Relatives At Airport Are Stunned

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Marine William Robinson shuffled stiffly down the long hall leading out of Norfolk's Municipal Airport. He reached a corner, stopped and turned to his friend, Marine Kenneth Lyons. "My God, 'Zip,'" Robinson sobbed. He buried his face in his hands. His wife and 6-month-old daughter were among the 46 passengers and four crew members who died in the flaming crash of a Norfolk-bound Capital Airlines Viscount near Holdcroft Monday night.

Robinson and Lyons were among a dozen relatives and friends who waited fearfully for news of the overdue plane. The airliner was to touch down here at 10:30 p.m. It fell and burst into flames near the Chickahominy River in Charles City County, 30 miles southeast of Richmond just before 11:00 p.m. It was 1 a.m. before Capital officials began breaking the news nervously, gently.

Some wept. Others took it in shocked silence. By 1:30 the ordeal was over for James Riddell, customer service manager for Capital, and other Capital officials.

But for those who waited tragedy was only beginning. Stratford Moss seemed to keep himself under control. His wife was on the plane. Mrs. D. A. Hunter learned at 1:15 a.m. that her mother-in-law, Ida Hunter, was among the dead. She broke into tears. Dr. T. C. Roper, called to the airport by Capital officials, went to her side. Relatives and friends waited nervously in a partitioned room. Some smoked, some drank coffee. Relatives and friends were taken to a second-story dining room. Separately, they were told of the tragedy.

The East Texans were due in Dallas late in the day. They are not under arrest, but will be brought here by Ranger R. M. Arnold of Tyler for questioning. Sheriff L. W. Walker of Marion County (Jefferson), who brought two of the men to Dallas Sunday for lie detector tests, returned the men to East Texas Sunday night and went to the cemetery north of Lodi.

Walker said the men identified it as the cemetery the bones came from, but that they were unable to point out the spot. They said it was an unmarked grave. "I have talked to many old-time Negro settlers around that part of the state, and nobody knows anything about any white person ever being buried there," Walker said.

Sheriff Jim Wells of Cass County, in which the cemetery is located, also took the men to the site late Monday. He will continue whatever investigation is made in East Texas, Walker said.

Plane Falls Into Ravine

By MARSHALL JOHNSON, Associated Press Staff Writer
HOLDCROFT, Va. (AP) — A Norfolk-bound airliner groped its way through dense fog, then plunged into a swampy ravine near here late Monday night. Fifty persons died in the flaming wreckage.

The crash of the Capital Airlines prop-jet Viscount was the nation's worst air disaster in nearly a year and the worst in Virginia history. It wasn't until nearly 8 a.m.—more than nine hours after the big four-engine plane dropped nearly straight down into the misty ground—that rescue workers could enter the cooling wreckage in search of the 46 passengers and 4 crew members.

The first body was brought out at 7:50 a.m. and by 9:15 a.m. searchers, crawling through the tangle on hands and knees, had emerged with six stretchers. Have you ever seen an old shed that's been set on fire and fallen down with the tin roof on top of it? asked John Finnegan Jr., a Richmond fire battalion chief who drove the 30 miles to offer assistance. That's what it looked like.

"I would say absolutely there was no chance for anyone to get out of it."

Among the victims were Mrs. Eugene Gilbert, 25, of New York City, a partner with her husband in youth research work; Albert W. Rueff, 52, and Charles A. Truh Jr., 42, Ford Motor Co. executives at Louisville, Ky.; and the wife and stepson of a pilot for another airline, Mary Blanche O'Connell and Troy Woodard Durham, 10.

The plane, Capital Flight 30, was en route from Chicago to Norfolk via Washington. It left Washington at 9:45 p.m. and the pilot, Capt. James B. Forness, 50, a veteran of almost 20 years of airline flying, made a routine radio check with the Norfolk tower while over Tappahannock. He was due at Norfolk at 10:30 p.m. Then at 10:30 p.m. Farming Robert H. Trench heard the plane circling over his home, 50 miles northwest of Norfolk.

It made one pass overhead, too low, Trench thought, but "not so severe." Then a minute or so later—long enough to read a few sentences in my book," it came over again. This time the house shook.

The third time he came, the motors were wide open. Then he hit. The noise just stopped. When I heard the engines stop, then I figured he'd gone into the river.

The yard was filled with black smoke, Trench said. From an upstairs window he could see "just a little glow" in the chick woods about 300 yards behind his home. It took him 10 minutes by car to reach the scene.

"Not a living human being around," he said. The cause of the crash, second major air disaster in Virginia within three months, remained unknown. Officials of Capital, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the FBI and other agencies made on-the-spot studies, then moved to Richmond to open official investigations.

A heavy fog blanketed most of central and eastern Virginia Monday afternoon and night. But the airport at Norfolk was open. A speculation of tornado-like winds around the crash scene was discounted by the Weather Bureau at Richmond. A spokesman said the radar did not show anything like a tornado in the area.

Wind at flight level was reported at 35 m.p.h. at Norfolk and 40 m.p.h. at Washington. All but five of the passengers had boarded the plane at Washington for the short hop to Norfolk. These five had switched planes to continue the trip.

First information listed only 44 passengers, but the airline later reported that two infants—who did not show on the manifest—also were aboard.

Mercury Falls To 17; Cold Covers State

Biting cold enveloped the Snyder area along with other parts of west Texas this morning.

The official low reading here was 17 degrees, and the mercury was still clinging to that mark at 7:30 a.m., according to David Treshorn, official weather observer. The high here Monday was a chilly 37 degrees.

Still, this area was considerably warmer than points on the High Plains and in the Panhandle, as freezing temperatures extended as far south as Houston and San Antonio.

The state was described as one big refrigerator. And the coldest spot—actual—was Dalhart where the mercury plunged to 9 degrees below zero before dawn. Amarillo had 2 below zero. Snow up to seven inches in depth that fell over the weekend. All covered most of the Panhandle area.

The freeze line early Tuesday ran from Beaumont through Houston south to Austin and San Antonio and westward to Odessa. The warmest spot was Brownsville with a 45—the only point reporting a temperature in the 40s.

Despite bright sunshine Monday afternoon the temperature never got above 18 degrees at Amarillo and Dalhart. That was below the maximum readings of 29 degrees at Anchorage and Fairbanks, Alaska, and the 22 degrees at Montreal, Canada.

Clear skies continued to prevail over the Panhandle, South Plains and East Texas early Tuesday but the cloudy weather that had already engulfed the southwest and central portions was expected to spread over the state Tuesday and Tuesday night.

One elderly woman froze to death at Amarillo after becoming lost in a snowstorm. Five members of a family were suffocated near Brownfield when a gas heater consumed all the oxygen in their home and an El Paso man died in a South Texas crash on a rain-slicked highway.

Other pre-dawn readings Tuesday included Lubbock 14 degrees, Childress 15, Wichita Falls 20, Mineral Wells Abilene and Marfa 22, Wink, San Angelo and Fort Worth 24, Dallas 26, Lufkin, Junction, Tyler and Longview 27, Waco and El Paso 28, College Station 29, Austin 30, Beaumont and San Antonio 31, and Houston and Odessa 32.

In the Lubbock District, the department said all roads are open and traffic is moving normally but reported ice in some parts of Castro County.

Quiz Three Men In Grave Robbery

DALLAS (AP) — Three East Texas men were being brought here for questioning today in a grave-robbing case that may be linked to the disappearance of a Texarkana girl 12 years ago.

Miss Virginia Carpenter, 21, a pretty brunette, disappeared June 1, 1948, from the campus of Texas Woman's University at Denton, where she was a student. No trace of her was ever found.

A set of bones, found on a farm by new occupants north of Jefferson, Tex., several months ago, has been under study by state police, laboratory experts at Austin. Where they came from, and why, has resulted in questioning of three East Texas men.

Two of the men, a 22-year-old man and his father, were given lie detector tests here Sunday. They said they dug up the skeleton in a Negro cemetery north of Lodi, Tex., late in 1955, and only because the younger man then needed bones to study in a biology course.

Information on approaching cars and pedestrians was fed into the light system by a series of pickups placed in the sidewalk and streets at distances from 150 to 300 feet.

Walker said the men identified it as the cemetery the bones came from, but that they were unable to point out the spot. They said it was an unmarked grave. "I have talked to many old-time Negro settlers around that part of the state, and nobody knows anything about any white person ever being buried there," Walker said.

Sheriff Jim Wells of Cass County, in which the cemetery is located, also took the men to the site late Monday. He will continue whatever investigation is made in East Texas, Walker said.

New Treaty Signed; Japan's Status Is Now Equal To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world 100 years ago. The new defense treaty is similar in many ways to pacts America has signed with 41 other free world allies.

America recognizes that an armed attack on Japan "would be dangerous to its own peace and safety" and promises to "act to meet the common danger" to world allies.

Japan cannot pledge reciprocal defense of its own territory, in case of attack because her U.S.-sponsored constitutional provision renouncing war is interpreted as barring her from sending troops outside Japan.

But Japan grants use of land, air and naval bases in Japan by U.S. forces without time limit. The two countries agree to consult "whenever the security of Japan or international peace and security in the Far East is threatened." They also promise to settle any disputes between them by peaceful means.

The treaty will last at least 10 years. After that either nation must give a year's notice before canceling.

The new permanent treaty, accompanied by eight side agreements dealing with specific matters, replaces a temporary 1951 treaty which was negotiated while Japan was still disarmed and under U.S. occupation.

Washington in turn is pleased with what it sees as the free choice by Japan—the industrialized leader of Asia, to cast its lot permanently with the West instead of taking a neutral or pro-Communist course.

McLaughlin said the board had contacted several major and minor manufacturing companies but that at present no moves or expansions were being planned by these firms.

"All we can do is provide a sympathetic and encouraging atmosphere with these companies so that when such movements are forthcoming, they will think favorably of Snyder," McLaughlin said. He went on to explain that the best selling point Snyder has is its strategic location within distributive district of Abilene, Lubbock, Big Spring, San Angelo, Midland and Odessa.

While none of these cities is large enough to support a major manufacturing concern, Snyder being located in the center would be an ideal location," McLaughlin added.

The Foundation has as its primary goal, contacting, urging and aiding new businesses to settle in Snyder. So far only the Work Clothing Rental has located here, but McLaughlin announced that if the business was a huge success, the Dickie Manufacturers might build a clothing factory here to feed it.

America Excels, Congress Is Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has told Congress the United States is militarily ahead of the Soviet Union and far exceeds the Russians in ability to deliver nuclear weapons on an enemy target.

This cozy defense picture was given last week to the House Appropriations Committee by Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Their two-day testimony was made public today by the committee.

The testimony prompted Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Calif.), chairman of the defense appropriations subcommittee, to remark that "this is the most enthusiastic and free, and reassuring presentation that we have ever had."

While cautioning against complacency, both Gates and Twining criticized what Twining called a "tendency to degrade the capabilities of the American people and the peoples of the free world" and to picture in glowing terms the efforts of the Communist bloc.

In coming summit negotiations, Twining said, "we want to deal from strength. We have terrific strength in the military and in our country."

Twining said he believes the possibility of an all-out nuclear war with the Soviet Union is "very, very slim."

Gates said "there is nothing to justify a belief that the Soviets will make substantive concessions which will reduce our security requirements." On the contrary, he added, the Soviet Union is increasing its military capabilities, particularly in the missile delivery field. "But the impression in some quarters that the Soviet Union has overtaken or even outdistanced the United States in military power is simply not supported by the facts," he declared.

"Manned bombers are still for both ourselves and the U.S.S.R., the primary means of delivering heavy nuclear weapons in the world," he said. "We are well ahead of the U.S.S.R. in air-to-air refueling capabilities, air-to-surface missile development, and other important air warfare techniques."

Talks Are Resumed In Railroad Issue

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's biggest unresolved labor dispute between 164 major railroads and some 400,000 employees came back to the bargaining table today.

Negotiators for the carriers and 11 of the 16 non-operating unions arranged for "day" sessions Thursday.

These talks were a resumption of exploratory discussions begun before the Christmas holidays. Basically, they involve point-by-point discussion of stands by both sides on the bargaining table to day.

'Faith For The Space Age,' Altrurian Club Program

The Altrurian Club met recently at the Martha Ann Club with Mrs. H. P. Brown as guest.

Twenty-six members answered roll call. Mrs. Hugh Taylor presided at the business meeting.

The program was in the form of a symposium directed by Mrs. W. R. Bell who gave a short introductory of the program and presented the program committee.

Mrs. A. C. Alexander gave an informative talk on "Atoms for Peace." She said: "If you are one of the many who are frightened by the great force of the universe which man has harnessed, and pessimistic about his responsibility over it, then take courage. 'Atoms for Peace' are on the march as they have never been before."

"Millions applauded when President Eisenhower in Dec. 1953 pledged this nation to devote its entire heart and mind to find the way by which the miraculous inventiveness of man shall not be dedicated to his death, but consecrated to his life."

"Scientists tell us that never before, has there been such a world wide interest in the rate in which energy is being consumed. The rate is unbelievable. They say that nuclear fuels are the only energy source that seems capable of supplying sufficient quantities of low cost energy by 1975. Nuclear fuels are said to have 25 times the energy that conventional fuels have. It is said that in this area that atomic energy will make its greatest contribution toward our future way of life."

"In medical research, the medical application of radioisotopes are numerous and promising, and available in practically unlimited quantities for medical research and treatment. This technique has been called the greatest tool for medical research since the invention of the microscope. Scientists at the 'Oakridge' National Laboratory have produced, at a cost of a few thousand dollars, a teletherapy source of cesium 137 for cancer research. The cesium source, about the diameter of a 50 cent piece and half as thick, weighing just over an ounce, and is equivalent to twenty-million dollars worth of radium."

"The possible benefits to man are so tremendous that they demand a positive new approach to nuclear programs. In this country alone there is said to be an untapped reservoir of oil, estimated to contain at least 700 billion barrels—locked in shale rock and unobtainable by conventional pumping."

"With nuclear blasts we can free this immense oil and mineral reserves, also greatly increase facilities for water transportation and control underground rivers and conserve water."

"The trend toward sharing of atomic skills is beginning to ignite a chain reaction of cooperation among the scientists of our globe."

The results will be progress toward that goal of mutual understanding and peace which is the purpose of a peaceful world."

Mrs. Fred Graydon's topic was "Not by Might Nor by Power." She reminded us that our hope for peace is not more and bigger bombs, but a way of life that reflects religious faith."

"The institutions of our country are what they are because our founders were deeply religious people and developed practices and ways of life which reflected their belief that there is a God."

"Our constitution says, in unmistakable terms, that man, ever in the guide of government, cannot lawfully deny other men their fundamental rights and freedom. General Washington in his farewell address pointed out the morality and religion are the two pillars of society. Reason and experience, both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail without religious principles."

"Our Declaration of Independence meant, as Lincoln said, 'not alone to the people of this country but hope for the world for all future times.'"

"Our churches, synagogues and other places of worship carry a greater share of vital responsibility and should be strongly supported by all citizens. Our fathers have left us a rich spiritual legacy in these United States. Let us not squander it but leave it replenished so that we can pass on to those who come after us a tradition as noble as was left us. Let us remember that faith in God and faith in our fellow man is vital to our free system."

those who come after us a tradition as noble as was left us. Let us remember that faith in God and faith in our fellow man is vital to our free system."

Mrs. H. P. Brown chose as her topic "Something to Lean On," pointing out the need for a greater strength than our own to lean on.

Mrs. John R. Williams read a poem titled "Atoms, Effect On Society," which was enjoyable.

In closing, Mrs. Bell read the "Uncle Sam's Prayer" by Conard Hilton. Mrs. Mr. Hilton was inspired by a 12-year-old boy to write the prayer, when after one of his talks he received this letter:

"I have read your talk in the Herald Tribune, and I think it was wonderful. Especially that our faith in God is our only hope. You are very right, and I think if everyone would fall down and pray we would have real peace. Sincerely yours, Daniel Paulucci."

"This started Mr. Hilton to thinking and he had a vision of Uncle Sam on his knees, praying. After the prayer was written then came the idea for a pictorial presentation of the prayer. Where was there an artist who could paint Uncle Sam on his knees, praying?"

"When his task was accomplished, Uncle Sam appeared in the pages of 'The Saturday Evening Post' and 'The New York Times' and other magazines. Over 3,000 people had written for 27,000 copies within the first five days."

"Mr. Hilton had the privilege of being host to a gathering at the Mayflower Hotel where an enlarged picture of Uncle Sam on his knees dominated the room, with President Eisenhower, Justices of the Supreme Court, Senators, Congressmen, all with bowed heads to gather in prayer."

Manufacturers of heating equipment make it their business to help customers get efficient performance from heating equipment. For instance, if your radiators are covered with metallic paint the GAMA group suggests repainting with a non-metallic paint for better radiation. They also say it is a good idea to make sure that all steam radiators and the pipes leading to them are level. If they are not, raise the air valve end of the radiator so that water will flow back more readily from the radiator to the boiler.

Egypt Getting Soviet Help On Big Dam

By WILTON WYNN
CAIRO (AP)—Egypt has accepted Soviet help to build the second stage of its billion-dollar Aswan dam. The Kremlin already is helping with the first stage of construction.

The official Middle East News Agency said the second stage—incorporating a second dam—will cost $573,100,000, of which $258,300,000 would be needed in foreign exchange to pay for equipment, material and technical personnel from abroad. Apparently the Soviet Union will supply the goods or the exchange on a long-term loan basis.

The agency hailed the new agreement between the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic as an "admirable victory" for the Arab nation. As a result, it declared, President Abdel Gamal Nasser's cherished project—long a cold war geyser—will be built as one unit with no separation between stages.

The U.S.S.R. already has put up about 100 million dollars in financial aid, machinery and technical assistance to build the dam. Dams and diversion canal necessary before construction can begin on the high dam to harness the Nile.

Nasser launched this first stage Jan. 9, yanking a switch which set off 10 tons of dynamite and shattered a rocky bluff on the east bank of the Nile near Aswan. In southern Egypt, before thousands, Nasser thanked the Soviet Union for financing the first stage after the United States and Britain withdrew an offer of help in 1956.

Cancellation of the U.S. offer—a slap, at Nasser—was widely blamed for triggering the Suez crisis later that year.

On July 17, 1956, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles withdrew the U.S. offer on grounds Nasser had mortgaged Egypt's cotton crops for purchase of Soviet arms and the Aswan deal thus was a poor financial risk. Nine days later Nasser seized the Suez Canal, up to then an international operation, saying he would use canal revenue to build the high dam.

The Soviet-Union quickly moved in and offered to help with the first stage.

A government communique Monday announced that Soviet participation in the second stage of the project would be on the same basis as in the first stage. The U.S.R. is to repay the 100-million-dollar loan for the first stage in 12 equal annual installments, beginning in 1964, at 2½ per cent interest.

Nasser's government apparently wanted to announce the further Soviet participation as quickly as possible to avert speculation that other countries were getting in on the project.

Moussa Arafat, U.A.R. public works minister, said recently Britain, Austria, West Germany, Italy and Japan had offered to help build the second stage.

President Eisenhower announced "last Wednesday" the United States was considering assistance through the World Bank. However, World Bank officials were reportedly unwilling to finance the second stage if they had to accept a Soviet guarantee for the first stage.

Egyptian officials reportedly feel that if the second stage financing problem is settled, other countries may begin to show interest in other development projects in Egypt.

The first stage of construction is expected to take about four years. Construction of the 665-foot-high granite dam itself is expected to take another six years, but this period may be shortened by the new agreement linking the two phases of the project.

The final form of the second-stage agreement was worked out with Ignaty Novikov, Soviet minister for power construction, who headed the Soviet delegation to the Aswan ceremonies Jan. 9.

The high dam will create one of the world's biggest man-made lakes, stretching south beyond the Egyptian-Sudanese border. It is scheduled to produce about 10 billion kilowatt hours of electricity, 10 times more than Egypt now produces, and to expand Egypt's cultivated area by 30 per cent. Sudan at last will get more irrigated land through the saving of Nile waters which now drain into the Mediterranean.

Four Yale Students Are Arrested

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—New Haven police have arrested three Yale students and picked up more in an investigation of dormitory sex parties involving a 14-year-old girl.

The arrests were the first since city police moved into the investigation Friday. Yale officials had learned of the case earlier. Twelve undergraduates resigned as students before the arrests.

Police Chief Francis V. McMahon said about 15 students would be questioned. Asst. City Attorney Gilbert Winnick said a warrant would be issued for "every student we think we have a case against."

Those arrested Monday were charged with lascivious carriage, a charge often used in Connecticut in cases of minor wrongdoing of a sexual nature. Bond was set at $500.

City court appearance on Jan. 27 were scheduled for Stephen Rose, 19, of Highland Park, Ill., a sophomore; Peter Gluck, 20, of Scarsdale, N.Y., a junior; and David B. Rollins, 20, of Scarsdale, a sophomore.

Northeast Hit By Huge Snowstorm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A far-ranging snowstorm that developed over the Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle over the weekend hammered the Northeast today, dumping heavy falls in many areas.

Northerly winds, trailing the storm, powered cold Canadian air southward from the Rockies across broad areas eastward. It was far below zero in sections of the Rockies.

The weather bureau in Boston warned of heavy snow in southern New Hampshire and southern and central Maine, with falls of 4 to 8 inches in most areas and up to 10 inches along the Maine coast. Fairly heavy snow was reported in eastern New York.

Sleet and freezing rain pelted southern New England, making driving hazardous.

A fast moving coastal storm centered near southern Cape Cod during the early morning dumped 2 to 6 inches of snow from Massachusetts northward into southern Vermont and New Hampshire and southwestern Maine.

The snow belt extended from western New York into lower Michigan but westward the snow diminished considerably, with light falls in the upper and middle Mississippi Valley. Snow flurries continued in the Ohio Valley, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia. Light showers sprinkled areas from Connecticut southward through Virginia. Some fog also was reported.

The storm was blamed for at least 18 deaths, including seven in Nebraska; five in Colorado; four in Illinois and one each in Texas and Wisconsin.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The father of Beverly Adland, 12-year-old traveling companion of the late Errol Flynn, has appealed a demand that he pay higher child support.

Herbert S. Adland, 45, the uses one A, an industrial chemist in Long Island City, N.Y., wrote Superior Court Judge Elmer D. Doyle for help and advice "in this mess."

Doyle was the judge who granted Florence Adland a divorce last May. Mrs. Adland, as asked that her $80 monthly alimony be increased to $130 plus $150 child support.

The letter said Beverly has a job in a music-playing on Broadway and has written stories of her two-year romance with Flynn. It said she said Flynn's love letters to a London syndicate for $7,900.

Mrs. Adland's attorney said she probably will drop her request for child support since the girl is training now for a show.

ARE YOU GETTING THE MOST OUT OF YOUR TELEPHONE?

Mary Louise Radzom, busy mother of 3, tells how her phones lighten the load, make life more fun

MRS. MARY LOUISE RADZOM

Are you using the telephone in every way you can . . . to save valuable time and thousands of steps . . . to allow you to do more of the things you want to do?

If not, you might ask yourself, "Why not?" After all, that's what a telephone is for . . . to use.

Mrs. Mary Louise Radzom—one of a group of telephone customers who kept a diary of calls made and received in a week—believes in using her telephones to accomplish many jobs and keep in touch with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Radzom places many of her calls on an extension telephone she received as a birthday present. "One of the nicest gifts I ever received," she says.

Looking over her diary of calls, Mrs. Radzom smiles. "Hard to believe, but it shows I couldn't run the house and keep up with my outside activities, too, without my telephones."

As the record shows, the Radzom family is getting the most from its telephones. Are you?

10:50 a.m. "Called department store to order a coat for my daughter, Pamela, 10, tried on the other day."

Carole's Ex-Playmate Put On Stand

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A child-hood playmate of pretty Carole Tregoff says he introduced her to a "shady character" and—

"She wanted to know his capabilities, from murder or any activity like that."

With this testimony by Donald S. Williams, 21, the prosecution opened its attempt Monday to tie Dr. R. Bernard Finch's red-haired mistress into an alleged plot to kill Finch's estranged wife.

Barbara Jean Finch, 26, was shot to death last July 18 outside their fashionable home in suburban West Covington. The rich, 42-year-old Mrs. Finch, 22, an ex-model and once a receptionist, is accused of murdering her to clear the way for their own marriage without having to give her a share of the Finch estate.

Miss Finch's attorneys lost a spirited fight to prevent testimony—given the county grand jury earlier—about an asserted deal to kill Mrs. Finch for $1,400 offered by Miss Tregoff.

In other developments: Three apartment house managers said Finch and Miss Tregoff shared apartments—two in suburban Monterey Park and one in Las Vegas, Nev.

Actor Mark Stevens was quoted as saying he had offered Mrs. Finch a revolver shortly before her death.

He told the Mirror News: "I was so shocked at what she told me about her husband's attacks that I felt she should have some protection. When she refused to take the gun, I got a jackhandle out of the car and made her take it. I told her to wallop him with Stevens was scheduled to testify Monday but for unexplained reasons did not appear.

Williams, a law student at the University of Nevada's southern branch, said Miss Tregoff came to criminal activities or people in Las Vegas home last May and June, closest thing I knew was a boy meeting in a restaurant with Ken. She was raised in his family's I knew in college who had a chie's friend, John Patrick Cody.

friend who reportedly was connected with the racket in Minneapolis.

Subsequently, Williams said he arranged a meeting at Miss Tregoff's request between her and Richard Allen Keaghe, a fellow philosophy student. That led to a murder which pointed to the fact that he was a pretty rugged individual.

The talk was general, Williams said, but Cody was "given to asserting himself as—shall I say—a shady character this seemed to be his claim to fame."

She asked if he was a murderer or a thief. He made conversation which pointed to the fact that he was a pretty rugged individual.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A homemade bomb, proudly carried to class by Randy Lynn Posler, 13, exploded Monday at Paseo High School, injuring Posler and three other students.

The 13-year-old girl, packed with gunpowder, toy pistol caps and BB shot, exploded when Posler dropped it in a corridor.

Two boys nearby suffered leg wounds and required hospital treatment; Posler and a girl suffered minor leg wounds.

"I packed it too tight," said Posler. "It's a wonder that it didn't kill me! I was standing right over it."

Posler told police he brought the bomb to school to show it to friends. He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

The commander of the Navy's Pacific missile range thinks so. Adm. Jack P. Monroe told a news conference Monday the cooperation as a good idea even though the Russians the Soviets expect to fire into the Pacific have international potential.

Billy Graham On His Way To Africa

NEW YORK (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham is on his way to Africa to preach Christianity.

"God loves the 200 million Africans as much as he loves Americans or Europeans or Asians," said the tall, blonde evangelist from North Carolina.

Graham left here by plane Monday. He will visit 16 major cities in Ghana, Nigeria, Southern and Northern Rhodesia, Tanganyika, Ruanda-Urundi and Ethiopia.

Before leaving here, Graham discussed his hopes for the tour with Tom McMahon, religion editor of the Columbia, S.C. State, who is accompanying him.

In a bylined Associated Press story, as told to McMahon, Graham said in part: "The year 1960 may be the most important period in Africa's history. We believe God directed the launching of this undertaking at the opening of Africa's year of destiny. We hope to be able to make some contribution to Africa's hour of decision."

FPC Will Reconsider

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Nov. 17 order in which it authorized seven natural gas sales by independent producers to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. will be reconsidered by the Power Commission.

The sales authorization was granted without any conditions as to initial prices, although price conditions on some sales has been urged by the New York Public Service Commission and three of the Houston, Tex., firm's customer companies.

The rehearing order said the commission acted at the request of the New York State Commission and the Long Island Lighting Co., Public Service Electric & Gas Co. and the United Gas Improvement Co.

"These objected to initial prices of 21 1/2 cents and 22 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, on respective sales from Southern Louisiana fields and sales from fields in the Gulf of Mexico off Louisiana shores."

The original order, now in abeyance because of the rehearing order, also authorized a $53,373,000 expansion by Transcontinental to enable it to serve one new customer, Palmerton Gas Co. of Lehigh, Pa., and increase firm deliveries to 44 existing resale customers.

Alaska Demos Not Pledging Votes

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—Alaska's nine votes in the Democratic national convention will not be pledged to any candidate for the presidential nomination.

The state convention voted Monday to send an unpledged delegation to Los Angeles next summer. The convention also decided to bind the 18 delegates by unit rule. This means the state's nine votes will be cast in a bloc.

Collect the record books. Put them in a neat pile. Burn them. What is the occasion, of course, is that Snyder and Sweetwater, tangled together in the Mustang territory, and just about anything can happen due to that fact.

Neither team has been able to get the woods on fire as far as season records are concerned, and so far having seen the Mustangs perform, I equally rate my observations from what the Tigers have shown to date.

Ward Seeking Winning Combination

IT WILL BE of interest to note the effect of a recent re-shuffling of the starting lineup and see to what extent it affects the Bengal fortunes.

Throughout the non-district state of games there were five individuals who were starting assignments. In the Roger McMennamy, Charles Gladson, Jimmy Don Robinson, Mike Moffett, and Bubba Fleming. A brand new profile broke into the charmed circle against Colorado City Friday night, however, as sophomore Steve Free displaced junior Mike Moffett.

Free did a good job in his starting capacity, handling and working the half well, while Moffett was not long in his unfamiliar bench-warming capacity. If that he was second only to Gladson in Tiger scoring for the evening in garnering an even dozen points.

So the way it stands now, Free is staying put for tonight's Sweetwater fracas, with Moffett slated to step in and dislodge McMennamy from his starting post. Although McMennamy is the

The fundamental observation would seem to be that the local delegation is of a much higher caliber than that of the record would tend to indicate, primarily on the strength of their hustle ability if nothing else.

In fact, these hustling characteristics have prompted them to foul excessively on numerous occasions, as they have oftentimes beaten themselves due to their over-exuberance and subsequent loss of points in the vicinity of their opponents' free throw line.

team's leading scorer, by the narrow margin over second place Moffett. Moffett tends to be slightly more apt in the ball-handling and passing phases of the game, which probably carried the most weight in his uprooting of the Rajah from this season-long starting berth.

It is hoped that the combination will be potent enough to take the Mustangs in tow, which will be no easy task.

The Pones have proven that they are capable of explosive point-making and stiff defense, as evidenced by their showing against Lamesa during a first half in which they completely dominated the play. The score in that game when the intermission buzzer sounded was 25-28, and only a complete third quarter collapse prevented them from winning the game.

It is hoped and anticipated that a good turnout of fans may see fit to take the Mustangs down that way for the tilt tonight. It should be well worth the time and money.

then at Raiderland: "The fine young coach (Moss) had a lot to do with molding the line this year and in developing the many sophomores on whom the Raiders had to play. Larry Mullins, one of the players he developed, is the best lineman on the Tech squad. He was, of course, not including E. J. Holub in that classification."

A&M Ranks Tenth In AP Weekly Poll

By JACK CLARY

Despite a one-point loss to Bradley last Saturday night Cincinnati retained its status as the nation's No. 1 basketball team today. Bradley, whose thrilling last minute 91-90 victory topped the Bearcats from the unbeaten ranks, is ranked second by the nation's sportswriters and broadcasters in this week's Associated Press poll.

Folley Aims For Ingemar

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—No. 2 ranking Heavyweight Zora Folley, who kept his word and a secret as he jabbed out a clear-cut victory over Eddie Machen in a lack lustre battle, today hopes for a title shot against Ingemar Johansson.

"I beat Machen before and I'll beat him again," the 27-year-old Folley from Chandler, Ariz., vowed before he climbed into the Coy Palace ring for his 12-round return match Monday night. Their first meeting ended in a controversial draw in April 1952.

The 194-pound Folley was so sure he could beat his 190-pound opponent from Portland, Ore., that he kept secret his troubles with ailing tonsils. The tonsils probably will come out Thursday in Phoenix, said Manager Bill Swift.

Machen, an 8-5 favorite despite his No. 4 rating, took a financial beating too. It cost him about $270 to box the 12 rounds. His manager Sid Flaherty signed a contract for 60 per cent of the net gate, then guaranteed Folley $15,000—win, lose or draw. The net gate for the non-televized fight totaled $24,542.66 and 60 per cent of that is only $14,729.32.

Machen had lost just once before in his 23 previous fights—a one-round knockout when Johansson connected with his right in Sweden a year and a half ago. Monday night's fight brought repeated boos from the crowd of 5,447 and frequent warnings from referee Vern Bybee to step up the action.

Gordon Aims Views On '60 Indian Club

By JOE GORDON
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—When a club finished a very good second as the Cleveland Indians did in 1959, the manager must certainly approach the next season in terms of hoping to win the pennant. I honestly feel that we have just as good chance as any other club.

Our picture is brightened by the improved infield defense. Now, if our young pitchers should improve at the normal rate you might expect of them, we certainly should have an exciting and interesting summer.

I am delighted with the changes we have made. The acquisition of a star at Johnny Temple's calibre and the addition of Bubba Phillips settles the infield problem that bothered us so much last year. With Vic Power at first, Temple at second, Woody Held at short and Phillips at third, we have the best infield in the league. Tito Francona in left field and Rocky Colavito in right seem definite fixtures and either Jim Piersall or Carroll Hardy will be in center. It's possible Tito may not repeat his .362 average of last year but I honestly feel he did adjust his swing to the point where he now is a dangerous hitter, always able to hit over 300.

Frosh Fall To Angelo

Snyder's Freshmen went down to their fourth loss against nine victories here in Tiger Gym yesterday evening dropping a 48-32 zon-test to San Angelo Lee's Rebels. Lee now stands 11-1 for the season.

William Robinson topped Snyder scores with 12 points. Almie White, Jr. and Sammy Ray ranked up 11 and 10 points, respectively, for the winners.

Completing the Snyder point making were Jimmy Taylor with 7, Stuart Long, 5, and Danny Colwell, Murphy, Key, and Darrell Aldridge dropped in two each.

Bears Upset Texas Blue Devils Sweep Pair

By The Associated Press
Baylor's victory-hungry Bears, denied in close games for much of the season, turned like angry grizzlies Monday night on the Texas Longhorns and became Southwest Conference contenders with a 62-32 basketball victory.

The Baylor triumph knocked Texas out of a four-way tie for the conference leadership, with Texas A&M, Southern Methodist and Arkansas. It left the Longhorns with a 3-2 conference record and gained a 2-3 mark for the Bears.

Tuesday night, in Rice's field house at Houston, the winless Bears out-rebounded Texas 38-36, but Texas was better at shooting field goals with a 41.2 per cent average, while Baylor got a 35.1 average. The Longhorns led 34-32 at halftime, increased their bulge to 39-43 midway of the last half, but then faded under a barrage of goals and free throws by the Bears.

Texas A&M can take over an undisputed possession of first place Tuesday night with a victory over the Rice Owls. But Rice probably will be in a mood to upset the potent Aggies, eighth this week in the Associated Press national rankings.

Rice has been hampered somewhat with illness and injuries but should have its full strength Tuesday night with their high-scoring David Craig recovered from a virus infection.

Sweetwater To Host Wild-Life Exhibit

January 21, 22, and 23 has been set by district game wardens as the time in which a wild-life exhibit will be held in Sweetwater.

Sponsored by the Fish and Game Commission, the exhibit will be held in Sweetwater's Coliseum, and the public is urged and invited to attend.

Herring Wins Letter At North Texas State

DENTON—George Herring of Snyder, who ended a sparkling career at North Texas State last season, has been presented with his third varsity letter.

Herring, a starter for two years, was also one of the team captains in the 1959 season. He has signed a contract with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League.

A total of 32 letters was awarded to varsity members of last season, when North Texas won nine of 11 games. The Eagles were Missouri Valley Conference champions and played in the Sun Bowl, where they suffered one of two defeats.

Tigers Hit Road For Joust Against Ponies

The Tigers of Snyder High Junior-Senior team are heading for their second district encounter, of the infant race for the laurels. The arch-rival Sweetwater Mustangs will furnish the opposition, with the game scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock.

A-B game will precede the varsity test, the 11:00 time for it being 6:15.

Both teams will be looking for the money this evening as it goes up against Colorado City in the only other family affair slated for tonight.

Coach J. P. Ward has given a tentative starting nod to Mike Shiflett, Steve Ford, Bubba Fleming, Charlie Gladson, and Jim Robinson. Moffett will be working from forward, while Fleming and Free hold down the guard positions.

Slated for first line duty in the "B" game for the local five will be Larry Smith, Tommy Cooper, Weldon Ware, Larry McNair, and Jim McFarland.

Snyder's Belew and 4-6 for the season. They downed Brownfield and Colorado City in their last two outings by scores of 31-43 and 66-38, respectively.

Both local quintets are scheduled to depart Snyder this afternoon at 4:30.

Several parallels were evident in the district opener for the two teams playing tonight. Both romped to early first quarter leads only to see them erased in the latter stages due to erratic shooting.

Snyder's Belew and 4-6 for the season. They downed Brownfield and Colorado City in their last two outings by scores of 31-43 and 66-38, respectively.

Both local quintets are scheduled to depart Snyder this afternoon at 4:30.

Several parallels were evident in the district opener for the two teams playing tonight. Both romped to early first quarter leads only to see them erased in the latter stages due to erratic shooting.

The Tigers held a 21-13 first quarter lead in their game against Colorado City, while the Mustangs held a 20-13 bulge over Lamesa in that contest.

Also—the high scorers in the above games were both centers on the two clubs involved, as Gladson was tops for the Tigers with 17 points, and Belew showed the way for Sweetwater with 18. Snyder's Belew, a varsity sophomore, is currently averaging 7.12.

Slated for first line duty in the "B" game for the local five will be Larry Smith, Tommy Cooper, Weldon Ware, Larry McNair, and Jim McFarland.

ABILENE, TEX. (AP)—The new backfield coach at Hardin-Simmons University is John T. Ford, former All-Border Conference quarterback at Hardin-Simmons University.

Ford, who graduated from H-SU in 1951, was named Monday. He has been backfield coach at the University of Arizona for the last five years.

While playing at Hardin-Simmons Ford made several school records which will stand. He completed 313 passes out of 532 attempts, for 3,184 yards and 56 touchdowns.

A spectator sneaked into a sports car in Sebring, Fla. and made several laps before being ousted by officials.

Which one was the outstanding oddity?

The question was put to sports writers and broadcasters in the annual Associated Press poll and the majority voted for Haddix' perfect losing game.

Forty-eight of the 98 participants cast their ballot for the Haddix-Milwaukee game of May 26. The Yankees' demise was named on 10 ballots. The Gordon-Frank game received 9 votes followed by Williams and goats 8.

The Dodgers winning the National League pennant 5 and Ingemar Johansson's victory over Floyd Patterson, 4.

Haddix retired 36 Braves hitters in succession in his brilliant, but ill-fated effort. Then, in the last of the 13th, Felix Mantilla became the first batter to reach base against the Pittsburgh southpaw when he was safe on a third baseman Don Hoak's throwing error.

Court-Martial For Civilians Is Out

By PAUL M. YOST
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has ruled out peacetime court-martial trials for civilians "alleged, but has gone out of its way to offer suggestions how the military might handle the resulting situation.

In divided decisions Monday, the high tribunal overturned military convictions of three civilian employees and a civilian dependent who accompanied armed forces overseas.

Justice Tom C. Clark, author of three majority opinions, said such military trials violated the constitutional right to trial by jury. This right applies to everyone except members of the armed forces.

Clark recalled that in 1957 the court declared unconstitutional the military trial convictions of two women accused of killing their servicemen husbands abroad. These were capital cases, involving possible death penalties.

Monday's decisions broadened the 1957 legal holding to include civilian dependents of servicemen and employees of the military regardless of the nature of the offenses.

One Army official, emphasizing the problem, said the number of civilian dependents and employees abroad equals or is greater than the number of men in uniform. The Justice Department, during argument of the cases, told the Supreme Court the civilians abroad commit a substantial number of offenses and create serious disciplinary problems.

Clark said one plan to meet the problem would be to incorporate civilian employees directly into the armed services, either by compulsory induction or by voluntary enlistment.

The board offer of a 5 per cent raise matched the pre-strike demand of Local 118 of the Public School Employees Union. But the board's offer wouldn't become effective until July 1, start of the next fiscal year. The janitors earn from $3.60 to $5.52. Wage scales for matrons range from $2.80 to $3.32.

Business agent George Luetkenholder said the union executive board would probably take no stand on the proposal leaving it up to a vote of the membership. The 532 strikers walked off the job at 6:30 a.m. Monday creating a holiday for some 80,700 pupils, 38,200 of them grade school students.

"Fourteen people wanted to see my ticket," grumbled William Le Veon of New York, "but apparently nobody asked for his."

Nagayasu was taken to a detention barracks to await repatriation. Pan American will pay for all under-maritime law, including his return fare.

Civilians Responsible For Federal Spending Increase

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analysis
NEW YORK (AP) — It's the civilians, not the military, that are sending next year's federal spending to a new high. And another big factor is the steady climb in interest payments on the record federal debt.

Its increased income tax payments by individuals and corporations that is sending hoped-for receipts to a still higher figure.

President Eisenhower in his fiscal budget proposes to spend about the same for national security in the fiscal year starting July 1 as in the current one.

But he is expecting the Treasury to spend 9½ billion dollars in interest on the 292 billion dollar debt — even though he hopes to shave that debt next year. The new interest spending would be 200 million dollars more than in the fiscal year, and nearly two billion dollars more than in the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1959.

That's because the debt has climbed steadily and because interest rates have, too.

In fiscal 1961 the Treasury will put out for interest 12 cents of every dollar it spends.

The new budget also calls for a 300-million-dollar increase in payments to veterans, 128 million more for labor, welfare and education, 35½ million more for reclamation, 950 million more for various forms of U.S. mutual security programs, and 510 million more by the Agriculture Department for such things as crop price supports.

The new spending and income figures are awesome enough in themselves. A budget figure of 79½ billion dollars for spending and 84 billion dollars in hoped-for income. But that is only part of what the Treasury actually will take in and put out.

Some of its collections and payments don't get into the budget at all. They include such things as social security, unemployment compensation, and highways.

Add them in, and Uncle Sam may find himself collecting from his nephews, 10½ billion dollars, if all goes well, and spending 96½ billion. This would leave a cash surplus of six billion dollars. Part of that would accrue to the general fund, 1959 to a record 910 million dollars, which the Treasury collects and pays out. It would still leave the President some 4½ billion budget surplus dollars to apply to the debt.

The Treasury expects to collect all that money because Uncle Sam's nephews are believed to have their most prosperous year.

It expects the total dollar value of all goods and services produced in 1960 to rise 30 billion dollars or postal rates.

Out of this the Treasury expects individuals to increase their own take by 20 billion dollars to 380 billion. It looks for corporation profits before taxes to rise by 3 billion to a total of $7 billion dollars.

And the Treasury wants neither individual nor corporate income tax rates paid. It even hopes for a higher tax on gasoline and higher postal rates.

Hope Cyprus Snag Ending

LONDON (AP) — Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu expressed hope today that snags in Cyprus independence will be overcome within the next two months.

"We hope that everything will be all right, and that they will make the necessary progress in due time," said Zorlu who represented Turkey at a three-day conference on the Mediterranean islands' future.

The conference would wrap Monday after putting off birth of the Cypriot republic from Feb. 19 to March 19.

Actor Asks Annulment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor John Sutton, 51, is seeking an annulment of his third marriage on the caption his wife, Anita, wasn't free to marry him.

Sutton's position, filed Monday, didn't mention Tommy Manville by name. But Mrs. Sutton, the former Anita Rodney Eden, 37, expressed doubt last week that her 1955 divorce from Manville was legal.

She was Manville's ninth bride. The 65-year-old, asbestos heir recently took Christina Erdlen, a 20-year-old waitress, as his 11th wife.

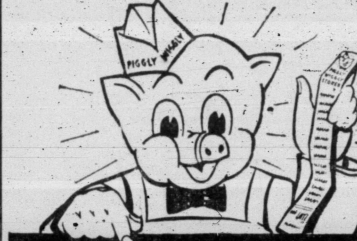

Mrs. Sutton, an ex-dancer and fashion model, told newsmen she may not have established legal residence in Nevada for her 1955 divorce from Manville.

She and Sutton were married in New York City Feb. 24, 1957.

CURRENT WAVE OF INTERNATIONAL VANDALISM

Truly Intellectual Program Is Offered Teevee Stations

By INEZ ROBB

Will the teevee audience, young and old, sit still while associated celebrities read the classics, unpunctuated by bullets or commands to reach for the ceiling?

Will it spare 30 minutes while Jackie Robinson reads from Stephen Crane's "The Red Badge of Courage" or Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt from Rudyard Kipling's "Just So Stories"?

Or will they? Mrs. Roosevelt and Jackie: Sile the dust while the audience reaches for a private eye or a souped-up Sioux?

Time is going to tell for the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company, at 8 p.m. will present a weekly half-hour show in which an assortment of well-known citizens will read aloud.

Apparently we live in a time in which Johnny can't read and his old man won't. So Westinghouse in what seems to be a warm, homey and very interesting experiment, has rounded up people to read to other people of all ages.

The first program, on Feb. 1, will find Archibald MacLeish, three times Pulitzer Prize winner, former Librarian of Congress and what is more important in the context of this program, a grandpa, reading aloud 17 poems of Walter de la Mare.

Oh, I shall be there in front of the screen all right, listening for "Ann, Ann!" Come quick as you can. There's a fish that talks in the frying pan.

And for "Do diddle di do Poor Jim Jay Got stuck fast In Yesterday."

And I can hardly wait to hear Harry Belafonte read a Jamaican folk tale, called "The Spider Man." (Will it be like "The Fly, Daddy?") Joe's Ferrer will read from

"Huckleberry Finn." Eva Le Gallienne from Hans Christian Andersen ("The Ugly Duckling"). Pearl Buck from Chinese fables and Cyril Richard from "Alice in Wonderland."

Now is that all the goodies Garry Moore is to read—"The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" and "The Walrus and the Carpenter," complete with tears and oysters. And Richard Boone has been entrusted with the only Western on the program to date, Bret Harte's "How Santa Claus Came to Simpson's Bar."

However, in this election year, I await with special eagerness the first-time readings of Vice President Richard Nixon and Senator John Kennedy. Interestingly enough, both the Republican and Democratic aspirants for the Presidency have chosen to read classics about Abraham Lincoln, who with the passing of time, presumably has become nonpartisan.

The Vice President has elected to read from Carl Sandburg's "Lincoln Grows Up." Sen. Kennedy will read from Allan Nevins' "The Emergence of Lincoln."

Westinghouse was stunned when asked if it was prepared to give equal time to other Presidential hopefuls than Messrs. Nixon and Kennedy. Said it hadn't thought about THAT. Well, it better had!

I want to hear Lyndon Johnson, in selected readings from "Gone With the Wind" and "Brer Rabbit."

To one whose childhood was made glorious by a father and grandmother who loved to read aloud, this experiment by Westinghouse sounds dreamy. At the moment, Westinghouse Broadcasting Company plans to give the program free to any station that will promise to air it in "prime" time.

The station, in accepting the program for free, must present it free; that is with sponsorship.

So far, about 50 stations have lined up for it. This is one of the good answers to the harsh criticism of teevee since the payola scandals. It is a noble experiment. But only the viewing public can make it a success.

Few Know Much Of Defense Needs

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—The subject on which the American public knows practically nothing is defense needs. It has become a specialty for experts. And the experts disagree among themselves.

For example, President Eisenhower and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former Army chief of staff, don't see eye-to-eye at all although both spent most of their lives in military service.

When Eisenhower asked Congress in his budget message Monday for 41 billion dollars for defense next year, the reaction was as predictable as saying Monday follows Tuesday.

The Democrats raised questions about Eisenhower's defense wisdom and foresight. The Republicans defended him.

It was always been a good arguing point and this year will have a little extra attractiveness since it's a presidential election year. Eisenhower has set himself up as practically the most expert of experts on defense needs. He told his news conference last week that on this subject he knows more than almost anybody.

Plenty of Celebrating Due In '60

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Mister, you'd better buy a couple of new white shirts and tell your mistress to get herself a new gown.

Whether 1960 is a record boom year or not moneywise, it is bound to be the celebrating year, culturally speaking, there ever was.

America has a tradition of producing and observing special occasions. It is a custom that goes back to the Pilgrims and their first Thanksgiving Day.

Now every year we find more and more things to celebrate. This year, according to Chase's Calendar of Annual Events, there are some 650 holidays and special occasions of all kinds to observe, or nearly twice as many as in 1959.

The tradition is getting a bit out of hand. For example, if you and your wife conscientiously and consecutively celebrated all the special days, weeks and months now on the 1960 promotion calendar, you'd be making nonstop whoopee for 13 years, 6 months and 5 days.

Among the newcomers this year are National Barefoot Freedom Week, International Carillon Day, and National Mayonnaise and Salad Week.

Here are a few choice items: It is too late to blow whistles and ring bells for Save-the-Pan Week, Big Brother Week and Large (Economy) Size Week. They are already over. But you are now in National Guitar Week; National Winter Golf Week—wonder if President Ike has been told; and next Tuesday your wife might want to give a cheer for the start of National Fur Care Week.

February is full of goodies, including National Sickness Needs Month, Good Breakfasts Month, National Children's Dental Health Week, and National Pimento Week. And don't overlook Weight Watchers Week, National Penicillin Week and Bachelor's Day on Feb. 29.

Is that so? Gen. Taylor, now a civilian, wrote a book, "The Uncertain Trumpet," to show his disagreement with the defense needs thinking of the Eisenhower administration. It was published this month.

Taylor complained the budget, or economy-mindedness, and the idea of massive retaliation have so dominated the administration's planning that the Army has been relegated to a minor role with diminished manpower. He said this leaves too little room for discouraging and deterring small flareups.

This is only part of his book's criticism. The innocent bystander, who figures to get his skull fractured if in time of a showdown American military planning in 1960 was good enough, can only wonder.

For instance, the administration has almost chilled to death the concept of the B70 bomber, designed to carry hydrogen bombs at 2,000 miles an hour. The administration has canceled production orders and limited the program to development of two B70 planes.

Junior Editors Quiz on BATONS

QUESTION: What are batons used for?

ANSWER: A baton is a stick used by leaders of orchestras or bands to help them to lead their musicians with ease and authority. They range in size from the small, tapered baton to the large, tapered baton. The use of the baton probably can be traced back to the 14th century when military leaders found that the sound and beat of a marching band inspired their soldiers and led to greater precision in their steps. The leader of the band was given a baton to use as a symbol of authority of the band leader. It was—and is—of great importance. King Richard I of the British army carried batons as a sign of his rank. It is probable that batons were used for this purpose long before they were used in music.

FOR YOU TO DO: Can you tell a baton from the way it is in this drawing? Many schools now have batons in their libraries. Send your question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, All Newsletters, in care of this newspaper. If duplicate questions are received, Mrs. Higgins will select the winner.

Oilmen Favor Putting Tax In Highways

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—One way to soften the oilman's objections to gasoline and vehicle taxes is to earmark the tax income for highway construction.

A major objection raised by oilmen last year to the one-cent per gallon boost in the federal gasoline tax was the amount of motorist taxes already going into the general fund.

Such objections will be renewed this year if the anticipated efforts to boost the federal gasoline tax another half cent or more actually develop.

The American Petroleum Institute contends only 58 per cent of all the federal government's special taxes on motorists for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, went into the highway trust fund.

Of the 3.6 billion dollars collected, 2.1 billion was allocated to the trust fund and 1.5 billion was channeled into the General Fund of the U.S. Treasury.

Expenditures from state motor fuel and vehicle tax collections for 1958 are in sharp contrast with the federal disbursements.

Only 6.5 per cent of the over 4.6 billion dollars collected by the 48 states and the District of Columbia in 1958 was spent for non-highway purposes.

Some states divert as much as 25 per cent of such taxes to non-highway purposes but 20 states earmark all such income for highway use.

The API has distributed the 1958 statistical tables on state motor fuel and vehicle taxes as compiled by the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Commerce.

The 48 states and the District of Columbia in 1958 collected $4,688,153,000. Motor fuel taxes accounted for $2,976,190,000, motor vehicle and motor carrier taxes $1,711,963,000.

The receipts were spent in this manner:

Collection and administration of taxes, $192,521,000 or 4.1 per cent.

Work on state highways, $2,547,000,000 or 54.3 per cent.

Local roads and streets, $1,228,000,000 or 26.1 per cent.

Highway debt service, $232,248,000 or 5 per cent.

State highway police, $189,160,000 or 4 per cent.

Non-highway purposes, $303,026,000 or 6.5 per cent.

Of the funds used for non-highway purposes, 68 per cent came from motor vehicle and carrier taxes, 32 per cent from motor fuel receipts.

The $303,026,000 not spent on highways was disbursed this way: State general funds, $105,450,000; County and local general funds, $100,687,000; Education, debt service, miscellaneous, $97,889,000.

The District of Columbia and Rhode Island diverted the largest percentages of income. Each sent 29.4 per cent into the general funds. Florida followed at 27.9 per cent with state and local general funds and education bonding.

States allocating all high user taxes to highway purposes were Arizona, Connecticut, Idaho, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, Ohio, South Dakota, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Deadline On Appointments Draws Near

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Omar Burleson announced today that the deadline of Jan. 31 has been set for accepting nominations of candidates for the next school year of the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, New York.

Congressman Burleson is entitled to nominate 10 qualified applicants from the 17th Congressional District and he will receive applications for such nominations up to the deadline.

The U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, one of five Federal Academies, has as its mission the education and training of qualified young men for careers as officers in our Merchant Marine. Its four year college level program leads to a B. S. degree, a U. S. Coast Guard license as a third officer or a Third Assistant Engineer in the Merchant Marine, and a Commission in the Naval Reserve.

Congressman Burleson further advised that constituents seeking more detailed information about the educational and career opportunities afforded by the program of the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, should contact his office, 1531 New House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Congressman Burleson points out that, being rather far removed from a seaport, few young men in West Texas really become aware of the opportunities afforded by the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy.

"It is only natural that boys seeking entrance to the Service Academies are interested in the Air Force, West Point and the United States Naval Academy because they are familiar with these institutions. The Merchant Marine Academy is an excellent institution and affords opportunity for young men who seek this type of career."

Eddie Arcaro, Willie Shoemaker and Johnny Longden, three of the seven living members of the jockeys hall of fame at Pimlico, are still riding.

Boy, Makes A Plea For His Parents

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Don't send my Daddy and Mom to jail," pleaded nine-year-old Jim, a rheumatic fever stricken, "I will go to jail for them."

This written appeal was directed to President Eisenhower recently by a Midwestern youngster who feared his parents would be jailed as income tax cheats.

The boy had a special reason for offering to serve any jail term that might be required. To occupy his idle hours, he had juggled the figures in his father's account books, much to the dismay of tax agents.

"Will you help me?" Jim wrote the President. "I'm in a lot of trouble—I was fixing my books and I changed the prices and dates on the receipts. (sic) I'm not a delinquent, (sic) I don't steal or bust windows. But don't send my daddy and mom to jail. I will go to jail for them I'll be old when I get out and my Mom and Dad will be old too, but I'll never do anything like that again."

"Can I learn to be a doctor or a scientist (sic) if I go to jail?"

I pray ever nite you will forgive me."

The White House sent the letter to the Internal Revenue Service, which dispatched an "understanding agent" to call on Jim and assure him no one will be jailed.

County Plenty Able To Build

No county in the state of Texas has as pretty a picture of its finances as does Snyder County, according to C. M. Smith of the State Tax Commission.

Smith said the county's financial picture is so good that it could afford to add a 25-cent per gallon tax to the 20-cent per gallon tax now levied by Snyder County.
