Trans-Atlantic Flight Of The America Again Delayed As Storm Hits

(By The Associated Press)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 21—A storm howling up the Atlantic to the Grand Banks today extinguished for yet another day the hopes of four men intent upon flying to France.

Early morning rain there was a sign of suppressed excitement at the flying camp of Richard E. Byrd, where the giant monoplane "America" squatted in its hangar with out-stretched wings as though poised for momentary flight. It was whispered about that the flight was to be some time today, that conditions in the air had at last improved and the tedious waiting was almost at an end.

Commander Byrd appeared and made formal announcement that he was to be followed by four men on the flight instead of the three originally planned for. The fourth man, to ride with him and Bert Acosta and George Noville, he said, was to be Gerard Halchen, formerly a lieutenant in the Norwegian navy and closely associated with Byrd for the past year.

Byrd himself seemed optimistic about the prospects for an early departure until the 11 o'clock weather report was received from New York.

(By The Associated Press)

The riot was brought under control when the day guards, who were just going off duty, were hastily called back, equipped with shot guns and began firing on the rioters.

Pioneer And Philanthropic Dies At Home In San Antonio; Was Veteran Of Civil War

SAN ANTONIO, June 21 (AP)—Colonel T. C. Zanderson, 85, pioneer wool buyer, townsite promoter and philanthropist, died here Tuesday.

Coming to Texas shortly after the civil war, Colonel Zanderson was long connected with the growth of southwest Texas. In 1899 he promoted the town of Zanderson, developing a wilderness at what is now the thriving little county seat of Atascosa county.

Born in Schleswig, Holstein, Prussia in 1842, he came to America at the age of 7 years with his parents. They settled at Albany, N. Y., where he lived until coming to Texas. During the civil war he fought with the northern army.

NEGRO SLAYER OF TWO WOMEN MUST HANG IS THE VERDICT OF COURT

(By The Associated Press)

JACKSON, Miss., June 21—Walter Burley, negro slayer of two women, was sentenced in Hinds county circuit court today to be hanged for an attack on one of his victims.

He was taken to an unannounced destination for safe keeping until July 22, the date set for his execution.

Burley was brought in trial today in a court room closed to the public and to newspapermen, and guarded by six hundred state troops armed with machine guns and tear gas bombs. The extraordinary precautions were taken because of demonstrations that occurred during the negro's arrest.

Burley, brought here during the night under a heavy guard, entered a plea of guilty when arraigned. The jury was speedily drawn and ten witnesses, among them O. S. Rees, husband of one of the slain women and brother of Miss Martha Rees, who was attacked and killed, testified. The jury returned its verdict in one minute and thirty seconds, the murder charges against the negro were not presented, the trial being for the assault upon the younger woman.

Embargo On Food Is Set Miners Say

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, June 21 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Terminal coal corporation has established a food blockade in an effort to force union miners from company houses at Coverdale and Mollenauer, Phillip Murray, International vice president of the United Mine Workers, charged today. Horace F. Baker, president of the corporation said "we found it against our interests to have every one going on our property where there were both union and non union miners and therefore we laid down rules to exclude them."

Murray declared the coal company's police have banned all deliveries from Pittsburg merchants and that milk, food and ice must be carried a mile or more by the miners to their homes. Murray said the company had shut off electric light power, forcing the miners to use oil lamps and lanterns.

The company has filed eviction proceedings against many miners occupying company houses in the two mining towns.

DALLAS BIRDMAN OUT FOR $25,000 PRIZE

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 21—Never will the United States be forced into building small sea cruisers unsuitable for the needs of her national defense—that it is understood, is the answer which the American delegates will make to the British proposal at the tripartite Geneva conference for the eventual abolition of the 10,000 ton cruisers authorized by the Washington treaties.

The close of the second day of the conference has parted the experts to reaffirm their earlier judgment that the three plans presented—the American, British and Japanese—are so divergent as to be utterly irreconcilable and are certain to make a treaty impossible unless some one recedes from his original position.

Admiral Saito, however, in a statement to the Associated Press tonight, in which he explained the purpose of the American, British and Japanese proposals, said that the Japanese proposals are so divergent as to be utterly irreconcilable and are certain to make a treaty impossible unless some one recedes from his original position.

PLAINVIEW, June 21.—The encouragement and promotion of more irrigation projects in the Plainview country of the South will be undertaken by the city of City Development of Plainview following a discussion of the possibilities of this industry by Chas. Reinken, president of the board, at the last regular meeting of this organization.

Small tracts irrigated, and well-irrigated, have been found very profitable at Plainview, and capable of producing large quantities of alfalfa, truck and other crops. Good water under irrigation, and good farming methods combined, and we have such a large area around our city here that is irrigated, it seems to us that this organization could undertake no greater work than the management of this farming project. And the seeking of money, who want to engage in sure thing on this scale that promises to give great return from such a comparatively small investment.

Lead Is Cheap Irrigated lands can be purchased at Plainview at prices ranging from fifty dollars an acre up, according to the improvements. The city of City Development members think that by employing a water irrigation outfit, such as is in operation on the L. P. Bar, farm south of Plainview, that the farmers can successfully and profitably irrigate small tracts that are now dry. In the past, we are a large number of irrigators in operation now in the view territory, but they are not and represent a heavy investment quite out of the reach of the all farmer who wishes to farm a few acres intensively. The irrigated area of the system that is being employed the smaller outfit which does irrigation in reach of every acre, small-tract farming irrigation can be made more profitable than it is now.

Baker, and the third state representative of the Telephone company are in conference with city officials with reference to a program of development. The company is submitting a proposition that will entail the expansion of 414 lines based in building modern office and the installation of a flash light system.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and Miss Wheeler are thinking about a head of a third party, and a red party will be needed, to support you, if they do any of these things in the same place.—The Lincoln Times.

Oxford Advises Building Airport

Need for an air-port in Lubbock as a first step in developing this city as a landing field and terminal point on air lines is seen by E. T. H. Oxford, land man for the Sinclair Oil company and former member of the Canadian Flying corps.

The cost of constructing an air-port would be relatively small, Mr. Oxford explained. "Perhaps some individuals might donate landing space. Otherwise it would take the capital for the city to purchase city as an air station.

Mr. Oxford believes that the proposed airport to be built here might be extended to the coast as a money-making proposition.

J. L. Vaughan, postmaster, is of the opinion that patronage could be secured when the time saving aspects are taken into consideration by authorities.

Great Fire-place Built For Movie At Lindsey Here

One of the largest and most expensive fireplaces ever built for a motion picture set was utilized by Victor Schertzinger in filming "The Lily" now at the Lindsey Theatre. The fireplace was hand-moulded, in-odd design, and was a perfect duplicate of a fireplace in an old chateau near Paris.

In order to give one a fair estimate of the size of the fireplace.

It is only necessary to add that Ian Keith, playing the leading romantic masculine role, was able to stand inside the fireplace without stooping. Keith stands six feet two inches. Schertzinger, on several occasions had his cameramen "set up" angle shots of Belle Bennett descending a mammoth stairway.

McCurdy's Years of Plugging Get Due Reward

EX-ILLINOI GRID STAR IS AIDING WHITE SOX BY BRILLIANT WORK AS CATCHER

After years of plugging, many of them check full of adversity, Harry McCurdy is finally the first-string catcher of the Chicago Americans.

McCurdy takes the place vacated by Manager Ray Schalk who, since 1912, has done the backstop almost exclusively for the White Sox. The fact that for 11 or more years annually tells how small a part the other Chicago catchers played in the success of the team.

Harry McCurdy is built along different lines than the short, squat veteran, Schalk. McCurdy, who learned baseball and football among other things at the University of Illinois, is a big, husky fellow, who finds his "grid" training is still of value in blocking them at the plate, or making a diving touch of a runner.

Like many other collegians who have found their way into the majors, McCurdy is a protégé of Branch Rickey, who as a big league manager, in both the American and National, specialized in the intellectual athlete. It was Rickey who brought out George Sizer, as well as a number of other "Fab-Fab" boys who have made good in the majors.

McCurdy's rise to fame in the big show came only after a long struggle, in which a less determined player might have argued that it wasn't worth while.

Rickey dug McCurdy up while he was doing his stuff at Illinois and brought him direct to the majors. He looked polish, his fielding was a bit ragged, but he early showed power at the bat. He hit from the left side of the plate.

Desiring for a time of his childhood to be good as a catcher, Rickey experimented with him at first base. In his early tryouts he gave no signs of rivaling Hal Chase or George Sizer.

Next came the conclusion that the thing McCurdy needed most was experience in the minors, that he was still a couple of years away from the major league standard.

Trips to the Syracuse and Houston clubs, controlled by the St. Louis Cardinals, followed. McCurdy

YANKS SUBDUED RED SOX BY TWO WINS

(By The Associated Press)
BOSTON, June 21—The Yankees subdued Boston Red Sox twice today by scores of 7 to 3 and 7 to 1. Penneck held the Sox to six hits in the first encounter while Hoyt gave only one in the second victory. Babe Ruth connected for two singles in the first contest and got a double in the other struggle, from which he retired after the seventh inning. He was caught by Carlyle of Dugan's drive to the embankment in left field in the third inning of the second game was sensational.

Tony Lazzeri, Yankee's infielder was given an ovation by the Boston Italian-Americans and was presented with a ring.

For some reason, probably financial, St. Louis decided to lose title to McCurdy when the Chicago club offered Houston $25,000 for him. Thereby hangs a rather interesting tale, that for a time also involved the New York Yankees relative to which club McCurdy really belonged.

It seems the Chicago club asked for waivers on McCurdy and the New York Yankees claimed him. A considerable amount of the original sale price remained to be paid on McCurdy when New York claimed him. This sum the New York club, according to baseball law, must assume when claiming such player.

While the Yankees were willing to take McCurdy at the waiver price, they demurred on paying the extra consideration. The contention was upheld. It would have been a wise move if they had gone through with the transaction. Instead of getting out of it, because McCurdy was about ready to arrive.

Having invested about half the amount, Chicago, with McCurdy back on its hands, decided to complete the deal and gamble on his making good.

Given his first real trial last fall, McCurdy came through with a vengeance and in the city series with the Chicago Cubs performed yeoman service in bringing about an American League victory.

This spring Schalk realized he was having plenty to do managing the Sox and concentrated on McCurdy, worked with him to polish off a few remaining rough spots and has been rewarded by having McCurdy show enough stuff to draw the first-string assignment.

In 44 games last season he batted .326, and he has continued his timely hitting this year. His hits left handed and has a fine throwing arm.

His ultimate success is the reward for his perseverance when the breaks seemed to be all against him.

Shylocks Bury the Undertakers 10-2

The Bankers stepped into second place in the City loop with a far-felt-victory over the Undertakers at the Merrill Park Monday and by defeating the Dy-Tailors yesterday afternoon at the Merrill Park with a score of 10 to 2. Manager J. C. Sanders, of the Tallor nine, used three hurlers before he could stop the slashing drives from the Bankers' bat. The Bankers pushed over seven runs in the initial frame. "Satch" Hill, ace pitcher of the Tech baseball outfit and a recent recruit with the money changers, pitched the game for the Bankers.

Shows Wife How To Catch Trout In Sportsman Contest Held At Summer White House

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 21—If there has been an argument in the Coolidge family over supremacy with rod and reel for the time being at least it has been settled.

State Loses "Trick" In King Ben Trial

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., June 21—Attempts by the state to show that marriage between close relatives were tolerated in the House of David colony, in violation of state laws, were frustrated today, when witnesses called, stood at their constitutional rights and refused to testify.

Miriam MacFarlane, her husband, Leslie, Marie Walker and her husband Hugh, informed the court they would not testify as they might incriminate themselves. It was alleged that Walker was his wife's uncle and MacFarlane was his wife's cousin.

State's attorneys charged Purcell arranged group marriages when trouble threatened the colony, at Lincoln, without regard to family ties. He simply ordered that the Shish girls must be married off, if he was charged.

HELEN BATTLES TO HOLD NET POSITION

(By Associated Press)
WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 21—Disaster hovered about the head of the fair Helen Wills on Wimbledon's center court today in the opening round of the women's singles championship, but with indomitable courage, and characteristic driving, she came through finally.

The California girl defeated Miss G. R. Stearns of England after one of the most stubborn battles she has been called upon to face since she lost to Suzanne Lenglen, the French star. The score was 6-3, 6-2.

The game was played on MOKEY, heavy courts under low, threatening clouds after a heavy downpour. The conditions were very different than those to which Miss Wills has been accustomed in her own country state. Ten thousand spectators remained in the gathering dusk in the expectancy of seeing the American make short work of the youthful English girl, but the English girl gave the Californian a surprise, and when she won the second set, there was enthusiastic cheering.

Helen Off Form
 Miss Wills appeared chilled and did not remove her sweater until the second set, then hastily put it on again at the beginning of the third. Only in the first set did she show the energy and measure of the veteran English player, Lieutenant Colonel Algeon Kingscote to the tune of 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

A surprise in the men's contests was the defeat of Louis Raymond of South Africa, by George Crooks, of England, Raymond being the second seeded player to fall by the way side.

TECH BUILDINGS

Yesterday, it is the plan of officials to use students on the odd jobs around the building as it is erected throughout the coming long session. Nothing is being spared in considering the plans for the buildings which are to answer the needs of the school for years to come.

It is evident that on these figures the United States would be obliged to possess eventually some thirty high powered cruisers of 10,000 tons each if it desired to keep the parity of 5-5-3 which was fixed at the Washington conference for battleships.

Rains Occur Over Wide Texas Area

REQUESTS RECEIVED FOR CHAMBERLIN AND LEVINE

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—The same municipal reception for Clarence Chamberlin and Charles Levine that was accorded Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was requested today in a resolution introduced at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen by Alderman Walter R. Hart, who represents the Brownsville section of Brooklyn.

FLOOD CONTROL IMPORTANT

If, as has been announced, President Coolidge plans to call congress into extra session in October to consider flood control measures, he deserves commendation. Some may be in favor of speedier action, but it might be well to have government engineers study the Mississippi situation a few months before congress is asked to act on flood control.

However, in the announcement of the intention to call the special session, made by a senator close to the President, tax reduction and settlement of election contests were mentioned as problems that must be taken up at an early date, and the impression may have been left that it was the intention of the administration to make these the main subjects of discussion during the special session of congress.

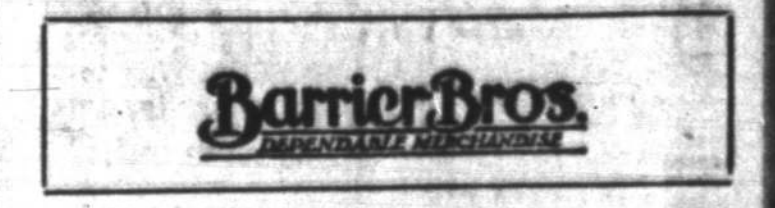

The Mississippi and its tributaries drain almost the land area of the United States, and for that reason it is a national evil, and naturally the control of the river which affects so large an area is a national problem.

On the other hand, the flood control problem demands attention now. It has been neglected too long. The Mississippi flood situation has been recognized as a national problem by administrations over a period of almost 140 years.
