War Continues on Pro Law Violations Here

Walker and Beazley Indicted; Still Confiscated

CONFISCATION of an illicit liquor still and another arrested for prohibition law violations Thursday marked continuation of the drive against whiskey dealers which the sheriff's department began Wednesday night in arresting two men in an alleyway as they prepared to enter a Lubbock hotel.

Austin H. Beazley, 1818 Twenty-sixth street, was charged with illegal transportation of liquor for purpose of sale, and Hugh Walker, 1228 Fourth street, with possession of liquor for purpose of sale, in indictments returned Thursday by the ninety-ninth district court grand jury.

Walker Posts Bond
Walker, in whose home county officers found several gallons of whiskey and some liquor dispensing equipment Thursday morning, posted $1,000 bond and was released.

Beazley's bond on the liquor charge was fixed at $2,500 and bond of $500 was set on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, filed against him in county court Thursday. Officers said they found half a gallon of whiskey and a loaded .38 caliber revolver in a satchel Beazley was carrying when arrested. He still was in county jail Thursday night.

The other man arrested Wednesday night had not been charged Thursday night. Officers said he was transporting half a gallon of whiskey in a sack when arrested.

Still Discovered
The still, having an estimated capacity of 300 gallons, was discovered on a farm about five miles north of Idalou. It was not in operation and none of the finished product was uncovered, although seven barrels of mash were found. The farm on which the still was located is leased by Walker, county officers said.

Condemnation proceedings to have Beazley's automobile declared a public nuisance and sold at a sheriff's sale were filed in ninety-ninth district court Thursday when Beazley was arrested Wednesday night. Appraised value of the car was fixed at $450.

He had been shot through the head. His right hand was holding a pistol from which one cartridge had been discharged. A coroner returned a verdict that death was due to a self-inflicted wound.

The man registered at the hotel at midnight Wednesday and apparently had been dead about twelve hours when his body was found.

Unemployment and Depression of Business Pictured in Offspring of Administration of Republicans

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Unemployment and business depression were pictured as the twin offspring of the Hoover administration tonight in a nationwide radio speech by Senator Harrison of Mississippi.

"The present administration of broken promises and its inauguration of narrow, selfish and unwise policies is responsible in large part for the deplorable state of affairs in this country as reflected in long and crowded breadlines, closed factories, deserted farms and lost fortunes," he said.

Asks Repeal
"Every administration official who has contributed to such a condition should be held to strict accountability and repudiated at the polls in November."

"Two years ago," he said, "the Republican national committee, in every conceivable way pledged Republican prosperity in case of success and prophesied depression in event of defeat."

"Will they say that prosperity is still here? No. Whatever else may be said of them, they are not so foolish as to make this assertion."

Party Blamed
"Who is to be blamed if it is not the Republican party? Is it not in control of the presidency, the congress and every branch of the national government?"

Harrison recited excerpts from campaign speeches of President Hoover saying the Republicans had decreased the fear of poverty. The senator said this year already had seen 13 more national and state bank failures than last, more losses from foreclosures than in any similar period in the history of the country and that estimates of unemployment had run as high as 7,000,000 with 60 wage reductions reported during August.

Forty-Six Bales Delivered Here

Forty-six bales of cotton were delivered to the Texas Cotton Co-operative association Thursday, first day of operation since arrival of A. B. Cole, government collector and grader.

The cotton came from Lubbock, Meadow, Roswell, Idalou, Shallowater, Acuff, Post, Slaton and Tahoka. Mr. Cole being swamped more of the day with classing and handling of details of placing the cotton through the association. All of it went into the seasonal pool of the association, the growers drawing the 50 per cent advance.

Word was received yesterday by the district office here that 25 bales were waiting at Levelland to be classed and delivered to the association. T. L. Mullican, of Levelland, announced that more than 100 bales would be ready for market at Levelland by the middle of next week.

Lubbock High School Band to Accompany Boosters Today in First 1930 Friendship Caravan in Trade Territory

Plan Eight Stops

Slaton, Southland, O'Donnell, Post, Tahoka, Lamesa Will Be Visited by Delegation of Fifty Lubbockites

LUBBOCK'S first 1930 friendship caravan to advertise the Panhandle-South Plains fair is scheduled to leave here at 7:45 o'clock this morning to travel a triangular route in the southeastern and southern part of Lubbock's trade territory, including Slaton, Southland, Post, Tahoka, O'Donnell and Lamesa.

Lubbock High school's 35-piece Western band will accompany the motorcade, which is slated to make stops in eight towns and arrive in Lubbock at 7 o'clock tonight. H. A. Anderson will direct the student band.

Fifty Sign to Go
A group of about 50 persons and firms had pledged representation in the motorcade, chamber of commerce officials announced late Thursday afternoon. Committees appointed to arrange and direct the tour spent Wednesday and Thursday canvassing for automobiles to engage in the booster trip. Joe Bowman is chairman of the committee.

John Lemond, chief of police, will drive the lead-car.

Stop of 15 to 20 minutes will be made in each of the eight towns on the route. Lubbock Chamber of Commerce officials in telephone conversations Thursday were assured that the towns were looking forward to arrival of the booster caravan, provisions having been made for official welcomes and for attendance of school children at each stop.

W.T.C.C. Drive Is Successful

Goal of Ninety Members in Regional Organization Is Expected to Be Reached in Second Day of Canvass Here

Satisfactory results were reported Thursday in a two-day drive to add 90 Lubbock members to the West Texas chamber of commerce, although officials said the few scattered reports received were not sufficient to compile returns.

If other districts in the city had made similar progress and it continued through today, when the canvass ends, the goal will have been reached, officials indicated.

Eight teams which include 35 business and professional men began the canvassing Thursday in eight districts comprising the city, under the direction of Homer D. Grant and Spencer Wells, director of the regional chamber.

With 13 members already in the organization, Lubbock is seeking to build that number to 100, a pledge given at the 1930 convention in Abilene.

ELECTION CONTESTED

Gray County's Sheriff's Race Taken to Courts

PAMP, Sept. 11. (AP)—A contest of the Gray county sheriff's race opened here today before the Democratic committee, but after discussion among attorneys it was decided to initiate the case in district court to save time and expense. Both sides said they intended to appeal if they lost.

John V. Andrews, the defeated candidate, challenged 297 votes cast for the nominee, Len L. Blanton, in his answer, asserting he would challenge every vote cast for his opponent, if necessary, and named more than 400 allegedly illegal votes cast for Andrews.

The contest was based largely on the asserted failure of voters to pay poll taxes. Blanton defeated Andrews by 23 votes.

Chicago Gangsters' Plot to Kidnap Wealthy Texan and Mexican Frustrated

(By The Associated Press)
BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 11.—A plot by Chicago gangsters to kidnap two of the wealthiest men in this section and hold them for heavy ransom was frustrated today on the tip of a woman.

The woman told officers she had been approached by three men who said they were Chicago gangsters and asked her to assist in the kidnaping of C. P. Barreda of Brownsville and Juan Cross of Matamoros, Mexico. Instead, she telephoned the sheriff.

Women Involved
Fifty armed officers were quickly stationed at strategic points in the valley in an effort to apprehend the gangsters and two women from Detroit said to have been involved in the plot.

Other officers went to Harlingen where it was reported the plotters had maintained headquarters. They were led by Sheriff Frank Brown, the Rio Grande head and kept them there until heavy ransom had been collected.

national bridges were directed to arrest any persons they saw passing with Cross and to hold him for investigation. They were told to accept no excuses, but to arrest this person at all costs.

Closely Guarded
Meanwhile, Barreda went to Mercedes in response to a telephone call from a woman who asked him to discuss a land deal with her but who was believed to be one of those accompanying the gangsters. Barreda was closely guarded by officers.

Barreda, called the richest man in the lower Rio Grande valley, recently sold a tract of land for around $2,000,000. Cross, a member of a pioneer family, owns thousands of acres of land, cotton gins and other industries in the vicinity of Matamoros.

Plans of the gangsters were to take Cross and Barreda to a remote spot on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande and keep them there until heavy ransom had been collected.

Several Score Injured when Volcano Erupts and Quake Felt Simultaneously; Cone of Stromboli Blown Off

(By The Associated Press)
MESSINA, Italy, Sept. 11.—At least five persons were killed and several score injured, some seriously, in simultaneous earthquake and eruption of Stromboli volcano near here today.

The eruption blew off the cone of Stromboli, which is on the island of the same name in the Aeolian group near here, and poured burning rock in the town of Stromboli and the villages of Gimotra and San Bartolo.

Four of the dead were killed at Stromboli and one at Gimotra. All of the 400 houses in the former town were made uninhabitable by the great stream of lava which descended.

Fields around the ruined towns were destroyed and flourishing vineyards were wiped out by the searing river. Many buildings were set on fire.

Five ships, including four war vessels, were sent from here to aid the stricken region. They carried food, tents and medical supplies as well as fire fighters and officials.

The volcano soon returned to its normal activity.

Lipari Island, where the Italian government confined about political and other prisoners, felt the earthquake at the same time as Stromboli.

There was an instant panic and the several hundred soldiers garrisoned on the island were turned out for speed guard duty. Those quake at the same time as Stromboli erupt.

All the Aeolian Islands felt the earth shocks.

It was only a decade ago that Frances White, shown here in an early photo, was a $3,000-a-week song and dance star on Broadway. After captivating audiences in musical shows—maybe you still remember vaudeville. But the other day they hailed her into night court in New York because she couldn't pay a $3.50 taxi bill. The judge, who remembered the days when thousands paid that much to see her on the stage, allowed the penniless woman a few days to collect the money.

Fatal Mishap

Aftermath to Electrocutation

(By The Associated Press)
DALLAS, Sept. 11.—Hastening to the pier of their son and brother, O. L. Beavers, one of four men electrocuted by a live wire at West yesterday, Mrs. J. W. Beavers of Waxahatchie was killed, and another son, Wesley C. Beavers, was injured fatally in an automobile accident here today. The son died tonight in a hospital here.

J. E. Majure of Jacksonville and a negro man, riding in an automobile that crashed with the Beavers car within the city limits of Dallas, were injured. Majure critically. J. R. Gibson of Athens, driver of the automobile bearing the Beavers, was not hurt.

Started For Funeral
Mrs. Beavers was visiting a daughter at Athens when news came of the accident at West when Beavers and three other employees of the Texas Power and Light company were killed by a live wire. Her daughter was ill and Mrs. Beavers was not able to leave her immediately. She waited until near the funeral hour for her son and set out for Garland, where services were to be held.

Mrs. Beavers was dead when an ambulance bearing her broken body arrived at a hospital. On her person attendants found a letter from the son whose funeral she was to attend, written just two days before his tragic death. In it he wrote of permitting a life insurance policy to lapse.

Dr. Charged
Charges of driving while intoxicated were filed against Majure by Assistant District Attorney Jimmy MacNicol. Majure would make no statement other than to say the accident must have occurred about 10:30 p. m. since his watch stopped at that time.

The negro, Charlie Cumbs of Jacksonville, said he didn't "know how it happened."

Mrs. Beavers went to Athens a week ago to visit relatives. Before that she had been living with a daughter, Mrs. Vassar Loden of Taylor. Another daughter, Mrs. T. C. Malloch of Dilley, also survives.

Eleventh Hour Death Stay Is Given Mexican

Governor Moody Agrees that He Will Grant Reprieve of Week to Convicted Slaying Set to Die Early Today

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Sept. 11.—Governor Dan Moody at 10:30 p. m. tonight agreed to issue a proclamation granting Luis Arcos, Mexican sentenced to die in the electric chair tomorrow a stay of one week.

The reprieve was granted at the request of Father Finnegan, Catholic priest at the penitentiary who informed Governor Moody that Arcos had not made peace with his God, and asked further time to work for a spiritual settlement.

The governor said he did not expect to interfere in the scheduled execution of Jesse Lee Washington, a negro.

Convicted Slaying
Both of the condemned are convicted murderers. Arcos was accused of slaying a father and his two sons, Luciano Barrientes, 52, Joe and Elfonso, at Hondo Christmas Day, 1928, after an argument over a bottle of allegedly sour milk sold to Arcos' son by the elder Barrientes, a store keeper.

Washington was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Henry Vaughan, a white woman, beaten to death near Shamrock in July of this year. The negro already had been given a week's stay that he might be prepared "mentally and spiritually" for death. His original execution date was September 5.

THE WOMAN'S ANGLE

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THERE is no recipe for rearing a family successfully. If someone will invent one and peddle it around among mothers and fathers he has a fortune in the offing and a lot of editorial writers will be without jobs. If you knew that you could bring your child up in the shadow of the church and family prayers and have him grow into a deacon or evangelist or just a good layman; if you knew that you could bring your child up outside the church and have him grow into a racketeer, it would be more than a fortune. But for all you know, the child brought up in the church will be an agnostic and the racketeer will turn evangelist.

The cause of this outburst is a line from a contemporary columnist advancing the theory that children are "actually more obedient" if their mother works outside the home, because "she can gain the respect of her children that is often lacking in the modern home. This is because she is separated from them throughout the day and the precious moments spent with her in the morning and in the evening are cherished by the children."

And the same columnist declares that there are modern nurseries where children can be better cared for than by the mother herself.

The other writer probably has had as much experience in caring for children as the author of this column, which is none, and is therefore equally fitted to offer advice. But drawing on some feminine instincts and observation of homes where children are better cared for than in the home, the writer offers the following:

HE CATALOGUES US

NOTHING European has been so over to America and observed the United States through a visit to New York and now, having returned to Paris, is telling the world through his country's press that "America has killed the American woman's charm and American youths of today are bores." The American woman is a creature without heart, without soul. She goes madly on, wooing men with gin-flavored kisses, afraid to take stock of her pitiable position in society, and particularly in the eyes of men, he continues.

And my feminine soul writes at such remarks as these because the Frenchman wouldn't have had to look far to see a few American women with charm who did not speak in the vulgar "hello there" and "ohes" which he gives to us all for vernacular. Some American girls do drink and woo and carouse but the style he gives to us all, and they are not necessarily representative.

If these were the only kind of women he found in America, I think he might wander around in a different neighborhood the next time he comes over to study us.

And, along with this defense of women, a word might just as well be added for American youths. They aren't all bores sowed in boose any more than are their companions. Probably the Frenchman didn't look far enough when he was promoting friendships with men.

BREADED VEAL CHOPS

HERE is a way to prepare chops. Remove skins and dip chops first in beaten egg, to which a few tablespoons of milk and a pinch of salt have been added and then in bread crumbs. Place in a hot frying pan containing a small amount of bacon drippings or other fat. Cook until well browned on both sides. Reduce the heat, cover pan very tightly and cook slowly until tender. Serve with tomato sauce.

IT MAY WORK THERE

WHILE Americans are worrying over women's rights and all-around clubs among men to make the land safe for ex-husbands, while they fuss over whether married or single women, or both, should enter the commercial world, half the land is decrying the fact that women no longer remain in the home and the back is slapping them on the head for getting out, some men over in England took matters into their own hands. A bill has been introduced into that kingdom's advisory council which would make it obligatory that everyone over 15 years of age must marry.

Medias is a kingdom situated on the northeast coast of the Red sea. The romantic Bedouins compose the population and the chief centers of population are the sacred cities of Mecca and Medina. These Arabs may be able to put bills like that across, but imagine the resentment in America should anyone propose to regulate marriage to that extent.

Here's Jaunty Hat in Fall Mode

The symmetrical little hat of hunter's green felt, shown by the Societe des Modes de Paris, achieves unusual chic by its emphasis on the left side. Its draped brim tilts to that side and on the top a perky bow of matching grosgrain ribbon adds a jaunty touch. The ribbon faces the hat, too, which is worn high and slightly askant the forehead.

SELF-CONFIDENCE

Bright eyes—a clear mind—belief in oneself and the power to do characterizes the red-blooded man!

IMPORTANT in this picture are the red-blood-cells. You cannot count your own red-blood-cells—that is technical! But you should know that they are the "ships" that sail in the blood and carry nourishment to all parts of the body. They fight infection and disease!

Body weakness, lack of appetite, underweight, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils are symptoms of a low blood count. These may indicate that you need S.S.S.

S.S.S. restores the red-blood-cells to normal. Your appetite picks up, your whole body is strengthened, invigorated! Your skin clears up. Self-confidence returns. You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. Get the large size. At all drug stores.

When your red-blood-cells are only 50% you are not yourself—60% is dangerous

S.S.S. is the tonic that is daily helping thousands of weak, run-down, nervous people regain their strength and cheer.

If you feel yourself slipping—your confidence weakening—why not try S.S.S. Its successful record of over 100 years is a guarantee of satisfaction.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble is like a broken tooth, and a foot out of joint. As he that taken away a garment in cold weather, and as vinegar upon nitre, so is he that sings songs to a heavy heart.—Proverbs xxv, 19, 20.

FAIR BOOSTER TRIPS

EARLY this morning the first group of Lubbock citizens bent upon advertising the Seventeenth Annual Panhandle-South Plains fair were to take a swing over a very appreciable part of the South Plains section. It occurs to The Morning Avalanche that here and now is an opportune time to talk about fair trips—and with that idea in mind we, figuratively speaking, hop to it.

The matter of fair trips is a matter of custom, more than anything else. "Way back in the early days, when the fair was little more than a 'pumpkin show,' it was necessary to urge, in every known way, section-wide attendance and patronage. As time has slipped along, however, every citizen of the South Plains has come to realize that the Panhandle-South Plains fair is no more Lubbock's fair than it is Lamesa's, Dalhart's, Hale Center's, Ralls' or Crockett's. As a matter of fact it is everybody's fair—and it happens to be located in Lubbock as a central point for the territory.

The custom of holding fair booster trips has taken a grip upon Lubbock—and we hope the balance of the cities of this area—until the trips are run annually as a matter of course. Whether they stimulate attendance at the fair or not, is a matter of question. But they do afford added opportunity for Lubbockites to rub shoulders with their neighbors and for that reason they should be continued as an annual affair. To the citizens of the territory to be visited by fair trippers today, The Morning Avalanche would add that Lubbock's latch-string is on the outside—not only at fair time but at all other times—for the city's friends in this section. And these few words of good will go, not only for people of the south side of the section but also for those of the north, east, west and central portions.

Lubbock realizes that it could not have a fair the calibre of the Panhandle-South Plains exposition within its gates without the co-operation of everyone. It also realizes that it couldn't be a city without the co-operation of everyone. It also realizes that it couldn't be a city without year-round co-operation from these very same friends.

The fair trips may not boost fair attendance at all—but they do help us all to become better acquainted. For that reason they are more than worth the effort and expenditure entailed.

CHEMISTRY IN THE HOME

Among all the scientists, the chemists perhaps have succeeded best in bringing the fruits of their researches to the every day service of the average run of folks. To tell all that chemistry has done in the perfection of the little intimate details which enter into the process of improving living standards would be a long and difficult task.

The fact is not generally considered that the housewife was the original practical chemist. Many of the household arts handed down from mother to daughter through generations of most primitive conditions of family life depended for their success upon successful chemical processes. The primitive homemakers who knew how to make bread and cheese were practical chemists without knowing it.

But now the division of chemical education of the American Chemical Society has a plan to give the housewives "the newness of vision and awakening of interest which results from a knowledge of what chemistry is doing and may do for us." They have a sort of slogan which may be phrased, "Every housewife a chemist."

The plan is to institute a great educational campaign to operate through neighborhood study groups, women's clubs and other social agencies to teach in non-technical language the meaning of the chemical processes that affect everyday life of the people in the home. Some of the most eminent educators in the country are enlisted in the movement. It should prove of great interest and of real practical worth, affecting the health and happiness of the people in their home life.

THE BACK SEAT DRIVERS

Like a good many other jokes, that about the back seat driver contains a measure of injustice. The good intentions of the back seat driver have seldom been questioned, but his, or her, usefulness seldom has been commended, particularly by practical automobile operators. Now, however, arises an expert who says that the volunteer assistant motor car navigator from the rear is a distinct safety adjunct.

Leon Whitell, state railroad commissioner of California, announced recently that statistics in his office indicate that 60 per cent of all accidents occurring at railway grade crossings befell automobiles having but one occupant. The front-seat driver has not the warning of the voice from the rear. "The logical deduction from this," says Mr. Whitell, "that in moments of peril, four eyes are better than two."

Quotations of Real Merit

"Foreign investments and deposits in the United States today are even larger than before the war."—Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce.

"The real grievance of the working man is not that he is hard worked or poorly paid, but that he has to produce luxury goods of no real use, by which he loses his self-respect."—Dean William Ralph Inge.

"This has been one of the outstanding years in congressional history insofar as veteran legislation is concerned."—O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of the American Legion.

"The United States probably hardly yet realize the part they are to play in human progress."—Sir Oliver Lodge.

LACK OF FEDERAL APPROPRIATION AND BALK ON PART OF ONE STATE TIE UP BOULDER DAM UNDERTAKING

This is the second of a series of articles on Boulder dam.

By Charles P. Stewart
(Central Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Many folk, who are unfamiliar with congressional ways, cannot understand why the country's lawmakers having authorized Boulder dam's construction, the government does not go ahead and construct it.

The truth is that when congress authorizes one of the government departments, like that of the navy or the interior, to proceed with some big undertaking, such as laying down the keel of a battleship or building the largest dam in the world, it has quite a habit of adding:

"Now wait until you get the money to start work."

This happened in the case of Boulder dam.

The dam is authorized but the necessary $165,000,000 to build it has not yet been appropriated.

All that the interior department has actually available is a little fund of $10,000,000 for a few preliminary operations. These, indeed, it has already run.

A contract has been let for a 25 or 30-mile railroad, to bring supplies from the nearest already established transportation line to the dam site, a cog road is to be built, down into the canyon, claims of various sorts are being adjusted, facilities will be installed as fast as possible $5,000,000 worth of tunnels are to be driven and a model town is being laid out for the occupancy of the dam's force workmen—when the cash is forthcoming to pay them.

But there may yet be considerable delay in a real start on the dam proper.

Seven states are affected by the project.

Also Mexico, because, as everyone knows, the Colorado river empties into the Gulf of California, on the Mexican side of the international boundary—but that does not matter; Mexico's rights already have been recognized in a mutually satisfactory treaty.

What practically amounts to a treaty also has been signed with Uncle Sam by the states of California, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico.

Arizona, however, balks. It was a delicate negotiation all along. Water is life in that semi-arid region. The northern states in the Colorado river's drainage region are in a tolerably strong position, being able to gobble their own irrigation supplies from their own Colorado river tributaries in their own territory. California has made a bargain, which seems to suit her, for the pumping of supplies across the divide to Los Angeles and its neighboring cities.

Arizona has refused thus far to enter the compact, and threatens a serious legal tie-up in the federal courts.

Only time will tell how long it will last.

Ultimately the squabble is bound to be settled—somehow.

To dispose of the irrigation question—Commissioner Mead of the reclamation bureau says there is not enough water in the Colorado river and all its tributaries to go around among all the people who, sooner or later, are sure to want some of it.

He adds that 2,500,000 depend on it now and that there is sufficient for 7,000,000.

The rest of the land will have to stay desert.

The power question has not been settled to everyone's satisfaction, but a bargain has been made, anyhow; so that that detail will not interfere with dam construction, when Arizona's irrigation requirements have been met—or overruled by the courts.

As previously stated, the government did not undertake Boulder dam for the sake of its power possibilities, but as a flood control measure.

It did decide to make power pay for flood control. In other words, Uncle Sam advances the cash to build the dam to prevent floods, but the sale of the power which the dam generates is to repay him for his investment, with interest—and to do it in 50 years—besides providing a fund for diversion among the states whose Colorado river tributaries contribute water to turn the dam's turbines.

It was up to the interior department to make a dicker with power customers, on a basis that would guarantee this revenue—and the interior department has done it.

There are complaints that it is a basis calculated to prevent the government's Boulder dam-created power from competing with private power companies' power to the power consuming public's best advantage. How just these complaints may be I don't know. They have nothing to do with Boulder dam's merits as a curiosity, anyway.

MEASLES IS A "MILD" DISEASE BUT IS OFTEN FOLLOWED BY VERY SERIOUS COMPLICATIONS
By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, The Health Magazine

Until the seventeenth century so little was known about scarlet fever and measles that they were frequently confused. Then the great physician Sydenham recognized them as definite conditions. Since that time scientific medicine has been slowly gaining ground in its battle against these two serious infectious diseases.

After a period of invasion of three or four days and a preceding incubation period of about two weeks, the chief symptom of measles, the eruption, extends all over the body. During the invasion period in this as in other infectious diseases the patient has a running nose and some fever and sore throat.

While few people die of measles, the complications of the disease account for many. Few children have the disease before they are six months of age; therefore the number of deaths in that period are few. The disease has a mortality of about five per cent when taken care of under the best of conditions and from 15 to 25 per cent in the presence of epidemics under the worst conditions, such as occur among soldiers in barracks in war time. The chief complications responsible for death are bronchopneumonia and the other lung complications.

The symptoms of measles are known to almost every one. The disease varies greatly in its severity, however, and sometimes a very mild eruption with mild general symptoms is overlooked, or mistaken for a food rash or some similar complaint. As the result of failure to recognize and isolate the case, any number of children coming in contact with the suspected case may develop more serious forms of the disease.

Although some hundreds of years have passed since the first recognition of measles as a disease, the specific causation germ has not been determined. Various investigators, from time to time, have thought that the germ was in their hands but the proof has not been satisfactory and after the passing of a few years the claims have been dropped.

Nevertheless it is quite certainly established that the disease is infectious, that it can be passed from one person to another with secretions such as sputum or nasal fluid from the body, and that blood taken from a person with the disease carries the infection.

The blood is also the substance which carries the antibodies against the disease. Hence in the modern treatment of serious cases of measles it is customary to get blood from someone who has recently recovered and to inject this into the body of the seriously sick patient.

THE ICE MINE
This mine is located four miles east of Coudersport, Pennsylvania, in the Allegheny mountains. The Ice Mine, or Devils Ice Box, is a vertical shaft about forty feet deep. In this shaft the ice appears when not warm begins in the spring, and disappears on the approach of winter. No satisfactory explanation of this wonder has been given to this time.

The Bald-Headed Eagle is not a true eagle (Aquila), but a falconid (Haliaeetus). It is not bald, but its head is covered with white feathers which give the effect of baldness.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

The Hollywood Story

COPYRIGHT 1930 by NEA SERVICE Inc. by ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DAN RORIMER, temperamental young man of Hollywood, can't get along with a studio executive at Continental Pictures and tears up his contract as scenario writer and asks to be fired. But he isn't. Dan is interested in ANNE WINTER, a girl from Tulsa, Okla., who has shown enough ability to warrant a screen test and a decent part in a picture.

Dan lives with PAUL COLLIER, who writes a daily movie column for a string of newspapers. Anne lives with two extra girls, EVA HARLEY and MONA MORRISON.

A famous director named GARRY SLOAN has shown some interest in Anne, hardly enough, however, to warrant any hopes. Meanwhile, Anne is making good at Grand United. Sloan sees her on the set one day and asks her if she has a contract. When she says no, he says something must be done about that.

That is thrilling news for Anne. But the edge is taken off when she tells Eva and Mona that evening. Eva is so discouraged that she threatens to leave Hollywood. Mona tells Anne of a tragic love experience of Eva's.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII
Anne slept badly that night, awoke fitfully, her thoughts occupied with Eva Harley's sorrow as though it were her own.

Eva was her usual quiet self at breakfast, but she must have regretted the disturbance caused by her despondent outbreak, for her mood was lighter, and when Mona and Anne left the house she bade them a smiling goodbye and waved to them from the doorway when they looked back.

Anne thought Eva ought to get out of the house more often than she did, and she told this to Mona. She felt a little ashamed, thinking of her staying home and to the work. Why doesn't she leave some of it for us?

"Eva doesn't mind," Mona argued, "any more than I do, or you, when we're not working."

It was a lot better, anyway, she said, than wandering around from one lot to another, looking for jobs that weren't there. "Eva and I used to do that, but we gave it up. When you call Central Casting in the evening and they say there's nothing for you, you might as well stay at home. It didn't take me long to find that out."

That afternoon a studio messenger reached Anne Winter on the stage and told her she was wanted, as soon as she was at liberty, in the office of one of the Grand United executives. Something about a contract surely. Anne told herself with a feeling of triumph. Garry Sloan, then, must have seen to it that something was done about it right away.

She was kept waiting for an impressively long period in a carefully guarded office. Then there was a quiet buzz, and the pretty secretary looked up with a smile and held open the door for her, and Anne felt as if she were approaching a throne.

Mr. Johnson was not brief. He shook hands with her, led her to a comfortable chair and, leaning

New Hobbs C.C. Secretary Active

HOBBS, N. M., Sept. 11.—O. C. Goodwin, new secretary of the Hobbs Chamber of Commerce, expects to bring Mrs. Goodwin and their daughter down from Tucuman, where he has been located for the past year and a half, he said today.

"I have bought a lot and just signed a contract to build a new home here, Mr. Goodwin said. "I have made temporary arrangements for living quarters for the family until our new home is completed. It will be ready in about 30 days I think."

Mr. Goodwin was formerly secretary of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. Later he held a similar position in Borger and after that went to Fort Worth.

Just recently Mr. Goodwin was offered the Hobbs post and accepted it. He has been on the job for about a week and already has made many friends among the business men of Hobbs and this part of Lea county.

Seek Health Fund Of Oil Companies

HOBBS, N. M., Sept. 11.—With only one oil company responding, the Shell Oil company, which gave $450 towards an appeal for funds to complete the health program of Lea county, Warner Clark, chairman of the board of the California company has sent a letter to all oil companies here asking them to contribute towards the fund.

Lea county has $8,000 and needs $2,000 more to complete its year of work, closing June 30, next. Dr. M. A. Elstein, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is health officer for Lea county. Chairman Clark in a letter to the oil companies suggests a plan. "It strikes me as poor economy for the oil companies in the Hobbs field to allow this deficit ($2,000) to exist. Therefore, it is my suggestion that we raise the $2,000 on the basis of the runs of September 1. I am uncomfortably conscious for more reasons than one that the California company will probably get off very easy on this basis. Yet, we would be delighted to pay one half, or all for that matter, the entire sum on the basis outlined above."

Four thousand workers were affected by the recent strike at Puertollano, Spain, which has been settled following a five per cent wage increase.

Hobbs to Install Fifty Fire Plugs

(By Staff Correspondent)
HOBBS, N. M., Sept. 11.—Work of installing 50 fire plugs, of the Vogt Brothers type, is under way by the city of Hobbs. Levi T. Harris, mayor, announces.

The plugs are to be placed throughout the business section and also in the residential section close to the central part of the city.

Meantime a new fire engine, a steam pumper and combination hose and chemicals, have been ordered from Seagraves and Co. of Columbus, Ohio. They are expected to arrive here shortly.

The city has a sufficient amount of fire hose on hand to reach any fire that may break forth in the business section, until the pumper is placed in service.

Life Saved by Ironing Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—An ironing board and the ingenuity of a rookie policeman late last night saved the life of Annie D. Jennings, 25-year-old nurse after she had spent two hours imprisoned by a crazed sailor.

Squads of police stood baffled outside the house of Howard F. Carson, the demented youth, who at the point of a pistol, dragged the girl to his upstairs room and threatened to shoot her unless she promised to marry him. Any move to capture him, they feared, would result in instant death for the girl. Carson's parents pleaded with them not to shoot their son through a window—the only solution that appeared.

Finally patrolman Earl Baker, noticing the short distance between the Carson house and one adjoining, laid an ironing board on the rails of the upstairs porch and slipping across disarmed the youth before he could carry out his threat.

Jim Ferguson Sends Out "Feelers" On Attitude Toward Bolting Demo Ticket

AUSTIN, Sept. 11. (AP)—Former Governor James E. Ferguson, whose wife was defeated for the Democratic nomination for governor by Ross S. Sterling today sent out "feelers" to his constituents regarding their attitude toward bolting the Democratic ticket in the general election and rallying to the support of Dr. George C. Butte, republican nominee. The "feelers" was in the form of an article prepared for publication in the Ferguson Forum.

The article included an attack on the political pasts of both Governor Dan Moody and Sterling and declared the real Democrats in Texas were "in a pretty kettle of fish" in being forced to choose between Dr. Butte and Sterling. He declared that two years ago, Sterling supported the Republican nominee and that in 1924 Butte had campaigned against Mrs. Ferguson with the support of the Ku Klux Klan.

In his article Ferguson pointed out that the ruling of the state supreme court, holding voters were not conscience bound by the party pledge, gave them free rein in the general election to vote for whoever they saw fit. Ferguson declared that under the law, as construed by the supreme court, the voters would not violate any Democratic duty or pledge by following their consciences.

Ferguson did not commit himself on the question one way or another but asked his supporters to "drop me a line and let me know how you feel about it."

They met in the corn crib on Murphy's farm, where the rodent had been making free with Murphy's crop. The rat raced up his trouser leg and kept on climbing. At the collar level, while Murphy frantically beat it, the animal bit and clawed his neck and chest. The farmer was severely lacerated before he crushed the rat.

Fisher Flays Dry Law Plan Of Roosevelt

Economist Says Proposal of Prohibition Reform Made by New York Governor "Is Step Backward"

NEW YORK, Sept. 11. (P)—Governor Roosevelt's proposal for prohibition reform would be "a step backward," Prof. Irving Fisher, economist, told the Christian Science Monitor today in a statement telephoned from Narragansett, R. I. Governor Roosevelt, in a letter yesterday to United States senator Wagner advocated repeal of the 18th amendment, substitution of state control of the liquor question.

"Both Dwight W. Morrow and Governor Roosevelt," Prof. Fisher said, "have left out any explanation of how they are going to protect the dry states from the wet states; that is the whole problem. Both have glossed over how it would be possible without using custom houses between states, without any federal control present, to add thousands of miles to the frontiers to be guarded against bootleggers."

"What would actually happen, unless that problem can be solved, is to bring back exactly where we were before we had prohibition; when it was impossible to protect dry states against the wet. It was because of that impossibility that we went on to national prohibition."

"In other words, this Roosevelt proposal looks to me like a step backward, not forward."

"JOEY" TYLER AND "BIG BEN," RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM AND BAILEY CIRCUS ENTERTAINERS

Clowns and elephants are mainstays of the circus and for generations they have played an important part in the advancement of this favorite amusement.

Back in "clown alley" of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, where the clowns dress for the big show, it is a continuous riot of fun and mirth-making. For clowns are jolly fellows always and cut capers off stage as well as on. Elephants are the clowns of the menagerie. They like their fun and frequently play tricks upon each other. There are innumerable instances recorded in history establishing the fact that these beasts possess a sense of humor. Like the funny men, elephants enjoy their work. When in the main tent, their sole ambition is to create amusement—and could there be a more laudable ambition or a more worthy effort of man or beast?

An international congress of one hundred clowns, including every country's funniest, appear on the program of The Greatest Show on Earth this season. No such aggregation of fun-makers has ever before been presented by any amusement organization. Each clown with

Picking Begun Near Lubbock

Hundreds of Pickers Being Employed in South and East Portions of County; Gins Are Reported Active

Reports received at cotton offices here Thursday morning indicated that cotton picking was well under way in Lubbock county, particularly in the south and east portions where less rain resulted in quicker opening of the bolls.

Many Pickers Busy

Hundreds of pickers are being employed in fields over the area and farmers expect to get the major part of the crop harvested within the next two weeks. It is understood that practically all gins in the county have either opened or are preparing to do so.

While the Texas Cotton Cooperative association is paying a 90 per cent advance to farmer members on the market price, many farmers have been on the streets of Lubbock this week in an effort to sell cotton to merchants on the "Buy a Bale of Cotton" plan as advanced by Governor Dan Moody, whereby 15 cents per pound would be paid.

Farmers Urged to Sign
Local officials of the cooperative association are urging farmers to sign agreements early in the organization if they expect to get quick action when their cotton is brought in. In other parts of Texas where cotton is coming in fast, some delay is being experienced due to the fact that the cooperative cannot advance money to the farmer unless he has signed the contract agreement and it has been approved in the branch or sub office.

Seek Jobs for Tech College Football Men

Committees of Business Men Named to Seek Employment for Athletes Here; Plan to Canvass City

Employment for Texas Technological college athletes who are unable to attend school without work will be sought in a canvass of the business district this week, it was decided at a meeting Thursday morning in the office of J. Bryan Miller, city manager.

About 25 jobs are needed to provide for athletes at Technological college this year, Coach P. W. Cawthon said, emphasizing that legitimate employment was the kind desired. Four committees of business men and Tech coaches will make the canvass.

Unanimous opinion that Lubbock should join with the college's new coaching staff in furthering athletics at the school was expressed at Thursday's meeting, which was called to determine whether aid would be asked of business men and other citizens.

Cawthon Explains

Coach Cawthon explained the situation at the college, pointing out that only six men out of the 97 freshmen players of last season are in school and eligible for varsity play this year and that a similar course is likely to take place unless employment is secured for the boys. He told of the methods pursued by other home cities of educational institutions and declared that Lubbock must act in a like manner in order to raise the standard of athletics at Tech.

In speaking of the work needed, Coach Cawthon said: "We don't want any merchant or citizen to 'give' a job to an athlete, if he can't offer legitimate employment which will benefit the boy and the employer, then there's no need attempting the task."

Check-up Is Provided

He promised to see that every boy employed is checked up at various intervals by the coaches and that if he is not satisfactory with his employer to change him and give the work to another boy. It was learned that he had already taken one boy off of a job who had not been pleasing his employer. His plan is to place only boys who absolutely need work and who are willing to work and not loaf as has been the general practice in former years.

The committees appointed to seek employment for the boys are: J. A. Rix, L. E. Stoner and Pete Cawthon; C. E. Maedgen, H. D. Woods,

Student Strike Against Rule

HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 11. (P)—Protesting against restriction of their luncheon period to 2 minutes since the opening of the new term, students of the Hazelton High school went on strike today. It was estimated that about 900 of the 1,050 students took part in the walkout.

Marching from the school through the business section of the city the students, some of them carrying placards reading "strike at high school," held a mass meeting at city hall where they were addressed by Andrew Matten, veteran labor leader. He advised them as to methods of procedure and it was decided to meet tomorrow morning. An effort will be made to obtain the intervention of Mayor James G. Harvey and members of the city council.

Students say cutting the lunch period to 25 minutes is a hardship. The school board said the new rule would be given a trial.

Vaughan Pleased With GOP Chance

Returning Thursday from the state Republican convention in San Angelo, John L. Vaughan, postmaster, declared that "the Republican party has something to offer the voters of Texas in the coming state election."

Admitting that his party thought chances of its gubernatorial candidate's winning were remote, Mr. Vaughan said:

"We're going to wage a vigorous campaign and believe we'll make a respectable showing. We will work as though we think we will win." Mr. Vaughan stated that the press was slightly in error in linking the party's platform with that one used by the Ferguson's, declaring that the platform passed on at San Angelo had always been advocated by the party in the state. He declared the San Angelo session one of the best in the party's history in Texas.

BOMB PLOT BARRED

CALCUTTA, India, Sept. 11. (P)—The ingredients of another Indian bomb plot were uncovered today by police raid on a house in north Calcutta. A live bomb in a suitcase, and several shells and materials for the manufacture of bombs on a fairly large scale were found.

Laborer Runs Amuck to Kill Man Thursday

Another in Serious Condition as Result of Attack Made at Port Arthur; Statement Is Made to Officers

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 11. (P)—Dominico Polito is dead and Alex Leger in a serious condition as a result of Edwin Ortego, 28-year-old refinery worker, running amuck at the Texas company plant here early today.

In a statement Ortego said he shot the two men because they were leaders of a mob which had been after him.

According to Roy Young, brother-in-law of Ortego, the latter was treated yesterday by a physician, after he had been nervous and unable to sleep or eat for several days. Witnesses to the shooting said Ortego who had been working at the plant for two years, suddenly quit work, whipped out a revolver and began shooting.

much about how things are done in Hollywood.

"At least, though, he'll know you've made good before your year of probation was up," Dan reminded her, and Anne nodded and laughed.

"He'll be as thrilled over it as I am," Dan said.

Rorimer chewed his lip thoughtfully. "I'll tell you what, I think we'd better get Johnny Riddle in on this. Johnny'll know what to do. 'Maybe,' Dan added with a chuckle, 'Johnny'll want to sign you up right away as a client. You could do worse.'

He stopped the car at his apartment building. "If you don't mind, I'll slip in and put on a fresh shirt. This one's rather the worse for wear. Want to wait here, or will you come up? I can offer you something cool, and it won't be bad, either."

Anne smiled. "Is Paul home?" "Very likely, unless he's got a tea date with some actress. He generally tries to write his column before dinner, so he can have the evening free."

Paul was hanging on his typewriter. "Company!" Dan announced, ushering Anne in. "Paul, you can get busy with the shaker and entertain the beautiful young lady while the master of the house does fresh raiment. And you can call up Johnny Riddle and tell him to meet us here at 8 o'clock or thereabouts."

"What's coming off?" Collier wanted to know. "Can't you think up anything else for me to do?"

"Annie tell you all about it," Dan called from his room.

Some minutes later he joined Anne and Collier in the kitchen. He had slipped into a freshly-pressed light suit, and Paul, looking him over, said, "Johnny's coming. My, but you're pretty!"

Collier added that Anne had told him the news. "I'm going to do a column on her, too—tonight. Am I invited to dinner with you?"

"Well, I'd rather not have you," Dan said with a grin, "but I suppose you can come."

Paul appealed to Anne. His hands were busy with the shaker and he gestured with his head. "I ask you, Anne, if he isn't a tough guy to get along with?" And Anne laughed and said that she thought he might be.

"Got any small pictures of yourself, Anne?" Paul asked. "You know, to go with the story. What's Grand United got?"

Anne said the publicity department at Grand United had a few. "And I've had some new ones made at Preston Dunsen's."

"Well! How's Mona and Eva?" "Oh, all right. Eva's rather down in the mouth, though. Anne looked a little troubled."

Collier said that was too bad. "What's the matter, can't she find anything?" and Anne shook her head.

"You know," said Dan, swinging one leg across the table corner. "I think Eva ought to change her name and talk with a Polish accent or something. He frowned."

"No kidding. You know what I mean? If Eva had come from Warsaw or Berlin, or some place, instead of New Orleans, some of these producers would be jumping all over themselves to give her a job."

"A foreign accent wouldn't help a whole lot in talking pictures," Collier reminded him, and Dan smiled ruefully.

"That's true, too. I guess I'm all wet, as usual. Only, Eva just—just misses, somehow. When you look at her you sort of expect her to be something else than she is. But I still think if she had a foreign label on her she'd do better."

"She might try it," Collier said, "but it wouldn't be anything new. Everything's been tried in Hollywood."

And he began a story about a young girl who had come to Hollywood and had had little or no success as an extra. It became necessary for her to go to a hospital for an operation, and while there she decided that she would emerge from the hospital with a new name and a new personality.

"So when she came out of the ether she was Sonia or Olga something-or-other—I forget the actual name now. She got by, by becoming a Russian agent, and she got completely fooled one producer, and he gave her plenty of work. But the producer went broke, and then she fell in love with some guy and went back to New York. I guess Hollywood's lost track of her now."

Eva Harley, Paul added, might try that. "But I think it would be pretty hard to put over now."

They went to dinner then, and shortly after they returned to the apartment Johnny Riddle came in. "Hi, folks," he greeted. "What's all the shootin' for?"

"I'll tell you," said Dan, who was at the telephone, "as soon as I put in this long distance call to Tulsa. . . . What's the number, Anne?"

Anne went over to stand beside him, and when he hung up she told Riddle about her offer.

Johnny said, coolly: "How much?" and when Anne informed him, he shook his head.

"Not enough," he said positively. "If you have any luck at all you'll be worth four or five times that much, maybe, and they'll have you tied up for three years."

"But Mr. Johnson said he wouldn't change the offer," Anne said.

"Bluff!" Riddle said scornfully. "If you go over in this picture you can make a lot more money than that free-lancing. And they know you've got something, or they wouldn't be offering you a contract. I'd hold out for more; that's my advice."

"It's mine, too," said Collier. "Be independent like Dan Rorimer. He tore his contract up."

"I do," said Anne with a doubtful laugh. "I may find jobs scarce. A contract at least gives you security."

That Riddle said was just the reason why people often overlooked other things more important. "Security isn't everything."

"There's Tulsa calling," said Rorimer, springing up.

Abilene Decorator Willing To Make Affidavit, He Says

Took Scores of Treatments Without Results—Gained 14 Pounds on Argotane

"Yes, sir, I would go before a notary any time and testify to the wonderful benefits I have received from Argotane," said W. W. Wood, well known decorator who resides at 849 Cypress Street, Abilene, Texas, a few days ago.

"My health has been badly broken for the past six years," Mr. Wood continued, "and I have suffered from some ailment or other all the time. I had headaches continually, my kidneys were out of order, my back hurt and I was dizzy at times. I could hardly walk straight and my back and my head would nearly kill me. My stomach was in such an awful condition I would vomit up my food and was hardly able to retain enough on my stomach to barely keep me alive. My stomach was in such a bad condition that I was told I would never get over it."

"I reckon I took at least 50 different kinds of medicines trying to get relief but nothing did me any good and no one can realize what terrible feelings I had unless they had the same troubles. Several of my friends recommended Argotane to me so highly that I decided to try it and I am certainly very grateful for the results. For I'm now feeling fine. I have gained around 14 pounds and am enjoying about as good health as anybody. My suffering is gone, my appetite is splendid and my stomach troubles seem to be a thing of the past. Things are quite different with me now and I feel that I wouldn't be doing the right thing not to tell others about the medicine I have reaped so much benefit from."
