Wholesale gas prices down

But local retailers still charging over $1 gallon

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

Cosden refinery's wholesale gasoline prices have dropped as much as 21 cents per gallon since the first of the year, but Big Spring retail consumers are not feeling the difference.

Tom Yates, superintendent of the pipeline at Cosden, said as of this morning Cosden was charging distributors 61.5 cents per gallon for regular, 62 cents for unleaded and 68 cents for premium gasoline. That represents a 20-cent decrease in regular and a 21-cent decrease for unleaded and premium gasoline since the first of the year, he said.

The decrease is the result of declining crude oil prices, he said.

In Big Spring, self-service gas prices at convenience stores are as much as 22 cents higher than other parts of the state, where gas is selling for less than a dollar a gallon.

Big Spring 7-Elevens are charging

$1.04 for regular, $1.08 for unleaded and $1.12 for super unleaded gasoline, said Randy Wallace, manager of the store at 1801 Gregg St.

In the past two to three weeks, the prices have dropped 7 cents a gallon for regular and 4 cents a gallon for unleaded gas, he said.

But 7-Elevens in Midland are charging 82 cents for regular, 89 cents for unleaded and 99 cents for super unleaded, said Tom Smith, manager of the 1108 S. Midland Seven-11. All Seven-11s in Midland are charging the same price, he said.

Midland 7-Elevens buy their gasoline from Big Spring, he said. "Our policy is for (gasoline) prices to reflect local marketplaces," said Alisa Martin, spokeswoman for the Southland Corp.'s Dallas headquarters, which owns the 7-Eleven chain. "It's not an unusual situation for us

Wes Reese, left, lowers the price of regular gasoline to 85 cents per gallon at his Waco gas station, a result of sliding crude oil prices. But most gas prices in Big Spring remain above $1 a gallon, as at this Fina station at I-20 and 87 in Big Spring, right, which was selling gas this morning at $1.05 for regular and $1.09 for unleaded.

Coahoma teachers' pay frozen

COAHOMA — The Coahoma school board voted this week to freeze all salaries at current levels until next October, said superintendent Jerry Doyle.

The action was taken "after reviewing what oil has done" to the economy and because of decreasing tax revenues in Coahoma, he said.

Even with the salary freeze, Coahoma will be paying more than the state base, he said. Currently the district pays the base rate plus 20 percent. By October, it will be paying the base rate plus 14 percent, he said.

The action is one of a several designed to reduce the district's $626,000 deficit of 1983, which Doyle inherited when he took office then, he said. By next summer, the district should be in the black or very close to it, he said.

Doyle doesn't anticipate taxes increasing next fall because of operating costs for the schools, but they may increase if the tax rolls decline, he said.

In other business, the board:

• Renewed the contracts of assistant principals Larry Baer and Harry Herbst, counselor Richard Moore and band director

Bill Goff. Principals' contracts were renewed last month.

• Appointed judges and election clerks for the April 5 election. Judges will be Mrs. H.C. Wallen for Sand Springs, Ray Bell for Coahoma and Mrs. David Barr for Vincent. An absentee voting board will be elected at the March 17 meeting, he said.

• Approved the 1986-87 school calendar. It has a shorter Christmas holiday so that the school year will not stretch into June, he said.

Jury gives probation in store robbery case

By SCOTT FITZGERALD

A Snyder man found guilty of aggravated robbery was placed on a seven-year probation sentence by jurors Thursday afternoon in 118th District Court.

Jurors reached their decision Wednesday night after hearing closing arguments by prosecutor Rick Hamby and defense attorney Robert Miller.

Jimmy McBroom, 32, was an accomplice in the aggravated robbery Jan. 10 of Big Mike's Liquor Store on the Snyder Highway.

Owner Gus Tatom was in the store at the time of the robbery.

Two other participants in the robbery, Robert Lee Baker, 28, and Craig Sherman Bailey, 17, pleaded guilty to the first-degree felony and received prison sentences from Judge James Gregg.

Baker is serving 12 years in the Texas Department of Corrections and Bailey is serving a seven-year term.

According to trial testimony, McBroom drove the vehicle the robbers used to make their

Stenholm opposes assets sale

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Rep. Charles Stenholm Thursday indicated at a hearing that he's not quite ready to buy President Reagan's proposed sale of federal programs and assets to the private sector.

The proposal, a key provision of the president's pending blueprint for next year, includes transferring some federal housing and loan programs to private business, eliminating funding for AMTRAK and selling federally-owned oil fields.

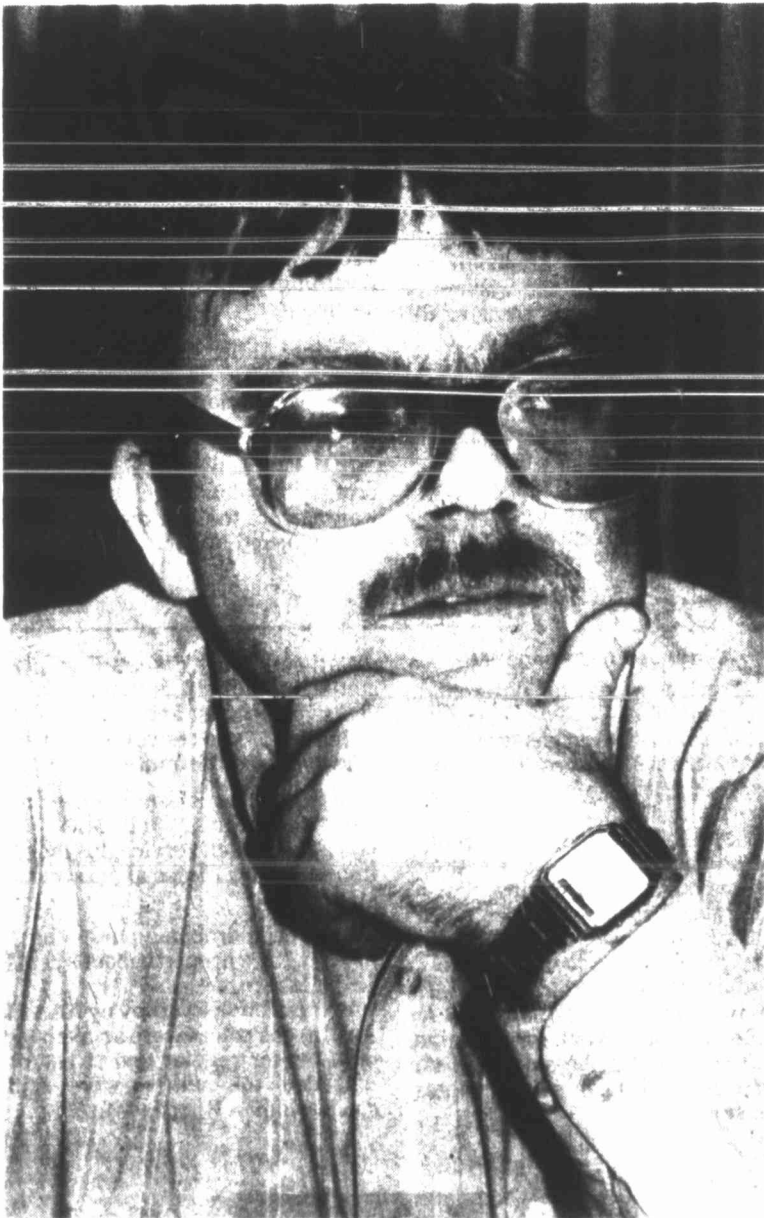

"When government undertakes such activities the outcome tends not to be as efficient — or, arguably, as equitable as when they are performed by the private sector," Reagan Budget Director James Miller told a committee of the House Grace Caucus Thursday.

The Grace Caucus was established to carry out the cost-savings recommendations of the Grace Commission, a presidential panel headed by businessman J. Peter Grace.

Stenholm and Reps. Joe Barton and Beau Boulter, members of the House Grace Caucus, offered praise for much of the "privatization" plan. They said it would help reduce the federal deficit and the role of the federal government.

"I don't think that there is anyone in this room who would argue the fact that there is at least one federal program that could be terminated," said Boulter, R-

Saxophone player James Cunningham, a graduate of the Big Spring High School, discusses his career and upcoming appearance with the Big Spring Symphony.

Concert saxophonist with good local roots is winner of awards

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Concert saxophonist James Cunningham, a Big Spring native who now lives in Baltimore, Md., glows with anticipation when he talks about performing "Ballade" for Saturday night's Big Spring Symphony.

The concert begins at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

"It's a movie for the imagination," he says about the 1938 piece written by Swiss-French composer Frank Martin.

Cunningham describes it as an "intense" representation of the "gross emotions during the agony years" when Europeans feared for their lives because of Nazi invasions.

The 1967 Big Spring High graduate said "Ballade" surfaced in 1982 for access by other musicians after being held captive by Dutch musician Siquard Arsher.

"You're beginning to see more saxophone pieces from the 1920s and 1930s incorporated into symphony pieces," Cunningham said.

The saxophone instrument itself has a notorious history, he said.

It is "an instrument of invention," by a Belgian man named Adolph Sax who had the instrument patented in 1846 in Paris, France, Cunningham says.

"He invented the instrument to sound like a human voice, project like a brass instrument and whisper as soft as a flute," the musician says.

The instrument's impact upon the music scene "shocked the world much like the invention of radio," he says. At the turn of the century, many pieces were written specifically for the instrument.

"As we come to the end of the century," Cunningham says, "people are beginning to appreciate turn-of-the-century music more."

Cunningham's career with the saxophone has ascended heights such as performing with the U.S. Marine Band from 1972-76. During this time he also was a member of the White House Orchestra and Jazz Band.

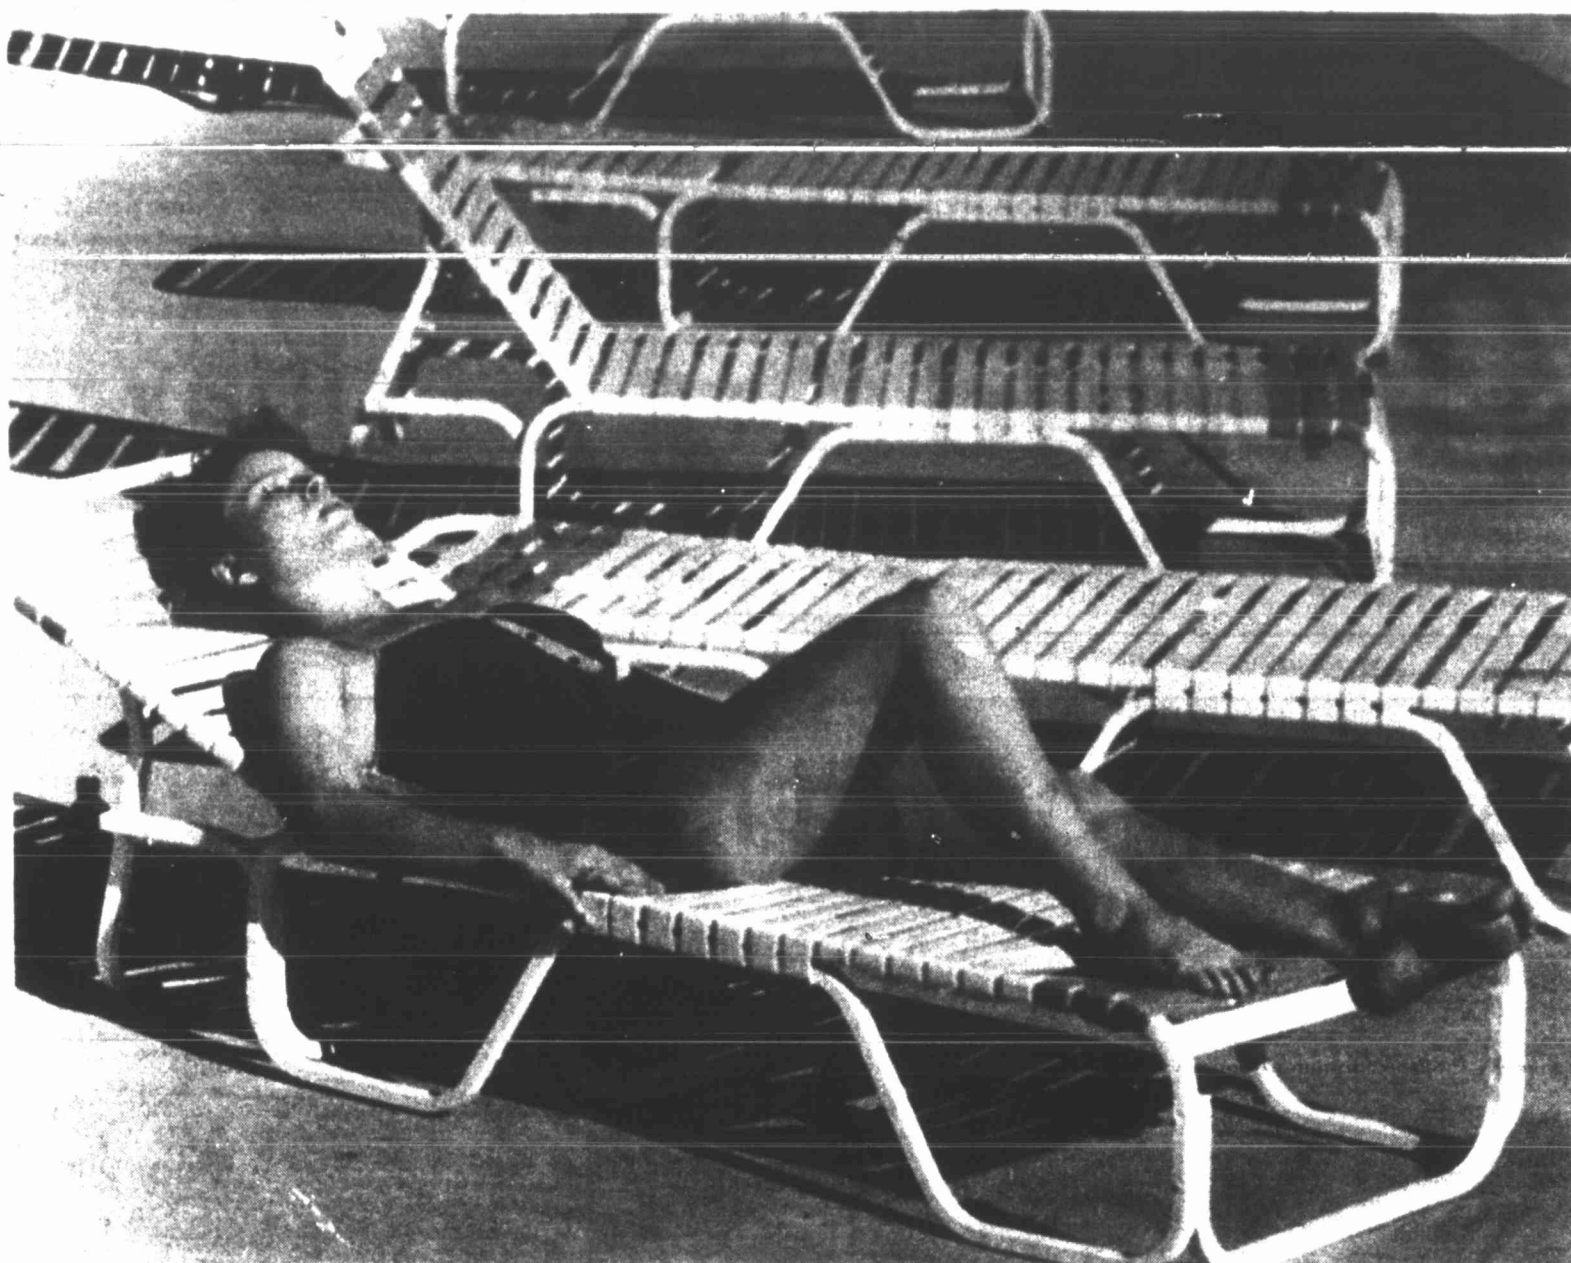

In 1980, he was the first saxophonist in the history of the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, to be awarded the coveted Artist Diploma. The following year he won the Fifth Annual World Competition for wind instruments in Ancona, Italy, which subsequently led to a nomination for the Distinguished Alumni Award at the Peabody.

To earn his artist diploma, Cunningham said he had to perform three perfect recitals to faculty members.

"It trains you to be a trooper," he said, "and prepares you to tour."

His interest in playing saxophone began when he was a member of the Big Spring High School band. It was "uncommon to find a town with the musical resource Big Spring

Woman reports gun threat

Shelly Lopez of 1111 W. Seventh St. told police Thursday evening that someone she knows displayed a gun at her outside her residence Thursday afternoon.

Shelly Cox of 540 Hillside told police Thursday morning that someone broke into the office of Dr. Bruce Cox, 205 W. 15th St., and stole two bottles of medication of unknown value. Burglars also caused an undetermined amount of damage to a double pane window and a wood cabinet door between 8 p.m. Wednesday and 6:19 a.m. Thursday.

Cleveland Gossett Jr. of 404 N.E. 11th St. told police Thursday evening that his son was assaulted by people he knows in the 400 block of E. First St. Thursday evening.

Linda Sorrells of 1504 Sycamore St. Apt. B told police Thursday night that someone tried to force entry into 1506 Sycamore St. Apt. B by breaking a window on the back door.

Steve Kidd, 32, of 703 E. First St. was arrested late Thursday night at 1100 Benton St. for outstanding warrants.

Local TEC not hurt by cuts

Gov. Mark White's order for state agencies to cut 13 percent from their budgets will have little effect on the local Texas Employment Commission office, said director Joe Wallis.

There will be no promotions or merit pay raises the next quarter, he said, but "we didn't expect any anyway."

New construction also is on hold, he said, which will affect a building in progress in El Paso.

The governor ordered state agencies and universities to cut their budgets by 13 percent to offset an estimated $1.3 billion shortfall in state energy-tax money for the two-year budget period ending Aug. 31, 1987. The income drop is caused by a severe drop in oil prices.

The governor called for hiring, promotion and merit pay freezes and other savings in administration, consultant contracts, travel, equipment, supplies and utilities.

Man files for Coahoma board

COAHOMA — Lynn Walling, a vocational agriculture instructor at Howard College, has filed for election to the Coahoma school board, said superintendent Jerry Doyle.

Six others have filed for four open positions on the board. Three at large positions are up for election this year, as well as a fourth position vacated by Warren Jeter with two years left on the term.

Running for at-large positions are incumbent Jim Wright, Jimmy Sterling, Marty Brooks and Nick Nichols.

Marvin Keenan and Bill Gressett have filed for the seat vacated by Jeter.

The election will take place April 5. Filing deadline is March 5.

Incumbents Kirby Brown and Donny Reid have not filed for re-election.

Federal charges filed after local drug bust

Charges were filed in Abilene's federal court Thursday afternoon against three Big Spring residents arrested Wednesday night in connection with delivery of two ounces of a controlled substance believed to be cocaine.

Anastasia Treveno, 21, of 407 Sunset; Evaristo Trevino Jr., 24, of 409 Sunset; and Fernando Paredes, 25, of 1308 Lamar St. face several counts of delivery of a controlled substance, Police Chief Rick Turner said today.

Anastasia Treveno is free on a personal recognizance bond, while Paredes and Evaristo Trevino were still being held Thursday on $10,000 bond each, Turner said.

If convicted, the three face a maximum prison sentence of 15 years for each count, Turner said.

The three were arrested for allegedly delivering cocaine with a street value of $10,000 to a police undercover agent.

Turner said Thursday that plans for the bust had been in the making for several months. The arrest was made by a Drug Enforcement Agency agent from Midland, long with Turner and four police detectives, Turner said.

But the Texas lawmakers expressed deep concern over certain aspects of the plan. Stenholm and Boulter questioned the wisdom of Reagan's proposal to transfer the federal meat inspection service to the meat industry.

Giving it to the meat industry may be like the fox guarding the chickenhouse," said Stenholm, D-Stamford.

But Miller argued that the meat industry should pay for the inspection because it receives the largest benefit from it." Barton, R-Ennis, criticized the proposal to sell two federally-owned oil fields — Elk Hills in California and Teapot Dome in Wyoming — when the price of oil is declining.

He told Miller that he has asked the Energy Department to postpone the plan until the market improves.

If the objective is to maximize profits, wouldn't we better off waiting until the market is better," Barton asked Miller.

Repeated telephone calls produced no answer at the 7-Eleven Food Stores office in Big Spring.

Ernie Morgan, manager of Ernie's gas service station, said his gas prices have declined 10 to 12 cents in the last several weeks. He charges $1.13 for regular, $1.17 for unleaded, and $1.21 for premium full service gas, he said. The station does not have self-serve gas, he said.

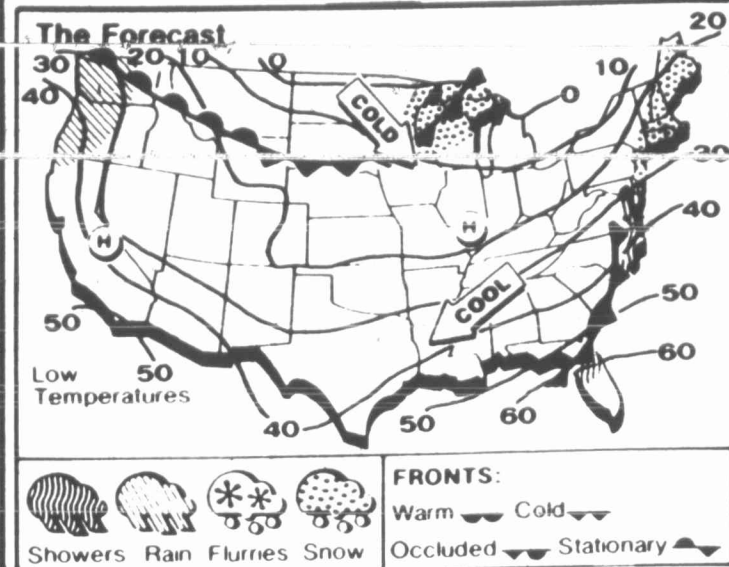

National Truck Stop, a Fina gas station in Midland, is charging 32.9 cents for regular and 87 cents for unleaded, spokeswoman Pam Silkwood said this morning.

Gregg Street Exxon is charging $1.07 for regular and $1.09 for unleaded for self service this morning, said Gary Flores of the service station.

"It's been dropping quite a bit," he said. "It's dropped about 9 cents in the last two weeks."

In a December survey by AAA in Austin, gas prices were an average of $1.049 for regular and $1.146 for unleaded for self service, said spokeswoman Rhonda Wilson.

More illegals captured

WASHINGTON — The number of illegal aliens being captured along the border with Mexico is running 43 percent ahead of last year, says the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The agency, trying to cope with the greatest surge in history of people flooding across the Southern U.S. border, believes the influx is due mainly to economic problems in Mexico and Central America, INS commissioner Alan C. Nelson told a news conference Thursday.

California town flooded

MARYVILLE, Calif. — Thousands of people, clutching blankets and jackets, streamed away in cars, trucks, on foot and in helicopters from raging floodwaters that burst unexpectedly through a levee.

After more than nine days of storms but while the Yuba River was 5½ feet below flood stage, the levee collapsed Thursday evening, flooding the town of Linda and threatening nearby Olivehurst, forcing 21,000 new flood refugees.

The water was expected to inundate at least a 68-square mile area, Office of Emergency Services officials said.

WASHINGTON — The acting administrator of NASA says he wants to meet with a Democratic senator who has called on him to resign over the Challenger accident.

William Graham, acting head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Thursday that he is "willing to answer any questions" that Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., might have about the Jan. 28 disaster, in which all seven crew members of the space shuttle were killed.

Earlier Thursday, Hollings called for the resignations of Graham and James Beggs, the space agency's administrator, who is on leave.

Marijuana, cash seized

SALINENO — A ton of marijuana, cash and firearms were confiscated Thursday after authorities raided a house in this South Texas community, a Department of Public Safety narcotics agent said.

The marijuana, estimated to be worth $1.5 million, was confiscated from a house near the Rio Grande in this Starr County community near Falcon Dam, said the DPS agent, who asked that his name not be used.

Beverage buy-outs

NEW YORK — Unless the government says otherwise, Coca-Cola Co. and PepsiCo Inc. alone will control more than 80 percent of the U.S. soft-drink market, which totals $30 billion a year.

Coke announced Thursday it had agreed to buy fourth-ranked Dr Pepper Co. for $470 million, and PepsiCo agreed last month to buy No. 3 Seven-Up Co. for $380 million.

The Reagan administration has been relatively lenient in allowing much larger mergers to go through. But because the proposed Coca-Cola and PepsiCo acquisitions would give them overwhelming joint command of their market, some industry and legal observers predicted the deals would receive close scrutiny from antitrust officials.

President Reagan unveils a plaque commemorating his visit to Grenada Thursday during arrival ceremonies at Port Salines Airport.

Grenada trip

Reagan vows to help freedom fighters

ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada (AP) — Under a dazzling Caribbean sun, President Reagan on Thursday retraced the steps of American invasion forces that ousted a radical Marxist government from this tiny island 27 months ago and vowed the United States also "must help those struggling for freedom in Nicaragua."

Reagan flew here to honor the 19 servicemen killed in three days of fighting that forced Cuban troops from Grenada and led to formation of a democratically elected government.

He laid a green wreath with a purple ribbon at the foot of a memorial to the 19, then stepped back and stood silent for a moment.

In a speech later to a cheering, flag-waving crowd, Reagan likened events in Nicaragua to those that prompted him to order the invasion of Grenada and declared he won't be satisfied "until all the people of the Americas have joined us in the warm sunshine of liberty and justice."

He was introduced as "our own national hero, our own rescuer" by Prime Minister Herbert Blaize, who declared a national holiday in honor of the visit. Blaize said Reagan had sent forces here at the urging of Caribbean leaders to "dig Grenada out of the stinking Communist hole."

The audience estimated at more than 20,000 roared approval when Reagan hailed democracy in Grenada and declared, "When people are free, their rights to speak and to pray are protected by law, and the goons are not running the jails, they are in the jails."

The president, who headed back to Washington immediately after the speech, spoke on a stage emblazoned with a large green and yellow sign saying "Grenada Welcomes President Reagan." Small girls dressed in red, white and blue costumes danced with floral wreaths above their heads to welcome him to the outdoor cricket park.

While making no overt threats against Nicaragua, Reagan's statements — particularly coming on the site of the last open use of U.S. military forces — could hardly be construed as comforting to the leftist government, 1,500 miles to the west.

Administration officials have said repeatedly they have no plans to invade Nicaragua, but they are making a concentrated effort to gain congressional support for $100 million in aid for rebel groups trying to overthrow the Sandinista regime in Managua.

Reporters with advance copies of Reagan's speech asked him before it was delivered whether he had any plans to use military force in Nicaragua.

"No," he replied. "I think it's an entirely different situation. We have no plans."

But in his speech, Reagan said: "Today in Nicaragua we see a chain of events similar to what happened here. We hear the same excuses made for the communists, while the people of Nicaragua see their freedom slowly but surely eaten away."

Reagan told Grenadians "I will never be sorry that I made the decision to help you" and said the United States "must help those struggling for freedom in Nicaragua."

"In the cause of liberty, all free people are part of the same family," he said. "We should stand together as brothers and sisters. If we do, the Nicaraguan people will be able to free themselves from Communist tyranny and win the liberty you now enjoy in Grenada."

Debt repayment begins

LONDON — South Africa's central bankers reluctantly agreed to begin repaying the $14 billion in foreign debts they froze last year when a wave of racial unrest damaged the country's credit rating.

Fritz Leutwiler, the retired Swiss central banker acting as mediator, announced the "broad consensus" agreement Thursday after 30 American and European creditors that hold 70 percent of the frozen debt met with the South African bankers.

Another 230 smaller banks around the world also were affected by the South African freeze.

Khomeini aide killed

TEHRAN, Iran — A personal representative of the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and six members of Iran's parliament were among at least 46 people killed when an Iraqi jet shot down an Iranian plane, Iran said.

The official Islamic Republic News Agency said a civilian airliner was shot down Thursday while on a domestic flight from Tehran to the southern Iranian city of Ahvaz.

Iraq on Thursday denied the Iranian report that a civilian plane had been shot down, saying it confined its attacks to military targets.

House votes aid cut off

WASHINGTON — With strong bipartisan support, a House panel voted unanimously to cut off aid to the government of Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos and await a legitimate government that has the backing of the Philippine people.

Filipinos still would receive humanitarian and economic aid under Thursday's House action, but it would be channeled through the Catholic church and other non-government organizations.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the United States would be represented — at the most — by only a third-level embassy official at Marcos' inauguration, tentatively scheduled for Feb. 25. Such a move would be a diplomatic slap in the face to Marcos.

Israeli raid continues

SRIFA, Lebanon — The Israeli tanks that pounded Srifa during a four-hour fight with Moslem guerrillas reportedly returned to action today around this southern Lebanese village that Israel says is a stronghold of radical Shiite Moslems.

Lebanon state radio said the Israelis, on the fifth day of a search for two soldiers captured Monday, hit Srifa for a second day today, and also attacked a cluster of surrounding Shiite hamlets.

Amazon trip successful

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — A U.S. writer and a Polish refugee have completed a 4,200-mile trip from the source of the Amazon River to the ocean which they hope will put them in the record books.

Joe Kane of San Francisco, and Piotr Chmielinski, a political refugee living in Casper, Wyo., on Wednesday paddled out past Marajo Island into the Atlantic Ocean, ending what they claim was the first successful source-to-sea navigation of the Amazon.

Smoking habit has two sides

The tobacco companies are fighting back against the steady drumbeat of anti-cigarette propaganda.

According to The Wall Street Journal, Philip Morris has launched a vigorous campaign to prevent discrimination against smokers. The tobacco company says anti-smoking zealots are harassing smokers and violating their civil rights.

A Philip Morris spokesman also maintains that when it comes to reporting the smoking story, the media are grossly unfair to the tobacco interests and support the "fringe element in the country today bent on modifying Americans' behavior to conform to their own interpretation of Utopia."

I wish the spokesman had said "some of the media" because I believe that anybody in this country who wants to smoke should be allowed to do so. I refuse to be lumped with zealots or members of the fringe element. While I am a born-again ex-cigar smoker, I would never take sides between those courageous people who have given up smoking and the weak, miserable wretches who are still addicted to this filthy habit.

The newspaperman's job is to be fair and impartial on any political issue, whether it is tobacco or Colonel Kadafi.

So I will first deal with the arguments in favor of smoking. Most people who smoke are walking time bombs waiting to go off, and the cigarette is the only thing to keep them from self-destructing. The country does not have enough mental institutions to take care of all the neurotic people who would have to be committed if they weren't permitted to smoke.

Smokers are among our biggest taxpayers. Through cigarette taxes they support schools, sewers and the hospitals they check into when they get sick from smoking.

Smoking contributes to the nation's economy. Cigarette addicts will spend their last dollar for a pack of smokes rather than throw it away on bread or milk.

One of the most telling health arguments in favor of smoking is that more women are doing it now than ever before. They wouldn't if it weren't safe, because women smokers are not dumb.

The more anxious people are about lighting up, the more they are bullied by nonsmokers who will not tolerate smokers in the same room. These nonsmoking zealots justify their rudeness by claiming they become dizzy from the fumes. This is a joke. It is a known medical fact that tobacco smoke cannot do any more physical harm to a nonsmoker than a glass of warm water from the East River.

The biggest fear of the tobacco companies is that if the nonsmoker is permitted to persecute the smoker today, he will persecute diesel trucks tomorrow and Consolidated Edison smokestacks next week. So the pro-smoker is fighting not just for his own rights, but the rights of everything that smokes in America.

Now let's be far to the other side. The nonsmokers are made up of wimps who sit around all day waiting for a smoker to pull out a cigarette. They are intolerant, selfish people. When asked why they object to someone enjoying a few puffs from the filter tip, all the nonsmoker can come up with is a weak, "I have asthma," which is no reason at all.

Besides the wimps, a large number of nonsmokers are reformed pufflers, who gave up the weed and now want everyone else to do the same. These people are unbearable because they not only ask smokers to put out their cigarettes but spend a half-hour telling them why they are no good.

So there you have it, the two opposing sides, each with their own truth: one composed of smoke worshippers, the other always praying for fresh air.

We, as Americans, should have tolerance for both — the side that believes in a long life, and the side that couldn't care less. No one has a monopoly on truth. The only thing we can all agree on is that the tobacco companies are not in business for our health.

Jack Anderson

Mussavi's family history soaked in blood, money

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — The Mussavi clan makes the most bloodthirsty Mafia family of fact or fiction look like a Cub Scout pack. The Mussavis, cloaking their homicidal anti-Americanism in the black robes of Shiite Moslem fundamentalism, have been responsible for the murders of 264 Americans in the Middle East.

As we've already reported, the Mussavis have more in common with the Corleones of "The Godfather" than with the dedicated disciples of the Prophet Mohammed. The Mussavis are seeking power and money, and they use the Ayatollah Khomeini's Islamic revolution as a convenient cover for building a family empire in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley.

Who are these people who have transformed shrill anti-American rhetoric into bloody bombings, airplane hijackings and kidnappings over the past three years? Here's a rundown on the most powerful Mussavis, gathered from intelligence sources we trust:

• Mohammed Mussavi, the family patriarch. A clergyman who went to school many years ago with Khomeini in the Iranian holy city of Qom. He joined Khomeini for a while in his Paris exile, which ended when the shah was overthrown early in 1979 and Khomeini returned to Tehran to seize power in the name of the Islamic revolution.

• Mohammed Mohsen Mussavi, the patriarch's first son to rise to prominence, came to public attention as Iran's charge d'affaires in Lebanon, an appointment undoubtedly greased by the fact that the Iranian prime minister is another family member, Mir Hussein Mussavi.

It may have been an inter-tribal rivalry that led to Mohammed Mohsen's kidnapping in 1982. He has not been seen since.

• Hussein Mussavi, another son of Mohammed Mussavi. A one-time schoolteacher, he broke with the mainstream Shiite movement in Lebanon, Amal, about the time that his brother was kidnapped. Hussein reportedly was unhappy with Amal's unwillingness to become more militant.

As a first gesture of independence, Hussein assisted in the kidnapping of David Dodge, acting president of the American University of Beirut. Dodge was lucky: He was released after having been taken secretly to Iran.

By late 1982, Hussein had gathered a bunch of fanatical followers ready to do his bidding. His headquarters was the ancient city of Baalbek in the Bekaa Valley, near the Syrian border. He named his splinter group Islamic Amal.

Our intelligence sources are convinced that Islamic Amal was responsible for the 1983 suicide bombings of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut and the Marine barracks at the city's airport. A total of 258 Americans died in the two blasts. One of Hussein's cousins, Abu Haydar Mussavi, reportedly obtained the pickup truck used in the Marine barracks bombing.

Although he disclaimed responsibility for the Marine bombing, Hussein did say: "I salute this good act." He was peripherally involved in the bombings that rocked American, French and Kuwaiti facilities in Kuwait in December 1983.

• Sheik Abbas Mussavi. This third Mussavi brother emerged in early 1984 as one of the three leaders of Hezbollah (Party of God) which was being transformed into a terrorist group. By no coincidence, Hezbollah came to terrorist prominence about the time that 17 suspects in the Kuwaiti bombings were arrested and convicted. Two of the 17 were Mussavi family members.

The sheik's Hezbollah terrorist group was involved in the 1984 bombing of the U.S. Embassy annex in Beirut and the hijackings of a Kuwaiti airliner in late 1984 and a TWA plane in June 1985. Release of the 17 terrorists held by Kuwait — and particularly the two Musavi clansmen — was a key demand of the hijackers in both incidents.

EXECUTIVE MEMO: The Federal Election Commission has enjoyed a solid reputation among reporters for the speed and accuracy of its responses to inquiries from the media. But that's all changed with the drastic budget cuts sweeping the government. The cut-back commission staff is so snowed under that what used to take 20 minutes to research now takes as much as four weeks. In another money-saving move, all information on elections before 1984 is being scrubbed from the computer system.

MINI-EDITORIAL: How stupid does the CIA think the American public is? To substantiate its denial that CIA-backed contras in Nicaragua execute prisoners by slitting their throats, the agency noted primly that the contras "are normally not equipped with either bayonets or combat knives." So what? Is the CIA seriously arguing that soldiers who want to cut someone's throat can't make do with a razor blade or a pocket knife? If the charge had been strangulation, would the CIA protest that rope or piano wire isn't standard issue for the contras? The CIA can deny the charges: it shouldn't insult our intelligence.

Around The Rim

They live at horror's gate

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
The horror grows with each minute that ticks off.

The telephone is always within reach.

You eagerly await any word from Dallas.

Your companions are your relatives, law enforcement officials and the mass media.

This is the world Gregg and Lisa Brooks of Big Spring currently reside in.

A niece of theirs, Christi Diane Proctor, age 9, has been missing since Saturday.

She was last seen at the corner of Waterfall Lane and Brookgreen in North Dallas on her way from a friend's house.

Christi is a Big Spring native and moved to Dallas in November with her mother Laura and her 5-year-old brother Adam.

Police and FBI officials so far have been unsuccessful in their search for Christi.

And the minutes tick off.

Lisa and Gregg talk about a phone call they received Thursday morning informing them that a body had been found Wednesday night by firefighters in a burning field east of Fort Worth.

Suspicions that it may have been Christi later proved false.

"You can't believe anything until it's true," said Gregg.

He is especially shook up about the incident, Lisa tells me. Gregg had been a father figure to Christi and Adam the last two years.

"Your wildest horrors come true," says Lisa behind a veil of tears when she talks about that phone call, "you get a sense that this is over. Thank God it wasn't her."

You think of dams bursting or castles crumbling.

Something has to break — but then again, it may not.

Who in their right mind could abduct a child if that indeed is the case?

"It's a sad commentary about our society," Lisa says, "Kids can't go out on the streets. You actually have to be scared of strangers."

"It's frustration mainly," Gregg says. "You hope for some kind of blind luck."

Silently weep and wonder. It's a horrible ordeal the Brooks are undergoing.

Add prayer to that weep and wonder. We're all pulling for Christi.

Today

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Feb. 21, the 52nd day of 1986. There are 313 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Feb. 21, 1965, Black Muslim leader Malcolm X was shot to death as he was about to speak to a rally of several hundred followers in New York.

On this date: In 1846, Sarah G. Bagley became the first female telegrapher when she took charge at the newly opened telegraph office in Lowell, Mass.

In 1866, Lucy B. Hobbs became the first woman to graduate from a dental school, the Ohio College of Dental Surgery in Cincinnati.

In 1878, the first telephone directory was issued, by the New Haven, Conn., District Telephone Company. It listed 50 names.

In 1885, the Washington Monument was dedicated in the nation's capital.

In 1916, the longest and bloodiest battle of World War I — the Battle of Verdun — began in France.

In 1947, inventor Edwin H. Land demonstrated his Polaroid Land camera, which used self-developing film that produced a black-and-white photograph in just 60 seconds.

In 1972, President Richard M. Nixon began his historic visit to mainland China.

In 1973, Israeli fighter planes shot down a Libyan Airlines jet over the Sinai Desert, killing more than 100 people.

Billy Graham

God's love will alter your mind

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: All my life I have felt useless. My parents divorced when I was very young, and I was just a burden to the relatives who brought me up. I am destined to be a failure in life. A friend in my office says I ought to turn to God, but that sounds too simple. — G.F.

DEAR G.F.: Let me use an illustration that might help you. Since you work in an office, you probably see computers every day. I don't pretend to understand fully how they work, but I do know this: when you hit a certain key the computer reacts in the same way every time. Why? Because it has been programmed to react that way. If, however, someone comes along who reprograms the computer it will react differently the next time the same key is hit.

Now something like that happens to us (although we are much more complex and wonderful than a computer, of course). Often the events of our lives have "programmed" us so that every time we face a problem or a challenge, our automatic reaction is to think: "I can't do that. I'm not worth anything or able to do anything." But that is not true! We react that way not because it is true, but only because we have been taught to react that way.

Let God help you change you thinking about yourself. God made you. He knows you and loves you with an infinite love.

REWARD MISSING PERSON

Missing posters for 9-year-old Christie Proctor have been posted as far west as Van Horn, including Big Spring, and throughout the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Christie, a former resident of Big Spring, disappeared in Dallas Saturday night.

More rewards offered to locate missing girl

Staff Writer

The Big Spring community has rallied to pledge support in efforts to locate 9-year-old Christie Diane Proctor, who was reported missing in Dallas Saturday night.

Christie is a Big Spring native and the granddaughter of Ralph and Lynnette Brooks, owners of Blum's Jewelers here.

She disappeared Saturday afternoon while walking a few blocks to her apartment complex from a friend's house.

Gregg Brooks of Big Spring, Christie's uncle, said this morning that posters with Christie's picture have been distributed as far west as Van Horn. They are being posted in truck stops and gas stations by concerned friends, he said.

They were distributed throughout Big Spring yesterday.

Brooks said he had spoken with his parents in Dallas this morning, and no new developments had been reported in the search for Christie.

Lisa Brooks, Christie's aunt, said the posters also have been posted throughout the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

In addition to a $5,000 reward posted by Ralph and Lynnette Brooks, other contributions have been pledged to the effort.

The board of directors at Citizens Federal Credit Union pledged $2,500 to the reward sum at a special meeting Thursday. Ralph Brooks is chairman of the board, said credit union president Jim Weaver.

Gregg Brooks said this morning that relatives of the family had added another $2,500 to the reward.

A special account has been established at First National Bank in Big Spring to handle donations for the reward, said Lisa Brooks. Persons wanting to contribute to the effort can call the bank, she said.

Texas Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzalez, the first Hispanic to serve on the court, said this morning he is by far the most qualified candidate for election to Place 4, the seat he now holds.

Gonzalez was in Big Spring to kick off his West Texas campaign. He was appointed to the state high court in October 1984 by Governor Mark White as the first Hispanic to serve on the court and the first to serve in a statewide elected office.

Asked why it took so long for a Hispanic to hold the position he seeks re-election to, Gonzalez said:

Mariachi band greet prince in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A day after cutting a giant cake at the state's capital to celebrate Texas' 150th birthday, Prince Charles flew to San Antonio today on the final stop of his four-city Texas visit.

Mayor Henry Cisneros, members of the San Antonio City Council, and a mariachi band greeted the prince upon his 10:40 a.m. CST arrival at San Antonio International Airport. A motorcade was waiting to take him to a minority-owned high-tech company on San Antonio's west side.

After lunch at San Antonio's Convention Center, Prince Charles was to visit a housing project before getting on a plane taking him to Palm Springs, Calif., his last stop before returning to England.

Among the crowd of about 200 people waiting at the airport for the prince's arrival was an 86-year-old British subject, Jessica Elvin. She moved to San Antonio two years ago to live with her daughter. She said she had seen him often in England, but came out today hoping to get a better view, since the crowds were always heavy in England.

"I think he's a wonderful young man," Mrs. Elvin said.

Prince Charles walked from the plane and stepped over to a chain link fence to shake hands with many in the crowd.

"I think there's a variety of reasons. Number one, we have many qualified Hispanics that have the capacity to serve in any statewide political office. However, we're just now beginning to get the acceptability, clout, power."

One of those with clout is Henry Cisneros, the popular Democratic mayor of San Antonio, who serves on Gonzalez's campaign committee as co-chairman.

"Mayor Cisneros is a very charismatic, qualified person, and I am delighted he's my campaign co-chairman," Gonzalez said. "He will be traveling with me part of the campaign during the final stretch."

Gonzalez said it is important for minorities in Texas that he win re-election. "I think it will be an indication that first of all we have something to contribute and number two that the door has been opened for minorities at all levels."

The experience Gonzalez talks of comes from private law practice, as a former city attorney, a former assistant U.S. attorney, a former judge of the 103rd District Court, and a former associate justice of the 13th Court of Appeals.

He explained that to be a judge takes a certain temperament not all lawyers have. He said he has proven himself, while none of his opponents in the Democratic primary have ever served as a judge.

Gonzalez is running as a Democrat, but said party politics do not enter into decisions rendered by the court.

"The party is a vehicle by which we get elected," he said.

A crisis in morality and with family values has brought on a heavier burden for the high court, he said. Many disputes, he argues, could be settled by the family, the church or by independent mediators. He said such mediation would ease the burden on the overloaded judicial system.

Whitten and 'his children' are making fame

By CARLEEN EVERETT
Lifestyle Editor

Pulling a standing ovation from a crowd that usually boos its performers off the stage is a feat that Joe Whitten Prison Ministries and "His Children" have accomplished.

"In the 50 prisons we have gone to, 99 percent of them were maximum security prisons. We sang in the Indiana State Prison where the average sentence in that room was 40 years. What a depressed group, but what a reception we received," Whitten said.

Joe Whitten and "His Children" is the only full-time prison ministry in the world, Whitten says. In November 1984, Whitten resigned from his music director position with the First Baptist Church and founded Joe Whitten Prison Ministry Inc.

"When I resigned I had no one to go with me, so I auditioned college students. I took 10 of them and traveled into 50 federal and state prisons and 30 churches along the way," Whitten said.

They completed their first six month tour in December and a new tour, which will begin in June, is in its planning stages.

Whitten said the highlight of the tour was when they were invited to sing for the ACA, the American Correctional Association. The ACA is made up of prison officials from all over the world.

"We're the only group they've ever endorsed and the only group who's sang for them," Whitten said.

This opened the door to many more prisons that the group will be singing for.

Joe Whitten and "His Children" is a non-profit organization. "Financially we're dependent on people's gifts," Whitten said. "Most people don't want to help inmates so we have two strikes against us," he added.

Whitten said they'll go as far as their money takes them. "It costs $12,000 just to go to New York and back," he said.

Out of the 50 prisons they have visited, they've eaten at 40 of them, Whitten said. "There are two reasons why I eat in prisons. One, the prisoners accept you better. They relate to you...you're not 'too good.' Two, it saves us so much money. Each meal saves $50 to $75," he said.

Whitten feels that ministering to inmates is important because "98 percent come back into society and if they don't change they'll get back into trouble."

After ministering at a prison, "We saw more than 700 inmates lift their hands as a commitment to turn their lives around to follow God," he said.

When inmates commit to follow God, they are told to go to the chaplain of their choice. "We don't push any one faith," Whitten said.

Virginia Whitten, Whitten's wife, also plays a large role in the ministering of inmates, Whitten said. "Half-way into the concert when I feel the people have accepted us. She gives a talk on her personal life experience and her battle with mental illness," he said.

Whitten said "Virginia can relate to these people. She tells them she knows what it's like to be locked behind bars. The only difference is she wasn't locked behind the bars of a prison. She was locked behind the bars of a sanitarium."

This year some of the members of the group are going to change. Whitten said he will let some members go two years, but wants to put a fresh group together every year.

Eight singers will make up "His Children" on the 1986 tour. They are Karen McDaniel of Houston, Becky Howell of Albuquerque, N.M., Joyce Jones of Odessa,

JOE WHITTEN
...ready for the next tour

Jeana Fox of Snyder, Chris Harwood of Big Spring, Mike Collier of Abilene, John Perterfield of Midland and Trent Green of Dallas.

They will tour at least 15 to 20 states. Part of the tour will include singing at the warden's convention for the ACA and a West Coast tour in August, Whitten said.

Church of God to host chili cook-off Sunday

The First Church of God, at the corner of 21st and Main, will be having their first annual chili cook-off Sunday.

Special music will be presented by the church and Pastor Delmer Loy will preach on "The progress of the fellowship."

Following the worship service a chili supper will be served in the Fellowship Hall. Members are urged to bring their favorite chili recipe for the contest. Ribbons for first, second and third place will be awarded.

Everyone is invited to attend the praise and preaching beginning at 5 p.m.

Texas bible bee begins

Kids for Christ International announces the kick-off of the 1986 Texas Sesquicentennial Bible Bee, an annual, interdenominational contest of bible skills in six categories.

Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys heads the contest as honorary chairman. State winners in the kids (grades 1-6) and teen (grades 7-12) divisions will win $500 and the grand championship trophy. The state finals at the Dallas Convention Center will be televised on a Dallas station.

Each participating church will hold a local Texas bible bee contest. Qualifiers advance to area, county, and regional competitions. Fifteen regional winners in each division will compete in the state finals Sept. 27.

Bible bee was conceived by Dr. Jack Gray, evangelist and president of Kids for Christ International, as a means of motivating children to learn the bible. The study book is designed to help parents begin to train their children in basic bible facts and passages.

"We are guilty of child abuse," Dr. Gray says, "if we neglect the spiritual training of our own children in the bible. You can see a black and blue little arm. You can't see a black and blue little spirit, but it's there just the same. This kind of neglect will reap horrible repercussions in the life of the nation and in the lives of the children entrusted to our care."

The Texas bible bee will give focus for parents and churches to the task of biblical training for children. "Our goal is to involve at least 78,000 children in 2600 churches," said Amy Simpson, bible bee director. "We want to promote constructive, ecumenical interaction on behalf of children through the administration of the contests beyond the local church."

Bible bee began in 1985 with a Dallas pilot, and plans are underway for Bible Bee, USA in the near future.

All Texas churches are invited to participate in the bee by enrolling through Kids for Christ International at 1212 Josey Lane, Suite 375, Carrollton, Texas 75006.

Lenten series continues

The Lenten series continues at St. Mary's Episcopal Church with the Rev. George von Hassell on Wednesday. He will present slides from Germany featuring the shrine of Altotting, St. Michael's church, an organ in Hamburg, a tour of the Alps, the Rhineland, West Berlin and other parts of Germany.

The series begins with a service of evening prayer at 5:30 p.m., followed by a potluck supper and the program beginning at 7. The public is invited to attend.

Religion Roundup

ISRAEL (AP) - A fishing boat believed to be from the period when Jesus traveled with his apostles on the Sea of Galilee has been found buried in the mud near the shore, an archaeologist says.

Farmers at this kibbutz (communal farm) on the northwestern shore of what is now called Lake Kinneret found the 10-yards-long, wooden boat about a yard under the seabed when they were trying to dig out a tractor stuck in the mud.

It is "probably of the Roman era" and "one of the fisherman boats used" during the period when Jesus ministered on the shores of the Sea of Galilee, says Avner Raban, a marine archaeologist at Haifa University.

The New Testament recounts several incidents when Jesus and his apostles, some of whom were fishermen, were in a boat on the sea, once miraculously quieting a storm when they feared for their lives.

Raban says the boat's shape and size suggest it was from the Roman era when Jesus preached in the area and that "it is possible that it might have been used by Jesus."

Archaeologists covered the boat, which has been preserved almost intact, with mud to help protect the find from damage, Raban said, with no plans to excavate it until November when the sea starts receding again.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) - A Christian cross on a New Mexico county's official seal, adopted about 60 years ago, has been ruled illegal by a federal appeals court.

The U. S. Court of Appeals ruled that Bernalillo County, which includes Albuquerque, was in violation of the constitutional ban against "establishment of religion" by using the cross on the county seal, which appears on all county vehicles, stationary and documents.

MACON, Ga. (AP) - C. Michael Blizard, who resigned as pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church, has pleaded guilty to theft from church funds and been sentenced to six years in prison. He was accused of stealing more than $58,000 from the church, including $522 donated by one member to buy Christmas turkeys for the poor.

NEW YORK (AP) - President Reagan urged all Americans to join in observing "Brotherhood-Sister" week Feb. 16-22, "recognizing that we are brothers and sisters, above all, because we are children of God and members of one common human family."

In a message to the National Conference of Christians and Jews, which sponsors the week, he said, it is an occasion to "honor the mosaic that is America...We are a nation that is truly 'one out of many.'"

WASHINGTON (AP) - U. S. Roman Catholic bishops have set up a committee to review their "conditional moral acceptance" of the U.S. policy of nuclear deterrence to determine if the conditions still are being met.

The bishops, in their 1983 condemnation of nuclear war and criticism of some U.S. nuclear strategy, had accepted deterrence as temporarily justifiable only if sincere steps were being taken to reduce nuclear arms.

Dear Abby

Country's stereotype angers Canadian

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you in the hope that this might appear in your column and educate some of your readers about Canada. I live in New Liskeard, Ontario, and every time I go to the United States, I get fed up with some of the people who think there is snow falling up here 365 days a year — that Canadians live in igloos, travel by dogsled and dress like lumberjacks. I met a girl in Alabama who thought Canada was one of the states in the United States!

We have beautiful summer weather when the snow disappears and is replaced by temperatures in the 80s or 90s. I don't know anybody up here who has ever traveled by dogsled. We dress like most Americans, and live in houses just like you do.

Why are you people so ignorant of us? The farther south I travel, the more ignorant the people are. Canadian schoolchildren learn about your country in school. Why don't your schools teach your children about us?

ROBERT S., ANNOYED CANADIAN
DEAR ROBERT: Obviously the ignoramus you've met in the United States are confusing Alaska with Canada. We do teach our children about Canada — but apparently we're not doing a very good job of it. I hope this inspires some of our schoolteachers to familiarize their students with our good neighbors to the north. They have long been our best friends.

DEAR ABBY: You told "The Women He Pushed Aside" that unless he was hypnotized or kidnapped, he was a free agent, thus perpetuating the common myth that a person in a hypnotic trance can be made to do things against his basic nature. This is not true. If it were, a criminal could be "made" not to break the law, lazy people could be "made" to be productive, and I would be a lot richer.

HYPNOTHERAPIST
DEAR HYPNOTHERAPIST: Men and women are not by nature monogamous, they are polygamous, so a man who has vowed to be forever faithful to one woman can conceivably stray while under a hypnotic trance since it is human nature to do so.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl who has baby-sat since I was 14 to earn money for college. I am reliable and really like children. Some places where I baby-sit I am expected to clean up the kitchen, do the laundry and even the ironing. I am never told that I have to do these extras — the lady just says, "After the kids are asleep, maybe you could do this or that?"

I never get paid extra for doing these things, but I always end up doing them anyway. I rarely watch television; I either do my homework or read because I want to be able to hear the kids if they wake up and need me.

If you print this, maybe it will help other sitters who have the same problem. Thank you for a whole lot of sitters.

ANYTOWN, U.S.A.
DEAR ANYTOWN: Cleaning up the kitchen and doing that laundry are domestic duties that no sitter should be expected to perform without extra pay. Sitters, stand up for your rights! When you accept a job, it should be clearly spelled out what your duties will be.

CONFIDENTIAL TO F.F. IN COLUMBUS, OHIO: Dare to aim high, and go for it! Nobody said it better than Billy Sullivan, owner of the New England Patriots: "Shoot for the moon. If you land in the stars, that's not bad company to be in either."

(Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. All correspondence is confidential.)

Dr. Donohue

Self-quiz is diet guide

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Just what happened to the old rule about getting "three square meals a day"? It seems to me that if we followed all the restrictions being recommended by the "experts" we'd be walking skeletons in a short time. What I'm asking is, after all's said and done, how does a person like myself know when he's getting short-changed diet-wise? — H.N.

Nothing's changed, really. The old verities concerning a "square diet" still hold true. I liked your letter, though, for it is representative of many I get on the subject.

The healthful diet still is described as the one including foods from the four main groups — meats, vegetables and fruits, dairy products, and cereal (grains). And the vegetables should include dark leaf and other kinds for completeness.

Just keep a record of what you eat in an average week or two. That should tell you if you are getting proper nutrition. You simply ask yourself if there are any of the four groups that you "never eat." If you answer affirmatively to any of them, then you are in danger of being improperly nourished, for each of these groups includes nutrients exclusive to it and whose absence can be dangerous.

That's really an oversimplification in a day of mass preparation and packaging, and where a simple can of tomato soup can contain important amounts of nutrients from non-vegetable foods. Read the contents of any canned foods and you'll see what I mean.

We get into nutritional difficulties today by avoiding things like fiber or by overdoing other substances, like fats and cholesterol and salt. But for the average person eating from the four main food groups, there is no fear of being undernourished. That's a very big "but," however. Just how many people are observing the basic rules is an open question.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I've read that sunlight provides vitamin D. I can't understand how something like sunlight can have vitamin in it. That's number one. My second question is, do you have to be out in the sun to get the vitamin? I have heard that window glass filters it out in some way. Please comment. My wife is elderly and housebound, and that is the reason for my concern. — B.W.

You get vitamin D from either food that contains it or by the action of sun on the body.

The sun's ultraviolet rays change a substance in the skin's cells, provitamin D, into the active vitamin. The rays of the sun that do this work are filtered out by ordinary window glass. So when the term sun exposure, is used, it means direct exposure.

How to recognize a quack when you see one.

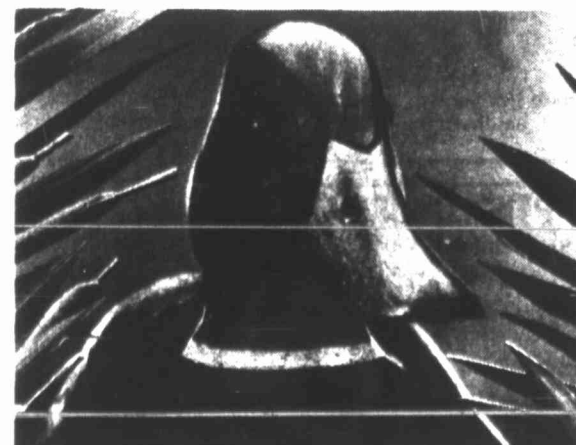

Quack medical products. They're everything from baldness remedies to cancer cures. All eventually prove to be a waste of money, many actually pose a serious threat to your health.

How do you distinguish a quack medical product from the real thing? For a start — if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is. Quack medical products usually claim simple solutions, miracle cures, or amazing scientific breakthroughs. Many flout testimonials from satisfied users. To be sure whether a medical product is a quack, check with your doctor or pharmacist first. Because the next dead duck could be you.

Steer swimmers set for 4-5A competition

By STEVE BELVIN

With such slim numbers on his swim teams, the farthest thought on Big Spring swim coach Harlan Smith's mind is winning the district swim meet in San Angelo this weekend.

What Smith is thinking of is seeing all individuals on his girls and boys teams to turn in season-bests. "There's no way we could win the meet for the simple reason we don't have enough kids," said Smith. "But I do look for us to improve our times, score a few points and get some people to regional."

Judging from their times this season, Smith has four possible candidates who could finish in the top six, qualifying for a trip to Lubbock on March 7.

Leading the way is Cade Loftin and Louis Morelton, both who qualified for regional last year. Loftin, a junior, finished third in the 100 yard butterfly and fourth in the 100 backstroke at the meet last year. Morelton, a senior diver, placed sixth in the one-meter springboard diving.

After a year's experience, both will be one of the favorites in their events.

Loftin brings best of 57.9 in the butterfly and 1:03 in the backstroke. "Those times puts him in the top three at district," said Smith. "Cade can go faster, how much faster I don't know. He gets up for the big meets. I'd like to see him go 56 in the butterfly and 58 in the backstroke."

Morelton has had a banner year himself by winning his share of dual and invitational meets. "Louis and a diver from Midland High are the top two in the district, he's beaten Louis once. If Louis puts it all together he can beat his school record of 297.15 and the district record of 395.15. A lot depends on how much he believes in himself."

Junior distance swimmer Scott Ferguson also has a good shot at regionals. Smith says if he has a good day his chances will zoom up. "Scott is a unpredictable swimmer, you really never know what he's going to do. If he just worries about swimming and nothing else, he'll do alright."

Ferguson brings bests of 2:10 in the 200 and 5:50 in the 500 races.

Junior Victoria Logan has been coming on strong of late and Smith expects her to challenge for a regional berth in the 100 backstroke. "Victoria's had this time block of getting below the 1:20 mark. She did it for the first time this week in practice. It will be a mental boost for her. If she relaxes, she's got a good chance."

A darkhorse for the girls team could be freshmen distance swimmer Susan Smichnick. She's made the finals in every invitational meet this season. She'll compete in the 200 individual medley and 500 freestyle.

Freshmen Annalisa Szabo, who competes in the 100 breaststroke, could also score points for Big Spring. Smith calls her one of his most improved pupils, indicated by her taking 17 seconds off her time from the start of the season.

Smith thinks the boys race will be a three-team affair between Central, Odessa Permian and Midland High; Central and Abilene Cooper are the favorites in the girls division.

Action gets underway at the Central swimming pool at 9 a.m. with swimming prelims. Diving gets started at 1 p.m. and swimming finals begin at 5 p.m.

Iraan runs past Forsan, 87-60

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

GREENWOOD — Like dashing greyhounds, the Iraan Braves raced past the Forsan Buffaloes 87-60 last night in Class A bi-district competition.

What started out like a easy game for Forsan ended up as a Iraan blowout as the Iraan half-court press forced 28 Forsan turnovers. The Braves' fast-paced offense never gave the Forsan defense time to relax. The net result: Numerous Iraan layups off Forsan blunders.

The Buffaloes jumped out to a fast 7-0 lead and stretched it to 16-7 by the end of the first quarter. David Henson, who led Forsan with 13 points, hit two baskets, Lee Morris added a bucket and Bruce Strickland made a free throw to give Forsan its quick lead.

Iraan, who ended the game shooting 51 percent from the floor, had a miserable first quarter. Only three of the Braves' 18 field goal attempts were on target. Meanwhile Forsan dominated the boards behind the play of Jason Donaghe and Bruce Strickland. Strickland pulled down 11 rebounds in the game while Donaghe collected 10.

But the first quarter would be the only bad quarter Iraan would have as its press confused Forsan and by the end of the game, it had coach R. L. Coates' Buffaloes completely frustrated.

The Iraan press started to take its toll at the start of the second quarter as baskets by Kirby Godfrey, Thomas King and Robert Clay cut the Forsan lead to 18-14. A few minutes later Iraan had its first lead of the game, 24-22; with three minutes left in the half.

From that point Iraan outscored Forsan 14-10 to take a 38-32 halftime lead.

Godfrey, King and Clay were three of the Iraan starting five that caused havoc for Forsan throughout the game. All Iraan starters scored in double figures.

Clay, a 6-2 senior forward, was Iraan's brightest star. Not only did he produce game-highs of 18 rebounds and 9 assists. He was 8 of 15 from the floor for 17 points.

Forward Chad Floyd and guard Chewy Ulate also had banner nights against the Buffaloes. After missing his first seven shots, Floyd hit 12 of his next 17 attempts to end the game with 23 points. Ulate ended the night with 16 points and 6 steals.

Iraan upped its lead to 56-46 going into the final quarter. Forsan made one last run at the start of the period. Strickland sunk a free throw, Morris scored a basket off a offensive rebound and Brant Nichols got a steal; resulting in a layup. This cut the Iraan lead to 58-51 after one minute of play.

But from that point it was all Iraan. Due to good offensive concept and aggressive defensive play, Iraan went on to outscore the Buffaloes 29-9 the rest of the way.

Iraan, now 19-5 for the season, advances to area play.

Forsan ends the season with a 17-8 record.

Maryland stuns Tar Heels in OT

By The Associated Press
After beating top-ranked North Carolina, Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell was in a reflective mood.

The Terrapins, down 72-71 in overtime, used Len Bias' jump hook with 1:51 left and Keith Gatlin's four points in the final seven seconds for a 77-72 ACC victory over the Tar Heels Thursday night.

Now in his 17th year at Maryland, Driesell's teams have been invited to the NCAA playoffs or NIT 15 times. Those teams included the likes of Tom McMillen, Len Elmore, John Lucas, Buck Williams and Albert King.

But Driesell's success against North Carolina and Coach Dean Smith has been limited.

"Thirty-five points more and we'd be 20-19 against North Carolina," Driesell pondered in the Maryland locker room after the victory. "That's since I've been coaching."

As Maryland coach, Driesell was 7-26 against Smith (prior to Thursday), while the remaining losses came while Driesell was at Davidson.

"Not too many teams beat the No. 1 team on their home court," said Driesell. "As a matter of fact, we've beaten a lot of number one teams in the country, but I don't believe we've ever beaten one on the road."

Elsewhere among Top 20 teams, No. 19 Michigan State upended seventh-ranked Michigan 74-59;

North Carolina's Jeff Lebo (14) is caught between Maryland's Tony Massenburg (25) and Keith Gatlin (3) during Thursday night's Atlantic Coast Conference game played in Chapel Hill, N.C. The Terrapins upset the top-ranked Tar Heels in overtime, 77-72.

No. 11 Nevada-Las Vegas routed New Mexico State 92-75; No. 12 Bradley outlasted Drake 88-79; and No. 15 Indiana nipped Illinois 61-60. With 2:58 left, Brad Daugherty scored on a dunk and the Tar Heels held their biggest lead of the second half at 68-59.

"We got behind ... and came back and went up," Driesell said. "The whole ball club played with poise."

Bias, who finished with 35 points, then went to work.

He canned a perimeter jumper, then stole the inbounds pass and jammed it in to get Maryland within 68-63 with 2:45 left. Jeff Baxter added a layup and the deficit was three.

Jeff Lebo hit the first of a one-and-one opportunity, but Bias came back with another jumper with 50 seconds remaining. Kenny

Smith missed the front end of a one-and-one and Baxter hit a 22-footer from the right side to force overtime with the score tied at 69.

Joe Wolf scored all of North Carolina's points in overtime, and his layup on a pass from Steve Hale gave the Tar Heels their last lead at 72-71 with 2:14 left.

Nehemiah, Gault reinstated by IAAF

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The International Amateur Athletics Federation made a decisive move today toward the reinstatement in track and field competition, including the Olympic games, of banned American hurdlers Renaldo Nehemiah and Willie Gault.

The 22-member Executive Council voted unanimously to change the IAAF rules in order to allow the reinstatement of Nehemiah and Gault, who were banned after signing pro football contracts.

Nehemiah plays for the San Francisco 49ers, and Gault for the Chicago Bears.

The decision of the council virtually opened the way for the return of Nehemiah and Gault to track and field, a highly placed IAAF source confirmed.

The change of rule recommended by the council will have to be approved at the IAAF congress in Stuttgart, West Germany in August, but this was considered only a formality.

After the congress, the council was expected to formally vote for the reinstatement of the two Americans.

"If the big-money making tennis stars are allowed to play in the Olympics, there is no reason why Nehemiah and Gault should be banned," Primo Nebiolo, the Italian president of the International Amateur Athletics Federation, said Thursday.

"John McEnroe, Ivan Lendl and Boris Becker make millions in tennis, their own sport, and they will be allowed to compete in the Olympics. Nehemiah and Gault make money in another sport, professional football, but they are amateurs in track and field. There is no logic in this position."

Nebiolo's comments followed the recent endorsement by the International Olympic Committee and President Juan Antonio Samaranch of a move to permit professionals to compete in the Games, subject to the approval of the governing bodies in their sport. Several sports, including tennis, have already approved the participation of professionals in the Olympics.

The rule change to clear the way for all pros is to be voted on at an Olympic meeting in October.

"The reinstatement of the two American hurdlers can come only after a resolution of our organization changing the rules," Nebiolo said.

Nebiolo said he urged the IOC and the international federations to come up with one standard rule on eligibility.

Nebiolo said the issue would be discussed at a meeting in Rome early in March of the Association of Summer Olympics International Federations.

Howard sweeps Clarendon

• Hawks dominate 'Dogs

CLARENDON — The Howard College Hawks continued their late season resurgence with a decisive 69-58 victory over Clarendon College Thursday night in Bulldog gymnasium. It was the Hawk's third Western Junior College Athletic Conference win in a row.

Howard took command of the game from the opening possession and never relinquished the lead. Clarendon cut the Hawk's lead to three points with eight minutes remaining in the first half but never got any closer the rest of the game.

The Hawks were led by sophomore post Walt Reynolds with a game-high 22 points and freshman post Mike Duran with 12 points. Reynolds and Duran were also instrumental in the Hawk's rebounding advantage over the Bulldogs.

Howard head coach Ed Sparling cited Reynolds and Duran for their excellent all-around games and point guard Vernard Goode for his outstanding floor game against the typically stingy Bulldog defense.

Sparling also cited freshman guards Walter Walker and Trey Hughes for their outstanding defensive work on Clarendon sharpshooter Virgil Reagins. Reagins came into the game averaging 23 points a game, but was held to a season-low 13 on the night.

Vincent Mason led Clarendon with 19 points. The Bulldogs dropped to 5-8 in WJAC play and 10-14 for the season.

Howard raised its record to 5-10 in WJAC play and 11-17 for the season.

• Queens win crucial tilt

CLARENDON — The Howard College Hawk-Queens made a big surge toward a region playoff berth as they defeated Clarendon 58-52 in a game that pitted two teams tied for fourth place.

The first four teams qualify for regional play and the win puts coach Don Stevens' troops in sole possession of fourth place with a 4-7 record. The Queens last regular season game will be Monday at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum against New Mexico Junior College at 6 p.m.

Clarendon, 3-7, has a makeup game with Western Texas Saturday and then closes out the season against No. 1 Odessa College on Monday.

"This was a pressure win, it was do-or-die," said Stevens. "I never thought we would be in the position we are in now. It's a big advantage for us now," he said of his team that raises its record to 12-17 overall.

The game was even all the way. The biggest lead either team had was six points. Howard took a slim 28-26 lead in the lockerroom at half.

Neither team shot well. Howard made 37 percent of their field goals while Clarendon shot 36 percent from the floor.

"It was a hard-fought game, I think my girls were trying too hard. The effort was there but we were pressing just a bit," said Stevens.

HC guard Terri Powell did have a good shooting night, making 9 of 15 field goals for 19 points. Lorri French added 11 points and 10 rebounds. Carolyn Willandl led Howard with 13 rebounds.

Clarendon forward Aretha Brown led all scorers with 28 points as the Lady Bulldogs to 3-7 in WJAC play and 11-11 overall.

Evert-Lloyd, Graf advance to Lipton tennis semifinals

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Top-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd and second-seeded Steffi Graf took different routes to the women's singles final of the $1.8 million Lipton International Players Championships tennis tournament.

Lloyd persevered to win a patience-straining two-hour, one-minute baseline battle with ninth-seeded Kathy Rinaldi 7-6, 6-1 Thursday night.

A few hours earlier, Graf made short work of seventh-seeded Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia, playing nearly flawless tennis on her way to a 6-2, 6-1 victory that lasted just 50 minutes.

The 31-year-old Lloyd, winner of 143 professional titles, takes on the 16-year-old Graf, who will be going for her first professional tour championship, in the final of this two-week, Grand Slam-size event Saturday afternoon, which will be televised nationally on ABC.

The men were scheduled to play their semifinals today, with top-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia going against No. 3 Jimmy Connors at 1 p.m. EST and No. 2 Mats Wilander going against fifth-seeded Stefan Edberg in a 7 p.m. battle of the Swedes. The men's final, which also will be televised by ABC, will be held on Sunday.

Lloyd must have felt as if she was looking in a mirror in her encounter with Rinaldi, who admits she styled her game after Lloyd. They traded two-fisted backhands and cross-court forehands in rallies that frequently topped 20 shots.

"Kathy played better than I expected," Lloyd said. "I've never played her when she's played that well. She just got every ball back in the first set. She didn't give me any cheap points. She didn't make any errors."

Early in the match, Rinaldi was more consistent than the woman whose top attribute is consistency. Rinaldi broke Lloyd in the fourth game to go up 3-1 and then had a game point to go up 4-1. But Lloyd pulled out the fifth game, winning on her second break point.

They served out the set to move into the pressure-filled tiebreaker. Lloyd took a quick 5-3 lead, only to allow Rinaldi to come back and move ahead 6-5.

Facing a set point, Lloyd said she resolved to hit a winner since Rinaldi was refusing to make mistakes. But Lloyd waited until her 21st shot of the all-important rally to strike, pounding a backhand winner down the line past a stunned Rinaldi.

"That was such a crucial point," Lloyd said. "When I was up 5-3, I was starting to get a little drained. I was hoping she'd make an error and I'd win it the easy way. But when she got up 6-5, I didn't want to wait for her to make mistakes any more."

A shaken Rinaldi hit two shots long to lose the tiebreaker 8-6. Even though she broke Lloyd's serve in the first game of the second set, she collapsed after that and didn't win another game.

"I definitely had chances in the first set," she said. "And when you have those chances, you have to make things happen against Chrissie. She's not going to make mistakes."

"I should have been a little more aggressive on set point. When I had her on the ropes, I should have finished her off."

Graf was aggressive from the first point of her match with Sukova. She lost her serve in the first game, but broke right back and then went to work. She pounded 16 outright winners with her potent forehand, and even got four winners with her usually defensive backhand.

Meanwhile, Sukova was struggling with her own service, hitting only 55 percent of her first serves and double-faulting five times.

Graf was on and Sukova was off, making for a short match.

"I really felt I couldn't miss, especially after the first set," said Graf, the 1984 Olympic gold medalist in the demonstration sport at Los Angeles. "I just played great."

"I can't remember when I've ever felt like that, especially against (someone like) her. She's a really good player."

Sukova, 19, was too stunned to be devastated. "She went so much for her shots, and all of them were going in," Sukova said. "This doesn't happen every day."

"She was returning well, so the pressure was on my first serve. That's why my first serve wasn't as good as my other matches."

Graf and Lloyd met three weeks ago in the final of the Virginia Slims of Florida, with Lloyd scoring a 6-3, 6-1 victory. The score was even at 3-3 before Graf lost her composure and dropped nine of 10 games.

"Steffi isn't as steady as Kathy, but she hits more winners," Lloyd said. "She has more weapons. It should be a tough match."

Last-second shot gives Pistons 6th straight win

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Pistons have won six straight games, thanks to a last-second play that has almost a half-dozen possibilities.

Joe Dumars sank a 22-foot jump shot from the baseline with one second left Thursday night, giving the Pistons a 109-107 NBA victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

NBA

Dumars took a pass from Isiah Thomas and connected from just inside the three-point line.

"That's one of those plays that has about four or five options on it," said Dumars, who scored Detroit's final six points. "The first option is for Bill (Laimbeer) to pick for Isiah and Isiah to drive. If he gets cut off, then he kicks the ball out. It felt really good when it left my hand."

In other NBA games, Denver beat Boston 102-100; Milwaukee downed Houston 120-113; Sacramento topped San Antonio 107-105; and the Portland at Chicago game was postponed because of heavy fog.

Detroit led 69-49 early in the second half on its way to its ninth victory in its last 10 games, and its 16th triumph in the last 20. The Pistons' current winning streak is their longest of the season.

Cleveland, faced with a large deficit, rallied to take a 104-103 lead on Mel Turpin's follow shot with 2:55 remaining. Dumars then made four straight foul shots before Turpin's three-point play with 40 seconds left tied it 107-107.

After the ball changed hands twice, Dumars got his chance to win it.

Kelly Tripucka led Detroit with 28 points and Thomas had 25.

Roy Hinson scored 21 for Cleveland. Eddie Johnson added 20 and Bagley 19 for the Cavaliers.

Cleveland played without its leading scorer, World B. Free, who was sidelined by a strained left calf muscle.

Nuggets 102, Celtics 100

Denver's Lafayette Lever made a 20-foot jump shot with 26 seconds left, breaking a 98-98 tie and sending the host Nuggets to victory.

Boston lost for the 11th time in 53 games. The Celtics have lost 10 times in 30 road games.

After Lever sent Denver ahead, Boston's Larry Bird missed a potential tying shot from 17 feet.

The Nuggets made a poor inbounds pass a few seconds later, but Bill Hanzlik slapped the ball off the leg of Scott Wedman of the Celtics, enabling Denver to retain possession.

Bird then fouled T.R. Dunn, who made two foul shots with 11 seconds remaining for a 102-98 lead. Robert Parish's tip-in with one second to play accounted for Boston's final points.

Alex English led Denver with 31 points and Calvin Natt had 18. Bird scored 17 points and had 16 rebounds.

Bucks 120, Rockets 113

Sidney Moncrief scored 28 points, helping Milwaukee extend its winning streak to seven games with a victory over struggling Houston.

The host Rockets, again playing without leading scorer Akeem Olajuwon, lost for the sixth time in nine games. Olajuwon is out at least three weeks with a knee injury.

The Bucks took charge with a 19-4 surge in the third quarter that gave them a 95-81 lead. Houston then countered with 10 straight points, but could not overcome the deficit.

Terry Cummings scored 21 points for Milwaukee. Ralph Sampson scored 24 for Houston before fouling out midway through the fourth quarter.

Kings 107, Spurs 105

Reggie Theus made all six of his free throws in the fourth quarter, leading Sacramento's strong foul-shooting effort that helped the Kings beat visiting San Antonio.

Sacramento made 11 of its 12 free throws in the fourth quarter, while the Spurs made only 7 of 15 from the foul line during the same period.

LaSalle Thompson's turnaround jump shot with 2:18 left gave Sacramento a 101-99 lead, and Eddie Johnson made two foul shots 47 seconds later for a four-point lead.

Theus, Mike Woodson and Johnson scored 18 points each for Sacramento. Alvin Robertson had 21 for San Antonio.

Portland Trail Blazers, ppd.

The Portland Trail Blazers made it to Chicago after playing the previous night in Philadelphia. But the Chicago Bulls, who played Tuesday in the Philadelphia, could not get home because their flight into O'Hare airport was canceled by heavy fog.

The postponed game was rescheduled for tonight in Chicago.

in the ACC regular-season race evaporate. The Tar Heels, 25-2 overall, fell to 9-2 in the ACC and dropped one-half game behind second-ranked Duke. Daugherty led the way with 23 points, while Wolf had 15 and Smith 12.

Gatlin added 10 points, as did Baxter and Gatlin. Maryland raised its record to 15-11, 4-7 in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

"I told them all this year that this year's team is better than last year's team or just as good as last year's team that won 25," Driesell said. "We've played the toughest scheduled in the country and I think it's paid off for us."

Top Ten

No. 19 Michigan State 74, No. 7 Michigan 59

At Ann Arbor, junior guard Darryl Johnson scored 26 points to lead the Spartans in Big Ten Conference game. The victory raised Michigan State's record to 18-6 overall and 9-5 in the Big Ten. Michigan, which fell to 22-4 and 10-4, suffered its first home loss of the season. The Wolverines had won 24 straight at Crisler Arena.

Johnson took control after a Richard Rellford layup gave Michigan a 43-40 lead with 17:51 remaining. He scored the next eight points of the game — all on layups — and the Spartans led 48-43 with 14:11 left.

Second Ten

No. 11 Nevada-Las Vegas 92, New Mexico St. 75

At Las Vegas, junior guard Freddie Banks scored 25 points, including five three-point goals, to pace the Runnin' Rebels.

The triumph enabled the Rebels to clinch their fourth straight PCAA title.

No. 12 Bradley 88, Drake 79

At Peoria, Mike Williams scored 26 points and Jim Les added 20 as Bradley, 27-1 and 14-0 in the conference, extended the nation's longest winning streak among Division I colleges to 18 games.

Drake was ahead 42-37 at the half and led by as many as seven early in the second half. But Bradley overcame the deficit mostly on the strength of three critical second-half steals by sophomore guard Hersey Hawkins and two by Williams, coupled with Drake's foul trouble and Les' 75-percent shooting from the foul line.

No. 15 Indiana 61, Illinois 60

At Champaign, Indiana failed to score in the final five minutes of the game, but managed to hold on and took the lead in the Big Ten.

Following Michigan State's victory over Michigan State, the win improved Indiana's record to 18-5 overall and 10-3 in the conference.

The Illini trailed by 61-56 with five minutes left and lost their chance to win when Tony Wyringer's jump shot at the buzzer fell short.

With 43 seconds left in the game and Indiana leading by one, the Hoosiers were called for a backcourt violation. But after the officials huddled, the call was reversed and Indiana was allowed to keep the ball.

Others

LSU sophomore forward John Williams scored 25 points and guard Derrick Taylor added 20 as the Tigers stopped Vanderbilt 74-68. The victory allowed the Tigers to improve to 20-8 overall and become only the eighth basketball team in LSU history to post 20 victories in a season.

Sophomore guard Troy Lewis scored 20 points as Purdue staged an 85-79 comeback victory over Ohio State in Big Ten Conference game. The Boilermakers improved to 20-7 overall and 9-5 in conference play, moving into a third-place tie with Michigan State in the Big Ten.

Senior guard Anthony Watson scored a school-record 54 points to lead San Diego State to a 138-93 non-conference victory over visiting United States International University. Watson not only broke the single-game scoring record of 44 points set by Kim Goetz against Utah in the 1978-79 season, but with 22 of 23 free throws he eclipsed the school standard of 16 foul shots in a game set by Michael Cage against Florida State in the 1982-83 campaign.

Pole vaulters to renew short rivalry

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Sergei Bubka and Billy Olson, having engaged in a duel of words, tangled in the pole vault tonight at the Los Angeles Times-GTE Indoor Games.

"He's never won the Olympics or the world championships and hasn't even made his national Olympic team," Bubka, from the Soviet Union, said of Olson. "The competitions where he's set his (indoor) records are minor competitions."

"If Billy Olson were ever in a major championship competition, he wouldn't even know which direction to go on the runway," Bubka said.

"I guess I didn't know where the pit was at the Millrose Games, either," Olson said later, referring to his recent victory over Bubka in the controversy-marred pole vault in New York.

"I guess maybe I don't have any talent. I've always thought Sergei was a nice guy," said Olson. "Maybe he realizes now that I'm not so easy to beat."

Olson, Bubka and Joe Dial, who's also entered in the meet, have taken turns elevating the bar to world indoor bests this winter. Bubka has upped the standard twice, Olson has bettered the mark four times, and Dial held the honor briefly.

Olson currently owns the world indoor best of 19 feet, 5½ inches, set two weeks ago.

Although the three vaulters have had spectacular 1986 indoor campaigns, they've faced each other just once — in the Millrose

Games in New York — with controversial results.

A dispute arose when officials allowed Olson and Dial additional jumps after ruling that photographers had interfered with their approaches. Bubka complained heatedly and also was given an extra jump, but he failed to clear a height on any of his four attempts.

Olson won with a vault of 19-0.

Then in Chicago, where the three were scheduled to meet again last Sunday, Olson said he was tired and didn't compete. Dial pulled out because his poles didn't arrive.

Bubka won with a vault of 19-0½.

Also in the first-rate field for the pole vault at the Forum meet are 1984 Olympic champion Pierre Quinon of France and Vasily Bubka of the Soviet Union, Sergei's older brother.

The Forum meet also features the men's mile, with a strong field headed by four Irishmen — Eamonn Coghlan, Ray Flynn, Marcus O'Sullivan and Frank O'Mara.

In the women's high jump, Tamara Bykova of the Soviet Union, who owns the world indoor best of 6-8, will face a field that includes Louise Ritter and Debbie Brill.

Two share LA Open lead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dennis Trixler found himself in a strange position after the first round of the Los Angeles Open.

"I don't recall ever being in the lead at the final hole," said Trixler, who shot a 5-under-par 66 Thursday to share the opening day's lead with Jay Delsing, another player seeking his first PGA victory.

"I feel like it's starting to be my turn," added Trixler, who has earned a less-than-staggering sum of $959 on the tour this year.

He had the LA Open lead to himself heading into the final hole, but three-putted from 35 feet to slip back into a tie.

The 28-year-old Trixler, who collected $12,207 in prize money last year, said he's most concerned with staying on the tour.

"I don't want to go back to (qualifying) school. That's bad," he said.

Trixler's best finish last year was a tie for 36th in the B.C. Open. Interestingly, Delsing's top finish also came in that tournament, as he led midway through the event and wound up in a seventh-place tie.

Delsing, son of former major league baseball player Jim Delsing, said he had liked baseball more than golf, but took up golf because "I wanted something I could do by myself."

His father was an outfielder who had stints with a number of big-league clubs including the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers.

A former UCLA golfer who frequently played at Riviera with the Bruins, Jay was faced with another choice when he came out of high school in St. Louis. At 6-foot-5, he was a promising basketball player. But he decided to stick with golf.

"In the first month at UCLA, I knew pretty well that I'd made the right decision," said Delsing, 25.

Heading into today's second round, Mac O'Grady and Bob Gilder were two strokes back of the co-leaders with first-round 68s.

Another shot behind at 69 was a group that included Johnny Miller, Lennie Clements, Doug Tewell and Jim Dent.

Lanny Wadkins, who won the 1985 LA Open with a sizzling 20-under-par total of 264, shot an even-par 71 Thursday.

Hal Sutton, the tour's leading money-winner so far in 1986, struggled to a 79.

The $450,000 tournament, which concludes Sunday, has a winner's prize of $81,000.

Bookstore caters to Hispanic Christians

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — No crucifixes adorn the walls at the Manatíal de Vida — streams of living water — Hispanic Christian bookstore.

No votive candles line the racks. Rosary beads do not clutter the tables.

Gone are the trappings of Catholicism. That absence, said the operators of the store on West Eighth Street in Odessa, is one of the more obvious signs of their reborn faith.

Manatíal de Vida, in other words, is a store not just for those of the Catholic faith — the religion embraced by many of the world's Hispanics — but for Hispanic Christians of all denominations, say operators Joe and Nelida "Nellie" Arana.

The 30-year-old Joe Arana, an Alpine native who earns his living selling insurance, said that, like most Hispanics, he was brought up in the Catholic church.

Today, he attends the First Assembly of God Church along with his wife. Both teach a Sunday School class for 14- to 17-year-olds.

The Aranas say they are among a growing number of Hispanics to turn from traditional religion toward what they consider a "personal" faith.

"It's just Christian," Mrs. Arana said. She said it is a misconception that all Hispanics are Catholic.

"People are hungry for the word of God," Arana added. He was quick to point out that he's not trying to say Catholics don't Nelida and Joe Arana pose in their Christian Bookstore in Odessa. The store specializes in Christian literature written in Spanish.

embrace God's word.

"It's just that (many Hispanics are) looking for something different, and that's when they have a personal encounter with Christ," he said.

Spanish-language Bibles and Spanish-language plaques bearing well-known Bible quotations take the place in the Aranas' store of medicinal herbs and votive candles found in many other Hispanic religious bookstores.

The books, written in Spanish, bear titles familiar to many Christian readers: "Las Cruz y el Dólar," or "The Cross and the Switchblade," for example, and "Corre! Nicky, Corre!" or "Run! Nicky, Run!"

Spanish translations of books by James Dobson, a minister who produced a film series on family life, elbow for space with books by evangelist Billy Graham.

In a sunlit back room, Spanish records and tapes fill cabinets and spill over into several racks.

In a black dress and black heels, Mrs. Arana smiles wryly as she recalls phone calls from Odessans who obviously misunderstood the 2-year-old store's purpose.

A sign in front bears both the store's name, Manatíal de Vida, and the explanation, "Librería Y Discoteca Cristiana," or Christian book and record store, Mrs. Arana pointed out.

Some passers-by must miss reading the word "Cristiana," Mrs. Arana speculated, because she has received calls asking whether the store sold the Spanish-language edition of "Playboy" magazine.

Other would-be customers walked inside the store for a quick survey before walking back outside. Those people may have wanted "hiervas," or medicinal herbs traditionally found in Spanish bookstores, the Aranas speculated.
