Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Julian of Three Way, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cunningham of Lovington, New Mexico, Mrs. George Neely, Edith Wilt and the Jack Julians of Muleshoe were all guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Freeman of Muleshoe Sunday.

Walter M. Bartholf and daughter, Doris Ann, are attending Chi-Rho church camp at Ceta Canyon in Palo Duro Canyon this week. Bartholf will be co-director at the camp this week. They left on Sunday and will return Saturday.

Visiting Monday and Tuesday with Mrs. Ilia Maye Holley was her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Foster, from Downey, California.

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. -- Sam Manning of Muleshoe is among the 100 students at The College of the Ozarks named to the dean's list for the spring semester.

To be eligible a student must carry at least 12 hours and maintain a grade point average of 3.5 or better.

A senior history major, Manning is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Ed Manning, Route E-5.

Airport Slates Flying Safety Program Here

A general aviation refresher seminar for all local pilots will be sponsored by Muleshoe Flying Service at 8 p.m. on June 22-23 at the Muleshoe Airport.

The program will cover safety aspects of flying and the flight environment, according to Ray C. Raney, accident prevention specialist of the Federal Aviation Administration office in Lubbock, who is coordinating the activities associated with the seminar. Other FAA personnel assisting include Maintenance Inspector George Dove, Lubbock General Aviation District office and Air Traffic Control Specialist Wayne Hill, Lubbock combined Station/tower.

Designed to give local pilots the latest information on the safe operation of aircraft, the seminar topics will include a presentation on the hazards of tobacco, alcohol and drugs by Dr. Jerry A. Stirman of Lubbock, approach and terminal control procedures, films on wake turbulence, area navigation, and a summary of fatal accident causes, said Morgan Locker, operator of Muleshoe Airport.

The seminar will also provide the opportunity for some participants to receive a courtesy standardization flight check ride to counsel him on ways to improve his flying.

Specialist Raney said, "We believe that a reduction in general aviation accidents can be achieved by a reduction in general aviation accidents."

NEIGHBORHOOD VISIT--Keith LaFon, left, Barney Wiesand, Louis Hollingsworth and Don Hileman, all of Amarillo, were in Muleshoe last Wednesday for a neighborhood visit. The men said they were visiting in order to maintain a good relationship between Muleshoe and Amarillo and pledged assistance to the City of Muleshoe when and if needed. They were touring several smaller towns during their Good Neighbor Tour.

Area Residents Upset Over Cloud-Seeding

One of the most controversial happenings in Bailey County centers around cloud-seeding operations by Atmospherics, Inc. of Plainview, who a number of residents of the southern dryland area of the county allege are 'killing their rain.'

Several residents have objected to the 'weather planes' who are releasing silver iodide chemicals into the cloud build-ups. They assert that the seeding is being conducted in this county contrary to permits issued by the Texas Water Board in Austin. Ross Lumsden, president of the Natural Weather Group, of Littlefield, said that Atmospherics, Inc. is not supposed to be in western Lamb County or any part of Bailey County conducting a cloud-seeding operation.

He told The Journal that he was in Austin in the meeting where the 12-county permit was issued. He said that actual cloud-seeding was granted only for Hale County, and a portion of Lamb and Floyd Counties. He also added that when the permit was issued, Atmospherics, Inc. was instructed that they would not seed any cloud outside the target area. Lumsden, who along with a number of Lamb and Bailey County residents, oppose the operation of Atmospherics, Inc. representatives told the Texas Water Board that the 12 county permit was necessary so "they would have room to turn their planes around while seeding or observing clouds."

Lumsden said he received several calls last Thursday and Friday from residents of the southern portion of Bailey County that from one to three planes were in the area and were seeding cloud build-ups in southwestern and southern portions of the county. Lumsden commented that if the planes can be identified and are noted shooting the chemicals into the clouds, an injunction will be sought to stop their operation. He told of a similar operation which had been stopped in the San Angelo-San Antonio area a few years ago by court order, and added that it looked like the same type court action would be sought to stop the operation in this area. The injunction would be sought, said Lumsden, on the basis that the 'right of the farmer to the rain over his property has been violated, and the rain-producing clouds have been dissipated by cloud-seeding.'

The head of the Natural Weather Group also commented that one reliable witness who actually saw the chemicals released, on Page 3, Col. 6

Murder Charge Filed Against Local Couple

Murder charges were filed in Muleshoe Monday against Willie Lee Finch, 19, and his wife, Charlene, 17, following the death a week before of their four month old son, Johnny Ray. An autopsy had been performed on the body of the baby by a pathologist in Clovis, N. M. The infant was pronounced dead on arrival at 2 a.m. Monday, June 7, at West Plains Memorial Hospital in Muleshoe. He was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Morris Nowlin, who had been summoned to the hospital by authorities.

The Finches' lost the one month old twin of Johnny Ray Finch at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo on March 20. Amarillo authorities ruled that one month old Wanda Kay Finch died of a brain hemorrhage.

Mr. and Mrs. Finch have another son, Scotty Alexander.

Dad's Ski Rig Drawing Slated This Saturday

Hundreds of area residents are expected to be in Muleshoe Saturday afternoon for the drawing for 'Dad's Ski Rig', which is a boat, motor and trailer, to be presented to some lucky father in this area.

The popular event will be held Saturday, June 19, at 2:30 p.m. at the courthouse parking lot. Chairman Kenneth Henry, who is coordinating the annual event for the Business Activities Committee said thousands of tickets have been signed since tickets went into more than 100 local businesses two weeks ago. He reminded that you must be present in order to win the ski rig, and that the only persons eligible as winners must be male and above the age of 16.

Henry also said he would like to thank the merchants and professional persons who sponsor the drawing, as well as Ready Mix Concrete for furnishing a cement mixer to mix the tickets for the drawing, the reigning Miss Muleshoe, Trenea Bryant, who will draw the name of the lucky winner from the mixer; Fry and Cox Implement for furnishing a truck for a stage; Harvey Bass Appliance for furnishing a record player and KMUL Radio Station for providing records to play.

At this point, added Henry, it looks like another highly successful promotion for the Business Activities Committee. When the drawing for the ski rig is held, the Muleshoe Jaycees will also hold a drawing, and will present four winners. Cont'd, on Page 3, Col. 3

Pss-s-t, Girls FB Wants You As Their Queen

Come on, all you girls between the ages of 16-22, and who are either the sister or daughter of a Farm Bureau member. Start practicing your prettiest smile, your model's walk and get your performance ready.

Bailey County Farm Bureau will hold its annual queen's contest on Friday, July 30 at 8:30 p.m. in the Muleshoe High School Cafeteria.

If you are single, between the ages of 16-22, and are a sister or daughter of a Farm Bureau member you are invited and encouraged to go by the Farm Bureau office and make arrangements to compete for queen of the Bailey County Farm Bureau, said local FB Manager Jay Harbin.

The county queen will receive a college scholarship and compete in the district Farm Bureau Queen Contest which will be held in August. The district queen will receive a watch and an all-expense paid trip to the state convention.

Be early, said Harbin, get your application in and start preparing for the competition.

Annual Art Show Scheduled July 1-5

Muleshoe Art Association will have a five day art show, which will be their annual presentation, during the Fourth of July Celebration scheduled July 1-5.

Officially starting the celebration will be the annual exhibit which will be held at 303 Main in the former Poyner's White Store building.

The exhibit will be open to the public Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and from 1 p.m.-5 p.m. on Sunday, July 4th. Awards and citations will be presented at 4 p.m. on Monday, July 5th.

Mrs. A.J. Leanderson, publicity agent for the show said that entries must be hand-delivered to 303 Main between 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Tuesday, June 29, and added that all artists in the Muleshoe trade area are invited to participate in the show. She added that in the past, the show was open to anyone, but has been restricted

Coach James Morgan

Coach Morgan Planning Move To Phillips

Coach James Morgan, who moved to Muleshoe High School, two years ago from a similar coaching position at McLean, has resigned his position with the Muleshoe school to accept the position of backfield coach for the Phillips High School. Morgan signed the contract with the Phillips school system within the last several days and Muleshoe Independent School District Superintendent Neal B. Dillman said Morgan's resignation from Muleshoe was expected Tuesday afternoon.

When contacted by The Journal Tuesday afternoon Morgan said he hated to leave Muleshoe and his coaching and teaching position here, but the new position in Phillips was too hard to turn down. He added that he felt it was an opportunity for advancement. The Phillips school is a AA school and is in the same district as Dalhart, Stinnett, Panhandle and Spearman.

He and his wife, Nancy, are the parents of two children, Jamie Dawn and Jill Danielle. He is a graduate of West Texas State University, and is attending classes at WTSU this summer as he works on his master's degree.

He replaces Harold McCrea who moved to Miami, along with Phillips Blackhawk basketball coach Ed Moore, Jim Pope, who has been line coach at Floydada for four years, will replace Moore.

Dryland Farms Lag, Irrigated Crops Up

The crop picture in Bailey County is 'mixed' said Bailey County Agent J. K. Adams. The crops range from up and growing well, to dry, sunbaked bare acreages in the dryland areas, he added.

Around 50,000 acres of irrigated cotton is up and doing well, said, but over 200,000 acres in the dryland area lie for the most part, barren due to lack of moisture. Cotton acreage in dryland areas is definitely uncertain.

"In certain areas of the county moisture has been sufficient to risk planting of cotton," commented Adams, "including a small area between Stegall-Maple, which has been risked with dryland cotton planting. Other small areas can also be found in the Bula community."

"If any county in Texas could be counter as a disaster area, it would be the dryland area of Bailey County," added the county agent.

He suggested that farmers who are thinking of terms of grain sorghum on dryland acreage contact the ASCS Office because of keeping a history of their cotton yields. He said the ASCS office can advise the farmer what will be required in order to keep their cotton history complete and the record straight.

Bob Price Regrets District Changes

Guests Attend Hospital Board Business Meet

The board of directors of West Plains Memorial Hospital met in executive session Monday night to discuss routine business items.

Attending the meeting were several members of the Bailey County Hospital District Board, including Dr. Charles Lewis, Creston Faver, Mrs. Bernard Phelps, Mrs. J. G. Ann, Ernest Locker and A. R. McGuire.

The hospital district board members asked several questions during the meeting, said a spokesman for the non-profit corporation which owns the hospital in Muleshoe.

Slightly more than one half the allotted acreage in Bailey County for cotton is in the irrigated area, although several thousand bales of cotton have been produced in the dryland areas in years past.

Adams said the corn crops in this county are excellent, and "I would put our corn up against any corn grown in the United States."

Early planted grain sorghum is showing up well, said Adams, and it is beginning to look like more and more farmers may be planting grain sorghum this year as time is running out for planting cotton in time to make a crop.

Adams also mentioned guar as a crop that can be planted a little later than grain sorghum, but not much later.

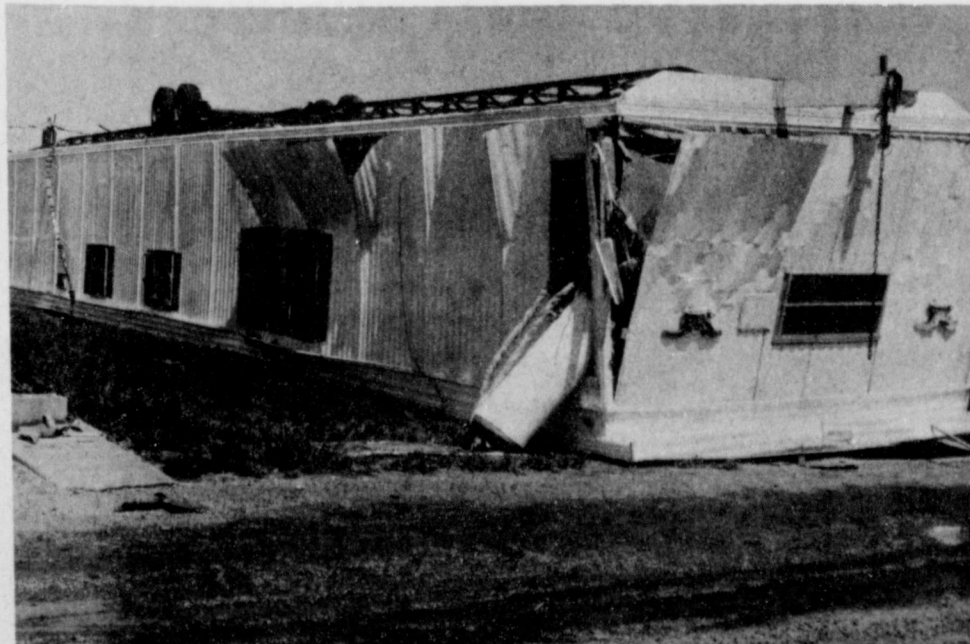

He also said that because of the drought disaster, farmers may be allowed to put wheat on their land, but did not expect it to become a very popular crop for the county.

Alfalfa has shown very respectable yields in the first cutting, said the county agent, and the second cutting is getting underway.

He also showed a letter he had received from a man in North Carolina inquiring about Cont'd, on Page 3, Col. 3

STORM DUMPS TRAILER HOME--This is one of four mobile homes in Friona which were heavily damaged in a storm Friday night. Wind estimates of more than 115 miles per hour left heavy damage in Friona. One person was injured when a mobile home was flung against a grove of trees and disintegrated. Mrs. Mike Velasquez was treated for her injuries at a Friona hospital. Three other persons were injured in the storm.

Bills are pending in Washington which would raise the minimum wage, make farm workers and workers in agricultural processing plants subject to overtime laws, and bring agricultural labor under the National Labor Relations Act. The latter section would for all practical purposes assure the rapid unionization of farm labor across the country.

Of the minimum wage bills, all of which purpose to amend the present Fair Labor Standards Act, the most onerous in the eyes of agriculture is S-1861, introduced by Senator Harrison Williams (D-N.J.), chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. The Williams bill would raise the minimum wage for agriculture in three steps, to $1.70 the first year, $2 the second year, and $2.25 thereafter. It also would extend coverage to farms utilizing 100 man-days of labor in any one quarter of the year and remove all overtime exemptions for agricultural workers and agricultural processing workers. This time-and-a-half pay would be required for hours worked over 40 in one week or over eight in one day.

The present minimum wage applicable to agriculture is $1.30 per hour for farms using as many as 500 man days in a calendar quarter, with no overtime requirements.

Representative John Dent (D-Pa.) has introduced a bill which would increase the agricultural minimum to $1.50 effective August 1, 1971, $1.60 during 1972, $1.80 during 1973 and $2.00 thereafter. It also would remove the overtime exemption for agricultural processing workers, but not for farm workers.

up of individuals knowledgeable in agriculture, should be established to handle questions in farm labor disputes, and (4) Legislation against secondary boycotts, in which actions against a third party are taken to force acceptance of union contracts by both employers and employees, should be strengthened and rigorously enforced.

Federal Aid Is Scheduled For Migrants

DALLAS -- A $12 million federal aid package to help support school programs for migrant children in Texas will be requested by the Texas Education Agency for the 1972 fiscal year.

The application, approved Saturday (June 5) by the State Board of Education at its meeting in Dallas, includes $10,915,000 for direct assistance to 100 Texas school districts which serve some 50,000 migrant children.

This Child Migrant School Project will also support special programs for children too young to attend state supported kindergarten in 1971-72.

Largest share of the funds will be used to employ additional teachers, teachers aides, school nurses, and other specialized personnel for migrant programs serving all grades, kindergarten through high school. Some of the money will go into direct pupil services, including food and health needs.

The five-year-old Migrant Demonstration School in McAllen, a cooperative effort supported by the Texas Education Agency and the McAllen Independent School District, will continue to test new programs under a $60,000 allocation.

Other funds to be requested under the proposal to the U. S. Office of Education include:

(1) $450,000 for summer staff training institutes to be conducted by the Texas Education Agency in cooperation with five universities and two regional education service centers. These institutes, now six years old, have been offered at The University of Texas at Austin, Texas Tech University, Texas A&I University, University of Corpus Christi, Pan American University, Education Service Center Region I in Edinburg and ESC Region XVII in Lubbock.

(2) $450,000 for regional education service centers which offer services to migrant schools and teachers. Centers to be funded under this program include Region I in Edinburg, which also operates the statewide Migrant Media Center; Region II at Corpus Christi; Region III at Victoria; Region XIII at Austin; Region XIV at Abilene; Region XVII at Lubbock; Region XVIII at Midland; and Region XX at San Antonio.

(3) $120,000 for state administration of the Texas Migrant School Program.

(4) $95,000 for the Interstate Cooperation Project. Texas teachers are assigned to work in 20 states during the summer to help upgrade education programs offered migrant youngsters who travel out of the state with their parents. Now going into its seventh year, the project supports 26 teachers who will present demonstration classes, conduct in-service training, and help establish a close working relationship between Texas migrant schools and those in other states.

(5) $90,000 for staff and program development. These funds will finance two-day workshops for migrant teachers to be held in McAllen during October and in Lubbock during August, plus special workshops throughout the year.

This Is - - My Story

(Editor's Note--This story is a prelude to the Youth-led revival which is scheduled by the Muleshoe First Baptist Church in the near future. The story was written by Bill Fowler, youth director of the First Baptist Church in Muleshoe. He said--"This is -- My Story.")

I was born on March 12, 1953 and lived six years in Taft, Texas. From there I went with my family to Eldorado, Texas for six months where I became acquainted with the DuBose family. After finally moving to Bloomington, Texas on the Gulf Coast, I finished High School there this past May as Salutatorian.

My initial salvation experience occurred when I was eight years old. However, like most people, I didn't completely commit my life to Jesus Christ till years later. It was while I was attending a Youth Retreat during the summer of 1969 that I finally made Jesus the LORD of my life. Later that summer I felt the call to preach and surrendered to the ministry. Since then I've had numerous opportunities to preach in the area churches around my hometown. I've also had the privilege to speak at many revivals last summer and this past spring.

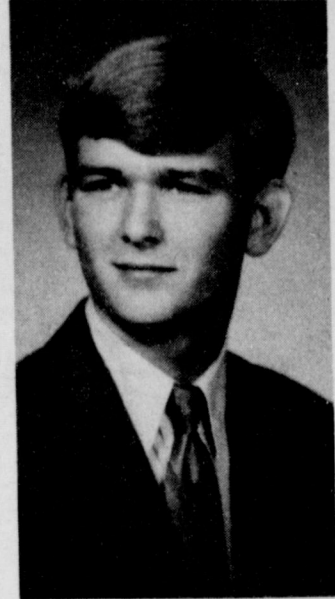

Also last summer, I was able to serve as a part-time Youth Director at Hebron Baptist Church near Yoakum, Texas. Presently I am serving as the Youth Director at First Baptist Church, Muleshoe.

In my high school, I was just an ordinary guy. My freshman year I was selected as a class favorite. I served on the Student Council three years and one year as an officer. I also held offices in the FFA, Science Club, Green Dragons Drama Club, and a district office in FFA. I was active in the literary events where I placed second in Prose Reading and Informative Speaking in my Junior and Senior years respectively. In Athletics, I played football two years and basketball four. I was selected to Who's Who at BHS my last two years in High School and to the National Honor Society during my sophomore, junior and senior years. Of the honors that I've received are the "I Dare You!" award for qualities of leadership and then being selected Mr. FTA of the State of Texas. What I would consider the greatest honor that I've received, next to my call to preach, was when the Texas House of Representatives passed a resolution in my honor last May.

All I am, however, I owe, not to my mother, but to my Lord Jesus Christ. And I thank the Lord for giving me the wonderful Christian parents that I have.

The first requisite of being a leader in your community is the ability to lead and the willingness to follow.

Banks GrassMite Threat To Grain

LUBBOCK--The number one threat to Texas' number one grain crop, grain sorghum, may well be the Banks grass mite in 1971 because of its growing resistance to formerly effective chemical treatment.

This pesky mite is posing the latest and most serious threat among the many pest problems which put a big management load on growers.

Texas Tech University Entomology Prof. Charles R. Ward said the mite problem is aggravated by necessary greenbug control. Greenbugs attack emerging plants, and although these insects can be destroyed by chemicals, the process causes Banks grass mites to build up resistance to the chemicals formerly useful in their control. When the mites follow the greenbugs into the field this year, there is evidence that they could wield a "free reign," Dr. Ward said.

The mites suck juices from the plant. Where water is limited, the plants go into severe water stress which weakens them and makes them more susceptible to disease. At harvest, extensive lodging may occur--both as the result of the mite attack and subsequent diseases--making the harvest difficult.

The solution, according to Ward, could lie in a combination chemical and biological control program.

In looking for a new control, Ward pointed out that alternative chemicals must be found that can be registered for use on grain sorghum or corn. Registration is under the control of the federal Environmental Protection Agency which requires that the chemicals be effective, constitute no public health hazard, leave a residue at harvest that is within an established tolerance limit and do not cause bad side effects.

"New chemicals will have to be found," Ward said, "but it is important to look at some of the known predators of the Banks grass mite because these could offer additional biological control possibilities."

"Chemical control is only a temporary measure to reduce mite damage until alternate, more effective and, in the long run, cheaper methods of control can be developed."

Ward added that sorghum producers need to look also at the sugarcane rootstock weevil, although it is not as dangerous to this year's crop as the Banks grass mite. Because this insect has only recently been discovered in large numbers on the Texas Plains, reasonable recommendations for control cannot be made because chemical control data for this area are not available, he explained.

"In regard to this insect," he said, "insecticide screening tests are desperately needed so that data will be available on which to base proper recommendations."

Ward also proposed that weevil populations be monitored on a continuing basis, so that some advance warning of any large infestation might be afforded producers during the coming season.

The Entomology Section of Texas Tech's College of Agricultural Sciences, he said, also is concerned with developing the life history and habits of the weevil in West Texas in order to understand better any future problems it may cause.

Although other pests affect sorghum harvests, Ward said, they are not as critical this year as the Banks grass mite and the sugarcane rootstock weevil.

In addition to the troublesome greenbug and the corn leaf aphid, the corn earworm and the southwestern corn borer may increase as the corn acreage is increased, he said. Stinkbug infestations may depend more upon the maturity date of forage crops. In the case of false chinch bugs, the proximity of pasture land to the grain sorghum crop is a factor.

Ward and others in the Entomology Section of the Department of Park Administration, Horticulture and Entomology have worked with pest controls for grain sorghum since 1961 and have had particular success with their studies on the grain sorghum midge. Their research has been conducted not only in West Texas but as far away as Argentina and Hawaii.

community where practically no moisture has been received this year.

He added that 800-900 acres of cotton which had been dry planted would not even come up, and thousands of acres in the area have not even been planted due to lack of moisture.

Deputy Sheriff M. C. 'Bud' Street, who was called to the southern portion of the county last Thursday morning said he watched three planes around clouds in the Goodland-Maple area about 10:30-11 a.m. but could not actually see them releasing chemicals into the clouds. He did say the large thunderhead which had formed dissipated within 15-20 minutes.

The next morning, Friday, Mrs. Street heard the planes around another large cloud formation near their home six miles from the New Mexico state line, but did not actually see them seeding clouds.

Other southern county farmers have reported watching the chemicals released from the planes into the clouds in this county. Lumsden has asked that anyone observing the planes to call him at Littlefield or call Bennie Claunch at Bula.

He said he would sent a 1970 meteorologist report on rainfall in New Mexico and West Texas to The Journal. It is expected within the next few days.

Congressman Asks Farm Exemptions

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price has led a bipartisan group of farm state Representatives in introducing legislation to exempt farm trucks, custom combines, and farm truck drivers from U.S. Department of Transportation traffic regulations.

The Price bill is designed to remove the DOT's present authority to prescribe and regulate farm truck drive age limits, mental, physical and ability test requirements, truck sizes and weight limitations, and farmer record keeping requirements. Price declared, "The farmers of our nation have enough problems without federal bureaucrats adding to them by enforcing idiotic regulations. Under the new proposals, day time farmers would be forced to become night time book-keepers."

The federal regulations in question would require farmers to develop and maintain extensive records on driver age qualifications, driver traffic records and employment records. Farm truck and custom combine operators would have to be 21 years of age and pass rigorous physical and written tests.

Price attacked the proposed age limit declaring, "If only 21 year olds and older could drive farm equipment then those younger men who, at the federal government's direction drive 50 ton tanks at places like Fort Hood, would by other federal laws, be unable to drive their parent's bob-tail trucks when they are home on leave from the service. What could be more nonsensical than that?" he added.

In addition to local and state support from farmers and farm groups, Price's efforts are being watched approvingly by national farm organizations including the Farm Bureau, the NFO, the Farmers Union, the National Association of Farm Cooperatives, the National Grange, and the National Association of Wheat Growers.

Price said he drafted and introduced his bill because he knew from his years of farming and ranching that the proposed federal regulations were ill-conceived and unrealistic. He advised he was working closely with the White House, the DOT, and the USDA in an effort to roll back the new regulations.

Give the other man credit for some sincerity of purpose and you might be able to understand him better.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

My husband and I have never been south but we have our vacation the last two weeks in May and we are planning to go to Florida. It will be our first trip and we would like to know what kind of clothes to take.

M.B.-Minn.

Answer:

The southern part of Florida will be very warm at that time of year so that summer clothes will be what you need. If you are young, play clothes, bathing suits and cool dresses will be what you wear the most of the time. However, a light coat, sweaters and a polyester or cotton suit will probably be needed. Packable and drip dry clothes will save trouble and expense.

Louisa

Square Thru News

We celebrated our second year of square dancing on June 14. We had several out of town folks who came out to help us celebrate. They were: Bobby and Darlye Stephens of Clovis; Wanda Cox and James Pettus of Portales; Leon and Mary Tiffin of Clovis; Freda and Harold Phillips, Geneva and Frank Bigham, Baker and Rosemary Johnson and Bud and Dorthea Warren all of Levelland; Ray and Ethel Carfield, Jess and Bonnie Chery, Ruth and George Cooper, Willard and Stella Davis, Bob and Coleen Lockwood, all of Clovis; Pete and Florence Dunn, Dick and Helen Cole, Cecil and June Buhrman, Doyle and Mozell Tapeley, all of Littlefield; Gary and Wendell Moore of Hereford; Joe and Max Odom of Friona; Jack and Bobbie Neil Dunham of Muleshoe; Don and Rena Layman of Oil Center, New Mexico; Garland Stockard, Joe Stockard, Bob and Patsy Graham, Donny Reid and Charla Graham all of Portales; Wes and Helen Brown of Dimmitt; and Tommy and Henri Sizemore of Muleshoe.

Our members present were Debbie Purcell; Marilyn Black; Tanya and Terry Burton; Larry Davis, Robert, Nelda, Tory, Curtis and Shiela Hunt; Willie, Laverne, Tanya, Billy and Timmy James; Monte and Alisha Dollar; Ed, Betty, Leeann and Elaine Gunnels; Jim, Laura, Sherman and Melinda Presley; Curby, Mary, Stephanie and Curby Brantley; Hilbert and Mike Wisian; Eugene, Donna, Delia and Darin Shaw; Ike, Gayle and Ginger Wilcox; Carl and Evelyn Ellington; John and Lottie Bickel; Ronald Scott and Joyce Puckett; and Johnny Mac.

Cliff Smith of Littlefield called for our anniversary dance and everyone really enjoyed him. Door prizes were won by Johnny Mac, Ginger Wilcox, Gary Moore and Wendell Moore.

For intermission, ice cream and cake were served by the club members. Everyone had a good time and is looking forward to the third year of dancing.

Our club has had several members to visit this past month. On June 10, the following group went to Portales to dance: Robert, Nelda, Tory, Sheila and Curtis Hunt; Curby, Mary, Stephanie and Curby Brantley; Jim, Laura, Sherman and Melinda Presley; Marilyn Black; Johnny Mac; Ed, Betty, Lee and Elaine Gunnels. By the way this was Sherman's birthday too.

Then on Saturday, June 12, Hereford had an all day square dance at Sugarland Mall. The following attended: Ed, Betty, Leeann and Elaine Gunnels; Curby, Mary, Stephanie and Curby Brantley; Jim, Laura, Melinda and Sherman Presley; Marilyn Black; Hilbert, Sherry, Jim and Mike Wisian; Ike, Gayle and Ginger Wilcox. Dusty Randall of Midland called and everyone reported a great time.

During one of the afternoon dances, Randall called attention to two of our dancers. They were Melinda Presley and Curby Brantley, Jr. The two had matching dress and shirt and looked so good they stopped the dance.

Ed and Betty won a door prize - a steak dinner at Big Daddy's. The rest of the crew went along to help them enjoy their treat. It turned out to be much more than bargained for. Just as everyone was served, a waitress came in and told everyone not to panic but to line up against the wall or get under the table as a tornado was approaching. After the scare was over, our group got out from under the tables and tried to eat but they were too upset to do so. However, the weather cleared up with no new tornado threats, so they went back to the mall to dance some more. They all reported a night to remember! That's all.

Hope Smith: "Hope is really a wonderful thing."

Jones: "True. One little nibble keeps a man fishing all day."

DARK SKIES THREATEN MULESHOE--Between 5:30 - 6 p.m. Friday afternoon, the sky around Muleshoe turned a dark brown with sand, then black with clouds that dumped a torrential rain for a few minutes. Noted here are vehicles with headlights on and streets that look like young rivers. This intersection was particularly flooded for more than an hour on West American Blvd.

Drought Intensifies Balancing Act

COLLEGE STATION -- The drought conditions that have devastated much of the state's rangeland and pastures are forcing ranchers to make decisions on matching forage production and supplemental feeding with cow numbers and production levels.

These decisions become more and more complicated as the rancher tries to keep losses low while retaining enough cattle to make a reasonably quick financial recovery after normal rainfall resumes.

A short drought is sometimes serious enough to reduce forage production by 60-70 percent, according to L. A. Maddox Jr., Extension beef cattle specialist. This lower forage production can reduce cow weights by 75 to 100 pounds and cause calf weights to sag 75 to 125 pounds, he added.

Calf crops can be reduced more than 20 percent when the most severe period of the drought occurs when cows are expected to re-breed, the specialist noted.

The feed supply on well managed ranges may not be seriously reduced by the first six to 12 months of a drought because of old forage on the ground and drought resistant plants that will grow on sub-soil moisture. In cases such as these, a small addition in supplemental feeding can allow maintenance of normal cow numbers with some reduction in cow weight and weaning weight.

Stockmen in the midst of long term drought periods, plagued with poor cows, no subsoil moisture, no reserve feed, and pastures without anything to slow down runoff, may see their forage production drop to 10 to 20 percent of normal.

When faced with such drastically reduced forage supplies, the rancher must reduce cow numbers, sell light weight calves, and spend more for supplemental feeding.

Maddox explained that in long term drought situations there comes a time when the rancher can't maintain his usual numbers without buying most of his feed.

If forage production is kept at about 60 percent of normal, regular production levels might be maintained by reducing cow numbers 60 percent.

With the same reduction in forage production, a rancher could keep about 76 percent of normal cow numbers if he would be satisfied with reductions of 75 pounds in cow weight and 100 pounds in calf weight. Maintenance of such high cow numbers would also require a 75 percent increase in supplemental feeding.

"When forage production is reduced to 30 percent, a rancher probably won't be able to maintain normal cow and calf weights with a reduction in cow numbers," Maddox warns.

"But he might be able to produce calves that are 20 percent lighter in weaning weights from cows that are eight to 10 percent lighter if cow numbers are reduced to 38 percent of normal and supplemental feeding is increased by 150 percent."

Weaning 240 pound calves at five months off of 800 pound cows should allow continuing stocking rates at 63 percent of normal with 30 percent of normal forage production, if supplemental feeding is increased by 220 percent.

Ranchers should be able to maintain about 75 percent of normal cow numbers by weaning calves at three months of age. Maddox added that such early weaning should stimulate rebreeding of cows and maintain a high percentage calf crop with 800 pound cows and 900 pounds of concentrates or its equivalent in hay fed to supplement poor pastures.

Narrow-Row Cotton Harvester Available

LUBBOCK--During the past few years the lack of available harvesters has hampered somewhat the production of narrow-row cotton on the South Plains of Texas and in other areas of the Cotton Belt. However, this year a number of manufacturers are putting their machines on the market to keep pace with the movement to narrow-row cotton.

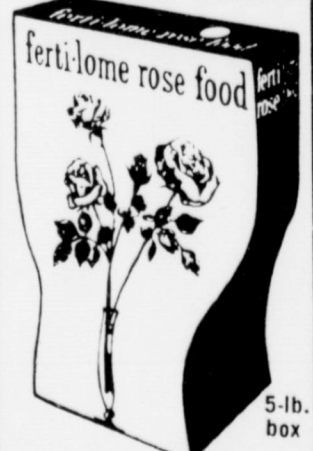

"Some 15,000 acres of narrow-row cotton are expected to be planted on the South Plains this year," points out Elmer B. Hudspeth, agricultural engineer in cotton mechanization with the USDA Agricultural Research Service. "That's about five times the acreage that was planted last year."

Hudspeth, who is located at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, says that there will be a number of new harvesters as well as picker and stripper attachments available for harvesting narrow-row cotton this year. One company has a self-propelled harvester with a 154-inch wide header that can be used for cotton in narrow, double or conventional rows. Several tractor-mounted basket strippers are also available for harvesting cotton in multiple rows (two or three rows to the bed) or conventional rows.

Stripper or picker attachments developed by a number of equipment companies are much more economical for producers who already own harvesters for conventional cotton.

John Tower United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

Juvenile delinquency, the Justice Department reports, is accountable for some fifty percent of crime in America. This, to me, is an astonishing figure. It indicates that we must take rapid action to combat crimes committed by our young people.

We have all heard of the tragic rise in the use of drugs by our young people. This increase in use of drugs by juveniles is responsible for a large share of juvenile crime because the young person, just as his older counterpart, often commits crime in order to obtain drugs. Another problem involved with juvenile delinquency is the treatment of offenders. Our society has too long tended to forget about juvenile delinquents and the progress which could be made toward rehabilitation with adequate facilities, trained personnel and a degree of interest and attention. We have too often allowed our juvenile detention centers, which are often underfunded, to lapse into wretched conditions which only convert juvenile delinquents into hardened adult criminals.

It is in our own best interest to deal with young delinquents and potential delinquents in a way which will prevent the commission of more and still worse crimes, and to salvage those young people who have the potential for positive contributions to society.

I am not suggesting that we condone delinquent acts by young people. But we do have a great interest in rehabilitating juvenile offenders.

This coming week, I expect to co-sponsor legislation which will be offered in the Senate designed to meet the problems of juvenile delinquency. The legislation will be introduced as an amendment to the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. It will propose a crash program designed to deal with immediate problems of juvenile delinquency now confronting our society, and it proposes long range assistance. It is important to give those currently residing in juvenile detention centers a chance for rehabilitation, and to embark upon a program of juvenile crime prevention at the same time.

The legislation which I shall co-sponsor will help create a cooperative program between the federal government and the several states designed to combat juvenile delinquency. It will empower the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, an arm of the Justice Department, to make direct grants to the states to assist them in undertaking new programs in the field of treatment and crime prevention among juveniles.

I have often advocated this type of federal-state cooperation as the best means toward achieving workable solutions. The federal government often has financial resources and experienced professionals capable of helping the states to find solutions to existing and potential problems. Yet the states must have the privilege and responsibility of devising a program especially tailored to the needs of the state itself.

The legislation designed to assist the states develop improved juvenile delinquency programs envisions several types of programs. It would encourage community-based facilities, foster-care and shelter-care homes which would assist the treatment of actual and prospective juvenile delinquents outside a prison-type situation. It would enable increased individual and family counseling. It would maximize the use of trained professionals and para-professionals and encourage the training of additional personnel.

We all know that one of the truly great tragedies of today is the continuing and growing drug problem among our youth. The legislation which will be offered recognizes the facts of this situation and includes programs specifically designed to deal with drug problems among young people. It encourages the use of advanced techniques in the design of services and facilities in a comprehensive program of drug abuse education and prevention. And it provides for treatment and rehabilitation of drug-dependent youth.

The current drug situation among our youth cannot be changed overnight. But the legislation to which I refer will represent a necessary commitment and will involve the sharing of the expertise of the states and the federal government. I am hopeful that with passage and implementation, we shall be able to see positive results within the next few years.

The problem of juvenile delinquency and the associated problem of drug abuse by youth merits high priority. The youth of today are the leaders of tomorrow. It is up to our generation to do everything possible to alleviate and to remedy the current deplorable situation. We have our young to gain, and that means everything to gain.

Coaches All-American Game Scheduled

On June 16, a delegation from Lubbock arrived in Muleshoe to promote the 11th Annual Coaches All-American Game. This outstanding football game features such stars as Jim Plunkett, Heisman Trophy Winner, and Rex Kern, All-American Quarterback from Ohio State University. The game will be played at Texas Tech's Jones Stadium in Lubbock on June 26. Kickoff time will be 7:30 p.m.

Bob Devaney, coach of the National Champion Nebraska Cornhuskers and the nation's winningest coach, heads the coaching staff for the West team. His assistants will include John Ralston, whose Stanford Indians upset the previously unbeaten Ohio State Buckeyes in the 1971 Rose Bowl; and Bennie Ellender, new Tulane head coach. Ellender comes from an eleven-game winning season at Arkansas State and a 1970 victory in the Pecan bowl.

Charley McClendon again heads the East team coaching staff in what will be a rematch of coaching skills which only last January saw his LSU Tigers pitted against West head coach, Bob Devaney, and his Nebraska Cornhuskers. Round-up of the East coaching staff will be Northeastern's Alex Agase, who was named 1970

Coach of the Year by the Football Writers of America; and Fran Curci, who has just taken over head coaching duties at the University of Miami following a 10-1 season at the University of Tampa.

In addition to the outstanding staffs, the game will feature sixty of the nation's top college players including approximately twenty-two All-Americans.

Lubbock Chamber of Commerce President, John Whitcomb, stated that he "hope to increase the enthusiasm for this game throughout the South Plains Area through this tour". Whitcomb went on to say that "we hope that the people of West Texas will consider the Coaches All-American Game as an event that will benefit the entire West Texas area."

Library News

by Anne Camp

Summer Reading at the Muleshoe Area Public Library got off to a good start this week with 1,085 books checked out the first four days. There is still plenty of time for boys and girls to register, and read 12 books to qualify for a Reading Certificate.

The library has just received a collection of 68 books as a gift from the State Library. These books are in Spanish, and are on many subjects—there are children's story books, adult fiction, cookbooks, car repair books, child care, and many other subjects. We will be receiving 42 more in the collection, and we are happy to be able to serve the Spanish speaking people of our community better. It has been suggested that young people who are studying Spanish in High School or college would benefit by some extra reading too.

Another interesting and valuable collection of books will soon be added to the library, these books will all be about Texas and the Southwest, and will be in memory of Mrs. Celia Mattieson, purchased with funds left the library in her will. Many, many books have been given us as memorials and our library is much richer in resources as a result, and memorials live on each time the books are read.

Rules sometimes get pretty complicated. I believe in truth in advertising all right, but if the next step is to require complete truth in Congressmen, for example, or complete truth in people, you've got a mighty unwieldy job on your hands. Yours faithfully, J. A.

The first essential in the security of a worker is to be able to work.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses potatoes and politicians this week, we believe.

Dear editor: According to an article I read in a newspaper the other day and am just now getting around to thinking about, the Food and Drug Administration in Washington has come out with a new truth-in-labeling rule.

Under it, if a grocery store advertising Idaho potatoes, for example, those potatoes have to come from Idaho. Louisiana hot sauce has to come from Louisiana, etc. Can't be selling Arkansas potatoes in an Idaho sack or Idaho in an Arkansas sack. This rule was demanded by either the potato or the sack people, I don't know which.

I guess there's some point to this, although it's impossible for me to tell where a potato came from, if the gravity's made right. As for Louisiana hot sauce, it's all what you're used to, I guess, as the people in Chicago say about their major. However, this truth-in-labeling can be carried too far. For example, if you think right hard you probably can think of one or two people acting as Congressmen who are clearly mis-labeled. Is the Food and Drug Administration coming out with a rule against this?

Of course you might argue the Food and Drug Administration is talking only about items that are for sale, but it's entirely possible those Congressmen could meet those terms too. Or take some State Legislators, but I won't get into that. When a man makes his point he ought to stop and leave something for his readers to fill in on their own.

Come to think of it, how about cafes that serve home-cooked meals a mile from any home? And won't Boston-baked beans get mighty cold if they're served in Muleshoe? Not even a super-sonic plane we can't afford could get them here that fast.

Rules sometimes get pretty complicated. I believe in truth in advertising all right, but if the next step is to require complete truth in Congressmen, for example, or complete truth in people, you've got a mighty unwieldy job on your hands. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Senator Grover Gave Summary On Legislation

Senator Henry Grover, Republican from Houston, speaking to the meeting of the Republican Women of Harrison County held at Shadowood Lodge Friday gave his summary of the accomplishments and problems of the 62nd Legislative Session. Grover said he thinks this session of the legislature can be characterized by an excessive and often unnecessary amount of legislation introduced and passed, often acted on in haste in committee and on the floor, especially in the Senate. "Many Senators and Representatives are certainly going to be surprised when confronted by their constituents with certain features of much of the legislation that was passed," the Houston senator said, "much of it having been passed in such a hurry."

Grover said that in his ten years as a member of the legislature, never had he seen such hasty committee action and poor attention to the details of many of the bills passed in the senate.

ate. The Houston senator said that he thinks the public's attitude toward state government is that a thorough house cleaning is needed. "If the elections were held now I feel certain there would easily be a 50 percent turnover in Austin among elected officials and I hope the people will keep this attitude until election time next year," he continued.

Grover's name is very prominent in those mentioned for the Republican choice for the gubernatorial race. Having been in the legislature for ten years, he has substantial political experience on which to draw, as well as a broad knowledge of state government. A former teacher in the Houston Public School System, he is presently on the staff of the Houston Baptist College.

Bula News

By
Mrs. John Blackman

The entire Bula community received rain Saturday afternoon, with measurement varying from three tenths to two and a half inches. Farmers have been busy this week planting both feed and cotton and are in hopes of more moisture soon.

Ronnie Green with his wife, Shirley, were guests Sunday at the Baptist Church where he spoke at both services and the church called him as their pastor. The Greens live at Petersburg and he is presently attending Wayland College. They will be moving into the Baptist parsonage in a few weeks. The Greens have two children, two and four years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Battles visited Saturday afternoon in the Ray Hulse home in Littlefield and also got to visit with an aunt of Mrs. Battles, Mrs. H. G. Estes of San Antonio.

WMU met for their regular weekly study Tuesday afternoon with five in attendance. Mrs. Pierce had charge of the lesson taken from the Royal Service magazine on "Ministering to Americans". Mrs. Richardson read the prayer calendar and Mrs. Locker gave the opening prayer. Attending were Mrs. P. R. Pierce, Mrs. E. O. Battles, Mrs. Fred Locker, Mrs. Rowena Richardson and Miss Vina Tugman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Aduddell of Littlefield visited Sunday afternoon with their daughter and family, the Dewitt Tillers.

Sherry Withrow left Sunday afternoon for Abilene where she will be attending a Missionary Seminar on the campus of Abilene Christian College in preparation for her stay in Guatemala for six weeks this summer.

A. E. Wright of Amarillo spent the weekend with his son, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Young drove to Anson Monday for a visit with his father, Thomps Young.

Mrs. Lula Harlan was transferred to the Methodist Hospital Wednesday of last week from the Amherst Hospital after she suffered a heart attack. She was able to be returned to the Amherst Hospital Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Weaver attended the Golden Wedding reception given Sunday afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Smith at the home of their daughter, Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Asbil at Lubbock. Smith was superintendent of Bula school and Mrs. Smith taught school here back in the "40s".

Mrs. J. P. Morris received word early Monday morning that her nephew, Dr. Bruce Ellis of Stephens, Arkansas, had passed away suddenly with a coronary heart attack, at the age of 45. The Morris' were unable to attend the funeral but a sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hardin of Littlefield, attended the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jones spent the weekend at Fort Worth with their daughter, Mr. and

HEAVY DAMAGE TO MISSOURI BEEF -- Around $50,000 damage was reported by Missouri Beef Packers at Friona following a tornadic windstorm which hit the plant late Friday afternoon. Although members of the press were not allowed to go past the guardhouse at the gate of the huge plant, workmen were noted son Dewayne accompanied by her mother, Mrs. George Tyson, and a sister, Mrs. Tommie Durham of Maple, visited last week with another son and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Tyson at Oklahoma City then on to Omaha, Nebraska to visit a daughter and sister, Mrs. W. B. Price.

Saturday morning attempting to repair the roof of the structure. In the background, a number of demolished and heavily damaged cars were noted, along with debris strewn round the beef packing plant. At least one injury was recorded in the windstorm which lashed the plant.

Scott and Laura Everett, children of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Everett of Odessa, are here for a visit with grandparents, the W. C. Risings.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry McCain and boys, Dennis and Keith, spent the past week visiting at Ada, Oklahoma, Fort Worth and Dallas with friends and relatives.

Visiting in the Bill Brewer home recently were his brother, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brewer Jr. and children, Cathy and Alicia, from Fontana, California; also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brewer of Amarillo, and a sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Keeton and children, Allan and Annette of Pampa.

Mrs. Raymond Austin visited Monday in Littlefield with an old friend, Mrs. Valley Mae Davis.

Among those attending Tech this summer are Coach Lloyd Halbrooks, English teacher, Pat Risinger, math teacher, Sam Sawyer, Mrs. Carolyn Snitker, and superintendent James St. Clair and David McDaniel.

Coach Halbrooks is teaching driver's education at both Bula and Pep schools this summer for three days a week at each school in the afternoons. The classroom phase of the school has been given and now they are ready for the driving part of the course.

Yvette Cox returned home Sunday morning from a stay of several days in the Morton Hospital with a throat infection.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blackman enjoyed having for dinner guests Sunday, her brother, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Dever of Plainview, Mrs. Uva Dever of Clarendon and Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Harkness of Lubbock. The occasion being birthdays for Mrs. P. E. Dever and Mrs. Uva Dever.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Betts and girls, Belinda and Mandy, were dinner guests Sunday of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ware and children of Morton.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to express our deepest thanks to all our friends who donated blood for our son Derren and for your prayers and concern for us in our time of need. We would also like to thank the Bailey County Fire Department for the use of their building.

Derren is much improved now and will be home most of the time, although he is still receiving treatment at Houston M. D. Anderson Hospital.

Thank you again.

Election, Health Laws Spotlighted

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. -- Major changes in election laws for voters and candidates were approved by the 62nd Legislature. All are contingent on final federal court action upholding lower court decisions invalidating old requirements.

Gov. Preston Smith has signed into law a new voter registration act and filing fee bill.

Earlier the Texas Legislature enacted a resolution ratifying the federal constitutional amendment extending full voting rights to 18-year-olds. Federal amendment may not be finally cleared in time for the 1972 elections, but young voters can participate in presidential and congressional voting and the national nominating convention series.

New voter registration provides for year-around sign-up (with temporary cutoff 30 days before any election) and automatic renewal for three years by voting in any primary or general election. First registration under the new system will begin October 1, March 1, 1972, is the earliest voting date for new registrants. Voters will continue using present registration certificates for elections through next February.

A federal court invalidated the old Texas annual registration requirement, which was unique in the nation. Texas' new automatic registration law would be repealed if appellate courts reinstate annual registration.

Under a bill passed by the 62nd Legislature, in response to another federal ruling that present filing fees are excessive, candidates would pay a maximum of four percent of the term of office salaries to get on the ballot.

Bill also permits "filing by affidavit" stating that the candidate cannot pay the prescribed fee, or by a "petition" signed by 10 percent of the voters in the last general election within the area (state, county, precinct) served by the office sought. If the Supreme Court invalidates this act, a special legislative session may be necessary to provide a method of paying primary election costs in 1972.

IMMUNIZATION REQUIRED--Texas students must begin an immunization program by Jan. 1, 1972, under legislation just signed into law, says the Texas Department of Health.

Students will be allowed to enter schools during the summer and fall terms with provision that their immunizations against at least one of six diseases will be started by Jan. 1 and completed as soon as medically possible.

Required immunization for grade school level youngsters includes diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles, rubella and smallpox. Measles immunization is not required if there is a history of measles illness.

Exceptions may be granted on religious grounds or to those who may be harmed by immunization (on written certification by a physician). However, exemptions would not be permitted in a time of emergency or epidemic, the Health Department adds.

AUTO RATE HEARINGS SET--Hearings are set for 9 a.m. June 30 here to consider new auto rates to replace the controversial schedule put into effect January 1.

State Board of Insurance is expected to hear usual cross-recommendations to raise and lower rates. Hearing will be conducted in the State Highway Department auditorium on casualty and physical damage rates, rating plans and rules.

All those who wish to have subject matter placed on the agenda were advised by the Board to contact its automobile office here by June 23 and provide written statements in quadruplicate.

Rage revisions will be effective on and after September 1 under present indications.

After hearings last year the Board increased rates an average of 14 percent, statewide. This raised an angry reaction from many insurance purchasers. Insurance companies, which urged a 27.7 percent increase, were equally unhappy.

COURTS SPEAK--Third Court of Civil Appeals has ruled that the Ector County Commissioners Court had no authority to spend county funds to purchase a 280-acre tract as the site for the University of Texas of Permian Basin, Odessa. Court decision said the rest of the campus tract, 308 acres, was properly acquired for the new state university as a gift.

State Supreme Court upheld the "spoke" annexation of a narrow strip of territory by the City of San Antonio and noted that the new law banning such annexation does not apply to past city actions.

High Court refused to place on the June 29 charter election ballot in Pharr a committee-proposed recall amendment.

On July 7 arguments will be heard by the Supreme Court as to whether a minister can be held in contempt of court for refusing to move his church.

Reversing a district court ruling, the Third Court of Civil Appeals said that an Austin area teacher whose contract was not renewed deserves a full trial on merits.

U. S. Supreme Court vacated a three-judge federal court finding in San Antonio that the Texas safety responsibility act is valid and sent the case back for reconsideration in view of an earlier ruling that a Georgia law provides no proper method of determining fault of drivers in accidents.

AG OPINIONS--Non-resident archery hunters in portions of Sabine and San Augustine counties must qualify for the regular non-resident hunting license, plus a special license for five-day periods, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

* Griffin and Brand of McAllen are entitled to 436 acres of water right acreage under a section of the Rio Grande Valley water rights case judgement on rehearing.

* Southwest Texas (Uvalde) Junior College Board is without authority to issue a district note of $100,000 payable over 15 years and secured by pledge of district bank stock to finance faculty housing on campus.

HOSPITAL FUNDS AWARDED--Health facilities last week received $647,135 in additional Hill-Burton funds to complete projects.

Receiving funds for existing projects were: Dallas County Hospital District, $34,000; Goodall - Witcher Foundation Hospital, Clifton, $95,000; Campbell Memorial Hospital, Weatherford, $100,000; Youens Memorial Hospital, Weimer, $27,151; Teague Hospital Authority, $10,000; McAllen General Hospital, $10,000; Southwestern Texas Methodist Hospital, San Antonio, $11,000; M. D. Anderson - Pavilion, Houston, $130,000; Christian Home for Aged, Houston, $225,984; and Childrens Rehabilitation Center, Amarillo, $4,000.

Mercy Hospital at Jourdanton was awarded $50,000 and Texas Medical Center Hospital Laundry Cooperative, Houston, $40,000, for new construction.

PRESIDENTIAL DINNER PLANNED--All major Democratic candidates for presidential nomination are expected to receive invitations to a $50-a-plate dinner in Austin during mid-January.

Funds raised at the dinner will go to meet 1971-72 State Democratic Executive Committee budget of $81,000.

A sub-committee was named to check candidates to determine the most convenient day for the dinner.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Smith is still pressing his demand for a presidential drought disaster area proclamation covering Texas.

Highway Department is re-evaluating its plans for a new $20 million office building near the state capitol and the governor's mansion, in view of legislative directive.

Burton G. Hackney resigned as Texas Commissioner of Public Welfare, effective June 15.

Governor Smith appointed Enrique H. Pena of El Paso as Judge of El Paso County Court of Domestic Relations.

State revenue from cigarettes decreased $492,362 from May, 1970, to last month.

Wayne Gibbons of Austin, formerly of Breckenridge, is new executive vice president of the General Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

BELL STATION DAMAGED--Business was going on as usual Saturday morning at this Bell Station on the Hereford highway in Friona despite a large sign draped across the front of the small station. This was one area of damage from the Friday night storm in Friona.

Farmers Union Opposes Postage Rate Increase

The Farmers Union has urged the Postal Rate Commission to turn down a proposed increase in second class postal rates.

Dr. Weldon V. Barton, assistant national legislative director of the Farmers Union, said in testimony before the Commission that increasing second class postal rates would threaten the existence of small town newspapers. But in addition, he said, it would also "combine with other forces working to stagnate rural America."

Loss of weekly newspapers and other printed information sources that move through the mails "would serve to drag down and frustrate efforts to upgrade health, transportation, employment, education, and other activities essential for rural revitalization," Barton said.

Furthermore, he urged that rates on other classes of mail not be increased in order to absorb the deficit that will result from maintenance of current second class rates. "Instead," he said, "Farmers Union urges that -- after the Postal Service makes every effort to secure financial savings by squeezing out operating inefficiencies -- the deficits be allowed to accumulate so as to encourage remedial amendment of the 1970 Postal Reorganization Act."

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.

Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.
