Cadet Training Best, Capt. Says

"The people of West Texas see the skies of this area filled with classrooms of the air. West Texas is dotted with army airfields, many planes are piloted by West Texas' young men. Practically every West Texas town, regardless of size, has a number of young men flying for Uncle Sam. Many flying West Texans have their names on the list of the Nation's heroes.

"The flying heroes we read about today are young men who originally received the same training as the Aviation Cadets who are now in training," Captain Flynt added.

"Aviation Cadets learn every phase in order that once in the air they will have confidence and complete control of the plane they fly."

To be eligible for enlistment as an aviation cadet, a man must be between the ages of 17 and 26, inclusive. Complete information may be obtained by contacting any U. S. Army Recruiting Station or Cadet Examining Board at any U. S. Army Air Field.

Soldier Helper
Gets 1,500 Letters

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — More than 1,500 letters from men in the service at almost every battle zone on the map and at scores of military bases and camps is the harvest Lester C. Miller has reaped from a two-year campaign of aiding walking soldiers with rides in his car.

A defense job had him travelling constantly in 12 southern states two years ago, and from his first trip he never failed to stop for a khaki-clad figure.

He jotted down the names and addresses of every one of the hundreds of soldiers to whom he gave lifts.

And then he wrote each one. "It is quite a long jump from a lonely road out of Athens, Ga., to my last station and finally Africa. But here I am," wrote a Master Sergeant, Clarence J. Pinson, a Clemson college graduate and one of the hundreds of men and officers with whom Miller corresponds.

Heading his long list of soldier-correspondents is Lester C. Miller, Jr., with an Air Corps training group at Miami, Fla.

The name Italy is apparently a Graecized form of a word meaning calf-land or grazing land.

Italy was originally only the toe of the peninsula, now called Calabria.

Italy is a region of climatic wonders. The winter temperature of Turin is lower than that of Copenhagen. Milan and Bologna in the northern part of the country are hotter than Naples in the south. On the shores of Calabria tropical plants grow — but five miles inland, snow may fall in September.

WAR ANALYSIS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

FRIDAY, AUGUST 20, 1943

QUEBEC, Aug. 19. — Aside from President Roosevelt's heartfelt salute to the valor, skill and teamwork of the Allied forces poised in conquered Sicily for another thrust against Europe, little was to be gleaned of the doings of the Quebec war council tonight beyond the fact that its conclusions are almost ready for Roosevelt-Churchill ratification.

The conference appeared headed toward picking up the political threads of the problem tomorrow, at least so far as they are essential now to weaving the new military victory pattern being shaped.

It was for this purpose that British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden whipped over the Atlantic by air to go into seclusion in the conference headquarters. Tonight Eden's American counterpart Secretary Hull, was enroute from Washington. That will complete the war strategy board mapping new and aggressive blows against the Axis in both Europe and Asia — to seize the opportunity offered by favorable developments in all war theaters since it last met in Washington three months ago.

Teamwork Lauded

In his message of congratulation to General Eisenhower, Mr. Roosevelt touched on a factor of utmost importance to the Quebec strategy planner. That is the teamwork achieved by American, Canadian, British and French forces under a single command set-up.

Events in Sicily, Mr. Roosevelt said, "show what can be done by teamwork based on preparation, training, timing and above all on gallantry on land, on sea and in the air."

Whatever is being Allied-planned here for the near future in the Asiatic Mediterranean, European or any other possible war theater will certainly follow the organization pattern of the highly successful French-African and Sicilian campaigns. That makes the selection of commanders-in-chief for each other theater, to match Eisenhower's over-all command, an important probable item on the Quebec agenda.

Naming Of Commander

Both in his case and in that of General MacArthur, the directives placing them in command of coordinated ground-sea-air operations sprang from the Anglo-American combined chiefs of staff group which is the core of the Quebec conference. Announcement of who is to undertake in other theaters the command task Eisenhower has so brilliantly carried through in Africa and Sicily is likely to be one of the few factual disclosures as to Quebec decisions by Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill when they are ready to talk. It is military information and of keen interest to the enemy, but not calculated to reveal detailed plans of attack.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 21, 1943

QUEBEC, Aug. 20. — The Russian summer offensive is obviously meeting with harder going even as Allied master war strategists assembled in Quebec near decisions certain to have a deep influence on war trends on the east front in Europe as well as on the south and western perimeters.

That may account for a rising chorus of Russian press demands for prompt Allied diversionary action in the west. It may also explain what is almost the first published call in Russia for a prompt Roosevelt - Churchill - Stalin conference to plot even grander strategy in the struggle than that which the Quebec conference is dealing. The full significance of the editorial in the Moscow magazine "War and the Working Class" calling for such a meeting to plot a "victory over Germany still possible this year" is not at once apparent.

Soviet Meaning Clear

Russian advices have left no doubt, however, as to what they mean by an Allied diversionary action in the west.

Nothing short of an Allied amphibious surge now across the English Channel would serve as the Russian writers see the situation. They probably directly reflect the views of Premier Stalin and his generals.

It may be coming. The Quebec atmosphere reeks with expectation that it is. No conference spokesman from President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill down to the battalion of American, Canadian and British war information men prominent in the Quebec picture has sought to modify that impression.

Continent-beamed Allied radio broadcasts from North Africa and Britain have gone father in the last day or two than to harass Nazi-

Fascist nerves with invasion warnings. They have dangerously alerted French Low Country and Scandinavian resistance to Nazi conquerors in forecasting an early trans-channel jump-off unless it is actually in immediate prospect.

Might Be Disastrous

A premature and widespread outburst of active guerrilla warfare on the continent might be disastrous. It certainly would lead to gruesome casualties among French and other citizenry seeking to help an expected British-American expeditionary force gain a continental footing if that force was not in fact moving in against selected beaches at the same time to draw the weight of Nazi garrisons upon itself.

That question of timing is co-equal with all the other factors that enter into military operations. It has been the unfortunate missing factor in Allied-Russian relations, preventing the time-clock co-ordination of an Allied-Russian pincer squeeze on Germany from east, west and south simultaneously—three front war in full scale—up to now.

Many Offset Handicap

The British - American-French teamwork that made possible the swift Allied victory in Sicily with relatively less losses has yet to be achieved on a grand scale as between the western powers and Russia.

Unquestionably the Quebec conference was called to offset as far as possible that United Nation military handicap.

There can be no announcement from Quebec during or after the conference of its strategic decisions except for such statements of their purposes, hopes, and still relentless will to push the war on all fronts to the point of unconditional surrender of the foe as Messrs. Roosevelt - Churchill select to make. And in a sense the timing of that post-conference Allied statement could prove itself important militarily.

Must Be Closely Keyed

It could prematurely set off a popular revolt in Nazi throttled Europe if not closely keyed in timing an expression to actual battle developments. If too guarded or discouraging to early expectations of new and massive Allied invasion sorties against the continent, it could bring about a sag in public will to rise against the Nazi oppressors in rance, the Low Countries and Scandinavia. That could also lead to further and bitterer Russian reproaches for Allied failure to risk greatly for great possible results.

The President and Prime Mini-ter will have all of these considerations in mind not only in phrasing whatever they have to say of the Quebec conference at its conclusion, but in the timing of that announcement. It could furnish a clear clue of what to expect in new military citation even if no hint of the actual operations to be set in motion is included.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 22, 1943

QUEBEC, Aug. 21. — The Japanese retreat from Kiska, a stealthy, fog-shrouded flight from inevitable annihilation by American and Canadian troops, appeared a minor military incident in a war week bursting everywhere with bigger news except for its potential psychological significance, yet to be tested elsewhere in the Pacific on a large scale.

The outstanding fact about that enemy evacuation of his last tiny impotent foothold in the Aleutians was that it was a retreat, the first Japanese retreat of this war. Nipponese forces have heretofore mostly died where they stood on Guadalcanal, in New Guinea, on Munda, on Attu, wherever the tightening coils of Allied counter offensives have gripped them. The Tokyo war lords left them to emulate the motto of Napoleon's old guard that it could die but never surrender or retreat.

Audacious Attempt Ends

This time, and on Tokyo orders, the Japanese fled through the fog and the Nipponese futile but audacious attempt to threaten the western hemisphere with invasion or air attack was at an end. That makes Kiska regained the symbol of the ebbing Axis tide in the Pacific as conquered Sicily symbolizes its backward flow in the Mediterranean, as Stalingrad marked the crest of German attack in Russia and tattering Kharkov its accelerating recession.

The core of war interest for the week, however, continued to be the war council of the Allied highest command. Not even the Russian offensive nor hints from London that a continental invasion by British-American forces was close at hand diverted either Allied or Axis attention from the meeting here of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill to put their seal upon new strategic directives of global scope prepared by their military staffs.

What can be said to inform Allied publics of what has been planned and still retain the essential element of surprise when the contemplated new attacks are delivered in Europe, the Pacific or in eastern Asia, the two leaders will make known from here next week.

INSTRUCTIONS ON FILING OF DECLARATION OF INCOME TAX GIVEN IN GENERAL SUMMARY

If you filed an income tax return for the year 1942, you will, within the very near future, receive a letter from your Collector of Internal Revenue. This year, however, the letter which you will receive will enclose forms and instructions for filing a Declaration of your estimated income and Victory Taxes for 1943—the current year. The first of such forms were placed in the mail Tuesday, August 17th, by the Collector of Internal Revenue for the Northern Division of Texas at Dallas. Additional forms will be sent to others of the approximately six hundred and fifty thousand person who filed Income Tax Returns with the Dallas Collector for the year 1942, as soon as the forms are received from the printer.

Not all of the people who receive these forms will be required to file declarations on or before September 15th. The following persons are required to file such declarations:

(1) Single, or married but not living with spouse at the date prescribed for the making of the declaration (whether or not head of a family), if he had for 1942, or reasonably expects to have for 1943—

(a) Gross income of more than $2,700 from wages subject to withholding; or

(b) Gross income of $500 or more from all sources, if more than $100 of such income is from sources other than wages subject to withholding.

(2) Married and living with spouse at the date prescribed for the making of the declaration, if he had for 1942, or reasonably expects to have for 1943—

(a) Gross income from sources other than wages subject to withholding which, when added to his spouse's income from such sources, exceeds $100, and also his gross income from all sources exceeds $625 for 1943, or the aggregate gross income from all sources of both spouses amounts to $1200 or more for either 1942 or 1943.

(3) Also, required to file declarations are: Individuals, regardless of marital status, who were required to file an Income Tax Return for 1942 and whose wages subject to withholding for 1943 are reasonably expected to be less than such wages for 1942.

Heavy penalties are provided for failure to file a declaration required under the law, or to pay the amount of estimated tax which is to be paid when such declaration is filed. Therefore, you will want to study the instructions carefully, and file the declaration on or before September 15th, if there is any possibility that you may be required under the law to file the estimate of your Income and Victory Tax for the year 1943. Farmers must file their Declarations of 1943 estimated Income and Victory Taxes on or before December 15th. Farmers are deemed to be those persons having at least 80 per cent of their gross income derived from farming operations.

At the present time the office and field officers of the Collector of Internal Revenue, Dallas, Texas, are studying the provisions of the new law so as to be able to assist the taxpayers in the Northern part of Texas in the preparation of their declaration forms. It is planned for the field deputy collectors to visit practically all of the larger cities and towns during the two week period beginning Monday, August 30th, and ending Saturday, September 11th. Further information as to the time these visits will be made and the places which will be visited by the zone deputy collectors will be given in advance by way of posted and newspaper notices, and appropriate radio announcements.

In order to obtain the assistance of these zone deputy collectors, you should have immediately available the following information:

(1) The amount of tax shown on your 1942 Income Tax Return.

(2) The estimated income and deduction items expected for 1943.

(3) The estimated amounts of Victory and Withholding taxes withheld by your employer from your wages or salaries during 1943.

(4) The payments you have made during 1943 to the Collector of Internal Revenue to be applied on your 1942 income tax.

Zone deputy collectors will be glad to render all possible assistance in properly preparing your declaration forms if you will bring along this necessary information.

In addition to the visits of zone deputy collectors to the various cities and towns in Northern Texas, the zone offices located in the sixteen larger cities, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Abilene, Eastland, Odessa, Paris, Sherman, Texarkana, San Angelo, Tyler, Corsicana, Longview and Nacogdoches, will be open during business hours for practically all the time between now and September 15th, when the declaration is to be filed. Zone deputy collectors located in these offices will also be glad to render you all possible assistance.

Remember, — when you receive the forms and instructions from your Internal Revenue Tax Collection INSTRUCTIONS on filing . . . dc 24 for within the next several days—you should study the instructions to determine whether you will be required to file a declaration. If so, you should assemble at the earliest possible moment the information necessary for preparation of a declaration of your estimated Income and Victory taxes for 1943, you should immediately consult a zone collector in one of the sixteen zone offices located in the major cities of Northern Texas, or, if you reside in a smaller city or town, you should watch your local newspapers for information as to the visit to be made by a zone deputy collector during the two weeks period beginning Monday, August 30th, and ending Saturday, September 11th. Except for farmers who are to file their Declarations on or before December 15th, other persons required to file such forms must file them on or before September 15th, or become subject to severe penalties. Declaration Forms 1040 ES filed on or before September 15th, 1943, may be amended by similar Forms filed on or before December 15th, 1943, if events occur after September 15th having a material effect on the estimated Income and Victory Taxes due for 1943.

THE BLACK TRUTH ABOUT THE BLACK MARKET IN MEAT

MOST of the American people are hungry for beef. Our country has more meat than ever before in its history. But because of governmental restrictions and red tape, hopelessly entangled, cattle continue to pile up on the ranches while meatless days are increasing.

Why not, in the name of common sense, let the LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND operate? Why not remove all restrictions except point rationing on this vital necessity? Let's find out if relief is not quickly possible.

THERE WAS NO MEAT SHORTAGE until the government started to regulate the industry by establishing quotas and ceiling prices. This shortage began the day the government stepped in.

Every cowman knows that we have more cattle than our armed forces and our own American civilians need because of the astonishing surplus that now gluts every ranch, every farm, every pasture in the nation. There is not enough to supply the whole world, but there is more than plenty for every American mouth.

Yet there are millions of citizens, tens of millions of our citizens, who have not tasted beef in weeks, yes months. There are tens of millions of them who have become law violators because of their participation in black market racketeering, either as purchasers or sellers of beef. The black truth is that prohibition in its palmy days never involved as many violators and bootleggers as has the black market on beef right at this moment.

LEADING CATTLE Men who have been studying the situation declare that the confusion in governmental agencies has been such that even the men in the Army and the Navy have not had their quotas of beef in certain months.

The city of Amarillo is fortunately situated. Located in the heart of one of the most fertile and most productive agricultural areas in the country, there has been no shortage of food in our city or in the Panhandle of Texas. As a result of our location, not because of a better grade of citizenship, Amarillo probably has a minimum of black market violations.

But a Globe-News reporter visited an industrial city of 150,000 in a southern state. A reliable man made this statement to him:

"All of our meat dealers in this city are violating the government law. There are no exceptions. Some are not making any profit. They believe it is their duty to serve their customers but they must disregard the price ceilings to break even."

WHAT PRICE RED TAPE! What price the deterioration of the morals of a people who must violate the law to obtain food!

It is possible that the bulk of the beef now reaching our American tables has the black market taint. Most of our cattle are touched somewhere by the black market profiteer from the time they are hauled from the range until the meat is prepared for our tables. There are hundreds of devious ways of violating the law. Thousands of our business men have been forced to become lawbreakers.

Certainly, if all the restrictions were removed, no flight of imagination can visualize beef selling as high as the price now being paid by those who are winking and signaling at the store keepers and restaurant owners in patronizing the black markets. Certainly the average price the American people are now paying, through both the legitimate and black market outlets, is as high or higher than if our supply of beef were permitted to respond to the law of supply and demand.

What is our concern in Amarillo which is the Beef Bowl City of the United States?

If the present Alice-in-Wonderland restrictions are continued, they spell widespread bankruptcies for the cow industry to be followed by an eatable beef famine that may rock the nation. This is the sober opinion of the best minds now engaged in producing beef.

Cattlemen as a group do not want higher prices for their cattle; they strongly oppose higher prices, because they do not want inflation. They know that point rationing can control the demand and that they can provide the supply. They believe that lifting of all regulations except point rationing would actually lower the price of beef. The price would most certainly be lower than that charged by the black market bootleggers.

IF THE LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND were put into effect, certainly in matter of a few days, great supplies of meat would start moving. The licensed butchers and packers and wholesalers and retailers would resume full operations. They now cannot supply the demand from legitimate sources, not because of the rationing points, but because of the quota system and BECAUSE THE GOVERNMENT WILL NOT PERMIT THEM TO MEET THE PRICES FOR BEEF THAT THE BOOTLEGGERS ARE PAYING.

Because of the dammed-up supply of meat—we now have more than 82,000,000 head of cattle on our ranches instead of 61,000,000 five years ago—no one could foresee the immediate price fluctuations if all restrictions were removed.

But there would be sufficient beef quickly available, as soon as the animals could be fattened, to maintain the health of every American family. This right now is the most important issue before us.

ECONOMISTS INFORM US inflationary prices spring from shortages. If they are correct the price of beef based on supply and demand, would not be unreasonable, in all human probability, because we have a surplus, not a shortage, of cattle in the United States.

There are experts in Washington who are trying to force the soy bean upon the American people. We are being told in propaganda that there is a larger percentage of proteins and nourishment in soy beans than in beef steak. Regardless, the American people were brought upon thick steaks, juicy ribs, tender hamburgers, and beef in many forms. Beef has helped to make the American people great. But God spare the day when our standard of living or system of production is such that we will serve our children and ourselves synthetic filets mignon and T-bones made of soy beans or yeast.

The cowmen of the Southwest and the West are raising more cattle. They can increase this production further. Every day there is more meat on our ranches. Every day black market prices are higher. Every day more legitimate business men are being forced out of business and the conscientious law observers are eating less meat.

But all of this could be remedied overnight. One directive out of Washington, removing all restrictions on the sale and the processing of beef, except the point rationing system, would blast away the Boulder Dam bottle-neck.

THE NEW WAR FOOD ADMINISTRATOR is Marvin Jones whose home is in Amarillo, The Beef Bowl City. Mr. Jones was raised in the cattle country, has worked on ranches and he knows cattle. Furthermore, he has the respect and friendship of the cowmen and the citizenship of the Southwest.

Mr. Jones has always welcomed suggestions in his public work and his record as a public servant is a notable one. In no way is he responsible for the chaos in the beef industry; he has only recently taken over.

If you believe that in this national emergency the horse sense principle of supply and demand should be applied, write him. Tell him so. Address him as Mr. Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, Washington, D. C.

Hungarian Partridge Thrive In Texas Panhandle Since Recent Planting

"In the Panhandle, particularly in the Canadian River Country, the nesting ground has been built to order for Hungarian Partridges," writes Eltinge F. Warner, publisher of FIELD & STREAM, in the current issue of that popular sportsman's magazine. A wire from Gene Howe, of Amarillo, Texas, quoted in Mr. Warner's article, says that numerous large coveys have been raised from the original planting of 150 pairs of these speedy game birds, shipped in from Canada last March and April.

The partridge planting project was conceived in 1942, while Elt Warner, Tom Main of Alberta, Gene Howe of Texas and Lou Calder of Florida were enjoying a successful hunt near Brooks, Alberta. Hungarian partridges, plentiful in that area, furnished a big part of the sport. "We'd put up twenty or thirty coveys a day," Warner writes, and goes on to relate how they then and there planned to start the popular game birds in Texas, where along with other Southwestern States, the climate and nesting conditions are ideal. Warner and his hunting pals talked to every one they could find who knew anything about Hungarians, particularly Fred Green of Calgary, who imported the first Huns to Alberta thirty-five years ago. They read everything they could scrape together on the life and habits of the little foreigner, and among other things discovered that the hen lays her eggs in a small depression such as a hoof-print, or anything similar; that unless the soil is sandy and drains off rapidly, the water in these depressions rots the eggs. That is why the Hungarian partridge has not done well in many part of the United States. But in the Panhandle, and in similar areas of New York, conditions are ideal.

On every ranch where the Huns were released the owners have agreed to take care of them and see that the coveys get a fair chance to multiply, and to furnish the game commission with periodical reports on how the birds are doing. A FIELD & STREAM "game protective association" was organized, pledged to take care of the little band.

Murrel L. Buckner, Chairman of the Texas Game, Fish & Oyster Commission, and Gene Howe, a member of the commission, arranged for the distribution areas and supervised the planting. "We are in hopes," Mr. Warner says, "that three years from now there will be a short open season on Hungarians in the Southwestern states." He points out that the Huns are great migrants, and believes that the Texas stock will in time overflow into neighboring areas of similar climate and conditions, just as the birds migrated from their original planting all the way from Western Alberta through Quebec and Ontario, until now there are literally millions of these birds in Canada and our own Northwest.

So Gene Howe's wire is good news to Southwestern sportsmen who look forward to the time when Texas huntsmen can try their skill on one of the fastest, sportiest game birds of all—the Hungarian Partridge.

SUBJECT: A RECOMMENDATION...

FROM THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE U. S.

Supreme Court of the United States
Washington, D. C.

CHAMBERS OF
THE CHIEF JUSTICE
1020 TWENTY-FOURTH STREET, N. W.

The Honorable
The Secretary of the Treasury
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

Both you and the country are to be congratulated on the striking success of the Voluntary Payroll Savings Plan. Through it twenty-seven million wage earners are regularly investing in Government bonds more than $420,000,000 a month to meet the cost of the war. This is of primary importance as an aid to winning the war and as a safeguard against inflation. But it is also important that so many of our fellow citizens are reviving the forgotten art of saving from earnings. One way of securing freedom from want in the future is by saving something from the plenty of today.

Yours sincerely,
Harlan F. Stone

FROM THE CONGRESS OF THE U. S.

Congress of the United States
JOINT COMMITTEE ON INTERNAL REVENUE TAXATION
Washington
June 29, 1943

Dear Mr. Secretary:

Thank you for sending us the description of your expanded payroll savings drive based on the theme "Figure It Out Yourself". The House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee are happy to support the present drive to increase the purchases of War Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. This plan has already achieved a fine record. The fact that twenty-seven million American workmen and women are setting aside almost ten percent of every pay envelope and salary check speaks for itself.

We agree with you, however, that public participation in the financing of this war should be and must be stepped up materially. Not only does the Treasury need added funds, but every dollar diverted from the purchasing stream into savings is a contribution to the fight against inflation. We wish you success in this campaign and we know that the American people will respond to this appeal as they have in the past.

Sincerely,

Hon. Henry Morgenthau, Jr.
Secretary of the Treasury
Washington, D. C.
