Heat Wave Lingers; Crops, Plants Suffer

Skittering, fluffy white clouds hold a hint of moisture -- moisture that fails to materialize, and the heat wave in the area continues. Although thermometers barely reached 100 Tuesday the extremely hot weather that apparently settled in to stay for a while lingered with July 4th approaching.

National Weather Service issued a gloomy prediction that the hot, dry weather would continue through the next two weeks, with little to no relief of either the temperature or dry conditions.

With the highs reaching into the 100's every day, and no rain, crops are beginning to show the effects of the continued heat.

Only irrigated crops are feeling lessening effects of the dry weather.

In checking with the hospital, the administrator, Marshall Cook, said to his knowledge the very hot weather had not adversely affected area residents as yet.

No cases of heat exhaustion or heat stroke have been hospitalized. In areas to the east and south of Muleshoe, especially around the Dallas and Wichita Falls, the temperature is reaching the 100's each day, but many residents of those areas have died from extreme heat.

Numerous deaths have been attributed to the heat, especially in the more humid areas where some homes are not air conditioned.

Some animals are faring poorly to the very hot weather. Livestock are suffering, as well as chickens. In Arkansas, thousands of

Clinic Set For Tennis On Tuesday

Texas Tennis Association's 1980 summer tennis caravan comes to Muleshoe on Tuesday, July 8. The Texas Tennis Association, a section of the United States Tennis Association, will sponsor a free Tennis Caravan Program in the Muleshoe area, which will bring instruction in tennis and in the fundamentals of tennis to juniors and adults from beginners to championship play.

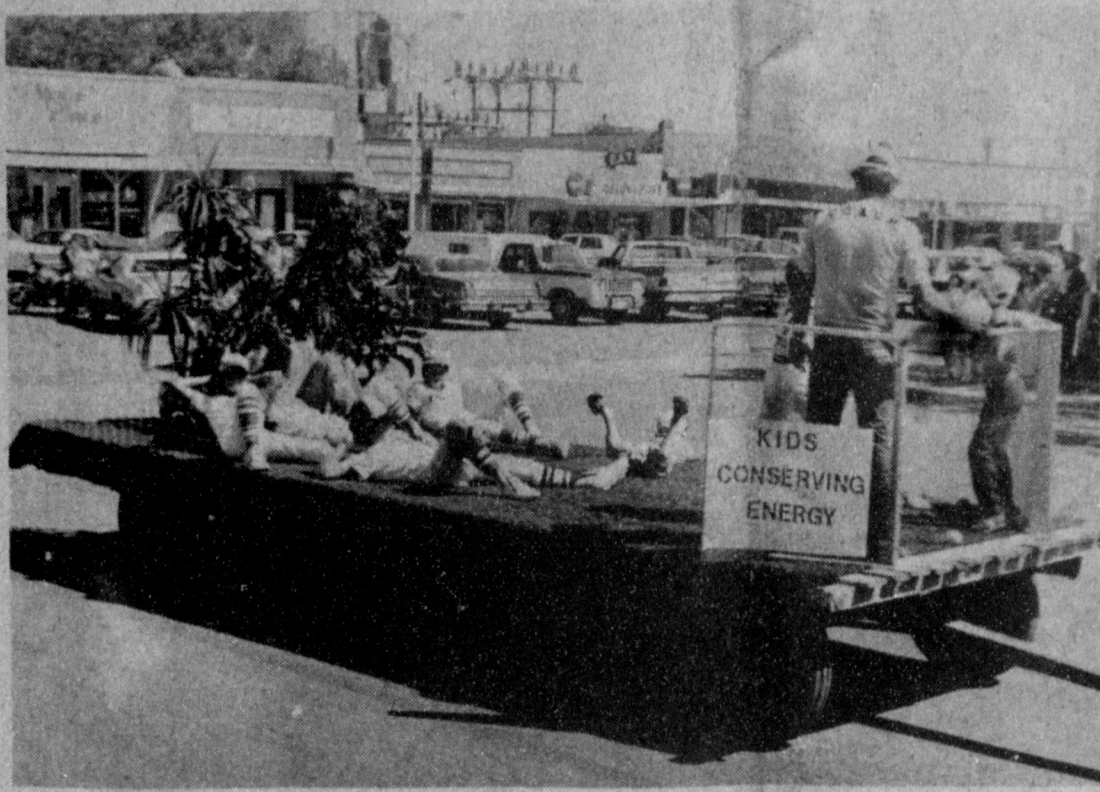

"The clinic, funded by the Texas Tennis Association, will be conducted at no cost to all ages who are interested in this great tennis opportunity," said Harold Horne.

The session, which will be open to youth and adults at all ability levels, will be conducted by Steve Buck of Abilene, who is a tennis coach at Abilene Cooper High School.

He was state ranked in his junior years and was Missouri Valley Conference champion while attending North Texas State University. He is currently president of the Texas Coaches Association.

Assisting Buck will be his wife, Peggy, who is said to be an accomplished tennis player in her own right.

The clinic in Muleshoe will be conducted on Tuesday, July 8, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 noon at the Muleshoe High School tennis courts. "Grab your rackets and sneakers and join in a day of fun and instruction in the game you can play for a lifetime," added Horne. Additional information can be obtained by calling Horne at 272-3089.

KIDS CONSERVING ENERGY....The first place winner at the Sudan parade last Saturday. The float was contrived by the Sudan Little League, and featured a group of young men who seemed to be all too happy to conserve energy.

Sudan Celebration Termed 'Best Ever'

A special segment of the annual celebration at Sudan was honoring pioneers of the community. On June 28, 286 people who came to Sudan 25 or more years ago registered at the Sudan Hotel by the Sudan Heritage Committee. An estimated 150-200 other visitors viewed the restoration which is underway on the old Sudan Hotel. The hotel was originally constructed in 1917 and was dedicated as a Texas Historical site in 1976. It was estimated that the group last Saturday was the largest group to enter the hotel during the annual celebration.

"Long hours of volunteer labor have gone into the repairing of walls, ceilings and repainting woodwork in the lobby and dining area of the hotel," a spokesman for the Sudan Heritage Committee. "Many more hours will be needed to restore this landmark of the early days of Sudan. We are all very proud of our heritage, and want to keep the heritage alive for our community."

"As a result of this effort, additional donations have been received, and we are most grateful, and we trust that much more restoration will be viewed in the future and that others will see what community effort and pride can do for proud citizens."

The spokesman continued "It is hoped that this phase of the celebration can continue and grow, and we feel sure that with the interest shown by these pioneers and other interested citizens that it will grow from year to year and that we will be more proud of our heritage and freedom which we enjoy, and at times, take for granted. We are forever grateful for the early pioneers that forged ahead and into this section of our great land."

Pioneers registered included: J.W. Weldon, 1917; Lendle McCarty and Lora McCarty Blanchard, 1919; Louise West (Parrish).

Peggy Kent Baker, Truman Parrish, Floella Jones Bacus, Hubert Dykes, Claude Blanchard, Louise Gatewood, Jack Lenderson, Dexter Baker, Marvin Bowling, W.C. Masten, I. Edell Boren, Earl Testerman, Milton Wiseman, Bob Shafer, Cecil Davis.

Muleshoe Jaycees Host Libertarian

J.D. Webster explained that a Libertarian is "anyone who believes in freedom" and a member of the Libertarian Party is "someone who is actively engaged in restoring our freedoms."

Libertarians believe in de-regulating the economy; cutting taxes; reducing regulations and abolishing federal agencies, especially the Department of Education and the Department of Energy, explained Webster in Muleshoe Monday.

He also said the Libertarian Party is strong on law enforcement; do not believe in gun control; believe in working to reduce crime and believe criminals should make restitution to their victims.

Webster is a 28 year old computer programmer from Midland; married and he and his wife, Karen, are the parents of Hank, 22 months old and Mac, two months old.

Webster is currently seeking the seat held by 19th Congressional District Congressman, Kent Hance. He was in Muleshoe as a guest of the Muleshoe Jaycees.

According to the candidate, the Libertarian Party was organized in 1971 and in 1972 was on two ballots. In 1976, the Libertarian Party was on ballots in 32 states and in 1980, they expect to be on all ballots in all states.

He admonished the Muleshoe Jaycees that the citizens of the United States need to 'pull together' and return freedom to the citizens. Speaking about the government 'bail-outs' of Chrysler, Lockheed, Conrail and Amtrak, Webster said, "why should we worry about bailing out companies who mis-manage themselves into bankruptcy. Our federal government apologized to these companies for their own mis-management and marketing stupidity, and bailed them out with our tax money."

"Congress talks about a balanced budget, but votes deficit spending," he continued. "We need to plan to get our great Eagle soaring again, the country has to be changed. It's time for a government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

Beginning at 10 a.m., the kid's activities get underway at the Coliseum, as well as the Mule Shoe pitching. Also, the food and concession and game booths will open at the Coliseum.

Old settlers of the county and area will gather at 2 p.m. for the annual reunion. The reunion will be in the meeting room of the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum.

Periodically, Hal Newsom, a former Muleshoe resident will be presenting a live snake show in the fire department sub-station at the coliseum. The Houston resident will be explaining various things about the snakes, and boosting safety all through the show, according to the Muleshoe Jaycees, who are sponsoring the show.

chickens have reportedly lost their lives to the heat. Nurseries are suggesting that people water on the ground, citing that oscillating sprinklers are literally 'cooking' the foliage of growing plants and vegetables.

At the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge, where NWS records have been kept since 1966, Al Jones, manager, said they reached a high of 110 degrees Saturday and 105 Sunday. This was followed by a cool front on Monday,

Line-up for the parade will begin at 4 p.m. at the Boy Scout grounds for the 5 p.m. parade. The parade will transverse Main Street, turn west at Avenue B to South First Street, then back to the beginning location.

No barbecue is planned for this year. The former barbecue which followed the parade has gone the way of many other 'frills' in the days of higher prices and inflation. However, everyone is encouraged to bring a family picnic to the new city park.

Entertainment gets underway at the park around 6 p.m., and featured will be the Flatland Bluegrass, and other local entertainment. Awards will be presented at the park for various activities during the day.

Winding up the day will be the annual fireworks to be handled by the Muleshoe Fire Department. The fireworks are expected around 10 p.m.

As a special feature, a three day junior rodeo, which starts at 8 p.m. each evening, is scheduled for today, (Thursday), Friday and Saturday nights at the Muleshoe Roping Arena. The grand entry will be at 8 p.m., followed by rodeo activities.

where the temperature reached only 99 degrees.

Jones said that in June, 15 or more days were 100 degrees or higher for exactly half of the month with extreme temperatures. Several days at the Refuge the temperature was 105 or above.

Since 1953 at the Refuge, several days of 108 degrees and several days of 107 degrees were recorded, however, this seems to be the most consecutive days of very hot weather.

The last time the weather reached 110 degrees in Muleshoe was in 1944, with the exact day unknown: Reportedly 110 would appear to be the highest temperature ever recorded, officially in Muleshoe.

As moisture continues to elude the area, most air conditioners are receiving almost continual use and with the dry conditions, irrigation and extra watering of plants and crops is up sharply.

No relief is in sight, but area nurseries suggest that the best time to water is from 6-10:30a.m. to have the most effectual use of water and to minimize damage to tender vegetation.

In speaking of the agricultural situation, he added, "In order to return our country to its position of world leadership, we must allow the nation's breadbasket to function at its highest potential."

"The farmer pays more in taxes, and receives less than any other working segment of the American economy. With usual misguided leadership from our present administration, there is no hope for the survival of the farmer."

"If we don't have a marked change, both the farmer and the community in which he lives will go the way of the nickel soda," cautioned the candidate.

He also added, "Between the Carter administration's taxation, inflation and regulation policies, the farmer is being squeezed out of existence. More farmers have filed for bankruptcy during the Carter administration than at any other time in our country's history with the exception of the Dust Bowl era."

"The only thing I will promise," he continued, "is that if there is a bill that will not help this area, I will not vote for it."

ENERGY USED WISELY.... "Better Days Through Better Ways" admonishes this float utilizing an old fashioned plow. The float was one of several entered in the Sudan parade last Saturday morning.

BACK TO BASICS.... From the old, well known windmill to solar energy, and the focus was combined on this float during the parade at Sudan last weekend. "Energy" was the theme of the annual parade.

Micronaire discounts applicable to the 1980 Commodity Credit Corporation loan schedule show the largest year-to-year increase since "mike" first became a part of the schedule in 1964, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

The most severe jump came in cotton miking 2.6 and below. The discount for that category in the 1979 loan schedule was 605 points. In 1980 it will be 830 points, a whopping 225-point jump, almost triple the previous record upswing of 80 points from 550 in 1975 to 630 in 1976.

Other 1980 low mike loan discounts announced from Washington May 15, with 1979 comparisons in parentheses, are 580 (400) for 2.7 to 2.9, 345 (225) for 3.0 to 3.2, and 125 (65) for 3.3 to 3.4.

Adjustments in micronaire discounts that apply to the loan schedule are based each year, as are grade and staple premiums and discounts, on the average price differences quoted in spot markets during the nine month period August through April of the preceding marketing year.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture however has authority to make other changes if in the Secretary's opinion it is necessary to discourage production of qualities in surplus supply or encourage the growth of qualities in short supply.

Production of low mike cotton on the High Plains was exceptionally high in 1979, and the August 1979 to March 1980 average spot market discount on cotton miking 2.6 and below soared 429 points, about 50 percent, to 1,283 points from the 854-point average for the same period in 1978-79. PCG has not yet received average spot market quotes for April.

The previous 80-point record increase in the 2.6 and below discount in 1976 followed not one but two low mike years on the Plains. This area's crop in 1974 averaged only 3.1 micronaire and the 1979 crop dropped to 3.0.

Premiums and discounts on all qualities above and below the Strict Low Middling 1-1/16th inch base were not available to PCG as this was written, but it has been reported that the 1980 discount on Strict Low Middling Light Spot 31/32nds climbed 50 points, from 580 to 630.

In addition to the increased discounts assigned to qualities common to High Plains production in the loan schedule, the base loan in 1980, barring the success of efforts by PCG and others to prevent it, drops over two cents, from 1979's 50.23 cents to 48 cents per pound.

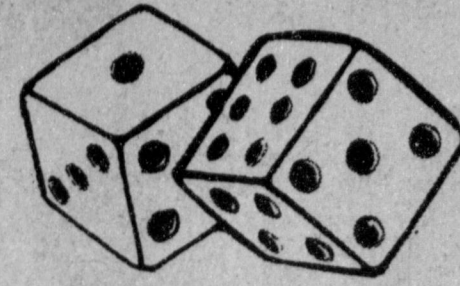

As soon as received from USDA, PCG will review the calculations used to arrive at the 1980 schedule of premiums and discounts to determine if there is a reasonable basis for protesting the sharp increases in 1980 discounts.

Rehabilitation Means Hope For Heart Attack Victims

Since four times more people survive heart attacks than die from them, some doctors are working to improve the kind of life survivors have while other specialists are trying to improve the survival odds themselves, a Houston heart specialist said.

Heart attack disabilities cost more than $50 billion annually in the United States due to work days lost and treatment costs, but some disabilities can be prevented if the patient has good rehabilitation. Stress, depression, nutrition, exercise and several other factors must be considered if the patient is to return to as normal life as possible, said Lysle Peterson, M.D., in a speech prepared for a cardiac rehabilitation symposium at the Texas Medical Association's recent convention in Houston. Dr. Peterson is director of the Houston Cardiovascular Rehabilitation Center.

Sometimes heart attack damage itself is only one part of the problems a victim faces in returning to a normal life.

A victim may feel that family relationships, job and even life itself are threatened after a heart attack. This unstable feeling may lead to depression, anxiety, loss of self-respect and other problems.

Excess weight and other physical conditions that reduce the body's efficient operation can keep a person from functioning normally anytime but may be more of a hindrance after a heart attack.

If these and other causes of disability are not evaluated, a vicious cycle may begin, Dr. Peterson said. This cycle can speed up because the symptoms of some psychological or physical problems mimic heart disease. Then when heart disease treatment such as bed rest is used, the actual problem may become worse in some cases.

A good rehabilitation program not only evaluates disability causes, it also gives adequate amounts of exercise, evaluation of medical treatment, nutritional guidance and emotional counseling that can help a heart attack victim have a happier, more productive life.

A guilty conscience feels continual fear.

-Michael Drayton.

Texas Wheat Estimate Down 9% from Year Ago

AUSTIN--Texas wheat crop estimates for 1980, which remain at 125 million bushels in the June report issued by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, are down nine percent from a year ago. Estimates for the total U.S. wheat crop point to a record-breaking 1.76 billion bushels, based on June 1 conditions.

Texas, however, is expected to have a harvest that falls 13 million bushels short of the 1979 crop. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown reported.

"Despite the fact that Texas farmers will harvest 400,000 more acres this year, the yield is estimated to be around 25 bushels per acre, 5 bushels less than in 1979," Brown said.

He attributed the drop in yield mainly to the drought that extended over South Texas and parts of North Texas and the Panhandle.

Rains in the latter part of May helped to keep the yield from falling lower. Slightly over 13 per cent of the 5-million-acre crop has been harvested.

"Combines are just now moving into the Low Plains, and our yields could be better there," Brown said.

Doctor Talk

By Dr. Harold B. Ligon

As warmer weather approaches, we're nearing the poison ivy, poison oak and sumac allergy seasons. These are classified as contact dermatitis of an allergic nature.

Poison ivy and poison oak grow widely in yards and forests and the allergy is transmitted by contact with the leaf or vine. It usually takes several days for the rash to become very red, raised, weepy and highly irritated.

Management of an acute rash consists of drying agents, anti-pruritic (itch) agents, and sometimes steroids or antihistamine injections.

To avoid such allergies, one must avoid contact. This can most easily be done by wearing protective clothing, taking baths soon after exposure in woods or yard and sometimes cleansing areas with alcohol.

One should try very hard to avoid scratching affected skin area, though this is not easy to do. Scratching will spread the allergy because the agent will be spread over a wider skin area when the vesicles are ruptured and transmitted to other parts of the body, quite often, by the fingers.

Sudan News

One of Dood's oil paintings has been selected as a front cover for The South Plains Agriculture magazine, for the May, June, and July issues. Dood is the owner of Dood's Frame and Galley in Sudan.

Several folks have asked,
"Why isn't your AD still in the paper?"

Well it's like this -- My painting schedule is booked through August. The next available spot is September
1st. I need to go to Oklahoma and paint my mother's house -- then it will be almost winter.

So -- why ask for more business when I'm taking care of what has already come my way. Yep -- I'm right on schedule. Not in any rush -- because when I hurry I make a mess -- and who needs a messy painter? Why you could make a mess yourself, RIGHT?

Thanks folks for keeping me busy.

SSI Check May Be Due Few People

Some social security beneficiaries may miss additional income and medical assistance unless they contact their local social security office during the month prior to their 65th birthday.

The additional income is available through the Supplemental Security Income program to people whose income and resources fall within certain limits. Information regarding possible SSI eligibility can be obtained by telephone from the nearest social security office.

If a person qualifies for SSI, medical coverage under the Medicaid program will take effect immediately and automatically. Medicaid will pay for medical and hospital expenses that Medicare will not pay. It covers the Medicare insurance premium, buys three prescriptions per month, and may pay for dental care and eyeglasses.

SSI and Medicaid coverage are also available to blind or disabled people under the age of 65 who meet income and resource tests.

Payments of as much as $238.00 per month may be made to individuals, and $357.00 for couples.

Like any other government check issued by Social Security, these checks may go to the bank by direct deposit.
