REDS PLOT OVERTHROW OF U. S. GOVERNMENT

MOSCOW BEHIND HUGE PLOT JUST BEING REVEALED

Mine Workers Elected As Medium of Secret Overthrow Plans

VAST NETWORK EXISTS

Scheme to Seize Federated Labor and Control All Unions

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The United Mine Workers of America today made public the first of a series of six articles charging that "Red forces, under the direct supervision of Moscow, are attempting to seize control of the organized labor movement of America and use it as the base from which to carry on communist movement for the overthrow of American government."

"Imported revolution is knocking at the door of the United Mine Workers of America and of the people of the United States and Canada," says the introductory article, which adds that its disclosures are "the result of an independent, searching investigation by the miner's organization which led directly to the original sources."

Through a revolutionary movement on this continent, the communist Internationale at Moscow has undertaken, according to the miners, to carry out the following program:

The Red Program.

"1—Overthrow and destruction of the federal, state and provincial governments, with the elimination of existing constitutional forms and foundations.

"2—Establishment of soviet dictatorship, absolute in its exercise of power, owing allegiance to and conceding the authority only of the communist or third Internationale Moscow as a governmental substitute.

"3—Destruction of all social, economic and political institutions as they exist at this time.

"4—Seizure of all labor unions through a process of boring from within them and utilizing them as a strategic instrument in fulfillment of the revolution designs upon organized and constitutional government.

"5—Invasion of the United Mine Workers of America, with the ouster of its present officials and leaders and the substitution of a leadership of communists that it may be used as an instrumentality for seizing the labor unions of America, and for eventually taking possession of the country.

Would Use "Big Four."

"6—A well organized movement is being promoted among the Big Four railroad unions and sixteen railroad trade union to amalgamate all railroad unions into one departmentalized industrial union, controlled by a single leader of communists principle and affiliation and owing allegiance to the communist organization.

"7—Seizure of the American Federation of Labor, with the ouster of its officials, and through such seizure, gaining control of its affiliated units and trade unions.

"8—Conversion of all trade craft's unions into single units of workers within an industry known as 'Industrial unions' with co-ordination under a super-soviet union owing allegiance to and accepting the mandates of the communist internationale, and its subsidiary, the red trade union internationale at Moscow."

Vast Network Revealed.

The article charges that a vast network of agencies for the dissemination of communist propaganda exists in the United States. This system, it is alleged, is a veritable octopus of interlocking directorates, with 200 local organizations, 45 national ones, and a membership that runs the social scale of the organization.

The bonds were discovered near Buda, and as Mr. Knox was burning up the wires, Austin officers were notified and the bonds returned to him.

Mr. Knox appeared at the attorney general department Saturday morning with the $20,000 printed bonds. Then it was discovered they had never been signed.

He took them back to McCullough county Saturday.

PONY EXPRESS COMPLETES TRIP

Beats Old Time Record By Approximately 42 Hours

By The Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—The revived pony express, epic reminder of the old express of the "60s" ended its trip from St. Joseph, Mo., at 2:39 p. m. today, when Will Tevis, San Francisco poloist, rode into Tanforan race track here on the back of a hardy mount. Tevis had carried the mail pouch from the California state line. He was greeted by a cheering throng.

Lieutenant Sol Tipman of B troop, eleventh cavalry, Monterrey, Calif., dashed into the paddock of the track at 3 p. m., the army having entered a team of relay riders to race Tevis to the finish line.

It was announced at the track that the 1923 express had beaten the time of the old pony express by approximately 42 hours. The riders followed the old pony trail from St. Joseph as closely as possible, there being necessary diversion where the pioneer trails had been wiped out by the rising of cities and other monuments to the westward march of civilization.

The seventy five couriers who participated in the ride covered a route of 2,180 miles at an average speed of 13 3-4 miles per hour. The riders were on the road 158 hours, eight minutes. The best average speed of the pony express riders of 1860, according to available records, was 10.7 miles per hour.

Walton Gives Out New Installment Of "Tulsa Story"

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9.—Mob whippings in Tulso county, alleged to have been the work of members of the Ku Klux Klan at the direction of high officials of the invisible empire, form the theme of the second installment of Governor J. C. Walton's "story of Tulsa" made public tonight. The "story of Tulsa" was written by Aldrick Blake, executive counselor and contains what is declared to be testimony given at a millitary courtmartial being conducted here.

Testimony is introduced into the second installment in which an unnamed witness asserts that attempts were made by klan members on two different occasions to seize members of their own organization by force because it was reported both men had favored Governor Walton in the election last fall. The klan was opposed to Walton, its mebers said. Indications that klan officials had advised witnesses appearing before the military court that the military investigators were without power to punish for refusal to answer interrogations were also disclosed in the second chapter.

"The last witness refuses to be sworn. A high official of the klan, he says, has advised him the military tribunal is without power. It cannot punish for contempt. The invisible government triumphs. The witness is excused."

So relates a portion of the narrative.

The next day Tulsa was placed under martial law and the visible government triumphed, the story continues.

A greater part of the civil authorities in Tulsa belonged to the klan, according to testimony related in Blake's story. The account said the man testifying was a high official of the klan.

One witness, when he refused to take oath before the military tribunal, was asked whether he regarded his oath to the Ku Klux Klan above his allegiance to the United States constitution. He refused to answer, the narrative declares, and was temporarily dismissed.

The military investigation is known to have encountered a number of witnesses who had apparently been given legal counsel before being summoned before the tribunal. It was this "continued opposition" to the efforts of military authorities to obtain information which is admitted to have brought absolute martial law to Tulsa.

BIG OIL TANKS BLEW UP WITH OPENING SHOCK

HILLS INTO CITIES

Nippon Government Appropriates $265,000,000 for Relief

By The Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—At the first shock of the earthquake, the great oil tanks on the hillside above the Yokosuka cable station exploded, and millions of tons of oil swept down upon the city, turning the harbor into a mass of flames. The walls of the Negeshi prison collapsed, and 5,000 convicts were released.

The most desperate of these sought to profit by looting and murdering the disabled. Hastily formed bodies of citizens, however, hunted the miscreants and exacted a summary death penalty.

Hospital Into Cemetery

The American hospital is reported to have been hurled from the bluff to the cemetery below, tearing open the earth and exhuming the bodies of many of those interred there.

The stories of the earthquake, as narrated by eye witnesses, depict scenes rivaling in horror the popular representations of the Buddhist hell. Business men were about to leave their offices in Yokohama at the close of Saturday morning's work, when without warning, and with a tremendous roar, the ground heaved up four or five feet and then dropped back again. Houses on the bluff were precipitated headlong into the city. The round rocked, heaved and swayed like the waves of the sea. Fugitives, fleeing from the falling buildings found their way blocked by huge, gaping holes, some of them large enough to admit a horse and wagon.

City Exits Blocked

Peril was added by the rising water from the water mains, which burst everywhere. This, with fire, blocked all the exits from the city. Hundreds sought to escape from a fiery death by rushing toward the Moto Mach canal, where some who endeavored to cross on wooden lighters were overtaken by blazing oil, which flowed from the exploding tanks, and met terrible deaths. Still others, panic stricken, flung themselves into the water and met an equally dreadful death. The canal was soon choked with floating bodies. People leaped into the sea in their frenzy to escape the deluge of red-hot cinders from the blazing ruins.

Money Appropriated

By The Associated Press.

OSAKA, Sept. 9.—The Japanese government has appropriated 530,000,000 yen ($265,000,000) for relief work. This decision by the cabinet at Saturday's sitting represents the greatest relief measure in the history of world disasters.

Hill Slid Into Gorge.

Donald S. Herr, of Cleveland, Ohio, was killed, when a hill slid into a gorge carrying along a shop in which he was purchasing curios at the time. Joseph S. Ruble, also of Cleveland, who was Herr's friend and school mate at Pennsylvania State College, had a miraculous escape. He was pinned to the ground by a telephone pole but was only slightly injured; the land slide did not affect the ground where he had been standing.

Hugh Horne, acting commercial secretary and W. Haigh, vice consul of the British consulate at Yokohama are still missing and it is feared they are dead.

Woman Rescued.

Mrs. Junius Wood, wife of a Chicago newspaper correspondent walked across the country to the coast and was rescued by Japanese warships. Indications are that for the whole devasted area the death roll exceeds 200,000.

Yokohama Loss 23,000.

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—A total of 23,000 persons were killed and 40,000 injured in Yokohama and 10,000 killed in the Hakone district as the result of the earthquake and fire, according to an official statement issued here today.

Seventy-one per cent of the city of Tokio, has been destroyed, the statement said.

Public markets will be opened in Tokio shortly, it was announced, and distribution to refugees will be carried on temporarily by the numerous relief centers.

Landmarks and points along the Japanese coast have entirely disappeared, and the shore line of Kamakura Bay has been raised, it was stated here today.

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—The Tokio police have announced that up to Thursday morning the coroner had directed inquests over 32,564 corpses in the Honjo military clothing warehouses and yards alone. It has been learned that many refugees riding on the roofs of trains were knocked off and killed in Usui Tunnel, near Karuisawa.

By The Associated Press.

CORSICANA, Texas, Sept. 9.—A well-dressed young woman selected the wrong room to burglarize this morning when she entered the home of Deputy Sheriff E. W. Watnell and started a systematic search of the officer's trousers, which were near his bed. The officer awoke.

The stranger attempted to escape, but the sheriff quickly had her handcuffed to the bedpost, and a little later had her lodged in the county jail, facing a charge of burglary. The captive said she arrived from Waco this morning.

Premier Poincare Thinks Germany's Resistance Ended

By The Associated Press.

CAMVILLES, France, Sept. 9.—Speaking at the inauguration of a monument to the war dead today, Premier Poincare said that the resistance in the Rhur which the Germans had counted on to discourage the French had been overcome little by little, and now was beginning to collapse altogether.

The speech of the premier, after having covered the special subject of the day's assemblage, dealt with recent declarations by Dr. Stresemann, Hans von Raumer, German minister of economics and Dr. Rudolf Hilferding, German minister of finance.

M. Poincare quoted Hilferding and von Raumer as saying that Germany's financial recovery was possible only when the struggle in the Ruhr had ended. "If so," he said," they control the cure. They have only to cease throwing billions of marks into the Ruhr to encourage unemployment and let the free population follow their own inclinations, as they only wish to work and reach an understanding with us for the deliveries due."

To Chancellor Stresemann's proposals of other guarantees than the Ruhr for payment, M. Poincare replied with the French equivalent for the proverb that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." The proposed guarantees, he declared, would add nothing to the general mortgage which the treaty of Versailles gives the allies on all property of the German states.

"We prefer the positive pledge we hold to any theoritical rights," said M. Poincare. "And we refuse to let them go for general guarantees which might be excellent on paper but the product of which might escape us."

Dr. Stresemann, M. Poincare declared, had insisted that close collaboration between complimentary industries of France and Germany would be an excellent preface to a settlement of reparations and to definite code of peace. The German chancellor, he added, was putting the cart before the horse. Former Chancellor Cuno last December had offered to prepare agreements between the German coal-owners and the French mineral owners to their mutual advantage, but even the French, who were most deeply interested in such proposals, agreed that they must wait until the French government had obtained positive results from the reparations problems, said M. Poincare.

Forbidding Regions Of Arctic May Be Penetrated By ZR-I

Military and scientific leaders see untold possibilities in the successful launching and flight of the ZR-1, first "made in America" dirigible. This giant Zeppelin, the first to be constructed in the United States, has a cruising radius of 5,000 miles. A trip in comparative ease and comfort to the uncharted and unexplored arctic regions is seen as one of the possible uses for the craft. Such a trip would give the government and scientists new authentic data on the now forbidding region. The huge craft was built at Lakehurst, N. J., and is housed between trips in the largest hangar in the world.

Man Dead, Women Injured In Crash

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 9.—Wallace Ellis, filling station owner, was killed his wife and her mother, Mrs. W. H. Carter, were badly injured, when the car he was driving, collided with a car driven by Jim Easton, on East Sixth street tonight. Miss Annie Bell Shooter of Dallas, one of the five occupants of Easton's car, was also hurt and the three women were taken to hospitals. Ellis' two young daughters escaped injury as did four men in the Easton car, though both automobiles turned over. Easton told police that the steering wheel of his car became locked and that the car swerved to the left side of the street.

A charge of manslaughter was filed by Motorcycle Officer A. Von Rosenberg against Easton in justice court tonight and Easton was allowed bond in the sum of $1,000.

Second Catholic Picnic Turns Out Successful Event

The second annual Catholic picnic was held Sunday at Haven park with 2,000 present from different parts of the state, a barbecue, baseball game, other athletic events, band concerts and addresses featuring the event.

The first event of the day's festivities was a band concert held on the campus of the Sacred heart academy, the Rhineland 25 piece Knights of Columbus band furnishing the music following high mass. The band led the line of march to Haven park where a picnic barbecue dinner was enjoyed at 1 o'clock.

The address of welcome was by C. E. Browne. Hon. J. I. Driscoll of El Paso responded in an address wherein he showed the part the catholics had played in American history. He made particularly reference to the work of the Catholics during the Revolutionary war, quoting at length from George Washington's letter to Bishop Caroll.

The addresses were followed by athletic events, one of the most humorous being a man trying to harness a donkey blindfolded. In a tug of war between Electra and Wichita Falls the latter team won despite the fact that Eelectra had brought along 10 fat men for the event. In the baseball game Wichita was again victorious over Electra winning by a score of 5 to 3.

The event was voted a great success and plans for the third annual picnic next year were begun.

23 LIVES LOST AS SEVEN SHIPS CRASH ON ROCKS

Men Trapped in Bunks When U. S. S. Young Hits and Capsizes

SHIPS TOTAL LOSS

Boatswain in Daring Rescue —$2,500,000 Aboard of Wrecked Steamer

By The Associated Press.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Sept. 9.—Seven United States navy destroyers and the Pacific coast mail line Cubas were wrecked yesterday and last night, the navy vessels crashing on the rocks in a dense fog off Arguello light, 75 miles north of Santa Barbara, and the passenger steamer on a reef off the southeast end of San Miguel Island, 35 miles off this port.

Twenty-five enlisted men of the destroyers lost their lives in the naval disaster and all the destroyers were reported as total losses.

$2,500,000 Aboard.

The liner Cubas was reported to have sunk during the night, but all passengers and members of her crew either were landed at Los Angeles by the destroyer Reno or are on their way to San Francisco on board the Standard Oil Tanker W. S. Miller, with the exception of Captain C. J. Holland, the purser, steward and eight seamen, who remained on board to guard a shipment of $2,500,000 in silver bullion.

Dense fog was the cause of both disasters.

The destroyers Chauncey, Woodbury, Fuller, S. P. Lee Nicholas, Young and Delphy were all beached within a few minutes of one another, according to naval officers.

The flotilla of which the wrecked craft formed a part was in command of Captain Edward Watson, commanding officer of the Delphy, and was on a practice cruise.

Dead Trapped in Bunks.

The dead were all trapped in their bunks on the Young, when the vessel struck a rock and were drowned when the craft capsized within two minutes after striking.

More than 500 men were rescued from the wrecked destroyers, which tonight were reported to be pounding to pieces on the rocks, all total losses.

Traveling Fast When Wrecked.

Of the survivors, fifteen of the seriously injured were brought to the Santa Barbara county hospital here. One hundred others were cut and bruised in their swim to safety over the jagged rocks. The destroyers were travelling in formation at 20 knots an hour in a heavy sea and dense fog when the leading vessel crashed.

Carried ahead by a strong tide, the others piled on the beach in succession. Lying in the line along the shore at intervals of 250 feet, the boats tonight were slowly breaking up. One of them, the Chauncey, was resting high on the rocks.

List of Dead.

A partial list of the dead, as officially announced, follows:

U. S. Skipper, Joseph Slimmak, Henry T. Kirk, Enrique Torres, Buchanan, Harrison, Reddock, Salzer, Martin, Kirby, Grady, Benschank, Taylor, Overshiner, Duncan, Ray H. Morris, John Young, C. F. Rogers and Conroy.

The body of Conroy was the only one recovered tonight when all efforts to obtain the others had been fruitless.

The sea was running so heavy that it was only a few minutes after the crash that all of the destroyers were taking water.

Performs Daring Rescue.

The rescue of most of the crew of the Young was effected when Boatswain's Mate Peterson took a line overboard and swam with it to the Chauncey, fighting against the rough sea and strong tides.

With the line secured between the two ships, all remaining members of the crew made their way ashore, as the Chauncey was beached on the mainland.

The fifteen more seriously injured sailors brought to the county hospital here arrived on a rescue train at 4:35 o'clock this morning. The train had been sent shortly after the first message was flashed from the wireless of the wrecked destroyers. The special carried a corps of Santa Barbara physicians who assisted naval surgeons in giving first aid treatment.

A twist of fate that sent the destroyer Reno, tearing southward at 30 knots an hour to the west of the Channel Islands instead of down the Santa Barbara Channell, according to her schedule, saved 68 survivors from the wreck of the Pacific Mail liner Cuba from almost certain death at sea, according to the Reno's commander, Lieutenant Commander J. R. Barry. The Reno, after groping her way southward through the fog banks reached San Pedro harbor today with the passengers and crew of the wrecked Cuba.

Find Cuba's Boats.

Lost in the fog and headed due west for the open sea, in the belief that they were bound for the mainland, two of the Cuba's boats were sighted yesterday by the Reno as she was speeding through the fog on her annual full power trials. Chance sighting of the first life boat through a rift in the fog was all that saved the Cuba's ill-fated passengers, declared Commander Barry. He said:

Turning To Women

The World Looks to Her Intuition For Guidance and It Makes No Mistake

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

Apparently the world at large, certainly of our own country, is turning more and more for guidance to that wisdom born of affecti . which we call "The intuition of woman."

"Her first thought is always of the home. Her first care is for its provisions. As our laws and customs are improved by her influence. it is likely to be first in the direction of greater facility for acquiring, and greater security in holding a home."

This appeal was embodied in an article published by the Delineator regarding better homes.

The full text of the article, by permission, is given herewith:

We spend too much time in longing for the things that are far off and too little in the enjoyment of the things that are near at hand. We live too much in dreams and too little in realities. We cherish too many impossible projects of setting worlds in order, which are bound to fail. We consider too little plans for putting our households in order, which might easily be made to succeed. A large part of our seeming ills would be dispelled if we could but turn from the visionary to the practical. We need the influence of vision, we need the inspiring power of ideals, but all these are worthless unless they can be translated into positive actions.

The world has been through a great spiritual and moral awakening in these last few years. There are those who fear that this may all be dissipated. It will be unless it can be turned into something actual. In our own country conditions have developed which make this more than ever easy of accomplishment. It ought to be expressed not merely in official and public deeds, but in personal and private actions. It must come through a realization that the great things of life are not reserved for the enjoyment of a few, but are within the reach of all.

Religion and the Home

There are two shrines at which mankind has always worshipped, almost always worship; the altar, which represents religion, and the hearthstone which represents the home.

Soft Light Has Subtle Charm

A house may have adequate wiring and include the desired number of outlets and still be a failure from the standpoint of illumination unless care is exercised in the selection of lighting fixtures.

It has been truly said that the charm of a room is contingent upon its lighting effects, and as the fixture is the determining factor in creating these effects, the style, shape and color to be used in the various rooms is worthy of consideration.

In years past we resigned ourselves to the glare of center domes and chandeliers, unshaded lamps and ugly fixtures, because we thought we had to accept whatever happened to be installed when the house was built. Fortunately, however, there has been a marked change in the marketing of fixtures, so that today we are able to change them as readily as we change our floor coverings or wall papers. The quality and design of fixtures are now determined by the texture and color of the furnishings, and by the size and shape of the room.

The size and type of the house, likewise, must be reckoned with when in the market for fixtures, as those that would be effective in a cottage or smaller suburban house would be quite out of place in a town house or on a palatial country estate.

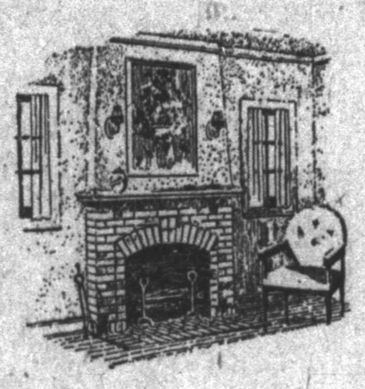

Wired vases with fringed silk shades of contrasting colors make attractive lamps for living room or library, and in this connection it may be pointed out that rose or yellow are the best colors through which to sift light. No matter what combinations may be introduced to carry out the general decorative scheme of a room, it is always safe to line your lamp shades with either yellow or rose, preferably yellow.

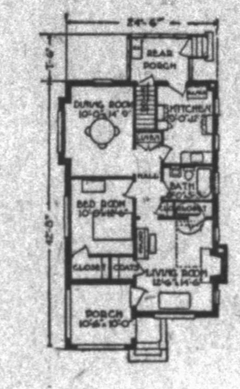

There has been a growing preference of late for side wall illumination, especially in living rooms, and this has revived the use of the old-fashioned sconce. These are usually fashioned from some light metal and the lamps are shaded with tiny parchment screens, some decorated with gay colored birds such as parrots or peacocks, while others, combining colors of red-orange and black in conventional designs, are equally effective.

If ceiling light is used in the hall, the lantern type of fixture is most effective, the windows fashioned from glass or tinted parchment which blends with the general color scheme. A "torchier" or pedestal lamp is also effective for hall illumination and may be used appropriately on staircase landings or in the dining room. The base of the torchier is usually of wrought iron and the lantern top is fashioned from colored glass which harmonizes with the surrounding furnishings and hangings.

A Small House With Real Architectural Merit

It is easier to design a large than a small house, but here the architect has succeeded in producing an extremely attractive effect with the restricted masses and simple lines of this small house. The fine chimney, the roof, the gabled porch, the proportion of height to breadth, and the placing of the windows combine into a very pleasing whole.

The large, square porch forms a complete protection for the entrance, which lets you directly into the ample living room where a convenient coat closet accommodates wraps, umbrellas, and the like. A cheerful fireplace gives the room a very homey feeling. A closet for a disappearing bed practically makes of the living room another bedroom when occasion demands.

A short hall leads to the dining room and kitchen, and connects the bedroom with the bath. The rear porch is glazed, screened, and heated, and has a foundation wall around it, so that it may be used for more than just a rear porch. It could be made an attractive all-the-year-round dining porch.

This design offers a rare chance for the artistry of brickwork. While the field could be treated with a simple running bond, much could be made of the frieze under the eaves, the base and band courses, and window lintels and sills, by the handling of analgous color tones. Striking contrasts should not be used.

This type of house lends itself to a charming landscape treatment which by no means requires large spaces. It is a matter of lawn, shrubbery, flowers and vines, so disposed as to serve as embellishment for the general mass of the house. A brick walk, of the same color as the house, would intimately link the landscape and house together.

Note the basement windows which give light and ventilation to the laundry and heater, coal, vegetable, and storage rooms.

Work Is Lighter In Planned Home

Here Are Some Valuable Suggestions on Equipment Necessary

Having a house that is structurally sound, well planned and with adequate yard space, the next question is its equipment. Equipment has to do with the operation, with the house work. On the one hand this is more or less determined by the size and plan of the building, on the other by the furnishing and decoration. A well-planned house makes house work lighter; and furnishing and decoration which add unnecessarily to the number of things which must be cleaned or cared for, or heavy pieces which must be moved, add to the labor of house work. Nevertheless, equipment occupies a clear outfield of its own that calls for separate discussion.

Heating

Central Heating—Central heating preferred. May be hot air, steam, hot water or vapor. Insulate heater and pipes. Large furnace water pan, or radiator waterpans, desirable. Select heating system, using fuel most economical for your locality. Thermostat heat regulator installed in living room is desirable. Write placards describing why you selected this heating plant; why it is so well insulated; why large water pan or radiator water pans are important.

Water Supply

Should have running hot and cold water. If city water not available should be pumped by power rams. Hot water boiler may be attached to coal range with auxiliary gas or oil heater for summer. Where gas rate is low, gas may be used alone. Automatic gas hot water heaters very desirable.

Bathroom

Floor—Should be most sanitary. Tile, stone or linoleums are the most sanitary. Small black and white pattern or light blue and white are good. A well-filled painted wood floor of battleship gray or colonial buff may be used.

Walls—Tile or plaster painted with two coats flat paint and one coat of enamel, or oil cloth wall covering. White, blue and cream are the best colors.

Ventilation — Window board should be in window to allow top and bottom ventilation. An additional separate ventilator is desirable.

Fixtures—Porcelain or enameled iron tub with hot and could running water; shower with spray set at angle not to wet hair.

Basin—Porcelain or enamel with hot and cold water. Toilet—Porcelain, white enameled seat desirable. Medicine cabinet—With door and mirror over basin, shelves for shaving equipment, lotions, antiseptics, etc. Cupboard—Large enough to hold supply of towels, soap, toilet paper and equipment for cleaning bathroom fixtures.

Clothes Hamper—Unless chute to bin near washtubs is provided. Hamper should have white smooth surface. Enameled metal or wood desirable.

Towel Racks—A nickel or enameled wood rack for each member of family to keep towels separate.

Miscellaneous Fixtures — Two nickel or enameled metal soap racks, one beside basin and one beside or hooked to tub. Toothbrush rack to hold toothbrushes well separated. Toilet paper basket or rack. Individual mugs or glasses for each member of family. Shelf of glass or wood covered with oil cloth over basin.

Stool—White enamel, preferably. Clothes hooks on back of door, or clothes tree. Sash curtains of white material, each to launder.

Lavatory—It is well to have additional lavatory on ground floor to save steps. It should contain toilet, wash bowl, stool and fixtures for accessories. Should be easy to clean and hygenic as bathroom.

Spuds Overwhelm Bears in Series Opener

RIP WHEELER SHOWS 'EM HOW WHILE LOCALS POUND TWO GREASERVILLE HURLERS HARD

By DON WELDON

The San Antonio Bears didn't have a chance yesterday afternoon when they opened their last series here, and the Spudders walloped them in almost every inning, running up a total of eleven runs, the visitors being forced to be content with a single counter, garnered in the ninth inning after two men were out. The Spudders were right. Their fielding average was somewhere around twelve hundred and they caught the ball in sensational plays in every part of the park.

When Counchman started in the box for the Bears the Bergerites hit him with everything but the umpire's mask and he was forced to retire after allowing five counters across in the first frame. He gave way to Adams, who although much better at first, soon went down under an avalanche of wallops that gave the Spuds six more runs. The locals seemed to have found a four leaf clover and played ball that would win in any league. The game however, due to the fast play of the Spudders, was unusually good and the large Sunday crowd that saw the game witnessed one hour and 28 minutes of unusual baseball.

While the Spudder stick artists were piling up the runs Rip Wheeler was performing in the box with the Bears licking out of his hand. He allowed eight hits, until the last inning no two bingles being in the same frame. It was after two were out that he let down for a moment in the ninth, and the visitors scored their lonely counter.

In the opener Coombs ripped out a two bagger to left and when Couchman fumbled Weiss' bunt both runners were safe. A single by Tanner advanced them a notch, putting Coombs across the rubber for the first counter and Weiss on third from where he scored following the catch of Cotter's long fly to left field.

Tanner Scores.

In the third Simon overthrew first so far on Tanner's hit that Buddy got to third, from where he scored on Cotter's smashing drive through second that went for two bases.

The Spudders were again right in the lucky seventh when they got to Adams for a quartet of bingles that netted five runs. The big end of the lineup opened things, Coombs getting on with a single, Weiss walked and Buddy Tanner uncorked a home run from somewhere in his hat bag that accounted for three runs. Scrap Iron was right and got on bases three times out of his four at bat, with a couple of safe hits. Cotter hit for a double and after Berger flied out Barrett knocked his second circuit clout of the game, the ball going over the fence near the center of the field on the left.

Bears Count One.

So far as the Spudders were concerned that ended the ball game, but they held the Bears until the last frame when Boone got in a position to score with a double. Simon was out, as was Todt, but Meyers sent Boone to third, and Boone scored on Galloway's lucky single to right field.

Barrett, with a couple of homers and a double out of four trips to the plate, looked mighty good, but the best part of the whole thing was his work with the ball at second. He figured in all three of the Spudder's double plays and showed a speed in handling the ball and an acuracy in heaving to first that was one of the game's features. He looks like one of the most promising youngsters uncovered by the Spuds this year.

Coombs' running catch of Kohlbecker's fly to right center field was one of the prettiest bits of work of the game, while Bob Bescher broke into the limelight by spearing a wide foul. Bischoff caught a foul off of the top of the Bears dugout in the eighth that retired the side.

The Bears have one more game here before the Houston crew invades Spudderdom for the last time. It is expected that the Spudders will start the new recruit, Morgan, against the Bears today. Morgan is a Lubbock hurler who looked good in his one time in the game last week.

and were hitting it up since we left Puget Sound for San Diego. We were scheduled to have passed down the inside of the channel, but the fog was so thick that I decided to strike outside for safety.

"About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon we sighted a small boat on our beam. We thought it was a fishing boat at first, but as we dashed by I saw that it carried too many persons for such a craft. Three miles farther out we passed a second boat and knew that they were in distress.

"Our speed was so terrific that we were forced to make a long circle of more than five miles to slow down before we reached the first life boat, in charge of the Cuba's chief engineer, W. J. Owens.

"Owens had his craft, as well as the one following him, headed directly west in the belief that they were going east. He gave us an idea where the Cuba was piled up and an hour later we found her, down by the head and the heavy seas piling over her decks.

"The passengers, women and children, wearing coats and overclothing of the ship's officers, were lying in bedraggled heaps about the beach."

Fog and lost bearing, aggravated by the lack of wireless to ascertain compass bearings, was responsible for the accident, according to the officers of the Cuba.

Radio Disabled.

"Our radio set had been disabled since we left the Panama Canal and we knew we were lost yesterday morning, but we were helpless without radio," said Radio Operator M. N. Willis.

Cubas Sinks.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Sept. 9.—The Pacific Mail liner Cubas which went aground yesterday on a reef off the southeast end of San Miguel Island, 35 miles from Santa Barbara, apparantly had sunk, according to the Santa Barbara Morning Press, which sent a boat to the scene last night. The boat returned here late today and reported that after scouting over the sea for miles no trace was found of the vessel.

The "trade trippers" will be headed by Captain Al Weatherly and will leave the chamber of commerce at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. They will visit Cresson, Tolar, Bluntdale, Stephenville, Dublin and intermediate points in the interest of strengthening and extending Fort Worth's immediate trade territory.

Dectur Baptists Expect To Have Good Grid Team

DECATUR, Texas, Sept. 9.—Coach Penn Dickson, who returned last week from taking his degree at Baylor college, assembled a training school on the Decatur Baptist campus for a two weeks tryout of all men who have reported for the purpose of trying to make the football team for Decatur Baptist college.

About forty have thus far put in appearance and a choice lot is undergoing the grind. Last night a reception was given the men in the hall of the American Legion under auspices of the Decatur Chamber of Commerce and the Legion. Vice President C. P. Dodson, and Secretary Cliff Cates, of the Chamber of Commerce, assured the squad of the solid backing of the town in their efforts to win laurels in the many battles that have been scheduled.

The camp will continue another week. John Fullingin, star end of the Baylor Bears of last season, was here for the week assisting Coach Dixon with suggestions for the improvement of the team. He returned to Waco yesterday where he will reenter Baylor for this term. He will resume his old position with the bears and in addition will captain the Baylor basket ball team. It is Fullingim's opinion that the Decatur Baptist team will make history for themselves in the contests scheduled for this season.

CRAWLING UP

Top hogs are selling at above $9.00 in the Chicago market. A year they were dangling between six and seven dollars per hundred.

Corn is climbing. Corn and pig or pig and corn make a powerful combination. It is a combination of bacon and bread. It is a combination that goes strong the world over. And wheat may take an upward turn. Rusia produced a large crop this year, or no facilities at all makes it almost impossible to get Russian wheat to the European centers of population.

This will stimulate the foreign demand for American wheat. Business hasn't gone to pot in America. Bankers are very wise and very cautious men. Officials in the twelve federal reserve districts at the close of August declared conditions are genrally improving, poor results are only local, liquidation of debts and collections are found satisfactory in most places and that the American wheat growers will receive two hundred million dollars more for the crop of 1923 than for the crop of 1922.

Away down here in Texas the wool and mohair producers are promised the heaviest clips for years and no starvation prices in sight. If there is a people under the shining sun who should be grateful to the Lord on High for more than a fair share of peace and prosperity they are to be found in this land of ours.

CONCERNING COTTON

Egypt is a producer of long staple cotton. It is a producer of the short staple. They are not co-operatives over there but a London dispatch says a syndicate composed of the largest Egyptian growers is planning to starve the market for the next few weeks.

This is the program: The syndicate will circularize the Egyptian farmers, urging them to hold their cotton for the time being. This is the argument: The Egyptian cotton crop this year will be more than thirty percent smaller than in 1922 and the organizers and the organizers of the Anglo-Egyptian syndicate expects that the American crop will be seriously curtailed.

Wise Britons. Wise Egyptians. The American crop has been seriously curtailed. Over here there is a famine crop and the drouth and the boll weevil are largely responsible for the scant supply. Texas is all right. Texas was not ignored by the weevil and sections of Texas were subjected to a most blistering drouth but despite all this, Texas production this year may touch the three million, eight hundred thousand bale mark.

The point is, however, the Egyptian crop is thirty percent smaller than in 1922 and this isn't going to hurt the pocket book of the southern grower the least bit. Cotton should be gold product this year.

RUSH COMING

American oil and mining companies are planning to increase their holdings in Mexico following the recognition of Mexico by the United States. Among these there is said to be a feeling of confidence in the Obregon administration of government remarkably different from that which characterized the attitude of American business men up to two or three years ago. Mexico's plan for a central bank has received the approval of New York financiers.

There is going to be a rush of Americans to Mexico now that recognition has come. Mexico is the land of opportunity and Americans know it.

PITY THE POOR PRINCE

For the first time in his young life, the Prince of Wales —"traveling as just a plain peer"—is going to enjoy a real vacation. He is on his way to the open spaces of his vast ranch in Canada, to rough it and get away from things at home. We read the other day that he was delighted at the prospect of the trip, and that the loneliness of it—the blessed thought that he was getting away from the pomp and splendor of royalty—delighted him.

The thing the prince is enjoying most is getting away from the Prince of Wales. He is going to be a plain plug citizen—at least as far as he can—for a while, and there is probably more joy in that for a prince than some one of lesser mold.

The Prince of Wales is tremendously popular. Even when he left for the railway station, traveling alone and "incog," he found at the station thousands of his father's subjects who insisted on cheering him until he raised his hat to them. But the scene seemed to bore him, we are informed.

On his departure, the most popular young man in England wore a battered old hat, an old overcoat, and his shoes needed a shine. And with him he took none of the grand garments which his royal role compel him to wear with frequency.

Let us extend our sympathy to the Prince of Wales. He may get a brief vacation, and thoroughly enjoy it, but, after all, it will only tend to remind him of the things he has missed by being a prince. He is hopelessly linked with the royalty thing, and there is escape. His father, a popular ruler, is a king in name only. He does not rule England in the sense that kings once ruled. He is popular, but he is a figurehead. But it is his business to keep up the pomp end of the thing, and the Prince of Wales can not get free from it.

So, instead of bemoaning your fate, you who have the God-given right to earn your salt, thank your lucky stars that you are not the Prince of Wales.

WILL KEEP ROADWAY OPEN

Imperator Mussolini is reminded by the New York Times that Caesar, though not wholly blameless in his public life, never assaulted a cripple. This the Roman imperator did when he bombarded the orphan asylum at Cofu.

John Bull is the master of the seven seas. He has a roadway which he keeps open. It stretches from London to Bombay, via the Mediterranean. If the Roman imperator gets in the way of Mr. Bull, he will be horned into everlasting obscurity. Mr. Bull is going to keep the roadway open.

The Most That We Can Do Will Be Small in Comparsion to Calamity

THE BRIGHT SHAWL

She had spoken to others than Charles of her determination to go to the Argentine; and it was probable rumor said, principally in Spanish mouths, that she would go quietly south. It would not do to drop his widely advertised habits too suddenly; he could not; in a day, change from a rake to a serious student of such books as Mahiavelli's Prince; and he prepared with utter disgust, for his final blow in the cloak of dissipation.

CHAPTER XIX.
Narcisa and the Dream.

By accident Charles met at the Plaza de Toros, Andres and his friends Remigio Flores and Jaime Quintara. He related the circumstances of the tragedy and the others were filled with wonder at La Clavel's strength and courage.

Some day, Remigio swore, when Cuba was free, he would put up a monument to her in India Park.

At Neptuno street and the Paseo Isabel they parted. Charles, with the knowledge that Andres would be evident in public elsewhere, went to see the other members of the Escobar family.

Narcisa, Charles was told, had become promised to Hector Carmachie, an admirable gentleman with large sugar interests: luckily, for Narcisa unconnected with any political dreams.

"She will be very happy," her mother proclaimed.

Narcisa narrowed her eyes. "He lives on an estancia," she said, "where there will be banana trees and Haitians to watch: and the conversation will be about the number of arrobas the mill grinds." She relapsed again into silence: but, from her lowered countenance, he caught a quick significant glance toward the balcony. She rose, presently, and walked out. Charles gazed at Domingo and Carmita Escobar; they were sunk in thought, inattentive, and he quietly joined Narcisa.

"Andres, has told me a great deal about you," she proceeded; "I made him. He loves you too, and he says that you are very strong and respected everywhere. And I hear other things, too, but from my maid about the dancer La Clavel! You gamble, it seems and drink as well."

That, he replied, was no more than half true; it was often necessary for him to appear other than he was. He studied her at length; she had grown more lovely, positively beautiful, in the past month; the maturity of her engagement to mary had already intensified her.

"How do you like me?" she demanded. But when he told her very much, she shook her head in denial. "I ought to be ashamed," she added, "but I am not." Did you realize that, when we were out here before, I made you a proposal. You ignored it, of course.

"This Carmache," Charles Abbott asked, "don't you like, no, love him?" She answered:

"He is perhaps, 50—I am 15—and quite deaf on one side, I can never remember which; and he smells like bagasse. I've only seen him once, for a minute, alone, and then he wanted me to sit on his knees. I said if he made me I'd kill him some night when he was asleep. But, I suppose, I shall come to forget that, as well. I wanted you to know all about it; so when you hear of my marriage, you will understand what to look for."

"That is all very wrong!" Charles exclaimed.

In reply she said, hurriedly, "Kiss me."

That was wrong, too, he repeated, afterward. Her warmth and tender fragrance clung to him like the touch of flower petals.

"I hate your northern way of living," her voice was suppressed; "I hate their bringing you into the house only to break my heart. "Charles," she laid an appealing hand on his sleeve, "could you do this—help me to run away? We have cousins in New York who would receive me. If you could just get me on a steamer!"

"No," he said decidedly, "I could not; I wouldn't even if it were possible. What would Andres, my friend think? It would ruin me here."

"If you had," she admitted, after a little "as soon as we reached the street, I would have locked myself about your neck like my crystal beads. Once when I was supposed to be going with a servant to the sea baths, I had the quitrin stop at the San Felipe, and I went up the stair, to the roof, to your room, but you were out. You see, I am a very evil girl!"

He agreed to the extent that she was a very foolish girl.

"You had better go in," he continued: "When they realise we are out here there will be a stir, perhaps you will be put to bed!"

"I might make a scandal," she deliberated, "throw myself on you and cry as loudly as possible." A smile appeared upon her fresh charming lips at his expression of dismay. "Then you would have to marry me."

"I'd have to spank you!" he retorted.

"I shall never speak directly to you again," she concluded: "so remember what I now say: That you are not what you'd like to be!" With a flutter of her skirts she was gone.

The afternoon was so still that he could hear the drilling soldiers by the shore, the faint guttural commands and the concerted grounding of muskets.

Narcisa and her unpleasant prediction faded from his mind. Standing on the balcony, he imagined a vast concourse gathered below with upturned faces, waiting for him to speak.

He heard the round periods, the sonorous Spanish, he delivered, welcoming, in the name of the people, their newly gained independence and extending to them the applause and reassurance of the United States.

"You have won this for your selves," he proclaimed, "by your valor and faith and patience: and no alien myself least of all, could have been indispensable to you. You have added Cuba to the invaluable, the priceless, parts of the earth where men are free: a deed wrought by the sacrifice of the best among you. Liberty, as always, is watered by blood—" He hesitated, frowning, something was wrong about that last phrase; oh, yes—the watered with blood part: sprinkled, nourished, given birth in?

The hollow, disembodied voice of the drill sergeant floated up and then was lost in the beginning afternoon procession of carriages.

CHAPTER XX.
Pillar of the Enigmatic Charm.

With a larger boutonniere than he would have cared to wear at home, a tea rose, Charles was making his way through the El Louvre when Gaspar Arco de Vaca rose from a gay table and signalled for him. He hesitated, but De Vaca was insistent, and Charles approached the table.

"If you think you can remain by yourself," the Spaniard said pleasantly, "you are mistaken. For women now, because of the dancer, you are a figure of enormous interest."

He presented Charles to a petulant woman with a seductive mouth, then to a small woman with eyes in which, as he gazed briefly into them, Charles found bottomless wells of interrogation and promise.

He met a girl to whom then he paid little attention and a man past middle age with the gilt floriations of a general.

A place was made for Charles, into which against his intention, he was forced by a light insistence. It was, he discovered beside the girl: and, because of their proximity, he turned to her.

At once he recognized that she was unusual strange he had dismissed her as plain, if not actually ugly, and that judgment he was forced to recall.

The truth was that she possessed a rare fascination; but where, exactly did it lie? She was, he thought even younger than Narcisa, yet at the same time she had the balanced calm of absolutely maturity.

Then he realized that a large part of her enigmatic charm came from the fact that she was, to a marked degree, Chinese. Her face, evenly, opaquely, pale, was flat, an oval which held eyes with full, ivory-like lids, narrow eye brows, a straight, small nose, and lips heavily coated with a carmine that failed utterly to disguise their level strength. She attracted Charles, although he could think of nothing in the world to say to her. He hadn't grasped her name, and in reply to his further query, she told him in a low voice that it was Pilar de Lima.

Yes; she had been born in Peru. No; she had never been to China, although she had traveled as far as Portugal and London.

His interest in her increased, she was so wholly outside his—any conceivable—life; she had unmistakably the ease which came from the command of money; the pointed grace of her hands—for an instant her palm had sought his—hid an unexpected firmness. Then, in an undertone during a burst of conversation, she said, "I like you."

He wanted to reply that he liked her, but a lull in the conversation discouraged him. Instead he examined his feelings in regard to this Pilar from Lima.

It was obvious that she had nothing in common with the women he had dismissed from his present and future: she was more detached, even, than La Clavel on the stage.

And when, abruptly, she began to talk to him, in an even flow of incomprehensible vowels and sibilants he was startled.

Gaspar de Vaca spoke to her in a peremptory tone and then he addressed Charles "She'll hardly say a word in Christian tongue, but, when it suits her, she will sail on in Chinese for a quarter of an hour. It may be her sense of humor, it may be a prayer, perhaps what she says, if it could be understood, would blast your brain, and perhaps she merely has a stomach ache."

More Truth Than Poetry

BRAIN AND BRAWN

Our leading psychologists used to contend
That the student of masterful mind
Was never the tackle or half-back or end,
But the pallid and studious "grind."
In athletics, they held, any dumbell could shine.
Any thick chested moron get on;
The only requirement for bucking the line
Being big, bulging layers of brawn.

The grind was consoled by opinions like these;
To rise in the world was his aim,
And he figured the winning of master's degrees
Was greater than gridiron fame.
He looked to the time when the teams and the crews,
In spite of their largeness of limb,
And hard knotted biceps and auroch-like thews,
Would be taking their orders from him.

But lately the leading psychology sharks
Declare they have proven by test
That the athlete can get very much better marks
Than the chap with the thin hollow chest.
Inside of his hard and unbreakable skull
It is found there is excellent stuff,
And no one can call him thick-witted or dull
Though his neck and his ways may be rough.

If this is the case, it is rather too bad,
That it never before was made plain
For most of our huskiest athletes have had
No chance to develop their brain.
If muscles enable a man to go in
For fame in a mental pursuit
Jack Dempsey might well be expected to win
The laurels of Elihu Root!

IRRIGATION

By A. M. McPHERSON
Consulting Engineer
Kahn Bldg., Eighth and Indiana

Into what size farms should the surplus lands on the irrigation project be divided?

CROP ACREAGES.

With a given number of cows to feed and knowing the amount of feed consumed by the average dairy cow it is possible to approximate the acreages of the various crops that must be raised to feed them.

As we have pointed out in previous articles a pasture varies widely in the number of cows it will feed to the acre. In the case of a first class alfalfa pasture properly handled under irrigation one acre can be expected to pasture two cows. While a poor Johnson grass pasture may require four acres to the animal.

We have also pointed out the fact that land may become too valuable for pasturing purposes and that soiling and other methods must be resorted to if the herd is to be profitable.

Alfalfa is the crop that produces the most valuable feed per acre. A yield of 4 tons of alfalfa per acre gives 840 pounds of digestible proteids and 2240 pounds of digestive carbohydrates. Corn silage based on a yield of ten tons of silage per acre gives 280 pounds of digestible portein and 2840 pounds of carbohydrates.

Carbohydrate and protein content are generally taken as determining the value of a feed.

Alfalfa may or may not grow here. Corn may not mature in hot seasons, but is almost sure that in any year corn will grow well enough to produce silage.

If we take 30 cows as an average herd and estimate two acres per cow then 60 acres of pasture would be needed. If silage is to be fed for six months in the year and corn produces from 8 to 10 tons per acre. Then with a ration of 50 pounds per day per animal it would take from 13 to 17 acres of corn.

Whenever silage is fed or the cattle are running on the pasture it is advisable to give in addition some concentrated feed such as cotton seed meal, shelled corn, alfalfa hay, or chopped feed. This feed may be raised on the farm or purchased outside. If it is raised on the farm additional acreage must be allowed for it.

WHAT TODAY MEANS

By MARY BLAKE

VIRGO

Today is of generally doubtful outlook. It would be better to postpone all important decisions until a day of more propitious signs. After 2:45 conditions change for the better, but only ordinary duties are advisable. Give in to desires to recreate and enjoy yourself generally. You will meet new friends of the opposite sex who will mean much in later life.

A child born today will be industrious and inventive, and should not be denied the possession of anything it is actually interested in.

If today is the anniversary of your birth, you should have a good mind, one that is both energetic and accurate, but a little more productive than profound. You are too inclined to accept general principles and then apply them with great determination in order to make yourself a true philosopher. But then again, on the other hand, you do what you do with such excellent self-control and surety that you are probably regarded on all sides as a straight thinker and a person of greater depth than you actually are.

You are unusually inventive because you have a tireless hopefulness about things and the courage to try everything at hand until you find something that works.

You should be successful in business, because of your intense personal magnetism and your general ability to co-operate with diverse types of persons. And, of course, co-operation brings with it credit and trustfulness. You should have little trouble in promoting any venture which you yourself believe in.

You are fond of books and music and art, although you may have no technical appreciation of them, because you are emotionally responsive to suggestions, just as you are to people, and you appreciate the essence of a thing without having to know its history or its superficial embellishments.

Men and women of this date differ little in characteristics and talents. Their love natures are the same, being affectionate and decidedly the type to love but once, whether requited or defeated.

Successful people born on your birthday are:

"Yeh, I've Heard That Before"---

Ever tell a story that you thought was a real funny story, and have your listeners just sit there and look like they'd lost their best friends, and then—

Thinking they didn't get it, you went into a lot of detail and made it as funny as it could be made—

And, yet they never cracked a smile.

Then some bird would yawn and say—

"Yeh, I've heard that before."

Ever pick up the newspaper you read every day, and selecting some apparently choice news item, read it to your wife, and have her say: "Yeh, I've read that before."

If you had that happen to you the chances are ten to one THAT NEWSPAPER WAS A PRE-DATE—printed hours before the date it carried on the front page, because it had to be in order for it to reach you the day you received it.

The Record News reaches you the morning of the day it is printed!

The Record News has no pre-date editions!

The Record News carries to you news that is as fresh as griddle cakes just off the fire!

Today's news today—that's the kind of service you get from The Record News.

BOND JUMPER IS HELD IN ARIZONA

Sheriff Murphy Gets Word That Johnny Hinton Is Under Arrest

Word was received yesterday by Sheriff Pat Murphy that Johnnie Hinton, convicted from Wichita county and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary on a whiskey charge a year ago, later jumping his bond while his case was on appeal, had been captured at Florence, Arizona.

The case in which Hinton was given a five year sentence and appealed was upheld by the higher courts, Murphy said Sunday. Hinton is being held at the Arizona town on charges there and as soon as these are disposed of will be turned over to Wichita county officers. Sheriff Murphy said he would probably go after Hinton in about a week.

LAND GOING DOWN IN ARMSTRONG COUNTY; BUT HOLD! READ THIS

Goodnight! Armstrong county seems to be slipping.

According to tales brought from Claude and Goodnight in Armstrong county to Wichita Falls by traveling men, 37 acres of land are trying to disappear. That is all—nothing wrong with the rest of the county.

The phenomanum is said to be about 3 miles west of Goodnight and the ground has sunk from eight to 25 feet. The raveling men who have seen the strange sight say the 37 acre tract has been sinking about a month, beginning after the recent rains. In one place on the tract, according to the stories, is a deep fissure a few inches wide. A piece of cable said to be 75 feet long was lowered into the opening and bottom was not found.

Part of the receding tract goes across the Colorado and Gulf highway where hundreds of cars pass daily. If the earth in that vicinity keeps cutting up or down as it has for the past few weeks, some of the traveling men say, they expect the road to cave through and a few Fords with their passengers land unceremoniously in Hongkong.

The natives are not the least perturbed by the phenomenum, reports say.

COPS HOT AFTER "MEANEST" THIEF

The "meanest man" has been accredited with stealing pennies from the kid's saving bank, taking candy from a sick baby, pulling up young corn and killing little chickens, but here is another instance to add to the list.

A young man about 25, hired to a widow near Stamford recently to help gather her cotton crop. He worked about a week and Saturday took a bale of the widow's cotton on her Ford truck to the gin. He then sold the cotton, pocketed the money, kept the truck and skipped.

Wichita officers were notified of the theft Sunday and were given a description of the man and truck by Stamford authorities. Local officers are very anxious to catch the man who stole from the widow.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR SEYMOUR FAIR

Plans are almost completed for the fourth annual Baylor county fair, to be held in Seymour, Texas, September 20, 21 and 22. This year the "Cowboys' Reunion" feature of the fair is expected to surpass all other years and the famous Tom L. Burnett Triangle ranch rodeo stock will be used all three days. The purses are attractive and are expected to draw a large number of contestants.

The exhibits are also expected to draw an unusually large attendance. Rules for the county exhibits stipulate that all exhibits must be in place by 9 a. m., September 20.

DR. O. L. POWERS TO ADDRESS KIWANIANS

Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be the principal speaker before the Kiwanis club at the regular weekly luncheon today noon at the Kemp and a good musical program has also been provided.

The attendance prize will be given by F. E. Murrell and the silent boost by D. A. Landien. With vacation days past and cool weather now being enjoyed the Kiwanis officers say a large attendance is expected today.

YOUTH HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Finding of Mutilated Showman's body Ends in Arrest

By The Associated Press.

WACO, Texas, Sept. 9.—Arnold Powell, 20, is being held in the Coryell county jail at Gatesville, charged with murder in connection with the death of R. A. Jackson, traveling showman, whose mutilated body was discovered by a farmer near Gatesville, June 24, last, according to word reaching Waco.

Car Found in Waco.

It will be recalled that the Ford automobile in which Jackson had been traveling was found in Waco the day following his death. In the car was motion picture apparatus with which Jackson had been giving shows at inland towns.

It is alleged that young Powell was a companion of Jackson's and fled in a Ford car belonging to Jackson following the crime.

Sheriff Hollingsworth, of Gatesville, took the matter in hand and piece by piece lifted the veil that seemed to hide the man who had slain Jackson. The chase led into Oklahoma then back to Texas and across both states.

Admits Helping Jackson.

A few days ago a young man, Arnold Powell, was located in the United States army, and his arrest followed, he being taken into custody at San Antonio. Report goes that Powell enlisted in the service at Oklahoma City and that his home is at Spartanburg, S. C.

Sheriff Hollingsworth is quoted as saying that Powell admits that he is the boy who was with Jackson, but claims that he went to Waco in a Dodge car.
