Such was the announcement last night of Texas-Oklahoma fair officials who are primed for the last day of the 1924 exposition Sunday. Today, the seventh that the fair has been in operation, will be the last this year and when the gates are closed tonight they will remain so until the 1925 exposition rolls around twelve months from now.

Last of "India."

That reference to a "blow out" is meant literally as well as figuratively for the "blowing" part comes at 8 o'clock tonight when the final presentation of "India," is given. Orders have been issued by the Theuri-Duffield company, producers of the huge fireworks spectacle, that nothing shall be carried away from Wichita Falls. Accordingly, verything that remains unshot will be touched off tonight. Pictures in fire, blankets of flame and showers of color such as have never before been seen here are promised by those in charge.

Workmen set to the task last night of oiling the race track in preparation for today's automobile races. Excessive clouds of dust hindered the first day's speed trials and it is to remedy this that the oiling is being done. With the dust thus packed, considerable more speed will be possible this afternoon when a score of racers take the field.

Expect Largest Crowd.

In view of these and other events to take place on the grounds, fair association officers feel justified in predicting the largest crowd thus far to be accommodated on the grounds.

Saturday, labeled as West Texas Day, Spanish American War veterans day and Derby Day, saw another crowd of ample size on the grounds. For the first time since the exposition opened it was really too warm for comfort; a blazing sun and warm wind speedily drove coats from the backs of the wearers; it brought out parasols and started handkerchiefs to mopping dripping brows. However, the war veterans who gathered on the grounds for a reunion had a good time; the afternoon derby was all that could be asked in the way of racing; and the other attractions were equally interesting.

Name Better Babies.

Awarding of the better babies contest prize yesterday morning was attended by a large crowd of interested spectators as well as the anxious mamas and papas with entries listed in the show. The squirming youngsters made probably the best exhibit on the grounds.

With fair weather today—and indications are that it will be—the biggest and best day of the fair will be enjoyed.

Be there.

Claim Huge Bootleg Ring Smashed With Rum Ship's Capture

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. — With the capture of a British steamer with 11,000 cases of whiskey aboard, prohibition officials today claimed to have caused the collapse of an angle-American banker-bootlegging alliance, which in the past six months has flooded this part of the country with illicit liquor.

As the result of a three months investigation coast guardsmen seized the 376 ton steamer Frederick B, and her crew of 20 men 15 miles off Monmouth Beach, N. J., in which the federal officials call the first real test of the liquor treaty with Great Britain.

Bankers Involved

Bankers in Montreal and New York and distillers and shipping men in London and Halifax are said to be members of the international bootlegging ring which, the dry raiders said has $10,000,000 behind its operation of a four-ship fleet.

In addition to the prize capture of the Britisher, four smaller craft—fleet motor boats that bring the liquor from the rum fleet to the Long Island and New Jersey shores—were taken. The captures which included a half hundred cases of whiskey and 15 prisoners were made by the marine police.

One Gets Three

One lone police boat with lights out got three of the little craft off the Rockaways single handed. The fourth was taken at Staten Island while her crew were unloading whiskey on a dock.

A novel ruse was employed by the federal agents to involve the crew of the Frederick B in a test of the new treaty which extends the ancient three mile seizure limit to the distance that can be traversed by the boat in one hour.

After handing the vessel's master $100,000 in cash and checks to make a fat liquor purchase agreement binding, agents asked for 25 "sample" cases to take ashore at once. They put the "stuff" aboard the fastest speed boat they could get and raced ashore in 42 minutes. This, assert the agents, involves the bootleg ring in a violation of the Anglo-American treaty.

Big Ship Seized

Their race against time completed, the agents pressed the coast guard cutter Manhattan into the work. That formidably armed little vessel steamed alongside the whiskey laden Frederick B, placed under arrest the crew and two women found aboard, and proceeded the ship to an under-guard anchorage off the Statute of Liberty. John Holly Clark, assistant United States district attorney, later said the capture was the most important since the United States entered into the new seizure limit treaty with Great Britain.

More Cattle To Be Shot In War On Hoof Disease

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 4. — Thirteen hundred range cattle in four herds, in pastures, adjoining the premises where 1000 were slaughtered yesterday, will be killed in the second major operation of the federal government to check a spread of the foot and mouth disease in south Texas. An announcement today at the office of Dr. Marion Imes, federal director of eradication. It was said that these herds were known as contact herds and it was deemed necessary to destroy them in order to create a space between the infected premises and free territory.

Will Soon Break

"We feel confident," the announcement recited, "that these cattle will soon break down with disease. They have intermingled with the infected cattle killed yesterday, principally through gaps they made in poorly constructed fences. In some instances they come into contact with them through a common water supply. We could, of course, kill each herd as the disease developed and continue that policy until it was exhausted through lack of material."

40,000 PERSONS SEE ARMY FLIER FALL TO DEATH

MILLS IS WINNER

He Makes 216 MPH. to Cop First Prize at Dayton Flying Field

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 4—Captain Bert M. Skeel, commander of the 27th squadron of the United States army air pursuit group, Selfridge field, Mount Clemons, Mich., fell to his death from an altitude variously estimated at between 500 and 1,000 feet at Wilbur Wright field today, as he was preparing to swing into a flying start in the Pulitzers, the last event of the international air race.

40,000 See Crash

Forty thousand spectators saw Skeel's plane break in pieces and fall from the sky. As the seemingly matchlike splinters rained down, Lieut. W. H. Brookley of McCook field, shot his Curtis racer over the spot where his fellow fliers body lay embedded fifteen feet in the soft clay and on into the race. Lieut. R. H. Mills flying a Verville-Sperry racer, won the race, traveling the 200 kilometers course at the rate of 216.55 miles an hour. This is almost 20 miles less than the best previous mark made last year at St. Louis by Lieut. A. J. Williams of the navy, who traveled 243.68 miles an hour.

Death Spreads Gloom

Captain Skeel's death, the first fatality of the races this year, and the intitial one in the Pulitzer race since it has been contestted, threw a pall of gloom over the concluding ceremonies of the air races. All social events, including the formal presentation of the prizes to the winners which was to have taken place tonight were cancelled.

Maj. General Mason M. Patrick chief of the United States air service, and Brig. General William M. Mitchell, assistant chief, saw the Skeel crash and went immediately to the scene. General Patrick said he had no statement to make concerning it. According to army regulations a board of inquiry will be appointed.

THINKS PRISONER IS FOUND

Western Sheriff Believes He Has New York Man.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The sheriff at Ely, Nev., wired New York officers today that a man claiming to be a New York broker named L. C. Sloan, was in custody there under suspicion that he was George R. Christian, missing member-treasurer of Day and Heaton, stock brokers, whose disappearance preceded the firm's recent $2,500,000 bankruptcy.

There was no "L. C. Sloan" among local brokers and none at the Fifth avenue address the prisoner in Ely was reported to have given. A full description of Christian however, was telegraphed to the western city.

A comparison of the Ely sheriff's meager description of his prisoner with that of Christian indicated to local officials that "Sloan" was not the far sought member of Day and Heaton. The fugitive weighed about 240 pounds, where as "Sloan" weighs nearly 100 pounds less.

55 Members Stock Ass'n; Are Indicted

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 4.—Fifty-five members of the Oklahoma City livestock exchange were indicted by a federal grand jury today for alleged conspiracy to violate the packers and livestock act of 1921. All are local residents.

It charged that the men established a boycott by refusing to engage in buying or selling transactions with certain commission houses. Among the defendants are several prominent livestock men of this city.

The indictment was returned, officials said, after weeks of investigation by federal officers and is a forerunner of similar investigations that will be made in other livestock centers. Tactics used by those under indictment have been used elsewhere, and have resulted in driving certain market agencies and dealers out of the stockyards, it is said.

The alleged boycotts, have been particularly directed at co-operative marketing associations, according to Roy S. Lewis, assistant district attorney who directed the investigation here.

GREER'S COTTON AUCTIONED OFF AT $250 A BALE

IS SOLD AT FAIR

First Output From New Variety Produced By Irrigation

Proof that the new, long staple variety of cotton being developed on irrigated valley land here by James D. Greer can command a top-market price was shown yesterday when a bale of Mr. Greer's special variety was auctioned off at the fair grounds for $250. It was purchased by Reese Allen, local capitalist, who paid for it at the rate of 50 cents a pound.

On Hodges Farm

Mr. Greer, who is irrigating on the Will Hodges farm 18 miles west of Wichita Falls, has started an experiment that is being watched with considerable interest here. Years of testing and developing different breeds of cotton have resulted in his obtaining a special long staple. He has spent several years now in seeking a soil and climate that is adapted to the growing of his variety, and in that quest he has settled on the Hodges farm and put some 50 acres under irrigation.

That fortunes are ahead for the grower of the selective brands has been demonstrated conclusively in Arizona and New Mexico where planters have specialized before in the long staple varieties. Mr. Greer's breed here, according to his own belief and that of experienced cotton men who have inspected it, bids fair to become one of the most prolific yielders of high grade plants yet evolved. The particular strain from which the bale sold yesterday was picked indicates this, and Mr. Greer in experimenting with some 20 more varieties he has worked out, anticipating that perhaps one even more shitable to this section can be found.

Inch and a Half Staple.

The cotton purchased by Mr. Allen had a normal staple of one and one-quarter inches; but because it was ginned in a short staple gin the staple length in reality was one and one-half inches. The plants were watered by the irrigation system once, on July 15-17, and had more water been available sooner, a 50 per cent greater yield would have been produced, he thinks. As it is, he obtained over a bale an acre.

In addition to his cotton experiments next year, Mr. Greer intends planting several varieties of alfalfa, watermelons, cantelopes and corn with a view of ascertaining which are best suited for this soil and climate.

DEFENDANT IN A HOLE

Robert Chew Grilled by Attorneys At Texarkana.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Oct. 4.—Government attorneys, cross examining Robert Chew, indicted oil operator of the Arkansas fields on trial for use of the mails to defraud and conspiracy, as a result of the operations of the Bob Cobb syndicate number two, this afternoon put the defendant in a position where his only response to questions would be: "I don't recall."

He was more perturbed under the persistent grilling of the attorneys today than at any time since he took the stand in his own behalf Friday. The government attorneys brought out that the books show no account for advertising and the defendant explained this by saying that L. S. Grimm, co-defendant, handled all of the advertising and that the expenditures for this were carried in an account charged to Grimm.

WALT JOHNSON FALTERS AFTER FURIOUS BATTLE

Giants Crash Through To One Run Win In 12 Brilliant Innings

HE FANS TWELVE

Senator Ace Hit Hard But Goes Down With Colors Flying

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. — The New York Giants fought their way to victory today over the Washington Senators in the opening game of the 1924 world series after one of the most thrilling, dramatic battles baseball has ever known.

The Giants won by the narrow margin of 4 to 3 in twelve bitterly contested innings and conquered Washington's heroic mound-man, Walter Johnson, but the Senators, though beaten in the first bid their have ever made for the game's greatest crown, covered themselves with glory in a fighting finish that drove a crowd of over 35,000 into hysterical frenzy.

Come From Behind

Coming from behind when it seemed that two smashing home runs by George Kelly and Bill Terry had clinched the game for the National league champions, Washington tied the score in the ninth inning with a spectacular rally, and in the twelfth, after the Giants had gained another commanding lead, scored their third run off Art Nehf, Giant southpaw, and threatened once more to deadlock the game, in a final desperate spurt.

Johnson, the idol of all fandom, the mainspring of Washington's hopes, emerged a hero even in defeat. For while the game veteran was hit hard and paved the way for his own downfall in the twelfth, when he faltered, he gave a brilliant exhibition. Flashing all the amazing speed that has made him famous, Johnson struck out 12 of the Giants and in nine of the 12 innings baffled them with the craft and "smoke" of his delivery. But two mighty home runs by Kelly and Terry, thrusts that came with the suddenness of lightning and a savage drive in the twelfth inning, brought about the veteran's undoing.

For eight innings Johnson matched his wonderful speed, his puzzling change of pace, with the southpaw skill of Nehf. The Giant star, despite sporadic streaks of wildness, had the better of a duel that was closely waged but unspectacular. Then came the ninth and the Senators, breaking through the defense that had held them at bay, tied the score and threw the game into a wild, extra-inning tussle.

Judge had started the ninth inauspiciously by striking out, when Bluege, young third baseman, brought the game into a wild, extra-inning that Jackson got his glove on but could not handle. Peckinpaugh, veteran shortstop, followed with a line smash to left center and Bluege scurried over the plate with the tieing run amid a wild outburst that halted the game for several minutes until the outfield could be cleared of a cushion shower.

Peckinpaugh rested on second with a prospect of scoring the winning run and when he advanced to third on Ruel's out, the crowd called for Johnson, as he strode to the plate, to win his own game. It was the second opportunity for heroic batting achievement that had been opened to the great pitcher, but though he tried hard, he could not break through. This time he raised a short fly that Kelly grabbed in short outfield. Two innings previously, with men on first and second and two out, Johnson smashed a drive that seemed headed for safety in right center, but Frank Frisch, Giant captain, leaped high and brought down the ball to choke off the rally.

The eleventh passed quickly, with neither side threatening, then came the twelfth and Johnson, just when it would he was growing stronger under the tenseness of the struggle, wilted. Hank Gowdy, veteran catcher, started the Giants' victorious rally when he walked. Johnson hitting him in the back with the fourth ball. Nehf lifted a short fly to center, which McNeely barely reached, then fumbled. It went for a single, but McNeely threw wildly to the infield in his haste, and Gowdy raced to third and Nehf to second.

Sensing that the break of the game had come, McGraw called on his reserves and sent Jack Bentley to bat for Lindstrom, young third baseman. The strategy succeeded when Bentley walked filling the bases, and Southworth ran for him. Momentarily the rally was checked when Frisch hit to Harris and Gowdy was forced out at the plate, but Young, who had struck out three times previously, came through with a short single to center and Nehf crossed the plate. Kelly brought in Southworth with what proved winning run when he lifted a sacrifice fly to Goslin, Terry filled the bases again with an infield single but Johnson forced Wilson to fly out and end the rally.

Johnson was withdrawn in favor of a pinch hitter, Shirley, as the Senators came to bat for the last time. It was a last ditch stand and the crowd was thrown into another frenzy when Jackson dropped Shirley's high fly and the runner reached second. McNeely flew out, but Harris, Washington's batting mainstay, punched a single to center that sent Shirley over the plate.

Rice followed with a sharp rap to left-center, and Harris raced to third,

Amplifiers Put In For Address By Butte Here

Amplifiers that will carry his voice not only through the theater but into the street as well are being installed at the Palace preparatory for the address here Monday night of Dr. Geo. C. Butte, republican nominee for governor. Other preparations are also being made for the visit here of Mr. Ferguson's opponent.

Reports from other sections of the state where Dr. Butte has spoken indicate that thus far he has packed every meeting place so far beyond its capacity and that many have been turned away. In order to provide against this, local republican officials are placing loud speaking sets on the outside of the theater so that in event the room cannot accommodate the crowd, the outsiders can listen from the street.

DIES AT AGE OF 109

Woman is Believed Oldest of Her Sex in New England States.

By The Associated Press.

PAWTUCKETT, R. I., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Maria Horton Chappell, 109 years old, died at Setkonk, near here, today. Her friends claimed she was the oldest woman in New England. She ascribed her longevity to hard work, regular hours and abstention from eating sweets.

This mis-directed piece of strategy cost the Senators a chance to tie the score. Had Rice been held to a single Harris probably would have been able to score on Goslin's blow, which came within inches of being a safe hit.

BY INNINGS

FIRST INNING—Giants: Lindstrom flied out to McNeely. Frisch popped to Bluege, trying to bunt. Young struck out, picking on a third strike.

Senators: McNeely sent up a high fly to Wilson hitting the first ball pitched. Jackson threw out Harris at first. Harris collided with Terry at first and the Giant first baseman was slightly hurt. Rice sent up a high foul to Lindstrom.

SECOND INNING—Giants: Kelly got a long hit into the left field bleachers for a home run. Terry shot a fine single over second. Wilson struck out, missing a wide curve for his third strike. Jackson strolled to first. Gowdy hit into a double play, Peck to Harris.

Senators: Jackson made a nice stop of Goslin's grounder and threw him out. Judge got a base on balls. Nehf tried to catch Judge off first. Bluege fanned. The Senators tried the hit and run play, but Peck fouled into the stands. Peck filed out to Wilson.

THIRD INNING—Giants: Johnson took Nehf's roller and threw him out at first. Lindstrom fanned. Frisch shot a long hit into center for two bases. Frisch was caught off second, Ruel to Peck.

Senators: Ruel got a base on balls. Johnson up. The crowd was in an uproar. Johnson hit into a double play, Jackson to Frisch to Terry. McNeely strolled to first. Harris popped to Jackson.

FOURTH INNING — Giants: Young struck out, being Johnson's fourth victim of strikes. Kelly also fanned and the crowd was in high humor. Terry got a home run into the left field stands. Wilson was another strike out victim, fanning for the second time.

Senators: Rice flew out to Kelly. Nehf employed a wide curve and the Washingtons were mystified by his delivery. Frisch threw out Goslin at first. Judge got a line single into right field for Washington's first hit. Lindstrom threw out Bluege.

FIFTH INNING—Giants: Jackson struck out. Gowdy shot a hit into center for one base. Nehf forced Gowdy, Harris to Peck. Lindstrom filed out to McNeely.

Senators: Peck sent up a high foul to Terry. Ruel flied out to Wilson. Johnson went out, Jackson to Terry.

SIXTH INNING—Giants: Frisch was ticketed to first on four balls. Young struck out for the third time. Kelly flied out to Goslin. The Giants were trying the hit and run play. Terry sent up a foul to Ruel.

Senators: The crowd was now calling on the home boys for a rally. McNeely got a two base hit into left. Jackson threw out Harris, McNeely going to third. McNeely scored when Frisch threw out Rice at first. Nehf fed Goslin wide curves. Goslin got a single off Nehf's pitching hand. Goslin went out stealing, Gowdy to Frisch.

SEVENTH INNING — Giants: Wilson got a hit into right field for one base. Jackson hit into a double play, Bluege to Harris to Judge. Gowdy chained the ball hit his hand, but Umpire Connolly would not allow it. Gowdy walked to first. Nehf got a Texas leaguer into right, Gowdy stopping at second. Gowdy went to third and Nehf to second on a passed ball. Peck threw out Lindstrom.

Senators: Judge sent out a hot liner which Young took. Nehf tossed out Bluege. Peck pushed a hot grounder through Lindstrom for a hit. Peck stole second. Ruel got a base on balls. Johnson lined out to Frisch.

EIGHTH INNING—Giants: Frisch sent a high one to Peck. Young got a hit into left for two bases. Kelly was thrown out at first by Peck, Young going to third. Terry was given a base on balls. On attempted double steal Young was caught off third, the play being Ruel to Bluege.

NINTH INNING—Giants: Wilson shot a single into right field. Jackson sacrificed, Bluege to Judge, Wilson going to second. Gowdy beat up the air and sat down. Nehf singled into right, Wilson was called out at the plate, Rice to Ruel.

Senators: Judge struck out. Bluege singled off Jackson's glove. On the hit and run play, Peck doubled to left, scoring Bluege. The crowd was frantic. Cushions were thrown into the field and the crowd yelled and cheered. The game was halted until officers could clear the field of cushions. Jackson threw out Ruel at first. Peck went to third. Johnson flied to Kelly.

Senators: Lindstrom threw out McNeely. Harris got a hit off Lindstrom's glove. Rice singled into right field, Harris going to second. Goslin popped to Jackson. Judge flied out to Young.

ELEVENTH INNING — Giants: McNeely gathered in Terry's fly. He and Rice almost had a collision. Wilson flied out. Peck threw out Jackson.

Senators: Kelly made a fine catch of Bluege's short fly. Gowdy took Peck's foul. Nehf took Ruel's hopper and threw him out.

TWELFTH INNING — Giants: Gowdy got a base on balls. The ball hit Gowdy in the back. Nehf got a Texas leaguer, which McNeely was only able to knock down. McNeely picked up the ball and threw wildly to the stands. Gowdy went to third on the play and Nehf to second. Bentley went to bat for Lindstrom. Bentley walked. The bases were filled. Southworth ran for Bentley. Frisch up, Strike 1. Ball 1. Foul, strike 2. Ball 2. Frisch forced Gowdy at the plate, Harris to Ruel. Nehf went to third and Southworth to second. Young up. Strike 1. Terry up. Terry singled off Judge's glove, Frisch going to third and Young to second. Wilson up. Foul, strike 1. Ball 1. Strike 2. Wilson lined out to Goslin.

Wheat Strong

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Sharp upturns in the price of wheat today followed a brief set-back during the early dealings. Big export business had a decided tendency to hoist values, and so likewise did snow-falls and rain over the Canadian prairies. Closing quotations here on wheat were strong, 2 1-2 to 3 1-8 cents net higher, December 1.48 1-4 to 1.48 3-8 and May 1.52 7-8 to 1.53, with corn 7-8 to 2 cents up, oats ranging from 1-4 cent lower to 1 1-4 cent gain and provisions 12 cents off to a rise of 57 cents.

Cotton Advances

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—The cotton market reversed its course of yesterday and scored a good advance today, prices gaining a good part of the ground lost. The heavy liquidation of the previous day had left little to be done by the long side over the week end, so that the bulk of the trading consisted of a covering by shorts who were afraid of a run of bad weather in the belt over Sunday. Liverpool was better than due and the market opened at a gain of five to six points. The map, though showing little rain, displayed considerable cloudiness and the barometer lines and low temperatures in the far northwest induced map readers to believe that the cotton belt was in for another spell of colder weather preceded by rains.

Stocks Irregular

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Stock prices continued to drift irregularly lower today when an initial flurry of selling was renewed a few minutes before the close of trading. Good buying support came into the market between the two selling movements, bringing to the fore several points of independent strength. The technical structure apparently had been improved by Friday's heavy selling which, based on political developments, resulted in the elimination of many weak speculative accounts.

The general list was unsettled at the close by a selling stock directed against Illinois Central issues following publication of reports that a $11,000,000 issue of preferred stock shortly would be offered to common stock-holders for subscription. While the rumors of new financing lacked official confirmation, both the common and preferred shares were under pressure, yielding 3 and 2 1-2 points respectively.

DARKEN HAIR! LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Restore Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Adv.

Beginning Tomorrow Congoleum Week

October 6 to 11 only

A Six-Day Sale of America's Most Popular Floor-Covering

For the first time in two years, genuine nationally-advertised Gold-Seal Congoleum Rugs, By-the-Yard and Rug-Border are now offered at special bargain prices. Unlike sales that feature cut prices on left-overs at the end of the season, Congoleum Week gives every woman the opportunity to beautify her floors at the lowest possible cost just at the time when she is putting her home in order for the winter.

Instead of putting down the same old rugs and carpets after everything else has been cleaned and looks like new, a few dollars spent now for Gold-Seal Congoleum Rugs will do wonders in brightening up the home.

One of the greatest charms of Gold-Seal Congoleum Rugs—the warmth and artistry of their color schemes—cannot be appreciated from this advertisement. You must see them to realize how beautiful your floors can be made at such small cost.

Beautiful—Durable—Easily Cleaned

A delightful note of brightness and color is introduced into the home by Congoleum Rugs. Beautiful to begin with, the unusually durable surface resists the hardest wear.

These popular rugs banish the tiresome beating and sweeping necessary with old-fashioned, woven floor-coverings. One minute with a damp mop and the rich, artistic patterns of Congoleum Rugs are revealed in their full beauty—cleaned as easily as highly glazed tiles.

Designs for Every Room

There are appropriate Congoleum patterns for every room; for every manner of taste, for every color scheme. There are warm-toned designs to enrich the appearance of dining and living-rooms; exquisite floral patterns to give fresh beauty to bedrooms and neat conventional reproductions for kitchen, pantry and bathroom.

Waterproof and Stain-Proof

Gold-Seal Congoleum Rugs are made in one strong, seamless piece. They are absolutely unaffected by water. They will not fray along the edges. Spilled liquids cannot stain and dirt cannot penetrate their smooth, sanitary surface.

No Fastening Required

Gold-Seal Congoleum Rugs lie absolutely flat without fastening. They won't wrinkle or kick up; they never curl at the edges.

Genuine, Guaranteed Goods

All the Gold-Seal Congoleum offered in this sale is fresh, new goods. All of it carries the famous Gold Seal pledge of "Satisfaction Guaranteed or Your Money Back." For your own protection, remember there is only one "Congoleum" and it is identified by the Gold Seal pasted on the face of every pattern.

Gold-Seal Congoleum By-the-Yard

The same material as Congoleum Rugs, and made in tasteful unbordered designs for use over the entire floor.

Gold-Seal Congoleum Rug-Border

If it is desired to cover the floor space between a large centre rug and the walls, there is Congoleum Rug-Border in realistic reproductions of hardwood flooring.

Don't Miss This Opportunity

Wherever you may live—you will find a Congoleum dealer near you. He will be glad to show you the many beautiful patterns. Don't delay. Reduced prices are in effect this week only.

WHAT THE TEXT BOOK SAYS.

And, now the La Follette-Wheeler campaign text book speaks for itself. It is out and going the rounds. One significant declaration is that government ownership of railways is inevitable. If the government takes over the railways where is the thirty billion dollars to pay the purchase price to come from? Is Jones going to be the producer?

LOS ANGELES ON THE MAP.

Los Angeles furnished half the scandals of the west, but its assessed valuation jumped $420,000,000 in the last year, the city has 33 1-3 per cent more autos than a year ago and a total of 425,000 motor vehicle licenses have been issued for Los Angeles county to date.

California is the home of Senator Hi Johnson. California gave Woodrow Wilson its electoral vote in 1916. California, through its supreme court, has denied the La Follette electors a place on the official ballot.

California has a republican supreme court and its judges to a man have scant respect for "Senator Hi" or "Fighting Bob". Isn't it a queer condition of affairs where thousands of free born American citizens are denied by law the right to vote for presidential electors of their choice?

HENRY AS A BUYER OF ANTIQUES.

Henry Ford has bought still another old New England homestead, this time the Charles A. Burnham place in the town of Derry, New Hampshire. Henry is taking it to pieces and every piece of timber, even the nails, is being saved to be used in rebuilding it at Sudbury, Massachusetts, where the flivver man already has the famous Wayside Inn of Longfellow fame, together with several other old homesteads which the American billionaire has treated in a similar manner.

Tradition says the Burnham homestead was built in the year 1700, the old stairway is especially attractive, the nails used in building the house were all hand wrought and the man who built it was a fighter for freedom in the war for American independence.

Henry Ford is the man who threw away the presidency; Henry Ford is the man who threw away a senatorship; Henry Ford is the man who made a billion dollars in twenty-four years; Henry Ford is the man who has just engaged an exclusive dancing teacher of Boston to teach the American billionaires how to cut the pigeon wing and other fancy steps.

If he is permitted to make the flivvers of the country he doesn't care a hang who makes the laws. He has made 10,200,000 flivvers and the national lawmakers have made that many laws in less than twenty-four years.

LA FOLLETTE'S TEST.

Senator Robert M. La Follette addressing the Steuben Society at the Yankee stadium, denounced the refusal of American communities shortly after the world war, to hear the music of Wagoner or to listen to Kreisler, the great Austrian vlioinist, and criticised the movement in some states to forbid the teaching of German or other foreign languages in the schools. This is an excerpt:

"The folly and stupidity that prompted this legislation interferring with American liberty was bound to be short lived. A like fate awaits every form of bigotry or fantacism attempted in this country."

Senator La Follette has his own test of American citizenship. It follows:

"It is estimated that eighty percent of our people are of different origin from the Colonial descendent group. The real test of American citizenship is not the family tree. Nor does it lie in being able to trace back to Colonial origin. The real test is the citizen's enthusiasm and determination to share in the every day work of making the government of the United States serve its original purpose."

Four years ago blocs of voters, numbering in the aggregate several millions, threw their ballots to Harding and Coolidge. Senator La Follette is a most adroit politician. He is doing his best to take the blocs away from Coolidge and Dawes this year. Will be he successful? Watch and wait. An election will be held in November.

DID YOU KNOW

That Democratic Chairman Clem L. Shaver says that the republican party will be weakened by the increasing strength of Senator La Follette and that John W. Davis will be elected president of the United States in November.

That the democratic nominee for president has declared for an export corporation to market the products of the American farmer and declares that republican rule is a government by an industrial bloc dominated and controlled by the big interests of the country.

That A. N. Merrall Willis, editor of the National Star, and W. E. B. Du Bois, editor of the Crisis, prominent leaders of the negro voters of the north and east, have declared for La Follette and Wheeler and advised all negro voters to cast their ballots for the nominees of the progressive party.

That Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire has advised President Coolidge that La Follette and Wheeler are all powerful in the northwest, that they may win seventy-two electoral votes and that it will take the hardest kind of work on the part of republican campaigners to hold the middle west as well as the north west in line in order to avoid disasterous results for the party of the elephant the coming November.

That Senator Robert M. La Follette in his labor day speech declared that the monopoly system elects the president and the congress, makes and administers the laws, under which a few men are enabled to live on the fruits of the labor of others.

That the Kansas City federal reserve bank reports western farmers are getting out of debt as liquidation of loans has far exceeded all previous records for so short a period.

Around the World With Togo

"You Are Information, Are Not?" I Ask It Hottily.

AN INFORMATION BUREAU

Dearest Sir:—

What you think now, if anything? Yestdy morning a.m. Mrs. C. W. Quackmire, my sweethearted keeper, arrive to on Kitchen with following remark:

"Togo," she say so hurryly, "my cousin Petunia Jones are going to be married and should know better at her age."

"At what age do they commence to learn?" I ask to know with statisticks in my throat.

"That are neither hither nor thither," she begrudge. "What I require of you are silence of the most murrishing kind, and please to do this chore with immediate quickness. Elope speedily to Grand Onion Station where they are a Information Bureau. Walk forward to Mr. Information (or Miss Information as the case may be) and require with intellectual voice, 'Dear Sir & Madam, when do next train start for Hallaluya Junction, where is it, if anywhere, & how much money can she save if she fall off at Boyle's Cross Section & took a trolley from there? If so, what in the world will I do with my baggage?' Run suddenly, Togo, for I have scarcely time to scratch my name off a 2nd handed wedding present & press my ceremonial hat."

A Simple Job for Togo

Mr. Editor, because I are a great traveller, ackwainted with all RR stations from Rock of Gibraltar to Silliguri, India, you can umagine what very young child-play this work would be for me! Think of me who, with nothing but a taxicab to help, have dishcovered six (6) very rare temples on the Island of Java—umagine what a snapp of ease it must be to find one (1) slightly small town in America! Poo-poo I say that narrowly through my ears.

Therefore I set my most publick derby slightly on my head & settle forth to Grand Onion Station. While on way there I meet my Cousin Nogi, who are not working this week, as usual.

"Where going so fastly?" he require without employment.

"To Information Bureau," I narrate, 'where I shall pick out a cheap train for Mrs. C. W. Quackmire, employeress."

"How boyish!" he laughter. "You remember that date in Tahiti when we was obliged to talk French to a Chinaman while driving a Ford?"

"I have no time for memories," I dib.

But what shall Nogi do but go along because Satin has Mischif Still for Idol Hands to Do.

Pretty soonly then we arrive to Grand Onion Station where all America seem to be moving somewheres with suitcase. Great size of that room like outdoors had been forced in with benches all over it. At far away distinctually INFORMATION. 201 ladies, most of them very wide across, stood clustered around that, making question marks with their hands. But because Duty make us brave (Shakspear) I splunge right into that with diving elbows peculiar to Annit Kellerman.

Mr. Information Asks Questeons

While stuck in that mobb with a stummick scrushed between sevral angry corsets I hear female sounds which look to my ears like this: "7.65 Oshkosh Flyer.....why do the Show Girl Express start without my Mary Jane?.....can I send my grandmother, age 90, on the 2.22 on a milk diet?.....do the Barber's Special arrive on daylight shaveng time?.....& etc., & etr., & etc."

Prette soonly I were injured twice while striking that Information Desk while steamed gentleman resembling Hon. Bert Hoover in RR soldier clothes poke his face at me and require following:

"What you wish, if anything?"

"You are Informaton, are not?" I ask it hottily. "Then why you commence by shooting me with a question?"

"How could I read your mind standing here?" he manipulate from weariness.

"That are Question No. 2 already," I narrate. "Now for revenge I shall tell you my conundrum. How can Mrs. C. W. Quackmire, married, of 1146 Punjab Ave, catch hold of next train for Hallaluya Junction, where is it, if anywheres, & how much money can she save if she fall off at Boyle's Cross Section & took a trolley from there? If so, what in the world will she do with her baggage?"

"I can tell her what she can do with her baggage in next world," he report informationally.

"Let us start at that end," I report. "What in next world can she do with her baggage?"

"She can send it to——excuse me, we are not permitted to discuss religeon in this depot. Where do this Mrs. Quickmud wish go to?"

"Hallaluya Junction," I say transparently. "Cousin Petunia Jones are getting married and should know better at her age."

"If there was a speclmit to foolishness," gubble Hon. Info, "there wouldn't be no Information Bureaux. In what State are this Hallaluya Junction you mention so candidly?"

"There yo ugo again, asking questions?" I gub.

"Yet if I select a town for you I must know what State,' he acknowledge.

Picking Out a Cheap Hallaluya Junction

"What States have you this morning?" I ask it, thinking suddenly.

"Speaking from the alphabet," he commence while telling 6 fatty ladies they mustn't cry until the lecture is over, "we have Arizona, Alabama, Boston, Bridgeport, California, Colorado, Canada, Dakota, Delaware—"

"That will be sifficently, thank you" I obtrude. "Which one of those States contain this town Hallaluya Junction?

"There are 9 Hallaluya Junctions in all of them skcept Alabama & Dakota which have 12."

"Which one of those has got a mulicipality labelled Boyle's Cross Section?" I derive like Sherlock Homes.

"All of them has 4 xcept others which has 42," he splurge. "Supposing while others wait you elope home to Mrs. C. W. Quakerbush and make her buy a geography."

"By time I could do that," I scorn, "Cousin Petunia Jones might get a divorce. No Sir & Madam! I shall stay here to find out. I tell you what I shall do. Kindly to inform me what Hallaluya Junction are cheapest ride from here?"

"We got a nice one right across the River," he divudge while reading wisedom from a book full of arithmatick & names. "I are sure she would admire this town. It have the largest emotion picture house in the state. Price to get there are 98&46c, exclusive of upper berth which are all sold out. Train leave at 11:88 p.m. & she change cars at Billhurst, Frogg's Landing & all points East. This train have no diner, Pullman car or anything avcept a engine and conductor. Therefore Mrs. Quigbore will not be worried on her jurney. Anything else you wish know?"

Attached by 110 Brutal Ladies

While I stood there strangling 2 enlarged ladies make football on my kneck and want to know how they can lose their train amidst so much of my talk. Yet I clungg to counter with eggar knuckles and could not let go for such persons.

"Mr. Knowledge," I apply desperly, "supposing Mrs. C. W. Quackmire do not dishcover Boyle's Cross Section while going there & how could she check her trunk so it would take a trolley ride with her? If so, how much money would she save?"

"I are helpless to tell you," he says so like cats.

"How so you reply like that?" I renig. "Are you not a Information Bureau?"

"I are," he vampire. "But I are not a Puzzle Editor."

"But I ask to know——"

Before I could start this new intelligence one buj lady of Irish Republickan Party stroked me on the kneckbie while omitting these rage words:

"I have been standing here nineteen (19) minutes listening to those fooly words when all I want to know are How can I catch the 10.41 train for Chicago when it have been gone 1-2 a hour?"

I struggle some more, but could do nothing then. 110 brutal ladies had poured their elbows all over me so it could be no use.

A BRIGHT I. D. from Nogi

"What you find out?" he report cheerily.

"If I should tell you," I gubble, "you would swallow your own brain attempting to understand it. In future when I wish to get confused I shall come to this Information Bureau & do so."

"I think I shall start a Information Bureau until I can obtain another job of servant girls," natrate Nogi.

"Shall you tell persons about railroads so that they will know even less than now?" I dib like a cannibal.

"Not exackly," he peruse. "I shall start a Bureau for Gen. Intelligence so to ask questions what everybody require to know."

"Such as?" This from me.

"I shall answer replies like these: What Will Germany do with Dawes Reparation if they don't understand it no better than America? Now that Hon. Prints of Wales have visited America will he ask America back to visit him? If Hon. Davis & Hon. Coolidge have got all the Presidential tickets must Hon. La Folette purchase his from a scalper? If it take 6 aviators six (6) months to get around the World how long would it take one (1) ottomobile to get around the 18th Emendment?"

"Since you are dishing up such much Information," I si & grone, "kindly told me one very small question."

"10000," he say for sweetly smiling. "What should I say to Mrs. C. W. Quackmire when I get home and she ask to know what happen to Hallaluya Junction train?"

"Tell her it are 3 hours late," he report. "When saying this you are sure to be right."

Nogi have some brite I Ds although usuall quite brainless.

Hoping you are the same

Yours truly

PROTEST GUARD CUTS

Army Heads to Meet Weeks Regarding Appropriations.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—A conference with Secretary Weeks has been arranged for by a committee from the national guard association to protest against elimination from war department budget figures of increases in appropriations to be used for the national guard.

The committee, which will be headed by Brig. General Rickford, president of the association and adjutant general of the Maryland national guard, it was said today, may also see President Coolidge.

The war department has already issued orders that recruiting for the guard in 24 states and the district of Columbia and Porto Rico be suspended for the remainder of the year. Funds provided in the current army appropriations were estimated on the basis of an average strength for the national guard of 175,000 men but actual enrollment in the guard is now in excess of 180,000.

The contemplated reductions in the national guard allotments originally proposed by the war department, it was stated at the war department, were due to cuts made by the budget bureau in military appropriation requiring in turn a re-allotment of funds within the military service and a resultant reduction in several directions.

WORLD'S RECORD FOR PORK.

Ton Litter Contest Won By Marymore Farm in Potter County

By The Associated Press.

AMARILLO, Texas, Oct. 4. — A new world's record for pork production was set here today when Edgar F. Laird of Marymere farm weighed in a litter of 180-day old pigs at 4,201 pounds. This exceeded the former record by 302.5 pounds. The former record, set last year at Waco, was 3,898.5 pounds.

Farrowed April 5

Laird's litter of 14 Poland-China pigs was farrowed April 5 and weaned July 8. At each of the four official weighings that followed they gained at an increasing ratio, and in the period between September 15 and today gained 1,069 pounds, winding up with an average weight of 306.5 pounds.

In making this record, they consumed 7,957 pounds of corn, grain sorghums and pig chow and 844 gallons of buttermilk mixed with an equal amount of water.

Feed Bill $203.53.

The feed bill was $203.53 and Laird is estimated to have cleared $225 at present prices. Laird established his farm here three years ago. Last year he was second in the nation in percentage of pigs saved, with 92.21 per cent.

HINDUS WOULD PLAY ON

Tell Moslems They Can Slaughter Cows If They Desire.

DELHI, British India, Oct. 4. — The religious unity conference which began here last week has resulted in a plea to the Moslems to recognize the Hindu right to play music before or in close proximity to Mosques, and just as the Hindus left the question of cow slaughter to the good sense of the Moslems the latter are urged to leave the matter of music playing to the good sense of the Hindus.

The Moslems pledge themselves not to force the Hindus to abandon their religious rights. A resolution on the dispute between the Moslems and the Sikhs over the manner of killing animals for meat permits such slaughter in all manners.

The conference established a central arbitration board of 15 members with Mahandas Gandhi as chairman to settle the communal disputes of all communities represented on the board.

The unity conference at Delhi, attended by 300 selected representatives of all the religious communities in India, was called after Gandhi, the non-cooperationist leader, had announced the beginning of a three weeks fast in penance for the Hindu-Moslem riots resulting from friction between the two sects.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

LIBRA

Today's planetary aspects, while not of an adverse character, do not favor much activity, and rather counsel a quiescent attitude in keeping with the spirit of the day. They indicate that felicity and contentment will be had, if the exercises and recreations usual to Sunday are indulged in, but nothing of a violent or forceful character will yield success or give enjoyment. Towards the evening, there are vibrations that portend a disposition to argue and disagree. This must be combatted by poise and self-restraint.

A child born today will be blessed with good health and vigorous strength and its physical development will not cause either worry or anxiety. Its character will be boisterous, its disposition rather dominating and its mentality not quite up to the average. This child, owing to its superfluity of good health and as a result of its physical prowess, will be rather inclined to bully, and it must be taught at as early as age as possible, consideration for the rights and forbearance with the weakness of others. It must have inculcated into its mind, in season and out of season, that might is not right, and that reason is a more powerful weapon than strength. This child will find success and happiness in outdoor, and not indoor, life.

If today is your birthday, you are blessed with a very equable temperament, and are slower to resent a wrong or assert a conviction than the average man or woman. You have friends by the score, but though they appreciate your great forebearance and consideration for others, they one and all agree that you would accomplish more if you showed aggressiveness and force.

It is wonderful to be "meek and mild," for such virtues are rarely found: in this workaday world, however, they do not get you very far along in the road to material success, and "pep" and forcefulness are the qualifications needed for attainment. A gentle and forebearing attitude is often imposed upon by others; this in itself makes such an asset of doubtful value. While deprecating self-advertising, or blowing your own horn, a certain amount of self-confidence is essential, combined with a degree of self-expression. You may, in your own conscience, be aware of your shortcomings, but do not be too anxious to take the whole world into your confidence.

PREFERS NEGRO TO WALTON.

Independent Candidate in Oklahoma Quits the Senate Race.

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 4.—Campbell Russell, independent candidate for United States senator, announced his withdrawal from the race today in a telegram from Sallisaw to W. C. McAlister, secretary of the state election board.

Russell was the author of an initiative petition which empowered the legislature to assemble itself a year ago for the purpose of impeaching J. C. Walton, then governor.

In a letter which followed the telegram Russell said in part:

"I am not withdrawing in favor of any candidate, but in the interests of Oklahoma to the end that there may be fewer candidates to divide the vote of those who desire to defeat another candidate.

"I am not prepared to say for whom my vote shall be cast. * * * *

"I am not enthusiastic over Pine (W. B. Pine, republican senatorial nominee), or Wilson (George Wilson, farmer-labor candidate). I have not yet met the negro candidate, but as between him and Walton (J. C. Walton, democratic nominee), I would esteem it an honor to vote for the negro without inquiring as to his politics or religion nor as to his views about the Klan."

SMITH WILL TO STAND

Neglected Heirs of Publisher Lose Long Legal Battle.

By The Associated Press.

WAUKEGAN, Ills., Oct. 4.—Sixteen cousins of the late Delavan Smith, Indianapolis publisher, have lost an extended legal battle to break the will of the newspaper owner when Circuit Judge Clairece Edwards ordered a jury to bring in a verdict that the will in dispute "is the last will and testament of Delavan Smith."

The contestants who were not mentioned in the document which disposed of an estate valued at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 claimed that Mr. Smith had been unduly influenced by some of the beneficiaries and that the documents had been altered after attesting witnesses signed it. The estate was left to employes of the Indianapolis News, Mr. Smith's paper and to friends and charity. Judge Edwards in his instructions for a directed verdict said there had been no conclusive evidence offered that the testator was either of unsound mind or the victim of undue influence.

GUARDIAN FOR FATHER.

Daughter of Man Prevented From Marrying Files Petition.

By The Associated Press

RENO, Nev., Oct. 4.—Petition for appointment of a guardian for F. A. Robb, 84-year-old retired contractor, who was prevented forcibly from marrying a 60-year-old widow last night, was filed in district court here today.

Mr. Robb was kidnapped by his two sons just as he started down the aisle in the church, at the other end of which a clergyman was waiting to perform the wedding ceremony.

In the petition filed today, Mr. Robb's daughter, Mrs. Anna Cavanaugh, asks that she be appointed guardian of his estate. Mr. Robb was reported to be ill at his home today as a result of last night's episode.

FEARS CRISIS IN SPAIN?

Alfonso Invests Heavily in British Securities, It Is Reported.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—It is reported the king of Spain has been investing heavily the last few months in gilt-edged British securities. The transactions have been carried on through half a dozen brokers, and King Alfonso has kept under cover, but it is believed here he is preparing for a possible dynastic crisis in Spain.

The Married Life of Helen and Warren

"Now we're to have some experiments in mind-reading," glowed Mrs. Stevens.

A stir of murmurous expectancy from her guests greeted this announcement.

"Mr. and Mrs. Grayson have kindly consented to give us a few demonstrations. Mrs. Grayson has the remarkable ability to read any number her husband holds in his mind."

"How interesting!" whispered Helen. "I've been wondering all evening who they were."

"Count on Mrs. Stevens ringing in a side-show," grunted Warren, who had come under protest to this informal "At Home."

"Now, while we select a number, Mrs. Grayson will go out of the room," continued Mrs. Stevens, always in her element when sponsoring any new cult or "ism."

Mrs. Grayson obligingly withdrew, and a whispered consultation followed.

"You're always so skeptical, Mr. Curtis, we'll take the number of your watch."

With a grin Warren pulled out the cheap gun-metal watch he insisted upon carrying. Opening the case, he passed it around for all to see the number—82570.

After gazing at it intently, Mr. Grayson covered his eyes with his hand.

Everyone turned as Mrs. Grayson entered. Her face slightly flushed, she seemed a little nervous. Without even glancing at her husband, she walked to the front window and stood looking out, her back towards them.

In the tense, poignant silence that followed, Sport, Mr. Stevens' Irish terrier, sensing something unusual, set up a protesting whine.

"Sh-sh, Sport! Does he disturb you, Mrs. Grayson?"

But the immovable figure by the window seemed not to hear. Then, still without turning, she called with sharp abruptness,

'Eight!"

"Two! Five!"

Each figure was called out clearly.

"Seven! Nine!"

A murmur of amazed comments as Mrs. Grayson, having given the number—82570, now turned from the window, relaxed, smiling, and confident.

"How wonderful!" "How weird!" 'It's incredible!" were the varied comments.

"Why you could make a fortune on the stage," enthused Mrs. Stevens.

"Too much of a strain," Mr. Grayson shook his head. "We wouldn't think of doing it professionally. But it's an interesting thing to experiment with."

"It is confined to numbers? Or do you make other experiments?"

"Mrs. Grayson can read any card I hold in mind. Have you a pack handy? Thank you."

As he shuffled the cards, his wife left the room.

"Now, if someone will draw," he held out the pack. "Now you all see the card?" when the jack of clubs was drawn.

Mrs. Grayson again called in, again took up her stand by the window. A moment's silence and she announced correctly, "Jack of clubs!"

After the applause and mystified comments, she left the room once more.

This time it was Warren who drew nine of spades.

Mrs. Grayson recalled, hesitated, then exclaimed, "Nine of spades!"

"Pretty good team work," shrugged Warren.

"Does that mean you think it's trickery?" challenged Mr. Grayson. We'll submit to any test you care to make."

"That's fair," grinned Warren. "I'll take you up on that."

"Oh, dear, don't!" whispered Helen, in flushed embarrassment. "They're just entertaining us—it's so rude to try to prove it's trickery."

"I'm not saying it's trickery," answering her out loud. "But I think I can throw a monkey wrench into the works."

"Why, how, Mr. Curtis? What do you mean?" Mrs. Stevens was indignant.

"If Stevens and—" glancing around "Judge Elliott—will go with me into the next room for a few moments, I think we can make it impossible for Mrs. Grayson to guess the next card that's drawn."

"So you do think it's some ordinary card trick," resented Mr. Grayson.

"I didn't say so," brusqued Warren. "I haven't said it was a trick at all, but I think I can keep you from pulling it off again."

"Very well." Mr. Grayson gave him the cards. "You're at liberty to try."

Flushed and disconcerted Helen watched the three men leave the room. Why had Warren done this? Even if it were a trick, why should he try to expose it? They were not at a paid entertainment. It was unpardonably rude.

An awkward constrained wait. Plainly everyone was puzzled, and there was an undercurrent of disapproval.

At last the door opened and the three men entered. Their faces were enigmatic.

"Now, what's the stiff test?" demanded Mr. Grayson.

"May not be as stiff as I think," Warren handed him the cards. "But go ahead, try your stunt again. We'll see how it works."

Without further comment Mr. Grayson shuffled the cards. As his wife left the room, he held them out for anyone to draw. Mrs. Elliott volunteered.

The three of diamonds was the card she drew.

Mr. Grayson glanced at it, held it for everyone to see, then returned it to the pack.

When his wife was called in, he was seated as before, his hand over his eyes. Again she walked to the window, again the same throbing silence.

The restless tapping of Sport's tail. His whimpering whine as the silence was prolonged. Still Mrs. Grayson stood by the window, the number unannounced.

Helen, tense with wonderment, glanced at Warren. He was standing by the mantel, his gaze fixed on the rug, his face curiously set. Mr. Stevens was studying the ceiling, and Judge Elliott intent on his brown oxfords.

The air was charged with an electric expectancy.

"It's something of diamonds," faltered Mrs. Grayson at last. "Seven of diamonds! No, no, that isn't it! No, it's hearts! No, it's diamonds! Oh, I can't — I don't get it!" She turned, plainly distressed.

"Try again, Laura," her husband encouraged.

Another pulsing silence.

"Seven! Seven of diamonds! Is that right?" her face strained with the mental stress. "No? What is it? Tell me. Seven of what?"

"Three of diamonds," admitted her husband. Then turning to Warren, "Well, you threw a monkey wrench into the works, all right—and I think I know how you did it," with interest, his resentment gone. "Ever try that sort of thing before?"

"Once at college," laughed Warren. "About fifty of us packed the front seats and put a professional thought-transfer act on the blink."

"What was it?" "What did you do?" "What did you do now?" "Why did Mrs. Grayson keep saying seven?" The breathless queries came fast.

"Because that's the card Mr. Curtis has up his sleeve," explained Mr. Grayson. "Not literally, perhaps, but—"

With a grin Warren drew from his pocket the seven of hearts.

"No, except that someone might've drawn it."

"That's so. I didn't think of that," "What did you three do in the other room?" "Oh, do tell us the trick!"

'No trick about it," shrugged Warren. "Simply what Grayson claims—mind-reading. Mrs. Grayson goes out of the room and someone draws a card. Grayson concentrates on that card—say, nine of clubs. He's thinking nine of clubs harder than any of us is thinking anything else. Mrs. Grayson gets his thought waves."

"But what did YOU do?"

"Well, it was three against one. Stevens, the Judge and I agreed to concentrate on the seven of hearts. I knew if we thought hard enough, we'd put it over. But we fell down on the suit. We concentrated more on the seven than on the hearts. That's why she got our number and diamonds, her husband's suit."

Above the buzz of excited comments, Mrs. Grayson broke in.

"I had the strangest feeling of being torn between two forces. That was very wonderful, Mr. Curtis. Many people have tried to give me numbers, but I could never get them from anyone but Mr. Grayson. And to oppose his thoughts—to make me receive your number over his—you have exceptional concentration."

"Why all the bouquets for me?" Warren always dodged praise. "What 'bout Stevens and the Judge?"

"I'm not due for much credit," protested Mr. Stevens. "I found it hard to hold the number. How 'bout you, Judge?"

"I plugged away at it, but my guess is Curtis put it over."

"Well, we only butted in on the Graysons' turn. They've got it down to a science. That watch number was a wonder."

"We've practised so long," Mrs. Grayson flushed with pleasure at Warren's tribute.

"I've heard of mind-reading and thought-transfer, but I didn't think it could be demonstrated like this," thrilled Helen.

"Why shouldn't it be?" Mrs. Stevens was passing refreshments. "If our voice starts vibrations that carry across the ocean, why can't thoughts be radioed, too? They'll soon get an instrument delicate enough to register."

"They're taking photographs over the telephone," contributed Judge Elliott, draining his glass of grape julep.

"But thoughts! Broadcasting thoughts would revolutionize everything. Imagine what it would be like if we could read everyone's thoughts!"

"Be mighty tame. No guessin' what the other fellow's thinking. And at times it'd be darned uncomfortable," Warren grinned. "I wouldn't always want a jury to read my thoughts when I argued a case."

"And how about friends? How many of us could stand the test of knowing what our friends really think of us?"

"Yes, that'd give most of us a jolt When Stevens asks me what I think of his golf—I don't want to get beaned with a niblick," chuckled Warren. "And what 'bout the good old game of bluff—when we raise 'em out on a pair of deuces? No, on the whole, guess we can rub along without any contraption for registering think-waves!"

TEXAN ADDRESSES BANKERS

S. M. McAshen, Houston, Speaks To National Association at Chicago

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—A desire to see the powers of the comptroller of the currency extended by a revision of the national bank act was expressed by S. H. McAshen of Houston, Texas, in addressing the national bank division of the American Bankers' association here. Mr. McAshen would have the comptroller authorized to revised applications where new banks were not needed.

The amended McFadden bill in congress dealing with branch banking was endorsed in a resolution submitted from the floor and adopted by the convention in general session. The resolution reaffirmed opposition to branch banking, as a general practice. The bill, among other things prohibits further expansion of branch banking by state federal reserve banks.

Philippine Legislative Speaker Wants Merchant Board Organized.

By The Associated Press.

MANILA, Oct. 4.—Manuel Roxas, speaker in the Philippine legislature addressing the annual meeting of the Philippine Sugar association here urged upon the planters the necessity for the formation of a board to act jointly with the representatives of Tobacco, cocoanut and oil interests for the purpose of making a systematic study how the Philippines may prepare best for the anticipated sudden disruption of trade relations with the United States which are apt to follow the granting of independence to the islands.

FOUR FLOWING WELLS FEATURE SOUTH ARCHER COUNTY WITH 2 OTHER IMPORTANT COMPLETIONS

Parrish-White Area Shows More Pep Than Any Other North Archer Section.

By A. HALLMAN,
Record-News Oil Editor.

Attention in Archer and Wichita county during the past week as for the last sixty days, was almost entirely focused on south Archer county. where four new wells were added to the Panhandle-Knight-Hines group, and other tests held promise of adding still further territory to the "proven" list. The Parrish-White district is probably the busiest section of north Archer county, ten rigs running the space of a few acres. The general revival over Archer county is striking Wichita county only slowly and is not producing any great activity there. Throckmorton county is getting some play from the larger operators, the outcome of the Humble's well there being watched with interest.

There was no change in crude prices except in the case of the Humble Oil and Refining company which, Friday morning posted new prices amounting to a revision rather than change, placing purchases of crude oil on a gravity basis, to conform with the Texas company and Prairie schedule. The Humble is nearing the completion of their Archer county-Stephens county pipeline and their action in regard to crude prices is being watched with interest since they are regarded as a potential major purchaser.

The Wichita Pipeline company completed their four-inch line to the Ragle producers, and ran the first oil over it about the middle of the week. This and the prospective line to the South eVrnon field constituted the principal developments among the carriers.

Archer County.

Four new producers were added to the Ragle pool during the week, all four flowing wells estimated at around 200 barrels each. Shamrock's No. 1 Boren was placed on the pump and has since been flowing through tubing at about that rate. A location west and a little north Lee Wilson's No. 1, Beardon heirs, is being placed on the pump with occasional heads through tubing or about a 200-barrel well, sand at the usual depth between 1,070 and 1,090 feet. About 600 feet west of this Panhandle-Knight-Hines have drilled their No. 2, Beardan heirs in, and have a 200-barrel or better well, sand at the usual depth. Panhandle-Knight-Hines No. 2 is drilling at 700 feet. Casing has been set and cemented in No. C-3, between the regular production and the Hausler well at a depth of 1,072 feet.

C. L. Davis No. 2 has been placed on the pump and is making about 150 barrels a day, less than was at first expected. B-4 is drilling just south of Swastika Oil syndicate A. P. Neale No. 1.

On the Hausler tract Shaw Rathke No. 1 has been drilled into sand and looks like a 75-barrel pumper, depth about 1,100 feet. This well extends production a location to the west, and seemingly denotes a new "high" in that direction since sand was found 17 feet higher than in the No. 1.

Texhoma is placing the Carey well on the pump, flowing through tubing about 50 barrels a day. Texhoma is drilling a west offset on the Jeske, Texas company has a derrick up to northwest on the Jeske and Carey has made a location just to the north on the Hausler. Harvey and Taylor are nearing the sand on the Kunkel land a half mile to the east.

Several other tests have been spudded and are drilling in the vicinity of the pool but no others are within a week of completion.

Marland Oil company and Murchison and Fain have completed their No. 1 Echols, southwest corner of block 2405, southwest of Swastika, for the second producer in the new pool, a 75-barrel well sand at 1,314½-19 feet.

Swastika received two minor extensions with two 100-barrel wells.

Daniels-Rutis.

Northwest of the Comae pool Daniels and Rutis are setting casing on a sand at 1,535 feet after bailing salt water in a slightly shallower sand. The Magnolia is drilling in with cable tools on their No. 5 Llewellyn, Comae pool.

In the Pease estate district another offset to the Texas company's Andrews well has been abandoned as dry, Griswold quitting his No. 1 Andrews at a depth of 1,445 feet. White-Seesums are coring ahead after bailing dry at 1,468-69 feet, block 138.

Waite Phillips is nearing the sand on his Nos. 2 and 3 Wilson, near his producer, Horrits survey, abstract 646. South of the Waite Phillips well Carter and Balyeat are setting casing at a reported depth of 1,526 feet, No. 1 Wilson.

Ten rigs are running in the Parrish-White district. Muse is drilling on No. 2 Parrish, and about down to the sand, southern end of the field. Simms is about down on No. 1 Parrish, west offset to the Muse producer, while Kentucky should be on the sand on their north offset, C-3 Parrish. Magnolia is drilling No. 4 Parrish, southeast corner of their lease.

Carter et al completed two more the latter part of the week, their No. E-4 for 150 barrels, 1,600-foot sand, and E-5 for 200 barrels, same sand. Kentucky placed their No. C-1 on the pump for a 150-barrel well.

Robertson and Lane are both drilling on the White land northeast of production and Carter et al are offsetting both tests. Godfrey is abandoned on the White lot 14, block 40, depth 1,750 feet. Tex-O-Kan No. 3 White is a 25-barrel well, 1,600-foot sand. Dee Brothers et al are drilling north of production, lot 11, block 34.

Cannon et al are drilling on the Annie P. Jackson land and are due to reach the known 1,600-foot sand this week.

Texhoma-Wilson.

Cap McDanald abandoned his No. 1 Sterret past 1,750-foot depth. This well was located just north of the old Atlantic hole on the Taylor land, north of the Peterson pool, and adds another duster to the area.

Riner and Bailey are equipping their No. 21-B Wilson, lot 15 section 29, for the pump with the expectation of making a 200-barrel well from the 1,600-foot sand. Ray-Featherstone abandoned their No. 7 a location south after getting salt water in the same sand. Ray-Featherstone completed No. 6 for about a 100-barrel well, 1,600-foot sand, and have made location for No. 8 just to the north.

Ray-Featherstone have offset the Evangeline Petroleum company's producer on the Farmer land, southeast of the Green-Flowers pool, and are spudding, while Carey is drilling on the Logan land just to the south.

Wichita County.

In the Roberts and Hill district the Atlantic Oil Producing company and Cap McDanald have completed their No. 6 Murray for an 80-barrel well, sand at 1-652-56 feet. The United Central Oil company is moving on a star machine on their No. 13 McCarty, Beaver Creek district, sand at around 1,672 feet. Shaw, Lee et al are drilling on their No. 5, 1,200-foot test in this area.

Carter-Art abandoned their well on the Hodges land, north of the Roberts and Hill pool, total depth about 1,750 feet; casing was not even set.

In the Burnett pasture, Texhoma and Cullum have cemented casing on their No. 4-A on the 1,800-foot sand. Location has been made for the No. 6 Burnett, Texhoma, southwest corner of the big lease.

Wrather has made arrangements with the chamber of commerce of Panhandle for a loan of $10,000 to be used in building a refinery here, loan to mature in twelve months. Add Three Wells To South Archer Pool During Week

CAREY WELL ON PUMP

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Oct. 4.—The completion of three good wells in the Knight-Hines Ragle pool have absorbed the major portion of the week's interest here and while no extensions of any considerable territory have been made three wells of more than ordinary caliber have been added to this field's rapidly growing string of producers.

The first of this trio to reach the sand was Lee Wilson's Bearden No. 1 which topped the sand at 1,066 feet and after being drilled 12 feet in the sand made a number of spectacular flows. The same operator's No. 2 Beardan which offsets No. 1 to the west was drilled in from the sand found at 1,058 feet. The sand was entered 14 feet and although the tools were left in the hole to check the well's flow until connection could be made to a more distant boiler, the well continued to flow at 10-minute intervals throughout much of Friday and with the removal of the tools a veritable geyser of oil shot into the air. Present estimates on its settled production are placed at 250 barrels.

Bearden Wells.

Following these two completions came the bringing in of the Panhandle-Knight-Hines Bearden No. 1 which came in late Friday with a flush production estimated at 250 barrels. This is the first of this combination's tests on the Bearden land and lies several locations west of Lee Wilson's No. 2.

The Shamrock Oil company's No. 1, a completion of the previous week, placed 200 barrels in storage, flowing naturally, in 24 hours. The same company's No. 2 Boren, 528 feet south is drilling at 860 feet.

Rig is being moved one location south from the Lee Wilson No. 1 for his No. 3 test on the Bearden tract.

Panhandle-Knight-Hines Bearden No. 2 is drilling at 760 feet. This is a west offset to their No. 1, same lease. To the north of this latter test the same company's Ragle 3-C has set casing in cement on sand at 1,070.

The Swastika Oil syndicate's No. 1 Neale in block 10 is drilling at 836 feet. To the south of this test the Consolidated Oil company's Ragle B-4 is drilling.

To the northeast of the Swastika test Maxon and Burns in block 10, A. P. Neale land, have spudded and are drilling.

In block 11, B. B. B. and C. R. R. survey, the Sun company is drilling at 160 feet on the F. C. Green land.

Shaw, Rathke et al on the C. L. Davis tract, block 11, abstract 54, B. B. B. and C. R. R. survey are rigging up. In the same block but on the E. Bearden land, Eagle Creek Oil company is rigging up.

Carey District.

In the Carey-Hausler area six derricks are up and several rigs are running in various stages of drilling. The Carey well is being placed on the pump, estimated 75-barrel well.

In the Hardaway survey, abstract 164, Kunkel land, Shaw, Rathke, Harvey and Taylor are feeling for the sand. Much interest is attached to this test inasmuch as its outcome will determine to some extent the bounds of the Carey and Knight-Hines pools.

To the west of the Carey discovery well in block 16, Hausler land, McCoy survey, Carey Brothers have derrick up in the northeast corner of block 5, B. B. Jeske land. Texhoma also has derrick up on the Jeske tract, offsetting the well to the west. Texas company has a derrick up to the northeast.

North of the discovery well Newton Maer has derrick up in the southwest corner of block 7, Pollei land.

Harmel Area.

In the Harmel area, Murchison, Fain, Marland Oil company and Golding are running tubing in their No. 1 Echols in survey 2405. The well, which is a north offset to the Harmel discovery well, promises to make a 75 to 100-barrel producer from the sand found at 1,314 feet. The sand has been entered nine and one-half feet. Maer-Staniforth are drilling No. 1 Griffin at about 1,000 feet.

P. F. Gwynne on the J. A. Wood land, survey 2406, has spudded.

ROLAND-SUMMERS BACK

W. D. Rowland and C. G. Summers of the Superior Oil Corporation have returned from a ten day tour of New Mexico and the oil fields there.

Wells-Guiberson Gusher Promises Much Drilling For South Vernon Area

Wilbarger county supplied one of the most sensational wells during the past week that has been seen in months, when after drilling deeper and into a second sand, the Wells-Guiberson No. 1, A. B. Wharton, turned gusher and flowed at a rate of 66 barrels an hour for some time after the flow was put under control and diverted to storage. The well was still flowing Saturday, the rate for the day averaging somewhere between 50 and 60 barrels an hour. Production for the first two twenty-four-hour periods has approximated 1,250 barrels a day, and these is no sign of a let-up in the output of the well.

Saturday a week ago the well was making about 125 barrels of oil a day, sand at 1,904-2,000 feet. Tubing was pulled and the well drilled to 2,010 feet Sunday, one foot into a new and second sand below a lime shell approximately one foot thick at 2,008-09 feet. Flow was increased phenomenally, and when three feet more were drilled the next day it was estimated that the well would produce 1,000 barrels on the swab when it was drilled three feet further into sand, total depth 2,013 feet.

Wednesday another three to four feet was taken, another lime shell penetrated, and the sand entered one foot. Tools were blown out of the hole, and the well flowed far over the top of the derrick for two hours before being brought under control and diverted to storage. The spectacular flow scattered oil over the country as far north as the school house on top of the hill.

Actual guage on the well for two hours after flow was sent to storage showed 66 barrels an hour. Actual guage on the well for the first twenty-four hours showed 1,250 barrels. The well has held up since then with no decrease in the flow, it coming steady and faltering only for a minute or more at rare intervals.

No Water!

Reports that the well is making water have been steadily denied ever since it was first started, and certain actual tests are said to show not the smallest quantity of water. It now appears that such reports are no more than rumor, based on the unusual quantity of sand which has been taken, to date about 22 feet actual.

Since the well was first completed excitement has reigned supreme in Vernon and Wichita Falls has had its share, although sixty miles away. Several deals have been closed for unusual consideration. Murchison and Pigg are reported to have paid $1,500 an acre for thirty acres on the south and east of Winnipeg's test, Bond, Stephens and Hawkins fee. The twenty west of this went to Staley and Wynne for $500 an acre and overriding one-eighth royalty. C. H. Clark and Harbin purchased a half of the Dill Farm Oil company's holdings (Kemp and Birdsong) and their drilling well for a consideration of $15,000 cash.

Two Important Tasks.

As the field activity now stands two more important developments are due to occur within two or three days, perhaps Sunday or Monday.

First, Winnipeg Drilling company is sitting on a sand, 1,991-2,013 feet, in their south offset to the Wells-Guiberson. Casing has been set, and the well should be bailed today or tomorrow.

Second, Kemp and Birdsong have finished reaming down casing to a sent at 1,980 on their test, more than a half a mile northeast of Wells-Guiberson and Heydrick. It is expected to drill into sand Sunday or Monday. The completion of these two tests will be watched with a great deal of interest by operators, one of which will seemingly extend or define a half mile or more.

Sherwin and McKamey are building a Standard rig over the No. 1, E. T. Richardson, south of the south Vernon producers. Heydrick and Bridwell have made location for their No. 2, Stephens, and have a derrick up, well to offset the recently purchased Church gasser on the Dill land to the south. Prince Brothers are rigging up in the southeast corner of the southeast quarter section 84, Zipperle farm, and Maer-Staniforth well has made a tentative location east of Prince, well to be drilled if Prince makes a producer.

Ray and Massie have a derrick up north of the school house, 500 feet east and 150 feet north from the southwest corner of the northwest forty acres of the southwest quarter of section 84, a quarter mile north of the Bridwell-Heydrick well. The Bridwell-Heydrick producer is holding up to a daily output of about 300 barrels flowing.

Murchison and Pigg are moving on for a south offset to Winnipeg, and Kolp will drill his test in the southeast corner of the west twenty acres of the southeast forty of section 99 at once. Wells-Guiberson will offset Kolp to the east with another cable tools test, No., Wharton.

Future Bright.

Taken all in all the future of the pool looks bright. Much will depend, of course, on the outcome of the Winnipeg and the Kemp and Birdsong tests, but should both make wells of even the Bridwell-Heydrick class it is very probable that a boom of real proportions will develop for the section of the county. It has been held in bad repute for years since millions spent there after the boom from the Sigler wells brought no return, but a rich spot that bears every appearance of an Electra duplicate seems to have been found, and high prices are being paid for the privilege of drilling.

The pipline to the field will be completed within about twenty days, and a new outlet gives the oil. Trucks are a cumbersome conveyance at best for oil, and only make about eight trips a day to Vernon, hauling twenty barrels at a load. The seven working on the Wells-Guiberson well handle about 1,100 barrels a day, more than a hundred less than the well is producing. Connections were made yesterday with the South Vernon storage so that the congested tankage conditions may be partially relieved.

DEE BROS. ET AL GET FORTY ACRES OF WHITE LANDS

Dee Brothers et al have acquired from the Macon Oil and Gas company and others the whole of lot 10, block 34, J. H. White lands, ATNCR, for a consideration of five free wells and will start immediately on the development of the new lease.

This makes the Dee Brothers et al holdings in the Parrish-White district total 80 acres, the whole of lots 10 and 11. There is already one drilling test in the southwest corner of lot 11 and location has been made for the first in lot 10 to be located in the southeast corner of the north twenty acres. It is in the northwest corner of this twenty acres that the old Fort Bling Oil company hole is located. This area is just north of one of the most active districts in Archer county.

REFINERY USES GOATS

Panhandle Refining Company Has Flock of 49 to Keep Yard Clean.

The Panhandle Refining company has a flock of 49 goats, Angora and scrub, that are used in keeping their refinery yard clean, both of weeds, high grass, and the like, but of scraps from the workmen's lunches and other edible litter that makes for a dirty yard.

The goats have been on the grounds for some time, and their upkeep amounts to very little at any time, even in the winter time when it is necessary to feed them some besides their grazing. The goats have been pronounced thoroughly efficient and useful employees. No trouble having ever been experience with them.

They get along with the men all right and the workmen are always ready to place their scraps within reach of the flock. There is one black one among them, a little unusual among so many white ones.

MIDCONTINENT BANQUET.

Texas Division Will Hold Meeting at Dallas on October 24.

The sixth annual meeting of the Texas division of the Midcontinent Oil and Gas association will be held at Dallas, Texas, Friday, October 24, at the Adolphus hotel.

An executive committee will be elected for the ensuing year and open discussions of the general situation and suggestions for the betterment of the industry will be considered.

These sessions are of special interest to everyone connected with the oil industry and will be open to all visiting oil men.

C. W. CLARK LEAVES SHAMROCK OIL CO.

Dr. C. W. Clark, formerly of the Shamrock Oil company has severed his connection as geologist with that company and will become an independent operator here with offices at 710 City National Bank building.

Dr. Clark has been with the Shamrock Oil company for a little more than a year and a half and aided largely in acquiring for the company its Swastika holdings which have made it one of the foremost producers of this district. the pool having developed more than a 3,000-barrel daily production for the company.

Dr. Clark still retains his interest with the Shamrock Oil company, but will operate solely hereafter as an independent.

Special to The Record News.

TONKAWA, Oct. 4.— Tonkawa's 34 Slick sand wells are flowing 89,650 barrels of high gravity crude a day according to pipe line figures available this week. This is a gain of about 1,500 barrels over last week counting 600 barrels that the Pennok Oil company's No. 2, D. Endicott, south half of the southeast of 34-26-1w, is flowing from T. I. Slick's No. 8e, Laura Endicott south half of the southwest of 35-25-1w, 60 barrels from the Comar Oil company's No. 1w. Ogg, southeast of 35-25-1w, flowing by heads from a lime formation at 4,159 feet.

The shallow sand wells of the area have a total daily average production of 24,500 barrels. This production added to the flow from the Slick horizon producers, shows a total daily average of 113,150 barrels for the area.

CROMWELL FALLS

Kay County Leads in Oklahoma Flush Production With 44,057 Barrels

A total of 16,339,330 barrels of oil was recovered from the fields of Oklahoma during the month of September. This total is 448,291 barrels less than the total recovery for August, but the difference lays entirely in the fact that the month of August had one more day to increase its total than did September, according to the current issue of the Oil Weekly. Figuring September with 31 days it would show an increase of 90,000 barrels over the month of August.

This increase is responsible to the Tonkawa field deep sand wells. This field took the lead among the fields with a total recovery of 3,015,600 barrels, Burbank district, the fallen champion, is clinging to second place with a total output of 2,185,890 barrels as compared to its nearest rival for honors with 1,653,480 barrels.

The Cromwell district fell approximately 239,500 barrels under the total reported last month when it sent in a card for 1,530,170 barrels.

Curtailment.

As evidence of a curtailment of drilling activity the total number of completions for September was 185 wells less than the previous month. In Seminole county where the Cromwell field is found there were 28 less completions in September, the factor responsible for the decrease in the daily average production of the field.

Kay county led the state in flush production for the month with 44,057 barrels, Seminole in second place, found only 18,790 barrels. The Kay county production came from 15 successful completions out of 15 tests, while Seminole county required 27 successful completions out of 30 tests to make nearly one-third the Kay county total.

Creek county led in the number of completions with 54 to its credit. The same county led in the number of producers and was third in flush production for the month with 42 producers and 13,764 barrels.

The complete summary follows:

CROMWELL MYSTERY

White Phillips Test Seems to Have Pinched Out for the 125 Ft. Said.

TULSA, Oct. 4.—One of the most important factors in the development of the east side of the Cromwell pool is the Waite Phillips well in the southwest of the northeast of the northeast of 15-10-8 which has drilled to a total depth of 3,305 feet without a showing of oil. The Burke-Creis well, a quarter of a mile west of this well is reported to have found 125 feet of pay sand in the well and it is now producing some 1200 barrels a day, coming from a sand higher than the depth of the Waite Phillips well. The operators on that side of the field are unable to account for the fact that 125 feet of sand has been pinched out in so short a distance as a quarter of a mile. This is the most unusual completion to have a bearing on the future of the Cromwell field on the east side.

BLACKWELL CLEANSED

Underworld Characters Ordered to Leave New Oil Town

By The Associated Press.

BLACKWELL, Oct. 4.—Blackwell is no "city of refuge" for underworld characters of Three Sands. This was forcefully demonstrated here when police demanded suspects, believed to have come to Blackwell from Three Sands, that they move on and be quick about it. It is being made clear to the bootleggers, gambling house keepers and narcotic peddlers that they cannot take up a permanent abode here.

PROMINENT WICHITA FALLS OIL OPERATORS IN SUIT TO CANCEL VALUABLE PANHANDLE LEASES

Danciger Test Gives Problem For Panhandle

Danciger No. 1, S. B. Burnett's section 129, I&GNRR block 5, Carson county, is presenting a problem which is drawing the attention of operators all over the Panhandle district and if a solution is found will effect a big change in rotary drilling in that section of the state. The bottom of the hole in this test is at 2,550 feet in lime, but to date the driller has been unable to get a rock bit within 50 feet of the bottom of the hole, due it seems to swelling of the anhydrate formation between 2,500 and 2,550 feet. When the hole is filled with mud and the stem extracted the gas from the formation thins the mud out, the formation taking on water and swelling, with the result that since then the rock bit has never been back on the bottom of the hole.

Oxide Of Iron

Twenty-five tons of oxide of iron has been ordered from Kansas City and an attempt will be made to load the mud with this and see if a remedy to the situation can be effected. It has been found that when this same trouble existed in cable tool drilling that reaming as often as every 24 or 48 hours was required. The railroad commission has recently been directing its efforts toward the solution of the problem so as to effect a conservation of gas while drilling if possible.

The Gulf Production company's No. 4 S. B. Burnett, block 5, I&GNRR, section 107, is attempting to run a liner at 2,950 feet with oil standing in the hole about 300 feet from sand at 2,935-2, 937 feet.

Gulf Production No. 1, S. B. Burnett, section 91, block 5, is killing gas at 2,803 feet, while waiting for a manilla line to drill deeper.

W. W. Silk has set and cemented 8¼-inch casing at 2,509 feet above 400 feet of broken drill stem, which he is trying to drill up in his No. 3, Burnett, section 115. The task looks almost hopeless.

Skelly Well 1.

Skelly No. 1, S. B. Burnett, section 93 is standing with a total depth of 3,097 feet, oil sand from 3,089 feet. This well has produced an average of about 150 barrels a day for the past seven days, although it flowed 225 barrels in 10 hours for a while.

The Texas company's No. 4, section 114, is making some oil from sand at 2,914 feet, with the bottom of the hole at 2,940 feet and caving above causing trouble.

The Texas company's No. 1, Mary C. Burnett, section 90, block 5, is drilling in dark broken shells and shale at 2,940 feet. The appearance of the formation is that of lava.

Gray County

Dillard No. 1, John Henry, section 77, I&GNRR block 3, is shut down to set surface casing at 500 feet, having made that depth in 24 hours. Wilcox No. 1, Wilson, block 3, section 95, is drilling at 3,030 feet in red and blue shale.

Edwin M. Jones has made a location and will start up immediately. Coombs and Worley land, 320 feet each way from the northwest corner of section 37, I&GNRR block 3, Gray county.

Hutchinson County

Gulf Production company No. 1, Cockrell, D&SE block B-3, section 10, Hutchinson county is shut down with 900 feet of oil in the hole total depth of 3,200 feet, building a tank and preparing to swab.

Production in the Panhandle during the past week increases 63 barrels a day from 1,248 to 1,311 barrels.

SIXTY-EIGHT WELLS

That Many Tests Started Up in Oklahoma During Past Seven Days.

That many tests started up in Oklahoma during past seven days report shows a total of 68 new wells were begun in Oklahoma the past week, eight more than were reported last week. The wells are from thirteen counties with Kay county in the lead with 18 new locations during the week. Seminole follows Kay county with 14 new wells, Okfuskee 8; Noble county 6; Creek and Tulsa, 5 each; Wagoner 3; Okmulgee, Hughes and Carter, 2 each; and Osage, Cotton and Stephens, 1 each.

FARRAR'S 'CARME ' CHANGED

Everything Sacrificed for Dramatic Continuity in Star's Version of Opera

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 4.—Geraldine Farrar tonight at the Colonial theatre here presented for the first time her new version of the opera "Carmen." The opera is distinctly a Farrar production, for she has taken several liberties with the original. It is cut to three acts, but all the important arias are sung. The card scene in the third act has been placed in the first, when Mercedes tells the fortune of Don Jose. Miss Farrar takes the part of Carmen and Luigi Pasinati, the Italian tenor, who recently returned from Australia, appeared as Don Jose. Joseph Royer had the role of Escamillo and Emma Noe, formerly of the Chicago Opera company, sang Micaela.

One of the features of the modernized version is the elimination of all material that interferes with the continuity of the dramatic action, which closely follows Merimee's novel, although the part of Cicaela used is not the original score by Bizet.

Trial Called at Plemons, Hutchinson County, For Monday

Prominent Wichita Falls oil men will figure in a civil trial before the 31st district court at Plemons, Hutchinson county, this next week, when officials of the Texhoma Oil and Refining company and others in their own name open their suit for recovery of certain valuable oil leases on the Dial ranch in Hutchinson county from the Panhandle Refining company, Walter Cline, Gulf Production company, Goldoline Oil Corporation, and Butram Petroleum Corporation, defendants.

W. B. Hamilton, N. H. Martin, J. J. Perkins, and others as owners of the fee on approximately 11,000 acres of the Dial ranch, on which there is one producing oil well, the Gulf Production company's No. 1, Dial, completed two or three years ago, are suing for a cancellation of the leases by which those named as defendants are holding the mineral rights on the property, alleging expiration of leases and insufficient development to justify continuation. They claim that the single producer completed by the Gulf Production company has not properly protected their interests as fee-holders, and ask the court for an entire cancellation of the leases.

The defendants on the other hand claim that the single well validates their leases and that no contract incurred in the development clause of the lease has been violated.

The leases were originally obtained from the Dial estate, but the fee here has since been purchased by W. B. Hamilton, N. H. Martin, J. J. Perkins and others, reported consideration being $95,000 for the 11,000 acres, the sale dating back about two and a half years.

Among those who are finding it necessary to attend the trial, which opens at Plemons this next Monday are W. B. Hamilton, J. J. Perkins, N. H. Martin, Roy B. Jones, Walter Cline, C. W. Clark, W. B. Hamilton of Dallas, and several lawyers and attorneys of the city who are acting for both parties to the suit.

INDIAN SLAYINGS

Children, Accused of Witchery, Put To Death in Northern Canada

By The Associated Press.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 4.—Wholesale slaying of Indian boys and girls in the far northern districts of British Columbia by their fellow tribesmen because they are accused of practicing witchery has been revealed by mounted police investigations, which will culminate this fall in murder charges against a squaw and five Indian men. These natives reached Telegraph Creek in the north of this province recently in charge of mounted police officers after the redcoated troopers had been working three years to get to the bottom of the Indians' terrible religious practices. They will be brought to the coast immediately for trial.

Reports received by the police as far back as the spring of 1921 indicated the far northern Indians about the Liard River were committing numerous murders among themselves, but only this summer was the full horror of their crimes disclosed. Large numbers of their children, the police learned, have been put to death of late years with the most horrible torture because they were alleged to be sorcerers. The children usually were tied to trees head downward until they perished of exposure and starvation. How many crimes of this sort have taken place in the northern wilderness the police only can guess, but apparently the murders are systematic and general.

London Searches for Reason for Falling Off in Marriages

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Those who watch the ways of fashionable Mayfair have set themselves to find out why fewer debutantes than ever before have been married this season. One dowager inclines to the opinion that shingled hair makes the debutantes less attractive to men and so foster the bearish movement in the matrimonial market.

"To be shingled is to cross the Rubicon," this observer said. "It may convert one from just rather attractive to a positive Delilah. On the other hand, it may take away altogether whatever pretentions one has."

A woman doctor however, commended the debutantes for their caution regarding matrimony and counselled single blessedness until at least 23. A clergyman found the question puzzling but did not think shingled hair responsible for the shortage in brides.

Why Should We Change Asks Hughes In Ohio Opener

Only One Issue, That Is Coolidge Declares Speaker

"HONESTY COMMON"

Says Party Detests Corruption and Demands Guilts Be Punished

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 4.— The republican national campaign in Ohio formally was opened here tonight with Secretary Hughes as chief speaker, his address covering almost every issue raised thus far by either democratic or independent orators.

"Whatever may be the subject of campaign speakers," the secretary declared, "there is really only one issue in this campaign and that is—shall the administration of Calvin Coolidge be continued?

The average man, who is not interested in the tactics of the campaign says to himself and to his neighbor — why should there be a change?"

Taking up first the arguments of "our historic opponents of the democratic party," Mr. Hughes dismissed briefly what he termed eloquent disclosures on the fundamental principles of American government.

Typical American

"Does it occur to our friends that if the question is one of Americanism, you could not find in the length and breadth of the land a more typical American than Calvin Coolidge" he asked. "Calvin Coolidge incarnates Americanism, you could not find in the length and breadth of the land a more typical American than Calvin Coolidge" he asked. "Calvin Coolidge incarnates Americanism. There could be no betterment in change."

It was "Equally vain" to seek an issue in common honesty Mr. Hughes declared.

"Fortunately, honesty is common" he added. "It is common to both parties because it is common to Americans. It is not the special quality of any party.

"We detest political corruption and we demand the punishment of the guilty. The republican who soils his hands in corrupt dealing is as treacherous to his party as to his country. Every demand of justice is being met and every interest of the government is being safeguarded. No guilty person is being protected; every guilty person will get his just deserts according to the law of the land."

Condemns Assailment

The speaker decried, however, "our opponents swiftly shifting to general denunciation mingling the innocent with the guilty in diatribes which are the last resort of desperate partianship."

"There are no dividends for honest men in sweeping denunciations," he said. "This lesson should be taken to heart by our democratic friends. Indiscriminate denunciation might serve as a partisan policy if you could monopolize it. But while the democrats are damning us, they are in turn damned. While denouncing the republican party as the servant of privilege, they are themselves denounced as the tools of Wall Street. The experienced instruments of predatory wealth.

"It is open season for reckless attacks upon character. The democrats assail the republicans and the third party pours out its vials of wrath and condemnation upon both. When it comes to indicting a whole nation, the third party has the best of it. But we not only have common honesty in this country we have a sense of humor."

Pledges Economy.

From these matters Mr. Hughes said he would turn to more substantial issues. He took up first the need of economy in government, citing figures to show since June, 1921, "a reduction in the annual cost of government of $2,041,000,000."

Replying to democratic arguments that release from war expenditures accounted for this situation, Mr. Hughes said that, "even on the statement of our opponents there would be left over a billion dollars in reduction in expenditures." Not to be accounted for in that way.

"How was this done?" he demanded. "It has been done by upright, courageous and determined executives in the face of the greatest of difficulties."

Mr. Hughes insisted that credit for tax reduction belonged to the republican administration because "it reduced expenses and made tax reduction possible."

He denied that credit was due those "who blocked more adequate tax reform."

Endorses The Tariff

Passing on to the tariff the secretary described the present law as a "highly successful revenue producer yielding more than any previous tariff," adding that the same time "contrary to the prophesies of our opponents, our American foreign trade had notably increased."

"Questions of practical tariff schedules were not to be settled in a campaign or avoided by a 'democratic tariff'," Mr. Hughes said.

"The fundamental question is whether you are going to adhere to the principle of protection," he continued. "We favor a protective tariff, not to give privilege to a class but to promote the general prosperity."

Consolidation Of Dramatic Clubs Announced Here

With the merging of the two clubs, the Players and the Community Theater, into the Little Theater Players, the goal for which each club has been striving, has been reached and Wichita Falls has a real Little theater —with a home of its own.

Its import to the city is great, for it is democratic in its ideals; seeking and developing talent in its active membership and asking those who enjoy the best things in dramatic art to join its associate membership.

These In Charge.

With Peter Ames Vincent, the nationally known director, as its guiding star, Mrs. T. A. Hicks as its head and men and women who have helped to put Wichita Falls where it is, back of the Little Theater is destined to be a great factor in the life of the city. the Little Theater movement all over the nation is a natural revolt against slapstick comedy and inferior productions, and is an organization of local people, working with harmony of aim and unity of interest, for the development of individual talent and the production of the best dramatic art.

Through the kindness of the Texan hotel management, the building adjoining the hotel on the west will be the home of the Little Theater players and has been fitted up and beautified. It has an eighteen foot stage and sixty two feet of floor space. The active members will have their first meeting there Tuesday evening. The latter part of October it will be thrown open to the associate members, when the first, of four productions to be given during the year, will be presented.

To Present "Truth"

The first production, will be "Truth," by Clyde Fitch, in which the following will take part: Miss Adele Marcus, Mr. Earl Knutz, Mrs. J. T. Harrel, Mr. Jarrel Goss, Mrs. Porter Oakes, Mr. Allen Montgomery and Mr. Paul Barnet.

Mesdames Leslie Humphries and W. C. Witcher, at the head of the membership committee report most of the associate members of the two old clubs, already in the new organization, and many new ones coming in. A year's single membership, for both active and associate members is four dollars, which entitles the member to one ticket for each public performance; a double membership is six dollars which entitles the members to two tickets. Membership cards will be mailed to each paid up member before the first public performance.

First U. S. Commercial Sky-Writer Does Stunt Flying at Fair Sunday

Clevenger, Veteran Wizard Of Air, One of Initial Aviators to Negotiate Rocky Mountains in Early Days of Plane.

Cloyd P. Clevenger, wizard of the air with the Gates flying circus! That's the "bird" who caused all the commotion in the grandstand Friday afternoon when, seemingly in doubt as to whether the crowds in said grandstand were giving him the proper amount of attention following 15 minutes of erratic stunt flying he did previous to the long dive at the race track which he ended with a wild banking around the race course and over the overhang of the grandstand scarcely missing it with the wheels of his landing gear and bringing the crowd to its feet, and causing a general scampering for cover.

Clevenger is a name popular in aviation circles the world over, gathering fame from his sky-writing, being the first American to supply this method of advertising to nationally prominent firms of the United States. He began his career of commercial skywriting just after the armistice and has exhibited in all the larger cities of the western United States placing huge letters against the blue heavens in wonderful correctness.

Inventor of Stunts.

One of the first pilots to successfully negotiate the Rocky mountains for which much credit was given him due to the fact that his feat was carried out in days when engine failure was no rare occurrence, motors being in the stage of experiment and undependable, much courage therefore was required for a feat of this nature.

Clevenger is well known as an inventor of stunts. Tiring of the ordinary tricks, he is always striving to put his plane in some new and difficult position never before tried. As a result, he has perfected several stunts which are performed by none other. Several of these will be exhibited to the spectators at the fair grounds Sunday, the last day of the Gates flying circus' stay in Wichita Falls. Most notable of the stunts of his origination is that of a "spiral reversement" the exact opposite of a "tail spin" sometimes called the "spinning nose dive." Another called the "hammer head" in which the nose of the ship is pointed straight up and the wings describe drunkenly circles in the sky.

Clevenger was an instructor in advanced acrobatics at Rockwell field, San Deigo, Cal., and also March field, Riverside Cal. He was instrumental in training and giving to the services of this country, many fighting pilots, some of whom earned notable and lasting glory and fame in the sky lanes over Germany. His success as an instructor in the difficult phase of advanced acrobatics can easily be accounted for by his reticent nature and gift of making new acquaintances feel as though they were a life time friend in a short period of time. His first demand of a new acquaintance is, "call me Clev" which gained for him the lasting friendship of every pilot he came in contact with in the air services and is equally as effective with his many acquaintances in his connection with the Gates flying circus. Meet "Clev" at the fair grounds Sunday. Oh Yes, He is handsome and single, girls.

"WHAT HAVE YOU DONE?"

Former Progressive Leader Chides Progressives of Year 1912.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—A challenge to the former supporters of the Roosevelt progressive party of 1912 to "give a frank account of what they have done during the last four years to uphold the Roosevelt tradition" was issued today by Harold L. Ickes, progressive national committeeman from Illinois in the 1912 campaign.

The challenge was the answer to a true progressive, Mr. Ickes said in a statement to the recent joint declaration of some two score of former progressive workers rebuking the LaFollette forces for their pretensions as defenders of the progressive faith.

"I challenge those former progressives who recently sang their hymn of hate against LaFollette to disclose their real purpose," Mr. Ickes said. "At the same time they have done during the past four years to uphold the Roosevelt tradition."

Delegations At Stations Meet George C. Butte

DISCUSSES ISSUE

Asks Who is Best Democrat, Himself or James E. Ferguson

By S. RAYMOND BROOKS
Record News Staff

AMARILLO, Oct. 4.—The republican fight for the governorship was brought to the Panhandle tonight, as George C. Butte of Austin, opponent of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, addressed a Potter county mass meeting in the new American legion auditorium here.

Judge William Boyce of the seventh court of civil appeals introduced the candidate.

Guest at Luncheon.

Dr. Butte was the guest at a luncheon given by the bar association this afternoon, attended by about 100 persons. A delegation of Amarillo men and women met his train this morning at Claude and accompanied him here. They told him they will carry this county in the election.

While he is on the ticket of the republican party, Butte declared in his address here as in all others he has made, no thought of winning a victory for the party, guided him in making the race, and that he was running, not as a republican but as a Texan.

"Who is the best democrat anyway," he demanded, "Jim Ferguson or George Butte? Who has been the most faithful to Texas and her institutions? The deciding factor in this race will be the round million high-minded democratic voters, who consider state above party who, after Jim Ferguson tore the party pledge to tatters will not be subservient to the ideals he represents, and who will not place Jim Ferguson over and above the constitution, confiding in him the power, if not the title of the governors office, without its accountability.

"All that I ask of them is that they go out on Nov. 4 and vote as their consciegbes dictate."

A delegation of 75 persons met Butte's train at Clarendon, Donley county, and persuaded the candidate to stop over there Monday morning and make an address at 7 o'clock. Enthusiastic Butte supporters there predicted he would have a substanital majority in the total Donley county vote. Another delegation of citizens met the train at Goodnight, Armstrong county, and pledged him 80 per cent of the votes of that county. Mrs. Ferguson held substantial majorities in the second democratic primary throughout this section.

Audience of 3,300.

The audience estimated by Chairman W. H. Holmes, at 3,300 was the largest which has heard Butte so far in the campaign. The auditorium of 3,500 seats was virtually full and 200 persons, all but 20 democrats, were seated on the platform, five protestant ministers and a priest, more than 50 women, the mayor and city commission, county officers and representatives of labor, business and professions, were on the speaker's platform. Delegations were present tonight from Deaf Smith, Hale, Donley, Dallam Hartley, Carson, Gray Hutchinson, Floyd, Wheeler and Collinsworth counties, as well as about 100 persons from Canyon, Potter county. One delegation came 135 miles from Wellington for the meeting.

"This is a democratic rally," chairman Holmes told the candidate. Butte in his address which was applauded at intervals stated in his plea that democrats consider the nomination of Ferguson, "by a subterfuge, an incident challenging them from moral pledge to support the nominee and declared the only plank of his platform was constiutional government." He was applauded when he declared "I will have no alliance with the ku klux klan."

He also accepted an invitation to make a second address Monday morning at Childress on his way back to Wichita Falls.

JAPANESE TO SO. AMERICA.

Plans for Emigration in New Direction Are Seen.

By The Associated Press.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 4.—Japan's plans for placing a large part of her surplus population in South America now that she is barred from the United States are revealed by the drastic changes in the policies of leading Japanese shipping companies operating across the Pacific. Liners at present operating between Canada and Japan are to be replaced shortly by other vessels devoted almost entirely to cargo space, as the passenger business on the Japanese lines has been xtremely slack since the United States congress passed its exclusion legislation. The north Pacific vessels will be put on the South American run to carry immigrants from Japan to South America.

To carry out those sweeping changes Japanese shipping companies are planning a big building program. The South American fleet will be augmented by several liners built to accommodate immigrants.

Chicagoan Held After Death of Wife From Fright.

By The Associated Press.

John Sargis, her husband, arrested in a mentally deranged condition told an incoherent story of trouble over a picture in which his wife and baby had posed with another man. Longhorns Slap It On Phillips Haymakers, 27 to 0

Stewart Uses Many Second String Athletes

Oklahoma Machine Stages Stubborn Resistance In Defeat

SMITH LEADS ATTACK

Steers Display Brilliant And Sweeping Offense

AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—Ability of the Longhorns to rip off tackle for long gains won today for Texas university over Phillips university of Enid, Okla., by a 27-0 margin. There was never any doubt as to the outcome, the Longhorns scoring two touchdowns in the initial quarter. Frequent substitution of second string Texas university players held down Texas' score. Coach Everett Shelton's Phillips Haymakers showed a commendable stubbornness on the defense, three times taking the ball away from Texas on downs within the five-yard line. The running attack of the visitors was smothered with ease by the Longhorns, however, and it was only when Phillips resorted to the aerial game that the Haymakers were able to advance. Four passes, good for an advance of 90 yards, were completed by the losers.

Blue Smith, halfback of Cleburne, was the scintillating performer of the contest. Smith's speed and elusiveness enabled him to tear off long gains off tackle and around end and to run back punts in stellar fashion. In the second quarter Smith, aided by dogged interference, ran back the kick off 40 yards. He averaged close to 25 yards on his return of punts.

Besides giving the varsity offensive the needed fire and dash, Smith excelled on the defensive. In the fourth quarter King received a 40-yard pass from Bean and seemed certain to go for a touch as he eluded all the varsity backs except Smith, the safety man, and had running with him a mate to block the safety man. But Smith crashed through the interferer and brought down King with a desperate "shoe string" tackle.

Wright Injured.

Captain Marley, Foster, Wright, Blover, Smalley and Schubardt were other backfield performers who showed to advantage for the winners. After turning in two brilliant dashes off right tackle that netted 15 and 22 yards, respectively, Wright was injured early in the first quarter and Blue Smith was substituted for him with the result already noted.

In the Longhorn forward wall, line Captain Dayvault at guard, Heinie Pfannkuche at center, Berry at guard, Sprague at tackle and Allen at end were bulwarks of strength. Berry, 32-year-old veteran, who captained the 1915 Texas team and who is making a marvelous comeback after an absence of nine years from college football, so badly outplayed Wyatt, the big captain of the visitors, that the Haymakers leader was taken from the fray in the first quarter.

Cox, hard fighting end, was the outstanding defensive performer of the Haymakers. This athlete seemed to make half the tackles made by his eleven. Bean, fullback and triple threat man, was the best offensive bet with his passing and kicking. Bean also backed up the line in stellar fashion and it was his fierce tackle that knocked out Stuart Wright of Dallas in the first quarter.

Score After Five Minutes.

The Longhorns scored after five minutes of play. On an exchange of punts Texas obtained possession of the ball on the 50-yard line. Captain Marley and Wright alternated in off-tackle stabs that sent the leather on a double quick march down the gridiron, Marley plunged through guard from the three-yard line for the touchdown. The second touchdown was made in similar fashion, except that it was Smith who did the bulk of the work, though Marley again slipped through the line for the score. Smith's mad dashes were largely responsible for the third counter, though Schubardt, who had substituted at fullback for Marley, packed the pigskin across. The third quarter was scoreless; but Coach Stewart sent in his first string performers in the fourth quarter and toward the end of the game Slover raced 15-yards for a touchdown on a pass from Foster after Smith's 25-yard return of a punt had carried the ball to the 15-yard line. Lineup:

Mustangs Down Trinity Tigers In Hard Battle

T. I. A. A. Eleven Fails To Threaten S. M. U. Goal

Costemaglia Carries Bulk Of Methodists Attack

DALLAS, Oct. 4.—Taking advantage of a favorable wind, and the costly fumbles of the Trinity university team, the Southern Methodist university Mustangs won their second game from a T. I. A. A. school today, 14 to 3.

The score was not as convincing as some of the top-heavy totals that the Mustangs have compiled against Trinity and it speaks well for the splendid defensive play of the Tigers.

The Trinity team never threatened the Mustang goal except in the second period when Quarterback Morrison chose to try for a field goal in preference to bucking the Mustang line, and succeeded.

From the ranks of the Mustangs loomed several members of the championship team of 1923 and one newcomer in Texas intercollegiate football as potential stars in the 1924 football firmament. The old timers were Strollenwerck, unanimous all-southwestern quarterback of 1923; Reiser, Mustang full back; Bedford, the nimble fingered end, and Pearson, substitute quarterback of 1922, who played a beautiful game at halfback today for a good part of the last period.

Cortemaglia, Rice Like

The newcomer is Cortmaglia, the bulky backfield star from Bryan, Texas, high school, and center recruited from the S. M. U. freshman class of 1923.

Cortemaglia was the leading ground gainer for the Mustangs, most of his plunges being through the center of the Trinity line, rather than long end runs.

The forward pass was used exclusively by both teams.

The Mustangs had a brisk south wind to their backs in the first quarter and after an exchange of punts in which the Mustangs gained approximately 30 yards, Stollenwreck from his own thirty-yard line kicked the length of the field to Trinity's half-yard line. Morrison, Tiger safety, did not attempt to catch the punt, thinking it would go out of bounds, but Henry, S. M. U. end, downed the ball, preventing this, though the ball went over to Trinity's players. Morrison then kicked out of bounds on his own 27-yard line. Walling gained four yards on a line plunge. Reister ran around right end for a 22-yard gain and planted the ball on Trinity's one-yard line. Stollenwerck was thrown for a loss of a yard and the Mustangs were penalized five yards for off sides, but Cortemeglia crashed through right end for a touchdown.

Morrison Kicks Field Goal

In the second period on a kick against the wind Stollenwerck lost ground. Trinity getting the ball on S. M. U.'s 35-yard line. The Tigers completed a short pass for a three-yard gain and then Morrison from the 32-yard line with the wind drove a field kicked over the Mustang goal for the lone Trinity tally.

Neither team scored in the third period, but just as the timekeeper announced its end S. M. U. planted the ball on the Trinity 27-yard line. On the change the Mustangs found the wind again at their backs.

The Mustangs managed to keep the ball in the Trinity territory for the entire period, after losing the ball on an intercepted pass, only to gain it back soon afterwards by a fumble. Reiser completed a pass to Stollenwerck for first down on the 23-yard line. After Walling had gained a few yards on a plunge Coach Morrison of the Mustangs sent in some fresh men and Reiser, Pearson and Walling, in successive line bucks carried the ball over the goal line. Stollenwerck kicked goal.

FRENCH STUDY BASEBALL

Scribes Learn Diamond Vernacular For Europe Hornetowners

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 4. — The announced barnstorming tour of the Giants and White Sox through Europe the last of this month and early November has started the French sporting scribes studying the vocabulary of baseball. Some of the French renditions of terms familiar to American fans are quaint. The translation for home run is "a complete tour of the bases," while a foul tip is described by one writer as "the bat just flirted with the ball."

The fans hope Babe Ruth will be included in the party of big leaguers. "Le Grou Bebe," as the sporting sheets call him, is the only player whose name has become widely known here. His title to fame, however, is one rather to his money making ability than his knack of smashing out home runs.

"Landis Should Act Like a Man," Opines Johnson

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—President Ban Johnson, of the American league, said today, he was amazed by published statements credited to him and representing him as saying he would drive Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, Charles A. Stoneham, principal owner of the New York Giants, and John McGraw, the Giant's manager, out of baseball.

"I didn't know such a story existed until I saw it in print," Mr. Johnson said.

The American league executive, who has demanded a federal investigation of the latest baseball bribery charges, has refused to attend the world's series games and was preparing today to go to Excelsior Springs, Mo., for several days. He explained that his legal counsel in Washington can take care of any necessary steps in starting any inquiry that may be made.

Mr. Johnson's controversy with Commissioner Landis in which Mr. Johnson said the world series should be called off and the baseball commissioner's investigation continued, and the commissioner declared the series would proceed as planned was productive of no developments here today. Mr. Johnson, however, in reference to the commissioner and former federal judge, remarked that "Landis was on the bench for 17 years here and got away with insulting a lot of lawyers who appeared before him. He has insulted me and my umpires. He is off the bench now and down among men and should act like a man."

Seven Events On T-O Fair's Auto Racing Program

Seven events with 40 entries comprise Sunday afternoon's automobile races on fair track. Purses of $3,000 are to be scattered through the events which are to feature Red Shafer, mid-west champion, and Dick Calhoun, champion auto racer of the southwest. The first event is scheduled to get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

These races are expected to be much faster and more exciting than the events of last Monday staged by the fair. At 6 o'clock Saturday night workmen got busy and oiled the dust down all the way around the half-mile course, thereby speeding up the coming events. The dust handicap to both drivers and spectators realized Monday will be absent during these races, declared racing officials.

Rice Owls Drub Sam Houston By Lopsided Score

Institute Eleven Produces Its Greatest Punch In Years

FUMBLES AID IN WIN

Bedenk's Forward Defense Displays Charging Ability

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 4.—Showing greater punch than any which has represented Rice in the past several seasons Coach John W. Heisman's Owls scored a 22 to 6 triumph over the Sam Houston Teachers from Huntsville in the opening engagement of the campaign at Rice field today.

In the first half the Owls kept the teachers on the defensive with the ball deep in the invaders' territory. Late in the last period the Bear Cats, flashing some of their expected power and aided by two Owl fumbles fought on even terms with the Blue and Grey eleven.

Owls Fumble Some

Until the last quarter when Pete Trow, who has but recently reported to Coach Jones' squad, was sent into the fight with instructions to open up the Bear Cats' offense, the teachers had accounted for but two first downs. Each was the result of an off-side penalty sustained by an overanxious Owl line. In the meantime the Owls had shoved the oval forward for the required 10 yards on nine occasions. The Owls made six first downs in the final quarter, but fumbles and bad breaks made the drive ineffective.

The passing of Red Weatherford, center on the Houston Heights team last season, proved disastrous for the Teachers. On three occasions he passed the ball past Tidmore and each toss resulted in a Rice score. Two touchdowns and one safety were given the Owls on these misplays.

Tidmore Kicks 75 Yards

Captain Tidmore, the other Heights graduate with the Teachers, was the brightest star on the visitors' attack. Several of his punts were hurried by the charging Rice linesmen, but on one trial he sent the ball from the shadow of his own goal 75 yards down the field. It was Tidmore also who received Trow's pass in the last quarter and dived across the line for the only Teacher tally.

The work of the Rice ends was especially pleasing to Owl partisans. Heisman has selected his flanks from his heaviest material and they dumped plays directed at the wings in a manner gratifying to the coaches. In McVey, tackle from the 1923 freshman squad, the Rice tutors have apparently found a forward of great power and promise. McVey tore holes in the enemy defense while his work on the counter attack was regarded of sterling quality.

Rice Forwards Charge

Smith, halfback and Wilford, the initial backfield trio, with Nash at quarter gained repeatedly in the first quarter. In the second period Madden was substituted at half and his play was deemed the best of any individual on the Rice offensive. From a double pass behind the scrimmage line Madden made gains off tackle and on short dashes around the ends.

Coach Joe Bedenk, who has been tutoring the Rice line, has taught the Owl forwards the technique of charging. In every scrimmage the Rice line was under the opponents and the failure of the teachers to gain through the line was a result of this charging power.

Captain Kirk's recovery of a Rice fumble and his 60-yard dash to Rice's 15-yard line in the last quarter was the most sensational event of the afternoon.

The lineup:

Rice (22)	Position	Sam Houston (6)
Underwood		McDonald

BLONDY

Wichitans will be given their last chance today to receive possibly the largest thrills of a lifetime. You who have never been so far up above the rest of the world you were more or less peeved at getting back to earth again and then felt a bit stuck up about it, should take advantage of hte cheap rides offered by the Gaten aerial circus at the fair.

That's one thrill—getting as darn far up that you look down on the rest of the world both figuratively and literally speaking. Then there's a whole bag full of thrills if the pilot decides to turn a few loops, do a tail spin, Immelman turn, and a few other flip-flops.

The writer had the pleasure also disconufiture of taking a flight into the clouds, so to speak, only there wasn't a cloud that day, with Loop King Billy Brooks, and yesterday a trip in the general direction of heaven with Cloyd "Clev" Clevenger, America's first commercial sky-writer and plane stunt artist.

Flew up close to St. Peter and the Pearly Gates in more ways than one. The sensation derived can't be described. Wasn't strapped in during the first voyage. Felt myself easing up out of the seat each time Brooks started down in the first step of a loop, and just about the time I was getting ready to bid the world good-bye settled back with a slap as he took the turn upward. Thrilled? That's not the word. Scared stiff, and grabbing everything within reach, but tickled to death, after all—that's part of the feeling.

Went through so many twists and curley-ques in one trip that couldn't tell whether I was still living or had passed on to the great beyond—got so durn dizzy didn't know what it was all about. But there's a kick in it.

Then there's the scenery, too. Get up a little ways and you can see easily a 100 miles any direction. Automobiles below look like a procession of beetles. The Red river and Oklahoma seem but a couple of blocks away, and Electra looks like it's around the corner. And then when you get up over a bunch of people and see them all craning their necks looking at you, you certainly do feel important and aristocratic; just naturally too good to come back to earth again. Just another sensation.

Baylor Swamps Denton Normal Gridmen, 30 to 0

WACO, Oct. 4—The brute strength of the speeding 197-pound Sam Coates, former Waco high star, playing the first intercollegiate game of his career, the powerful drive as well as speed of Bennie Strickland, the serpentine glide of George Fall, the artful ability of Bill Coffey to come hobbling up with the ball for a material gain when it seems that he is thrown for a loss and the line plunging of Captain Bullet Pittman formed an offense that was too much for the Denton Normal aggregation Saturday afternoon at Carroll Field here. The Bears won, 30 to 0.

Although that old weakness of being unable to fathom an aerial attack cropped out in the late stages of the game, the Bruins showed a marked improvement over their form of last week. The line from end to end played sensational football both on the offense and the defense and against the first string team the normalites were scarcely able to score a first down on its running and plunging attack. There was Bear Walker in the line, guarding his position in a manner most spectacular, worming his way through to rush the opposing center, a characteristic he has developed to a degree higher than is known to any other lineman in the conference. As a result of Walker's effort along this line ably assisted by Jack Sisco, Howard Hartzog and the powerful Sam Coates.

Coffey Gets Loose

While the punting ability of Pittman and Strickland, the many splendid runs of Strickland and the plunges of Pittman did much to aid the Bears in their scoring efforts, not to mention the superb work of Sam Coates, who could not be stopped on fridges' well known tackle around play, the most sensational run of the day was staged by Bill Coffey, while his rival candidate for the quarterback, George Fall, staged two that were nearly as brilliant.

Coffey's spectacular run came late in the third quarter. He received the ball and started toward the left end. Noting that he was cut off, he cut back and darted into a mass of normalites. It seemed that he had been thrown for a loss of a yard or so, but somehow, running so low that he seemed about to fall with every step, he emerged from the grasp of his rivals and raced 40 yards through a broken field to the Denton 20-yard line before he was finally brought down. An injury caused Coffey's removal from the game following this run, but the play resulted in a touchdown and Coates ploughed his way to the 10-yard line and then carried it over the goal with fourth down and six yards to go.

Fall Flashes

Although his path was beset with obstacles in the form of not one, but many of the warriors sporting the Green striped jersies, Fall managed to wiggle his way for a gain of 25 yards, a thrilling run, indeed, when the circumstances are considered and the achievement was greeted by roar after roar of applause for seldom, indeed, has Waco produced a more popular gridster than this light, unassuming lad.

All-Wichita Falls Golf Tourney To Open Up Oct. 18

Country Club to be Scene Of First Annual Conflict

There are to be four flights, all from scratch, and 16 players to a flight. One dollar entry fee will be charged, and all fees must be turned in to either T. P. Adams, committee chairman or Bill Strachan, Country club professional, by Oct. 15. Handsome trophies will be given in each flight. The victor in the championship flight will, of course, receive the neatest prize of all. There will be a runner-up's trophy in each flight also.

Players entering the tournament will be allowed to practice on the course during the week of the qualifying rounds.

Each round will be given a week in which to be played. Golfers not finishing matches as per schedule will forfeit. Winter golf rules are to be observed.

Coyotes Slated to Find Going Rougher This Season

District Mates Each Boast Of Powerful Array

WACO STRONG AGAIN

Amarillo May Cut Wichita Falls Out Of Race

The 1924 Texas interscholastic football race is on. Abilene high, state champion of 1923, and runner-up in 1922 has gotten away to a flying start. The same might also be said for Waco high, state champion of 1922, and runner-up in 1923. Out in Abilene the ardent admirers of the home team tell you that the Eagles are just as strong as they were last year. Despite the fact that seven members of the team of last year have graduated, the Abilene sportsmen firmly believe that Coach Jones will carry the Abilene team just as far in the interscholastic race as Shotwell has carried it in the past. Bryan, sensational center of last year, now weighing well over 190 pounds, has been shifted to an end where he is said to be a terror. On the defense he backs up the line. The Abilene boys opened the West Texas fair with a splendid 48-to-0 triumph over the Stamford club, a team which gave Abilene all sorts of trouble last year.

In Difficult District

In the past the Abilene team has been fortunate in its geographical location. Heretofore the Eagles have won their district championships without serious opposition and have gone into the semifinals with ease. This year it is different. Abilene faces one of its most difficult assignments of the entire year in its own district. The Cisco team is "laying" for Abilene this year, and Cisco has a powerful aggregation. It is composed entirely of veteran material and is said to be the heaviest high school team in the state. In west Texas the fans believe that the championship team of section 2 in the class A division will also be the state champion. They believe that the state title will hinge on the result of the games between Cisco and Abilene.

Waco Will Be There

Waco high has shown little in its two games to date, although both contests were won by overwhelming scores. Coach Tyson's Tigers concealed their real strength behind the apparent weakness of the opposing teams. The defense of the Waco eleven seems strong. So does the offense, but opposition has been of such a poor class that the real strength of the Waco eleven cannot clearly be estimated. But it's always understood that when ever there is a Texas high school football championship at stake Tyson and his Tigers will be there. The venerable Brazos river grid mentor ranks in high school football in the same light that McGraw, the tactician, stands in major league baseball.

In the Waco section there are six class A teams. Corsicana, Ennis, Waxahachie, Hillsboro, Terrell and Waco. Ennis has been eliminated, while Waxahachie without the use of Shires not only eliminated Terrell but overwhelmed that club Friday before last. Waxy now looms as one of the most dangerous contenders for the district title. Waco will clash with the Corsicana team in its first class A game and should win, and if the Tigers do win only Hillsboro, Waco and Waxahachie will be left in the championship hunt. Hillsboro had a strong team last year, holding the Tigers to 14 points, and will more than likely be as strong this season, but the Tigers will have a slight advantage over the Eagles in that the game will be staged in Waco in late October.

Coyotes Up Against It

Amarillo after threatening for the last several years may flash a club capable of winning from all northwest Texas this season. Along with Wichita Falls the Golden Sandstorm appears to be the favorite in section one which consists also of Electra, Vernon, Lubbock and Plainview in class A division. However, Vernon and Electra each are boasting formidable eleven, and may cause the Coyotes and Amarillo much trouble. Coach Bud McCallum of the Wichita Falls team has his hands full at present trying to rebuild the machine which went into the semi-finals in 1923 greatly because of the presence of the mighty Leo Baldwin in the lineup. Without the brilliant Baldwin in his backfield this year and with the absence of Smith and Coffee, last year's fighting tackles, McCallum's task in developing a pennant winner is pretty tough. Although to date the Coyotes have produced echo of real fight their status as an efficient football machine is not clear. With two games on the card this week, one with Burkburnett, McCallum's youngsters may come to life and produce a brand of championship football. But at present, the outlook isn't very rosy.

With injuries here and there cropping up during practice games in astonishing regularity Wichita Falls will find the path to the top of the heap this year far tougher than was the trip last season to the semi-finals.

Cleburne and Central high of Fort Worth are due to stage a merry old battle for the championship of section three. Coach Fred Erney always has a strong club. He is one of the most efficient high school mentors in the state of Texas and with the material at hand his club is due to advance far in the race this year. His team may win in his section which is composed of the Fort Worth schools, Mineral Wells and Weatherford.

Hot Race In No. 8

In section five the winner of the Dallas championship is also quite likely to be the winner of the class A district title though Denison, Greenville, McKinney, Sherman and Sulphur Springs are also in the race. No team seems to have a distinct edge in section six with Athens, Crockett, Jacksonville, Nacogdoches, Palestine, Marshall, Texarkana and Tyler entered ad well as others. Beaumont may again come through in section seven but Dimmitt's team will meet real opposition in the Port Arthur and Houston teams.

Section eight promises to witness some hotly contested races before the chase. Austin, San Antonio teams district, and all are boasting of teams of near championship calibre.

With the material at hand the San Antonio teams should have done much better than they have done in the past. Perhaps they will come through this year. Austin, eliminated by the Granger high team last year in a freakish contest, is due to go much further this year. Under the coaching of Bobby Robertson the team has been showing up exceptionally well, and will make a real bid for the class A championship of Texas

SWEET DREAMS POKE DOESN'T HURT, BATTLERS DECLARE

"Yes," said Bernie Wefors, U. Y. A. C. track coach and former sprinting champion, "a fellow has to be game in athletics. Did you ever notice how many sprinters have black toe nails."

A sprinting shoe is short and fits tight. If it gets wet the leather shrinks and pulls against the end of the big toe. Then at every stride the foot is thrust forward against the end of the shoe, and the wet leather pulls the nail loose.

"In the Olympic tryouts at Boston this year Charlie Paddock nearly lost his toenails in the preliminary heats. So did Jackson Scholz. It was raining and the track was wet. Their shoes shrunk. Afterward, before the final heats, I wrapped their toes with tape to hold the loosened nails in place, and they went out and ran as if there was nothing the matter. It may hurt while you're waiting, but when the gun goes you don't feel anything until the race is over."

Many boxers have told me that in the excitement of battle they don't feel blows. The only effect of a blow that looks like the beginning of a massacre is to deaden the sense of feeling. A knockout is like taking an anaesthetic—no feeling connected with it at all. Sometimes you wake up with a headache, but the knockout itself is nothing.

Young Corbett, knocked down by Eddie Hanlon, once told me that he must have been unconscious for a couple of seconds. Then he dreamed he was lying on the sand at the seashore watching a bright moon slowly rising from the sea. It was the brightest and most wonderful moon he ever saw. Then suddenly a wave went over him and the moon turned into a white glare and he woke up to find his face against the canvas ring covering and his eyes staring at the white canvas, brilliantly illuminated by the arc lights overhead. That was his moon. Harry Tuthill had thrown a cup of ice water on his back to bring him to. That was the wave. Young Corbett got up just in time and fought his way to a draw.

Frank Erne, knocked out by Joe Gans with the first punch of the first round, woke up in his corner, turned to his seconds and asked: "why don't they ring the bell? Are they going to keep us waiting here all night?" He didn't know the fight had started.

Last year Luis Firpo, knocked out in the second round by Dempsey was picked up by his seconds, reeling, he shook the handlers off and put up his hands. Afterward he protested that he had only been down a second or two, and couldn't have been counted out.

"I didn't feel Dempsey's punches at all," said Luis afterward. "I don't know why I fell down."

I talked with Jess Willard after he was knocked out by Dempsey. Jess recovered, left the arena in his tights instead of going back to the dressing room, and ran all the way to his abandoned training quarters a mile away, beside the lake. He wandered around the empty place trying to find his training staff, thinking that he had come out for a day's training. He didn't remember the fight until hours afterward. Then he said: "Dempsey must have hit me on the break and caught me off guard. No, I don't think he hits very hard I don't remember feeling any of his punches."

That shows the effect of the Dempsey shock punch. It doesn't hurt—it stuns. Willard didn't remember, but Dempsey got him first with a terrific right hand punch below the heart, diving in under his lead. The next blow was a left hook on the side of the head, and that nearly knocked Willard out.

Reno Jim Jeffries told me this:

"I don't remember fighting fifteen rounds. I just remember I was in a daze in the dressing room before the fight and I remember Jim Corbett saying: 'Go out and take a good punch on the jaw and it will wake you up.' I remember I walked toward Johnson and held my jaw out. After a long time he hit me. It didn't wake me up. I could hardly move. I held my jaw for another punch and it came over. I remember thinking: That didn't do it. After that I think I remember the punch that closed my eye in the second round, and I remember once when he hit me a good one on the jaw and I woke up for a moment and hit him hard in the body and pulled my hand back to hit him again, and then I couldn't push my hand out to hit. I don't remember anything more." Jeffries believes to this day that he was drugged before the fight. If he was, of course there is a reason why he didn't feel punches.

THEY ALL MISSED GUESS

Brown, One of Best Baseball Forecasters in the country, Doped Nats For Second Division.

Norman E. Brown, one of the best baseball forecasters in the country missed his guess with the other boys this year. It is interesting to read what he thought of the Senators just before the season opened. His review of the club is reprinted from an issue of April 9:

NEW YORK, April 9.—After watching the Washington Senators in action at Tampa, Fla., and following the progress of the team generally since leaving the baseball state, I can't see Clark Griffith's crew finishing in the first division this coming campaign.

Griffith still has the same old outfit—Walter Johnson and a fair team. There is no reason for expecting any more of them than they produced last year when they managed to nose into fourth place late in the year.

The Red Sox and Athletics, two second division clubs last season, look stronger this year. Which means the Senators will have a tough job holding fourth place.

Griffith's pitching staff always has been his main asset. Johnson, judging from his wonderful work last year and his present condition, will turn in a good string during the coming summer.

I can see only one other pitcher as his running mate, Zachary. Mogridge will not be a winner. Russell is getting along. Rashker will be one of the regulars, but whether or not he will prove a winner is problematical.

Griff's hopes lie in young Martina, Dan McGrew and Fred Marberry. McGrew and Marberry made their debuts last fall. Marberry coming up from Little Rock won four games without being charged with a defeat. This year he has the advantage of that experience and a spring of coaching down south. He has a beautiful chance of pace, the best I saw in the south.

Fink Has Tough Assignment In Jackie Sanders

South Carolina Wop Billed Rough and Tumble Customer

LEVINE MEETS RIVERS

Atkins Scraps Carpenter And Riley Comes Back

Following a week's lay-off due to the Texas-Oklahoma fair the American Legion will resume its weekly boxing bills Thursday evening. Already battlers lined up for the program have been working hard in preparation for the bouts. Jackie Sanders of Charleston and Frankie Fink of Dallas both arrived in Wichita Falls early the past week, and got down to business. The two bantamweights are scheduled for the 12-round main event.

In Sanders, Fink has a tough assignment. The South Carolina Wop is a rough and tumble customer who usually scraps from gong to gong. And Jackie has met practically all of the good boys. He's a veteran and knows the ropes of the ring game well, according to his clippings. The classy Fink is not picked to lose, but it is believed that he will have his mittens quite full in taking care of Sanders.

Tabby Levine, Wichita Falls amateur featherweight favorite, is matched to resume hostilities with Johnny Rivers of Fort Worth. The pair have met twice. Tabby took the edge, but local ring bugs were kept on their feet with excitement caused by the speed and willingness to mix it shown by the little fellows. Levine when boxing Rivers, has put up his best fights. Rivers is not expected in town until the day of the bout. Tabby is on hand now, and in good condition. The boys are billed for a ten-rounder.

Promoter Wofford hopes to produce eight rounds of slugging in the second semi-windup which is to be between the light heavyweights, Moke Carpteter and Jack Atkins of Childress. The big fellows are neither very clever, but both pack hefty wallops.

Jimmy Riley, the fast battling little Altus welterweight, has been matched with a youth from Oklahoma City who calls himself Popcorn Kid, and declares he is known from coast to coast. This tilt will be four rounds.

LONG DISTANCE SELLING.

American goods to the value of about 2 million dollars are now being shipped abroad each month by parcel post. These figures are encouraging, and prove that the American business man is at last viewing foreign trade in its true light—as "long distance selling."—From Compressed Air Magazine.

Reign of Mighty King Swat Seems Nearing Demise

1924 PITCHERS' YEAR

Hurlers Put Present Clubs In World's Series Arena

Is the reign of King Swat ended? Is the monarchy he has established through the medium of the Big Stick about to be replaced by a republic of pitchers?

Slugging records, which tell more than the stars, indicate this.

The big bludgeons of the five leading home run hitters of the two big circuits failed to land their teams at the top of the heap this year.

The Giants, thanks to capable pitching, battled their way to a fourth pennant with only one slugger, George Kelly. And he ranked sixth in the list of circuit swatters.

The Washington Senators wave but one man who has cracked out over 10 homers. He is Leon Goslin. And in late lists of home run leaders he ranked fourteenth—with barely a dozen smacks.

Ruth Loses Out.

Babe Ruth with nearly half a hundred homers couldn't carry the Yanks to the top. Jacques Fournier's long drives couldn't make up for the lack of another good pitcher to aid Dazzy Vance and Burleigh Grimes of the Dodgers. Rogers Hornsby, setting a world's record by collecting 200 hits for the fifth year in succession and collecting two dozen homers, failed to carry the Cardinals to the top round.

The Browns, with Dolly Jacobson and Ken Williams slamming close to 20 homers each, were out of the money weeks ago. Old Cy Williams of the Phils hammered home runs galore in vain, of course. The support of Harper, who turned in some 15 or 16 in addition, was effort misplaced.

"Zip" Hauser, home run star of the Athletics, ranked third in the list.

Ruth, Fournier, Hauser and Hornsby, finishing in the order named, all rang up more circuit drives than they scored in 1923. Cy Williams, finishing fifth, fell below his '23 mark.

Nat Staff Halts 'Em.

Kelly ran his total six or seven above his previous mark. His home runs, however, did not figure greatly in the battle of the Giants to hold their championship. It was the capable pitching of Bentley, Nehf and the others, under McGraw's shrewd handling, that turned the tide of battle—even against the teams that carried Fournier, Hornsby and Williams.

Records, generally, show that the past season was the biggest one the pitchers have enjoyed since the home run craze began. Do these records and the outcome of the big league presage a return to a saner hitting era?

American Loop Has Edge In Series Over 20 Years

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK — American league clubs have been victorious in 12 out of 20 world's series tussels with National league rivals since 1903.

The Boston Red Sox have the best record of all with five triumphs out of as many bids for the premier diamond laurels. The Philadelphia Athletics accounted for three of the other victories of the junior circuit. The Chicago White Sox won twice Cleveland was triumphant in 1920 and the Yankees last season.

John McGraw's Giants, with three world's title banners out of eight attempts to carry them off, lead the National league list. Frank Chance turned in two triumphs with his old Chicago Cubs, while Cincinnati, Boston and Pittsburgh were each victorious once.

RAILROADS CUT TICKET COST FOR AGGIE GAME

DALLAS, Oct. 4.—Gridiron fans the state over are afforded exceptional facilities by the railroads this year to see the only intersectional game played in North Texas, the Sewanee-Texas Aggies battle at Fair park stadium Saturday, October 11. A low rate, round trip, has been announced for the date by all railroads leading into Dallas, for the entire trip only three-fourths of a one-day ticket, with a two day stopover privilege.

BUCK OF BASEBALL STOCK

Stanley's Dad and Brother Were Diamond Pastimers.

Stanley Harris, Washington manager, is not the first member of his family to like baseball—or play it. The "baby manager's" dad, Thomas Harris, was a pitcher in his young days—until an accident ended what might have been more or less of a brilliant career. The elder Harris pitched for a team in Pittsburg back in '86. Hughie Jennings was his battery mate. Harris sustained a broken elbow while pitching a curve ball one day and his baseball days ended then.

Stanley Harris' brother Merle might also be in baseball today but for an accident. He was playing in the Southern league a few years ago when he broke his ankle. The injury handicapped him in running and fielding and he quit the game.

Game and Fish Association To Meet Tuesday

With John W. Stayton of Dallas, secretary of the Texas game and fish association, as the speaker of the evening, the North Texas game and fish association will meet Tuesday in the 78th district court room at 8 p. m., it is announced by Secretary Harris H. Roberts.

Officials of the association urge that all members and others who may be interested be present at the session. Stayton with his 15 years of experience and study of game and fish propagation and conservation will be be enabled to assist greatly the North Texas association in its new legislative recommendations which are to be made. All of the new legislation introduced or enacted for 1925 affecting game and fish propagation and conservation in this section of Texas will depend largely on the recommendations made together with the interest shown at this meeting, according to Harris.

TILDEN MAY BECOME ACTOR

Tennis Wizard Won't Need Operation To Make Nose Pretty.

Big Bill Tilden may forsake the tennis court to become "a actor," according to word from New York.

"Another good man gone wrong," the sport world will sing.

Bill hasn't gone yet, however.

Somehow or other it's hard to imagine the long and lanky tenniser learning to walk with mincing stride to portray "energy" etc., and getting his eye brows plucked so he makes up well.

One consolation, though, Bill. You haven't a crooked nose to be fixed by the grafting of a slice of cauliflower ear.

Varsity Students Plan Greatest Home Coming

30,000 "Exes" Expected To Be Present at A. & M. Contest

TO DEDICATE STADIUM

Longhorns Do Not Look For Successful Grid Season

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 4.—Plans are already under way to hold the greatest home coming celebration in the history of the University of Texas Thanksgiving when more than 30,000 ex-students from all parts of the United States will assemble in Austin to witness the Texas-A. & M. football which will be played in the $600,000 stadium which is now under construction.

Ex-students of the university in New York, California, Ohio, and all parts of the nation have signified that they will be in Austin for the dedication of the first stadium to be built in the state and to witness the annual football game between the ancient foes.

Students on the campus are at work making arrangements for a cordial reception and to make the former students, many who are returning to their alma mater for the first time in many years, feel at home while they are here. The students' self government has charge of the program and a great celebration will be held immediately following the game.

Statistics Against Steers.

Ex-students in Texas from Brownsville to Wichita Falls and from Texarkana to El Paso will be in Austin Thanksgiving to witness what is thought to be the hardest game in the history of the two schools. Statistics reveal the fact that 39 stadiums have been dedicated in the United States in the past five years and out of this number, 34 games were lost by the home team.

Pep rallies are already being held by the Texas students and talk is flying over the campus concerning the classic game of the season. In a recent talk before the students of the university, Coach Doc Stewart told them that the prospects for a winning team were doubtful this year and that they must look for some defeats. He further added that he was being forced to build his team around two regulars of last year, Dayvault and Captain Jim Marley.

Hope to Beat S. M. U.

The students attending the university are eager for two victories this year if all the rest are denied them. The student body would be willing to lose every game of the season if the A. & M. and S. M. U. games could be won. Texas went through an undefeated season last fall and yet the championship was awarded to S. M. U. This year the S. M. U. team is intact and just the shell of the great Texas team that sent Vanderbilt down to defeat will meet the Mustangs in Dallas October 18. The A. & M. game has always been the battle of the year for Texas students and this and the S. M. U. games will count more than any others to the student body, although the great Florida team will appear in Austin this fall.

SWINGING A JAWBONE.

Many a man doesn't get along well in this world because he imagines he is a modern Samson and tries to accomplish too much by swinging a jawbone.—From the New Orleans States.

Refined Gas Is Served Our Patrons

Among other processes made necessary by the huge volume of gas delivered by this company, that of removing from the gas as it comes from the well all of the impurities is noticeable.

It is of great value to the consumer, because it gives a gas that burns cleanly, and by converting the flow into what is known as dry gas prevents the clogging of the pipes.

Bituminous products and gasoline are the two most serious factors that must be removed. Otherwise they would condense in the pipes and have to be drained out at intervals along the pipe lines.

Huge plants have been erected for this purpose, through which the gas passes. The foreign matter remains and the dry gas, in the best possible condition for domestic use, is forced into the mains. Without these plants there would be danger of interruption in the service.

Davis and Pinks Cut Straw Vote Lead of G. O. P.

IN EIGHTEEN STATES

Early Returns Had Shown Chief Executive Far In The Lead

Davis and LaFollette have decreased the proportional lead of Coolidge in this week's returns of the Literary Digest's 15,000,000 vote presidential poll published today.

Of the 688,019 ballots tallied, Coolidge has 397,322, Davis 118,239 and LaFollette 164,366, which is a percentage gain for both the democratic and progressive candidates from the earlier returns of the Digest's poll.

Returns from 18 states are recorded in the present count showing Coolidge leading in every state except Virginia and Texas, where Davis is ahead, and Wisconsin, where LaFollette polls a plurality. The progressive candidate is running second in 11 of the 18 states and Davis is second in five.

"The first returns" states the Digest, "when the votes stood at 25,000, gave Coolidge 16,071, Davis 3,792 and LaFollette 5,396. It will readily be seen that Mr. Davis' present vote is at a much improved ratio.

"In the earliest returns, Mr. Coolidge had between four and five times as many as his democratic opponent. In the present poll of 688,019 votes the republican candidate has only a trifle more than three times as many, a very considerable reduction in his proportional lead.

"Mr. LaFollette, also, has cut down the lead of the president, the first returns showing the Coolidge strength at approximately three to one in LaFollette's cases, while the present report gives somewhat less than two and one-half to one.

"Mr. LaFollette's popular vote continues to be well above that registered by Mr. Davis, but, of course, on the basis of the returns so far received. Mr. Davis would have the greater number of votes in the electoral college. Only Wisconsin is thus far credited to the Wisconsin senator, with Minnesota, where he was expected to have a considerable lead, thus far, apparently, safe in the republican column.

"The state that continues to hold the center of the stage, however, is California, where LaFollette has piled up a total of 38,926 votes against the president's 43,324. Even though this shows a slight weakening in the LaFollette strength since the Digest's first printed returns of 1,824 for Coolidge and 1,261 for LaFollette, the Wisconsin candidate's apparent strength continues to surprise those political prophets who had confided California to the republican fold."

An interesting feature of this poll of the Literary Digest is a detailed record of how the present voters in this straw balloting voted at the last official presidential election, which is also recorded state by state.

"To take the critical state of Minnesota," the Digest offers as an example of the comprehensiveness of its returns "our records show that of the 13,134 voters who vote for La Follette, 6,640 voted the republican ticket in 1920 while 1,888 voted democratic, and 4,453 either did not vote or did not register their previous vote on the Digest card.

"In that state, 1,124 previous democrats are voting for Coolidge, with 18,696 former republicans, to make up the huge total of more than 24,000 registered for the president. The comparatively small democratic vote in this state, 3,719, is contributed chiefly by 1,884 former democrats and 1,054 former republicans.

"However," the Digest cautions, "though 25 times 25,000 votes have now been collected, it must be kept in mind that only 28 of the 48 states contribute to the present total. The poll is young yet, the more strongly democratic states are still to be heard from, and many thousands of ballots are going out in the mails daily."

Shark Teeth Also Found in Southwestern Kansas

SALINA, Kans., Oct. 4.—W. T. Crandall, P. E. Cole, Perry F. Brown and Arthur A. Wonder, teachers in the Kansas Wesleyan college of commerce, while on a hunt for fossils in southwest Kansas, were well repaid for their efforts when they discovered an unusually large fossil of a clam near Utica, Ness county, last week.

They have just returned to Salina with their trophy. It measures fifteen inches across the back and is a perfect specimen. It was found in a chicken yard where a farmer was using it as a water trough for his flock. When asked for the specimen the farmer consented, stating that he had "plenty more of them." This specimen is said to be the largest one that has ever been found in this state and will be added to the museum at the university.

The instructors brought back to Salina also a number of shark teeth that were found near Utica. These also are perfect specimens. Each of the fossils is thousands of years old.

CALIFORNIA NEEDS RAIN.

State Experiences Heavy Loss From Worst Drought in Years.

By The Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 4.—Choked with the smoke of disastrous forest fires, discouraged by the sight of crops withering in the sun from lack of irrigation water and suffering from the great scarcity of electricity, due to lack of flow at the hydro-electric dams, California is gasping in the longest drought of many years, and praying for a generous rainy season this fall.

There was virtually no rainfall along the coast last winted and the snowfall in the mountains was the lightest in many years. Most of the water for irrigation, for the generating of electric power and for supplying of cities comes from the mountains where the melting snow furnishes a steady source all summer. Due to this lack of snow the past year many of the towns and smaller cities have been left without a flicker of current in their wires and many others are so restricted in their use of electricity that the streets are dark at night and housewives have been forced to abandon such things as electric irons, washers, toasters and the like.

972 Bench Marks Set in Program For Flood Control

2,000 Square Miles Mapped Topographically, In Texas

REPORT IS READ

80 Federal Field Parties, At Times, at Work in This State

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—Two thousand square miles have been mapped topographically and 972 permanent bench marks set in the last year in the state flood and water power control program, according to a review of the work published today by the board of water engineers. The report was read at the water conservation meeting in Fort Worth today.

The work was accomplished by the board in co-operation with the United States geological survye.

"At times there were 80 federal field parties at work in the state," continues the report. "In addition to the acreage covered by the ground parties photographs of 11,500 square miles or 7,380,000 acres were made from airplanes by the United States air service. Captain Giffin and Lieutenant Lynch of Kelly Field were in charge of this phase of the work and the co-operation was secured through the United States geological survey.

"It is estimated that with average weather conditions this year the field parties of the survey will be able to map at lenst twice as much area as was mapped last year due to the advantage of the preliminary work already done and in large measure to the air work of the army.

"At the beginning of the fiscal year 50 stream measurement stations were maintained in Texas. Eighty-two stations were added during the year making a total of 132 within the state. In audition there are seven stations on the Rio Grande maintained by international agreement and co-operation. It is expected that between 175 and 200 stations will be in operation by the end of the fiscal year and that the needs of Texas will be supplied in stream measurement stations. The completion of this program will bring under observation the main stream and every important tributary of every water shed in Texas from the Sabine to the Rio Grande and including the Canadian and the Red. A less comprehensive scheme would not meet the needs of Texas."

KEEP KIDNEYS CLEAN, DRINK MORE WATER

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Also Take a Little Salts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Boils!

DON'T CLOSE your eyes to the warning which Nature gives when angry, painful boils appear on your neck, face or other parts of your body. Boils, pimples and so-called skin disorders are the result of an impoverished condition of the blood and are not to be trifled with.

It is nothing more than folly to expect to get absolute relief from the use of local treatments, such as ointments, salves, etc. Such remedies may afford temporary relief but you want more than relief; you want a remedy which will rid you forever of the torturing disorders. And the one remedy which has no equal is S.S.S.

S.S.S. stops boils and keeps them from coming. S.S.S. builds blood-power! That is what makes fighting blood. Fighting blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights skin eruptions—pimples, blackheads, eczema! It always wins! S.S.S. has been known since 1826 as one of the greatest blood builders, blood cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Why Are You Sick and your neighbor well? You see men and women who have perfect health, can eat anything, can do anything and never suffer a pain, while YOU dope and complain and never feel like anything—just drag out a miserable existence. And, still you have the same organs in your body as the others but they do not work right. Did it ever occur to you that the CAUSE OF YOUR TROUBLE has never been DISCOVERED AND CORRECTED. Do you know that you have the greatest chemical laboratory in your body that there is on earth. Do you know that your NERVES carry every bit of power there is in your body to cause your heart to pump blood, your stomach to digest food, your kidneys to eliminate the poison detrimental to the body, and that those organs will only do their work according to the amount of power they receive from the nerves.

Therefore the nerves are the most important part of the body. CHIROPRACTIC has proven that 95 percent of the diseases are caused by subluxations of kinks in the spine which pinches the nerves which emit from between the joints thereby reducing or cutting off the nerve force from some organ or tissue. If the neck is broken the nerve supply is entirely cut off and the patient dies. If there is only a subluxation of one vertibra or joint, the nerve supply is only diminished to one part of the body, and disease is the result.

Did you ever investigate CHIROPRACTIC, or have that most vital part, the spine, examined? If not, do so now. Chiropractors locate the kinks in the spine that are causing disease and adjust them with the hands back to normal position, which takes the pressure off the nerves—each organ and tissue receives its power, and HEALTH is the result.

Hundreds in this city are enjoying good health who were once broken physical wrecks. Investigate the greatest health science on earth and find how the cause of your disease can be removed.

CALIFORNIA NEEDS RAIN.

State Experiences Heavy Loss From Worst Drought in Years.

By The Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 4.—Choked with the smoke of disastrous forest fires, discouraged by the sight of crops withering in the sun from lack of irrigation water and suffering from the great scarcity of electricity, due to lack of flow at the hydro-electric dams, California is gasping in the longest drought of many years, and praying for a generous rainy season this fall.

There was virtually no rainfall along the coast last winted and the snowfall in the mountains was the lightest in many years. Most of the water for irrigation, for the generating of electric power and for supplying of cities comes from the mountains where the melting snow furnishes a steady source all summer. Due to this lack of snow the past year many of the towns and smaller cities have been left without a flicker of current in their wires and many others are so restricted in their use of electricity that the streets are dark at night and housewives have been forced to abandon such things as electric irons, washers, toasters and the like.

Boils!

DON'T CLOSE your eyes to the warning which Nature gives when angry, painful boils appear on your neck, face or other parts of your body. Boils, pimples and so-called skin disorders are the result of an impoverished condition of the blood and are not to be trifled with.

It is nothing more than folly to expect to get absolute relief from the use of local treatments, such as ointments, salves, etc. Such remedies may afford temporary relief but you want more than relief; you want a remedy which will rid you forever of the torturing disorders. And the one remedy which has no equal is S.S.S.

S.S.S. stops boils and keeps them from coming. S.S.S. builds blood-power! That is what makes fighting blood. Fighting blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights skin eruptions—pimples, blackheads, eczema! It always wins! S.S.S. has been known since 1826 as one of the greatest blood builders, blood cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today and clear your skin of those blood disorders!

REPORT IS READ

80 Federal Field Parties, At Times, at Work in This State

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—Two thousand square miles have been mapped topographically and 972 permanent bench marks set in the last year in the state flood and water power control program, according to a review of the work published today by the board of water engineers. The report was read at the water conservation meeting in Fort Worth today.

The work was accomplished by the board in co-operation with the United States geological survye.

"At times there were 80 federal field parties at work in the state," continues the report. "In addition to the acreage covered by the ground parties photographs of 11,500 square miles or 7,360,000 acres were made from airplanes by the United States air service, Captain Giffin and Lieutenant Lynch of Kelly Field were in charge of this phase of the work and the co-operation was secured through the United States geological survey.

"It is estimated that with average weather conditions this year the field parties of the survey will be able to map at least twice as much area as was mapped last year due to the advantage of the preliminary work already done and in large measure to the air work of the army.

"At the beginning of the fiscal year 50 stream measurement stations were maintained in Texas. Eighty-two stations were added during the year making a total of 132 within the state. In addition there are seven stations on the Rio Grande maintained by international agreement and co-operation. It is expected that between 175 and 200 stations will be in operation by the end of the fiscal year and that the needs of Texas will be supplied in stream measurement stations. The completion of this program will bring under observation the main stream and every important tributary of every water shed in Texas from the Sabine to the Rio Grande and including the Canadian and the Red. A less comprehensive scheme would not meet the needs of Texas."

KEEP KIDNEYS CLEAN, DRINK MORE WATER

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Also Take a Little Salts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Why Are You Sick

and your neighbor well? You see men and women who have perfect health, can eat anything, can do anything and never suffer a pain, while YOU dope and complain and never feel like anything—just drag out a miserable existence. And, still you have the same organs in your body as the others but they do not work right. Did it ever occur to you that the CAUSE OF YOUR TROUBLE has never been DISCOVERED AND CORRECTED. Do you know that you have the greatest chemical laboratory in your body that there is on earth. Do you know that your NERVES carry every bit of power there is in your body to cause your heart to pump blood, your stomach to digest food, your kidneys to eliminate the poison detrimental to the body, and that those organs will only do their work according to the amount of power they receive from the nerves.

Therefore the nerves are the most important part of the body. CHIROPRACTIC has proven that 95 percent of the diseases are caused by subluxations of kinks in the spine which pinches the nerves which emit from between the joints thereby reducing or cutting off the nerve force from some organ or tissue. If the neck is broken the nerve supply is entirely cut off and the patient dies. If there is only a subluxation of one vertibra or joint, the nerve supply is only diminished to one part of the body, and disease is the result.

Did you ever investigate CHIROPRACTIC, or have that most vital part, the spine, examined? If not, do so now. Chiropractors locate the kinks in the spine that are causing disease and adjust them with the hands back to normal position, which takes the pressure off the nerves—each organ and tissue receives its power, and HEALTH is the result.

Hundreds in this city are enjoying good health who were once broken physical wrecks. Investigate the greatest health science on earth and find how the cause of your disease can be removed.

Society Joined Hands With T-O Fair For Past Week's Events

CLAD in dainty white aprons, running perilous risks with dainty fingers in dishwater, ballyhooing and calling out wares, tending benefit booths, display exhibits and giving information, Society attended the third annual Texas-Oklahoma fair which closes today.

Because of the activities of society women in the fair, the calendar of social activities has not been full this past week. Benefit booths of churches, clubs, Parent-Teacher associations have been doing business. Bridge parties and several clubs suspended their meetings for the week in order to attend the fair.

Entries in the woman's department called the attention of women of Wichia Falls as well as that of women of other cities in Texas and Oklahoma. A charming array of embroideries, knitting, crochet, tatting, plain and fancy sewing and culinary displays were shown at the fair. Each division came in for its share of admiration, and many gleanings of ideas for Christmas presents and novelties were taken in.

The woman's department under the direction of Mrs. Charles R. Hartsook, assisted by Mrs. B. L. Fain was one of the most important buildings on the fair grounds, and perhaps had more visitors, for it was favored by both men and women.

In this building was the display of old ladies' work under the direction of Mrs. W. Newton Maer, knitting, crochet and embroidered exhibits done by women past 60 and many of them 80 years. Mrs. Charles E. Basham is chairman of the knitting department; Mrs. R. E. Strange, crochet; Mrs. Hubert Harrison, tatting; Mrs. J. Brown Hopkins, plain sewing; Mrs. E. B. The Musician's club of this city will bring Cecil Arden, mezzo soprano, of the Metropolitan Opera company, to Wichita Falls October 30. The career of Cecil Arden has been exceptional in that her study has been accomplished in America. Without having ever appeared in public she was engaged to appear at the Metropolitan by Gatti-Casazza and was the youngest member of the company. After four consecutive seasons of opera singing and experience in the concert field, the young artist advanced to the foremost ranks of American artists.

The concert will be given in the auditorium of the junior college and the proceeds derived from this concert will be used in part payment on the concert grand Steinway piano which was given to the college by the Musician's club last season.

HANDICAP TOURNEY ATTRACTS INTEREST.

With the coming of crisp October weather and clear, cool days, unmatched for playing, women golfers of the Country club who have been more or less content with small matches during the summer are turning their attention to a handicap tourney staged by the Woman's Golf association. The qualifying round will be played Thursday. For the first flight the eight lowest scores will be paired. The others will be paired for the second flight.

Two prizes have been offered for each flight. In addition, Bill Strachan, golf professional, has offered a prize for the lowest score in the qualifying round. Playing will begin Thursday morning at the Golf and Country club followed by luncheon served at the club house.

PERMANENT CLUB HOME IS URGED.

Looking into the future and realizing the need of the women's clubs of Wichita Falls for a permanent home, Mrs. A. C. Parks, president of the Pierla club, suggested in her message to the members at their first meeting of the year, Tuesday, that the club women meet together to plan for the building of a club home.

Mrs. Parks also suggested that the Pierla club sponsor a girl's club among the young women students of the high school and junior college.

"It is not the idea of the Pierla club to work for itself alone," the president of the club declared in her message, "but it is to work for the good of the community."

A musical program filled with numbers from Chopin and Mozart was given by Mrs. Kenneth Bebb, Miss Mabel Drinkard and Mrs. Edwin Bebb. Mrs. Kenneth Bebb delighted the members with a number of vocal solos. Piano solos were played by Mrs. Bebb and Miss Drinkard.

Mrs. G. T. Drinkard was hostess to the club. Those present were: Mesdames Allen Duncan, K. Bebb, E. Bebb, O. T. Gorsline, F. O. Harrell, John T. Carter, Frank Hoover, Earl Jameson, A. C. Parks, Ernest Westmoreland, Chester Pugh and Miss Clara Schultz.

For Miss McKellar.

Now that Wichita Falls is to be honored by a visit from a national secretary, every Camp Fire Girl must be sure that her dress uniform is immaculate, that her ceremonial gown is made as pretty as possible, and that she has looked well at the requirements for certain ranks in the manual, for it is being whispered that the Guardians in the Tuesday night meeting will determine on Grand Council as the most thrilling thing for everybody while Miss McKellar is in town. Miss Fisk participated in the greatest Grand Council in the history of Camp Fire in Kansas City, you remember, and that was Janet's town and Janet's ceremonial.

Wichita Falls is very much newer in Camp Fire than either of the other two Texas cities with exception—Dallas and Fort Worth—but the steady, rapid growth and the substantial achievements of the past year make her one of Texas' chief strongholds. Miss McKellar's visit will result directly and indirectly in very great good both to the Wichita Falls and the other cities she includes in her field trip.

The local Council, the Guardians' association, and every single Camp Fire girl will unite in making her stay in Wichita Falls as pleasant as possible.

Miss Fisk, local executive, states that the plans for activity and entertainment will be discussed at the Guardians' association meeting Tuesday night, and the presence of every Guardian and Blue Bird leader is almost imperative. Much must be done in the way of preparation in order to make the best use of Miss McKellar's time.

Changes in Guardians.

The loss of five Guardians as the fall work opens has been partly compensated by further shifts of leaders and meetings.

Miss Nell Smith, Guardian of Ikiya, will meet also with Anowa and Temskatawa. Miss Pinney, Guardian of Anowa, is temporarily inactive, and Miss Ellis has resigned as Guardian of Temskatawa. Mrs. S. H. Walton, Assistant Guardian of Ikiya, will become Guardian of Temskatawa in Miss Ellis' place, and the groups will separate after Miss McKellar's visit.

Display at Fair.

The Camp Fire display of miniature Camp life at the Fair is arousing much comment. People seem surprised at some of the activities depicted. That means that they do not know how much fun Camp Fire girls have out of doors. Since the table shows only the camp activities, or the play side of Camp Fire, the more serious work of the winter is still to be learned. Camp Fire is an all-year-round proposition.

Girls Attend Funeral.

Camp Fire girls in white dress uniform attended the funeral of Mary Margaret Lewis' father Thursday afternoon, from Meskel's chapel. Mary Margaret is a member of Ayusunta, Mrs. Ratican's group. Camp Fire extends deepest sympathy to her and all her family in this time of grief and bereavement.

Young Cook Honored.

Olive Humphries of Idaka won third prize on her cake at the Fair. The is eleven years old, and competed against women in the regular cookery department. Another proof that Camp Fire girls are good cooks.

Girls Make Candy.

Marshmallow fudge made attractive the first joint meeting of Anowa and Ikiya Friday afternoon. The girls must make three more kinds of candy to win their honor bead.

Contributions to the joke book were pasted in, and the book will be presented to an invalid or a hospital when it is finished.

ITCHY ECZEMA IS HEALED BY THIS SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

1923 STUDY CLUB READY FOR THE YEAR.

The famed "Outline of History" by H. G. Wells has been adopted by the members of the Nineteen Twenty-two Study club for intensive and detailed study during the coming winter season. The text has been divided into groups of two or three chapters which fall under lesson heads. These are taken up in turn at the bi-monthly meetings of the club.

Four meetings of the club year, however, drop the history study and take up art, debate, citizenship day and Texas natural science day. The roll call of the regular meetings is answered by a wide variety of interesting data which keeps club members informed and up-to-the-minute. National parks, famous people and events, opera, poetry, sculpture, current events, ideals of education and music are some of the topics brought to light and discussed.

GENERAL AID SOCIETY MONDAY AFTERNOON.

Plans for the year's work under the direction of a new corps of officers will be discussed at the General Aid society meeting of Grace Methodist church Monday afternoon. Mrs. C. B. Jetter, new president, will preside. In 1923 the society raised nearly $1,000, and anticipations are that $1,200 may be raised this year.

NEW CENTURY CLUB PLANS BUSY YEAR.

Texas education, international relations, American art, Dorothy Canfield, Emerson Hough's "Covered Wagon," sculpture, poetry and the Wichita Falls irrigation project are some of the widely varied but equally fascinating subjects that will form the material for study of the New Century club this winter.

The New Century club was organized in 1901 and was federated the same year. Each year the club has a varied program in education, art and literature, bringing out its motto of "Neglect not the gift that is in thee." Papers by the members on any subject are limited to fifteen minutes, while book reviews are limited to thirty minutes. The leaders are responsible for the program assignments.

Education, art and literature with an intelligent sprinkling of current affairs form the skeleton of a program which promises to be exceptionally enjoyable for club members during the ensuing season. The 1924-25 program follows:

Colors—Green and White

GENTLEMAN, BUT THIEF.

Burglar, Slain at Los Angeles, Identified at Horton, Kans., Man.

By The Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—Five days ago Patrolman R. Z. Miller discovered a burglar breaking into a downtown jewelry store. The young burglar ran and the policeman killed the fugitive.

The young man was identified as Donald S. McDonald, 22, son of a contractor of Horton, Kans.

The man who recognized the slain burglar explained:

"The night before the twenty-fourth, he said he was going to call on a girl. He was so polished and well educated, such a popular fellow, we never dreamed that he was a crook. He told us his parents supplied him with money. He had an expensive touring car."

Seven recent burglaries have been connected with the dead youth by detectives through a rubber heel imprint.

BOBS MAKE HIM CRUEL.

Woman, Whose Husband Abused Her, When She Bobs, Asks Divorce.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Oct. 4.—Alleging in her suit that because she bobbed her hair her husband became cruelly abusive, forced her to leave home in the middle of the night with insufficient clothing and had beaten her, Mrs. Nellie Keel, 40, has filed suit in the district court here for divorce. They were married in 1905 and have three children.

"GENTLEMAN BANDIT" SORRY.

But his "Situation" Demands That He Accept Assistance.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—A gentlemanly but ragged bandit addressed John Strug and the latter's fiancee in front of her home last night.

"Don't be frightened," the robber assured the girl as he held a revolver in one hand, and then asked Strug to accompany him half way down the block.

"I'm very sorry, I don't really care to do this," he apologized, "You can't imagine what a situation I am in."

Strug could imagine something from him patched trousers and torn shoes, and also the revolver, and tendered a $20 bill.

The robber objected to taking so much money, then suggested the bill be changed, but when Strug said that would be a difficult matter the bandit extracted from his baggy trousers a half dollar which he gave Strug for car fare, took his name and address and promised later to return the sum taken and more.

After waiting long enough for the ragged one to escape, Strug called the police, but expressed the hope that the man would not be caught.

DEAD IN TREASURE QUEST?

Skeleton Found Recalls Story of Buried Indian Wealth.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 4.—A tale of a lone man's quest for treasure, said by folk-lore to have been buried by Indians many years ago in the mountains of Kanawha county, is believed by authorities to have been unfolded by the finding of a man's skeleton yesterday in a section of the mountains where rocky cliffs and deep caverns abound.

A weather stained newspaper containing an account of the treasure legent was found near the skeleton and led authorities to believe that the man met death either through a fall, exhaustion or starvation while scouring the mountains for the mound, which, in the story that has been handed down from generation to generation, covers the hidden treasure.

Physicians expressed an opinion the man had been dead many months. Nothing was found that would aid in solving the mystery of his identification.

SEES BEAR KILL BABY.

Animal Regarded as Pet Is Shot After Death of Girl, 2.

CHICO, Cal., Oct. 1.—Before the horrified eyes of her mother, 2-year-old Georgia Pepper was struck down and killed, at Durham, by a huge bear which all of the children in the neighborhood had regarded as a pet.

The bear, owned by W. M. Qumby, a neighbor of the Peppers, had been chained for four years, and children and grown ups alike had come to regard it almost as a pet, feeding it apples and candy.

The child was passing the bear's cage when suddenly a huge brown paw shot out, clutched her dress and pulled the body toward it. Townspeople were forced to shoot the animal to gain possession of the body.

FORGETS HE SHOT HER.

Chicagoan Kills Woman He Says Was His Fiancee.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Mrs. Julia Douglass, pretty trainer of circus horses and mistress of a riding academy, was shot and killed today by George Munding, proprietor of a Chicago riding academy, after a quarrel in the paddock of Mrs. Douglass's riding school at Hinsdale, Ill., a suburb.

Munding was arrested while he was racing toward Chicago in his motor car, and admitted he had visited Mrs. Douglass, who he said was his fiancee, but he declared he did not remember shooting her. The police ascribed the slaying to Munding's jealousy of another man.

SAVINGS DEPOSITS UP.

Increase for August Amounts to 18 Million Dollars.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Savings deposits in 909 banks distributed throughout the United States increased nearly 18 million dollars in August, according to reports to the federal reserve board. Increases occurred in all federal districts except Chicago, but amounted to less than 0.5 per cent in all except Cleveland, where an increase of 1.5 per cent followed an increase of 2.5 per cent in July.

Total savings deposits were 0.2 per cent greater September 1 than on August 1, and 7 per cent greater than September 1, 1923.

DEATH AT SAME HOUR.

Fate Takes Family of Three, Each at 8 O'Clock at Night.

By The Associated Press.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Oct. 4.—Because an ill man fought with a neighbor who had insulted him, according to a report from the mountains of this county, he suffered a relapse and died. As a result, the story says, an indictment will be sought against the alleged aggressor. The man who died was Earl Justice, and within two weeks he, his wife a[illegible] child have died. Death in each case came exactly at 8 o'clock at night.

Justice was recovering from typhoid fever and had been able to leave his home a short time before he met his enemy neighbor, whose name is not given in the reports. The man is said to have made insulting remarks to Justice and the two fought, Justice losing the fight because of his weakened condition. He went home in a condition of high excitement, broke down and died at 8 o'clock. In the house ill were his wife of one year and their baby, a few weeks old. Both were near death, the baby dying the night after his father was buried. The mother succumbed a few days later.

The Justice family now has no survivor. Justice was well known among the younger mountain people. When the story of the fight, relapse and Justice's death became known a movement was started to bring the alleged aggressor before the grand jury.

The Zeppelin officials declare the personnel will not be insured, although many agents here are attempting to write an additional policy covering the men who will make the Trans-Atlantic trip.

Two Kentucky Ladies Tell of Their Successful Use of CARDUI

Very Ill at the Change

THE first I knew of CARDUI was about twenty-three years ago. I was in bed two or three weeks and didn't get any stronger. I had been trying different remedies without results. I was so weak I couldn't sit up. I felt faint and dizzy and suffered with my side. I was nervous, too, until I couldn't stand anything.

I sent and got a bottle (of Cardui). It seemed to help me. After the first few doses I was stronger, and could eat and sleep, which I hadn't been able to do. I took four or five bottles. It built me up, and I was soon doing my work. I did not forget Cardui.

When change of life came on, I was very ill. My head hurt. I was dizzy and weak at times, and felt like I was sinking away or faint. I would tremble in my hands and knees. I took Cardui—about five bottles in all, and just did splendidly. I didn't have any more trouble through the change.

I do some nursing, especially of women with new babies, and so many times I recommend Cardui for weakness before childbirth. My last case was benefited by the use of Cardui, and Mrs. L. T. was very grateful to me for recommending it to her.

Awful Cramping Spells

I FEEL that I owe a great, great deal to CARDUI, and I am glad to tell of my experience with this wonderful tonic for the benefit of other women who suffer as I have.

For a number of years, I was in dreadful health. Every three weeks, regularly, I would be seized with the most awful spells of cramping.

The pain was so intense that I have taken as high as eight grains of an opiate and not had the least relief. I would scream—I could not help it, I was in such agony, with pains across my chest, back and lower abdomen. It felt as if a huge knife were cutting me in two.

I don't know how I ever lived through it. When one of these spells would pass, I spent my time dreading the next one which I knew would surely come. Nothing did me the least good, and I tried lots of things. Everybody would say, "try this" or "that" and I did, but with no relief from anything.

One day a Ladies Birthday Almanac came into my hands. I read it casually but became interested because I read about a case similar to my own. I decided I would try Cardui just to see if it was as good as some of the women's statements said. I sent for a bottle and began to take it.

At first my improvement was slow. I could notice a slight change for the better. This gave me hope, so I kept up the medicine, taking it regularly—that is where so many women make their mistake, they are not regular about it. After I had taken three or four bottles I felt much better. I was delighted, because the spells were less intense and did not last so long. For two years I kept up the medicine, taking more than twenty bottles of Cardui.

The attacks which I dreaded left me completely. I do not have them now at all. I am a well woman, and I feel as if I owe my good health to Cardui.

The Fable of the Effort to Raise Funds

By GEORGE ADE.

Once upon a Time a Congregation needed some Money. It was not the first time the Thing had happened. Close Observers have maintained that there never was a Congregation anywhere at any time that was not in need of Funds for repairing the Organ or doing something to the Vestry or putting in Coal for Winter.

The members of the Church to which we are referring called a good many Meetings and much Oratory was expended upon what the Minister very tersely designated as the Financial Problem. The Sentiment in favor of hopping to it and making all of the proposed Improvements and spending quite a hunk of Currency was practically unanimous.

Every one who was consulted said: "Sure! Go ahead. The best is none too good for us and we don't want any one saying around that we let our Property run down."

That Point being settled there was nothing to delay the beginning of Work except the mere detail of raising the Money. If the Talk devoted to the Program could have been capitalized at one cent a Word, then there wouldn't have been any Hitch or Delay.

Whenever a bunch of Good People get together to promote some worthy Enterprise the same old Question presents itself. The Folks find it difficult to figure how they are going to make a lot of Expenditures without assessing some one or going around with a Paper. They have paid their Currrent Dues and done something for the Home Missions and have had the Doulnic over to the House for Dinner, and somehow they feel that they have done their share and it is about time for some one else to come through, high, wide and handsome. When every Member of the Flock feels that way the Goat who starts out with a Subscription List finds himself just as popular as Scistica.

A Brilliant Idea

The Deacons wore out Lead Pencils figuring and the Sisters had all kinds of Committees appointed to receive Estimates and then report back to the Main Body, but this kind of Activity didn't get any important Results, as far as you could notice.

Just when Discouragement was settling, like a Pall, over the whole Outfit, Miss Jessie Rivits got up at a Meeting one day and suggested that at least a portion of the needed Collateral might be corraled if the Members would get together and Pull off a Lawn Fete or a Raspberry Festival. This suggestion was received with wild Enthusiasm. Every one wondered why some one hadn't thought of it before.

Some wanted a Lawn Fete because it sounded more tonev, especially when pronounced Fate instead of Feet. Others allowed you couldn't beat an old-time Festival. Sister Wynkoop finally suggested a Compromise—a Lawn Party at which Raspberries would be served. After all had fallen in with this Happy Thought a Date was selected and extensive Preparations began to be made.

It was a Cinch from the beginning that the big Carouse would be held at the Frisbie Home. Sister Frisbie had large and park-like grounds surrounding the Brick Domicile, a squirting Fountain and two cast-Iron Deer.

The first thing to be settled among the Faithful was what kind of Duds they were to wear to the Raspberry Debauch. Nearly all of the Women had to go out and buy Things and the men had to have their Palm Beaches and Flannels sent to the Cleaner. Estimating an average expenditure of $5 a Head for the members and their immediate Kin we have a Total of $2,000 blown in for Costumes.

$14.50 Worth of Complexion Ruined.

Then, supposing that 200 men had their Hair Cut and 200 Old Women, Middle-Aged Women, Young Women and tender Maidens had their Hair freshly bobbed at 50c a Throw, the Item of getting the Hair ready may be roughly guessed at $200.

Mr. and Mrs. Frisbie did not want the big Affair to be a Flop and when the Committee on Arrangements showed a reluctance about providing proper Lighting for the Front Yard, Mr. Frisbie went out and bought $18 worth of Chinese Lanterns and strung them around.

Mrs. Frisbie wanted the Place to look slick so that she would be sure to get a Puff in the Local Paper. When the Account finally appeared it said that the sylvan Beauty of the spacious Lawns was further enhanced by a Myriad of Twinkling Lights, suggesting a veritable Fairy Land. So it will be seen that the 18 Bucks were well expended.

The rented Tables and Camp Stools cost only $12 and the Committee put in only about $20 worth of Time in arranging them and then re-arranging them.

The Women Folks ruined $14.50 worth of Complexion working in the hot kitchens to make Angel Food and Fig Cake.

It would be a fair Guess to say that the Society Element spent $45 on Taxis to and from. A few of the reckless Lads bought Flowers for the Debutantes. Put this in at $25. Then add $15 for Gas and Oil consumed by those who owned their Cars and had to drive from a Distance.

Mr. Frisbie told Ernest Spilvins, the day after the Party, that he could not replace the Shrubbery which had been trampled down for anything short of $155. Allowing for a certain amount of Exaggeration probably one would be justified in putting down Damage to Shrubbery at $75.

When it came time to check up the Linen and Silverware it was found that $17 worth of Spoons with Blue Thread tied around them had been lost in the Shuffle.

Seven Children gorged themselves and each was tied in a True Lover's Knot with Cholera Morbus before another Sunrise. The Doctor Bills footed up $26.

Before the Big Show broke up the Grass was soppy with Dew and all those who wore those dainty Pasteboard Shoes, held together by Mucilage, were out of Luck. It is difficult to name a Sum of Money which would fairly represent the total wreckage of Footgear but it strikes us that $125 would be about right.

A Great Profit.

It is a well-known fact that all Committees cease to Function as soon as the Event they are managing is in the Past Tense. Mr. Frisbie had to employ Day Laborers to take down the Marquee Tent, drag out the Ice-Cream Freezers and return the Chairs and Tables to the Popular Undertaker from whom they had been leased. The Items of Labor and Hauling cut into the Profits. Nevertheless, the showing, as read by the Pastor on the following Sunday Morning was regarded as very satisfactory. The Gross Receipts had been $111.40. From this there had to be deducted the following Expenses:

Ice Cream	$19.75
Raspberries	6.40
Paper Napkins	2.50
Rental Chairs & Tables	12.00
Hauling Same	8.50
Labor	22.00
Other Incidentals	11.00
Total	$82.15

Deducting the Expenses from the Receipts it was evident that the Church had copped out $29.25 for the purpose of rebuilding the Pipe-Organ, buying a new Furnace and putting a Carpet in the Room used by the Bible Class. The only Items of Expense overlooked by the Committee on Arrangements were the following:

Costumes	$2,000.00
Hair Cuts and Bobs	200.00
Lanterns and Candles	18.00
Extra Labor arranging chairs	20.00
Damage to Complexions	14.50
Taxi Bills	45.00
Flowers	25.00
Gas and Oil	15.00
Damage to Shrubbery	75.00
Lost Silverware	17.00
Clothes Ruined by Tallow	20.00
Doctor Bills	26.00
Damage to Shoes	125.00
Incidentals	475.00
Total	$3,084.50

If these Expenses had been put in, then the Net loss on the Fete would have been, in round Figures, $3,055.25. But, as the Man says to the Inspector who is checking up the Income Tax Return, "That is all a matter of Book-Keeping."

The large Doings over at the Frisbie Home were regarded as a Social Triumph and a Financial Success and if the Participants are happy, why should any Outsider begin to holler?

Moral: Anything to avoid dropping it into the Hat.

URGE JAPS AID LIN

Crowd of 5,000 Persons, Including Peers, Participate in Meeting.

TOKIO, Oct. 4.—Five thousand persons, including members of the house of peers and representatives, attending a meeting in Shiba park today adopted resolutions urging the Japanese government to interfere in the civil war in China as an ally of General Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian leader, who is carrying hostilities against the Peking armies for the control of the central government of China.

The Japanese government must carry out a policy in China independently of other powers, the resolution read. This was made necessary owing to Japan's special position in China.

Maor General Sato, retired, addressing the meeting, said "Japanese troops should be sent to China before the Peking troops enter Manchuria," where General Chang Tso-Lin rules.

WOULD "ANNEX" GARAGE

Seeks to Expand Limits So As to Tax Profitable Business

By The Associated Press.

COTTONWOOD FALLS, Kas., Oct. 4.—The city fathers of Cedar Point, a small town in the west edge of this county on the new Santa Fe trail, do not believe it is right for one of the business men of their own town to erect his store just outside of the city limits for the purpose of escaping the town tax when he receives practically all the benefits of the town.

Accordingly the city mayor and the council have brought an action in the district court asking that the town limits be enlarged to include the ground and building of Gus Carpenter, who operates a garage and filling station

In bringing the action, members of the town council explain that five years ago when the building was erected by Carpenter, the latter objected to having his lot and business included in the corporate limits of the town until he could pay out on the improvement. For five years the town has let the matter run, but it believes now it is time to have Carpenter and his business as a part of their town.

What is the GREATEST THING IN THE WORLD?

LOVE! OF COURSE!

We live in a new and startling age. Things are not as they were.

But LOVE REMAINS and WILL REMAIN the greatest thing in the world.

WHAT is the greatest thing in the world?

Oh, poets have sung it. LOVE, OF COURSE.

Same old banality. As if everything had not been said and sung that could be said and sung about that well-known emotion called love. Dynasties may totter, world wars come and go, man's devilish ingenuity accomplish the seemingly impossible, and along now comes a professor of bio-chemistry at Harvard University who claims that love is a superfluous emotion at best and that the child of tomorrow will be incubated—not just born. And yet there it stands—Love—STILL THE GREATEST THING IN THE WORLD.

Is it?

It is!

So long as it is more blessed to give than to receive, and that will be so long as human beings are human, Love will continue to be the greatest thing in the world. That is the wonder and the glory of it. Back of all love, paternal, filial, passionate, churchly love, is the DESIRE TO GIVE. To give of self. To give of effort. To give of possessions. To give of devotion. TO LOVE IS TO GIVE. And he who gives out of love, gives magnificently and out of the fulness of his heart.

If you have escaped love, if no woman has ever found her way into your heart so that she has hurt it and twisted it, delighted and appalled it, then you are probably a staid old bachelor who lives better than his married friends, wears silk shirts with monograms on the sleeves, smokes twenty-five-cent cigars and throws the ashes on the rug, or you have made a marriage of convenience and don't quarrel with your wife because she has not the SUBLIME CAPACITY TO HURT YOU.

There comes a middle-aged period in life when the ardent aspects of love seem suddenly sophomoric. Your bachelor whose digestion is none too reliable and whose eye-lids are a little puffy, is apt to chuckle over the lavendar-scented love-notes of twenty years ago. But just the same those lavendar-scented love-notes are somehow kept among his treasures, behind lock and key. His very private, treasured own!

If you haven't, more than anything else in the world, desired the presence of One Particular Person, then YOU HAVE BEEN CHEATED. The pain and the joy of blowing hot and cold because One Particular Person in the world has a trick, for instance, of looking at you with one eye-lid quirked!

The absolute desolation of sitting beside a telephone instrument, waiting for a message that you are hoping for from the one person in the world whose telephone calls matter! The desperation and the disappointment every time the telephone bell rings and it is not from that Particular Person.

That absolutely irrational joy of giving! Giving to that Particular Person your hope and your eagerness, your anxiety and your thrill. IRRATIONAL? YES. She may be fair and fat and forty or she may be dark and slim and sixteen. But you love her! HANG IT, YOU LOVE HER! You thrill to her perfume and it may be an atrocious scent that on some one else would offend you. That quirk to her eye-lid. There's nothing about it, of course. It may even be a nervous affliction! But you love her.

Hot breeze, cold breeze, ecstasy, torment, pain, and manna of that! If you haven't blown hot and cold, missed many a heart beat, skipped many a good hour's sleep, you have missed the greatest thing in the world!

Men have accomplished their greatest deeds flushed with the wine of it. Small boys have turned seemingly impossible hand-springs before their adored one's front-porches, while fired with the ardor of it. The greatest thing in the world! Poets sing of it and postal clerks, carried away with it, work over-time to pay off the installments on solitaire engagement rings.

Not ever to have been in love, that way, a little crazily, puppy fashion, even as a sophomore, is never to have tasted wine with the bead on it, or looked into the face of a flower with the dew on it.

Never to have sat on the edge of a chair, hours, with the ache of tears at your throat, waiting for that particular telephone call from that Particular Person is to have been CHEATED OUTRAGEOUSLY.

To be carefully insulated from pain, because for instance you do not love your wife enough for her to hurt you, is to be cheated outrageously.

It is a MADNESS FIT FOR THE GODS.

The reckless folly of feeling yourself get laryngitis as you shop in the rain for artichokes-out-of-season, because that Particular Person is particularly fond of them.

The joy of crying yourself to sleep because the Particular Person went off only kissing you good night five times instead of the six of the evening before.

Folly!

Yes, but the BLESSED FOLLY of throwing down your cloak for a queen to pass over a mud-puddle.

So much that is new and startling has dawned upon this amazing day in which we live.

The bio-chemists talk of the age of incubation. Men fly where they used to crawl in caravans. We sit in Spain and listen-in on America. Men's heart-beats may even be recorded at long-distance. We are wiser. Times have moved along. Everything is in a state of change and so-called advancement. Is love still the greatest thing in the world?

IT IS!

Oct. 5 FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

1923 FIRE KILLED NEALRY 20,000 PEOPLE AND DESTROYED OVER $500,000,000 WORTH OF PROPERTY ALL OVER THE U. S.

WILL YOU DO YOUR PART TO PREVENT THIS HAZARDOUS DESTRUCTION

The American people are woefully derelict in this matter. Fire Prevention Week, beginning today, will serve a most useful purpose in protecting life and property. Let all of us help to make this week the beginning of a safer and saner year. Let forethought and caution become a universal habit.

Let us break from the ways of waste and follow the path of protection for our lives and our property, the lives and property of our neighbors.

Insurance men are this week rendering the community a real service by bringing the vital matter to our attention, at the same time assuring us full indemnity on Fire losses.

Fire Chief's Proclamation

October 5th to 11th has been designated as National Fire Prevention Week all over the United States and as Chief of the Wichita Falls Fire Department, I urge all citizens to put forth special effort toward preventing and eliminating fires during this week. Especially in the public schools should the importance of fire prevention be stressed.

At least 80 percent of all fires are preventable. The outstanding causes are: Defective chimneys and flues, gas—natural and artificial—hot ashes and coals, matches and smoking, rubbish and litter, petroleum and its products, sparks on wooden roofs, stoves, furnaces, defective wiring, spontaneous combustion, and incendiarism.

Carelessness is responsible for most fires—carelessness about constructing and equipping buildings, and carelessness about common fire hazards. Rubbish heaps are fire breeders. A clean city will have fewer fires.

During this week, everybody should co-operate in eliminating the carelessness and the common fire hazards.

ARMS RUNNER ANNOYS SPAIN

London Asked to Keep a Britisher From Aiding Moroccan Rebels.

LONDON, Oct. 4. — The Spanish embassy in London has unofficially approached the foreign office in London with the request that "something be done" about J. P. Gardner, a Britisher, who is at the head of the smugglers sending in arms to the Riffs in Morocco. Gardner is said to be a former officer of the guards and his wife is the daughter of a Scottish peer.

He owns the fast motor yacht Sylvia, formerly a submarine chaser, and faster than anything in the Spanish navy. He is said to have been running arms on this vessel.

It is said a Spanish cruiser recently had the Sylvia cornered in the bay of Alhucemas and wirelessed the Spanish admiralty it was going to shoot holes in the yacht. The fact the Sylvia was flying the Union Jack and that there was no real evidence against her caused the admiralty to flash back in a hurry that such action was inadvisable. The Sylvia then chugged out of port under the eyes of the exasperated Spanish commander.

4 COUPLES MAKE TOWN

French Village Increased to 2,000 in Two Centuries.

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—How four couples in two centuries multiplied into a community of two thousand persons is demonstrated at Ft. Mardyck, a fishing village near Dunkirk.

This town is one of the spots in the country that is not losing population. It owes its thrift to no modern reforms or to any political upheaval.

Ft. Mardyck dates back to the French revolution, when Louis XIV was looking forward to the time when he would need seamen for his navy. He established four couples there with the donation of a tract of land to be parceled out to provide a home for every newly married couple. The families of the four original fishermen inhabitants — Caru, Journiskiudt, Benardt and Everard—are still there, and their descendants have absorbed all but two parcels of the land given by royal decree.

As Louis XIV shrewdly had foreseen, Ft. Mardyck has furnished thousands of able seamen to the navy and contributed generously toward manning the French fishing fleets off the Atlantic coast.

"TO EXCEL, STUDY LATIN"

Classical League Finds It Leads Superiority to Students.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Students who include Latin in their school curriculum show superiority over non-Latin students in other subjects, it has been found by the American Classical league. The third installment of its report, based on an inquiry conducted over a period of several years, was made public today. The margin of superiority of the Latin group of students included in the survey as a whole is about 13 per cent, the league finds.

Of this superiority, nine-tenths is due "to something gained from the study of Latin itself," says the report. The additional percentage of superiority is attributed to a difference in natural ability.

The study was based on records made by ten thousand students who took college entrance examinations before different college boards. Andrew F. West, dean of the graduate school of Princeton university and president of the American Classical league, made public the report.

Six Innocent Sufferers—and Cause

Affairs of Corn Exchange Taken Over by Illinois Mercantile Trust.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The Corn Exchange National bank, one of Chicago's oldest financial institutions, has passed into oblivion with the supplanting of it by the Illinois Merchants Trust company, now the fourth largest bank in the United States.

About one million dollars in cash was moved from the oldest banks' quarters to the trust company's building before the merger was completed. The total resources of the trust company aggregate 473 million dollars.

LESSON IN MAIL AUCTION.

The Government Will Sell Parcel Post Packages Sent Carelessly.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Everything from double-trees for farm wagons to golf clubs are to be auctioned off by Uncle Sam.

Faulty addresses on parcel post packages are responsible for the collection of miscellaneous material which the postoffice department has authorized sold at auction here October 1.

"The loss to patrons of the mails from carelessness in wrapping and addressing parcel post packages," states the official announcement, "will be illustrated forcibly by the auction of all undeliverable articles from the mails, which have accumulated at the dead parcel post branch at Washington in the last six months.

"As an instance of some of the bargains found at the parcel post sales, a diamond brooch, which had been appraised at about $150 by a reliable jeweler, sold to the highest bidder at a recent sale at the New York postoffice for $100. The total amount of that sale was $11,118."

PRINCE'S SON TAKES LIFE?

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Rudolph von Berghoff, who committed suicide last night by jumping from a sixth floor window in the police bureau of identification while facing a 10-day jail sentence for passing spurious checks, said he was the son of an Austrian prince, who committed suicide in 1889. He was an artist and besides paintings, finished and unfinished, he left in his room a note signed, "the last of the Berghoffs," in which he said:

"My country is Esaf, Austria—the home of the Berghoffs, Tannenbergs and Eltzs, who have lived there these hundreds of years. I am the last of these three families."

In another note he declared Americans attached too much importance to money.

JUST HOW GOOD IS YOUR CREDIT

This Answers It For You--Your Credit, When Opening An Account Is Based Upon Three Essentials

First Essential--Character Second Essential--Past Record of Promptness Third Essential--Ability to Pay

FIRST—This essential is best explained by asking yourself the question "Are you the kind of a person to whom you, yourself would lend money out of your own pocket?"

SECOND—Can you name several firms of whom you have purchased goods or services who will report you as "Prompt pay?"

THIRD—In general, is your weekly or monthly income sufficient and sure enough to meet your current expenses and this new obligation promptly when due? Capital is of least importance. People who pay promptly seldom buy more than they can pay for; their judgment restrains them.

Mr. Prompt Pay's credit is always good for a reasonable amount of goods or services. Reasonable amount is based upon ability to pay.

If you are prompt pay, the Credit Man speaks highly of you. He is pleased to recommend you to other credit men. Possibly he has never seen you but he knows how you settle your accounts, and if you are rated as "slow pay" he knows still more, because he is in touch daily with the Association of Retail Credit Men and receives reports which the association has compiled from other members.

AUTO SHOW A MARVEL OF BEAUTY

All Models and Sizes Combined In Fair Exhibit

70 NEW MACHINES

Price of Cars on One Floor Range from $400 To $6,000

From the ubiquitous Ford to the regal Lincoln, the two extremes in motordom's price scale, the exhibits at the automobile show in this year's Texas-Oklahoma fair are ones to challenge the admiration of all who see. Seldom has an auto show of the size and quality of the one now on display been assembled even in the large population centers of the north and east; and experts in the line who have attended the exhibition here have declared it to be without doubt the finest and most complete that Texas has ever produced. And that goes for the state fair, the cotton palace and all the others, they say.

Barring the dress suits, orchestra, palms, flowers and decorations that enter into the Chicago, New York and Detroit shows, Wichita Falls has at least as complete if not as extensive an exhibit as any of those. The variety of machines shown is as large and the quality as high.

Seventy Cars.

Some seventy cars, agencies for which are held by 20 local dealers, are on the floor in the auto building. Twenty-four different makes are included. The price range represented starts around $400 for certain models of the Ford and mounts by easy stages to close to $6,000, which the customs built Lincolns command. Oddly enough, both the Ford and the Lincoln are handled here by the same company, the W. S. Langford Motor company.

In between these two extremes can be found models, styles and values for every taste and pocketbook. The "middlemen class," cars costing from $1,500 to $2,000 of course predominates.

The exhibit attracting perhaps greatest interest at the fair is that of the five Lincoln machines whose aggregate value is over $30,000. Headlining the list are two customs built machines, a four-passenger Berlin sedan and a two-passenger coupe, both with Judkins bodies. The former is finished in cobalt blue with velour upholstering to match and the latter is Orrified Lake, also with velour upholstering. Both cars carry disc wheels and balloon tires as standard equipment. Both are tuned up at the factory before being placed in the dealer's hands, and either can be driven direct from the show room and put up to 55 miles an hour without a bit of trouble or danger.

With wonderful lines and many new refinements, the machines are remarkable examples of what the automobile world can produce. Unless they are sold here this week, both will be taken next week to Dallas for exhibition at the state fair there.

Other Models.

The other models in the display include a Lincoln grey sport model roadster with Spanish morocco duotone leather upholstering and a Towson body; a five-passenger sedan, finished in cobalt blue with velour upholstering and a Lang-built body; and a four-passenger Orrified Lake phaeton with morocco leather upholstering. These latter cars, too, combine exceptional features both in design and engineering.

J. T. Jones, Jr., a representative from the southern offices of the Ford Motor company, builders of the Lincoln, is in Wichita Falls for the show and is stationed at the Lincoln display.

Across the room from the Lincolns have been placed the big cars' baby running mates—the Ford. While they look rather small in comparison, they are nevertheless out in numbers with all the latest models represented. A car with a commercial body, two touring cars, a roadster, sedan and coupe, all of the universally known Ford design, make up this exhibit.

Another high grade machine of more than passing popularity here is a headliner at the Fritz Motor company booth. This one is the Marmon, two models of which are shown. One is a touring car with a cloudy dove finish and harmonizing upholstering and the other is a sedan, elegantly appointed and finished in dark blue. A gray Reo touring car with nettled leather upholstering, disc wheels and the racy Reo lines is also included in the Fritz exhibit, as are two Rollin models, a touring car and a coupe. This latter machine, a comparative newcomer to Wichita Falls, is rapidly gaining a place as one of the popular medium-priced autos on the market.

McFall Has Big One.

One of the largest exhibits at the show is that of McFall Brothers, local dealers in Dodges who have five cars, a specially cut-down steel body and a cross section of a Dodge motor displayed. The body type is designed to show the rigid construction features, and the mechanical appliance reveals the workings of the engine. In the various models are included a two-passenger roadster with disc wheels and balloon tires, a five passenger touring car, three passenger cab, two passenger business man's coupe and a five passenger sedan.

The popular Studebaker line, handled here by the Keim Motor company, has three models displayed. All are of the open type with a distinctive Studebaker feature in tops. The light, special and big six cars put out by Studebaker are shown.

The Chevrolet utility coupe, a touring car and a sedan, all of which are appearing in ever increasing numbers in Wichita Falls make up the exhibit of the Pool-Stogner company. The sedan in particular, is well appointed and attractively finished.

Packard a Beauty.

Lloyd Weaver's offering to the public includes another of the recognized leaders high lines of the country, the Packard, two models of which are shown. One is a six-cylinder five-passenger sedan and the other one of the new straight-eight touring cars. Packard brought gasps from the motor car world a few months ago when the straight-eight was introduced. The mechanical principle was not only revolutionary, but the surpassing beauty of the body was a thing that rival manufacturers have since envied. The touring car is finished in lustrous greenish-gray tint peculiar to Packard, with red disc wheels, balloon cord tires, nickled radiator and other features as standard equipment. Two other popular models, the Chrysler in particular, has attracted attention in this city as it has in others over the country. A special play-again with most of the mechanical parts exposed has been obtained by Mr. Weaver, who is demonstrating the operation of the thing to scores. Chrysler's high powered motor, hydraulic four-wheel brakes and other features bring the machine to the forefront at the show. A sedan and a Maxwell closed model complete the Weaver booth.

Four Nash Cars.

Jumping to still another favorite machine, the Nash, the visitor finds four models exhibited by the Nash-King Motor company. A two-passenger sport roadster, low slung and speedy appearing is flanked by two sedans finished in different colors, but embodying all the refinements that has made Nash one of the best selling middle priced autos in the country. A special limousine with velour upholstering is also on the floor.

At the Parmenter Motor company booth two open model Flint machines are shown. Both are attractively finished and have the powerful Flint motor that combines endurance with economy. A Star touring car and a Star coupe are also included in the exhibit. The latter machine is another of the comparatively low-priced car that has been designed to meet demands for a serviceable, yet inexpensive automobile.

Three durable Hupmobile models, a touring car, a five-passenger sedan with velour upholstering and a two-passenger roadster are displayed by the Motor Sales company. The Hupp has long been a long established favorite in Wichita Falls and the new designs offered this fall an appealing to the Hupp users already in the city.

Two more tried and proven cars, the Hudson and its smaller brother, the Essex, are shown by the Wichita Hudson-Essex company which has three cars on the floor. The former is represented by two large sedans finished in the conventional Hudson blue, with velour upholstering and the famous Hudson super-six motor. An Essex sedan, a popular closed body type powered by one of the new Essex six motors, is also offered for inspection.

"True blue" Oakland is the styling given its three models by the Wichita Oakland company, local agents for that car. A touring car, a sedan and a roadster are included in the display. All three models are merely reflections of many others now in use in Wichita Falls and which combine light weight, low operating cost and small initial expenses with rugged power and lasting dependability.

Cadillac a Favorite.

Cadillac's v-type machine, always a leader where high class automobiles are in demand, are found to the extent of three of the latest models. A massive sedan with feathery seats, handsome upholstering and satin like finish is one of the largest cars in the show. Powered with Cadillac's famous "v-63" eight cylinder motor and equipped with four-wheel brakes and balloon cord it is one of the most distinctive cars in the show. A rakish roadster and a standard type touring car complete the Cadillac exhibit, which was arranged by the Munger Automobile company, local distributors of the machine.

In the Peerless, two models of which are on exhibition, the J. E. Shipley company has one of the old established cars that has recently taken on new improvements in both mechanical and body design. A touring car, well appointed, and a sedan, equipped with numerous devices to add to the comfort and beauty of the tonneau, have been selected for the auto show.

Still reminding the public that Rickenbacker was the first American car to seriously consider four wheel brakes, the Victory Motor company here has two completely assembled models and one special "knock-down" type that reveals in full the mechanical features of the car. The phenomenal leap to popularity enjoyed by the car Captain Eddie Rickenbacker has produced is testimonial to the sound engineering principles involved in its manufacture. A pioneer in four-wheel braking, the Rickenbacker also presents a powerful motor noted for its ease of operation, flexibility, speed and economy of operation. A coupe and a sedan, both handsomely arranged and finished in classic style, are on the floor.

Automobiles Are Attractive.

Birch and Gates have provided three exceptionally attractive models in the Oldsmobile which they distribute locally. Advertised as "a proved car—improved," the Olds six has the standard motor that has been found to be one of the most reliable medium priced pieces of mechanism ever placed in an automobile. A duco satin finish has been added to the car and a new and distinctive design in radiator construction provided. The Olds is a car that has not yet added four wheel brakes, but it has provided a wide margin of safety in oversize drums. A sport roadster, a de luxe sedan and a coupe, together with another of the "knock-down" mechanical models have been set out at the show.

What is proving to be one of the sensations of the auto world this fall is the new series 80 Pierce-Arrow, a new car, a new size and a new price. Classed once as a carriage for the plutocrats with swollen purses and liveried chauffeurs, the Pierce-Arrow now appeals with a smaller touring car selling at $2,885, f. o. b. Buffalo. The features made famous by Pierce-Arrow and all the quality built into the machines for the past generation are retained in the smaller and lighter models, built to fit the smaller pocketbook. At the fair the Bradley-Duke Motor company here has on display a sedan, a roadster and a touring car. All are finished in distinctive colors with the aristocratic lines characteristic of the machine.

Frank Quehner, the man to whose efforts the success of the automobile show can largely be traced, has his Overlands and Willys-Knights dressed up so that all may see. Two Overlands, a sport model machine and a small coupe share exhibition space with two Knights, powered by the famous sleeve valve motors. For the Overland is claimed the distinction of being the most economical gas consumer on the market. Light in weight and well designed, the Overland simply "runs" and keeps on running. In the Knight class, a touring car and a sport coupe both with balloon tires as standard equipment, are on exhibition. A cross section of one cylinder of the Knight motor is also in the Willys-Overland booth and is, as it has been in the past, a cynosure for all eyes.

It might be explained here that Frank Quehner was in charge of the automobile department of the fair and labored unceasingly in order that the city might see an exhibit of the class it deserved.

Finally the Buick.

Last but not least on the list is the Dixon Motor company's display of "the standard of comparison"—Buick. Buick's attractive lines which, incidentally, got it into a rumpus with the Packard people, have caught the eye of the discriminating Wichitan to such an extent that, barring Fords, more of these cars are sold here than of any other type. The muchly advertised valve-in-head motor, a distinct mechanical feature in itself, has also done its bit to bring the Buick that popularity its accomplishments deserve. In the show, three sedans, all finished in different colors, and a touring car have been placed on display. That the "power to start and power to stop" slogan is a winning one for Buick is attested to by the crowds constantly around the Dixon booth.

Summed up, the show is a credit not only to the Automotive Dealers association and the city, but to the individual efforts of those agents who are making it possible for north Texas to obtain quality cars at reasonable prices.

AGED FRANKLIN USED.

Norma Talmadge In Antiquated Hack for Latest Film.

Norma Talmadge rides in a 1904 Franklin (No. 700) in her latest First National photoplay, "The Lady," now being filmed for Joseph M. Schenck productions by Director Frank Borzage at the United Studios.

The pioneer Franklin was built after the fashion of the horse-drawn "traps" which were in vogue at the time the "horseless carriage" first came in.

All efforts on the part of the studio property department to purchase the ancient car proved futile.

MARMON IN EUROPE.

Factory Man to Establish New Agencies Overseas.

Frank L. Hambley, who is widely known in the automotive field, will sail from New York on the S. S. Berengaria August 13 for Europe, where he will represent the Nordyke & Marmon company of Indianapolis in establishing foreign dealer connections.

His itinerary includes England, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Poland, Germany, Czecho-Slovakia, Austria, Switzerland, France, Italy Greece, Spain and Portugal. The tour will occupy about three months' time, during which most of his traveling will be done in a Marmon four passenger sport speedster which he will use for demonstration and display purposes.

Hambley drove from Indianapolis to New York in the car which he will take with him abroad, after he had spent several weeks at the factory interviewing factory officials and perfecting plans for the tour. During the time spent abroad, he will study also export conditions with a view of strengthening the foreign trade of the company.

Pennsylvania Family In Nash Uses Exhaust To Fry Steaks

All the Comforts of Home Found on Machine Used In Long Tour

Roasting a choice leg of lamb on the exhaust manifold of their automobile or frying a juicy steak for the evening meal while the car was on the fly is the course of a transcontinental tour, are experiences enjoyed by Miss Mabel McClelland Snyder and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Plymouth W. Snyder of Hallidaysburg, Pa. Miss Snyder and her parents, in their Nash six touring car, passed through Kenosha, Wis., last week, their speedometer registering 10106 miles for the tour thus far and having still better than 1,000 miles to travel before "Old Faithful," as they call the car, is back home again in its own garage.

The Snyder car is equipped with practically every conceivable convenience for long-distance touring. The cooker, under the hood on the exhaust manifold, has four metal containers, so that while a ham of beef is roasting, potatoes and other vegetables are undergoing a similar process. On the opposite side of the hood a refrigerator assures a constant supply of fresh milk, tomatoes, fruits and other edibles.

The equipment of the car includes also a radio set, containers for fresh drinking water, an auxiliary gasoline tank and a large trunk on the rear in which are stored clothing and a complete camping outfit, including tent, table, folding chairs, table linen, plates and table silver.

The Snyder family left their home in Hallidaysburg May 23 and drove leisurely to the west coast visiting San Francisco, Los Angeles and making many side trips in Lower California and Mexico. Driving northward they went into western Canada and while in Vancouver they met C. W. Nash, president of Nash Motors, who happened to be passing through there on business.

"We are now on our way home," explained Miss Snyder in Kenosha, "but we are first going to visit New York City, so when completed, the tour, including our numerous side trips, will have been over 11,000 miles. Although loaded down with over 325 pounds of luggage the Nash car has taken us over thousands of miles with absolutely no trouble of any description and before starting on the trip we had driven the car two years. The drive has been so comfortable that I really would like to start right back toward the west coast today and make the trip all over again."

SEDAN EASE IN FLINT

Following the announcement of the Flint Six "55" winter enclosure, the Flint Motor company has this week released the news that the Six-Forty, slightly smaller companion model, is now also available with the Rex Winter Enclosure, fitted at the factory to a new permanent top.

As in the "55" enclosure, the outer covering is durable and weatherproof, the frame sturdy and the interior of attractive light fabric. Windows fit snugly and are easily slid back for ventilation or held firmly in place by fasteners.

"The man who formerly drove a low priced sedan, but is willing to dispense with the luxury of sedan fittings and upholstery without sacrificing anything necessary to comfort and convenience," says Mr. Holler, "can now for the same or lower cost, purchase a superior six cylinder car fitted with a winter enclosure."

Service Your Car With the Dealer Who Knows Your Motor

Automobile dealers are equipped to give the best service on the particular make of car which they sell. Many automobile owners have been making a practice of taking their cars to general repair shops. Many times a general repair shop is not equipped to take care of all makes of cars.

Automobile Sales Agencies maintain a service department. They keep a stock of parts for the make of car which they sell, and in their shops are mechanics who have specialized in that particular car.

With several hundred kinds of automobiles on the market, and every one mechanically different, a mechanic would have to be a wizard to understand all of them, and it would be impossible to keep a stock of parts for all of them.

Therefore automobile dealers employ mechanics who have either had experience at the factory, or have had long years of experience working with their make of car. When a car is brought into the dealer's service station, the mechanic usually knows immediately where the trouble lies, and if a new part is required, it is to be found in the parts department. The dealer is interested in making the car give the owner satisfaction, consequently more care and attention is given it.

Motor Car Most 'Abused Machine Now On Market

NEEDS INSPECTION

Thorough Going Over of All Parts May Save Big Repair Bill.

Vacations and vacation tours are practically over for 1924 for most automobile owners, but the use of their cars will continue throughout the entire winter. Perhaps the hardest usage of the year is over, however; and this is the time the careful motorist will inspect his car from "stem to stern" and make adjustments to compensate for the wear of the strenuous summer season and prepare for winter driving.

The following suggestions on what should be done are given by R. K. Jack, chief engineer of the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Mich., manufacturers of the Oldsmobile Six:

No Care For Auto

"No piece of machinery gets as little care as an automobile," says Mr. Jack. "A locomotive makes a division run of 200 miles or so, goes to the roundhouse and is thoroughly gone over by skilled mechanics. Ship and stationery engines have experts constantly watching them, supplying oil and giving them attention every moment they are in operation. An automobile is fortunate if it is oiled and greased at proper intervals. Manufacturers realize this condition and strive to make an automobile as nearly a "perpetual motion" machine as is possible insofar as care is concerned.

"But some care must be given even an automobile. And at this time, after the touring season, a thorough inspection and several changes or adjustments should be made.

Try The Bolts

"Every nut and bolt should be tried and tightened, as some are sure to work loose through a hard season's driving. The engine should be checked and tuned up by a first class mechanic with instructions to make any repairs he finds necessary. It is not likely any extensive repairs will be required, but it is wise to give such orders, as a minor repair bill now will save trouble and a larger bill later.

"Attention should be given the lubrication system, and in most cases it will be found advisable to change the lubricant, particularly in the transmission, to a lighter grade for winter driving. The oil in the engine should be changed every 300 or 400 miles in winter, as crank case dilution is much more liable to occur in cold weather due to the choke being left out longer while the engine is warming up.

"The battery should be tested and if the cells are found below the minimum the battery either should be recharged or an adjustment made in the generator. The shorter days and colder weather cause a big drain on the battery and it should be put in the best of condition at this time of the year. A fully charged battery never freezes. The battery terminals should also be examined, as they may have become corroded, causing a poor connection. Before replacing the terminals, it will be a good plan to coat them with vaseline.

"A check of the electrical system may show loose terminals and worn places in the wiring. The generator, in many cases, should be changed to increase its power so that it can take care of the extra demands of cold weather driving."

NEW MOON A BEAUTY

The new Moon roadster, in satin finished Duco, is one of the most attractive open cars that has been announced this season. It is exceptionally well designed, with long, sweeping body lines, beautiful grey or two-tone tan Duco finish, and blue Spanish leather upholstery. The latest production of the Moon plant is a very stylish automobile with plenty of power, speed and endurance and with unusual capacity for a car of its type.

Genuine, full-sized balloon tires, four wheel hydraulic brakes and a new and more efficient steering gear for the balloon tire equipment, is standard equipment on the new roadster at no extra cost.

The body dimensions of this new car were so skillfully worked out that, although the car is extremely low, it is generously proportioned with plenty of leg room and head clearances. The roadster is 161 inches long, has ample room for three adult passengers in the driver's compartment. Additional passenger capacity is provided for by means of a convenient rumble seat in the deck of the car, giving the Moon roadster almost double the capacity of the ordinary roadster.

ROBBINS WITH OAKLAND

C. W. Matheson, vice president and director of sales of the Oakland Motor Car company, announces the appointment of Harry M. Robins, formerly director of foreign sales of Dodge Brothers, as director of districts.

Mr. Robins will again be associated with Mr. Matheson, who was formerly Dodge Brothers vice president in charge of sales, and will have an important part in carrying out plans for development of the Oakland dealer organization throughout the United States. Mr. Robins was an executive of the Dodge Brothers sales organization for 10 years, his principal work being the organization and development of their overseas business.

With characteristic vigor, Mr. Matheson, upon becoming sales chief of the Oakland organization, immediately put into effect plans for the strengthening of the Oakland factory selling and dealer organization. Several other appointments in the selling organization will be announced in the near future.

All the Details.

Young Si had just returned from the city, and his chum was asking him how about the experiences, in particular how he enjoyed eating in an restaurant.

"How do they work?" the friend asked.

"Well, you put your nickel in the weighmaster and press the thingumbob, and the doohickus turns around and gives you your food," explained Si.

"Say, that marvelous?" echoed the chum. "I know they were wonderful things, but I ain't heard the details before."

FORD'S MINIATURE FARM ATTRACTS ATTENTION OF THOUSANDS

Henry Ford's miniature farm, conducted by children and operated under methods in vogue years ago before the tractor became such an important factor in agriculture, attracted the attention of thousands who attended the Michigan state fair.

A bright, little farm house was fitted out with quaint old furnishings from the early days. Nothing was forgotten even to the rain barrel and dinner bell on a pole.

There was the barn with its hay mow, stalls and harness racks, the corn cribs and the pens. The stock consisted of Shetland ponies, broken to the plow, baby pigs and chickens.

Under the direction of one of the youthful farmers the ponies pulled a juvenile edition plow, turning a furrow that did credit to the inborn skill of the plowboy.

There was a complete threshing outfit all in miniature, an actual working model which threshed grain as well as the larger models. The little separator was a replica, except in size, of one of the earliest types used in America and a child's size steam engine, reproducing in miniature the type popular a generation ago, furnished the power. Of course, the water tank and other vehicles familiar with a threshing crew were included.

KING BARGAINS WITH VENDOR

Belgian Monarch, With Queen, Goes Incognito About London.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Many stories are being told about the incognito visit last week of the king and queen of Belgium in London, when they traveled about on buses and street cars unescorted and unnoticed. One of the best is about Sunday morning in a Jewish street market on Commercial road, White Chapel. They boarded a bus in Picadilly circus and rode on top to Aldgate and then walked down Commercial road.

Both were plainly dressed, the king in an old baggy blue suit and the queen in a black coat and skirt. They halted before street stands, examined the wares and asked prices. Finally they stopped at a stand kept by an old woman selling gaily colored celluloid combs.

"My wife would like that one," said the king to the old woman. "What is the price?"

"Too dear. I'll give you ten pence," said the king.

"Take it, then."

The king dropped the gaudy comb in his pocket, handed over ten pence and walked off unrecognized except by a detective, who had been assigned by Scotland Yard to keep an eye on them whether they liked it or not.

Phillip H. Higgins, a son of Mrs. Higgins, and two other men were in the house when Doyle entered with drawn revolver. The intruder had taken all their money and was leaving when his revolver was discharged as he stepped over a settee. He was wounded in the leg.

Nash "Oversold" By 7,800 Cars; Output At Peak

ORDERS FLOODING IN

Oversold to the extent of 7800 cars although production is at the highest point ever attained and sales are running well past the best previous record is the remarkable business condition reported by the Nash Motors company, Kenosha, Wisconsin. In giving out this statement E. H. McCarty, Nash General Sales Manager, says "Nash now occupies what can truthfully be termed an unprecedented business position on several counts. Rarely in any manufacturing lines does an oversold condition exist coincident with record breaking output. And even greater significance is vested in this overwhelming demand for the new Nash models due to the fact that it is taking place at the season of the year ordinarily not the most productive in point of sales and at a time when the motor car industry as a whole is well below the peak of business.

Well Distributed

"An analysis of the source of this rising tide of orders flooding the factory reveals another interesting sidelight. The demand is not spotty or confined largely to a few territories but is springing evenly from all over the United States. Particularly is this surprising in view of the fact that in some districts of the United States important industries which provide major employment for these regions are working on reduced time. Yet, even from these districts, the volume of orders is flowing strongly.

"Oversold Week"

"The truth of it is dealers are finding it difficult to retain even a few of the various models for showroom purposes and for demonstration. In fact, in concluding our arrangements to honor the record breaking success of the new Nash models by holding a national Nash Oversold Week from October 5 to 12 and staging a special exhibition of the Advance Six series and Special Six series, we found that cars would be available to us for this display only through the fine courtesy of recent purchasers. This situation is rapidly being remedied by the increasing rate of factory production and we can offer assurance that there will be no unreasonable delay in making deliveries on orders placed promptly. However, to insure fairness to all, Nash dealers generally have adopted the rotation basis of taking care of customers."

SHOOTING BARES BOOZE RING

Gang Sold Fake "Imported" Liquor to Wealthy Customers, Police Say.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Evidence of a widespread liquor ring, operating in Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh and Washington, which dealt in counterfeit "imported" liquors to be sold to wealthy customers was disclosed today by police and federal officers. They were investigating the shooting of Henry J. Callan.

Officers searching through the effects of Leon A. Tarr, in a luxuriously furnished apartment, found letters and records divulging the names of scores of supposed customers and giving details of various deals entered into by the ring. Tarr was accused by Callan, who tonight lay near death from bullet wounds, of shooting him as the result of a dispute involving the division of profits in a liquor deal.

A letter addressed to Tarr, who is believed to have been a partner of Callan, and found in Tarr's rooms, told of conditions in the New York office of the ring, in the opinion of the police.

In the several lists of accounts was found the name Koretz. The federal authorities believe that the name may refer to the activities of Leo Koretz, missing perpetrator of the five million dollar Bayano River Trust swindle. Sixty dollars was paid to Doretz August 23, 1924, according to the record.

CLEMENCEAU IS 83

French "Tiger" Is as Sprightly as Ever, and More Silent.

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—George Clemenceau celebrated his 83d birthday last week in his Vendean retreat in the village of St. Thermine. The "grand old man of France" appears as sprightly as ever, but declines to discuss political affairs.

Recently the aged statesman was visited by a group of journalists who unsuccessfully endeavored to obtain his opinion on current events. "The Tiger" maintained a stubborn silence about the subject on which the newspaper men were most inquisitive. One reporter insisted on cross-examination of the war premier when the latter was working in his garden.

"I like flowers," said M. Clemenceau, ignoring the fusillade of questions and plucking a rose. "They have one advantage over men. They remain silent."

Then assuming the expression which caused him to become known as the "tiger" he added ferociously: "And they smell better."

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

RESPECT TRAFFIC OFFICER

Be attentive to the traffic officer. He will then be more considerate of you. Then too he is a human being and entitled to respect.

Traffic regulations include the right of the police to vary regular rules where necessary or desirable under unusual conditions, or at congested points and in case of emergency, and they are to be obeyed accordingly.

Remember, that the traffic officer is at work to help move motor and pedestrian traffic as rapidly, safely and smoothly as possible. In your relations with him be courteous, thoughtful and reasonable. It pays. The traffic officer hasn't the easiest job in the world. That's worth keeping in mind.

"WATCH OUT FOR THE CHILD"

"Vacation days. Watch out for the child."

A very good sign but the warning is of just as much importance during the 12 months of the year. To be sure, drivers should be especially alert during vacation months when children are at home and often playing in the street. But then one can never be too alert.

Cities must provide adequate playgrounds for children and then must see to it that the children play there. It is a curious fact that so many boys prefer to play where motor cars and trucks are speeding by. Boys like to take chances and parents must assume the obligation of teaching their boys and girls never to take a chance.

KEEP TO THE RIGHT

Keep to the right.

That is a motor car axiom in America.

Keep to the right of the center of the road even if you think you have the highway to yourself.

ALWAYS BE CAREFUL

Look where you are going.

Strange as it may seem the picture above describes a common cause of accidents.

"BLACKHAND NEMESIS" SLAIN

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Patrolman David Boitano, known throughout the police department as the "nemesis of blackhanders," was shot to death in the vicinity of the notorious "death corner" in "Little Italy" last night. Boitano had left to trail men suspected in recent blackhand activities.

Within a few minutes after the shooting scores of detectives, policemen laid a "dragnet" in the district. It was said this was one of the few times that killers in the "death corner" district had selected a policeman. That Boitano had been so energetic in his pursuit of extortionists was believed responsible.

The shooting took place at Elm and Townsend streets. Boitano, who was in civilian clothes, was standing on the corner when the murderer ran toward him, firing his pistol. Five shots were fired by the assailant, who appeared to be an Italian. Boitano returned the fire, then fell to the street.

MINISTER A SUICIDE

Connecticut Ex-Pastor Couldn't Resist Impulse to Kill Himself.

By The Associated Press.

BREWSTER, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Leaving a note saying he "could resist no longer an impulse to kill himself that had possessed him for years," Rev. Elmer Teagarden, 62, wealthy land owner at Peach Lake and formerly Methodist pastor at Danbury, Conn., fired a bullet through his brain last night.

Balls of white paper dancing merrily from strings hung between two peach trees attracted workmen this morning to the body. It lay in an orchard, near the highway. Before firing the fatal shot Mr. Teagarden evidently had erected the telltale paper balls so his body would be found.

NO LEFT TURNS IN LOOP

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Vehicle traffic will be barred next week from making left-hand turns in Chicago's "loop", the nine blocks by five blocks area in the heart of the business district around which the elevated lines circle. Congestion and heavy traffic in the district caused the order, Morgan A. Collins, chief of police, said.

KIDNAP MAN, 84, AT ALTAR

Sons, Who Opposed Father's Marriage to Nurse, Are Sought

By The Associated Press.

RENO, Nev. Oct. 4.—At the request of his bride-to-be, Mrs. Nicholson, 60, a nurse, police today were searching for Francis A. Robb, 84, wealthy Reno business man, alleged to have been kidnapped at the altar as he was about to make Mrs. Nicholson his wife.

Robb had entered the church and the priest was just commencing the ceremony when, according to witnesses, two men entered the church, seized the bridegroom by the shoulders and feet and dragged him to a waiting motor car.

Two sons, said to have opposed the match of their wealthy father with the nurse, were being sought by the police.

A NEW "FAMILY ENTRANCE"

Churches Would Appropriate Signs that Formely Adorned Saloons.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The evangelistic people connected with the Federal Council of Churches suggest that saloons being things of the past, their ancient sign, "Family Entrance," be transferred to churches. They propose the period from Oct. 5 to Easter of next year as one to get families to use the entrance. They repudiate the prevailing plan of "Go to Church Sundays," calling such efforts pious spasms, and say their plans cover several weeks and mean system in an effort to make churches and attendance at them to have a larger place in community life. The council is appealing to all ministers and all churches in its affiliation to consecrate the period named, beginning with the first Sunday in October.

The definite plans suggested are four. One is to organize bands of Christian persons who shall visit all families, and so, in the names of all churches, to give information, to extend a democratic spirit, and to invite co-operation. A second is a rally held occasionally throughout the period, and especially on the opening Sunday. The third is to get laymen into harness, and the fourth to arrange an autumn enrollment of new church members, and not await the distant day of next spring when Easter is at hand.

Rickenbacker is Official Machine for World Fliers

CHOSEN BY PATRICK

Chief of Army's Aviation Forces Selects Car Built by Ace

It will be recalled that before starting from San Deigo on their world encircling flight, the group of American aviators nominated the Rickenbacker as the official car of the expedition.

This was in appreciation of the great record made by Captain E. C. Rickenbacker, America's ace of aces, himself one of the world's greates aviators. At every landing field on this great journey, the first thing the flyers looked for on stepping out of their planes was a car with the insignia Uncle Sam's hat in-the-ring on the radiator.

Even in England, when they glided to the ground at Croydon just outside London, they found the faithful Rickenbacker six ready to take them to their hotel. "When and where do we eat," were the first words of Lieut. Smith after Rickenbacker's representative had extended the congratulations of his chief. Then came the series of record breaking jumps over seas with water "landings." But at the first land field—Boston—they again found the speedey Rickenbacker waiting. "The sight of that car has come to mean food and a place to sleep for us," says Lieut. Smith.

In a telegram to Rickenbacker under date of September 6, General Patrick, chief of America's air forces, again nominated Rickenbacker as the official car and suggested that all Rickenbacker dealers along the line of the final cross continental flight get in touch with the "C.O's." of landing fields and have cars ready to receive the flyers. It was also requested that, should any forced landing be made at other than the regular scheduled fields, the nearest Rickenbacker dealer would hasten to place two or three cars at the disposal of the party, which comprised three pilots and three aids.

ITALIAN COUNT A THIEF

American Family Causes Arrest of Express Official in Florence.

ROME, Oct. 4.—Count Emilio Rasponi, chief of the freight department of the Florence branch of the American Express company, was arrested today on a charge of embezzling and falsifying receipt books.

Well known in Florence as a gay liver, Count Rasponi found means to live in luxury at the expense of clients of the Florence branch of the American Express company. First inquiries show his defalcations run into many thousands of lira, which were swindled from Express company. The count's method consisted of allowing on the figures of the government tax receipts, making the clients pay as much as ten itmes the government export duty. He pocketed the difference.

The count's malpractice came to light through the protest of an American family named Moss of Philadelphia, who had entrusted the freight department of the express company with the transportation of the body of a relative from Florence to Genoa. The Moss family protested at the overcharge, having received a bill for 15,000 lira for the transport of the body from Florence to Genoa. Manager Dupuis at Florence investigated and found Count Rasponi had overcharged about 10,000 lira, pocketing the difference. The count, when arrested, attempted to swallow poison, but was prevented.

MEDAL WAS DUE

Judge Couldn't Penalize Man Who Got Speed Out of $3 Car

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The latest thing in Ford jokes saved Henry Cohen $25 this morning.

Henry was served with a summons for driving a Ford 26 miles an hour. Henry pleaded guilty in traffic court to Magistrate Glatzmayer but said. "Your honor, I'd just bought that Ford for $3. Now I'll leave it you if anybody would believe that a $3 Ford would go 26 miles an hour."

Said his honor: "That's a new one on me, if you bought that Ford for $3 I don't see how I can have the nerve to fine you $25 for getting 26 miles an hour out of it."

Henry received a suspended sentence.

Potash and Perlmutter

By MONTAGUE GLASS

"My wife's cousin, Mrs. Tilly Friedman, was over to the house last night, Mawruss, and tried to sob me into paying for six months vocal lessons so that her daughter Hattie could become a contralto on me," Abe Potash said the other day. "Which if it ain't one thing with that girl Hattie, it's another. I so than two years ago, she had for two hundred dollars, her tonsils taken out and did Mrs. Friedman pay me back in installments ten dollars faithfully every month like she promised? Over a stuck!"

"Well, I'll tell you," Morris Perlmutter said. "Once an operation is successful, people figure that probably it wasn't necessary anyhow, and they pretty near argue themselves into believing that if you hadn't lent the money, they would never have gone near a hospital at all, but if what they've got the matter with them is a contralto voice, Abe, lending them money to make it better, y'understand, only makes it worse, and they'll always be reminded that you helped them out when they was in rouble, on account of still being in trouble."

"Where I made my big mistake was that I didn't pay for an operation to have Hattie Friedmanns larynx taken out as well as her tonsils," Abe said.

Hattie Would Have to Murder a Few Centuries.

"Mrs. Friedman says the professor guaranteed her that in less than a year her daughter Hattie would be a finished singer," Abe said.

"Say! As a singer, y'understand, the average contralto is finished before she's begun," Morris Perlmutter declared. "Which a contralto as I understand it, Abe, aint in only very little demand, on account of all the best songs in operas being written for sopranos."

"Maybe the girl could start in as a contralto and work her way up to be a soprano," Abe suggested. "After all, Mawruss, everything must have a beginning, ain't it?"

"And even if she would work her way up to be a soprano, what is it?" Morris said. "Which believe me, Abe, the number of successful sopranos in the United States born and raised on United States soil, could be counted on the fingers of your right hand even if you would have lost a couple in a firecracker explosion or something, and yet thousands of business men like yourself get pestered to death that they should lend money to a poor relation in order that he could train his daughter's voice to the point where she sings too well to be a stenographer any longer."

"Well, after all, Mawrus, you couldn't blame Mrs. Friedman that she don't want Hattie to be a stenographer any longer," Abe said, because most girls only take up stenography to kill time till they get married, and with her face, Mawruss, I figure that Hattie would have to kill at the least a couple of centuries."

"And still she expects to become an opera singer!" Morris exclaimed.

Bad Time of the Year.

"But the Italiener professor which is giving Hattie contralto training says that with the right makeup Hattie would look very good on the stage," Abe protested.

It ain't on the stage where a soprano or contralto has got to look good, Morris said, "it's in the manager's office, which I never seen Hattie myself, Abe, but if Mrs. Friedman's face runs in the family, y'understand, all I could say is that if the manager sends out word that they're full up with contraltos and try again next season, y'understand that's the most Hattie could expect in the way of an operatic career."

"Where I made my big mistake was that I didn't pay for an operation to have Hattie Friedman's larnyx taken out as well as her tonsils," Abe said.

"And at that Abe, I doubt if it would have made any difference to her wanting to become an opera singer," Morris observed. "It ain't the voice which gets them that way, it's the season of the year, because every fall when the newspapers prints a lot of publicity about grand opera, young ladies all over the country read about how this here Galli-Curci is engaged for five thousand dollars a night, they begin to practice scales first and then try to find out if they've got a voice by inquiring from a singing teacher afterwards. So therefore, Abe, it's my idea that if you could stall Mrs. Friedman off till the opera season gets good and started, by that time, maybe the newspapers will be printing stories about how many stenographers have worked their way up to executive positions at ten thousand dollars a year, and in that case you might talk Mrs. Friedman into letting Hattie stick to her job until anyway next fall.

"I'm afraid it's hopeless, Mawruss," Abe said, "which Mrs. Friedman says that if I couldn't give her the money to pay for Hattie's lessons, she would put a chattel mortgage on her furniture, and after they foreclosed the mortgage on her furniture, I would only have to buy her and Hattie new furniture, so what's the difference whether I get stuck for furniture or a contralto voice. Am I right or wrong?"

Mrs. Friedman Composed Touch System.

"Well, somebody has got to get stuck for a musical career, Abe," Morris said comolingly, "which so far as I could find out, none of the big singers, fiddlers or pianists ever put up for their own lessons, and only a very few of the little ones did either You could figure that practically every fiddler in a theayter, hotel or jazz orchestra at one time gave great promise of becoming at the least a second Heifetz and that one time Abe, is always when their parents are dead broke. Nevertheless, Abe it's astonishing what sacrifices poor people will make in order that their sons could spend their lives playing the fiddle in a hospital or theayter or chestra at the regular union wage scale for hotel musicians."

"But how could them parents ebitch figure that their sons is going to end up that way?" Abe asked.

"They should ought to figure," Morris said. "There have been a whole lot more presidents of the United States than high grade, first class A number one fiddler, Abe, yet nobody never went round to a rich relative and tried to borrow money on account his son showed great promise of becoming a second Coolidge."

"It seems to me, Mawruss, that it would be more reasonable if a poor father would try to touch a rich relation on the grounds that his son showed great promise of becoming a second Sears or even a third Roebuck," Abe declared, "and in fact, so far as I am concerned, if Mrs. Friedman would come to me and say that her daughter Hattie showed unmistakable symptoms of becoming such a high grade dressmaker as Lucille, Madame Louise or one of the Callot Sisters, I would take a chance on lending her enough to take anyhow correspondence school lessons in dress designing. Which dress designing is at least a trade, Mawruss, but when a girl goes out in the world with nothing between her and starvation but an elegant contralo voice, y'understand, she's got to have an awful small appetite to get away with it."

"Well, if Hattie could take dictation rapidly and understands the touch system, Abe," Morris observed, "there's no reason why she should starve as a contralto."

"She understands the touch system all right," Abe concluded. "She learned the touch system from her mother, Mrs. Friedman, and believe me, Mawrus, that woman wrote it."

FAUCET WORKED BOTH WAYS.

Whisky or Water Followed, Depending on Twist.

By The Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 4.—A double action faucet which when turned one way flowed water and when turned another flowed moonshine liquor was found by the police dry squad in a recent raid. The faucet was "fed" with whisky from a barrel buried four feet under the ground in the basement of an alleged "soft drink" establishment and was forced into the tap by a compressed air arrangement.

WOULD BE AMERICAN AGAIN.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Jean Acker Valentino, first wife of Rudolph Valentino, applied to the naturalization bureau of the federal district court for her first citizenship papers, although she was born in the United States.

She explained that when she married the motion picture actor she assumed her husband's nationality. In applying for restoration of American citizenship she foreswore allegiance to Victor Emanuel III, king of Italy.
