LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Weth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Attempts have been made on the life of ELISE MARRBERRY, an American girl owning considerable property near the little town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil. She has escaped harm due to the shrewdness of her cousin and protector, VILAK, who with his friends, LINCOLN NUNNALLY, an elderly American chemist, is trying to learn the reason for the strange animosity of Elise.

Elise, near Porto Verde is one of the most beautiful girls in the world. VILAK, Elise's cousin, is a handsome, noble, and brave man. He reports Prentiss has been with the baby. The trail leads into the jungle. Nunnally overtakes the expedition. VILAK organizes in the pursuit. The trackers are injured or killed. Treachery breaks out. The white friends are fever victims and are left with a friendly foe.

Elise, VILAK and Nunnally finally emerge from the jungle. Presumably they come to the outskirts of a strange city, resembling the Inca civilization. Here they are made prisoners. They discover they are in the power of CARLOS D'ALBERTARA, whom they had known as an engineer in Porto Verde. The black ruler of the city dares to marry Elise and to put VILAK and Nunnally to death. They are to be tortured at the feast of Raymi. The feast arrives. VILAK is compelled to witness the torture of other victims. He has succeeded in cutting half way through his bonds when a friendly Indian slips him a dagger.

CHAPTER XLIV
The Indian thrust a copper dagger into VILAK's hand. "Take," he whispered. "White man good Mabin. Keep Mabin from die. Mabin white man's slave. Try see Mabin man before. Many times—Mabin outside window. But always Mabin come. Mabin have to run away. White man take dagger. Sharp. Kill. Kill all peoples hurt white man. Sol come again now. Mabin go. Mabin crawled off into the red silhouette of the night. VILAK quickly completed the cut in his bonds. VILAK this chap could have gotten out a week ago," he grunted. "Doesn't help us much now. Would have been through in a few minutes anyway." His body was now free. But he tried an attempt to disengage the copper dagger from his limbs. He moved his arms slightly to free the dagger in Nunnally's hands. "Cut yourself loose," VILAK said. "Lie just as you are. I won't be moving for a while. I'll see something of a plan. Not a dangerous plan or a sure one by any means. Quite doubtful, really. I'm racking my brain all day, but I can't get it to function. I'll see the plan's all right. I'll see you into the temple to receive the first rays of the sun alone. He'll be every day of the festival. This way we'll try to be there with the old man severed the fetters of his wrist. Fortunately he had returned the dagger to his hand. VILAK pushed his hand away. "I've got a better weapon," began twisting one of the two rings on his finger. The ring of the conventional pattern, the top screwed off. A large stone was exposed, half human, half bird, like the grotesque mask with three minute claws protruding. The claws glistened with the fire. VILAK put the ring in this new mounting and wearing it in the most conspicuous place I could; on my finger. He looked everywhere for it. Fifteen minutes passed; half an hour. VILAK made no move. The child on the stone a few feet away began to cry lustily. His lamentations subsided to a whimper, then died away. A troop of yellow spotted monkeys flung itself over the crackling fire, and whistled off as if in sudden flight. Two black beetles began crawling over Nunnally's body. With a scarcely perceptible movement of his hand he brushed them away. "Isn't it a good—time to escape now?" he asked. His eyes constantly on the sentinel, he slowly peered to and from some twenty yards away. "The place is almost—deserted." "Just the time got to escape. We'd be missed in a few minutes and caught. We'll wait until the court yard fills with people again and their interest is concentrated on something else. Then whatever we do won't be noticed. That's an axiom." The moths fluttered back to their places; one by one they dropped into the flames. A few floated gracefully away. The crowd commenced to drift slowly into the court once more and Batalagos reappeared in the pavilion. There was another dance. Then D'Albertara, beside the chief, clasped his hands. As they had done the day before, the multitude fell to the ground and lay there groveling, their eyes fixed on the east. Batalagos began walking toward the temple. "Now's our chance," VILAK whispered. He crawled noiselessly to the ground, slipped out from the shadows along the outer edges of the court yard, from the fire and the altar where the prostitute wailer of savages was concentrated. The old man followed. They reached the ruined stone gallery finding the court on all sides almost being deserted, then began walking along its broken pillars toward the temple. The chief slowly climbed the steps in the center; they followed quickly, at one of the sides the gallery protected them from the eyes of the worshippers. They entered. They followed, there in a long unroofed hall.

NEW TUNNEL ON CAPROCK NEAR DONE, REPORT

LAYING OF RAILS ON DENVER LINE WILL START THIS WEEK

PLAINVIEW, July 27.—The tunnel at the caprock on the new line of the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains Railroad Company from Estelina to the Plains has been completed according to the contractors, Peterson, Shirley, and Gunther, with the exception of the finishing touches and the construction of the entrance portals.

This is the second tunnel in the State of Texas, and was found to be the economical method of approach on to the Plains from the broken country around Quitaque and Estelina. Heavy timbers have been placed throughout the tunnel and it is now ready for the rails to be laid. The construction of the tunnel and the building of the line at the caprock has attracted thousands of visitors from all the Plains cities, Plainview, Lubbock, Lovelock, Floydada, Petersburg, and Silverton.

Soon Begin On Rails
The laying of rails on the new line of road out of Estelina was scheduled to begin this week according to Frank E. Clarity, General Manager of the Denver at Fort Worth and Estelina line. The construction of the road is being concentrated at Estelina.

The grade above the caprock is progressing rapidly with only a few places where right-of-way has not been obtained holding up construction work. Through the city of Lockney there yet remains a mile that has not been graded, but the line is graded from that point to Lubbock, or as far as the canyon north of Lubbock a mile.

The Dimmitt line from Plainview now has three grading crews at work and work is going on all along the line.

Condemnation Suits
Condemnation suits at Plainview against several owners are expected to clear the entire right-of-way through Plainview. Through the city of Lockney there yet remains a mile that has not been graded, but the line is graded from that point to Lubbock, or as far as the canyon north of Lubbock a mile.

Another tunnel is to be built below the caprock, about one mile south of the first tunnel, but it will not be as long as the first. The tunnel is thought to be more economical than a deep cut.

Train service on the entire line is expected to be inaugurated by June first of next year according to Frank E. Clarity at Fort Worth, the General Manager of the Denver, who was in Plainview recently on a tour of inspection of the entire project.

AMENDMENTS

present system, the commission says as a reviewing body, with final opinions in the hands of the three members on the bench.

He leads for preservation of the court system in the best form possible, saying that on this depends the ultimate success of all walks of life in the state, and offered the amendment as proposed as the best available means to accomplish this end.

Taxation Changes
The tax amendment, which subject immediately strikes home to all property owners, he considers one of the most important of the four, and says that in short he proposes will lift the burden of state taxes from the home owner and place it on the larger corporations in the state.

The proposal would empower the Legislature to segregate items of taxation, distinguishing between state and local tax means, but leaving all counties free to assess the amount of taxation necessary. Under the proposal, the Legislature could not set out and add valorem tax for state purposes, this ad valorem tax being left entirely with the separate counties.

The state would derive its tax from sources other than ad valorem, mainly through a tax on franchisees of such organizations as railroads, gas companies, and other large corporations operating in the state.

Salary Proposal
The salary amendment, he said, is of secondary importance, but is deserving of much attention. "It is admitted that the Government salary should be increased, and the legislature should either be operated on a purely public spirited basis, or a sufficient salary stipulated to permit really worthy citizens to spend their time in the legislature in an effort to better the laws of the state."

Senator Blodson has just returned from a business trip that took him over the greater part of Texas, and says that sentiment generally is opposed to all the amendments "purely from the fact that the people do not know the why and wherefore of the proposals." He fears a crushing defeat of all four proposals.

FORD RETURNS

Deputy Sheriff Vernice L. Ford returned last night from a visit to his old home at Greenville. He has been absent from Lubbock for about two weeks and in addition to visiting Greenville he also stopped at several other Texas points.

Before And After—Here is The Lena Wilson Of Back Woods Days And The Mrs. 'Bud' Stillman, Of The '400'

There are the Before and After pictures of "Little Lena Wilson," one of the north woods, who became Mrs. James A. Stillman, Jr., yesterday, and one of America's richest young matrons. At the left you see Lena of the bush, in the simple inexpensive little Jersey dress she wore there.

At the right you see Lena in her wedding gown which she wore for photographs just before she left New York, where she has been spending the winter with the Stillmans, for the Stillman summer home at Grand Anse, Que., where she was married. The dress is pearl-embroidered white net over ivory satin. It is sleeveless, knee-length and very girlish. Added girlishness is given by the train of tulle rather than satin and the wedding veil of net edged in duchess lace. The train is piped in silver, and slender streamers of silver ribbon fall from the shoulders of the frock and blend with the tulle train.

Lot Sale Held At New Plains Town

FLOYDADA, Floyd Co., July 27.—"South Plains" Floyd County's newest town was started with a boom Friday when an auction of lots was attended by hundreds of interested business and prospective industrial men looking for locations or different projects. Business lots were sold from $125 to $475 and residence lots brought from $52.50 to $125.

South Plains is located seventeen miles northwest of Floydada on the Ft. Worth & Denver railroad that is being built into the South Plains. The town already has a splendid brick office building and the foundation is being laid for several more. Prospects for the piping of natural gas are considered good.

The sale of the lots closed Saturday.

STILLMANS

fronting the Stillman home had been assembled several hundred guests, including the country people from miles around.

First in the wedding procession came Father Ephraim Lamp, who had known both bride and groom since childhood. He was accompanied by Fathers Normand and Veslitz, all of them in their church robes.

Highland Band Plays
The Fifth regiment Royal Highlanders, based of 39 weeks from Montreal looked into the strains of "Lohengrin" as Mrs. Stillman and Mrs. John Wilson, mother of the bride, walked down a line of ribbons. James A. Stillman, Sr., the bridegroom's father, followed and the bride appeared sweetly charming in a gown of white chiffon. She wore a pearl and crystal ornament in her hair, and as her only jewelry, wore a platinum chain, the gift of the bridegroom.

The marriage ceremony was that of the Roman Catholic church. Prayers in English were intoned by Father Normand.

Following the ceremony the guests formed a long line to shake hands with the bridegroom and many to kiss the bride.

Regret Is Expressed
After the ceremony had departed, Mrs. Stillman expressed regret over the episode. "I did not like to be rough," she said, "but I had to do it as necessary."

Dancing on a specially erected pavilion to the music of the killick band and to violins and mandolins concluded the festivities. The old square dance in which the stillman men and women mingled with the society people from New York and other cities were the most popular.

For winning a whist tournament in Harrow, Ont., Miss Nancy Meek will receive a complete bridal outfit if she marries within a year.

Thousands of pounds of nitric acid are recovered from phosphate waste in California each year.

BIG DECREASE IN WHEAT CROP SEEN IN TEXAS

HARVEST NEAR END AS POOR SHOW MADE IN TEXAS, OKLAHOMA

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Texas, July 27.—Wheat harvesting in Texas and Oklahoma was practically completed by July 15, with the yield in Oklahoma falling short. R. C. Andrews, district manager of the American Railway association, here announced today in his report of grain conditions in the southwest territory of the first half of July.

A decided decline in wheat received and exported at Galveston in Houston in comparison with the same period in 1926 was noted in the report.

Plowing Follows
"Harvesting operations have been practically concluded in Texas and Oklahoma and are being followed closely with plowing in preparation for fall seeding," Mr. Andrews reported. "The poor outturn this year in those sections of Texas and Oklahoma where moisture was great, a deficit will have no discouraging effect on fall planting and if anything there will be greater acreage and more careful soil planting operations than last year."

"Yields in Oklahoma have caused still further disappointment and the total production for the state is not expected to exceed 25 million bushels. The Texas yield will be less than 15 million bushels, as forecast. The total Mexico production, as a result of drought conditions, is estimated at 150,000 bushels, compared to five million bushels last year. The government's latest estimate gives Kansas yield 123,338,000 bushels, Nebraska, 21,700,000 bushels, and Oklahoma, 19,600,000 bushels. The total United States winter wheat crop is estimated at 579,416,000 bushels, as compared with 625,929,000 bushels last year."

Increase Is Seen
An increase of about 65,000,000 bushels is estimated for the spring crop, according to the report, and 29 foreign countries of the northern hemisphere report a slight decrease in acreage.

"Exports during the first half of July through Gulf ports did not come up to expectations but a great volume is expected during the last half," the report said.

"Farmers and dealers continue to refuse foreign bids at prices offered, although these have been at substantial premiums over market quotations. Bids are plentiful and ocean rates are at extremely low levels."

"The corn crop in Texas pointing to a production closely approximating that of last year, Oklahoma about 20 per cent less, Arkansas 20 per cent less, Louisiana 15 per cent less and the total United States production 45 per cent less than a year ago."

"The United States oat production is estimated to be about seven per cent less than the production of 1926."

Germany Building 100-Passenger Ship

NEW YORK, July 27. (AP)—A giant all-metal air liner, designed for trans-Atlantic service, with accommodations for 100 passengers, is under construction at Friedrichshafen, Germany, by the Dornier Metallbau company. It was announced today by Frederick Verbeke, American representative of the company.

The flying boat, its 12 motors developing 7,000 horse power, will weigh 50 tons when fully loaded. The construction cost will be about $20,000,000. The plane is to be of regular marine construction, with air-tight bulkheads, port holes and other recognizable features of a ship.

PROPOSE DIVORCE TAX

PARIS—France has discovered that it has been overlooking an important source of revenue in the large numbers of divorces granted foreigners who come here to secure them. Paris lawyers have proposed the institution of a heavy tax upon divorces which not only will decrease the national coffers, but will decrease the high rate of separations.

MATADOR AND EXPLORATION SIGN BIG LEASE CONTRACT

The Exploration Oil company has closed a deal with the Matador Land and Cattle company for a lease on 349,972 acres in Cottle, Motley, Floyd, Hale and Swisher counties, which calls for ten wells. The contractor depth of these wells is 2,000 feet. Two of these wells are now drilling, four more to be drilled by October 1st, and the remaining four to begin by January 1, 1928.

Prison Workers Become Hardened Chaplain Avers

(By Associated Press)
HUNTSVILLE, Texas, July 27.—Even in the service of humanity as an agent of mercy a man will become hard against the whole world as he works behind prison walls, the Rev. C. B. Garrett, who recently was chaplain of the Texas State Penitentiary July 15, said here today.

The minister said he disliked to see men die in the electric chair and that he could not undergo that work because his sympathies for the men were too great.

Back To Pastorate

However, Rev. Mr. Garrett said, his main reason for quitting as chaplain was because he wanted to go back to the pastorate in Lovelock, Texas.

"I have known many of the prisoners on the outside, as true friends, and I can't help but still have a warm spot in my heart for them. The work in the penitentiary is grinding. All in the world the prisoners want to talk about is getting a pardon. They are interested in nothing else."

"I cannot blame former Governor Ma Ferguson for pardoning so freely, if she has only meted clem-

1,000 Pickers Are Asked For At Runge

AUSTIN, July 27. (AP)—Cotton fields near Runge are in need of at least 1,000 cotton pickers. E. D. Farnell, secretary of the chamber of commerce, there said in a communication to the local organization today.

Farmers there pay $1.00 per 100 pounds, with wood, water, and a house furnished, he said.

DRAGON FLIES, MAYBE

NEW YORK.—A South American whose name space does not permit printing in full but the first of which is Dr. Ricardo Ferys Grounteva called for Africa recently from New York taking him a box of South American dragon flies with which he hopes to exterminate the pest, a deadly scourge of the tropics. When one is informed of these winged insects, for whose name has yet been found, jaguars in the Amazon jungles, tigers suicide in the river to escape attacks, a good idea of what is to be done for the insect is established.

CHAMP CLAM DINNER

MEDMOR, Ore.—Miss M. McCarty, who went out to the "clams," probably never appeared in the record of Lubbock. The store for the insect fly is established in Medmor, Ore. The "clams" are a variety of clam, and are extremely difficult in the tropical forests where they live.

RELIEF FOR FISH

WASHINGTON.—Lowering of the flooded Mississippi river left millions of fish marooned in shallow pools, and the U. S. Dept. of Fisheries is planning to rescue them. Thousands of men will work through the river and restore the fish to their natural habitat.

RATE CHANGE IS GIVEN OKEH

READJUSTMENT TO BE MADE ON COTTON TO EASTERN TRUNKS

QUEEN MARIE

(Continued From Page 1) ally give me their sisterly love and consolation. I am only a widow now. My throne is gone. I need the support of my dear American friends to bear the slings and arrows which even in death are directed against me by the outside world."

With a huge crucifix resting on the wall just above her head, and with her face enveloped in deep black veil relieved by a mantle of pure white, which gave her features a far greater beauty and spirituality than any jeweled crown, Marie resembled a Mother Superior in a convent more than a queen.

Reports Are Denied "My critics and adversaries say I am an ambitious woman, that I wanted the regency, that I wanted to be a modern Cleopatra, that I wished to be queen," she went on. "This is cruelly false. I wish only to be allowed to carry on the king's work for the good of all Rumania."

Big Celebration

Hunts Good Time

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Constance Talmadge is on the way to Europe for a good time. "If I find time enough," she remarked, "I may get a divorce too."

Flying Workman

GARDEN CITY, N. Y.—Lieutenant Alford Williams, U. S. N., commutes to Washington by plane. Daily he flies for his duties in the bureau of naval aeronautics. Then he hops to look after a new speedster seaplane being built for him and to rejoice his family.

Lindy No Autoist

OLD ORCHARD, Maine.—Lindy can do wonders with a plane, but a certain automobile is something else again. It had been going all right till he hopped into the front seat for a trip to Portland, and then it just would not start. He had to shift to another.

Living Is Higher

NEW YORK.—Cost of living in Germany is now 43 percent greater than at the beginning of the war, in France 400 percent greater, the national industrial conference board finds.

How many merchants do this same thing?

A NEWSPAPER man in Central New York was discussing advertising appropriations with a merchant friend of his.

The monthly advertising appropriation, it appears, had been overdrawn. Examination of the various items disclosed some very strange expenditures.

When pressed for an explanation, the merchant had to admit that he had "bit" on every "fly-by-night" advertising stunt presented to him whether or not it had merit.

He had taken space in three obscure programs, he had bought two gross lead pencils with his name on them, he had contracted for signs on several chicken coops and had purchased several gross of palmleaf fans to give away next summer.

This merchant was a shrewd and skilled buyer—of merchandise. But to him anything CALLED advertising WAS advertising. He never analyzed such purchases at all.

Now he has "tumbled to himself." He has cut out the waste and foolishness.

He concentrates his appropriation in the standard, recognized, tried-and-proved medium—the daily newspaper.
