South Sea Isle is Locale for Film

A mythical South Sea paradise provides an exotic background for Universal's "Cobra Woman," latest Technicolor production to star the popular trio, Maria Montez, John Hall and Sabu.

Action of the picturesque drama centers around the romantic affairs of a glamorous princess and her twin sister, Miss Montez is seen in both portrayals. The actresses, who scored outstanding successes in "Arabian Nights" and "White Savage," is said to be even more colorfully attractive in "Cobra Woman."

Hall is seen as a valourous islander who helps to stage a rebellion against a cruel monarch and her unscrupulous Minister of Affairs.

Lavish settings and the brilliant costumes of the multitudes of dancing girls enhance the effectiveness of the picture.

A Switch in Time saved Mine... I'm not losing face. I guess you've seen pictures of those real ancient cars that are quite a fad with some prominent people. I'm no big shot, but folks envy me, even at that, for keeping this car like an heirloom. Oh, some say that any good motor oil would largely do the trick, and they're welcome to believe it. I simply say this: Keeping my engine OIL-PLATED ever since I switched to Conoco Nth motor oil, has helped me beat the curse of engine acids. I got wise that acids from combustion always try to corrode an engine's inside finish, but OIL-PLATING furnishes special protection. A synthetic in Conoco Nth oil, I've learned, behaves almost like magnetism. This makes the working parts attract OIL-PLATING, and hold on to it. It's fastened as closely as chrome plating to keep metal under cover from acids. That would certainly be a check on corrosion, from the minute you switch to an OIL-PLATED engine. So just get Conoco Nth motor oil.

HURRY UP, AMERICA! GIVE HIM YOUR ANSWER!

the Fifth War Loan Drive ends July 8th!

AMERICANS!

You in the factories. You in the offices. You on the farms. You in the homes.

You cannot—you must not—fail to get behind your fighting man in this supreme, heroic hour.

He knows what's ahead.

Bloody, bitter fighting... superhuman toil... hardship... pain... perhaps death.

He's facing it. He'll keep on facing it, as long as there's breath in his body and blood in his veins.

But he wants to know what's behind him.

And you have only a few days left to give him the answer.

That answer will be written in the final figures on the Fifth War Loan Drive.

For this is the crucial, the all-important Drive. Never has the need for War Bond buying been so great.

To make the Drive a success, you—and everyone else—must buy at least twice as many Bonds as you bought in the last drive.

If you haven't yet bought your full share, DO IT NOW! The time is short! Make YOUR supreme effort in HIS supreme hour!

Remember—a soldier, your soldier, is waiting for his answer.

What will it be... from you?

- And here are 5 MORE reasons for buying EXTRA Bonds in the 5th!
1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
 2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
 3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
 4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the War.
 5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

Back the Attack! - BUY MORE THAN BEFORE

QUOTES OF THE WEEK

"They are the guys that wars can't be won without."—Ernie Pyle, speaking of the infantry.

"Obviously, industrialists cannot perfect their plans until they know what the nation's policy is going to be. And if they wait too long it may be certain that unemployment will be large in the postwar period."—Ralph Hendershot, financial editor.

"We forgot to hold the election."—Cascade, Idaho, officials when asked for primary results.

"Severe jolts in contract terminations and lack of planning might wreck our economy for years to come."—William L. Batt, vice-chairman, WPB.

"Our present system of taxation is one part tradition, one part political expediency, one part utter confusion."—Elmo Roper, public opinion poll specialist.

"For the sake of all of us, but mostly for the sake of our soldiers and sailors, let us hurry, hurry, hurry not only in winning the war but in being ready for the peace."—Bernard M. Baruch and John M. Hancock.

"The boys in the Navy are getting pretty hostile about being denied even 3.2 beer."—Navy officer re brewery strike in Newark, N. J.

"We heard of a fellow who tried to break a will because his father had left him cash instead of a good used auto."—H. I. Phillips, columnist.

"Mother, I did not lose my leg, but I gave it for my country, and I'm soon going to be all right again."—Marine Pfc. Joseph G. Rucker, who landed on Tarawa.

"People in the postwar world will be very much the same as they are today. There will be little change in the fundamentals that govern their activities."—Robert M. Gaylord, pres., National Association of Manufacturers.

"Surrender and bring your mess kits with you."—American propaganda leaflets being shot into enemy lines in Normandy.

Mrs. W. C. Herndon and daughter Ann, Mary K. Allen and Mrs. W. H. Lance and daughter Joyce, drove to Amarillo, Sunday where Ann took the train for Austin, to enter Texas University. Bow Your Heads

THIS is Invasion! Now in the hearts, brains and muscles of our American Youth lies the future of our country.

Bow your heads. Pray with millions of mothers the country over, as their hearts reach out over the seas, each one seeking out her boy, to protect him with the shield of her love.

Believe that in this world there is definite strength in decency and honor. Believe that in our devotion there is moral force. Believe that our will to victory will aid that victory.

Seek and ye shall find!

Let us seek added strength and fortitude for our men in our own sacrifice and devotion.

Let us focus every thought, every action, and every prayer on the boys fighting for us.

And, while each one bends to his task with ever-growing fervor and energy, let us adopt a common symbol as our faith in Victory.

Let that Symbol be War Bonds. Let us pour our money in a gigantic flood of goodwill toward our sons and brothers, as a spiritual shield for them.

This is the Invasion. The lives of our boys are at stake. Let them see that the Soul of America is with them.

Let it not be too late... not next month, next week, or tomorrow, but today... now.

Out-door Supper Entertains Guests
Miss Maina Caldwell was a charming hostess when she entertained Tuesday evening with an out-door supper on the lawn of her home, 1001 Southwest Second street, in honor of Mrs. David Shanks Jr., a guest in the Dave Shanks home, and Miss Onnie Pae Garrison of Wichita, visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Garrison.
Those present were the honorees, Mrs. Shanks, and Miss Garrison, Mrs. Ken Fuelscher, Miss Eugenia Mitchell and Miss Caldwell.
Bessie Mae Love, Miss Georgia Hurlhey, Miss Helen Mannen, Kern Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Perry and Gene, and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart.

Mrs. Jerry Gerard Complimented With Party
Mrs. Carl Ellis and Mrs. G. W. Acker entertained Tuesday afternoon with a lovely bridge party in the Ellis home, 500 Southwest Third street, complimenting their sister-in-law, Mrs. Jerry Gerard, of Oklahoma City.
A Fourth of July theme was carried out in the bridge appointments and the attractively wrapped score awards presented to Mrs. Gerard, Mrs. Apple and Mrs. Herndon. A tasty refreshment plate was served after the games.
Seated with the guest of honor were Mesdames H. J. Boisdorf, W. L. McConnell, Max Boyer, Vance Apple, W. H. Pattison, David Shanks Jr., H. M. Sanford, Bob Logan, D. D. Shanks, Roy Sanford, Ken Fuelscher, W. C. Herndon, George Clennan, Cecil Dodd and Aleena Triplett.

Miss Buller Weds Arthur V. Johnson
Wedding vows were exchanged in the Saron Mennonite church at Orienta, Okla., Thursday evening, May 25, at 8:30 o'clock, uniting in marriage Miss Clarine Buller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Buller, and Arthur V. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Johnson, Meno, Okla.
A background of beautiful bouquets and soft candle light formed the setting for the single ring ceremony, performed by Rev. H. P. Faust, pastor of the church the bride attended. The couple knelt on a white kneeling rug for prayer which added special blessing to the occasion. Preceding the exchange of vows, Rev. H. V. Schmidt, pastor of the bridegroom's church, gave a short message on "Me and My House Shall Serve the Lord." Eleanor Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, played the hymn, "He Ledeth Me." Frances Buller, sister of the bride, and Lorraine Lorenz, cousin of the groom, lit the candles. At the conclusion of the ceremony, Frances Buller and Lorraine Lorenz sang, "Trust Him, Just For Today."
The bride wore a floor length dress fashioned of fitted bodice, and sweetheart neckline. Her train was made of white crushed rayon. She wore a necklace of three strand pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. A beaded tiara held her veil in place. She carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas, pink and white streamers intertwined from the bouquet.
Albua Mae Buller, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Orla Ann Faust was bride's maid. Vernon V. Buller served as best man. Eldo and Norman Buller acted as ushers.
Mrs. Johnson, a former student of Perryton high school, graduated with the class of 1940.
Mr. Johnson graduated from Meno high school and Bible Academy.
A reception for relatives and friends was held in the church basement following the ceremony.

Your Refrigerator NEEDS "BREATHING SPACE"

Air space in back of your refrigerator and over the top is important . . .

Because the mechanism, which is usually at the base of the cabinet, requires free circulation of air so that heat removed from food compartment may be carried away.

Check your refrigerator's location. If air cannot flow freely from under the base . . . to the rear . . . and up the back . . . circulation is retarded.

Do this — move refrigerator or adjust surroundings to provide free air circulation. If possible, choose a location away from a hot stove, direct sunlight or other heat source.

Get This FREE Booklet on Refrigerator Care!

It tells you ten simple things you can do to keep your refrigerator operating smoothly and economically for the duration. Ask for your copy at our office today. You'll find information in it of value regardless of what make refrigerator you own.

Christian Science

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 9.
The Golden Text is: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me" (Psalms 51: 10).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him" (John 4:23).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We worship spiritually, only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual de-voutness is the soul of Christianity" (page 140).

Our Defenders Speak!

The Herald asks that men and women from this community serving in the armed forces write letters to this department for publication. Letters to relatives that would be of interest to the public will be published under this heading.

Dear Friend: June 10, 1944

I was no little pleased to find six copies of the Perryton paper at mail call today. They were like letters from home. They really mean a lot to a person that is so far from the good old States.

From what I hear the county has a very good chance of an abundant wheat crop this year. That really sounds good, here's hoping for the best. I guess by the time you receive this the harvest will nearly be over. Any how, I am planning on being there for the next one.

Van, the country here is much like the beautiful South Sea Islands. Though for the life of me I can see nothing beautiful about it, mostly because of the flies and mosquitoes. I have been to Guinea a few times and it is no better. I guess in a weird sort of way you could call it beautiful as you fly over it, but on the ground it is something else.

I have been on quite a few combat missions and they are always filled with adventure, one sort or another, but dropping bombs really puts a good feeling in a person.

We just came back from Adelaide on leave. It is really a nice town or city I should say. The people were really swell to us. It hardly seems possible to have winter in June and July but that is what it is and pretty cool at that. It is quite a modern city and if the people would drive on the right side of the street, you could hardly tell it from a city in the States.

Well, Van, it is getting late so I will close thanking you and the people from home who make it possible for the boys overseas to get the home news.

Sincerely,
T/Sgt. Edward L. Pails

Dear Van and Jessie: I received my first copy of the Herald sent air mail three days ago. It was the April 27 issue, and both envelopes arrived at the same time. Then today I received the April 13 issue. Boy, this mail service is something! However, I think it is getting straightened out somewhat now, so maybe I will get mail a little quicker now. Hope so!

Noticed S. N. Henry has been discharged. He seemed to want to stay in when I talked to him. Saw in the same paper where you had received some copies of "Guinea Gold." Have been intending to send you one myself, but let Holland beat me to the draw! But I'll not be outdone, I'm sending you a copy of our own paper. Of course, it isn't as nice as "Guinea Gold" but it is pretty interesting to me. There was one recent issue I wanted particularly to send but couldn't get one. Paper is so scarce that it really is scarce, so they can't run off very many copies. And that reminds me of something.

I am now working in the maintenance section as parts man. I have to take blank paper and rule off my own forms. I made them up myself—just like I wanted them. That's one instance where being a printer has been a help to me in the Army. But to continue, they give us about a hundred sheets at a time to be split up between about four of us. Can you imagine how I look at 25 sheets of paper after handling tons of it? I laugh every time I start to rule off a sheet. Doing my own "printing" has one advantage—I can make any corrections very easily.

I'm wondering if you ever received some pictures I sent you? I sent Dorothy some at the same time and she has already written that she received them. She has sent me some films and I hope one of these days I get them and will take some pictures myself. She could get only two rolls, however, so unless she gets some more, I won't take many.

Have you got the new press running yet? Guess the place will really seem strange when I see it next. I found a fellow in my outfit the other day who worked in a shop in Denver as a pressman and in the binderery. Most of his press work was on a Harris offset press. We have had some real bull sessions, believe me!

Guess harvest won't be far away when you get this. Doesn't seem possible it is that time. Notice, wheat was $1.47 the last of April. How do crops look? Dad writes that things look very good in Gray County. Am about out of soap. Haven't said much, but just wanted to let you know I got the paper. Hoping this finds all in the best of health, and not too over-worked. I'll sign off for now.

As ever,
Jake

Dear Van:

I am sorry that I haven't written you sooner to give you my change of address, but I have been moving around pretty fast and don't have too much time. W. C. Wilson and Henry Richardson are both in a basic engineering school. I see them pretty often. Sam Fort is out here in boot camp. I haven't got to see him as he is still in detention. He should get out of there this week and I hope to see him then.

I am going to a Radar Operators School. I graduate July 4 if I can master it and I am sure I can. I like it, even though it is pretty complicated.

Van, tell all the boys at Rotary that I send my regards, and hope to see them all in the near future. The Herald is the best weekly I have seen since I've been in the Navy.

Hi Van:

Well, am still up and around even though I am getting one h— of a lot of bug, ant and mosquito bites. I think that these insects here have about given up hope. When they bite a "Yank", they just lay down and die for we now have enough poison in our systems to kill most anything.

You know for a land lubber like myself, that never saw any more water than a good sized horse tank would hold, before I got in the Army. I sure have traveled a lot of miles on water over here the last year. As near as I can figure out I have traveled about 10,000 miles on water alone and so far have been very lucky not to have been torpedoed or bombed. Of course, we have had a lot of alerts while aboard ship. For a guy like myself that can't swim a stroke, when one of those alerts is sounded you kinda wonder how long that life jacket will hold you up. Hope I never have to use it.

Sure did have an interesting time the past month—kinda rough at times and we postponed a couple of meals for awhile but all in all it was o.k. We had so many air raids that we could almost set our watches every night when they came over. At the present time, it is nice and peaceful in our area with the exception of Japs that wander in, then the excitement is fast for a few minutes but gets quiet after awhile.

Say Van, you should see a couple of boats that I "borrowed". They are, or rather were, Jap boats and they are swell. We use them to fish, or just row along the shore. That is one way that we spend our extra time and another is hunting. It was rather quiet around camp this evening so a few of us decided to go "wild pig" hunting—never got any but sure did have a tough walk through the swamp. We are going back again in the morning. Damn foolish to go wandering around in there for there are still lots of Japs. Never know when you might stir up a nest of them. You could get within twenty feet of them and not know it if they didn't start shooting or you smell them. Yes, they smell in more ways than one. But don't let any one kid you, they are wonderful jungle fighters and this is jungle of the worst kind.

A few deer around here too! All of us are trying to kill them to find out what some kind of meat, except "Corned Willy" tastes like—Have almost forgotten. Noticed some chickens out here in the bushes the other day, but there is one little drawback—they are near the General's quarters. If I am in the guard house next letter you get from me, you will know that I had a chicken dinner.

By the way, I'll bet I am sleeping on better sheets than a lot of people—silk, straight from Japan. Lots of parachutes in the area so we use them for sheets.

Will let you know whether or not we get any "pigs", Japs, deer, chickens or just a lot of bug bites.

Sincerely,
Sgt. Wilbur Holland

Don't Waste Gas

Gas is pinch hitting on the industrial front all over America, taking the place of other fuels which cannot supply the need of war time demands. Those who are using gas for fuel occupy an enviable position. There may be shortages of other fuels until the war is won, but natural gas should be available in sufficient quantities.

Letters from Men in Service

Dear Grandpa and Ma:
From the letters I get, it sounds like everything must be in good shape there. I guess the grass in the pastures is getting pretty and green by now. Maybe this time next year, I will be back in the States where I can see it. I am fairly well getting tired of looking at these jungles and never being able to see very far.
Right now I am in a tree that we have a big platform in so we can cover all the country for miles around but all you see is tree tops. This tree is on a small hill and the platform is 85 feet off the ground. The tree is a mahogany and is between 5 and 6 feet through. The way we get up here is with a rope pulley.

Sunday, I had the rifle up here and a dove landed in the tree right next to me. So I shot at it. By accident, I killed it. I dressed it and we had it for breakfast the next morning. We also had a big white sweet potato we had carried in from a native garden. It was really good after eating canned stuff as long as we have.

They are having every one that has a skin infection come around every night and be painted. Maybe now I can get rid of these ring worms I have. Most of them are pretty well dried up now.
Well, I better quit and take another look around.

Yours,
Chester

Dear Mr. Stewart,
I haven't written you in sometime, so I'll drop you a line while I have a little time of my own.
I'd like to thank you and the USO for making it possible for us servicemen of Perryton to receive the Herald. I haven't received the paper for the last few weeks; it isn't any fault of yours because I haven't given you my new APO number. The Herald is one of the few things that keeps us in touch with Perryton and some of our friends.

I received a letter from Jack Morris Allen the other day. I don't think he is very far from where I'm stationed. We are going to try to meet in London one of these days.
I understand that the prospects are good for a very good wheat crop. I surely would like to see a good crop again. I know I'd enjoy helping harvest it.
Well, I'm out of anything to write so I'll close for this time.

Sincerely,
Irvin Williams
Italy
June 18, 1944

Dear Mother and Dad:
How is everyone there today? Fine I hope. I'm well and am O. K. I hope papa is feeling better now.

This looks like it will be a pretty day, it is a little cold though.
Well today is Father's Day and I surely hope that papa and all of you will enjoy it. I think the chaplain is going to hold services this morning and if he does, I will try to go.
Say we can tell now about being in on the Rome deal. It wasn't bad and the Germans really did lose the equipment and men. Rome is a beautiful city. It is the prettiest city I have seen since being overseas.

What surprised me was, how modern it is. It is the cleanest city I have seen in Italy. As we passed through it, the people lined the streets and we could hardly get through with the equipment. They threw flowers at us, and they really treated us nice and were friendly.

I took several pictures there and I had them developed and printed. They turned out swell. I asked yesterday if they would go through the mail and they told me I would have to wait awhile before sending them. One of the pictures is of St. Peter's Cathedral. It really came out good and is a very beautiful place.

Oh yes, so many of the streets look so much alike that it is easy to get lost there, and different directions, well every way looks the same. Well so much for Rome, maybe the next big city will be Berlin, and I hope it is soon.
I guess that you all are about ready to start with the harvest. I hope that papa can get hands, I sure don't want him to work any in the field. If it doesn't hail or the rust doesn't set in, the wheat should make good.

Most of the grain over here is cut by hand. I have seen a few binders pulled by oxen, and so far I have seen two tractors pulling binders.
Say I was really glad to get the pictures you sent me. They were swell and thanks.

Well I'm out of news so I'll close this. I hope all are well. I'm well and O. K. so don't worry about me. Write soon with all the news.

Lots of love,
Your son, Norman Swink

June 16, 1944

Dear Van and Jessie:
You will notice that I am now a Tec 3 instead of Tec 4. Just wanted to put you wise to the fact that I didn't make a typographical error. I added the rocker on June 10.

I am enclosing a sheet taken from the Stars and Stripes. I think you will be interested in it as it gives an idea of the plain language given to troops who will be in France soon. Maybe the AEP of the last war was given such advance preparation. I don't know. The paternal War Department also has prepared a bit of information along the same line which may come in handy.

I have been following a case in one of the English papers regarding a hot-house owner who has failed to comply with the law. It seems that this man has a large greenhouse and in pre-war times, raised a lot of flowers. Now, by law, he can only raise 10 per cent of his ground in flowers and the rest must be food. He apparently didn't like the sight of uncouth radishes, cabbages, etc., cluttering up his greenhouse probably was revolting to his esthetic tastes, so he just raised all flowers. The government got wise to this and is now preparing to string him up by the heels. It is interesting to compare this strict regulation to the regulation in our own country.

This section of the country has quite a few farms. They are not like the Panhandle farms, of course, being small and intensely cultivated. One distinctive feature that I've noted is that the people seem to live in town and go to the fields to work the land. There are comparatively few farmhouses while there are lots of cultivated fields. I believe you call such farmers in Perryton "suit-case farmers." don't you, Van? I don't know whether or not that derogative is applied here or not. They tell me some sections of France farms the same way.

It seems that I have done nothing but work for the past few weeks. I haven't been anywhere or seen anything much but GI's and more GI's. All I can gather about what is going on in England as well as anywhere else is by reading the papers. But I hope that that situation will change soon. This sort of isolation is hard upon a fellow. Especially since the pub situation is so deplorable. I can't even get a glass of beer without queuing up for half an hour.

But I can't gripe, and everything will turn out for the best. So I'll sign off for now, and hope to write a more interesting letter next week.

Yours,
Harold Hudson

P. S. I have received the 25 May edition of the Herald. I have read it from front to back, including the want-ads. And Harris Russell has read it too, since he has joined me again. By the way, the Sergeant from Pennsylvania has promised to visit Perryton and see how plains people live, after the war.

FOR VICTORY: BUY BONDS
June 20, 1944

Dear Van and Jessie:
At last I have had a chance to explore the English country side. And in order to tell about it, I guess I'd better begin chronologically.

To begin with, three of us left the camp by way of one of the narrow roads which winds about as if left to whims and fancies of the builders with no rhyme or reason. We passed over a railway track and waved to a guy who was earning his pay by sitting in one of these little signal boxes which dot the side of the railway tracks. Our objective was a castle which according to an old map which we found in the library was supposed to be hard by. To get there we had to proceed through a small hamlet, name unknown, which is a small walk from here. Much to our surprise and enjoyment when we reached the village, we found an old church which the map overlooked, but which was well worth the walk. It is an old edifice, having first been put up about 1240. It shows a bit of Norman in the construction, and a bit of Gothic in the inside furnishings. The floor is set in tombstones, as other old churches I've seen, and the walls and pillars are of a hewn stone. According to an old fellow in the village, the way the ancients used to get these stone blocks on top of each other in the days when they had no cranes or machinery, was to pile a heap of dirt around the bottom stone, tug another stone on top of the other one. Anyway, they have relics such as an old iron bound

Fire Insurance on Grain
We have one of the worst fire hazards on wheat and barley that we have had in years since all of the cultivated land is in such crops and the foliage is very heavy. Heretofore there has been considerable summer fallowed land which would serve the purpose of checking the fire.
For only $5.00 per $1,000 we can insure your crop against loss by fire for a period of thirty days, we can also insure your machinery for the same length of time for $3.00 per $1,000.
Neglecting to purchase such insurance might prove very costly to you. We will appreciate handling this insurance for you.

chest which looks impregnable and brings to mind the human failings that prompted thievery in all ages. It is just such a chest as I've read in the pirate stories I've read and where it came from, no one seems to know, except that the valuables of the church used to be locked up in it. Maybe some pirate took the pledge and donated it, who knows. Probably the most striking thing in the church is an old grave set in one wall of the church. This in itself is not so unique, but the gentleman who occupies this urn had the foresight and the where-withal to have a sculpture done of himself, life size, to be placed in the niche. The object is painted and looks remarkably life like, and is clothed in the costume of the period, with ruffed collar, buckle shoes, lace wristlets, etc. This worthy was placed in his final resting place in 1599, which makes his decease about the time of the Jamestown colony. So I'm sure our country doesn't have anything to equal it. Old Cromwell and his roundheads found this church in one of their fanatical wanderings and white washed the walls, broke out the stained glass windows and destroyed the ornate furnishings. Now they are plain pews, and only the frontpiece is of stained glass.

We left the church and sought to quench our thirst at the town pump, when a nice old lady called to us from her front porch and asked us inside for a drink of water. We readily accepted and found that the water was nothing like any of us had ever seen. It was a thatched roof affair, and I've been itching to get inside one every since I've been here. This one was built about the time of the American Revolution and has survived very well indeed, thatched roof and all. Not the original thatched roof, however. The ceiling is low, and I have to stoop to keep from soiling the roof in the living room. They have an enormous kitchen stove, complete with a huge oven and pit by which a whole hog can be roasted over the fire. In the days when there was that much meat, I mean. Huge oak beams criss-cross throughout the roof and make a picture of substantial comfort. The old gentleman and his wife were most cordial and hospitable, told us about their sons in service, as all parents do. I guess. We left with their best wishes and a piece of their best cake in our pockets.

We started off on a circle through the village, passed the local pub with a longing sigh, since it was closed on Sunday afternoon, and went on out of town toward the castle. The map failed to mention that said castle was located on top of a hill, a quite steep hill at that. By dint of much puffing and without benefit of oxygen tent, we finally made the top. Looking around for the castle we found that no castle was there, only the place where a castle used to be. There is earthwork, and the vestiges of the moat are still there, and a few other relics. We crossed the place where the drawbridge used to be, and I could just imagine myself as an old knight crossing on my charger, clothed in a coat of mail. The courtyard was quite vast in size, and probably contained stables, blacksmith shops etc., as all self-respecting castles used to have. I noted one old lamppost looking affair, which I was told used to be the signal light. The inhabitants used to light a huge flare on the top of this post whenever attack threatened, or a festival was pending. I imagine such a flare could be seen for miles. All three of us seemed plunged into the past and the material substance of the place almost came back into being. We speculated on life in the old days, and how we would have liked it, launched into the deficiencies of historians who seem primarily interested in wars and territorial gains, and finally decided that we'd better set sail for the twentieth century in order to beat an AWOL charge.

We set off back down the hill into the village and, although in a bit of a hurry, paused long enough to inspect an old hand-made clock which was made in the 17th century by the local blacksmith. The old piece of machinery has no face, and the citizens used to tell time solely by the chimes. It ran continuously for the intervening centuries until some of the more modern people decided that a clock with a face would be better. So it is relegated to the sideline while a modern clock with a red and gold face shines vainly from the church tower. The old clock was a masterpiece, I thought, and although an enormous thing, about the size of a baby buggy, it kept good time, so they say.

We trudged back to camp feeling quite fatigued and quite ravenous but quite satisfied at that. We covered about as much distance as from home to Farnsworth as the crow flies, and had a reason to feel tired, I thought.
Well, that is that, and I believe I'll go to bed as it is about midnight. Write me when you have time. And I'm really enjoying the Herald.

Yours,
Harold Hudson
SACRIFICE! BUY WAR BONDS!
Lt. and Mrs. Robert H. Holt came in Thursday from Pampa to spend two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holt, and with his grandmother, Mrs. G. D. Holt. Lt. Holt reports to San Angelo.

An Announcement
Probably some of you are wondering why I have not been out to your home to ask you in person for your consideration of me as the next Treasurer of Ochiltree county.
Here's the reason! I do not own a car and will be unable to make an active canvass of the county. However, I want to assure you that I do need and want the office. I feel that I am qualified to perform the official duties of this office.
Even though I will be unable to call on many of you personally, I want each and every one to know that I will appreciate your consideration and support at the polls on July 22.
