Armed Might Of U. S. Pledged For Defense Of Americas

FDR Confident Of Ability To Beat Any Foe

Uncle Sam Insists On Peaceful Use Of Both Oceans

(By The Associated Press)

DAYTON, O., Oct. 12.—President Roosevelt enunciated a policy of total defense of the Americas against a total attack from any segment of the world tonight and pledged the United States navy and air force to the defense of all the western hemisphere.

The president's address, one of his most momentous declarations on international conditions and foreign policy, was broadcast to every nation of the hemisphere.

Americas Are United

He said that this country, as in 1798, insists on the peaceful use of the Atlantic and Pacific for trade and commerce. He said the American nations were united in their determination to resist the threats of dictators and rejected the doctrine of appeasement.

He renewed assurances that Britain would receive all aid short of war.

He voiced confidence in the ability of the Americas, bound together in the spirit of good neighbors, to resist any infiltration of "alien political and economic ideas which destroy our freedom and democracy."

A Traditional Policy

"When we speak of defending this western hemisphere," Mr. Roosevelt declared, "we are speaking not only of the territory of North, Central and South America and the immediately adjacent islands. We include the right to the peaceful use of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. That has been our traditional policy.

"We of the Americas still consider that this defense of these oceans of the western hemisphere against acts of aggression is the first factor in the defense and protection of our own territorial integrity. We reaffirm that policy lest there be any doubt of our intention to maintain it."

The address was made from a dining car as his special train stood in the Dayton station. It combined a stinging critique of the methods of

Dykstra Will Accept Draft Director Job

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP) — President Clarence A. Dykstra of Wisconsin university accepted today the post of director of selective service and it was expected efforts would be made to have the Senate confirm his nomination speedily inasmuch as the draft registration is to be next Wednesday.

The 57-year old educator, who attracted national attention as city manager of Cincinnati, agreed to head the nation's first peacetime conscription system after the university board of regents granted him a leave of absence. It was disclosed earlier this week that President Roosevelt had asked him to take the post.

It was anticipated in military circles that Dykstra's nomination would go to the Senate Monday. Unless opposition developed, informed sources, said, there was no reason it could not be approved the same day. As head of the draft, Dykstra will receive $10,000 a year.

HEART ATTACK FATAL—SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 12. (AP) —William H. Dieterich, 64, former United States senator from Illinois, dropped dead tonight of a heart attack in his hotel room.

Special Liners Will Speed To Far East To Aid In Evacuation Of Americans

Shuttle Trips To Honolulu Urged As First Move

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—In order to speed removal of Americans from the Orient, the state department arranged today for the Manhattan and the Washington, two of the nation's largest liners, to make special trips to the far east.

The two vessels, formerly in the Transatlantic service, have a passenger capacity of between 2,500 and 3,000 each. Secretary Hull said they would sail on their mission as soon as possible.

Others Are Available

In addition, Hull said five other American passenger liners were now in the Pacific, a number of freighters were available for some passengers, and that efforts were under way to arrange for other ships to transport Americans from various Japanese and Chinese ports. Officials said there were about 16,000 Americans in the Orient.

A suggestion has been made, it was said, that the emergency vessels first make a series of shuttle trips between Honolulu and far eastern ports, leaving their passengers to be brought from the Hawaiian city to the mainland later. Officials said no action had been taken on the proposal and it was indicated that the department did not look on the idea with favor.

No Comment On Reports

Officials had no comment on reports that several points of friction between the United States and Russia had been removed through permission for the Soviets to ship large quantities of machine tools purchased here and to charter several American tankers.

Shipment of machine tools, needed in Russia's war industries, had been held up under an act requiring licenses for export of strategic war materials.

It was pointed out, that the shipments were permitted in August, after the start of discussions between Soviet Ambassador Constantine Oumansky and Undersecretary of State Welles, designed to smooth out Soviet-American relations.

First Load Leaves On Canadian Liner

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Oct. 12.—The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia sailed for the United States today with the first Americans to heed their state department's advice to get out of the Orient—about 100 wives and children of American business men.

There was no noticeable excitement, although many of the families were aware their separations would be long.

The United States consulate was flooded with inquiries about shipping facilities, and bookings were re-

Lubbock County Expects To Register About 4,000 Men

Bombs Rain On Invasion Ports

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 12—A heavy new bombing attack upon the German-held French coast was opened tonight by British warplanes in the light of a bright fall moon.

Heavy explosions could be heard from the region of Boulogne across 22 miles of channel water, and German ground guns cut the sky with a flaming barrage.

String Of Assaults

It was one more in a string of assaults upon the Nazi invasion ports — attacks pushed home last night through a trick fog and rain squalls which, said the British, "hid both land and sea."

Oil plants, factories and docks were blasted last night at the naval stations and ports of Kiel, Hamburg, Bremerhaven, Wilhelmshaven and Westermuende, near Bremen, the British said.

At the same time bombs were loosed on shipping and quays at De Kooi, the Netherlands, near Den Helder naval base, a string of airports on Texel, Norderney, Wanger and Wangeroog islands fringing the north German coast and the island of Sylt, a seaplane base which was bombed repeatedly in the early days of the war.

Antwerp, Ostend, Calais, Boulogne and Le Treport were invasion

LUBBOCK county is in readiness to register its young men of selective service draft age Wednesday, a telegram to be sent to Governor O'Daniel this morning from the county clerk's office will say.

Louie F. Moore, deputy county clerk, said arrangements virtually had been completed for registering no less than 4,000 men between the ages of 21 through 35.

Instructions To Be Given

Monday night, beginning at 8 o'clock in 99th district courtroom, final instructions to registrars, who are regular election board officials reinforced by volunteer assistants, will be given.

Election judges have been informed through press and letters to recruit plenty of help and to take cognizance of several changes in places where registration will occur.

Persons within the draft age were warned again that failure to register will be a federal offense, and that ignorance will be no defense for failure to so register.

Information In Papers

All persons within registering age also were informed that they should read "every line in the papers regarding registration so that they will know how to answer questions of registrars who fill out required blanks Wednesday." The questions must be answered in a certain order, and Avalanche-Journal publications, like those of numerous other newspapers over the country, are carrying information sufficient to acquaint fully those of draft age in procedure of registration.

It will take from 20 to 30 minutes to register each person, which in itself is sufficient to ask all to

Clothing Mart Well Attended

All records have been broken for the number of wholesalers, jobbers and manufacturers exhibiting in a wholesale clothing market sponsored by Western Wholesale Clothing Market association of the chamber of commerce, according to report Saturday by Ernest T. Pope, association president.

When the 21st annual market opened Saturday, he reported, every room which had been reserved for exhibitors in five floors of Lubbock hotel had been taken, including all of the available ballroom spaces on the mezzanine floor. Several latecomers for whom provision could not be made had to take space elsewhere.

Big Attendances Expected

The market is to continue through Tuesday, with the largest attendances expected today and Monday. The big attraction Monday will be the dinner-dance and floor show in the main ballroom of Hilton hotel starting at 7:30 p. m. at which visiting retailers of West Texas and New Mexico will be the guests.

The best available count Saturday indicated that approximately 110 wholesale and manufacturing firms, representing every important trade and style center in the nation, are represented. Reflecting the far-flung area from which they have gathered is the fact that cities as far apart as Boston, Los Angeles, Seattle and New Orleans are among

Uncle Sam Relaxes Rule To Take Texas Boy Into Navy

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Oct. 12—Put down the name of Norman Peary Anthis of El Campo, Tex., as that of a lad who will go far in Uncle Sam's navy.

In June, when he tried to enlist, he was told that he had to be 18 years old.

Today was Norman's eighteenth birthday. When the staff of the Houston recruiting office arrived to open the office for the day, there was Norman waiting for them.

He had hitch-hiked from El Campo, leaving home shortly after dawn so he would not fail to get here on time.

Now, today was not an enlistment day. The navy in its efficient way sets aside certain days for enlistment, certain days for taking applications, and certain days for other business.

But when Lieut. Commander V. W. Michaux heard of Norman's eagerness to be enlisted on his eighteenth birthday, a special order of the day was issued to permit him to do so.

Nazi Swastika Today Flying Over Rumania

Troops With Fixed Bayonets Invade Bucharest Area

(By The Associated Press)

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 12—German troops under command of a general of cavalry, accompanied by six officers wearing the red-striped trousers of the general staff entered Bucharest today and planted the swastika firmly and formally in capital of Rumania.

Established, too, was an "advance command" of the Nazi air force under German Aviation General Speidel.

Bayonets Are Fixed

A long column of field gray motorcars carried German soldiers with fixed bayonets through the streets and squadrons of airplanes, some with the Nazi insignia, roared overhead.

German flags flew from unaccustomed standards, bands played Deutschland Uber Alles, the horst wessel song and the Rumanian national anthem.

The implications of this triumphant entry—this incontestable German military penetration of Rumania—were many.

Foreign observers speculated at new German-Italian moves in southeastern Europe and recalled the declaration of pro-British Turkey that 2,000,000 bayonets would stand athwart any Axis attempt to move in Turkey's direction in the Near East.

British Are Leaving

Amid the parades, the band music the stir in the city, British subjects — whose government's relations with Rumania stand at crisis—quietly packed and hurriedly left.

German circles rejoiced privately that the reich had now established an air patrol of the Rumanian oil fields so vital to Germany's war effort and declared — as other Germans had done when the Axis marched into Norway, into Denmark, into the low countries—that the reich had again taken the initiative away from the British.

But officially the presence of Nazi troops here was attributed to a desire by the Germans to help train the Rumanian army.

Explanation Offered

The Rumanian government headed by General Ion Antonescu since the forced abdication of King Carol II, issued a communique thus explaining matters:

"The former government asked Germany for her help regarding equipment and instruction of the Rumanian army in using the new materials in accordance with the BERLIN, Oct. 12. (AP)—Four Danzig men were beheaded today for high treason.

Forty persons have been beheaded as traitors thus far in 1940.

Film Star Pinned Beneath Auto As He Loses Control

(By The Associated Press)

FLORENCE, Ariz., Oct. 12.—Tom Mix, 60, cowboy-actor and hero of scores of western thrillers of the silent film era, was killed 18 miles south of here today when he was pinned under his overturned automobile on a highway detour.

Mix, whose colorful career as a circus performer, soldier, law enforcement officer and motion picture star made him the idol of millions the world over, was traveling alone from Tucson, Ariz., to Florence and Phoenix.

Coroner E. O. Devine said Mix, apparently died instantly after losing control of his car. There will be no inquest. The body was brought here.

Two highway employes, John Adams of Oracle, Ariz., and E. A. Armenta of Casa Grande, Ariz., discovered the overturned vehicle.

Local investigators said Mix, who left Tucson at 1 p. m., was serving as advance agent for a circus scheduled to show in Phoenix shortly. The cowboy star was carrying $6,000 in cash, $1,500 in travelers' checks and several valuable jewels.

TOM MIX

Mix worked as a cowboy in Texas, Arizona, Wyoming and Montana and won national riding and roping contests at Prescott, Ariz., and Canon City, Colo., in 1909 and 1910.

Hard-Riding Hero

During the years when he was identified with pictures, Mix always was cast as a hard-riding, gun-toting hero out to thwart unlawful acts in the days of the wild west.

In recent years, he had appeared in wild west circus shows and for a time operated his own circus, the Tom Mix wild west show. He also made frequent vaudeville tours and in 1938 and 1939 made personal appearances in Europe.

Mix served with the United States army in the Philippine islands, in the Spanish American war and during the Boxer rebellion in China, winning a medal and citation. He was with the British army at the siege of Ladysmith during the Boer war in South Africa.

Served As Officer

As a law enforcement officer, Mix was sheriff of Montgomery county, Kansas, and Washington county, Oklahoma, and later saw service as a deputy U. S. marshal in the eastern Oklahoma district and with the Texas rangers.

He was livestock foreman of the Miller brothers "101" ranch, Bliss, Okla., from 1906 to 1909.

With the advent of talking pictures, Mix turned to circus and vaudeville work exclusively.

German Attacks Less Ferocious

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 13 (Sunday) — Raid-scarred London buzzed with almost pre-blitzkrieg normalcy early today as Germany's air attack on the British capital suddenly lightened and, for the second straight night, the all clear signal was given hours before dawn.

After a prolonged period of quiet, the end of the nightly raid was signaled around 2:30 a. m. Previously, the city had experienced rare quiet spells between sporadic bombings.

Few Areas Hit

Only eight or ten London areas reported hits by midnight, although the Germans began raiding last night precisely at the same hour of their appearance on three preceding nights.

From the Associated Press rooftop observation post, it seemed the lightest night of the air raids except for the single night last week there was no raid at all because of heavy gales and rainstorms over southern England. But there was clear moonlight early today.

One bomb fell in a famous Lon-

Railway Authorized To Cut Off Trains

Railroad Commission of Texas has authorized the Panhandle & Santa Fe railroad to discontinue trains 94 and 95 between Amarillo and Lubbock at any time after the effective date, which was Friday, the Associated Press reported Saturday.

R. H. Forbes, division passenger agent, was "surprised" at the report, saying no order or statement had come to him from company officials in Amarillo. At a hearing there several months ago strong opposition was voiced by Plainview, Tulia, Lubbock and other towns. Trains affected are the night train from Amarillo to Lubbock, which will originate here; the morning train to Amarillo which will stop here from Dallas and Fort Worth. Several additional company employes will be moved here, it was said.

All-Time Building Record Established

All-time building record for any year in the history of Lubbock was broken Saturday with issuance of a permit to Panhandle Construction company for erection of the new city sewage disposal plant, according to Jim Reid, city building inspector.

Amount of the permit was $211,781.60, and it increased the total for the year to $3,759,941.

The total was shoved $147,688 above the $3,612,253 for the whole of 1939, the previous all-time high for any year.

It is virtually certain, officials believe, that the final permit total for the present year will be well above $4,000,000.

Ranking third among the years in building permit totals is 1938 when construction costing $3,559,736 was authorized. Fourth place is held by 1929, when permits totaled $3,337,306.

Knotty Legal Problems Being Raised

Right To Vote Draws Debate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP) — Action of the federal government in calling national guardsmen and reservists into active service under the national defense program is raising some knotty legal questions and extra duties for November election officials.

Many such officials as well as congressmen and party organizations report that they have been receiving numerous inquiries from members of the military services regarding their right to vote.

Few Have Same Standards

The right of ballot is determined by the individual states. Few have the same standards. Some permit voting by members of all branches of the military services. Some permit only their own militia. Some permit absentee voting, while some do not.

A compilation of such laws by Rep. Crawford (R-Mich) indicates that most states do extend the ballot to soldiers, sailors and members of the marine corps.

All but ten states — Delaware, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, New Jersey, New Mexico, South Carolina and Texas—permit votes from the military absent from their home election districts on election day.

Missouri extends the absentee privilege to soldiers but not to private citizens absent from the state on election day.

Kansas denies the right to vote to members of the regular army and navy of the United States. Texas limits voting to members of its national guard.

Vote By Mail

Sailors or soldiers from states which permit absent voting vote by mail. With only a few exceptions, such men must be registered in their home election districts and must take the initiative to obtain ballots from their state or local election officials. Virtually all states require that such ballots be notarized or witnessed by other voters.

Ohio gives election officials authority to send special staffs into army camps in which 100 or more eligible voters are stationed.

Some states permit those being called to the services to cast their ballots at their place of residence before the election. They include: Arizona, Arkansas, California, Florida, Louisiana, Montana, North Dakota, and Wyoming.

Hitler Scores Great Victory

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

With Hitler's military occupation of strategically placed Rumania, we can say that the great Axis offensive in the battle of the Mediterranean is under way, and that the Nazi fuehrer has scored a vastly important success.

He has by a series of crafty political schemes and threats — and without firing a shot — secured a vital military, air and naval base for further operations in the bloody struggle which is beginning.

Has Acquired Oil

But what is of even greater moment is the fact that he has at the same time acquired outright the Rumanian oil which will act like a blood-transfusion on his waning supplies.

This new offensive is going to be a fierce and desperate struggle which is likely to drag numerous other countries in as a matter of self preservation.

As the conflict starts to rumble down through the Balkans one of the most significant developments to my mind rests in that Turkish official broadcast last night, warning the Germans that any attempt to make a thrust across Turkey and Syria would be met with "very strong resistance."

The point of this is that Turkey, which has been taking its lead from Russia, would never (in my view) have ventured to make such a defiant threat had it not been sanctioned by the Soviet. I find support for that viewpoint in the fact that the Muscovite ambassador conferred with the Turkish premier not long before the broadcast.

Possibility Of War

This doesn't necessarily mean that Russia is preparing to oppose the Axis by arms now. It does mean, to my mind, that the Soviet is antagonistic to these Nazi Balkan moves and there certainly is a possibility of war between Russia and Germany.

Stalin and Hitler are matching wits in a historic drama. Both are opportunists. I believe Stalin will go just as far as seems at all feasible in an effort to halt Hitler, though probably not even the Bolshevist leader can say whether he should strike now or hold his hands for a more favorable moment, and blink at Hitler's operations.

Body Identified As Missing Judge Found

DETROIT, Oct. 12. (AP)—A body tentatively identified as that of Judge Robert E. Sage of common pleas court, missing since Oct. 1 when he shot and killed two companions and wounded a third, was found today in the Detroit river.

The body was washed ashore on fighting island near the mouth of the river in Canadian water. It had apparently drifted downstream from Detroit and was discovered by a duck hunter.

Police were told that from the clothing a hotel key had been recovered which belonged to a friend of Sage. Sage had stolen from the friend the pistol with which he killed Alfred and Ralph Nadell, brothers associated with him in a business venture, and wounded Maurice Simlay, an attorney.

Iron--A Giant In East Texas Is Stirring From His Age-Long Sleep; Way To Smelt Iron Ore By Natural Gas Said Developed

BY C. A. PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONGVIEW, Oct. 12—A giant in East Texas is stirring in his age-long sleep.

When the vast invasion of the sea receded from Texas's soil millions of years ago nature had deposited her gifts—a vast pool of oil below the surface with a bed of iron ore 20 miles wide atop, twisting across 150 miles of what became 23 Texas counties.

Ten years ago Dad Joiner tapped the oil pool that swiftly grew into that turbulent giant, the East Texas oil field with more than 30,000 producing wells.

Oil To Be Collaborator

Now, a Hungarian-American scientist, Julius D. Madaras, of Detroit, has discovered a method of smelting ore by gas, a by-product of the oilfield, which is expected to arouse the giant of iron to serve man as its neighbor and potential collaborator, oil, has done.

In mid-September a group of directors and engineers of the Madaras Steel corporation of Texas went to Niagara Falls to view tests of the process in a pilot plant constructed by engineers of the group.

Pronouncing the tests "entirely successful," directors of the corporation announced upon their return they would recommend construction of a commercial plant in East Texas to utilize the process. The corporation was organized 16 months ago.

Germany Asks RFC Aid

Meanwhile, E. B. Germany, geologist and Texas Democratic committee chairman, representing Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, has asked the Washington to issue a certificate to National Defense commission at the Reconstruction Finance corporation that an iron plant in East Texas costing $1,500,000 would be in the interest of national defense.

Hubert M. Harrison, vice president and general manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, who was present at the Niagara Falls test, said it was made in a reducing chamber charged with 5,000 pounds of crushed ore from East Texas that tested 53 per cent iron. After processing it produced sponge iron showing 94 per cent reduction that tested 80 per cent pure iron.

Leaves Iron In Pure Form

The process, developed after more than five years experimentation by Madaras, is carried on entirely with natural gas which works at the comparatively low temperature of about 1,400 degrees. "Cracked" gases combine chemically with impurities in the ore and flow off, leaving the iron in pure form for processing.

The first plant probably will not employ many workmen, say officials of the company, which is owned by a group of East Texas capitalists headed by O. H. Grissom, of Longview. But a wide choice of location and great potential expansion are offered because the ore deposits cover approximately 1,300 square miles and an almost inexhaustible supply of natural gas is a hand's breadth away.

Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the bureau of economic geology of the University of Texas, in a report upon the mineral resources of Texas printed in 1935, quotes an earlier report by Geologist William Kennedy that some of the workable deposits in northeast Texas "will produce as much as 7,000,000 tons per square mile."

Total Reserves Cited

Elsewhere Dr. Sellards says that the total reserves of workable ore in the whole Northeast Texas field is probably in the neighborhood of 200,000,000 long tons, and that no material that would yield washed ore containing less than an average of 43 per cent of metallic iron had been considered in making estimates of tonnage.

The present is one of three attempts to turn this natural resource of Texas into commercial channels. Nearly 60 years ago, A. B. Blevins of Birmingham, Ala., while selling sewing machines in the ore region, visioned a second Birmingham in Texas. Friends subscribed capital to create the Cherokee Land and Iron company, which bought 20,000 acres of mineral and timber lands. Then Blevins sought working capital at New York.

The enterprise took on the proportions of a boom, and within two years New Birmingham, an embryo city of 2,000 inhabitants, had sprung into being. It had graded streets, a street railway, parks and drives, electric lights, a brick business district, schools and churches, telegraph and express services, and the palatial Southern hotel, costing more than $60,000.

Register Mirrors Vanished Glamor

The hotel was a center of gaiety. Elaborate dinners and dances were held in its great dining room, with titled Englishmen occasional guests. The first register of the hotel mirrors the vanished glamor of the ghost city.

Beginning March 28, 1889, and closing Feb 9, 1892, it records guests from 28 states, including Jay Gould of railroad fame, and Grover Cleveland lately from the White House. Other eastern capitalists who came to inspect the potential field of investment, frequently were registered.

Finally, the promoters went to London seeking the capital and a group of Englishmen came over to investigate the proposition. This proved to be the last act of the drama. A state law, approved April 13, 1891, prohibiting aliens from owning real property in Texas, was too big a hazard for the London capitalists.

Modification Of Law Sought

Attempting to clear this hazard, the promoters arranged an elaborate banquet at the Southern with Gov. James Stephen Hogg and other state officials as guests. Speakers endeavored to win the governor's support for modification of the law, but he was not persuaded and the Englishmen went home.

New Birmingham speedily collapsed.

The last previous attempt to put Texas iron ore into production was in 1912, when the late Charles M. Schwab became interested.

Schwab visited the ore deposits in Cass county and was reputed to have made an offer running into millions of dollars. The offer, however, had a string, which requireed that a sizeable block of stock of the Bethlehem Steel company should be accepted as part of the purchase price. Not only that, but he wanted the stock accepted at par, notwithstanding its market value then was substantially less.

The owners of the mineral rights declined his offer and negotiations ceased. Two years later World war orders spiraled steel stocks and the timidity of the land owners was a golden opportunity lost.

This time the developers apparently have adopted nature's plan by first obtaining adequate fuel. And, incidentally, discovery of the fuel furnished another paramount factor. Drilling disclosed important deposits of limestone, an essential in smelting iron.

American Industry Speeds Plans For Arms Factories; More Job Gains Seen

Vital War Plants Being Planned

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 — Already at capacity or near capacity in some departments, American industry pushed factory expansion plans today to answer the defense call for speed and more production.

Off the drafting boards of engineers and military planners came additional projects for vital war plants and creation of facilities to increase the nation's self-sufficiency

Huge Plants Announced

Outstanding in this week's array of business projects related directly or indirectly to the girding of the United States for defense, analysts noted, were the $150,000,000 Aluminum Co., of America program for enlarging output of the metal and a Dupont project for a $11,000,000 nylon plant at Martinsville, Va., the second unit for the manufacture of a synthetic fibre bidding for the silk market.

More employment and heavier consumption of materials were expected to follow the government's efforts to expedite construction of aircraft, ships and other arms. Around-the-clock operations at aircraft plants were requested.

Steel Records Forecast

Steel men forecast the industry would break all production records this year. Rail equipment and motor manufacturers, along with defense contractors, were taking more metal.

Expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars in aircraft, engine, tool, shipbuilding, chemical and miscellaneous fields aroused construction activity to the highest point in 11 years.

Listed among the latest construction awards were a $9,500,000 explosives plant at Baytown, Tex.

Banks Expect Loans

Commercial bankers looked forward to considerable increase in outstanding loans to finance equipment purchases and bigger payrolls in factories working on defense orders.

Firm commodity prices and the upward swing in factory payrolls helped keep trade moving briskly in retail and wholesale markets. Dun & Bradstreet, Inc, reported urban centers were showing the best year-to-year gains, ranging from 6 to 10 percent above 1939 figures by regions.

Lubbock Board Is Organized

One of Lubbock county's two draft boards was organized Saturday and assigned to quarters in Lubbock county courthouse.

It was board No. 2, composed of Douglas Pounds, chairman, J. H. Brewer, secretary, and Bob Crump. Pounds is a farmer of Acuff community and Brewer lives at Slaton and Crump in Shallowater.

It will quarter in the jury room directly across the north corridor of 99th district courtroom.

Board No. 1, which was to have been composed of Glen Hess, real estate dealer, Gilbert R. Quinney, pharmacist, and George C. Wolffarth, pioneer real estate agent, all of Lubbock, also will be in the courthouse and on the third floor, it was announced.

Unable To Serve

Hess, however, said Saturday he had informed the governor, appointing official, he would be unable to serve, because of American Legion and Red Cross duties he has undertaken in addition to his other work.

The No. 1 board is expected to be completed momentarily, other members said.

Of much importance was the announcement that Board No. 1 will work with registrants from commissioners precinct No. 1, exclusively. Board No. 2 will have for its jurisdiction registrtrants from commissioners precincts 2, 3 and 4.

Report Is Offered For Truck Crops

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP) — The usual early fall and winter vegetables will be available this season but not in excessive quantities, the U. S. agricultural marketing service predicted today in its report on Texas truck crop conditions as of Oct. 1.

The service said growers were exerting greater caution than usual in seeding and transplanting.

Higher priced seed and probable limited quantities of some varieties resulted in better care for seed beds and some holding back for more favorable conditions.

Worm damage in September appeared to be greater than usual with some beet fields completely destroyed but cooler weather was expected to reduce the insect damage.

Good rains were received in the coastal bend area inland to San Antonio, resulting in considerable planting.

Large acreages of carrots have been planted in the lower valley and winter garden section.

Early cabbages, however, were expected to be limited.

Anson Woman Might Do Good In Rodeo

ANSON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Mrs. T. H. Gleason is not thinking about entering a rodeo, but her friends think she would do very well.

She went out to the pasture with a lasso to bring in her cow, saw a big hawk swoop low over a nearby chicken run. She threw the rope and snared the hawk around the foot, hauled the predator down.

The hawk measured four feet two inches from wing tip to wing tip.

BOYS AND HOGS WIN—And here we have four of the five Lubbock county 4-H club boys who have returned from the Dallas State fair, and some of the prize-winning porkers from their carload of 26 exhibited. The boys are, left to right, Gene Cade of Frenship, James Potts and J. B. Potts, both of Cooper, and Henry Kveton of New Deal. In front of James Potts is the reserve champion Berkshire of the light class, the only Texas 4-H club pig to get a blue ribbon at the fair. The boys received $50 in prizes and sold their hogs for satisfactory prices. Two boys who made the trip, Harold Grinstead of Posey and Bill Boyd of Cooper, are not shown in the above picture.

James Potts, Lubbock County Boy, Is Only Texas 4-H Club Boy To Come Back From State Fair With Livestock Blue Ribbon

Five 4-H club boys of Lubbock county have returned from the Dallas State fair with Monroe U. May, assistant county agricultural agent, with money in their pockets and plans in their noggins.

They won $50 in prizes and the distinction of having been the only 4-H club members in Texas this year to get a blue ribbon winner at the fair.

Boys Showed 26 Pigs

Each sold his pigs and began laying plans for the spring meeting here of the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show, when they again will enter competition.

The boys showed 26 pigs, all of which were Poland Chinas with exception of eight Berkshires.

The trip—further marked by the fact it was the first time Lubbock 4-H club boys had exhibited pigs outside the county—resulted in placing eight pigs in the prize money.

The boys were James Potts, J. B. Potts and Billy Boyd, all of Cooper; Harold Grinstead of Posey and Henry Kveton of New Deal.

Wins Reserve Champion

James Potts won first and fifth places in heavy Berkshires, also fourth place in the light Berkshires class. When defeated for champion Berkshire, he drew out with next best, reserve champion, and became the only Texas 4-H club boy to get a blue ribbon—and there were 700 pigs in the show.

In light Berkshires, J. B. Potts placed 6th and 15th. In Poland Chinas, Billy Boyd had the 5th and 6th winner in the light class, 12th in the heavy class; Henry Kveton had 13th place in heavy Poland Chinas.

The pigs were sold Wednesday to Dallas packers, highest bidders. James Potts got 7 1-2 cents a pound for his reserve champion and all other pigs that were in the prize money brought 7 cents, the others 6 1-4 cents.

The boys were gone a week.

Military Surgeons Find Life Saving Ideas Keep Pace With Efforts To Destroy Men

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12 — The "lightning" methods of modern warfare are being compensated for by lightning transportation and treatment of wounded men, two military surgeons declared today.

In discussions before the annual meeting of the association of military surgeons, Col. Gustavus Blech of Chicago and Col. David N. W. Grant of the U. S. Army medical corps declared that methods of saving human lives are keeping pace with the efforts to destroy them.

Must Be Equipped

Today's war is one of fast-moving attacks, such as the German march through France, Colonel Blech declared, and medical men must be equipped to adapt their work and movements to such maneuvers.

Field hospitals must be set up beequipment, he said.

New Instruments Used

Dr. Belch added that electrosurgery, the use of the electric knife which seals blood vessels as it cuts them, is a valuable addition to the equipment of a surgeon in wartime because it reduces bleeding, shock, post-operative pain and infection.

Dr. Grant pointed to the example set by the German medical corps in evacuating wounded men in airplane ambulances.

Dr. John Elliott of Salisbury, N. C., added that the use of blood plasma, or blood from which the white and red corpuscles have been removed, will aid greatly in the saving of lives of soldiers suffering from shock.

Listing Of Lubbock Men For Guard Units Starts Monday

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Listing of Lubbock men between the ages of 18 and 64 who are interested in the proposed organization here of units of the Texas defense guard will be started at the semi-monthly meeting of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion in the home, 910 Texas avenue, Monday night at 8 o'clock, according to J. Louis Murfee, commander.

No one will be asked to sign any binding oligation at that time, Murfee emphasized. The meeting will be for the purpose of discussing of the proposition, presenting all the information available, and obtaining a line on the available material for defense guard units should they be organized.

All Men Invited

Murfee emphasized further that the invitation to attend the meeting includes every man who is interested. He urged especially, however, that members of the Legion be present because of the probability that the units, if organized, will be sponsored by Allen Bros. post in cooperative with civic clubs and other patriotic agencies.

Added attractions at the meeting will be refreshments and a showing of sound motion pictures dealing with national defense secured through the efforts of Lt. George T. Coleman, commanding officer of Lubbock sub-district of the army recruiting service.

Suggested By Governor

The post commander explained that suggestion that preparations be made in various localities for the organization of Texas defense guards came from the governor through the state adjutant general's office. The bulletin explained that in view of the fact that most national guard units soon are to be drafted into active service, the state will be left without protection against internal disturbances and fifth column activities unless the defense guard is formed.

Information still was lacking Saturday as to just what kind of obligation will be assumed by those who may enlist in the defense guard. It is unlikely that it will be available Monday night.

To Call Adjutant General

Murfee announced, however, that he plans to get in touch with the adjutant general late Monday afternoon, and to obtain from him the latest information that official has so that it may be reported to the night meeting.

"However, there is one guarantee we can give," Murfee declared. "No one will be asked to sign up until he knows exactly what he is signing for. No one will be asked to go into anything blindly.

"The important purpose that Monday night's meeting can serve is as a starting point so that no time need be wasted if and when it is deemed advisable to proceed with the organization of guard units.

"Personally, I am convinced that Lubbock and every other community in the nation should be ready to act quickly on matters of this kind if action should seem advisable. I don't think any part of this nation should be left unprotected at any time, and thus give a possible opportunity to fifth column or un-American agencies to get in any of their underhanded work."

Murfee reminded that the only incentive for participating in this activity will be one of patriotism. There will be no pay for those enrolled. It will not free them in any way from the possibility of being drafted under the federal conscription bill. There will be no uniforms and no guns immediately—although exceptation is that both may be supplied later through the war department.

The commander said that a formal application to the governor probably will be filed through the adjutant general after Monday night's meeting for permission to proceed with the organization of one or more units, each numbering 74 officers and men.

"If the application is filed," Murfee commented, "it will give Lubbock the record of being among the first—perhaps the first—city in Texas to respond to the appeal in this particular emergency."

Germans Start Camp In French Guiana

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Oct. 12. (U.P.)—Henri Roulet, leader of a group of convicts escaped from the French "Devil's island" penal colony at Cayenne, reported today that Germans and Italians were starting "some kind of a camp" in French Guiana.

Roulet, who reported that a number of convicts seeking to escape the penal colony just wanted to join the "Free France" forces fighting Germany, said that local government at Cayenne had broken down.

Police and soldiers, he reported, have abandoned the island and only about 300 prisoners remain in the Devil's island colony, all others have been liberated.

He said that the Germans and Italians arrived before he left, but he was unable to explain their activities and there was no confirmation of his reports.

Evaluation Conference To Be Conducted By Lubbock Schools Monday, Tuesday

Texas U. Man Is To Be Speaker

Rating the secondary schools of Lubbock will be the purpose of the conference on evaluated criteria to be held in the Senior High school auditorium Monday and all day Tuesday, according to Dr. W. B. Irvin, superintendent. The Lubbock schools are fortunate to have the advantage of such a conference, Irvin said, for it will mean that the teachers will be shown the strong and weak points of the educational system, and thereby have something concrete upon which to work.

County superintendents, superintendents, and teachers of schools in the South Plains district have been invited to attend the conference and observe the methods employed so that they might apply the same principles of rating to their own schools, Irvin said.

Texas Man To Speak

Miss Dorothy Lomax and Miss Grace Padley have been placed in charge of the local aspect of the conference. Miss Lomax will lead the teachers in making the evaluation as secondary curriculum director and Miss Padley as coordinator of Guidance.

Dr. J. G. Umstattd, professor of secondary education at the University of Texas, will adress the first session of the conference on Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Senior High school auditorium. At this first session Dr. Umstattd will discuss how the materials for the evaluation were derived and how Texas schools cooperated in the movement. On Monday night at 7:30 o'clock materials for the evaluation work will be given to teachers and explained. Teachers will be given an opportunity to volunteer to score parts of the secondary school program in which they have special interest. The actual work of scoring will be done during the school day Tuesday and the final session of the conference will be held on Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock for a check-up of the evaluation work which has been done.

Being Done Over State

According to Dr. Umstattd, it is usually the custom to require three or four days for the scoring procedure, but since the scoring is to be done in one day in Lubbock a complete report cannot be given on Tuesday. The main purpose of the conference, Umstattd said, is to acquaint teachers of Lubbock and the South Plains with the evaluation materials.

This evaluation work is being done over the state of Texas to lay the foundation for the gradual improvement of the instruction and curriculum of any high school which desires a yard-stick to determine its status.

MAIN SPEAKER—Dr. J. G. Umstattd, professor of secondary education at the University of Texas, will be the main speaker and leader at the Evaluated Criteria conference to be held by the Lubbock Public schools Monday and Tuesday. School administrators and teachers of the South Plains have been invited to take part in the conference.

Application Is Filed In Libel Suit Case

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—An application for leave to file a writ to halt trial of a libel suit at Lubbock was presented to the Texas supreme court today by attorneys for Street & Smith publications inc. New York publishers of Western Story magazine.

Supreme court action on the motion is not expected before next Wednesday.

The application says that a suit has been filed at Lubbock by Mrs. Lillie Spikes and others against the publishers asserting libel in an article in Western Story magazine by Charles L. McNichols entitled "Great Cattle Ranches—the Two in Texas." The suit has been filed in 72nd district court at Lubbock and the application asks that Judge Daniel A. Blair be instructed not to try it because the defendant corporation is a New York concern.

Way Cleared For A Church Union

OMAHA, Oct. 12 (AP)—Delegates to the United Lutheran church in America cleared the way today for union with the American Lutheran church which would merge congregations of 2,000,000 members.

Acting swiftly after their president, the Rev. P. H. Knubel, appeared for approval, the 550 delegates accepted all three agreements at issue in the merger proposal, one of which precipitated a long debate about a single word of scriptural doctrine.

Demo Pamphlet Is Condemned

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—A pamphlet headed "Democratic campaign facts—1940" which calls attention to Wendell L. Willkie's German ancestry was termed a "low smear" today by Samuel F. Pryor jr., eastern Republican campaign manager. It also drew the condemnation of New York's Democratic lieutenant governor Charles Poletti.

Alan Valentine director of the national committee of Democrats-for-Willkie, asserted that the pamphlet which bore the further heading "Speakers bureau, colored division, Hotel Biltmore New York City" was being furnished "to Roosevelt campaign workers for the purpose of circulating . . . false and malicious charges."

"I do not care to comment on as low a smear as comes from the New Deal committee," Pryor said in a statement issued at Republican head quarters, "but I'll wager any odds that no American negro ever devised such a smear."

Deserves Condemnation

Poletti said that any attacks on Willkie because of his German ancestry "deserve the condemnation of every right-thinking citizen of this country."

Referring without naming Willkie, to the Republican presidential candidate's contention that he was the object of a whispering campaign based on his ancestry Poletti said: "We know that Americans of German extraction have demonstrated their true allegiance to this country and their willingness to defend it at their last drop of blood."

Baton-Twirler Loses Band Place By Nose

ATLANTA, Oct. 12 (AP) — Chestnut-haired Violet Mulvenna, who won the American Legion drum majorette contest at Boston, lost her place at the head of the University of Mississippi band — by a nose.

Her own nose at that. The pretty 19-year-old baton twirler had expected to step before the Mississippi-Georgia football crowd today at Athens.

But yesterday when the team and band arrived here enroute, Miss Mulvenna was out front in an impromptu parade. She tossed her baton majorette upward, failed to see it come down. It struck her nose. Miss Mulvenna woke up in a hospital, the nose fractured.

Physicians allowed her to watch the game and the band — quietly from the sidelines.

BREAKWATER PLANNED

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 12 (AP) — Completion of a large breakwater at the west coast port of Mazatlan, now in process of construction, will enclose a considerable portion of the harbor and raise its water level, the navy department announced today.

Present plans, the department said, also call for erection of warehouses and freight yards on top of the levee which will be more than 1500 feet long.

Ex-Convict Charged In Deputy's Slaying

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 12 (AP)—Buddy Acker, 20-year-old ex-convict, was held in jail here today to face charges of murder at Paris, Texas, in the slaying of Deputy Sheriff George Robertson a month ago.

The youth was captured near his home at Oakhurst yesterday.

Acker and T. R. Fowler of Willis, Texas, were charged with the slaying after the officer's body was found near Powderly, Texas. He had been abducted two days before by two youths he arrested.

Fowler made his escape when officers surprised him and Acker in a shanty. The former leaped into a thicket and fled.

Bloodhounds were used in the search for Fowler.

Robertson's body was found in an automobile identified as one used in the hijacking of a Huntsville filling station. Acker and Fowler were charged with this robbery.

SEEK TO BREAK MONOPOLY

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 12 (AP) — Taking official notice of steadily mounting bread prices here, the chamber of deputies today sought means of breaking an alleged monopoly on basic materials, said to have caused the increase in retail prices.

Members of a special commission which will investigate the problem said the chamber had full power to fix bread prices at a lower rate if they found evidence of illegal manipulation.

Nation's Motor Car Industry Puts On Its New Models In Show In Gotham; Mobility Said Vital To Nation During These Times

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The nation's motor car industry which manufactured 4,285,000 cars and trucks with a wholesale value of $2,827,500,000 in the 12 months ending September 30, put on collective display today the 1941 model vehicles with which it expects to better by at least 10 per cent the showing of the past model year.

In the Grand Central palace, the automobile manufacturers' association lined up 200 new models.

Show Has Theme

The show has as its theme "A salute to the Americans: peace and prosperity." Aside from the showing of all models under one roof, it presents primarily, according to the men who make motorcars, a manifestation of America's industrial might.

"This is the year," said Paul G. Hoffman, vice president of the A. M. A. passenger car division, "that mobility suddenly became vital to the nation. Under the stress of events, the ability to move people and goods rapidly from one point to another—especially soldiers and material—has emerged as a tremendous national asset."

All Are Longer

The cars represent perhaps the most lavish collection of automobiles ever shown. All are longer. In most models, running boards have been eliminated or concealed, making for wider and more comfortable seating.

In styling, the body lines generally follow the "torpedo" type.

Mechanically renewed emphasis is being given in engineering advances in transmissions. Among the high lights are the hydra-matic development of Oldsmobile and the Chrysler fluid coupling. Buick's compound carburetion and dual carburetor installation.

Betrayal Of Secret Of Britain Charged

OTTAWA, Oct. 12 (AP) — Air Minister C. G. Power charged Conservative Party Leader R. B. Hanson today with betraying a secret "of Britain."

Hanson said in a speech last night that 300 young British airmen are receiving their training at Kingston, Ont., but that censorship had prevented mention of their presence.

"I may be interned for stating it but I know it is true," he declared.

WEATHER OUTLOOK

RITES ARE READ

LLANO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Funeral services were held here today for J. W. Fowler, 68, who had lived here nearly 60 years.

Insurance Men Meet Monday

Members of the Lubbock Association of Life Underwriters, an organization of life insurance men affiliated with the national organization, will hold their regular monthly luncheon and program here at noon tomorrow.

The affair is set for one of the banquet rooms on the mezzanine floor of Hotel Lubbock, the exact room being yet undecided.

Surprise Planned

The meeting will be unusually interesting, Lonnie Langston, program chairman, said yesterday, "due to the fact that we will have present a number of outside guests—including several men of prominence." There is a surprise element, too, he said, which is expected to appeal to all present.

There are 42 members of the Lubbock association, of which Leonard Ernest is president, and J. D. Moore, secretary.

The Turkish constitution was adopted in 1925.

Twenty Theological Students Stand Firm On Refusal To Comply With Conscription

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. — Twenty students at Union Theological seminary stood firm today on a refusal to comply in any way with the conscription law.

The divinity students, in a statement prepared for filing with the draft board on registration day, declared they felt they owed obedience to conscience before the state.

The statement asserted the signers were trying "to live in harmony with the will of God . . ."

"We do not mean by this that we think we approximate the will of God," the statement said. "It is impossible for us to think of the conscription law without at the same time thinking of the whole war system. . . . The war method perpetuates and compounds the evils it purports to overcome. . . . We do not accept war and conscription as necessary evils.

"If we register under the act, even as conscientious objectors, we are becoming part of the act."

Registration Is To Reach Housewives

Registration will reach even the housewives, as well as men between 21 and 35.

In cooperation with the American Home Economics association and Texas Home Economics association, Dean Margaret W. Weeks of the division of home economics at Texas Technological college is assisting in registration for emergency service of home economists.

All home economics graduates come under the heading of home economists. They include teachers, dietitians, home demonstration agents and others working in various fields. They include homemakers, in other words, women who have had home economics training and are employed in making homes.

Anyone wishing to obtain a card to register may write to Miss Weeks, or may go to the home economics division at the college.

In Fiji the human head is sacred and it is an insult to reach above it.

Reporter Tells Of Big Naval Action

BY EDMUND ALLEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE BRITISH FLEET AT THE BOMBARDMENT OF CHERBOURG, Oct. 11. — (Delayed) — Thursday night British men o'war shelled the great French coast port of Cherbourg, one of the most important of the German invasion ports.

The captain of a British warship described the bombardment as successful, and said:

"I think it was a magnificent party. We just caught Jerry bending and gave him hell."

Scribe Aboard Ship

I was aboard one of the warships and saw for myself the deadliness of the British fleet in action.

All the British warships left the engagement unscathed but Cherbourg will not be used as an invasion port for a long time to come, so great was the havoc caused by the British bombardment.

Before the men o'war steamed out for the action the commanding officer addressed the men, told them where he was going and what they were expected to do.

The men cheered the prospect of action and sailed on their mission of the highest spirits.

There was a roar of laughter when the captain, speaking to some new recruits, said:

"You'll be sorry you joined the navy."

As we cleared the harbor of a southwest coast port an air raid warning sounded ashore. There was a flash and the thudding of guns and bombs was heard. The din continued as we steamed down the channel, showing that raiders were busy over a wide area.

The moonlight was brilliant. Visibility was good. The sea was smooth and generally conditions were perfect. Nothing more eventful than signs of enemy raids on the English side of the channel occurred until we approached our target on the French coast.

I was feeling tense as the zero hour approached and I suspected everybody else was also.

The French coast was a blaze of light with star shells bursting between us and the shore. They fell slowly as flaming onions, all colors of the rainbow, streamed aloft.

Finally the order to fire was given and from where I stood on the bridge I was blinded and shaken by the blast of our forward guns. Steaming at about 18 knots we fired rapidly and discharged 120 rounds in a few minutes.

The target was illuminated by a tremendous blaze and the flash of shells could be seen distinctly.

Roof Of Cathedral Is Found To Be Unsafe

LONDON, Oct. 12. (U.P.)—The roof of the famous St. Paul's Cathedral was described as unsafe today as a result of recent bomb explosions that wrecked the high altar.

Experts said that the roof would be lifted, repaired and then replaced. They prohibited playing of the cathedral organ because it was feared the vibration might bring down the roof.

Members of the cathedral staff will carry out the restoration.

Red Raiders Explode Offensive Attack To Defeat Montana Grizzlies, 32-19

Techsans Score 19 Points In First Quarter

BY BILL PARKER
Special Correspondent

MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. 12.—Six thousand goggled-eyed and completely exhausted grid enthusiasts watched Texas Tech's speedy Red Raiders swap touchdown punches with Montana's Silver Grizzlies in an offensive explosion which the Southwest's razzle-dazzle boys took, 32 to 19, here this afternoon.

The Techsans unloaded both barrels almost as the echos of the opening whistle drifted into the surrounding mountains and never stopped until they had crossed the double stripes on five occasions.

Dominate Statistics

Montana, with its colored and fine passing John Reagan, simply was baffled and absolutely unable to fathom Tech's maddening power on the ground and dangerous thrusts through the air. That's the kind of team Tech was today, on the ground and in the ozone. After the first five minutes had elapsed there was little doubt as to the outcome.

The Raiders, looking much better than in their 6 to 6 deadlock with Oklahoma's Aggies and in thrashing Loyola, 19 to 0, last week, plowed the field for 403 yards against 282 for Montana in the rushing department.

Tech Line Holds

Thayne "Red" Amonett and big Charlie Dvoracek were the important ground gainers for the Crimsons. Every time they took the ball it meant additional yardage. Dvoracek probably playing the best game of his career with Amonett close behind.

Perhaps the most beautiful part of the game was the solid front wall that Dutchy Smith put up against the Grizzlies. Coach Doug Fessenden's boys just didn't budge. Newman Ledbetter, Will Albright, Lonnie McCurry, Rafe Nabors and Jack Shanks out of line today.

Smith Scores First

First of the Raiders' trio of first quarter touchdowns was manufactured when Roger Smith intercepted a pass and galloped to Montana's 42-yard stripe. Milton Hill then charged end for 21 yards, and Dvoracek and Hill accounted for a first down on the Grizzly eight. A short reverse with excellent blocking and Roger Smith carried the mail over. He missed by conversion.

The second Tech counter rocked the fans out of their seats when C. L. Storrs rifled a 31-yard pass to Robert Duncan who caught the ball behind Montana's Bob Sparks and raced for the payoff. Captain Ty Bain fizzled the conversion attempt.

Amonett Counts Too

As though chalking them up in montonous order, the Techs came back with their guns loaded for more bear. The third touchdown was started when Robert Duncan, playing an alert game, recovered a Montana fumble on the 26-yard line. On the first play, "Red" Amonett circled end for a touchdown, not one Grizzly laying a paw on the speedy Raider as he picked up six more points.

McKnight kicked conversion to give the Raiders a 19 to 0 lead.

After stacking up this huge lead Coach Cawthon fired a number of his reserves into the game and Montana scored in the fading minutes of the second period when a 24-yard pass was ruled completed on interference on the three, a 15-yard penalty for holding advancing the oval to the Tech one yard line. On the first play, Karl Fiske carried over and Reagan added the seventh point.

Another Aerial Clicks

The half terminated with Tech holding a 19 to 7 advantage.

There's little difference between the first and second halves other than the fact that Montana's offensive power had enough steam behind it to match the Raiders, in touchdowns only.

With Amonett and Dvoracek running behind near perfect blocking the Raiders took the ball on their 45-yard line to start their second half scoring. With Amonett and Dvoracek carrying the brunt of the attack, the Techs jockeyed into scoring position with a first down

JARRIN' JOHN WASN'T SICK!—Texas A. & M.'s John Kimbrough "recovered" in a hurry, as testify to the 7 to 0 licking he and his national champion Aggie powerhouse handed the Uclans on the West Coast Saturday afternoon. The All-America sensation just intercepted the pass and plunged for the touchdown that provided the margin of victory for the Texans. And even if he hadn't turned in such a performance, that "sick" pose above with Film Star Mary Martin, herself a native Texan, would have brought out that old "You've got to be a football hero . . ." theme.

Cougars Next On Schedule
By Collier Parris

SHOOT THE SOOTHING SYRUP, Susie, and bring along the ice cap! It was a groggy night, and we don't mean from grog, but from reading those football scores. Inconsistency, thou art a football dope (bucket)!

Gotta admit, though, that Texas Tech and Texas A. & M. did a pretty good job of representing the Southwestern division in intersectional conflicts. The Red Raiders got through their basketball game with Montana in pretty good shape, and the Aggies showed 'em something on the coast. Biggest disappointments, except for the bookies, were TCU, SMU, Wake Forest and Baylor, not to mention about 50 others. Incidentally, Mr. Litkenhous got the Tech-Montana game right—a Tech victory with a 13-point margin.

Yesterday's games brought on such a headache that we're moving on, starting right now, to games of the future and things besides football. Texas Tech's Red Raiders come home Tuesday morning, and that afternoon will start prepping for another intersectional game. The Brigham Young Cougars will come in from Provo, Utah, to battle the Raiders Friday night. Brigham Young defeated University of Wyoming, 20-0, Friday in Utah, and must have something.

THE Cougars lost last week to University of Utah, 6-12, after having tied University of Nevada in their opening contest. They've been saying that Brigham Young would be one of the toughest teams in the Mountain States or Big Seven league, and from the way they're picking up, the Cougars might prove difficult indeed. They have a young man named Gail Lewis who is quite a terror.

Bobby Holmes, who used to do quite a lot of ball toting for the Red Raiders, as well as considerable passing and punting, writes that he saw the Brigham Young-Utah game, and that this Lewis was a real standout. Lewis, be it known, is merely a guard, but he maneuvers his 215 pounds like a lightweight and does things to the opposition. Ken Jenson, quarterback, is an accomplished quarterback for the B-Y team, and a very good pitcher. He threw six strikes against Utah, and one of them was good for a home run—for his side, of course.

Friday will be "parents day" at the college and all the mamas and papas are invited to be here. Parents of the footballers will occupy a special bench on the sidelines near their favorite sons.

Tickets for the contest will be on sale tomorrow at the usual agencies.

COACH ARLIE CRITES of the Lindsey Theatres, Inc., of Lubbock, calls in to announce a couple of interesting features coming up right away.

In the first place, there'll be a newsreel at the Palace Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday showing high spots in the Texas-Oklahoma game played yesterday. This is the first of a series of football pictures which will be brought here under sponsorship of Kuykendall Chevrolet company. There'll be about ten of the series each of them brand new, showing highlights in a certain game of great interest played the preceding Saturday. So, for no extra admission price, you may see the highlights of the Longhorn-Sooner game won by Jack Crain in the last few minutes of play, on the screen at the Palace starting tomorrow.

Coach Crites also takes pleasure in announcing that the much-talked of feature picture, "The Life Of Knute Rockne," will show at the Palace this week, starting a four-day run on Wednesday.

"It's a Sunday special, but in order to get it this early we had to take it during the week," explained Crites, and he's lucky to get the film this quick. From what we've read and heard, the picture represents the acme of football movies. It has gone over in a big way where it has been shown, critics acclaiming it a real standout. Pat O'Brien takes the part of the famous Notre Dame coach, and is made up to resemble

Rebels Turn On Georgia, 28-14

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 12.—Bespectacled Harry Mehre, dismissed as Georgia's football coach three years ago, came back today with a brilliant squad of Mississippi Rebels to whip Georgia, 28-14, in a wild and wooly battle.

It was the first time Mehre had returned to Athens with a competitive team and as far as Mississippi was concerned, it was a wholly satisfying "dedication" of the big Georgia stadium where 11 years ago to a day Mehre startled the football world by whipping Yale, 15-0.

Bulldogs Hang On

Mississippi's high-geared outfit, paced by Junie Hovious and Merle Hapes, ran, passed and punted Georgia dizzy for three quarters, but Wally Butts' courageous Bulldogs, studded with sophomores, hung on to the end. In the final quarter little Heyward Allen, substitute tailback, cut loose with a barrage of passes which brought two Georgia touchdowns in seven plays.

It was not enough, however, to overhaul the victory-bound Rebels who scored 21 points behind Hapes and Hovious in the second quarter. The Mississippians clamped down, and two minutes later Hapes snatched Allen's pass and scooted down the sideline 70 yards for the Rebels' fourth touchdown.

Pepper Martin May Manage Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 12 (AP)—Pepper Martin, the St. Louis Cardinals' "wild horse of the Osage" was under consideration today for the managership of the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast baseball league.

Phil G. Bartelme, president of the Sacramento club, a member of the Cardinal chain, said he was leaving immediately for a conference Monday in St. Louis with Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals.

ACC Measures Trinity In Fourth, 20 To 10

ABILENE, Oct. 12 (AP)—There were only five minutes left before Thurman (Tugboat) Jones hit his stride and scored two touchdowns to give Abilene Christian college a 20-10 victory over the Trinity Tigers today.

Pullback Jones pulled the Christians from behind when he circled his left end for 42 yards, then kicked point. Two minutes later he intercepted Quarterback Kunkel's pass and lumbered 72 yards for another score.

Pullback Herman Nolen had placekicked a field goal from the four-yard line late in the fourth period to give the Tigers a meager lead. Trinity's other touchdown came on a two-yard pass, Kunkel to Waller, in the second quarter after Higgins, Tiger tackle, had blocked an ACC punt.

Buster Dixon rifled a long pass to Hulen Stromquist, reserve end, for a total of 44 yards and the Christians' other touchdown earlier in the second period.

Northwestern Defeats Ohio State, 6 To 3

(By The Associated Press)

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 12.—Northwestern defeated Ohio State, defending Western conference champion, 6 to 3, before 42,000 at Dyche stadium today, in an upset victory.

Ohio scored in the third period with Charley Maag booting a field goal from the 18 yard line.

Bill DeCorrevont counted for Northwestern, carrying the ball over from the five yard line in the fourth period after a pass interception.

Fordham Turns Back Green Wave, 20-7

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 12. (AP)—Scoring twice in the second period and once in the third, the Fordham Rams defeated Tulane 20-7, before 34,500 fans at the Polo Grounds today.

Arkansas Bounces Baylor; Texas Nips Sooners

Favored Bruins Bow, 6 To 12 To Razorbacks

(By The Associated Press)

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 12.—Arkansas' underdog Razorbacks dimmed the Southwest conference title hopes of the Baylor Bears before 6,500 fans today, winning a stunning upset, 12-6.

Striking a lightning blow in the second period, the Porkers, badly beaten by Texas Christian last week in their conference opener, scored on a 40-yard sprint down the sideline by Quarterback Aubrey (Pug) Neal. Neal was given perfect interference by a half dozen teammates after taking the ball on a reverse from Tiny Harold Hemberg, a substitute halfback. Howard "Red" Hickey, Porker end and co-captain, had two chances to placekick the extra point, the Bears being offside on the first attempt, but both kicks sailed wide of the uprights.

Porkers Wake Up

Baylor reached Arkansas' 29 in the first period when they rung up their only first down of the opening half on a 17 yard run by Milton Merka, who lateraled to George Koch, who raced an additional 13 yards before the Porkers overhauled him. The Bears couldn't budge a strong Arkansas line and a surprisingly alert secondary.

A recovery of a Porker fumble by substitute Tackle Bubba Barnett on the Arkansas 30 gave Baylor a chance in the third period. A pass, Substitute Halfback Dwight Parks to Substitute End Jack Russell, was good for 18 yards. The Bears kept right on going through the air as Jimmy Witt, grabbed another aerial from Parks and ended up on the three after a 16 yard gain.

Crain Plunges For Score

Milton Crain, big Baylor sophomore, plunged a yard at a time, crossing the goal line on third down. Robert Nelson, Bear center, missed the uprights by yards on the attempted extra point, but was hindered on a pass from center.

Arkansas drove 67 yards for the winning score in the final quarter. Hickey reached almost to the ground to snare a 30 yard aerial from Hamberg and then galloped the remaining five to the goal line with Curtis Byrd, Bear halfback, riding his shoulders. Guard Milt Simington tried his hand at place-kicking the extra point but his attempt was low and wide.

Amarillo Drops Austin, 20-9

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Oct. 12.—Amarillo's powerful Sandies rolled over Austin's Panthers 20 to 9 here tonight in a game lashed by torrents of rain which made the field quagmire.

The Sandies' first tally came early in the first quarter when Halfback Billy Bridler fumbled a punt on his own two-yard line. Right End Wooten recovering and Fullback C. Clark scoring on the next play with Baker converting.

Midway in the second quarter Halfback Johnson electrified the fans with a 67-yard dash down the sidelines, behind perfect blocking, for the second touchdown, Baker missing the point.

Austin Comes Back

"Early in the third quarter, Quarterback Harlow fumbled a pass back in the end zone as he tried to kick out of danger. Right End Fitzgerald and Center Brasher of Austin charging in for a two-point safety. Late in the same quarter Austin scored its only touchdown when Fitzgerald blocked a punt, scooped it up and ran 16 yards for the tally.

Halfback Billy Bridler kicked the the extra point.

Amarillo unleashed a powerful drive at the end of the third quarter which resulted in a touchdown early in the fourth as Fullback Payne, aided by Clark and Johnson, chewed up the Panther line to drive from the Sandies' 46 to a touchdown, Clark going over and Payne slicing tackle for the extra point.

Austin's long punts held back the Sandies throughout the game, one punt by Fullback Clifton Campbell going for 77 yards. First downs were 12 to 3 in favor of Amarillo, the Sandies marking 233 yards from scrimmage to 20 for El Paso.

Texas Aggies Have Trouble Taking 7 To 0 Decision Over Uclans; Kimbrough Is Star

BY ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—The big Maroon touchdown machine of Texas A. & M. ran into a heat wave and a band of fired-up Bruins of the University of California at Los Angeles today, but managed to achieve a 7 to 0 victory.

The Aggie eleven from the Southwest conference, ringing up its fourteenth consecutive victory and its third straight of the 1940 grid campaign, showed a powerful defensive squad to the 60,000 sweltering fans—the temperature was in the 90's at the kickoff—but couldn't keep its scoring spark ignited to roll up a big score.

In the end A. & M. had far outgained the Pacific Coast conference team, and doubled the first down count, but the only score of the day came in the first quarter.

Big John Kimbrough, the Cadet's All-American fullback of 1939, intercepted a pass a few minutes after the kickoff, and the Maroon eleven began to roll. It rolled 44 yards in eight plays, with Kimbrough cracking the Bruin line for five, six, and Reserve Back Bill Conatser lending a hand with more such smashes until the ball was on the nine yard line. Here Kimbrough hit the left side of the Bruin line, cut over and charged on across the line standing up for a touchdown. Dookie Pugh

Crain Runs For Winning Touch In 4th Period

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 12. — Cowboy Jack Crain clattered down shadow-swept sidelines when all seemed lost today to pull the University of Texas through to a dramatic, 19-16 triumph over numbed Oklahoma.

Forced to their knees at the outset by bronzed Jack Jacobs, a Creek Indian brave and a football player if one ever suited out, Texas finally grabbed Crain's coattails and a vital break to pull it out of the fire before 35,000 screaming fans.

The two Jacks—Crain and Jacobs—dueled all afternoon in an offensive show that made this game far and away the tingler of the 40-year rivalry of the neighboring state schools.

Center Fumble Paves Way

Ironically, a grand player and the steadiest man on the Oklahoma club gave Texas the final chance at victory. Deep in the fourth period, with Oklahoma backed down to its 25 yard stripe, the veteran center, Cliff Speegle, bobbled his snapback to Jacobs for a fourth down kick and it skitted between his legs.

The Texans swarmed in on Jacobs on the Sooner 17 and took possession. Five yards from a defensive holding penalty pushed them closer to the goal and then Crain swung out deep around his left end and headed for the flag and the winning touchdown.

Only a few minutes before, just as the third period ended, Crain revived his lagging Texans with a typical Crain dash—a 68-yard chunk of magic through the Oklahoma team he cooked up after bagging a lateral.

Oklanoma led 16-7 and Jacobs was choking Texas with his dashing runs, errorless passes and direction kicks. The Sooners had just tacked on two points when the Texas center, Glenn Jackson, came in for a bit of ill luck on his own part by shooting his snapback over Fullback Pete Layden's head in the end zone for a safety.

Harkins Goes Over

Texas came back to its 35 with the kickoff. R. L. Harkins started a sweep, pitched a lateral to Crain. Twisting through the big Sooner line, Crain found the open spaces and his favorite sidelines. But out

Frogs Upset! SMU, Pitt Tie

Tar Heels Drop TCU, 21 To 14

By W. JOYNES MacFARLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 12.—A favored Texas Christian football team making its first invasion of these parts got a dose today of the wide-open stuff it usually dishes out as North Carolina's Tar Heels marked up a 21 to 14 upset victory.

Two breath taking runs, a 59-yard dash by Jim (Sweet) Lalanne and a 70-yard sprint by Don Baker, touched off the fireworks for the Tar Heels in the second period into which they jammed all their points. A fumble set up things for North Carolina to march 37 yards for the other tally.

About 19,000 saw the game.

Frog Aerials Click

The Horned Frogs put on the aerial show for which they are famous in the fourth quarter and netted a touchdown. It followed one they rolled out in the third period after Joe Austin of the Tar Heels fumbled the kickoff on his own 30 for Joe Rogers of the Frogs to cover.

The game had been nip and tuck through the first quarter and nearly three minutes of the second. Lalanne, who had replaced Pecora, spun in the tailback position as if faking a pass, streaked off to his left end and with the able blocking of Don Baker raced 59 yards to score untouched. Harry Dunkle made a perfect placement point.

Fumble Costs Frogs

The Frogs made a first down on a pass after the kick-off. Then on another flip, Connie Sparks fumbled for Bob Smith to cover for the Tar Heels at their 35. An off side penalty put Carolina back five.

Don Baker, starting slow to his left, worked in and out by T.C.U. players across midfield and then Dunkle blocked out Kyle Gillespie about the 15 and Baker scored standing. Dunkle again converted from placement.

Two minutes later Gillespie was tackled from behind after he had faked a pass and was starting to run. The ball bounded into the arms of Gates Kimball of Carolina at the T.C.U. 37. Lalanne ran 13, tossed a pass for 18 to Roy Connor on Connor's first play of the game, and after some line gains, Lalanne sliced right tackle on to score. Bill Sigler, fullback, added the placement point.

Rice Owls Take L. S. U., 23-0

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Oct. 12.—Rice institute erased the disgrace of four scoreless years against Louisiana State by walloping the Tigers 23-0 tonight with a brutal attack that showed unquestionably Rice will be a hot potato in the Southwest conference scramble.

The Owls shocked 23,000 fans with the devastation of their drive. Louisiana State, fresh from a 25-0 thumping of Holy Cross, went into the game the favorite, as Rice had been untested against major competition.

Owls Far Superior

But after a mild first period, Rice was rolling behind its great line and Louisiana State was on its heels throughout the fray.

Statistics did not give LSU such a bad evening, but the figures gave no idea of the tremendous superiority of the Owls. Rice hung up 108 yards from scrimmage while the enemy struggled for 75, and first downs showed Rice with 7 and LSU with 5.

The burly Rice line played as one man, but in the backfield it was Gene Keel and T. A. Weems again. The sophomores ran Louisiana State

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 12 (AP)—Stanford's inspired football team upset a four-year reign by Santa Clara in their annual gridiron encounter with a 7 to 6 victory over the Broncos today played before 60,000 fans. It left Stanford as the only undefeated, untied major team in the Far West.

Kentucky, Vanderbilt Battle To 7-7 Draw

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 12. (AP)—Kentucky's unbeaten football team salvaged a 7-7 tie with Vanderbilt's surprising Commodores today, marching 47 yards to score in the final minutes before 15,000 fans.

Ishamel drove over from the 3-yard line for the counter that matched Vandy's touchdown, scored in the first quarter on a pass from Flanigan to Bushmaier good for 38 yards. Jenkins and Jones provided the extra points with placements.

HUSKERS DEFEAT INDIANS

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 12 (AP) — A Nebraska passing attack that clicked for two touchdowns in the first half gave the Huskers a 13 to 7 victory today over an Indian team that rallied strongly in the second half and just missed getting itself a pair of touchdowns.

Panthers Break Texas Mustang

By WICK TEMPLE
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12.—Outplayed at every turn, Southern Methodist's favored Mustangs flashed their famed aerial wizardry in the fourth period to deadlock Pitt 7-7 in an intersectional football battle before 39,000 today.

Trailing 7-0 and showing little defensive punch early in the fray, the Southwest conference title aspirants took the ball on their 41 and Ray Mallouf heaved to Bob Baccus on the 34 as the final stanza opened.

Mallouf Pitches

Johnny Clement picked up a yard and then Mallouf pitched a 33-yard aerial to Substitute Bill Thomas for the touchdown, Thomas booting the extra point.

Pitt twice advanced beyond unbeaten Southern Methodist's 15-yard line in the first and second quarters before Guard Rudy Grabisek put the Panthers in scoring position by recovering Clinton McClin's fumble on the Mustang 31.

Pass Pays Off-For Pitt

Bob Thurbon ploughed to the 16 for a first down and "special delivery" Edgar Jones heaved to Jack Goodridge on the two. Jones then rifled a pass to Thurbon for the score seconds before the half ended. Mike Sekela kicked the point.

That was all the scoring, chiefly because Pitt muffed several chances in rolling up 188 yards on rushing and 103 on passes while holding the invaders to 51 and 49 respectively. The Panthers chalked up 16 first downs to SMU's 5.

On one goal-bound foray late in the fourth quarter, Pitt drove to the Mustang 35 where the invading forwards held and Thurbon punted out on Southern Methodist's 6. Preston Johnston, one of the Southwest conference's best kickers, boomed a mighty 92-yard punt to Pitt's two to thwart the Pitt threat.

Field Judge Jack Roach was knocked down as the players charged up the field after Johnston's long kick and broke his arm. He left the game.

Clemson Whips Wake Forest Deacons, 39-0

CLEMSON, S. C., Oct. 12 (AP)—The Clemson Tigers knocked the previously unbeaten Wake Forest Deacons out of the Southern conference title race with a convincing and astonishing 39 to 0 defeat here today.

Harmon Sets Pace For Michigan, 26-0

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 12. (AP)—The fast and mighty Tom Harmon, operating behind perfect interference, conducted Michigan to a 26-0 victory over Harvard today before a 30,000 crowd.

The All-American halfback raced 14, eight and 10 yards for touchdowns during each of the first three periods and then tossed a scoring pass ot substitute Paul Kromer in the final quarter.

Harmon retired from action with 20 points to his credit, for he also converted twice against the stubborn but outclassed Crimsonites.

Jayhawkers Cop 20-6 Decision From Drake

(By The Associated Press)

LAWRENCE, Kas., Oct. 12.—The University of Kansas Jayhawkers stuck to the ground and defeated Drake university, 20 to 6, for their first victory of the season in a non-conference football game played before 8,000 persons.

Jake Fry went over in the first quarter for the initial Kansas score; Todd Switzer tallied for Drake in the same period to tie the count; Don Pollom scatted the Jayhawkers into the lead with two long runs in the second and Ed Saugee concluded the scoring with a 50-yard gallop after a pass interception in the third period.

Christman Stars As Missouri Triumphs

MANHATTAN, Kas., Oct. 12. (AP)—With Paul Christman directly responsible for three of their touchdowns, the Missouri Tigers scored in every period and defeated Kansas State, 24 to 13, in a Big Six conference football game.

H-SU Measures Miners, 14-6

(By The Associated Press)

ODESSA, Oct. 12.—Hardin-Simmons' powerful Cowhands, their strong ground attack bogged by a muddy field, took to the air today to whip Texas College of Mines 14-6 in Odessa's third annual football game featuring Southwest schools.

The Cowhands struck paydirt in the first quarter, scoring on two straight passes from little L. B. Russell to End H. C. Burrus, after a pass interception by big Wilfred Moore had set up the score on the Miners 37.

Miners Strike Back

But the Miners struck back just before the half ended, counting on a yard shot from Gilbert Salcedo, their stalwart on ground plays, to End Bulos.

Russell punched the final Cowboy score over from the fouryard line in the last quarter, after Gayle Campbell, substitute half, had set it up with two runs of 22 and 16 yards. Murray Evans kicked both extra points.

Price's Punting Effective

The brilliant punting of the Miners' Owen Price kept the Cowboys backed up most of the game. One of his boots went 85 yards, counting its roll.

Russell, a 150-pound scat back, shared offensive honors with two piledriver backs, Sam Oatman and Moon Mullins, and Campbell, who displayed crazy-legged running on a trick knee. Ponderous Moose Bryson alternated with these in smashing the Miner forward wall.

Both Muff Chances

Both teams missed scoring opportunities. The Miners drove to the three-yard line in the second quarter, but were held, and Hardin-Simmon went to the one-yard line in the fourth before Owen Goodnight fumbled.

Miner passes, with Salcedo and Price tossing, kept Hardin-Simmons worried toward the last. The pair completed 11 of 28 passes for 147 yards. The Cowboys gained 52 yards on five complete passes in 13 efforts. First downs were even at 10-all.

Texas League Meets Today; Clubs Expected To "Stick"

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 12.—Texas league club owners passed over until tomorrow matters affecting affairs such as schedules, and held only a brief business session today.

Officials reports were submitted in a meeting before noon, then the group adjourned to attend the state fair and Texas-Oklahoma football game.

A four-hour session was planned for tomorrow.

President George Schepps of the Dallas club, where the ball park was destroyed by fire, informed the league he expected rebuilding operations to begin by Nov. 1.

There was no evidence in the preliminary session of the intention of any club not to see the 1941 season through.

Wildcats Tumble Ohio State For Undefeated Ranks In Day Of Wild Scoring

Michigan, Penn And Cornell Are Among Leaders

BY HERB BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. — Northwestern's Wildcats bounced Ohio State, defending Western Conference champion, out of the undefeated football list today as Mid-western teams maintained their sensational pace in international warfare; the Southwest took two severe jolts on foreign fields, and Cornell's great array found Penn rising to challenge its Ivy league leadership.

Paced by Bill DeCorrevont, Northwestern upset the big Buckeyes, 6-3, before 42,000, roaring from behind in the fourth quarter on a touchdown by DeCorrevont after Charley Maag had put Ohio State in front with a 28-yard field goal.

Irish Offensive Pays Off

Meanwhile Notre Dame and Michigan scored major intersectional triumphs for the Midwest to off-set Illinois' 13-7 defeat by Southern California. Notre Dame, flashing a first-class offense, both on land and through the air, bowled over plucky Georgia Tech, 26-20 in a game, witnessed by 50,000, that really wasn't as close as the score indicates. At Cambridge, it was Tommy Harmon again when Michigan sank Harvard, 26-0. Harmon scored three touchdowns, kicked two points and tossed a pass to Paul Kromer for the other Wolverine score.

Texas Christian and Southern Methodist carried the Southwest's banner into the South and East, respectively, without much luck. T.C.U. fell before North Carolina's dazzling play, 21-14, as the Tar Heels scored all their points in one great second-period surge. Southern Methodist, picked by some to battle Texas A. and M. for the Southwest conference crown, was lucky to escape with a 7-7 draw against Pitt's Panthers.

Cornell Routs Army

Cornell, unbeaten a year ago and with a veteran squad back, looked little short of colossal in a 45-0 rout of Army, worst defeat in the Cadets' history. Penn, touted as a powerhouse, looked the part in a 50-7 defeat of Yale, a licking unprecedented in Eli football history.

Away to a fast start when Jim Noble dashed 81 yards to a touchdown, Fordham's Rams gave Tulane its third successive defeat, 20-7, and moved into the front rank of Eastern powers along with Boston college, 33-20 conqueror of Temple and Navy, which spotted Princeton a touchdown and then rolled over the Tigers, 12-6.

Columbia Stops Dartmouth

Columbia's well-trained Lions bowled over Dartmouth, 20-6; Syracuse rebounded from the Northwestern rout to shellack New York university, 47-13; Penn State nosed out West Virginia, 17-13; Colgate won from Brown 20-3, and Holy Cross stopped Carnegie Tech, 18-0.

The Wake Forest boom suffered an abrupt collapse as Clemson rolled up a 39-0 count in a Southern conference struggle. Virginia Military halted Davidson, 13-7, and William & Mary won over Virginia Tech, 20-13, in other conference games.

Iowa Defeats Wisconsin

Mississippi gave new evidence of terrific power as it romped over Georgia, 28-14, in a Southeastern conference clash. Auburn and Mississippi State, Vanderbilt and Kentucky, played 7-7 draws in the same sector. Alabama and Tennessee rolled over minor foes in preparation for their pivotal game next week.

In the Big Nine, Iowa Hawkeyes hurdled their first conference hurdle, Wisconsin, 30-12. Indiana and Purdue both were beaten by outside rivals, Indiana bowing to Nebraska, 13-7, and the Boilermakers to Michigan State, 20-7.

Missouri Triumphs

Texas Longhorns remained undefeated, thanks to a closing rally that tripped Oklahoma, 19-16. Arkansas upset favored Baylor, 12-6, in a Southwest conference game. Paul Christman passed Missouri to a 24-13 victory over Kansas State in a Big Six engagement. Kansas won over Drake, 20-6.

The Texas Aggies helped bolster Southwest prestige by earning a hard-fought 7-0 decision over U. C. L. A., as a crowd of 60,000 looked on. Washington State and Washington chalked up Pacific Coast conference decisions, the former over California 9-6, and Washington over Oregon, 10-0.

Stanford's amazing Indians nosed out Santa Clara, 7-6, before 60,000 and thus became the Far West's only unbeaten, untied array.

Colorado, defending Rocky Mountain Big Seven champion, knocked over Utah State, 26-0, as Utah, a perennial threat, tripped Arizona, 24-0, in a non-conference test.

COLUMBIA VICTORIOUS

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 12. (AP)—Columbia's football Lions, using a ground attack almost exclusively, whipped Dartmouth 20-to-6 today before a crowd of about 10,000 in Memorial Stadium. Sophomore Paul Governali, star of the game, clicked for the first touchdown on a 74-yard run back of a punt.

'TWAS GOOD HUNTING—Two South Plains sportsmen returned home yesterday from Western Colorado where they found the deer hunting well up to, if not above, expectations. Pictured with the deer above are, left, J. C. (Texas Floral) Davis of Lubbock, and Ray Nix of Brownfield. They bagged two of the biggest deer taken out of Colorado this season, an 8-pointer and a 10-pointer, and they're shown here with their trophies. Each deer weighed 350 pounds. "And there are more where these came from," the hunters grinned.

"Rock" in a manner that does justice to Hollywood make-up men.

Every football fan, as well as all movie lovers, will certainly get a wallop out of the Knute Rockne picture, and it's a good thing that it's going to be here for four days.

A STORY THAT MAKES life worth living after all, in spite of the football upsets, is being told—and demonstrated in pictures—by J. C. (Texas Floral Co.) Davis, who returned yesterday from Western Colorado after a successful deer hunt. The deer hunting season is open in Colorado now, and for another week, and Davis brought back his buck, but not alive.

"It's a hunter's paradise," Davis reports. He made the excursion with Ray Nix of Brownfield. Each got his game, and such game! As they filed out of the state, the state game warden appraised their trophies and announced they were the two biggest bucks taken all season in Colorado. They had 8 points and 10 points respectively (so did we in the Army-Cornell and Michigan-Harvard games) but the bulk of the animals outpointed their horns. They weighed over 350 pounds each. "They grow bigger in there than they do in Texas, and there are many more of 'em," said Davis.

If you're planning a hunt this week in Colorado, don't shoot until you count eight or ten points. That's the advice of Davis and Nix. "You will have a lot of chances at the four- and six-pointers, but just hold your fire and be patient. Before long, you get a shot at a big animal."

Davis and Nix met several West Texas parties on the trip, and some of them had given up deer in favor of elk, and they're available, too, in goodly numbers.

DAVIS and Nix worked the country between Rifle, Colorado, and the Utah border. They found game aplenty in the high country thereabouts, and they're already looking forward to their trip there next year.

And speaking of hunting, Texas Tech's party to Montana lost a passenger after the game yesterday when J. Fort Smith of Mexia, brother of Mrs. Pete Cawthon, took off for a big game hunt in Montana. Smith had been visiting the Cawthon household here, coming up from his Mexia home, and joined the team on the way to Montana. He saw the game, then remained in the northern state for a hunt. The lucky stiff!

COUGARS NIP BEARS, 9-6

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 12. (AP)—A fourth quarter 36-yard place kick gave the Washington State Cougars a 9 to 6 win over the University of California Bears in a Pacific Coast conference football game here today.

charged Orv Mathews, Oklahoma's spinner-back, to drive the little man out on the two-yard line. Twice Crain tried to bore through Oklahoma's line, then he gave the touchdown making chore to Harkins.

Bewildered Texas caved in before the driving speed of Oklahoma's backfield in the first five minutes. Jacobs did as he pleased in a stunning 82-yard drive that started on the first play after the opening kickoff.

Smack over the guards and tackles drove Jacobs and Johnny Martin for first downs to the Sooner 40. Suddenly Jacobs abandoned his successful ground assault and caught Texas snoring with a couple of flat zone heaves to Smith and Jennings that gained 30 yards. Martin tumbled to the Texas 18, Jacobs powered to the three on three jabs and Martin scored. Sophomore Jack Haberlein kicked the point.

Once more Oklahoma rolled, this time on Jacob's magnificent passing to Jennings. Martin and Smith that carried to the seven just as the first period ended. But Jacobs was jerked and Sophomore Boyd Bibb went in to engineer the attack. Three plays later and Oklahoma had lost 17 yards and the ball after Harris missed a field goal attempt from the 30.

Sanders For Crain

Orban (Speck) Sanders replaced Crain in the Texas backfield and the Texas second stringers started a quick kick 20 yards to his 40 and on the next play shuttled off a lateral pass to R. L. Harkins behind the Texas scrimmage line. He managed past the line and then shot 60 yards down the middle of the field for Texas' first score. Sanders kicked the point.

It looked like Jacobs and Oklahoma had won a ball game in the third period when they bounced right back from the great break on the Texas safety, to score with lightning aerial thrusts. From the Oklahoma 49 Jacobs started operations. He drew in Texas with Martin's line blast and then shot a 23-yard pass far down the sidelines that Martin picked up and carried on 20 more for a touchdown. Haberlein's point made it 16-7.

Then came Crain, and the deluge.

For history, let it be known that a great collection of erstwhile second stringers were in there with Crain on the clincher. They were in there on Harkin's blast, too.

AUBURN TIES MISS. STATE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 12 (AP)—Auburn rallied sensationally in the closing minutes to march 74 yards for the tying touchdown against Mississippi State today in a Southeastern conference clash before 18,000 fans. Dick McGowen's kick made it 7-7 after Lloyd Cheatham passed to Faulk for the score.

Raiders Strike With Air And Ground Attack on the Montana 12. Amonett, on a spinner, crashed center for 4 yards. Storrs then found Duncan with a bullet aerial on Montana's two yard line and with inches needed for a first down Storrs stepped back and again passed to Duncan, who scored. Ledbetter's kick for extra point was blocked and the count stood at 25 to 7.

Grizzlies Pass Also

But the Grizzlies struck back in a hurry, a pass—Bryan to Emigh—on the first play after the kickoff catching the Techs asleep. The Montana halfback, Emigh, caught the 33-yard aerial on the Tech 48 and outran the Techsans to the goal. Reagan's kick from placement was low.

There were no more scores that quarter, but the Raiders on a sustained 37-yard drive were in possession of the ball on the Montana 5 as the fourth got under way.

Strong To Last

Dvoracek picked up a yard. Smith next was stopped on the one and with the count fourth down and one for a touchdown Smith came out of a spin to barely go over. On a fake kick, Smith passed to Duncan for the point.

Final score of the game came near the last with Bryan, playing a bang-up half for the Grizzlies, plunging two yards to climax a 32-yard aerial and ground drive. Nabors blocked the attempted placement.

The game ended with Tech set to score again, the ball resting on Montana's 5 after Lowe's pass interception and runback.

kicked the extra point.

U. C. L. A. couldn't work up much of an offensive. Its ace ball carrier, Jack Robinson, went out of commission and out of the game in the second period, and didn't come back.

Messrs. Kimbrough and his mates, meanwhile, roamed up and down the field, eating up yards in huge chunks, but fate and fumbles stepped in no less than four times to thwart a score. Twice fumbles interrupted sustained marches, and twice alert Bruin ballhawks reached into the air to snare Aggie passes.

Twice the Bruins penetrated deep A. & M. territory, once on a pass good for 47 yards from Leo Cantor to Halfback Ray Bartlett. The threat ended on the Texans' eight, however, when charging Cadet tackles smothered the Bruin offense.

The defeat was the Bruins' third this season.

Notre Dame Plows Georgia Tech Under For 26-20 Win

By TOM SILER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 12.—A devastating ground attack, interspersed with long passes, gave Notre Dame's surging football machine a dazzling 26 to 20 victory over the outmanned Georgia Tech eleven today before 50,000 spectators.

The Irish, looking more like potential national champions than in any recent campaign, rolled over the invaders for three touchdowns in the second period after the varsity had relieved the second stringers who started the game.

They held this margin until the final period when a gallant Tech rally netted two touchdowns, the final one coming in the final minute of play.

After a scoreless first period, the Irish varsity moved into high gear, starting from its own 13. Seven plays covered the 87 yards, two passes gaining 43 yards before Bob Saggau tossed the payoff pass to Bob Hargrave. Steve Juzwik's placement gave Notre Dame a 7-0 lead.

Less than two minutes later the Irish again took possession on their own 40 and Juzwick cut through left tackle on a reverse and zig zagged 60 yards down the sidelines to a touchdown. After each of these scores Tech found the Irish line impregnable and well versed in the magic that has made the Dixie team famous.

Late in the same period the Irish began rolling again, Saggau tossed a 35 yard pass to Steve Bagarus and then Bagarus tossed one to Saggau, putting the ball on Tech's five. Saggau hit the line for a touchdown three plays later. Milt Piepul's placement was perfect.

On the subsequent kickoff John Hancock electrified the crowd with a sparkling 90 yard touchdown run behind superb blocking, giving Tech its first score and renewed hope of averting a rout.

The second team drove to Tech's 10 in the third period before giving up the ball on downs. Johnny Bosch sparked a Tech drive out to the 24 before forcing a punt. Bernie Crimmins blocked the kick and big Jim Brutz grabbed the ball and lugged it 13 yards for Notre Dame's final tally. Joe Laiber's placekick was wide.

The vistors were the whole show in the final period. Starting from Notre Dame's 41, Tech moved within striking distance on a 29-yard pass and then advanced to the Irish one on two successive offside penalties. Jack Bradford scored from there and Cavette converted.

With only a few minutes remaining the Southerners started again from their own 17, Bobby Beers passing 47 yards to John Nettles. Other passes and line jabs pushed the Irish reserves back to the one yard line where Ralph Plaster cracked center for a touchdown. Plaster placekicked the point with only 12 seconds remaining in the game.

Owls Win

dizzy, cashing in on every opportunity

Keel Recovers Fumble

Rice scored first midway of the second period. Keel, 155 pounder who learned his football at Fort Worth's Masonic Home, pounded on a Louisiana State fumble to give Rice its chance.

With the ball on the LSU 46, Keel started to pass, didn't, and slashed straight through the Tigers for a run of 17 yards. He picked up seven more at left end and two penalties, for holding and too much time out, put LSU back on its 11.

The Tigers stiffened and threw Rice back to the 17, but Keel unlimbered his pitching arm and tossed one to Verlan Prichard, his favorite receiver. The sophomore end snuggled the ball and stumbled across. Bob Brumley, junior fullback, converted.

In the third, Weems sailed a beautiful 68-yard punt out of bounds on the enemy 10. Two plays later, Gerald Hightower punted and Louisiana State lost the ball on its one-yard line when officials ruled it had held while the ball was aloft.

Brumley promptly plunged over and Weems kicked point.

In the fourth, Whitlock Zander, Rice fullback, intercepted a pass on the Rice 38, handed the ball to Keel and the little fellow dancing like an Indian fakir on live coals, beat it to the two-yard line.

The 60-yard sprint was the running gem of the evening. Keel sliced down the sidelines, shedding tacklers like autumn leaves, and then cut back into the middle when he reached the 20.

Two plays later he bumped over for the score. Dick Vestal, substitute back, missed the try for point.

BOSTON COLLEGE TRIUMPHS

BOSTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Boston college, a bit rusty after a one week layoff, came back to the gridiron wars today to grind out a 33-20 decision over a rugged Temple eleven before a throng of 28,000 at Fenway Park.

Cadets Crushed Under Big Red Power, 45-0

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 12—A colossal Cornell football team, full of drive and savvy, handed Army the most colossal licking in 51 years of Cadet gridiron history this afternoon.

Operating with even more controlled fury than last year's all-winning combination, the Big Red team from Ithaca scored in every period, piled up seven touchdowns accredited to seven different men, and wound up on the very large end of a 45-0 score.

Just Took It Easy

It bettered by 26 points the previous high for an Army shutout, set by Harvard in 1900, and by 10 points the previous high score run up on Army, 36-4 by the Princeton team of 1893.

Cornell got possession of the ball 13 times during the game, and six times it went down field to touchdowns. The seventh and last touchdown came as the result of a blocked kick, and at least three other times the Ithacans didn't even try very hard, but punted on second or third down.

Good On Aerials Too

They had half a dozen passers who connected with 13 out of 19 aerials for 201 yards—three touchdown tosses covered 45, 65 and 35 yards, respectively. They had hard-hitting, free-wheeling runners who operated behind scythe-like blocking to pile up 220 yards rushing.

They had linemen who simply carted the desperate-fighting Army forwards out of the way on offense and smothered practically everything on defense. The secondary was so efficient that, while the Cadets completed 11 of 22 passes, at least half of those were for no more than two or three yards.

Army's running attack, a phrase which was purely complimentary today was held to 38 yards.

Work To Be Started On New Sewage Disposal Plant For City Of Lubbock

Unit To Care For Pressing Need

Work will be started Monday on Lubbock's new sewage disposal plant, according to information given Saturday by Homer D. Grant, vice president of Panhandle Construction company, a home concern, which has the contract.

Completion of the work, for which 180 calendar days is allowed, will solve the most pressing problem in connection with the community health of Lubbock, city officials said.

Jobs Already Filled

Grant said that the working crew for the project already has been completed and that it will be futile to apply for jobs. He added that the number of men employed will range from 35 to 50, and that only residents of Lubbock will be given work.

Bids which wo nthe contract for the Panhandle company totaled $211,781.60, to be paid out of a $250,000 bond issue voted in September, 1938. Most or all of the money remaining from the bond issue, officials said, will be needed for expansions of the sewage disposal system within the city.

Two Miles Southeast

Under the contract, Panhandle Construction company is to erect the plant along with specified sedimentation basis on a large city-owned tract approximately two miles southeast of the city limits. The contractor also is to lay the necessary mains through which the raw sewage will flow into the plant for treatment. The treated sewage, consisting entirely of water, will be spread over the several hundred acres of land belonging to the city at the site.

The plant to be erected immediately, officials said, is designed to care for the requirements of a city of 50,000 to 60,000 population. However, the plant is of "unit type" design. Units can be added as needs increase. In theory, according to officials, this plant should be the all-time solution of the sewage disposal problem so far as Lubbock is concerned.

To Be Complete Solution

Assurance also was given by officials that the plant will be the complete solution of the problem of odors, which has become an increasing cause of criticism of the present plant erected nearly 20 years ago when Lubbock's population numbered less than 5,000. The plant has been enlarged from time to time, but it has become inadequate for the city's needs.

Designing engineer for the plant is G. W. Parkhill, who devoted a year to the work while on leave of absence from his duties as associate professor of civil engineering at Texas Technological college.

Jumping Pigskins, It Happened Here! Local Co-Eds Play Football

The Westerners go out and drub Hobbs' Eagles 40 to 0 and the next morning 22 high school co-eds, representing rival social clubs, duplicate the game at Chapman Field!

And somebody said gridiron dizziness had reached its height.

Anyway, that's what happened here Saturday morning as the Las Cresas "Cuties" and Sub Deb "Sweeties" played themselves an honest-to-goodness football game, no touch, just rockem' and sockem' tackling.

Rival mentors were Roland Nabors and Bob McKinnon for the "Sweeties" and Leete Jackson for the "Cuties." Three hundred persons watched the fray. Francis Bearden officiated. All are regulars on the state champion Westerners.

Oh yes! The score was 13 to 0 favoring the "Cuties". Fullback Jean Smith scoring the first counter on a run, Marilee Jones, end, snaring a pass for the second touchdown.

Big Army Plan Thrown Aside

By RICHARD C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

MANILA, Oct. 12. — Filipino efforts to make the Philippines safe from military invasion by the time the United States grants the islands independence in 1946 have been abandoned, informed sources reveal.

Germany's smashing victories over small nations in Europe have convinced Filipino leaders that they must look to the United States for protection from aggressor nations.

First steps toward closer coordination of Philippine Commonwealth armed forces and those of the United States in the islands were believed to have been taken during recent conferences between Commonwealth President Manuel L. Quezon, U. S. High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre and Maj.-Gen. George Gruenert, commander of the U. S. Army's Philippine Department. Maj.-Gen. Douglas MacArthur, former U. S. Army chief-of-staff and for the last five years military adviser to Quezon, did not participate in the conference.

MacArthur's plan for making the Philippines safe from aggression after 1946 has been sharply curtailed. Instituted in 1936, the MacArthur program was being carried out independent of American schemes for defending the islands prior to their independence in 1946. Instead of training 40,000 men annually, as provided in MacArthur's plan, the Commonwealth has decided to train only 20,000 each year.

Islands Eager To Aid

Quezon is understood to have informed Washington that the Commonwealth government desires to cooperate fully with the U. S. defense program and will welcome the sending of army conscripts to the Philippines for training.

The Filipino president has indicated no change in his avowed desire to see the islands become completely independent in 1946, although he has made few remarks publicly of late about independence. In announcing emasculation of the MacArthur program, Quezon said he no longer believed the Commonwealth could make itself impregnable to invasion with the limited finances available for defense. Under the MacArthur program, the Commonwealth has been spending approximately $4,500,000 annually on military preparations.

MacArthur's program was based on the thesis that the islands could be defended through a mass training program in which every man would be a potential fighter. But the anomaly of the situation became apparent after the Nazi invasion of the Low Countries last May. Even though the islands possessed a huge trained army, this would be helpless unless equipped with modern arms. The Philippine army possesses a "navy" composed of two 55-foot torpedo boats, a flying force of about 35 small planes, and no large coastal guns. Quezon frankly doubted his government could afford the cost of the armaments necessary to defend 7,000 islands.

More Troops In Mindanao

First step in the new program of cooperation between the U. S. army and the Commonwealth's armed forces was the announcement that the Philippine army was strengthening its forces in Mindanao, large island at the southern extremity of the archipelago and less than 100 miles from Dutch Borneo. The U. S. army maintains only a small force on Mindanao at Pettit Barracks, Zamboanga.

Coincidental with the revision of the Commonwealth's military program, the U. S. army has substantially strengthened its manpower and fighting equipment in the Philippines. Prior to this year, little new equipment has been sent to army posts here on the theory American armed forces would be withdrawn from the islands in 1946.

Advanced Flight Training Course Will Be Offered

Announcement was made Saturday night that Texas Technological college would sponsor a Civil Aeronautics administration advanced flight training course and that efforts would be made to have the course in operation Wednesday.

Robert P. Vail, who is coordinator of the primary flight training course already in operation and who will serve as coordinator of the advanced course, said approximately 40 young men already had made tentative applications.

Twenty To Be Accepted

He asked that those who have tentatively applied and others who meet qualifications and are interested see him in the engineering building at the college to obtain application blanks and recommendation forms, which they must fill out before taking the physical examination. Twenty are to be accepted.

Decision was made only Saturday that the college would sponsor the course.

Applicants must have successfully completed the primary flying course, after which a private pilot's license is granted, to be eligible for the advanced course. If they successfully finish the advanced course, they will receive commercial pilot's licenses.

Fees For Course

It is not required that applicants for the advanced course be in college, but if not in college they must have completed at least 60 semester hours' college work.

Fees for the advanced course will be $12 for the medical examination and $12 for insurance.

Client Breedlove, one of the flight operators of the beginning course, will be the operator in the advanced course and Art Chase and Harry Peiser likely will be the flight instructors.

The new Waco trainer, a heavier type of plane than that used in the primary course, will be used.

bases singled out for attacks.

"An enormous white explosion" flared and flames shot up following the release of extra heavy bombs on the dock area at Wilhelmshaven when pilots found a patch of clear weather over that naval base, they reported.

Other explosions and fires developed from the raids on the Kiel docks and the Deutsche petroleum works at Hamburg, fliers said.

new methods of war. Premier Ion Antonescu, finding this an excellent idea, adopted it.

"The Germans, giving support to this request with good will and friendship, sent a military mission to Rumania, the first part of which arrived today under command of General Hansen."

It was made clear, incidentally, that still more German troops are to come.

Old Town Well Keeps Its Fame

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 12. (U.P.)—An old well, once the favorite water supply of home brewers, and before that, watering trough for the thirsty horses of the Salt Lake valley, today still performs public service to the community. Many Salt Lakers seem to prefer its product to the regular city drinking water.

Hundreds of persons daily drive to the well during the summer months and carry back carloads of well filled jugs and other containers of every size and description.

In fact, so famous has become its slogan, "It's the water"—borrowed from a famous brewing firm—that customers line up 15 to 20 deep, waiting for their turn to fill their water jugs.

However—the well is no fountain of youth.

It is owned by the city and is under the supervision of the water department. It is believed to be more than 50 years old.

Water department officials said that as far as is known the well was originally dug to supply water for the horses of the city.

When "horseless" carriages placed the "horsed" variety, the trough was removed and the well left for the convenience of the citizenry.

Then came the famous drouth of post-war days which lasted until President Roosevelt took office. The well then became a much frequented spot — mostly catering to nocturnal trade.

Tom Mix Killed

sociated with the west he did not go west until he was 26. Until he was 18—when he enlisted in the army to serve in the Spanish-American war—Tom worked at odd jobs in Dubois and as a water boy for lumberjacks in the Allegheny mountain forests.

After serving two hitches in the army Tom went to Oklahoma where he joined the Miller brothers "101" ranch.

Mrs. Emma Schwartz, 63, oldest sister of the one-time movie star, recalled tonight at Dubois that her brother learned the horsemanship that carried him to movie fame while helping their father who managed a Dubois stable.

She told of how young Tom liked to play "wild west," and of the time he stood a younger sister against a door and was preparing to throw home-made knives about her when the family intervened.

Tom last visted Mrs. Schwartz in July. Mrs. Elizabeth Mix, mother of the cowboy star, died in Dubois 1937.

Noted Cowboy Paid Visit Here In '34

Tom Mix—his Wild West show merged with the Dill Circus—was the banner attraction at the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds in September 1934. Astride his horse, Tony, the swarthy cowboy, lithe and erect despite his 55 years, drew prolonged applause at every entrance in the arena. He featured rifle and pistol marksmanship and acts with two horses.

Mrs. Mix, the former Mabel Ward, who was a member of the Ward Flying troupe, accompanied her husband to Lubbock. They traveled in a $4,000 trailer house which was parked on the fair grounds. Sincere in their expressed appreciation of Texans, they received several residents informally in their luxurious home on wheels.

those which have sent displays here.

Retailers Are Invited

Invitations have been sent to approximately 1,100 retailers in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico to make use of the market. Most of the out-of-town attendance probably will be here Monday, officials said.

Entire purpose of the market, it was explained, is to make Lubbock a convenient trading point for retailers with wholesalers.

The program was announced complete for Monday night's dinner-dance and floor show program. Bernie Howell's orchestra will play during the dinner and for dancing. The Hilton Lambert troup of four girls and two boys will provide the floor show. C. A. Rogers, vocalist with the Howell orchestra, will sing.

Lee de Forest invented the radio vacuum tube in 1907.

Damages Of $10,000 Are Asked In Suit

Damages of $10,000 were asked Saturday in action filed in 99th court of Judge E. L. Pitts by attorneys for Bruce Baker, as the outgrowth of injuries suffered by his 6-year-old son last Sept. 14.

Named defendants in the suit were Mrs. A. L. Werner of Hereford and those who will answer for George Turrentine, 15, son of Mrs. Werner and said to have been driver of a pickup truck that struck the Baker child.

Kenneth Baker, the injured boy, suffered a skull fracture in the accident, hospital reports showed. Petition set out hospital bills would approximate $510, also asked in the suit.

Mrs. Baker joined her husband as plaintiff. The law firm of Humphrey and Bass is counsel for the plaintiffs.

Cotton Futures Drop $1.10 Bale

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Cotton futures lost as much as $1.10 a bale this week in reflection of increasing diplomatic tension in the Far East.

The market closed the week 17 to 22 points below last Saturday. The Cotton Exchange was closed for the Columbus day holiday today.

Would Eliminate Exports

Unsettlement in the Orient caused traders to fear that America's already war-shattered export cotton market might receive another blow if relations between Japan and the United States became strained to the breaking point. Loss of the Japanese market for American cotton would virtualy eliminate exports of U. S. staple as only Great Britain and Canada, would remain as the principal takers of this cotton.

Selling was largely for the account of southern operators with some liquidation by locals and commission houses. On the scale down there developed a considerable amount of trading buying.

Crop Estimate Lower

The census bureau this week estimated the 1940-41 crop at 12,741,000 bales, compared with its August forecast of 12,772,000 bales. The drop however, was not as severe as had been expected. In most trade quarters it was believed the crop would yield around 12,627,000 bales.

The government report was interpreted as evidence that the 1940-41 crop will be one of the best in several years, despite its backwardness.

Consumption of cotton by domestic mills in September was estimated by the Cotton Exchange at 655,000 bales, unchanged from August and compared with 624,000 a year ago. This estimate was larger than trade expectations but had little market effect.

Peak Expected Shortly

Trade caution was inspired by reports of continued favorable weather in the south and increasing movement of the new crop. The peak was expected within the next 10 days, the period in which the heaviest movement was reported last year.

Spot market sales were reported in larger volume with current sales running ahead of the corresponding period last season.

Textile volume was moderate but selling agents in worth street reported a firm price situation. Mills were reported showing some reluctance to sell goods for distant delivery, preferring for the most part to operate near at hand.

Old Trail Drivers Close Celebration

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Old Trail Drivers' association of Texas closed its three-day silver jubilee celebration here Saturday with an election of officers and directors followed by a barbecue at Brackenridge park.

J. M. Mills and A. W. Billingsley were reelected president and vice president, respectively, and Phil H. Toms, also of San Antonio was elected treasurer.

Chosen as directors were R. F. Jennings, J. M. Salter, Rev. P. B. Hill, and Robert Lee Bobbitt, all of San Antonio, and H. D. Story of Ootulla, A. M. Peeler of Christine, S. A. Armstrong of Big Wells and Beery Roebuck of Lockhart.

JAPS ANNIHILATED

HONGKONG, Oct. 12. (AP)—Chinese sources reported today that Chinese military forces had "annihilated" approximately 7,000 Japanese troops in a six-day battle south of the Yangtze river in south Anhwei province.

what he termed totalitarian and dictator nations with a firm declaration of the determination of the United States to prepare for war as the best insurance of continued peace.

Battle Cry To Fail

The chief executive said that "divide and conquer" had been the battle cry of the totalitarian powers in their war against democracy, that it had succeeded in Europe, but that "on our continent it will fail."

"The core of our defense is the faith we have in the institutions we defend," the president asserted. "The Americans will not be scared or threatened into the ways the dictators want us to follow. No combination of dictator countries of Europe and Asia will halt us in the path we see ahead for ourselves and for democracy.

"No combination of dictator countries of Europe and Asia will stop the help we are giving to almost the last free people fighting to hold them at bay."

That, in its essence, appeared to be his answer to the creation of the German-Italian-Japanese alliance.

"We arm to defend ourselves," the president said. "The strongest reason for that is that it is the strongest guarantee for peace."

Nylah Tom Is Named Technologist Head

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 12 (AP) — Miss Nylah Tom of Austin was installed as president of the Texas Society of Medical Technologists Saturday and Fort Worth was selected as the next convention city at the organization's annual meeting Saturday.

Mohawk Indians To Defy Conscription

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—Mohawk Indians of the St. Regis reservation in New York state today disclaimed citizenship bestowed upon them by Congress in 1924, and joined the Seneca nation in resisting registration for selective military service.

They said that Mohawk braves would volunteer, as they did in past wars, if this country were forced into armed conflict. But, they asserted, they would not agree "to force and coercion."

He Picked The Wrong Spot To Take Nap

EL PASO, Oct. 12. (AP) — The weather was warm and the shade under the big truck appealed to Manuel Munoz, 31, service station attendant.

He decided to take a little nap. The truck driver decided to push on.

Manuel went to a hospital with a crushed rib.

German Attacks

don square, causing a number of casualties, some of them fatal. The explosive made a large crater near a well known statue. A large dry goods store, a club, and a bank were badly damaged by the blast.

Provinces Also Quiet

The relatively-quiet spell over London extended as well over the provinces, where only one or two attacks were reported. One midland town was bombed with high explosives and incendiary missiles which damaged a house, a shopping arcade and a hostel for aged men.

The raiders flew against London at intervals, dropped a few bombs and then scooted for home with anti-aircraft batteries sending bursts all around them.

The quiet spells in between made the London night seem almost normal again.

With the lessening of the attack, the midnight traffic became much heavier than on the nights since the Germans began raiding the capital every night.

Some Fires Started

But, of course, the city was not peaceful in the American style by any means. It was only comparatively so—buildings rocked to the crash of falling bombs, houses were smashed and "Molotoff breadbaskets" spewed their incendiary bombs upon parts of the capital. Some fires started but were put out quickly.

Mostly, the raiders came singly and much higher than usual. It was impossible, except occasionally, even to hear the drone of their motors.

But when a bomb drops nearby it is evident that a plane is up there—or was a moment ago.

It still was reasonably calm as the moon went down and the sky clouded over.

Developments Awaited

Many Americans here indicated they would wait for further developments before quitting their homes and work in Japan.

A Domei Japanese news agency, dispatch from Nanking said members of the staff of Standard Oil there and employes of the British-American Tobacco company and their families would be removed soon to Shanghai—the residence of 4,000 Americans—on two United States gun boats now sailing up the Yangtze river to Hankow to take others on board.)

The Japanese press reviewed what is called the United States' "oppressive measures" against Japan, but the earlier vehemence which characterized the comment on the state department's advice was tempered. Washington was urged to reconsider its policies, and the need for calmness was stressed.

Plans Complete For Grand Opening Of Enlarged I. A. Stephens Store Monday

Program, Favors To Celebrate 10th Anniversary Of Founding

Grand opening of the greatly enlarged and completely modernized Stephens Dry Goods store, 905-907 Broadway has been set for Monday, according to announcement Saturday by I. A. Stephens, founder and owner of the establishment.

The celebration, he announced, will be two-fold in purpose.

One will be the presentation of the greatly enlarged store which has been expanded into the new and modern building completed recently at Broadway and Avenue H.

To Observe Anniversary

The other will be the observance of the 10th anniversary of the establishment of the first I. A. Stephens store in Lubbock.

Although the observance will continue throughout the day, a special program has been arranged from 8 to 11 o'clock Monday night, the proprietor announced. It will consist of music and other entertainment. Favors will be distributed to the men, women and children.

Completion of the new building, which adjoins that in which the Stephens store has been located for about five years, increases the front of the establishment on Broadway from 50 to 75 feet. It also provides the business with a 35 foot front on Avenue H.

Floor Space Increased

With the full basement and the full balcony which are part of the new structure, it increases the floor space of the store to approximately 17,000 square feet — nearly triples the area that has been used and five times larger than the first Stephens store here.

The stock of merchandise, the owner announced, is completely new. The opening was deferred somewhat, he explained, to make certain that all the stock would be new.

The fixtures are among the handsomest to be found in any establishment of the kind in the southwest. The fixtures are of magnolia, and were made in Lubbock. The lighting, the most modern, is the fluorescent and is entirely without glare.

The building is to be completely air conditioned.

New Departments Included

Several new departments will be introduced for the first time, in addition to the expansion and enlargements of all the other departments. The new departments include those for drapery and interior decorating, children's and infant's, boy's and youth's, millinery and lingerie.

The stocks in all the departments Stephens declared, are among the most complete to be found on the South Plains, and are designed to appeal to the discriminating and the thrifty shopper.

I. A. STEPHENS

Curlee Clothes Popular Line

THE history of the relationship of I. A. Stephens and Curlee suits and overcoats has been a parallel of the success of Stephens Dry Goods stores.

This was the statement Saturday of Perry Brown, manager of the Stephens men's department the last six years, as preparations were completed Saturday for Monday's grand opening of the enlarged store and the celebration of the 10th anniversary of its founding in Lubbock.

When Stephens prepared to open the doors of his first store here 10 years ago, Brown related, he recognized that one of the essentials for his men's department was a line of men's clothing which offered the utmost in quality and style at modest cost. His choice was the Curlee line, Stephens related, and he obtained it.

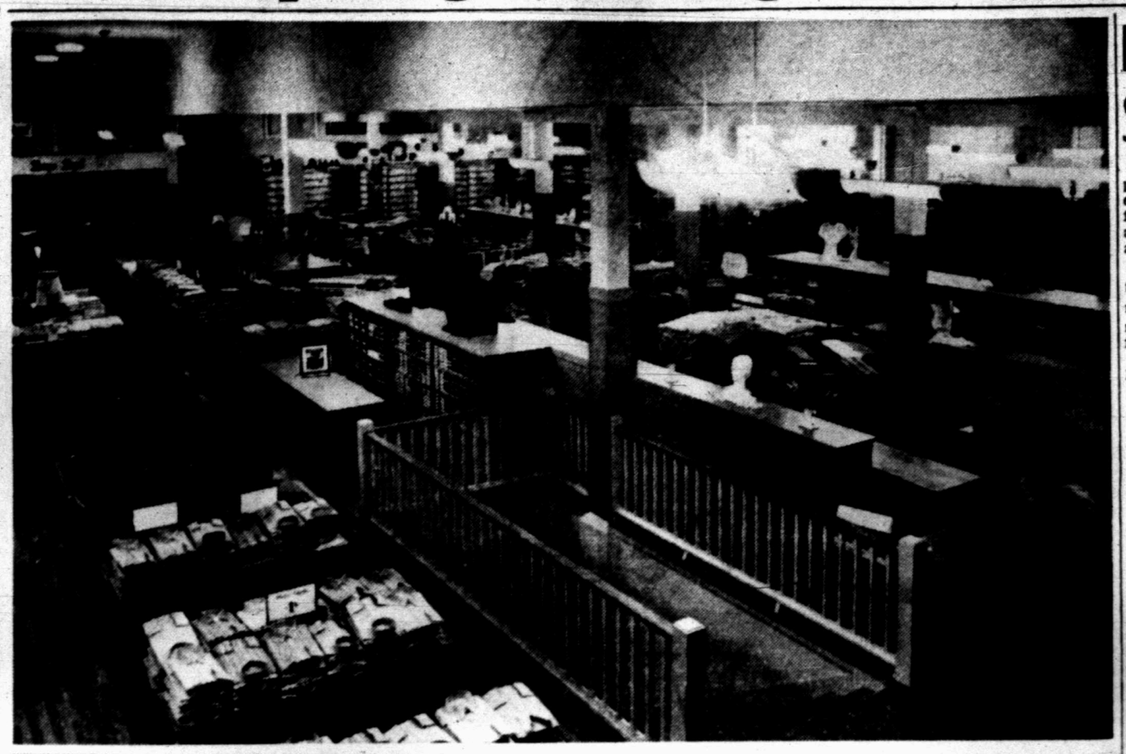

He recalled Saturday that his first orders of Curlee suits and overcoats were in units of about 50.

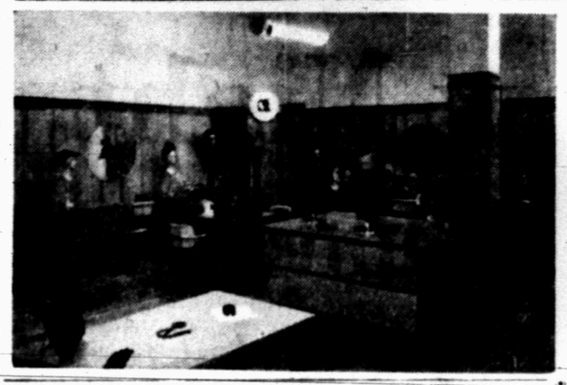

Now he orders them up to 3,000 units at a time—a "unit" being one suit or overcoat. His orders are the largest of any store west of Fort Worth and southeast of Denver.

The slogan of the Curlee suit that it "must be right" is the explanation of the popularity of these garments, Brown said. They must measure to the most exacting standards of style, quality and fit. They are made by expert designers, trained by long experience in analyzing style trends among American men. They are modern in style, but never extreme. They contain the "hidden values," said Brown, which means long life and well-appearing stylish wear to the end.

The same standards, he continued, apply to Curlee overcoats.

Furthermore, he added, the large stock stock of the suits and overcoats in the Stephens store means a wide selection and an accurate fit for the patron.

VIEWS OF STORE—Pictured above are three interior views of the greatly enlarged Stephens Dry Goods store which will be formally presented to the shopping public of Lubbock and the South Plains Monday. The large picture at the top gives a general view of a large portion of the main floor looking across a small portion of the men's department with the edge of the balcony shown in the left background. The other pictures were made in the millinery and ready-to-wear departments.

Piece Goods Stock Large At Stephens

One of the finest and most complete stocks of piece goods to be found in the Southwest awaits inspection at the enlarged Stephens Dry Goods store, according to declaration Saturday by Mrs. E. P. Kyle, department manager.

Mrs. Kyle has been connected with the Stephens store six years, having come here from previous connections with stores in Fort Smith, Ark.

Expansion of the store resulting from occupancy of the new building she said, has made possible substantial enlargement of the stock of her department.

"I believe we have much of great interest in this department to every woman in Lubbock and its territory," she commented.

Also included in the department, she said, is a large selection of comforts, blankets and bedspreads of almost every description.

Decorations New Store Feature

Expected to prove one of the most popular departments of the enlarged Stephens store is that set aside for draperies and home decorations, according to I. A. Stephens, founder and owner of the business.

The department, he added, is entirely new to the store and was made possibly only by the enlargement which has nearly doubled the floor space of the establishment.

In charge of the department is Mrs. Martha Morgan, who has a background of long and thorough training in that particular kind of artistry, and who is widely know in Lubbock and on the South Plains.

Purpose of the department, said stephens, is to provide "all the facilities and services of interior decorations at department store costs—which means a cost within the reach of practically everyone."

The department is located on the spacious eastern portion of the large balcony at the rear of the store.

Splendid Stock Shown

Included in the large stock there, the owner said, are Kirsch drapery hardware, Regina curtains, Scranton lace curtains, lamps, pottery and just about everything else that might add to the interior beauty of a home.

Perfect Shoe Fit Sure At Stephens

Comfortable, well-fitting shoes mean more than the mere bodily comfort of the wearer.

The; are one of the most important essentials to health.

Particularly is that true of children, whose bones are pliable and can be molded and twisted in such manner, if their shoes don't fit, that permanent injury may result.

These were some of the observations Saturday of L. Lively who has been manager of the shoe department of the Stephens Dry Goods store for four years.

"The proper fit for shoes is so important," he remarked, "that unless they fit, there is no sale."

Lively has the training to know what he is talking about. He holds diplomas from the National school of Orthopraxy of the Foot and from the American school of Practipedics. Furthermore, he has had many years of practical experience in shoe merchandising.

It is a frank boast with Lively

Nationally Advertised Brands Featured In Stephens Store

Shopper Finds Wide Variety

Nationally advertised brands make up almost entirely the huge stock of merchandise of the greatly enlarged I. A. Stephens Dry Goods store which will celebrate its formal opening along with its 10th anniversary Monday.

As pointed out by I. A. Stephens, they are brands of merchandise which have proved themselves to the American buying public through long use.

Quality Is Guaranteed

Their quality is guaranteed by the fact that the manufacturers who make them put millions of dollars per year in their advertising budgets, and by the further fact that they depend for their continued existence upon "repeat" business—the customers who come back time after time for their product.

Almost without exception, the brands included in the Stephens store stock require no introduction. Here are some of them, as listed by the owner and founder of the store:

Men's hats — Stetson, Mallory, Stylepark, Davis.

Curlee Clothes Featured

Men's furnishings—Curlee clothes (long featured in the Stephens store); Van Heusen, Lenox and Mark Twain shirts; Mack shirts and pajamas; Cooper's underwear; campus sweaters; Tankel cravats; Block Bilt and Mustang jackets.

Boy's clothing—Tom Sawyer, Esskay, Gladstone, London Park and Curlee, jr., suits.

Best Ready-to-Wear

Ready-to-wear — Redfern coats and suits; Le-Vine dresses; Dawnleigh and Carole King dresses; Habern costume suits; Zable furs.

Hosiery—Rollins, No Mend, Better Maid.

Shoes — Friedman Shelby, Red Goose, Winthrop shoes for men, Foot Fashion, Charm Step, Edgewood sport oxfords.

Piece goods—Vassar silk, Superb cambrics, St. Mary's blankets, Restwell comforts and blankets, Polly Prentice bed spreads.

Infant's and children's wear — Burdee infant's wear; Maybelle and Kate Greenaway frocks; Carr Craft and Perfect kiddie coats; Gloria hats for children.

Decorating department — Regina curtains; Kirsch drapery hardware; Scranton laces; E. L. Mansure trimmings; "complete decorating service at department store prices."

A counterfeiting gang is reported to have distributed $500,000 in fake banknotes at Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Perfect Shoe Fit

that the stock of shoes in the Stephens store is one of the largest to be found in the Southwest. Especially is the selection large in the sizes and width of shoes, which virtually insures an exact fitting for the patron. And, as he remarked, "no fit, no sale."

Included among the nationally advertised brands in the Stephens stock, he related, are the Friedman Shelby shoes for the entire family; Winthrop shoes for men; Charm Step for women; Edgewood sport Oxfords, and the Red Goose and Foot Fashion brands.

A visit to the large department, he declared, will be well worth the time of those who inspect the store.

Mail Order Business Given Prompt Service

Although the Stephens Dry Goods store does not specialize in mail orders, it does a substantial volume of mail order business, according to I. A. Stephens, founder and owner of the business.

Emphasizing that such business is welcomed, he explained that mail orders are turned over to a proper member of the personnel and they are filled with the most exacting care. Every effort, he added, is made to place the filled orders in the mail the same day they are received.

He extended a cordial invitation to all who are unable to visit the store personally to make use of this service.

Efficient Personnel Big Factor In Stephens Store Success

Visits As Salesman Caused I. A. Stephens To Spot Plains Area As 'Coming Country'

VISITS to the South Plains as a traveling salesman some 15 years ago laid the foundation for one of the most successful businesses in Lubbock.

I. A. Stephens was the salesman. The Stephens dry goods store is the result of his visits.

Is Native Of Texas

Stephens is a native of Temple, Texas. He spent most of his boyhood in Dallas and San Antonio. He studied textile engineering in Texas A. & M. college. From college he went to A. B. Frank Wholesale Dry Goods company as salesman, and from there to the Higginbotham-Bailey-Logan company of Dallas for which he traveled in West Texas.

He related that during his six years with the Dallas concern, he visited the South Plains many times and recognized it as a "coming country." So, when an opportunity offered, he went into business in Brownfield, remaining there for several years.

Kept Eyes On Lubbock

However, he continued, his eyes were on Lubbock. In August, 1930, he and Mrs. Stephens moved to this city, and opened the first Stephens Dry Goods store here in the rented 25-foot front building at 806 Broadway. It thrived despite the fact that the new business found itself combatting the depression almost immediately.

Stephens remained in that location five years. Then he leased the lot at 907 Broadway and erected a modern building with a front of 50 feet and a depth of 115 feet.

Expansion Continues

After two or three years, it became apparent that the business was becoming cramped in that space. So Stephens began negotiating and last spring purchased the lot at Broadway and Avenue H adjoining his business. Soon after, the old Broadway hotel occupying that property was razed, and work on the new building was started. The lot, new building and furnishings represent an investment estimated at approximately $75,000.

Stephens disclosed that in building, he has looked still further into the future with confidence that growth of Lubbock is to continue.

The new building has been erected with foundation and walls to support four additional floors, when and if they are needed. Stephen emphasized that the building will go higher when the need arises.

W. G. McMillan, contractor for the new building, said the cost of the portion of the structure was increased by approximately $3,000 because of the provisions made for future floors. He pointed to it as a demonstration with hard cash by Stephens of his confidence in the future.

Aside from prominence in the business six years, is manager of the piece goods department, with Mrs. Jack Eastwood and Mrs. K. McCraw her associates.

Mrs. Stephens Is Chief Aide

One of the fundamental reasons for the success of the Stephens Dry Goods store since its establishment in Lubbock 10 years ago has been an efficient and courteous personnel.

This was the positive declaration Saturday by I. A. Stephens, founder and owner of the store.

Patron Comes First

"The first rule followed by every person connected with this business," he declared, "is to look out for the patron's interests. Neither this nor any other business can succeed without customer confidence. Such confidence cannot be gained and held without conscientious, courteous and competent sales people."

Many of those now comprising the Stephens personnel have been with him many years. All, he declared, are expert in their line.

His "right hand man," as he termed her, is Mrs. Stephens, who operates the ladies' department. She has been closely associated with him in all his business problems through most of his business career. Mrs. Stephens is a native of Bowie, Texas.

Heads Men's Department

Others of the personnel are:

Perry Brown, manager of the men's clothing and furnishings department, who has been with the store more than six years.

T. G. Woodward, manager of the boy's and youth's department, who was brought here from the S. & Q. store of Wichita Falls; he formerly was with the Joske store in San Antonio.

L. Lively, manager of the greatly expanded shoe department, who has been with Stephens four years.

Ray Simmonds, who joined the staff two years ago, is Lively's assistant.

With Store Five Years

Mrs. Mae Hardy is manager of the ladies ready-to-wear department, having been with the store five years. Mrs. Woodie Sylvester and Mrs. C. C. Wofford are her associates. Mrs. Sylvester is a specialist in foundation garments.

Mrs. Margaret Hughett was brought here from Dallas, where she had long experience, to become manager of the millinery department.

Mrs. Leona Simmonds, formerly with Leonard Bros., Fort Worth, is manager of the ladies' hosiery, bags and gloves department, with Mrs. J. L. Holt her associate.

Mrs. Pauline King is assistant in the boys department.

Mrs. E. P. Kyle, who has been with the store since its establishment, the first employe, is manager of the ladies' ready-to-wear department.

Mrs. Martha Morgan, who is well known to Lubbock and the South Plains, is manager of the new draperies and interior decorations department. Mrs. W. P. Woods is her associate.

Winston Watson has charge of the work clothing department.

Benton Teal is display manager and is responsible for most of the window displays which have attracted much attention.

A. B. Watkins is auditor, having been employed with the Stephens store four years. Miss Winfrey Kerr is his secretary and Miss Dora Copeland is cashier.

Mrs. Winnie Bell and Mrs. H. E. Wolffarth have charge of the alterations department.

Site Of New Building Historic Plains Spot

Site of the new building into which the Stephens Dry Goods store has expanded is one of the historic spots of the South Plains.

For half a century, until I. A. Stephens acquired the property last spring, it was occupied by what was then named the Nicolett hotel, but which, in later years, was renamed the "Broadway." As the "finest hotel" in the entire area during the early years of Lubbock, it was a most important center of activities of every sort.

When finally it became necessary for the old, frame structure to give way to progress, Stephens donated it to the Church Community center, and the large amount of material salvaged from it is being used for the construction of a community center in the northeastern business affairs of Lubbock, Stephens also has engaged in other activities.

He is a member of the Lions club, the chamber of commerce, the country club, is a director of Western Wholesale Clothing Market association, is a 32nd degree Mason and a Shriner.

Social Interest Continues To Center On South Plains Marriages

The Woman's Angle

MORNING THOUGHT

DO YOU feel panicky? Are you depressed? Does the world seem to be crowding you? Count your blessings, take a deep breath and hustle.

A SHREWD BARGAIN

TWO brothers, after a long and futile argument, over the division of an inheritance of land in South Africa, presented their problem to the president of the Transvaal, Paul Kruger.

Kruger considered the matter carefully, and then pronounced this judgment: "Let one brother divide the land, and then let the other have first choice."

THE CONSCRIPT LAW

IN AN interesting letter written by a southern soldier during the War Between the States we discovered that as long ago as 1862 there was a conscription program. The document is the property of Mrs. C. B. Powell of 2306 Sixteenth street, who numbers among her hobbies the collecting of old letters.

William T. Chapman, the writer, told his wife of Nacogdoches, in a letter written from Little Rock, Ark., "The conscript law caused us to reorganize our company and regiment which threw out all men over 35 years old. They think that it can hold us for three years. Some of the boys gave negro fellows for substitutes."

However in 1940, Uncle Sam is seeing to it that no one gives a fellow for a substitute.

THIS was a most interesting letter, telling of a soldier's hate of war and longing to come home. In one place he writes, "It is awful to think that I am 350 miles from you," and in another, "On last Monday a part of Parsons regiment had a fight with the 'feds' on little Red river. There were 150 on our side against some 300 or 400. Our side killed between 85 and 100."

He also told of the many who were dying from measles and asked for prayers that we may conquer, "although the prospect is very gloomy at this time." "I have been in the hospital where there are many soldiers wounded in the Boston mountain fight. You can see them shot through most any place and some had to have their legs cut off. It is disheartening to look at them but they appear to be enjoying themselves and are well treated."

War wounds in 1862 were rather terrible but war wounds in 1940 would be no more pleasant a sight. Incidentally, the young man did not get to come home, Mrs. Powell said, because he died of measles a few months after the letter was written.

SCATTERINGS

MRS. HOLLAND STEWART celebrates a birthday and wedding anniversary Wednesday . . . Mrs. J. D. Henly sent the woman's department a bouquet of pink and yellow roses which she grew from bushes she bought from a Lubbock department store. They looked like hothouse blossoms . . . Best jelly we've ever tasted is that made by Mrs. John W. Lynch, Mrs. F. R. Friend makes the best rolls, Miss Clara Pratt arranges the most attractive fruit plates and a chocolate recipe given us by Mrs. Dan Salkeld of Quanah makes the lightest and tastiest cake . . . Let two or more people come together these days waiting for a bus, for a cup of coffee or for a paper and the subject "conscription" is bound to come up, sure as sunrise.

IT'S a far cry from the time when actors were supposed to be dumb about political questions. Consider Melvyn Douglas who is leading a Hollywood drive for the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt and Robert Montgomery, who is lining up all the votes possible for Mr. Willkie . . . Dates, raisins, figs, plain candy bars, candied fruits and cracked nuts will liven up the menu for those school lunches . . . Before you take the communiques released by the DNB agency in Berlin too seriously, recall that the world's greatest fairy tales, by the Brothers Grimm, also came from Germany . . . Surprise! There are only seven kinds of hats—tricorn, toque, turban, beret, pillbox, brim and calot. Eve Tartar, analytical hat designer, figured out this one . . . Sam West wasn't listening Wednesday night when his name was called in a questionnaire during a well known coast-to-coast orchestra radio program.

INTERESTING WOMAN

FEATURING the "Interesting People in the American Scene" section of a popular national magazine for November is a large full-color photograph and sketch of Helen Montgomery of Detroit, who is the sister-in-law of three Lubbock residents. They are Mrs. William A. Wilbanks, 1909 Dixie Drive; Mrs. Merydith D. Turner, 1908 Avenue Q, and Ross Montgomery, Tech student.

The sketch, headed "Skylarker," reads: "Helen Montgomery of Detroit, Mich., has soared higher farther, and longer in a glider than any other woman in America. At the 1940 National Soaring Contest in Elmira, N. Y., she hit a high of 4,183 feet and covered a total distance of 13 miles.

"Two years before, she hung up an endurance record for women by skylarking for almost a whole working day — 7 hours and 28 minutes.

"Both flying enthusiasts, she and her husband, Laurence Montgomery, a physicist, took up gliding three years ago. Today they spend nearly every Saturday and Sunday floating in the clouds. Mary Helen, their 13-months-old baby, goes along to the flying field with them, but she sleeps in her basket on the

Noted Designer Is Looking To Mature Women To Be Style Leaders Of Country

Duchess Marie Says Couture Is In Need

BY MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—If America is to have a real couture, as the French had, America's mature women will have to cooperate more closely with designers.

That is the opinion of Grand Duchess Marie, cousin of Nicholas, Russia's last Czar, now a noted fashion authority. Since 1928, when she came to this country from Paris, where she had worked in a dressmaking establishment during the years following her escape from Russia, the Grand Duchess has been a fashion consultant and lately a designers in her own right.

Grand Duchess Marie of Russia

"The older customer—she who can afford to buy original designs—will have to be willing to risk being the first to wear an entirely new silhouette or a new color or an exotic piece of jewelry. She will have to get over the idea of waiting until a fashion has been accepted generally before buying it for herself," Grand Duchess Marie explains.

SUGGESTS WARDROBE FOR MATURE FIGURES

"If New York is to retain the title—fashion center of the world—American women, as well as American designers and their manufacturers, must dare to be daring.

"This doesn't mean that, simply to help designers, a customer must buy unbecoming clothes. Far from it. It means only that she must be willing to accept new lines and new fashion themes, providing they are flattering."

A casual coat in bold purple and blue plaid is shown over a dress of blue wool. Notice the loose, easy-fitting lines of the coat. The Grand Duchess Marie dislikes snugly fitted sports coats for any figure, large or small.

For any mature woman, whether she intends to be a fashion leader or not, the Grand Duchess Marie gives pertinent style advice.

"Your clothes should fit easily—not snugly. Any dress that looks or feels short-waisted is no bargain, regardless of its price.

"Long-sleeved evening dresses usually are more becoming to the mature than bare-armed, decollete ones.

"It's a mistake to load yourself down with jewelry, even really precious jewelry.

"A sports coat ought never to be fitted. It should be loose and boxy, and preferably a size larger than you wear in fitted town coats. It ought to be the kind of thing you can put over your knees or around your neck in a car or sit on at a picnic. Every wardrobe needs one."

Among other items the Grand Duchess Marie thinks should be included in every mature woman's wardrobe are simple, basic dresses of excellent quality which can be varied with different accessories.

She likes two suits—traditional two-piece ones for slender figures, dress-and-jacket or dress-and-long-coat varieties for the not-so-slender.

STICKS TO ONE COLOR SCHEME

She advises buying a fur-trimmed cloth coat one fall, and an untrimmed one the next. She feels that only the short-haired, flat furs are suitable for fur coats for large figures.

The attractive fashion authority considers sticking to one basic color scheme the only safe and sound course. But she does not think that the basic color need always be black or brown.

Green, gray and plum are her favorite alternatives. One of the smartest outfits in her present collection of clothes for the mature includes a blue and purple plaid sports coat and a blue wool dress.

"Only rarely is a long bob becoming to any woman past thirty," the Grand Duchess Marie says, in conclusion. "If she has a thin neck, her haid should be on her neck but not hanging on her neck. There is a difference. If her neck is thick rather than thin, brushing the hair upward, away from it, will have a slimming, lengthening effect."

Older Women Must "Dare To Be Daring"

This dark green silk model is the type of basic dress which the Grand Duchess Marie thinks every woman should have in her wardrobe.

They Should Be Receptive To New Ideas

A dinner-hostess gown of brilliant red silk jersey has silk fringe from dolman sleeves to floor. The skirt, though full, gives an illusion of slimness.

Miss Evelyn Gregory Becomes Bride Of Donald Bledsoe At Petersburg

Church Service Is Read In Evening

PETERSBURG, Oct. 12—(Special)—The wedding of Miss Evelyn Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gregory and granddaughter of Mrs. John Hegi and the late Mr. Hegi, pioneers, to Donald Bledsoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bledsoe of Becton, took place at 8:30 o'clock Friday night at the Petersburg First Baptist church with Rev. W. H. Hughes, pastor, officiating with a single ring ceremony.

Vows were spoken before an archway of fern and chrysanthemums in fall shades. Palms and a semi-circle of candelabra formed the background and tall baskets of white chrysanthemum were at either side of the altar space. The white flowers marked the pews in the center aisle.

Mrs. H. Wiese played the wedding music and the traditional marches and accompanied Mrs. Clyde Martin who sang, "Because." "Traumerei" was played during the ceremony.

Father Escorts Bride

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a frock of soldier blue alpaca fashioned with draped bodice and bracelet length sleeves. Her accessorie were dubonnet and she wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and gardenias. For "something old and borrowed," she wore a swiss silver chain that has been in the Hegi famil, for three generations and was a gift to her mother.

Mrs. Bunch Fullingim, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a black frock with black and white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

Miss Neoma Gregory, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a dubonnet frock with soldier blue accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

The flower girls, Carolyn Gregory and Bobbie McDaniel, wore gold wool frocks with trimming of blue, and carried baskets filled with rose petals.

Harold Hegi served as best man. Mr. Fullingim was groomsman and ushers were Ray Wiese and Steve Stapleton.

A reception was held following the service. Out-of-town guests included Mesars. and Mesdames E. R. Gibson and three daughters, M. K. Simpson, Clark M. Mullican, Rufus Rush and Walter Posey, all of Lubbock.

Mr. Bledsoe is a graduate of Lubbock High school and is a former student at Texas Technological college. Mrs. Bledsoe was graduated from Petersburg High school and is a former student of Tech. West Texas State Teachers college, at Canyon and Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene. For the past two years she has been teaching at the Farmer school.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wore an Indian earth wool suit and coat with beige and brown accessories and a rose and gardenia corsage.

They will be at home near Becton where the bridegroom has recently built a rock residence.

SKY-HIGH IN STYLE—Going completely air-minded on us, John-Frederics creates a daring hat in "sky-high-pink" and shows it with a wool dress in "pilot blue" on a model who wears sky-high-pink nail polish. The mesh-net scarf goes over the head to form a crown for the collapsible brim. The scarf may be worn separately and tied in a dozen different ways.

From Lou To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: We hear that Miss Madeline Edler of Crosbyton and Bert Graham of Ralls are planning to marry the first week in November. I think that the official announcement has been made. We also heard at a very nice party the other afternoon that former Beta Sigma Phi president, Josephine Powell, is planning to take the fatal step. (More about that later, we hope.)

Hansell Haynes seems to be very attracted to a young lady who is employed at one of the banks. She is a small brunette.

He's Got Competition

And speaking of people wi. work at banks, that young man who drives a red car is paying "all the attention" to a pretty young lady from Waco. Of course maybe he doesn't know about the other seven boys who like her too.

Miss Pauline Huff has received a promotion and will be leaving soon for Oklahoma City.

Today Mrs. LeRoy Paulger, the former Miss Inez Stewart, is celebrating her birthday. In case she hasn't returned from her honeymoon will someone give her congratulations from us?

MRS. MAUDE BRADLEY is to return Monday from Fort Worth where she is visiting her son, J. Brooks Bradley, his wife and their son.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones of Washington, D. C., and son, Franklin, jr., are visiting her mother, Mrs. J. S. Johnson and sister, Mrs. James M. Pryor and Mr. Jones' brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Hub Jones. The Frank Jones are former residents of Lubbock.

Mrs. Homer Harrison has a most pleasing voice and a very pleasant disposition.

Wedding Date Set

Miss Winifred Piner of Big Spring, who was crowned, "Miss West Texas," this year, is to be married October 26.

Several persons may wonder why Mary Grace Ellison and R. B. Parkinson didn't have any music at their wedding. It wasn't convenient. Both are accomplished musicians and he operates a music store. She had planned to wear a bracelet in her wedding that was 10,000 years old. It is a museumpiece that belongs to her cousin, Dr. W. C. Holden. The catch was not fixed however.

Have you seen the trick car license number N00-000? The automobile belongs to three young ladies, I am told.

MR AND MRS. HOLT WALDREP have returned from their honeymoon and are at home at 1305 Twenty-sixth street. Mrs. Waldrep was Miss Marilynn Fry before her marriage, October 5.

It seems that several weeks ago I wrote you a letter saying that a certain young lady was to marry a New Mexico man soon. The information came from the store where she had been working. Well, she wasn't planning to marry at all. Apologies to her and thanks for being so nice about it.

Love,
Lou.

Ten States Have Barred Communist Party From November Election Ballots

Earl Browder Is Candidate Again

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. — Ten states have barred the Communist party from the November 5 election ballot—four of them on the round that it favors overthrow of the American form of government.

The ten are Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Ohio, Washington, and West Virginia.

Wisconsin has refused the party places on the ballot because it failed to poll sufficient votes in prior elections, but has allowed four of its candidates to run as independents.

Browder Is Candidate

Earl Browder, present Communist candidate for president, also made the race in 1936. He received 80,159 votes in approximately 35 states.

The communist party has seven candidates for the senate, 21 for the House, nine for governor and 21 for other state offices.

States banning Communist party candidates on the ground that the party advocates overthrow of the government are Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia, and Washington.

California Takes Action

California has taken action to bar Communists from the ballot but the law is not effective until 1941 and the party will be on the Nov. 5 ballot.

The party lost its ballot in Kentucky and West Virginia on charges of fraud in the nominating petitions; in Illinois and Ohio on other petition technicalities; and in Kansas because the state supreme court upheld the contention the party had no legal existence in that state.

The association will need room mothers and assistants to conduct the clubs and programs and anyone wishing to join may call Mrs. Marvin McLarty at 1856.

Plans will be announced for a rummage sale to be held Saturday. The needs of the welfare work in the school will be met and remaining articles will be sold. Mothers are asked to bring clothing to the Thursday meeting, call one of the room mothers or phone 4065.

Military Medical Officers Worried Over Possibility Of Epidemics In Draft Army

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12—Two prominent military medical officers admitted today that they are worried about possible outbreaks of epidemic diseases in the coming draft army.

Every effort is being made to avert such epidemics of colds, influenza, meningitis, measles, mumps and other contagious diseases, Col. Leon A. Fox of the Army medical corps and Commander J. C. Adams of the Navy medical corps told the association of military surgeons, and indications are that the efforts will be successful.

Overcrowding of men being drawn into the army and navy is one of the most serious problems, Colonel Fox and Commander Adams declared. This gives an open invitation to contagious disease germs to spread like wildfire.

Using influenza as an example, Colonel Fox said:

"I would hate to see another visit from this frightful scourge. Even under the best possible conditions it would demand a frightful harvest and I shudder to think what would happen if we were caught in the midst of mobilization with improperly housed troops."

Judge Pursues Graft Inquiry

BY ALFRED LEECH
United Press Staff Correspondent

DETROIT, Oct. 12. — Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson, who has uncovered an estimated $1,800,000 in graft to protect gambling and vice has ordered to trial 250 persons including a former mayor, high law enforcement officials and ex-gangsters, is continuing his investigation.

Judge Ferguson, an amiable white-haired jurist who once paid a call on racket-busting Thomas E. Dewey for advice on the ways of the underworld, is holding sessions of his one-man grand jury despite reports that his latest blow against corruption and rackets, in which 137 persons were held for trial, was the last he contemplated.

Judge Ferguson began his investigation slightly more than a year ago after suicide notes left by a widow who was jilted by a small-time racketeer brought vigorous demands for a cleanup of the nation's second largest county. The notes were left by Mrs. Janet McDonald who took her own life and her 11-year-old daughter's as well.

Notes Charged Graft

She had been a typist in a policy house and her suitor had been manager. He died before the grand jury investigation got well under way. Her notes charged that police were taking protection money from illegal gambling enterprises.

Since then Ferguson has returned four wholesale indictments, and petitioned Gov. Luren D. Dickinson who later affirmed the action by ousting Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea and Sheriff Thomas C. Wilcox.

Among prominent defendants held for trial for one or more of the indictments are: Richard W. Reading, former mayor; his son and former secretary, Richard W. Reading, Jr.; Fred W. Frahm deposed police superintendent; a former district police inspector, Wendell A. Lochbiler, national commander of the Order of the Purple Heart; Joe and Abe Burnstein, reputed leaders of a notorious gang of racketeers; Joe Louis' co-manager, John Roxborough, alleged kingpin of Detroit's numbers racket; Elmer (Buff) Ryan, wealthy Detroit gambling overlord; numerous police inspectors; and McCrea and Wilcox.

Payoff Broken Down

Testimony in pre-trial examinations and at ouster hearings for McCrea and Wilcox disclosed a highly organized payoff machine under which the former mayor allegedly received $55,500; his son $20,500; McCrea $81,000 from the policy racket alone; and Wilcox $100 to $300 a month from each house of prostitution in Wayne county $10 a month from each slot machine, and $50 to $1,000 from each gambling establishment.

McCrea is a defendant in all four of the grand jury's cases and Wilcox is in one of them. Reading is a defendant in the grand jury's last warrant which charges conspiracy to protect Detroit's $30,000,000-a-year illegal horse race gambling business. The former mayor also faces trial on a federal indictment charging evasion of $12,048 in income takes, and on an earlier grand jury charge.

Is GOOD LIGHTING a PROBLEM in YOUR HOME? Then we suggest you

TRY THIS. Simply rig up a bosun's chair on the nearest street lamp—and hoist yourself up. A bit awkward—if the wind blows—but there's plenty of light to read easily.

OR THIS. Just take your easy chair out in the driveway—and read by the lights of your car. A bit uncomfortable if it rains (and we hope it does!) but you can still see quite easily.

Reopening Of China's 'Road To Mandalay' May Cause More Trouble In Far East

Supplies Are To Move On Route

By F. M. FISHER
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Burma road—China's "Road to Mandalay" — will be re-opened Thursday to release a fresh spurt of supplies sorely needed by Chinese armies struggling against Japan.

Contrary to Kipling, the road is not a bay-shore drive; it is 726 miles of the most difficult mountain road in the world and connects Kunming, capital of Yunnan province, with Lashio, Burma railhead northeast of Mandalay.

To Move At Night

But after October 17 more than 1000 American-made trucks are expected to be snaking along this rugged trail, traveling mostly at night over the Chinese end of the road to escape Japanese bombers sent over from new bases in French Indo-China. Gasoline, precision arms and airplane parts will move slowly up to Kunming, while returning trucks will carry an increasing supply of tungsten, antimony and tin ore bound for the U. S. and Britain.

The road is to be re-opened by the British government after being closed since last July, when Britain sought to "appease" Japan by shutting down the main avenue for Chinese supplies. Japan's swing to an alliance with the axis powers made certain that the road would be re-opened at the end of the rainy season.

Climbs Through Mountains

Starting at 5200 feet elevation at Kunming, the road twists and climbs up out of the Yunnan basin over high ranges separated by rocky gorges and mountain torrents. Peaks 11,000 and 12,000 feet high shoulder some of the passes that reach up 8000 feet. An offshoot of the Himalayas, these ranges form the back-bone of the Siamese-Malaya peninsula. Two great rivers, the Salween and the Mekong must be crossed.

Started in December of 1937, the road was completed in a year, with 200 Chinese engineers directing an army of 160,000 coolies. No machinery was available. Mountain sides were hacked away with hoes and shovels; great fills were created by ant-like swarms of coolies carrying dirt in bamboo baskets hung from shoulder poles.

70,000 Work On Route

Dirt-surfaced and subjected to tropic summer downpours, the road suffers frequent landslides and washouts. Some 70,000 men are continually at work keeping it in repair.

American highway experts employed by the Chinese government have succeeded in improving the worst grades and turns and providing better drainage for protection against washouts. But at best it is a difficult trail with trucks averaging 12 miles per hour during the first season it was open. It takes a week or more to make the 726-mile trip.

Doubt is often expressed whether such a hazardous artery can be of vital importance in keeping a nation of hundreds of millions supplied in time of war. The Japanese claim that, at most, 10,000 tons of freight can be moved a month—equivalent to the cargo space of a couple of tramp freighters. Neutral observers tend to confirm that during the first season of operation this figure was not exceeded.

There Are Two Answers

There are two answers. The first is that most of the munitions and arms China now is using in her guerrilla warfare are being manufactured in scattered arsenals in China, largely from Chinese materials. The second is that imports and exports are rigidly limited to concentrated essentials and therefore 10,000 tons a month can be siginficant.

Furthermore, the psychological and financial effects of the opening of the road are of the greatest importance. American and British loans to the Chinese government are vital in sustaining that country's credit and ability to carry on the war. They are usually repaid by Chinese exports of concentrated antimony, tungsten and tin ore and tung oil for paint. With these products continually moving out, China's credit can be maintained.

The import traffic is equally essential to China. In addition to precision arms and plane parts which cannot be made in China, the principal need is gasoline. Reports from China show that shortage of gasoline comes nearer to crippling China's war effort than any other lack. China's air force and a large share of her military and civilian transport system depend upon gasoline. Only a trickle of inferior motor fuel made from vegetables is produced in China itself.

James O. Richardson Vowed He'd Show 'Em How Southern Boys Could Go And Now He Is In Command Of United States Fleet

By MAX BOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Admiral James O. Richardson had a pretty smart father.

When the admiral was a boy in Texas, getting ready to enter the United States naval academy at Annapolis, his father told him:

"Son, you can't expect to compete with those Northern boys in the Naval academy. There's something about this Texas sun that dries up your brain!"

Made His Blood Boil

That was enough to make young Richardson's Southern blood boil. He was proud of his Southern father (hadn't he been a captain in the Confederate army?) and he was glad to be descended from the Alabama Richardsons and the South Carolina Fosters.

He would show them at Annapolis!

He did, of course, graduating fifth in a class of 59.

And he kept showing them years after the idea of sectional rivalry had left his mind. Until, last January 6, his four-star red pennant went up on the flagship Pennsylvania.

Assumes Highest Command

That meant he had assumed the Navy's highest sea command—commander of the United States fleet.

Few fellow officers begrudged big hearty Admiral Richardson the job. It was a tough assignment, for one thing, with Europe in flames and no one knew what international complication around the corner. And, anyway, most of the navy liked him.

The 61-year-old Texan (he'll soon be 62) has had a well-rounded preparation, afloat and ashore.

Entering the Naval academy during the Spanish-American war, he participated in the Philippine campaign and was navigator and later executive officer of the battleship Nevada during the World war.

After the war he commanded the South China patrol, and in more recent years was budget officer of the Navy department, chief of the bureau of navigation and commander of the battle force.

He has two hobbies: gardening and cooking.

More Than 75 Aliens Register

More than 75 aliens have registered through the Lubbock postoffice since the Alien Registration act went into effect late in August and as many more application blanks have been handed out to others, according to Postmaster Amos Howard.

One clerk gives a considerable portion of his time daily to the work of registering aliens.

The greater portion of those who register are Mexicans and majority are Lubbock residents, the postmaster said. Not very many transients have shown up here, he added, leading him to believe that transient cotton pickers have been registered in towns before reaching the South Plains area.

Mexicans Are Willing

"Mexicans are willing and anxious to register," the postmaster said. "They take out the papers to have them correctly filled out and seem to be ready to give all information asked."

Several Canadians have been recorded, as well as some English residents. One man gave his native country as Ireland, another Greece. There are natives of France, Denmark, Holland and Italy, but no Chinese or Japanese have appeared here.

Instances Are Cited

The postmaster said he was asked by a man apparently 35 or 40, whether he should register or not. The man said he came to this country when a boy of eleven and that his father applied for citizenship papers, but died before they were completed. "I had always thought of myself as an American citizen and have voted," he told the postmaster. "Now I wonder if I am."

Also a married woman asked Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy U. S. court clerk, who handles naturalization matters, as to her status. She said she was brought to the United States at the age of five months, but that her father did not become a naturalized citizen until after she had become of age.

Told that she was an alien, the woman wanted her father to talk to the clerk about it, but she was told that if those were the correct circumstances, the case was clear, she was an alien. However, as she has married an American citizen, she may make application for her second papers, without the formality of making her first application and then waiting two years before making the second application.

Agreement Is Reached On Mexican Payment

Growing Boom In War Goods Seen In Malaya; Workers' Pay Hiked

BY DAVIE S. WAITE
United Press Correspondent

SINGAPORE, Oct. 12 — Heavy United States purchases of tin and rubber to build up emergency reserves of these two essential commodities have brought about close to capacity production in Malaya's two chief industries and created a boom here.

In addition to supplying Britain with needed tin and rubber, increased Malayan sales of these two commodities to the United States has provided the British war-chest with American dollars to purchase United States planes on the "cash and carry" basis

Malaya has often been referred to as the empire's "dollar arsenal" because sales of rubber and tin to the United States, far in excess of imports of American goods, provide an excellent cash balance in the form of U. S. currency, made available to Great Britain under the exchange control regulations.

Vital Work Stressed

Acting Gov. S. W. Jones recently acknowledged the vital role this area plays in the empire's war effort when he told rubber and tin workers that their job was just as important for an eventual British victory as was the work of Britons in the home munitions and aircraft factories.

Although statistics for 1940 indicate a considerable expansion of trade with America, these are not as yet complete. In 1939, however, ocean shipments of Malayan produce and re-exports of imported rubber to the United States totaled nearly 300,000 tons, out of exports totaling 555,000 tons. Shipments of tin to America last year amounted to 56,800 tons out of total shipments from Malaya of 86,000 tons. In terms of U. S. dollars, this meant sales to America exceeding purchases by more than $12,200,000 each month.

Although the Dutch East Indies supply much rubber and tin for the United States, a large proportion of the total passes through Singapore, which is the largest trans-shipment center for the Malayan region.

Large Dividends Declared

The increased wartime demand for tin and rubber has produced a wave of prosperity in Malaya. Tin and rubber producing companies have declared large interim dividends and there have been "boomlets" on the stock markets.

Prosperity has been extended to most classes of the community. Wages have been increased to meet the greater wartime cost of living. The middle classes and those in the high salary levels have invested their increased income in war loans and war savings certificates. More than $20,000,000 has been raised as a war loan in Malaya, and the money loan will be out of additional taxation.

Authoritative circles in Singapore believe that tin and rubber will provide two of the vital keys to victory for the British Empire. The European blockade prevents tin or rubber reaching Germany or Italy direct and which might be re-exported to Germany via Siberia. It is felt that the blockade leak which formerly existed because small quantities of essential raw materials were reaching Germany via Vladivostok has been sealed now.

Lubbock County Dairy Herds Above Texas Average In Milk Production Tests

Seven Herds Are On Honor Roll

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Four herds of the Lubbock County Dairy Herd Improvement association made the highest production records of milk and 22 cows averaged more than 50 pounds each of butterfat during the month, D. M. Carrell, fieldman, reported in his third monthly statement of work done by the association. The four herds averaged more than 30 pounds butterfat per animal and more than 575 pounds of milk per animal, for the month.

The association has 11 members and they had during the month 320 animals on test. Average production was 577 pounds of milk, and 29.7 pounds of butterfat; 66 animals produced more than 40 pounds butterfat for the month, 21 per cent of the cows exceeded 40 pounds butterfat each.

State Average 499 Pounds

"The state average for Texas in August was 499 pounds of milk or 23 pounds butterfat, for herds under test," Carrell pointed out. "But 9.5 per cent of the cows under test produced that amount of butterfat. I think our average for September is very good, compared with the state average for the previous month."

High herds were Frank French, 19 cows under test, 864 pounds of milk produced or 38.8 pounds butterfat per cow; Carrell, 10 cows under test, 744 pounds of milk produced or 36.9 pounds butterf ; B. C. Wells 44 cows under test, 633 pounds of milk average production or 31.3 pounds butterfat; S. J. Paschall, 57 cows under test, 581 pounds of milk or 30.5 pounds butterfat.

Seven Herds On Honor Roll

Seven of the 11 herds on test were included in the honor roll of 22 animals producing more than 50 pounds butterfat in September.

They were with production: French, four cows, 57, 53.4, 60.7 and 55.7 pounds; Mrs. J. J. Smith of Plainview, one, 50.1 pounds; Wells, three cows, 55.5, 50.6 and 56.5 pounds; Texas Technological college, two cows, 51.7 and 77.9 pounds; Clayson Fuller, two cows, 60.1 and 60.9 pounds; Paschall, four cows, 50.3, 54, 54, 75.4 and 60.5 pounds; Carrell, tow cows, 50.8 and 56.8 pounds; R. L. Burdette, four cows, 63.3, 68.6, 56 and 65.2 pounds.

In addition there were five heifers, with a first calf that made good production records; Mrs. Smith, one heifer with 597 pounds of milk and 37.6 pounds butterfat; Wells, three, 678 pounds of milk and 35.3 pounds butterfat; 615 pounds milk and 36.9 pounds butterfat; 792 pounds milk and 38 pounds butterfat; Paschall, one, 1,104 pounds milk and 60.7 pounds butterfat.

Carrell, a Texas A&M graduate and widely experienced in cowtesting work, began his duties with the Lubbock group July 1, coming here from Plainview. He devotes only a portion of his time to testing, giving the rest to his own breeding work, having a small registered Jersey herd, which he is building up. He is located near Lubbock.

Well and Carrell were two new exhibitors at the recent Panhandle-South Plains fair and placed in the money, in their first year.

Government Aims Hard Blow At Nation's Oil Companies

By BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12— Don't let anybody tell you the defense commission pulled the teeth of that anti-trust suit against the oil companies. The government is taking just as big a full-armed swing against the companies as originally planned. Only difference is that the fist is being wrapped in velvet.

Originally, the suit asked that the companies be forced to divest themselves of their marketing facilities and their pipelines. Now, as modified at the urgent request of the defense commission, the suit merely mentions trade restraints and asks for "such relief as the court may deem proper."

Modification Meaningless

Point is that this modification is meaningless. The government may still present the same evidence it had originally planned to present and shoot for the same kind of decree it was originally after. As one lawyer remarks:

"When I was in law school, I remember my professor telling me: 'Next to the Lord's prayer, the most important prayer in the world is that one for such relief as the court may deem proper.' That lets you get anything in the world."

Equally important is the fact that the mere filing of the suit paves the way for congressional action on Senator Gillette's suit to divorce the oil companies from their marketing facilities and pipelines by force of law. Such bills have been introduced before; they always failed, largely because Congress refused to interest itself in any alleged combination which the anti-trust division hadn't acted against.

Gentle Reminder

Centering of attention on the excess profits tax bill may have led you to overlook the fact that Congress had previously voted substantially higher income taxes for you for next year. Before the excess profits tax bill was even heard of, Congress had upped the rates pretty thoroughly on personal income taxes.

Here's a rough outline of the change that is in store.

This year, a married man with $2500 of net income paid nothing; next year he will pay $11. Changes in other brackets are as follows:

Earned income	Tax last year	Tax next year
$ 3,000	$ 8	$ 30.80
4,000	44	70.40
5,000	80	110.00
10,000	415	528.00
20,000	1589	2336.40

The law lowers personal exemptions and hikes surtaxes. It also slaps on a 10 per cent increase for defense purposes.

Tipsy Trade

Commerce Department figures show the freakish things the war is doing to U. S. export trade. American trade with the occupied or belligerent countries of Europe (not including England) has practically ceased; yet total trade to Europe is far above pre-war totals.

Take the month of August as a fair sample. In August of this year American exporters sold practically nothing to Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands and Norway; sales to Spain fell to $800,000, as compared with $2,400,000 for August, 1939, and sales to Sweden fell from $5,700,000 to $1,800,000; sales to Switzerland practically vanished (they totaled exactly $71) and sales to Portugal went up only by $400,000.

Yet total sales to "Europe" rose to $143,700,000—more than $30,000,000 over the figure for August, 1939. Russia's purchases went up only by $6,100,000.

The answer? England is now buying in a volume more than great enough to make up for all the war losses.

London Bridge carries about 2400 trains every day.

Higher Income On Farms Seen

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 — Prediction that the Texas farmers' income for 1940 will exceed that of 1939 despite a $19,035,000 slump for the first eight months of the year, has been voiced by a University of Texas economist.

Dr. F. A. Buechel, statistician and assistant director of the University's Bureau of Business Research anticipated substantial gains in the cotton income of Texas over a year ago during remaining cotton marketing months.

Livestock Income Up

He pointed out that the livestock income for August was well above that of August last year, and that this margin of gain will probably be maintained during the flush marketing season of September and October.

"Because of the excellent conditions in which cattle will be placed on the market," Dr. Buechel added, "the favorable price level and the probable increase in numbers marketed, income from livestock for the rest of the year is likely to be well above that of the same period last year."

Income Lower Thus Far

Total income for the state for the first eight months of 1940 was $188,713,000, as compared with $207,748,000 for the first eight months of 1939.

Income for the various agricultural districts in the state, computed by the Bureau, follows. District 1-N centers around Amarillo, 1-S around Lubbock, 2 around Wichita Falls and Abilene, 3 around Mineral Wells, 4 around Fort Worth and Dallas, 5 around Tyler and Marshall, 6 around El Paso, 7 around San Angelo, 8 around San Antonio, Austin and Corpus Christi, 9 around Houston and Galveston, 10 and 10-A around Brownsville.

Boulder, Utah Comes Of Age

BOULDER, Utah, Oct. 12. (U.P.) — Boulder is an easy-going town.

It is only just now the people have decided to buy the lots they have been living on these many years.

Boulder began is existence as the most isolated community in Utah, and when people in Escalante, 35 miles away, heard about it, they packed up and moved in.

Wasn't Really Town

Boulder wasn't really a town until 1923 when President Harding declared it a township. The President set up 130 acres of public domain for Boulder.

However — no one ever bothered to have a survey made. The people just lived here.

In 1932 register of the Federal land office in Utah, Eli Taylor, suggested that to make it legal the people get together and have the town marked off in lots and pay $10 each for them.

The survey is now made.

Soon, A. S. Brown, register of the land office, will come down to Boulder to sell the people the lots they have been living on since the town started.

Actually An Auction

It is actually an auction — but nobody is expected to create a real estate uproar. Present residents of the land will be given priority on that land.

The Federal government still doesn't understand Boulder very well, though. Brown's order read that he should proceed to the sale "by rail and Pullman."

But he won't do that.

Things just aren't done that way in Boulder. In fact, it's only just recently that a car could make the trip.

The common pack mule was the only means of entrance to Boulder for many years. The few passenger automobiles which were brought in had to be dismantled, packed in, and reassembled on the inside.

Now CCC enrollees have connected the town with the outside via roadway.

Boulder is about one house wide and 10 miles long. The chief industry is livestock.

Relief is non-existent in Boulder. The one relief client recently wrote state relief headquarters that he no longer needs relief.

Woman Is Awarded 15 Cents More Than She Asked In Suit

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (AP) — A circuit court jury awarded Mrs. Bernice Peacock, 34, a judgment of $1,000.15—15 cents more than she asked for in her suit against a chain grocery store.

She complained that a clerk accused her of stealing three tomatoes which she had purchased at another store. In the ensuing tussle the tomatoes were squashed. She sued for $1,000, the charges including false arrest, false imprisonment and slander.

The jury awarded $1,000 for embarrassment suffered and 15 cents for the loss of the tomatoes.

Death Opens Gates For Aged Prisoner

CANON CITY, Colo. Oct. 12. (U.P.)—Death has opened the prison gates for John Cox and ended one of the most singular cases in the colorful annals of Colorado crime.

"Old John," or "the Professor," as he was known to the younger prisoners at the Colorado State penitentiary, now lies buried in a pine box on Woodpecker Hill, the prison cemetery, forgotten by relatives, if any are living, and ignored by friends.

He had spent 44 of his 88 years in the prison and was the oldest inmate both in years and time served. His number was 4,307, whereas present numbers are in the 20,000s.

Run Of Prison

In good health until two weeks before his death, "Old John" had the run of the prison and spent his time urging discipline to the younger convicts and pointing to his own broken life as evidence that crime never pays.

An old injury to his toes, which caused their amputation some time ago, began bothering him and he was taken to the prison hospital. Blood poisoning resulted and his left leg was amputated just below the knee. One Sunday morning when he appeared to be recovering, he turned over to go to sleep. His heart failed and he died.

"Old John" had murdered three men and once was sentenced to die.

In 1892 when he was 32 he was prospecting in Fremont county. He quarreled with another prospector and when the quarrel was over the prospector was dead, as was a spectator to the shooting.

"When I killed that man at Altman, he was going for his iron," Cox said at his trial.

Legal records have been dimmed by time but it is believed his death sentence for the murder was commuted. He was granted a pardon in 1895 by the late Gov. Albert W. McIntire.

Two years later, on a June night, Cox engaged in an argument with Robert Daily, a miner, in a saloon in Cripple Creek, most famous of Colorado's early gold mining towns. Daily was shot and killed and despite Cox's self-defense plea, he was sentenced to life.

The world moved rapidly ahead while "Old John" served time for his third murder. He saw airplanes fly overhead but never saw one close up. Street cars were even less familiar to him for he never saw one.

A Model Prisoner

Since automobiles were used for prison transportation, he had seen that type of conveyance.

"He was a model prisoner," Warden Roy Best said. "Old John realized he had wasted his life and tried to convey to the young men coming into the prison that crime, no matter how profitable temporarily, never pays in the long run."

"Old John's" last wish never was granted.

"It was his wish," said Best, "that he might be able to die outside penitentiary walls. But under the circumtsances it was impossible to grant that wish. He had asked many times, and been refused pardons. When he became ill there was nothing to do but confine him to the hospital. He died there peacefully enough. Just rolled over to sleep and never awakened."

Only $500 was collected this year as compared with $4,000 on the first day last year, tax collector-assessor Clay Henry said.

"The Howards Of Virginia" Is Great Story At Palace

Hollywood On The Loose..

Ellen Drew Back As Waitress But She Drags Down Cash

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12—All over the lot: Ellen Drew is right back where she started. Dealing 'em off the arm, I mean. Only now, instead of serving double-pecan strawberry dreams and hot chocolate with lady fingers in a genteel Hollywood sweety shoppy, she's tossing hamburgers with and Java over a lunch-wagon counter to factory hands.

Ellen Drew

There's another important difference, too—Miss Drew now is paid about 50 times her pre-discovery wage. She's billed with Joel McCrea in a picture called "Reaching for the Sun."

Incidentally, this is an adaptation of the novel, "F. O. B. Detroit," which was an indictment of super-efficiency in modern industry. In the movie, though, the heavy will be a relentlessly driving foreman and not the system itself.

Anyway, Miss Drew is working in a lunch wagon near the entrance to the Crane Motor Co. plant. The hired hands keep her hopping with their orders, and hopping mad with their remarks. As a waitress, though, her job is the easiest any girl ever had. The instant a scene is ended, prop men grab and wash the dishes and silver and restore everything to place. Meanwhile a hairdresser and make-up artist restore the actress.

Salutes For Donlevy

AT Randolph and March Fields, where Paramount has filmed most of its air-training picture, "I Wanted Wings," Brian Donlevy constantly was being embarrassed by the salutes of army men.

After awhile, Captain Donlevy tried returning salutes, but that led to a few uncomfortable situations. So finally he tried wearing a neat little sign, saying "ACTOR." That stopped the military saluting, but it started a chorus of Bronx salutes when pictures of Donlevy and his sign reached Hollywood. Ribbers are reminding him the public will decide whether he's an actor, and it isn't going to be influenced—unless perhaps unfavorably—by signs.

Snow--4 Kinds Of It

IT'S still snowing on the set of Orson Welles' "Citizen Kane," and only a statistical press agent could estimate how many tons of uncooked cornflakes have swirled down from the catwalks between the hidden wind machines. It's a remarkable winter scene, even for Hollywood, because they're actually using four kinds of snow.

The cornflakes are for falling flakes, being the only thing that behaves realistically and isn't dangerously dusty. Powdered gypsum, which has just the right sparkle of fresh-fallen snow, covers the large yard by the ton. But gypsum is no good for tracks, so in the area where a child plays, and along the path where people walk, a thick, soft mixture of dry soda and plaster has been placed. This makes fine footprints.

But the boy, Buddy Swann, must throw snowballs, and none of the synthetics is any good for that. So real ice has been ground and crushed into snow, and a couple of barrels of it are kept ready on the sidelines.

Horse Scared Too

THERE'S a scene in "South of Suez" where Lee Patrick is supposed to register frightened surprise at the sudden appearance of George Tobias while she's standing on a porch with George Brent. The latter had ridden to the house, and his horse is standing in camera range.

Lew Seiler, the director, wanted Miss Patrick to be genuinely startled, so he secretly arranged for a prop man to fire a revolver at the instant the actress was supposed to see Tobias. (There wasn't any dialog, so the scene could be filmed without sound.)

It worked fine. Miss Patrick was scared all right, and the director was delighted. Not until next morning, watching the rushes, did he notice that Brent's horse also was frightened by Tobias' appearance. The nag jumped a foot. But the scene will stay in the picture.

REOPENS OFFICE

O'DONNELL, Oct. 12 (Special)—C. E. Brownfield, manager of the B. & F. Bonded warehouse for the past three years, has re-opened the office in the First National bank building.

Approximately 3,500 bales of the 1937 crop are still stored here, he said.

Bennett, Raft Are At Tower

IN retelling the story of the American revolution, answers to many of the problems which beset the world today are supplied in the showing of "The Howards Of Virginia," opening today at the Palace. The screen production, a tender, emotional love story, is based on Elizabeth Page's best-selling novel, "The Tree Of Liberty."

It was for freedom and democracy that "The Howards Of Virginia" fought; Matt Howard, the stalwart, earnest man of the soil portrayed by Cary Grant; Jane Peyton Howard, the gracious, beautiful Virginia belle portrayed by lovely Martha Scott.

Build Home In Wilderness

The two stars appear to perfection in their best roles. Together, they build a home and a family in the wilderness, far from the society into which Jane Peyton was born, far from the governing class whom Matt Howard detests.

But with the passage of time there comes a change in the temper of the people. Jane Peyton's aristocratic family and friends join forces with Matt Howard's untamed frontier neighbors, to drive the British out of America, to set up their own government.

And therein, in that struggle for democracy and freedom, may be found another struggle, the struggle for power. The Peytons argue that they were to the manor born; the Howards insist that majority henceforth shall rule.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Alan Marshal, Richard Carlson and others complete the splendid cast.

New Story Angles

Refreshing new story angles on the prison picture theme are provided in "House Across The Bay," starring Joan Bennett and George Raft, which tops the week's schedule at the Tower.

Raft finds himself in a characteristic role as an underworld biggie happily married to Miss Bennett. Because she fears he will be killed by business rivals, she connives with a double-crossing attorney to have him imprisoned for income tax evasion.

Her loyalty, his discovery of the frameup, and his supreme sacrifice for her happiness furnish the essence of the plot.

Walter Pidgeon, Gladys George, Lloyd Nolan, Peggy Shannon and June Knight are others of the cast.

Ann Sothern and Lee Bowman, aided and abetted by Slim Summerville and Virginia Weidler pull out plenty of hilarious comedy in "Gold Rush Maisie," which starts today at the Texan.

Miss Sothern is in fine fettle with her wisecracks and timely homilies in the Arizona desert.

En route to a cafe singing job in a small Arizona town, her jallopy breaks down and leaves her adrift on the desert. Lee Bowman, as a young ranch owner, comes to her rescue but withdraws his welcome when she dodges his advances. His hired hand, played by Summerville, disapproves of women's influence around the home, anyway, and both he and Bowman disapprove more than ever when Maisie returns with a whole family of itinerant crop-followers who have turned gold prospectors.

Sophisticated film fare, with a tender romance woven in, is promised theater-goers at the Cactus today with "Remember The Night."

The leading roles are carried by Barbara Stanwyck and Fred MacMurray and the featured cast includes Beulah Bondi, Elizabeth Patterson and Sterling Holloway.

The story concerns itself with the efforts of a hard-boiled and ambitious young district attorney, played by MacMurray, to slap a calloused and beautiful lady thief, Miss Stanwyck, into the clink.

MacMurray has a good case and it looks like a trip to the Big House for Barbara, only the trial comes up the day before Christmas and you know how juries are on the day before Christmas, especially when the defendant is young and beautiful.

So, to save his case, Fred asks for a continuance until after the holidays. Then, the season being what it is, he goes bail for the girl to save her from spending her Christmas in jail. He finds her on his hands and there follows a series of situations and adventures which hits a new high in jolliy, winding up with the D. A. pleading for the girl's hand and begging her to jump bail.

CAR IS DESTROYED

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 12 (Special)—Believed to have caught fire from a shorted dome light, the car of Roy Herod, city secretary, was destroyed this week.

With the exception of tires and the engine, the car was a total loss.

The foot of a horse is an enlarged third toe, and compares to the third finger of the human hand.

Joe E. Brown Steals Laugh Laurels In New Dual Role

'Favorite Wife' Opens At Lyric

"FUNNIER than ever" is a familiar phrase where Joe E. Brown is concerned. But the fact is, according to advance notices, his newest picture, "So You Won't Talk," which opens today at the Broadway, is just that.

Brown comes in this picture in a dual role. As a timid book critic, Joe is bearded and be-spectacled; as an underworld baron, he is tight-lipped and sinister.

When the timid little book reviewer gets fired from his job and, persuaded that his inferiority complex is the cause of it all, decides to change his personality, he shaves off his beard and buys a new suit of clothes. He fails to realize that he is the cause of the confusion in the barber shop when his beardless visage pops into the view of several gentlemen reading of the ex-convict; he is forcibly brought to understand his anomolous position when gangsters kidnap him, thinking him their former henchman.

Joe E. Brown, playing the gang leader as well, thus is able to introduce a new note in his splendid film career. He plays not only "straight," the tightlipped and humorless mobster, but also the frightened little man, enmeshed in situations beyond his understanding, playing a part he doesn't like. Because "So You Won't Talk?" complicates matters beautifully, with Joe E. Brown appearing not only as gangster and as pedant, but also as gangster playing pedant and pedant playing gangster. Involved? Sure, but hectically and hilariously so!

Frances Robinson is a lovely young feminine lead in the new film, with important comedy parts also played by Vivienne Osborne, Tom Dugan and Bernard Nedell.

Irene Dunne and Cary Grant are brought back to the city today in gay and sophisticated comedy at the Lyric in "My Favorite Wife."

A large share of the success of the picture is the breezy film story which is provided. Miss Dunne is cast as a wife presumably lost at sea whose husband, Grant, has her declared legally dead after seven years absence and then marries Gail Patrick.

The newlyweds no sooner depart on their honeymoon than the first wife returns, very much alive. She was rescued from an uncharted Pacific island on which she had been marooned all these years with Randolph Scott, portraying a handsome scientist.

She overtakes the honeymooners at a Yosemite hotel, and presents herself to her startled husband. Unable to blurt out the truth to his bride, Grant tries to keep his first wife hidden—with some hilarious and disastrous complications.

Vivienne Osborne and Joe E. Brown, as they appear in "So You Won't Talk," current at the Broadway.

Irene Dunne and Cary Grant are at the Lyric in "My Favorite Wife," starting today.

"Till We Meet Again" Given First Spot On Tech's Bill

Jane Withers Is At Arcadia

GLAMOR of shipboard life with a wonderful romance is provided in "Till We Meet Again," co-starring George Brent and Merle Oberon, which tops the week's program at the Tech theater.

The part of the detective in the picture has been built up to where Pat O'Brien runs a close third to the principals.

Ending Is Puzzling

The ending is one over which audiences will puzzle considerably and it somewhat relieves the strain of being forced to believe that the story ends most unhappily.

The plot finds Miss Oberon and Brent meeting in a bar in Hong Kong, where they fall in love. But as Brent leaves, O'Brien captures him and tells him he will bring him back to the U. S. where he is under a death sentence. It is then learned that Merle suffers from angina pectoris and is given but a few months to live. They are on the same boat along with Frank McHugh and Binnie Barnes, Brent's friends. Their romance progresses as neither lets the other know their fate.

With the help of his friends Brent escapes at Honolulu, but daring not to disappoint Merle, spends the day in the country with her. When he wants to leave her she faints and he carries her back to the boat, certain to be recaptured. At the end of the voyage she learns of his fate but doesn't tell him she knows. They have agreed to meet in Mexico City on New Year's eve and the end leaves the audience in doubt as to whether they do or not.

Another Double Feature

It's another double feature program at the Arcadia today, first with "Checkers," starring Jane Withers and then "Lost Squadron," with Richard Dix, Mary Astor and Joel McCrea.

In "Checkers," Jane is ably supported by such players as Stuart Erwin and Una Merkel.

The story finds Erwin, a lovable, procrastinating, small-time race horse owner and his niece, Jane, barnstorming the tracks in summer with his single horse. They return each winter to the farm of Miss Merkel, who would marry him if he would quit racing.

They add Marin Stephens, a kid jockey, to their entourage. With the season's end they return with their horse's leg broken. Minor Watson, a small town dentist, experiments with a new type plastic splint on it. With Miss Merkel likely to marry the town banker, Erwin plants oil on her pond to convince her he was after her money. She mortgages the places to drill, which the banker assumes. Jane plans a trick to win the big race, pay off the mortgage and settle the romance.

California Professor Discharged As 'Red'

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 12 (AP) — Kenneth May, University of California faculty member whose father disowned him for being a Communist, was summarily discharged today by the university regents, who said his beliefs and faculty position were "incompatible."

The discharge, effective immediately, was announced after a three-hour session of the regents who questioned the 24-year-old mathematics teaching assistant.

Young May's father, Prof. Samuel C. May of the university's business administration department, announced Sept. 24 that because he was "bitterly opposed to Communism" and was "in complete disagreement" with his son, he had disowned and disinherited him.

The discharged assistant accused the regents of showing "their disregard for our democratic form of government by denying my right to belong to a legally recognized political party."

Action To Bar Scrap Iron Loading Asked

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 12 (AP) —The Jacksonville city commission has asked President Roosevelt to "take appropriate action" to stop two Greek freighters now in port from loading scrap iron for Japan.

The vessels, the Anna M. Goulandris and the Evi Livanos, are racing to load and sail before the midnight Tuesday deadline on scrap shipments.

Alfalfa first was known in central and southwestern Asia, and was introduced in the United States from Chile in 1854.

"Ghosts" Of Lost Ships Find Haven; Old Relics Fill Home Of Carolina Woman

NAG'S HEAD, N. C., Oct. 12 (U.P.) —Mrs. Rida Hollowell, a smiling little woman with white hair, lives with a hundred ghosts, but all of them are friendly.

To look at Mrs. Hollowell, one would think that water colors or china painting might be her hobby, but as a matter of fact, she is more interested in shipwrecks than anything else. And it is the "ghosts" of these sunken ships she collects.

Combs The Beach

For years she has lived on this wreck-strewn coast, the "Graveyard of the Atlantic," and has combed a hundred miles of beach for relics from broken ships. Her collection is unsurpassed.

The Hollowell Cottage, known as "The Wreckage," contains at least one relic of every major shipwreck that has occurred from Norfolk, Va., to Ocracoke since the battleship Huron broke upon the Diamond Shoals in 1877.

In addition, there are hundreds of items from wrecks all over the Atlantic which eventually are washed ashore in this section of the Carolina outer banks.

The outside of the cottage is covered with the nameplates taken from wrecked ships. All the steps to the porch were used at sea. There is even a rope ladder running to the second floor, "just in case the boys want to slip away for a late date," Mrs. Hollowell explains.

At the front of the house is a huge ship's wheel, while a flying eagle figurehead extends over the yard. Lights, hammocks and porch furniture all came from boats. The usual greeting there is "come aboard," rather than "come in."

From Different Ships

Inside the house salvaged wreckage is found everywhere and collectors become excited when they see the pieces in the china cupboard. Each is from a different ship. In one of the rooms is the prize—a well-worn wooden figurehead believed to have come from the famous clipper ship, Flying Cloud.

The walls of the cottage are covered with flags, maps and guns. Every corner has its quota of souvenirs, including ships' medicine chests, and visiting doctors spend hours pouring over their contents. Logbooks and ship's papers delight historians.

El Paso Solon Freed On $2500 Bond

EL PASO, Oct. 12 (U.P.) — State Rep. Harold Hankamer, found guilty of conversion of funds from an estate of which he was administrator, was free today on $2500 bond.

Judge W. D. Howe, 34th district court, sentenced Hankamer to serve from two to three years in the penitentiary late yesterday and at the same time issued an order disbarring the attorney.

Execution of the orders was delayed 75 days, however, pending action of the court of criminal appeals on a defense notice of an appeal after motion for a new trial had been overruled.

Here's Today's Movie Test

By ROBBIN COONS

1. The next movie of this young lady (in picture) will be "Golden Hoofs," story of trotter-racing. (a) Who is she? (b) In what other picture was she concerned with horseflesh? (c) With what actor-orchestra leader, husband of a well-known star, will she be teamed in "Golden Hoofs?"

2. What are "soundies"—and the son of what politically prominent man is producing them?

3. Musical pictures and others have brought a number of popular orchestra leaders to Hollywood. Can you name three?

4. What in common have the author of "All This and Heaven Too," the author of "Who Killed Aunt Maggie?" and the young actress fiancee of Richard Greene?

5. If you've been up on your movie news, you ought to know: (a) What leading man has settled his difficulties with Paramount and will co-star with Mary Martin in "Kiss the Boys Goodbye?" (b) What famous playwright and scenarist, author of "The Great Ziegfeld," died recently? (c) What dramatics teacher, ex-wife of a famous movie star, has asked to have her maiden name restored?

Loretta Young And Richard Greene Top "Kentucky" Cast

Loretta Young and Richard Greene are the stars of "Kentucky," current attraction at the Midway.

Joel McCrea and Richard Dix have the leading roles in "Lost Squadron," showing today at the Arcadia.

Racing Feature Is At Midway

THE bluegrass country with its glorious tradition furnishes the background, and the famed Kentucky derby the climax in the picture, "Kentucky," which opens today at the Midway theater.

Loretta Young and Richard Greene head the fine cast of the production which also includes Walter Brennan.

Bitter Feud Starts

The outbreak of the Civil war forms what might almost be termed a prologue to the story. It establishes a feud between the houses of Dillion and Goodwin, which continues through all the years that follow up to the present time.

Then Jack Dillion, played by Richard Greene, returns from an eight-year stay in England and falls in love with Sally Goodwin (Loretta Young).

Shortly after his return home, Jack gets into a quarrel with his father and leaves home. He looks for a job at the Goodwin stables as a trainer and, since they don't know he is a Dillion, gets it. The romance between Jack and Sally starts that day.

Sally's father dies suddenly and she and her Uncle Peter (Brennan), are forced to sell everything at auction, keeping only Sally's horse.

Old Wager Revealed

One day, by mere chance, a note is discovered in which Goodwin had won a wager from the elder Dillion allowing him to pick any two-year-old in the Dillion stable.

The horse is selected and entered in the Kentucky Derby, with the Dillion entry a favorite in the field.

The derby itself, with a hundred thousand spectators shouting, supplies the climax after the romance between Jack and Sally appears to be on the rocks when she discovers his real identity.

Another War, Over Tobacco, Has Europe Agog; Neutrals Worried

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Tobacco, the equalizer that made World war enemies leave their trenches for unofficial armistices in "no man's land," has taken an important role in the present European war.

An Agriculture department foreign report discloses that European belligerents have been scrambling for the crops of small neutrals, accessible to all sides, bargaining with offers of important defense materials and possibly implied threats.

Germany, in an effort to counteract the effect of the British blockade on its tobacco supply, has acted to turn conquered Poland into a major source of this commodity. Stringent restrictions on tobacco preparation and sale have been imposed in countries under German control.

Polish Crop Large

"Extensive investigations made by German agencies in the section of Poland occupied by Germany," the report said, "indicate that the region can supply about 75 per cent of its cigarette tobacco requirements," according to information in a recent issue of the South German Tobacco Gazette. Approximately 4,400 acres of flue-cured leaf were grown in the area in 1940 as compared with about 2,200 in 1939.

The report added that more than half of Bulgaria's 1939 crop of 88,000,000 pounds would be purchased by Germany and that Soviet Russia was purchasing large stocks in exchange for iron bars to be used as reinforcements for concrete construction.

Germany also bought 41,000,000 pounds of Greek tobacco, on a financing arrangement whereby German buyers put up 10 per cent of the cost and Greek banks and merchants the remainder.

German Payment Advanced

The foreign office said it had been reported, however, that payment of the entire cost of German agencies was to be made before delivery.

At the same time the Agriculture department's observers saw indications that Great Britain was seeking to increase the tobacco output of the empire and relieve dependency on foreign purchases.

Growers in Australia were reportedly attempting to double their acreage and output immediately.

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel counselled Texans to seriously consider the future highway needs of the state so that Texas will continue to grow and prosper.

The admonition was in a proclamation designating highway week from Dec. 2 to 6, inclusive, and asking citizens to take inventory of "manifold blessings" brought them by highways.

An "International Buzzard" Offers A Deal; GOP Claims Poll Results "Baloney"

Italy Would Bribe U. S.

But We Don't Deal With Buzzards

MAGNANIMOUS indeed was the gesture of generosity by Italy toward this nation the other day. Touching was the concern of Italians for the welfare of Americans.

If Uncle Sam will do as Italy wants him to do, according to the dispatches from Rome, then Italy will give him Canada, Newfoundland, Australia, New Zealand and various other pieces of real estate scattered here and there over the globe. But if Uncle Sam doesn't do as Italy wants, then, by George, Italy is going to see to it that he (Uncle Sam) commits suicide!

This was the perfect example of Benito promising to give Uncle Sam just about everything that John Bull owns. It was the absolute acme of complete generosity with everything that belongs to someone else.

But there might be some questions—perhaps minor questions—in connection with this typically Italian gesture.

In the first place, if Italy isn't the biggest international liar on the globe, it will serve until the biggest—Germany—comes along. In the second place, the property involved isn't Italy's to give. In the third, it isn't likely to be. In the fourth, the people in those territories might have something to say about how they are used. In the fifth, Uncle Sam doesn't want them.

But there was one significant point in all this Italian promising. There was talk about Canada, New Zealand, Australia and various other places.

But did you notice that not a word was said about South America? Could there be proof more positive than the silence on this point of the direction toward which Italian and Axis eyes are turned and in which they intend to move if and when they finish their brigandage in Europe?

The promises were more than a cheap attempt from an utterly unreliable source to bribe this nation to discontinue aid to Britain. It sought to exact an unspoken pledge from us that we would not interfere if attempt should be made to invade this hemisphere.

Of course, the so-called "promises" will be ignored. They would be ignored even if they came from some nation other than a proved international welcher, bandit and buzzard.

Dickens Sets An Example

CITIZENS of the live little town of Dickens set an excellent example the other day when they contributed a total of 1,000 bricks to the "give-a-brick" campaign for West Texas Museum association.

The contribution was the equivalent of more than two bricks for every person who resides in Dickens.

Furthermore, the gift was a demonstration of the realization that West Texas Museum, although located in Lubbock, is not primarily a Lubbock institution. It is just what its name suggests. It is an institution for the whole of West Texas. It was created for the purpose of attempting—and in which it is succeeding with astonishing success—of assembling and preserving for generations to come those things which will combine into a picture of everything that West Texas means. It is attempting to gather before they are gone forever those things that will perpetuate the memory of a frontier West Texas which has almost passed.

Other towns could well follow the example of Dickens. It would give them more of a personal interest in something that is theirs. Likewise, it would mean a quick crowning with success of the "give-a-brick" campaign.

The One Minute Sermon

For verily I say unto you, That whosoever shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith.

Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and shall ye have them.—St. Mark 11; 23 and 24.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

London's Anti-Aircraft Guns Still Powerless Against Night Raids

But Their Barrages Keep Spirits Up

BY PAUL MANNING
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 12—Two hours in London's Hyde Park and another hour on the Thames embankment opposite the giant power station convinces one that the new anti-aircraft defenses of this city are still woefully inadequate against the German airplanes bombing London by night.

From midnight to 3 in the morning recently I watched the ground artillery in Hyde Park and along the Thames throw barrage after barrage into the sky in attempts either to hit or to drive off lone raiders.

In one instance, a German plane was forced to veer from its course, but not for long. The pilot merely executed a great circle and returned to drop 20 incendiary bombs. They landed near three apartment buildings and along the Park's edge, and they started fires which became beacons, turning the area almost to daylight brightness.

Before fast-working police and firemen could smother the flames with sand, the light guided a German plane back to the spot. It released a bomb which scored a direct hit on one of the apartment buildings. The force of the explosion was so great that the six-story building was demolished. Windows were shattered for blocks.

GUNS BOLSTER MORALE

STANDING in the shadow of the Marble Arch one could judge the general ineffectiveness of the anti-aircraft guns because it was easy to spot single German planes as they criss-crossed each other's path. They flew some 15,000 feet in the sky, above the shell bursts (which resembled exploding stars) that followed each plane in the heavens from one end of the city to the other.

The shells never quite seemed to catch up with the planes. Despite the use of more and bigger guns and a system of predicting a plane's future position without searchlights, the number of German planes brought down during the hours I watched was—zero.

It was reported, however, that earlier in the evening three planes had been hit by the barrage.

It was the same story down on the Thames embankment. Anti-aircraft guns threw tons of steel into the sky from midnight to 3 in the morning, yet this proved no obstacle to a bomber which suddenly dropped down in a quick thrust and unloaded a large bomb.

Despite this general inability to hit airplanes flying in broken formations at night, London's anti-aircraft barrage is valuable if only for its effect on the population.

Night after night, most of the 10,000,000 people of this city huddle into air raid shelters while German planes bomb the city. And when the anti-aircraft guns stopped firing for many hours on several recent nights because searchlights could not pierce the layers of heavy clouds to allow gunners to draw a bead on the planes overhead, something resembling a wave of despair swept over many people.

The Home Defense chiefs immediately regeared the anti-aircraft strategy of London. All available guns in the London area were ordered by commanding officers to fire what communiques and newspapers here later termed a "screen of lead."

"A HYMN OF BLESSED RELIEF"

THE reaction was spontaneous throughout the city. Morale rose to a new high.

British lion still stands defiant over doorway to London brewery blasted to bits by German bombs.

This is how the library of the London Temple, a center of English legal profession looked after being hit.

And when I toured two representative public air raid shelters to see if there was any reverting back to the feeling of general helplessness at England's inability to strike back, I found morale still good.

In one place, beneath a modern department store, most people who packed the shelter were of the opinion that the anti-aircraft guns (which were firing the new screen of lead during the long night hours) were saving the day.

In another shelter, which dur-

"'Mr. President,' I'd say to him, 'you may know all about these European affairs, but where was you when the levee busted and my hogs had cholera?'"

Defense Boss For Willkie

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

CONFIDENTIAL reports on the mechanics of the Gallup and other supposedly nonpartisan polls give cheer to the Republicans. From their private advices the GOP believes that the galloping doctor may be as discredited next month as the Literary Digest was four years ago.

Doctor Gallup, according to the GOP-ers, does not sound out the lower strata of voters, who are reluctant to reveal their political sentiment. For obvious reasons the Italians, the Germans and the Irish are refusing to be polled. Therefore, according to our most astute politicos, the Gallup poll gives no true forecast of how the people will vote on November 5th. Gallup gets only the upper crust!

Take the State of Ohio, for instance. Mr. Gallup gives that to FDR by a 52-48 percentage over Wendell Willkie. But the Columbus Dispatch statewide poll, which has usually hit the nail on the head, shows Mr. Willkie leading President Roosevelt by a satisfactory majority. Local polls in many other states — polls which lead "Dr." Gallup in accuracy—show Willkie beating FDR by comfortable margins in key states.

TRUTH: National Defense Commissioner Knudsen has been embarrassed by newspaper reports saying that he will vote for Wendell Willkie, although he is serving under an appointment by the President. So the following anecdote may be significant:

A friend of Knudsen suggested that the latter might resign because of presidential animosity, implying that FDR did not welcome or appreciate some of the Knudsen proposals. Mr. Knudsen then asked if the idea was that the President wanted him to step aside in favor of somebody else. The answer was "yes."

"Why," said Mr. Knudsen, "the President and I are the best of friends; he even calls me 'Bill'." Three days after this interview Mr. Knudsen retired from General Motors and dedicated himself to government service. But despite all the ballyhoo, he will vote for Wendell Willkie!

DESIRE: John Nance Garner left Washington without notifying anybody except his closest friends that he was leaving for home. He went out of his way to conceal the fact of his departure from the White House or FDR's friends in the upper chamber.

Jack did not discuss his comings or goings with FDR. During his brief visit at the capital he saw the President for only a few minutes, and they touched on nothing of political importance. FDR knows that Jack resents the third-term try, also his political burial with FDR as pall-bearer, and so there was no basis for common talk.

Jack does not like FDR, and the President has no use for the Texan.

Mr. Garner is too tough-skinned to resent the attacks which the New Dealers launched against him for his failure to earn his salary by presiding over the Senate. Jack will return to say farewell to the Senate next January 20th. And although he can't afford to say so, he hopes the next national administration will be Republican rather than Democratic.

TECHNIQUE: William S. Knudsen has revolutionized army-navy methods of purchasing supplies for national defense units with a great saving for the taxpayer. He has applied at Washington the same system he used with General Motors.

Both the army and navy used to purchase key materials—blankets, shoes, uniforms, steel—when there was a tremendous private demand for these same products. The army-navy buyers never watched the movement of the market, never placed orders for large supplies at an advantageous moment. The first question Mr. Knudsen asked was: "Why is it that the army and navy buy more goods than any other corporation and still pay the highest prices?"

Now the army and navy, under Knudsen reforms, fill their needs when the seasonal or civilian demand is low. As a result, Uncle Sam gets cheaper prices and better quality. And this improved technique will be perpetuated whether the United States gets in or stays out of the next World war.

WISDOM: Jesse H. Jones, the capital's finest raconteur, recently introduced Republican National Chairman Joe Martin at a small, friendly dinner.

"Joe," said Jesse, "reminds me of a hunting episode in which I participated. It seems that a flock of Democratic hounds drove two Republican rabbits, a female and a male, into a hole in the ground for safety. The Democratic hounds growled and circled above the Republican rabbits' refuge until the lady rabbit got scared.

"So she said to her husband: 'What shall we do?' And, according to Jesse, Husband Joe Martin Rabbit replied: 'Mother, we had better stay where we are until we outnumber those Democratic hounds.'" Although Jesse has no sympathy with the "Democratic hounds", he thinks that Joe handed out good advice.

AXIS: FDR's determination to go to war with the Axis powers either before or after election has precipitated this wisecrack on Capital Hill:

"Franklin D. Roosevelt, apparently had an axis to grind!"

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

JOE KENNEDY must put up with the London bombing a little longer as a result of a White House suggestion that a return now would be bad election medicine. New York agents who have been handling Joe's interests in absentia know he is eager to junk the protocol of his wartime post and return to private business.

His scheduled return immediately after the elections has sent the diplomatic colony into a speculative orgy. Since the Anglo-American alliance is in the final construction stage, an ambassador to St. James becomes, as in 1916-17, the most important member of the joint general staff. The post in such event would fall to either of two candidates—Colonel Knox or William Bullitt—both eager for the liaison honors.

The report is complicated by London's diplomatic tip that most of the U. S. Embassy staff will be recalled with Kennedy's departure, leaving only a skeleton force to attend the Churchill government. Whether the decision reflects the bombing danger, or whether American staff duties will be absorbed by the British Foreign Office is still speculative. But no one in the protocol crowd will be surprised if, for the first time, an American ambassador to England remains on home soil as ambassador designate, while the two government heads, Churchill and—third term permitting—President Roosevelt, rely on respective foreign offices for the other's diplomatic representation. The precedent exists in the Anglo-French hookup in the weeks preceding the French collapse. While each country maintained ambassadors and diplomatic retinues, the entire war management was handled over the phone and face to face by the principals, Churchill and Daladier, Gort and Gamelin.

FASCIST: Latin-American experts in New York draw attention to the fact that the recently publicized Western Hemisphere is being infiltrated by home-grown Fascist ideas which have nothing whatever to do with fifth column activities.

The principal parliamentarian backers of the popular front government of President Aguirre of Chile are now clamoring for a revision of the constitution along corporative lines. Under the proposed setup the government would regulate and control all human activities with very few exceptions, including labor, social relations, education, etc. Conscription is to be supplemented by pre-military training among boys. Labor service will be compulsory, and the old Spanish colonial law is to be exhumed to punish political offenses, chiefly personal enrichment while holding public office.

Cynics inquire whether any constitution possibly more Fascist in spirit could have been proposed had the Germans or Italians occupied Chile.

Looking For Laughs? Take 'Sullivan' Tour

Clyde Brion Davis Spins Yarn, Well Worth Reading

"SULLIVAN," by Clyde Brion Davis; (Farrar & Rinehart, New York).

CLYDE BRION DAVIS is one of the few American novelists who writes like nobody else in the profession. Having read his past work, you could identify the author from a single page of anything new; from a single page of "Sullivan," for example.

"Sullivan" is the story of a dark period in the life of a young Chicago newspaper artist, and it is Davis' peculiar advantage that he can write about dark periods of the sort Sullivan suffered without growing dark and turgid about it in print. As a matter of fact, the new novel is much like a collection of brash midwestern tall tales, and the tempo is not only fast—it is breakneck at times.

Neither Stupid Or Brilliant

Sullivan is the young American in conflict with his time. He is neither stupid nor brilliant, and although his gifts are not great, neither are they negligible. Chiefly his trouble was that through no fault of his own, he had been started down the wrong groove early in life, and had it not been for a charge of dynamite, he might never have gotten out of it. Sullivan's parents decided he was designed for art. For painting, specifically.

At art school in Chicago Sullivan found out they were wrong. He got a job in the art department of a Chicago newspaper, married Mildred out of his Indiana hometown, and developed an advertising comic strip that made him good side money. Then he caught Mildred in what technically is known as a compromising situation, and walked out on her. Actually he hitch-hiked out. That was how he met McKinley Williams.

Williams was a modest racketeer with a gargantuan sense of humor, and the two made their way pleasantly westward. Somewhere in the Southwest, Sullivan, very tight on Mexican beer, decided he could "levitate," and ended by falling off his chair. For reasons of his own, Williams decided to try out the levitation business, and so matters went until California was reached. After odd and typically Clyde Davis adventures along the way, it goes without saying.

In California, Davis picks up his story and with a mighty wrench brings it back to normal and gives it a point and a purpose. Without this exercise of auctorial power the book would be both funny and poignant. With it, the result is something better than either. What it is, specifically, is Davis' business to explain, not ours.

Thumbnail Reviews

CHRISTINE Whiting Parmenter's fifteenth novel is a New England story, set in a town near Boston, and concerned with the influence on their young son of a divorce and the parents' subsequent remarriages. With help (as you may be sure usually happens in Mrs. Parmenter's novels) the boy reaches the security he feels he has lost. (Crowell).

DELLA T. LUTES' publisher calls her "Gabriel's Search" a "richly homespun" novel, and allowing for a slightly out-of-plumb figure of speech, it is a good description. As a novel it is often a bit slow, but as a picture of southern Michigan a century ago it is excellent, full of homely detail and accurate to the last syllable, so far as this reader can judge. Pension Fight Grows Torrid

BY WILLARD HASELBUSH
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Oct. 12.—The state of Colorado—which voted the biggest old-age pension in the land, $45 a month, in 1936 and had only enough money to pay the full amount for five months—stands at the crossroads in its ambitious social security program.

The state's voters have a choice in the November election of cutting the maximum payment to $30 a month or adopting a new tax to make continuous $45 payments possible.

The plan to provide money for $45 pensions for the state's 42,000 needy old folk will appear on the Nov. 5 ballot as a proposed constitutional amendment. It would create a tax of $5 to $10 yearly on each $1,000 face value of all intangible personal property in the state — stocks, bonds, mortgages, installment purchases, bank accounts and other holdings. O. Otto Moore, author of the $45 law and chief sponsor of the proposed new tax, estimated it would raise $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 yearly to be used for relief, pensions and to replace property taxes on farms and homes valued at $3,000 or less and occupied by the owner.

Age Would Be Raised

The $30 pension plan also will appear as a proposed constitutional amendment. It would repeal the present setup under which all needy persons past 60 are eligible for $45 a month and substitute a system under which a maximum pension of $30, minus other income, would be paid to the needy past 65. Sponsors of the plan said present pension income—85 per cent of all excise taxes—would make payment of $30 pensions possible. Pensions under the $45 plan frequently have fallen under the $30 mark due to lack of revenue and the fact the state must pay the entire pension of those between 60 and 65. Federal pension grants are available only for those past 65.

The two proposed amendments have touched off a war of words in Colorado equalled in volume only by the two rival candidates for governor.

Coalition Fights Proposal

A coalition of business, farm and fraternal group leaders has been formed to fight the intangibles tax. This group, in a statewide radio, press and speaking campaign, charges that the proposed tax would "drive the wealth out of Colorado and strangle business, industry and the state's development."

Organized old-age pensioners are fighting the $30 pension plan with every facility at their command. They are confident of victory since a similar repeal plan directed against the $45 pension setup was voted down in the 1938 election.

Working against both plans is the "Vote No" group organized in Denver with the defeat of all five constitutional amendments to appear on the November ballot as its aim.

One of the three other proposals would legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse and dog races in Colorado.

Texas Furnishes New 'War Baby'

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 — Texas gas fields gave helium to the dirigibles and its oil fields now are providing the latest "war baby" from the chemical laboratories—toluene.

Toluene is a basic ingredient of TNT. Until recently it has been obtained only as a coal-tar by-product. Now, two Texas plants are being equipped to produce it from petroleum.

Elmer H. Johnson, industrial geographer in the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, estimated that a plant of the Shell Oil company at Houston will be able to supply 2,000,000 gallons annually. By a supplementary process the output can be stepped up to 7,000,000, he said.

Unit Put At Baytown

Humble Oil & efining company also is establishing a unit for production of toluene at its refining plant at Baytown.

Johnson pointed to other industries in Texas that are ready to supply strategic chemicals for national defense.

Union Carbide and Carbon corporation has a plant to make synthetic organic chemicals from refinery gases. Dow Chemical company is building a plant on the Texas coast of the Gulf of Mexico to produce magnesium from sea water and organic chemicals from petroleum gasses.

"By-product exploitation of Texas oil and gas has just been scratched on the surface," Johnson said.

VILLAGE LIGHTS BRIGHTER

THOMPSONVILLE, Mich., Oct. 12 (U.P.)—This northern Michigan village of 250 which has supplied free electricity for front porch lights during the half century it has been paying for its municipal power plant is "out-of-the-red." The federal government came to the rescue after a bank had failed and the power dam had been washed out twice, enabling the village board to retire its last note.

BUTTERMILK BATH IN CRASH

ANNISTON, Ala., Oct. 12 (U.P.)—A big cleaning bill but no injuries resulted from an unusual auto crash. Mrs. Eva Jones and her two children, Rosalie and Lucile, were bathed in buttermilk and gasoline when their car collided with another.

Until the recent discovery of Jupiter's 10th and 11th satellites, it held the satellite record jointly with Saturn.

Cochran County Most Active In Week's Oil Activities; One Producer Completed

By JOHN B. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

COCHRAN was the most active this week of the West Texas Permian Basin's most northerly oil productive counties, Cochran and Hockley, one producer being completed and two being acidized. A rig was moved in for a wildcat about three miles west of the Duggan field.

The completion was Atlantic No. 3 Boyd, which registered a daily potential of 449 barrels, after treatment with 10,000 gallons of acid, with total depth 5,046 feet. It is 580 feet out of the northeast corner of labor 11-56-Oldham, a quarter mile west of Magnolia No. 1 Mallett, a producer and about 1 1-2 miles south of Magnolia No. 1 F. L. Woodley, north extension to the indicated link between the Duggan and Slaughter pools.

Rig Moved In

Osage staked No. 1 Smith 510 feet out of the southeast corner of labor 16-56-Oldham, almost one-half mile north and slightly east of Texaco No. 1 Boyd, a producer. Rig was moved in for Atlantic and R. R. Rhodes No. 1 Carrie Slaughter Dean, wildcat west of the Duggan pool, 672 from the north, 8,423 feet from the east line of league 89, Lipscomb county school land survey.

Texas No. 1-G Mallett, south offset to Texaco No. 1-F Mallett, most southeasterly producer in Cochran county, swabbed six barrels of cut oil hourly following its first acidizing, with 1,500 gallons, with total depth 5,065 feet. It is in the northwest corner of section 9-G-psl. Magnolia No. 1-H Mallett, west offset to Osage No. 1 W. R. Blake, a producer in the Duggan east extension, flowed 150 barrels of oil in 20 hours early in the week through a half inch choke on tubing, and was shut in. Bottomed at 5,062 feet, it had been treated with 4,500 gallons of acid in two stages. Location is the northeast corner of labor 2-53-Scurry.

Test Checking Lower

Forest No. 1 A. C. Whisenant, Yoakum county wildcat, topped the solid lime at 4,790 feet, 1,225 feet below sea level, correlated 48 feet lower than in Geo. P. Livermore's (formerly Sloan & Zook Co., and Tom N. Sloan's) No. 1 Waples-Platter, a small well 1 1-4 miles to the southeast not yet completed. The brown lime top, 4,420 feet, had checked 58 feet lower than in the Livermore well, which is northeast of the Bennett sector of the Wasson field.

Grady H. Vaughn and High Point Oil Co.'s No. 1 E. S. Smith, three-quarter mile northwest outpost to the Denver sector of the Wasson field, was completed at 5,253 feet, pumping 33 gravity oil at a daily rate of 114.80 barrels daily, plus 20 per cent water. It was treated with 5,000 gallons of acid when bottomed at 5,227 feet and with 7,000 gallons after deepening to 5,253. Location is 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 703-D-John H. Gibson.

Retreating Increases Production

Retreating with 5,000 gallons of acid increased the daily potential of Shell No. 1-B C. A. Hudson, one-mile south extension to the Roberts area of the Wasson pool, from 320.16 to 855.60 barrels daily. Recompletion was at the same depth, 5,115 feet. The well is 440 feet out of the northwest corner of section 858-D-John H. Gibson.

Rig was moved in for Atlantic Refining and Ray R. Rhodes No. 1 Carrie Slaughter Dean, Cochran county wildcat three miles west of the Duggan pool, 672 from the north, 8,423 feet from the east line of league 89, Lipscomb county school land survey.

Treated with 10,000 gallons of acid in three stages, Humble No. 82 J. S. Means, half mile west of the Means pool in north central Andrews county, recovered hourly 16 barrels of fluid—90 per cent oil, 10 per cent basic sediment. It is in the northeast quarter of section 18-A35-psl.

Fills 900 Feet Of Oil

Forest Development Corp. No. 1-H Paul Moss, 1 1-2 miles south of the South Cowden pool, Ector county, filled 900 feet with oil in 12 hours before shooting, bottomed at 4,300 feet in lime, and Forest No. 1 W. L. Bradley and others, seven miles southeast of the Harper field, cored lime that showed slight porosity and oil staining between 4,315 and 4,410 feet, the total depth, and cemented 5 1-2 inch casing at 4,015 feet preparatory to testing.

John Y. Francis of Midland leased from J. F. Maurice of Odessa the north half of the southwest quarter of section 32-43-2s-T&P, a diagonal southeast offset to Great Western Producers' Johnson lease, on which there are good producers. The South Cowden pool currently is the most active in Ector county.

Pumps 253 Barrels

Appleby & Guthrie of Odessa (formerly Allan Hargrave of Midland) No. 1 Skelly-University, one-half mile west of the Taylor-Link pool in Pecos county, pumped 253 barrels of oil plus 10 per cent water in 24 hours for completion at 1,718 feet. The main pay topped at 1,705 feet was treated with 2,000 gallons of acid. Location is 330 feet out of the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 14-18-U.

Cardinal Oil Co. of San Angelo completed its eleventh producer in the White and Baker pool west of the Yates field in Pecos county, No. 2-E-52 White and Baker, at 1,736 feet, flowing 170.47 barrels of oil in 24 hours. Pay topped at 1,727 feet was shot with 80 quarts of nitroglycerin. The well is 1,320 from the south, 440 feet from the east line of section 52-Z-TCRR. Cardinal spudded No. 1-F White & Baker, 3,160 feet southwest of No. 2-F-52 White & Baker, which extended production about one mile west.

Wildcat Spudded In

Taubert, McKee and Siemoneit No. 1 Virginia W. Crockett, northern Pecos county wildcat, in the southwest quarter of section 4 1-2 3-H&TC, had had no shows in drilling to 5,248 feet in the Simpson, middle Ordovician, lime, which was topped at 4,755 feet, 2,363 feet below sea level.

H. C. McCauley of Pampa No. 1 E. Hale, wildcat in extreme southern Loving county, had spudded 188 feet in redbeds. It is 467 feet out of the south corner of section 60-1-W&NW, four miles southeast of the Wheat Deleware pool.

Magnolia No. 1-41 George Sealy, semi-wildcat in northern Ward county, was spudded, drilled to 1,107 feet in anhydrite and cemented 9 5-8 inch casing at 1,102 feet. It is 990 from the north, 2,310 feet from the west line of section 41-F-G&-MMB&A, three-quarters of a mile northwest of Atlantic No. 1 Wickett-University, discovery in the one-well Magnolia-Sealey (South) pool.

Two Wildcats Abandoned

Two wildcats in western Crockett county were abandoned. Moore and Olson No. 1 Mrs. Clara Couch in section 52-GG-M.S. Riggs quit at 2,000 feet. It was five miles south and two miles east of Moore-Olson No. 1 Noelke, a discovery well. J. K. Hughes No. 1 Shannon, in section 28-GG-A. E. Vowell (Martha T. Willon), struck two barrels of sulphur water hourly from 2,617-25 feet and was abandoned at 2,643 feet in sand and lime. It was 2 1-2 miles north and slightly east of the Soma well, first strike on the W. T. Noelke ranch.

Humble moved in a derrick for No. 46-X Tubb, a scheduled Ordovician test in western Crane county 2,005 from the north, 3,300 feet from the west line of section 11-B27-psl, one-half mile north and slightly west of American Liberty No. 10 Tubb, an Ordovician producer.

Sharon Ridge Pool's Extension Watched

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SNYDER, Oct. 12—Sharon Ridge field operators focused their attention today to one of the pool's northwest extension tests, D & R Oil Company's No. 6 W. F. Burney test, located 330 feet from the north and west lines of Section 143-97-H & TC survey, which has cemented 10-inch casing at 550 feet.

Pearson-Sibert & Ordovician Oil Company's No. 1 Dobson-Robinson-Wetzel et al test (otherwise locally known as Cossey's Goat Ranch) is setting 10-inch casing at 510 feet.

Extension Of Pool

Location of this test is 990 feet north of the south line and 330 feet east of the west line of the north one-half of section 146-97-H & TC survey, and two locations north of O. L. (Jack) Burney well of the same operators, which was completed several months ago as a strong producer, extending the Sharon pool a mile northwest at that time.

Since completion of the Burney well, D. & R. have completed two producers on their W. F. Burney lease and Pearson-Sibert-Ordovician have marked up a good producer with their No. 1 Riss Bishop well.

Mudge Oil Company was drilling at 1,210 feet in their No. 4 Mrs. Alva Johnson (Grace Holcomb test, north one-half of Section 142.

Complete Swabing Operations

Magnolia Petroleum company has completed swabbing operations at their No. 2 Rufe Sterling well, located in the southwest one-fourth of Section 130.

F. W. Merrick's No. 4 Dora Roberts test, located in the south-east corner of the north one-half of the southeast one-fourth, Section 130, and 1,320 feet east of Merrick's No. 3 producer, was drilling at 1,090 feet.

Northwest of Snyder seven miles, Putnam Supply Company (Brock Brothers) were fishing for parted casing preparatory to deepening Coffield & Guthrie's No. 1 J. Wright Mooar wildcat test 150 feet from its completed contract depth of 4,500 feet. Mooar test is located in the center of the northwest quarter, Section 334-97-H & TC. Corrected log reveals the Mooar test is running structurally 38 feet high.

Total crude runs for September for the Sharon Ridge field and the Old Ira pool, five miles southeast, was 26,180 barrels, Coffield & Guthrie officials announced today. Coffield & Guthrie operates the gathering system that transport Sharon and Ira pool crude to the Col-Tex tank farm in Mitchell county.

Defense Units Get Guidance

BY SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.— The National defense commission, in cooperation with state defense councils, is making progress in ironing out kinks of a purely local nature in the rearmament program, officials have announced.

This phase of the commission's work is being carried on by its division of state and local cooperation. The division is headed by Frank Bane. Its associate director is Danel W. Hoan, who was for almost a quarter century mayor of Milwaukee.

The division already has aided in the temporary solution of such problems as housing shortages in industrial areas suddenly confronted with an influx of defense workers.

Organization Goes Ahead

To date, defense councils or similar agencies have been established in 29 states, but officials anticipate such organizations in all of the remaining states soon. States with established defense agencies include:

Arkansas, Arizona, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia and Washington.

Bane's division is serving as a channel of communication between the defense commission and the state councils and is assisting the commissioners in obtaining the most effective participation of state and local governments in the execution of defense projects.

A small unit to carry on field activities has been organized in the division. This group is assisting states and localities whenever requested to organize state or local defense councils and to develop their own programs. It is also serving as a trouble-shooting organization.

For example, if some impediment to defense production develops in a particular locale, the division's field unit is sent to the area to check up on the source of the difficulties. On the basis of the field agent's reports, the division headquarters here attempts to work out a solution in cooperation with the state defense organization. Whenever necessary, other Federal agencies are called upon for assistance.

Virginia Problem Solved

One of the most troublesome problems confronting Bane's division so far developed in the Hampton Roads area of Virginia and affected the cities of Norfolk, Newport News and Portsmouth. An acute housing shortage developed there when thousands of defense workers moved into the area, an important shipbuilding and naval center. The sudden influx also brought public utility, health, welfare and recreation problems.

Virginia state officials appealed to the defense commission, Bane's staff, accompanied by Federal housing authorities, went to Richmond to confer with the state council. At that meeting, arrangements were worked out for providing temporary housing by using shore resort facilities in the Hampton Roads area. Other Federal agencies agreed to tackle the welfare and recreational problems and to expedite a permanent housing program.

Bane said that when the remaining states complete organization of their defense councils, the commission will have available a nationwide network of direct informational channels to keep it apprised of current and shifting conditions affecting the defense drive in all parts of the country.

Night Air Raids Batter London

ing the day was a subway platform, were men, women and children who had streamed there from their bomb-torn homes in London's East End. They had brought their pitifully few possessions.

Seeing the night's respite from the high explosives which usually continue to fall with deadly regularity these nights, they called London's hail of anti-aircraft shells into the sky "a hymn of blessed relief."

New York's first fire company was known as "The Rattle Watch." Organized in 1658, it numbered eight men.

Amazing Speed Of Air Travel Shown Folks In Marfa

MARFA, Oct. 12 (U.P.) — The amazing speed of modern air transportation was demonstrated with the arrival in Marfa of Mrs. J. H. Smith of Long Island, N. Y.

Before leaving her home in Long Island, Mrs. Smith baked a cheese cake to take to her daughter and son-in-law in Marfa.

The cake finished baking early one morning. Mrs. Smith boarded a plane and flew to Big Spring from where she motored to Marfa.

That night she and her daughter and son-in-law ate the cake she had baked early that day in Long Island.

Need For Mules In War Lessens

(By The United Press)

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 12.—Even a Nebraska mule farm is a target for the repercussions of Europe's war.

Since 1918 Frank F. Simpson has raised mules on his ranch near here. He sold them to foreign governments by the thousands and achieved a reputation as one of the leading mule exporters in the United States.

Now, for the first time in 22 years the mule lots on his farm are almost empty. The British government has suspended its purchases, due to the difficulty of trans-oceanic transportation.

Great Britain, to do business with Simpson, would have to accept full responsibility for shipments and would have to transport the mules in British ships to India, where they would be used.

But Britain in wartime has more urgent demands for its ships than carrying mules to India, and orders with Simpson have been cancelled.

Sales Fall Off

In June and July of 1940, the Nebraska rancher sold only 100 animals, to South America. During the World war, the Allied governments purchased 72,000 mules from him.

Simpson recalled that in 1923, the shipping losses were so high the British informed him he would have to take the entire transportation risk.

Unperturbed; he put the animals through a long and expensive feeding process to acclimatize them to ocean conditions, and subjected them to shipping fever in his own feed yards. When they had recovered, he shipped them.

On seven shipments to India, one to China and two to the British Isles, he did not lose a single mule.

Simpson was the first mule exporter to ship the animals without tying them on the vessel. Untied, they have a better chance to familiarize themselves with the ship's roll, he found.

El Paso Moves To Protect Soldiers

EL PASO, Oct. 12 (U.P.)—El Paso civic officials intend to see that several thousand national guardsmen and recruits to Fort Bliss who are flowing into this border town get a "square deal."

Mayor J. E. Anderson has appointed a special committee to try to prevent the skyrocketing of rentals because of the new soldiers' entrance in El Paso.

Anderson said he would arm the committee with "as big a stick as possible" to prevent unwarranted increases in rent.

The move was started when it was found that many of the new guardsmen will live in residential districts because of cramped quarters at Fort Bliss.

A civic group will soon be appointed to plan entertainment and recreational activities for the soldiers.

Van Maanen's star, the smallest "runt" of all the measured stars, is about the same size as our earth.

Air at the seashore contains no more ozone than that at other places, in spite of a common belief.

Greatest Problem Of Draft Will Be Determining Various Claims Of Exemptions

Registrants To Be In 4 Classes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story answers numerous questions in connection with the draft law, which goes into operation next Wednesday with the registration of sixteen and a half million men. It is the third of a series. The fourth and final story appears Monday in Evening Journal.)

BY E. C. DANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 — Can your family, your employer, your business, your city, state and nation get along comfortably without you for a year?

When applied to each of the 16,404,000 men between 21 and 36, that question becomes the nub of selective service. Deciding it will be the greatest single problem of the draft.

Standing guard constantly against favoritism and political pull, the selective service organization will take an inventory of manpower to determine who can be spared for the army, after this fashion:

Questionnaires Are Lengthy

Registrants will get copies of a lengthy questionnaire.

The questionnaire makes more than 100 inquiries into the physical and mental condition, number of dependents, citizenship, income, religious beliefs, criminal record and employment status of the registrant. It must be answered and returned in five days. Answers on dependency, income and physical condition will be confidential.

Several of the answers require supporting affidavits. The registrant must swear to or affirm the entire form. Local boards will welcome any additional written evidence that the registrant may attach. A local registrant advisory board of three lawyers and associate members will help anyone who applies.

To Be In Four Classes

Each questionnaire will be examined by the board when it is returned and the registrant will be placed tentatively in one of four classes:

Class 1—Available for service.

Class 3—Deferred because of dependents.

Class 4—Deferred specifically by law or because unfit for military service.

The exceptions will include college students working for degrees, who will be deferred until next July 1, felons, traitors and ex-soldiers, sailors and marines discharged unfavorably.

A man's importance to his job, no matter whether the job is blending perfume or milling gunpower, will be the main consideration in occupational deferments.

Deferment will be only for the purpose of allowing a man to be replaced if and as soon as he can. Continued neglect or refusal to replace a man might result in his being called anyway.

At least every six months each deferred man's case will be reviewed, and deferment will end when the causes for it cease to exist.

Although there will be no group exemptions, the question of replacement obviously will not arise for the unemployed, the idle rich, WPA workers without dependents, and those whom one official calls "racketeers, loan sharks, drug-store cowboys, poolroom hangers-on, barflies, etc."

While the law requires that every man placed in class 3 shall have relatives or foster children actually dependent upon his earned income, regulations advise local boards to show "sympathetic regard" in filling class.

"Any reasonable doubts in connection with dependency should be resolved in favor of deferment, and in doubtful cases the local boards should be mindful of injuries which may be expected to result from separating a father from his children or a husband from his wife."

Those in class 4 will include men with certain previous service in the land forces, certain officials, nondeclarant aliens, clergymen and divinity students, conscientious objectors available only for civilian work, and those physically, mentally or morally unfit.

Defects To Stand In Way

A sympathetic attitude has been promised towards men with religious training or belief as conscientious objectors.

Those tentatively placed in class 1 will be called for a physical examination. They will be notified of the results. Those with defects will be re-classified in class 4. A medical board of specialists will consult in doubtful cases.

It is the duty of each registrant to see that he receives his classification and examination notices. He or anyone claiming to be a dependent may appeal from a class 1 classification appeal boards of citizens representing all community interests will be set up for each 70,000 registrants.

No man should pay anyone for handling his appeal, helping him answer his questionnaire or attesting his signature.

Insurance Fraud Case In Valley Investigated

HARLINGEN, Oct. 12 (AP) — Assistant District Attorney Arthur Klein today turned over to postal authorities investigation of an alleged insurance fraud racket, after filing charges of swindling against two persons.

Francisco O. Garcia, 40, a La Feria garbage collector, and Mrs. Guadalupe G. Gonzales, 45, La Feria housewife, were charged with swindling over $50 and also with making false affidavit.

Klein said other arrests would be made, and that "the case has so many ramifications that we have turned the investigation over to postal authorities." The prosecutor said "many other persons" were involved and that "arrests will be made as proof develops."

Garcia made bond of $750 in each case, but Mrs. Gonzales was held in the county jail at Brownsville. Her bond was set at $2,000 in each case.

Klein said Deputy Sheriff Boynton Fleming of Cameron county had been investigating the cases for more than a week.

The nine shifting sand mountains of Dare county, N. C., are the largest sand dunes in eastern America.
