Whiskey Cases Draw Convictions

In the case of the state of New Mexico vs. Fred Bell, charged with possession of a still for the manufacture of liquor, the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

In the case of the State of New Mexico vs. J. W. Watts, H. W. Cooper, and Virgil Gates, charged with the possession of a still for the manufacture of intoxicating liquors for sale, the jury returned a verdict of guilty against Watts and Cooper, acquitting the negro, Virgil Gates.

CUT BROOMCORN IN THE MILK

Many broomcorn growers believe that the brush will increase in weight if left until the seed is ripe. A 9-year test at the United States Dry-Land Field Station, Woodward, Okla., showed there was no increase in the weight of brush after the seed reached the milk stage. The value of the brush cut when the seed in the milk averaged a third higher than when cut in the rough stage, and nearly twice as high as when left to ripen. Buyers prefer the brush cut when the seed is in the milk.

Rio Grande Floods Take Heavy Toll From Farmers

New Mexico has had a taste of flood. The villages of San Marcial, San Antonio and other small villages, were almost completely wiped out by the food waters of the Rio Grande River.

These villages being built mostly of adobe, melted away as the flood waters surrounded them.

These villages were in land lower than the river bed, and as the torrent poured over the dykes, water rose as high as six feet in the streets.

The inhabitants fled to the hills for refuge, in many instances leaving all of their belongings in their flooded homes.

The farms in this fertile valley were washed out and covered with silt.

The state and the Red Cross have been doing their part in relieving the distressed condition of the citizens, and the state health department has taken every precaution to prevent the spread of an epidemic.

A few weeks ago the editor camped one night in the village of San Antonio, and at that time noticed that the river bed seemed to be higher than the town. On questioning the natives, he was told that the water never came over the railway tracks, and that there was not much danger of a flood.

The village of San Pedro, just across the river was of adobe, and the damage on this side was not as great as that on the west side of the river. The highway crosses the river on the railroad bridge of a branch line which runs to the coal mining region of the east side.

The financial loss is great, as the farms were completely destroyed, and it will take years to bring them back to their high state of cultivation.

This section of New Mexico is picturesque, and contained some of the oldest settlements in the state. It is inhabited by a thrifty class of farmers, whose small farms are irrigated from the river waters, and alfalfa fields, truck patches dotted the highway from San Antonio south.

The loss in this section of the state will be felt by the entire state and every community has been tendering aid.

Portales sent a substantial cash donation for the relief of flood sufferers.

Work Will Start Mon. on Gas Line To Clovis, Portales

Several carloads of pipe to be used in laying the 110 mile line of the New Mexico Gas Company from the gas fields to Portales and Clovis have been ordered and construction of this line will begin Monday morning, it was announced here yesterday.

The New Mexico Gas Company although a separate corporation has the same executive personnel as the Pecos Valley Gas Company and draws its supply of natural gas from the same great field.

Franchises for natural gas were granted the company at both Portales and Clovis some weeks ago.

Big Preparations for Livestock Show On September 27-28

The finance committee of the Dairy and Livestock Show, which will be held in Portales September 27 and 28, reports that the Roosevelt county Dairy Association has contributed one hundred dollars toward the support of the show. This makes the total substantial contribution to the show, the First National Bank of Portales having already put up a registered Jersey cow, and Mr. Shepard of Hale Center, Texas a registered Jersey bull, both animals to be given as premiums.

One of the officers of the Dairy Association, in commenting on the importance of the dairy show made the following statement: "Our association, composed of dairy farmers of Roosevelt county, has made great progress in establishing better markets for butterfat. While the marketing end of our business is important, we believe that savings can be made for the dairyman on the production end, also, by the establishment of better dairy methods such as improved dairy stock, better feeding and housing methods. We believe that as to be better dairymen. We consider our contribution as an investment."

The Association has made arrangements with the Show committee to have a booth at the show in which an attractive display will be made.

The finance committee of the Show has just started its work, and with the three fine contributions mentioned above, it seems to be making a splendid start.

There is great interest among the farmers of the county in the coming dairy and livestock show. Numbers of farmers have already stated their intention of bringing in exhibits. Business men are putting their shoulder to the wheel, and are encouraging farmers to bring in their animals. It is indeed encouraging to see this spirit. It means that the show will be a real community effort, with everyone doing his part to put it over in a big way. Roosevelt county realizes that livestock is its best industry and everyone seems to be determined to make it bigger and better.

The Purina Mills, manufacturers of checkerboard feeds, have been asked to put their dairy play at the dairy and livestock show, Sept. 27 and 28. The company representative, Mr. Falls, has taken the matter up with his company, and is it reasonably certain that this splendid play will be given both days or nights. The play is humorous, instructive and its purpose is to encourage interest in the best dairy methods.

Farmers over the county are making plans for securing better bulls, and building new cow barns. Much attention is being given to improved feeds. The coming dairy and livestock show will be big in every way because the people will boost the industry, the industry boosts everyone in the county. Let everyone get behind the show.

Texas Real Estate Dealers Association Visit in Portales

On last Saturday the motorcade of the Texas Real Estate Dealers Association visited Portales on their way home from a trip through the Carlsbad Caverns.

A luncheon had been prepared by the Portales Chamber of Commerce for the visitors, who were expected to arrive about eleven o'clock in the forenoon.

About 12 o'clock a telephone communication announced that they would not arrive in Portales until 1:30.

The luncheon was prepared by the ladies of the Christian Church and served in the High School Gym.

About one o'clock the visitors began to arrive by auto, and later a large pickwick load made their appearance.

There were 70 in the party including the Real Estate men and their families, these visitors coming from Beaumont, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, Dallas, and other Texas points.

As the crowd disembarked from the large Pickwick stage, the News editor was slapped on the back and called by name. A stranger stood with outstretched hand, and it was soon learned that it was an old friend of the editor, C. S. Newton, of Dallas, who was associated with him in the real estate business in Texas twenty-five years ago.

A very pleasant visit was had with Newton, and also with the many others whom it was his pleasure to meet.

After washing up from the dust of the road, the guests were invited into the gym, where the luncheon was spread.

Here was a real dinner consisting entirely of Portales products with the exception of coffee, tea and sugar.

A. D. Ribble, president of the Portales Chamber of Commerce, presided. J. Rex Forrest, of the local real estate board acting as toast master.

Sam Seay introduced Coe Howard, who gave the welcome address. Coe poured it on until one would not have been surprised if the entire party had taken up their abode in Portales and Roosevelt county.

He told of the wonderful development of the past twenty-five years and of the many excellent opportunities now to be found in this section of New Mexico.

R. B. Jordan of Houston, president of the Texas Real Estate Dealers association responded to the welcome address. He expressed the pleasure of the party in having the opportunity to visit this section of the state and expressed a regret that the time was short that they would not be able to drive over the Portales Valley as was planned.

During the luncheon, the farmers who grew and supplied the products served were called upon for short talks.

E. B. Siddall, told of the peanut industry in the valley.

J. H. Breshears told of the sweet potato from planting to market.

Bob Anglin of Clovis, expressed a wish that the delegation visit their town on leaving Portales.

F. G. Galoway, told of the onion culture and production.

The visitors of one accord pronounced the luncheon the very best that they had partaken of on the trip, and one expressed himself as finding more to eat in Portales than he had seen on the entire trip of the delegation.

The visitors enjoyed the day, as well as did the Portales people and it was with deep regret that they were seen to depart without first driving over the irrigated section of the Portales Valley.

Fire Damages Adams Cafe Thursday

About 10 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the kitchen of the Adams Cafe, next door to the Cozy Theatre.

The fire started from an oil stove in the kitchen, the flames soon spreading to the ceiling, and the wooden partitions.

The fire department responded, and in a few minutes had the blaze extinguished.

Everything in the cafe was damaged, and the household effects of J. J. Kirby, who resided on the second floor was damaged by smoke and water.

The barber shop next door escaped with minor damage, all the fixtures being removed as soon as the fire was discovered.

Legal Battle Began Monday in Bouldin Homicidal Case

Insanity Plea Is Defense

Great Crowds Are Attending
The Trial Daily

On Monday morning the work of selecting a jury in the case of the State of New Mexico vs. B. F. Bouldin, charged with the killing of his wife and daughter on the 29th day of July, began.

On this day the defendant purchasing a revolver from Wheeler Bros. entered the Stratton Hotel, where Mrs. Bouldin was staying with her daughter, Mrs. Ed Barker shooting them to death.

On being arrested the defendant begged the sheriff to kill him or give him something to kill himself with. Later in his cell he made several attempts to end his life.

In the selection of the jury, the entire day was consumed, and it was 11 o'clock Tuesday morning before the jury had been completed, and the state announced that it was ready for trial.

In selecting the jury the entire jury panel which was drawn for jury services was exhausted and two special venires were necessary before the jury was secured.

From 11:00 a. m. to 5 p. m. was consumed in the examination of the state witnesses. This testimony was of a dull routine, nothing being brought out but what had been testified to at the inquest.

Ed Barker, son in law of the defendant, and husband of the late Lizzie Dee, daughter of the defendant was the first witness.

He came in with his little 2 year old daughter, who during his testimony fell asleep in her father's arms. Barker said he had been connected with the family for six years. That for a short while previous to the homicide he together with his wife and baby had resided with the defendant and his wife. That during that time he had milked the cows and helped with the general farm work, then of having moved to the Stratton Hotel and securing work, of the coming of the late Mrs. B. F. Bouldin to his home and later upon going to his rooms and finding the bodies of his wife and mother in law.

B. M. Shumper said in his testimony that the defendant came to Neers Hardware store on Monday the 29 of July and asked to be shown a six shooter. He was told there was not one in the store at that time. He was shown other guns but said he could only shoot a six shooter.

J. B. Sledge testified that Bouldin came to his store on the evening Monday and asked to be shown guns. But did not buy because all were automatic.

Ernest Wheeler testified that the defendant came to his store on the same Monday morning and after trying to reduce the price from $15.00 to $12.50 on a six shooter, purchased the gun after a proposition to pay $15.00 if they would give him six shells.

The jury in this case consists of the following:

W. T. Bell,
T. D. Cavinier,
J. J. Nunn,
Claude Smith,
J. H. Vincent.

That she took his pocket knife and hid it, and on one occasion he asked her husband where the knife was, and that her husband reached upon a shelf and handed him the knife, which she took away from her father.

A. E. Jeter,
F. T. Burke,
W. D. Hudson,
C. B. Denby,
A. Littlejohn,
C. F. Marshall,
A. W. Baker.

Attorneys for the defense were T. E. Meers and C. M. Compton, for the state, J. C. Compton and E. M. Grantham.

Court Bailiff, C. S. Turner.

Bailiffs in charge of the jury, R. L. Richardson and Woody McCall.

Throughout the trial the defendant, B. F. Bouldin, sat as if in a stupor, paying little attention to the jurors, the witnesses or the attorneys who were making a fight for his life.

Since being placed in jail he has broken considerably and was conducted to the court house by two deputies, and the Court appointed T. E. Meers and C. M. Compton to conduct his defense.

He looked as a man who had lost all interest in life and one who would rather welcome death.

The court room was packed throughout the trial with spectators some who came with a real interest in the trial and many only out of morbid curiosity.

Tuesday morning Maurice Bouldin son of the defendant took the stand and his testimony consumed the entire forenoon.

Torn between love for his dead mother and his father who is on trial for his life, he gave a clear and distinct testimony of events covering a great period of years.

It was evident that this witness told the truth, and nothing but the truth, trying to be fair to his parents.

He testified that for a number of years that his father had had periods of despondency, at which time he fancied domestic wrongs. During these periods he was nervous and had a wild look in his eyes, and would not talk. That in his opinion during these spells his father was insane.

At other times he was normal and a devoted husband and father. In the afternoon, Mrs. Knoles, daughter of the defendant took the stand.

Mrs. Knoles testified that when she was between four and five years of age that her father had a spell of serious illness which lasted about eighteen months, and since which time he has had periods of despondency, when he would talk to no one and spend hours sitting, staring at the ground. That during these periods that he would only talk of fancied wrongs.

That on December 24th, 1923 he paid her a visit at her home at Taylor, Texas where he was ill and in bed for a week. During this time he turned over to her $500.00 which he said was her dowry, and that he had seen all of his children, and wanted to see her before he died. That he begged for a knife or an ice pick with which to kill himself.

That she took his pocket knife and hid it, and on one occasion he asked her husband where the knife was, and that her husband reached upon a shelf and handed him the knife, which she took away from her father.

The Masonic order stands for education and takes pride in the corner stone ceremonies of educational buildings.

The floods of the Mississippi Valley were discussed by the people of New Mexico and their sympathies were with the flood sufferers. Little did they believe that they would be in a like position. But the waters of the streams of New Mexico becoming jealous of the record of the Mississippi, poured down out in the mountains in torrents, jumping their banks and strewed destruction in their wake. This condition, has brought forcefully to mind the necessity of controlling the floods at the source. With proper conservancy these floods can be controlled and many acres of rich delta lands brought under irrigation. This conservancy will divert the waters of the Colorado, Rio Grande and other rivers, turning them to the use of man, and prevent flood conditions lower down. Flood control is too big a proposition for any one state, it is a national issue, and when the powers that be are brought to the realization that it is up to them to save this annual destruction of life and property the wealth of the nation will be increased many times the cost of harnessing these streams.

In the past week several of the truck farmers of the Valley have suffered from raids on their melon patches. These melons are a commercial crop, and the stealing of them is the same as the breaking into a store and taking the merchandise there from. Off times these raids are made by boys in the spirit of mischief, but the results will be that they will be haled before the court and given a stiff fine and perhaps a jail sentence. Boys should be taught to respect the property rights of others.

Court week has found many of the farmers from over the county held in Portales for jury service and as witnesses. This is oftentimes a hardship but on the other hand they are performing their duties as citizens, and making the country safer for all.

Schools are opening in all parts of the county. The school system of Roosevelt county is the best in the state, and the training of the boys and girls is the most important business of today. Many enter school without a thought of the importance of the training that they will receive. All should realize that the schools are provided at a great expense for their benefit, and should take advantage of this opportunity to better fit them for their future station in life.

The News Editor About To Get In Bad

An effort is being made to defame the character of the News editor. On day last week Frank Jernigan found a new cigar in its original wrapping in his water melon patch. It is now being tried to lay the ownership on the News editor, but—

J. B. H. Young smokes El Productor, J. R. Shock, Trainmaster, Sam Seay and Ezra Watts any brand that is given them. D. A. Gordon, Crooks, C. M. Compton, Chancellors, or a pipe, F. E. Sleeper little Chancellors. The News editor smokes Chancellors, Tom Moores and Comandos. Before pleading guilty, a 50 pound water melon and the cigar will have to be brought in.

Or he is willing to leave it to the readers of the News whether his reputation will permit the stealing of a watermelon.

All that think he would commit so heinous a crime, will be subscribed one vote with each years subscription paid in advance.

Those who do not think that he would do so may cast their vote without any obligation whatever.

He is anxious to have this matter cleared up, so bring in your votes early and often.

Now when it comes to stealing watermelons, he will have to plead not guilty and asks for a jury of twelve good men who have never raided a melon patch.

On last Friday a witness testified that a certain woman was a brunet with brown hair. Said woman was brought into the court room and asked to remove her hat. She had a beautiful head of red hair, and was a blond.

On Saturday when the negro charged with running a still was acquitted, he was asked what they had him jail for, he replied "for being in bad company."

Beans and Elizabeth Greaves attended services at the Methodist Revival Tuesday night, thus killing two birds with one stone, first by representing the Portales Valley News family and secondly by enjoying the opportunity of hearing Rev. Loris pastor of the First Christian Church, deliver a wonderful Methodist sermon in a Baptist Church.

When asked for news Tuesday by a News reporter Mrs. McCall replied "I don't know anything only I want to get moved into my new home."

S. F. Moore is planting wheat for his chickens. Now S. F. is quite frank in saying that at present he doesn't own any chickens but the nights will soon be dark.

CARRS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Carr and her sister Mrs. John V. Mauk and daughter Jane returned Sunday afternoon from a four weeks stay at Colorado Springs and Denver Colorado. They report a wonderful time, and Mrs. Carr is much improved from her trip.

County Extension Notes

Burlap bags of beans and peas, bottles of water, cameras and many jars greeted the club at East Valley View at their all day meeting last Wednesday. The ladies of the club were spending the day performing a labor of love. They were canning for the children of the Baptist Orphan's Home here in Portales. This is an idea for the other clubs is it not? Service means happiness.

Tuesday was Canning Day for the Pleasant Valley Club. They met for an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Lambirth and canned 27 quarts and 12 pints of beans and peas. 1 1/2 quarts and a pint of plums. On the next meeting day they will can for Mrs. Cavenier.

The Perry Club made the frozen desserts at their meeting at the school house on Friday. They served the girls of the Sewing Club, Three-Five Ice Recipe:

3 oranges.
3 lemons.
3 bananas.
3 cups sugar
3 cups water

Make a syrup of the sugar and water. Add the juice of the oranges and lemons and the bananas mashed fine through a sieve and freeze.
This is quite rich and if children are to be served dilute with water. A frozen mixture must be riched with sugar and fruit juice than a drink. The freezing makes it lose some of the flavor.

4-H CLUB NOTES

Hitch your wagon to a star.
Keep your seat, and there you are.

The girls are finishing up their club projects in fine shape. Two of the clubs Dora and Perry held their local Achievement days last week. Mrs. Myrtle Smith who has been very faithful leader of the Dora Club has been ill and is recovering from an operation. Here is hoping for a speedy recovery. Local Leader Mrs. Creamer helped the girls finish up their work and to hold their Achievement Day.

The Girls in the Pleasant Valley Club have finished up their work and are ready for their Achievement day to be held on Tuesday the 27. At their meeting last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Lambirth they worked on demonstration work and finished up the loose ends. The following is the song written by Jennie Mae Cavenier and to the Tune of Tramp, Tramp, Tramp.

We are the Sewing Girls,
We're as busy as the squirrels,
We just sew and sew the whole day thru
But in all our work & play
We just love to sew the way
That our leader has shown us Patiently.

4-H, 4-H clubs rejoicing

Come go with us will you please
We will do the best we can
Hoping soon the prize to win
Then our leader will be proud
And so shall we.

Dora started the local Achievement day ball rolling. About 35 were present for their program at the school house on Wednesday. The girls had invited the Richland and Hiway girls to meet with them. The sewing exhibit was nicely displayed in one room. The program was presided over by Frances Hodges the President. First the flag was saluted and the pledge and motto. The Richland girls sang their club song and the D. S. C. girls sang their. Club songs were sung and the demonstration practice on first year sewing was done by Doris and Edith Creamer. The advanced demonstration was given by Frances Hodges (D. S. C.) and Lucille Stroud.

The D. S. C. colors are pink and green. They served cakes and pink ice cream with a green 4 leaf clover on the cream. After the party the local girls scored the sewing with the following results:

It has been reported that the Arch Club held a special meeting with their leader Mrs. Hill on Thursday and canned 9 pints of vegetables and practiced demonstrating etc. On Friday the girls spent the night with Mrs. Hill and in the evening practiced songs, etc. They say no one got a great deal of sleep that night.

BORGER YOUTH HELD IN JAIL AFTER SLAYING

Borger, August 19.—Blackie Moore 22 years old, was held in the Hutchinson county jail without bond tonight after a preliminary hearing this afternoon before Justice Judge Walker Brownhall in the killing of Homer L. Brown, 22 years old, by stabbing on the streets of Borger Sunday night.

Moore, alias Guy Greer, will seek a habeas corpus through defense attorney L. G. Hurley.

Four witnesses testified for the state but none could swear to having seen the knife during the altercation. The pocket knife with about a three-inch blade was not discovered until after the victim had been taken to the hospital and then removed to the morgue and his clothes removed, due to the fact that it was almost completely buried in his back.

At the hospital where he died, a deep cut across the left breast was sewed up but at the morgue it was found that he had a deep laceration clear across his back under the shoulder blades besides the knife buried lower down.

Brown was held in the jail awaiting action of the grand jury in October. He was arrested near Skellytown east of here early Monday morning. He was driving an automobile which he had borrowed from a friend, he declared. The affray, according to witnesses, followed a quarrel and fight earlier in the evening.

How Oakland compares with the field

Oakland's 228 cubic inch piston displacement is greater than 12 of the 20 cars in its price field. Of the 8 remaining cars, 7 are higher priced than Oakland.

Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less-known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.

Only one car as low-priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.

Rail Crossing Accidents On Big Increase

Number of Accidents in Country Jumps 16 Per Cent For 1928

Chicago, Aug 18—Eighty per cent more fatalities occurred at railroad-highway grade crossings in 1928 than in 1927, and generally speaking the rural areas were less safe for automobile drivers than they were by comparison with the large cities.

"In 1928 there were 2,658 persons killed at grade crossings and 8,866 injured," reports Clay S. White, president of the Standard Traffic Marker Co. of Wichita, Kansas at a conference of traffic experts here. "The number of fatalities is 8 per cent greater than that for 1927 as shown by reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

*From United States census burcan data it appears that in 1928 the automobile deaths per 100,000 population had only increased 16 per cent above those of 1924 for large cities whereas for the country as whole the increase was 29 per cent above the 1924 figures," Mr. White added.

"Collisions or automobiles with heavier vehicles are more frequent, relatively, in the rural areas, but remains true that collisions of automobiles with other motor transport or with pedestrians accounted for four out of five non-fatal accidents. "Improvements would be observed if rural highways were more effectively marked with flexible rubber signs set directly in the road. Cities using this type of signal have reported that accidents were greatly decreased.

"The arterial highway seems to be the answer to many traffic problems, but crossroad intersection must be properly marked. If it is to be most efficient. Defective brakes are reported twice as frequently as any other vehicular defect, but improper lights are another cause of many accidents."

Competition is not Necessary for Reliable Market

Markets are controlled today in produce, butter, cream and eggs by the supply and demand. Such as hogs, cattle, wheat, corn and cotton markets. And when the production exceeds local demand, capital must come along and take over the surplus production. Such as we now have in this country and handle them in a business-like way so as to return a sufficient amount of profit to enable such business to continue. We will take cream for example Suppose there was only one cream buying station in Portales. Do you suppose cream would be worth an less? I say no Because the demand today for butter creates the market. And the large creameries are willing to pay what cream is worth and go ahead and manufacture butter and deliver it to the consuming public. Distributing same in large cities where there is no production. The same applies to poultry and eggs

We are in a position to handle unlimited amounts of any of the above commodities at market value. Come in and see us. . .

[CATED TO BETTER MOTORING]

What the MARLAND CONTINENTAL Merger MEANS TO MOTORISTS

THE consolidation of the resources and facilities of the Marland Companies and the Continental Oil Company, under the latter's name, is more than a corporate merger. It is a happy union of well balanced production, manufacturing and marketing operations from which will come a host of unusual advantages to the millions of customers and thousands of distributors.

Wide Field for Crude Selection

Out of a total area of more than two and one quarter million acres in eight states, Continental selects the crudes best suited for its manufactured products. Raw materials for oils, greases and gasolines may often come from widely separated regions. Continental controls its own crude supply and chooses the best for each refining operation and thus assures a standard uniform output from year to year.

Strategic Location of Eight Refineries

Economical and efficient operation of petroleum manufacture frequently depends upon the relative locations of the raw product, the refinery and the market. Continental is fortunate in that its eight modern manufacturing plants are well placed to afford prompt and economical delivery both before and after refinement. These properties are located at Baltimore, Maryland; Ponca City and Sapulpa, Oklahoma; Artesia and Farmington, New Mexico; Wichita Falls, Texas; Florence, Colorado; and Glenrock, Wyoming.

Exclusive Processes Insure High Quality

Continental refinery engineers enjoy a national reputation in the oil business. Not only have they adopted the newest and most efficient mechanical equipment for these big refineries but they have designed machinery and developed processes which are exclusive to this company. Under centralized control, these facilities now are made available in the manufacture of petroleum products of exceptional quality.

Conocoland Covers Tremendous Area

More than forty years marketing experience has spread the distribution of Conoco products over an area which reaches from the western slope of the Rockies, far east to the Mississippi River. Practically half of the United States is dotted so closely with Conoco Stations that a motorist may drive anywhere in that tremendous area without introducing other than Conoco products to his car. The outposts of Conocoland range from the Pacific Northwest to the shores of the Great Lakes and from the Atlantic Seaboard to the California boundary.

Prestige Established in Foreign Lands

The Continental coastwise and export fleet operate from terminals at Texas City, Texas; Newark, New Jersey; Baltimore, Maryland; and Norfolk, Virginia; to a dozen foreign countries. Petrol pumps deliver Conoco gasoline to automobiles in the shores of England and Conoco motor oils lubricate industrial plants in north Europe, South America and the Orient.

In brief, the joined forces of these two great companies afford greater, better service to the users of motor fuels and lubricants wherever the sign of the Red Triangle is displayed.

PEANUTS THE MOST POPULAR NUT

Peanuts grown in the United States in 1934 had a farm value over $22,000,000. Georgia and Virginia being the leading producers. Sixty-five per cent of the nuts eaten in this country are peanuts, our exports being less than 1 per cent. And to satisfy the popular demand for confections containing peanuts, candy manufacturers used over 100,000 tons of the crop.

HERE'S A GOOD WAY TO CLEAN WINDOWS

Here is what one grocer advises to save time and effort when washing windows:

"Choose a dull day or at least a time when the sun is not shining directly on the window—for when the sun shines on it the window will become dry streaked no matter how much it is rubbed.

Take a clean painter's brush and dust the window inside and out, washing all the wood work inside and out before touching the glass, the glass must be washed only with warm water diluted with ammonia. Do not use soap. Use a small cloth with a pointed stick to get the dust out of the corners. Wipe dry with a soft piece of cotton cloth. Do not use linen as it makes the glass lily when dry. Polish with tissue paper or old newspaper.

"I find this method takes only half the time needed with soap and I get brighter windows."

Complete Safe Cracking Outfit Found in a Car Badly Wrecked

Officers in all Section of Eastern New Mexico Were On Lookout For Three Men

Sheriff Harry Thorne and deputies spent practically all night watching all roads leading into Roswell looking for three men who were believed by Eddy county officers to have been bent on cracking safes in the Pecos Valley.

Last night at 7:30 o'clock Eddy county officers were summoned to the southern part of Carlsbad where a Buick coupe, carrying a Texas license, had plunged into a tree. The car was a total wreck and in the rear end of the car was found a complete safe cracking outfit together with a large quantity of burglar's tools.

Those who saw the wreck gave officers a practical description of three men who left the car after the crash. These men were the subject of a search by officers in all parts of the valley last night. Up to a late hour this afternoon, however, nothing had been heard of them.

Officers found a complete arsenal in the car, pistols and rifles, the latter being of late make and high-powered. There was also a complete set of burglar's tools and safe cracking equipment, drills, cutting torches and other materials. Every point in eastern New Mexico was warned immediately to be on the lookout for the three men, two of whom were known to have been badly cut and bruised in the smash-up.

Local officers and those of Eddy county who examined the materials found in the car, were today certain that a number of big "jobs" would have resulted somewhere in the valley had it not been for the crash into a tree. —Roswell Record.

Government Finds 6 way to Prevent Loco

Bulletin Recently Issued Has Valuable Information

Washington, D. C. Aug. 17.—Uncle Sam has just completed a study of the private life of the loco weed, has found means to put an end to its mischief-making proclivities and is anxious to impart the secret to stockman in Texas and elsewhere, the Department of Agriculture announced today.

Contrary to some beliefs the loco weed isn't any copyrighted product of the Lone Star State, the report disclosed. It is found in some extent running up and down a territory extending from Mexico to Canada, generally west of a line north and south through the centers of Kansas and Nebraska.

Nor is it always uniform in appearance, government experts said. It appears in a number of disguises its mischief to preform. Some of its botanical names are purple, white, and blue loco, the sheep loco weed, the Thurber loco weed and the two-groove loco weed. There is also one with a little more aristocratic called the half-moon loco, but when a cow or horse gets loco it's loco no matter how sweet the name by which the weed is designated.

Horses and cattle have different tastes in loco, the statement said. Purple is the color scheme which appeals exclusively to horses. The blue affects horses primarily, but cattle and sheep are also affected by it. The plebian white loco gets them all—horses, cattle and sheep.

Once an animal gets the "loco habit" he will skip right over nice grass and appease his unnatural appetite for loco, the statement said. Loco weeds can be exterminated by cutting them two inches or so below the surface of the soil and repeating several times to kill new loco weeds. Several methods of curing affected animals are prescribed in the bulletin the first issued on the subject in ten years, and which the department is anxious to distribute.

New Mexico Farmers Produce Good Seed

Members of the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association in the various counties are busy these days getting their fields rouged and ready for the August inspection, says G. R. Quisenberry of the New Mexico Agricultural College. Crops that pass this inspection will be eligible for certification later on. Crops to be certified must be planted from pure seed, show a thrifty growth, be free from noxious weeds, disease and off-type plants.

Rouging demonstrations have been held for the past six years in each community where instruction was needed. At present most of the work is being done by the individual seed growers, although some assistance is still being given by the College to aid the uninformed in keeping their fields up to standard.

Counties that have local organizations of the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association include Dona Ana, Chaves, Eddy, Otero, Luna, Colfax, Hidalgo, San Miguel and Rio Arriba. New Mexico now has twelve regularly organized crop improvement associations and two others that will probably be fully organized during the year, all of them trying to do their part in supplying the New Mexico farmers with pure planting seed. The members of the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association are now producing certified beans, potatoes, alfalfa, grain sorghums, corn, wheat, oats, barley and cotton, and several other crops of lesser importance. Most of this seed is being used in New Mexico, but demands from adjoining states are increasing and some orders have been received from Mexico.

Ruben Albert Cothorn

Ruben Albert Cothorn, was born in Bisco County Texas on June 21st, 1901, married to Inna Stephens on December 23, 1922 at Portales New Mexico, by Rev. J. F. Nix.

Died August 18, 1929 at Portales New Mexico.

Ruben had been sick for some time and spent several weeks at Hot Springs, New Mexico, in hopes that it would improve his health. He was afflicted with the enlargement of the liver, and attending physicians could give no hope for his recovery.

For the past few weeks, it was thought by the family, that he was improving, and his father and mother made a short trip to Colorado to visit relatives, returning home Saturday.

Sunday morning he awoke profusely, and when his mother Mrs. Tom Cothorn, phoned the physician for instructions, was told to dry him off and rub with alcohol.

While his mother was phoning his wife called to her that he had gone to sleep. She immediately went to his bed and attempted to arouse him, but he continued to sink until death, claimed him.

Deceased leaves a wife and two children, a son, Albert, 4 years of age, and a daughter, Maxine, 2 years of age. He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cothorn of Portales three brothers, Deskin, John and Alfred and one sister, Mrs. Victor Olds, all of whom were present.

Ruben lived a consistent Christian life since 1917, when he was baptized by A. J. Layland, into the Re-organized Church of the Latter Day Saints.

The funeral services were held at the home of his parents in south Portales, the remains being laid to rest in the Portales cemetery.

Wheeler and Johnson having charge of the funeral arrangements.

Hardening Wood of Trees and Vines Before Winter

Failure to harden properly the wood of grape vines and several of the tender trees often results in considerable loss from winter injury says A. B. Fite, Associate Horticulturist of the New Mexico A. & M. College. This is especially true of young pecans and walnut trees, which often have growing between the rows of other crops that are cultivated and irrigated until so late in the fall that the little trees are apt to be succulent and tender until the first hard frost, which then kills them back to the ground.

Irrigation of such plants should cease sufficiently early in the fall to season and harden the wood before winter. It is difficult to give specific dates for the last fall irrigation, because of the soil and parts of the state, but on the average variations in different age irrigation should probably cease at least six weeks before the first hard frost.

Young trees and vines may also be injured, or even killed, during the winter by becoming too dry. After the trees and vines have become dormant and hardened by frost and the soil begins to get dry, they should be irrigated. In most parts of the State practically all trees and shrubs should be

Debuture Only Salvation for Cotton Growers

Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas Says New Farm Legislation Has Not Helped Major Industry.

Washington, August 17.—Declaring that of all branches of agriculture, cotton has derived the "least benefit from the government, Texas Senator Connally, democrat, Saturday night urged the formation of stabilization corporations to handle the 1929 cotton crop.

Speaking to the radio audience of the Washington Star's forum, he said the cotton growers "have furnished the United States with one of its chief export commodities and have never received any benefit from the tariff, but have borne the burdens of the tariff on other industries."

Reviewing the effort of both parties to give aid to the producers of all crops, Senator Connally advocated the export debenture plan which was defeated in the house last session after it had been approved in the senate.

If both the marketing machinery which the federal farm board is authorized to set up, and the export debenture plan were used, the senator declared, "The American farmer would have an agency of real farm relief."

In about a week he had apparently improved in health and returned to his home near Portales.

That on Tuesday the week before the tragedy, she and her sister Mrs. Barker had some words about the children fighting, and when the family assembled at the supper hour, that this was remarked upon by Mrs. Barker, who said "No one can talk about my baby."

That she replied that she would say before her what she had said in her absence. Her father was seated at the table aroise, and with each hand pushed Mrs. Bouldin and Mrs. Barker back, Mrs. Bouldin falling on the floor. That no sick was struck, and the push was not heavy.

That her mother and Mrs. Barker left that night for town, Trice Bouldin driving them in in the car.

After they left he locked the doors and pulled down the shades, and when Trice returned from town he called for his father who let him in, after which Trice slept on a cot on the front yard.

That for the following days of the week, her father appeared very restless at night, often getting up and walking out to the cot where his son was sleeping, and at other times walking into her room.

That during during this period he ate very little, and on several occasions came in and remarked that he had forgotten to eat breakfast.

That on Monday morning of the tragedy, he left for town, giving instructions as to the plowing and care of the cows, stating that he would be home by noon.

Trice Bouldin, 19 year old son of the defendant said that his father had said he expected some day to be sent to the insane asylum. He also testified that his father had spells of acting queer, that the spells were more often than formerly and lasted longer.

B. W. Ware a neighbor also testified that the defendant had spells that at one time he knew him to work in the field from daylight until dark not stopping to eat or feed the four mules which he was driving to a harrow. He also told other occasions and times when the defendant, to his mind, was not sane, and that he had talked of this to other neighbors.

Sheriff Tom Jernigan, told of three attempts of suicide by the defendant during his incarceration in the county jail. Once that he attempted to hang himself with a suit of under wear, once he ate a box of matches and once that he ate nearly a whole newspaper.

Dr. E. T. Hensley testified that he had examined the defendant upon two occasions and that he found him, highly nervous, suffering from delusions, and melancholy all taken together and with the homicide committed by the defendant were the result of an unbalanced mind.

Testimony continued till 9 o'clock Wednesday night, when the court recessed till Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

It is expected that the entire day will be consumed in the examination of witnesses, several expert witnesses having been summoned to testify as to the sanity of the defendant.

winter irrigated.

Young Vinfers grape vines should be killed up with dirt in the late fall to protect them through the winter until a stump has been developed, after which time they may be left exposed, in the southern part of the State, if the wood is properly cured before winter.
