that was a board member for three years.

Negro Youth Enrolled In Tahoka Schools Causes Much Discussion

For the first time in history, a Negro entered the Tahoka High School as a student in the Junior Class on Monday of this week.

He is Andrew Nance, age 16, who had gone as far as he could go in Dunbar School, the local school for Negroes. Only ten grades are taught at Dunbar.

Supt. Otis Spears and members of the Tahoka School Board told The News this week that Nance made application last June for admittance to the local High School this fall.

However, no action was taken until in August following the recent court rulings which put local school boards "between a rock and a hard place" in regard to segregation.

The board has not thrown down the bars to desegregation, although this school, like all others over the nation, possibly will be forced to do so next year.

The application of Nance for admittance to the white school was considered as an individual case, The News is informed, as

Bulldogs Open Season Here Tonight With Seagraves Boys

Dry Land Crops Go Down Fast

Dry land crops have deteriorated badly the last two weeks from the dry, hot weather, and some of the irrigated fields watered lightly are showing the effects also.

Farmers hopes were raised considerably following the good rains about July '9, but dry land cotton is now wilting and throwing off small bolls.

In spite of the weather, guesses on the year's cotton crops around town range from about 90,000 to 130,000 bales.

Showers Tuesday failed to do any appreciable good. The area north and south of the intersection of Wells paving with the Brownfield paving, six miles west of Tahoka, received a half inch; and an area north of Redwine is reported to have received a half inch. In Tahoka the fall was only .04 inch.

Good Crowds Attend Revival

Good crowds have been attending the revival services of the First Baptist Church, Rev. Clifford Harris, the pastor, reports.

The Brotherhood met for breakfast at 6:45 each morning and enjoyed a brief sermon series on "The Holy Spirit." Members of the football squad were guests Wednesday morning.

Tonight, the services will begin at 7:00 o'clock and conclude at 7:45 so those who desire can attend the football game. This has been the custom of the Church in such circumstances.

Rev. Cecil Ray, pastor of Arnett Baptist Church, Lubbock, is the evangelist, and Bob Lewis is directing the singing.

A goal of 525 in Sunday School has been set for Sunday, Sept. 4.

The Church entered their new Educational Building last Sunday.

Next week, the Baptist Churches of the area will be engaged in a state-wide school of Missions featuring foreign and home mission speakers.

Lynn County Lady At Warm Springs

Gonzales, Aug. 20—Mrs. Vera Elizabeth Jones of Lynn County, wife of Mr. J. Frank Jones of Slaton, Texas, is currently undergoing treatment at Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation for Crippled Children.

Mrs. Jones was referred to this hospital of physical medicine and rehabilitation for treatment following a siege of polio suffered in July of 1954.

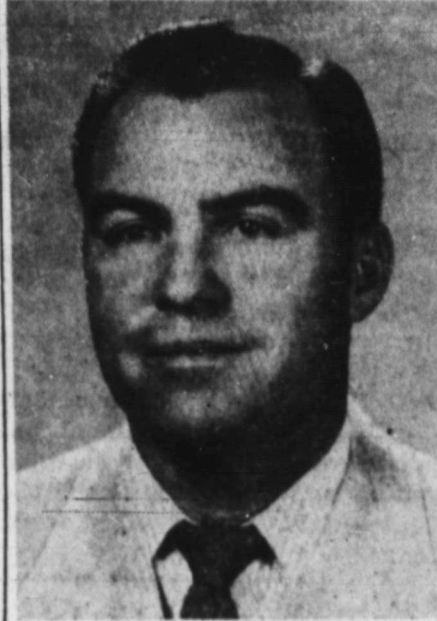

Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation, built and maintained by contributions from all over the state of Texas, now has six units and a bed capacity to accommodate from 140 to 150 patients, thus meeting the increasing demand for treatment and care of handicapped Texans.

Kathryn Jones, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Jones, had hardly recovered from an appendectomy performed two weeks ago at Tahoka Hospital, when on Wednesday of this week her sister, Helen, age 5, was taken to the hospital for a tonsillectomy.

Charles Stewart of Waco was here Tuesday visiting old friends. He says this has been the coolest summer in Waco in a long time, the natives tell him.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Atkins and their two children of Fresno, California are visiting Mrs. Atkins parents, the J. H. Knights who reside at 1721 N. Third.

Football Coaches

In four years at Tahoka, Head Coach Bill Haralson has produced three district champions. The Bulldogs won championships in 1951, 1952, and 1954, and finished third in the district in 1953.

Assistant Coach Dean Wright did a fine job with the line last year, his first in Tahoka, which enabled the team to win the title. The Bulldogs are weak on reserves this year, although the starting line-up is expected to give a good account barring too many injuries.

Bulldog Mothers' Meeting Tonight

The Bulldog mothers will be active again this fall, Mrs. Truett Smith, president announces, and will serve supper for all squad members and other members of the family in the school cafeteria each home game.

First meal will be served tonight following the Seagraves game, and each mother of a football boy is asked to bring food for her family and any guests she may invite.

Mrs. Rufus Slover is vice president of the organization and Mrs. Roger Bell is secretary.

Purpose of the organization is to lend encouragement and guidance to the boys.

PROCLAMATION STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF LYNN

WHEREAS the merchants of the city of Tahoka and the ginners of Lynn County each present an award to the producer of the first bale of cotton in Lynn County;

AND WHEREAS the annual award for the first bale of cotton produced in Lynn County will be presented on the 5th day of September, 1955, in front of the First National Bank in Tahoka Texas;

AND WHEREAS the citizens of Tahoka desire to show their application to the cotton producers and ginners in Lynn County.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Clint Walker, Mayor of the city of Tahoka, Texas, do hereby issue this my proclamation declaring that the 5th day of September, 1955, shall be designated "FIRST BALE DAY" in Tahoka, Texas; And I hereby call upon all the citizens of Tahoka to observe said day in tribute to all the cotton producers and ginners of Lynn County.

Witness my hand this 1st day of September, A. D. 1955.

Clint Walker,
Mayor of the City of Tahoka, Texas

Attest:
Tom Bartley, City Secretary.

Tahoka Bulldogs, district 5-AA champions of 1955, open their 1956 season tonight, Friday, at 8 o'clock on Kelley Field here with the Seagraves Eagles of Class 4-A.

Season reserved seats were nearly all gone Thursday but there may be some available at Tahoka City Hall today. They are $6.00 for five home games. Game tickets at $1.00 for adults and 25 cents for children may also be purchased today at City Hall.

Bands Will Perform
Seagraves and Tahoka Bands will present performances at half-time. Tahoka's 60-piece marching band is directed this year by Don Wortham.

Since Monday of last week, 40 Bulldog team candidates have been working out under direction of Coaches Bill Haralson, and Dean Wright. Last week they went through two sessions daily, and this week they are polishing off on two-hour sessions each afternoon.

In practice scrimmage at Crosbyton last Thursday night, the Bulldogs looked good in trouncing the Chiefs, runners-up in the District 3-A to Hale Center last year.

Class A Seagraves has an experienced crew this year, and has been picked by some "experts" to win its district. The Eagles will be seeking revenge from Tahoka, as will most of the teams the Bulldogs meet this year.

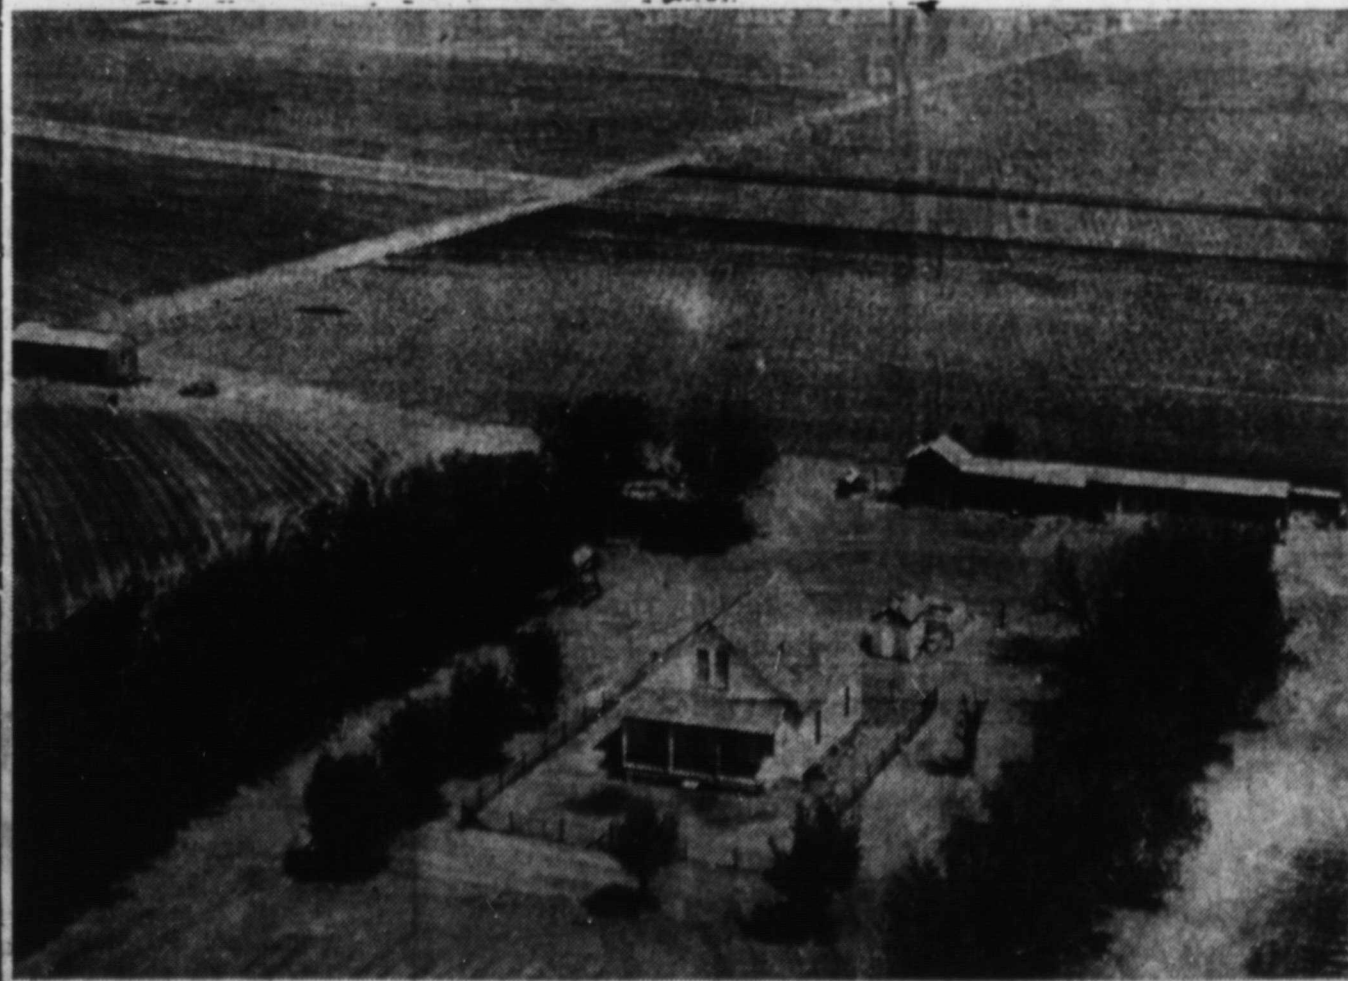

There are five home games and five games away on Tahoka's 10-game schedule. After the Seagraves game, Tahoka goes to Crane for a tough encounter with that powerful team it managed to defeat 27-20 here last fall. Denver City, who lost to Tahoka last year 32-6 comes here on Sept. 16. Tahoka lost to Seminole 0-7 last year, but will try to scalp the Indians here on Sept. 23. The last non-conference game will be at Littlefield, to whom the Bulldogs lost twice last year, once in early season play and again for bi-district championship.

Conference Tough
Tahoka opens 5-AA conference play here on Oct. 21 with Post Antelope, who tied the Bulldogs 13-13 last year. On October 28, Tahoka goes to Abernathy, defeated by Tahoka 28-18 last year, and these Antelopes will certainly be after Tahoka's hide, for the loss cost Abernathy a clear cut district championship.

The Bulldogs will entertain Slaton November 4, which it defeated last year 26-6. Tahoka goes to Floydada Nov. 11, who was in this district two years ago, was moved to 2-AA last year, and is back in 5-AA again this year. The season ends at Spur Nov. 18, a team Tahoka nosed-out last year 26-22.

Plains Farmers Visit Valley Farms, Ranch, Fish In Gulf

FISHING PARTY—Pictured above are most of the men who went on the deep-sea fishing trip to the Coast last week. Several Tahoka men were not present when this picture was made, but had their picture taken in a separate "shot".

Twenty-three Lynn county men were among the 144 farmers, and their friends who visited the Lower Rio Grande Valley last week as guests of the Plains Co-op Oil Mill, managed by Roy Davis, the Co-op Compress, managed by Tom Brown, and the Co-op gins of the the South Plains.

The group viewed South Texas and Mexico cotton farming, cotton gin, oil mill and compress operations, citrus and vegetable crops, spent a day on a deep-sea fishing trip, visited the fabulous King Ranch, had supper in a Mexican night club, and heard a number of short after dinner speeches all in the span of less than five days.

Leaving Lubbock Monday morning at 6:25 a. m., they traveled 1,800 miles in their spare time in four air conditioned buses of TNN&O lines, and arrived back home Friday night before sunset.

Frank Hill of The News was a guest of New Home Co-op gin on the trip at the invitation of Wilmer Smith, president and H. Q. Sharp, manager, both of whom were unable to go. Mayor Clint Walker was a guest of Farmers Co-op of Tahoka, John F. Thomas, president, and Bobby Carroll, manager.

The party was treated royally everywhere they went, meals were ready when the party arrived at appointed places, and, thanks to the efficient planning of Roy Davis, nobody ever had time or a chance to get in trouble. In fact, The News man had to go a day and a half without a can of Sir Walter, and if you know The News man you will know he must have been under control of somebody.

Driving 296 miles to Junction, the party lost just 25 minutes being served a fine dinner in that city, and 295 miles later the buses pulled up at 6:25 p. m. at the Breakers Hotel, on the waterfront, at Corpus Christi. Some of the boys took a dip in the Gulf, and then all rushed to a swell seafood dinner downtown as guests of Gulf Compress.

Lynn county men on the tour included:

Wells: H. F. Lindley and B. J. McLaurin.
O'Donnell: Weldon, Martin, H. W. Hancock, M. E. Greenlee, and G. C. Wilson.
Grassland: L. S. Turner and C. W. Roberts.

New Home: Dick Turner, E. R. Blakney, Lewis Allsup, Morris Renfro, and Editor Frank Hill of Tahoka, a guest of New Home Co-op.

Slide: L. H. Moore, Jr., and K. K. Moore.

Tahoka: Bobby Carroll, John F. Thomas, Charles Oliver, T. D. Dunlap, Clint Walker, and Otis Curry.

Wilson: Chas. E. Campbell and C. C. Swope.

Moman Johnson, an old Lynn county boy now managing the College Avenue Gin south of Lubbock, was also on the trip.

Next morning at 7:45, buses left for an inspection of the modern Gulf Compress, and then drove on to Kingsville. The drouth has taken a heavy toll around Corpus. The usual fine crops were not to be seen, and this was especially noticeable in the Sinton-Taft area.

At Kingsville, we were told there had not been a good rain in three years. Most of the morning was spent visiting the great King Ranch which has its headquarters just outside this city.

We were met at the gate of the fabulous ranch by Jim Compton, former farm editor of the Avalanche, later of the Brownfield News, and now a public relations man for the Santa Gertrudis Cattle Association. He introduced us to John Cypher, public relations man from the King Ranch, owned by the Kleberg and other King descendants. Mr. Cypher told us many interesting facts about the ranch and escorted the group through the north part of the ranch.

Mr. Cypher was born and reared on the ranch, attended Kingsville College of Arts & Industries, and had never been off the place except while in service.

Established 102 years ago, by Capt. Richard King from an original 15,000 acres, the ranch has grown to 940,000 acres, covers most of Kleberg county and parts of six neighboring counties on the Coastal Plain, and in addition has two ranches in Pennsylvania, one in Kentucky, and two in Australia. The Texas ranch is stocked with at least 50,000 head of cattle, and ships up to 20,000 to market annually.

We were surprised to learn the many phases of its operations, which not only include cattle breeding and raising, quarter horses and thoroughbred race horse raising, but it also has more dairy cows than most big ranches have beef cattle, embraces several oil fields, and has a big farming operation, as well as other interests.

In the past, the ordinary citizen could not even get in the front gate, but Mr. Cypher answered all our questions point blank and then showed the party everything they had time to see. The ranch is best known for originating the Santa Gertrudis breed of cattle, recognized officially as a breed in 1940, and the only entirely new breed ever developed in America. The cattle were developed by a complicated process of crossbreeding and in-breeding of Brahmas with Angus to produce the Santa Gertrudis, a breed extremely heavy, that grows very rapidly, does well in hot climates, dry or humid, can live and fatten on grass alone or even cactus, and is little affected by ticks or any other parasite or insect.

We saw about 3,000 of the beautiful red animals, each grade and age in a pen to itself, and some of the top bulls. One of the latter had sold for $40,000, and they had some better than him that were not for sale at any price. In fact, the King Ranch has never sold heifers or cows—only bulls—with the buyer using the bulls to build up his own Santa Gertrudis herd under a prescribed formula. The ranch raises fine quarter horses, but for work on the ranch only. They have 2,800 quarterhorses. Then, the group was taken to see the pastures, now parched from the long drouth, of King bluestem, which this ranch developed, and many other grasses in experimental stage; and then by the race track.

Next stop was at a horse barn, where 25 young coming-two-year-old thoroughbreds you will be reading about in a year or two, were in stalls for training to run the nation's race tracks. We were told our group included the first men from off the ranch ever to lay eyes on these young horses, most of them sons of Bold Venture, Beaumax, and Middleground. None of them were from Assault, for, as we learned later, Assault is sterile. After seeing more fine horses, in exercise pens, we were taken to the retired stalling lots, where we saw five horses that have made history on American race tracks. Some of us got to pet spoiled old Assault, age 12, who won $750,000 during his career, and was the first horse to win $400,000 in one year on the track. That was in 1946, the year he won the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, and the Belmont. Incidentally, he is club-footed, but proud as the king he is.

Middleground, now eight years old, also a proud king. Cypher said, was perhaps the greatest horse ever raised by the ranch, but had to be retired when he broke a leg in his second year of racing. He won the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont in 1950 and was second in the Preakness.

Poised, Beaumax, and Bold Venture were also in the lots—perhaps, the greatest quintet of horses anyone will ever see owned by the same stable. In all, the King ranch has 200 thoroughbreds.

The party was then shown a small irrigation set-up, and passed one of the dairy barns.

Then, there was a drive through the housing project of the Santa Gertrudis, or headquarters, camp. There are 83 homes in this project, furnished by the ranch for its workmen, built of concrete blocks and concrete, with modern plumbing and other facilities. The ranch camp has its own sewer system, water system, and own school.

There are three other major camps on the million acre ranch, and numerous smaller ones.

On the way out, we passed the tremendous ranch house, a great mansion, on top of which there is a cupola, or look-out tower from which one might see many, many miles over the flat brush and grass covered plains.

Another thing, possibly worthy of mention, the King ranch is said to have pioneered many methods of brush-clearing, as well as grass seeding by machine and by airplane, some of which are now more or less common on parts of the South Plains.

Next week, The News will tell of the rest of the trip, including the deep-sea fishing expedition 25 to 30 miles out on the Gulf, on which our party hooked and shipped home more than 3,000 pounds of fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Raindl visited at Elk, N. M., near Cloudcroft, with some friends they met while Johnny was in service.

"The Chocolate Soldier" is a musical version of the play, "Arms and the Man" by George Bernard Shaw.

The name, Minnesota, is derived from the two Sioux Indian words meaning "Sky colored water."

Mission Speakers At Church

Seventeen Baptist Churches in the Brownfield Association will join with 1800 Southern Baptist Churches in Texas this fall in a mammoth program of Schools of Missions and Stewardship. During the week of study, one night will be set aside as "Church and Denominational" night.

Highlighting this week of emphasis on missions and stewardship, most of the churches will have as guest speakers one of Southern Baptist's 1,002 foreign missionaries, one of the denomination's 1,100 home missionaries, denominational leaders and stewardship speakers. The programs will also include films and other visual presentations.

This study is coming just before most churches make out their annual budgets. Next year, Texas Baptists will give an estimated $72 million through their churches. Of that amount, $8.5 million will be used for missionary work outside the local communities.

The area churches cooperating in this school of missions are: Tahoka First, Tahoka Sweet Street, Redwine, Wells, Wilson New Home, Lakeview, O'Donnell, Meadow, Brownfield First, Brownfield, Westside, Brownfield Calvary, Wellman, Tokio, Gomez, Johnson.

Some of the missionaries who will speak are: Mrs. Charles Culpepper, Formosa; Mr. Howard Bryant, Chile; Miss Bonnie Moore, Nigeria; Rev. Dewey Reed, Tajique, New Mexico; Mr. A. L. Watson, Denver Colorado; Mrs. Sam Mayo, missionary to migrants. Several denominational leaders will also be present.

In each church each night 45 minutes will be given to the teaching of mission books by age groups then the missionaries will have 45 minutes each night. The public certainly is invited to these services in the church closest to you.

Sears Bartley Farms Half Section Near New Lynn

The farm pictured above is farmed by Sears Bartley and is located a mile and a half north of New Lynn.

Only three people correctly guessed the place. They are Alton Kelly, Mattie Jolly, and John Fred Thomas.

The place is owned by J. S. Edwards of Slaton and Earl Edwards of Seagraves, and it has been in the Edwards family for many, many years.

Sears farms 320 acres of the land and has been on the place four years. When the above picture was taken last spring, the house was being remodeled.

Mr. Bartley has a pretty fair dry land crop this year. All the place is terraced, and cotton and maize are the principal crops, as is the case on most Lynn county farms.

Sears Bartley was born and reared at New Lynn, the son of Mrs. Susie Bartley and the late J. I. Bartley. He attended school at New Lynn.

Mrs. Bartley, whose maiden name was Rachel Bankston, was born in East Texas the daughter of Mrs. W. W. Bankston, now of Lubbock but a resident of Tahoka until shortly after World War II. Mr. Bankston died in about 1931. The Bankstons came to Tahoka about 30 years ago, when Mrs. Bartley was a child. She attended school in Tahoka before her marriage.

The couple married in Lamesa in 1939. They have four children, Thurman, 14, Floyd, 12, Joan 10, and Jan, 2. The three older ones attended school at Wilson. Thurman is a 4-H club boy.

Mrs. Bartley says the only hobby her husband has is television. She says he is a hard worker and keeps too busy to have any other hobby.

The family attends New Lynn Baptist Church.

"But, that's not all! I save time because I can buy foods in larger quantities eliminating 'those little trips' to the grocery store," Mrs. Griffiths adds.

S. G. Waits, 52, Is Buried Here

S. G. Waits, 52, brother of Mrs. Guy Smith of New Lynn who was killed when hit by a train near his home at Glendale, Ariz., on August 21, was buried here Saturday.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church with Elder Glenn Williams of Muleshoe Primitive Baptist officiating. Burial followed in Tahoka Cemetery under direction of Mason Funeral Home of Post.

Mr. Waits, a bachelor, was born in Oxford, Miss., Nov. 13, 1902. After his mother died at Hugo, Okla., in 1918, he lived with brothers and sisters for a number of years but about 15 years ago moved to Arizona. He had visited here several times. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include six brothers, Donald, Albert, Elton, and Roy, all of Fort Worth, Earl of Hereford, and H. R. of Lubbock; five sisters, Mrs. Etter Thompson and Mrs. Estell Smith, both of Hugo; Mrs. Howard (Ella) Gulley and Mrs. Ester Wofford, both of Arlington, Calif.; and Mrs. Guy (Eva) of New Lynn. EVERY DAY, SAVE MORE...

French Youth Writes Of Travels, Visits To Homes, Farms, Gins, Tech

By Bernard Debonne
(French Agriculture student, guest of Tahoka Rotary Club)

Indeed, every day is a good day. Never had I imagined so marvelous a stay.

How many things I do or I see for the first time.

For instance, Mr. Tom Bartley took me to Lamesa to play golf. Evidently, the ball didn't want ever to start! On the sixth shot, perhaps, it started but for 50 yards only! Mr. Bartley showed me to baseball at Lubbock. This game is unknown in Europe. I enjoyed it after a few innings because at the beginning I didn't know the rules. The attitude of the umpire seemed to me funny!

Dr. Prohl introduced me to Mr. Joe Unfred, "dirt farmer" of New Home, and this one took me to a horse breeding farm. I rode a half hour—for the first time, also. The day after, my legs were again sore!

I am very lucky. I met one person in Texas who speaks French very well, Mrs. A. M. Bray. At Denver I talked with a Swiss girl very fast, and Mrs. Bray could understand two-thirds. It is very good; I have my revenge; I hear somebody who says to me, "You talk too fast!"

Indeed, I went to Denver, and I have had a magnificent trip. Mr. and Mrs. Bray showed me many and many beautiful things. I thank them very much for their kindness. I saw the true desert during 200 miles between Dalhart and Denver. I saw the old gold towns now almost forsaken: Central City, and above all Cripple Creek near Colorado Springs, with their special atmosphere—old bars and hotels, opera houses, old pictures, old music boxes, dead mines and shattered houses. I saw magnificent scenes near Denver, Evergreen, Echo Lake, Red Rocks; near Colorado Springs, Garden of the Gods, Pike's Peak, Balanced Rock, Will Rogers monument, Seven Falls, Broadmoor Hotel, where Mrs. Bray reserved me a nice surprise; near Canon City, the Royal Gorge of the Arkansas River. There are not words to express my feelings in front of all these wonders. At Central City, was a miraculous event. Going to see a square dance, I perceived a French friend, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Kansas City, who was visiting, as we were, in Colorado. 45 French students among 160 millions of Americans and I run into a friend from home!

This week, Kenny Durham took me to visit Carlsbad Caverns. It is wonderful, remarkable, but I was deceived by one thing I cannot understand the view of a lunch room in the middle of this wonder: skin of oranges and bottles of Coca Cola on the soil! It seems to me that the people would be able to wait two hours to eat on the surface.

Since four weeks, I visit many and many farms, many and many fields, and now I have a good idea of the farming around Tahoka. I shall bring back to France many farming impressions. I said already that I was not agree. I saw with Mr. Truett Smith between Tahoka and Brownfield several acres completely clear yellow, and this shows that the soil needs nitrogen very much. In France, we say that it is the signal of alarm.

I visited this week the Texas Tech, and in particular, the Agriculture building. I could talk with professors where Doctor Johnson is head of the Department of Agronomy and a professor specialist in cattle breeding and grass. They agree with me and said to me that in the future it will be necessary to do rotation between crops and grass with as a consequence the establishment of cattle. Dr. Johnson said that your farming is young and hot, as in all countries, there will be an evolution from an extensive to an intensive farming. That's right. They do many experiments and they showed that in sandy soils (not in clay soils), fertilizers when there is irrigation give very good results. I met at Brownfield with Mr. Truett Smith a farmer who brings 10 dollars per acre from fertilizers with irrigation.

The results are magnificent; cotton is double.

At last, I saw the industrial might of this region: cotton compress, cotton gin, soil conservation equipment with Mr. Roy Edwards and Mr. Unfred of New Home.

I could ask questions about the salaries, the prices, because in France I shall have many speeches about these questions. Now, one or two more impressions among many others.

I am surprised by the force of your religious feelings, in particular among the youth, but as European, I am astounded by some ways. For instance, never I should have imagined that in a country church, which is a place where we pray, the boys and girls could play games and drink Coca Cola.

A second impression: the happiness and the enthusiasm of the youth, and very often I envy. But there is the back of the medal: the thoughtlessness. There is a great difference with the European youth: this one is more matured; a student of 12 years old knows more about life and world than an American student of 12 years old. I think that the cause is perhaps the war. But, when a country is the first in the world, I believe that it is a pity and dangerous that the youth of this country lives closed on itself.

At last, I thank all the families who received me. They are all different, but every one gave me great joy, and always enjoyed every day. I thank all the people of Tahoka for their friendly welcome and their kindness. It is a great pleasure for me to talk to everybody. I am sure that my stay in Tahoka will be one of the most beautiful memories of my life.

I hope to come back to the United States in the future to settle definitely, because there is a great difference between the interest of life in Europe and in America. Europe is an old country with too many people, and there is no opportunity for the young men.

Again one time, I am happy of your welcome and I thank you with all my heart.

Odds and Ends

(BY E. I. THE ELDER)

In paying tribute last week to George C. Childress, the man who wrote the Texas Declaration of Independence, and giving the background of that revolutionary action that won for Texas a distinguished place among the nations of the world, I brought my story to a rather abrupt close, without having said a few of the things that I had intended to say about that brave young lawyer and patriot.

One of the things that I had intended to say was that members of that same Childress group of families are living in Texas today.

When I located in Temple in 1900 and procured an office for the practice of law, with a law license hung up on the wall but with no flattering prospects of success, one of the leading citizens of Temple was a man named Joe Childress. He was not a lawyer but was a successful and highly respected business man. He had a young son who, when he grew up, studied law and located later in the city of Abilene for the practice of his profession. In Abilene, I became well acquainted with young Joe Childress. Former Bell county residents who had moved west and had located in any of the counties of Central West Texas, met annually at Buffalo Gap some fifteen miles south of Abilene. Young Joe Childress was always present at these gatherings. I am not sure as to his relationship with the George C. Childress who wrote that document that made Texas free. Nor am I sure as to his father's relationship to the distinguished author of the Texas Declaration of Independence. But it has always been my understanding that the relationship was very close. Geo. Tyler's History of Bell County, now out of print, may give that information, but when I was a young man I was not sufficiently interested in other folks' ancestors to make an investigation or pry into the matter.

James Gaines who was one of the members of the committee was a resident of what is now Sabine county — just barely was in Texas, but he stayed here until Texas was admitted into the Union as a state, and then when gold was discovered in California, he became a "forty-niner" and hiked off to the gold mines, and I haven't been able to dig up anything about him since; but after Governor Coke succeeded in kicking E. J. Davis and the carpet-baggers out of the capitol in Austin he got Texas to adopt a new Constitution—that was in 1876—and thereupon began creating new counties out in the "Wild West." Gaines county out on the Texas-New Mexico line, being one of the new ones. They had to have a name for it, and somebody thought of that Sabine fellow named Gaines who had rushed off to California in 1849. I don't know whether Gaines ever dug any gold in California or not, but out here in the county that was named for him they now have hundreds and hundreds of drilled wells from which they are pumping countless millions of barrels of liquid gold every year.

Edward Conrad was another patriot who submitted a draft of the Texas Declaration of Independence to that convention of delegates assembled in Washington on the Brazos March 2, 1836. I do not know who Edward Conrad was, but it is officially stated that he was from Refugio county, which is situated down in the Corpus Christi area. No county or town that I know of was ever named for him, but he must have been a red-hot Texas patriot, otherwise he never would have put his name to a document like the one he signed.

Collin McKinney of Red River county was another committeeman. History has not told me anything about him, except that a North Texas county was given his first name and its county seat his family name, and so we have McKinney, Collin county, Texas.

Of the sixty signers of the Declaration, twenty-six of them were honored later by having their names given to that many counties in Texas. We have already given the "low-down" on a few of them in this and previous contributions to this Column. We do not have time nor space to mention all of them at this time, but we do wish to mention a few more of them; especially some of those for whom counties in the Panhandle-Plains area and some lying in West Texas below the cap-rock were named. There is Swisher county, for example, which was named for James Gibson Swisher, who was not only a signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence but was also one of the men who stormed San Antonio back in 1835 and drove Gen. Cos and his army back into Mexico. It is now one of the most productive wheat and maize-growing counties in Texas.

There is Potter county, which was named for Robert Potter, another signer of the immortal document. After Texas won her independence and became a Republic, Potter served as a senator in the upper house of the legislative body of the young nation and a little later as its secretary of the Navy. Potter county is a long way from salt water but it has grown so big and rich black and white-face cattle produced by counties that surround it, that its county seat, Amarillo, which had gotten too "big for its britches," had to spread out over into Randall county.

Parmer county was named for Martin Parmer, another man who was willing to risk his life for the new Republic he helped to create. Parmer county is in the heart of the old cattle country. It lay in the KIT Ranch which Texas conveyed to a Chicago group of capitalists for building the Capitol of Texas in Austin. Its wealth at that time consisted of long-horn cattle, short-horn antelopes, coyotes, and prairie dogs. It is now a rich agricultural county. It lies on the high plains jamb up against the New Mexico line and is bisected by the Santa Fe Railway which crosses the county diagonally from northeast to southwest on its way from Amarillo to Farwell, where it passes over the state line, headed for Clovis and points further west. The county seat of Parmer county is Bovina, the euphonious Spanish word which merely means Bull. Another trading point in the county is Friona, a euphonious name with a frigid atmosphere. Friona means

"cold," and we are guessing that a bunch of Bovina long-horns froze to death when they wandered off over to Friona. Any way, it is all in Farmer county, named for an early Texan who was willing to stick his name to that Texas Declaration.

At this time I am going to give you data on just one other county in the Panhandle. Nearly every county in the Panhandle was named for some early Texas hero, and I hope to give you some time soon the origin of the names of other counties in that area, but not now; just Roberts county now.

Roberts is a name famous in Texas history. John S. Roberts is another one of the heroic signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence. O. M. Roberts was governor of Texas from January, 1879, to January, 1883. Roberts county was named in honor of both of them, according to the Texas almanac. The Governor is known in Texas history as the "pay-as-you-go" governor, and it was during his administration that the University of Texas and the Prairie View State Normal College for Negroes at Hempstead were started. He was an able and popular man and advocated strict economy in the administration of public affairs. But Roberts county named for him and for John S. Roberts, a hero of Washington on the Brazos is situated far up in the Panhandle northeast of Amarillo. The famed Canadian River runs straight across the north portion of the county, except for many wiggles in its course. Miami, county seat of Roberts county, is situated on the banks of Red Deer creek, a tributary of the Canadian. Miami is the town where Bob Haynes lives and publishes the Miami Chief. For several years, more than thirty years ago, Bob Haynes, assisted by his wife, was owner and publisher of the Lynn County News, the present owners buying the paper from him. Roberts county is a rather broken county, and Red Deer Creek runs on down into Hemphill county and empties into the Canadian River just below the town of Canadian. Far up the Canadian River west from the town of Canadian, probably sixty miles, is the village of Sanford—near Borger, it is—where eleven Panhandle and Plains counties, including Lynn and Lubbock counties, have been planning the construction of a great dam across the Canadian River, to impound water for domestic use in these eleven counties.

To me, it is very interesting, when the weather is neither too hot nor too cold, to visit historic towns and counties, streams and mountains and wooded hills; and I hope to keep doing a little of it as long as I live.

That calls for another little story of much interest to me. They had a great "home-coming" celebration two Sundays ago down in Stampede Valley in Bell county where all my brothers and sisters were raised—and there were ten of us. Not only was it a social occasion but religious programs were planned and carried out in both the morning and the afternoon. Many of my relatives were there. I had a letter a few days ago from my oldest living sister, who resides in Waco, and who attended the "home-coming" event, 30 miles away. She wrote me that she had heard of a number of inquiries about me, "Who'd-a-thought it?"—that was the nick-name given the first school house ever built in the community; and one lady at the home-coming asked my sister if I were there, and when she was told that I wasn't there, she lamented and said "Oh, I did hope I would get to see him today! I used to go to school to him and he was one of the best teachers I ever had." I am sure that she meant just what she said, but I think I must have just had her fooled.

The Moody Courier of August 26, published a column-long story of the event, in which it was stated that roll call was answered by the 255 or more who had registered from at least 36 cities and towns from over the state. Seven former teachers in the Stampede school were present, and one of them, Miss Nannie Goode of Temple, who was a teacher in the Stampede school over a long period of time and had been a beloved leader in church and community affairs longer than any one else present, received a long and enthusiastic ovation. Nannie and I are distant cousins, of almost exactly the same age and she and I attended school there at the same time. I taught there during three different school terms and she taught later through many school terms. I guess I have known nearly every one of the former residents who attended the home-coming. The Minister who brought the "timely and inspiring message" of the day, Rev. Edgar Goad, was reared in the Stampede community. He now lives in Waco.

The old Stampede school house has been torn down and moved away. All the children of that community are now transported to the Moody schools in buses. The Baptist Church there has dwindled down to just a few members, and other church organizations have become non-existent, but it was such a strong, active, and progressive community for so long that former residents of the community now living in other parts of the state seem to just jump at the chance to go back home once a year to meet and mingle with boyhood and girlhood friends. If the Lord permits me to live, I think I shall go back next year and maybe take some one with me.

race which nearly any team in the district could win.

Spur Powerful

Spur Bulldogs, with 13 lettermen back, should be the team to beat, as among these are eight last year's starters. They have experience, speed, power and a good passing attack.

However, Floydada has 75 boys out for its team in spite of losing heavily by graduation, and the seven returning lettermen include two or three top boys of the area.

Abernathy has only six regulars. These include full-back Roy Sons, Quarterback Fred Apperson, and other top boys. Mad over losing the title last year, the Antelopees are hoping to tear up the conference this year.

Post Antelopees, never to be discounted as Tahoka learned last year, has nine returning lettermen, including quarterback Tommy Murray, who now weighs 178, and a host of experienced boys.

Slaton could be the weakest team, but the Tigers have nine lettermen back and may catch fire to surprise the rest of the district.

Experts Make Picks

Some of the daily press "type-writer sports experts" are picking Floydada, Spur, or Abernathy, but they have usually been wrong in regards to District 5-AA. The Tahoka Bulldogs say they will play the game on the field, and could make "monkeys" out of the "experts" again this year as they have three times recently by taking the championship in 1951, 1952, and 1954, in addition to two titles won in 1942 and 1947.

Coach Haralson has 11 lettermen back, but some of them saw not too much action and are pretty light. In fact, only five regulars are back. He will be handicapped by lack of capable reserves, unless some of the boys develop.

Congratulations:

Some Top Boys Back

Backfield returnees include Gordon Smith, one of the better quarterbacks of the area; Donald Blair, a line-smasher who appeared to find himself toward the end of the season; Jerry Williams, another driving back; and Ted Pridmore, who plays the other half-back spot. Also due to see action are Jimmy Harter and Karl Prohl, both small but willing.

Returning linemen include Carlton Bell and L. W. Castleberry, ends; Bobby Paris and Larry Simons, both 200-pounders, tackles; Ware High and Ronnie Brooks, tenacious little guards; and Stanley Stone, a capable center. Leon Davis, another 200-pound tackle, is expected to get going this year.

Several of these boys, Smith, Williams, and Paris, especially, received injuries last year that kept them from being in top form toward the end of the season.

B-Team Games

The coaches expect to arrange six or eight games for the reserves so that all boys will get a chance to play. Games have already been scheduled with New Home there on Thursday night, Sept. 29, and Rails here on Thursday night, October 27. New Home is playing 11-man football this year for the first time.

There will be a foreign missionary from Colorado, and other missionaries will be in our church that week. THE NEWS

Negro Youth . . .

ple here believe desegregation is bad business both for the Negroes and for the whites, it's getting a little late now to try to fight it.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his wife started the fight more than twenty years ago. President Harry Truman stepped up the battle for desegregation, and now it has come to pass during the administration of President Dwight Eisenhower. Both major parties favored desegregation in the last election campaign. Only a handful of citizens got excited 20 years ago when President and Mrs. Roosevelt were advocating desegregation and "equality" for Negroes.

A number of Tahoka Negroes do not wish to have their children attend white schools, at least not at the present time. The News is reliably informed.

One Negro told The News he believed desegregation to be bad for the Negroes, that they had a better chance in their own circle, although he did believe the Negro children deserved better schools.

Most white citizens of the town think the same thing. But, good or bad, the Supreme Court has ruled otherwise, and against the wishes of possibly a majority of the people, at least in the South.
