The three members of the commission, Harry Hines, Robert L. Bobbitt and Brady Gentry, the state highway engineer, Julian Montgomery, G. L. Bracher, division 25 engineer and all of his employes will be guests of honor at the event.

The banquet will be a tribute to the state commission and its employes for their work in developing the West Texas highway system, and an expression of appreciation by the citizenship of Childress to the highway group for the work that has been done in this area.

Tribute to Hines

It will also be a tribute to Hines, who has, more than any other, devoted his efforts to building a modern system of highways in West Texas.

The banquet will also give resi-

AAA Program To Be Explained

Childress county agents, Miss Reba Curtis and V. E. Hafner, will schedule soon a series of community meetings over the county, to explain terms of the 1940 AAA program, they announced today after attending a district meeting in Amarillo.

With other county agents of the Panhandle, they were called to Amarillo to hear the program outlined. New features were explained, and these explanations are to be passed along to farmers here.

Miss Curtis was accompanied by Mrs. Frank Taylor, invited to the meeting as a representative of home demonstration club women in this county.

Little Damage In Hotel Fire

There was plenty of smoke but little fire last night at the Worth rooming house on Commerce street.

Firemen entered the smoky building and dragged out a burning mattress. The cause of the fire was undetermined, and damage was slight.

City Council Meets Tonight

Members of the city council will meet at 7 o'clock tonight to canvass returns of Tuesday's special election and to seat a new member, George Robertson, who was elected to fill the unexpired term of C. V. Jones, who resigned to become mayor.

Several other matters are scheduled for discussion at the meeting.

Plans for Christmas Opening Complete

Plans were completed today for the formal opening of the Christmas shopping season in Childress Wednesday evening, Dec. 6.

Retail merchants, working under the chamber of commerce street decoration and retail trade extension committees, will cooperate in the event, designed to stimulate early Christmas buying.

At a meeting of the decorations committee this morning, details of the Christmas street decorations were worked out.

The regular colored Christmas lights will be strung across the principal business streets; large, lighted Christmas trees will be placed at the intersections of Main and Commerce streets and Avenues B and C; the four large stars will be suspended above the trees; and cutouts of Donald Duck will be placed on the lamp posts in keeping with the general theme of the Christmas campaign.

All decorations will be in place for the Christmas opening Dec. 6. (Continued on page 12)

Cotton Loan Here 8.70 Cents

Childress county cotton has the lowest loan value under the 1939 loan setup announced this week by the Commodity Credit corporation. The base rate of the loans here will be 8.70 cents per pound.

This rate applies to 7/8-inch middling cotton and varies either way. The differential in loan prices is based on the distance from ports. All counties north and west of Childress have the same rate.

The 1939 cotton loans were announced yesterday. Much of Childress county's limited crop this year will probably go into the loan program.

MRS. JOE PRICE DIES AT HOME HERE TODAY

Mrs. Joe Price, resident of Childress for 35 years, died at her home here early this morning after a long illness. The funeral has been arranged for 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Presbyterian church, of which she has long been a member.

Rev. Frank Travis, pastor, will conduct the service. Burial in Childress cemetery will be made by J. O. McMinn.

A native of Kentucky, Mrs. Price was born in Metcalf county, near Sulphur Well. She grew up and was married in that state, and came with her husband and children to Childress in February, 1904. Mr. Price died a few years later and was buried in the cemetery here.

A daughter, Mrs. G. R. Porter of St. Louis, and two sons, Hal and Dick Price of Childress, survive her. Another daughter died in childhood and her oldest son, Phil Price, about four years ago.

Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. V. Norris of Childress, and two brothers, Elzie Mitchell of Childress and J. B. Mitchell of Greensburg, Ky.

During her years of residence here Mrs. Price was active in the work of her church and also in the club and social life of the city. For years she served as a trustee of the Woman's Department club and was a member of the Six-Two club.

FDR Seeks Labor Peace

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Roosevelt today asked resumption of labor peace negotiations between the AFL and the congress of industrial organizations, but it was not indicated immediately whether his move had been successful.

AFL President William Green told Roosevelt that the federation's unity committee was ready to resume the peace talks, which were suspended last April, at any time the CIO committee was ready.

CIO President John L. Lewis flatly refused to tell reporters his reaction to Roosevelt's proposal.

Lewis said that all information must come from the white house.

He said that he had discussed the effect of the neutrality act on ship owners and their employes with Roosevelt but he would not amplify this talk.

Hitler Escapes Death Explosion By Ten Minutes

BERLIN (UP)—Nazis announced with rage today that the bomb which wrecked their beer hall shrine at Munich, killing seven and wounding more than 60 persons, had missed Adolf Hitler by only ten minutes and had piled up ten feet of debris on the spot where he had made a 57-minute speech.

The nazis announced officially that the explosion occurred at the exact moment when Hitler would have been starting his speech if the program of previous years had been followed.

They loosed their full wrath at Great Britain, charged that the British secret service had instigated the bombing, and intimated that they would take their revenge by intensifying the war.

The dreaded nazi secret police went into action and authorized sources said "some arrests" already had been made.

British Get Blame

The German press asserted that Great Britain was at least psychologically responsible for the time bomb that killed seven persons only 10 minutes after Hitler had left the beer hall.

Under screaming headlines newspapers said the declarations of British statesmen that Hitlerism must be destroyed "prepared the atmosphere" for the plot and they hinted at retaliation at Britain.

Some nazis went further and expressed belief that the British secret service engineered the bombing.

The government offered a reward of 500,000 marks ($200,000) for the capture of the perpetrators (Continued on page 3)

Cold Due After Light Rainfall

Cloudy skies, which brought a light rain to the Childress vicinity this morning, are due to clear this afternoon and colder weather will move in tonight, according to today's forecast.

The rainfall this morning totaled less than one-tenth inch and was of no aid to dry farm lands. No heavy rains were reported in this section.

Nov. 24 Picked As Date of Lee School Frolic

November 24 was set as the date for the annual Thanksgiving Frolic at Robert E. Lee school, when the executive board of Lee Parent-Teacher association met in a called session yesterday. The association sponsors the frolic each fall.

Committee chairmen were named, and full committees will be announced soon by Mrs. Harry Mitchell, president. Tentative plans indicate that the general plan used in former years will be followed, with new attractions to entertain the public. Proceeds will be used for school benefit by the association.

Board members also discussed plans for sending Mrs. Mitchell as delegate to the state Parent-Teacher convention at Galveston Nov. 22.

East Ward PTA Hears Addresses On Child Care

Dr. J. H. Jernigan spoke on "Child Hygiene" and Bill Alderman on "Safety" at the East Ward Parent-Teacher association meeting yesterday afternoon. Both mental and physical hygiene were discussed by Dr. Jernigan, and Mr. Alderman distributed safety pamphlets at the conclusion of his talk.

Mrs. Neil Vanzant was program chairman and music was furnished by fourth grade pupils under the direction of Miss Faye Maxwell.

During a short business meeting, it was voted that the East Ward unit operate the concession stand at the Wichita-Childress football game Nov. 17.

Mrs. Crews Named Delegate To State Club Federation

Representation at the state convention of federated clubs in Wichita Falls next week for the Woman's Department club here will be by Mrs. J. M. Crews, president, who was elected delegate yesterday. Mrs. Tom Huggins was named alternate.

The state convention will start Monday. Since the meeting place is so near Childress, a much larger representation than usual from clubs here will attend the sessions. In addition to Department club delegates, most of the various departments will send delegates.

Yesterday's Department club meeting was a regular monthly session at the club house, devoted entirely to business.

Members voted to serve the annual chamber of commerce banquet next month at the high school gymnasium, and planned to conduct a benefit rummage sale and candy sale in downtown Childress on Dec. 16. Mrs. Huggins was appointed sale chairman with Mrs. Harry Trueblood as her assistant.

A vote of thanks was extended to young women of Ex Libris club, who assisted the Department club in serving a banquet to FFA and 4-H club boys last week. It was also voted to permit use of the club lounge to Ex Libris club for a blanket tax of one dollar per member.

Notes from Mrs. J. H. Rutherford of Chillicothe and Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, who were program guests of the Department club at the October meeting, were read expressing their appreciation for hospitality of the Childress women during their stay here.

and it was announced that private individuals had added 100,000 marks, making the total reward 600,000 marks ($240,000).

Questioned about those arrested, officials said the number of or nature could not be divulged "for legal and political reasons."

They denied a report broadcast this morning by a French radio station at Strasbourg that the gestapo had planned the explosion in order to kill off some radical members of the party.

Criminal Story

"We can only describe the story as criminal," a spokesman said. "The fact that the Strasbourg station described the report as emanating from Amsterdam by way of Berlin we regard as an insult to the Netherlands flag and honor."

It was understood that several diplomats visited the chancellery this morning to express regrets at the bombing and convey congratulations to Hitler for his escape.

A crowd of several hundred stood in a drizzling rain outside the chancellery but Hitler did not appear.

He had reached the chancellery at 10:30 a. m. before an all-night train ride from Munich. He had been spared the sight of the explosion that brought the ceiling down on the nazi veterans celebrating the 16th anniversary of his "beer hall putsch." The force of the explosion had even torn out and destroyed some of the heavy ceiling joists and left the nazi shrine in ruins.

The propaganda ministry announced that the seven dead and 27 seriously injured included no prominent figures but that some might be included in the slightly injured list.

The general theory was that someone had sneaked into the attic over the famous beer hall, taking advantage of the "blackout" which has been declared since the war began, and had planted a bomb there, probably a time bomb that failed to catch Hitler because he left earlier than he ordinarily leaves the anniversary celebration.

Propaganda At Home

If every piece of propaganda that reached the American public were boldly labeled and bore a clear description of its source, citizens of this country would know exactly what to do with it. They might read it, but they would not be misled to believe that the report is necessarily authentic.

Even if there were a law to compel such labeling of propaganda in speeches, pamphlets, statements and circular letters, enforcement would be almost impossible. The successful effect of much propaganda depends upon its being disguised as fact.

Most of the wartime propaganda fed to Americans has foreign origin but much of the propaganda with which citizens must contend has its origin right here in the United States. That kind is the most dangerous.

During a period when the majority of the people are particularly anxious to remain neutral, decidedly partisan bulletins are being issued by national groups, frequently supported by prominent persons. Speeches are made and petitions are signed and resolutions are passed. Influenced by certain apparent objectives of the organization, many people are persuaded to align themselves with such groups and unwittingly lend their support to more subtle purposes.

Such organizations are run by Americans and composed of Americans. They are not consciously the pawns of any other government. They operate freely and openly under the prerogative of free speech, free press and free assembly. These are their rights; and to remove them would be unjust and undemocratic.

Foreign agents disseminating propaganda in the United States are now required to register with the Secretary of State. In this respect, at least, they are labeled. American citizens are under no such compulsion as long as they are not in the employ of other nations. They are free to operate in any manner they see fit as long as their activities are not treasonable.

Thus, it is possible for American citizens to play directly into the hands of foreign governments with the widest possible liberty. It is true that many groups whose actions today fall into the category of propaganda are not desirous of leading America into war. But their unneutral tendencies, their efforts to support one side against the other, are not helping this country to emphasize its disdain for conflict and its determination not to become involved.

Political Science in the Baltic

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
 United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP)—A revolutionary proposal for shortening work of Texas legislatures was rejected by a house committee to recommend new rules because the change could be effected only by united action of the house and senate.

Rep. Maurice Dowell of Luling suggested to the committee that committee hearings on bills might be eliminated. He proposed that when a bill passed either the house or the senate it should go on the calendar of the other body, without having to go again to a committee.

To carry out his plan, joint hearings by representatives and senators would have to be arranged for the single committee hearing. This has been done occasionally on particular bills. Dowell's plan would make it the rule.

Committee hearings are designed primarily to give the public an opportunity to have a say. Non-members may not argue merits or demerits of a bill before either house or senate. At committee hearings they have that privilege.

Dowell believes that passage of a bill by either branch of the legislature gives it sufficient stamp of merit to require a vote upon it in the other branch. Committees in the past have prevented that. Notable example was failure of the state affairs committee to report to the senate any of the tax bills passed by the house at the last regular session.

Judge George Christian of the state court of criminal appeals believes technicalities can be carried too far. He put his foot down firmly when the attorney for a defendant with a long murder sentence objected to the conviction because the word "the" appeared in the indictment where it was not called for.

The indictment began: "In the name and by the authority of the state of Texas." The lawyer contended the proper form is: "In the name and by authority of the state of Texas."

He also objected because the indictment used the term "grand jurors" instead of "grand jury."

A slowing down in the removal of bill boards along Texas highways is expected to result from a recent decision of the third court of civil appeals.

The suit arose when a 60 acre tract was sold. The new purchaser removed a large tire sign for which removed a large tire sign for which the previous owner.

The court sustained a damage judgment. The ruling means that the leases cannot be cancelled by change of ownership of the property.

Duns are an effective means of making collections, State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles has discovered. On Sept. 1 he sent out statements to purchasers of state land showing the status of their accounts and the amount of interest due, where delinquent.

As a result approximately $2,000 a day has been received at the land office.

Total receipts of the office for October were nearly $1,000,000. This included the bonuses on University of Texas oil leases auctioned on Oct. 27, when $289,950 was received.

THE POET'S CORNER

TO MRS. KEYS
 By Mable C. Bogan.

The Quints are wonderful creatures,
 But to me there is another
 Who well deserves recognition—
 That is the Keys Quads' mother.

God only knew her thoughts
 When told there were daughters four,
 But I think I do know
 She asked His blessings o'er and o'er.

After her strength came back,
 After birth's moments in hell,
 With faith she marched on,
 A message with her life to tell.

Without too much routine
 Of food and care each day,
 I think the Quads lived
 Like we did in the "good old day."

With rough hands she worked,
 Tolling over washboard and tub,
 Like the little soiled clothes
 She bravely met life—and its rub.

And these few words I pen
 To honor a humble mother,
 For she and God only know
 The sacrifice, and no other.

The sacrifice she made

SO THEY SAY

For the democratic countries, even after 17 years of life and work, Fascist Italy still remains an absolutely unknown country.—Virginio Gayda, Italian journalist.

It is bad enough to be a runt without being singled out, derided, envied and otherwise persecuted as brainy.—Marjorie Holmes Miggel, child authority.

We Americans who live in Europe and who see, perhaps, more clearly realize that we are faced with a repetition of the spirit of 1917.—Max Shoop, president of American Club of Paris.

Frankly, I am afraid we have overemphasized the importance of neutrality legislation. It is important—yes. But it is not more important than our entire foreign policy.—Alfred M. Landon, 1936 G. O. P. presidential candidate.

French Ship Escapes Sub

BOSTON (UP)—The French freighter San Jose apparently has escaped a pursuing submarine at a position estimated at 500 miles southeast of Bermuda. Relayed radio advices received here today from Cape Sable, Nova Scotia, said that the submarine had disappeared after the chase and it was assumed that the freighter was proceeding unmolested.

Burglary Charges Filed at Paducah

PADUCAH.—Jim Duncan of Quanaah yesterday was arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. F. Wimberly on a complaint charging burglary and was released under $1,000 bond. Duncan, a railroad employe, was arrested near Swearingen, Cottle county, after loot taken Sept. 1 from the Roy McCleendon home near Dunlap, had been recovered in Quanaah Wednesday night. The sheriff's department had been working on the case since a prowler entered the house and took a large quantity of clothing, dishes, canned fruit and other household articles. The stolen goods were found by Sheriff Malon Owen of Quanaah.

COLUMN—

Sport Parade

By Henry McLemore. NEW YORK (UP)—Col. Edward Riley Bradley, whose breech-loading collar was the inspiration for the modern starting gate, finally caught a perfect hand after 50 years of waiting—and now nobody is going to call it.

The old gambler from old Kaintuck has come up with straight flushes before. He had Behave Yourself, Bubbling Over, Burgoo King and Broken Tip, derby winners all. But not until this year, after a half century of racing, did the flush come up royal.

Bimelech is this baby's name, and he has the look of eagles in his eye. The sweet smoothness of bluegrass is in his coat and the fire of old, old bourbon is in his legs. Six times he has answered the bugle's call and six times he has led them all.

The thunder of his hooves down the stretch has done something for Bradley that doctors couldn't do. Old now, as the darkies around the stable would say, "doin' polly" of late, the master of the Idle Hour farm has drawn new life from this strapping brown horse. Even as the doctors are clocking his pulse, the colonel is clocking his colt.

It is hard to say whether Bimelech has made more progress than his owner. The Colonel was flat on his back when the son of Black Toney went to the post the first time this summer as a two-year-old, but with each report of how his green-and-white barrelhoops were rolling down the stretch he got better. Last week Bimelech won the sixth straight time; now the Colonel is out of bed and has changed the company of doctors and nurses for railbirds, clockers and swipes.

Men, the Colonel is more than just out of bed. He is up, taunting and flaunting the world of racing, and waving his pocket-book like a color sergeant on dress parade. To the Colonel, who had bred and raced the best, Bimelech is not just a two-year-old horse. Bimelech is the greatest horse in the world and Bradley has challenged any owner of anything with four legs to get his animal out there, throw a saddle on him, and await the bell with his baby.

Colonel Ed didn't ask for any prize money or any cups. A gambler all his life and one who bet them higher than a cat can arch his back, he said he'd chunk his wallet on the table for a side-bet. All he stipulated was a distance of around a mile and a sixteenth and a fast track. He was content to let Bimelech do the rest.

It was an amazing challenge. With no warning whatever, the Colonel laid his wallet, his silks and his horse on the line, daring Challeidon, Kayak II or any horse in any stable to try and take them away.

But Bradley hasn't had any takers, which would indicate that Bradley isn't the only owner who thinks Bimelech can't be beaten. Challeidon said he already has taken his cottage in South Carolina for the winter, and couldn't get out of the lease. Kayak II said nothing, and for once silence didn't mean consent.

So it looks as if Bimelech will have to wait for that soft May afternoon in Louisville to roll the Bradley hoops down in front again. That will be all right with the Colonel, too, because no picture ever painted, no song ever sung, no word ever written stirs the Colonel quite as much as the sight of his saddlecloth hanging out to dry on the toteboard.

The accordion, favorite instrument of many young Americans, achieved great popularity following its successful use on the radio.

INDIANS DRIVE FOR VICTORY OVER BOBCATS

Tribe Expects Locals to Be Overconfident

Expecting to find the Bobcats overconfident and unprepared, the Quana Indians will breeze into Childress tomorrow with high hopes of knocking the Childress team from the district 2AA perch.

The Indians have been told that the Cats are looking past them to the Wichita Falls game next week and the story has aroused the ire of the Redskins, according to reports from Quana.

The Indians lost a 14-0 verdict to Wichita Falls and beat Graham 13-8 in the last two starts. Still improving, they are reported to feel capable of taking a hand in the district proceedings and are focusing on a victory here tomorrow night.

In the game at Fair Park field tomorrow night, they will meet a Bobcat club not yet in top physical condition. Fullback Vic Bates will be on the bench when the affair starts and will appear only in a relief role, if at all. Bill Jack Thompson, guard, is still out of action due to illness, and Junior Brown, also a guard, will play with a broken finger.

The Bobcats had hoped to have Bates in the lineup, but his bruised leg failed to heal as rapidly as expected and he is in no condition for heavy work.

As a result, the same team that turned in a 19-13 victory over Olney two weeks ago will start against the Tribe. James Willeford will be at fullback, Leroy Reeves at quarter, Buford Landers and Morgan Goodson at halfbacks. In the line, Max Jones at center, Brown and Sammy Privitt at guards, Brack Taylor and Albert Williams at tackles, Jim Howard and Clifford Foster at ends will be the starters.

The Bobcats will take a light drill tonight to finish up their work for the game. Yesterday afternoon, they went through another lengthy scrimmage session, working at length on defensive tactics against Quana plays and formations, stressing particularly defense against bullet passes of the type tossed by Wells, Quana's burly fullback.

SCORING Error Found; Bates Retains District Lead

An error in recording the scoring in the Olney-Electra game last week gave Mullins of Olney a touchdown which was actually made by Baker, according to C. D. Martin, Olney statistician, so Vic Bates of Childress still holds his individual scoring lead in conference games of the district.

Mullins was credited with two touchdowns and two points in the Electra game, giving him a total of 28 points in conference play. His correct total is 22 points, leaving him two points behind Bates, who has scored four touchdowns.

Bates leads in full season scoring with 78 points, 31 more than his nearest rival, Gayle McLaughlin of Electra.

The correct totals of the conference scoring leaders are:

Player, team	Td	Pat	Tp
Bates, Childress	4	0	24
Mullins, Olney	3	4	22
G. Wilde, Graham	3	0	18

IT'S IOWA—MAYBE Notre Dame May Reach End of Victory Streak in Saturday Game

By Jerry Bronfield NEA Service Sports Writer. Notre Dame's victory express, scheduled to move into Iowa City Saturday is heeding warning signs which read: "Slow Down—Danger Ahead."

There are a number of critics who insist that this is merely an average Notre Dame football team and that the Luck of the Irish is bound to run out sooner or later. The engagement with Iowa—a game in which there are more angles than a geometry lesson—looms more and more as Elmer Layden's Waterloo even though the South Benders are given the margin of one eyelash.

Dr. Eddie Anderson, the old Notre Dame end who has done a magnificent job of restoring new vigor in the Hawkeyes, would like nothing better than to break the Irish victory string. The surprising Hawks beat a good Purdue team last week and have in Nile Kinnick, one of the Midwest's most brilliant backs.

Irish injuries have weakened the club. Iowa will be in top shape. Cornell's unsullied record goes on the block against Colgate at Ithaca. The Big Red must be given the edge but Andy Kerr, like Bob Zupke, usually can be counted upon for at least one big day a year.

Unbeaten Tulane Dartmouth, gathering momentum, looks like a good November club and figures to take Princeton by at least a touchdown at Princeton.

Fordham is favored over Indiana in New York.

Yale will try to bounce back after being swamped by Dartmouth a week ago, and probably will bounce high enough to get over Brown in New Haven.

Harvard and Army get together in Cambridge, with the Cadets deserving a slight edge in a game that should be decided by breaks.

Pitt and Carnegie Tech wage intra-city war in Pittsburgh with the Skibos picked to make it two in a row over the Panthers.

Columbia is a slight favorite over Navy in Baltimore and undefeated Georgetown gets the call over Maryland in Washington.

Missouri is given a slight bulge over NYU in New York.

The feature battle in Dixie finds Tulane taking on Alabama in New Orleans, with the Green Wave running attack, strongest in the south, expected to provide the margin of victory.

Georgia Tech entertains a surprising Kentucky team in Atlanta with the Rambling Wreck figured to stop the Lexington charge.

Louisiana State should defeat Mississippi State in a close one in Baton Rouge.

North Carolina State appears in for another pasting in Raleigh... this time at the hands and feet of unbeaten and untied Duquesne.

Battle For Brown Jug Michigan and Minnesota, with some of the wind taken out of their sails, meet for the Little Brown Jug in Ann Arbor. The Wolverines should regain the pottery but only after a battle of the first magnitude.

Northwestern, coming fast, has a decided edge on Purdue in Evanston.

Ohio State intends to use 10 student managers and the waterboy against Chicago on the Midway.

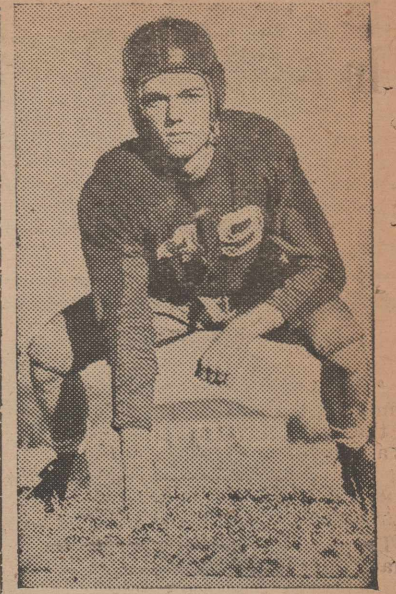

Illinois had a big day against Michigan and I have an idea that Bob Zupke will enjoy another against Wisconsin in Champaign.

Marquette should defeat Iowa State in Milwaukee.

Nebraska gets our vote over Kansas in Lincoln.

Oklahoma envisions no great trouble with Kansas State at Manhattan.

Dangerous Mustangs Texas A&M takes on a dangerous Southern Methodist outfit at LELAND VITT, hard-charging end on the 1938 Bobcat football team, is continuing his gridiron career on the high school team of St. Edwards university at Austin. He is a regular end on the squad.

College Station, with the Aggies favored to keep their slate clean.

Jack Crain gives Texas an edge over Baylor at Waco. Rice and Arkansas are a toss-up in Houston.

Mighty Southern California continues its Rose Bowl march in Los Angeles, hooking up with a Stanford team which shouldn't give the Trojans much trouble.

A weak California team probably will be weaker when Washington leaves Berkeley.

Santa Clara has too much for Michigan State in San Francisco. Oregon State should take Oregon at Eugene.

In the Rocky Mountains it looks like Denver over Colorado State at Denver, Utah over the University of Hawaii in Salt Lake, and Utah State over Brigham Young at Logan.

FOOTBALL Electra Works For Comeback In District 2

ELECTRA.—Offering no alibi for having been dethroned by the Olney Cubs last Friday night in the District 2-A football championship race, the Electra Tigers, who were dropped to third place after having gone through half of the season unbeaten and untied, are putting in some of the hardest licks in their grid careers this week.

Conceding the 20-14 victory to the stronger team, the Tigers are pointing for the next three hurdles in the race. They are idle, so far as a game this weekend is concerned, but Coaches George Blair and Frank Guzik are grilling them in passing and pass interference.

The Tigers hope to be in good shape after the week's rest from game action. Coaches Blair and Guzik are pointing the team for three important conference games. The Tigers go to Quanah, Nov. 17, return here for a game with Graham Nov. 24 and close the season here Nov. 30 against Childress, present district leaders.

Electra still retains a good chance at the District 2-AA championship since Childress beat Olney, Vernon tied Childress and the Electra club whipped Wichita Falls. The Childress-Wichita Falls game, and Electra's game with the Childress club here Nov. 30, will go far toward determining the loop winner.

Flashlight Saves Victims Of Accident

SHAWNEE, Okla. (UP)—A flashlight was used by Police Chief Budd to attract attention to himself and two Shawnee firemen as they lay injured in a car wreck west of Shawnee last midnight.

A boy who was passing along the highway noticed the light and summoned aid.

Budd, 57, suffered a fractured hip and chest injuries. Fireman W. O. Cannon, 46, was the most seriously injured. He suffered a fractured left leg, chest injuries, and shock. The third man, Fireman Sam Riley, 35, suffered minor injuries.

The trio's automobile left the road on a curve and crashed into some trees. The injured men lay in the wreck an hour before Budd's flashlight attracted the attention of the young boy.

PERSONALITIES
TODAY'S PROFILE

By The United Press

Boyish-looking John E. Yerxa is the youngest president the Boston Stock Exchange has had in its 105 years of history.

Brilliant, popular and diligent, Yerxa, 35, is scion of a merchant family which for generations has rendered distinguished leadership to Boston's business. He says he is concentrating on "betterment of New England business." He declines to "propound programs," and says he is striving to bring new "listings" to the exchange. He is a keen student of market fluctuations and the basic causes underlying market behavior.

"New England capital has dug mines, built railroads, factories and packing establishments all over the country," he said. "That capital is ever ready to work on new lines and new listings."

Tall, brown-haired and jovial, Yerxa keeps fit by skiing, playing tennis and sailing. He was a crew member of the 30-meter yacht Ellen which won the Franklin D. Roosevelt bowl last summer.

One of the few men in recent years to rise from active work "on the floor" to exchange leadership, he entered the brokerage business after graduation from Harvard college and Harvard Law school 11 years ago.

An exchange member since 1936, he has served on the board of governors for two years.

Inspection of Panama Started

WASHINGTON (UP)—Eighteen congressmen, including Sen. Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.), who play a vital role in shaping the nation's defense program, began a tour of inspection of army posts in the United States and Panama today to determine what needs to be done to strengthen them.

A party including military affairs and appropriation committee members boarded three army transport planes at Bolling field for their month-long trip.

Their stops include army forts and depots, airplane plants, arsenals, and other military establishments throughout the nation and at the Panama canal zone. Goodwill stops will be made in Mexico and all Central American republics.

BELL TO SPEAK ON PROGRAM

J. Ross Bell, prominent Childress attorney, will deliver the principal address at Saturday's Armistice Day program in Childress, which will be sponsored by the Cox-Furr post of the American Legion.

The patriotic program will be held at the high school auditorium, starting at 12:30 Saturday. It will be preceded by a "man-on-the-street" program, conducted by George Spear, at 10 Saturday morning and the customary one-minute silent tribute to war dead at 11 o'clock.

The luncheon, planned for Legionnaires and their families, has been cancelled.

At the program, Gold Star mothers will be honored.

Following the program at the high school, a six-man football game between Community Center and Williams will be played at Fair Park field, under Legion sponsorship, and a dance in Fair Park auditorium Saturday night will close the day's activities.

Banks, the post office, utility company offices, some city and county offices will close Saturday in observance of the holiday.

Survey of Levee Asked at Vernon

VERNON.—Members of the highway committee of the Vernon chamber of commerce and representatives of the Hill Crest Country club here have asked J. M. Isbell, division engineer for the Texas highway department, to prepare a survey of the cost of construction of a levee on Pease river to prevent flooding of United States highway 370 adjacent to the country club golf course as well as to prevent the flooding of a large portion of the golf course and adjacent farm lands.

Isbell was shown where the golf course had been flooded last July, and was asked to estimate the cost of construction of a suitable levee. He also was asked to chart the course of the river, so that the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad could make necessary changes in its tracks which are adjacent to the country club.

Officers Aid Thief Steal Load of Hay

DENVER (UP)—Ivan Patterson, 22, aided by four unknowing but obliging police officers, almost negotiated the theft of 150 bales of hay.

Last night A. L. Atwood, driving the hay to a dairy south of Denver, stopped here for a bite to eat. Patterson slipped in the car and started it with a jerk. Four bales of hay rolled off the top. Two patrolmen cruising in the vicinity noticed the bales drop and stopped Patterson to tell him of his loss.

"Thanks, boys," he said and re-loaded the hay.

A few blocks down the street 90 bales dropped, tying up traffic. Two detectives summoned to clear the intersection gave chase and told Patterson he had lost some hay.

"Thanks," he answered calmly, "I'll go back and pick it up." He did.

Atwood finished his meal and, finding his truck missing, notified police.

A highway patrolman found Patterson, the truck out of gas, and the 150 bales of hay parked on the Denver-Boulder highway.

The Brazilian bellbird is a white bird about the size of a pigeon. It derives its name from the sound it makes—like a hammer on an anvil.

SERIAL STORY

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Joan and Dan spend an anxious day in the kidnap hideout. There is little chance of escape. When Dan sees the headlines, he is amazed to learn of Joan's wealth. She tries to tell him that it makes no difference. She realizes she loves Dan Webber.

CHAPTER XXVI

"DAN," she whispered. "Dan . . . my father's money doesn't mean a thing to me any more." She touched his hand ever so slightly, but he refused to take the hint.

"In fact," she added softly, "I wish he didn't have a dime right now."

He looked down at her. "That would leave you in pretty bad shape," he said, nodding toward their captors.

She looked at Big Ed, hunched over his cards. Of all times and places at which to discover she was in love. The irony of it made her smile faintly.

"What's so amusing?" Dan asked.

She shook her head. "You might never know."

They sat for a long time without saying a word. It must have been at least 15 minutes before Joan broke the silence.

"What're you thinking of?"

"Well, if I want to lie about it, I'm thinking about the game tomorrow. If I tell the truth . . . I'm thinking of you."

Her heart took a flip-flop. Perhaps it wasn't so hopeless after all.

But he didn't volunteer anything further. He picked up the paper again and turned to the sports section.

"Chuck Mitchell's taking my place," he announced.

"Will he do?"

"He's okay offensively, but Slocum doesn't need offense for Pitt. He needs defense . . . gobs of it. Mitchell can be sucked in too easily on fake spinners . . . and Pitt'll spin him dizzy."

She nodded vaguely as Rocco's words came back to her.

" . . . Guys like Rhodes . . . dime a dozen . . . where would he be . . . without that guy Webber . . . Webber's the guy that makes 'em tick . . . most valuable . . . Webber . . ."

She closed her eyes as though to shut out the thought of him. But it wouldn't work.

She got up and went to her room.

Rocco jerked his head over his shoulder. "Looks like the kid's getting the jitters."

Big Ed turned his head slowly toward Dan, stretched full length on the sofa. "Maybe . . . maybe not."

"Sam can take me to the city limits tomorrow, can't he?"

Ed put down his cards. "So you're bound to go to that football game, hey? Okay . . . you crazy idiot!"

AGAIN they kept Dan and Joan in their rooms until Sam got back the next morning, shortly before noon.

It was only a matter of hours before the game would start.

Joan looked at a magazine, but she couldn't read. Dan sat down on the sofa, got up almost immediately. He walked to the window and looked out. Big Ed watched him closely.

He wondered if he ought to lock Dan up again. He looked at Dan's shoulders. The boy reminded him of a caged tiger . . . waiting . . . pacing . . . helpless. Big Ed almost felt sorry for him. The kid sure did want to play in that ball game in the worst way.

"Better sit down, kid," he ordered. "You ain't so likely to get into trouble then."

"You didn't by any chance bring the morning paper with you?" Joan asked Sam.

"Naw . . . it slipped my mind." "Quit your kiddin'," Ed said, but Sam didn't get it.

"Hey, boss," Sam reminded himself. "Something's wrong with the bus. It acted a little funny on the way back. Like maybe it wasn't feeding gas right. That ain't so good."

"That ain't no good at all," Big Ed flared. "I told you to keep that hack in shape. Get out there and check on it in a hurry, see?"

"Sure, Ed, sure," Sam said. "Just as soon's I change my shoes. These is killing me."

"We'll be packing outa here tonight . . . either way," Ed said meaningly, nodding toward Joan. "You," Ed called, jerking his head toward Dan. "Maybe you better get back up there."

"It's too stuffy," Dan replied sullenly. "I'm not going to make any trouble."

Ed looked at him long and hard. "Okay, kid . . . you can stay down here then. Sam, you better tie his hands, though."

Joan watched with chagrin as Sam tied Dan's hands and left him on the sofa. Big Ed began a game of solitaire.

"I'm goin' out in the barn now," said Sam.

"Okay," Ed replied, without looking up from his cards.

Sam took off his coat and Joan watched him. He walked over to a hook on the wall and hung the jacket on it. Then he started to remove his shoulder holster. Joan hardly dared breathe.

Sam unharnessed the gun and then looked down disgustedly. The coat had fallen to the floor. Joan's heart leaped.

If only . . . And then Sam did just what she hoped he would. He dropped the gun holster over the hook and bent down for the coat. He straightened up and hung the jacket over the holster.

Joan's blood pounded. Wild and unformulated plans ran through her head.

Big Ed hadn't noticed Sam's latest bit of carelessness. Even if he did see Sam's coat hanging on the hook now he wouldn't suspect anything. Naturally, Sam would remove his coat to tinker with the car. And he would have to remove his jacket first, before taking off his gun.

It was perfect. Big Ed never would figure there might be a gun under the coat.

Joan looked at her watch. It was noon. No telling how long Sam would be occupied.

She stood up. "I—I'm a little chilly," she said, rubbing her arms.

"How about some coffee?" Big Ed looked at her. "Sure . . . could use a little swig myself."

SHE had her plan worked out now, but she wanted to prepare Dan. She picked up a magazine. "There's a good piece on football here," she called to him. "Want to read it?" She winked hard as she spoke and hoped he would interpret it as some sort of signal.

"Might as well," he replied, puzzled by her action.

"Here . . . I'll open it for you," she said steadily, walking toward the sofa. She started flipping pages and bent down to spread it on his lap.

"Don't get excited," she whispered quickly. "I've got a plan . . . think it'll work . . ." She turned more pages noisily.

Big Ed looked at her once and went on with his game.

"I'm going to set this place on fire," Joan whispered as she straightened up.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance.

TEXT: Matthew 6:19-34.

The power of the words of Jesus lies not only in their truth, but also in the great directness and clarity with which he expressed the truth.

Jesus begins with the simple fact that where a man's treasure is, there will his heart be also.

Jesus saw men laboring and sacrificing and enduring to build up for themselves a treasure of things that had no permanency or real value.

"Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee, and whose shall these things be?"

Jesus bade a rich young man who came to Him seeking the eternal life to sell all that he had and give to the poor, offering him in exchange treasure in Heaven.

It is this same truth that Jesus enforces by other illustrations. If there be anything doubtful or perplexing in the lesson, it is in the latter part where Jesus enforces the lesson of faith in God's providence.

But Jesus saw men filled with anxious thought, concerned more about tomorrow than today.

It is good teaching for those who seek first the Kingdom of God, whose hearts and lives are given over with complete consecration to the kingdom of love and truth.

The birch tree sheds its bark annually.

WHAT CAUSES GETTING UP NIGHTS?

Getting up nights may be nature's warning of sluggish kidneys. If excess acid and other wastes are not regularly eliminated other danger signals that may appear are burning, scanty or frequent flow, backache, leg or rheumatic pains, headache or dizziness.

Deep Wildcat Test Begins on Matador Ranch

MATADOR.—Permit for a deep wildcat test in southwestern Motley county has been issued to the Humble Oil and Refining company. It is the second deep test to be drilled by the firm on the Matador Land and Cattle company ranch, which consists of 466,525.984 acres and is under lease to the Humble. The first effort, No. 1 Matador in northern Dickens county, failed to encounter any shows of consequence in drilling to total depth of 7,074 feet, and was abandoned.

The No. 2 Matador Land and Cattle company will be drilled 330 feet from the east and 7,500 feet from the north lines of the Blanco county school land No. 1, with location falling approximately 16 miles northwest of the Dickens failure.

Tools are now being moved to the southwestern Motley wildcat from the Humble No. 1 Westheimer & Daube, deep wildcat failure in northwestern Cochran county. The latter failed to reach either the Pennsylvania or Ordovician when it encountered hard chert, quartzite and lime at 7,353 feet, the equivalent of basement rock.

BRITAIN TO FIGHT TO FINISH—CHAMBERLAIN

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today reiterated Britain's intention "not to lay down her arms," until she has been assured that "Europe has been freed of the threats that have long paralyzed her people."

In a speech read for him at a luncheon by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, Chamberlain left little doubt that the peace efforts by Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold would fail in view of Britain's distrust of Germany, on which he laid responsibility of the war.

The speech was read because Chamberlain is confined by attack of gout.
