Baguio Falls To Americans

Others Reach Shores Of Davao Gulf, Press Slowly Forward On Okinawa

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

BAGUIO, once-beautiful summer capital of the Philippines in the rugged Benguet mountains of north Luzon, fell to American doughboys Friday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today. The lengthy encircling campaign cost "amazingly light" American casualties.

Other Yanks, meantime, reached the shores of Davao gulf in their drive across southern Mindanao island from Moro gulf, and were just 25 road miles south of the big hemp port of Davao—last major stronghold in the Philippines.

31st Joins Drive

Another division, the 31st, joined the 24th for the drive on Davao, where a bitter fight is expected.

On Okinawa, in the Ryukyus, doughboys pressed slowly forward through pillboxes, caves and strongpoints while U. S. artillery was employed against troops concentrations in rear areas.

Japanese planes raided U. S. warships off Okinawa Friday night, sinking an auxiliary craft and causing some other damage. Twenty-five of the attackers were destroyed and two others probably shot down.

Yanks of the 33rd and 37th divisions took Baguio, a prime objective since the first American landings on Luzon Jan. 9. The mile-high city—onetime Japanese military headquarters—was badly wrecked in the many weeks it was under artillery fire. The Japanese garrison was destroyed.

Doleful Birthday

Japan's Emperor Hirohito celebrated his birthday today (Sunday) in bomb-blasted Tokyo as Nippon forces in the far-flung war areas of Asia suffered new reverses.

The Japanese populace, normally in festive mood on the emperor's natal day, found no reasons for a celebration in this dark war picture:

American troops gaining ground on Okinawa island, just 325 miles south of the Japanese homeland, and in the Philippines.

A new attack on Nippon's home airfields by American Superfortresses.

New Japanese setbacks in China.

American airmen from the Marianas marked the eve of the emperor's birthday with a slashing Superfortress raid on six Kyushu island airfields north of Okinawa. The B-29 crewmen scored good to excellent results as they bombed visually. It was the third Superfort attack on Kyushu in as many days. One B-29 was lost to aggressive air resistance. Four Japanese interceptors were shot down and five others probably destroyed.

On the eve of the emperor's 44th birthday radio Tokyo developed a new case of invasion jitters. The Nippon radio said an armada of 70 American transports, with warship escorts, was cruising near Okinawa and that the Yank Navy was preparing for "new operations."

The Japanese made the uncon-

Conference Hope Rises And Falls

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28 — Hopes of the United Nations conference for a speedy German surrender rose and fell like a tide tonight and through the confusion delegates saw their peace-shaping task growing more difficult.

They cheered at word that an American delegate, Senator Tom Connally of Texas, had declared that the Nazis had surrendered and the announcement would come "momentarily." They heard with dismay that President Truman, in Washington, had pronounced the surrender report unfounded.

Can't Be Long Delayed

But most of them felt that a Nazi collapse, if it does not come now, can't be long delayed. Connally repeated, after the Washington denial, that he expects the announcement of surrender "momentarily."

And the delegates' hopeful attitude was based on one clear fact—that Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler had offered surrender to Britain and the United States and had been turned down because he made no overtures to Russia.

Two possibilities lay ahead of the delegates:

1. A shift to high speed to accomplish as much as possible toward molding the pattern of a peaceful world before top statesmen have to leave San Francisco.

2. A longer and more complicated job if such men as Eden of Britain, Molotov of Russia and Stettinius of America have to rush to their capitals in the hour of victory.

Split Their Time

Delegates split their time between listening to two sessions of formal speech-making and clustering in groups to go over the unconfirmed reports that the Nazis had offered to yield unconditionally to the United States and Britain and were turned down because Russia was ommitted.

Secretary of State Stettinius declined o confirm or deny the surrender rumors.

"Ask President Truman, or Secretary of War Stimson," he told reporters.

Thus far the major accomplishment of the conference, which opened last Wednesday, has been the attainment of harmony on the surface. Looking ahead, representatives of 46 nations are focusing on an old issue now assuming greater prominence—a demand of smaller countries for a bigger break in shaping peace.

And still on the lips of delegates are two puzzling questions about Russia for which they have found no definite answer:

1. What calmed the Russians down, what worked the overnight change that brought harmony out of discord?

2. What did Premier Stalin tell Foreign Commissar Molotov to the end that Russia agreed to sidetracking a Polish issue?

The surrender rumors raced through delegates like an electric spark. Many considered them log-

Mussolini And Other Fascists Said Held

(By The Associated Press)

Capture of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, war minister in the puppet north Italian government of Benito Mussolini and former commander of the Italian forces in North Africa, has been announced by Italian patriot headquarters in Milan, a broadcast recorded by the FCC said today.

The station identified itself as "the voice of the Italian national liberation committee."

Guido Buffarini-Guidi, former secretary of state and minister of the interior in the Fascist government of Benito Mussolini, has been captured by Italian patriots at Fortezza while attempting to escape into Switzerland and will be brought before a people's court, a patriot-controlled radio station in North Italy said today. The broadcast was reported by the FCC.

Mussolini was arrested on the west shore of Lake Como, disguised as a German soldier and traveling in a car "mixed up with a German column of about 30 vehicles," the Milan radio said.

France Votes Today After 9 Year Lapse

TEXAS EDUCATOR DIES

LAREDO, April 28 (AP)—Mrs. Maude Roosevelt Woodson, 69, teacher in Texas schools for 42 years until an illness in 1942, died at Mirando City last night. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Freer.

Here Are Plans For V-E Fete

Lubbock was prepared to put into effect its V-E day plans last night, but was foiled in the attempt. But if the announcement is officially made today or any other day, here's what has been planned:

As soon as the official announcement is made, the fire whistles will blow the victory signal — three short and one long blast over a period of from two to three minutes so that there will be no mistake. And the fire whistles will not blow until the announcement is official.

Church Program

Churches in the Lubbock Ministerial association will open their doors at 8 o'clock the evening of V-E day, if the announcement comes before 7:45 p. m. If, on the other hand, it does not come until after that hour, the services will be held the following evening. Plans for the services are general, since there will be very little notice between when the official end of the European war comes and the time scheduled for the special services, but thanksgiving, praise and prayer will be the theme at all Lubbock churches.

Lubbock stores will close in observance of the victory if the announcement comes before 3 p. m. and will hold business-as-usual hours the next day, as planned by the Retail Merchant's association. If the announcement of the surrender is announced after that time, stores will close immediately but will not reopen the folowing day.

Stores and Schools

If the news should come on Saturday, stores will close immediately and will open at the regular hour Monday morning. If the surrender comes on Sunday, or a holiday, stores will not open the next day.

Lubbock schools will be dismissed as soon as the surrender is announced if it comes during school hours and special assembly programs of a patriotic nature will be held instead of regularly scheduled classes. If the victory in Europe comes after 3 p. m. or on a Sunday or holiday, schools will

Rumor Stems From Himmler

Connally Originates Peace Report, Contends Surrender Is Due Shortly

(By The Associated Press)

Moscow announced early today that Heinrich Himmler had attempted to surrender Germany unconditionally to Britain and the United States, but a San Francisco report that a surrender actually had been made to all three major Allies was declared by President Truman to be unfounded.

The United States and Britain rejected the Himmler offer because it did not include Russia, according to the Moscow broadcast by the official Soviet Tass agency.

Originated With Connally

The San Francisco report that a surrender had been made with "no strings attached," originated with Senator Tom Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee and vice chairman of the American delegation to the United Nations conference.

This information, given at first with the stipulation that Connally not be identified, was carried by the Associated Press at 6:55 p. m., central war time.

One hour and forty minutes later President Truman told an extraordinary press conference at the White House in Washington that he had gotten Admiral Leahy to telephone General Eisenhower in Paris "and there is no foundation for the rumor."

The President authorized direct quotation of his statement — an unusual procedure.

Connally Stands Firm

Learning of the presidential statement, Senator Connally authorized identification of himself as source of the surrender report and told a reporter that he still expected the surrender announcement to be made "momentarily." He said he believed the official news would be forthcoming in a matter of hours.

Jonathan Daniels, presidential press secretary, told the press that he wished there were some way "to stop these rumors."

"Full arrangements have been made for the press to be informed as soon as there is any announcement to make," he said.

"We could save a hell of a lot of time if everybody will remember that. Arrangements have been made for the White House press room to be notified immediately when there is an announcement to be made."

Asked again if he thought there would be anything tonight he replied.

"I do not think so."

General Eisenhower issued a statement in Paris to the Army paper, Stars and Stripes, that he had no information at all on any German surrender.

Another Gets Report

Connally had said the announcement might come from Eisenhower's headquarters. The senator did not give the source of his information about a surrender, but another high official in San Francisco said that he too had received the same report.

Secretary of State Stettinius made no statenient and planned none.

This series of developments climaxed a Saturday in which Germany's complete military collapse was so imminent that surrender reports and rumors sprang up in many parts of the world.

The Tass announcement carried by the Moscow radio was the first official announcement that a surrender offer of any kind had act-

Senate Asks Change In REA Jurisdiction

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP) — By a 13 to 6 vote, the Senate Agriculture committee today endorsed removal of REA from the Agriculture department.

The vote climaxed a long fight within the committee by Senator Shipstead (R-Minn) to reestablish the Rural Electrification administration as an independent agency.

City Takes On V-E Aspect Before Rumor Is Corrected

LUBBOCK reacted as might have been expected—when a radio flash was read at 6:56 o'clock Saturday afternoon saying Germany had surrendered unconditionally to the Allied governments, that "there were no strings attached . . ." and that an announcement was expected momentarily, presumably through Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Stores—practically all of them except drugstores and filling stations and the like—closed promptly, as they had agreed several weeks ago to do in case of confirmed announcement of Victory in Europe.

Up went special window displays in some of them.

In a large department store, for instance, V-E displays were hurried into every window. In huge V cutouts, Hitler lay flattened and Hirohito remained as the last living symbol of the Axis. A sign observed: "One down and one to go."

In a jewelry store window, hurriedly "whitened out" with a chalky preparation, someone immediately exercised his flair for joyous expression by writing with his finger:

"The war is over!"

But, the restrained celebration having been nipped by an 8:36 o'clock flash over Associated Press facilities that quoted President Truman as saying the news was unfounded, someone had appended under the scribbling:

"No it's not!"

Flags were placed in other windows, which were stripped of merchandise.

Theaters—Having agreed that they would close their doors when V-E announcements were authenticated— were ready to shut down. (They had agreed they would close doors immediately when the news became official, declining to sell more tickets but allowing those already in the show to view the remainder of the program).

Several theater managers said numerous persons, however, flocked to boxoffices and formed long lines.

Excitement lingered hours after the flash had been further discounted. Persons talked in knots

Yanks Reported On Swiss Border

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, April 28 — American troops racing across northwestern Italy were reported on the Swiss frontier at Como today as the Germans attempted to rally their disorganized forces for a desperate stand behind the Adige river in the northeast.

Enemy losses in manpower and equipment, however, appear to preclude the possibility of anything more than a delaying action at the Adige.

Plunge Into Alps

The Milan National Liberation committee radio announced that American troops had plunged into the Alps and reached the Swiss border, severing all of northwestern Italy from Germany.

The Allied communique covering Friday's operations said American troops had captured the Ghedi airport and were approaching nearby Bergamo, 30 miles from the Swiss border, in a swift dash that outflanked Milan, 26 miles. This advance placed Fifth Army advance units near the southern tip of Lake Como—the area where Benito Mussolini reportedly was seized several days ago by Italian patriots.

Allied forces in Genoa were concentrating on German coastal batteries which were still holding out although that big port city is controlled by Fifth troops.

The Swiss radio said the Swiss

False Peace Rumors Stir Whole World

Unstoppable Wall Of Allied Might Surges On To Wipe Out Last Major Pockets Of Fanatical Resistance

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sunday, April 29—American armies crushed down today on Germany's last major stronghold, rolling an unstoppable wall of tanks to within 22 miles of Munich, cradle of Nazidom that already was reported torn by revolt.

President Truman announced at Washington, after checking with General Eisenhower here, that a report from San Francisco that Germany had agreed to unconditional surrender was unfounded. Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), vice chairman of the American delegation to the San Francisco conference, asserted, however, that the surrender was expected "hourly."

No Offer At Supreme Headquarters

Supreme headquarters said no German capitulation offer had been received here but that did not mean none had been made directly to one or more Allied capitals. The San Francisco reports said an ultimatum had been delivered to Heinrich Himmler after the Gestapo chief asserted Adolf Hitler was dying and he (Himmler) wanted to give up to the United States and Britain.

The Allies were reported to have said Germany must surrender completely to the United States, Russia and Britain or face intensified destruction of her remaining physical assets and military forces.

The hour for such tactics was growing late, for the Reich now was split into two traps, one on the north barely the size of Indiana and one on the south little larger than Colorado.

Crumbling At Core In South

The southern one was crumbling badly at its very core under the blows of the U. S. Third and Seventh and French First armies.

The Seventh Army was but 25 miles west of Munich, considered the northern bastion of the alpine redoubt, and the U. S. Third Army was 27 miles away on the north.

Munich was being deeply outflanked by Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's rampaging Seventh Army, which seized 23,000 prisoners and with a lightning blow captured Augsburg, third city of Bavaria 35 miles northwest of Munich.

Tenth Armored division tanks in a 20-mile dash drove up to Fuessen on the Austrian frontier 50 miles southwest of Munich, then poured on across.

At Entrance To Austrian Tyrol

Here, 37 miles northwest of Innsbruck—northern gateway to the Brenner pass leading down to Italy—the Americans stood at the entrance to the Austrian Tyrol, through which pass all the main east-west communications in the Alpine redoubt.

Gen. Patton's Third Army, which bagged 28,434 prisoners Saturday, joined the squeeze from the north.

The 86th Infantry division reached Hirnkirchen, 27 miles north of Munich and 22 miles from Dachau, site of the most notorious of all Nazi concentration camps.

Two New Czechoslovakia Crossings

Farther north the Third Army made two new crossings into Czechoslovakia, one at Maxhov, 32 miles southwest of Pilsen, and another at Karlbach, 34 miles southwest of that munitions city. The latter forces were three miles inside Czechoslovakia.

The 13th Armored division, a newcomer to the Third Army, rumbled 13 miles along the south bank of the Danube into the outskirts of Alterhofe, 25 miles southeast of the fallen city of Regensburg.

The German Army was caught in a vise from which there was no escape and was surrendering in almost unprecedented numbers.

Simply by standing still, the U. S. Ninth Army on the center of the front waiting for a junction with the Russians west of Berlin captured 7,977 Germans. The Germans were fleeing the Red Army and rushed into the Americans lines.

French Take Many Prisoners

The French First Army, crushing what remained of the Black forest pocket and another south of Stuttgart, took more than 7,000 prisoners.

There was no further word from the U. S. First Army front, where the junction with the Russians along a wide front south of Berlin left one Russian and two American armies with nothing to do but to broaden their junction.

In the north, the British drove the last German from the dock area of the great port of Bremen and pushed on as much as three miles up the Cuxhaven peninsula to the north toward the North sea port of Bremerhaven.

Reds Press On In Ravaged Berlin Amidst Fanatical But Tottering Nazi Resistance

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sunday, April 29 — Soviet armies, taking a final stranglehold on dying Berlin, hurled its defenders back into a shell-raked 25-square mile pocket in the city's center yesterday while thousands of German troops gave up the suicidal struggle and surrendered to the Red Army.

German resistance was fanatical but it was tottering. Almost all the city but the central pocket, which was forged by a Red Army inner ring of encirclement, was in Russian hands.

The Paris radio said early today that the Russians had occupied the Reichstag in the center of Berlin, adding "it is believed that the end of German resistance in the capital is imminent." By Moscow's account, however, the Russians were two miles from the Reichstag.

While the city lashed in its death agonies, Soviet forces north of the capital smashed out across the Mecklenburg plains on an expanding 81-mile front and gained

"Ivan" Pretty Much Like "GI Joe", Yanks Are Surprised To Discover

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH SOVIET TROOPS On The Elbe, April 28—American soldiers were surprised to find that "Ivan," the typical Russian private, was pretty much like his G.I. counterpart.

An American sergeant who spent the afternoon of the link-up riding around with Russian officers thought they were pretty much like Yank officers.

"They seemed to be acting under the same kind of orders as our officers do," said Sgt. Gerald E. Herrnstadt, New York City.

"And they treated German civilians in exactly the same way we do. While we were riding around one Russian worker came up and complained he had been mistreated by his German overseer, and wanted him shot immediately.

"The Russian officer was sympathetic, but told him 'there will have to be an inquiry before there is any shooting.'"

Germans Retain Fear

German civilians, however, retain their dread of Russian retribution which the Berlin radio has been dinning into their ears and fears for months.

Most residents of Torgau on the western bank of the Elbe fled the city ahead of the Soviet troops. When we drove through to meet the Russians we found only a few elderly Germans in the streets. One was picking up stray cigaret butts and another was rummaging in junk heaps for scraps of food.

After seeing the way the German units gave up to the Americans rather than face front line action against the Russians, one is inclined to believe Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels oversold his "Soviet terror" stories.

He did such a good job he scared many German soldiers into believing it was impossible to whip a Russian army.

Carry Less Equipment

Russian troops seem to carry much less equipment than ours. American soldiers usually are required to wear helmets, even in bivouac areas scores of miles behind the front. I never saw a single Russian soldier wearing a helmet along the Elbe river front. Mostly they wore overseas caps.

They also wore fewer knives and carried less mess equipment than the Yanks. Most of them had only a big spoon stuck in their black leather boots, or in their old style ragged, wrap-around leggins.

Their clothing was stained and worn, but the officers' uniforms were as neat and well-pressed as any Prussian Junker would require.

Almost every Russian carried in his arms or slung over his shoulder a wicked looking snub-nosed automatic pistol resembling our tommy gun. And every gun was in good condition.

Russians Boisterous, Generous

The doughboys warmed to the Russians quickly, because they were light hearted, boisterous and generous. As one soldier put it:

"They shook hands with their right hands and offered you everything they had with their left."

They had unending supplies of captured German wines, sardines, chocolate and spice cake to celebrate the junction meeting, and some American soldiers who arrived empty handed were a little shame faced because they had nothing to offer in return. But the Russians only seemed to want souvenirs.

The prize souvenirs were American dollar bills or U. S. insignia of any kind.

Russian Hospitality Unbounded

Russian hospitality was unbounded. They had bottomless capacity for liquors of all kinds, and drank it at a pace which American officers found impossible to match.

One American captain credited the Russian capacity for drinking to the fact they ate heavily from big bowls of fresh raw onions — one tumblerful of cognac to a handful of onions.

"I think I would rather take the hangover than the preventive," he said.

The Russians seemed to have more boys and more older men in the front lines than the American army, and universally they looked tough, bronzed, seasoned and fit. Their discipline was easy going but excellent.

The doughboys regarded the tanned Russian fighting women with great curiosity, but had little desire for closer acquaintance.

"You think twice before you try getting friendly with a gal toting a tommy gun," said a soldier, "She might misunderstand you."

A Lovely Gift for Mother

May 13th is Mother's special day this year, and she'll want to (and you'll want her to) look her loveliest. What better gift then, than something she can wear? A gift she can use many times after Mother's Day.

Perhaps you've heard Mother say she needed a new hat . . . select one from our collection of handsome sailors, flower trimmed bonnets and genuine panamas.

A handbag is always a welcome gift . . . we have them in plastics, calfskin, goatskin, lizagator and genuine alligator . . . cleverly constructed to carry all of her "personal effects" in a minimum of space . . . both tailored and dressy styles.

Maybe Mother would like a new dress in a printed or solid crepe or spun rayon . . . something that would really 'dress her up" for her day. Or, if she's the tailored type, get her a trim, superbly crafted gabardine . . . all in the season's best designs and colors.

A very wise gift for Mother would be a suit . . . one she could wear right now then put away for the coming fall and winter seasons. Because of the shortage of woolens, she will appreciate your foresight in the selection of her gift. All wools in tailored and dressmaker styles . . . solids colors and patterns.

German Resistance Pockets Must Be Wiped Out; War Not Over Yet

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Shortly after the historic junction of the Allied forces in Germany was announced in the capitals of the big three, a keen follower of the war-news remarked cheerfully to your columnist: "Well, this looks like the end."

Unfortunately that's a wrong conclusion, and one which can lead to much disappointment. This joining up of the western Allies and the Red army is a great moment which certainly will register on Allied and enemy minds alike as signalling an early victory —but it isn't the end of the war.

True, if we had the luck to capture or kill Hitler, that might result in a collapse of his followers. But barring this, the indications are that we must keep on until the remaining German pockets of resistance—the North Sea ports, Denmark, Holland, Norway, Hitler's Alpine fortress—have been cleared out by hard fighting.

Transformation Due

As the Allies proceed with the kill we shall, I believe, see a startling transformation of the great fighting fronts to which we've become so used that they seem part of our maps. This change will be worth watching, because it will be most unusual if indeed it isn't unique.

Ever since the war started the interminably long Russian battleline has run from north to south, facing the Germans. These lines have surged back and forth, but always they have been more or less perpendicular. Similarly, since the western Allies reached the Rhenish theatre, the fronts have run north and south—perpendicular.

Now see what happens. The junction of the Allies in the heart of Germany has severed the perpendicular Hitlerite front. The perpendicular Allied fronts are now reforming into two approximately horizontal fronts, one facing north and the other south, with Czechoslovakia surrounded. Each will be half Russian and half western Allies. The northern front will proceed up towards the sea. The southern front will sweep down against Hitler's redoubt in the Alps.

Two Important Objectives

The two most important immediate objectives naturally are the capture of Berlin and the spiking of the Nazi guns in the Alpine retreat. The military value of Berlin already has been nullified, for while some half million fanatical Nazi troops continue to battle fiercely in the center of the capital, the Russians have them surrounded and all communications thus are severed. However, the psychological value of Berlin is immense, for its fall cannot but be a terrific blow to German morale throughout the reich, it will give the Japs a nasty shock, for that matter.

Berlin is dying hard—but it is in its death throes. The vast metropolis is burning. The two great armies are fighting fiercely from house to house in the heart of the city. In the midst of all this inferno is a civilian population which may run close to three millions. Many of these are dying by violence, and undoubtedly the casualties from privation will be heavy, for the people are cut off from food and even water in many sections.

Drive Against Alpine Redoubt

Meantime the Allies are making a concerted drive against Hitler's Alpine redoubt from all directions, since it is recognized that this stronghold may be the most difficult of all the German "pockets" to wipe out. The point of the haste is to catch the Hitlerites before they've got fully set in their mountain defenses.

From the east the Red army is approaching the outer defenses of the Hitlerian nest through Austria. Elements of the American Third and Seventh armies and the French First army are sweeping in from the Rhenish theatre. And on the south the Allied armies in northern Italy are driving the Germans back into the Alps. The siege of Hitler's lair won't long be deferred.

Cochran County To Vote On Hospital

MORTON, April 28 — A modern $100,000 hospital to serve the people of Cochran county will be voted upon Tuesday in a special election called by the Commissioners' court, County Judge R. C. Strickland announced.

A proposal to reallocate county funds to various accounts needed rather than confining them to the special funds as provided in the tax rate will also be voted upon. The reallocation of county funds to various accounts was approved last year in a constitutional amendment and the court desires the freedom to continue such action, the county judge pointed out.

Grain sorghum loans become due Monday, it was announced Saturday by Walter Y. Wells, secretary of Lubbock county Agricultural Conservation association. He also said his office is ready to issue delivery orders on grain sorghum and sudan to any producer who wants to deliver the grain. The producer has 60 days in which to deliver grain and is required to deliver the same grade of grain that loans were made on, he said.

Lt. James R. When his leave is up he will return to the West Coast for duty involving recognition at St. Mary's Pre-flight school near San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. DuBose of Brownfield have been informed by the War department that their son Pfc. Raymond C. DuBose, 26, was a prisoner of war of Stalag 4-B, at Muhlberg, Germany. (That section has been overrun by the Yanks and prisoners left there liberated, on the basis of dispatches.) Nothing further was learned in the notice. Pfc. DuBose volunteered in 1940, spent 27 months in the Aleutians, on Attu and Kiska, went to Europe in October and was captured Dec. 15. He was with the medical corps of the 422nd regiment of the 106th division. He has three sisters in Lubbock: Mrs. M. L. Waldrop of 2610 Twenty-fourth, Mrs. W. D. Bogar of 2316 Thirtieth, and Mrs. George Fields of 2802 Twenty-seventh.

Cotton Seed Delinting Plant In Operation

Delinting of cotton seed at Plains Kemgas Delinting company plant north of Lubbock was given impetus by return of Arthur J. Foster, who was given a medical discharge from the infantry, but work had gone on at a fast clip under direction of Mrs. Foster.

The plant has a $20,000 new tile and concrete building that supplanted the wooden structure that burned last year after working only two weeks. In it a ton of cottonseed an hour is delinted by an exclusive acid gas spray treatment discovered a dozen years ago. After each batch of seed, machinery is shut down and the plant carefully cleaned, to prevent mixing of grades and types of seed, also to guarantee to the fullest that the cleaned seed shell is sterile.

Foster is a former student and instructor in the textile department of Texas Tech, where Mrs. Foster also went to school. He returned here three years ago after employment in Texas Textile mills at Waco.

Band Course Offered Tech Summer Students

An intensive course for band teachers and those wishing to further their musical education will be offered during the first six weeks of the Texas Tech summer session, which begins June 1, according to Prof. D. O. Wiley, director of the Matador band.

Much emphasis will be placed on courses that will better qualify women band teachers who are now directing so many of the school bands in Texas. A distinguished corps of teachers of the various instruments of the band will be available for class instruction, and a great amount of band materials of all grades will be studied and played.

Two bands will be available to accomodate students at almost any stage of advancement, Prof. Wiley said. College credit, usually six semester hours, will be given to students of college classification.

Theory classes will also be available without extra charge, and for college credit.

Senators Crack Whip Over OPA In Amendments To Control Machinery

By ANN HICKS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 28. — A group of senators cracked the whip over OPA again today. They demanded even more subsidies for the meat industry.

Chairman Elmer Thomas, D., Okla., of the Senate Food Investigating committee threatened to seek amendments to the price control extension bill if OPA does not act immediately. Thomas said he might even go after a few OPA heads.

May Summon Bowles

Chairman Robert F. Wagner, D., N.Y., of the Senate Banking committee said he probably would summon Price Administrator Chester Bowles to a special session Tuesday.

Only this Monday the combined demands of the two committees brought from OPA an agreement to shell out $27,000,000 in additional meat subsidies this year.

But the senators have decided $27,000,000 is too little.

They had the testimony of meat packers before Thomas' group that they would be "worse off than before" — even though OPA backed its revised subsidy program with a promise to "make good" losses legitimate packers might take during the year.

Whip For New Program

The price control extension bill is the whip which helped to induce the entire 10-point program announced by Economic Stabilizer William H. Davis Monday — including subsidy revisions and OPA's new attack on the black market.

Price control is due to expire June 30. Wagner's committee has withheld the extension bill from the Senate floor for more than a month. During that time the senators have been in almost daily consultation with OPA meat executives.

Sen. George L. Radcliffe, D., Md., one of the strongest conciliators, said he believed the situation could be worked out in conference and a lot of "hell-raising" avoided.

Believes In Conciliation

Wagner said he was a "great believer in conciliation" and he thought Bowles could be made to agree to increased subsidies.

Certain Republicans in his group are so dissatisfied to date, however, that they have threatened to produce a minority report.

Meantime Thomas declared that if Wagner couldn't budge Bowles, amendments to the extension bill would be sought on the floor.

Besides that, he said, there are two more alternatives:

1. To seek amendments to the OPA appropriation bill when it comes along.

2. To demand "replacement" of Bowles' meat officials.

Lynn in connection with a charge of attempted passage of a forged check. Drury was bound over to await action of a 99th district grand jury which reports Monday to Judge G. V. Pardue. The youth is accused of having tendered to Dunlap's a check for $28.50.

Petain Jailed For High Treason Trial

PARIS, April 28 (AP) — The great grey doors of Fort de Montrouge slammed shut behind Marshal Philippe Petain today as the 89-year-old former Vichy chief of state entered that place of detention on the outskirts of Paris to await trial on charges of high treason.

As he passed slowly through one village en route from Switzerland to Paris, crowds shouted "death to Petain" and "down with Petain," the French news agency said. The agency added that if the one-time leader of France had any illusions as to the affection of the French people "it must have vanished now."

Petain's first request upon entering the severely furnished little room in the fort was for a picture of Gen. De Gaulle to hang on the wall. Policemen assigned to guard him gaped with surprise but immediately borrowed a photograph from a young lieutenant.

Loan Cotton From '43 Crop To Go Into Pool

All 1943-crop cotton under government loan August 1 will be placed in a pool, as provided in the loan agreement, and sold by Commodity Credit corporation, Dan L. Boyd, district representative, WFA's office of supply, has been informed.

Meanwhile, producers may repay outstanding loans and redeem their cotton under terms of the 1943 cotton loan program.

After final liquidation of the cotton, new proceeds, if any, will be distributed to farmers in proportion to the number of bales each had in the pool. All advances, accrued costs, including storage, insurance and handling charges first will be deducted before any payments are made, he said.

Average 1943 loan rate for 15-16 inch middling cotton, net weight, was 20.06 cents per pound.

Sudan To Vote On Civic Center

SUDAN, April 28 (Special)—Sudan property owners Thursday will go to the polling place in the city hall and express on ballots whether they desire erection of a $35,000 civic building.

The issue had carried earlier, 78 to 46, but it subsequently was found that an irregularity in publication dates of the election notice had nullified the election's effect. Hence, voters will face the issue a second time.

No Change In Taxes

J. H. Vincent, Sudan mayor, said the building, if bonds are voted, "would not cause any change in the Sudan tax rate." He said chances of the election's carrying "seems excellent."

M. C. Butler of Lubbock, architect, said the structure as defined by preliminary plans called for an auditorium, 50 by 120 feet, with a wing 50 by 54 feet. It would be an L-shaped building of tile and brick and structural steel on reinforced concrete foundations. In it would be the auditorium seating approximately 1,000 persons, and rooms for Boy and Girl Scouts, a recreation chamber for foremen, a kitchen and a dining room, possibly a library. The grounds, which would be selected on a basis of the greater convenience of the greater number of persons to be served, would be landscaped.

Butler said approximately 100 working days would be required for completion of the structure.

Vincent said Clyde W. Robertson would be election judge.

Tech Not To Dismiss Classes On V-E Day

No special convocation has been planned and classes will not be dismissed at Texas Tech when news is received of the European victory, according to Pres. W. M. Whyburn.

Arrangements have been made to deliver the news to classes and other campus gatherings, soon as it is received. However, Pres. Whyburn has suggested that individual classes begin plans for the type of exercise they wish to have if the news comes during a class period.

Instructors will probably wish to devote a portion of the hour to formal discussions as to the significance of the news and its bearing on the war, the president said.

Stressing the fact that V-E day "will only be a step toward the conclusion of the war and that a gigantic task still lies ahead," Pres. Whyburn said "Let us all work together to the end that V-E day comes soon and be followed quickly by V day, which signalizes cessation of hostilities on all battlefronts of the world."

George T. Skinner, former engineering student at Texas Tech, has been given recognition by Lockheed Aircraft corporation for faithful effort and ability demonstrated in the engineering development on the Constellation C-69, Lockheed's first four-engine pressurized transport.

Now working in the company's civilian transport plant, Skinner is senior liaison engineer. He has been employed in the engineering department at Lockheed for four years and obtained his mechanical engineering degree from the University of Southern California at the company's expense.

The Constellation, which is now in production, broke the world record for a cross-country flight from Los Angeles to New York when it made the flight in a little more than six hours.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Skinner of 1305 Ave. R, Skinner worked for the West Texas Gas Company while attending Tech for three years. His wife is the former Dorothy Stephens, and they have one child, Bobby Ruth.

Texas Editor Describes Appalling Conditions In Buchenwald Camp

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Walter, Soldier of the AEF of World War 1, was captured and held prisoner in a German prison camp. As a member of the group of American [illegible] went to Germany a week ago at the invitation of General Eisenhower to report on the horror camp at Buchenwald, The Houston Chronicle managing editor wrote the following dispatch fo rthe Associated Press).

By M. E. WALTER
Managing Editor of the Houston Chronicle

PARIS, April 28—The prisoners left in the notorious German labor camp of Buchenwald are still dying at the rate of 15 a day although it has been two weeks since the American army opened the camp.

When captured the camp had a population of about 20,000 and those able to be taken away were removed so that only about 6,000 were there when a party of editors visited the place. They were sick and starving, most of them past saving.

The camp is a place of unbelievable degradation and filth although Army officers and prisoners say much has been done since the Americans arrived to clean it up.

Weimar Cultural Center

In contrast to the starvation and filth at Buchenwald is the cultural center of Weimar which adjoins the camp. Well-fed, well-dressed Germans go about their business through the streets, paying little attention to American occupation forces.

"We certainly have attracted little attention," remarked an American colonel. "Certainly not as much as a circus would have caused."

Whether the natives were merely indifferent to conditions in the camp or ignorant of them is debated by the officers in town. Certainly there is no evidence visible that any of them feel any guilt or responsibility.

As one editor remarked, "they certainly look less like conquered people than any conquered people could possibly look."

Humans Used As Guinea Pigs

One block of buildings was used for medical experiments with prisoners serving as guinea pigs in tests of various serums. Few "prisoners who entered this building ever left alive," prisoners declare.

Human skin was tanned and used for lamp shades and other ornaments, it was said. Whether this is true or not we cannot say from personal knowledge, but we see large sections of tanned human skin easily recognizable. Nearby was a wire frame for a lamp shade.

Stories are told of execution by slow strangulation, of regular hangings and of shootings. But probably most deaths came from starvation.

All prisoners agreed on the inadequacy of the rations, which consisted almost exclusively of substitute coffee, weak soup and a small piece of bread daily.

While listening to stories of prisoners you suddenly begin to have a feeling of futility. Why bother with specific cases and incidents when the whole camp is one great atrocity?

A prisoner tells of being flogged unconscious for a small infraction of prison rules or for no reason at all.

The death rate must have been tremendous during the 10 years the camp was in operation. Evidence of this fact is the elaborate crematory. This had a capacity of 400 bodies in 12 hours and it is not likely that the Germans, with the shortage of material facing them and the efficiency that is second nature to them, would have provided any excess capacity.

1,000 Children In Camp

More than 1,000 children from six to 14 years of age were found in the camp. They were mostly Polish orphans and were put to work as soon as the SS (elite guard) officials in charge decided they were old enough. This was usually at 12, the children said.

The plight of these children arouses the deepest resentment. In the case of the men, they had opposed the Nazis and might be said to have warred against them. This mistreatment—horrible as it was—could perhaps be understood or explained as revenge or fear by Nazis who believed the men's death was necessary to their own safety. But in the case of children there could be no explanation that a reasonable mind can understand.

Buchenwald prison should not be confused with the prison camps where American soldiers were kept.

For Political Prisoners

This camp was for political prisoners—that is for citizens of Germany and France, Poland and Czechoslovakia, who had opposed the Nazis or, as they phrased it, were "politically unreliable." And they included many outstanding men of the countries named. They were noted physicians, military men, professors and in fact the brains of the opposition. That is why the Nazis feared them and sought their destruction.

To me an interesting feature of the inspection was seeing how the German has deteriorated in character in the 27 years since the last war.

I had been a prisoner shortly before the last war ended and by and large had been treated well. The food was poor but so also was the food of the native population.

But I soon found there is little similarity between the government headed by the kaiser and that headed by Hitler insofar as treatment of prisoners is concerned. Compared with conditions at Buchenwald, the prison camps I was in in 1918 were de luxe hotels.

Treating humans with a total disregard for ordinary decencies, putting them in conditions that would be obnoxious to the ordinary domestic animal, is something it will take the civilized world a long time to forget.

Saturday To Be "Fish Day" At Texas Tech

Traditional "Fish Day" will be observed Saturday by Texas Tech students and the Administrative council has approved a picnic to be held at MacKenzie Park and an all-college dance to be given that evening in the Tech gym, where the freshman queen of 1945 will be presented.

Students, who will be excused from classes only to attend the picnic, will leave the campus at 8 a. m. and parade en masse to the park where they will remain until late that afternoon. First semester sophomores have been invited to attend.

Highlight of the day's events will be the presentation of the freshman queen, at the semi-formal dance to be given from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. Freshmen will vote for class queen at 5 p. m. Friday when they meet in room 101 of the chemistry building.

Seven nominees for class queen are Dorothy Brown of Lubbock, Billie Furr of Childress, Mae Mitchell of Iowa Park, Bobby Childers of Tulia, Nora McMurry of Lubbock, Jeanne Stovall of Lubbock, and Lucille Burns of Houston.

Tickets for the picnic and dance will be sold to freshman students for 60 cents. Other students desiring to attend the dance may obtain tickets for 25 cents at the gym box office, evening of the dance.

Grand Jury Panel To Report Monday

A grand jury panel will report at 10 o'clock Monday morning to Judge G. V. Pardue of 99th district court.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, said there was one murder case, another shooting in which the victim did not die, about six desertions of minor children, approximately a dozen burglaries and three arson charges included in cases that will be referred to the grand jury.

The murder charge was drawn against Willie Wilson, a Mexican accused of having murdered Mercey Romero, 19, a Mexican woman. Witnesses had indicated belief he fired at a Mexican man, had hit the woman instead.

In another shooting, a Mexican who had not been charged will be investigated. Augustine Sotelo was shot in the side last Sunday night, a few minutes after another Mexican, George Chaxez, had been hit in the left leg.

Slaughter Quotas On Some Cattle Raised

Because the percentage of good and choice grades in the total cattle supply is relatively high during the spring months, the maximum percentage of these two top grades that may be slaughtered during a monthly accounting period has been increased, the district Office of Price administration has announced.

This action, effective April 24, 1945, also exempts from the maximum percentage limitation anyone whose slaughter is confined exclusively to 4-H or other club cattle purchased at sales approved by the OPA.

The maximum per centage of good and choice grades that anyone may slaughter or deliver as meat in each of the accounting periods ending on or about April 30 and May 31, 1945, has been increased in Zone 'C,' which includes the major portion of Texas, from 50 per cent to 75 per cent. In Zone A, which includes all points west of Kermit and Fort Stockton and south of New Mexico state border, the percentage has been increased from 75 per cent to 90 per cent.

These higher percentages are also established for slaughterers' accounting periods ending on or about June 30, 1945. Maximum percentages had not been announced before for this period.

Capt. Snodgrass Home After Two Years With Famous 36th

Capt. Norman Snodgrass, just back from two years with the 36th Infantry division in action from North Africa to the heart of Germany, has a first-hand story to tell of the famous Texas National Guard unit, of which he has been a member since 1927.

SNODGRASS

"The 36th division was mobilized Nov. 25, 1940 after the President declared the emergency. It was triangularized, split or streamlined, whichever you prefer to call it, and one part was sent to the Pacific where it was lost in the battle of Java, when it became the "Lost Battalion." Our part went to Africa and stayed there five months, later making the original invasion of Italy at Salerno.

"We stayed in Italy 11 months and from there went into Southern France last August. Up until that time we had been with the Fifth Army, but after going into action in France, we became a part of the Seventh Army, and with them fought our way to the Rhine, where my unit was when I was hospitalized out and sent home.

Lubbock Boys In Unit

"I was mobilized as a second lieutenant and was supply officer in the service battery, which included several South Plains boys. Among them were Sgt. Owen Lattimore, Sgt. James Hardin and Sgt. J. C. McKinley of Lubbock. We handled all the gasoline, clothing, ammunition, food and vehicles for a battalion of normally 500 men, which grew to as many as 700 if an ack-ack company or some other unit was with us for a few days. It sounds good to say "Service Battery," but we were really just a big-scale trucking concern.

"Begun as a Texas National Guard unit, the 36th division was at first all-Texan, but at the time I left, there were only about 30 or 40 per cent Texas boys. The reason wasn't casualties, as might be surmised, but traciable to the fact that our original unit was predominantly college - educated men, who were either sent to officer's candidate school or put in charge of some other unit. At the time we went into action, the 36th division was one of the best prepared for combat in the United States Army."

Hated To Leave

In answer to a question, about how he felt when he had to come home when the 36th division was at the Rhine, Capt. Snodgrass said, "To be perfectly frank, I sat down and bawled like a baby. Not that I didn't want to come home—don't misunderstand me. But I had been over there long enough to know what the rest of it was going to be like, and I didn't want to go off and leave those boys I'd been with for two years . . . You just almost can't do it, that's all."

Capt. Snodgrass was injured in a vehicle accident in the line of duty, and it was from results of that injury that he was hospitalized. Following a 30-day leave, which he is spending working in his yard and enjoying the peace and quiet of home, he will report for reassignment. He and his wife live at 3706 Ave. P. His brother, Lt. Hugh T. Snodgrass, stationed at Bergstrom field, Austin, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Snodgrass, 2120 Thirteenth, earlier this week.

Reports Differ On Whereabouts Of Leaders Of Nazism, Facism

(By The Associated Press)

Compiled from a welter of conflicting reports, here are the latest stories extent on the whereabouts of the leaders of the dying Nazism and Fascism:

Adolf Hitler: The Germans said he was in Berlin, directing the defense of that invested capital. The report has been received with skepticism in Allied quarters. The heavy bombing of Berchtesgaden and his private chalet indicated an Allied bslief that the fuehrer might be in the Bavarian mountain redoubt area. The free German press in a report relayed from Stockholm said a fanatical Nazi double for Hitler would die in Berlin's defense to perpetuate the Nazi hero legend.

Goering May Be Dead

Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering: The erstwhile chief of the almost non-existent German airforce is through, beyond doubt, and may be dead. A German broadcast said he had resigned his post because of an acute heart ailment. A captured Nazi general said the portly marshal probably was executed. A Moscow report broached the possibility that Goering had fled to parts unknown, carrying away $20,000,000 in loot.

Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler: His captured brother-in-law said that as late as April 19 Himmler was in the Hartz mountains but escaped the advancing Americans; he was reported to have made a peace offer to Britain and the United States, excluding Russia.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels: The loud and limping mouthpiece of Nazism has been reported by a German controlled source to have fled northward out of Berlin, but other German reports have said he was with Hitler in Berlin. He may already be in the Bavarian redoubt.

Franz von Papen: The "gray fox" of Nazi diplomacy walked into American arms, a captive.

Dittmar Gives Up

Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar: This mouthpiece of the German high command crossed the Elbe in a rowboat and gave himself up to the Americans. It was he who suggested Goering probably has been executed.

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring: The latest clue to the whereabouts of the German commander in the south came from the Munich radio during what apparently was a short-lived revolt in that birthplace of Nazism. The radio broadcast a plea to the Allies to bomb Pullach, six miles south of Munich, where it said Kesselring had established headquarters. A private train belonging to the marshal was captured near the Czech border by American troops, but Kesselring was not on board.

Benito Mussolini: The Milan radio said the once-blustery Italian dictator was captured after fleeing in disguise from Milan as partisans staged a revolt. One Swiss report said recently he might have succeeded in crossing the Swiss frontier.

MRS. J. T. TRIGG

MRS. ISABEL GARRISON

Two Veteran Members Of Lubbock School Staff Resign

Lubbock schools lost two more of its veteran teachers the past week with the resignations of Mrs J. T. Trigg and Mrs. Isabel Garrison.

Mrs. Trigg has been a member of the Lubbock school staff 27 years and has been in the teaching profession 35 years. Formerly a classroom teacher in Central Ward and Geo. M. Hunt ward schools, Mrs. Trigg became principal of Sanders' school when that school was first opened in 1926 and has remained there ever since.

Came Here In 1916

As Miss Lula Jones, Mrs. Trigg came to Lubbock first in 1916, after having taught in rural schools of Coryell, Lynn and Lubbock counties. In 1923, she went to West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, for additional instruction and the following year she spent teaching in Levelland. She returned to Lubbock in 1925, here to remain.

Mrs. Trigg received her education not only in the West Texas State Teachers college, but also at University of Colorado, Boulder; Colorado State Teachers college at Greeley, and Texas Technological college here. Her husband, a longtime resident of Lubbock, is in the real estate business. The Triggs reside at 1715 Twenty-seventh street and both have been active in civic and Sunday school affairs in the Sanders school district.

Mrs. Garrison, who began her teaching career in 1900, has been social studies teacher in Junior High school since 1926. She moved with her family to Amarillo in 1889 and prior to being a teacher herself, her sisters were teachers. With the exception of two years, members of her family and those of the Russell family, with whom her father was associated in a law practice, have been represented in the teaching profession there ever since.

After her marriage, Mrs. Garrison moved with her husband to Hereford and after his death, she resumed teaching in the Hereford schools, being a faculty member there from 1921 to 1926 when she moved to Lubbock.

She had previously attended "summer normals" and North Texas State Teachers college and Emporia, Kans. Teachers college before coming to Lubbock. She attended Texas Tech during summer sessions and received her degree in 1938. Her two sons, Hill and Ward Garrison, had previously graduated in 1932 and 1934.

Hill Garrison is now a refrigeration engineer in Kansas City and secretary of the Kansas City Society of Engineers. Lt. Ward Garrison is in the Army and is now stationed on Okinawa.

Woman Is Beaten, Robbed And Raped

HOUSTON, April 28 (U.P.) — A 37-year-old Cleveland, Tex., woman, visiting her sister-in-law here, was severely beaten, robbed of $300 and raped on the grounds of Jefferson Davis hospital early today, police reported.

The woman was found lying unconscious on the hospital grounds about 4 a. m. She was admitted to the hospital for emergency treatment.

Police said an unidentified man was believed to have stolen the woman's car and that he apparently drove her to the hospital where he took her money, struck her several sharp blows in the head and raped her.

The Houston sister-in-law reported that she had left the Cleveland woman in her car outside a city drug store while she went in to use the telephone. The Cleveland woman had "passed out" in the car, she said.

When she came out of the drug store, she said, the car and her sister-in-law were gone. An Ellington field officer said he had seen a man get into the car with the unconscious woman, pick up a bottle of whisky from the seat, and drive away.

CHILDREN'S MEMORIAL

LONDON, April 28 (AP) — Britain's 7,736 children killed in German air raids will have their own war memorial—a new children's ward in London's St. Thomas hospital, it was announced today.

V-E Day Is Seen Within 6 Weeks

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Military experts, figuring V-E day still weeks ahead, nevertheless believe General Eisenhower's victory proclamation will come before all fighting ends in Germany.

Unless there is an unexpected German capitulation, said War department officials who are in a position to know but don't want to be named, Eisenhower will wait until the major pockets of Nazi forces are eliminated.

One official estimated this will require no more than six weeks.

Military sources, however, do not expect the mopup of the smaller pockets to figure in Eisenhower's decision to proclaim V-E day. It will come, they believe, when the German forces in central Europe are annihilated.

The task of erasing the major pockets probably already has been assigned to various Anglo-American and Russian units through consultation between Eisenhower and the Russian central military headquarters in Moscow.

On the basis of present operations, military men believe the line separating the forces probably will run from the area of Lubeck on the Baltic to the Elbe river, up the Elbe and Mulde rivers, along the western border of Czechoslovakia and down the Danube to the vicinity of Linz and thence to the Adriatic.

This would assign to the Russians the job of mopping up the Germans in northeast Germany, western Czechoslovakia and part of Austria and Yugoslavia. Anglo-American forces would take on the remainder.

The coordination between Eisenhower and Russian headquarters probably will be broadened by liaison between individual Anglo-American and Russian units in the field. Presumably, the two forces will exchange officers for the purpose of maintaining this local liaison.

Dinner Program Given By Morton C. Of C.

MORTON, April 28 (Special)—More than 200 persons from a wide section of West Texas attended a dinner program of Morton Chamber of Commerce Thursday night in the high school gymnasium.

P. R. Ramby presided. He became president when W. W. Williamson, Morton banker who had been reelected to his office, resigned two weeks ago.

Cal Farley of Amarillo was principal speaker. R. B. McAlister, Clovis, N. M., radio station manager, demonstrated sleight-of-hand tricks and brought with him musical entertainers.

Juvenile Gang Beats Up Studio Operator

DALLAS, April 28 (U.P.)—The Lakewood Rats, a juvenile gang composed in the main of youths from a fashionable residential area in East Dallas, were in bad with Dallas police again today.

In the first noticeable flareup of activity attributed to the gang in several months, they used a heavy trace chain last night to beat Robert Eugene Addison, jr., 34, operator of a studio in the Lakewood area, and left him in a semi-conscious condition at the rear of a tavern.

West Texans Set For State Meet

The SPORTS EYE

By Mack Turner

COACH Dixie White has just about come to the conclusion that the Westerners are going to start contact scrimmage as soon as they hit the field. It seems that this is the safest way to handle the spring drills out at Chapman field.

Freak accidents on the practice field have put at least four of the Westerners on the sidelines, and one Cowhand has gone out of action because of an accident, and all of them came in what is considered "easy work."

The blocking and tackling dummy, used in teaching the fundamentals of the game, has taken the largest toll from the ranks. When the boys are knocking heads, or playing regular football, there seem to be no injuries.

Fractured arms have taken the biggest toll, half of the four Westerners, while the other two went out with a back injury and a head injury. The lone Cowhand injury was a broken collar bone, suffered by Bert Nelson.

Bill Carter and Rhea Bradley are the victims of arm injuries, while Wayne Cobb suffered his head injury a week ago last Friday. Lloyd Stevenson is the latest member of the hospital list, injuring his back last Thursday.

Cobb is expected back in harness this week.

IT LOOKS like the self styled "Old Fat Man" down San Angelo way (to the late tuners in, this is Blondy Cross, sports scribe of the Standard-Times) has delivered the goods.

Nothing was said about who was behind the movement, but as we have made two good guesses on who started things in other towns, we will still credit Blondy with the honors, just as we did Cotton Clover of Odessa and Harry Heinecke at Wichita Falls.

In the past, we have taken lots of jibes at our old friend Blondy, but this time we want to take our hats off to the "old fat man" and hand him a few orchids.

Down at Odessa (see Sports Eye for April 11) we were helping the boys talk junior baseball, and had Blondy cornered in the hotel room after the Odessa track meet. Backed by Cotton Clover and Del Morgan, we put the junior baseball question up to Blondy.

The San Angelo scribe only grunted, and offered the opinion that the sport wouldn't take hold in San Angelo. They were football minded there, and not interested in baseball. There were other arguments he offered, one of which was he was too busy.

But after a barrage of questions and arguments, we noticed that Blondy took down some notes, and we took hope. We mentioned those hopes in our column of April 11.

Tuesday, April 24, the Standard Times at San Angelo printed the following under a three column head reading "Legion Junior Baseball Team To Be Formed In San Angelo.":

"San Angelo will have an American Legion junior baseball team this year after a lapse of several seasons if plans of James J. Goodfellow Post go through as scheduled, Abie Ray, member of the sponsoring committee, announced today.

Plans for the opening of practice have already been drawn, but are being withheld pending location of a practice diamond. Negotiations are going on to acquire a field in Lake View.

• • •

Ray said two and possibly three teams would be picked from among the youths of the city, depending on the number of candidates reporting for the practice sessions.

• • •

Boys 16 and under are eligible for the team. A boy who is now 17 but whose birthday was before Jan. 1, 1941, is also eligible to participate in the play.

National American Legion junior baseball rules state that a team must not carry more than 15 players on its roster, but does not specify how many squads can be organized in a city.

"We want every eligible boy in San Angelo to participate if possible," Ray said. "The more the better. We will organize two or three teams and more if necessary, to play against one another. Later in the year, the 15 best men from all the teams will be picked to represent San Angelo in the county and district playoffs."

San Angelo is in District 3 comprising 34 counties. Ray said competition would be plenty stiff but that the locals would stand just as good a chance as any other team.

"IF SAN ANGELO HAPPENED TO WIN THE DISTRICT," THE COMMITTEEMAN SAID, "ALL 15 MEMBERS WOULD BE TAKEN TO THE WORLD SERIES NEXT FALL WITH ALL EXPENSES PAID. THIS IS A FINE GOAL TO SHOOT AT AND WELL WORTH THE TRY."

• • •

Ralph Emerson and Ray comprise the sponsoring committee and will aid Probst in the workouts.

Games will be scheduled later with teams from surrounding counties and contests will be played between the teams here in town."

So another team falls into the picture of Junior baseball, and down San Angelo way, they are putting the thing over in a big way. The World Series will be a great inducement to those kids to play their best in the playoffs.

It certainly looks like Lubbock won't make any more trips to the state tournament — without getting a base hit.

I'll be seeing you.

West Texas track and field stars, led by holders of two new regional records, and co-holders of two more, will leave this week for Austin where they will battle for final honors against winners from seven other regions in the state.

The Lubbock Westerners, who piled up 44 points in the Region One meet last Tuesday, will take the largest squad from West Texas, and will furnish two of the four leaders for the boys from this area. Pampa and Vega furnish the others.

State's Best Marks

Two of the best men in the state, on the basis of records this year, will be the holders of the two marks set here last week, Cliff Dean of Lubbock and Randall Clay of Pampa. Dean has been equaled this year by Jack Simpson of Adamson High at Dallas, but Dean has scaled over the 12 foot bar six times this year.

Clay's heave of the discus in last week's regional meet is the best mark recorded in the state this year, throwing the plate 142 feet, 3 inches. Clay and Dean may not set any new state records, but they are going to be hard to beat out of first places.

Jim Lowrey's gallop in the 880 yard run tied the old regional record, and is among the better times shown up over the state this year. Given better weather conditions, and a better track, Lowrey stands a good chance to finish high in the points.

Jay Hammond, Vega, who tied the regional high jump mark, is another boy who should bring some points to the West Texan's score card.

Harrison, Johnson Fast

In the dashes, W. C. Harrison of Denver City, and W. C. Johnson of Hale Center, both have shown plenty of speed this year, and while they are in the toughest events on the slate, should win a few points.

The 1945 West Texas entries at the state meet are the strongest of several years, and should produce some fireworks when the starter's gun sounds at Austin this week.

Besides Dean and Lowrey, the Lubbock Westerners will have W. Hensley, high point man of the regional meet, who will enter the high and low hurdles and broad jump. Hensley's broad jump record last week ranks high among the records of the state as listed to date, jumping 21 feet, 1 inch. He also won in low hurdles, and was third in the high hurdles.

George Brewer also qualified for three events, placing second in the 100 yard dash, third in the 220 yard dash, and running a leg on the winning 440 yard relay team.

R. W. Moyers came in with a pair of seconds to win his trip to the state meet, getting runnerup nods in both the discus and shot put. Charles Funk, another Westerner, came in third in the discus to place for the state meet.

Lubbock will also carry along two relays teams, having won first in the 440 yard relay, and second in the mile relay.

Two National High School Records Set

ABERDEEN, S. D., April 28 (U.P.) Byrl Thompson, of Minneapolis Southwest High school, bettered the National high school discus record yesterday at the Aberdeen Relays.

Thompson hurled the light weight high school platter 176 feet, 4 1-3 inches to better the accepted National Interscholastic mark of 174 feet 2 1-2 inches set by Howard Debus, of Lincoln, Neb., at York, Neb., in 1940. The new toss wiped out the Aberdeen relays record of 135 feet, 4 inches.

Howie Carlson, Minneapolis West High school, broke the meet record in the shotput when he put the prep school shot 52 feet, 3-4 inches. The previous meet record was 48 feet, 8 1-2 inches.

Ping Pong Tourney Needs Girls Entries

Twenty-one boys have entered the city 'teen agers pin-pong tournament to be held May 1-12 at the Corral, Sixteenth and Ave. J, but more entries are needed in the girl's divisions, it was announced Saturday night.

Entered in the boy's singles division are Jerry LeMond, Lewis Hawkins, Gene Hardy, Frank Porter, Milton Butler, Jim Lowrey, Gordon Parkhill, jr., Doug Galey, Bob Galey, Leslie Pinkston, Phillip Griner, Elmer Reed, Nelson Herbert, R. L. Smith, Ned Griner, R. J. Maitheny, Edgar Holcomb, Charles Gregg, Horace Smith, Phil Bennett and Dalton Hamilton.

Entries in boy's doubles include Elmer Reed and Nelson Herbert, Doug Galey and Bob Galey, Frank Porter and Gene Hardy, Milton Butler and Jim Lowrey, Jerry Lemond and Bob Click, Leslie Pinkston and Phil Bennett, and Edgar Holcomb and Charles Griggs.

Melba Pinkston is the only contestant in girl's singles, and there are none in girl's doubles. Melba and Leslie Pinkston are the only team in mixed doubles.

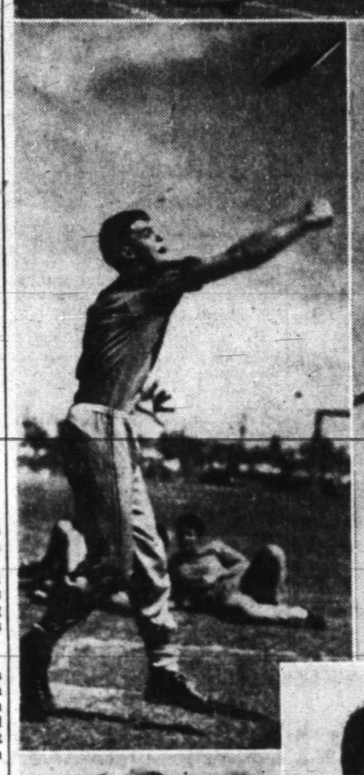

Deadline for entries, which can be made at the Corral, is 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Prizes such as tennis balls, mitts, sport shirts, and other merchandise will be given to winners.

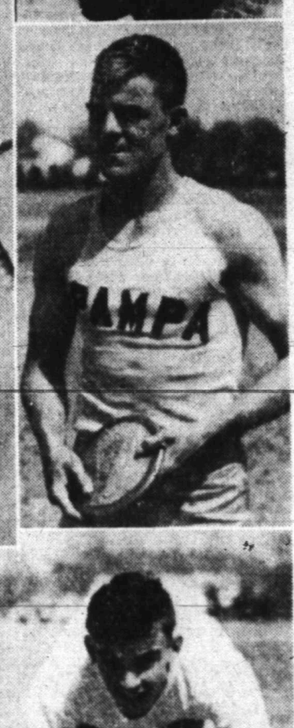

James I of England created the position of poet laureate in 1617 and gave it to Ben Jonson.

REGIONAL STARS HEAD FOR AUSTIN—Camera highlights of the regional meet held here last Tuesday show some of the results such as were obtained by the army of photographers, which included the two attractive "camera bugs" in the lower left and upper right of the picture, and found one of the most colorful meets in years on which to work their talents. The little lady in the upper right is Juanita Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. "Pup" Thomas, 1710 Main, and in the lower left is Willie Odom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Odom, 916 Main, a pair of high school photographers. Upper left shows the finish on the 100 yard dash finals, won by W. C. Johnson, Hale Center speedster, who is second from the left. Lubbock's George Brewer was close behind, running at extreme right. Record breaking Randall Clay is pictured left in the second row, catching the discus as it leaves his hand on the 142 feet, 3 inch journey that set a new regional record. A closeup of Clay is on the right of the center row. Center picture shows Cliff Dean, Lubbock pole vaulter, as he cleared the 12 foot bar for the new regional record. Directly in line with Miss Odom's camera is Jim Lowrey, Lubbock half miler, who tied the regional mark of Lambert of Muleshoe when he stepped the distance in 2 minutes, 4 seconds. Next is Dean with his trusty pole that has brought him statewide fame. In the lower right hand corner is W. C. Harrison, Denver City's speed demon, and one of the most colorful figures in West Texas track. All but the fair photographers will be shooting the works again at Austin Thursday and Friday in the state meet. (Photos by M. F. Peters)

Records Expected To Fall At State Meet This Week

AUSTIN, April 28. (AP)—Three hundred and fifty track and field contestants come to Austin this week for the annual Texas Interscholastic League meet with Brackenridge of San Antonio a paper edge favorite to beat out its city rival, Thomas Jefferson, for the championship.

Several state records appear in danger but the ones most likely to fall are the 120-yard high hurdles, the quarter mile and the mile relay, with San Antonio athletes figuring in two of them.

August Erfurth of Brackenridge is levelling at the high hurdles mark. He already has done this in 14.1 which ties the state record. Desmond Kidd of Austin needs to shave six-tenths of a second off his best mark to clip the 440-yard dash standard of 49 flat.

The meet opens Thursday morning at 9:15 o'clock. Finals will start Friday at 2:15 p.m.

Dallas athletes probably will capture the most points outside of those from San Antonio with slender Jack Simpson of Woodraw Wilson a threat to three first places. Simpson has vaulted 12 feet, high jumped 6 feet 1 and broad jumped over 21 feet.

Simpson's chief pole vault rival appears to be Cliff Dean of Lubbock, the only other boy to make 12 feet.

The best mark with the discuss this season was turned in by Randall Clay of Pampa, who threw the platter 142 feet 3 inches. Next best was by Jack Jones of Thomas Jefferson with 139 feet 10¼ inches.

WACs Plan For Big Season At Softball

The Lubbock Army Air field WACs expect to have a good softball team this season, but they need some competition to prove it.

With practice already started, the girls are looking for games with strong independent teams in this section of West Texas, Lt. Joe B. Holmes, Physical Training director, said. Communication should be directed to him at the field.

Several new WACs have come to LAAF since last season and some of them looked good in practice last week. Especially is the infield expected to be stronger.

Chandler Talks To Truman On Baseball

WASHINGTON, April 28 (U.P.)—Sen. A. B. Chandler, D., Ky., new commissioner of baseball, said after a conference with President Truman today that he thought the new chief executive was anxious for the professional game to continue.

"I think I'm justified in saying that he is friendly," Chandler said.

"I explained to the President that he and I inherited two very difficult jobs simultaneously.

"I know my man (the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis) had a big pair of shoes and it is generally conceded that the man he (Mr. Truman) succeeded had a fairly big pair of shoes, too."

Chandler added, however, that Mr. Truman's "responsibilities are more important than mine."

The new commissioner said he wanted to use 4-F's in baseball, pointing out that there are approximately 4,000,000 of them and "400 or 500 ought to be available for organized ball."

Commenting on his decision to accept the $50,000 baseball post, Chandler told reporters, "I believe I would have taken the job anyway even if it had not been for the money because of my interest in baseball."

Chandler said he plans to give the President a gold pass good in any major league park.

Texas Longhorns Win 3-Way Track Show

HOUSTON, April 28. (AP)—Guy Groves came through with two brilliant quarter-mile races this afternoon to score over Roy Holbrook, Aggie star, as the University of Texas walked away with the little conference meet at Rice field.

The Longhorns piled up 80 points as Texas A. and M. nosed out the Owls by a single point, 47 to 45, for runner-up honors. The other point went by the boards when Ken Corley, Owl hurdler, hit the next to the last timber in the highs and then ran around his last hurdle to lose a point that would have deadlocked the Owls and Aggies.

Hank Wyse Hurls One-Hit Victory

CHICAGO, April 28. (AP) — A sharp single to right center in the eighth inning by rookie catcher Bill Salkeld of Pittsburgh spoiled a no-hit game for pitcher Hank Wyse as the Chicago Cubs shut out the Pirates, 6-0, before 5,708 fans here today.

Wyse kept the Pirates under control all the way.

The victory, second of the current series, was the sixth in a row for the Cubs, and was the first of the season for Wyse.

The veteran Phil Cavarretta led the Cub attack with three singles and two walks in five times he went to the plate.

Yanks Nose Sens In 13th Inning

NEW YORK, April 28. (AP) — Nick Etten's fourth hit, a single in the 13th inning, drove in Hershel Martin with the run that gave the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators today before 7,547 paid admissions.

Etten had previously homered in the sixth inning to keep the Yankees in the ball game. Outhitting the Nats 10 to 6, the Yankees had numerous chances to score but plucky little Marion Pieretti, the 5-foot, seven-inch Nat hurler, was superb in the pinches, leaving 19 New Yorkers stranded on the basepaths.

CLEVELAND, April 28. (AP)—Veteran Al Benton limited the Cleveland Indians to two singles today to pitch the Detroit Tigers to a 5-1 victory in the opener of a three-game series.

Permitting but one Tribe batsman to reach third in eight innings, Benton, who recently joined the Tigers after a two-year hitch in the Navy, was in command all the way to earn his second victory of the year. Jim Bagby was the loser for Cleveland.

DODGERS NOSE GIANTS

BROOKLYN, April 28. (AP)—Trailing 3-1 in the ninth inning, the Brooklyn Dodgers lashed back with three runs to defeat the New York Giants 4-3 today to even their series at one game apiece before 12,234 fans.

Van Mungo, who had spaced eight hits in eight innings and seemed about to win his first game of the season went wild in the last half of the ninth and was replaced by Ace Adams after walking the first two men to face him. Adams also was relieved by Ewald Pyle after he had walked two more men, forcing in one run.

REDS WIN IN NINTH

CINCINNATI, April 28. (AP)—Lefty Arnold Carter of the Cincinnati Reds and Blix Donnelly of the St. Louis Cardinals locked horns in a pitchers' battle today but a ninth-inning error by a Cardinal outfielder broke a scoreless deadlock to give Cinsinnati the game, 1-0.

Steve Mesner, Redleg third baseman, walked, was sacrificed to second, then, after two more free passes, one intentional, Dain Clay sent a fly to leftfield which Jim Mallory got his hands on but dropped allowing Mesner to score the winning run.

In addition to losing the ball game, the Cards took it on the chin otherwise. Marty Marion, "Mr. Shortstop" among the ball players, tried to steal home in the top of the ninth and injured his right ankle. He was taken to Christ hospital for x-rays.

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL

Sports

LAAF MOUNDSMAN—Shown ready to turn loose with a hot one over the plate as Lubbock Army Air Field's baseball team warms things up for a promising season is Don Safely, one of the moundsmen of the club. Safely started the Fliers off to a good start Friday when the LAAF club bested the LAAF negro team, 13 to 4.

LAAF Baseball Set For Good Season

The Lubbock Army Air field baseball team appears to be well set defensively and with no game yet scheduled before May 12 the Fliers may pick up on their hitting.

In a 13-4 practice game defeat of the LAAF negro team Friday afternoon, not a single error was committeed by the Fliers. Weather conditions have hampered the team's workouts, which began early this month.

S/Sgt. Jim Wilson, who is directing workouts in the absence of S/Sgt. Sam West, says that Oscar Wilhite is perhaps the best catcher the field has produced. Other receivers probably could outhit Wilhite, but he has a fine arm and works well behind the mask.

The infield lineup of Floyd Courtney at first, Curtis Elwood as second, Joe Lilly at shortstop and Dean Pascoe and John Pershouse at the hot corner looked good. Mickey Campbell, Frank Vecchio and Denny Gartrell were in the outfield.

Lt. Joe B. Holmes, physical Training director, said Saturday that games had been tentatively scheduled with Hobbs Army Air field for May 12 and 13 in Lubbock. The team will go to Pampa the following Saturday and Sunday.

Game arrangements are being completed almost daily, Lt. Holmes said, and a complete card can be expected shortly. Contests are chiefly with other air fields and on home-and-home agreements.

Sergeant West is in San Antonio attending a physical training instructors school but will return soon. Sergeant Wilson will assist him with the team.

Haegg Beaten In Farewell Romp

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 (AP) —Gunder Haegg ran the fastest mile of his 1945 American tour but still took a beating in his farewell appearance today while a trio of University of Michigan relay teams provided the day's biggest thrills for the 30,000 fans who turned out for the 51st annual Penn Relay carnival.

Michigan, with Ross and Bob Hume setting the pace, won two major relay titles today in addition to the pair captured yesterday, and pushed Army's speedy mile quartet to the best performance of the meet in the day's final event. The Wolverines are the first team since the 1939 University of Pittsburgh squad to win four Penn Relay championships.

Haegg, scheduled to sail for home tonight aboard a Portuguese freighter, wound up his unsuccessful tour by finishing fourth in a special handicap mile run, his only outdoor race. He was timed in 4:12.7 from scratch, nearly two seconds faster than his best indoor time, but West Point's James W. Howe ran 4:08.5 off the 140-yard handicap mark and breasted the tape some 20 yards ahead of the Swedish swiftie. Phil Stilwell, school boy runner from Lower Camden, N. J., Regional High, and Cadet C. Fischer of Army also led Haegg home. Stilwell had a 90-yard handicap and Fischer 140 yards.

Haakan Lidman, Haegg's fellow countryman, made an unscheduled appearance in a 120-yard high hurdles race run on the grass, hit the ninth hurdle with his foot, stumbled and barely recovered in time to beat Morris Wilson of Delaware State college by a foot in 15.3.

Babe Beats Betty In Charity Golf Match

SAN ANTONIO, April 28. (AP)—Mrs. George (Mildred "Babe" Didrickson) Zaharias, phenomenal athlete, won her scheduled 72-hole charity golf exhibition from Betty Jameson, San Antonio's former two-time National Open champion, 10 and 8.

The final half, 36 holes, of the match was started over the local country club layout today, after Mrs. Zaharias had taken a four-up advantage over Miss Jameson in the first half at Los Angeles.

Paul Derringer Off On Third Comeback

NEW YORK, April 28. (U.P.) — Paul Derringer, a seasoned traveler up and down baseball's glory road, was heading for the top again today and if there aren't too many detours he might well pitch his Chicago Cub teammates to a National League pennant.

The 39-year-old right hander hasn't a lot of pitching equipment left, but the same heart and head that have served him well in the past may be all he needs to make his third successful big league comeback.

Derringer has suffered the heartbreak of defeat often enough to quit—if he were a quitter. He was down last season and the Cubs nosedived with him. This year he is sporting three big victories in a row for half of the six games the Cubs have won and they are riding high in first place.

At this time in 1944 he had dropped two games and went on to lose five straight before winning one. It wasn't exactly coincidence that the Cubs lost 13 games in a row and blew their pennant chances before they ever got started.

Comebacks are nothing new to big Paul, however. His first came with the Cincinnati Reds in 1934 when he won 15 games after turning in an inglorious record of seven victories and 27 defeats the year before. Again in 1938 after the Reds had tried to trade him during the off-season, he came back to win 21 games, a far cry from his 10 victories of 1937.

Bangert, Fisher Top Drake Relay Athletes

DES MOINES, April 28. (AP)—Bill Bangert, opera-singing baritone from the University of Missouri, and Harold "Whitey" Fisher, Miami university, Oxford, O., streaked to spotlighted honors in the 36th annual Drake Relays today.

Bangert registered triumphs in the discus throw and shot put, while Fisher successfully defended his championship in the 120-yard high hurdles and fired the Miamians to half-mile and sprint medley relay triumphs.

Illinois took honors in the team events with victories in three of the seven relays.

No Drake records were broken. A crowd estimated at 8,000 sat through an afternoon of moderate sunshine in the horse-shoe stadium. The competition was below pre-war standards and the absence of athletes doing a bigger job in the service of their country was felt.

ZIVIC VS AZTECA

SAN ANTONIO, April 28 (AP)—Kid Azteca, Mexican welterweight champion, will meet Fritizie Zivic, former welterweight champion of the world, here May 7 in a return 10-round main event bout, Promoter Frankie Edwards announced today.

Softball Meeting Is Called for Wednesday

A meeting will be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the American Legion hall for the purpose of organizing a City Softball league, H. J. McCabe announced Saturday night.

The league, which will be composed of men's and women's (adults) teams, is to be limited to 10 teams; and will be operated as it was last year, with the Recreation department furnishing all officials and equipment.

South Plains Oil Activities Development . . .

Cochran-Hockley Boundary Area Holds Spotlight Of Attention In Past Week; Four Wildcats Are Staked

THE area adjacent to the common boundary of Cochran and Hockley counties, and north of production in the Slaughter field provided the features of the oil activity of the week for the South Plains.

In the west Hockley county sector of that territory a wildcat two miles from nearest production was being tested after treating with first shot of acid, and was showing some oil. In the area about one mile north of the town of Whiteface in east Cochran county, locations were made for four tests on a tract which is a considerable distance from—production.

No. 1 Coble Swabbing

The Texas company No. 1 Coble, in northeast corner of labor 20, league 67, Hardeman county school land survey, two miles west of discovery well for the Levelland field, was swabbing out oil load after treating section between 4,800 feet, top of pay, and total depth at 4,860 feet, with 2,000 gallons of acid.

A small amount of free oil, and no water was recovered from this exploration before acid was used. Operator plans to use about 10,000 gallons of acid in trying to stimulate production.

The prospective extender is about five miles north of the closest proven acreage in the Slaughter pool.

Four Applications Filed

Alex McCutchin, Dallas, has filed applications with the Railroad commission to drill Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 Estelle McWhirter, in the four corners of labor 23, League 63, Midland county school land survey, in east Cochran county.

This tract is about one mile north of Whiteface, and the first well to be drilled on it will be classed as a wildcat on account of being considerable distance from the closest producer.

Locations Are Given

The locations are:

No. 1 McWhirter will be 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 23, league 63, Midland county school land survey.

No. 2 McWhirter will be 660 feet from south and west lines of the same labor.

No. 3 McWhirter will be 660 feet from south and east lines of same labor.

No. 4 McWhirter will be 440 feet from north and east lines of the same labor.

Likely No. 1 will be drilled first and if it is a producer the others will be developed. Scheduled destination is 5,000 feet for pay in the Slaughter San Andres-Permian.

Trying Drill-Stem Test

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Slaughter, central Cochran county exploration in labor 49, league 101, Jeff Davis county school land survey, in central Cochran, was bottomed at 10,761 feet, in Ellenburger lime, and was trying to take a drill-stem test.

No shows of oil have been reported from the development in any section so far.

Stanolind No. 1 Edwards, southwest Cochran county prospector, in section 13, block L, psl survey, was making hole blow 4,550 feet in lime.

No. 3 Union Completed

Sunray Oil corporation No. 3 Union, 660 feet from the south and east lines of labor 10, league 59, Martin county school land survey, on the west side of the northwest extension to the Slaughter field, in east Cochran county, has been completed for a 24-hour potential of 452.44 barrels of 30.6 gravity oil from pay section at 4,932-49 feet, after treating with 6,000 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 472-1.

El Paso Natural Gas company No. 1 West Texas Land & Mortgage company, wildcat in section 55, block A, MB&B survey, in northwest Bailey county, was reported to have progressed under 8,103 feet, in lime, and was drilling ahead.

No shows of oil have been reported from any tests which are rumored to have been taken. The project is being operated "tight."

Hunt Oil company No. 1 Foust, east Lamb county exploration, in section 43, block B-1, Thompson survey, had penetrated past 5,718 feet, in dolmite, and was drilling ahead.

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Bagwell, in southwest corner of labor 25, league 673, State Capital Lands, three miles southwest of Littlefield, in south Lamb county, was making hole below 4,236 feet, in dolomite.

After encountering slight shows of oil at 3,610-20 feet, and at 3,688-95 feet, operator ran a drill-stem test at 3,610-95 feet. Recovery was 65 feet of drilling mud, with no shows.

Cores showed slight signs of oil at 4,105-10 feet, and at 4,110-20 feet. A drillstem test was taken for one hour at 4,095-4,120 feet. Recovery was 90 feet of oil cut drilling mud.

A core at 4,120-35 feet, recovered four feet of hard dolomite, with no shows of oil or gas, and none have been reported since drilling was resumed at that depth. The 9 5/8-inch casing was set at 3,538 feet, with 2,000 sacks of cement.

No. 1 Tucker Bailing

Humble No. 1 Tucker, in northwest corner of section 119, block A, Thompson survey, southeast Lamb county exploration, was bottomed at 6,032 feet, in lower Permian lime, and was bailing the hole. About 1,500 feet of oil, with no water, had been swabbed out. The 7-inch casing had been cemented at 5,465 feet, with 300 sacks.

Humble No. 1 Leftwich, in southeast corner of south-half of section 32, block 1, Thompson survey, and a north offset to initial producer in the Anton field, had reached 1,975 feet, in anhydrite. The 9 5/8-inch casing had been set at 1,075 feet, with 600 sacks of cement.

Lubbock Test Continuing

George P. Livermore, Inc., No 1 Rollins, in northwest corner of section 5, block P, EL survey, in northwest Lubbock county, slated to test for the lower Permian pay around 6,200 feet, had reached 5,300 feet, in lime, and was continuing.

Livermore No. 1 Wiese, northwets Crosby county wildcat, in northeast corner of east half of section 64, block C, D&W survey, had penetrated past 3,384 feet, in lime. It is contracted to 10,000 feet, to test for Ellenburger.

The Texas company No. 1 Higginbotham, west Dawson county exploration in labor 16, league 279, Hutchinson county school land survey, was bottomed at 7,040 feet, in lime, trying to recover stuck drill pipe.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Wolcott Ranch, northwest Martin county wildcat, in league 252, Ward county school land survey, seven miles south of Patricia, in southwest Dawson county, had reached 4,133 feet, in anhydrite, and was continuing.

Plastic Plug Set

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Richardson, northwest Garza county exploration in the southeast corner of section 1282, BS&F survey, was setting a plastic plug below the bottom of the 7-inch casing, cemented at 3,391 feet, over the total depth of 3,449 feet, in Permian lime.

The open hole had tested for a slight show of oil and some water and the plastic is being set to cut off the water. Then the hole will be drilled deeper.

Honolulu No. 1 Altman, in southeast corner of section 1255, TT survey, and a semi-wildcat in northwest Garza, had reached 3,180 feet, in anhydrite. It is to drill to around 3,500 feet.

Kent Test Drilling Ahead

Sohio Oil company No. 1 Mays, west Kent county wildcat in section 44, block 4, H&GN survey, had installed a company operated rotary, and started drilling ahead from 3,462 feet, in lime, where it had been shutdown for several weeks.

At last report it had progressed under 3,700 feet, and was going ahead, headed for 7,200 feet, or production above that level.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No 1-A Jones, northwest Gaines county exploration, in section 3, block A-6, psl survey, had reached 8,702 feet, in lime, and was to continue.

Sinclair Prairie Oil company No. 1 Northup, in section 451, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, about three-quarters of a mile southeast of production in the Russell field in northwest Gaines, was bottomed 5,723 feet, in lime, making repairs to the rotary rig.

Honolulu No. 1 Cunningham, in section 98, block G, WT survey, in northeast Gaines, had made hole under 4,346 feet, in anhydrite and red rock, and was drilling ahead.

Progress In Other Tests

Humble No. 1 Humble fee-Eubank, section 6, block AX, C. H. Eubanks survey, in southwest Gaines, was drilling past 4,195 feet, in lime.

De Kalb Agricultural Association, Inc., No. 1 Colthrop, section 12, block A-24, psl survey, in south Gaines county, and about one mile south of the initial producer in the Doss-Eubank area, had reached 5,787 feet, and was drilling ahead in dry lime.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company No. 1 Foy, northeast Yoakum county exploration in section 28, block D, John H. Gibson survey, and an outpost to Honolulu No. 1-9 Hudson, just across the line in southeast Cochran county, which was completed several months ago for about 100 barrels per day, pumping, from the Slaughter pay, about two and one-half miles southwest of closest well in that field, had reached 5,130 feet, in lime, and was showing for about one-half bailer of oil per hour, natural, and was making more hole. No water has been encountered.

Monolulu No. 2B-75 Hudson, in section 75, block D, Gibson survey, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 5,210 feet, in lime. It developed 1,800 feet of salty, sulphur water, and no oil or gas.

Texas Pacific No. 1 Williams, in southwest corner of south half of section 13, block K, psl survey, and a north outpost to the initial producer in the Alexander region, was making hole below 4,460 feet in lime.

Continental D&B Store Is Opened At Odessa

Following a carefully conceived expansion program by which every Mid-Continent oil producing center will have complete Continental-D&B facilities within a working radius at all times, the D&B Division of Emsco Derrick & Equipment company announces the opening of a new, fully equipped Continental-D&B Store and service center at Odessa. This store is the newest outlet in the network of Continental D&B Stores, strategically located to provide fast, efficient deep-well pump and equipment service where it is needed.

District manager of the new store will be John L. Furneaux, well known for the past eleven years for his work in sales and servicing of oil well sub-surface equipment. Representing the D&B Division of Emsco in West Texas for some time, he is thoroughly familiar with the pumping problems of this area and the most successful methods of combating the various conditions encountered here.

Assisting Furneaux in the Odessa store will be Fred O. Hodgden as field service engineer, who has had several years experience in production work in the Texas oil fields. He has been with the Emsco organization for the past two years during which he has been engaged in field service work on sub-surface production equipment.

Photo Mission Over Luzon By Captain Now At LAAF Paved Way For Landings By Yanks

One of the most daring exploits of the Asiatic-Pacific aerial conflict was related in the city Saturday in the story of an AAF veteran who flew an unarmed P-38 alone on a 2,250-mile round trip over the Jap infested Philippines to obtain vital information that may have aided Gen. MacArthur's return to the then enemy held islands.

Capt. John M. McNicholas of Mannington, W. Va., and now stationed on duty at Lubbock Army Air field in the latest class of combat veterans, told the amazing story.

Capt. McNicholas has seen a lot of this war — off the English coast, in the skies over Britain as a member of the RAF's night fighter patrol and over the wide expanses of China, enemy held Formosa and the Philippines.

But his most daring mission was that volunteer trip over the Philippines. A member of the famed 14th Air force in China, Capt. Nicholas was in a photo squadron which made reconnaissance missions over enemy territory. His big chance—the trip to the Philippines area — came May 12, 1944.

It was the first time that anyone had ever dared to return to the islands in that manner after the Japs had taken bloody Corregidor. It was a long shot and a job for which Capt. McNicholas asked.

His P-38 was equipped only with plenty of gas and the necessary cameras and film equipment to record Jap defenses at Lingayen gulf, Corregidor, Manila and Clark field. Flying at 27,000 feet, the captain headed out on his long mission over enemy territory.

"Wing And Several Prayers"

Coming in over his objectives with a wing and several prayers, the captain got his pictures and headed for home.

"It seemed like forever," he said of the trip. "And it did take some nine hours and 15 minutes for the round trip."

Upon his arrival at his home station, during the late afternoon, Capt. McNicholas' radio was out and he headed in behind a group of other planes and buzzed his field in preparation for a landing. Noticing that the planes on the field were burning and that the runway had bomb craters in it, the captain suddenly took quick stock of the traffic "pattern" he was in and discovered that he had headed in behind a group of Jap Zeros escorting Jap bombers in attacking his field.

Got Out In Hurry

"I got out of there in a hurry and made it over to a neighboring field," he said. At that time, the Japs weren't interested in having their pictures taken and Capt. McNicholas wasn't interested in taking them.

Associated Press news dispatches later gave Capt. McNicholas' daring mission and the films he brought back credit for materially aiding MacArthur in planning his return to the Philippines. It will be remembered that when the Americans hit Luzon it was at the Lingayen gulf area, one of the spots which the captain had photographed.

Capt. McNicholas wears the DFC with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Air Medal and Purple Heart. He received the DFC for the mission over Luzon and the Purple Heart for wounds received during a raid on an American base at Kweilin, China, when he was voluntarily operating an anti-aircraft gun.

Capt. McNicholas joined the RCAF in Canada on Feb. 7, 1941, sailed to England and flew with the RAF until September 1942 when he transferred to the USAAF, came back home in March 1943 as a night fighter instructor, then joined the photo reconnaissance unit and headed for China on Nov. 11, 1943. He also has made four hops over the hump as a C-47 pilot. He returned to the States Feb. 5, 1945.

"And I've already asked to go back for the rest of it," was his parting remark at the conclusion of his story.

Nature wants you to be well and she will meet you more than half way in any earnest endeavor that you may make in that direction. When vertebrae become misplaced, they impinge the nerves which carry life-giving energy to all parts and vital organs of the body. If this pressure is not relieved, and the energy supply is thus seriously retarded, disease is the result. The Chiropractor, through scientific spinal adjustments, corrects displacements, restores the full flow of life giving energy. Nature restores the patient to a condition of sound health.

Juncture In Europe Means Much To Yanks On All Pacific Fronts

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Nowhere in the world could the news of the first Allied-Russian junction on the German Elbe been more heartening than to American troops battling in the Philippines or on Okinawa, strategic hub of the war against Japan.

SIMPSON

From the moment of that first meeting of Russian and American troops in the very heart of the crushed and dismembered Nazi Reich the main center of war interest shifted half way around the earth. Only the battle of the pockets remained to be fought in Europe. The war in the accepted military sense of the word had ceased to be a two-front struggle for the Allies.

For Americans and Britons and their Allies alike it became a one-front struggle beyond the Pacific, not the Atlantic. The junction in Germany certainly set the stage for early massing of such tremendous forces by ground, sea and air against already badly shaken Japan that months could be lopped off estimates of how long she could hold out.

Driving Relentlessly

Japan's war lords could not doubt that on Okinawa the entering wedge for the final phase of the war against Japan was being driven home relentlessly. When and how that vantage point will be employed by American forces to step up the attack beyond the air war, Tokyo can only guess. Yet the clearance of that largest and most important of the Ryukyus island chain linking Japan with her all but isolated China sea Gibraltar, Formosa, at the moment when much of the vast American and British airforce soon can be released from European service to join comrades beyond the Pacific bodes ill for the foe.

There is heavy fighting still to do in Germany; but day by day, week by week as the resistance pockets are whittled down and eliminated under the resistless power of the millions of Russians and Allied troops on hand to do the job, the need in Germany for many of them will cease. And of the Allied hosts there all the best and least warworn elements will turn against Japan.

City Observance

on street corners and over yard fences and hedgerows. Radios blared in residences and in cars parked downtown.

The public, having built up to an expectancy of German capitulation, accepted the first flash without any appreciable reservation.

When set back on their heels by later announcements numerous persons told newsmen:

"I never will believe anything anymore till I see it in print."

Denial Spreads Rapidly

The news of the denial of the rumor spread apparently with the speed of the rumor itself.

Cafes became crowded, and there was difficulty in getting service. Clerks, waitresses and other business help kept ears cocked to radios.

There had been no repercussion announced through law enforcement agencies. Police said there had been no premature victory drinking. Neither police nor sheriff's department had jailed a drunk all day.

At Lubbock Army Air field, news was received much as it was inside the city, according to the public relations department. The same source of information was heard as that available to the civilian—the radio.

Many civilians heard the news from soldiers and, because they were soldiers, the information they passed along was considered authentic.

V-E Day Plans At LAAF

V-E day plans at LAAF call for the calling in of all post personnel.

Underneath Saturday's news reception was a current of reserve. There is another war to be fought—even when V-E day is a fact instead of a rumor. The armed services are scattered both to East and West. Some men are in prison camps. Some are missing in action.

There is no chance for the return of other thousands. The War department in grim messages has so announced.

So inevitably mixed will be the emotions when the announcement does come there will be an impelling exodus toward churches, to public and secret prayer.

Hockley To Conduct Clothing Campaign

Hockley county will end its United National Clothing collection Monday with a county - wide house-to-house canvass to be conducted by the county commission and the Levelland Lions club.

A similar drive was conducted last week in Levelland city limits by the Lions and Rotary clubs and was very successful. Lois H. Vestal, who is on the publicity committee, said. The Anton women's missionary societies and Lion's club is also making a concerted drive.

The collection, which has raised 12,000 pounds of clothing already and expects to top 20,000 after Monday's contributions are in, is being aided by all home demonstration clubs and schools in the county as well as by the other organizations named. Headquarters are in the American Legion hall in Levelland.

C. O. Lincoln is county chairman, D. O. Petty, collection committee chairman and George A. Stallworth, head of the sorting and shipping committee.

World Conference

ical. None, apparently, had any official word they might be true.

Thus there appeared to be little chance that they would be brought formally and immediately to the attention of the conference itself.

Instead, the decks were cleared for quick action next week on more organizational matters. And the Big Four sponsoring nations—Russia, Britain, China and the United States—evidently will have to wrestle at an early moment with the insistence of lesser powers on a heavier voice in molding peace.

Already chiefs of the Australian, Belgian and Bolivian delegations have made their bid in public addresses at plenary sessions. And the Dutch circulated a memorandum among delegates advancing seven amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks plan — which was drafted by the Big Four and adopted as the conference agenda.

The Netherlands contend Dumbarton Oaks offers no real basis for successfully maintaining peace.

Between morning and afternoon conference sessions, Senator Tom Connally of Texas announced the American delegation would begin holding daily press conferences Monday.

The delegation, he said, is in general agreement on all questions likely to arise. There has been "marvelous unity of purpose and harmony" within the group, he asserted.

Soong, Molotov Preside

China's T. V. Soong presided at the morning meeting and Molotov in the afternoon. The Russian was applauded loudly after he thanked delegates for making him one of the four conference chairmen. In turn he introduced El Salvador's Hector D. Castro, Greece's John Sofianopoulos, the Philippines' Carlos Romulo and Uruguay's Jose Serrato.

Castro said his delegation believes jurisdiction of a permanent court of international justice "should be made compulsory."

Romulo, vigorously applauded as he took the platform, told the delegates a billion Orientals were pleading with them for peace.

News Briefs

Dedication of the church and parsonage for Grassland-Graham in Garza county, is planned for today, Dr. L. N. Lipscomb announced last night. Dedication of the church building will be at 11 o'clock, and the parsonage at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Lipscomb will preside at both services, and also is to speak at Cooper tonight.

Mrs. Carl Slaton and daughters. Mrs. Roy Leasure, jr., and Ann Slaton, left Saturday for Waco after receiving notification of death of Lt. R. A. Stearns, nephew of Mrs. Slaton. Lt. Stearns was killed in action in Germany. His mother, Mrs. Slaton's sister, lives in Waco.

An unidentified negro man was shot and killed about midnight in 1900-block Ave. A. A woman was held in county jail as the result of the shooting. Police said the negro was struck by blasts from a shotgun.

DISBAND GUARD UNITS

PECOS, April 28 (AP) — Texas State Guard companies at Pecos, Kermit, Wink and Monahans will be disbanded next month, Capt. Lawson Goodrich, commanding officer of Company B of Pecos, said he had learned.

Methodists To Hold Conference Tuesday

District conference of the Lubbock district of the Methodist church will be held in First Methodist church auditorium Tuesday, Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, superintendent, announced last night.

Eight to ten delegates from each of the 42 charges in the district are expected for the one-day session, which opens at 10 o'clock.

Highlight of the conference includes an address at the noon hour by Rev. Neal D. Cannon, pastor of Polk Street church, Amarillo, and financial reports. Pre-conference indications are that finances are in fine condition, Mr. Lipscomb said. This is featured by announcement that approximately $45,000 in cash is already in hand for the Crusade fund on a quota of $50,864 for the district. Pledges for later payment total more than $10,000, for a heavy oversubscription of the quota.

It was indicated also, Mr. Lipscomb said, that benevolence funds also are well in hand, with about two-thirds of the year's asking already paid, and other finances, including support for the Methodist home at Waco, in generally good condition.

It also is planned to announce a visitation and evangelistic campaign, outline of which was arranged at a recent meeting at Abilene.

A covered dish lunch is to be served at the church following the sermon by Mr. Cannon, and at the afternoon session, beginning at 2 o'clock, various committees will make their reports.

Surrender Rumor

ually been made.

The Tass dispatch said that "responsible Soviet circles" confirmed the German offer and that "the governments of Britain and the United States have noted that they will accept unconditional surrender only to all the Allies, including the Soviet Union."

Hitler Said Near Death

Himmler, according to Senator Connally, explained that Adolf Hitler was ill and that Himmler was acting in Hitler's stead. Himmler was reported to have said that Hitler was mortally ill and undoubtedly would die when he learned of a surrender.

The Western Allies promptly rejected the Himmler offer and were reported in San Francisco to have given Himmler until Tuesday, May 1, to surrender unconditionally to the three great powers: Russia, Britain and the United States.

The alternative was increased destruction of Germany and total crushing of her Army.

Himmler was said to be trying to make a deal for his own personal safety before accepting the Allied demand.

Previously Set At 4 P. M.

Then Senator Connally passed the word that surrender had been accepted and that formal announcement could be expected at any moment. He said it previously had been set for 4 p. m., eastern war time, Saturday afternoon in Washington, but that it had been delayed.

The Stockholm paper Dagens Nyheter said that Himmler had made his surrender bid through Count Folke Bernadotte, vice chairman of the Swedish Red Cross and a frequent visitor to Germany on mercy missions.

The count was said to have gone to Germany Saturday, presumably carrying an answer to the offer.

Then came Connally's word that surrender actually had been accepted by Himmler as demanded.

Eisenhower Asleep

This word was sped quickly around the world. It found most of Allied headquarters in Paris in bed asleep—including General Eisenhower.

Paris dispatches said that acceptance of any surrender still was regarded there as a matter involving the Allied governments rather than military headquarters.

London Sunday morning papers published the story with banner headlines, but there, too, because of the hour, there was no jubilation evident in London's wet, dark streets. Cautious cabbies said, "Let's wait and see if it's the real thing."

In San Francisco, however, there was a celebration. A delegate to the United Nations conference held up a newspaper bearing the headlines for all to see, and the fourth plenary session went into an uproar.

Long Jubilation

There were five minutes of yells and applause, in which Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov joined with an expression of bewilderment.

The enthusiasm dampened speedily later when the word of President Truman's announcement was received.

In Rio De Janeiro the surrender story touched off a street-dancing celebration by cheering crowds who streamed from theaters and night clubs. They sang, shouted and danced the samba while fireworks popped throughout the Brazilian capital.

There, as in Montreal, the later denials were fairly generally ignored by the celebrating throngs.

That Germany was collapsing rapidly was obvious. Victory was at hand, and the people were in no mood to be skeptical.

From the Swiss radio there did come a report — unconfirmed — of a German military surrender — in the north Italian provinces of Piedmont and Lombardy. What it might involve was not specified.

Freed POW Arrive At Staten Island

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP) — Nearly 2,000 GI's, who were prisoners of war in Germany and liberated by advancing Russian armies, arrived in Staten island today.

As their army transport drew up to the pier, the soldiers crowded at the rails, shouting and laughing. Many were on crutches, but the first men ashore looked strong and vigorous. They showed few signs of their ordeal.

They were greeted by Red Cross workers who served coffee, and then marched to a train which will take them to Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Reds Tighten On Ravaged Berlin

up to 22 miles toward Rostock and Hamburg in a clean-up of the isolated northern half of Adolf Hitler's now-bisected Third Reich.

These forces captured five major towns, including Pasewalk, where Hitler, blinded by gas, in November, 1918, resolved in a military hospital to become a politician, re-build Germany's military power and avenge the Versailles treaty.

Major Districts Captured

Three major Berlin city districts and parts of three others were captured by the First White Russian and First Ukrainian armies as they battled up to three miles through blazing streets and linked up in western Berlin, Moscow revealed.

More than 13,000 enemy troops straggled through desert-like clouds of dust to Red Army lines where they surrendered, while southeast of Berlin another 14,000 enemy troops were taken prisoner in a giant trap which had been forged several days ago.

In two days more than 32,500 enemy troops of the Berlin garrison have been killed or captured. The majority have preferred to end the vain struggle. Front dispatches to Moscow afternoon newspapers yesterday reported wholesale German efforts to escape the holocaust in the heart of the capital, where only fanatical Nazi elite guards were forcing a prolongation of the battle.

Nearing Tiergarten

Slashing through streets obstructed by overturned buses, trolleys, cars and carts and furniture from wrecked stores, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian tanks and tommy-gunners hammered within pistol range of the Tiergarten, Moscow revealed.

In the southern part of the city Zhukov's troops smashed through the eastern part of blazing Schoenberg, west of the captured Tempelhof airdrome, and the Nazi high command said the Russians had smashed a mile and a half north of the airport and reached Hallesches Tor (gate.)

In southwestern Berlin, meanwhile, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainians captured the city district of Friedenau, and at the same time pushed three miles north through Grunewald to join Zhukov's Army on the south bank of the Spree at Ruhleben.

Trapped in the dwindling 25-square mile central pocket, the Germans were fighting under blanket Red Army artillery and aerial bombardment. The Nazi high command claimed that reinforcements and supplies were being dropped by air.

Meanwhile, Premier Stalin announced that Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian Army tanks and cavalry north of Berlin were plunging westward toward the last enemy-held Baltic ports and captured the towns of Eggesin, Torgelow, Pasewalk, Strasburg and Templin.

Not only German officers and commanders were attempting to escape central Berlin but hundreds of soldiers. Soviet war correspondent Nikolai Asanov said that they were breaking into apartments hunting for civilian clothes and that the "quantity of abandoned uniforms scattered in back yards and entrances of houses is amazing."

Asanov said these men had been unable to surrender in organized fashion because of the death threat from high Nazi officials, but in civilian clothes they would surrender with white flags.

Great Underground War

Amid the giant piles of ruins and dead, Asanov said, a great underground war has broken out in Berlin—in sewers and subways, which not only are being used as centers of fighting, but also as hiding-places for Germans not wishing to continue "the senseless resistance."

Even more complicated than the battle of the subway, to which Stalingrad veterans have been assigned, was the sewer war, Asanov said. Donning rubber coats, Soviet troops went underground to block Berlin's shattered sewage system and halt German attempts to penetrate Soviet rear positions.

Berlin, starving with its stores and shops looted by hungry German civilians, was without water. The Red Army was rushing supplies of fresh water to its soldiers from the deep rear.

Governor Counsels Texans On Observance Of V-E Day

AUSTIN, April. 28. (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson issued a proclamation tonight counseling Texans to observe Victory day, whenever it comes, "as a day of prayer, meditation and thanksgiving."

Stevenson's proclamation was released by his office, notwithstanding the word from President Truman that Germany has not yet capitulated, after a secretary telephoned him at his ranch near Junction.

"It is not out of place for us to soberly consider what we should do in the event that phase (the fighting in Europe) ends suddenly," the proclamation said.

"We would of coure, rejoice to know that the European fighting is over. Our rejoicing should not take the form of revelry or costly demonstrations. Celebrations that would damage property or injury individuals must be prevented. Intoxicants should not be bought or sold for a reasonable length of time. The sale of every kind of intoxicating beverage should be suspended for at least twenty-four hours. All business establishments should function in the usual manner and citizens generally should pursue their usual vocations and give evidence of their continued support of the war program until the task in the Pacific is finished.

"Texans should realize solemnly their obligation to those who have made the sacrifices which make victory possible. In such spirit may we observe Victory day as a day of prayer, meditation, and thanksgiving to the Supreme Commander for the faith which has sustained us throughout the struggle. Such a spirit will admit of no boisterous celebrations which are harmful to the nobler instincts of mankind."

The emperor visited a shrine for war dead and then received Premier Kantaro Suzuki after the latter had conferred with Army and Navy chiefs on "steps necessary to meet the intensified war situation."

Tokyo radio reported that the police of the bomb-battered capital had issued new instructions to the populace against evasion of air defense activities.

The sensational British tank smash into southern Burma roared to within 62 miles of the great port city. British armor advanced 56 miles in 24 hours.

The Japanese were reported to be making frantic efforts to remove heavy equipment from Rangoon by sea and rail. Allied fliers said large fires were burning along the city's waterfront. American and British airmen rained explosives on dump areas north of Rangoon and blasted all lines of communications in southern Burma.

On the heels of the armored spearheads pointed at Rangoon came hard-driving British and Indian ground roops. Guerrilla forces, operating on the flanks, aided the advance.

The Japanese also suffered severe reverses in China, according to the Chinese high command. Chinese forces smashed through Nippon defense positions northeast of Laohokow. The Japanese were battling furiously to strengthen their vital land supply line to French Indo-China. They were beaten back in Kwangsi province as they tried to broaden the land corridor southward.

The peace rumors may have been unfounded last night but Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Kuykendall, 2201 Sixteenth, were cheered by a telephone call from their son, Lt. Roger Kuykendall, from San Antonio, their first word from him since he had landed in the States from the European theater last Tuesday.

KUYKENDALL

Lt. Kuykendall, pilot of a B-17 Flying Fortress, had completed ten months overseas in which he participated in 30 missions against the Germans. He flew a lead plane in all his raids.

He wears the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters, the ETO ribbon with three stars and Presidential Citation ribbon.

His wife, the former Jane Prickett, has been residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Prickett, in San Antonio. She greeted Lt. Kuykendall soon after his arrival there.

Lt. Kuykendall is expected to arrive here within a few days.

Fighting In Italy

government had evacuated civilians from the Chiasso border area where 1,500 Germans who had sought to enter Switzerland had been trapped last night by Italian patriots, and a violent battle was in progress. The broadcast said the Germans had hoped to be interned by the Swiss.

Near the Ligurian coast Fifth Army troops entered Pontremoli, 20 miles inland from captured La Spezia on the road to fallen Parma.

British units were across the Adige at several points and the Allied communique said they were meeting "determined resistance."

A French war ministry communique said French troops had taken Vinadio, 12 miles inside Italy from the French border and that the Nazis were retreating eastward.

Clark in his message to the patriots in towns liberated by Partisans but not yet occupied by Allied troops, urged them to "keep order, to see to the distribution of victuals, to look after the sick . . . and to police the areas under your control. . . ."

Regional Winners In One-Act Play Named

AUSTIN, April 28. (AP)—Regional winners of the University of Texas Interscholastic league one-act tournament to take part in the state meet May 3-4 are: Floydada region 1; Breckenridge-2; Wichita Falls-3; Gladewater-4; Lamar of Houston-5; Bastrop-6; Harlingen-7 and Fort Davis-8.

Soviets Tell Of Surrender Offer

LONDON, Sunday, April 29 (AP) A Tass official news agency dispatch broadcast over the Moscow radio said today that it had been "confirmed by responsible Soviet circles" that Nazi Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler had made an offer to surrender Germany unconditionally to the United States and Britain and that the Western Allies had rejected the proposal.

The dispatch said that the "governments of Britain and the United States have noted that they will accept unconditional surrender only to all Allies, including the Soviet Union."

This was the first official confirmation that such a surrender proposal had actually been made.

The White House at Washington and No. 10 Downing street in London issued statements Saturday reaffirming that the surrender could be made only to all three major powers.

It was presumably this offer or some development connected with it that gave rise to the report that the surrender had actually been made.

If the Himmler offer is a bona fide effort to end the fight and not merely a trick to sow dissension among the Allies, it is the first real indication that even some fanatics closest to Adolf Hitler are ready to quit and if the rot at the heart of the Nazi party has gone this far it seems doubtful that large-scale resistance can be prolonged much beyond the fall of Berlin.

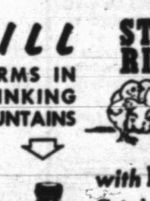

This first confirmed peace bid by a top-rank Nazi may well have started a chain of negotiations which will produce the surrender of sizeable German forces, if not the whole nation at once.

THANKS
FARMERS
IN BEHALF of our boys in the armed forces, we wish to thank you for the way you responded to our plea for large clean grade A eggs. Because of your patriotic cooperation, we have been able to get their eggs to them much faster than could have been possible otherwise. We still have many more war department orders to fill, and the government is looking to you to help us meet our increased quotas. If you haven't heard of the way that you can make more money, and still be helping our soldier boys, ask your neighbor, or we will give you the information. Your large clean grade A eggs are still desperately needed. Thanks again.

Brother Of Joe Goebbels Seized

U. S. 1ST ARMY, Germany, April 28 (AP)—Hans Goebbels, brother of the German propaganda minister and himself a high ranking Nazi was taken into military custody today by infantrymen.

The brother of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels was arrested at his home in the conquered Ruhr at Millrath.

Apparently anticipating the arrest, Goebbels had two suitcases packed when troops knocked at his door. He looks like his brother.

His wife protested tearfully as he was led away but Goebbels was meek and frightened and made no objection. Neighbors gathered in front of his home and watched.

He first denied any connection with the Nazi party but later acknowledged that he was an oberfuehrer (major general) in the neiderrhein SS antiaircraft group. Two Nazi hats were in his luggage.

He said he became a party member in 1929 and held a high position with the Reichsgruppe insurance company in Berlin, a Nazi political plum job. He said he had received no word from his brother since last January because of communication and transport difficulty.

Butterfat Subsidies Hiked Substantially

WASHINGTON, April 28 (U.P.)—The government sought today to stimulate butter production with a revised program of subsidy payments to dairy farmers.

War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, announcing the daily subsidy rates which will be paid from April 1 to next March 31, offered farmers a substantial increase in the payments on butterfat.

The government price structure of ceilings and subsidies originally was set up to encourage the marketing of whole milk. The purpose was to get greater output of dried milk, evaporated milk and other by-products for the army and lend-lease.

As a result butter production suffered. In the traditional butter states farmers sold dairy herds and turned to other kinds of farming.

The new subsidy program is designed to make it profitable for farmers in the butter area to increase milk production and market their milk in the form of butterfat.

The revised rates commit the government to pay out $541,000,000 in subsidies to dairy farmers during the next 12 months. The 1944 dairy subsidy cost WFA $354,000,000.

Plot In Argentina Is Claimed Nipped

BUENOS AIRES, April 28 (AP)—The Argentine military government declared in a special communique today that a "subversive plot" and uprising scheduled to start with the fall of Berlin had been uncovered, and that retired Army officers had participated in the plan.

The communique charged that Gen. Adolfo S. Espindola, a retired Army man, was involved in the scheme, which it said originated with two secret "extremist" organizations."

A special communique said there was ample evidence that the leaders planned to assassinate officials of President Edelmiro Farrell's administration and to eliminate all Army officers who refused to participate in the coup.

Parade Of Germans Across Elbe Leads Progressively Down

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN GERMANY—The Germans started a parade and now it's only a matter of time until that lieutenant shows up on this side of the Elbe river.

The general was German. He came across the river in a rowboat under a white flag and insisted he wanted only to arrange the surrender of some wounded soldiers and to transport some civilians to this side.

Had Right To Return

But when the American officers refused to deal unless all enemy soldiers in the vicinity surrendered, the wehrmacht officer seemed loath to return. Under the rules of land warfare, he had a perfect right to return since he had come under a flag of truce.

Slowly he walked to the river bank. On the other side he had only angry Gestapo and storm troopers, or else the approaching Russians to face and neither prospect seemed likely to lead to a ripe old age.

Finally he made his decision—to remain on this side of the river as a prisoner of war.

Time passed and another boat bearing a white flag appeared. It was a wehrmacht colonel sent to see what had happened to the general. They told him. Thoughtfully he considered the situation. Then he too decided it would be healthier to stay on this side and asked permission to surrender. It was accepted.

Major Does Likewise

A short time later a third boat was rowed across. A major had been sent to see what had happened to the colonel. After talking to his superior officers he also decided to cash in the return half of his roundtrip ticket.

By the time the tired looking wehrmacht captain showed up, grinning GI's were laying odds as to how far "surrender through channels" would go. Naturally the captain was looking for the major and naturally he too voted in favor of staying on the "safe side of the river."

"It's only a matter of time now until that lieutenant gets here," laughed a sergeant on the river bank.

The surrender of generals reached virtually a dime a dozen basis as the gap slowly closed between the Russian and American forces and each star-bedecked officer usually had some new and logical-sounding reason for calling it quits.

Abernathy Man Shot, Suicide Is Verdict

Randel Heggen, an Abernathy resident for 27 years, was found dead by his wife about 8:45 o'clock Saturday morning in the basement of their home.

He had been shot through the head with a .22. At an inquest conducted by Judge Lewis of Plainview a verdict of suicide was returned, Abernathy City Marshal O. Rutledge reported.

Heggen, who had been in bad health for some time, was working as a carpenter but at one time farmed near Abernathy. He would have been 53 years old today.

Other survivors are three daughters, Mrs. James Atcheson and Mrs. Benny Wright, both of Lubbock, Miss Garnet Heggen of Abernathy; two sons, Garland Heggen of Lubbock, Lloyd Heggen who is in the Navy and stationed in California; three sisters, Mrs. Arthur Cone of Lubbock, Mrs. A. E. Goebel and Mrs. Charles Brandt of Abernathy.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Saturday night, but services will probably be conducted Monday, Rix Funeral home reported.

Hurley Says China To Map Own Destiny

CHUNGKING, April 28. (AP)—Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley, fresh from a conference with Premier Marshal Stalin, declared today that the United States, Britain and Russia were in agreement and "anxious for China to work out her own destiny in her own way."

But he declined to say whether the agreement embraced Manchuria, in which Russia long had an interest before the Japanese seized it and turned it into an arsenal.

The United States, Hurley said, favored the unificiation of all anti-Japanese elements in China but "we're insisting the Chinese must furnish their own leadership, make their own decisions and be responsible for their own policies."

Majority In U. S. Disfavor Drastic Post-War Changes

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—As President Truman takes over the reins of office, there is mounting discussion over the direction this country will take on domestic affairs after the war.

The late Franklin D. Roosevelt, probably more than any other man of this generation, exemplified the spirit of social reform in the United States.

GALLUP

Yet there are indications today that the largest group of the American people are not now particularly interested in seeing many changes or reforms in this country after the war.

In fact, a survey just completed across the nation by the Institute reveals that the majority of Americans want things to remain pretty much as they were before the war.

Moreover, among the minority who say they would like to see reforms and changes, there is a substantial group that would have these changes take the country back toward the pre-New Deal days.

All of this is shown when field reporters for the Institute put this question to a representative sample of adults throughout the United States:

"After the war, would you like to see many changes or reforms made in the United States, or would you rather have the country remain pretty much the way it was before the war?"

The replies:

Want to See Reforms	39%
Want things about as they were	52
Undecided	9

Of the changes, 20 per cent might be classified as social reforms such as more liberal social security provisions, a health insurance plan, better housing and slum clearance, elimination of racial and religious discrimination.

Seven per cent of the suggestions point to a desire to return to pre-New Deal days. These are suggestions that we "get back to the Constitution . . . do away with government controls." The remaining 14 per cent of the suggestions call for better administration of labor unions, settlement of labor disputes without resort to strikes, for keeping prices up after the war and taxes down, as well as a variety of others ranging from better care of delinquent children to changes in our transportation systems.

There are sharp differences in thinging on the question among people in the various educational levels. Nearly six out of every ten among those who have attended college say they want to see changes or reforms, while just about the reverse is true of those who have not gone beyond grade school.

These differences are illustrated in the following table:

Sentiment By Education

	Want Reforms	Want Things As They Were Before War	Undec
Those Who Attended College	58%	37%	5%
Those Who Attended High School	43	50	7
Those Who Attended Grd. Schoo	32	57	11

Among college people wanting changes 12 per cent of the suggestions would "get back to the Constitution . . . do away with government controls," as against only four per cent among the grade school people.

Here are the changes suggested by those who say they want reforms:

SOCIAL REFORMS
Want to see jobs for all, improvement in wages, working conditions	9%
Want to end racial and religious discrimination	3
Want to liberalize social security provisions, increase pensions, provide national health insurance	3
Want better education opportunities	3
Want better housing and slum clearance	2
PRE-NEW DEAL CHANGES
Want to get back to Constitution, do away with government controls	7
OTHER CHANGES
Want better administration of labor unions, settlement of labor disputes without strikes	3
Want prices kept high	1
Want lower taxes	1
Miscellaneous suggestions	9
Did not say	3
	44%*

*The total in the table above is greater than the 39 per cent who say they want to see changes or reforms after the war because some persons made more than one suggestion.

Eighty-Five Oil Wells Completed In Week

AUSTIN, April 28 (U.P.)—Eighty-five oil wells, but two of which opened new drilling areas, were completed during the week, the state Railroad commission announced today.

The completions brought the total for 1945 to 1,287 or 224 more than during a comparable time in 1944. Of the week's aggregate, 22 wells were finished in each Southwest Texas and West Texas commission districts. Twelve completions were on the Gulf coast and 10 in the Panhandle.

Total average allowable of 102,342 oil wells during the week was 2,316,695 barrels daily, an increase of 102 wells and 6,256 barrels daily more than the preceding week.

OPA's Meat Division Must Change, Or Else

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Senator Thomas (D-Okla) said tonight the OPA's meat section must change its ways or wholesale dismissals will be requested by his food investigation committee.

Winding up hearings on the meat shortage, the chairman told reporters:

1. He is personally convinced that officials of OPA are disobeying the law, though the blame should not be placed on Price Chief Chester Bowles.

2. The testimony before the Thomas committee shows that the new 10-point subsidy program is "a detriment, not a benefit."

Thomas said he would present the case to the full agriculture committee tomorrow morning with a request for immediate action.

New Booklet Warns GI Joes Of Many Pitfalls Of Peace

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Day-dreaming GI Joes throughout the world today are thumbing through a little red-bound booklet called "How To Hatch A Nest Egg."

Mother America is painfully aware that millions of her sons in uniform today know nothing of adult civilian life.

Millions of Americans who are now hardened, mature soldiers were boys still dependent upon parents when they entered the army. The grim business of making a living in a world at peace, the trials and tribulations of an adult entirely "upon his own," will be a new experience.

Breaks Facts Gently

Uncle Sam has published and is distributing the booklet "How To Hatch A Nest Egg" to break to them gently a few of the facts of this new life.

It is intelligently handled, with a light, humorous touch GI Joe will understand. It emphasizes the necessity of saving money for, as it says at the very beginning, the average ex-GI will have to spend from $100 to $300 immediately for clothes alone.

"One privilege reserved for civilians," says the booklet solemnly, "is the paying of rent." It warns that bungalows have mortgages and that today's day-dreams won't pay tomorrow's overhead.

It urges enough reserve to tide him over until he finds a job, and recommends that he finish college.

Expenses Are Cited

New cars, a home, furniture, a wife and family — these cost money, says Uncle Sam.

"Babies are fun, but they're expensive. You'll find out! And you may want to travel—the easy way. That calls for a 'kitty' too."

After emphasizing that civilian life is expensive, it stresses the importance of saving money while in the Army. It goes further and warns GI Joe what NOT to do while still in uniform—the things that eat up his money.

"Keep Assets Liquid"

For example, to the question "should I keep my assets liquid?" it answers: "By all means; but of course you can't have your asset and drink it too. Watch out for joints that charge champagne prices for vintage varnish remover . . . You can't trade your hangovers for payments on things you want to buy after the war."

It warns against hostesses "who have an unlimited capacity for set-ups of colored water, for which you are billed plenty."

"The less cash you have in your pocket, the less chance there'll be of getting into trouble, physically or financially."

The return of an "investment" in "ivory" is, says the booklet, terrific—for the house. Even if dice are honest, the professionals can make them do tricks, it says, and strongly advises GI Joe to lay off, for goodness sake!

Warns Of "Allotment Annies"

Finally, it warns against certain types of women—the "Allotment Annies."

"The soldier who gets mixed up with her type risks paying off for the rest of his life. She's cold-blooded and when she puts the finger on a GI she lays her evidence on the line. Of all the jams a Joe can get into, this is the most permanent."

The little red booklet, cleverly illustrated with cartoons to emphasize both day-dreams and pitfalls, is widely distributed and, officials report, is being thumbed by millions of today's Americans to whom civilian life is just something that happened to their old man.

It is one of a series of educational booklets and part of an educational campaign designed to prepare a war-trained generation for the problems of peace.

Yank Sees No Sense In Going Prisoner To Nips, Five Live

WITH THE 37TH DIVISION, Manila (AP) — Because S/Sgt. George Keil, a 28-year-old Hudson, Pa., infantryman believes it "doesn't make any sense" for an American soldier to be captured, five men are alive today.

And because he has the strength of his convictions, Keil, despite machinegun bullet wounds in both legs, successfully overcame what seemed to be a hopeless position.

Keil's story was told by Sgt. Henry McLemore.

The Pennsylvania infantryman and a group of 11 soldiers assaulted a tiny island in the Pasig river near Manila. They ran into intense enemy fire from a concrete blockhouse and five men were killed in deadly crossfire, the rest wounded. They knew that to wait for nightfall meant capture, so one of the group volunteered to swim for aid. He slipped beneath the water as the Japanese machineguns stuttered again. Still another volunteered and he, too, was killed by bullets plunking into the river around his head.

Keil, wounded in the legs at the initial attack, decided to make a try anyway.

"I didn't believe it made any sense for any Jap ever to capture an American," he remarked. Then a few seconds after smoke from a burning Japanese oil dump drifted lightly over the water, Kiel plunged in.

He made it across, although machine gun bullets whipped about him.

Support fire from mortars soon dropped around the enemy blockhouse pinning men in it down. Then, after darkness fell, a company commander and a squad of men directed by Kiel, went to the island and rescued the wounded men.

Surplus War Housing Units To Go Abroad

WASHINGTON, April 28 (U.P.)—The National Housing agency said today that many of the nation's 420,000 temporary war housing units would be shipped abroad for emergency use by the United Nations when they became surplus.

NHA, in outlining disposal plans, also revealed that present occupants and war veterans would have first consideration in the sale of publicly financed permanent family dwellings.

Philip M. Klutznick, commissioner of NHA's federal public housing authority, said that during the war demountable dwellings among the 200,000 permanent units would be sold to private individuals or corporations to meet their private war housing priority quotas in other localities.

He said units of temporary housing declared surplus would go either to other United Nations or to other federal agencies for use in this country.

NHA also reported an additional appropriation of $66,000,000 for construction of publicly financed temporary housing in areas where war plants are recruiting labor from other sections of the country.

Wounded Vets Want To See Sacrifices Are Not In Vain

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The American soldier can 'gripe'. And he does plenty of it.

"Men who have been wounded and returned to the United States for hospitalization gripe about a lot of things," Capt. F. J. Moss of the staff of McCloskey General hospital in Temple said, speaking at the recent annual meeting of editors of the Texas Associated Press Association. "And it would do you good to hear some of them."

"When they return from furloughs, the gripe. What about? They gripe about mom's griping over ration points; they gripe about the guy who burns up rubber and gas on the highways, and they gripe about hometown citizens cashing in war bonds."

It is difficult to put into words just what this griping means, Moss said, "But I think it means that the soldier wants to know that he hasn't lost his leg, or hands, or arms for nothing; that the folks at home have been in this war with him—shoulder to shoulder.

"One thing the wounded veteran gripes about is pity. He doesn't like it and he doesn't want it."

"When a man leaves an Army general hospital he is ready to take a useful place in the community again. He should not and must not be stared at or treated as an exhibit."

"Moss said it makes little difference what kind of wound the veteran has received—whether he walks with a limp or has a stiff arm — he wants to feel and be treated as the same man who went away to fight a war.

"Since McCloskey has been in operation we have discharged 20,000 men, each with a bona fide offer of a job."

In a serious plea, Moss asked that the people of Texas do not believe McCloskey—or any other Army hospital — has "basket cases."

"These basket cases—men who have lost both arms and legs—do not and never have existed. No soldier could survive wounds which would necessitate amputation of all limbs."

Impression Understandable

Moss said it is easily understandable how the impression gets around that basket cases exist. "When you make a trip trough an amputation center—as in McCloskey — you go through very rapidly, and see many, many boys, without hands, without legs. Back home it is not hard to imagine that you have seen one man without legs or arms. But it is NOT true. And we ask that you do not believe it and not let anyone else believe it."

"Texans are wonderful people," Moss said. "Here at McCloskey we needed many "frills" that the War department didn't provide the funds for their purchase. But we didn't do without. Texans took care of that. We got curtains for our dining rooms, books, trees, lawn furniture, and we're getting a fish pond and a golf course. Just recently the War department recognized the value of such "frills." Now perhaps we won't have to ask Texans for gifts. But we know that if we ever do need anything, we'll get it.

War-Shy Sweden Clings Grimly To Neutrality, Offers Elastic Plan

TO PREACH IN CITY—Barney D. Welch, above, evangelist of Temple, will conduct a series of gospel meeting services beginning tonight at the Church of Christ, 2012 Third. His father, H. C. Welch, of Belton, will assist in the meeting. Services will be held at 8:30 p. m. each night and at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, April 28.—Cautious, war-shy Sweden is clinging grimly today to her policy of official neutrality and making no commitments to any Allied power to fight the Germans in Norway.

The sure-thing bet in Stockholm was that Sweden will continue juridically intact the tradition of 130 years of peace.

It is not in the foreign correspondent's estimate alone that this official neutrality policy appears to have solid public support. This is what Allied diplomats have been telling their governments.

Swedish Plan Elastic

Yet neutrality as Sweden practiced it for more than five years is like a rubber band. It is elastic. It covered the presence of 8,700 Swedes on the Finnish front in the 1939-1940 "winter war" with Russia. It also covered until the summer of 1943 the railway passage across Sweden of numerous German divisions which otherwise would have been targets for Allied submarines and bombers off the Norwegian coast.

This neutrality today cloaks the recruitment of 3,000 to 4,000 Swedish volunteers for combat in Norway, and the supplying of all necessary facilities to the Norwegian "police corps" of 12,000 men, equipped with mortars, field artillery and small arms.

One fact is likely to be overlooked in asking why Sweden has not gone to war for Norway. The Norwegians did not demand exactly that.

Sought Intervention

What the exiled Norwegian government sought recently was Swedish assurance of armed intervention, if required, and Sweden balked at hypothetical questions. The cabinet in effect approved weeks ago the idea of intervention under the guise of "police action." At that time it had been decided by Sweden herself, when other possibilities were exhausted and when the German government could have been said to have ceased to exist.

Meanwhile the king and his ministers felt they might have more success negotiating with the German command in Norway than might the Norwegians abroad or the major Allies. They reasoned that the assumption of definite obligations would tie their hands.

The Norwegians here do not quarrel with the Swedes over the desirability of sparing Norway additional destruction if the Germans can be induced to quit. They are not hot-heads. But plainly they are vexed at what they consider Swedish vagueness and timidity.

French Delaying Allied Offensive

PARIS, April 28. (AP) — A supreme headquarters statement today declared the French First Army was obstructing the Allied drive southeast against the Nazi redoubt by its persistence in continuing to occupy Stuttgart.

The statement said Sixth Army group headquarters had asked the French First Army to move out of the city, capital of Wuerttemberg, which the French captured.

At latest reports, the French still were there—backed by the French council of ministers which voiced disapproval of the request on grounds that the Big Three had not taken any action on France's postwar occupation zone claims in southwest Germany.

The Sixth army group includes the U. S. Seventh and French First armies. It is commanded by Gen. Jacob L. Devers.

French Ask Saarland

The French have asked for virtually outright occupation of the Saarland plus defined occupational and policing rights after the war on the whole cross-Rhine belt from the Ruhr down to Lake Constance.

They take the position that French military administration of Stuttgart serves to underscore that request. French officials regard the situation as timely, coming while world delegations are convened at San Francisco.

But supreme headquarters, which at first had declined to comment on the controversy on the grounds that it is primarily political, now declared that the request for the French to move out of Stuttgart was made in line with military operations.

Used Clothing Drive Ends Here Tuesday

Tuesday officially ends the United Clothing collection, and Lubbock residents who have not yet contributed their usable discarded clothing are asked to take their contributions to one of the collection depots before that date.

If clothing is turned in after Monday, F. A. Kleinschmidt, chairman of the drive, suggests that it be taken to collection headquarters at 910 Texas, since the boxes at Sears, Wards, the Post Office and Hilton and Lubbock hotels will be removed May 1.

Packing and sorting work is still in progress at the headquarters and shipping will begin around May 15. Since there is so much processing to be done to the garments before they are ready to ship, Kleinschmidt is anxious to get as many as possible in before Tuesday.

Lubbock's contribution will not meet expectations unless a larger volume of clothing comes in at the end of the drive than has been contributed thus far. Two carloads of clothing are approximately what has been collected, which is about one-eighth of Lubbock's quota.

Drive workers are making a final plea for those who have not yet cleaned out their closets to contribute their serviceable discarded clothing for the sake of homeless civilians in war-torn countries.

ON BATHING—It must be with a feeling of real encouragement that mothers of small lads read that one of the first requests young fighting men make when they come back from the front lines is for a hot bath with loads of soap and gallons of water. It shows that that constant reminder of "run take your bath Johnny" given day after day when he is young reaps results.

There's something about the thought of being forced to take a daily bath that is objectionable to the average little boy, we believe. He spends more time thinking of excuses to stay out of the tub than he does in bathing. One little first grader asked his mother the other night how long he would be forced to bathe daily.

"All your life," she said smiling.

SCATTERINGS

A FURNITURE advertisement in a down state paper suggests no home should be without a "Texas room," furnished with "hardy furniture as stimulating and refreshing as a brisk breeze sweeping over a mesa." Surely they don't have in mind the sort of breeze that swept over our mesa last Wednesday! . . . Today begins National Baby week wherein the Sand Pile set comes into its own and out of which adults will get a bigger bang than baby. . . . When the Marines were en route to Iwo Jima they sang college and high school songs and one young fellow, disclaiming the right to such vocalizing, admitted he had attended Toledo Jones Junior high but couldn't remember the words to the school song which was sung to "Stars and Stripes." His companions improvised the words for him and that is the song that was sung before they stormed the beaches and now is said to be the No. 1 favorite on the South Pacific GI's hit parade.

EXCLUSIVE CLUBS—After the war a number of clubs with exclusive memberships will be organized by ex-servicemen. We've heard of two already. . . . Texas men at Oflag 64 have planned an ex-POW club and reunions. There is a new organization for Canadian veterans but it is limited to those who were knocked out soon after they landed in France on D-Day. It is known as "The Thirty-Nine Steps." The steps are the ones which the soldiers took before they were knocked out of the fight—26 steps in the water and 13 on the beach. An applicant for membership needs only one recommendation — the fact that he never got off the beach before being hit.

LIVES of America's most notorious gangster-killers will be reviewed in a series of films a Hollywood studio is planning for the near future. First of the trio will be "Baby Face Nelson," next will be "Ma" Parker and the Karpis gang and last of the gang will be "Pretty Boy Floyd" and his pal-in-crime Clyde Hamilton, who with Bonnie Parker, terrorized Texas. For the latter film, the producer will visit Texas to do research work and to employ a Texas newspaperman to provide a screen treatment on which to base the screen play. . . . When we visited the display room in the Department of Justice building several years ago and saw the death masks of Clyde and Bonnie we were astonished at the story the guides were telling in one of those mile-a-minute guide book styles with a "don't correct me if I'm wrong" accent. Naturally we didn't do anything about it but we're glad if a movie is to be made at least the facts will be straight. . . . None of the current who dunnits can compare in the spine-tingling produced by "The Cask of Amontillado," Edgar Allen Poe's story of revenge.

DO you suppose any of the reporters will ask Commissar Molotov if he knows the ingredients used in making the cocktail named in his honor? . . . Wonder if handsome platinum-haired Edward Stettinius ever wears a hat? . . . They're saying that the movie, "The Story of GI Joe," made from Ernie Pyle's columns, will be released to the public early in the summer. The military will view it in Washington, D. C., within a few weeks. . . . Turn a big bay window into a separate little conservatory. Potted plants go on glass shelves all across the windows. The ceilings and walls in the bay window are painted or papered to contrast with the walls and the rest of the room. You could hang big, fluffy curtains just outside the bay window, the rod going across the end windows on either side.

IN MEMORIAM

A LUBBOCK mother whose son died in World War I has sent us a poem, "In Memoriam," written by Robert Louis Stevenson, which she suggests may bring solace to Gold Star mothers of the current conflict. The poem was mailed to her by the major under whom her son served. He died recently. Through the years the major had written to the soldier's parents:

Yet, O stricken heart, remember, O remember
April came to bloom and never dim December
Breathed its killing chill upon the head or heart.

Doomed to know not Winter, only Spring, a being

Hello Folks:

If you've read anything at all about Cape Cod Craftsmen, Peter Hunt, who takes interesting old pieces of furniture and with his brush and paint makes them into decorative pieces useable in modern homes, you will enjoy a visit to the Decorators Studio, 1302 Avenue N. In the inexactness of his design lies the charm of the oval mirror, the buffet, the chair, a table and a pipe and magazine stand. Peter Hunt uses five main colors—cobalt blue, vermillion, light chrome, yellow, dark green and white in the decorations on these pieces on which he has used the things around him that he loves—flowers, leaves, vegetables, animals, houses and people in conventional designs.

Entirely different from the above are two traditional commodes in Mahogany with brass pulls. Over these are two brushed gold frames with oval mirrors.

It isn't too early to begin looking for that gift for Mother's day. Pay the Studio a visit and see if you can't find the gift that you would like to give your mother.

I'll admit I know not where they all come from but brides are still in the limelight and they find the girls at the Studio ready and willing to help them make selections. They are glad to show you and if you do not find exactly what you want they just hope you find it elsewhere. It isn't easy to make a choice with merchandise so scarce but the Studio has a good stock of most everything and new stock is arriving every day. With a well established business the wholesale houses make every effort to take care of the needs of their old customers and the girls have certainly been on their toes and have kept up their buying.

I'll see you next week, so long,
Grandpa Nosey,
1303 Avenue N.

TRY THIS AMAZING BARCEL RECIPE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Right in Your Own Home, You Can Lose Pounds of Excess Weight Without Starvation Diet or Strenuous Exercise

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcel Concentrate. Pour this into a bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Perhaps you are overweight due to over indulgence in food or the wrong kind of food. With the Barcel home recipe method, you do not have to starve yourself or go hungry. Just follow the simple instructions given on the label and you should get satisfactory results quickly. The very first pint you make up should show results.

LOSE UGLY FAT WITH BARCEL

Why not slim down your figure without a lot of fuss and bother? Try the Barcel way. Wear your streamlined frocks and slacks gracefully. Remember, if the very first bottle of Barcel doesn't show you the sensible way to lose weight, your money will be refunded.

Electrical Living

...THE PROMISE OF THE FUTURE

ELECTRICITY has woven itself so inseparably into our lives that its miracles are taken for granted. Its sleepless power leaps to our fingertips to perform tasks which only yesterday etched youthful faces and lovely hands with the indelible lines of toil and fatigue. Its tireless energy takes the place of yesterday's human effort. Today, women are awakening to electricity—preserver of youth, giver of freedom.

HAPPINESS in her home is the goal of every wife and mother. She ever strives toward harmony, cleanliness and charm. Eager to save her household funds and to accomplish more with less expended effort, womankind gratefully turns task after task over to electricity, her obedient and faithful servant, and quickly adapts herself to a richer, happier life—the NEW ELECTRIC WAY!

At The USO

The big change in the program at the USO that has everybody talking is the swap of the Aerodonnas to Thursday night and the Bingo regulars to Friday night. Incidentally, Bingo crowds are growing. The Aerodonnas will be hostesses each Thursday night from 8:30 on with refreshments, games, and dancing.

On Tuesday the Serviceaires will entertain with a May Day formal. All the girls are helping to make yards and yards of wisteria to decorate the balcony. Buddy Arnett and his orchestra will play. The dance will begin at 8:30 p. m.

Sgt. Rex Jackson from Bryan Field was in recently while on furlough. He is a 1941 Tech graduate and was formerly principal of the Lorenzo school. He visited the USO on his way to his home in Tahoka.

Twenty-one Serviceaires were present at a steak supper at the Chicken Shack immediately preceding their last Wednesday night meeting at the USO. The girls voted it such a success that they hope to repeat the dinner once a month.

Wave Catherine Royalty dropped in to see the staff while here on leave. She is an ex-member of the planning committee on the Charm School sponsored by the Tech Council of Women Graduates.

Mrs. John C. Gauldin won the bingo corsage and plans to collect as a birthday present on her birthday Saturday.

HAROLD Fees was back from Pampa Sunday with a story of some poor ping pong "suckers" he had found last week. While here, he finally managed to beat Sally Temple one game and was so excited over defeating her that instead of feeling sorry for her, he demanded that she congratulate hm on his success.

Hub-ettes are envious these days of the VeeBees, colored girls' organization, because they get invited to base dances at Hobbs and Clovis with transportation furnished and an excellent supper besides.

The Cracker-Jills will be hostesses at the USO Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Following Rent Rules Is Urged

Landlords and tenants can avoid many of the most common violations by observing the simple rules of rent regulations, according to George S. Bond, director of the Lubbock defense-rental area.

The director urged landlords to follow these rules:

1. Register each dwelling unit within 30 days of date first rented.
2. Notify area rent office in writing of any change in services or equipment, but do not charge over maximum rent shown on the registration statement until authorized in writing by the area rent director.
3. Show the landlord's copy of the registration statement to the tenant and have him sign on the reverse side, and have tenant sign copy of change-of-tenancy report which must be filed in five days with the area rent office.
4. When seeking to recover possession of their property, landlords should send written notice to the tenant stating reason for desiring possession, sending copy of notice to area rent office within 24 hours. Landlords are asked to remember that eviction of tenants is allowed only for reasons given in the regulation.

Advance Payment Limited

5. Landlords should not collect over a month's rent in advance and should not collect a security deposit unless authorized in writing by the area rent director.

"Tenants have obligations under rent regulations, too," Bond said. "They can be evicted if rent payments become delinquent, if they become nuisances, refuse reasonable access of premises to the landlord or violate a rental agreement."

Bond said that tenants should request to see the landlord's copy of the registration, pay no more than the maximum legal rent shown thereon and should get a written receipt for the full amount of the rent paid.

The area rent office is located at 1415 Ave. Q.

Police Seek Poisoner Of 'Seeing Eye' Dog

FORT WORTH, April 28 (U.P.) — While grief stricken W. H. Batis, 28, mourned the loss of his "sight" and his true friend—his seeing eye dog, Flash—police today were continuing their search for a crank described as the meanest and most thoughtless dog poisoner in the history of Fort Worth.

For over a year Flash had led his master to his work at a local ordnance plant where Batis was a shell inspector. More recently the blind man has been engaged in chair-making at the lighthouse for the blind.

Police said some 15 to 20 dogs in south Fort Worth had been poisoned during the past several days and after the death of Flash the only "eyes of a war-aiding blind man" — authorities were more intent than ever on catching the person responsible for the acts.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Filmtown Facts And Fancies

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 28.—Grace Moore, who once startled Hollywood by singing "Minnie the Moocher," confessed to us today that she has a little yen to sing hillbilly songs.

"I heard one the other night on the radio called 'Too late to Worry and Too Blue to Cry,'" she said. "It was wonderful. I think I'll include it in my next concert."

GRACE MOORE

We caught up with Grace drinking coffee at Romanoff's before talking to film producers about the screen rights to her autobiography, "You're Only Human Once."

Grace said the Metropolitan Opera board of directors raised holy ned when she accepted a four-day engagement singing ballads and opera at New York's Roxy Theater. "I guess they thought it wasn't dignified," she laughed. "But I told them I never stuck to tradition."

She denied reports that she was planning to do a Tibbett, singing only popular songs on a new radio show. She'd like to star in another movie if it can be "a lovely story with music." "I've never been able to top 'One Night of Love,'" she said.

"Concert audiences," she said, still ask her to sing "Minnie." "I've never done it, though," she chuckled. "I always tell them: 'There's not enough money in her for that.'"

HORSEY STORY

HOLLYWOODITES are slaying each other these days with this silly. A drunk was sitting at a bar one afternoon when a horse walked up and ordered a Martini. The bartender mixed the drink, put in a couple of olives and set it in front of the nag. The horse drank it down, ate the two olives, handed the bartender $1, accepted his change and walked out, saying "Good afternoon, gentlemen." "Isn't that highly irregular?" whispered the drunk to the bartender. "Not at all, sir," replied the bartender, "I frequently put two olives in a Martini."

Esther Williams answered the doorbell of her new Pacific Palisades home the other night and found a newsboy collecting for the paper. Trying to be pleasant while he was making change, she asked: "What is your name, young man?"

"Jimmy Stewart," he replied.

"Oh," said Esther, "that's quite a famous name, isn't it?"

"Well, it should be," replied the newsboy. "I've been delivering papers on this route for almost a year now."

"ARCHIE" GOING OVER

ED "Duffy's Tavern" Gardiner will spend four months overseas this summer. . . . Promised and hoped for: Six PT boats doing a 90-degree turn simultaneously at full speed for a scene in "They Were Expendable." Director John Ford and his camera crew were practically washed off a tiny platform on an accompanying Higgins boat.

Louis Hayward is still saving the review of his first play. He had a one line part, when he was 10, in "Quality Street." The critic's comment on Louis was: "The girl who played the young boy in act two was enchanting."

Musical Saga Will Be Filmed

HOLLYWOOD, April 28. (U.P.)—A musical saga, the life of the Dorsey brothers, Tommy and Jimmy, will be brought to the screen by Charles R. Rogers.

The production, "My Brother Leads a Band," will mark the first time the brothers have merged their talents and their orchestras during their entire careers. The stroy will be the one of their rise to fame in America's modern musical world.

While other members of the cast have not been decided, the Dorseys will be there, and plenty of the popular hit-tunes of their careers will be included in the $2,000,000 budget production.

Rogers got the idea for such a picture when he heard about the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce radio testimonial to the Dorseys in their "Freedom of Opportunity" program.

Modern Music

"Motion pictures are testimonials to outstanding scientists, inventors and public figures as well as old-world music masters," Rogers said. "So, now we are going to give a picture of the development of modern American music—and the Dorsey boys have done plenty to make it what it is today."

Tommy, the trombone player, and Jimmy, the saxophonist, are conceded to be the top exponents of popular music, he explained, but they have also launched some of the top stars of the musical world.

Launch Stars

Included in the list, some of whom may be seen in the picture, were Frank Sinatra, Dick Haymes, the Pied Pipers, Glenn Miller, Connie Haynes, Jack Leonard, Jo Stafford, Bob Eberle, Helen O'Connell, Buddy Rich and Bunny Berigan.

The story, Rogers indicated, also will show the role the Dorseys played in introducing compositions of the masters in modern swing and reviving the popularity of records.

"Who would want to forget," he said, "Tommy's recordings of 'Marie' and 'Song of India' or Jimmy's 'Amapola' and 'Green Eyes'?"

Juncture Frees Three Armies For Other Tasks; V-E Day Uncertain

PARIS, April 28. (AP)—The historic junction of American and Russian forces in Germany left at least three armies temporarily out of jobs today but there still was much fighting to be done before the war in Europe could be considered over.

Front line commanders believe organized warfare may wind up in a matter of weeks. But supreme headquarters, officially pessimistic, says it can last for several months.

The fighting in Germany now has been separated into northern and southern fronts.

Baltic Ports Remain

In the north, Berlin is falling, but several Baltic ports remain to be overrun, as well as Denmark and Norway. In the south two major pockets are shaping up—one embracing the enemy's so-called Bavarian redoubt, the second in Czechoslovakia. A meeting of American and Russian troops in Austria, possibly in a few days, will make these pockets a fact.

Speculation was running through Allied military circles here as to whether the armies which met this week south of Berlin would be shifted to one of the remaining fighting areas.

The junctures brought face to face the U.S. First army and at least one army of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian group. In the area north of the first meeting site the U. S. Ninth army is also at a standstill along the Elbe, waiting the imminent arrival of other Russian troops.

In Paris, such questions as these were being asked concerning these armies:

Would they take new positions somewhere else in Europe? Would they be pulled out of the line and sent home? Would they be used—Russians and Americans alike—in a final shattering blow in the Pacific?

Berlin Termed Key

Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, widely-quoted Nazi military commentator, predicts that the war will be over in a few days. After surrendering to the U.S. First army he declared that Hitler was in Berlin and would die there.

"When Berlin falls it will be over," he said, asserting that once Hitler is dead there will be nothing to hold together the remaining Nazi forces.

Dittmar asserted that the so-called Bavarian redoubt was a myth.

It is believed, however, that of perhaps 200 nominal divisions left to fight for Germany—none of which is up to strength—the biggest single force is in that southern area.

Former Carrier Boy Is Research Engineer

A. M. (Blondy) Wiggins, who many people in Lubbock will remember as a carrier-boy for the Avalanche-Journal, is making a name for himself in the world of science. Recently appointed chief research engineer at the Electro-Voice Corporation in South Bend, Ind., he is a designer of microphones and acoustic devices.

Wiggins finished high school here, received a B. S. degree in electrical engineering at Texas Tech and later took a M. S. degree at the University of Texas. On completion of his university work, he was employed by Seismic Exploration, Inc., at Houston and remained with the company for three years.

Before taking his present position, Wiggins was with RCA at Princeton, N. J., for several years and is still studying electrical engineering. He is enrolled now at Notre Dame university, where he is working on a doctorate. In addition to his other interests, he has found time to invent a microphone device that is soon to be patented.

Wiggins' father, J. W. Wiggins, formerly of Lubbock, is now dairy farming at Canton, Tex.

Moscow Celebration Set Off By Juncture

MOSCOW, April 28. (AP)—Joyous Moscow hailed the meeting of the Russian and American armies with one of the gaudiest celebrations in its history last night.

Great crowds cheered in the streets, gunners fired rockets from the rooftops, revellers drank toasts in the hotels and restaurants, and by order of Premier Stalin 324 guns fired an earth-shaking, 24-volley salute.

At 7:25, Marshal Stalin broadcast his address to the armies. Then Moscow heard the transcribed announcement of Prime Minister Churchill, who spoke in English. Next there was a broadcast translation of President Truman's speech.

Lubbock Flier Leads Strafing Attack On Japs On Okinawa

BY VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

OKINAWA, April 28—Marine Corsair fighter pilots were called on today to bomb Japanese gun emplacements which had been shelling U. S. ambulances evacuating American wounded to the rear.

The Japanese positions were near Machinato airfield, on the west coast. Elements of the 27th infantry division are closing in on the important airfield and are believed already to have reached its northern edge.

BYERS

The Corsair pilots knocked out several of the Japanese guns.

Americans pressing toward Okinawa's two largest cities advanced within 5,000 yards of Naha on the west coast and less than two miles of Shuri toward the east coast.

Enemy Troops Hunted Out

Approaching Naha, 27th division doughboys hunted out enemy troops near Machinato airstrip, about 2½ miles north of Naha, the capital city.

Units of the Seventh division killed more than 150 Japanese they surprised withdrawing supplies from caves. The Yanks sealed some of the enemy alive underground with explosives. These American units won much ground north of Yonabaru airstrip on the east coast.

Infiltrating Japanese in that area set 30 pounds of pacric acid, attached to several heavy mortar shells and 75 mm. projectiles under a culvert, but an alert bulldozer operator discovered the charge before striking it.

Naval gunfire destroyed a loaded Japanese barge off the east coast, near the Seventh division line.

"Shells were falling all around the ambulances when our planes made their run," said Maj. James W. Poindexter, Stevensville, Mont. "Our planes dropped incendiaries from 500 feet, then followed with rockets, thoroughly covering the target area."

First Lt. John C. Byers, Lubbock, Tex., led a strafing attack which followed.

HONOR WAC—First WAC to receive the Air Medal was the late Pvt. Marjory Babinetz, above, of Briarford, Pa., who was honored posthumously. She was killed in a dive bomber crash at Stillwater, Okla., on duty assignment. Her mother and brother are prisoners of Germans in Austria.

LAND TO LAY OUT

ITALY, April 28. (AP)—Much of the fertile Ellis county land will remain uncultivated this season because of five months of continued wet fields and a farm labor shortage, and now prospects for normal crops in cultivated areas has been darkened by appearance of wheat - destroying green bugs and oat rust.

MURDER CHARGE FILED

TEXARKANA, April 28. (AP)—Charges of murder were filed against Mrs. Clark Keeton here yesterday several hours after her husband, Felix Edward Keeton, was shot to death at a tourist cabin. Bond was set at $1,000.

It Demands Better Pay

Emoluments Of Office Too Small

AN article in the current edition of the United States News graphically portrays the changes in living that any man must accept when he becomes President of the United States. This estimable magazine sums up the article by quoting Richard Jervis, the late chief of the Secret Service who saw seven Presidents come into office.

Said Jervis:

"Once a man steps over the threshhold of the White House as President, he becomes a different person."

Because President Harry S. Truman is and always has been more of a "plain man" than most of his predecessors, and especially all of them of the modern era except Calvin Coolidge, the changes his new position has brought to him are more than customarily striking. Here-to-fore, Mr. Truman has been the kind of man who helped his wife with the supper dishes; who hobnobbed on equal terms with his neighbors at home and in Washington; who rode buses to and from his Capitol office and who liked best to be called by his first name. But now, as the United States News points out, all these little "homey" sides of Mr. Truman's daily life are gone. No longer is he an individual man; he is a symbol of authority and of his nation's vast power. No longer does he belong to his wife, his daughter and to himself; he belongs to the people of the U.S.A.

Mr. Truman and all Presidents of the United States past and future give up a great deal in the way of personal freedom in return for the honor which becomes theirs as they move into the severely formal mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue in Washington. Not only must the President, whomever he may be, submit to man-killing tasks and responsibilities, he also must become a sort of walking, talking and breathing institution. Always to be subjected are his personal desires and inclinations. He can't even "wise-crack" to old friends lest his words be twisted or misinterpreted.

We Americans, being a nation of hero-worshippers who frequently demand from the objects of our affection a much greater degree of perfection than we are willing to seek for ourselves, demand a lot from our Presidents. In return, we should endeavor to be more tolerant toward our leaders and whatever human peccadilloes they may inadvertently exhibit from time to time.

• • •

IN the same article, the United States News focuses public attention upon a financial problem which confronts any man of small means who becomes President of the United States. This problem is especially important in the case of Harry Truman who, although a frugal man, is not a rich man.

The salary of the President of the United States is $75,000 per year. In addition, he receives various other monies for use in official entertaining and travel. But when the tax collector gets through with his salary it has shrunk to $33,000 per year and the funds available for travel and entertainment also have shrunk, in this era of high prices, until they fall far short of the calls upon them.

The President of the United States, whomever he may be, must never do things by halves. When he makes a gesture, it must be a generous one, in keeping with the position he holds. The cost of "fronting" for the Presidency, which frequently means "fronting" for the nation, is tremendous and it is high time, we think, that the position be made to pay in direct ratio to the calls upon it and the responsibility involved. Before the Congress is a proposal to raise the salary of the President and although no set figure has yet been proposed we think it should be at least $200,000—perhaps $250,000—per year, and that tax free. Further than that, we think any President should be permitted to draw upon the Treasury for any and all expenses attendant upon the office, expense items subject to official audit but not to question unless there is palpable abuse.

Certainly, the services of a President of the United States are worth as much as those of numerous of our corporation heads, labor leaders, movie and radio performers, corporation and criminal lawyers, medical specialists, outstanding editors and commentators. Certainly the demands made and the responsibilities attendant upon the President of the United States are greater today than those of any other man in our land, or in the world.

Even though many of our Presidents, including Messrs. Roosevelt and Hoover who immediately preceded Mr. Truman, have been wealthy men in their own rights and generously supplemented their government monies from their own fortunes; although some Presidents of the future likewise will be similarly situated, the people of the greatest, richest and most powerful country in the world should not expect—nor do we think they do expect—their President to pay for things the nation should pay for.

There is plenty of money in this country to operate the Executive department of the government as needs demand and we believe the people are willing, even anxious, to produce it.

A man who has spent two years in the jungles studying "the chimpanzee language" can now talk like a chimpanzee, but he doesn't know what he's saying when he does.

San Francisco Conference In Race With European War's End

Leaders Plug For Quick Decision On Security Plans

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO.—The United Nations conference is virtually in a race to wind up its work before the end of the war in Europe.

The cry for haste is coming from the top leaders which gives it the force of a determined course. Four weeks from now is the apparent goal, though earlier it had been estimated that the conference might last seven or eight weeks.

STOKES

This conference, as is so often emphasized, is not a peace conference, but a conference with one purpose—to create an international security organization. This is stressed over and over because there are those who would like to drag in—from the side and back doors if necessary—all sorts of extraneous matters belonging to a peace conference. Lobbies of conference headquarters and hotels are filled with sponsors of all sorts of projects, some with the sinister purpose of defeating a security organization.

• • •

Confusion, Jealousy Feared

If such matters were brought into this conference they would only arouse passions and jealousies and interfere with the main objective. They might even cost the world a security organization, which would be tragic.

The end of the war in Europe will push to the forefront all sorts of controversies which properly must go to the peace conference. If this conference does not get its work done before then, or shortly thereafter, the peculiar and particular situations in various home-lands pressing for solution may react upon the leaders and delegates here and handicap the creation of an international security organization. This would cause confusion.

• • •

THERE is another reason, too, psychological but most natural as we learned after the last war.

The coming of peace in Europe will bring a great feeling of relief, even though there is the Japanese war to be finished. This might tend to divert attention, at least for the time being, from attempts to create machinery to prevent a possible future war. It shouldn't, but that is a human reaction.

It is generally accepted now, for example, that there was too long a gap between the armistice in the last war and the creation of the League of Nations. The fever had cooled. The fears of another war were submerged in relief. That is why this conference was called early this time.

• • •

Eden Sounds Keynote

British Foreign Secretary Eden appealed for speed in his speech to the conference in its first plenary session.

"World events of unprecedented magnitude both in the East and in the West crowd upon us every hour," he said. "If we order our labors efficiently and work to the utmost of our strength, it should surely be possible for us to agree to our charter within four weeks from now. We can not afford to delay."

He asked the conference not to try to attempt too much, not to try to produce "a complete scheme perfect in all its elaborate details for future ordering of the world." The object now should be a charter which can be filled out later in the light of experience.

• • •

SECRETARY of State Stettinius spoke to the same effect in a previous spech to the conference. Alluding to the decision to confine this conference to creation of a security organization, he said:

"It was a necessary decision because establishment of the world organization must be kept apart from the peace settlements if the organization is to be able to deal freely and justly with future threats to the peace that may arise frm any cause, including these settlements.

"Preparation of the charter of world organization should not, therefore, be entangled with the many and complex political and economic issues involved in the defeat of Germany and Japan. And the imminent collapse of organized German resistance makes it all the more important that the world organization be established at the earliest possible moment.

"To deal with these other issues, there will have to be many other conferences, and many other decisions, both national and international.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IN my Sunday paper yesterday there was a cartoon that appealed to me.

Child psychology!

BRANDEIS

If you haven't time to be a real mother to your children, become a child psychologist.

If bridge is more important to you than bringing up your boys and girls, just go to any book store and buy an arm-full of the hundreds of books on child psychology—many of which have been written by bachelors—and you are all set for a pleasant afternoon.

• • •

So we all sat down and told the world how to bring up its children.

• • •

I AM all for science.

Pasteur and Edison and Madame Curie and Marconi have done a lot for us.

But I wonder how many of them were brought up by books on child psychology and I doubt that any of their parents attended lectures on the subject.

But they knew mother love and father love.

"Daddy hit me with the book on child psychology."

(The 'Frisco Merry-Go-Round)

By DREW PEARSON

SAN FRANCISCO.—This conference has developed a new breed of international peace-makers. They are called consultants. They represent labor, the farmers, different religious groups, the negroes, the lawyers, the American Legion, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, in fact almost every walk of American life.

The job of the consultant is a little nebulous. If you ask one of them what he does, he will look a little blank and reply: "I consult."

PEARSON

Some of the American delegates (a delegate is a full-fledged member of the U. S. delegation ranking alongside the Secretary of State) also are vague about the consultants. Among them is brainy, bustling Senator Arthur Vandenberg, who has turned out to be the dominating member of the U. S. delegation.

At a private dinner given by GOP Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine in honor of Ed Stettinius and 12 Republican senators before San Francisco, the question of consultants was threshed out. Stettinius raised the point in telling GOP senators about the coming conference.

"You bet I don't like it," shot back the gentleman from Michigan. "You've got 35 organizations represented at San Francisco, and you've got 335 left out that are going to be sore as blazes.

VANDENBERG'S COATTAILS

"FURTHERMORE," continued Vandenberg, "how are they going to consult? The State department has given 'em a priority to get to San Francisco and a hotel room after they get there. But that's all. I suppose they'll wear a badge, which will be a sort of hunting license—a hunting license to consult.

"As I get it," concluded the senator from Michigan, "that means a license to hang on my coattails and consult while I walk through the corridors."

However, the role of the consultant is gradually developing at San Francisco and promises to be a democratic step forward in international conferences. The consultants are being called in every day to get a summary of the proceedings—a peep at what goes on behind the scenes.

Just how much handsome young Stettinius will take before he lets his hair down and gives them the real dope remains to be seen. But Stetttinius really seems sincere in wanting different groups, representing varied walks of the American public, to be in the know regarding some phases of the conference. And one thing is certain: he will bind in most of the consultants so they will form a powerful body of opinion to get public approval of his treaty, no matter what it is.

STETTINIUS' TEAM

EXACTLY what happened between President Roosevelt and the group of fighting senators who opposed the confirmation of the new team of State department millionaires including Jimmie Dunn, Julius Holmes, Will Clayton and Nelson Rockefeller, can now be revealed for the first time. It has important bearing on the question of whether Truman will keep them on.

On the last morning of the debate against confirmation of the Stettinius-Hopkins team, Sen. James Murray of Montana came to a caucus in Sen. Joe Guffey's (Pennsylvania) office. Also present was Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida. Murray pointed out that Senator Bilbo and Senator LaFollette had just about walked out on the fight, and suggested that they consult the White House, since President Roosevelt had returned to the Executive Mansion that morning.

After much debate, Senator Guffey agreed to call the President. He picked up the phone, and told Roosevelt that opposition to the confirmation of the State department was based on very sound grounds, primarily that the new State department clique would try to scuttle FDR's foreign policy.

• • •

"GUFFEY'S BAD APPLES"

"GOVERNOR," said Guffey, who had always called the late President by that title since he was governor of New York, "you have got some awful bad apples in that barrel. I don't want to go against you, but these fellows are going to wreck you."

"I know, Joe," Roosevelt said, "but I had to make a lot of promises to Cordell (Hull) to get his resignation. I will watch all of them, though, and the first one that makes a false move will get the axe."

Guffey also described to Roosevelt some of the evidence they had got up against Holmes, Dunn Clayton & Co.

"I have heard about that stuff, Joe," replied the President. "I will watch them like a hawk, and if they get out of line I will handle them. Even if you were to lick them or filibuster through till the end of the session (the end of the congressional session was only a few days off and the nominations would have had to be made over), I will still have to send their names up to the next Congress because of the promises I have had to make."

That was why Guffey, Pepper and Murray called off their fight.

Three days after Franklin Roosevelt was dead, however, the State department reversed his previous policy of a hard peace for Germany and began urging a reparations deal whereby Germany could be rebuilt as a bulwark against Russia. That is one factor underlining the trouble with Russia at San Francisco.

HOLLYWOOD HEADACHES

THE extremely serious shortage of movie film—which has already meant the holding up of some Hollywood pictures is getting worse instead of better. The Hollywood producers and distributors are now operating with about 70 per cent of the film they used in 1941.

They had hoped that VE-day would mean more film, but it now looks as if there will be another big cut. The Army will need about 25 per cent more film when VE-day comes than it has been taking—and this is one time when there is no argument by Hollywood as to the legitimacy of the Army's need.

The big increase will be in X-ray film. In order to supply the hugh quantity the Army wants, it will be necessary to divert some facilities now used for movie film to the sheet film used in X-ray machines. The Army intends to X-ray every man in the European theater and this country before he is sent to the Pacific, and will take pictures of the chest of every man ticketed for discharge.

Each man was X-rayed before going into the Army, and a comparison of the two pictures will provide important information concerning tuberculosis or other chest and lung ailments which might have developed in the service. It will enable the Army to provide the discharged men with advice where treatment is needed, to give the treatment in many cases, and to catch incipient lung ailments while still remediable.

After the last war, the Army lacked full information regarding discharged soldiers, so there were many cases where men came to claim pensions two or three years after being discharged, claiming they had picked up lung ailments while in the service. And the Army lacked sufficient information to be able to give a fair ruling in each case.

Hollywood producers have complained about the wastage of film by the Army and the Navy in the past and there has been justice in their claims, but this time they won't complain.

NOTE: The WPB Compliance division is making a quiet probe of amounts of film used by different movie companies during the first quarter of 1945. They have evidence that some of the big companies used more film than allocated to them, and WPB is likely to get tough as a result. Suspensions for brief periods from all film supply, plus fines, may be ordered.

"Wartime Racketeers" Is Revealing Writing

Washington Newspapermen Tell About Wartime Scavengers

THERE are some people in America who hope that the war will never end. The longer it lasts, the more money will line their pockets. In pre-war days, these were the people who peddled narcotics, sold the Brooklyn Bridge, solicited funds for fake charities, robbed collection plates. Now they have new fields to exploit.

LEVER YOUNG

LEVER YOUNG An obscure insurance salesman dons a general's uniform and rides around Washington for two weeks in an official Army car, looking for a civilian job that will pay him a five figure salary. Another, who chooses a captain's uniform, inspects war plants for months before his bad checks catch up with him. A man in a major's uniform calls on a soldier's mother. Her son has been killed in the Pacific, he informs her, but the Government is willing to have him brought here for burial—if she will pay half the expenses to him, in cash.

These are but a few samples of how such scavengers flourish, described in "Wartime Racketeers" by two Washington newspapermen, Harry Lever and Joseph Young.

Sophie's Lusty Story

"SOME OF THESE DAYS," by Sophie Tucker (Doubleday, Doran) is the bouncing autobiography of the "Last of the Red Hot Mamas," and in its lusty pages await many a smile and a tear for those who sigh for the days of Florenz Ziegfeld and Tony Pastor.

Sophie married at 16, was waiting on table at her father's restaurant in Hartford when Willie and Eugene Howard came along. They dangled tempting bait—a career in the show business. She snapped at it and went to New York, where as a "coon-shouter" she got $15 a week. She played blackface in the daytime, whiteface evenings, 20 shows a week at Marcus Loew's uptown theater, was so overcome by Tony Pastor's offer of $40 to perform in his Bowery theater that she kissed him on the spot.

SOPHIE

Her rapid rise was Algeresque; it wasn't long before Sophie could not only place her signature on a large-sized check, but had a musical signature which was to stick with her for the rest of her life. Shelton Brooks composed a song, and called it "Some of These Days." It became her theme, and has never lost its popularity.

Paderewski played when she married a second time. She gave command performances for King George and Queen Mary of England, and after her return to the U. S. in 1931, found that movies had usurped vaudeville's place. But she kept right on entertaining. She does just that, in her book.

Red Cross Story

THE three greatest discoveries of this war, says Quentin Reynolds, are the jeep, Ernie Pyle, and the Red Cross girl. George Korson's "At His Side" (Coward-McCann), tells how Ernie Pyle ate the second doughnut made in liberated Paris. It says little about the jeep, but a great deal about the Red Cross girls—who they are, where they come from, what they eat, how they dress, and what they do overseas. On every battle front of the world, this is the way they affect the GIs:

"One afternoon two clubmobile girls were driving by a lonely anti-aircraft gun post (in North Africa) when they observed three Yanks—a sergeant, a corporal, and a private — napping. 'Hi, there, how'd you like some doughnuts and coffee?' called one of the girls.

"The poor GI dogfaces woke up startled. They had heard many tales about the African sun and the weird images it created in the desert. Was this, then, a mirage? The sergeant pinched the corporal, the corporal pinched the private, and the private pinched the sergeant. No, they agreed, the two pretty images before them were really Red Cross girls.

"At His Side" is the complete story of the Red Cross overseas in World War II, compiled from official records and from personal interviews.

"An investigating committee is now under investigation in Congress." What will be the result of this form of inbreeding is difficult to predict.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

NEXT MONTH, YOU'RE FACING a scrap with a pretty rugged opponent.

This baby is the biggest character of his kind you've ever had to tangle with. ((You'll find his weight listed in the tables below.)

But 26 million other Americans can tell you how to tip the scales in your favor.

It's simple. Just start swinging now — before he takes a poke at you.

This 7th War Loan doesn't really get started until next month. But you can get started now. Like the 26 million patriotic Americans on the Payroll Savings

Then, when that 7th War Loan starts, you'll have a big part of your share of extra Bonds already bought and paid for.

1st, whether we're fighting Germans and Japs, or Japs alone, there'll be no easing up in this fight till every last enemy is on his knees—or dead.

2nd, to save time and work, there will be fewer War Loans this year. Only 2 instead of 3. That means we must tackle a bigger loan both times.

So don't give that quota a chance to buffalo you. Start licking it right now. Sock away an extra slice of your pay into War Bonds this week and every week till your quota's licked.

It's a tough customer to beat. But not one millionth as tough as the opponents some of your friends and relatives are facing over their bayonets. And every punch at your opponent helps lick theirs, too.

START SAVING NOW FOR THE MIGHTY 7th!

FIND YOUR QUOTA . . . AND MAKE IT!

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:
1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

Anton Couple Has 7 Sons In Service; Flag Hard To Find

Service flags with seven stars are pretty hard to get—the largest number of stars in the standard flag being six—but a seven-star one is just what it will take to fill the requirements of the W. A. Stephenson family of Anton.

Three of the sons are serving overseas now, and another has completed his missions and returned to duty in the United States. Pvt. Brantley Stephenson, 35, now in France, has been in the service 14 months and overseas a month with an engineering unit. Pvt. Coleto Stephenson, 30, is also with the engineers in France, where he has been four months. Cpl. Vernon Stephenson, 20, has spent one of his two years in service in the South Pacific and 1st Lt. Dore Stephenson, 26, is stationed in Fort Worth after completing his 35 missions in the European area.

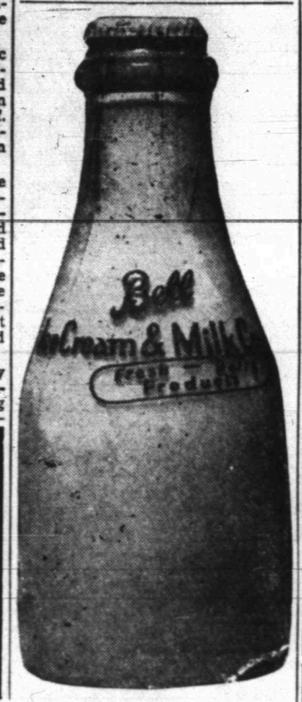

Two sons are taking their basic training now. Pvt. Delo Stephenson, 25, is at Camp Wolters and S 1/c Owen Stephenson, 18, is in boot camp at Camp Parks, Calif. T/Sgt. L. A. Stephenson, 28, stationed at Camp Howze, has been in the service two years.

But that isn't all about the children of Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson. There are still three more — Otto Stephenson, 34, is employed at a defense plant in Pampa and one of their two daughters, Grethleene Stephenson, works at the Naval base at Alameda, Calif. The only one of the children not directly connected with the war effort is Marjetta, who is too young and is going to high school.

A promise has been made by the County-Wide News in Littlefield that if there is such a thing as a service flag with seven stars that it will be obtained for the Stephensons.

Future Relations Believed Benefitted

Wine And Good Will Drown "Grand Opera" Of Meeting

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH MARSHAL KONEV'S FIRST UKRAINIAN ARMY East Of The Elbe, April 26. (Delayed)—They tried to make the first meeting of Russian and American divisional commanders on the German front a grand opera event today but it ended like the finale of a circus performance.

There was just too much good-will and wine flowing to keep up military formalities — and that probably was the best thing possible for future international relations.

Arrangements had been made for the first meeting of the Allied divisional staffs on the east bank of the Elbe in the Torgau region at 4 p.m., and Russian work troops began building a triumphal log arch. They had with them a huge Soviet flag and a home made Stars and Stripes to symbolize Allied unity.

Yanks Appear Unexpectedly

—While high ranking Soviet officers were back in their barracks giving their boots a final gloss and pinning on every decoration they had won in four years of battle, the American party appeared unexpectedly on the other side of the river.

Both bridges had been blown by the Germans during their defense of Torgau so Maj. Gen. Emil F. Reinhardt of Detroit, Mich., and his staff, clad in impeccably near-Eisenhower dress jackets, had to be rowed over the swift-flowing Elbe in racing sculls. Crowds of refugee Russian men and women waiting to cross the river looked on in wonder.

The American staff walked slowly through a growth of river weeds to the meeting site and stood uncertainly for a moment. They had arrived 20 minutes early.

Shake Hands Warmly

An interpreter quickly made known their identity, however, and a Russian officer who was helping dig post holes for the triumphal arch dropped his spade and came over and shook hands warmly with Gen. Reinhardt.

The Russian troops saluted the American staff smartly, and handed British and American flags to Reinhardt's two bodyguards. Cpl. Clarence Tate, of Grapevine, Texas, took the Union Jack and Pfc. Frank Kanes of Donora, Pa., took the Stars and Stripes.

When the Americans were half way up the hill a large body of splendidly clad Russian officers rounded a grove of trees and started down to meet them.

As the two colorful processions came closer and closer a great cheer went up from the Russian and American soldiers on both sides of the river, and gunfire echoed as the celebrating troops fired whatever guns were at hand.

It was a news photographer's dream. Besides the regular Army photographers the Russians had many representatives from Tass and Pravda news agencies. The Americans had a number of Army signal corps cameramen and a half dozen newspaper and magazine photographers.

Veal And Lamb Added To "Set Aside" List

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The War Food administration today added veal and lamb produced in federally-inspected slaughter houses to the meats which must be set aside for military-lend-lease and other war uses.

Under existing orders, such slaughterers must make about 50 per cent of total output of beef and about 56 per cent of their total output of pork available to the government.

The new order, which goes into effect Sunday was issued, the WFA said, to assure the government of its requirements of veal and lamb. Officials said, however, that the government will take no larger portion of veal and lamb under the order than it has been buying.

Federally-inspected slaughterers must set aside for the government 35 per cent of veal produced from grade AA, A and B dressed carcasses weighing 60 to 275 pounds with th.. hide off.

They also must set aside 25 per cent of the lamb produced from grade AA, and B carcasses weighing from 30 to 70 pounds.

Sugar Stamp No. 36 To Be Valid Tuesday

Sugar stamp No. 36 in War Ration book four will be good for five pounds of sugar beginning Tuesday, the Lubbock Office of Price administration has announced. The stamp will remain good for use by consumers through Aug. 31, 1945.

Sugar stamp No. 35, which came into use on Feb. 1, will be good through June 2, providing an overlap of about one month during stamp No. 35 and stamp No. 36 may both be used.

Validation of stamp No. 36 is in line with a previous announcement. OPA pointed out, however, that there is serious doubt as to whether another stamp can be validated as early as Aug. 1. It was explained that the tightening supply situation, together with unexpected excesses in distribution over allocated supplies, may compel further reduction in the consumer ration, as well as the rations for other types of users.

The ordinary sequence of stamps will be broken following stamp No. 36, since stamp No. 37 will not be validated at any time. This is because many persons last year mistakenly used sugar stamp No. 37, instead of spare stamp No. 37, as consumer identification in obtaining sugar for home canning.

Bans Are Tightened On Nazi Prisoners

DALLAS, April 28 (AP) — The Eighth Service command said today that the German Army straight arm salute, German flags on which swastikas appear and all Nazi flags, insignia and ceremonies have been banned from prisoner of war camps.

At the same time, the command said authority has now been granted to replace critical and rationed foods in prisoner of war camps with substitutes. Every effort was made in the past to limit use of rationed foods, the command added.

German prisoners are forbidden to have in their possession any Nazi emblem, insignia or picture, including any picture of a Nazi leader. Exceptions are made in the case of emblems and insignia worn as part of the German uniform.

The Eighth Service command said the new menu, which went into effect in March, contains the same nutritional content as that furnished American soldiers in base camps and complies with provisions of the Geneva convention.

"Beef is served only two days a month and after May will not appear at all on prisoner of war tables," the command stated. "Fish, mutton and various types of sausage, including liverwurst, bologna and salami, are substituted. Oleomargarine, in reduced quantities, has been substituted for butter. Eggs are a rarity. Fresh vegetables take the place of rationed items and dried prunes substitute for the bulk of the fresh fruit ration."

Pecos Field Ordered Temporarily Inactive

PECOS, April 28 (AP)—Headquarters of the commanding general of the Army Air forces Western Flying Training command has announced the temporary inactivation of the Pecos Army Air field effective next Monday.

"Pecos Army Air field's part in the vital AAF training mission has been accomplished with distinction," said yesterday's announcement.

Atrocity Camp Worse Than Any Battlefield

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP) — Julius Ochs Adler, general manager of the New York Times, who is one of the newspaper executives surveying German atrocity camps, said today in a dispatch to the Times from Buchenwald, "what I have seen here is worse than any battlefield."

"The story of Buchenwald has been told, but it cannot be told too often to the people of the United States," Mr. Adler declared. "The skinny corpses of Buchenwald should remind us of what the loss of human freedom entails.

"In all, 32,705 people died here between July, 1937, and April, 1945. Some were tortured and died under torture. Some were flogged to death. Some were strangled. Some were drained of their blood and murdered. Some died as a result of medical 'experiments'.

"I saw corpses piled in squares with 20 to 25 bodies in each square. They had starved to death. Their legs above the knees had shrunk to the dimensions of an average man's wrist. Their faces showed the agony in which they had died.

"German civilians in the area around the camp are fat and well-fed. The women still are wearing silk stockings. War has not touched them."

Mr. Adler recently resumed his position with the Times upon medical discharge from the Army. He was a brigadier general.
