Holiday Beach Water Election Called

An election to confirm establishment of the Aransas County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, to serve Holiday Beach, and to elect the district's board of directors has been set for Saturday, August 11.

Absentee balloting will begin July 30 and continue through August 7, from 8 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays at the Lee Miller Recreation Center in Holiday Beach.

Absentee ballots by mail may be obtained by writing the secretary of the District's temporary board of directors, Freddie A. Lingner, P.O. Box 1226, Rockport, Texas 78382.

The August 11 election will be from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Lee Miller Recreation Center located on the east side of Highway 35, Holiday Beach, at the intersection of Holiday Boulevard and St. Charles Loop.

The election was called during a meeting of the temporary board of directors Saturday, July 7, during which the board also elected officers.

The Lingner Real Estate Building on North Highway 35 was designated as the temporary office of the District until a more suitable place can be found.

Voters in the election will be asked to vote for or against "Confirmation of the (Aransas County Water Control and Improvement) District."

Voters will also be asked to choose five persons to be the permanent board of directors of the District. The names of the present temporary members of the board will be on the ballot, along with blank spaces so the voters can write in candidates.

Present members of the board are M. Joan Nish, M.D., president; Frank H. Smith, vice president; Freddie A. Lingner, secretary; Fred F. Mullins; and J. Gordon Hargrove.

The boundaries of the District are the same as the boundaries for Holiday Beach Subdivision. Only qualified voters residing within the district and who are registered 30 days prior to the election are eligible to vote, according to the Texas Election Code.

"The growth of the Holiday Beach area has made it obvious that some form of governing body for the continued supply and improvement of water and -- in the near future -- the treatment of sewage, is needed," Mrs. Lingner said.

She added, "A Water Control and Improvement District will give the Holiday Beach area the time and the means to find solutions to these problems with the least cost for all concerned. A most important factor is that the District will be controlled by the property owners of Holiday Beach."

The water district will be eligible for grants from government agencies for part of the expense involved in studies, purchases and construction of facilities that are or will be needed.

Election officers for absentee balloting will be Joan Davis, Marie Ferguson, Janet Langham and Velma Perkins. Officers for the August 11 election will be Jane Kemmerer, presiding judge; Ann Callahan, alternate presiding judge; and Melissa Voss and Jo Ann Thompson, clerks.

Additional information on the election and the District may be obtained by contacting any District board member.

Portraitist Alexander Clayton Takes Up Residence In Rockport

By Pat Blair

He had painted actress Katherine Cornell...Helen Keller...western writer J. Frank Dobie...opera singer Lily Pons...Dallas oil billionaire H.L. Hunt...

His painting of Pope John XXIII hangs in the Vatican.

This soft spoken 73-year-old gentleman who has painted so many famous people is Alexander Clayton, Maryland native, world traveler and now--for part of the year--a resident of Rockport.

THE MANY FACES OF ALEXANDER CLAYTON

Clayton and his companion and business manager John T. Sanders--who has been with him 28 years--bought a home on Bayshore in Key Allegro in November, 1978. They and their schnauzer, Eric, have been living there a couple of months now, says Sanders.

Their current plans are to live part of the year in Rockport and the rest of the year in their home in Dallas --except when Clayton is called elsewhere to paint someone's portrait.

It was painting that brought Clayton to Rockport, says Sanders. The S.H. Wisdoms of 6 Aloha Lane commissioned the artist last year to do a painting of sand dunes for them. That commission resulted in a painting of the dunes on Padre Island.

Then at a cocktail party given by the Wisdoms after completion of the painting, Sanders continued, "we met Mrs. John W. Pritchett --a lovely lady." Mrs. Pritchett commissioned Clayton to do her portrait... and that was followed by a commission from Reta Sydow for a portrait in conte-crayon.

Although Clayton usually works in oils, the conte-crayon was selected by Mrs. Sydow after she saw a conte-crayon drawing of a 16-month-old child that Clayton did on a commission in Montgomery, Alabama.

The portrait of Mrs. Sydow was done about a month ago--after Clayton and Sanders moved into the house on Bayshore--Sanders said. And after that was completed, Robert L. Dewar, Jr., of San Antonio, who owns a condominium at Rockport's Racquet Club, commissioned the artist to do portraits of Dewar's sons Christopher, 7, and Michael, 5.

Those portraits have just recently been completed.

The house on Bayshore is filled with landscapes and still lifes done by the artist--and just about every one has a story attached.

For example, there's the western scene that hangs on the wall above the sofa in the living room. The land is near just outside Post, in the Texas Panhandle, and Clayton painted it, he said, "because of the red mesas in the background."

Clayton was in the area for an exhibit of western art. He was at the house shown near the center of the painting, "and the man in the house said, 'Let's drive next door.' We drove off toward the mesas--I didn't see any houses. Thirty miles later, we got to this house, and that," Clayton remembers with a chuckle, "was 'next door'."

While he was working on the dunes painting for the Wisdoms, Clayton saw Rockport's famous live oak tree. Now a painting of it hangs in his living room.

He didn't know when he painted it that it was famous or that it is featured in a book called "The 100 Most Famous Trees of the U.S." He does now: "It's supposed to be at least 2,000 years old," he said. "It was a meeting place of the Karankawa Indians before the Spaniards came. The Karankawas were cannibals and were supposed to have practiced their rites there."

After finishing Mrs. Pritchett's portrait, Clayton turned his attention to Fulton Mansion, which he found interesting at least in part because "it's one of the few Victorian Era mansions in this area."

The artist spent about three hours making a color sketch of the mansion for a painting he has since completed. "I didn't know anything about its history," he said, adding, "I just liked the looks of it."

Clayton does all his painting, including landscapes, in his studio. He does colored

CELEBRATION FOR "THE MAGNIFICENT"

Sheryl Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wells of Holiday Beach, christens "The Magnificent," her father's new shrimp boat as the vessel is officially launched from Glen's Marina in Bayside. Her mother, Barbara Wells, said some 150 to 200 people attended the christening at noon Sunday, July 15. Constructed at Bayside, "The Magnificent" is built of five-quarter mahogany strips with a clipper hull. It was built by Ronald R. McGlaughlin of Bayside, formerly of Maryland, Mrs. Wells said. She added that McGlaughlin works without printed plans. "The Magnificent," which will work out of the Rockport-Fulton area, is the third boat built by the Bayside man. The "Sea Pride" is owned by J.D. Derrol of Bayside, and McGlaughlin's second boat, "Pretty Baby," is owned by Derrol's son, Deek Derrol of Rockport, Mrs. Wells said.

Attorney Appointed By Council

By Pat Blair

Article IV of Rockport's proposed City Charter establishes three administrative positions to be appointed by the City Council: the municipal judge - and any other municipal court officers - the city attorney and the city engineer.

The municipal judge, under Article IV, would be required to be a "competent, duly qualified, licensed attorney in the State of Texas." The judge is appointed to a two-year term and may be appointed to "additional and consecutive terms."

In the absence or disability of the municipal judge, the City Council is required by Article IV to appoint an Acting Judge.

In addition to the judge, the City Council would be required under Article IV to appoint a clerk of the municipal court and may appoint additional deputy clerks.

The city attorney, under proposed Charter Article IV as it is now written, also must be a "competent, duly qualified, licensed" Texas attorney. In addition, the city attorney must also be practicing in Texas at the time of appointment.

The city attorney serves as the legal advisor to the City Council and city manager, represents the city in litigation and "legal proceedings" and reviews and provides opinions as requested by the Council or city manager on legal matters.

Article IV gives the city attorney the right to select additional attorneys to assist him in his duties, and gives the City Council the right to retain special council counsel "at any time that it may deem necessary and appropriate."

The city engineer, under Article IV, must be "a competent, duly qualified, registered and practicing professional engineer in the State of Texas" at time of appointment.

As with the city attorney, Article IV gives the City Council the right to retain special engineering service, in addition to that provided by the city engineer, "at any time it may deem necessary and appropriate," and gives the city engineer the right to select assistant engineers with the Council's approval.

Under Article IV, the term "city engineer" may refer to an individual or a firm, giving the City Council the option to appoint an engineering firm as city engineer.

Article IV gives the City Council alone the right to establish the municipal court and appoint the judge and clerk or clerks. The Article specifies that the city attorney and city engineer will be appointed by the City Council "in consultation with the City Manager."

pencil sketches for his landscapes, then paints in oils, usually using the pointilist technique.

"I'm a colorist," he said, "and I like the effect pointilism gives to a painting. Pointilism gives a life to a painting that you don't get with mixing colors."

He does not use the pointilist technique in painting portraits, he said, explaining, "Portraits are difficult, because every distinction in line and tone has to do with likeness. That's hard to do with little dots."

One of the artist's prized possessions is a ring Mrs. Sydow crafted for him to mount a stone he had purchased. The stone, a gem-quality chrysocolla, was carved in the shape of a human head. Because of the Mayan look of the features, Mrs. Sydow did a gold-mounting that includes Clayton's initials in Mayan calligraphy.

Unlike many other portraitists, Clayton doesn't require a large number of sittings to complete a portrait. "The most Alex asks is eight or 10--and seldom that many," says Sanders whose "job" while Clayton is painting, is to talk to the subject, make him or her feel at ease and forget the artist at his easel.

The goal is to make the portrait look unposed. "When I talk to them," Sanders said, "they do things they wouldn't do if they were posing" and that makes the subject look more relaxed, less self-conscious.

"When I was a boy," Clayton said, "I wanted to be an architect. I loved Beautiful buildings." However, because his parents couldn't afford to send him to college, he went to a commercial art school--and there he met two girls who attended Corcoran School of Art in Washington, D.C., and who encouraged him to attend.

He did--for four years--and won prizes each year for his art, winning them over students who had attened the school longer. His experience at the school encouraged him to continue his studies, at the Phillips Gallery School as well as abroad, where he studied and copied the Old Masters in France, Spain and Portugal.

In Lisbon, Portugal, the American Embassy sponsored an exhibition of Clayton's paintings in 1947.

Fine Arts Editor Jack Sheridan of Lubbock has called Alexander Clayton "a stellar artist, brilliant portraitist and landscapist."

More than that, he is a man who knows and loves--and has devoted a lifetime to a very special, very demanding craft.

Alexander Clayton

One Of America's Most Distinguished Portrait Artists

Announces The Opening Of His

Rockport Studio On Key Allegro

Alexander Clayton, portrait painter of famous people ranging from Pope John to Helen Keller to Richard Nixon to Fremont Ellis, to Edward Marshall Boehm and Jeane Dixon, is now spending part of his time at a home on Aransas Bay in Rockport. While we watched, he put the finishing touches on an informal portrait of Reta Sydow, herself an artist in silver and gold.

The soft-spoken, unassuming man who has painted the wealthy and the famous still clearly enjoys the detail work of capturing a personality, although he has branched out into an impressionist-type pointillism that is a whole new category of art. A west Texas ranch scene done in pastel lavenders, pinks, blues and greens is not your typical western art, yet it exudes a charm that captures the softness of a sunset's glorious colors.

Clayton's constant companion and manager is John Sanders, who handles business details and engages portrait subjects in converstion so the artist may concentrate on his work. They are a delightful pair, full of anecdotes told in a modest manner about the people they have met and amusing incidents which occurred while they were sitting. When opera great Lily Pons bent over to pet their miniature Schnauzer, Eric, a large jewel popped out of her opulent necklace. Instead of being upset, she said she'd better take the whole piece into a jeweler for checking, in case other stones were loose. She remarked she was glad it had happened at their studio, rather than on a crowded dance floor at some charity ball.

Having travelled widely to pursue the artist's craft, Clayton and Sanders have a number of clippings from various publications. One of their favorite mentions is by former fine arts writer Jack Sheridan of Lubbock who wrote: "Alexander Clayton is not only a stellar artist, brilliant portraitist and landscapist, but he is a man of perception and good humor. He knows his craft; he brings a lifetime of study and application; it shows in every one of his paintings that one has a privilege to view."

For more information on Clayton's work, write him at 3314 Hawthorne Avenue, Dallas, Tx. 75219. His works have been exhibited at the Baltimore Museum of Art, Chicago Art Institute, Corcoran Gallery, National Academy of Design, Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, Phillips Memorial Gallery, Whitney Museum of American Art, the Findlay Galleries, (Chicago and Palm Beach), Galeria d'Arte Instanta in Libson, Portugal, Portraits, Inc., N.Y., Crest-Dallas-North, Chesterfield, and Traditional Galleries in Dallas, and Robert Rice Gallery in Houston.

Palm Harbor Marina Sold To Sisters

Palm Harbor Marina, owned and operated for the past year and a half by Mr. and Mrs. Gar Lonberger, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Williams of Santa Cruz, California. The wives are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller who will operate the marina, already have taken possession. They are considering the possibility of expanding operations to include a seafood restaurant and perhaps a number of motel-type apartments to be located over the marina's existing boat slips, according to Miller.

He added that there is a possibility that condominiums will be built later along the Intracoastal Canal on which the marina is located.

In the immediate future the Millers plan to expand their present boat docking facilities from a total of 35 spaces to approximately 40. At present, the marina carries fishing tackle of all kinds, beer, ice, soft drinks, snacks, sandwiches and some groceries, as well as souvenirs. The marina operates its own bait shrimp boat.

Miller recently retired from Sears Roebuck after 15 years service. He was chief of store planning and visual merchandising for the company in western Arkansas and Oklahoma. Earlier, he was district manager for sales and merchandising for several hardware, general merchandise and discount chain store groups.

His Oklahoma City civic activities included retail chairman for the Oklahoma State Fair where he designed show windows for the Home Arts and Crafts building, as well as the fair's fashion stage. In addition, Miller was active in the Oklahoma City Retail Credit Association, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, FFA and 4-H.

He attended Oklahoma State University and served in the Army during World War II.

His wife, Billye, is a registered nurse with a degree from Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in Oklahoma City. She has been an active Red Cross volunteer. The Millers have three daughters and two sons.

The Williams do not plan to take an active part in the operation of the marina. However, they hope to visit the Rockport area frequently. Mike is a veteran of 14 years service as a United Airlines pilot. He is a graduate of Central State University at Edmond, Oklahoma.

His wife, Patti, is a trained nurse with a Mercy Hospital background. The Williams have a son and a daughter.

Date Set For Report On Tax Withholdings

July 31, 1979 is the date by which employers must report on Form 941 Social Security and withheld federal income taxes for the second quarter of 1979, and pay any taxes due, the Internal Revenue Service has said.

If the quarterly liability (reduced by any deposit during the quarter) is $200 or more, the unpaid balance must be deposited.

This deadline does not apply to those employers who make timely deposits of the full amount of tax due in Federal Reserve or approved commercial banks. They are allowed until August 10 to file Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return."

If employers have not received Form 941 by mail, they can obtain one from local IRS offices. IRS Publication 15, "Circular E --Employer's Tax Guide," is also available at local offices.

Effective Fire Ant Killer

MC-96, a new and highly effective fire ant killer, has been introduced to the Texas market by Texas Pride, Inc., of Houston.

MC-96 contains methyl chloroform. The recommended application of two ounces per ant mound will provide quick and thorough kill under normal temperature and moisture conditions. The product, sold through various retail outlets, has Texas Department of Agriculture approval under 24(c) registration, for use in Texas only.

Fire ants have caused serious problems over the years in Texas in residential areas, on farm and ranch land, along streets and highways, in parks, on school grounds, and in and around commercial and industrial properties. MC-96, developed and produced by Southwest TriChem Industries, has proven to be a lethal and economical answer to this problem.

ACND Candidates

DAN SHELTON

Having lived in the Rockport-Fulton area as a part-time resident since 1943, Dan Shelton moved here full-time in 1967.

Shelton is a semi-retired land developer, with some business deals still taking place in his home base at Austin. These days however, he stays busy with golf and gardening.

He and his wife Bea have four children, Reynold, Hallam, Susan, and Sheldon, and six grandchildren, which he says may increase to seven very soon. He is a member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, and past president of the Lion's Club.

Regarding future actions of navigation commissioners, Shelton said "I would like to see more regulation between the dock charge and the size of the boat being docked. Right now it costs the same amount to dock an 80 foot shrimper as it does to dock a small job boat."

HILLIS DOMINGUEZ

A semi-retired television repairman, and a former shrimper, Hillis Dominguez helped raise his nephew, Jimmy Alemen, known to area tennis players as the tennis pro at Key Allegro.

Dominguez, is a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, and is fond of all watersports, although he doesn't claim any particular one as his favorite.

Whether or not he is elected as a navigation commissioner, Dominguez said he would "like to see a community center at the lot south of the Ski Basin, with improvements by the city or the district, whichever is best suited to handle the job. I would also like to see enforcement in the Ski Basin improved, and at the docks and harbors, too."

JUDY SANDERS

Judy Sanders, a sales associate at Wishert Realtors, has been a Rockport resident since 1969 when she and her husband J.C. moved here from Three Rivers, Texas. They have two daughters, Machelle and Julie Ann.

Mrs. Sanders said her favorite hobby is virtually any type of watersport, with fishing taking the top priority, but she added that she is an active member of the local Board of Realtors, and is presently serving on the Multiple Listing Service committee.

In regards to future actions of the Navigation District Commissioners, she "would like to see more recreation areas and an improvement in the recreational facilities for both commercial business and sportsmen, with strong emphasis on safety in those areas."

BILL TILDEN

William (Bill) Tilden has been a resident of Fulton for the past four years, and a Texas resident for the last 33 years. A Vermont native, Tilden is a graduate of the United States Diesel Engineering School in Boston, and he retired from Texaco after 37 years.

He is currently employed on a part-time basis by an oil distributor, and also operates a woodcraft and cast seagull business from his workshop. He and his wife Cynthia have one son, Robert, and they live in the "Century House" in Fulton.

Tilden said his goals for the Navigation District are "To achieve a coordination of the residents of Aransas County, the Board of Navigation Commissioners of Aransas County Navigation District No. 1 and governmental agencies for the benefit of all Aransas County residents."

He is past president and chairman of the Texas Gulf Coast Section of the Society of Automotive Engineers, past president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce Lifetime Members Club, a member of the Lions Club, Aransas Pass Shrine Club, Methodist Church and coordinator of the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Inc. fund drive. In addition, he is a former member and instructor for the U.S. Power Squadron.

Eyes And Answers

IS PLASTIC AS GOOD AS GLASS?

Dear Dr. Pettey: I've heard conflicting stories about the quality of plastic lenses as compared to glass. I wear heavy, strong glasses that make the size of my eyes look larger to someone else, and now wear plastic lenses to cut down weight. Tell me the facts.

Early plastic lenses were not as rigid (stable) as glass, and they scratched easily. Heat change, both body and weather, tended to alter the early plastics, making them a little stronger or weaker than the prescription had called for. Thicker plastic lenses in the early days, as well as today, remained more stable than thinner ones.

However, time, experience, and improved plastic quality, have come together to radically increase the quality of all plastic spectacle lenses.

One of the major qualities of plastic lenses, as you mentioned, is the light weight. They weigh about half as much as glass. Rarely do plastic lenses break. When they do, the fragments are larger and would do less damage. There is less fogging when exposed to quick temperature change, as in very cold weather. Tints, or colors, are uniform all over the lens because they are dyes that "soak" into the lens surface. Plastic lenses absorb virtually all ultraviolet rays that can burn the eye tissue after several hours exposure to bright sunshine.

Any remaining imperfection inherent in modern-day plastic lenses is small compared to the comfort and seeing quality of that light weight, magic product called hard resin. These lenses are a blessing to millions of people. Enjoy them!

Spring, Summer Work Produces Abundant Roses

COLLEGE STATION -- A little work this spring and summer will insure attractive and abundant roses this fall.

That suggestion comes from Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&,M University System.

Remove spent flowers so that the plant's food and energy will go into flower production instead of seed production, advises Janne. Cut old flowers just above the second five-leaflet leaf above the main branch--the same as cutting flowers for arrangements. Higher cuts result in blind shoots or deformed flowers.

Another recommended practice is to apply a complete fertilizer every four to six weeks for optimum rose growth. However, don't fertilize after mid-August so the plants will mature and be less susceptible to winter injury, warns Janne.

In alkaline soils, iron deficiency can be a problem. If this condition develops, obtain a copy of the leaflet, "Iron Chlorosis," from your county Extension office for information on correcting the problem. You may also want a copy of the publication, "Roses: Summer Care."

During hot, dry weather, the horticulturists suggests thoroughly watering rose beds to a depth of 8 to 10 inches each week.

Janne stresses the importance of blackspot and mildew control through a preventive spray program. Any reputable rose fungicide produces excellent results if properly applied. Spraying is more effective than dusting.

Most roses require spraying every seven to ten days from spring until a killing frost, says the specialist. During high temperatures and dry weather, spray intervals may be extended to two weeks through mid-august.

Rockport's Party Line

By Betty Paul

Mrs. Jerry D. Crittendon and her daughter Heather are visiting Mrs. Verta Lee McDonald.

Rebecca Maley's mother, Donna Eishstadt and her sister Angela Barnes, from Cincinatti, Ohio, are visiting Rebecca for a few days.

Jane Goodrich at the Moonshell Galleries, Inc., just returned from a buying "spree" to Los Angeles and other places to restock her shop.

Charles Travis, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife from Austin, praised "our" aquarium in Rockport.

Pat Messinger has a brand new "jazzy" Fiesta.

Tootsie Guido from San Antonio (but now living in Palm Harbor) is displaying and selling some of her very artistic stained glass windows at the Sundial.

Dr. M.R. Kirkpatrick and Edie Barton just returned from a week of "cat-fishing" at Lake Corpus Christi.

Tickets are still being sold for the adorable doll house at Estelle Stair's Art Gallery (for the very young and the very nostalgic). A drawing will be held November 24 and you can buy your tickets at the Gallery. You women ought to go see this to appreciate it and then you'll buy several tickets to try and get it for someone you love.

Fran Lyons went to a three-day teacher workshop in Houston for rub-out paintings. The instructor was Georgia Feazle.

Becky and Tont Shelton from Houston are visiting their grandmother, Fran Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. M.M. Oliver and their son Bill just returned from a trip to Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Oliver is so unnerved by the gas situation in Rockport because they didn't have it in Pennsylvania. She is just sitting and sorting buttons to get her nerves under control. If you don't believe me go to Encina Plaza and stop at the Corner Bazaar and check her out.

If all of you had the time that this woman has (and you do) and yet be sought after and respected by others not even in her field of real estate, you would be in an enviable state. Well, I've kept you in suspense long enough--it's Juanita Wagley. She will go down in the archives of "This is what a human being should be like." She runs a business, gives people advice (take it or leave it) and always finds the time to listen. She is a quiet person and unassuming, but she has it all where it counts most (compassion).

Reverend Charles Fake of the First Baptist Church is being ably assisted by members of his church while he is incapitated by an acute thyroid gland problem.

Tera Lynn came into the lives of her parents Dee Wayne and Joyce Leach.

Mr. and Mrs. James Warrach, Jr., have a new son and his name is James Warrach III.

Joe D. and Kathryn Harris are the happy parents of a baby girl born July 13. Serita Michell was born in the Taft Hospital and she weighed 6 lbs., 5 ozs. Earl and Alice Sprabary of Rockport are the grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. J.O. Harris of Silsbee, Texas.

Healthful Hints

Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition

By Jean Glowka

Q. My husband takes 50,000 units of vitamin A from fish liver oil daily for his eyes. He takes the capsules early in the morning with just water. (He doesn't eat breakfast.) Shouldn't he take them with a meal in order for his body to absorb them properly?

A. Yes, he should take them with a meal that contains some fat or oil, since these capsules need fat in order to be absorbed completely.

If he won't eat breakfast, and he's hung up on taking his vitamins in the morning, hand him a little square of well-buttered toast (whole grain, please) to eat just before he takes his vitamins.

Q. My family loves sweets. Is there a really simple, easy (I hate cooking) candy I could make for them that would satisfy their craving for sweets and yet be good for them?

A. You couldn't find anything easier than this.--Mix equal parts of natural peanut butter and honey, then add enough wheat germ and/or noninstant powdered milk to give the right consistency. Shape into little "balls".--Tell them it's "junk food"; they'll love it! (I'm with you on the cooking! Don't it make my brown eyes blue?)

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

AMEN

Amen is a Hebrew word usually translated "verily." To say "Amen" is to say, "so let it be." It suggests agreement with what is being done or being said...like, "Christians ought to pay their debts," or "We need to pray more, believe more, and live better lives."--Amen.

Did you say amen to these statements? I hope you did. Now let us say amen by our actions.

See you Sunday morning in Bible Class, 9 a.m.

Blue Crab Larvae Get In The Swim

AUSTIN--A number of bathers on the Texas Coast have been startled recently by lice-like organisms getting into their bathing suits, biting them and causing skin irritations.

There's no real cause for fear, says the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The invaders are only the planktonic second larval stage of the blue crab. These megalops larvae, about one-eighth of an inch in length, have a completely different shape and appearance from the adult blue crab common to Gulf bays and estuaries.

June is the season of peak migration of female blue crabs from the bays to the Texas Gulf Coast, after mating has occurred. Most egg production and growth takes place in higher salinity of the Gulf. The eggs go through a number of planktonic stages as they move back toward the less saline waters to complete their growth. This time of year is when the megalops larvae are most abundant in the surf, and swimmers most likely to encounter them.

Biologists say it takes between nine months and 15 months for a blue crab egg to reach commercial size. So just think of those harmless little irritante as a potential crab dish of a year or so from now.

Work Progressing On Calvary Church

Work is progressing rapidly on a new education building for the Calvary Baptist Church, Rockport, the second of a three-part building program.

A portion of the old frame building has been removed to make room for the new 32' x 70' masonry building. The new building will house the church office, pastor's study, nursery, choir room and adult Sunday School Department.

The portion of the frame building remaining will be used as an activity center. It will include a small kitchen, snack bar, game rooms and lounge for small committee meetings and class meetings.

Steve Clark is in charge of the construction, and the building is expected to be ready for use by the end of September. It is difficult to determine the exact cost of the entire project since a considerable amount of the labor will be volunteer labor.

Completion of the new building will complete the second phase of a three-phase building program entered into by the church about three and a half years ago.

Police Report

Three people were arrested and bond set for driving while intoxicated during an otherwise apparently quiet weekend for Rockport police.

Wilbur William Collins, 61, was placed under personal recognizance bond of $500 after being arrested for DWI in front of the Post Office on South Church Street about 8:32 p.m. Saturday, July 14.

Also placed under $500 personal recognizance bond was Jerome L. Kallenberger, 26, of Idlewide Motel, South Church, after he was arrested for DWI on the Fulton Beach Road. The incident occurred about 12:45 a.m. Sunday, July 15.

Waldo Leon Garcia, 28, of Aransas Pass was placed under $500 bond for DWI. He was arrested on South Church at about 2:15 a.m. Sunday.

Austin — At Wharf

EVERY RESPONSIBLE AMERICAN SHOULD HAVE heard President Carter's speech on Sunday evening, partisanship aside. He is, after all, president of these United States and so, Our President.

I missed the speech, completely forgot about it. So too did the more than half a dozen others with whom I dined, all people whom most of you might concede are reasonably intelligent and responsible citizens.

So now, not having picked up my morning paper, all I know of the speech is a radio report which tells me that an Austin telly station conducted a survey and the response was 80 percent favorable, viewers-hearers comparing it to Franklin D. Roosevelt's fireside chats.

On the other hand, cynical speculators on the foreign gold market responded in reverse, causing gold to jump to over $4. Ha! Sensibly, I should leave the speech alone, at least until I read it. And that I shall do, except for a single observation.

Mr. Carter is as we have been reminded in countless publicity releases, a "born-again Christian." Something which I confess is beyond my ken. However, if that is possible is it not reasonable to also believe that he is as well a "born-again leader," an inspiring orator?

I should like to hope, but my inborn scepticism prevails, at least for the nonce. From this quarter then a "wait and see" stance is advisable.

I HAVE OTHER THOUGHTS, ON A SUBJECT MOST of you have already heard too much about, the energy crisis. Yes, I believe at this point that virtually everyone is convinced that it is a crisis, no longer ephemeral.

So here I may become repetitious, because haven't I often enough cried for new sources, perhaps and most likely from the solar system and the sea?

And there I become, all of a sudden, an optimist. Yes, for truly I believe that somewhere some little old man or lady, perhaps puddling away in an ill-equipped laboratory, will suddenly pop up with some marvelous new thing that will solve all our problems.

And we will have a new, a genuine hero in our mid. who will be greeted like Edison when he flashed the first light bulb, Bell when he spoke the first telephone message. Ah, but that was long ago. So think then of Lindy when he first hopped the Atlantic.

Yes, this world needs a hero, one of a sort that we can all believe in, one who will speak and act in simple understandable terms. Thats something we haven't known in a long time.

You might say the first man to set foot on the moon should have been so regarded, but I've more than half a notion - and I say this without disrespect - that the name Neil Armstrong will not occur without prompting. I've had to do a double think myself to remember. All of this is to be forgiven because our world has become so complicated, too scientific for most of us.

Consider, compare Lindberg and Armstrong. We were ready for Lindy. We were accustomed to seeing barn-storming pilots land in cotton patches. They didn't happen every day, but often enough to stir our imagination.

Space ships were another matter, weird contraptions we saw photographed, sometimes explained to us in language we half understood. So when a man landed on the moon we responded lackadaisically: "Well, we did it, it had to happen sooner or later, didn't it? Please pass the butter."

SO THEN I BELIEVE THAT THIS NOT SO JOLLY OLD world is due for another real hero, one everyone can respond to. He/ she will be one who will discover a cheap and simple means to create new energy that will allow us to set our air conditioners back to 70 degrees, let us wheel along the highways at 100 mph again without strain or stress on anyone. Whoops M'dears.

NAME CALLING IS SOMETHING WHICH IS NOT MY wont, although I have sometimes been charged on that account. It is of course name-calling when I charge John Q. Smith with being a gentleman, or the same John Q. Smith as being stupid, and so on.

Hence I contend that my name calling, when I do it, is based on literal circumstances, and so justified. In that vein I choose to refer to Corpus Christi port chairman William Carl as some sort of a nut. With good reason. Said Carl last week: "99 percent of the people in Corpus Christi support Deeport."

E'gad! Less than 50 percent, as the record has shown time and again, know what Deeport is all about. More, anyone who attended the Corps of Engineers hearings must agree that sentiment on the subject was and has been pretty evenly divided.

Carl's statement is about as nutty as my contention that home property values in Rockport, if Deeport becomes a reality, will bring 10 cents on the dollar. More responsibly, I should have said 25 cents on the dollar.

But why worry about that? Without being overconfident I feel safe in saying that the screwball project is all but dead. Ha, name-calling again. -ahab will keep the spider away from your door

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri paper. One day he received a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck.

Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Consumer Food News

society...Food news

COLLEGE STATION -- Best buys at Texas grocery markets this summer include several fresh vegetable items, pork and poultry, according to Gwendolyne Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

FRESH VEGETABLES -- Budget items include potatoes, soft-shell squash, corn, cabbage and carrots. Also, radishes, dry yellow onions, scallions, lettuce and cooking greens. Purple hull and blackeye peas are available -- with fair to good quality.

PORK -- Pork is expected to offer budget protein "buys" during the coming months. Look for good values on quarter loins cut into chops, loin-end roasts and pork liver. Also, consider smoked picnics and canned hams for reasonable prices.

POULTRY -- Expect good values on mixed fryer parts and chicken livers.

DAIRY -- Some stores have special prices on whole and two percent low-fat milk, yogurt, cheese slices and cottage cheese.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES -- Features include rice, pasta products, pickles, olives, applesauce and pineapple, along with other items in no particular pattern among stores. Also, dry beans are an economical protein source.

FRESH FRUITS -- Budget buys include bananas on special and red delicious apples. Summertime fruits currently have higher first-of-the-season prices, but those prices should trend down fairly soon. These fruits include peaches, nectarines, bing cherries, apricots and plums, along with white seedless Perlette grapes.

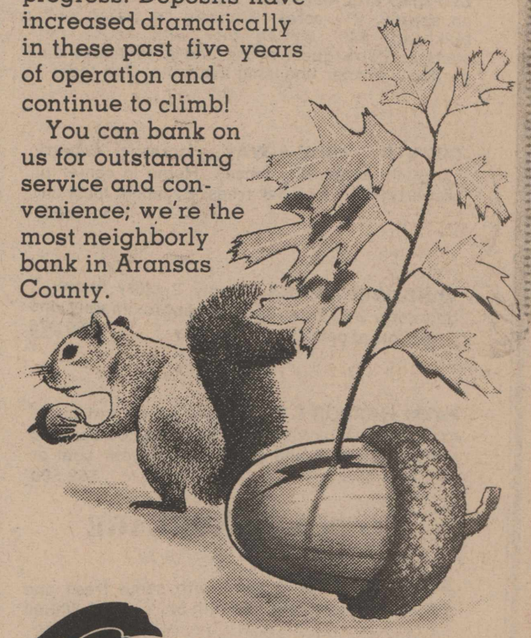

BEEF -- For economy, consider chuck steaks and roasts, stew meat and short ribs.

EMS Report

For the week beginning July 9, paramedics answered 26 calls, one more than the number they had anticipated.

In your home . . . .

YOU CAN CONTROL THE COST OF STAYING COOL.

More than half the electricity used in most air conditioned homes during the summer is used to operate the cooling system.

That means you can control your use of electricity substantially by using air conditioning wisely — by doing everything possible to eliminate waste and inefficiency.

To help keep your home cooling bill down even when the temperature goes up, Central Power and Light Company offers these suggestions:

- DON'T OVERCOOL. Put your thermostat on the highest comfortable setting — about 78 degrees — and keep it there. Each degree below 78 degrees can add another 14% to the cost of operating your air conditioning system.
- Clean or replace the filter at least once a month or — better yet — every two weeks. A clogged filter makes your air conditioner work harder than necessary.
- Be sure your air conditioner is clean and in good working order. Have it cleaned and checked each year to insure maximum efficiency and long life.
- Stop air leaks by caulking and weather stripping cracks around windows and doors. A well sealed house can save up to 10% on air conditioning operating costs.
- Keep the outside sections of central air conditioning free of obstructions; the unit must have free circulation of air for good performance.
- Use draperies, blinds, shades or awnings to keep direct sunlight out of the house; plant trees and shrubs to provide additional shade.

Want more information to use at your home? We have a free booklet for you on "How to Save Money on Your Air Conditioning." Ask for a copy at your local CPL office.

Marble Stains Need Wash

By GENE GARY
Copley News Service

Q. For a number of years I have searched for a method for spot removal and continued protection from stains on travertine marble. The advertised marble cleaners do not serve my needs for this very porous marble. Since past suggestions have not been effective, I am now encouraged that perhaps your column could provide me with a successful method. These are old stains—coffee cup rings, etc. — Jane L.B., Scottsdale, Ariz.

A. I do not have any stain-removing remedy especially recommended for travertine, but I can pass along recommendations from the Marble Institute of America, which I hope will prove satisfactory.

The institute says to start with washing any marks on marble with clear water. If the stain remains, apply a poultice of white blotting paper, white paper napkin or a white cleansing tissue soaked in an appropriate solution, described as follows: For organic stains caused by tea, coffee or leached colors from paper or textiles, use hydrogen peroxide (20 volume) or household ammonia (full commercial strength). For oil stains caused by butter, milk, cream, salad oil, etc., use amyl acetate or acetone. For rust stains, use commercial iron rust remover.

Keep the poultice from drying out by covering it with a piece of glass or a sheet of plastic. Leave it on basements, the other coming from A.C.J. of West Hartford, Conn. In areas where water problems are severe, the basement wall should be protected with a footing tile and a waterproof membrane on the outside of the wall. After a house has been constructed, leakage and seepage can be reduced or eliminated by methods which are expensive, requiring excavating down to the foot. However, interior waterproofing, if applied correctly, will be effective in all but the most severe cases. This can be accomplished by applying an epoxy-type repair product for masonry, which is produced under different brand names — such as Epoxite, Devcon Epoxy Sealers, Epox-Seal, and Crete-Seal. Most of these products should be available at leading hardware and houseware stores, paint stores or masonry supply dealers and marinas.

A. Interior cracks in plastered or dry walls and ceilings can be repaired with a product called Krack-Kote. This bridges wall and ceiling cracks instead of filling them and is pliable, allowing contraction and expansion that causes original cracking. So it should be a for up to 48 hours, depending on the stubborness of the stain.

Q. I live in a two-story frame house built in 1915. After this length of time, I'm still getting cracks in the walls. Even though I have these repaired, after several years there is a recurrence of the trouble, plus additional cracks. The cracks seem to be more prominent above windows and doors and in the corners. Do you have any suggestions as to how this condition might be remedied, other than paneling? — Renata L., Hartford, Wis.

Eat Yourself Slim

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY
Registered Dietitian
Copley News Service

Are you going to suffer through another summer wishing you had lost all that blubber when you had the chance before people saw you in a bathing suit?

Summer vacation time will soon be upon us, and the ravages of winter gluttony will show in unsightly humps and bulges of fat that can distort even the most delectable new summer clothes. Now is the time to stand nude in front of your mirror, for a good, hard look at that body of yours.

What do you see? Flabby arms, bulging stomach and hips? Rolls of fat on your back, thick thighs and knees? Is it painful to really look at yourself? Do you hide your eyes and turn to yet another dougnut for comfort?

Procrastination in any form is an irritating habit, but when losing weight is put off, problems are created that are totally unnecessary.

The fatter you allow yorself to become, the easier you will acquire even more fat. Overweight people tend to gain much more rapidly than others of moderate weight, but this need not become a deterrent. Each person is completely individual and different from everyone else. No one should compare his weight or rate of loss with other people.

Remember the only person you have to reduce — is you. Forget others, and concentrate on yourself.

Right now, you have the opportunity to make a decision, to look better this summer. No one can do it for you. It must be a personal thing. If you are looking forward to your vacation, you might as well have as much enjoyment as possible. Losing weight ahead of time will make you feel much better about yourself, and therefore, it will be more enjoyable. Fat is not fun.

Let's say that you will start by looking in the mirror, to determine hw much weight you want to lose, and where you need to lose it. Set a goal for yourself. Make it realistic and attainable.

A loss of two or three pounds per week is excellent. I might caution you against unrealistic expectations. You will not be able to fit your body into some preconceived unrealistic rate of loss, no matter how hard you try. I have seen people become foolishly upset and depressed because they think they should lose faster than their body can function.

A case in point — a woman came to my office wanting to lose 30 pounds before leaving on a trip to Europe. She had waited until she only had four weeks in which to achieve her goal, and was depressed because she lost 18 pounds in the month — which was really an excellent loss. She simply did not allow adequate time, and caused herself unnecessary mental anguish. I finally got the other 12 pounds off after she returned, but it could have been done sooner. She had learned enough in one month, however, and did not gain additional weight during her trip, an accomplishment in itself.

I am totally opposed to excessively rapid weight loss. It is not only unnecesary, but also poses great danger. Sudden extreme losses can also mean sudden death from potassium depletion which may go undetected. The haggard, older appearance caused by inadequate nutrition can make people look far worse than being overweight.

I caution you to avoid dangerous weight loss medications, liquid protein or inadequate diets of under 1,000 calories. The weight always returns unless permanent new eating habits are established that will control it.

You can lose fat effectively, and still enjoy eating. Getting enough nutrition from the foods you eat is always necessary to insure good health.

Each day you need to be nourished with protein, carbohydrate, some fat, vitamins, minerals and trace minerals.

What you don't need is excessively high caloric intake from concentrated but "empty" foods such as sugar and hard fats. Eliminating junk food from your diet is often effective in dropping even a pound or so per week. Excess salt should also be avoided.

Beer not just for drinking

By MARJORIE RICE
Copley News Service

With warm weather ahead, appetites turn to an icy mug of brew, light or dark, low-calorie or heavy and rich.

It's the perfect time for a beer-tasting bash, to familiarize yourself with the vast array of beers available.

Of course, at such a tasting, you should have a menu featuring foods made with beer.

And you don't have to be 21 to enjoy the dishes. According to "The Beer Makes It Better Cookbook," (Essandess Special Editions, 630 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10020), "alcoholic content ... evaporates within minutes as beer cooks, leaving a marvelous flavor of grain and hops."

(That cookbook, by the way, was published in 1970. It may not be available from bookstores, so write the publisher.)

In meat cooking, beer is a classic ingredient. Used in place of water as the simmering liquid, it brings out all the richness of the meat and vegetables.

Beer is an excellent marinade for meat, fish or seafood, penetrating and tenderizing. In roasting, baking or broiling, beer bastes the foods to impart a rich, dark color and add excellent flavor to gravies.

Beer has an important role in baking, too. It leavens biscuits, pancakes, cakes and breads.

Most beers can be used for cooking, but some darker beers have a bitter flavor, so you'll want to experiment. In particular, check saltiness of any mixture containing beer, before adding more salt.

CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1⅔ cups sifted flour
¼ tsp. salt
1½ tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. baking soda
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup beer

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Grease two eight-inch-round cake pans and dust them lightly with flour.

Melt the chocolate over hot water, set it aside to cool. Sift together the flour, salt, baking powder and soda. Cream the shortening, gradually adding the sugar. Beat the mixture until it is light and fluffy.

Add one egg at a time to the shortening, beating it wellafter each addition. Stir in the chocolate. Add the flour mixture alternately with the beer, mixing it until well blended. Turn the batter into the pans.

Bake the cake 25 minutes, or until a tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool the layers for five minutes in the pans and then turn them out onto a cake rack. Let them cool completely before frosting them with a favorite frosting, or with whipped cream.

COQ A LA BIERE

1 whole chicken, about three pounds
6 tbsps. butter, divided
1 medium shallots, finely chopped
½ lb. mushrooms, sliced
¼ cup brandy
1⅓ cups beer
Salt, freshly ground pepper
⅔ cup heavy cream
Fresh parsley

Season the chicken with salt and pepper. Place it on its side in a deep csserole and add half the butter. Bake the chicken about 30 minutes in a 400-degree oven, or until it is golden. During the cooking, baste the chicken frequently with the drippings in the pan.

Remove the chicken from the casserole and add the shallots and remaining butter. Cook them slowly until the shallots are soft. Add the mushrooms, brandy, beer and chicken.

Return the casserole to the oven and cook another 15 minutes. Remove the chicken, cut it into four pieces and remove the bones from the breasts. Put the pieces into a deep dish.

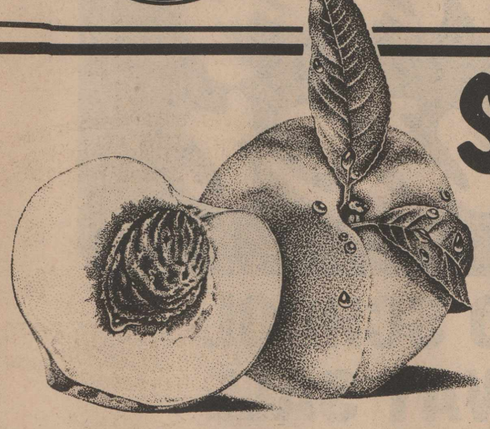

Heat the cooking liquid over a high flame until it is reduced by about one-half. Stir in the cream and cook until it is bubbly and thick. Taste the sauce and correct the seasoning with salt and pepper. Pour the sauce over the chicken pieces and garnish the dish with parsley.

BATTER FOR FRYING FISH

1 cup flour
8 ozs. beer
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. salt

Blend all the ingredients together. Dip chunks or fillets of fish into the batter and fry in hot oil or shortening. Makes two cups of batter.

The Legal Way

Can squatter claim land?

By E.J. DEMSON, J.D.
Copley News Service

Failure by landowner to protect his ownership (title) may result in the loss of his land to a squatter, in law called an adverse possessor.

Q. Please send me information on trespass of my property to the extent of adverse possession. The property is in Modoc County, Calif.

A. Where there is no judgment or written instrument, to establish ownership (title) to land in California by adverse possession, California Statute (C.C.P.322-23,325-28) says the adverse possessor must: substantially enclose the land, cultivate or improve it, pay all the taxes for five years and continuously and openly hold possession of it for five years.

Each state has a law with variation how an adverse possessor can achieve title.

Q. My husband and I didn't retain all our account told us about marital tax deductions under the new federal Tax Reform Act of 1976. Specifically, what marital deductions are allowed in lifetime marital gifts, and those allowed after death of spouse?

We are embarrassed to ask again. And would you please comment about an estate of about $300,000.

A. The new federal Tax Reform Act of 1976 (Sec.2002) sets the maximum estate tax marital deduction at $250,000 or 50 percent of the adjusted gross estate. Also, there is now an unlimited gift tax marital deduction for the first $100,000 in gifts to a spouse. Gifts over $100,000 up to $200,000 to a spouse are fully taxed and a 50 percent marital deduction is allowed for gifts over $200,000.

About your estate of adjusted gross of $300,000, under the old law the marital deduction would have been limited to $150,000 (50 percent of $300,000). Under the new law the maximum marital deduction is $250,000.

Q. We live in Florida. After a marriage of four years and no children, we both have agreed to try by artificial insemination. Would the child of such a device be our legitimate child?

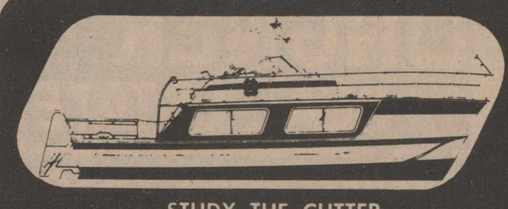

A. Florida Statute (Sec.742.11) provides: Any child born within wedlock who has been conceived by means of artificial insemination is conclusively presumed to be legitimate provided that both husband and wife have consented in writing to artificial insemination.
