

Councilmembers sworn in, seated at May 11 session

Members of the Lockney City Council met Friday, May 11, to canvass the ballots and install the newly elected aldermen.

Mayor Dan Smith and the council members canvassed the votes for the election held on Saturday, May 5 and declared the election legal and valid.

Gary Marr received 138 votes, J.D. Copeland 137 and Jim Doucette 115. Copeland and Marr were running as incumbents for the council and Doucette was voted in as a new member. He will take the place of Ronnie Aston. Aston chose not to run for his place on the council again.

Ronnie Aston moved that the election results be accepted and Kenneth Wofford seconded the motion. All voted for.

The councilmembers were sworn in by Paul Lyle, city attorney.

Once duly sworn in, Mayor Smith presented outgoing councilman, Ronnie Aston, with a plaque in appreciation for the work that he has done during his four years on the council.

In the first order of business Kenneth Wofford was elected Mayor Pro-Tem. He will serve in the absence of Mayor Dan B. Smith. The motion was made by Gary Marr and seconded by Sam Fortenberry.

Gary Marr asked the council if they would help the baseball association with bathrooms at the baseball field. The baseball field was donated to the city by Mrs. John Bickley several years ago.

Marr told the council that last year they had used two port-a-potties during baseball season and that they were not satisfactory. After some discussion the council voted to pay half the cost of the repair of the restrooms if the baseball association would pay the other half.

Marr stated that the Baseball Association would pay their half. J.D. Copeland made the motion to pay one half of the cost for repairs. The motion was seconded by Kenneth Wofford.

Dickie McCarty asked the council to think about installing a larger water line to the houses west of Lockney in the event that more houses are built on the west side of the railroad track. He said that a larger line will be necessary as there is only a one and a quarter inch line running to the two houses that are on city water. A larger line will also be necessary for the installation of a fire hydrant.

McCarty estimated that the cost to the city would be $1900 with the residents paying their share.

This area is not in the incorporated limits of the city and the residents pay a double rate for their water. J.D. Copeland made the motion to table the issue until a later date and the motion was seconded by Sam Fortenberry.

Smith told the council that Irma Lee Duckworth, city secretary, had attended a seminar on Local Government Records Laws. She gave the council a report on what they had learned.

A regulation has been passed requiring cities to designate a Records Management Official. The council had appointed Mrs. Duckworth to this position at a previous council meeting.

All records at City Hall have to be inventoried and filed with the state.

A Records Management Program has to be filed with the state by 1991 and a Records Control Schedule has to be filed by 1995.

The microfilming of records is not required for a city the size of Lockney, at this time, but the council agreed that this was something they would like to have done. The minute books of the council meetings need to be preserved and according to Mrs. Duckworth, they were told at the seminar that, this is the best way to keep them.

Smith reported to the council that there are two individuals in Lockney who are willing to tear down old houses or buildings for their lumber. If the owners of dilapidated property will come by city hall and sign an agreement, there will be no charge for having the buildings torn down.

Each alderman was designated as a department head. According to Smith, "It is easier to have one person in charge of each department to make reports to the council. Councilmen and the departments they are in charge of are: J.D. Copeland, landfill; Sam Fortenberry, Fire Department; Gary Marr, Streets, Alleys and Water; Kenneth Wofford the city farm; and Jim Doucette, Police Department.

J.D. Copeland asked if anyone knew what the regulations would be on the depositing of tires at the landfill and Smith said that he would call the health department and get a reading on the issue.

The council heard the reading of the minutes and they were approved as read. The financial statement was discussed and approved and the bills were paid.

Attending the May meeting of the city council were Dan Smith, Kenneth Wofford, J.D. Copeland, Gary Marr, Sam Fortenberry, Jim Doucette, Dickie McCarty, Paul Lyle and the Beacon reporter.

1990 Lockney TEAMS results revealed

Results of the 1990 Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) test, that were taken in February 1990, were received recently by the Lockney I.S.D. Results overall were favorable. 94% of the students in the district who took the math portion of the test past it. 93% passed the reading test. 86% passed the writing test.

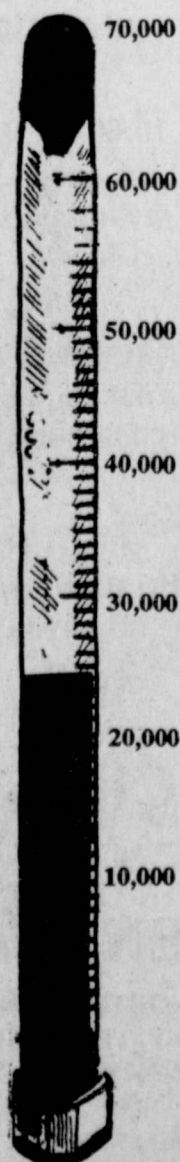

Some of the individual classes performed very well on the tests. The 7th grade had the highest percentage of students passing all three tests at 96%. They were followed closely by the 11th grade. 92% of the Juniors who took the test passed. Other scores included the 5th grade at 81%, the 9th grade at 77%, and the 3rd grade at 71%. The district-wide average was 82%. These figures can sometimes be misleading because some students perform very well in some areas and not as well in others. Only students who pass all three tests are included in these averages. The statewide average for students passing all three tests was 75%.

The most accurate indicator for determining success on the tests is the comparison between district and statewide averages broken down into grade level and subjects. The following chart shows the comparison:

Percentage of Students Mastering

Nursing Home Week - May 13-19

"Pride In Caring" recognizes workers

There are some very special people in our community who are rarely recognized for the service and care they provide to some of our most important citizens. We are referring to the caregivers who work with our elderly, particularly in nursing homes.

Rushing about our daily lives, it is easy to forget that these people have chosen to work with our elders, taking time to hold a hand, share a laugh, and give the assistance needed to help a grandmother and a grandfather have a little more dignity and independence today than they would have had otherwise.

Not everyone is cut out for this kind of vocation. The people who work in Texas nursing home could often make more money somewhere else. They include licensed nurses, social workers, managers, dietitians, trained nurse aides, pharmacists, volunteers and others.

As our population ages, and more and more of us are likely to spend some part of our lives in a nursing home, it is clear that we should celebrate these devoted caregivers and encourage them to take pride in the work they have chosen.

President Bush has declared May 13-19 National Nursing Home Week, with "Pride in Caring" as the theme. Governor Clements has signed a proclamation encouraging recognition of Texas Nursing Home Week and our local caregivers.

We think this is fitting, and we encourage our community to let nursing home workers know that we appreciate their good work.

SPS passes along savings

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) today filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to credit $20.7 million to its Texas retail customers for savings in fuel costs.

Retail customers include residential, commercial and industrial users.

A residential customer using 1,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a month would receive a one-time credit of $22.51. The proposed credit includes interest at an annual rate of 11.7 percent.

SPS expects to get swift approval on this filing, said Gerald Diller, SPS's a group manager of rates and regulation.

"We hope to be able to apply the credit to our customer's July bills," he said.

The credit would cover fuel expenses from April 1989 through March 1990.

"Several factors made these savings for customers possible," Diller said. "For example, expenses related to the purchase of power from other electric companies were reduced. Also, we were able to negotiate for lower fuel contracts at our power plants. Additionally, this credit includes customer's share of the proceeds made from off-system sales to other electric utilities. The net result is lowered costs for our customers."

Of the $20.7 million requested credit, about $11.2 million accumulated since the beginning of the year. This primarily was due to the delay in getting approval from the Texas commission to implement a new lower "fuel-cost recovery factor," SPS's original request, filed in November 1989, was to implement the lower "fuel-cost recovery factor" by Jan. 1. The factor was ultimately implemented on April bills, Diller said, resulting in an overall 9.6 percent rate decrease.

"SPS expends significant effort to keep its fuel expenses down. And since the cost of fuel makes up about half of an electric bill, that's very important to the customer," he said. "By continuing to be a low-cost producer of power, SPS is sending the message that this part of the country is a great place for relocating and expanding businesses."

Holmes noted that SPS's industrial rates already are among the lowest in the nation.

"We are active in economic-development activities in our region, and we are pleased to be able to pass this savings to our customers," he said.

TB is on the increase among minorities

Although tuberculosis (TB) infects many people, those who develop the disease's symptoms sometimes fail to seek health care. Health officials attribute that fact to a lack of understanding about how serious untreated TB can be.

The same officials cite that lack of knowledge about TB as one of the main reasons for a current increase of TB among Texas minorities.

Dr. Michael Kelley, of the Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Bureau of Disease Control and Epidemiology, said that until recently TB was declining nationwide.

However, TB cases among Texans increased in 1988 and 1989, especially among the black population. Dr. Kelley said that last year 529 blacks contracted tuberculosis, compared with 479 in 1988.

Reports also show increased TB cases among Hispanics and persons infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS.

"Before TB can be treated or cured, it first must be recognized. Years ago, when tuberculosis was a leading cause of death, the disease was often suspect in a patient. Today, though, doctors and nurses inexperienced with tuberculosis may overlook the disease, thus delaying a diagnosis."

Tuberculosis is an infectious disease primarily affecting a person's lungs and may spread to other organs causing severe complications or death. The disease is both preventable and curable if patients comply with the physician's instructions in taking medication.

The disease usually is spread by exhaled airborne bacteria from someone with the disease who may infect family, friends and co-workers.

Dr. Kelley said that the general symptoms of TB include cough, fatigue, weight loss, fever or night sweats.

The federal Centers for Disease Control's "Strategic Plan for the Elimination of Tuberculosis in the United States" has a goal of 99 percent reduction in tuberculosis by 2010.

Dr. Kelley explained that to reach that goal in Texas, the TDH tuberculosis control programs will have to: (1) concentrate its surveillance of infection among high risk group; (2) more thoroughly investigate patients' contacts; and (3) more closely monitor patients' compliance in taking their medications.

"We cannot over-emphasize the role of the public health nurses in Texas. They are the front-line educators, counselors and health care providers in preventing and detecting TB and other dis-

Teams win in Consumer Decision Making contest

Floyd County had two teams competing in the District 4-H Consumer Decision Making Contest held in Lubbock recently. There were over 50 youth from a 20 county district competing in three age categories for top honors.

The Consumer Decision Making Contest has two parts. First of all, contestants must place eight classes of consumer items. They choose the best items for a given situation. The classes included items such as savings accounts, toys, snack foods, jeans and others. The youth had to learn what indicates quality in each of the items, the terminology, of the class, and how to purchase items for a given situation.

After each class was placed, the contestants had to give oral reasons. They stood before a judge and listed specific reasons why they placed one item over another along with each item's good points and bad ones.

The Junior 1 team from Floyd County consisted of Wesley Hunter, Sarah Martin, Kaci Mathis, and Lindi Miller, all of Lockney. Kaci placed 3rd high individual in placing the classes. The team placed second high in oral reasons score and Kaci placed 3rd high individual overall.

Mandy Hunter, Allen Martin, Cynthia Martin and Chelsea Patridge, all of Lockney, made up the Junior 2 team. Cynthia was 2nd high individual in placing scores, and the team was 2nd high team in placing scores. Cynthia also received 2nd high individual overall and the team was the second high placing team overall.
