Truman Blocks Plan To Boost Air Force

Move To End Deadlock In Strikes Made

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29.—Another slivver of hope slanted feebly across the nation's darkened steel-coal strike picture today.

The government—working feverishly to crack the industry-stifling steel deadlock — dropped squarely in the lap of the CIO United Steelworkers a move by small producers to recall the presidential fact finding board for clarification of its peace formula.

Otherwise, the situation remained as dour as ever.

The steel and coal strike twins have outgrown their swaddling clothes. A robust four and six weeks old respectively, they have left the nation's economy battered.

Solon Urges Deadline

(Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) urged President Truman today to fix a three-day deadline for settlement of the steel-coal strikes and then invoke the Taft-Hartley law injunction weapon to reopen the two basic industries, International News Service reported.)

While President Truman says the strikes do not yet add up to a national emergency, more than a million workers are idled and losses are in the hundreds of million of dollars.

In the steel and coal capital of Pittsburgh, requests for jobless aid are flooding state employment offices at the rate of 10,000 a day, most of them as an indirect result of the strikes. That's the pattern elsewhere.

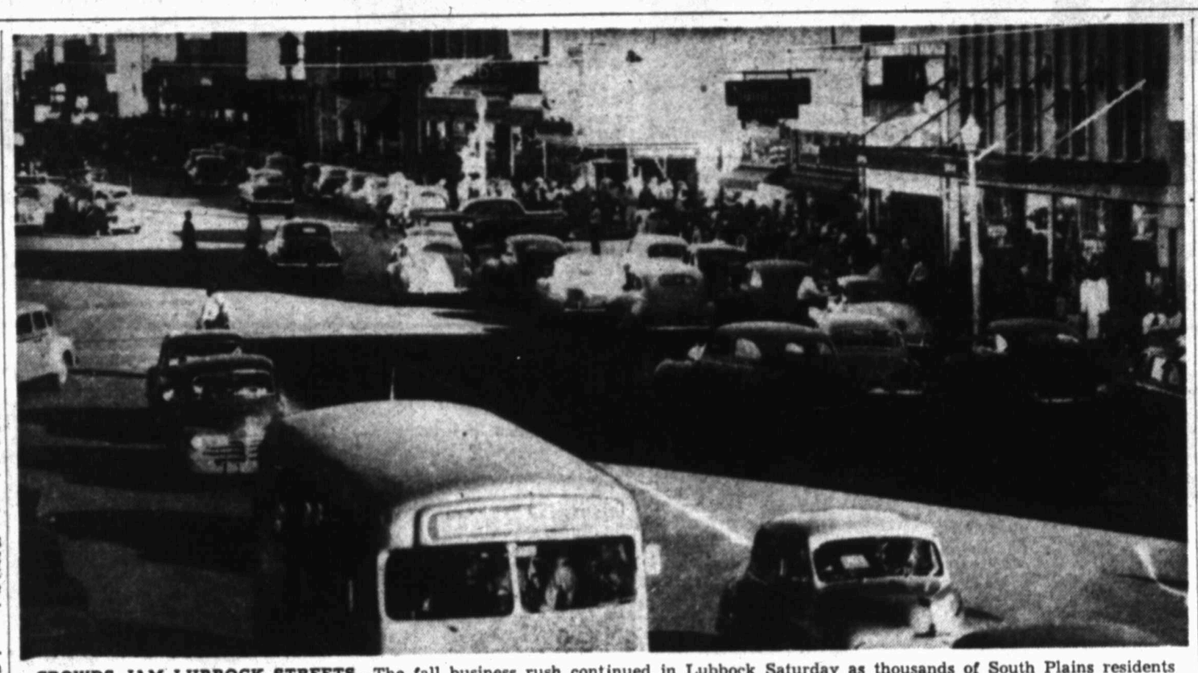

Mediators Continue Talks

Federal mediators are continuing talks with top steel producers in an effort to drive a peace wedge into a stalemate but say they haven't gotten anywhere yet. The coal strike is just jogging along with negotiations off until Tuesday.

Steelworker President Philip Murray has 500,000 unionists out of the mills in his fight for free pensions and insurance. United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis doesn't call strikes but 380,000 of his men are staying home in support of his fight for a new contract with more pay, more pensions.

The fact finders recommended a 10-cent hourly package of com-

CROWDS JAM LUBBOCK STREETS—The fall business rush continued in Lubbock Saturday as thousands of South Plains residents jammed sidewalks and streets in a typical fall Saturday in the city. Many business houses reported sales booming and comparing favorably with other fall rushes. Even larger crowds are expected as the area's record breaking cotton harvest picks up momentum and more workers arrive on the Plains in the next few weeks. The picture above, taken from the balcony of the Lubbock hotel looking east on Broadway, was made with the Avalanche-Journal's "big bertha" camera and shows sidewalks and streets packed almost solid. Chinese Reds Seize Five U. S. Officials

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. Chinese Communists have seized the American consul general at Mukden and four members of his staff, it was disclosed today. The State department at once ordered intervention with the highest Red authorities.

The Communists accused the official, Angus Ward, and his companions of beating unconscious a former Chinese employe. They said the case would go before "the Mukden people's court."

The arrest apparently came a week or so ago. Official word reached here today after taking five days to squeeze out of China. The Chinese Communist radio gave its version today.

Czech Actions Denounced

About the same time, the State department hotly denounced actions against American diplomats on the other side of the Communist world — Czechoslovakia. The Red regime there had accused two American diplomats and arrested an embassy clerk on spy charges.

It was learned that almost certainly the next American step will be ouster of one or two Czech diplomats from this country on the ground their activities are contrary to the interests of the United States.

The Czechs have an embassy here and a consulate in New York and other cities.

Fits Crackdown Pattern

State department officials took note that the Mukden incident fitted a pattern of crackdowns by Communist authorities on American diplomatic outposts in many places.

The Mukden incident, climax of a year of conflict with the Chinese Communists over the office in strategic Manchuria, caused obvious concern among officials here.

They could not tell what the Chinese Communists are driving at — whether they want to try to expel the consulate staff in "disgrace," or are seeking a basis for keeping its members there indefinitely.

The Communist radio pictured the Mukden population aroused by the accounts of a "savage and brutal act perpetrated by Ameri-

SHOWERS SEEN

Cold Front To Cover Plains

Colder weather was moving over the Panhandle and into the South Plains early today as a moderate cold front slowly swept into the state, bringing promise of cloudy weather and scattered showers.

Already past Amarillo at midnight, the cold front was expected to move over the South Plains early today, bringing increasing cloudiness, and widely scattered drizzling rain and showers to the area by nightfall, the Lubbock Weather bureau said early today.

No sharp drop in temperatures was forecast. The low this morning was expected to be about 40 degrees, dropping to the mid-thirties tonight and early Monday. High today is expected to be in the mid-sixties. Fairly strong winds from the north also have been forecast today.

Meanwhile, the rest of the state had mild readings Saturday with heavy showers reported along the coast the Associated Press said.

HST Rebuffs Congress On Use Of Funds

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—President Truman overrode Congress today on the hotly-debated 58-group Air Force issue.

He signed a $15,585,863,498 military appropriation—the biggest in peacetime history—but in doing so he ordered the secretary of defense to impound $615 million that the lawmakers had voted to build up the Air Force to 58 groups.

Mr. Truman's budget provided for a 48-group force and that is about what he'll now get. The Air Force will acquire about 1,400 new planes instead of 1,800.

Vast Upkeep Considered

In forbidding the proposed expansion of the air arm, the President said in effect that it isn't only the original cost but the upkeep—more men to man the planes, more operating costs, more replacement expense; all in all "greatly increased" future expenses.

Furthermore, he delcared, to give the Air Force more than provided in his budget would be "inconsistent with a realistic and balanced security program which we can support in peacetime."

The $15,585,863,498 appropriation represents more than $100 for each man, woman and child in the United States. It is far more than one-third of the entire federal budget.

Action Considered Valid

Heads of the House and Senate Appropriations committees did not question the validity of the President's action. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), who has led a fight to cut federal costs, praised it. But some Republican lawmakers were critical.

Sen. Brewster (R-Me), interviewed at Bangor, Me., said he was not surprised at the President's move but added it raises the question: "What are the limits of his disregard of Congress?"

The big money bill provides the following sums:

Army: $4,380,644,298 cash.
Navy: $4,285,382,200 cash and $643,546,000 contract authority.
Air Force: $4,088,386,000 cash

Drop Seen In U. S. Food Bill

By WILLIAM L. UMSTEAD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The Agricultural department predicted tonight that Americans will eat more and pay less for food in 1950 than they did this year.

The report on the "national food situation" also said that Americans will have a healthier diet next year because of an increase in supplies of the major nutritious foods.

Price Decline Seen

Although the report forecast an optimistic food situation in 1950 for consumers, it had bad news for the farmers. It said that prices received by farmers next year may average 10 per cent below the 1949 level.

The Agriculture department said:

"Food consumption per capita probably will be at least as high next year as in 1949 and might even increase slightly. Consumer purchases of food will be encouraged next year by the plentiful supplies and by the slightly lower retail prices which appear likely."

Supply Boost Indicated

The report said that its prediction of increased food consumption "arises from the forecasts of increases in lard, pork, eggs, butter, cheese, canned fish, dry beans, frozen foods and perhaps fresh vegetables."

In discussing the food price situation for 1950, the report declared:

"The relatively slow decline in retail prices is expected to continue, with retail food prices gradually reflecting more of the decreases in farm and wholesale prices which have occurred since mid-1948."

Variations Expected

The Agriculture department pointed out that the demand and supply situation for individual food commodities will "vary considerably" of course. Then it said:

"Some decrease in retail prices is to be expected in those foods such as pork whose supplies are likely to be increased substantially.

"As compared with 1949, retail prices are also expected to average lower for most dairy products, fats and oils, poultry and eggs,

Estimates Hiked In Several Counties

1,523,000 Bale Crop Forecast For Area

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A 1949 South Plains cotton crop of 1,523,000 bales if the first freeze does not occur before the "normal" date — about Nov. 10 —was forecast Saturday by K. N. Clapp after a community-by-community survey of conditions prevailing above the Caprock.

The figure is 138,000 larger than his Sept. 1 forecast of 1,385,000 bales. Ginnings last year approximated 644,000 bales.

He said a freeze the second week of November would reduce his estimates by 40,000 to 70,000 bales. A freeze later than that date would add to his total. First freezes have occurred as late as Dec. 5 and as early as Oct. 19.

Clapp said, however, that at least 1,500,000 bales of cotton either have been ginned or are "on the bush."

"How many bales may be lost because of wind and weather or because of delayed harvesting are questions only the Angel Gabriel can answer," he commented.

Improvements in crop prospects, he reported, have been general over the South Plains since Sept. 1. In only one county did he forecast fewer ginnings than two months ago. This was in Deaf Smith, where present prospects of 2,000 bales are 1,000 less than Sept. 1.

The greatest improvement in prospects was reported for Lubbock county.

260,000 Seen In Lubbock

If the freeze is delayed until Nov. 10, Clapp expects Lubbock county ginnings to total, or exceed, 260,000 bales, as compared with a Sept. 1 prediction of 220,000 and 1948 ginnings of 126,000.

This would be by far the largest cotton production in any county in the history of Texas.

The largest total for any Texas county reported this year thus far was in Cameron, in the Lower Rio Grande valley, where ginnings have approximated 229,000 bales. The harvest there has been finished.

The largest production for any county in the United States, insofar as Clapp could ascertain, was in Bolivar, county, Miss., where 292,000 bales were ginned in 1926. The county is several times larger in area than Lubbock.

There is little likelihood, however, that Lubbock will be the

New Navy Head Sought

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. — Sen. Thomas (D-Utah) declared today that the officer nominated to succeed Adm. Louis E. Denfeld will have to prove he will support military unification before the upper chamber will approve the appointment.

Thomas, sponsor of the original unification bill, indicated the nominee's record will be scrutinized and the officer closely questioned to gain assurance he will not split the armed services as has Denfeld's accusation that Defense Secretary Johnson is whittling down the Navy.

Sen. Johnson (D-Colo) supported Thomas in forecasting a coming phase in the row which has rocked the nation and resulted in removal of Denfeld as chief of naval operations. Johnson said:

Backs Civilian Control

"It is my understanding that the question at issue is whether we should have civilian control or military control. I'm all for civilian control. In military matters I want the experts 'on tap' and not 'on top.' "

Other developments in the controversy:

1. Navy Secretary Matthews said he has offered Denfeld an important assignment in which he would retain his rank of full admiral. This would necessitate reduction in rank for one of the other four holding the same rank as the law provides only five full admirals and Denfeld's successor will automatically attain that rank.

Sherman Enroute

2. Vice Adm. Forrest Sherman, sixth task fleet commander whose appointment to succeed Denfeld is expected, was enroute to Washington, where he is due to arrive tonight.

3. A new investigation loomed by the House Armed Services committee, which had been assured by Johnson that no "reprisals" would follow testimony during the group's recently-concluded investigation. It was during that probe that Denfeld lodged his charges against Johnson.

Denfeld refused to discuss his reaction to Johnson's job offer, but close associates said the admiral would not accept any post "subordinate to his successor." This appeared to rule out any post Matthews could offer.

The admiral is expected to relinquish his post formally on Mon-

Methodist Group To Build Church

A fund-raising campaign for construction of a permanent building for Forrest Heights Methodist church—newest unit of a fast-expanding network of Methodist churches in Lubbock—is to be launched this week.

The new church home is to be built at Thirty-third and Monroe Ave., on a tract of land donated by the late S. Lamar Forrest. Ultimate total cost of the structure will be about $350,000.

It will be the first Methodist church to be constructed in Southwest Lubbock proper, and will be located in a part of the city which is fast becoming known as a "community of churches," with Trinity Baptist, Lubbock View Christian, and Westminster Presbyterian churches already in the immediate vicinity.

Group Meetings Planned

Preparatory to initiating the building fund campaign, the Forrest Heights congregation will be divided into small groups and will meet with the pastor, Rev. Burgin Watkins, at various times during the coming week to be advised of details concerning the campaign.

At a church banquet Thursday night at First Methodist church, the congregation approved the Man Slugged, Robbed Here

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A 43-year-old man seeking a cotton-pulling job arrived in Lubbock at 1:30 p. m. Saturday and went to Lubbock Memorial hospital 30 minutes later after two men slugged him, beat him on the head with a heavy wooden club and robbed him of approximately $3.50, his total fortune.

Two men, later charged with robbery by assault, were captured by city police shortly after the attack in the stockyards area in the vicinity of Ave. B and Fifteenth street.

Harold Eugene Parvin, victim of the attack, was released from Lubbock Memorial after treatment for his head wounds, but he hobbled into West Texas hospital at 9:30 p.m. complaining of a possible fractured leg.

In county jail last night, held in lieu of $2,500 bond each on the robbery by assault charge were Earl Edward Boone, 40, of Ada, Okla., and James L. Meredith, also 40, of Paris.

The complaints were sworn by City Detective Le Roy Boling, jr., before E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, and filed in the court

BELGRADE, Oct. 29. — Yugoslavia accused Hungary today of a rocket and machinegun attack on the Croatian frontier and Marshal Tito was reported secretly mobilizing his reservists against a possible Cominform guerrilla invasion.

The Yugoslav foreign office called the attack "an open, deliberate provocation" in a protest note handed to the Hungarian legation.

An interior ministry communique announced that Hungarian frontier guards made the attack on a 200-yard-stretch of the Yugoslav frontier in the Donji-Miholjac area of Croatia Thursday and Friday.

It was described as the most explosive incident to occur on the Yugoslav-Hungarian frontier to date. The interior ministry called it an attempt to increase "warmongering propaganda" and "a provocation aimed at sharpening relations" between Yugoslavia and the Moscow-led Cominform.

The interior ministry said Yugoslav troops did not return the fire, which was mixed with hand grenade explosions and remained in their positions "ready for further

Union 'Walkout' Continues Here

General optimism for a quick settlement of the Roofer's union protest walkout here Friday seemed to be the prevailing sentiment Saturday as everyone awaited the arrival of a union negotiator, probably on Monday.

The decision to stay away from work was reached by the men at a special meeting Thursday, after the roofing contractors rejected a union bid for a 12½ cents an hour wage boost.

Troy Ross, business agent for the union, which has about 60 members, said the walkout was not a strike, and that the men had not been ordered off the job. He indicated that the exodus was a voluntary movement of the roofers after the Thursday meeting.

No Immediate Threat

The protest walkout posed no immediate threat to the multi-million dollar construction program now under way in the city, but could hinder construction on several projects if it continues for any length of time.

Both the contractors and the roofers were hoping that the representative of the International Roofer's association would be able to mediate successfully the dispute upon his arrival here.

Rosss said the man was expected Monday, but that he had not received any definite word to that effect as yet.

Union workers at first demanded a 25-cent boost when they met with the contractors two weeks ago, but they cut this in half with the understanding that they would

Alabama Jury Acquits Admitted Ex-Klansman On Flogging Charge

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 29 (AP) — Coleman A. (Brownie) Lollar, an admitted former Klansman, today was acquitted on a charge of flogging while masked.

The jury deliberated little more than an hour before freeing the former special deputy sheriff. Loud applause greeted the verdict.

A prosecutor had told the jury a conviction would mean the end of "masked mob rule" in Alabama.

Lollar was the first to be tried of 18 men arrested on flogging and related charges. The 18 were indicted after a wave of floggings and cross burning in the county. Most were in the Hill country west of Birmingham.

Lubbock Gains Reputation As Construction Industry Center

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

SO QUIETLY that few persons here know it, Lubbock has gained a nationwide reputation as a center of big-time construction operations that bring millions of dollars to the city annually.

An outstanding example came to light Saturday, when it was revealed that Carl E. Maxey and J. D. Leftwich, Lubbock general contractors, have been awarded a contract for construction of 60 houses at Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, N. M., on a low bid of $653,000.

The government reserves the right to increase this project by another 35 houses that would raise the total cost to more than $900,000.

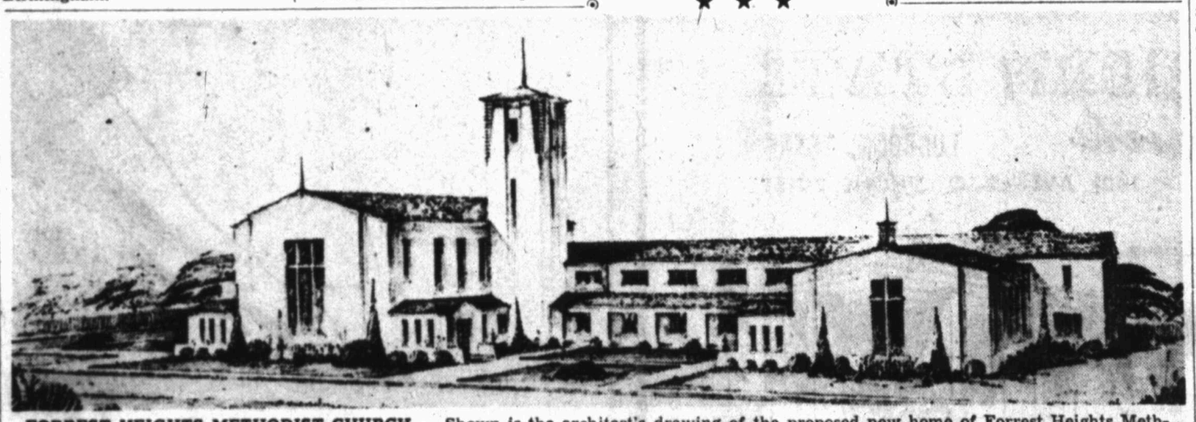

This latest award to Maxey and Leftwich brings to $5,250,000 the total volume of large-scale government work in New Mexico and at the U. S. atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., that the firm has under contract.

Now the firm is preparing its bid on another tremendous Oak Ridge project expected to cost between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

DISTRICT MEET HELD AT TECH

West Texas Hi-Y Members Pick Model Legislature Candidates

Charlie Thompson, Amarillo, was nominated as candidate for governor from the West Texas district for the statewide Hi-Y model legislature to be held in Austin Dec. 9-11 at a district meeting held on the Texas Tech campus Saturday.

Betty Hornback and Bill Bramley, both of Abilene, were nominated as candidates for the positions of lieutenant-governor and reading clerk of the house, respectively.

The West Texas district meeting Saturday included addresses by several members of the Tech government staff, Preston Smith, state representative, and Claude Gilmer, chairman of the Board for Texas Hospitals and Special Schools.

Procedure Studied

Fields of needed legislation for which bills will be introduced at the model legislature in December were discussed by the speakers, while the procedure for introducing a bill and the path it takes in becoming law were also outlined. The Austin meeting will bring together members from all over the state, who will vote on the candidates for the various offices and introduce model bills.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, gave the welcoming address to the group in the opening session at 10 a. m. Saturday. The president stressed the need for every individual to assume a feeling of responsibility in government, since the democratic system cannot survive unless that is done. He asserted that the prevalent movement to urban areas in the United States brings about a corresponding passiveness in governmental affairs.

Reforms Are Urged

A revision of the state constitution and a unicameral legislature were advocated by J. W. Jackson of the government faculty in a roundtable discussion Saturday morning. He was following by Rep. Smith, who discussed the need for reform in legislative practice.

Both Smith and Gilmer emphasized that legislation must be considered from the viewpoint of the entire state and not of a particular section. Gilmer discussed problems relating to the mentally ill and the needed reforms along that line in Texas today.

Dr. Reginald Rushing, head of the Tech accounting and finance department and another member of the roundtable, spoke on the need for additional tax legislation, stressing that a good tax is one which does not tend to destroy the source.

Dr. J. W. Davis, head of the government department, outlined government in Texas, while S. M. Kennedy of the government faculty told how a bill is drafted and introduced into the legislature. R. D. Mack, also a government instructor, sketched the path a bill takes in becoming law.

Delegates came to the Saturday meeting from Lubbock, Amarillo, Abilene, Big Spring, Wichita Falls, Vernon, Pampa and Borger. Another district session was held simultaneously at the University of Houston, while a third was held a week ago at Baylor university in Waco. Dr. Byron Abernethy of the Tech government faculty was in charge of the West Texas meeting and Clyde Seely, Plainview, is district secretary.

Soil Conservation Leaders Plan Meet

A number of South Plains soil conservation leaders are to go to San Antonio this week for the annual meeting of Soil Conservation District supervisors there on Nov. 1 and 2. All districts of the area are requested to send their representatives to the meeting.

Attending from this area will be E. R. Davis and H. L. Weems of the Lubbock county Soil Conservation district; K. K. Moore, secretary, and R. L. Littlepage, chairman of the Lynn district board, of Lynn county; Leon Lawson of Pettit and H. T. Harrell of Levelland of the Hockley county board and S. P. Starrett of Crosbyton and Ernest Harris of Ralls of the Crosby county board.

Moore, who was a captain in Gen. Patton's army in World War II, will speak at one of the sessions on "Why Squander the Soil We Fought so Hard to Protect."

Religious Emphasis Week Programs Set For Tech Students

The place of religion in the present and future life of students at Texas Technological college will be the theme this week as the college observes Religious Emphasis week.

Dr. W. McFerrin Stowe, pastor of the First Methodist church at Stillwater, will be speaker for each of the four nights — Monday through Thursday — to be observed, according to Marion Baumgardner, Wellington, president of the Student Religious council.

How religion can help in building a personality, choosing a philosophy of life, a marriage partner and a career will be the topics to be discussed by Dr. Stowe. The Stillwater minister will tie religion up with everyday practical ways of establishing oneself in the world of today, Baumgardner said.

Each night's address will begin at 8 o'clock, according to Baumgardner, in the recreation hall at the college. Students and others are among those expected to attend the nightly addresses.

Dr. Stowe is a graduate of Boston university, where he received his doctor of philosophy degree, and of Duke university, where he was awarded the doctor of Bible degree. He did other studies at Hendrix college in Conway, Ark., and for the last four-and-a-half years has served as liason person between the General Board of education for the Methodist church and Methodist theological schools.

USE OF COPPER OPPOSED

Increased Opposition Seen To Proposed Plumbing Code Change

Further opposition developed Saturday to a new Lubbock plumbing code approved on first reading by the city commission last week and scheduled for final action at the semi-monthly meeting on Nov. 10.

Oscar B. Ray, president of the South Plains Associated Plumbing contractors, said a delegation of Lubbock members of that organization will urge the commission to make numerous changes in the code as now proposed.

The expectation was that members of the plumbers' labor unions also will join in the opposition.

Copper Arouses Controversy

The most controversial point in the ordinance appeared to revolve about the use of copper fittings in certain plumbing installations.

Under the existing code, the use of copper is not allowed. However, no attempt at vigorous enforcement of the code has been pretended since the beginning of the war emergency.

The proposed new code, in its present form, would permit the use of copper in installations above the ground. Mayor W. H. Rodgers has approved a further revision of the code to permit the use of the metal below ground so that the builder will be free to decide what kind of fixtures are installed on his property.

Health Hazard Claimed

Spokesmen for plumbers and several contractors have argued that the use of copper in many types of fixtures is hazardous to health and might be dangerous.

These claims have been disputed vigorously.

Some of the copper advocates have charged some of the plumbers with opposing the use of that metal because they can make more money if the use of copper is forbidden.

Spokesmen for plumbers and contractors have denied this allegation vigorously.

"All that members of the Associated Plumbing contractors want is a uniform city code that will protect the public health and give the citizens of Lubbock the best service possible for the money invested," Ray declared.

"After due consideration and study of all materials used in plumbing installations, it was the decision of this group to protest the use of copper materials for sewage and gas installations. We feel that ethical contractors want to give their customers the most they can for the money invested.

More Time Required

"A soil (cast iron) pipe and lead installation is no more expensive than a copper installation. As a rule, it takes the mechanic longer to make a soil pipe installation. But if a copper installation is properly made, there is little difference in the time required. It is our belief, confirmed by experiments conducted by the American Society of Sanitary engineers, that cast iron will withstand sewage gases much better than copper."

City officials pointed out, however, that in the code now pending, no one would be required to use any particular kind of metal for certain types of installations. They would be given authority, however, to use copper if they desired. The present code does not give them that choice.

Officials said also the proposed new code is modeled from those in operation in most of the larger cities of Texas.

City Of Brownfield Seeking Grant For Airport Expansion

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 29 (Special)—The city of Brownfield has joined the Terry county commissioners court in requesting a Civil Aeronautics Authority grant of $34,000 for construction of an adequate airport, according to David Nicholson, manager of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the project.

While action on the fund request is being awaited, city, county and chamber of commerce officials are making preliminary studies of proposed sites for the new airport.

The $30,000 granted the city and county for construction of the new airport would be augmented by approximately $40,000 of CAA money, sponsors said.

Brownfield will be in a position to benefit from commercial air transportation if an adequate airport is provided, according to the sponsors.

Tests Show Diabetic Index Here Slightly Under National Figure

Of 1,407 persons who submitted urine specimens in connection with a recent Diabetes Detection week observance in Lubbock county, 21 were found to have significant amounts of sugar, it was announced Saturday.

The announcement followed the reference of test findings to private physicians for interpretation.

Three persons were shown to have four plus sugar (two per cent plus); one had three plus (one per cent); four had two plus (three-fourths per cent); and 13 had one plus (one-half per cent).

Grim Outlook

The percentage, a diabetic specialist here said, is slightly less than the national average of one diabetic out of every 70 persons.

Numerous "traces" were shown in tests, but physicians discounted their significance.

Because diabetes is a major cronic disease and, in numbers affected, is outranked only by heart disease and its related blood vessel and kidney disorders, and by cancer and rheumatism, more attention will be given here to the detection drive next year, it was announced. The number of potential diabetics presents a grave challenege to the American people. There are probably two million in the U. S. now, only half of whom have been identified. The other million have not yet had their disease discovered. The number of potential diabetics is even greater. More than four million, or about three per cent of the population, may eventually become diabetic.

Continuous Tests Offered

Hope that Lubbock county persons will avail themselves of the offer of City County Department of Public Health to "come to our laboratory at any time for a free test" was expressed by public health officials and members of Lubbock-Crosby County Medical society, which cooperated in sponsoring the drive here under auspices of the American Diabetes association.

"Just go to the laboratory from one to two hours after a meal and collect a urine specimen for test purposes," it was suggested.

"Diabetes is unique among the diseases common in middle or later life in that insulin provides a specific means of control. No comparable specific treatment is available for any other major disease."

Persons 40 years old or older should take such a test at least once a year, national authorities on the disease have suggested.

While appreciation was expressed at the public's response to the drive this year, plans for testing perhaps 10 times as many individuals in 1950 are already being discussed here.

Legion Poppy Sale To Get Underway In Lubbock Saturday

One hundred American Legion auxiliary members and high school girls will tour Lubbock on Saturday, selling poppies made by war veterans in the Legion hospital at Kerrville and Veterans Administration hospital in Waco.

All workers in the annual Legion poppy day sale will be unpaid volunteers, and money contributed for the poppies will be used by the Legion auxiliary for rehabilitation and child welfare work in Lubbock.

Poppies are purchased from the veterans in hospitals for resale by the auxiliary.

Price Up To Buyers

Mrs. Floyd Lebow, auxiliary third vice-president, said that no set price will be asked for the poppies in Lubbock.

"People are asked to contribute as much as possible."

Auxiliary poppy chairman is Mrs. R. J. Watson, who will direct the corps of volunteer workers on Saturday.

The auxiliary has purchased 10,500 poppies to sell this year, a slight increase over the number sold here last year. The 1948 sale was the largest ever held by the auxiliary here in terms of total contributions, and an even larger total is expected this year.

Appropriation Shortage Delays Construction Of Super-Highway

HOUSTON, Oct. 29 (U.P.)—The $3 million per mile super-highway from Houston to Galveston will not be completed until late in 1952 because of a shortage of construction cash, a highway department spokesman said today.

District Engineer Jim Douglas said it might not be finished until early in 1953, despite the fact that much of the basic work has been completed.

Douglas said federal appropriations hadn't been made available with the speed hoped for earlier, which would have made the six-lane road complete late in 1951.

"We had hoped to have enough money to complete the freeway by the end of our 1951 construction program, but it looks now like we will be lucky if we run only a year late," Douglas stated.

(The federal government matches the state on a dollar-for-dollar basis in paying for construction of major roads.)

Rehearsals For Fourth Annual Lions Club Minstrels Move Into High Gear This Week

Rehearsals for the Fourth Annual Lions Club Jubilee Minstrels will go into high gear this week and over the next weekend in preparation for the "bigger and better" show the nights of November 8 and 9 in the Lubbock High school auditorium.

The benefit performance is for the Girl Scouts Club House at Buffalo Lakes, one of the Lion Club's major projects. Exchange tickets have been on sale all week by the more than 300 members of the club and a ticket booth is in operation in the lobby of the Hilton hotel.

All Seats Reserved

All seats are reserved and range in price from 60 cents to $1.50. Exchange tickets sell for one dollar each.

Groves Denman, Lions Club president, said the sale of tickets has been pleasing at this advanced stage; but efforts will be stepped up this week to fill the auditorium both nights. A preliminary show will be staged Monday night for students of Texas Technological college and military personnel.

Dr. Clyde Craig, director of this year's show, has promised the production to be "better than ever." The chorus has been rehearsing twice weekly under the direction of Richard Richards for several weeks and will be ready for dress reheadsals this coming weekend.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson serves again this year as interlocutor for the elaborately costumed group. End men are Dr. Craig, Cotton Thompson, W. D. Rodgers, Leon Harris, Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, and Dallas Whaley. Lawrence Ivey is pianist.

Specialty acts, too, are being rounded into perfection, and candy salesmen, bankers, ushers, prop men, and in fact the entire club is ready for the big opening next week, according to Denman.

California Police Get Okay On Pumping Man's Stomach

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—In California anyway, a policeman doesn't need a search warrant to pump out a suspect's stomach for evidence.

Superior Judge W. Turney Fox handed down that ruling yesterday and convicted Anthony Rochin, 22-year-old truck driver on a narcotics charge. Rochin's lawyers protested that using a stomach pump against a man's will is the same as making him testify against himself.

Judge Fox said he was sorry but the California supreme court had ruled tht evidence is admissible, no matter how you get it.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS

1873 - 1949

Many Lubbock "old timers" who still are on the sunny side of 30 recall when such present thoroughfares as Avenue Q and Nineteenth street were considered "out in the country."

The original Lubbock townsite consisted of one section of land, known popularly as "Old Town," dedicated by the late Frank E. Wheelock, first mayor, and W. E. Rayner. The present Lubbock National Bank building is a few hundred feet northwest of the approximate center of that tract.

The new City was incorporated March 24, 1909, at about the time Dr. M. C. Overton acquired and platted approximately one section adjoining "Old Town" on the west and bounded generally by Avenue Q, College avenue and Fourth and Nineteenth streets. This was the first large territorial addition to Lubbock, and was included within the boundaries of Lubbock at the time of incorporation.

The corporate limits have been extended from time to time through the years. The present territorial area of Lubbock is 9.59 square miles. Under consideration for annexation are 11.09 more square miles which, if approved, would give the city 20.68 miles of area.

The extreme distance from the Courthouse site to the edge of the original townsite was about one-half a mile. This is in process of being lengthened to approximately five miles — which supplies one yardstick illustrative of the growth of our Hub City of the Plains.

Unit To Be In Legion Hall

Lubbock County Residents To Be Given Chest X-Rays Nov. 2-12

Chest x-ray examinations available to all residents of Lubbock county 15 years of age or older will be given at the American Legion hall each week day beginning Wednesday and continuing through Nov. 12 by a mobile x-ray unit of the State Department of health.

The Lubbock county x-ray survey is being conducted upon invitation of Lubbock-Crosby County Medical society and under co-sponsorship of Lubbock County Tuberculosis association and Hub City Kiwanis club.

Buses To Be Available

School buses from Idalou, New Deal and Frenship are to take high school students to the Legion hall at 10 a.m. Wednesday for x-ray examinations.

At 10 a.m. Thursday, buses from Roosevelt, Shallowater and Cooper will take high school students to the hall.

Examination of school students will require only about an hour on those days and examinations will be given to the general public on the same day and on any other days during the survey.

Carver Heights day will be observed Nov. 7, Slaton day will be observed Nov. 8, and Latin-American day will be observed Nov. 12.

Jewelry To Be Removed

Women will be asked to remove costume jewelry and jackets and men will be asked to remove jackets and empty shirt pockets. Clothing other than jackets may be worn during the examination.

X-rays will be recorded on a large roll of film and sent to Austin for interpretation by a chest specialist. If negative, showing no presence of tuberculosis, the individual will be notified directly. If results are questionable, the family physician will be notified and he will notify the individual. Notice of results will not be mailed for about six weeks.

The mobile unit has been located on Texas Tech campus four days and a total of 2,385 examinations were given there.

Tuberculin Testing To Begin Monday In County School Drive

The annual tuberculin testing program in Lubbock county schools will be conducted this week, beginning Monday, under auspices of Lubbock county Tuberculosis association.

The county x-ray survey which will be conducted at the Legion hall will not affect plans for the annual testing program in schools, since only those students 15 years of age or older would take the x-ray examination.

Permission Slips Required

Tests will be given to all students in first, sixth and 12th grades who have permission slips signed by parents. Tests will be applied by Mrs. Bobbie McLeod, Tuberculosis association nurse; Mrs. Laura Nell Guthrie and Mrs. Bennie Sanford, city school nurses; Mrs. Grayce Garrett, county health nurse; Mrs. Donna Harris and Mrs. J. C. Hitchcock, county school nurses, and Miss Ouida Adams, city health nurse.

A new tuberculin test, Plasto, developed by Dr. H. J. Corper of the National Jewish research department in Denver, will be applied to the skin with wooden applicator sticks, forming a plastic coating. In the type of tests formerly given in the schools, patches were applied. Tuberculosis association officials hope the tests will eliminate the number of retests necessary with the former type of patches, which sometimes became loosened and lost.

Coating To Be Kept Dry

The Plasto coating is to be kept dry and left in place 48 hours. If, however, a marked reaction becomes visible under the film, the coating may be removed. If no reaction is noticed at the end of 48 hours, the test may be left in place for additional time.

Results of tests will be read in the schools Friday by doctors. Reactions will be interpreted as positive, negative or doubtful. If results are doubtful, the test will be repeated. If doubtful, parents will be advised to have the child's chest x-rayed.

Pastor Of Lubbock Church Writes Book On College History

A book tracing the organization and development of the colleges related to the members of the Churches of Christ, written by Dr. M. Norvel Young of Lubbock, has been published by the Old Paths Book club of Kansas City, Mo.

The author, who is pastor of Broadway Church of Christ, is a graduate of four colleges and former faculty member of two colleges. He collected material on which the book is based over a period of two years, originally preparing it as a dissertation in the field of social sciences at George Peabody college in Nashville, Tenn., in 1943. The data recently has been reworked for publication. Material of human interest was added and the history was brought up to date for the book, which is entitled, "A History of Christian Colleges."

From about 1760 through the Revolutionary War, politics occupied the attention of most of the people. "During this period and up until the beginning of the nineteenth century the prospects for all churches looked dark," the author wrote. He quoted Francis Asbury as characterizing the city of Boston in 1798 as a city of "blind priests and backsliding formal people." He quoted Lyman Beecher, then a student in Yale college, as saying concerning that period: "The college was in a most ungodly state. The college church was almost extinct. Most of the students were skeptical and rowdies were plenty. Wine and liquors were kept in many rooms; intemperance, profanity, gambling, and licentiousness were common." At Yale, the author wrote, boys read from Thomas Paine and boasted of their infidelity. At Princeton, only two students in 1782 professed themselves Christians.

"Perhaps this extreme condition contributed to the extreme reaction which followed in the "Second Awakening' or the 'Great Revival of the West' of 1800," Dr. Young wrote. That awakening, he wrote, produced a leader, Barton W. Stone, and gave impetus to two trends — increased interest in Bible study and growing desire for religious liberty and undenominational fellowship — which contributed to the restoration movement.

Beginning with the historical bacground and early attitude of church leaders toward education, he traced the development of various colleges.

Budget Of Terry County Chapter Of Red Cross Talked At Meeting

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 29 (Special)—The budget of the Terry county chapter of the American Red Cross for the year beginning June 1, 1950, was discussed at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Sam Privitt of Brownfield, chapter chairman, said the coming year's budget will be based on this year's which is approximately $1,500. There is expected to be an increase of a few hundred dollars, however, because of increased demands being made on the chapter's funds.

After the chapter budget is set, it will be sent to National Red Cross headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., and used as a basis for setting Terry county's 1950 Red Cross fund quota .The fund drive will begin early in 1950, with Herman Chesshir of Brownfield in charge of the campaign, Mrs. Privitt said.

Rubber Pants Save Life Of Wandering 19-Month-Old Boy

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C., Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Danny Moore's rubber pants more than lived up to advertising claims, his happy parents said today.

The 19-month-old's britches held enough air to keep him above water when he fell into the Little river near here and floated downstream. Fishermen plucked him out and found he was unharmed.

Mrs. Don Moore, Danny's mother, said the tight elastic around his waist and chubby legs kept in the air and transformed the pants into waterwings.

New Roads For Terry Approved

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 29 (Special) Terry county commissioners voted at a recent meeting to build two new Terry county roads, preliminary surveys for which have already been made.

One of the new roads will be from a point north of town on the Levelland highway down the west side of the Santa Fe railway tracks to the Chapman Beasley Grain company. The stretch of roadway will be about one-third of a mile long.

Outlet Is Slated

The other new road will be constructed in the western part of the county near the Yoakum county line. It will begin at the northeast corner of section 25, block D-14, and follow section lines due west four and one-half miles to the southwest corner of section 19, block K.

This new road will afford many residents of western Terry and eastern Yoakum counties outlets to the Pool farm-to-market road, which connects with the Plains-Brownfield highway and other roads.

Appointed by the commissioners as a jury of view to see about securing right-of-way for the new roads were J. M. Telford, sr., Dan Yowell, T. C. Hogue, J. R. Thomas and George Hinson.

Louie Moore Saturday cautioned voters that Friday, Nov. 4, will be the last day to cast an absentee ballot in the Nov. 8 election at which time ten proposed constitutional amendments to the Texas constitution will be up for approval.

Only two ballots had been cast up to Saturday, Moore said.

Also on the Nov. 8 ballot is the election of a representative to the 21-man State Board of Education created by the Legislature last spring.

Idalou Voters Stamp Approval On $85,000 Sewer Project

IDALOU, Oct. 29. (Special)—Idalou residents voted overwhelmingly for an $85,000 revenue bond issue for the installation of a modern sewerage system today, with 91 voting for and only 19 against the issue.

Although the vote was lighter than expected, Mayor Foy Hudson expressed the view that the count indicates the thinking of the entire population. City fathers will go ahead with plans to issue $65,000 of the bonds now, saving the additional $20,000 until such time that the town grows enough to require further sewage and water improvements.

Disease Danger Cited

The city's present system of cess pools, septic tanks and pit toilets was described as a definite potential for polio, dysentary and typhoid by Gerald Jarvis, director of the City-County Department of Public Health.

"The only reasonable answer is a disposal system," he said. His view was backed by Mayor Hudson and the city council, who voted unanimously to call the bond election.

Only the net profits from the disposal system—the gross profits less operating expenses—can be used to pay off the bond issue, the council asserted. The city can never be required by law to levy taxes for the payment of the debt, they said.

Water Rates Changed

More than five miles of sewer pipe will be laid after the bonds are sold, according to Mayor Hudson. That will service all the estimated 1,000 to 1,100 persons now living in the city, many of whom work in Lubbock.

Present water rates of $2 for the first 3,000 gallons and 15 cents for each additional 1,000 gallons will now be changed, according to word given out by the council before today's election. New rates will keep the $2 minimum intact, but the next 10,000 gallons will be charged for at the rate of 40 cents per 1,000 gallons, dropping in amount until it reaches 15 cents per 1,000 for all that above 33,000 gallons. Connection charge to the sewer line will not exceed $15.

Completion of the new system is expected in early spring, if present plans materialize, Mayor Hudson declared. Passage of the bond issue also brings with it a promise from Jarvis that the health department will continue its fly spraying program in Idalou.

Serving on the city council besides the mayor are Earl Yarbrough, H. F. Middleton, L. C. Derrick, L. W. McInroe and J. H. Robbins.

Princess Elizabeth Does Not Smoke, Palace Source Asserts

LONDON, Oct. 29. (UP)—Princess Elizabeth may have an ash tray on her private desk, but she definitely does not smoke, a Buckingham palace source said today.

The question was raised yesterday when the Daily Express published a picture of her writing desk. On it were an ash tray, container of matches, and a cigaret box.

The princess was understood not to have smoked since she took a puff at a cigaret several years ago and tossed it aside with a grimace.

Friends Push Plans To Build Home For Lubbock Woman

Neighbors and friends of Mrs. W. R. Mahon are determined she shall have a home when her husband leaves the state tuberculosis sanatorium in January.

They have started a drive to build a house for her and have scheduled a rummage sale to obtain money for furnishings next Saturday.

Clothing Is Collected

The sale will be held on North Ave. H adjoining the site of the Mexican labor camp. Women are assembling clothing to be sold and have invited anyone wishing to contribute items with resale value to telephone 2-7980 or 2-2203.

Mrs. Alice Gibson is leading the drive. She is a neighbor of Mrs. Mahon, who lives at No. 22 Westwood village.

Mrs. Mahon's husband was a pipe fitter at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic bomb plant when he became ill. They returned to their home at Texarkana and he spent part of his time in a hospital and part of the time at home.

Sold Their Home

They sold their home three years ago and traveled, believing that would aid his condition.

After taking her husband to the sanatorium last spring, Mrs. Mahon and their 9-year-old son came to Lubbock. They live with a daughter of Mrs. Mahon. Mrs. Mahon is caring for a grandchild during the day.

With her husband in a serious condition, Mrs. Mahon believes she will need to stay home with him and her neighbors recognized her plight and resolved to help.

Mrs. Gibson said one man has offered a lot on condition other arrangements for building a house are made. Another has offered to give stone to build the house. A business firm has promised plumbing fixtures and a kitchen cabinet. A woman has promised to give a stove. Persons wishing to contribute may telephone Mrs. Gibson, No. 2-4369.

Musical Comedy About Valley Area To Be Presented At TCU

FORT WORTH, Oct. 29. (AP)—A musical comedy about Texas' Rio Grande valley, written by two Texas women who grew up in the valley, will be given here Dec. 9-10.

It will be presented as a part of Texas Christian university's fine arts festival Dec. 4-10, which will dedicate the school's new $1,500,000 fine arts building.

Music for the show was written by Mrs. Ruth Duncan Graham of Kilgore, whose husband, Tom Graham, is the business manager of the Kilgore News Herald. The book and lyrics are by Mrs. Mary Ellen Stevens of Dallas.

Entitled "Acres of Sunshine," the show is a musical history of the early days of the valley—in 1910—when excursions, land promoters and bandits were plentiful.

BAR GROUP VOTES ON CHANGES

Lubbock County Lawyers Okay Five Of Proposed Amendments

Members of the Lubbock county Bar association Saturday approved five of the 10 proposed amendments to be submitted to Texas voters Nov. 8.

The action took place at a luncheon meeting in the Hilton hotel after William H. Evans, member of the law firm of Klett, Bean, Evans and Justice, had discussed each proposed constitutional amendment briefly.

Amendments one, seven, eight, nine and 10 carried on the sample ballots used by the lawyers.

By a vote of 18-12 they indicated approval of the first proposed amendment, which calls for the creation of a civil service system for county employes throughout the state.

The seventh amendment carried by an even wider margin, 25-6. This constitutional change calls for the district judge to conduct proceedings at the county seat of the county in which a case is pending and provides that a non-lawyer cannot become a district judge.

A 24-5 approval was registered by the attorneys for the next amendment, which provides for the establishment of fire prevention districts. This amendment, according to Evans, does not make it mandatory that rural areas create fire municipalities unless the residents of the given areas request to do so by approval in an election. These rural fire departments would be supported by a 3 cents tax per $100 evaluation as called for in the amendment but would probably result in a greater saving due to resulting lower fire insurance rates, Evans pointed out.

Greatest approval was given the ninth amendment, which would empower the legislature to revise the existing statutes enabling mental patients to be admitted to state institutions without trial by juries. However, in cases of doubt or contested suits, a jury trial would be given. "It would merely speed up the legal process at a saving to the taxpayers without embarrassment to the parties involved," Evans said. The amendment carried, 27-4.

Closest vote of the amendments approved by the Lubbock association was the 16-14 tabulation for the 10th amendment enabling women to serve on juries.

Evans said the proposed amendment was a matter of personal preference. "I'm against it personally because of a policy of southern courtesy," he explained.

Amendments not approved by the officers of the court were the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth.

The second constitutional change stipulating annual sessions and annual salaries for the legislature failed to carry by an 11-19 tally.

Evans said he did not believe the amendment was fairly proposed inasmuch as it contained two issues. "A person cannot vote on this amendment to his own satisfaction if he is against one of the issues and for the other," he said.

The third and fifth amendments, similar in nature, failed to find approval of the lawyers. By a 12-18 ballot, members of the association failed to approve the third proposal calling for the creation of hospital districts. The fifth amendment, stipulating creation of county-city health units, was downed by an even greater margin of 6-24.

Evans said the matter was unfairly submitted "because the state already has county and city health units in existence. The wording of this amendment veils the real intention of enabling the legislature to levy a 20-cent tax in the unit districts," he said.

The most heated discussion during the meeting concerned the fourth amendment involving the poll tax. "This amendment does not abolish the poll tax," Evans declared, "it simply eliminates the payment of the tax as a requisite to vote.

"Under this proposal, only property owners will actually have to pay the poll tax but the purpose of the tax as originally outlined in the constitution is to collect a head tax on every person for the privilege of living in Texas," he said.

Owners May Suffer

"Payment of the poll tax in order to vote is the only way the state has had of collecting this tax," he explained. "If the proposal passes, only the property owners will have to pay for the privilege of living in this great state," he added.

In agreement with Evans, his fellow lawyers voted down the proposal, 10-19.

Proposed Amendment Six for the retirement and disability pensions for county employes failed to carry by two votes. The lawyers' opinion on this one was 16-18.

George W. McCleskey presided and Rayford L. Ball was program chairman.

Albuquerque, N. M., founded in 1706, was named for the viceroy of New Spain, the Duke of Alburquerque, but the first "r" of the name fell into disuse.

Barbecue Held Here For State Workers

More than 300 state employes from 19 South Plains counties were present at a chicken barbecue held last night in a Texas Highway department building north of town.

The barbecue was sponsored by the Lubbock chapter of the Texas Public Employes association, an organization for state employes.

S. C. McCarty, Highway department engineer for this district, spoke briefly after the barbecue. Color films of Yellowstone and Grand Teton National parks, and several comedies and short subjects were shown.

Representatives from all 19 counties were present at the barbecue. Herschel Brown, president of the Plainview chapter of the organization, was one of the many visitors.

Special credit for arranging the program went to F. C. Stanley, secretary of the local chapter, and to Ross Dobbins, Lubbock district section foreman. Dobbins and his crew barbecued the chicken and served it. Wives of the employes furnished salads, cakes, and pastries. Bread was donated by the Baldridge bakery and the Plains Machinery company made a cash donation to help pay for expenses.

Crash Of Small Plane Causes Major California Forest Fire

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (INS) — Crash of a small plane on a mountain peak in Angeles National forest resulted today in 500 fire fighters battling southern California's worst forest blaze of the year.

The plane wreckage was sighted from a helicopter by a two-man crew directing the fire-fighting operations.

The crashed plane is believed to be that of L. M. Shappell, 20, of Los Angeles who has been missing from the Gardena Valley airport since yesterday noon.

Observers said that there was no sign of life about the plane, which was surrounded by the raging brush and forest fire. The blaze was being battled on a 6-mile front.

China's unused resources, despite the age of the country, are said to be similar to those of the United States 400 years ago.

"Braceros" Aiding In Harvesting Of Big South Plains Cotton Crop

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

The "braceros" like the South Plains; want to come back here year after year; in fact some of them would like to stay.

"Braceros," in case you haven't been reading the papers lately, are Mexican nationals who have been imported from Mexico in recent weeks to work in the cottonfields of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Total Of 4,000 In Area

Approximately 4,000 of them are working for South Plains farmers and more are to arrive here within the next few days, Texas Employment Commission officials said Saturday. There are 26,701 working in the state, TEC reports.

One of the largest groups of "braceros" is at work on the 7,000-acre cotton farms of Carl and Ray Griffith, northwest of Morton, near the New Mexico state line. There 200 of the laborers, who worked as ranch hands south of the border, are picking between 20 and 25 bales of cotton a day.

From Chihuahua City

The Mexicans came from below Chihuahua City and were transported to the South Plains by truck. They are under contract for 90 days by the Griffith brothers, who arranged for their employment through channels of the Texas Employment Commission and the U. S. and Mexican governments.

The Griffith brothers operate 6,000 acres of their crop under lease from F. O. Masten, large-scale farmer who has approximately 20,000 acres of land in Cochran and Lamb counties.

Fed Soldier Style

The braceros are housed in the half dugout barracks on the old Masten headquarters place and are fed soldier-style by the Griffith brothers. Each workman pays $1.50 a day for his meals, which are wholsome and ample.

Most of the laborers like the arrangement whereby they can work in the U. S. for three or four months of the year, the writer learned by talking with them through an interpreter, George Lemon, Lubbock cookie company owner, who speaks fluent Spanish.

Exchange Rate Beneficial

With the exchange rate more than 8 to 1, the braceros can make from 50 to 75 times per day pulling bolls than they can earn in normal employment on the ranches of Mexico. There they are paid $1.50 Mexican pesos for a day's work, while they can earn from $7 to $9 U. S. money per day in the cottonfields.

They take this money, many of them, and increase their individual land holdings in Mexico.

Walked To Chihuahua City

Among the braceros on the Griffith farms are men who walked as long as "20 hours" to get to Chihuahua City to be processed as laborers under the joint

U. S.-Mexican program. The men are from 18 to 50 years old and a number of them have worked in the labor program before in California and Arizona.

One spoke up frankly and said he and many of the others would like to come to the U. S. with their families and live permanently.

Kitchen Clean And Neat

We visited their kitchen and dining hall, where six of the braceros are employed as cooks. It was well-equipped, clean and neat and the kitchen hands were anxious to show us about. They were a little shy, however, when the matter of taking a picture came up, but finally agreed to pose.

The Griffith brothers have 10,000 acres in farms, 7,000 of which is in cotton and the remainder in grains. They have been farming in the area since 1936.

Machines Lined Up

At the headquarters, nine cotton harvesting machines were lined up preparatory to follow the laborers in the fields to clean up the late crop.

Of the 4,000 braceros on the South Plains, approximately 1,100 of them are in the Brownfield area, B. T. O'Connell, manager of the TEC here, said Saturday.

Others Working In County

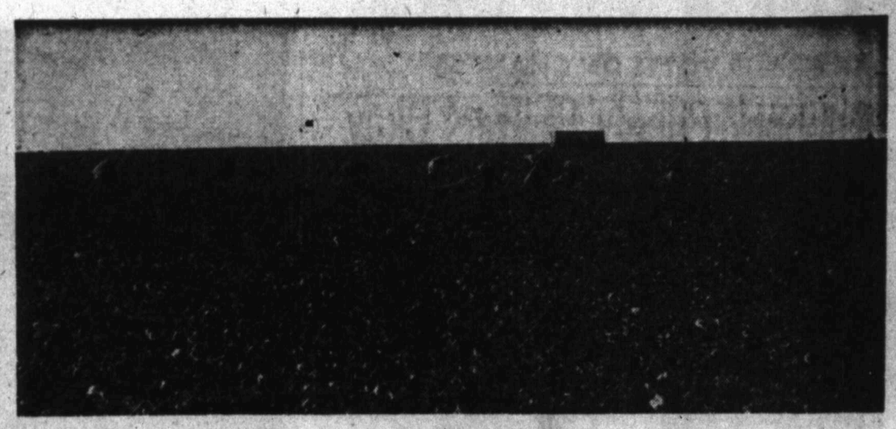

W. E. Armstrong of Lubbock has a group of 298 under contract, which have been divided into several groups working over the area. Marvin McLaughlin of Ralls was to have received 198 of the workers this weekend.

W. T. Halbert of Acuff has 95 in his fields and J. E. Parks of the same community is working 33.

Under terms of the labor agreement, the farmer or his agents must go to a point in Mexico and transport the workers here and return them upon completion of the contract, if they are now placed under contract with a neighboring farmer or in another section. The workers must be returned to their homes, regardless, at termination of their employment in the U. S.

U. S. immigration officials make regular visits to the various areas where the braceros are working to see that regulations are being followed. Ofttimes they find "wetbacks," Mexican Nationals who have entered the country illegally and they are taken into custody for return to Mexico or paroled to farmers who put up the required cash bonds.

"BRACEROS" WORKING ON THE SOUTH PLAINS—Augmenting the normal Latin-American labor supply for South Plains farmers are approximately 4,000 "braceros," Mexican nationals, imported from Mexico for work in the cottonfields. A group of 200 is employed by Carl and Ray Griffith on their farms in northwest Cochran county. The Two brothers are in the top left picture, standing with hands on their hips watching weighing of a cotton-filled sack. In the top right picture is a field scene with the braceros leading their sacks. In the bottom right picture are the six kitchen hands, who prepare food for the laborers. (Staff Photos)

175 Reported Killed In Colombian 'War'

BOGOTA, Colombia, Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Political fighting in Colombia is raging unabated in the countryside, with 175 persons killed in one 24-hour period in Valle province alone, reports reaching Bogota said today.

These reports said 150 liberal followers, including women and children, were killed at Ceilan when conservative opponents from the surrounding Bugalagrande area set fire to the town.

Another 25 were killed in similar fighting at Villaneuva, also in Valle province, the report said.

Several other persons were known to have been killed in fighting which is still going on between the liberal town of Dona and conservative residents of nearby Charba, liberals reported.

Confirmation on the latest reports of casualties would bring the number of those killed in recent weeks to more than 600.

The fighting is an outgrowth of political passions raised in campaigning for the Nov. 27 election, in a bitter contest between liberal candidates Dario Echandia and conservative candidate Laureano Gomez.

Important Regulations For Vets Studying Under Bill Announced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Two important new regulations for war veterans studying under the GI bill go into effect next Tuesday, the Veterans administration said today.

They provide that from Nov. 1 on:

1. A veteran who has completed or discontinued a GI bill course, and who wants to take another course in a different field, must undergo "advisement and guidance."

2. A veteran applying for a certificate of eligibility for GI bill training must specify the name of the course and school.

Three Die In Crash Of Plane Into Tower

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 29. (INS)— A leading West Virginia jurist and two other persons were killed today at Charlottesville when their light plane struck a radio tower in a heavy fog.

The victims were identified as Thomas H. S. Curd of Welch, judge of the eighth judicial district; his son, J. Chandler Curd, prosecuting attorney for McDowell county, and Miss Elizabeth Ellen Hicks of Elkhorn, W. Va.

The three were enroute from Welch to Charlottesville for this afternoon's football game between Virginia and West Virginia.

The authorities said the plane struck the 391-foot tower of station WCHR and burst into flames when it hit the ground. Station employes reported the plane and its occupants were "torn all to pieces" by the impact.

Witnesses said the aircraft, a twin-engine Beechcraft Bonanza, was heard flying at a low altitude in heavy fog over Charlottesville apparently seeking a landing field.

Congressman Thomas Ordered To Face Charges Of Fraud

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) today was ordered to stand trial next month on fraud charges after a federal court was advised the long-ailing lawmaker now is well enough to handle "two to three high-balls before dinner and three to four cigars daily."

This report on Thomas' condition was included in a detailed clinical analysis prepared by two private physicians here. They examined the 54-year-old congressman last Wednesday at the request of federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff.

Holtzoff promptly ordered that Thomas be on hand Nov. 7, when the twice-deferred fraud hearings are scheduled to get underway.

If the foot is removed slowly from the accelerator, oil may be prevented from being drawn up freely into an automobile's cylinders.

Pan American Highway Traffic Stalls In Mexico Flash Flood

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 29 (U.P.) — A flash flood interrupted traffic on the Pan American highway, about 45 miles north of here, for several hours last night.

Runoff waters from sudden heavy rains covered the highway for more than two miles.

Eisenhower Seeking Wartime Assistant

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is looking for the enlisted man who was his wartime "right-hand."

The former supreme allied commander in Europe, now president of Columbia university, has asked the newly organized National Association of Combat Units for help in locating former Private Henry Clay Williams.

Williams was a member of Eisenhower's personal household staff in Europe. In the words of a buddy, he was "a handy-man—Gen. Ike's right-hand."

Maj. Robert L. Schultz, aide to Eisenhower, wrote that any assistance in locating Williams would be appreciated.

"The last address we had was 2510 Worthington street, Dallas, Tex., but communications addressed to him there have been returned," Schultz wrote.

So far the only clue has come from another former GI who said that the last time he heard, Williams was "somewhere in Los Angeles."

An airplane with a large upper wing and a small lower wing is called a sesquiplane.

Lehman Leads Dulles In Survey Of New York Senatorial Race

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
(American Institute of Public Opinion)

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 29 — Herbert H. Lehman, Democratic candidate for Senator from New York, was running ahead of his Republican opponent, Senator John Foster Dulles, during the period Oct. 17-25 in a survey of political sentiment conducted throughout New York state by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

The survey included only persons who are registered to vote in the election Nov. 8, and it showed the following results:

"In the election for United States Senator this November, do you favor the Republican candidate, Dulles, or the Democratic candidate, Lehman?"

Lehman	46%
Dulles	39
Undecided	15

The New York Senatorial race is widely regarded as the most important election that will be held between now and the Congressional elections of 1950. The heads of both major parties — President Truman and Governor Thomas E. Dewey, have taken an active interest in it, the President having said that its outcome will constitute a mandate on the whole Fair Deal program.

Undecided Vote Important

The 1948 Presidential election demonstrated the importance of two factors in preelection surveying—(1) that sentiment can change radically during the last two weeks of a campaign, and (2) that the undecided vote is a vital factor in election polling because in the final days the undecided group can turn one way or another in response to campaign arguments or to events.

For those reasons, a pre-election survey can only report sentiment as of the time the interviewing was conducted. Today's report should not be construed as a forecast of the election outcome. Another survey covering all but the last few days of the campaign will be reported on Monday, Nov. 7.

Meanwhile, an intensive analysis of the "undecided" group is in progress, probing into the present "leanings" of the group and into their political views and past political behavior.

Dulles Bucking Tide

Lehman ran for the Senate once before, in 1946, and was defeated by Senator Irving M. Ives, Republican. Lehman polled only 47½ per cent of the votes, as against 52½ for Ives. The year 1946 was a Republican year nationally—the year the GOP captured control of both houses of Congress.

Today, by contrast, Senator Dulles is bucking a strong nationwide Democratic tide.

Surveys by the Institute during the past month have found that considerably more voters throughout the nation classify themselves as Democrats than as Republicans; that if Congressional elections were held at this time the majority of voters say they would vote Democratic rather than Republican; and that President Truman's personal popularity, while not as high as last summer, is still substantial.

The fact that the national tide is strongly Democratic gives Lehman a substantial advantage. Contrariwise, it presents a great handicap to Senator Dulles.

A number of unusual local conditions complicate the New York Senatorial race. New York City is electing a mayor. The Republican candidate for mayor has not endorsed the Republican candidate for the Senate. A third party has entered the mayoralty race, with Congressman Vito Marcantonio as its candidate. The Marcantonio forces are urging supporters to refrain from voting in the Senate race and to cast a "bullet" vote for Marcantonio. If this happens, the total vote cast in the Senate race will be considerably smaller in the city than the vote cast in the mayoralty election, a situation which would reduce Lehman's lead.

Today's figures show only what would happen if the same proportion of Marcantonio voters cast their ballots for Senator as the voters of other parties.

To advance the general knowledge of survey procedures and to take advantage of lessons learned in the 1948 election polling, the Institute is using three different systems of sampling in covering the New York Senatorial race.

The first is a procedure known as "quota" sampling which has been used in the past by polltakers. Today's figures are based on this system. Second, a procedure known as "pinpoint" sampling is being used, which concentrates on interviewing people in a selected number of small areas.

The third system is "area" or "probability" sampling which is a completely randomized selection of homes.

The New York election will be the 312th test of election sampling by the Institute and its affiliates in 11 foreign nations.

In the previous 311, including the 1948 election, the error has averaged 3.8 percentage points, which means that the survey results deviated by an average of only 3.8 percentage points from the actual division of the popular vote in the elections.

Lubbock Theft Case Conviction Is Upheld By Appeals Court

The mere statement that "money of the United States of America" was stolen is sufficient description of property in an indictment charging theft from the person.

It is not necessary to specify kind, quantity or value of money.

So held the court of criminal appeals in Austin, in an opinion of Judge Davidson, in affirming a conviction of five years in the penitentiary for Jimmy B. Cousins, for theft from the person.

Value Not Considered

". . . the value of the property taken (in theft from the person) does not enter into the offense," the court further said.

Further, the court, citing legal authorities, went so far as to say that ". . . (two cited cases) insofar as they may conflict either directly or by application with the conclusion here reached, are hereby expressly overruled."

The sole question presented in the appeal from the judgment of the 99th District court of Lubbock county was the sufficiency of the indictment against an attack that the property alleged to have been taken was not sufficiently described.

"Theft from the person and theft in general are related offenses. The distinguishing features are that in theft from the person the property must be taken from the person and the value of the property taken does not enter into the offense," the high court pointed out. "In other particulars the two offenses are similar."

Cousins was prosecuted by E. G. Pharr and A. W. Slayars, assistant district attorneys. Judge G. V. Pardue presided.

Future Control Of Cancer Is Indicated By New Developments

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Some of America's leading medical authorities now see hope in the future for complete control of cancer.

Dr. Alton Ochsner of New Orleans, elected president of the American Cancer society here yesterday, said new discoveries indicate that eventually even advanced cancer can be controlled.

Modeling School To Begin Initial Class In Lubbock Tuesday

Lubbock girls who want to learn how to model professionally will have the chance beginning Tuesday when Anders Modeling school opens for business, it was announced Saturday by Bill and Joyce Anders, owners.

Mr. and Mrs. Anders will conduct the school at 1952 Avenue N.

"We are starting in a pioneering field in a small way," Mrs. Anders explained. "At present there is a shortage of trained professional models in Lubbock, and we expect the demand to be great, especially during the Christmas season."

12 Lessons Planned

The school will offer a six weeks course consisting of 12 lessons. One class lesson and one private lesson will be given each week. The class lesson will be conducted Tuesday nights from 7 to 8:30 o'clock and the private lessons will be given by appointment.

The course will teach young women how to walk correctly, maintain perfect posture, sit gracefully, smile naturally, as well as the routine pivots and steps models use in exhibiting fashions. The course also includes training in fashion photography, and a commercial photographer will make pictures of the students individually.

Upon completion of the course the students will be eligible for listing with the Anders Model agency and may expect to find it a profitable part-time job, Mrs. Anders said.

She is an experienced professional model, having graduated from the Rita La Roy Modeling school in Los Angeles, and she worked for the West Coast representative of Justin McCarty, Fay Foster of California and Rae Mar Juniors as a wholesale model, and for I. Magnin as a retail model. She also did free lance work for fashion shows and as a photographer's model.

Tech To Begin Special Class For School Cafeteria Workers

The class is to be taught by Miss Martha Graves, director of home and family life education in the department of Home economics, Mrs. Carroll said.

Arrangements have been made for cafeteria personnel in the Lubbock schools to attend this class twice a week on Tuesday and Thursday, and there will be no tuition fees, Mrs. Carroll explained. She also stated that cafeteria personnel from other towns surrounding Lubbock will be welcome to take the course along with the Lubbock cafeteria personnel.

Two Charged In Robbery Here

of C. E. Lynn, justice of the peace.

Parvin told investigating officers that his home was Altus, Okla., and that he rode into Lubbock on a hog truck after catching a ride in Littlefield.

According to Parvin, the two men called to him as he passed a stock pen, one of the men offering to sell him something. Parvin told them he didn't have much money, and didn't need to buy whatever it was.

Hit From Behind

As he walked away, one of the men came up behind him and slugged him with a fist, knocking him down. He ran, but was caught and beaten further while the men took his money.

Parvin said the men were not convinced they had all his money —one man taking off a shoe and the other unbuttoning his shirt.

Then the club came into play, Parvin received several deep gashes on his head. During the beating and robbery, Parvin said one of the men said something like:

"Let's kill him and make it look like a switch engine did it."

Two railroad men saw a portion of the altercation, and the two assailants ran off when they approached.

Suspect Found In Weeds

Police were called to the scene by Clyde Tatum, of Economy Mills at 1413 Ave. B, and the two suspects were found attempting to hide in a patch of weeds nearby. Officers took Parvin, his head bleeding, to the hospital.

A billfold taken from Parvin was not found, officers said, but it was reported that two $1 bills were found in the hatband of one of the suspects.

Pinson Drug store, at 1519 Ave. Q, was burglarized by intruders who took $100 in currency, police investigators were informed Saturday morning by Bert Pinson, owner.

Store Was Locked

Pinson said he had closed the store at 10 p.m. Friday. He said he was positive he locked the place. It was locked this morning when a clerk arrived to open the store for business, and there were no indications that entry was made at any other place. That led investigators to wonder whether a key was used.

Theft of a car and a pickup truck were reported to police Saturday night.

E. E. French, of French Food store No. 1 at 3924 Ave. H, said the store pickup had been stolen between 6 and 6:30 p.m. It was described as a black 1939 Ford with "French Food" on both doors.

Auto Reported Stolen

H. C. Watson of Midland told police that his 1947 Chevrolet sedan was taken around 8:45 p.m. from its parking place at Texas avenue and Twenty-third street. He said the keys had been left in the car.

Two other thefts also were reported to police. Joe Baldridge said a wrist watch, valued at $40, had been stolen from his room in Sneed hall at Texas Tech. He reported the theft at 7:20 p.m.

Ernest Sears of Doak hall at Texas Tech said four Ford hubcaps valued at $40 had been taken from his car parked in downtown Lubbock .

Two Men Sought

Police said Saturday they were seeking two men for questioning in connection with the swindling of housewives after gaining admittance to residences under pretext of working on stoves, usually cook stoves.

"They charge a much larger price than first quoted," the police report said. "They also swindled one woman out of about $30. A checkup revealed they had been to other houses and performed similar acts."

The men were described as "poorly dressed" when last seen.

Man Is Fined

The county attorney's department said Eldon Neal, about 23, had been fined $5 and county court costs after a plea Saturday of check law violation.

J .W. Reid, 22, of 400-block Ave. D, was fined $75 and county court costs on a plea of guilty of drunk driving. A similar assessment was made against Eugene C. Wright, also charged with drunk driving.

Bond of $4,000 was posted by Manuel Benavidez, 55, a Latin-American who had been charged with murder of Alfonzo Perales, 19, on Oct. 15. He had been arrested four miles east of Acuff.

A. J. Compton, 43, of the 2100 block Broadway, was held in county jail Saturday night in lieu of $5,000 bond set in two cases charging him with forgery, the sheriff's department said. Bond of $2,500 was set on each of the two charges, filed in the court of Justice of the Peace D. W. Robertson.

Margaret Truman Makes Debut With St. Louis Symphony Group

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29 (INS) — Margaret Truman made her singing debut tonight with the St. Louis Symphony orchestra in a concert attended by her mother, Vice President Barkley and his attractive friend, Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley.

Mrs. Truman was seated in a box occupied by Helen Traubel, Metropolitan opera star, Miss Traubel's husband, William Bass, and William Davidson of New York City.

The "Veep" and the 38-year-old St. Louis widow had seats in Mrs. Thomas Sayman's box. Mrs. Sayman gave a birthday party for Mrs. Hadley a few weeks ago.

MAN DIES IN CRASH

LAMAR, Colo., Oct. 29. (INS)— Chester H. Karnes, 33, of Dodge City, Kan., was killed today when his light plane struck an REA power line 20 miles east of Lamar. It was believed Karnes was flying at a low altitude following the Santa Fe railroad line west when the craft struck the power line and crashed

Union 'Walkout'

quit if the lower demand was turned down.

"The roofers are the lowest salaried of union workers in the city," Ross asserted in explaining the workers' demands. "All we want to do is to get our wage scale a little more equalized with other union scales."

The roofers now are making $1.62½ cents an hour. If their wage demand is granted, the hourly rate would be boosted to $1.75. "At present, most of the workers feel they can earn more in other work, and many intend to do just that if the wage demand is not met," Ross said.

Cotton Picking Planned

Several of the protesting workers have indicated that they will start in the cotton fields Monday, where the pervailing scale at present is from $1.75 to $2.00 per hundred.

Ross said he had been told that the cost of living today is down about 10 per cent and that in view of this, the wage demand is unjustified. "If the cost of living is down that much, the reductions certainly haven't reached the retail market yet," he said.

In explaining the action of the contractors in rejecting the wage demand, Mike Stafford, manager and part owner of the Hamilton Roofing company, said, "We did not see how the union was justified in asking for a raise at this time, so we had to refuse."

The contractors do not seem to be affected much by the walkout as yet, but most of them agree that it could become serious if allowed to continue.

Supply Company Unhurt

An official at the Bowman Lumber company, a roofing supplies concern, said the protest had not impaired the company's sale of roofing materials, but probably would if the situation does not change soon.

Although the walkout was supposed to be almost 100 per cent, Woodrow L. Rampy, co-owner and manager of the Texas Roofing company, said that all of the company's 30 union roofers reported for work Friday, were on the job again Saturday, and were expected to continue working.

Union officials, however, said the number reporting for work was considerably less than the 30 reported by the company.

In the meantime, contractors were looking forward to a settlement with the union negotiator. Rampy commented, "Everything seems to hinge upon the arrival and decision of the International Roofing association representative. He is the one to say if the boys have handled this thing the correct way."

There is a membership of approximately 60 in the Roofer's Union.

Millionaire Plans To Build Own University

WASHINGTON, Miss., Oct. 29. (AP)—George W. Armstrong, sr., tonight planned to use his wealth in a new direction to oppose "race mongrelization."

He declared he intends to use his mineral rights worth millions to establish an Armstrong university in Texas, either at Fort Worth or Port Arthur.

The 84-year-old determined exponent of white supremacy vowed he would make his own rules about who could attend.

"I'll organize the school and put in any stipulations I want," he added. He said, however, his ideas were incomplete on the subject.

He said he would leave Monday for a 10-day trip to Port Arthur and Fort Worth and then return here. While on the trip, he said, he will confer with his attorneys about "Armstrong university."

He said he favored Fort Worth for his proposed university site, where he had lived most of his life, but that he had 826 acres of land at Port Arthur that would be ideal for such a project.

Body Of Cerdan To Be Flown To Paris

PONTA DELGADA, Sao Miguel, The Azores, Oct. 29. (AP)— The bodies of Marcel Cerdan, the French boxer, and 47 other persons killed in the crash of an Air France Constellation in the Azores will be flown to Paris, the company announced today.

A special plane is being sent tomorrow to Santa Maria, which has the major airport in these Portuguese islands, to collect the bodies. It is expected to return to Paris Monday.

A French technical mission headed by Civil Aviation Inspector Louis Mirepoix was at the scene today where the big airliner, north of its normal course, crashed into the side of a mountain on this island.

Nations Agree To Sharing Of A-Bomb Casualty Treatment

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 29. (AP)— Delegates from the medical services of 28 of the world's armies have agreed to continue exchanging information on methods of caring for atomic bomb casualties.

The bomb was a major subject of discussion during the 12th international congress on military medicine and pharmacy which closes here today.

By unanimous vote the delegates yesterday adopted a resolution expressing the hope that international organizations will prohibit future use of the atom bomb.

They said two papers by United States delegates on the subject of atomic casualties had done much to clear away blind fear of the bomb and to give them a basis on which to do future medical work.

Franklin, 21, of Seminole; Mrs. J. T. Burnett, 25, of Carlsbad, N. M.; and Mrs. Katherine Welch, 19, also of Carlsbad.

Gaines County hospital attendants said tonight conditions of the three women were good. Mrs. Burnett suffered a broken arm and painful bruises; Mrs. Franklin received an extremely severe cut on the leg, for which she underwent surgery this afternoon; and Mrs. Welch suffered multiple bruises and several small cuts.

William Lewis Welch, 21, husband of Mrs. Welch, received only slight injuries in the accident and was not hospitalized.

Texas Highway patrolmen who investigated the accident reported that Welch, driving a 1947 Ford in which his wife and Mrs. Burnett were passengers, attempted to pass a 1949 Mercury sedan driven by Mrs. Schmidt and in which Mrs. Franklin also was riding.

The Welch automobile struck Mrs. Schmidt's vehicle in the rear, causing the Mercury to overturn.

The Schmidt automobile was demolished, Highway patrolmen said. The Welch car was also badly damaged. Both cars were traveling toward Seminole.

The Highway patrol was continuing an investigation of the accident late tonight.

TWO ARE INJURED IN CRASH NEAR MORTON

MORTON, Oct. 29. (Special)—A 15-year-old negro girl was receiving treatment in Lubbock Memorial hospital tonight for injuries received when the pickup truck in which she was riding overturned in the Three Way community, in south Bailey county, after it was in collision with another vehicle.

The girl, Elsa Mae Frazer, resident of the Three Way community, was riding in the back of a truck driven by Robert E. Sowder, a white man, who also lives in the Three Way community.

The vehicle was traveling down a farm to market road and was in collision with a car which pulled out from a side road. The impact caused the truck to overturn.

The other vehicle involved was driven by Miss Jeanette Watson, about 16, also a Three Way resident.

Two other negroes were riding in the back of the pickup. They were R. L. Hill, about 31, and Hill's 15-year-old son, whose name was not known. Hill was receiving treatment in a Morton hospital here tonight. His injuries included numerous body bruises. The son was not hospitalized.

The girl, who suffered a fractured pelvis, was taken to Lubbock since the Morton hospital's weight equipment was in use. Attendants at the Lubbock hospital reported late tonight that she was resting satisfactorily.

Investigation was made by the Texas Highway department and by officials of the Bailey and Cochran sheriff's departments.

LUBBOCK WOMAN HURT IN CAR-TRUCK CRASH

A Lubbock woman was injured, not critically, in a car-truck collision at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of Ave. L and Twenty-fifth street.

Mrs. Faye Hillis Lambert, 35, of 1914 Ave. L, was taken by Rix ambulance to West Texas hospital, where attendants said she received two broken ribs and a fractured heel. Her condition was reported as "very good."

Driver of the 1945 White truck and trailer, Richard Howard Eastwood, 25, of 1121 Stafford avenue, was not injured. The 1941 Plymouth coach driven by Mrs. Lambert was heavily damaged.

Atomic Energy Project Plans A 500 Foot Tunnel In Mountain

LOS ALAMOS, Oct. 29. (INS)— When the home of the atom bomb goes in for tunnels, they do it in a big way.

Los Alamos officials today confirmed plans for the latest project, a tunnel 4,500 feet long which will go right through Valle Grande mountain.

It's to be at an altitude of 9,000 feet, and it will be about eight feet in diameter.

Cleburne Minister To Open Meet Here

Reuel Lemmons, minister of the Central Church of Christ in Cleburne who has preached by recording once each week the last one and one-half years to an estimated million listeners over Laurenco Marques station in East Africa, will open an eight-day meeting at Broadway Church of Christ today.

He will preach at 8:30 a. m., 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. today and next Sunday. He will preach at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily from Monday through Saturday, said Dr. M. Norvel Young, Broadway Church of Christ minister. General theme will be "Back to the Bible."

Extensive Experience Cited

Minister Lemmons has had extensive experience in conducting revival meetings throughout the nation. He formerly was minister eight years at the Tipton, Okla., Church of Christ, which directs Tipton Orphan home.

The church in Cleburne of which he is minister took responsibility about a year ago of promoting interest and support for mission work among the large white population of South Africa. The Laurenco Marques station, largest commercial radio station in the world, broadcasts in seven languages the program on which Minister Lemmons speaks. Four Church of Christ ministers recently sailed to do follow-up work as result of interest generated by the program.

Luncheon To Be Held

The minister will be present at a covered dish luncheon to be conducted at Broadway Church of Christ Wednesday to give the congregation opportunity to become acquainted with him. He will attend a weekly luncheon of men of Churches of Christ of this area at 12 noon Friday at Lubbock hotel.

Horace Coffman will lead congregational singing in the fall meeting.

Mr. Lemmons was principal speaker last night at a Fellowship dinner at Luby's suburban cafeteria. Approximately 110 persons attended.

The minister's talk focused on the challenge of Christ to the present age.

Group singing was led by Horace Coffman.

day or Tuesday. Many persons close to Denfeld expect him to resign from the Navy, thereby giving up his $7,500 pension, and possibly enter politics to fight the unification setup.

If Denfield should stay in the Navy, he might unseat one of the four full admirals who supported him in his congressional testimony. They are Arthur W. Radford, Pacific fleet commander; Richard L. Conolly, Eastern Atlantic fleet; William H. P. Blandy, Atlantic fleet, and Thomas C. Kincaid, Eastern Sea frontier.

Reports of additional oustings might hit Rayford, most bitter critic of the four in opposing dismemberment of naval aviation.

No Offers Made

Matthews, however, said there have been no resignation offers, and "I don't know why there shoud be any."

Johnson and Matthews denied that Denfeld's removal constituted a reprisal. Johnson asserted that "unqualified" officers can always be removed from their posts and Matthews said Denfeld had disqualified himself before he testified.

Matthews has said that Denfeld's value as a member of the joint chiefs of staff was dissipated when the admiral earlier supported charges similar to his own by Capt. John G. Crommelin, Navy war hero-flyer. Crommelin has been suspended and faces possible court martial.

Sherman, a strict disciplinarian, is expected to press the charges if he is named chief of naval operations. There was still speculation that Blandy might get the job. This was bolstered by a Blandy-Denfeld conference Friday, but Defense department sources gave the speculation no support.

CIO Leftists' Bid Is Rejected

By ROBERT VINCENT
INS Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29. — Top CIO leaders late today rejected a last-minute peace overture from President Harry Bridges of the left-wing longshoremen's union.

CIO President Philip Murray, in a two-hour conference with Bridges and his aides, told Bridges to bring his problems to the floor of the CIO's national convention which opens officially Monday in Cleveland.

The longshoremen are one of a dozen unions which Murray charges are Communist-dominated and which are slated for a purge on the convention floor.

Bridges, who arrived 10 minutes late to the meeting he requested, refused comment when it was concluded, stating:

"I refer you to Mr. Murray."

Murray, for his part, said only: "We met with them. We listened. I then told Bridges that any comment I make will have to come on the convention floor."

With Murray at the conference, which will be repeated tomorrow with the leftist electrical workers union, were Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey and Vice Presidents Allen S. Haywood and Emil Rieve.

The electrical workers, third largest union in the six-million member CIO, are expected to get no further than the longshoremen tomorrow when they enter a plea for mercy from the aroused right-wing leadership.

Charles W. Rowland Dies Suddenly Here

Charles W. Rowland, 70, who lived at 1411 Main, died suddenly about 11:10 p. m., Saturday, shortly after suffering a gastric disturbance near the Playmor Skating rink.

Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn, who investigated, returned a verdict of death by natural causes.

A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney, said a companion, N. W. Gordon of 320 Vernon, told him that Rowland had complained of indigestion about 10:45 p. m. and asked that Gordon go outside with him.

Gordon left Rowland sitting on the fender of their car when Rowland told him that he would be all right. Gordon found him slumped to the ground upon returning a short time later, Salyars said.

Rix Funeral home took the body to Lubbock Memorial hospital, where attending physicians pronounced the man dead. A son, Russell Rowland, who was contacted late last night, made arrangements to take the body to Plainview for burial. No other arrangements were made at the time.

Cotton Forecast

top county in the United States in cotton production this year, although if is likely to be the leader in Texas for the third straight year. Some of the California counties are likely to gin more cotton than Lubbock, but they also are much larger in area.

Hockley county retains second position among South Plains counties in ginning prospects in Clapp's forecast. His new prediction of 205,000 bales there is the same as on Sept. 1.

Some observers regarded several of Clapp's latest figures as conservative. For Dawson county, as an example, he predicts 135,000 bales, as compared with 125,000 two months ago. Some of the observers on the ground predict Dawson will go over 150,000 bales this year.

Clapp estimated total ginnings thus far at approximately 265,000 bales.

The present indications are that the total will go over the 1,000,000-bale mark for the first time in South Plains history between Dec. 1 and 15. However, the weather and the available labor will be important factors in determining when this record is achieved. The present record for production was set at 959,000 bales in 1937.

The importance of the freeze to production prospects, Clapp explained, is due to the large number of immature bolls in many fields. If cold weather holds off long enough, these will fill out. A freeze will stop growth.

Clapp's county-by-county forecasts and 1948 ginnings follow, each figure in thousands of bales:

can imperialists."

The Red account said that on Sept. 27 Ward told an employe, Chi Yu-Heng, to do some work he couldn't do, and thereupon ridiculed the workman. Finally he fired the Chinese and refused him severance pay in addition to wages, it was related.

Chi came back Oct. 10 to demand the extra money and was beaten in the consulate, together with his brother, the Communists said. Its description of injuries mentioned only bruises and a small cut but it described Chi as bleeding profusely when police found him.

Men Identified

The department described two of those arrested as Ralph C. Rehberg of Rochester, N. Y., a consulate clerk; Shiro Tatsumi, an American-born Japanese, and two men holding European citizenship.

Officials here said they had the impression that the Communists were trying to whip up a storm of popular passion over this matter against the five accused men.

In all, State department officials said, there are 13 Americans at the Mukden consulate, including Mrs. Ward. But officials were unable to provide a complete list.

During the many months they have been detained by the Communists, Ward and his staff have several times been assured they were about to be given transportation from the city to some place where they could establish contact with other American authorities but this has never worked out.

The department sent urgent orders to the American representative in Peiping, Consul General O. Edmund Clubb, to try to obtain Ward's release from the "highest Chinese Communist authorities."

Clubb was also instructed to seek a full report direct from Ward, whose only channels of communication with the outside world are Communist-controlled.

The Red moves against U. S. diplomats in East and West appear to be tailored to conditions.

"For the other foods, not much change from 1949 levels is anticipated."

Here's the department's forecast for major food commodities next year:

Fish—Consumption about the same as this year although supplies of canned fish may be somewhat larger; retail prices expected to average below the 1949 level.

Poultry and Eggs—Consumption of eggs probably slightly higher, production of poultry may be moderately reduced but poultry will remain plentiful; prices for both eggs and poultry likely to average less.

Dairy Products—A slight increase in consumption; prices probably will average slightly lower.

Fruit—Supplies will be moderately larger except for grapefruit; prices expected to continue downward trend.

Vegetables—Supplies of fresh vegetables will be smaller and prices will average substantially higher; supplies of canned and frozen vegetables also smaller but no change in price.

Star-Telegram Puts Out 480-Page Edition

FORT WORTH, Oct. 29. (AP)— The Star-Telegram tonight published a centennial edition of 480 pages, the largest newspaper ever printed in Texas.

It carried more advertising, 61,811 inches, and more full page advertisements, 272, than have been carried by any newspaper anywhere in a single issue.

Notable in many respects, the edition celebrates Fort Worth's 100th birthday, reflects the growth of the Southwest and marks completion of new plants for the newspaper, radio and television.

Staff editors were assigned to the centennial edition last May, with copy desk and assignment men working as if for a regular issue. Early this month 400 columns of news material was ready. Historical research included such detail as the exact uniform of the second U. S. Dragoons, now the second Cavalry, who under Major Ripley Arnold, commanded the detachment which established Fort Worth in 1849.

Publisher Amon G. Carter, who has been with the newspaper since 1906, played an enthusiastic role in the making of the mammoth centennial edition.

He says he was "reactivated" by his advertising staff which shelved him 20 years ago. Friendly competition between the boss and sales staff developed.

The result was that Carter himself sold 220 pages of advertising.

Sunday morning Carter will take an arm load of the 7½ pound centennial Star-Telegram, knock at the doors and deliver them personally to the oldest subscribers in his own neighborhood.

Huge New $100,000 Organ To Sound For First Time Sunday

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29. (U.P.)—Music from the great new $100,000 organ, in a class only with that in St. Patrick's cathedral at New York, will sound through St. Louis cathedral for the first time next Sunday.

Most of the 5,000 pipes in the tremendous instrument will play at the dedication ceremonies.

Engineers, cabinet makers, artists and designers have worked for months to complete the organ for the cathedral, built along Byzantine architectural lines.

Among the outstanding features of the instrument is a liturgical trompette arranged to accompany ceremonies of the Catholic liturgy.

Waco Paper Issues Centennial Edition

WACO, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Waco Tribune-Herald announced today it will publish Sunday morning a birthday present for this Central Texas city—a 180-page centennial edition.

The newspaper management said it would be the most complete history of Waco ever compiled.

Waco, now a city of 100,000, was founded March 1, 1849, by George B. Erath, Jacob Decordova, Shapley Ross, John McLennan and a few other Texas frontiersmen.

The real story of Waco, however began in the 16th century when the site contained an Indian village.

The Waco Tribune-Herald began intensive research two and a half years ago to amass stories and pictures of the events and personalities linked to this city over the past three centuries. The product is a unique historical edition, containing rare photographs and detailed accounts of Waco and its surrounding territory.

Special oldtime type faces were used for the headlines in the historical sections of this issue. Specially - designed art borders, simulating old-time album frames, surround the pictures therein. Even the stories and fillers are devoted exclusively to historical matters.

developments."

No casualties were reported. The attack was said to have lasted from 9 p.m. Thursday until 3 a.m. Friday.

(At Lake Success, Yugoslav Deputy Foreign Minister Alex Bebler informed the UN Political committee of the attack.)

There was no attempt by the Hungarians to cross the frontier, but Yugoslav officials indicated the possibility of a guerrilla invasion of Cominform forces in an attempt to overthrow Marshal Tito is not being discounted).

Outwardly, the government professes no alarm over the possibility of an attack across the frontiers of neighboring satellite states. It is keeping its military precautions strictly to itself.

But the belief is widespread that certain military measures have been ordered by Premier Tito so that the country will not be caught off guard in coping with any new move by the Moscow-led Cominform.

Most of the reservists being called up are reported to be under 30 years of age.

These are in addition to the recruits being called to the colors in the regular fall draft.

In addition, it is believed that Tito has postponed the release of many of the reservists who participated in the recently-concluded big scale maneuvers in Serbia.

Reports from travelers also tell of troop movements eastward in Yugoslavia toward the Romanian and Bulgarian frontiers.

According to other reports, Yugoslav troops also are moving northeast toward the Hungarian frontier.

Yugoslavia's army of 400,000 is considered one of the best among the smaller European countries.

With full scale mobilization its strength could be brought up to a total of two million men.

Small Firms Speak Out

The small firms began to play an increasingly voluble role in the otherwise fruitless attempt to end the walkout.

Officials of the comparatively small Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp. expressed confidence they will reach a contract agreement with the union "outside the pattern" before a Monday midnight strike deadline.

The firm was granted an extension on its old contract to November 1, and thereby escaped the general steel shutdown.

John L. Lewis, meanwhile, appeared in the heart of the anthracite belt in eastern Pennsylvania to pay tribute to John Mitchell—his predecessor as the mine union's boss.

He spoke briefly at ceremonies in Scranton where hard coal diggers—idle for the contract-approved holiday — honored the early UMW leader.

Other Operations Included

Other military operations: $195,150,000 cash. These operations include financing the office of the secretary of defense, the National Security council and the National Security Resources board.

The funds cover spending in the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

In deciding to "place in reserve" the extra money for the Air Force, Mr. Truman ran counter to the expressed wishes of the House rather than the Senate. A majority of the senators strongly supported his 48-group program.

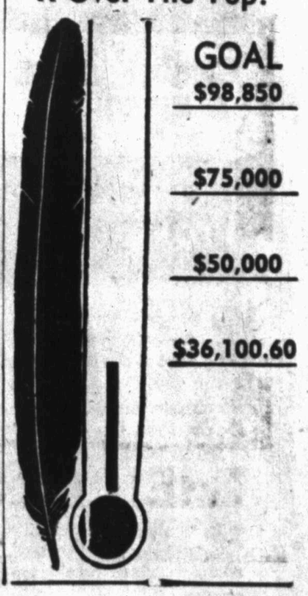

The House, however, fought hard for the size-58 force and emphasized its determination by a 305 to 1 vote. The Senate finally gave in and sent the bill to the White House carrying the extra $615 million.

The number of planes in an air group varies with different types. A group of heavy bombers, such as the B-36, or of medium bombers, like the B-59 and B-29, consists of 30 planes. A fighter group normally has 75 planes.

Most of the fund Mr. Truman set aside was in the form of authority for the Air Force to enter into contracts for which Congress later would be obliged to provide the cash. An expert on the Senate Appropriation's committee staff said he knew of no law authorizing the President to impound the funds—but he also knew of no law forbidding him to do so.

Annual Hallowe'en Parade Set In Downtown Lubbock Monday

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Spooks will walk Monday night, not in private but in a downtown parade which may be seen by the public from 7 to 8 o'clock.

The annual city-wide Hallowe'en parade sponsored by the City Recreation department will open at 7 o'clock at the Sears Roebuck and Co., parking lot.

"Judging and awarding of prizes will be finished by 8 o'clock, so that contestants and those witnessing the parade may go on to other parties," said A. C. Hamilton, superintendent of the recreation department.

Several hundred persons are expected to participate in the parade with a crowd of between 10,000 and 15,000 expected to jam city streets to watch the program.

Judges Are Named

Judges will be Miss Quepha Rawls, Holland Cox and Charles Lutrick.

Cash prizes totaling $160 will be divided among 54 individuals judged to have the funniest, most original and best character costumes.

No team entries will be allowed, Hamilton said. Only individuals will be allowed to enter and all must be on foot unless physically handicapped. Each person will be responsible for getting to the starting point of the parade.

As the contestants return from the downtown march, each will receive a large printed number for purpose of identification. As they pass the judges' stand, outstanding contestants will be called out for final judging. Until the final selection, they will be identified by number only.

Clubs Aid in Program

Civic clubs assisting the recreation department by donations to be used for prizes are the Rotary, Lions, American Business, Optimist, Kiwanis, Exchange and 20-30 clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Baldridge bakery will furnish a sound truck.

Anyone living in the city is eligible to enter the parade and parents and adults especially are urged to wear costumes and accompany their children as they march through town, it was stated. "Everyone should carry a noise-maker to add Hallowe'en spirit."

Cash prizes will be awarded the winners as follows: First place, $20; second, $15; third, $10; fourth, $5: The next five winners will receive $4 each; the next 15, $2, and the next 15, $1.

The parade will start its march at Sears Roebuck parking lot, 1625 Thirteenth, coming down Thirteenth to Avenue N where it will turn left to Broadway, proceeding down Broadway to Ave. G where the spooks will again turn left to Main. They will continue up Main street to Ave. K where they will turn left back to Broadway, following Broadway to Ave. N. The parade will go down Ave. N back to Thirteenth and the parking lot, where it started.

Excavation Begins For New Furr Super Market In Snyder

SNYDER, Oct. 29. (Special)—Excavation work got underway here today for a Furr Super Market in Snyder.

The modern super market will be constructed on a large lot in the 1600 block on Twenty-sixth street by Robert E. Maxey company of Lubbock, according to Furr President Roy Furr of Lubbock. The Furr chain bought the lot from A. A. McMillan.

The Snyder store, which will feature one of the most modern features in groceries in its self-service meat counter, is expected to be complete in December. It will contain 10,320 square feet of floor space and a paved parking area of 18,180 square feet, company officials said. The building is 86 by 120 feet. The store will have seven checking stands.

Personnel for the Snyder store will be chosen from present employes of the company.

Snyder becomes the sixteenth city in West Texas to gain a Furr super market and the store will increase the number in the Lubbock district of the company to 28. The company also operates 21 stores in the Amarillo area.

Nevada has fewer than two people per square mile.

Consisting of 450 housing units, the job is due to be awarded Dec. 13.

The contractors have been at work for eight months on a $2,900,000 343-unit project at Oak Ridge. Vernon Thompson of Lubbock is living at Oak Ridge and serving as project manager, and Harry Frye of Lubbock is there as general superintendent. The work is now 75 per cent complete.

Met National Competition

To get that job, as on the others, the Lubbock firm was bidding against the largest general contractors in the nation, including firms in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and other metropolitan centers.

Now that they have it, Maxey and Leftwich make frequent trips to the construction sites in their private airplanes. Quinn Henry and Howard Shipley serve as their pilots.

Work in progress by the Lubbock firm includes $1,200,000 worth of technical training and other buildings at Air Force installations in New Mexico, a $497,000 central steam heating plant at Sandia Air Force Base, Albuquerque, N. M., and work at the atomic energy plant at Los Alamos, N. M.

Work Done In Many States

The contractors have been doing large government jobs for six or seven years. Neither Maxey nor Leftwich would estimate their total volume of work during this period, but their contracts have ranged from buildings at 11,000-foot altitudes in Colorado to below-sea-level work in Arkansas, and their jobs have been carried on in Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Tennessee and Nebraska, as well as in many of the major cities in Texas.

A significant effect for Lubbock in these large awards is that they open much of the sub-contract work to Lubbock firms in various lines of businesses.

Many of these sub-contracts have been active for years in helping build Air Force and U. S. Atomic Energy commission buildings over the nation.

For example, the Hamilton Roofing company here holds a roofing contract at Oak Ridge, Tenn., for an amount exceeding half a million dollars.

Other Firms Active

Some of the other Lubbock firms who have been most active in this type of work are the Anthony company, Dick Rountree and Roche Newton on plumbing and heating, American Electric company on electrical work, John R. Hall on painting, and Lubbock Sheet Metal and Roofing company on roofing and sheet metal.

Maxey and Leftwich maintain field offices at their various construction jobs, but the "nerve center" of the vast network of operations is here in two offices, Leftwich's newly completed building at 112 North College, and Maxey's headquarters at 1627 College.

Maxey also does general contracting in the West Texas area through his Lubbock firm.

Many of the men who work on the large government projects are residents of Lubbock. Charles Ramsey is project manager at Albuquerque, and France H. Brownrigg, who supervised construction of the Cobb's Department store building here, and S. S. Shelton are project superintendents for that area work.

Rites Slated Today For Lubbock Man

Funeral services will be held in Rix Funeral home chapel at 4 p. m. today for George Pilcher, 55, who died in West Texas hospital at 5:30 a. m. Saturday of a gunshot wound in his head.

Pilcher was taken to the hospital about 4 p. m. Friday a few minutes after his wife reportedly found his pajama - clad body in a bathtub at their home at 2429 Nineteenth street.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. C. E. Canterbury of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The body will be sent by train to San Antonio for cremation, Rix Funeral home reported.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Marian Rowe of Lubbock and Mrs. Dan Gates of San Antonio; two sons, Harold Pilcher and David Pilcher, both of Houston; and five grandchildren.

No inquest into Pilcher's death was held. Assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr explained that Texas law does not require an inquest when death occurs in the presence of witnesses competent to testify as to the cause of death.

A .25 caliber bullet entered Pilcher's head at the left temple and ranged upward through the head, coming to rest just under the skin of the right temple. The bullet was removed at the hospital. Officials said they had a .25 caliber pistol believed to have been connected with the shooting.

Officials learned that Pilcher had been in ill health for some time and had been confined to his bed recently.

Mrs. Pilcher, alone in the house at the time of the shooting, said she heard a noise on the second floor of the residence, and on investigation, found her husband slumped in the bathtub with the head wound.

Other officers are: Jack Edwards, Amarillo, portrait vice-president; Irl Smith, Pampa, commercial vice-president; and Mrs. Nan Perry, Perryton, secretary-treasurer.

Winston Reeves, Lubbock, former president, will give a report on the national convention and council meeting in this morning's session. Reeves is a member of the national council.

A luncheon will be held at noon.

Afternoon speakers will include Burrit S. Mills, Lubbock engineer and business consultant; and Don Hooper, Rochester, N. Y., representative of the Eastman Kodak company.

A tour of the Reeves camera store and engraving plant at 1707-09 Broadway this afternoon will round out the day's session.

Tech President To Attend Meeting In Austin Monday

Rice's Owls Romp Over Red Raiders, 28 To 0

Walker Kick Gives SMU 7-6 Victory

DALLAS, Oct. 29. (AP)—All-America Doak Walker came off the bench for another golden moment today. Kicking the extra point to give Southern Methodist a breath-taking 7-6 victory over Texas.

Appearing in only 11 plays and obviously a weak young man as the result of a seige of influenza, the great Walker was the man when the time came.

Hammer Kyle Rote, great Southern Methodist Halfback, had taken a pass and skipped to the touchdown that tied the score. It was 6-6. Only because Raleigh Blakely, Southern Methodist wingman, had crashed through to block Randall Clay's try for point.

Walker's Try Good

Then the hushed throng of 75,000 watched the great Walker as he stood there and aimed at the Texas goal posts. Back came the ball and Walker stepped into it. The oval sailed like a bird between the crossbars and that was the ball game although Texas had the crowd in hysterics with drive after drive that carried deep, deep into Southern Methodist territory.

Borneman Fumbles

Texas stormed and passed, getting to the Southern Methodist three-yard line with six minutes to go dut down there Ray Borneman, keyman in the Longhorn drive, and Grover Walker recovered for SMU.

Rote boomed a kick out to the Southern Methodist 34 and then Texas, stymied in three tries, tried a field goal. It was a forlorn effort. On the 39-yard mark, Ben Tompkins put his foot into the ball but it didn't even reach the SMU goal line.

Southern Methodist was outplayed in everything except the score. Most of the breaks went its way and when Texas did get one it couldn't crack the SMU line or fooled away its chance.

Proctor Drops Ball

With only two seconds to go, Ben Proctor, Texas wingman, took a 38-yard pass from Paul Campbell across the goal line but dropped the ball.

The first half was scoreless—the first time this has occurred in the Southwest conference this season. Texas scored deep in the third period when Fred Benners, SMU sophomore, back to pass from behind his goal line had the throw blocked by Bill Wilson. The ball bounded into the air and into the arms of John Adams on the SMU two. Adams merely fell across the goal line.

Tempe Defeats N. Mexico Squad

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 29. (AP)—Quarterback Cecil Coleman pegged Arizona State at Tempe to an aerial 28-19 Border Conference victory over New Mexico today.

Coleman teamed his air thrust with the running backs Manuel Aja, Henry Rich and Whizzer White before 9,000 fans.

New Mexico uncorking a single wing formation for the first time this year, drove 95 yards after the opening kickoff in five plays to lead.

Chuck Hill carried the last 44 yards for the score.

Coleman unleased the pass attack early in the second for two quick scores. An 81-yard-drive aided by a 66-yard pass played from Coleman to White set up the first. Coleman tossed five yards to Bob Ripple in the end zone for the score.

Bob Fuller, Tempe's barefoot booter, converted the first of four extra points in the game.

The Sun Devils then drove 54 yards for the next score in the same period. The same combination—Coleman to Ripple—netted 46 yards and the tally.

New Mexico recovered a Tempe fumble in closing minutes of the second quarter and drove 41 yards. Chet Armbruster pitched five yards to Bill Speer for the touchdown. Fullback Joe Stell added the extra point.

Tempe stopped a New Mexico threat on the three yard line in the third quarter then opened a new offensive good for 79 yards. Rich scored.

New Mexico recovered another Tempe fumble a few plays later and drove to the one yard line only to be stopped again.

Tempe intercepted a Lobo pass midway in the fourth and went 30 yards for their final tally. Aja went over the line from three yards out.

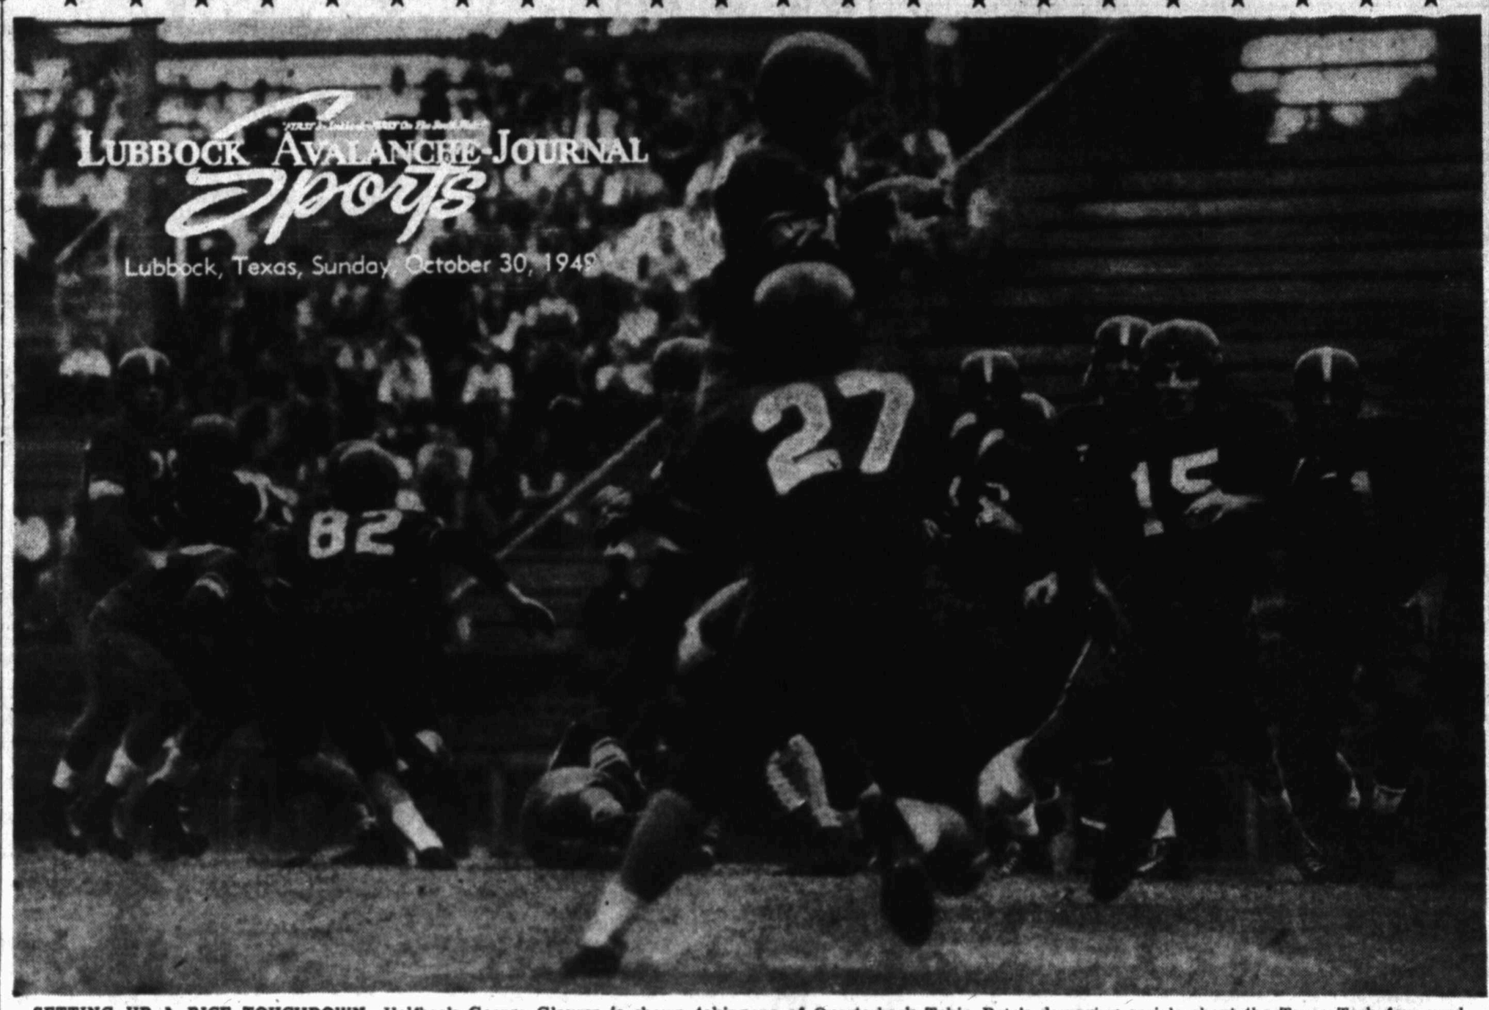

New Mexico drove 91 yards—mostly in the air—in three plays and Jerry McKown pegged a 13-yard aerial to Bill Speer for the final touchdown.

Panhandle Aggies Rack Up 49-0 Win Over St. Michael's

GOODWELL, Okla., Oct. 29. (AP) Panhandle A&M college had everything its own way today and rolled over St. Michael's College 49-0.

The Aggies scored their first touchdown in the first quarter and then added two each in the final three periods.

The Santa Fe team got beyond the Aggies' 20-yard line once. They were on the one-foot line when the gun sounded.

Early Scoring Paves Way For Neelymen

Tech Defense Tightens In Second Half; 18,000 Fans Witness Tussle

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

RICE STADIUM, HOUSTON, Oct. 29.—By land and by air, Rice Institute's powerful Owls rolled to a 28-0 victory over a fighting Texas Tech eleven here this cloudy afternoon before 18,000 paying customers, who were treated to a magnificent exhibition by the heavily-favored home team.

The Red Raiders yielded a touchdown in the first quarter and two more in the second that threatened to turn the game into a rout. But they rallied in the second half to make a real ball game of it, giving up a single touchdown to the Owls while making several scoring threats themselves.

Radiers Drop Fourth

It was the fourth defeat of the season for the Raiders and the fourth by a Southwest Conference eleven. At that, had the Radiers held the Owls in the first half and possessed any kind of a scoring punch themselves, they might have stopped the team which is favored by many to win the SWC title.

In losing, the Raiders did not fail to gain the respect of Houston fans. Although trailing 21-0 at the half, they came back in the last two cantos to carry the fight to the heavier Owls. And in Tackle Marshall Gettys, they well may have had the lineman of the week.

Gettys was great today. He made tackle after tackle in playing the greatest game of his career. He conservatively made two-thirds of the stops, blocked well on offense and was a tower in the Raider line.

He had able assistance from Center J. B. Mahler and, on occasion, from End Dick Cavazos. In the backfield, Fullback J. W. Thompson, Halfbacks Tim Hatch and Cal Steveson were outstanding, while Fullback Bud Conley turned in a fine defensive job at his linebacking spot.

But the absence of a pass defense and too much shoddy tackling handed Rice several opportunities and they cashed in on several of them.

Owls Use Four Plays

The Owls drove 77 yards on four plays for their first tally, went 69 yards on 10 plays for their second, drove 82 yards on eight plays to get their third and racked up the final counter on a 92-yard parade that consumed only nine plays.

And it was the passing Owls that spelled the difference. Tech gained almost as many yards rushing, 240 to 285 for Rice, but the aerial route paid off for the Owls. They attempted 21 passes and completed 15 for 248 yards. Two were for touchdowns and another score was set up by the passing attack.

Quarterbacks Tobin Rote and Vernon Glass were the chief threadneedle artists and they operated with precision. Rote attempted 11 passes and completed eight for 127 yards. Glass tried 10 and completed seven for 121 yards.

Rice took Tech's opening kickoff and marched to the Raider 28, before the Owls lost the ball on downs. After the Raiders had picked up a first down, Steveson had to punt and Rice began to move. Starting from the Owl 23, Rice powered over in four plays.

Burkhalter Sparks Drive

Halfback Billy Burkhalter, star of the SMU game and a thorn in Tech's side all afternoon, keynoted the drive with a 12-yard ramble, first of many long gains he was to turn in. On the next play, Halfback Rex Proctor went around Tech's left end for 64 yards, finally getting bounced out of bounds on the Raider one by Quarterback Ernest Hawkins. Fullback Bobby Lantrip plunged over center and with a little over four minutes remaining, the Owls had their victory bulge.

End Froggie Williams, who did not play today except to kick all four extra point attempts, calmly

Deacons Drop Clemson, 35 To 21

CLEMSON, S. C., Oct. 29 (INS)—Wake Forest's Deacons beat Clemson 35-21, tonight as the two teams put on an expected scoring duel before 20,000 fans in Clemson.

The North Carolinans struck for three touchdowns in the second period, and the Tigers never did manage to overcome that handicap, although they tried hard enough.

John Solek interrupted a pass from Jack Calvert while it was on its way to one of Calvert's Tiger teammates and ran 35 yards with the ball for the first Deacon marker. A minute later Dickie Davis returned a Calvert punt 50 yards for another touchdown.

The Tigers bit away some of the Deacon lead when Glenn Smith caught a 25-yard Calvert pass. And Clemson kept right on after halftime. Following an attempt by the Deacons to punt out of danger from their own one. The punt wasn't blocked, but a couple of Tiger plays later, Matthews passed to Calvert for some more Clemson points.

A 75-yard Deacon march ended with Blackerby scoring from the one, and, with six minutes left in the game, Blackerby threw 15 yards to end John O'Quinn in the end zone.

Baylor Smothers TCU; Arkansas Wins

Bears Trample Frogs, 40 To 14

WACO, Oct. 29. (AP)— Baylor rode high in the ranks of the nation's undefeated teams smothering Texas Christian 40 to 14 with a potent offense and a tight defense at Municipal Stadium today.

Texas Christian's Lindy Barry had a bad off day. Baylor's Adrian Burk and his pass-snatching mates were at their best, and that was the ball game.

Balyor counted with one touchdown in the first period, three in a big second quarter, one each in the third and fourth, plus a safety in the second to give the Horned Frogs their second setback in Southwest Conference play.

A Christian fumble early in the game and a recovery by Tackle Wesley Roberts led to Baylor's first touchdown. Big Frank Boydstun rammed through from the nine to score. Frank Dickerson's placement was wide.

Bears Drive 67 Yards

Baylor drove 67 yards to score the next touchdown. It was touched off by a 27-yard pass from Burk to End Stanley Williams. Buddy Parker tallied from the 17 and Dickerson's try for point was good.

A 44-yard heave from Burk to Dudley Parker, standing clear in the end zone, gave the surging Bruins another tally. Burk then passed 42 yards to James Jeffery on TCU's three and Boydstun again powered over for the score. Both tries for extra point failed.

Tackle Rupert Wright tackled Ottis McKelvey of TCU in the end zone for a safety and two more points. A pass from Burk to Ison and a missed conversion attempt ran the Baylor total to 33.

Frogs Surge Back

That 33 to 0 margin held through the third period. Baylor was using many reserves and the Frogs surged back for two touchdowns in the last quarter. The first was a 46 yard drive climaxed by a scoring pass from Roy Bassinger to Bill Elliott, Homer Ludiker's place kick was good.

Baylor scored another touchdown in the final frame after re-

Westerners-Odessa Game Tickets Will Go On Sale Monday

Tickets for the Odessa-Lubbock High football game go on sale Monday at the athletic office in the high school, and E. J. Lowrey, athletic business manager, said Saturday that he thinks he has enough to take care of those who applied for them last week.

When reservations were taken last Monday, more than 6,000 persons requested reserved seat tickets. At that time only 3,150 reserved tickets had been promised for Lubbock fans, along with 1,000 student tickets.

A hurried call to Odessa by Lowrey in request of more tickets resulted in more ducats being sent, and now it appears that 7,000 persons will be able to follow the Westerners to Odessa for the game on November 11.

Of this number more than 3,150 are reserved seats. Another 2,000 are general admission, non-reserved, and the students will be allowed 1,500 tickets.

Lowrey said that the additional tickets received should take care of those persons who called in for reservations as late as Tuesday. No additional reservations are being made, and a deadline for picking up tickets has not been set.

Broncho stadium is expected to be packed for the contest, with 21,662 seats being made available for the tilt. Bleachers will be installed in the end zones and on the cinder track to make room for those wanting to see the game.

All reserved seats were sold last week in Odessa, and this week bleacher seats for the contest will go on sale.

Dick Snider, sports editor of the Odessa American, said Saturday that it appears that every bleacher seat will be sold for the game, and that if the stadium were larger it could easily be sold out.

Hapless Aggies Lose, 27 To 6

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 29 (AP) — Ground-minded Arkansas overpowered the hapless Texas Aggies almost exactly as expected, 27 to 6, here today.

The Razorbacks were 19-point favorites in the betting.

The victory before some 20,000 Arkansas homecomers evened the Razorbacks' Southwest Conference record at two wins and two defeats, and left A & M winless in three league starts.

The young Aggie team fought stubbornly to hold Arkansas to a one-point, 7-6, lead in the first half but couldn't withstand the pounding any longer.

Arkansas netted 293 yards rushing, most of it on short line jabs. Joe Dugan accounted for 105 yards on two runs, the only long ones of the afternoon for Arkansas.

While the Aggies could manage only 55 yards running into Arkansas' big line, they kept the game in doubt until the fourth quarter with sophomore Dick Gardemal's sharp passing. He connected on 14 of 25 tosses for 143 yards.

A game-opening drive was stopped by a fumble at the A&M seven, but Arkansas began the scoring when a pass interception gave it the ball at the A&M ten on the next play. Don Logue passed two yards to Pat Summerall for a touchdown. Duval Thornton kicked his first of three extra points.

The Aggies then started to roll with Gardemal's passing eating up 42 of the 62 yards made in the march. His 12-yard toss to End Wray Whittaker brought the score early in the second period.

Jim Cashion fumbled the snap from center on the try for point and Bob Schaeffer was unable to kick.

Dugan went 26 yards to the Aggie four on a Statue of Liberty play to set up Arkansas' third-quarter touchdown. Louis Schaufele drove over from the one yard stripe. He fumbled in the end zone and teammate Bill Stancil recovered. Officials ruled Schaufele already was over and credited him with the score.

Yale Lary was smeared on the Aggie nine while trying to get off a fourth-down punt early in the final stanza. Geno Mazzanti powered five yards for the game-icing tally.

Bill Bass intercepted a desperation pass by Gardemal and ran 16 yards untouched for the Razorbacks' final marker.

It was near the end that Dugan sliced through right guard, from the Arkansas six, shot into the clear, and seemed sure to go all the way until Billy Tidwell nabbed him on the A&M 15. Three plays gained but three yards, and Thornton missed an attempted field goal by inches.

Tulane Green Wave Defeats Mississippi State, 54 To 6

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 29 (INS) — Tulane's Green Wave roared to flood-tide in New Orleans today and deluged Mississippi State, 54 to 6.

Tulane packed every period with at least one touchdown, scoring 14 points in the first, 19 in the second, 14 in the third and 7 more in the final quarter. The Greenies were on the Maroon 3-yard line when the game ended and paid no attention to "We Want 60" chants from the crowd.

MIDSHIPMEN'S LOST WEEKEND

Notre Dame Racks Up Lopsided 40-0 Win Over Navy's Middies

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29. (INS) — Notre Dame added its inimitable touch to Navy's lost weekend today and belted the embryo admirals 40 to 0 for the most lopsided action in 23 years of Irish-Middie football contention.

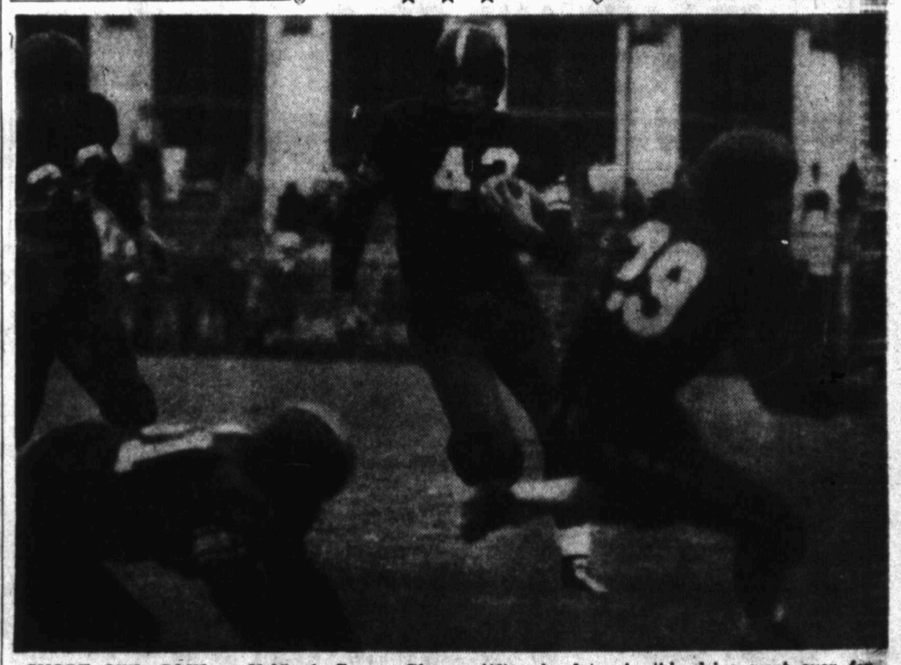

A crowd of 62,413, including the corps of midshipmen and the newly deposed chief of naval operations, Admiral Louis Denfeld, witnessed the debacle in Babe Ruth Stadium at Baltimore.

The Irish led 7 to 0 at the end of the first quarter, the result of a 48-yard pass play from Bob Williams to Ernie Zalejski, But Navy, storming back the other way behind the trap running of Dave Bannerman, had a second down on the Irish 12-yard line.

Here Notre Dame held for downs, and on the second play Coutre received the ball from Williams on a delayed shovel, stepped off left tackle, and flew 91 yards to a touchdown. Nobody put a hand on him.

After that, the question was mainly one of amount. Emil Sitko took off on a spiral run for 44 yards, and short plays later fled through the middle like a desperate phantom for 21 yards and another touchdown. Before the half ended, Williams and Zalejski had collaborated in another expert passing act, this one for 28 yards and a fourth Notre Dame touchdown.

In the third quarter, Johnny Landry used the delayed trap off right tackle for 14 yards and a fifth touchdown; and Zalejski, surrounded by third and fourth-string mates, pounded 76 yards on a cutback for the final score.

SHORT OWL GAIN — Halfback George Glauser (42), who later in this drive went over for Rice's third touchdown, is shown picking up a two-yard gain over the center of Texas Tech's line in midfield. Guard Milburn Haydon (62) is coming up for the Red Raiders to make the tackle, while an unidentified player is on his hands and knees virtually plugging up the hole. Halfback Eural Ramsey (29) apparently was thrown off balance just as this picture was taken and is going away from the ball carrier. Rice went on to win the game, 28-0. Hardin-Simmons Stops Miners

Western Bows To Cowboys, 33-14

ABILENE, Oct. 29. (AP)—Hardin-Simmons' cowboys snapped Texas Western's win streak tonight 33-14.

John Ford, Bob McChesney and Wilton (Hooks) Davis teamed to punch out the Border Conference victory, pushing the Cowboys to the front in the loop race.

Ford, All-Border Conference quarterback and the loop's leading passer, hit McChesney, Cowboy end, three times with touchdown passes. One of them was good for 63 yards.

Davis, returning to full action after a two-game layoff, sliced the Western line for a total of 109 yards. He counted the other two HSU touchdowns.

Ford pitched to McChesney deep in the corner for a 35-yard touchdown play before the game was 10 minutes old.

Western took the kickoff and marched 63 yards to match the score. Bill Chesak dove over from the one for the touchdown.

Four plays later, Ford tossed another pass to McChesney on the Western 33. McChesney went the distance for the second HSU touchdown.

Western drove 84 yards for its next score. Chesnak went over from the three yard line to give Western a 14-13 lead at the half.

Hardin - Simmons came back with a three-touchdown drive in the second half. One came early in the third when Davis sliced through tackle from the four for the touchdown. The Cowboys struck twice in the fourth, marching 88 yards for the first with Davis scoring, and Ford tossing to McChesney from the six for the last

The heralded Miner attack, which hal roll enough to put the El Paso team on the nation's major colleges in rushing in their first six games, failed to materialize until midway of the opening period, after they had spotted the Cowboys their opening counter.

Neither team could gain when they first got the ball and the payoff drive for the Cowboys began when Davis flashed his speed for the first time. He returned Sonny Holderman's punt from his own 35 to the Miner 48 on a 22-yard twister.

Pat Bailey and Davis punched to the Miner 35 on two plays, and on fourth down Ford faded and heaved a long looper which McChesney pulled in on the five and scampered alone to pay dirt.

The Miners took the kickoff and Pug Gabrel began the series of punches which sparked the first Miner touchdown. On third down he pried his way between two blockers into the clear on a 10-break-through, and a moment later added 10 more on a quickie to the Cowboy 38. Bill Chesak on two line bucks and Ralph Brewster on a nine-yard toss to Jack Wilkinson, moved to the H-SU 24 as the quarter ended.

George Grounds, on an end-around, went to the 14 and Gabrel and Chesak alternated to the three. On the second try Chesak dove over the pileup for the counter and Davis, on second try, squared the count.

The El Paso kickoff was grounded in the end zone, and on second play from the 20 Western was assessed 15 for clipping. Bailey hit the middle for two, and the lightening struck. Ford passed to McChesney on the 33 and his mates escorted him the rest of the way.

covering a TCU fumble on the 20. Louis Gajdosik plunged over and Dickerson's placement was good.

Then Marshall Alford blocked Larry Isbell's punt and Keith Flowers ran 34 yards for a score, with Ludiker's placement again perfect for the extra point.

Burk completed 11 of 19 passes attempted for total yardage of 192.

Two Berry Passes Good

Berry was able to connect only on two of 11 tries for 15 yards, but six interceptions of Berry's pitches were a tribute to a heads-up pass defense that throttled the vaunted Christian attack.

But it wasn't all Burk for Baylor. The air-minded Bruins total yards gained by air was 216, and they powered for 121 on the ground. TCU netted 61 yards by passes and a scant 25 on the ground.

The Christians threatened several times, but miscued, and just-missed passes hurt badly. Early in the game a long heave from Ben Wilde to Snake Bailey was a near-miss that was a heartbreaker for the TCU team that was definitely off stride.

Bill Moorman blocked a Baylor kick early in the fourth period, TCU winding up with the ball on the Baylor three. The Baylor line refused to budge on four line plays and that's the way the ball game went all afternoon.

Plans Being Made For City Recreation Basketball Team

League play is tentatively scheduled to start late in November, Barrett said.

Any persons interested in the city basketball program who are unable to attend Tuesday night's meeting may obtain full information on league play by calling Barrett, at 2-3491.

Texan Is Held In Mexico After Trying To Pass Bogus Money

TORREON, Mexico, Oct. 29. (U.P.) Two men, including a resident of Port Arthur, were held for questioning here today after they tried to pass counterfeit U.S. money at a local bank.

Both denied they knew the money was counterfeit.

Doroteo Trevino, of Port Arthur, told authorities his money came from a Port Arthur store where he cashed a paycheck before coming here a few days ago.

Juan Zuniga, who returned from Texas early this month, maintained the counterfeit bills he had were part of the $95 (U.S.) he was paid for two months work on a valley farm.

58 High School Bands Parade At Hardin College Homecoming

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 29. (AP)—Fifty eight high school bands paraded today in celebration of Hardin college homecoming.

The 43 floats included angels, Spaniards, cowboys, and Indians. An estimated 30,000 persons watched the parade.

On hand were 100 clowns and a number of Indians in tribal costume from the Fort Sill, Okla., Indian school.

Rice Beats Tech

The second drive started late in the first quarter and carried from the Owls' 31 to the Raider 40 as the quarter ended. Burkhalter sparked the drive with an 18-yard sprint and another of 14 yards. Rote set up the score with a pass and the Owls moved to the Raider three. A fourth down line plunge fell short, but Tech was offside and the Owls had another try. This time Lantrip ripped over center for the score.

Late in the period, Steveson sparked a Raider drive that carried to the Owl 20. The Brownfield halfback ripped off 47 yards over left tackle and might have gone all the way, if he hadn't cutback at the wrong time.

The drive fizzled and set up Rice's next score when, on third down, Steveson couldn't hold a pass from Hawkins. He tipped the ball into the air and Halfback Harold Riley intercepted on the five, returning to the 18.

Tech Holds Ball

Eight plays later, sparked by four Rote passes, the Owls pushed over their third score. Rote's fourth pitch caught Halfback George Glauser behind the line in the left flat and behind beautiful blocking and ineffective Raider tackling, he rambled over.

That was all the scoring in the first half. In the final two cantos, Tech held the ball the majority of the time, driving determinedly down the field only to peter out within scoring territory. Rice had one threat turned back midway through the quarter when Lantrip, on five consecutive carries, went a total of 76 yards, including one ramble of 31 yards over Tech's leaking left tackle and inside left end. But a successful fourth down pass from Glass to End Frank Allen fell short of a first down and Tech took over on its own three.

The Raiders, rolling up five first downs, drove all the way down to the Rice 34, where the Owls stiffened and held as the period ended. A 15-yard penalty for holding late in this drive also checked the Raiders.

Halfback Ike Stuver booted out of bounds on the Owl eight yard line and the Raiders appeared to be in no danger. But the Owls relentlessly powered their way downfield. The pattern was monotonous. Lantrip hit the line, Burkhalter hit the line, Glass passed to Burkhalter, Glass passed to him again and the final one, starting on the Tech 48 was a touchdown.

Burkhalter took the ball on the Raider 41, cut back, picked up his blockers and reversed his field at least twice, each time using his blockers to perfection. Finally he went over and the Owls had their final score.

Tech had two drives left, one of which fell flat on the Rice 23 yard line when Hawkins was tackled for a loss trying to pass once, and two aerials were incomplete.

The second drive reached the 23 again. This time one pass was incomplete and two heavy losses threw Hawkins on consecutive plays all the way back to his own 42 where the Raiders lost the ball.

Tech lost, temporarily, a pair of players today from leg injuries. Guard Milburn Hayden hurt his leg that was torn up in the Aggie game last year and was carried from the field early in the fourth quarter. And midway through the period, Stuver also was carried from the field.

Centers Joe Watson and Lee Stonestreet and Guard Joe McPhail turned in brilliant defensive performances for the Owls. Rote and Glass led a backfield that was hard to stop, with Glauser, Burkhalter, Proctor, Riley and John Kelly turning in fine work.

All was not futile today, but the Raider attack failed miserably when in scoring territory. They came close, only to bog down when they most needed their power.

Cowhands Win 57 To 0

Lubbock's Cowhands blasted the Lamesa B team for a 57-0 victory last night at Chapman field before 200 fans, with eight local players scoring touchdowns.

Even with substitutes in the contest the last half, the fighting Cowhands took advantage of the breaks to push across three tallies. The win was the fifth against one defeat.

The game began with Lamesa kicking off to the locals. Six plays and 70 yards later Halfback Charlie Hodges went over from the two-yard line, with End Don Jones converting for Lubbock.

Minutes later Lubbock received a punt on its 25 scoring after four plays with Bo Sexton rounding left end for 20 yards and the tally. Jones converted for a 14-0 margin.

Shortly before the end of the first quarter Lamesa punted to Sexton on the Lubbock 30, and after a brief fumble Sexton picked up the ball, headed for the sideline and went all the way for the third six-pointer. After this gallop Sexton left the game and did not return.

In the second stanza Duane Rampy circled right end for 20 yards for a touchdown, and Tatum converted, the last time Lubbock was successful on an extra point try.

A Lubbock drive was stopped on the two-yard line of Lamesa by a fumble, but after failing to gain the visitors attempted to punt. A low snap was dropped, and a pile of Lubbock players including Charles Holmquest, Carroll Manning and Tommy Yelvington fell on the ball, with Yelvington being at the bottom of the pile to get credit for the touchdown.

Before the second period ended Holmquest pounced on a fumble on Lamesa's 38, and three tries by Halfback Cecil Austin produced the score, the payoff being on a three-yard off-tackle slant.

In the third quarter Lamesa put on a good display of running, with Jerry Crowe, Johnny Montgomery and Pat O'Neil carrying, but the drives never gained enough momentum to carry for touchdowns.

Lubbock was held to one touchdown, that being a four-yard drive by Billy Watson after an end-around play by Coon Adair for 15 yards set up the score.

A fourth-quarter pass from Quarterback Charles Brewer to End James Gray for 30 yards made the count 51-0. A Lamesa fumble gave Lubbock the ball 14 yards from paydirt late in the game, and Fullback James Sides plunged over from the three on the fourth play from that point.

Lubbock made 16 first downs to seven for Lamesa.

Fifteen stakes, the most in winter racing, are slated for the coming campaign at Hialeah race track.

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

When the airliner carrying Marcel Cerdan smashed into that Azores mountainside, the world of boxing lost one of its truly great champions.

Technically, Cerdan was just an "ex-champion," at the time of his death. He had lost the middleweight crown to Jake LaMotta, you know, and was on his way back to America to try to regain it when he was killed.

But in my books, and probably those of many others who followed the colorful career of the Casablanca Clouter, Cerdan died a champion—crown or no crown.

Cerdan's life story can be summed up in four short words: He loved to fight.

And he was a born fighter—quick, powerful, and as courageous as they come.

When it came to matching a bout, he was never one to quibble over terms. He was ready to fight any middleweight anywhere, under any conditions. Paris, New York, Chicago, Brussels, Casablanca, Montreal—the site made no difference to Marcel.

By the time he reached the top, Cerdan was wealthy enough that he did not, from a financial point of view, need to continue in the ring. He had substantial holdings (estimated at $500,000 or more) in his native Morocco, and easily could have retired.

But he kept on fighting, simply because he liked to fight. To him boxing was an art, to be studied and mastered. He did both.

In the 100 professional bouts, the swathy, jovial, gold-toothed Cerdan actually was beaten only by LaMotta and Cyrille Delannoit (although he lost two other fights on fouls). He later whipped Delannoit in a return go, and he was on his way to try LaMotta again.

Even the loss to LaMotta was not clean-cut. Cerdan, you will recall, suffered a severe shoulder injury early in that match, and was unable to use his left hand effectively as a result. Fighting a "one-armed" fight, he absorbed a brutal beating, yet he pleaded with his handlers not to have the bout stopped. When they at last threw in the towel, giving LaMotta the championship, Marcel sat in his corner, his head bowed and tears streaming from his eyes.

"My title, my title!" he sobbed.

The title—that was all that mattered to Cerdan in recent years. With him, being champion was a matter of personal pride.

Only a few days ago, discussing his return bout with LaMotta, he remarked, "This is the fight of my life. I win or I die."

He was that kind of a fellow, and even his opponents respected and admired him for it.

Incidentally, LaVern Roach, the South Plains middleweight who was going great guns until Cerdan checked his rise with a TKO in March, 1948, soon will return to the professional ring.

Roach's decision is in no way related to Cerdan's untimely death. LaVern, who has been out of action more than a year, advised me of his tentative plans to return to the East some time ago.

He feels that, after his long layoff, he's ready to battle his way back into the middleweight title picture. At least, he's ready to give it another whirl.

Because of some recent contractual changes, Roach is in position to land some lucrative Madison Square Garden bouts as soon as he can prove himself a worthy challenger. Because of the rosy financial prospects, he's returning to the ring, even though he is one of the first to agree that fighting is a tough way to pay the grocery bill.

Roach, during his inactivity, has kept himself in remarkably good physical condition. Right now, his weight is not five pounds above the middleweight limit, so he should encounter no poundage difficulties. And, at 24, he still is one of the younger fighters among the top-flight class.

Before going East, LaVern will make a New Mexico hunting trip—not so much to hunt as to whip his legs into condition with daily hikes and roadwork. Then, late next month, he'll head for New York.

Here's wishing him the very best of luck.

Denver Drops Arizona 20-6

DENVER, Oct. 29. (INS)— Halfback Hal Pfeiffer won his share of glory today, scoring all three Denver university touchdowns as the Pioneers defeated Arizona 20-6 in an intersectional contest at Denver.

Nearly 14,000 fans watched the game through rain and snow which forced officials to turn on the stadium lights in the final stanza.

Pfeiffer scored on line plunges of 12 and 2 yards in the first and third periods and a 66-yard punt return, also in the third. Bob (The Toe) Gruenler connected with two out of three conversions.

Arizona's single touchdown came on an 87-yard punt return by Fred Batiste of Tucson just before the intermission, tying the count at 6-6.

Denver's Pioneers forgot their passing prowess in the face of the damp weather and demonstrated plenty of power on the ground, with Back Andy Pavich, John Parise and Pfeiffer sharing the load.

Picadors Beat Odessa, 13-0

Tech Scores Early On 39-Yard Pass

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

Texas Tech's freshman football team achieved its second straight 1949 victory at Jones Stadium Saturday, downing a stubborn crew of Odessa Junior college Wranglers, 13-0.

A rather disappointing crowd of some 1,200 fans turned out to see the talent-laden, but erratic, Picadors punch across a touchdown on their second offensive play of the day, then hold on gamely for the triumph.

Coach Allie White's freshmen, who swamped the West Texas State frosh, 59-7, in their only previous outing, started as though they intended to make a rout of this one. They had tallied one touchdown and were well on their way to a second when the Odessa team buckled down to make a ding-dong battle out of it the rest of the way.

Blow Scoring Chances

As it turned out, Tech's youngsters were a bit fortunate to escape with their two-touchdown margin. Coach White commented afterwards that it appeared to him that a "couple of outstanding plays by individuals" proved the difference.

Paced by the hard running of W. H. Barker, Carl Madison, Waldo Young and Denton Lambert, the Picadors dominated play on the ground. But Odessa led in first downs, 13-11, and in yards gained passing.

Both teams blew good scoring opportunities. Late in the first quarter, the Techsans had a first down with a yard to go for a touchdown, but they failed to gain on four running plays and lost possession. Odessa twice knifed inside the Picador 10-yard line without reaching the dobule stripe. The Wranglers were stopped the first time by the halftime gun, and the second time by Gene Doss' recovery of an Odessa fumble for the freshmen.

Thames Goes Over

The Picadors wasted no time scoring, with Madison passing 29 yards to James Thames on the Odessa 10 on the second offensive play for the Tech crew. Thames made a great catch and raced on across for the score. Ronnie Miller's attempted conversion fell short.

The second Tech touchdown came midway through the third quarter, when Madison cut back over left end for five yards to cap a 60-yard drive that had featured Alton Linne's spectacular leaping catch of a 32-yard Madison heave, followed by a twisting 21-yard run by Lambert.

Miller converted after the second score.

Waldo Young, the highly-heralded scatback from Monahans, ended with a net gain of 61 yards on 14 tries from scrimmage, plus one timely interception of a Wrangler pass. He was held in check in his favorite department, however, getting a total of only 27 yards on four punt returns.

Madison, Barker Shine

Madison handled the Tech team well from his quarterback position, while Barker's churning runs through the hefty Wrangler line provided one of the day's offensive highlights.

The Picador defensive line performed well in the clutches, although it yielded considerable yardage in midfield.

Grey Mask Will Face Herb Parks At Arena

Last week's-semi-finals winner, the Grey Mask, moves into the final event this Wednesday at Sled Allen's wrestling arena against Herb Parks in a double main bill.

The Grey Mask, who defeated Alex Kasaboski, last week will be up against another tough opponent. Parks was the winner over the rugged Dutchman, Al Getz, and in defeating the Pittsburg native he showed lots of spirit and hustle.

Last week's losers get together in the first maint event, and it seems as if this match may steal a good portion of the spotlight for the evening.

The first main is a natural as well as a demand match since both contestants demanded a rematch after wrestling to a draw two weeks ago. Neither was satisfied with the outcome of that match.

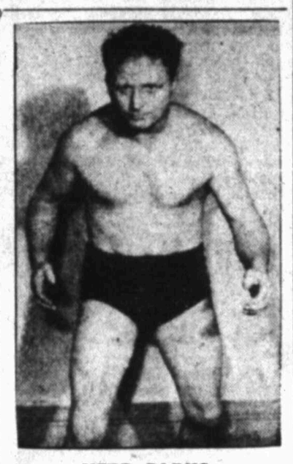

Both Kasaboski and Getz are well-versed in the arts and science of the wrestling game. In their previous bout these two brought forth all the tricks and knowledge they had accumulated over years of wrestling and both went all out for a win, but time ran out.

Both main events are scheduled for two of three falls or an hour time limit.

Meeting in the preliminary event are George Overhull of Amarillo and Salvador Flores, the rough and ready lad from Mexico City. Flores made an impressive appearance last week in his match with Charlie Carr, a performance which was packed with plenty of thrills as these two huskies battled for a victory.

Overhulls has appeared here in the past year after playing football in Amarillo, and since his last appearance in the local mat wars moved into the East for experience, getting plenty of it around Toledo, Columbus and Chicago.

Tickets for the mid-week grappling show will be on sale from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Wednesday at the arena and may be reserved by phoning 2-8665. Matches start at 8 p. m.

Finals will be played today at Lubbock Country club in the City Open Golf tournament, with Chick Trout and Jimmy Goldman slated to tee off around 9 o'clock in the 36-hole championship flight match.

In the second flight, A. C. Jackson was the winner, defeating Jack Cole, 1-up, in their match Saturday.

Goldman had an easy time Saturday in his semi-finals match, overpowering A. L. Holton, 6 and 5. In previous matches Goldman eliminated Lindsey Telford, defending champion, John Trout, and G. W. Warden.

Trout advanced to the finals with a hard-fought 2 and 1 victory over Manse Allen. Allen defeated Medalist Dick Jennings in his quarter-finals match. Falling before Trout were Raymond Marshall, John Bell and Clyde Fortune.

Missouri Gridders Drop Huskers, 21-20

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 29.(INS)— The University of Missouri exploded for two touchdowns in the last quarter to squeeze by inspired Nebraska, 21 to 20, before a homecoming crowd of 29,000 fans in Columbia.

Nebraska led 20 to 7 when the last quarter began and an upset appeared to be in the making.

But Missouri began a 57-yard sustained drive. John Glorioso put the Tigers back in the game when he skirted right end from the eight yard line for a touchdown. He also kicked the extra point to make the score 20 to 14.

The Missourians held Nebraska after the next kickoff and Fred Hulse rushed through the Cornhusker line to block Ronnie Clark's punt. Missouri took the ball on the Nebraska 14.

Ricky Braznell promptly passed 12 yards to Glorioso and then Braznell lunged across the goal line. Glorioso kicked the extra point to win the game.

Levi Jackson is Yale's 70th football captain.

Four-Year Old Texas Mascot Says, "Who's Doak Walker"

DALLAS, Oct. 29 (AP) — Perhaps the least nervous of all spectators at the thrilling Southern Methodist-Texas football game today was four-years-old Johnny Carter of Austin, mascot to the Texas cheerleaders.

Asked if he wanted to grow up to be a football player, Johnny allowed he'd rather be a cheerleader.

"Don't you want to be like Doak Walker?" He was asked.

"Who's he?" Said Johnny.

Sooners Drop Iowa State

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 29. (INS)— Oklahoma's powerful Sooners kept their grid slate clean today, defeating Iowa State, 34 to 7, in a Big Seven Conference game at Norman.

Some 30,000 homecoming fans cheered the Sooners to a 20-0 halftime edge and then sat back while their favorites ran up two more quick touchdowns before yielding one to the Cyclones.

After a scoreless first quarter, Oklahoma cracked the game wide open. Halfback George Thomas and Fullback Leon Heath each counted in the second period on short plunges and then Buddy Jones scampered 83 yards with a punt return in the closing seconds of the first half.

Pearson added another TD in the third session on an 11-yard sprint while reserve Quarterback Claude Arnolds sneaked over from the three-yard line for the capping tally.

Iowa State's lone touchdown was netted on a nifty 87-yard pass play from Quarterback Bill Weeks to End Jim Doran.

Aldo Minelli, Bert Linam Bout Postooned Until November 14

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29 (AP) — A scheduled 12-round bout between Aldo Minelli of Milan, Italy, and Bert Linam, Austin, Texas, welterweight, here Oct. 31 was postponed today until Nov. 14.

Charley Johnston, Minelli's manager, said the Italian had received a slight eye cut while working out in New York yesterday afternoon.

Blaik's Powerhouse Still Rolling

Army Cadets Defeat V.M.I Eleven, 40-14

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 29. (INS)—Army's ground and air forces attacked according to plan today to mow down their little brothers from VMI, 40 to 14.

The Cadets scored twice in each of the first two periods for a 27-0 lead. Then Coach Earl Blaik slackened the pressure and the stubborn Virginians played Cadet reserves even in the second half.

Arnold Galiffa, Army's great quarterback, scored the first touchdown on a six-yard sneak and passed 12 yards to Dan Foldberg and 26 yards to Jim Cain for the next two.

Halfback Kuckhahn's one-yard plunge and Bill Depue's 45-yard dash with an intercepted pass accounted for the Cadet's second half TDs.

VMI's two scores came on pass interceptions. Taylor Hay raced 30 yards with one and Freddie Anson brought another back 45 yards.

Wichita Cops 27-21 Victory Over Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 29. (INS)— Wichita university, flying on the right wing of Eddie Kriwiel, toppled Tulsa's Golden Hurricane, 27 to 21, today at Tulsa.

Trailing by one point with five minutes left to play, Kriwiel, the Shockers' ace passer, tossed a 32-yard aerial to End Walt Knocke for the winning touchdown. That was Kriwiel's fourth scoring pitch of the day.

Wichita gained a 13-7 halftime lead on two sensationally-long passes from Kriwiel to back Jimmy Nutter — one going for 80 yards and the other for 70.

Tulsa forged ahead early in the final period on a touchdown pass from Quarterback Pete Annex to Half Dub Greaves. But Kriwiel's heave to Knocke rubbed-out the Hurricane lead a few minutes later.

Stanford Ties With Broncos

STANFORD STADIUM, Palo Alto, Calif., Oct. 29. (INS)—Stanford and Santa Clara fumbled time and again today in their annual football meeting at Stanford university, the game finally winding up in a 7-7 deadlock before 45,000 fans.

Stanford, like Santa Clara fumbled away scoring in the first half, but eventually got going for 76 yards in nine plays without a fumble in the third period to score the Indian's touchdown.

Their sophomore quarterback, Gary Kerkorian, whose sharp passing to Ends Ken Rose and Al Laakso accounted for most of the 76 yards, made the score on a three yard sneak over the center of the Bronco line. Then he booted the extra point.

Marshall knocked Henderson from the thinning ranks of undefeated, untied schoolboy football teams Friday night and Corsicana took a big step toward the District 13-AA title in the feature games in City Conference and Class AA.

The once-beaten Marshall club ruined Henderson's record, 21-14. Corsicana, a "sleeper," team in Class AA, whipped Waco, 16-12.

Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Corsicana, Port Arthur and Grand Prairie are now the only teams with perfect records in the top two divisions of the Interscholastic League's big football program. John Reagan of Houston and Baytown are unbeaten, but tied.

Lubbock, Wichita Falls and Port Arthur won easily Friday night. So did Baytown. Grand Prairie was idle.

The Westerners from Lubbock, touted as the greatest high school team to show up in Texas in years, rolled over Lamesa, 41-14.

Baytown downed Pasadena, 19-6.

San Antonio Tech's 19-13 victory over Brackenridge moved it a step closer to the San Antonio district title in City Conference. If Tech wins the title, it will be the first major athletic honor the school has won since it was old Main Avenue High, back in the early thirties.

Abilene beat Sweetwater, 27-12, and San Angelo and Brownwood battled to a 33-33 tie in a couple of top West Texas games.

Purdue Upsets Minnesota, 13-7

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 29. (INS)—Purdue's 26-point underdogs turned mighty Minnesota's football season into a shambles today by outclassing the Gophers, 13 to 7, before a homecoming crowd of 62,046 fans in Minneapolis.

It was the second straight Saturday that Minnesota fell before a less heralded foe and this defeat all but mathematically shattered the Gophers Big Ten championship aspirations and Rose Bowl hopes.

Purdue marched 97 yards for a touchdown in the second period after a scoreless first quarter. The Boilermakers capitalized on a pass-interception in the last period to go 47 yards for a score.

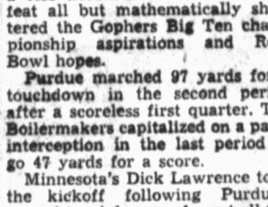

Minnesota's Dick Lawrence took the kickoff following Purdue's second touchdown and went all the way. Lawrence's pass to Bud Hausken was the final strike with only three minutes left of the game. The Gophers couldn't get their hands on the ball again.

Purdue scored its first touchdown on a seven - yard dash through tackle by Harry Szulborski.

Elmer Scallish intercepted one of Billy Bye's passes on the Gopher 47 to set the stage for Purdue's last score. Norb Adams carried the ball the final three yards for the touchdown.

The Boilermakers completely out-played Minnesota and the statistics showed it. Purdue totaled 19 first downs to Minnesota's 11 and outgained the Gophers 354 yards to 238.

A total of $812,342 worth of seat options and bonds had been sold up to homecoming day.

"There will be no prior lien against the stadium," R. B. Dupree, president of the non-profit corporation announced after the meeting today.

"The response to the Baylor stadium campaign has been tremendous," said Dupree. "Friends of Baylor are rallying to her greatest need with enthusiasm and money."

Dupree said bids for construction of the stadium will be opened Wednesday at 3 p. m. in the Union building.

BUCKEYES TIE FOR WESTERN LOOP LEAD

Ohio State Crushes Northwestern, 24-7

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29. (INS)—Ohio State blazed into a tie for the Western Conference lead with a bruising 24-7 victory over Northwestern before 81,872 fans today at Ohio Stadium.

The Bucks, beaten only by Minnesota so far in the hectic Big Ten scramble, scored once in every period to subdue completely the rough but outclassed Wildcats.

The game was marred by numerous roughing penalties, mostly in the final period, including three personal fouls. But the outcome never was in doubt after the first quarter.

Fullback Curly Morrison powered four yards for the Bucks' initial score in that period and, except for a few minutes early in the second half, Northwestern was out of the game.

Altogether, Ohio State rolled up 350 yards from scrimmage while holding the Cats to a net gain of 221 yards. Included in that latter total was Northwestern's slim 92-yard aerial total. The department on which it had based its hopes for victory.

End Jimmy Hague, who converted after each of Ohio's three score, gave the Bucks a 10-0 halftime lead on his 16-yard field goal in the second period.

Insurance touchdowns by Morrison and Left Half Gerry Krall sewed up the Ohio win.

Northwestern's lone score came on a 75-yard drive early in the second half, climaxed by Fullback Art Murakowski's three-yard smash.

Pittsburgh Defeats Pennsylvania, 22-21

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29. (INS)—Pittsburgh upset Pennsylvania for the first time this season today by getting a safety in the final minute of the game for a 22 to 21 victory.

Lou Cecconi returned a punt 50 yards to the Penn 29 and set up the eventual victory. Carl Depasqua helped the cause by carrying twice for a first down on the Penn 18.

Cecconi and Depasqua then advanced the ball to the five, and Depasqua completed a pass to Earl Sumpter in the end zone, but an offside penalty was called against Pitt.

Hardin College Rolls Over Houston Gridders, 33 To 21

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Hardin college clinched at least a tie for the Gulf Coast Conference championship today by knocking down the University of Houston 33-21 before a crowd of 12,500 homecoming fans.

Hardin used three pass interceptions, a recovered fumble and power and speed, coupled with crisp passing, to lick the Cougars.

Oil Belt Batting Leaders Named

Batting leaders in the Oil Belt Baseball league have been compiled, and Nuel Landreth of Denver City led the league with a sizzling .500 average with 39 hits in 78 trips to the plate in 18 games played.

Averages toward the batting crown were figured only from those players participating with one team for at least 15 games. Some players had averages just as good or better during the year, but with more than one team.

Winner of the league's Shaughnessy playoff was Denver City, defeating Post in the finals. Post eliminated Sundown in first round play, and Denver City knocked out Seagraves.

Over the regular season Sundown was on top, finishing strong to outlast Denver City and Seagraves. Post was fourth, with Levelland, Slaton, Tahoka and Brownfield in that order.

Cyclone Jones of Denver City made more appearances at the plate over the season, coming to bat 147 times in 33 games and hitting safely on 41 occasions for a .293.

Getting the most hits was Lefty Faulkner of Seagraves, with 53 safe knocks in 138 times at bat for a .384 average.

Sundown carried only 23 players on its roster for the lowest number of players participating on a team for the year, and Brownfield had 57 over the full route.

Michigan's Wolverines Blast Illinois Out Of Big Ten Lead

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 29. (AP) The inspirational fury boiling within Illinois on "Bob Zuppke Day" suddenly escaped into nothingness with a fumble two yards shy of a touchdown and Michigan took the cue to blast the Illini out of the Big Ten football lead 13-0 today.

Held out of Michigan territory in the first quarter and stalled on the Michigan 18 in the second, Illinois rocketed 76 yards in five plays midway in the third. Sophomore Johnny Karras streaked 66 yards on a double reverse and cutback that set up the scoring opportunity.

Another sophomore, Ronnie Clark, then took turns with Karras as Illinois pushed to the four. Clark finally shot at the middle on the third down, but the ball squirted from him on the two and Walt Teninga recovered for the Wolverines.

Michigan capured a 7-0 lead in the second period on a 51-yard pass play from Chuck Ortmann to End Harry Allis. Allis snared the pitch with one hand on the 20 and raced across.

The Wolverines' brother act of Don and Tom Peterson took charge of the second touchdown siege in the final period. Chuck Lentz returned an Illini punt 17 yards to the Illinois 25 and from there the Petersons caught fire. Tom, the older and a senior, capped the drive with a two-yard slash. Allis, who booted the first point, was wide this time.

Tennessee Beats Tar Heels, 35-6

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 29 (AP) — Tennessee took most of the steam out of famed Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice today, came up with a triple-threat star in Hal Littleford, and defeated North Carolina 35 to 6 in one of the major upsets of the 1949 football season.

North Carolina was a two-touchdown favorite but Tennessee's tough line and a glue-like pass defense dashed the hopes of the Tar Heels to regain national ranking in preparation for their big game with Notre Dame in Yankee Stadium, New York, November 12.

Penalties were frequent and tempers ran short. State police had to break up a fist fight immediately back of the Tennessee bench. The 1948 All-America Justice never really got going and finally was injured in the third period so badly he had to leave the game, coming back only for kicking duties.

Tennessee scored after only three minutes of play when end Bud Sherrod recovered Fullback Haye's fumble on the six yard line and left Half Harold Payne swept right end for the touchdown. Capitalizing on frequent breaks, Tennessee built up a score of 35 to 0 before North Carolina, inflamed by the injury to Justice finally went 83 yards down the field with Back Dick Wiess' scoring on a three-yard plunge, at the start of the last period.

Justice had trouble keeping his balance on the wet turf, and cut loose only once, a 55 yard return of right Halfback Bert Rechichar's kickoff, in the first period but Tennessee finally took the ball on downs on its 18 yard line.

Littleford, by contrast, had no difficulty in running, kicking and passing like a champion, his sharp throws set up the second touchdown, which was scored by Fullback Bernie Sizemore on a one-foot dive, and in the third period he threw a 29-yarder to End Charles Cummins for the fourth touchdown.

Tennessee's final touchdown was scored appropriately enough by Sherrod, who played a great offensive and defensive game at end. Sherrod snared a pass that Hayes intended for Justice in the third period, slipped out of Justice's arms, and ran 20 yards to the goal line.

California Outplays UCLA Eleven, 35-21

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29. (INS)—A football wizard named Bob Celeri worked his magic to perfection today as he lead the California Bears to a 35 to 21 victory over a determined but out-manned band of UCLA gridders.

The win left the Californians the only unbeaten team in the Pacific Coast Conference and odds-on choice to present the West in the Rose Bowl of New Year's Day.

A crowd of 58,668 sat in on the game which climaxed UCLA's annual homecoming festivities.

UCLA battled the vaunted visitors to a 14 to 14 tie at the end of the first half. But California turned an intercepted pass and a fumble into two third period touchdowns and added another in the final quarter to clinch the contest.

In pacing the Bears to their seventh straight win, Celeri broke the University of California record for pass completions in one game with 12. He also set a new school mark for total offense, gaining an aggregate of 225 yards.

Ted Shipkey, new football coach at Montana University, last season was end coach of the Los Angeles Dons of the All-America Conference.

Southern Cal Curbs Washington, 40-28

SEATTLE, Oct. 29. (INS)—Southern California scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to defeat the University of Washington 40-28 before the Huskies' homecoming day crowd of 35,500 fans in Seattle today.

The Trojans held a 27-21 halftime lead over the fighting Huskies. The Huskies, however, went ahead 28-27 at the end of the third quarter only to lose the advantage in the last period.

Quarterback Jim Powers led the Trojan attack with his accurate throwing arm.

Powers completed 15 out of 20 passing attempts, while Husky Quarterbacks Don Heinrich and Don O'Leary combined to complete 11 out of 23 passing attempts

Only five of the 45 members of the University of Miami's 1949 football squad are seniors.

Iowa Racks Up 34-31 Victory Over Oregon

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 29.—Iowa broke open a case of dynamite worth 28 points late in the last half to rock Oregon, 34-31 at Iowa City today.

A crowd of 37,976 thrill-choked fans watched Iowa, now tied for the Big Ten lead, close its home stand in a game jammed with dramatics. The Hawks were battered around in surprising fashion until the dying seconds of the third quarter.

Then Iowa came roaring back after Oregon had built its margin to 24-6. Bob Longley fielded a punt on the Iowa six and dashed 94 yards for a touchdown just as the third quarter ended.

Cashing in on opportunities previously sniboed, the Hawks snared an Oregon fumble on the Duck's 44 and Jerry Faske capped it off with a 21-yard touchdown pass to Jack Dittmer.

This only momentarily shaved Oregon's margin to 24-20, for the Webfoots who bounced back on [illegible] run to rebuild the gap to 31-20.

[illegible] utes remaining, Fullback Bill Reichardt took the ensuing Oregon kickoff on the Iowa one and bolted straight down the middle to go all the way on a 99-yard dash. Reichardt also [illegible] the extra point kick which made the score 31-27.

A moment later, Bob Sanders fumbled on the Oregon 19, and Iowa was off for the winning score—Reichardt again doing the honors.

He took it over from the one foot line three plays later.

The Ducks, who had pierced Iowa's defensive line to shreds throughout the first half and almost all of the third quarter, bulled their way back to Iowa's four yard line with one minute and 22 seconds left, but were ultimately chased back to the 23.

Badgers Down Indiana, 30-14

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 29. (INS)—Wisconsin scored 20 points in the first half against Indiana today and then coasted to a 30-14 victory before 26,000 homecoming fans at Bloomington.

The Badgers, with fine downfield blocking, ran at will through the Hoosiers to chalk up their first Western Conference triumph of the season.

Three minutes after the opening whistle, Bob Teague raced 46 yards for the first of his three came just before the period ended touchdowns. His second tally when he caught a 20-yard pass from Bob Petruska.

Eague took a pitchout from Petruska in the second period and went 40 yards for a third score. Lisle Blackbourn kicked his second extra point to give Wisconsin a 20-0 halftime lead.

Indiana's Nick Sebek, who had trouble finding his receivers in the first half, began to click with his passes after the intermission and a toss to Cliff Anderson was good for 45 yards and a TD. Don Hendle converted.

Wisconsin retaliated and climaxed an 80-yard march when Jim Embach, faking a field goal from the Hoosier 20, skirted end for another marker.

Duke Rallies To Drop Georgia Tech, 27-14

ATLANTA, Oct. 29. (INS)—Duke's Blue Devils overcame a seven-point halftime deficit today to down a hard-fighting Georgia Tech eleven, 27-14, at Atlanta.

Playing before some 39,000 spectators, Duke came back like a whirlwind after the half to tie the score the first time they got the ball. They tallied again in the third and added two more touchdowns in the fourth frame. Halfback Billy Cox was the Blue Devil sparkplug.

The Yellow Jackets, completely outplayed in the line, made their final scoring thrust on a 78-yard drive just four minutes before the game's end.

Jayhawkers Defeat Kansas State, 38-0

LAWRENCE, Kan. Oct. 29. —(INS)—Kansas won its first Big Seven Conference football game of the year today by defeating Kansas State 38 to 0 before 33,500 fans in Lawrence.

The Jayhawkers took command of the game and tallied on a 68-yard march the first time they got their hands on the ball. Lyn Smith did the scoring on a seven-yard pass from Jerry Bogue.

Bud French scored for Kansas on a one-yard plunge in the second quarter and took a 40-yard pass in the third period for another touchdown.

Halfback John Amberg slashed off tackle for a 29-yard TD run with just 30 seconds of the third quarter remaining.

In the final period, Kansas tallied twice more. Henry Lamping got credit for the first touchdown of the quarter and Dale Mallon took a 13-yard pass from Ken Morrow for the final touchdown.

Kansas rolled up 287 yards along the ground and 199 by passing.

Washington University Downs Colorado College, 27 To 0

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29. (INS)— The Washington university Bears of St. Louis defeated the Colorado college Tigers, 27 to 0, in a football game in St. Louis today.

Fullback Lester Schamel scored two touchdowns and Halfbacks Bud Wiederholdt and Joe Votava each tallied once. Votava crossed the goal line after taking a pass from Quarterback Ralph Stocker.

RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT—Cliff Dean, Lubbock cotton man and gin owner, above, was re-elected president of Lubbock Country club by the club's board of directors in annual election of officers the past week. The election was Dean's "fifth or sixth time" to be named as president, no one, not even Dean, could recall. Fenner Tubbs, Chrysler-Plymouth dealer, was re-elected vice-president; and Paul Hardwick, vice president of the Citizens National bank, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. No action was taken by the board of directors on plans for increasing the club revenues, but decision will be made at a later date.

BAYLOR STADIUM BONDS

Extension Expected To Boost Canadian Oil Field Reserves

CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Alberta's rapidly-expanding oil industry was potentially richer by an estimated 100 million barrels of oil today.

Oil experts said they had strong reason to believe that a 3½ mile extension had been added to the year-old Redwater oil field, so far the largest field found in Canada.

Largest Supply Possible

Until today, geologists had estimated the field contained a proven reserve of 360 million barrels of oil. New information, however, suggested that the field probably continues beyond the north Saskatchewan river and contains between 400 million and 500 million barrels.

This was indicated by reports from the Imperial Oil company's wildcat well, the Simmons No. 1, located southeast of the proven limit of the 10-mile long field. Water reportedly was encountered at about the same level as at the Redwater field, indicating that the well had found an extension of the field.

Field Extension Likely

One Imperial oil official said the discovery gave "every indication of an extension." He said the formation "appears to be the same" as at the larger field.

The Simmons No. 1 will not be definitely linked with the Redwater field until the intervening three miles have been tested by further drilling. However, if the extension is prover it will further strengthen the field's already assured place as the largest proven oil reserve in Canada.

The field today produces about 25,000 barrels daily. This figure is pro-rated due to lack of storage facilities. If the oil could be moved and used that figure probably would go much higher, possibly double or even triple that amount, it was understood.

VENISON COMING DOWN—When Mike Magnifico, above, oldtime Aspen, Colo., resident, went hunting on the upper slopes of Aspen mountain, he ran into a buck deer which was completely accommodating. The 230-pound, nine-point animal came into Magnifico's gun sights only a short distance from the Aspen ski course car lift. So all Mike had to do was haul his venison a short way. Then take an easy ride down to town. (AP Wirephoto.)

DALLAS, Oct. 29 (AP) — Funeral services for Col. Wilburn E. Langlotz, 45, former Dallas construction engineer, will be held Monday at 2 p.m. here. Col. Langlotz died last night in the Brooks General hospital in San Antonio where he had been ill since June. He was in the Army Corps of Engineers.

U. S. Newspaperman Claims Reds Cutting Moscow Press Corps

PARIS, Oct. 29 (AP) — Joseph Newman, Moscow correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune, charged today the Soviet government has embarked on a new policy of deliberately cutting down or eliminating the American press corps in the Russian capital.

In a statement endorsed by his newspaper, Newman said this was the intent of the new Soviet policy of issuing correspondents an exit visa without an automatic reentry permit.

Purpose Now Clear

Newman left Moscow last June on an annual leave and to get married in Paris. He has been unable to obtain a reentry visa although, he said, Soviet press chief Georgi Frantsev told him on June 7 there would be no difficulty in getting one.

"The purpose of the new visa system is now clear," he said. "It is an instrument which permits the Soviet Union to exclude an accredited correspondent without resorting to the clumsy device of expelling him on trumped up charges of espionage."

As a result, the Herald Tribune said it was forced to close the Moscow bureau it opened two and a half years ago as a result of a direct appeal to Prime Minister Stalin on the paper's behalf by Harold Stassen. The former Minnesota governor, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, made the appeal during a visit to Russia.

Newman listed the following as remaining in Moscow:

Eddy Gilmore and Thomas Whitney of the Associated Press.

Henry Shapiro of the United Press.

Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times.

Andrew Steiger of McGraw Hill publications and the British agency Exchange Telegraph.

Texas Construction Awards Total Is Set At $8,506,815

AUSTIN, Oct. 29 (AP) — Texas construction awards, lagging in the final quarter of the year, totaled $8,506,815 this week.

This was an increase over last week's mark of $6,972,949, but considerably below the weekly average.

Awards for school buildings accounted for $2,164,212; business buildings, $1,921,710.

Contracts on 304 homes costing in the neighborhood of $7,000 added $2,428,200. Sixty two homes in the upper bracket class totaled $1,210,415.

Lettings on apartments providing 28 one-family units amounted to $73,065, and awards for five duplexes totaled $43,000.

The accumulative total for 1949 is now $790,350,821.

Conservative British Papers Demand New General Election

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Britain's conservative newspapers today fairly howled their demands for a general election and told Prime Minister Clement Attlee's Labor government it was "time to go."

The demands followed the Attlee regime's victory in Parliament Thursday over a call by opposition leader Winston Churchill for a vote of "no confidence."

Churchill's Conservative party, aided by Communists, dissident Laborites and Liberals chalked up the biggest vote the opposition has realized since the Labor government came to power nearly five years ago.

Rapid expanding business now requires that we increase our staff. We are a most unusual firm. Your future possibilities are unlimited. The amount of money you can make is something you never dreamed was possible. Our product is being received with unprecedented acclaim and is today undoubtedly the largest selling unit of its kind. (Is sold by appointment). It is this increase in volume that requires expansion of our staff.

Right today we could use not only a number of salesmen who after our thorough training period, can make anywhere from $700 to $1,200 per month, but can also and are looking for four men for managerial positions, who will earn much more than the above figure. Many of these men will approach $2000 per month.

It is because our men have such magnificent futures, we require every man to pass an aptitude test. The only kind of a man we accept are those whom our tests indicates possess the intelligence and the energy to make such strides. If you can meet our standards, you will open the door to one of the most brilliant futures that you have ever imagined possible. You will be joining one of the oldest companies in the country of its kind, and whose product is sold virtually throughout the world.

If you are under 50 and if you have a car, if you think you have the stuff that qualifies you to move up from salesman to much higher levels, then take that one hour's time and give us your past background and selling experience. EVER PICK AN ORANGE?
YOU can, and ruby red grapefruit too. We have several thousand acres in the beautiful semi-tropical setting of the lower Rio Grande Valley. These tracts may be bought in any size or any stage of production. We are so sure that we can prove to you the high potential income possibilities of the present and long range future of this section, that we will take you on a wonderful trip to this "Magic Valley," with a side trip into Old Mexico without cost or obligation. Healthy climate where life is better and longer. 65% of the Valley is already owned by non-residents who bought for the large return on their investment. 12 months year round growing season, 2 to 4 crops per year. Tomatoes, cabbage and other vegetables in mid-winter when the rest of the state is frozen over. It's a hunter's paradise and the best of salt and fresh water fishing.
WE HAVE comfortable cars leaving weekly.

U. S. Envoys To Countries Of Europe Gather To Hold Talks

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 — Top Americans on duty in Europe are attending two rather unusual meetings, that are signs of the times.

Our ambassadors to European countries, gathering in Paris, and chiefs of various missions behind the Iron Curtain, getting together in London, meet after three months o fast moving history that has had an effect on American influence in the world. What effect, no one knows.

Here, the State department shrugs off the meetings as "just routine." But it is the first time that our top diplomatic representatives have rendezvoused offshore to talk. Normally, they fly home individually to Washington for "consultations." Informed Washington guesses say the meetings were called to evaluate the quick shifts of power which have taken place the past few months, and perhaps to lay new American plans.

Troops To Remain

Both the headlines and actions by the State department tell why there has to be a re-study right now of American determination to hold Communism.

1. The Soviet overlords in Germany have now set up a German-Communist government in East Germany. That German split hurts Western plans for a unified German state most because it denies to the Western part of the nation the food the Eastern Germans used to sell. This is not new, but it puts a seal on the split.

East Germany's new Communist chancellor, Otto Grotewohl, says his 20,000,000 Germans will be geared to Soviet economics and politics. Stories from Germany indicate suspicion that the Russians may soon pull at least part of their troops out of Eastern Germany. That would put the Western occupying powers—Great Britain, France and the U. S.—on the spot with the Western Germans, who are just as eager to see the last of foreign troops.

There appears little chance of that now. State department spokesmen point out there has been no challenge of the offer made in 1946 by the then secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, who said the U. S. was prepared to stay in Germany 40 years if need be.

France In Turmoil

But the Western powers will likely be up against an added need to educate the Western Germans to the freedoms granted them under the Western powers (even though troops are around) compared to the loss of freedoms in the East (even though most of the Russians withdraw).

2. European exiles here feel that European governments will certainly question U. S. moves more closely now that it is known the Russians may have an atom bomb. Eurpeans will want quicker and more certain action on promises of help. In particular they will want the promised Americans arms aid.

3. France again is in a turmoil, attempting to get a stable government. Again the French workingman is clamoring for more wages. His union leaders expect rising prices because the French franc was devalued. And the French clamor for wages was fertile ground for the Communist a few years ago.

China Not Ignored

4. The State department has information that Yugoslavia fears Soviet-inspired guerilla warfare on the Greek pattern. Yugoslavia's dictator, Mrashal Tito, however, is testing whether a Communist nation can run its own show or must take orders from Moscow. Tito's success is important to the foreign policy of the Western powers, which would like to see the nations of Middle Europe chipped off the Soviet bloc.

What would the U. S. do to help Tito in such a fracas? The State department has no comment, but the American ambassador to Yugoslavia, Cavendish W. Cannon, will be at the London meeting.

5. Nothing done in Europe to contain Communism can hope to ignore the events in China, where 450,000,000 people have seen a swift three-month sweep of Communistic armies. European heads of mission can do little about the Far East. But the U. S. ambassador to Moscow, Alan G. Kirk, will be at the London meeting just in case strategy meetings become a global study.

Labor Shortage Hits New Mexico

(By The Associated Press)

Cotton production in New Mexico this year will be well above 1948, but a shortage of pickers is reported to be slowing the harvest.

The Department of Agriculture predicts this year's crop will be 286,000 bales compared with 236,000 last year.

Through this week 2,449 bales of cotton had been ginned in Lea county, more than half of them during the last week.

Milton B. Fox of the State Employment service said cotton in Lea county is about 60 per cent open and about 5 per cent of the harvest has been completed.

2,185 Braceros Working

Fox reported 2,185 Mexican nationals have been put to work in the cotton fields in Lea county. He said farmers could still use 3,820 more farm workers during the harvest.

Picking was at a standstill in the Artesia area for several days this week because of bad weather.

Meanwhile cotton growers were assured this week that they can obtain government loans on their cottonseed at $49.50 per ton even though they have no inside storage.

Commodity Credit corporation spokesmen said the CCC will loan on seed stored in ricks placed on well-drained ground. A rick is a picket fence with tar paper and a few bundles of feed on top to protect against rain and snow.

Top Prices Drawn

Joe Randolph, secretary of the agricultural commodities corporation at Portales, said the $49.50 loan rate is based on a grade of 97.7. The New Mexico average grade for cottonseed at 108 is the highest in the nation, Randolph said, and seed grading that high at the time of sale would be eligible for a price support of $54.70 per ton.

Current market prices for cottonseed included $41 at El Paso, $42 at Portales, and $45 at Las Cruces. In Texas cottonseed was bringing $43 to $45 per to.

Randolph said some farmers had been confusing cottonseed storage requirements for loans on grain storage. For a loan on grain, the commodity has to be in a weather and vermin-proof house.

AUTO STOCKS GAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Automobile stocks, with Chrysler an odds-on favorite, dominated today's stock market.

Chrysler jumped 2½ points to 58½ a share, high for the year. This was in addition to Friday's rise of 1⅝.

The auto company's stock was easily the most active, with General Motors in third place and Studebaker in sixth.

The balance of the market puttered around more or less aimlessly.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .1 of one point to 67.9.

General Motors advanced ⅞ to 68, its 1949 peak, and Studebaker gained ½ at 25⅛, just below the 1949 top.

Chrysler reported that for the first nine months of the year profits were equal to $11.22 a common share, in contrast with $6.88 a share in the comparable 1948 period.

Philco was a soft spot in the two-hour market with a drop of 1⅛ to 26⅝.

The market's action during the week—the busiest of the year—was an impressive display of fortitude in the face of adversity.

More than $1,000,000,000 was added to the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange before demand faltered on Friday. Most of the increase was retained.

At the week's best mark, touched on Thursday, the general level of prices was at a high since Nov. 4. The rise started in mid-June, after the market had plunged to a 4½-year low.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Cotton futures were under pressure of hedging and commission house liquidation with trading moderately active today. Most of the selling was in distant contracts and was induced by the Department of Agriculture announcement of a 25 point reduction in the mid-October cotton parity price as compared with a month ago.

Hedging in nearby deliveries, however, was readily absorbed by textile mill buying and this cushioned declines in nearby contracts.

Futures closed 30 cents a bale lower to 10 higher than the previous close.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29. (AP)—Cotton futures fluctuated over a narrow range here today. Closing prices were steady 20 cents a bale lower to 5 cents higher. Early in the session prices were lower on selling stimulated by a lower than expected parity price, but trade buying and weekend short covering erased most of the loss. Spot cotton remained unchanged with middling 15/16ths-inch quoted at 29.30 cents a pound.

Chinese Nationalists Admit New Defeats

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 29 (AP) — The Chinese Nationalists today conceded Communist capture of Yungan, 90 miles northeast of Kweilin, and said heavy fighting was in progress near Fenghwang, 210 miles southeast of Chungking.

Kweilin is a major Nationalist base in Kwangsi province 350 miles southeast of Chungking.

Fenghwang, where the Nationalists said 20,000 Reds were attacking, is a gateway to Kweichow province, which lies between Kwangsi province and Chungking's Szechwan province.

The top Nationalist generals, however, were gathering in Chungking for a conference which one of them said was intended to make southwest China an invincible fortress and a base for an eventual counteroffensive.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, who will be 63 years old Monday, is expected to arrive from Formosa in a few days. Already in this provincial capital are generals Pai Chung-Hsi from Kwangsi and Hu Tsung-Nan from the front north of Chungking. Their commands estimated at about 200,000 and 175,000 men, respectively, are the two largest the Nationalists have.

Fossils of swimming serpents, from 30 to 60 feet in length, have been unearthed as far inland as Kansas.

BIG UNION IS HANDED DEFEAT

Typographical Union Studies Appeal Of Labor Board Ruling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — The International Typographical union today weighed whether to appeal from its defeat in the first major newspaper case under the Taft-Hartley act.

The National Labor Relations board yesterday found the AFL printers' union guilty of violating the labor law. The board held that the ITU tried to force on publishers the outlawed closed shop, through a "continuing threat to strike."

Two unanimous decisions were handed down. In each, the NLRB directed the union to stop trying to compel employers to "discriminate" against any employes.

May Settle Issues

One case arose from ITU's 22-month strike against Chicago newspapers, settled last month. The others, in which ITU was held guilty of unfair labor practices, was filed by the American Newspaper publishers association, in behalf of its 800 members.

The broad pattern of the decisions, board officials said, may be other pending cases involving at least one newspaper and groups of commercial printers in six cities. These decisions will be forthcoming shortly, an official predicted.

At one time, not less than 15 newspapers were being struck simultaneously as ITU pressed its campaign.

Gerhard P. Van Arkel, ITU general counsel, told reporters the big union has a "complete right to appeal" to the United States circuit court. But he said this must be discussed by union officials, who are now widely scattered.

Otherwise, neither he nor the chief counsel for the publishers' association, Elisha Hanson, had immediate comment. Both wanted to make closer studies of the rulings.

Contracts Not Affected

ITU has been under a federal district court injunction since March 27, 1948, forbidding the disputed bargaining practices pending NLRB's ruling. The injunction now will be lifted.

Van Arkel said no present ITU contracts will be affected by the board's action.

These further findings — precedent-making as far as newspapers are concerned—were made by the board:

1. ITU and its top officers were required to stop coercing employers in the choosing of their foremen for collective bargaining purposes or grievance-handling.

2. The board ruled—in ITU's favor — that the so-called "feather-bedding ban in the Taft-Hartley law does not apply to certain practices in newspaper printing. It dismissed the publishers' complaint against these practices.

Ordered To Bargain

3. In the Chicago case, the international union as well as the Chicago local, No. 16, were ordered to bargain in good faith if the publishers request it and, if an agreement results, to make a contract of "reasonable duration."

Union sources said this ruling carried a "danger for all unions." If internationals as well as locals are responsible for local bargaining, they suggested, international officers might be held liable to suit for the misconduct of locals.

The board split 3 to 2 on this question.

Unionists claimed a "major victory" on another point — the dismissal of charges that the union had coerced employes in the exercise of Taft-Hartley rights. This was interpreted by union officials to mean that Taft-Hartley cannot be used to overthrow "union laws" on seniority, priority in hiring and other points.

Tech To Conduct Final Election For Class Posts Monday

Run-off elections will be held Monday on the Texas Tech campus for class favorites and Miss Texas Tech as a result of insufficient margins in primary balloting last week, according to Acting Elections Committee Chairman Bob Salem, Sudan.

The run-off will involve candidates for all but two class favorite positions and the Mr. Texas Tech honor. Junior and freshman boy favorites and Mr. Tech were declared elected last week, but their names have not as yet been released.

Remaining Candidates Given

Candidates still in the race for Monday's balloting, which will be conducted in the morning only in all major campus buildings, include: for Miss Texas Tech, Barbara Scott, Shamrock, and Margaret Clark, Van Horn; senior class boy favorite, Bill McCasland, Lamesa, and A. J. Bishop, Winters; senior class girl favorite, Alice Hicks, Abernathy, and Katheryn Witty, Hamilton.

Junior class girl favorite, Wanda Mills, Snyder, and Dorothy Stephenson, Fort Stockton; sophomore girl favorite, Rhetta McMasters, Abernathy, and Pat Noland, Strawn; and freshman girl favorite, Albertine Foster, Lockney, and Pat Montgomery, Lubbock. Jack Shinn was the only boy candidate for the sophomores.

Also to be decided Monday will be new members to the student council from the arts and sciences and the home economics divisions. In the former race will be Ben Willis, Dallas and Brodie Hutchinson, Littlefield, while Tommie Jean Wall, Waco, and Janet Crandall, Lubbock, are candidates in the HE division.

Sheean To Appear At Tech Wednesday

Vincent Sheean, internationally-known journalist and author, will be heard by students of Texas Tech Wednesday at 6:45 p.m. in the recreation hall Green room, Dean of Men James G. Allen announced Saturday.

Sheean, who is said to have been only 10 feet away at the time Mahatma Gandhi was assassinated, will speak on "India After Gandhi", an address in which he will describe the great Indian's leadership as the speaker understands it from talks immediately before Gandhi's death.

Born in Illinois in 1899, Sheean has since traveled extensively through the world, seeing at first hand many of the great historical happenings within the last generation. After being eyewitness to many of the major events leading up to World War II, he served in the Army Air corps intelligence division from 1942 to 1944.

Sheean describes the influence of Gandhi as beyond comprehension of western minds because his was a religious influence and that gave him a different kind of power from that known in other parts of the world. It is Sheean's belief that Gandhi's teachings may, in time, create a country of such special quality that it may serve to modulate the conflicts of East and West, specifically of Russia and America.

At the age of 49, Sheean is the author of several books, both fiction and non-fiction. The best known of those include "Lead, Kindly Light," a book about Gandhi, "Not Peace But a Sword" and "Personal History."

Costumes Add Gayety To Traditional Hallowe'en Fun For All Ages

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL

Women's News

Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, October 30, 1949

"WHO'S SCARIN' WHO"—Little Jimmy Haskins wants to know as he and his first Hallowe'en jack-o'-lantern laught at each other in the photo at upper left. The three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Haskins, 3518 Twenty-fourth, has wrapped himself in a sheet to "play ghost" and is wearing an orange-figured holiday top hat which will be his Hallowe'en headgear.

IT'S PARTY TIME . . . and pictured at upper right are June Chapman and William Morris (Dub) James, who are practicing up on one of the favorite Hallowe'en games for youngsters. June is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chapman, 2906 Twenty-first, and Dub, a co-captain of the J. T. Hutchinson Rangers football squad, is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Ledbetter, 2601 Twenty-ninth.

"PLAYING DRESS UP" . . . for Hallowe'en, are, left to right, in the center picture, Miss Luan Ware, Charles Lovelace, Mrs. Ernest Joiner of Ralls, Mr. Joiner, Mrs. O. B. Ratliff, and standing Mr. Ratliff. The three couples were photographed in costume at a Tuesday night masquerade ball staged at the Lubbock Country club.

A HOLIDAY AT HOME . . . will characterize the Hallowe'en celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Eagan and their two-year-old daughter, Pamela, of 1626 Ave. Y, pictured at lower right. Little Pam may not have heard about the Hallowe'en ghosts and goblings yet, but she readily recognizes the sound of popping corn, and is ready and waiting when "Mommy" pours the fluffy white grains into a bowl. Through The Coral Doors

Howdy folks,

This business of sticking my nose in at the Decorators Studio is beginning to be a problem! So many handsome pieces of all the periods of design that I become quite giddy. A new line of French Provincial pieces took my eye; the patina of the woods as well as the superb workmanship is not to be excelled. All the pieces are custom ordered, so be sure and ask one of the girls to show you the large selection you may choose from.

Though I'm of amateur standing as a connoisseur of furniture, I do recognize fine craftsmanship when I see it . . and it's easy to see in this set of eight side chairs. These Hepplewhite chairs have the pierced shield back, all finished by hand and show that fine quality only obtained by superb cabinetmakers. The price will amaze you; you'll know they can't be had on today's market at such an attractive price.

Helped myself to a bit of a snooze on the smartest looking couch I've seen lately. Delighted to find it not only had heavenly down cushions, but was long enough for my six foot frame to stretch out full length. Hold on—the best is yet to come. When I asked the price, learned it had been a special custom job selling for $830, but Fredda is offering it for only $495 right now. If you yearn for the sofa extraordinary, this is your chance to make a truly fine buy.

There's a handsome new addition to the southwest's most beautiful china collection. Created by Franciscan, Palomar is a striking modern pattern of dark green with a simple gold trim. I guarantee you will find it an exciting new idea in china.

Well, this week has been a hustle with Fredda and James in Midland and Odessa putting some touches of magic in several homes. Meanwhile, Josie and Durwood spent a day in the country installing some of those expertly made draperies from the Studio workshop.

Must close as Fredda has invited me along with the staff for supper at her place tonight. I hear Anne and James are supposed to entertain with blow by blow descriptions of their school and travel in Europe this summer.

Be sure to note Bee's reminder for Thanksgiving entertaining. You know it isn't too early to plan for that turkey!

See ya,
Grandpa Nosey. adv.

Vows Read In Church

Announcement is being made of the recent marriage of Miss Goldie Krcha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Krcha of Lubbock, to Ervin Heinrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Heinrich of Slaton, which took place at St. Elizabeth's Catholic church. Rev. William F. Blakeslee officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed before an altar banked with white and pink glaioli and greenery.

Mrs. Jane Henry, organist, played the wedding march and offered soft music during the cremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of slipper satin fashioned with princess lines. The neckline featured a lace yoke with off-shoulder folds of lace, and the full skirt, which was attached to a fitted bodice, swept into a long train. She wore an imported illusion veil caught by a bridal bonnet of illusion and pearlized orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of vanda orchids showered with small mums.

Mrs. Raymond Krcha, sister-in-law of the bride and matron of honor, wore a dress of rose satin and carried a colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bridemaids, Mrs. Oscar Heinrich and Mrs. Durwood Cordell, wore dresses of aqua and pink satin and carried white chrysanthemums.

Raymond Krcha served as best man and Oscar Heinrich and Durwood Cordell were groomsmen. Ushers were Willie Heinrich and Hugo Heinrich of Slaton.

After the cremony, a reception was given in Blakeslee hall. Parents of the couple and members of the wedding party assisted with hospitalities. The bride's table was laid with lace and decorated with a three-tiered wedding cake and candles. Pink and white gladioli and greenery decorated the hall.

Following a wedding trip to California, the couple will be at home in Slaton.

GETTING ACQUAINTED

WITHIN the last few months we have received a number of telephone calls and letters from women who have moved here from other states asking us, among other things, how one gets acquainted in Lubbock.

In trying to help them we have queried them as to church, lodge, study club and sorority affiliations and whether or not they had children.

It is not an easy matter to pull up family roots and go to a strange city. Many women, who have been used to an active social and civic life, feel lost when they arrive here and find no outlet for their stored activity other than housework and care of the children. They want to become useful citizens, to become an integral part of Lubbock's life, but they know they cannot enter into club or social life unless they are invited.

WE know as many women as anyone in Lubbock because of the nature of our work and we are sure that Lubbock women are as friendly and as neighborly as anywhere in the world. If they overlook a stranger in the midst, it's because most of them are living such busy lives and have such a crowded schedule they find little time for visiting, a custom that we have always thought was a wonderful one.

If we were a woman with a family who had moved to Lubbock we'd affiliate ourselves with our church, join the missionary society, join a parent-teacher association and respect our neighbors. By the latter we mean we'd not let the children tromp on the lawns or run in and out of nearby homes at will. It's been our observation that children are a wonderful means for bringing about friendships between mothers. But children should be kept under reasonable control and if they have no respect for neighbor's privacy they can break up budding friendships.

POT OF GOLD

EVER hear of a "vanishing luncheon?" One person gives a luncheon and each person invited contributes 25 cents to the coffers. Then each guest present in turn gives a luncheon to two less people (not necessarily club members) than were at the first luncheon.

If twelve attended the first luncheon, then each luncheon given by the guests will be for ten people. Subsequently, each guest at the second luncheon will give a luncheon for eight people, etc. No one is a guest at more than one luncheon, so it will not be a hardship.

At each gathering, the quarters collected from each one attending, are turned into the original fund of the club to "buy a bond" or whatever else you want to buy. Eventually, there will be no one to invite as the group has vanished. Neat, what?

The amount you finally collect has weight. Figure it out.

Federation Will Elect

First Presbyterian Women of the Church will be the hostess group at a regular fifth Monday meeting of Church Women's Federation tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The program will feature an officer installation ceremony and a review of Vincent Sheean's newest book, "Lead Kindly Light," by Mrs. Ben F. Brewer.

A solo will be presented by Mrs. Paul Glasgow and the invocation will be by Rev. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of St. John's Methodist church.

Legion Auxiliary Has Planned Supper For Monday At Hall

The American Legion and Auxiliary will have a Hallowe'en party and covered dish supper Monday night at 7 p. m. at the Legion hall, 910 Texas. All veterans and their wives are invited to attend.

Joe Meador is to be master of ceremonies and Mrs. J. H. Hackfield is in charge of the program.

Brownies Are Guests At Harvest Party

Brownie Troop 80 of George R. Bean school had a Friday night Hallowe'en party at the home of Mrs. R. F. Evans, 1321 Twenty-eighth, and the following attended.

Miss Webb, Mr. Copeland Wed In Dimmitt Methodist Church

Miss Mary Jean Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Holland Webb of Dimmitt and Hulin Floyd Copeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Copeland of Austin, exchanged wedding vows Saturday night in a formal candlelight ceremony read by Rev. Horace Brooks in the First Methodist church of Dimmitt.

Baskets of blush gladioli and carnations standing before a background of huckleberry, lemon leaf and fern, and flanked by candelabra holding blush colored candles, formed the setting.

Preceding the double ring ceremony, Ray McIntire, cousin of the bride, played a selection of organ music and accompanied Nolan Froehner, who sang, "I Love Thee" by Greig. As a benediction The Lord's Prayer was sung, and "To A Wild Rose" was heard during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of shell pink satin designed with a bateau neckline edged with a double row of gathered illusion medallions centered with clusters of seed pearls; long fitted sleeves which tapered to points over her hands, a tightly fitted basque bodice, and a full gathered skirt, which swept into a formal train. Her fingertip veil of imported French bridal illusion fell in tiers from a scalloped calot of matching illusion and seed pearl medallions. She carried a prayer book topped by a white orchid encircled with blush rosebuds.

MRS. HULIN FLOYD COPELAND

In Bridal Party

The matron of honor, Mrs. A. J. Kemp, jr., and the bridesmaids, Miss Anna B. Ellis of San Angelo and Miss Roena Hudson of Odessa, wore dresses of wild plum taffeta fashioned with a high neckline and tiny round collar, ledge sleeves and a fitted basque bodice. Their headdresses were calots of pink satin made with a self-roll trim. Each of the bride's attendants carried an arm bouquet of pale pink roses.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Robert McWhorter of Eldorado, and ushers were R. Frank Davis of Austin, James A. Thompson of Royalty, and Millard Allan Webb, brother of the bride.

A reception for close friends and relatives was held in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. The table was decorated with cut-glass candelabra and blush baby roses led to the coffee service and bride's cake on either end of the table. In the houseparty were Msdames Allan Webb, Joe Bailes and Harold Stephens of Dimmitt; Fred Boehnke of Fort Worth; Erwin Hall of Seymour; Jack Rodgers Arthur Dimney and John Nicholson of Midland; James Gunter of Claude; and Miss Juanelle Talbott of Lubbock.

For a wedding trip to Monterey, Mexico, the bride chose a suit of green tweed, hunter green accessories and a hat of golden hat tone. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bride was graduated from Texas Technological college, where she was a member of Ko Shari and was recognized in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Mr. Copeland was graduated from Austin High school and A. and M. college, and served as captain in the U. S. Infantry during World War II. His service included duty in Japan.

The couple will be at home in Gainesville, where Mr. Copeland is a petroleum engineer with Standard Oil company of Texas.

The play which centers around Hallowe'en Eve is appropriately scheduled for the last day of October, and the following day. The spirited witch's gingerbread house is topped with a white frosty roof, and decorated with colored cookies of all descriptions. There is a chocolate door, licorice bars at the window and lollypops sticking out from the roof. A fence of gingerbread men holding peppermint sticks and doughnut trees add to the setting.

The characters are: Hansel played by Milton Beach; Gretel played by Barbara Sanders; the cruel stepmother by Dorothy Yates; and the kind father by Kenneth Owen. Pauline Bowles portrays the mean old witch; Nan Wiginton and Bobby Ann Pool, the elves; Jimmy Berryman, the sandman; and Mary Duggan, the angel who watches over Hansel and Gretel as they sleep in the forest.

Self Denial Is Needed

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Selfishness is an ugly trait. If it is allowed to dominate a girl's behavior, she is apt to develop into a cold, self-centered woman with few if any friends.

If she begins early enough, however, any girl with selfish leanings is a hopeful candidate for reform. There is still hope for her that she won't grow up to be a selfish woman who is more in love with herself than with other people.

The most familiar sign of selfishness is a lack of generosity. The girl who is inclined to be stingy with her money and time, niggardly with her offers of help to friends who need it is suspect. To rid herself of suspicion, she will have to force herself to be a little more generous, a little more considerate.

If she demands things from her parents which they can't afford to give her, she should face the fact that she is selfish. There is another sign that she is selfish if she takes advantage of her brothers and sisters, pursues her aims at the expense of others.

Being less self-centered, showing more concern for others and making a little more effort to be genuinely gracious, are the ways to begin a reform to conquer selfishness. The moment a girl starts working to achieve this aim, the quicker her rewards will be: warmer responses from people, more friends, more appreciation from her family plus the happy glow that comes from giving and escaping from the narrow little world of "self."

Emotional Needs Of Child Cited By Specialist

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

One of the most important areas of child guidance has to do with the emotional needs of children.

Dr. Louis Raths, specialist in research on human relations, professor of education and director of the Bureau for Intercultural Education at New York University, has listed for us the major emotional needs of children. And under each of these the Personality Laboratory at that institution itemizes its guiding suggestions. They can be of great value to parents and educators alike.

Here they are:

1. The Need for Belonging.

I will develop in my child a feeling of security by avoiding extreme methods of discipline.

I will make every effort to face problems of home, school and community and decide them in the best interests of our family.

I will encourage my child to confide in me and wherever possible I shall take him unto my confidence.

2. The Need for Achievement.

I will do everything to give my child a feeling of confidence.

I will encourage my child to develop new skills as he grows older.

I will encourage my child to accept growing responsibility for his behavior.

I will not compare my child unfavorably with any other children.

I will not try to achieve my own ambitions by forcing them on my child.

3. The Need to Be Free From Fear.

I will never knowingly by word or deer injure anyone's person, feelings, or property in any manner.

I will not try to pass on to my child my own superstitions or fears.

I will encourage my child to examine his fears to see whether they are real or imaginary.

I will make greater efforts to teach my child the basic rules of cleanliness and health of mind and body.

I will encourage my child to engage in some satisfying group work and play by seting the example for him.

4. The Need for Love and Affection.

I will try to give my child the feeling of being loved and wanted.

I will respect the wishes and feelings of my child and teach him to respect mine.

I will encourage my child to talk things over with me in order to achieve better understanding and to reduce tensions.

5. The Need for Personal Integrity in Sharing.

I will show courtesy and consideration to other people regardless of their age, sex, color, creed or nationality.

I will be a good listener and teach my child to be one.

6. The Need for Understanding and Knowledge.

I will teach my child to abide by the laws and regulations of our country.

I will teach my child to respect the religious beliefs of others as we respect our own.

I will think of and treat my child as an individual.

I will be firm after making a decision which is in the best interest of my child.

Care Afoot Is Reflected In Healthy Middle Age

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

"My feet are killing me!" Many mature women resort to that refrain almost every day. While the truth of the matter might well be they are "killing their feet."

As a woman gets older and maybe a little heavier, her feet are apt to feel more put-upon. They need the support of well-selected comfortable shoes.

Many older woman are neglectful about getting just the right size. Other tolerate sloppy shoes: heels that run over, soles that wear thin at one side, arches that lose their original curves.

Careless grooming afoot is not only unflattering, it's also a threat to health. With posture thrown out of gear by badly fitted shoes and make-shift walking habits, an older woman is often subject to chain-reaction ills that can often be remedied by just a change in shoes.

Select shoes that have a firm heel, sturdy support around the instep, enough toe room to wiggle in and a straight inner line from heel to toe. Shoes that slip off at the heel, gape at the ankle line and chafe the toes when they're new are not going to improve after "breaking in." Shoes should fit well enough to be worn out from the store.

Good health afoot includes: washing feet daily, followed by a friction rub with cologne and a dusting powder. Shoes should be changed often. Low-heeled shoes are best to wear at home for working indoors and out-of-doors.

WARM WATER SPRINKLE

Use warm water to sprinkle clothes to spread it through the clothes more evenly and quickly. Let them stand for a half hour before ironing, but never more than 24 hours (especially in hot, humid weather.)

Continue heating for two or three more minutes with the grids closed. KNOW THE STORE BEHIND YOUR DIAMOND of course they do!

BUT . . . comparison shows the difference! Cold type and printers ink cannot reproduce the beauty, the brilliance, the fire, the degree of perfection that distinguishes one diamond from another. They all look alike in newspaper ads. One of the easiest mistakes you can make is to depend on price as a guide in buying her diamond. Before price can mean anything, the quality of each diamond must be known, for it's the difference in quality that makes the difference in prices. Anderson Bros. prices are never higher (and in most cases substantially lower) than elsewhere . . . but the quality and beauty of Anderson's diamonds are always superior!

DIAMOND ENGLISH

The matter of grading diamonds for color, cutting and internal cleanliness really gets down to how good one wants his eyesight to be or how honest he might be. After all, diamonds are about like people's faces . . . no two alike. A diamond classed as a top silver cape by one fellow might be classed as a blue white by another.

It all boils down to just how honest or intelligent one is or how careful one is in slinging "The King's English"

Therefore, it you don't know diamonds, your sole protection lies in the reliability of the jeweler you choose.

Crusading Egyptian Woman Fights To Restore Rights

By STANLEY SWINTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Oct. 29 — Once Egypt was ruled by Queens.

Today Egyptian women are virtually second-class citizens. They cannot vote. A few still wear veils. A husband can divorce his wife by repeating "I divorce thee" three times before a Judge. Polygamy is permitted.

A handsome, 32-year-old Egyptian women has started a crusade to restore "the rights we had 1,000 years ago."

She is Mrs. Doria Shafik. A homemaker, mother of two children, successful magazine publisher and novelist. Mrs. Shafik seems on her way to becoming the Susan B. Anthony of this conservative Moslem country.

Rapid Growth Reported

In six months her "Women of the Nile Association" has acquired 500 members and thousands of supporters. She says:

"The women are flocking to us. We now have active committees in all 17 provinces."

The influential Wafd political party already has underwritten the women's program. It calls for:

1. A program in which every literate person will be responsible for teaching 10 illiterates to read and write. Most Egyptians are illiterate, especially women.

2. Prohibition of polygamy except by court permission in special cases, such as sterility.

3. Restriction of male divorce rights so that court action is necessary for divorce, as it is in Western countries.

4. A campaign against the veil.

Laws Are Sought

5. Laws for the portection of women and children.

6. A female political party with representation in Parliament.

7. Better jobs for women, most of whom never can aspire to top level positions at present.

"Public opinion has confused religion with tradition and custom," says Mrs. Shafik. Polygamy, harems and the veil are tradition, not Islamic law, she explains. But "enemies of feminine emancipation continue to work behind the cloak of religion although the real spirit of (Islamic) religion stood for equality of men and women."

Mrs. Shafik knows she has a hard battle ahead to win her sisters the rights now given to Moslem women in Pakistan, Syria and Cyrenaica. But she can point to Egyptian history, which has these rich examples:

Beautiful Cleopatra, who ruled Egypt as Queen and whose romance with Roman emperor Mark Anthony was immortalized by Shakespeare.

DORIA SHAFIK . . . Egypt's modern Susan B. Anthony

Shajar-al-Dur—Pearl Spray, in English—a slave girl who became Queen of Egypt and one of its most brilliant rulers. She is the subject of a new novel by Mrs. Shafik being published in Paris.

Woman Gets Degree

Hetshebshut, a woman who proclaimed herself King—not Queen—who wore men's clothes and who had sculptors put beards on her statues.

Nefertiti, one of Egypt's great Queens.

Egypt's feminist movement goes back to the beginning of the 20th century, but its greatest modern leader became interested in it only a few years ago when she wrote a doctoral thesis at the Sorbonne, in Paris, on "Women and Islamic Law." The professorial jury awarded her the degree—and suggested she carry on in Egypt as an advocate of the Egyptian women's cause. She did. Her first step was to found a women's magazine, Bint el Nil, which had a big success. In 1946, a year afterwards, she started another successful children's magazine, "The Chicks."

In January, 1949, she started her movement after hundreds of letters from magazine readers persuaded her it was necessary.

A typical letter was from a woman of 45 who was divorced by her husband after she had 6 children. Without alimony under Egyptian law, she was virtually starving. Says Mrs. Shafik:

"Such cases as that persuaded me to begin the movement, even though I realized the difficulties ahead."

Nutrition Course To Continue For Class

The fourth of a series of nutrition lessons in a parent-teacher sponsored course will be taught by Miss Martha Graves Tuesday morning from 9:15 to 11 a. m. in Annex G of Tech home economics building. Any person interested may still register for the course, which is non-credit and free of charge.

Miss Graves, director of home and family life education at the college, will speak on "Vitamins" at the Tuesday meeting.

FILLING OPEN GRAINS

You can fill the open grain of wood when a transparent finish coat is to be applied with a paste wood filler. This is a mixture of varnish and silica, a pigment which does not obscure the wood, say experts.

SATIN TAPE

A new tape made of satin with an adhesive backing is both a decorative and utility tape. It is ideal for decorating gift packages and can be used effectively in photo albums, is an excellent repairer for lamps, chairs.

Actress' Mother Arrested As Part Of Smutty Pictures Ring

They were arrested with seven others at Caron's motel. Two men pleaded guilty. Investigators, who seized quantities of lewd books, believe the group operated as part of a nationwide distribution setup.

Brighten Fading Hair By Use Of Color Blender

Associated Press Beauty Editor

It happens to everybody who lives long enough. Some morning you wake up, look in the mirror, and there, staring you in the face, is a gray hair. That first one looks as though it were under a magnifying glass. As time goes on, however, and more and more gray hairs appear, a decision will have to be made—you will either have to treat it to keep the original color, or settle for the gray.

Some women can get away with the treatment, providing they do not use harsh dyes which do not complement their skin coloring, an important consideration.

One famous hair coloring laboratory has a color-blender treatment which heightens the natural hair color, but allows a few gray hairs to remain to highlight the natural gradations of shading. This effect, say women who have tried it, gives a natural look.

All you do with some of these new color blenders is to use them as a shampoo. It takes a few minutes longer than an ordinary shampoo, but the treatment does not have to be repeated for months.

Beauty operators can choose the shade which matches your own hair and mix it with the basic color blender solution. It is applied to the head with the nozzle of the bottle, is left on for 15 or 20 minutes, swept through to the ends of the hair for another five, and shampooed.

After the hair is set and combed out, there should be no line of demarkation, no tattle-tale places at the roots.

If family and friends encourage you to keep your gray hair, perhaps you should. Very often nature replaces a mousy head of hair with gray that can be kept beautiful by proper care. If you do choose the gray, remember that it will have to be given frequent shampoos, styled beautifully and brushed frequently to do the most for you.

Very often when a woman's hair turns gray, she thinks her youth is gone, and becomes careless about her grooming. A silly mistake. Some of the most beautiful women in the world have gray hair.

HAIR GLAMOR . . . Locks take on new beauty with color blender treatment.

Meadow Girl Named Gold Star Winner

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 29 (Special) —Runez Patton, a member of the Meadow 4-H club, has been selected Terry county Gold Star girl of 1949 by a judging committee composed of Mrs. Nellie Sears, member of the Terry county home demonstration council, and two former Gold Star girls, Patsy Anne Moore and Marjorie Scales, both of the Wellman 4-H club.

Miss Patton's five years of 4-H club work has included canning, preparation of meals, gardening, sewing, farm work, and participation in recreation projects in the Pool community, where she lives. This was the third year she had competed for Gold Star honors.

Other Terry county club girls considered by the judges in making this year's selection were Donna Weldon and Jo Marie Crowder, both of the Wellman 4-H club, and Violet Ruth Faught, Bertha Butler and Betty Jo Cornett, all of the Union 4-H club.

When Oct. 9 is ending, Oct. 11 is beginning at another point.

Glamorize Those Ordinary Looks

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Making the most of one good feature is a trick which many a less-than-beautiful actress has used to turn ordinary good looks into glamor.

If actresses can do this, so can other girls.

Everyone has some particularly nice feature: beautiful hair, lovely eyes, exquisite feet and legs, or a "model's figure."

Advice to the teen-ager who frets because she's not an all-out beauty is to take stock of what her best feature is and go to work to emphasize or dramatize it.

If that best feature is beautiful hair, she should keep it clean with washing, shiny with brushing. She is being unfair to herself if she doesn't keep her lovely hair cut and shaped well; styled to show off its beauty; color-keyed to clothes that enhance its brilliance.

Lovely feet can be dressed to excite the envy of girls, the admiration of boys if care is given to their good-grooming. Pretty sheer stockings and good-looking shoes—even daring colors in footwear—are the ticket for the girl whose best feature are exquisite feet and legs.

If eyes are lovely choose clothes colors that enhance their color, will make them look lovelier, Jewelry sparkling around the neck will do as much to enhance the sparkle of eyes.

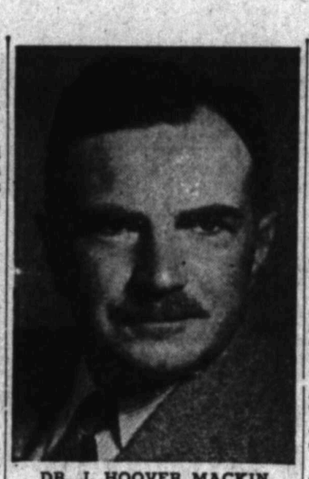

A good figure needs the help of well-chosen clothes to show off its merits. A tiny waistline looks tinier when it's well-fitted in jackets cinched in by belts. Narrow hips look narrower in slim skirts than they do in dirndls.

The Nature Girl Look Is Best

By BETTY CLARKE
Associated Press Newsfeatures
Beauty Editor

It wasn't so long ago that cleansing tissues and cleansing cream were thought to be real luxuries. Girls powdered, rouged and lipsticked over old makeup several times a day. Some of them didn't even bother to remove mascara when they went to bed.

Today, they make a clean sweep of makeup several times a day. The trend is towards less makeup and a "nature-girl" look, making a clean face the big beauty aim.

You'd be surprised that after a few days of no makeup and thorough cleansings with soap and water and cleansing creams, your face can get a new lift. You'll notice that your lip line isn't where you thought it was at all. The false indelible lipstick smear merely made lips look bigger because each time you would paint your lips on with a new twist.

Pretty soon you'll see a natural glow etch its way across your cheeks, and your skin will take on a transparency that you thought could only be store bought. And, while you will occasionally enhance your natural complexion by artificial means, you will realize that you do not have to depend on added embellishments.

Cleansing creams really do a job today. When they say they are deep-down cleansers, they really are. They cleanse into the pores and clean your skin so that makeup will go on smoother, or so that you will look clean and pretty without makeup.

Some women felt that it was necessary to use soap and water after cleansing cream to remove the greasiness. But new cleansers do the job effectively and the residue can be whisked off the face with cleansing tissues.

One beauty expert suggests you make a test of cleansing creams by cleaning one side of your face in the usual manner and then the other side with a deep down cleansing cream. Do this some weekend and see which side of your face looks better.

Spare That Weed And Utilize It In Bouquets

(By The Associated Press)

PORTLAND, Maine.—Ever hear tell of anyone who like weeds? Mrs. Gerald Kelly does. They are her hobby and business.

The attractive mother of two youngsters preserves and paints them. She sells them as home docerations when fresh flower prices are high.

Almost every Sunday until frost comes, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, Sandra, 10 and Gary, 8, hop into the family car and go weed hunting.

First Mrs. Kelly trims the weeds of dead leaves and ragged edges. Then she sorts them for shape and size. Next she processes them and paints them with a washable enamel. She says:

"During October, November and early December, I work all day long processing and painting the weeds in order to capitalize on the high Christmas demand."

She first began tinting weeds to resemble flowers 12 years ago as a pastime. Then she sold some to friends and neighbors. Now she sells to stores in New England.

The whole project stemmed from her difficulty in getting artificial flowers to match her household color scheme. She explains:

"I paint the weeds in a very large number of colors, so that the buyer can match draperies, rugs, and wallpaper in a single bouquet. The ideal is to bring all of the colors of the room together."

Weeds, she says, "actually have a prettier shape than the stocks of most flowers." Once, she relates, she had a bouquet she kept for five years.

Mrs. Kelly also processes and paints long grass, that grows near the seashore, and pine cones.

She never had any formal training in painting and decorating, says she:

"I guess I just had an urge to get at a paint brush.

Texas Schools Will Hire 327 Visiting Teachers, Counselors

AUSTIN, Oct. 29 (INS)—At least 327 new visiting teachers and counselors will be employed in Texas public schools within the next two years, a survey of the Texas Commission on Coordination in Education shows.

University of Texas professor H. T. Manuel conducted the survey among school superintendents.

Approximately 70 percent of Texas school superintendents plan to employ visiting teachers and counselors to bridge the gap between home and school in problems of pupil adjustment, the survey indicated.

Researchers Attempt To Produce Cloth Of Long-Wearing Cotton

AUSTIN, Oct. 29 (INS)—The day may be coming when John and Mary Public will be able to buy cotton shirts and blouses which will last as long as their suits.

University of Texas cotton researchers are conducting experiments on ways to combat factors that tear down cotton fibers.

Dr. Vernon L. Frampton says that the fibers are degraded by fungi, bacteria and ultraviolet rays of the sun. He and his researchers are trying to determine how, when and why that degradation takes place.

Strangely enough, a rotted canvas shoe found on a Bougainville beach at the end of 1943 Solomon Islands campaign may provide the answer to the fungi-bacteria part of the problem.

Fungus Culture Studied

The shoe was found by the Army Quartermaster corps and sent to its Philadelphia laboratory. It seems that powerful fungi on the shoe were excreting enzymes that were rapidly eating the cotton fibers.

A culture of the fungi was sent to the University's cotton research laboratory for study.

In another project, the researchers are studying ways the sun's untraviolet light breaks up the cotton fiber's molecular chain into grape sugar molecules, causing it to degrade.

A successful experiment, the Texas scientists predict, may pave the way for cotton clothes which will stand a half-dozen years of hard wear.

Hungary is relying on its quarries to implement its far-reaching construction projects under the new Five Year Plan to begin next January.

Hallowe'en Parade Set At Brownfield

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 29—A Hallowe'en street parade and costume contest for youngsters of the Brownfield area will be staged here Monday night, under the auspices of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce.

The evening's activities will open at 7:30 p. m. with a concert by the Brownfield High school band on the courhouse lawn. The parade, in which children will be permitted to lead their pets, will begin at 8 o'clock in the 400 block of West Broadway and continue around the square.

Following the parade, costumes will be judged in three age groups —3-6 years, 7-10 years, and over 11 years. The Brownfield Lions club will award first, second and third prizes of $5, $3 and $2 to winners in each division.

Children may ride tricycles and bicycles in the parade, but motor scooters and other motor-driven vehicles will be barred. Children too young to march may be carried in the parade by their parents.

An added attraction will be the annual Lions club carnival on the east side of the square.

Amendment Favored By County Society For Mental Hygiene

The Lubbock County Society for Mental Hygiene has gone on record favoring the passage of Amendment Nine in the coming Nov. 8 election.

Amendment Nine stipulates that the legislature revise present statutes enabling mental patients to have treatment in state supported hospitals without a jury trial. The amendment also calls for the safeguarding of the patient's legal rights while under treatment.

Texas is the only state in the Union not having such a law.

Sen. Anderson Predicts Large Vote In "Off-Year" Elections

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Senator Anderson (D-NM) predicted today that a get-out-the-vote drive will reverse the usual off-year election trend in 1950 o increase Democratic strength in Congress.

Anderson, who heads the Democratic Senatorial Campaign committee, told a reporter he thinks President Truman's so-called "Fair Deal" program will provide the interest that will help bring out the voters in record numbers.

"In the off-year elections, when there isn't a contest over the presidency, it's always a question of stirring the voters' interests enough to get them out to the pools," he said.

Midwest Vote Vital

"If we can get a heavy vote, the Democrats not only can hold their own but I believe we can make gains in Congress. And I think all of the discussion over President Truman's domestic program is going to turn the trick."

Anderson said Democrats look on the middle west as the vital battle ground in the contest with the Republicans for house and Senate seats.

He mentioned Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa and Colorado as states in which the Democrats hope to piek up some senatorial seats. He conceded that in some areas outside the south, the Democrats have their work cut out to keep members of their party in office.

In the midwest, Anderson said he thinks the high price support farm bill passed in the last session and now on President Truman's desk will aid the Democrats.

Farm Subsidies Are Issue

The New Mexico Senator said he thinks the Brannan plan of subsidy payments to farmers on perishable crops will be an issue in some states but not in others. Anderson never has been an advocate of this plan, which would let perishable crops find their own price level, with the government boosting the farmers' income by production payments.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, told a reporter he thinks the Brannan plan will get top billing by the Democrats just about everywhere perishable crops are being grown.

"Of course they are going to make the Brannan plan an issue," he said. "To the administration's way of thinking the farm bill passed in the last session is just a temporary one. I don't think the farmers want the Brannan plan, but we're going to find out in next year's elections."

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Norman, pioneer residents of Monroe, who were married on Oct. 28, 1899, in Eddy, will observe their Golden Wedding anniversary today. Friends and relatives of the couple will visit them during an openhouse at their home from 2 until 6 p. m. Both Mr. and Mrs. Norman were born in Corinth, Miss., and she is the former Ila Carrie Daughtry. They have two daughters, Mrs. Gerriel Lyda of Lubbock and Mrs. Ellis Maxwell of Mountainair, N. M.; two sons, Erby Norman of Monroe and Dick Norman of Hurlwood; and 13 grandchildren.

Gus, Pet Porker, Makes Himself At Home In Farm House Of Tolerant Iowa Family

ARLINGTON, Ia., Oct. 29 (AP)—A 275-pound pig, name of Gus, is a frequent and welcome guest in the parlor of the Pete Bachtell farm home near here.

Gus developed a penchant for life indoors when the Bachtell family reared him behind the kitchen range.

Gus was abandoned at birth by his mother. The Bachtells gave him his start with warm milk fed from a baby bottle.

Although Gus now has permanent quarters in the barnyard, he frequently follows the Bachtells indoors.

On these occasions Gus immediately heads for the scatter rug in front of the radio and reclines contentedly.

Mrs. Bachtell says she doesn't protest too much. Gus is housebroken and his manners are above reproach.

Jealous Of Dog

As pigs go, Gus is a handsome spotted Poland China. Puppy-like, he will nuzzle the Bachtells in friendly fashion. He grows jealous when attention is paid to Tony, the family dog.

The Bachtells say Gus has several accomplishments:

He knows his own name and will respond when called.

He knows the sound of the Bachtell jeep. When he hears it coming he romps happily to the spot where it customarily is parked and awaits its arrival.

He likes human companionship and recently trudged a mile through field and wood to keep Bachtell company while he sawed wood.

There's a big question mark about Gus' future. He is now at a weight when most pigs are lively candidates for conversion into bacon and pork roast.

The Bachtells dislike to think about such a possibility. They say Gus ought to be in a circus.

Sweater-Knitting Latest Hobby For Baylor University Coeds

WACO, Oct. 29. (INS)—Because Ardie Hensel brought out an Argyle sweater she's been knitting for six months, 24 Baylor university coeds have caught the fever.

There's quite a contest on now among the residents of Lattimore House, a Baylor dormitory annex. They race against each other to see who can knit the fastest, and they race against time as well because they plan these things—sweaters, socks and mittens — as Christmas gifts for male relations.

Quite appropriately no doubt, the girls call themselves the Knit Wits.

DETENTION CAUSE UNEXPLAINED

Polish Wife Of Army Captain Held 39 Days On Ellis Island

By JAMES POWERS
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—A beautiful, blonde Polish-born actress, wife of a U. S. Army captain, has been held on Ellis island for 39 days and her husband said tonight he still does not know why.

Immigration officials in New York refused to state on what charges attractive Inez Adrian Johns is being held. The Justice department in Washington said the government "has reason to believe that her presence is prejudicial to the interests of the United States."

Her husband, Capt. John N. Johns, now an instructor of tactics at Michigan State college at Lansing, said he is bewildered by the charges. Her New York lawyer, Milton Kestenberg, said he believes the 36-year-old woman is possibly the victim of a "poison pen" letter.

Contacted Supposed Nazi

Kestenberg said that a habeas corpus writ to free Mrs. Johns will be entered in U. S. district court in New York next Friday in an effort to determine why the Immigration department considers the former movie actress "excludable."

He said that the only "conceivable" information about her background that might be misconstrued is her work during the war with the Italian underground. Kestenberg said that on orders from the underground Mrs. Johns—then Inez Adrian—contacted a supposed Nazi.

Kestenberg said that in reality the man, whom he named as Hans Reiner, was an agent of the underground posing as a Nazi to obtain German secrets.

Family Killed In Poland

Kestenberg said that a former member of the Italian underground, now a high-ranking member of the Italian foreign office, will testify in Mrs. Johns' behalf if necessary.

The woman, described by her husband as "one of those beautiful, blue-eyed, blonde Polish girls, about five feet six inches tall with a beautiful figure," has been held at Ellis island since Sept. 20.

On that date she returned to the United States from a visit with her sister who like her fled to Italy from Poland after the Nazis invaded her native land. Capt. Johns said all other members of his wife's family were killed in Poland.

The couple were married in Lansing in March, 1948, shortly after Inez joined Johns in this country. Johns said:

Made Previous Trip

"Inez went back to Italy twice after our marriage—in the summer of 1948 when I went to training camp and again this summer. She had no trouble the first time. Everything went off swell but this time she was stopped—why, I don't know."

Kestenberg said Mrs. Johns was detained under provisions of federal regulation 175.57-A, a presidential proclamation issued in 1941 to give information officials sweeping powers to detain any person potentially dangerous to the United States.

In the meantime, he said, immigration officials do not have to make public the nature of their beliefs that Inez Johns is "excludable."

And Inez and Johns say they are bewildered by the whole thing.

Soldier Held After Pushing Wife Onto Stove, Burning Her

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 29 (AP)—A soldier was held in the Centre county jail here today after police said he poured kerosene on his wife's head and then pushed her over an oil stove.

Constable Sarkis Joseph at nearby Howard said he arrested Pvt. Russell Fike, 38, of Fort Meade, Md., yesterday, and committed him to the jail. He added that formal charges will not be filed until the outcome of Mrs. Fike's injuries is known.

She was removed to the Lock Haven hospital where doctors said she suffered a fracture of the skull and severe burns on the head and back.

The officer said that Fike told him he wanted a divorce and his wife wouldn't give it to him.

Joseph said Fike told him he had argued with his wife, poured the kerosene on her head and pushed her head over an oil stove. He ran out through a window but was arrested a short time later in a nearby cornfield.

Mexico Hits Jackpot As 10,000 Tourists Weekly Frolic In South-Of-Border Spots

BY ROBERT PRECOTT
United Press Staff Writer

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Mexico has hit the tourist jackpot.

So many sightseers have streamed into the country that on downtown streets and in night clubs more English can be heard than in some sections of New York or Los Angeles.

Hotels have been jammed. Night life has been flourishing. And shops have been selling silver, woolens, baskets and souvenir articles at the fastest — and most profitable—rate in history.

One Mexican newspaper wryly commented on the tourist influx: "Our shops should place signs outside—Spanish spoken here."

But most Mexicans are highly pleased at the new popularity their land has reached with vacationing foreigners, mostly Americans and the increased prosperity they bring to the country.

More than 10,000 foreign visitors a week have been pouring into the south-of-the-border vacation land during the summer and fall months this year, in the biggest tourist season in Mexican history.

Dollars Flow

They will leave more than $200,000,000 behind to swell the nation's skimpy dollar reserves and a good many peso bank accounts.

The tourist trade long ago has been big business for Mexico, but never on the scale it has reached in the past two years. During 1948, more than 300,000 tourists from the United States visited Mexico, and spent about $185,000,000. This year, with the added attraction of low prices and a favorable rate of money exchange, an increase of at least 50 per cent is expected.

Mexico makes it easy for the tourist. A $2.60 tourist card provides quick entry, special air and rail rates give cheap transportation — and that attractive rate of exchange of nearly nine pesos to the dollar keeps costs down.

In contrast to pre-war years when the majority of tourists were limited to short trips across the border to such spas or customs-free "ports" as Tijuana, Mexicali, Juarez, Nuevo Laredo and Matamoros, most Americans now drive to Mexico, establishing a base for trips to such attractions as Taxco, Acapulco, Cuernavaca or Vera Cruz. Extension of the Pan American highway and Mexico's $40,000,000-a-year road-building program have made this possible.

In 1940 only 36,000 automobiles entered Mexico but during the first six months of 1949 more than 50,000 cars brought tourists, with double that amount expected by the end of the year.

To take care of the upsurge in Mexico's third largest industry — the tourist business — some 1,000 new hotels have been built in the last two years.

The tourist guides, however, probably have made the biggest "killing" from the sightseeing trade. Tourists in Mexico are keeping 750 tourist agencies alive.

Bel Air Estate Of Millionaire To Be Sold At Public Auction

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (AP)—Attention, bargain hunters, well-heeled variety.

The 12-acre Bel Air estate of the late multi-millionaire, A. Atwater Kent, will be sold at public auction, Nov. 1 and 2.

The home has seven master bedrooms, five baths, a large tile swimming pool, heated; two guest houses, six servants' rooms. The auction will include furnishings, and paintings by Thomas Gainsborough, Sir Joshua Reynolds, John Singer Sargent and Peter Paul Rubens.

Kent, retired radio manufacturer and Hollywood's favorite party giver, died last March 4. His will disposed of an estate estimated at $8,500,000.

Germany raised lager beer taxes.

Robert Young Says Hollywood Needs More Errol Flynns

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29—What Hollywood needs, says Robert Young without cracking a smile, is more Errol Flynns.

This may cause turmoil among Hollywood's public relations worriers, but Young has a point to make.

"I think a lot of excitement has gone out of the town,' he said. "Movie stars have become social workers, political thinkers and family people. Of course, that's good for the community. But it makes Hollywood lose some of its glamor.

"What we need is more Errol Flynns to raise some cain now and then."

This makes Young virtually speak against himself. He is a pillar of local society. Father of four fine girls, he is as normal a citizen as you will find in Hollywood.

"Does this mean you are anti-Robert Young?" I asked.

"I'm not that much of a naive jerk to commit professional suicide," he answered. "I could no more be an Errol Flynn than he could be a Robert Young. It would be the same in any other community a sit is in Hollywood.

"I'm just anti-normalycy—when it affects the movies."

Whatever his objections to it, normalycy has paid off handsomely for Bob Young. Now in his 19th year in films, he is starting his 86th picture, "Here Lies Love." While other free-lance stars have been dying on the vine, he has flourished.

He has been working steadily, at a salary I would estimate at $125,000 a picture.

CUBA OPTIMISTIC

Cuban merchants are optimistic of a business pick-up when vacation season ends and thousands of traveling Cubans come back home, Havana reports.

Wayland Choir To Appear Here

A musical program will be presented in the First Baptist church auditorium at 6:15 o'clock tonight by the International choir of Wayland college at Plainview.

The Baptist Training union will sponsor the program, which will include "Beautiful Savior," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Madam Jeanette", "Second Out Thy Spirit," There is a Balm in Gilead," "Oh, What a Beautiful City," "Poor Wayfaring Stranger," "Ol' Man River," and a group of international songs.

Included in International songs will be "Dies, Sveti Latviju," Latvian national anthem; "Kad Dzives Vilnose Metats, Svaidits," Latvian prayer song; "Benniba," Polish folk song; "No More at Evening," Gypsy song; "One Fine Day", from "Madame Butterfly"; "La Burita"; "Adios Marquita Linde"; "La Baraca de Ore"; "Mi Viejo Amor"; "Habanera" from "Carmen", and "Kaulilua Ike Anu O Wakaleale", a Hawaiian drum chant.

Shebly Collier is director of the choir, which is composed of 32 members. Among choir members are Connie Jo Woods of Lubbock; Jerry Malone of Seminole; Frank Irby, Rose Melody Wolf, Nida Parker, Emily Knoblock, Johnnie Ruth Reddell and Billie Roenfeldt of Plainview; Layland McMahon of Takota and Jane Wylie of Spade. Four foreign students are members of the choir and eight states are represented by American singers.

Bette Davis Given Protection Of Court During Divorce Suit

SANTA ANA, Calif., Oct. 29 (AP)—Bette Davis will receive court protection against her estranged husband, William Grant Sherry, until her divorce suit comes to trial.

The actress, 41, was granted a restraining order yesterday prohibiting Sherry, 34-year-old artist, from molesting her or taking their 2½-year-old daughter from her. Neither Miss Davis nor Sherry appeared in court.

No date for the divorce hearing has been set.

Miss Davis, in her suit filed Oct. 21, expressed fear of physical violence by Sherry. They were married in 1945.

Guatemala shortly will begin to produce its first margarine.

Marriage Licenses In Terry Decline

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 29—Terry county clerk H. M. Pyeatt and tax assessor - collector Herbert Chesshir are of the opinion that fewer marriage licenses and poll taxes have been issuer since Oct. 1 than in any previous similar period in the county's history.

The county clerk's records disclose that only one marriage license has been issued since Oct. 1, and that was on Oct. 4, two days before the new state law requiring health certificates of a definite type went into effect.

The fact that Terry county has no laboratories approved by the State Health department for serological tests is believed the reason for no marriage licenses having been issued here since the new law became effective. The nearest approved laboratories are at Lubbock and Littlefield.

Only 20 poll tax receipts have been issued since tax collections began Oct. 1, according to records at the tax assessor-collector's office. The reason is believed to be because if Texas voters abolish the poll tax requirement at the Nov. 8 special election there will be no refunds.

ENGLISH SILVER BEST BARGAIN

West Indies Tourists Gain Slightly From Devaluation

(The Yankee dollar will go a little further in the British West Indies since Britain devalued the pound sterling, but an AP survey in the islands in response to queries indicates the gains may be only temporary. Herewith are three tourist effect stories from the island capitals).

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 29 (AP) — The recent devaluation of the British pound means visitors will pay less this winter for many English products — but not for Bermuda hotel rooms.

There has been no change in the sterling price tags on English merchandise in swank stores dealing in English woolens, tweeds, leather goods, doeskins, expensive English china, silver plate and sterling.

A man's cashmere sports jacket which cost $70.70 before, now takes only $49.35 in tourist cash. Doeskin trousers which cost $28.28 now can be bought for $19.74. A lady's cashmere pullover sweater has been knocked down — in dollar values — from $17.17 to $11.98.

A dinner set priced at 50 pounds becomes, under international monetary juggling, $141 instead of the old cost of $202.

Silver Best Buy

About the best buy for an American tourist in Bermuda is English silver, both plated and solid. Up to 50 per cent can be saved under the new pound rate, with absence of the U. S. 20 per cent federal tax.

Once present stocks are exhausted, replacement merchandise probably will cost the Bermuda merchant slightly more since the English manufacturer is raising the price of his product. That, however, should not greatly decrease the tourists' saving.

Hotels, which were accustomed to quoting rates in both sterling and dollars, have raised their sterling rates to bring in the same amount of dollars. The Canadian quotations have gone up also, to keep pace with Canada's 10 per cent dollar devaluation.

Hotel keepers explain that they had to do this since the only thing they have to sell is scenery and climate. Almost everything else is imported from the United States.

The feeling is that prices will be back to pre-devaluation levels by the end of next year, due to possible raises in the cost of living and in wages.

BARGAINS IN NASSAU ABOUT 15 PER PERCENT

NASSAU, Bahamas, Oct. 29 (AP) —A process of adjustment is going on here. Despite the fact dollars buy more pounds than they did a year ago, the actual bargain amounts to only 10 to 15 percent.

For example, an American who rented a home here for the winter before devaluation, paid 25 pounds rental a month, or about $100. Today, the same house will rent for 30 pounds but with the cheapened money, this figures out at about $84 a month.

Almost the only real saving in food and drink comes in pre-dinner cocktails. Dollar prices on liquor have not risen much—yet.

Empire-made goods, such as silks, woolens, and royal doulton figurines in general are being offered at a full 30 percent saving.

JAMAICA HOTEL RATES ARE CUT CONSIDERABLY

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 29 (AP) — The situation in Kingston is about the same as elsewhere in the British West Indies.

Most hotels, however, are offering dollar reductions ranging from 15 to 30 per cent.

Motor transport charges are less, but gasoline prices are due to rise because of devaluation, which means that American visitors will make little saving in that field.

Says F. H. Robertson, tourist trade commissioner:

"The fullest advantage of devaluation is being passed on to the American visitor to Jamaica and it is expected that only in cases where cost of imported goods are increased by foreign manufacturers will there be any lowering of such advantage."

Garlend E. Casey Graduates From Connally Air Base

CONNALLY AIR FORCE BASE, Waco, Oct. 29—Aviation Cadet Garland E. Casey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pewell P. Casey, 1908 Twenty-second, Lubbock, has graduated from six months of Air Force basic pilot training at Connally Air Force Base, it was announced today by Colonel John T. Sprague, Connally's commanding officer.

After graduating from Lubbock Senior High school and attending Texas Technological college, Cadet Casey enlisted in the Air Force for the aviation cadet program and was sent to Connally AFB, near Waco.

For the past six months Casey has received extensive flight and ground training with the T-6 "Texan" trainer, a speedy, single-engine aircraft used by the Air Force to instruct their new pilots.

Cadet Casey will now be transferred to Vance Air Force Base, near Enid, Okla., where he will fly the B-25 "Billy Mitchell" bomber for another six months. Upon completion of this final phase of flying training, he will be awarded a second lieutenant's commission in the U. S. Air Force.

SUNDAY NO EXCEPTION

Despite parents' protests that "Sunday best" would be ruined, the Town Council of Westbury, England, decided to allow children to use recreation ground slides on Sundays.

HEINKEL FACTORIES CONFISCATED

Jet Plane Plans, Fumbled By Nazis, Now In Russian Hands

STUTTGART, Germany, Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Ten years ago Ernst Heinkel, one of Germany's top plane builders, flew the world's first jet plane and invited Air Marshal Hermann Goering to watch the test flight.

Goering, then busily building up Nazi air power for war, was unimpressed.

He told Heinkel to forget about jets because they would never be successful in combat.

Today the man whose plant turned out the first experimental jet plane which was the prototype of the aircraft that would revolutionize air travel, lives here in retirement, with most of his aircraft factories moved to Russia.

Heinkel thinks Goering and other Nazi air force officials were miffed because they had not been informed of the years of research and construction that the Heinkel works put in on the jet engine before the first test flight on Aug. 27, 1938.

Flight Recalled

It was not until two years later, when the German government received reports that both Britain and the U. S. were experimenting with jet engines, that the Nazi air ministry remembered Heinkel's successful test flight and ordered him to get on with the construction of a jet fighter plane.

Heinkel first got the idea for jet propulsion in planes when he heard of experiments made by a young assistant professor at Goettingen University, Dr. Hans Pabst von Ohain. He called von Ohain to the Heinkel plant at Rostock, now in the Soviet zone, and put him to work with a staff of 30 engineers.

In less than two years von Ohain produced the first jet usable in a plane. In another year Heinkel had installed it in a plane about the size of the "Spirit of St. Louis," in which Charles Lindbergh flew the Atlantic.

Heinkel named it the HE 178. His test pilots flew it a few times and then Heinkel called the air ministry in Berlin to send observers to watch the "test flight of a new plane." Goering had no advance notice that it would be a revolutionary new type.

Told To Forget It

Goering and his assistants watched the HE 178 fly better than 500 miles an hour and then told Heinkel to forget about it.

They said its production costs were too high, that it would not stay in the air long and could not carry a heavy enough weapon load.

Despite the air ministry's cold shoulder, Heinkel's engineers continued to experiment. When the German secret service picked up news that the U. S. A. and Britain were working along similar lines, his sprawling aircraft plants were able quickly to put into the air the HE 280, with two jet motors and three guns. It could fly 500 miles an hour.

Other German plane manufacturers—BMN, Junkers and Messerschmidt—started working on jets and four jet planes were introduced into the German air force in 1943-44.

Heinkel, who now lives in retirement here since most of his plants and technicians were carted off to Russia, says it will not be German know-how that will make perfect jets possible.

U. S. Far Ahead

"Even if the Allies would permit the production of airplanes in German, I do not believe Germany ever again could start production," he said. 'In the years since the end of the war the U. S., thanks to vast funds made available for the development of air technique, has achieved such progress that it cannot be reached again by other countries, least of all by impoverished Germany.

"There are only two countries in the world which can afford modern development of air power, the U. S. and the USSR."

The technique tht Heinkel developed is at work on both sides. Ninety-five per cent of his plants, located in the Russian zone, have been dismantled and replanted in the Soviet Union, he said, adding "and they have my best engineers and technicians, too."

But the original inventor of the jet, von Ohain, went to the U. S. after the war and Heinkel said he is continuing his work on jet planes.

Department Of Agriculture Provides Help For Housewives Or Hopeful Horse-Shoers

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 — The Department of Agriculture is wonderful.

It can tell you how to do almost anything. From raising a gosling to a goose to selecting a sound horse—and how to shoe one when you get him—to how to stir up a pork and parsnip stew.

If you call Republic 4142 and can't get Secretary Charles Brannan you'll get somebody else who'll help you. If it's something about how to drive a nail or preserve a tomato, chances are the man will send you to the government printing office.

Which is where I came upon the pork and parsnip stew recipe. You ought to try it some time. It's really good.

It is in a little ditty called "Aunt Sammy's Radio Recipes Revised." Page 21. What you do is this: Take a pound and a half of fresh pork, one large onion, sliced, a quart of hot water and a quart of diced parsnips. Also 1½ teaspoons of salt and two tablespoons of flour and some chopped parsley.

According to the official Aunt Sammy Revised, you then:

"Cut the pork into small pieces and brown in its own fat. Add to this the onion and cook a few minutes longer. Add the water and simmer until the meat is nearly tender. Then add the parsnips and salt and cook for 15 or 20 minutes. Mix the flour with a small quantity of cold water, add to the meat and vegetables, and stir until the stew is thickened. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve hot."

Horse-Shoeing Instructions

All of which is a far cry from raising a goose or shoeing a horse. But the Department of Agriculture covers all fields.

The horse-shoeing business, for instance.

There are very few horses to shoe these days and very few men who know how to shoe them. But if you have a horse, you can learn how to shoe him. Just write in and ask for U. S. Department of Agriculture farmer's bulletin No. 1535 at the government printing office. Price five cents.

The booklet starts out rather sensibly with "no foot—no horse is a time-honored adage among horsemen."

First, trim the foot. You've got to "observe the standing position of the limbs," it says on page 4. "The position of the foot must correspond to the angle of the leg." Take a hook knife and remove the overgrowth of the sole. You'll get the idea after awhile and finally you'll have the hoof pared down to a point where it will fit the shoe.

Then you fit the shoe on and drive some nails into the hoof. The nails don't hurt the horse a bit.

"It's all very simple if you know your horses and your shoes and your blacksmithing and implements for filing the hooves.

"I'm not much of a horse-shoer. But the Department of Agriculture has something in Aunt Sammy's Radio Recipes Revised that appeals to me. How to fry an egg.

Book Seller Finds Two-Volume Set After Search Of 40 Years

BOSTON, Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Back in 1909, Harry Samuel Victorson, book-seller, decided he wanted a two-volume edition of William James' "Principles of Psychology." But he couldn't locate one.

Down through the years, during which he has handled tens of thousands of books, Victorson has been ever alert for the set in question.

The other day he finally found one and bought it for a mere $5.40.

Tough Court Talk Has Its Limits, Tribunal Declares

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 29 (U.P.)—The Supreme Court of North Carolina holds that even prosecuting attorneys have to watch their language when they are working for a jury conviction.

But the state's top court said it was perfectly okay when the solicitor called Hilbert Bowen and James McKell "those two thieves" while trying them on charges of larceny and receiving.

It wasn't any worse, the court added, when the solicitor repeated over defense objection: "That's exactly what I called them, two thieves."

The solicitor's remarks were "a conclusion drawn from the evidence introduced for the consideration of the jury," the Supreme Court held.

There Are Limits

But there are limits, the court added.

The prosecution went too far when it called the defendant a "human hyena" in the case of the State vs. Ballard, the justices pointed out.

"A severe reprimand by the court would have been justified," the seven justices said, when a private prosecutor in the case of the State vs. Correll characteriezd the defendant on trial for murder as "a small-time racketeering gangster."

They said there was nothing in the record to justify that, but the judge corrected the error by sustaining defense objection to the language.

The presiding judge saved the state another trial again in the case of the State vs. Murdock, the Supreme Court said.

New Trial Ordered

In that case the solicitor overstepped legal propriety by telling the jury: "I do not know when I have seen a more typical bloockader. Look at him, his red nose, his red face, his red hair and mustache. They are sure signs. He has the earmarks of a blockader."

The only case cited by the Supreme Court in which it had granted a new trial because of loose language by the solicitor was that of the State vs. Tucker.

Counsel assisting the solicitor said to the jury:

"Look at the defendants. They look like professed (professional) bootleggers. Their looks are enough to convict them."

Czech Traffic Violators Must Learn Safety In Sunday Class

PRAGUE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Czechoslovak pedestrians and drivers who disregard traffic regulations have been ordered to attend special Sunday courses in safetly rules.

The order was issued after a "Traffic Safety Week" during which police, assisted by members of the youth front, taught people how to walk or drive over crossings in the cities. The first three days were devoted to warnings but the latter half of the week brought fines to traffic trespassers.

Henceforth a violator gets a ticket ordering him to school.

Jap Professor Turns Out Own Snowflakes By Novel Methods

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—Dr. U. Nakaya, of Japan, "grows" artificial snowflakes. What's more, he's found a use for them—helping the weather man. A professor of meteorology at Hokkaido University, Dr. Nakaya said he was the first to create the delicate crystals. He made the first one 19 years ago, he said, by varying temperature, pressure, humidity and wind velocity in a specially built chamber.

He's been experimenting ever since. He believes that by comparing natural and artificial flakes, he will soon be able to tell the temperature and humidity of the area in which natural flakes are formed. This would help weather men understand the formation of storm centers and the structure of storm clouds.

Dr. Nakaya is on a lecture tour of the United States and Canada. His sponsor is the International Committee of Snow and Ice Flakes.

ROMULO HASN'T GIVEN UP HOPE

UN "Peace Assembly" Fails To Break Up Tension Of Cold War

By A. I. GOLDBERG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 29.—The United Nations "peace assembly" is half over and the man who hopefully gave it that name says it has failed thus far to break the jangled tensions of the cold war.

Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo made his appeal for peace just after he was elected assembly president Sept. 20.

Now he acknowledges that the tensions have even grown in the face of all efforts to reduce them but he says: "Personally, I have not yet lost hope that we can do many things to establish this as a peace assembly."

There remains more than a month to try. But the issues still at stake seem hardly calculated to bring peace unless there are unforeseen compromises.

Situation Not Hopeless

Many patient persons among the U. N. delegations and secretariat say the situation is by no means hopeless. They say the deadlock on the politico-diplomatic fronts is better than nothing.

In practical language outside the brief-case and homburg set, the situation as it affects principally the United States on one side and Russia on the other is: "As long as they keep talking they ain't fighting." That is sometimes spoken in apology for U. N. failures to make more positive strides.

When Romulo gave his mid-way sizeup of this assembly, the No. 1 political committee was wrangling over who is to blame for continual fighting in Greece and the Balkans since the end of the world war, and how it might be ended.

The U. N. still has not settled another nagging old question—what to do with Libya, Eritrea and Somaliland, the three prewar Italian colonies on the Mediterranean, Red Sea and Indian ocean coasts of Africa.

Facing Other Problems

There was a strong probability that effective action on this involved political-geographic question would be put over until next year.

And the delegates of the 59 member nations still have to act on their biggest political questions clouded by east-west tensions.

These are problems raised over atomic energy control, China's charges that Russia is helping the Chinese Reds take over that country, Russian proposals for a Big Five peace pact, and peace for Palestine.

East-west tensions increased during the bitter debates in the first six weeks over Greek-Balkan disputes, over charges of violations of human rights in Soviet satellite countries, over the election of American-supported Yugoslavia to the security council against Russian opposition and over U. N. help for Korea to gain unity.

Romulo ticked off these accomplishments for the current assembly:

New methods and procedures to save time and cut red tape in the U. N. were approved quickly to take effect Jan. 1.

Korean Commission Bolstered

The assembly strengthened a U. N. commission helping the Korean government try to establish independence and unity against Russian opposition.

It voted to send to the International Court of Justice accusations that Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary violated human rights in trials of religious leaders and oppression of political foes.

It approved continuance of the year-around "little assembly" to keep the work of the 59 nations going between general assemblies.

It approved "point four" economic help for the world's underdeveloped areas.

Except for the rules and economic help projects, these actions were taken over strenuous Russian opposition.

The biggest split was on the election of American-backed Yugoslavia to the 11-nation security council. New seeds of east-west hate were sown here, despite the fact Britain supported Czechoslovakia, the Soviet candidate. Harvesting of that crop—Russia's Foreign minister Andrei Vishinsky promised "painful consequences"—Has to wait until Yugoslavia takes her seat next January, succeeding the Soviet Ukraine for a 2-year term.

To Study Vishinsky Plan

Russia says she never will recognize the election as legal but refuses to say beforehand what she will do about it.

Late in the session the political committee will plunge into the Vishinsky Big Five peace pact proposal—labelled in advance by its opponents as another propaganda device. The resolution introducing the proposal starts off calling the U. S. and Britain warmongers. It calls for outlawing atomic weapons—on Russian terms. It proposes a peace pact to be signed by Russia, Britain, the U. S., France and China. The inclusion of China gives an ironic twist to this in view of the Red surge that is driving the Nationalist government to its fallbacks in Western China.

One early move will be to try to knock the atomic feature out of the Vishinsky proposal and lump it will all the other atomic disputes where Russia is a minority of one. Russia refuses to bow to international inspection—actually lie-detection safeguards—as one instrument of control. Majority opinion, led by the U. S. and Britain, says there must be real verification to assure no cheating.

The U. S. and Britain will have a counter-proposal designed to knock out the Russian one but won't say what it is until they are ready to present it. It will not be a big five pact like Russia's.

Chinese Situation Grave

One sharp question popped late this week: who would sign such a pact for China? Vishinsky contends the days of the Chinese Nationalist delegation are numbered here. The Chinese delegate, flustered and excited as the Chinese seldom are, retorted in committee: "Maybe other nations will have something to say about that."

But U. N. delegates have been confronted since the assmebly opened with the reality of mounting Communist victories in China and the possibility that Red China may supplant nationalist China in the U. N.—with big power veto rights in the security council.

Toward the end of the assembly schedule is a hearing on Nationalist China's charges that Russia directs and aids the Chinese Communists and that Russia is a threat to peace. It doesn't take a prophet to predict this will end the assembly session on another sour note of disunity.

Another set of wrangles will be unleashed when the discussion of Palestine peace and Jerusalem's demilitarization begins. The Arab countries have never forgiven Israel's sharp climb into U. N. membership.

With all this, the U. N. had one symbolic achievement— the cornerstone of its permanent headquarters was laid last Monday in New York City, with President Truman officiating.

PARALYSIS

(UNABLE TO WALK)

Case History No. 2202; Lady; Age 41; History and symptoms: Unable to walk since Sept. 21, 1949. Pains in chest for 12 years; Troubled with gall bladder, liver, stomach and colon. Hospital check-up showed no organic trouble but still no hopes of recovery; because, the cause of her troubles was not as yet located.

History Of Accident

This case was a car accident ten years ago; and, gradually grew worse.

Came To Stephens Chiropractic Clinic

This is another case that was carried into the STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINC. "Where the so-called hopeless DO get well," and went thru the regular examination that is made on difficult cases. This examination consisted of the X-Ray pictures of the SPINE and the Neurocalometer and NEUROCALOGRAPH (a product of General Electric) nerve analyses. The X-Ray pictures found the true cause of her paralysis and revealed how to correct the cause of her troubles. The nerve test analysis revealed the degree of nerve interference leading to the legs and lower region.

What Specific Chiropractic Has Done For Her

In a few days after she began SPECIFIC CHIROPRACTIC SERVICE she began to feel better. In a few weeks later she began to walk unassisted for the first time in over 12 months. As time went on she had a few rebuilding pains in various parts of the body until today she almost feels as though she were a new person. She thinks there is nothing like Chiropractic stepping in as a last resort, correcting the cause of her troubles, and saving her from a lifetime of suffering and misery and an untimely death. What a wonder sick people are turning to chiropractic to solve their health problems and if they turn to specific chiropractic they are seldom disappointed.

VAST NEW FIELDS OPENING IN PERMIAN BASIN

West Texas-New Mexico Cattle Empire Turning To Leadership Among Oil Reservoirs Of Nation

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MIDLAND, Oct. 29.—Millions of years of geology have been kind to West Texas and southeastern New Mexico.

The cattle country the past quarter century has become one of the nation's largest oil reservoirs.

More than 3,000,000,000 barrels of crude oil already have been produced. Conservative estimates of current underground reserves approach the 6,000,000,000 mark—somewhere between one-fifth and one-sixth of estimated United States reserves.

Geologists say that about 185,000,000 to 220,000,000 years ago the area was blanketed by what they call the Permian sea. West Texas first commercial oil production was found in geologic formations left by this sea.

Oilmen now refer to the West Texas-New Mexico oil producing area as the Permian basin.

Deep Wells Increase

Strikes in Permian formations first made it possible for the cattle country to become an oil producer.

But when Permian oil first was discovered drilling equipment could not go too deep and many oilmen believed there was no oil at greater depths.

Modern drilling equipment has changed these theories and has brought the basin area of optimism that has tremendous exploration possibilities.

Permian wells still are being drilled and completed successfully but strikes at greater depths are bringing more and more oilmen into the area.

The basin's first big producer was at Big Lake, Reagan county, in 1923, producing from depths less than 3,000 feet.

Big Lake operators later went to 8634 feet and found oil in the Elenberger zone of the Ordovician geologic age of something like 445,000,000 years ago.

Snyder Boom Cited

In 1940 the first big strike in the Pennsylvania age—about 220,000,000 to 268,000,000 years old—came at the Todd field in Crockett county. Producing depth is right at 6000-feet.

Strikes also have been made in formations between the Permain and Pennsylvanian.

The postwar swing to deep wells has been rapid, however, and a big boom currently is under way at Snyder, Scurry county, where Pennsylvanian oil was found late last year.

The Scurry county boom, many oilmen say, may see the development of one of the world's greatest oil fields.

Last Aug. 1, the West Texas-New Mexico Permian basin had over 300 producing oil fields and over 30,000 oil wells.

Independent Producer James S. Noland recently wrote:

"Men of vision found the Permian basin and those with vision will be the men who will find more oil in the future than has been found in the past."

"Dry" Holes Redrilled

Areas which once saw Permian depth wildcats abandoned as dry holes are being explored again with good producers being found in pre-Permian formations.

West Texas' economy has boomed along with the steady increase in oil discoveries and explorations.

Towns have become cities, cattlemen have gotten out of debt.

M. C. Ulmer, Midland, a former president of the Texas Bankers association and former head of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, says oil has caused a great tranformation in the ranch business.

"We don't have any cattle loans any more," he said.

"The coming of oil to West Texas has made the cattleman a depositor rather than a borrower."

Ulmer cited the cases of ranchers who once were faced with bankruptcy only to recover and become philanthropists.

He agreed with the estimate of an oilman-rancher that between 75 to 80 per cent of West Texas ranch land is under valid oil or gas lease.

Spurs Midland's Growth

Ulmer's First National bank in Midland currently is undergoing a huge remodelling program necessitated by the city's growth since it became the capital of the Permian basin.

When the Big Lake field was opened in 1923 oil companies located their headquarters at San Angelo, Tom Green county. As the big Permian strikes kept moving northward below Midland and Odessa the companies turned to more centrally located Midland.

A Midland resident—T. S. Hogan—has visualized that Midland some day would be the nerve center of the basin's oil activities.

Hogan wanted Midland to be ready. He started constructing a 12-story office building. In the early 1930's parts of the building stood empty for months and Midland residents began to refer to the structure as "Hogan's folly."

But the boom began around 1934 and Midland suddenly found itself pressed for office space. Hogan's vision that the town would headquarter oil companies operating in the basin had come true.

Ranchers Remain Calm

Something like 250 oil companies, operators and affiliates now headquarter there. New buildings have boosted office floor space to 353,000 square feet with another 107,000 planned or under construction.

City Manager H. A. Thomason estimated the city's population last Dec. 31 at 26,200, compared to 9352 in 1940. Bank deposits are six times greater than they were in 1940.

Midland also has continued as the cattle center of its area.

Most ranchers have reacted calmly to their income from oil leases and royalties. They still are cattlemen at heart.

It was a happy day when Chris Millican recently became part owner of a discovery well in Coke county.

"I'm going to see every rodeo I want to," he said.

Office Of Collector Of Internal Revenue To Be Moved Today

The Lubbock office for Collector of Internal Revenue will be moved today from the second to the third floor of the Lubbock National Bank building, L. B. Barkley, division chief, announced Saturday.

Entrance to the new offices will be room 313.

The move will provide more space for the offices and will facilitate payment of various taxes.

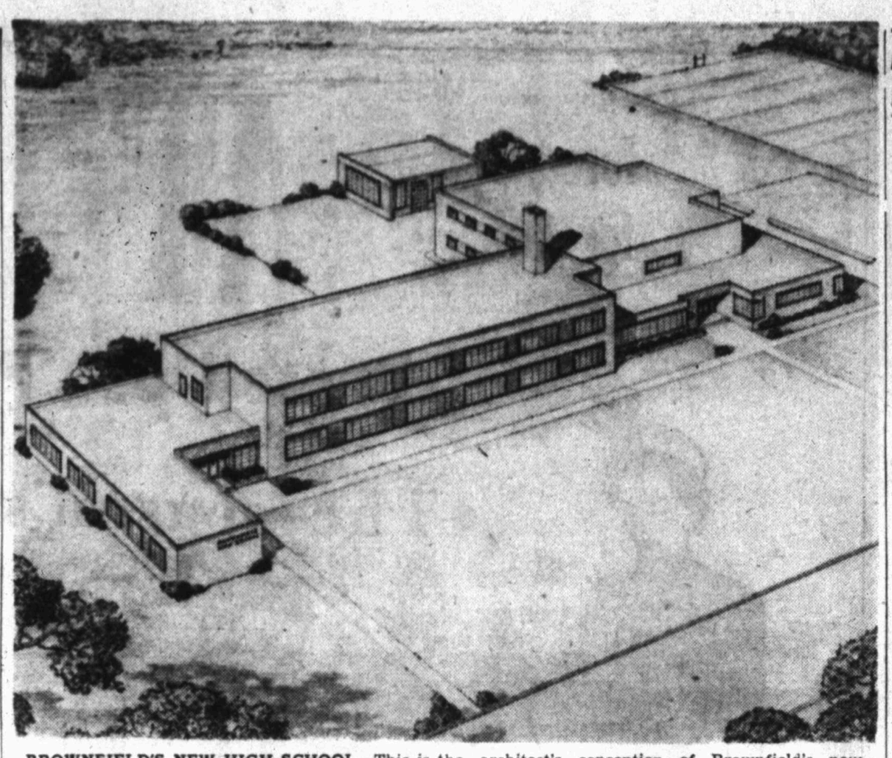

Barkley, in announcing the move, also reminded employers that Monday is the deadline for fling of third-quarter Social Security, withholding and excise tax reports.

Historic Old Church Fireplace Found In Unused Storage Loft

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29 (AP)—An old colonial fireplace that once was part of the First Reformed German Church in this country has been uncovered in a long unusual storage loft, one-time site of the church. Now the Reformed and Evangelical Church, it was founded in 1727 in a barn. In 1772 it began the erection of an enlarged church.

During the Revolutionary War the Race Street Reformed Church, as it then was known, had an honorable part in the struggle of the colonists for independence. When the British captured Philadelphia and their troops marched by the church, the ten-year old son of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Casper Dietrich Weyberg, stood on the doorstep and shouted: "hurrah for George Washington."

The Hessians imprisoned Dr. Weyberg and used the church as a hospital. In 1837, the city contributed $15,200 to renovate the church as a historic shrine.

BROWNFIELD'S NEW HIGH SCHOOL—This is the architect's conception of Brownfield's new $500,000 high school building for which contracts were let this month and on which construction has started. The building, on school property at Broadway and South D streets, facing south on Broadway, will be 374 feet long, with approximately 50,000 square feet of floor space. The outer wall construction will be of haydite block faced brick, and most of the structure will be two stories. There will be 20 classrooms, a combination study hall and libration and a combined auditorium-gymnasium. A separate shop building 78 by 50 feet will be constructed at the rear of the building.

Divorce Papers Are Delayed 43 Years

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Loretto F. Allen of San Francisco has her final divorce paper today but it took her 43 years to get them.

On Oct. 16, 1906, Mrs. Allen filed for divorce from Jesse Lee Allen on charges of desertion .She was granted an interlocutory degree.

Today, she's a free woman, but Victor Kaplan, her Los Angeles attorney says he doesn't know why it took so long. He got the case from a San Francisco law firm.

Mrs. Allen didn't appear in court.

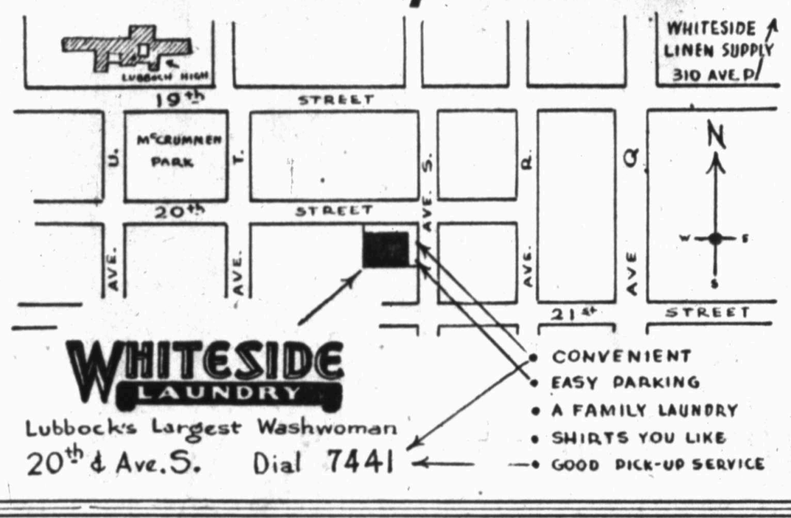

Czechoslovakia has its biggest area planted to sugar beets since 1930—50,613 acres.

California Woman Slow-Bakes Flowers, Then Frames Boquet

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Mae DeLano slow-bakes her bouquets. The flowers last longer that way. Here's her recipe for a baken bouquet, suitable for framing: Cut flowers (preferably flat types), leaves and lacy ferns. Place in an oven dish, cover with clean white sand, and bake for 10 hours in a low oven. After baking, Mrs. Delano removes the posies, cleans them with a camel's hair brush, and arranges them on a flat backing. She fixes them in position with transparent glue.

Then she carefully clamps a glass, airtight frame over the design and behold—a beautiful picture, painted in nature's own colors. Mrs. DeLano cautions imitators not to underbake. Then the blooms wither under the glass. And don't overbake. The colors fade or turn brown.

SOCIAL SECURITY STRESSED

Strikes Termed Evidence That Retirement Fund Hike Needed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Three senators today cited industrial unrest over pensions for workers — underscored by steel strike—as evidence of a need for increasing social security retirement benefits.

Senators Humphrey (D-Minn), Murray (D-Mont) and Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) predicted in separate interviews that the drive by labor unions for company-financed pension plans will figure prominently in Senate debate next year on the House-approved social security bill.

That bill would add about 11,000,000 workers to the social security rolls and increase retirement payments generally. The hike in those payments would average about 70 per cent for those who already have retired, and about 80 per cent for those who have not yet retired.

Higher Levy Seen

The retirement age under the federal program is 65. At present both employer and employe are taxed one per cent of the first $3,000 of the worker's annual wage.

Under the House bill the levy would be against the first $3,600 and the tax rate would climb gradually to 3¼ per cent by 1970.

Both Humphrey and Thomas said enactment of the House measure would encourage more companies to adopt pension plans such as the Ford Motor company and the United Automobile workers (CIO) recently agreed on.

Thomas called the Ford plan "a great idea" and Humphrey said "it's the proper approach to industrial peace" so far as pensions are concerned.

Under the Ford-UAW contract, the first in the auto industry, Ford workers can retire at 65 on a maximum of $100 monthly. Included in that are the workers' social security benefits under the federal program.

Government Action Urged

The difference between those benefits and the total pension will be paid by the Ford company, at an initial cost of about $20,000,000 annually. The company payments will be at the rate of 10 cents an hour per worker, with most of it going toward pensions.

In the steel strike, the United Steelworkers (CIO) are insisting on a company-financed plan. The steel companies want the workers to share the cost.

"The Ford plan," said Humphrey, "represents the kind of government-industry-labor dovetailing that is required to iron out all this trouble over pensions."

Senator Murray said a top industrialist told him the demand by unions for company-financed pensions could have been averted if the federal program had been liberalized earlier.

"There is no doubt about it," Murray said, "Congress has got to increase retirement payments just as soon as possible."

Lack Of Vitamin Is Blamed For Damage To Brain Centers

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29 — Experiments indicating that a shortage of vitamin B-1 in the diet can cause extensive damage to the brain were reported today by three University of California medical researchers.

Monkeys repeatedly deprived of the vitamin were found to have degeneration in brain centers called basal ganglia. These ganglia are little concentrations of nerve tissue beneath the surface of the brain. Often they are involved in cases of shaking palsy.

Tests Are Reported

The experiments were done by Dr. James F. Rinehart, Dr. Louis D. Greenberg and Melvin Friedman, and reported in the Archives of Pathology, a medical journal.

Previous research on lower animals showed B-1 deficiency led to degeneration of some parts of the brain and nerves, enlargement of the right side of the heart, degeneration of heart muscle and of nerve fiber in the heart, and interference with the production of red blood cells.

No Neuritis Found

All these things also happened to the monkeys, the researchers said. They used monkeys because they resemble humans more than do the animals previously tested.

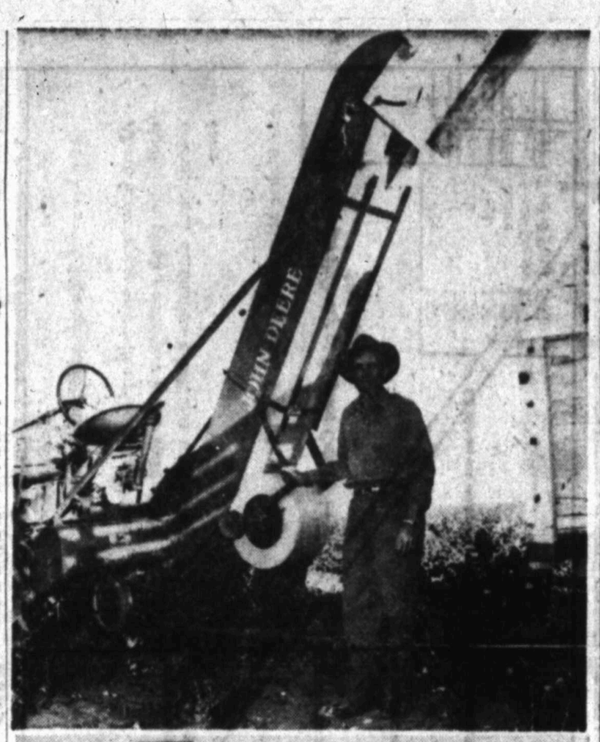

Curiously, the researchers found no sign of neuritis in the test monkeys. Neuritis is an inflammation of the nerves. It has long been associated with a deficiency of vitamin B-1 in the diet. The vitamin has been prescribed widely as a remedy.

The new findings, said Dr. Rinehart, show that while the vitamin is essential for normal nerve functions, its absence is not the sole cause of neuritis. This indicates, he added, that neuritis is due to a deficiency of more than one vitamin or other dietary factor.

Former Commander Of Asiatic Fleet Is Claimed By Death

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Adm. Charles B. McVay, 81, who formerly commanded the U. S. Asiatic fleet, died yesterday.

The retired navy officer, a native of Edgeworth, Pa., had been hospitalized at the naval medical center at nearby Bethesda, Md. He left a widow and one son, Charles B. McVay, 3rd, of New Orleans, also a retired admiral.

The attachment permits a farmer to get into the field earlier with a machine, pile the green bolls so that they will open for ginning later as shown in the right-hand picture. The pictures were made on the farm of Harlan Black, 3½ miles southwest of Roundup. Black is in the trailer in the bottom picture. Fowler, who has 900 acres of cotton to gather, started designing the attachment two years ago. Besides those he made for his own use, he has manufactured 20 of the machines this fall for sale to other farmers at $125 each. Most of the machines have been made in Lubbock machine and sheet metal shops. Fowler is in the process of securing a patent on the attachment, which he says, will work on other harvesters as well as that brand shown above. (Staff Photos.)

Peggy Bruder, 12, Is Forced To Give Up Part On Air Show Because Of "Old Age"

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—After giving the best years of her life to radio, Peggy Bruder has to give up her microphone job because of old age.

"I don't feel too old to go on, but I guess they know best," she said mournfully.

Pegy is 12.

"An old woman," she said. "I realize that."

For three years Peggy has been a star panelist on WOR's network program, "Juvenile Jury." On the program five experts from four to twelve years hear the problems of other children and suggest how to solve them.

Problems Are Comical

"What those five-year-olds come up with you wouldn't believe," said Pegy, a blue-eyed girl with long blonde curls.

"It gets to the point where the problems don't seem serious—only comical. And we try to make the audience laugh if we can think of a clever answer."

And that is the key to her temporarily forced retirement. For a child trying to be clever is rarely as funny as a child who is spontaneous. Or as Jack Barry, program moderator, put it:

"We depend for laughs and pace on the off-the-cuff answers of the kids. At 12 a child begins to get a little sophisticated."

Sunday Peggy will make her final broadcast. After that she has nothing to look forward to but adolescence, high school, college, an acting career, matrimony, motherhood and children, middle age, grandmotherhood, some more old age—and then the final curtain. That's all there is left when you're already 12.

Miss Bruder, who is a star student in the 8th grade, isn't too dismayed at the road ahead.

"Radio really has been wonderful to me," she said, just to prove she held no hard feelings because the show must now go on without her. "It's taught me to face an audience and to ad lib. I no longer have stage fright.

"Now I want to go on and be a dramatic actress. I love it, and I've been studying for it. I think I'd rather be in the movies—every girl looks forward to that. But right now I believe television is the right thing to be in."

If you use whole eggs in making custards it is best to strain the mixture into the custard cups before baking.

DULLES, LEHMAN SEEK SENATE JOB

Top New York Political Race Becomes A Slam-Bang Battle

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 — Everybody looked for a quiet, dignified debate between two high-minded men. But the New York race between Sen. John Foster Dulles, Republican, and Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, has turned into a slam-bang affair that stands with the best free-for-alls in campaign history.

At stake in this surprisingly bitter contest is the vacated seat of former Sen. Robert F. Wagner, who resigned last summer. Wagner's term had only a little more than a year to run, so whoever wins on Nov. 8 may serve only until November, 1950. Then the post goes on the election block again. Dulles now holds office through temporary appointment from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Test For Parties

Naturally, the political leaders of both parties will be riveting their attention on the results of the Dulles-Lehman race. It is the first big test of public sentiment in an important state since the 1948 presidential battle. Each side will be watching for signs of a waxing or waning of its fortunes.

This is certainly the main event in 1949 elections. But what about the two contestants who fooled the experts by making it a bare-fisted fight?

Dulles, for one, doesn't look the part of the hard-driving campaigner. At 61 he has the cool, detached air of the professional man—which is what he is. On the platform he unfolds his argument calmly and confidently, hands in his pockets. No gestures, none of the standard props of political oratory. He tries to nail down his points with dates and names and figures. His long experience as a corporation lawyer shows through plainly.

His physical appearance reinforces the impression of detachment. His smooth gray hair, high forehead, metal-rimmed glasses and straight nose all fit into a portrait of a sort of kindly adviser who is nevertheless thoroughly capable of wielding stern authority.

Ridiculed By Reds

This is the man the Russians have caricatured as an ape and have carried aloft in effigy as part of a May Day parade float in Moscow. He's the one Russian Foreign Minister Vishinsky said should be "thrown in chains."

Dulles seems proud of the hate he has engendered in Moscow. He accepts it as a compliment to his toughness as an American negotiator in many post-war international conferences, and to the efficiency with which he has called attention in many articles to the menace of Communism.

Dulles first came to public notice as Dewey's foreign affairs mentor. Since his grandfather took him to a European peace conference in 1907, he has had an unflagging interest in foreign policy. Two Democratic presidents recognized his stature in the field by making him a consultant at vital post-war conferences. For four years he served as a U. S. delegate to the United Nations Assembly.

Head Of UNRRA

While his admitted rank as a foreign affairs expert is Dulles' outstanding mark, his rival, Lehman, is not without qualifications in that same field. A convinced internationalist, the one-time New York governor spent four critical years as boss of UNRRA, the first international relief agency born of World War II.

Still, Lehman is probably best known on the American scene as a state administrator. He was New York's governor from 1933 to 1942. He was an executive in the New Deal traditions, emphasizing social welfare programs and farmer and labor interests. His financial expertness was acknowledged when he wiped out a $100,000,000 state deficit and left a surplus of $80,000,000.

But, oddly, Lehman undertook much of this duty reluctantly. In 1936, after two straight two-year terms, he tried to beg off but finally agreed to run again. In 1938 he wanted to try for the Senate, but Dewey convinced him that he should stand for a fourth term as governor.

Appointed Dewey

Lehman had been a factor in Dewey's political rise, having named him special rackets prosecutor. When Dewey, as GOP nominee for governor, called Lehman the "unwitting tool" of criminal elements, Lehman picked up the challenge fast.

In those days his friends called him "silent dynamite," for he was a quiet but determined operator. Today, he is a rugged 71, stockily-built, bronzed, vigorous in speech and manner. Only a fringe of white hair around a big bald spot gives a hint of his age.

These are the men who began a campaign on Sept. 15 that was expected to be almost scholarly in tone. But then Dulles uttered the word "Communist," and the contest dropped from its lofty plane and became a hard-swinging match.

Dulles, who has delivered almost 100 speeches to a bare half dozen for Lehman, charged that his opponent had the Communists in his corner. He said Lehman didn't fight them hard enough to drive them out of his camp.

Bitterness Mounts

The doughty Lehman snapped that this was a ludicrous charge, a "phantom" issue. He said he'd originally welcomed Dulles to the political arena because he anticipated a 'fair and intelligent" debate. But he found, he said, that the GOP nominee was resorting to the "well-known Republican tactic of the Communist smear."

Bitterness mounted as Dulles pounded the Communist theme. His press representatives indicated to reporters that Democrats were snatching material from Dulles' headquarters. Irritated at Lehman's blunt denials of his charges, Dulles sent a messenger to Lehman's home with a copy of a speech forcefully repeating the accusations of Communist support. Lehman bounced back with charges of "bigotry" and "class prejudice."

Somewhere amid all this furor it could be noted that Dulles was against the Truman Fair Deal and the "welfare state," while Lehman was for it. But it looked as if the heavy trading of punches over Communism would keep the calmer issues in the background right down to the wire on Nov. 8.

Woman Who Had Divorce Set Aside After Husband's Death Will Face Questioning

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29 (AP)—Last April Judge Samuel H. Silbert set aside a divorce he had granted to Mrs. Helen McGarry, 26, after she said she had a "change of heart."

Now Judge Silbert finds the divorce was vacated after the Cleveland woman's husband, Patrick J. McGarry, had died.

This was discovered by an industrial commission claims inspector after Mrs. McGarry filed a claim.

Claim Turned Down

John J. Steel, district claims board secretary, said the claim was turned down yesterday. He added that Mrs. McGarry stood to benefit by as much as $7,500 had it been accepted.

Judge Silbert said he would have refused to set aside the divorce if he had known McGarry was dead. He declared he would summon Mrs. McGarry, her attorney, Wilbur A. Steuer, and the witnesses who testified for her.

Steuer said he thought the court knew McGarry was dead. He asserted Mrs. McGarry would have got only a "small amount" from the claim to help pay medical bills. There was "no motive to do anything wrong," he insisted.

The McGarrys were married about a year and were divorced late in 1948. The hearing to vacate was held in April, four months after the divorce was granted. McGarry fell to his death from a crane March 18.

The judge said Mrs. McGarry is McGarry's legal widow now because a "now and then" entry restored them to marriage as of the divorce hearing date last December.

FLOOR SPACE CHIEF PROBLEM FOR FAMILIES WITH CHILDREN

Families Of RAFB Personnel Solving Housing Problem With Trailer Court

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Bringing their homes along with them to Lubbock, 65 families solved their housing problems through advance planning and hard work.

They rolled their trailers into Lubbock Air Force base, which since has been named Reese Air Force base, and then went to work to solve the problems of a municipality in which approximately 130 adults and about that many children live.

The residents have furnished all labor and all money involved in setting up their trailer court, which is made up of 65 trailers ranging from 15 to 30 feet in length and purchased by the families at costs ranging from approximately $650 to $4,700.

Men Dig Ditches

The men dug ditches for drainage pipes. The women, concerned lest the children fall into the ditches, are helping to put the dirt back into them. Water has been piped to most of the trailers. Electrical connections will be installed as soon as transformers are received and all dues for the pur pose have been collected.

One of the few military installations in the nation in which a trailer court has been established, the court is considered a product of the housing shortage. Corporals, sergeants, lieutenants, a captain and a colonel and their families live in trailers.

A few of the families had lived in trailers before, but most of them purchased trailers before they left Shreveport so they would have a place to live.

Establishment of such a trailer court at Barksdale field had been proposed but had not been put into effect when men began transferring from there to the Lubbock base. Information has been received here than a trailer court is in use at the air base at Enid, Okla.

Worry Is Eliminated

"It is a relief to pull this trailer along behind and not have to find a place to live," said Mrs. W. B. Fanyo, wife of a captain. She and her husband bought their trailer four days before they left Shreveport, choosing one with living room, bedroom, bath and kitchen with the idea they might live in it 10 to 15 years. The trailer has a linen closet in the bathroom, two closets in the hall, a closet in the bedroom, and contains additional storage space in places frequently wasted. The head of the bed is a clothes hamper, with hinged top, the vanity stool serves the double purpose of stool and storage cabinet, and the space beneath the bed is a storage cabinet.

"I have more storage space than I've ever had," said Mrs. Fanyo, who added, however, that floor space is limited.

Mrs. J. W. Garrison, wife of a technical sergeant, said she remained in Shreveport two months after her husband came here. They then sold their home there and bought a trailer and she and their two sons joined T-Sgt. Garrison. "I can go with my husband now," Mrs. Garrison. She said her children like the arrangement because "they have more children to play with than they did at our home in Shreveport.

Space Is Problem

Mrs. H. B. Brooks, wife of a first lieutenant, said "We like it fine. We lived in a trailer before we had children. We never thought we could do it with children, but here we are." One reason Mrs. Brooks likes it is that her husband "can come home for lunch." Lieutenant and Mrs. Brooks have two children.

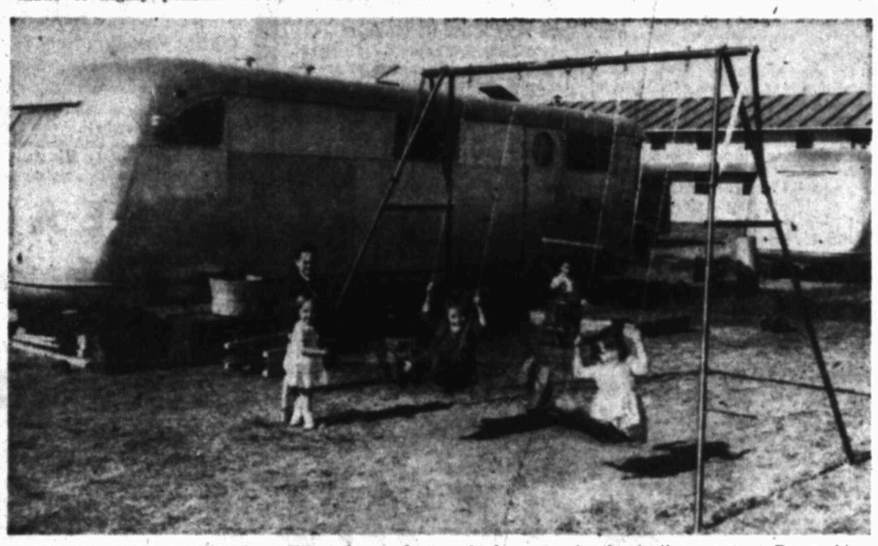

There are some disadvantages. Shortage of space is one. Another is delay in obtaining electricity and water and having to arrange for customary facilities which would be available immediately if they were moving into a home within city limits. Less than half of the trailers have bathrooms, and use of a nearby BOQ has been obtained.

Mrs. Fanyo's opinion is that, "The advantages outweight the disadvantages."

Capt. J. N. Jones, inspector-general, and his wife and three children have lived in a trailer temporarily. They find a trailer to be cramped quarters for a family of five and they plan to move into Lubbock. Also a factor contributing to their move is the problem in making transportation arrangements for their children to come to Lubbock schools.

LIKES TRAILER HOME—Mrs. W. B. Fanyo, pictured above in the living room of her trailer home at Reese Air Force base, finds the advantages in living in a trailer outweigh the disadvantages. She and her husband, a captain, bought a four-room trailer shortly before leaving Shreveport. They found it a relief to pull their home along behind them. The living room walls and ceiling are made of highly polished wood. (Staff Photo).

PLENTY OF PLAYMATES—Children have plenty of playmates in the trailer court at Reese Air Force base, since more than 100 children live in the court. T-Sgt. J. W. Garrison made the swing. When the photograph was made, Leslie Carol Brooks, 3, was swinging at right, and Frances Lowell, 5, was in the swing at left, while 2-year-old Rae Edith Brooks and 4-year-old Jackie Garrison, at left, and 2-year-old Tommy Garrison, in background, stood nearby. (Staff Photo).

The council elected by residents of the trailer court is made up of T-Sgt. Ernest M. Beach, T-Sgt. Lee C. Burton, Sgt. Thomas J. O'Rourke and M-Sgt. Edmond T. Pinckney. The council acts for residents in some cases. All adults of the communuity meet to make some decision. Sergeant O'Rourke sometimes is called the "trouble-shooter," assisting residents in various problems.

Residents paid dues of $30 per family to have water and drainage facilities connected to their trailers. They are paying $15 per family for electricity connections.

Their only regular expense thus far $2 per family each month for caretakers—a couple living in the court. The caretakers help keep the BOQ clean.

One resident said few complaints are heard. Although some consider the arrangement a temporary one, they are "making the best of it" while it solves a housing problem for them.

Although living in cramped quarters with children may be a problem for some, those with children are among the members of the group most relieved because they do not have to grapple with the housing problem.

The future plan for the trailer court calls for uniforms white fences, walk-ways, drying yards to do away with clothes lines throughout the court, several roads, street names and trailer numbers.

THE QUESTION
What is your favorite Biblical verse, and why?

THE ANSWERS

MONA McGRAW, Midland, Tech student: "The hundredth psalm is my favorite: 'I will lift mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help; my help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth.' I feel that this psalm has been a comfort and help to me many times."

MRS. CECIL R. MATTHEWS, 2301 Tenth, housewife: "'In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths', is a proverb that means a lot to me. At the heart of Christian faith, as far as I'm concerned, is the realization of the presence of God in personal living."

MRS. E. B. SPECK, 404 Fourth, visiting teacher for Lubbock Public schools: "John 3:16 is my favorite: 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth on Him shall not perish, but have everlasting life.. I like it because it gives the entire Gospel in so few words."

GENE MATTHEWS, Methodist Student Center, Tech student: "My favorite one is the 13th verse of the First Corinthians: 'Though I speak with the tongue of men, and of angels and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.' I like this one because it fits my code of ethics."

MILES RUTHERFORD, Levelland, Tech student: "'. . . 'But whatsoever a man soweth, so shall he reap', is a part of my favorite verse. I like it, because I think that it is a good verse to live by."

CARL ANTHONY, Lamesa, Tech student: "The one I've always liked best is the Golden Rule: 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.' I think everyone ought to try and live by it."

Man Invents "Golfing Gun" To Increase Distance Of "Drives"

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 29. (U.P.)—Henry N. Marsh is playing higher caliber golf these days. Thirty-eight caliber, that is.

Using his newly-designed "golfing gun," made from a .38 caliber pistol, Marsh now is able to "drive" a golf ball a lot farther than usual.

Marsh built the novel gun by cutting a pistol barrel down to three inches and inserting some brass tubing just large enough to hold a golf ball. With a little cardboard wadding behind the ball, it goes a long way when a blank cartridge is discharged.

The "golf-gun" drives are good for about 250 yards, or more.

Pork Lovers Defend Pigs Against Insult

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Pork lovers are quoting results of North Carolina State College tests to prove their contention that the swine is about the cleanest, smartest, most respectable animal on the farm.

Compared to the chimpanzee, brightest of the ape family, the porker was a whiz at IQ tests, according to his champions. He learned to match dogs in hunting, it is said, and only frustrated vanity and common sense drove him to the hog wallow.

Pigs have no sweat glands, it was explained, and the only way for them to cool off is to plunge into the wallow. No other means of cleanliness is provided.

Snide reference to a "hoggish appetite," or to the animal's habit of rooting in the soil draw instant defense from the pigs' friends. Can the hog help it if nature endowed him with one of the fastest growing bodies in the animal world? And it takes food to grow, they say.

As for rooting, the experts describe it as a good, clean habit and an economical way of getting essential minerals.

If Junior wants a pet, try a pig, according to these enthusiasts. They argue a porker makes a devoted pet, can be housebroken easily, and has one of the best constitutions for testing baby foods.

Tests Are Underway In Central Gaines

Mid-Continent Petroleum company No. 1 L. R. Nichols, Central-West Gaines county wildcat, 23 miles west of Seminole, was making new hole past 6,531 feet in lime.

It was originally started out to go to 8,000 feet to test the lower Permian, but it is understood that if it reaches that point and fails to find any production, it will be carried on down to 12,000 feet to explore Devonian.

The prospector is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block A-10, psl survey.

A deep wildcat in the North Riley field of West Central Gaines county, the Los Nietos company and Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 2-B Doss, was drilling ahead past 10,047 feet in lime. It is scheduled to go to 11,000 feet to test the Devonian.

The drillsite is 660 feet from west and 760 feet from south lines of the southeast quarter of section 360, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

The Union Oil company has acquired all properties of The Los Nietos company and the No. 2-B Doss will be carried in the future as Union and Honolulu.

Forest Oil corporation and Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1-A Parmer, wildcat to 15,000 feet in Southeast Gaines county, 15 miles southeast of Seminole, was boring ahead in lime past 11,613 feet.

The deep venture is 860 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of labor 12, league 317, Parmer county school lands survey.

Well Below 5,953 Feet

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 H. T. Wolfe, one-mile outpost to the Flanagan Clear Fork field of Central-South Gaines county, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 7, block A-23, psl survey, was drilling below 5,953 feet in lime.

It is scheduled to drill to 7,300 feet.

The same company's No. 1 Williamson, a west outpost to the Flanagan field, was continuing to make hole past 4,610 feet in lime.

No. 1 Williamson is projected to 8,500 feet.

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of the south 80 acres in section 12, block A-23 psl survey.

Shell Oil company No. 1 Selma Andrews, outpost to the Flanagan field, has been plugged back to 7,229 feet in the Clear Fork to try to complete as a producer.

Casing Is Cemented

Operator was swabbing on perforations at 7,150-7,224 feet. The five and one-half inch casing is cemented at 7,290 feet.

The project was shutin for 22 hours. It was then opened and flowed 13 barrels of fluid in two hours. The fluid was cut with one-tenths per cent water. The flow then died.

Operator then swabbed on perforations and on last report had swabbed 185 barels of fluid in 18 hours, averaging 12 barrels of fluid per hour. The fluid was cut with 11 per cent water and 16 per cent basic sediment.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 2, block A-23, psl survey.

Samedan Oil corporation and Anderson Brothers No. 1-E-A Andrews, wildcat 15 miles southwest of Seminole, and 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block 2-24, psl survey, was at total depth of 10,910 feet and was conditioning the hole to try another drillstem test.

Humble Plans Deep Test In New Mexico

HOBBS, N. M., Oct. 29—Humble Oil & Refining company is to start operations at once at a scheduled 11,000-foot wildcat in central-northwest Eddy county.

The venture is to be Humble No. 1 Federal-Hobbs. It will be 660 feet from south and east lines of section 24-20s-24e. That will make it approximately 20 miles southwest of Artesia.

The projected depth of 11,000 feet should take the exploration to the granite and provide a test of all formations above it.

Humble No. 1 Federal-Wiggs, slated 13,000-foot wildcat in south-central Eddy county, 16 miles south of Carlsbad and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 31-24s-27e, had reached 12,-107 feet in an unidentified black shale, and was making more hole.

This exploration has shown considerable gas and slight amounts of oil in drillstem tests in the lower Permian between 9,881 feet and 10,382 feet. No other shows of possible production have been logged since the hole was drilled below 10,382 feet.

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1-BTC State has shown for a three-quarter of a mile north and one-quarter of a mile west extension for production from the Devonian on the north side of the Bagley-Hightower field in northwest Lea county, and operator is now preparing to run production tests and complete the well.

Yokum Wells Near San Andres

Two wildcats in East Yoakum county are fastly approaching the section in the San Andres zone of the Permian where they expect to find petroleum.

Girl Scout Week To Begin Today

The Lubbock chapter of the girl Scouts will participate in a varied program of activities this week in observance of Girl Scout week which begins today.

Every year Girl Scouts all over the world celebrate the birthday of their founder, Juliette Gordon Low, by devoting a week to showing and telling their community what Girl Scouting is all about.

Members Total 1,650

The Lubbock Girl Scout association, which was founded in 1930, has a registered membership of 1650 Girl Scouts with 450 registered adults working with the association as leaders, co-leaders, troop committee members, board members, standing committee members and associate members.

There are 200 Lubbock girls on the membership waiting list because of lack of adult leaders. Miss Madeleine McDonald, executive director of the local association, asks that all women interested in Girl Scout work contact her at the Girl Scout Little House, 2600 Avenue P, telephone 2-1391.

Today Go-To-Church Day

Girl Scout week consists of seven service days, each devoted to a major interest or activity of Girl Scouting. Today has been designated as Go-To-Church-Day. All girls have been urged to attend the church of their choice and, if possible, sit together as a group. Troop 31 will attend the services of the First Christian Church in a body and at 2:00 p. m. will present a play entitled "Susan Meets With Glamor" over radio station KFYO.

Monday is Homemaking Day; Tuesday, Citizenship Day; Wednesday, Health and Safety Day; Thursday, International Friendship Day; Friday, Arts and Crafts Day; and Saturday, Out-of-Doors Day.

Goal All-Round Development

Girl Scouting has as its fundamental aim the development of girls along physical, mental, emotional, moral and spiritual lines to the end that there may result not only personally enriched individuals, but also intelligently participating citizens in a democratic social order.

A Girl Scout troop is different from other clubs in that every member makes the Girl Scout promise, puts into practice the Girl Scout laws, chooses her good times from among the Girl Scout activities, belongs to a national and international organization and wears the trefoil pin.

Girl Scouting in the United States is for girls between the ages of 7 and 18 years. Brownie Scouts are the youngest ones, between 7 and 10; Intermediate Girl Scouts are the middle ones, between 10 and fourteen; and Senior Girl Scouts are the oldest and are in high school or between 14 and 18 years of age.

The Lubbock Girl Scout Association is an agency of the Community Chest.

Congress Refuses To Appropriate Money To Set Up Civilian Government On Guam

By CLARKE BEACH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—Giving little Guam a civilian government isn't proving so easy as the administration apparently had hoped.

President Truman, by executive order, directed recently that control of the Western Pacific island be transferred from the Navy to the Interior Department July 1, 1950. He appointed a civilian governor, Carlton Skinner, to replace the retiring naval commander, Rear Adm. Charles A. Pownall.

Then Interior Secretary Krug asked Congress for $715,000 to hire civilians to replace Navy and Marine Corps personnel and in other ways to create a civilian establishment which would be ready to operate when the Navy withdraws.

But the House Appropriations Committee turned down the request for funds. And when the Senate Appropriations Committee received the request Chairman McKellar (D.-Tenn.) and several other members firmly opposed providing the money at this time.

The legislators' main objection was that Congress should first act on pending "organic" legislation for the island, defining its citizens' rights and duties and authorizing a civilian government.

Made Visit In 1947

If the money isn't provided the new governor will just have to get along with the Navy funds now available and a completely civilian government will have to be put off until Congress acts. Skinner himself will technically be a Navy employe until July 1. He is now director of information (public relations) of the Interior Department and special assistant to Secretary Krug.

Some senators and congressmen remarked that they thought they'd better take a trip out to Guam before they decide anything. A group of legislators did visit the island in 1947, accompanying Secretary Krug on a tour. It was then that Krug urged that Guam be given a civilian form of government.

No one has questioned the President's right to effect the transfer through executive order. It was by executive order that President McKinley in 1898 set up the government of Guam under Navy control.

The Navy is perfectly willing to relinquish its authority on Guam providing nothing is done to interfere with the building and operation of its bases there. The Navy and Interior Departments worked jointly on a draft of proposed legislation which would set up a civilian government by congressional action.

Military Control Embarrassing

The administration's haste in preparing for the shift of control in July can be explained on diplomatic grounds. Little Guam has become a source of embarrassment to U. S. representatives in the United Nations and other international bodies. American delegates talk against other countries' exercising military control of subject peoples, yet the U. S. has persisted in keeping the 26,223 natives of Guam under the command of naval officers.

America promised 51 years ago in the Treaty of Paris, which ended the war with Spain, to define the civil rights of Guamanians. This it has never done. Their rights now are whatever the military governor of administration in Washington says they are.

And America contracted in the United Nations Charter (Chapter XI, Article 73):

"To develop self government, to take due account of the political aspirations of the peoples, and to assist them in the progressive development of their free political institutions, according to the particular circumstances of each territory and its peoples and their varying stages of advancement."

President Truman also is strongly committed to his civil rights program. That means civil rights for Americans everywhere, whether on the continent or in island possessions.

Rubber Production For 1949 In Brazil May Hit New Low

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Production of natural rubber for the first six months of this year ran about 1,856 tons. It may not go over 4,000 for the entire year.

Official figures bounce up and down violently. A total of 4,000 would be just about a record low. Last year it was 5,446 tons, after a dizzy dive from 14,510 in 1947. Record high in 22 years came in 1944 with 21,192. In 1905 rubber was second only to coffee as Brazil's leading export product.

The United States and, a long stretch behind, England, France and Germany, are the main buyers of this year's crop.

Aircraft Union May Set Date For Strike

DALLAS, Oct. 29 (U.P.)—Chance Vought aircraft workers may fix a strike date at a special meeting at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

The CIO United Automobile workers union executive board in Cleveland has approved the local's action in voting a strike.

The international UAW board's approval was necessary before union members could leave their jobs. The union claims some 4,100 members at the sprawling plant at Grand Prairie, near Dallas.

The dispute hinges around wages. No statement has come from Chance Vought, a firm which makes aircraft for the navy, since the dispute began.

The company has offered hourly wage increases of four to six cents an hour, which the union has rejected. Other demands include pensions and insurance, changes in the merit promotion system, and arbitration and grievance plans.

Sunday's meeting will be held at the Grand Prairie union hall.

The union has expressed a willingness to meet with management to discuss a new contract. Edwin W. Flumey of the federal mediation and conciliation service has met several times in separate meetings with union and management.

PANAMA SORRY

Panama businessmen were discouraged by reports that 7,000 U. S. servicemen and civilians would be transferred from the Canal Zone because of defense base personnel cuts.

Crooner Dick Haymes And Wife Say They Are Expecting Baby

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (AP) — Nurseary plans figure strongly in the Dick Haymes-Nora Eddington Flynn household.

They are expecting a baby, although "the date is a good way off," Nora admitted to friends yesterday. The singer and Errol Flynn's ex-wife were married last July.

Both have children by previous marriages — three for Dick by Joanne Dru and two for Nora by Flynn.

SECOND SUICIDE

When Luigi Glafate, 28-year-old language teacher, leaped 150 feet to his death from inside the dome of St. Peter's, in the Vatican, Rome, it was the second suicide from the same spot in six months.

MADE THEM ALL WORK

The historian Herodotus recorded that the Egyptian king Cheops made all the Egyptians labor on his Great Pyramid, working in relays of 100,000 men every three months, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Vice Admiral Berkey Arrives In Korea On Good Will Tour

SEOUL, Oct. 29 (AP)—Vice Adm. R. S. Berkey, commander of the Seventh Task fleet, arrived today at the nearby port of Inchon on the cruiser St. Paul for a good will visit to Korea.

The destroyers Fechteler and Arnold J. Isbell, accompanying Berkey, will arrive tomorrow. They turned back en route to Korea to answer a distress call from a Chinese ship. They reported later they were unable to find the vessel and were proceeding to Inchon.

BIBLE STORIES FROM "IN OUR IMAGE"

"Noah And The Ark"

GOD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. And the Lord said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping things, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them. But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord. . . . And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them.

Make thee an ark of gopher wood; And behold, I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, and every thing that is in the earth shall die. But with thee will establish my covenant; and thou shalt come into the ark, thou, and thy sons, and thy wife, and thy sons' wives with thee. And of every living thing of all flesh, two of every sort shalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee; they shall be male and female.

And Noah went in, and his sons, and his wife, and his sons' wives with him, into the ark, because of the waters of the flood. Of every thing upon the earth, there went in two and two unto Noah into the ark, the male and the female, as God had commanded Noah. And it came to pass after seven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

And the flood was forty days upon the earth; and the waters increased, and bare up the ark, and it was lift up above the earth. Fifteen cubits upward did the waters prevail; and the mountains were covered. And all flesh died that moved upon the earth; all in whose nostrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry land, died. And Noah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the ark. And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days. And the ark rested in the seventh month, upon the mountains of Ararat. And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month: in the tenth month, on the first day of the month, were the tops of the mountains seen.

And it came to pass at the end of forty days, that Noah opened the window of the ark and he sent forth a raven, which went forth to and fro, until the waters were dried up from off the earth. Also he sent forth a dove from him, to see if the waters were abated from off the face of the ground; but the dove found no rest for the sole of her foot, and she returned unto him into the ark, for the waters were on the face of the whole earth; And he stayed yet other seven days; and again he sent forth the dove out of the ark; and the dove came in to him in the evening; and, lo, in her mouth was an olive leaf pluckt off: so Noah knew that the waters were abated from off the earth. And he stayed yet other seven days; and sent forth the dove; which returned not again unto him any more.

And God spake unto Noah, saying, Go forth of the ark, thou, and thy wife, and thy sons, and thy sons' wives with thee. Bring forth with thee every living thing that is with thee, of all flesh, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth; that they may breed abundantly in the earth, and be fruitful and multiply upon the earth. And Noah went forth.

And Noah builded an altar unto the Lord, and offered burnt offerings on the altar. And the Lord said in his heart, I will not again smite any more everything living, as I have done. While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease.

And God spake unto Noah, and to his sons with him, saying, And I, behold, I establish my covenant with you, and with your seed after you. This is the token of the covenant which I make between me and you and every living creature that is with you, for perpetual generations: I do set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be for a token of a covenant between me and the earth. And it shall come to pass, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the bow shall be seen in the cloud; and I will look upon it, that I may remember the everlasting covenant between God and every living creature of all flesh that is upon the earth.

Polio Sufferers Transcribing Stories Into Braille For Blind

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 29. (U.P.)—Seven young people, stricken with polio, used long, lonely hours of recuperation to help those they felt were worse off than themselves.

Organized with the help of a blind service group, they meet weekly to transcribe popular magazine articles and stories into Braille for the sightless. Neighbors with cars help out by taking them to the meetings. An expert instructs them in Braille.

Some of the seven have had to return to hospitals for further treatment. But so far, several have won certificates for proficiency in Braille, and the others are nearing that goal.

Rev. Burgin Watkins Leads Church In Building Program

Rev. Burgin Watkins, first pastor of Forrest Heights Methodist church, and his congregation currently are formulating plans for launching a church financial drive to raise funds for construction of the new church building at Thirty-third and Monroe Ave.

As pastor of the newest Methodist church in Lubbock, Mr. Watkins has guided his congregation through months of planning for a church structure to fit the needs of the church membership and of the community in which it is to be built. And, since the plans for the church edifice were accepted by the congregation at a church banquet this past week, a fund-raising campaign will be the next step.

Longtime Resident Of Area

Mr. Watkins came to Lubbock as pastor of the Forrest Heights church this past May, even before the church itself was officially organized. He came from the Humphrey Street Methodist church in Nashville, Tenn., where he had served as pastor while attending Vanderbilt university.

Mr. Watkins has lived in the Panhandle-South Plains area most of his life. His father, Rev. R. S. Watkins, pastor of the First Methodist church of Spearman, has served as pastor of numerous Methodist churches in this area.

The local minister served in the Army almost four years. He completed his undergraduate work at

Woman Seeking Miami Pension Fairyland For Old Musicians

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
INS Staff Correspondent

MIAMI, Oct. 29.—Hundreds of aging musicians may be living in a tropical fairyland instead of dying as paupers if Bertha Foster gets some cash to back her "dreams."

She intends, by next year, to buy a "musicians' club" near the ocean in Miami where forgotten artists can seek haven and harmony on $20-a-month pensions.

White-haired Miss Foster, founder of the Miami conservatory of music and dean-emeritus of University of Miami's music school, is positive she'll see it through by Christmas.

"I'm an old plug-horse," she said today. "And when an old plughorse sets out to do something, it usually gets done."

Pioneered Music School

The tireless "plug-horse"—who looks like the gentlest of ladies—has been setting goals almost as ambitious as the "musicians' club" all her life. And wining them.

She has pioneered a music school, rebuilt it single-handed when a 1926 hurricane demolished the last pianao, and tought almost-impossible students to play the organ.

"But never," she insisted, "have I put more time, effort or heart into a project than this one. I have picked out a site, drawn up ylans for its operation, got together designs for a clubhouse, cottages and other structures.

"Now all I need is the money—but I'm not letting that worry me."

Miss Foster's plan started many years ago with what she calls a "gradually building-up dream."

Old Musicians Helpless

"I've associated with older people all my life," she recalls, "and even when I was young, I thought that old age should be more beautiful than it is. Especially for musicians, who are the least worldly people on earth. They don't even get earthy old social security.

"I think that musicians, next to ministers, offer more comfort and solace than any other human beings. Yet, whe ntheir talent is spent, no solace comes back. A musician is completely helpless in old age."

This philosophy—and dozens of others which Miss Foster is too busy and too vital to look back on—grows out of a lifetime of hobnobbing with music and its makers.

She grew up in St. Paul, Minn., where at age four, she wrote a "nasty—but perfect in form" song about her sister, with whom she had quarreled.

Skipped Four Grades

At age seven, the superintendent of music saw her natural musical bent and skipped her four grades in public school music.

Miss Foster said, "after that happened, you couldn't hold me down. I just swished my little tail back and forth from second grade grammar to sixth grade music with such awful pride.

"But that pride turned into confidence, and I've never feared for my own ability since."

After grade school days, she studied organ in Cincinnati and London, became a professor at Florida State College for Women, founded and directed the school of musical art in Jacksonville and in 1921, came to Miami.

Here, she made her name nationally famous by establishing the Miami conservatory, re-vitalizing the university's school of music, and becoming the veteran organist and choirmaster for Miami and Miami Beach churches.

Though she admits she's at the "technical retiring age," Miss Foster laughs openly at the thought of retiring now, or even when her musicians' club is a going concern.

"I feel fine," she said, "because the only real talent I have is the talent for keeping going. The time will come for me to sit back and crochet, but right now I don't feel the urge."

Miss Foster's present concern—"but not a worry"—is getting sufficient funds to complete her musicians' club.

"That," she says, shrugging her shoulders, "won't be hard. Music-lovers know that the makers of music must be taken care of and they'll help. Meantime, there are 220 musicians who have heard about it in this country and two in Vienna who want to apply for a place in the home. I've told them about it.

"I've told them 'it won't be long'."

Three Pretty South African Girls To Seek Non-Drinking Husbands In U. S.

LONDON, Oct. 29 (INS)—Three pretty South African mormon sweater girls arrived in London tonight and announced they were going to Salt Lake City to find non-smoking, non-drinking husbands.

The trio, who admitted their quest had proved unsuccessful in their homeland, are coming to the United States with their own diamond rings because "diamonds are much cheaper back home."

Here are what the girls say they want in a husband:

Joan Baker, 22, telephone operator:
"I want a clean-living man."

Anita Kehl, 21, a typist:
"I am looking for a devout man."

Joyce Kehl, 19, a salesgirl:
"I must have a man who is a teetotaler."

The trio then issued a joint communique:
"Our prospective husbands must not smoke pipes, cigarets, drink alcohol, coffee or tea because we don't.

"We are a bit different than other girls."

Body Of Denison Man Found Pinned Beneath Wrecked Car

DALLAS, Oct. 29 (AP)—The body of Robert Gerald Grantland, 30, of Denison was found today pinned beneath an automobile in shallow water near a Trinity river bridge.

Firemen said the man had been dead several days.

Highway workers made the discovery. The scene is 400 yards west of the bridge on U. S. 114.

Grantland had been working on the Grapevine Dam, between Dallas and Fort Worth. His family reported he had been missing since Wednesday night.

A high shoulder on the highway prevented the overturned car from being seen by passing motorists.

A HOLLYWOOD Column

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29.—There's a new romantic team at M-G-M that doesn't worry about rehearsing love scenes. Dick Powell and June Allyson agree:

"Who needs rehearsing?"

Dick and June met on a movie set and spent their honeymoon working at different studios. Now that they're old married folks, M-G-M has teamed them for a wacky romantic comedy, "The Reformer and the Redhead."

Johnson

Husband and wife seldom agree, so naturally I got two different versions of the plot. Said June:

"It's about a girl whose father runs a zoo."

Said Dick:

"It's about a man who runs for mayor."

Both right. It's just how you look at it.

But you don't have to look far to realize Dick and June are having fun working together. There was a big sign over June's dressing room. It read: "Star No. 1." There was a small sign over Dick's dressing room. It read: "Supporting Cast."

June was the culprit. Dick took it with a smile. After all, he's only a husband.

Hollywood Bit Actress Returns To California To Face Charges

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (INS) — Toni Hughes, 29-year-old Hollywood bit actress, waived extradition today and left for the Pacific coast to "clear her name" in connection with an alleged "party girl" extortion ring under investigation by Los Angeles police.

The buxom Toni was silent in general sessions as her attorney, William Shea, said she was "willing and anxious" to return to Los Angeles.

Later she boarded the Twentieth Century limited accompanied by H. L. Stanley, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Los Angeles district attorney's office, and Mrs. Stanley.

Toni was arrested on Oct. 12 after a Los Angeles grand jury returned secret indictments charging her and another girl with 20 counts of extortion, attempted extortion and conspiracy.

Charlie Spivak To Play Here Tuesday

Lubbock residents will have a chance Tuesday to hear "The Man Who Plays the Sweetest Trumpet in the World" when Charlie Spivak and his orchestra appear at the Cotton club here.

Spivak, who was once one of the greatest of the jazz trumpeters, now is placing more emphasis on soft and more danceable melodies.

The orchestra will be here for one night only, with tickets selling for $2.60 per person, including tax. Advance ticket sales are at C. A. Rodgers Piano company. Tickets also may be purchased at the door the night of the dance, which will begin at 9 p. m.

The special Spivak touch with the trumpet has enabled him to establish records at New York's Hotel Statler, the nation's top hotel dance spot, and the Paramount theater on Broadway, mecca for dance bands.

Spivak features his trumpet in practically every number, another guarantee of good listening in store for patrons. As one of the managers at a prominent hotel once said, "Spivak blows clear enough for all to hear, but people still can carry on a conversation."

At an international fur auction in Leningrad, Russia, 25,000 cat skins sold at $1.05 each.

New Type Wildcat Crosses Rio Grande Into South Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 29 (AP) — A wildcat of a species rarely found in the United States, the jaguarundi, has twice been seen recently on the hunting lease of Eagle Rock Ranch, near Wimberley, reports Jim Roddie, local ranchman and guide on the lease.

The range of the jaguarundi is from Paraguay in South America to South Texas. But it is seldom seen north of the Rio Grande, except right along the river. This is the first time it has ever been

Actress Gets Haircut In Movie Scene

Expert Make-Up Man Uses Wigs To Save Star's Hair

By OWEN CALLIN
INS Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29.—Any scalping done in the movies—even before your eyes—is not the handiwork of Indians, but Hollywood's masterful make-up men.

A "hair-raising" interview with actress Eleanor Parker proved that fact today.

There had been reports that the star had had al lher blonde tresses shaved off in her latest picture, "Caged," which has not yet been released.

Busy Combing Hair

When we visited her Warner brothers dressing room to look into the report, Eleanor was busy combing her hair.

"Hiya, baldy," the reporter greeted the actress, "so you got all your hair back."

"How long have you been around the movies, son?" she replied scornfully.

Then like a patient teacher with a slow student she explained how she had her tresses cut off before the cameras without losing a hair.

Eleanor's experiences in a women's prison form the background of the opus. In the picture, a matron grabs our lovely heroine and tosses her into a chair.

Then out comes a pair of clippers which she runs through those lovely blonde curls and down on the floor before your very eyes drop the tresses.

Miss Parker (when you see the film) will appear as bald as Mr. Stravinsky's bald mountain — which is a tribute to the artistry of one of Hollywood's cleverest artists—make-up man Perc Westmore.

Perc made two wigs identical with Miss Parker's normal hair dress and three other wigs. These were a practically bald head, one with the hair sprouting about an inch and the other with the hair three inches long.

Hair Is Oiled

After these were made, the hair-clipping was all set to be filmed.

When the matron was wielding the clippers she sheared off locks on the wig-on-top-of-a-skull-cap-on-top-of-her-normal-hair.

It took exactly three torturous hours in the hands of her make-up man to get that skin-tight skull cap on top of her thick tresses.

The normal blonde tresses on top of Eleanor's head had to be oiled and pressed flat against her skull so that there would be no abnormal bulges when the skull-cap and the shaved wig was placed on top of her head.

As the picture progressed and her "hair grew out," the progressive wigs made by Westmore were pressed into service.

ICC Okays Hike In Maximum Ocean-Rail Freight Rates

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) - The Interstate Commerce commission today authorized increases averaging 50 cents per 100 pounds on maximum ocean-rail freight rates between the Southwest and the Eastern seaboard.

The decision came after more than two years of argument involving the Maritime commission, port authorities of Boston and New York, three steamship lines and business groups in Philadelphia, New Orleans, Shreveport, La., Houston, Galveston, and Fort Worth.

The vote was 7 to 3 with one commissioner taking no part.

DALLAS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gibbs of Brownwood yesterday filed suit in federal court here to recover $51,079 in income taxes they paid under protest last year.

In January, 1948, the Bureau of Internal Revenue ordered the couple to pay $51,079 in taxes for 1944, 1945, and 1946 saying that "none of the daughters rendered a vital service to the partnership."

DEFENSE HEAD HAS FINAL POWER

Unification Act Described As Cause Of Armed Forces Strife

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 — The quarrel between the navy and the other armed services has its roots in the unification act.

Congress first passed that act in 1947 and then tightened and toughened it this year. It has this purpose:

To make the armed services work together better as a team, produce better planning, save money on purchasing equipment, and so on.

This is a brief explanation of how the act and the trouble grew:

Until 1947 the army and navy were completely independent of each other. The air force was part of the army.

Setup Is Explained

Each had two heads, military and civilian. This way: Army, chief of staff and secretary of the War department; navy, chief of naval operations and secretary of the navy department. In both cases the civilian heads were over the military chiefs.

Further, the two secretaries operated independently and each was a member of the President's cabinet. This meant they could go directly to the President with their problems or complaints against each other.

This set-up was changed by the unification act of 1947 and further change by the revised law passed this year. This is the set-up now:

The air force was separated from the army. Now there are three military agencies: The army, navy and air force departments.

Each has its own top military man: Army chief of staff, air force chief of staff, and chief of naval operations.

And each department has its own civilian secretary. But — power was taken from the secretaries. They no longer are members of the President's cabinet.

New Department Created

That's because Congress created something new:

1. A department of defense. The army, navy and air force departments are all parts of the department of defense.

2. A secretary of defense (Louis Johnson) to head up the whole show. He's a member of the President's cabinet. He's boss over the three civilian secretaries.

And — those three civilian secretaries cannot carry their complaints to the President, unless Johnson approves. And they can't go to the President over Johnson's head. So he's top man of all.

The only one who can overrule him on questions of the army, navy or air force is the President, who is commander-in-chief.

For example: Navy Secretary Francis B. Matthews may think Johnson is wrong in wanting to drop 50,000 navy men and officers from their jobs, and he may tell Johnson so. But if Johnson still says they're dropped, they're dropped.

Service Chiefs Meet

Something else was added by the unification act. That's a body called the joint chiefs of staff (JCS). It's made up of:

The army chief of staff (General J. Lawton Collins); the air force chief of staff (General Hoyt S. Vandenberg); and the chief of naval operations. This job was held by Admiral Louis B. Denfeld until President Truman fired him Thursday.

There's a fourth top man — in fact, the top military man of the country — in the JCS. He's the chairman (General Omar Bradley). His job is to act as moderator. He has no vote.

What final authority do the members of the JCS have? Suppose the army and navy chiefs think the navy strength should be cut down, although the navy chief disagrees. Is that 2 to 1 vote final and is the navy cut down?

No Final Action

No, says Secretary Johnson. He told Congress the JCS members have final say-so on nothing, that they can only recommend what should be done. He makes the final decision.

The admirals squirmed but were were unable to block decision after decision to cut down navy strength and ambition.

Before unification, it had been able, as an independent agency, to do its own planning, subject only to decisions by the President and Congress.

Finally, unable to do anything under the unification law to get what they wanted for the navy, the admirals finally protested by making their feelings public.

Physicians Being Sought For Thinly-Settled Parts Of Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 29 (AP) —Physicians are being sought for some of the sparsely settled parts of Utah. The Utah State Medical association reported recently there wasn't a single doctor in Rich county and hadn't been since during the war.

A doctor at Monticello was the only one in all of San Juan county —an area of 7,700 square miles. The association said his predecessor drove a car 41,000 miles to answer calls in the 10 months before he left. Residents of the area around Enterprise formed an association to offer certain financial guarantees to any physician who would take up practice there.

Woman Is Held In Mail Racket

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 29 (U.P.)—An attractive, middle-aged woman was held here today on federal charges of conducting a lonely hearts racket by mail with men in other parts of the country.

Hazel E. Thomas, 47, of Fairfield, Cal., was charged with obtaining money from men in five other states on promises of marriage, although she already was married.

Bond Is Set

U. S. Commissioner Adellia McCabe ordered her held under $1,000 bail after preliminary hearing. Postal Inspector George Rolfe told the commissioner that he was checking to see if more men were involved.

A complaint from Hugo Burkhardt of Notus, Ida., started the investigation, Rolfe said. Burkhardt complained that he gave Mrs. Thomas $275 and an engagement ring on her promise to marry him. He came to California and went to authorities when she put him off, Rolfe said.

Admits Writing Men

"He was mad because I didn't stay in a hotel with him," Mrs. Thomas said at the hearing. "No one put a gun on him to send me the money."

Assistant U. S. Attorney Harlan Thompson said Mrs. Thomas admitted writing to other men in Houston, Tex., Seattle, Wash., Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Monte Vista, Colo. He did not disclose their names.

Mrs. Thomas obtained the names of her alleged victims from Cupid's Destiny magazine, Thompson said.

Mrs. Thomas' husband indignantly denied he knew of her activities, federal officers said.

Santa Claus Given Raw Deal As City Hall Abandons Fireplaces

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 29 (AP) — The Lincoln city hall has finally given Santa Claus the cold shoulder. At one time there were 16 fireplaces in the venerable structure. One by one they were removed and the last of the 16 was taken out this fall.

In recent years they had served only as a place to hang stockings during employes' Christmas parties.

Getting Mink Coats Becoming Problem, Even For The Minks

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (U.P.)—Getting a good mink coat is a problem sometimes even for a mink, according to the American Veterinary Medical Association.

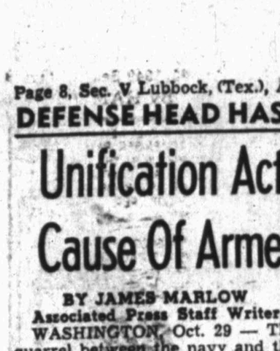

Mink ranchers and veterinarians have been reporting heavy losses from a mink disease called steatitis, the association said.

The disease causes normal tissues to be replaced by fat in various parts of the body. Many young mink die from the ailment, while survivors usually are left with inferior coats.

Parents Of Twins Form Club To Cut Down Expenses On Clothing

SUN VALLEY, Calif., Oct. 29 (AP) —The parents of five sets of year-old twins put their heads together and came up with a solution to the problem of how to keep their kids in clothes. Their answer: a cooperative.

The five sets of parents formed a twin club, and agreed to pass on to other mothers and fathers of double editions any clothes their children outgrew. In turn, they want parents of older twins to join the club and hand castoffs down to them.

Shivers' Tax Views Are Clouded; Split Over China Worries Diplomats

PEOPLE AT SEA

What Does He Mean?

THE MAJORITY of Texans probably will reserve judgment on the recent suggestion of Gov. Allan Shivers that an "omnibus" tax be levied to produce revenue desired for the State until they know more definitely just what he means.

Until Governor Shivers goes into more detail, his suggestion doesn't mean anything. There's nothing on which the thinking Texan could decide now whether he is for or against the idea.

An "omnibus" tax levy might take any of an infinite number of forms. Theoretically, it would be an all-purpose tax. The governor's statement that he is thinking of a levy with a "broad base" —meaning that it would hit everyone— arouses a certain curiosity as to whether he might have something of the nature of a sales tax, or a State income tax in mind. Either would have a "broad base" —with a sales tax by far the broader.

The suggestion will not have meaning unless and until Governor Shivers gets down to brass tacks and defines his ideas in a way that will tell Texans just who would be hit and how hard.

The people will be able to make up their minds intelligently as to whether the omnibus tax specificially proposed is good or bad. About the only thing that can be suggested now is that, when proposed, it should be studied thoroughly. Otherwise, Texans might discover that the shift to an omnibus system will be a disguised method of increasing the total State tax burden.

From the present perspective, the best course would seem to be to stick to the present system. It has its faults, without question. But when tax increases are proposed under that system, Texans at least know what is going on. That might be far more than they would know, or could detect, if the taxing system should be changed. Probably it will be just as well to leave things as they are rather than to take a chance with a new system designed by those who want more money from the taxpayers.

Time For Action

MEMBERS of the City commission declared at their regular meeting last week that they intend to hasten their efforts to open Nineteenth street eastward from its present dead end at Texas avenue. That is what they should do. The dead end forms one of the worst of the City's many serious traffic bottlenecks.

The improvement almost certainly will be expensive. Lowest estimates of the cost of obtaining rights-of-way for the opening exceed $100,000.

Fifteen years ago the job could have been done for less than $10,000. Twenty years ago the City was urged to buy, for $2,500, property which now has an appraised value of $47,000. In comparison with these figures, $100,000-plus seems high.

But, if Lubbock continues to grow, $100,000 might look like small change. Based on experience, the longer the City waits, the higher the price for the needed property is likely to be.

Penny-wiseness of some of the commissions of the past has raised the cost to the City many, many dollars. The logical supposition is that further delays merely would add to the cost of a traffice improvement Lubbock needs with an urgency which increases day by day.

Proper Action

SOUTHERN Methodist university may have sacrificed a quick $5,000,000, but it gained a great deal more if, as reported, the Dallas school refused an endowment of that amount on condition that Jewish students be barred from enrolling.

We do not believe that SMU or any other school worthy of respect ever would, or ever will, dignify an offer like the one reported by discussion before rejecting it.

It is the sort of thing which should be slapped down the instant of its submission—and we don't believe any schools anywhere could, or would, slap down such a proposal more quickly or emphatically than the colleges and universities in Texas.

If there is such a school, it will be wise to keep its identity secret. It assuredly would not last long if it became known that it might consider for an instant the sale of its self-respect at any price.

LIKE SMALL-TOWN FAMILY CHRONICLE

Sholem Asch Tells Story Of Mary In Earnest Novel

"MARY," by Sholem Asch, translated by Leon Steinberg; (Putnam's).

Mary, or Miriam, daughter of Hannah, who was the widow of Hannan, of the exalted House of David, was a young maiden in Nazareth when Joseph, whose father Jacob had fled from Nazareth to the hills of Judah to escape Herod's exactions, comes to the little town to seek a bride.

She spends her days tending to the sheep, working in the house or garden, going to the well for water, and in the evening she listens to her mother's stories from the Scriptures. She has heard, as has every other Jew, that out of her ancient house there will spring, from a virgin, the Messiah who will right the wrongs suffered by her race. And more fortunate than many other maidens she has gone to Jerusalem to labor in the Temple, where she has dreamed ecstatically that she may be the chosen mother.

Summoned Mysteriously

After she is affianced to Joseph, she is summoned mysteriously to her humble chamber and there an angel, appearing in an unearthly light, announces that, though "she knows not her husband," she shall "conceive and bring forth a son and you shall call his name Yeshua." When the women of the village learn of her condition, though without willingly comprehending that it is her destiny, their scandalous charges result in an investigation in which Joseph defends her good name. But his own uncertainties are resolved only when a seraph appears to him, too.

Asch develops the holy story simply and with affecting realism, as if he were writing a small-town family chronicle. We see Jeshua's brothers, uncle Cleophas and aunt Mariam, the tanner Taddi, Reb Hanina of the House of Pinhas, and a host of others, against a political background of Herod, Pilate, priests and Roman soldiery; and he winds it up on Golgotha.

A story about Mary could hardly help being a story about Jesus, as well as about the mother's great trials, her love, her suffering and the ultimate tragedy. The Biblical miracles are related imaginatively. You'll find the account interesting, and conveyed in a nearnest spirit, but not perhaps inspiriting.

"The Primitive"

"The Primitive," by Fethems: (Doubleday).

THURS WRALDSON, six and a half feet tall, or "just too gadding big," as a friend claims and as Thurs himself realizes only too well, starts out in this novel to grow an inner man great enough to fit the gigantic outer shell.

He has the size and strength to save a girl from drowning, to pick a fallen tree off a man pinned under it, and practically to drop a ball in the basket, rather than toss it up, in a basketball game. But there are inconveniences. His feet stick out beyond the bottom of the sheet, he can hardly double up enough for a piano stool, and unless he ducks through the ordinary door, he smacks his head on the lintel. He literally does not know his own strength. A pat on the back may knock a friend flat, and if he falls in love and in blissful forgetfulness hugs his girl, she swoons not because she too loves him but because he's breaking her ribs.

This 460-page novel, initiating a triology called "World's Wanderer," introduces us to Thurs, 18-year-old orphan, at a home in Iowa's Siouxland. He is the ward of a fond but overly devout and domineering woman who offers to send him to college if she may name the college. With the tacit understanding that he's to become a preacher, he is packed off to Zion, somewhere east of Chicago. Contacts with teachers, rebuffs by girls, associations with other young men make him question the old-time religion, open his eyes to the infinite possibilities of letters, and turn him, as we leave him, to music.

Though very few younger American novelists can match Feikema's past performances, and though very few promise so much for the future, we are dealing here with the present, "The Primitive," and it is not all the way through Feikema at his best. Despite some superb incidents, and some pages which are honestly pathetic; and others which are worthily amusing, you miss here the intensity, or conviction, or sure touch which made "This Is the Year" and "The Chokecherry Tree" such significant and memorable works. But you much rather suspend judgment and wait for the next two volumes. Thurs, who begins to look faintly like a midwest Jean Christophe in a Paul Bunyan frame, will come through in the end.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

BOOK reviewing is one phase of jornnalism that I would certainly hate to do for a living.

Imagine having to read all the drivel that is being published every year in order to find the few books that are worth reading.

BRANDEIS

But every now and then something comes to my desk that I enjoy immensely, and so I hope you will forgive me if I do a book review for once.

This book, published by Grosset and Dunlap, is called "The Betty Betz Career book," and the subtitle is "The Teen-Age Guide to a Successful Future."

If there is any subject that is of more interest to parents than their children's successful future, I don't know it.

So, while the book is ostensibly written and illustrated, for teen-agers, I am sure that the teen-agers' fathers and mothers will enjoy it as much as the kids.

Betty Betz, as you may know, writes a very amusing and very useful column for teen-agers.

I don't know her own age, although I know her well. She is one of those persons still young, who will never grow up, and that is one of the reasons I like her.

I like all persons who, regardless of their age, stay young in spirit without being silly.

Betty not only writes her books, but she also illustrates them. In other words, she is a very clever and very versatile person.

The first page of the book is an illustration in full colors. It shows four typical modern teen-agers standing in front of a wall on which a number of mottoes are tacked up.

Here are a few of them:

"Beaten Paths are for Beaten Men," "He who Watches the Clock Usually Remains One of the Hands." "Those who Chop Their Own Firewood Warm Themselves Twice." "Plan your Work, Then Work your Plan."

Nothing very original about these—but good points for

REDS TO BE WINNERS

UN Seat At Stake

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—U. S. diplomats are worried over the probability that the United States and England, long partners in foreign affairs, will split sharply soon over admitting Communist China to the all-important security council of the United Nations.

This would be the first big break in the Anglo-American partnership since the United States first started sending arms to England before Pearl Harbor.

PEARSON

However, the British foreign office already has notified the State department that Britain will recognize the Chinese Communist government sometime in November. Recognition is induced by pressure to save Hongkong and to protect the far-flung British investments throughout China.

After British recognition, Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Siam will follow suit.

This means that before Christmas, the Chinese Communists will demand their seat in the security council. This seat is a permanent one. China is one of five nations entitled to sit indefinitely on the security council with the right of veto.

If and when the Chinese Communists apply for admission, England and India, now on the security council, will support her against the United States. This in turn will mean that for the first time in history, the United States may have to use the veto power if it wants to bar the Chinese Communists.

State department advisers are thus caught between the certain howls of Foreign Minister Vishinsky against U. S. obstructionism, and the political anguish of the professional Chiang Kai-Shek lovers and Republicans in Congress. As Between Republican howls and those from Vishinsky—with its effect on the rest of the world—the State department is inclined to figure that Republican anguish will be easier to take.

Allergy To Dixiecrats

President Truman showed no outward displeasure when Dixiecrat Congressman William Colmer, Mississippi, dropped in to see him the other day, even though Colmer had bitterly fought his re-election and even though he was not a scheduled White House caller.

The Mississippi congressman was doing what is fairly common among White House visitors—"hitchhiking." His colleagues, Hale Boggs of Louisiana, and J. Hardin Peterson of Florida, had actually arranged the appointment with Truman in order to talk about maritime training. They wanted the training of merchant marine officers continued, and without announcing it, they brought Colmer along at the last minute—since he has a merchant marine training school in his district.

Truman's well-known allergy to Dixiecrats wasn't evident during the 15-minute meeting, but afterward he remarked privately: "What a stupid thing to do."

BOB ALLEN, who used to spend his time exposing the machinations of the men around Washington via this column, has just brought out an expose of the machinations of the men who run the states.

As a follow-up to "our fair city," in which he dissected corrupt, conspiring city bosses, Bob Allen, for his new book, "Our Sovereign State," has rounded up newsmen from 12 of the 48 states, who are experts on those states.

Together, they have engineered an unbelievable expose of rotten boroughs and rotten bosses, retarding politics and reactionary people, the graft and the Grundys, the lobby-ridden legislatures, the petty conflicts and appalling corruption that dominate state governments today.

The book singles out the sinners who have smugly impeded progressive legislation in the states; and calls the turn on counties and cities that are participating in this political retrogression. It also pays tributes in those cases where tributes are deserved.

It makes you realize that we can't shine as an example of how Democracy works to the rest of the world, when Democracy is not working in our own states. Here are some Allenesque quotes:

"The legislatures are the bawdy houses of state government." . . . "The federal government has not encroached on state government. State government has defaulted." . . . "Massachusetts does not go forward because so much of her energies are spent in trying not to slip back." . . . "Boston limps along like a sick old lady, snubbed by her suburban daughters and forced to appeal to an indifferent, tight-fisted state government every time she wants to have her glasses straightened or her shoes mended." . . . "Probably the most intelligent New York boss is urbane Edward J. Flynn. He is honest enough to admit that an enlightened electorate can overturn any political machine." . . . "In Pennsylvania, folks seem to be born with built-in insulation against local and state scandals." . . . "As an organization, the Ku Klux Klan is not what is used to be. As a state of mind, it is." . . . "Gov. Lausche (Ohio) is a strange combination of actor and politician, of conservatism and liberalism." . . . "Illinois is two states in one —Chicago and the rest of the state." . . . "Oil is the master of present-day Texas. And as Texas oil is owned by Wall street, Wall street dominates Texas."

Longer lasting shoes — Government scientists working at the Bureau of Standards have just developed a process for impregnating leather with rubber which may lead to revolutionary changes in the shoe and leather industries.

Because moisture is the No. 1 enemy of leather, the Bureau of Standards has waterproofed low-grade leather with rubber in such a way that shoes may wear twice as long. In addition, the new process will lower the cost of leather products through increased use of low-cost hides.

Arctic defenses — The administration has put itself in a paradoxical position regarding defense in the strategically important Arctic. While President Truman is threatening to tie up $800,000,000 for Alaskan aircraft, Secretary of the Navy Matthews has ordered navy shipyards to rush work on construction of specially designed radar picket ships. These ships, both submarines and patrol craft, will be stationed in the Arctic to guard against foreign airplanes which might cross the north pole headed for the U. S. A. . . . The $800,000,000 for Alaskan airplanes was added to the budget by Congress over the administration's head. However, the President has promised to talk it over with Secretary of the Air Force Symington, before refusing to spend the money.

Dear Friends
and Gentle Hearts:

WE ALL LOSE our patience, now and then. We are even inclined to believe that it does us good to "blow off steam" once in a while. But we may be absolutely certain that it never does anyone any good whatever to wound another, or deny him those simple deeds of kindness that are a part of Christian charity.

OURSLER

Nor is there any joy in life deeper than that glow of self-mastery when we top our worst impulses and find peace and good will in the very midst of rage and resentment.

It is a good thing for all of us that we do not pay the frightful price that was the bitter lot of one woman whose story is known to me: the almost incredible tale of the lost physician from Vienna.

This was a famous man and a good man who had healed a rich man's daughter when all others had failed. That was when I was very young and this Chicago girl, heiress to a stock-yard fortune, was ill, apparently beyond all cure.

Her millionaire parents finally brought her to Dr. Adolph Lorenz in Vienna.

There, by a new technique which soon was called "bloodless surgery," Dr. Lorenz operated, and made the girl well. Then his fame flared round the world, so that soon he was asked to make a tour of American hospitals. That was when I met him; we had lunch together in New York's quaint and since-vanished Murray Hill hotel.

DR. LORENZ told me that he was in this country only to explain his technique to American surgeons, but that everywhere he went, he was being beseiged by anxious parents and husbands, imploring his personal help for ailing loved ones. Of course, there were only a very few for whom he had time. And that made this one fantastic experience, which was to darken his visit to a midwestern city, full of meaning to me.

One day while he was in that midwestern town, Dr. Lorenz felt restless. Guards were always at his heels to protect him, and he began to crave a little solitude. So late in the afternoon he managed to slip away, to take a walk through the residential streets of the city, all by himself. In the midst of his stroll, he was overtaken by a sudden and violent thunder storm. So fierce was the downpour, and no shelter near, that he rang the bell of the nearest house. When a woman opened the door he asked if he could come in. But the woman, who was already upset, visibly exasperated, cried out—

"Go somewhere else! There is trouble enough in this house." And she slammed shut the door. The elderly Dr. Lorenz stood outside in the rain, until presently a car with guards searching for him stopped, and hurried him back to the hotel.

WHEN the next day, that inhospitable housewife looked at a newspaper, she screamed with dismay. For she recognized the front-page picture of the great healer. The terrible fact was that this woman's daughter suffered from the same illness as had the stock-yard heiress. And she had written letters to the hotel, entreating Dr. Lorenz to come to her house and make her child well.

But she had shut the door in his face when God had brought him there.

Every day we have a new chance to help someone. On every doorstep, opportunity waits to serve our fellow-man. And we have the promise of Judgment Day: "Inasmuch as you have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me!"

Faithfully yours,

Fulton Oursler

COTTONSEED AND GRAIN STORAGE MAJOR ISSUES

Storage Problems Prove Costly To Texas Farmers

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche-Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—Many times in recent months problems concerning the expansion of Texas' economy have ended up before the same closed door—the storage situation.

This is true now of cottonseed and is the real reason back of the fact that although there is a government price support program for that commodity at the same time it cannot be supplied beneficially to Texas farmers.

Yet it has been estimated by Cong. George Mahon, Lubbock, that if the cottonseed program could be applied practically, it would mean some $18,000,000 to Texas farmers. But should the government take title to the cottonseed on a loan basis for delivery next April, then the farmers themselves or the gins or somebody has got to store this cottonseed until spring.

Wheat Also Affected

Annually when the wheat harvest begins, it is the same thing. Rep. W. R. Poage, Waco, 11th district, has for years been saying that the wheat farmer of Texas whose crop comes in early loses vast sums of money because he has no storage for his wheat. He must sell it at once or see it ruined. The farmer farther north in the wheat belt often does not face this same problem. His crop matures later. Often times there is storage by the time his crop comes along or else the price is more favorable.

This year Rep. Eugene Worley, Shamrock, another member of the House Agriculture committee, Rep. John Lyle, Corpus Christi, Poage, Mahon, Omar Burleson of Anson, and all the Texas delegation worked on this problem of wheat storage. They finally got the Agriculture Department to let them store wheat on the ground in the open, dry areas of West Texas or in converted buildings used normally for other purposes.

The grain sorghum producers had the same problem. Congressman Lyle pointed out that while sorghum growers were seeking storage there was ample space in unused hangars at Corpus Christi Naval Base. There was other storage at other airports throughout the state There was even plenty of space aboard ships stored near Beaumont, but then these would have had to be taken out of standby and towed to port for loading.

Facilities Not Adequate

IN the case of the airport hangars like the ships there were not elevators to handle the grain. Grain stored in buildings other than equipped warehouses would have to be sacked, increasing the cost of handling and adding to the time consumed.

One of the questions was the way grain backed up at warehouses and could not be shipped out through Texas ports more quickly. This involved to some extent ships but to a greater extent the lack of grain elevators at Texas ports such as Beaumont.

Now along comes another phase of the storage problem. Fred F. Alford, Dallas, who operates Alford Refrigerated warehouses, says Texas warehouses and port facilities are second to none. He also says they are now half empty. He points out in a letter to Senator Tom Connally that the Commodity Credit Corporation is now spending $75,000,000 to support the price of pork through purchase of frozen pork. This is all going to northern and eastern warehouses. He asked Senator Connally to find out why Texas storage centers can't be getting some of that business.

Program Is Explained

The Agriculture Department's reply was that storage must take place nearest to the greatest outlet. Since most of the people who eat in this country live in northern and eastern cities, the pork must be stored in the most convenient location. Storage takes place near current outlets. It would be unfair, points out the Department, for folks who live for from Texas to have to pay freight rates on pork shipped from Texas to their home. What about the pork for the people in the Souhwest? Is it not being shipped up north for packing and then stored and are not the people of the Southwest paying for reshipment back home again?

The answer to all of this seems to be that Texas and southwestern states need more efficient coordination of their storage problems. Perhaps more private capital is needed in this field. Some months ago when wheat storage was the major problem, one Texas congresman said if he were not in public office he would go into the grain storage business. James Hartzog, Beaumont port director, says it will cost $1 for every bushel capacity built into a grain elevator.

INCIDENTALLY, the steel strike is not going to affect the cotton ginning situation so drastically. This is the way it looks from a desk in Washington. H. B. McCoy Office of the Domestic Commerce department, says that the estimated reqirements for steel ties for cotton is 75,880 tons and that the major part had been produced and shipped at the time the strike occurred. He also says that southern mills have enough steel on hand to continue putting out ties. This was in answer to queries put to Senator Connally by the Lubbock Bag company, the San Antonio Bag and Burlep corporation and various other concerns in Houston.

Here's what a Texas lawyer thinks of this nation's president: Ed Easterling, counsel for the Lower Neches Valley Authority, said after talking with Harry Truman at the White House recently: "He was the most friendly, congenial, down-to-earth person. He acted like he might have known me for 10 years. We sat around his desk for 15 minutes. It was a real treat to meet the President and find he was as down to earth as that."

Rep. Cecil White, D., California, who was born in Temple, and started working for Western Union at 16, working in Houston and other places, and then engaged in the cotton business in El Paso, sold his California ranch recently for $1,000,000.

It was a combined ranch and farm.

"Will you tell us how a country boy from Texas went to California, got a million dollars and then was elected to office?" I asked him.

"Yes," he replied without hesitation. "I began making money in cotton in El Paso. Every time I made any, I put it into farming land. Then when war made prices and products go up, I made money. With income taxes the way they are, I could do better by selling out, so I did. I had to pay a capital gains tax of only 25 per cent or about $125,000."

"That will help to pay for a gift loan to a European nation," he said.

Incidentally, Congressman White is still a country boy. He does not care about passing legislation to help the rich man. He even battles for the rights of the poor Oakies in California. Why?

"Because they need some one to look out for them," he says. "I might say that they have not a dime and they don't even vote and it's not popular in California to plead their cause. But they need help.

Mayor Of Idaho Town Dislikes His Job; He Prefers Farming

ABERDEEN, Idaho, Oct. 29 (AP)—The mayor of this potato town of 1,500 people doesn't like the job—he'd rather farm. Keeping pigs out is one of the troubles of Mayor James Chapman, 58. It's against the law to raise 'em in town.

"This stuff of telling people what to do isn't in my line," Chapman said. "I'm not cut out to have all that power." But aberdeen, where there are more churches than filling stations, insisted that Chapman take a second two-year term. He said "people just figured I'd be able to devote more time to the mayor's job than anyone else." His salary is $75 a year.

Increase For Japan's Merchant Fleet Considered By Officials

TOKYO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Occupation officials said today plans are being considered to increase Japan's ocean going merchant fleet by 130,000 tons, by overhauling 20 Japanese ships built during the war.

General MacArthur's headquarters favors building up Japan's merchant marine as one way of reducing the cost of the occupation to the American taxpayers. It has been estimated that Japan has about 1,000,000 tons of potential ocean-going shipping. Japan's prewar merchant marine was 6,000,000 tons.

Denmark has about 2,000 farm tractors idle, for want of repair parts.
