LANDSLIDE ELECTS HARDING; COX PAPER ADMITS LOSING

NEFF VICTORY BY OVER 5 TO 1 SEEMS CERTAIN

Educational Amendment Gets Winning Support—All Congressmen Win.

Culbertson Polls 7,318 Out of First 46,000 Counted; Brownsville For Harding.

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 2.—With the possible exception of the Fourteenth congressional district, the democrats elected a full state, district and congressional ticket in Texas today, according to early and incomplete unofficial returns. In the Fourteenth district Carlos Bee, democrat incumbent, was leading his republican opponent, Harry Wurzbach, by less than 100 votes on the face of returns from 23 precincts. There are about 200 precincts in the district still to report.

Complete unofficial returns from 188 of the state's 4,540 precincts gave Pat M. Neff of Waco, democratic candidate for governor, a lead of approximately 40,000 over his closest opponent, J. G. Culbertson, republican. The other three gubernatorial candidates, T. H. McGregor of the American party, H. Capers of the "black-tan" republican party, and L. T. Rhodes, socialist, were far behind in the running.

Meager returns concerning three constitutional amendments indicated that one—the school tax increase amendment—was maintaining a ratio of about 2 to 1 in its favor. The others were uncertain.

The tabulations from 188 precincts gave the following figures:

For governor: Neff (democrat), 50,500; Culbertson (republican), 8,286; McGregor (American), 2,930; Capers (black-tan) (republican), 2,254; Rhodes (socialist), 443.

For presidential electors the same returns gave: Cox, 53,048; Harding, 10,703.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 2.—Reports from 131 of the 4,540 Texas precincts give: Cox, 40,786; Harding, 6,012. For governor: Neff, 39,319; Culbertson, 7,318. For school tax amendment, 24,558; against, 12,637.

Incomplete returns from San Antonio gave Harding 1,186; Cox, 830.

Harding carried Brownsville by a majority of 99, the vote being Harding, 376; Cox, 277.

DALLAS, Nov. 2.—Complete returns from 105 precincts out of 4,540 in Texas give Cox 37,638; Harding, 6,688.

For governor: Neff, 36,024; Culbertson, 6,409; McGregor, 3,051; Capers, 2,806; Rhodes, 1,066.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2.—With returns in from 12 Bexar county boxes and 11 additional boxes in the fourteenth congressional district, Bee, democrat, is leading over Wurzbach, his republican opponent. The 23 boxes heard from give Bee 1,754 and Wurzbach 1,694 votes.

Cox is Silent But His Paper Admits Defeat

DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Governor Cox's newspaper, the Daily News, issued an extra edition shortly before 11 o'clock tonight, conceding the election of Senator Harding, the republican candidate, as president.

The governor himself said he would make no statement tonight. His newspaper carried the election returns under the caption "Republican landslide; Harding wins."

HARDING HAPPY OVER VICTORY

Says He is Given to Prayer to Make Him Capable of Situation.

By Associated Press.

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Convinced by early returns of his election to the presidency, Warren G. Harding issued a statement tonight, saying that instead of being exultant over the result he was "more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part."

Receiving the election returns at his home here, Mr. Harding declined during the early evening to make any comment, and issued his statement only after the figures had piled up majorities for him which, his advisers declared, made his election certain.

At the same time it became known that the senator and Mrs. Harding had made plans for a vacation trip, to be carried out regardless of the result of the election, taking them for a rest next week in Texas and after that for an ocean voyage to the Panama canal zone. They will return to Marion during early December.

The senator's statement follows:

"Assuming that the early returns are wholly dependable, I do not hesitate to say that I am pleased, of course. I am happy to utter my gratitude. But I am not exultant. It is not a personal victory. It is a renewed expression of confident Americanism and a national call to the republican party.

"It is all so serious, the obligations are so solemn that instead of exulting I am more given to prayer to God to make me capable of the situation.

"I am sure the people who have voted the republican ticket will understand my feeling that I should make no unstudied statement of policies at this time, beyond the expression made throughout the campaign."

Coincident with the senator's statement, Harry Daugherty, a member of the republican campaign committee made this statement:

"It is the greatest victory in American politics, clearly foreshadowed and predicted. It is more than partisan victory as the result was contributed to by millions of democrats. The women of the nation have quickly vindicated the conferring of the suffrage privilege as they sensed correctly the issue and rallied to the cause of America and American institutions. The republican party is fully conscious of the great responsibilities immediately implied in the popular verdict and will faithfully keep its obligations."

The senator's trip to Texas will begin Friday night or Saturday morning and Mr. Harding will arrive at Point Isabel, Texas, near Brownsville, next Monday. He plans to spend about 12 days there, and then leave for Panama, by way of New Orleans.

His stay in the canal zone will last about a week, during which he will make a first hand study of local conditions and particularly of the tolls systems for American ships. He has advocated repeal of these tolls and it is expected he will collect information on that policy.

Leaving Colon about December 1, he will land at New Orleans and will travel by train to Bedford, Virginia, where he speaks December 5, at an Elks celebration. Afterward he is to return to Marion to remain under present plans, most of the time until March 4. He may take a trip during this interim, however to some southern resort.

As president elect, Mr. Harding still

COX, NEFF AND SMITH WIN IN WICHITA VOTE

Culbertson Carries Third of Big Poll, Partial Returns Indicate.

School Tax and Other Amendments Carry Here by Four to One.

On the basis of partial returns from eight big boxes, including all the city boxes and those of Burkburnett, Electra and Iowa Park the following results were shown:

Democratic ticket solidly elected.

Neff wins by more than three to one in county. Partial vote, 2544 to 800.

All amendments, including amendment to lift tax limit on schools, carried more than four to one.

Smith leading Dodgen for sheriff more than two to one. Partial vote, Smith, 1911; Dodgen, 828.

All other parties obtained practically negligible vote, about two or three to each party in each box. Partial returns caused the following totals: For party leaders on the cases of Cox, Harding, Neff and Culbertson, a vote which may be taken as practically the equivalent of what the vote was for each member of the party:

Neff 2544; Culbertson, 800.

Smith, 1911; Dodgen, 828.

Cox, 2566; Harding, 999.

For amendments, schools, increasing state officials' salaries, lifting of tax limit on towns of 5000 or under, 984 votes; against, 199.

Five big boxes, Nos. 1, 2, 11, 12 and 13, and Burk, Iowa Park and Electra, reported a total vote of 5622. The combined total of the other small boxes in the county will probaoble total vote cast about 6600.

This is about 75 per cent of those qualified to vote. It represents a big increase over the total vote in the Democratic primary and the runoff primary.

In the Democratic primary the combined vote for governor was 4394; for sheriff, 4793. Those races drew the peak of the vote.

In the run-off primary the combined vote for governor was 3288, or less than half the vote cast in the general election Tuesday.

G. O. P. Strong in Electra

Republican strength in Electra developed stronger than in any other box in the county, on the basis of partial returns. Culbertson had 238; Neff 352 of the votes counted last night. Total vote, 649.

In Iowa Park the Neff-Cox ticket took 141 counted votes; Culbertson-Harding, 43; Smith had 152; Dodgen, 54. Total vote, 307.

MARTIN FOUND GUILTLESS OF THEFT CHARGE

"Frame-up" is Hinted—Bralley Satisfied After Hearing All Evidence.

A case against H. T. Martin, chief of city detectives, who was arrested Tuesday morning by Deputy Constables Belcher and Arrington on a complaint charging theft under the value of $50, sworn out by J. M. Arrington, was dismissed late Tuesday in justice of the peace court by Judge C. J. Arrington.

Martin was completely exonerated of the charges. County and police authorities who aided in the prosecution and defense both accepted the case as "a huge joke," and declared that in their opinion it was nothing more or less than an ill-concealed attempt at a "frame-up."

Police Commissioner Bralley, who took part in the examination of witnesses "to see," as he expressed it, "just what the charges brought against his department would develop," investigated further charges by other persons against Martin in the course of the examining trial, as the result of which he declared them to be "absolutely unfounded and without provocation."

$40 Theft Charged.

The complaint upon which Martin was arraigned for preliminary hearing, alleged that Martin "fraudulently took $40 which was the personal property of Jesus Garcia" following the arrest of the Mexican by Jimmy Gonzales, city policeman.

Garcia Jailed October 8.

In his testimony on the stand, Garcia stated that he was arrested on Ocotber 8 at the time of his confinement to a cell in the city jail, two $20 bills and a five-cent piece were taken from him and delivered to the desk sergeant.

The Mexican said that when he was released from jail that Detective Martin gave him money to buy food with.

He declared that he was released the following day by Martin, who explained that no sufficient evidence was at hand to prosecute him. Martin told him, he said, that Jimmy Gonzales was out of the city, and that he told him he could go free, but did not give him back his money.

He said that he made several trips back to the police station in an effort to get his money, but was each time told by the desk sergeant that he had none there. The last time, he said, he went to Martin's office and Martin told him to be at the courthouse the following morning at 9 o'clock and he could get his money.

Gonzales Names Martin.

Gonzales, on the stand, stated that after his return from Seymour he was approached by Garcia and asked

DEMOCRATS IN GLEEFUL POWER

Republicans Gain Strength in Wichita; Negroes Aid Lily White Faction.

There wasn't any doubt about it here from the first hour that the polls were open. Wichita Falls was democratic, gleefully and good naturedly democratic. The republicans began and continued throughout the day to cast the biggest vote that the party had ever scored here, but when that is only about one in three to one in four, well you can't do anything more than excite respect and sympathy.

Without going into the complete figures, because a check of various boxes showed the result so obviously one-sided, there weren't but two factions showing enough strength to even annoy the precinct clerks.

Here is an example in box one, "unofficial, but accurate":

Democratic, 135; republicans, 42; black and tan republicans, 2; socialists, 2; American party (Ferguson's crowd, but you couldn't hardly call it "crowd"), 4; Independents, smattering of odds and ends.

Negroes Back Lily Whites.

The negro vote in this box was comparatively heavy for Wichita Falls. But the negroes were not voting the black and tan faction. They were supporting either democrats or the "lily-white" republicans, headed by Jack Culbertson.

The vote, on early returns, showed that a far larger total vote would come out than had been registered in

Zayas Defeats Gomez as Cuban Chief Executive

HAVANA, Nov. 2.—Alfredo Zayas, coalition candidate for president, has carried five of the six provinces over Jose Miguel Gomez, liberal, according to the department of communication. Zayas leads, based on returns from about a third of the precincts is estimated at 4,000.

WRANGEL RETREAT TERMED STRATEGIC

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The South Russian embassy here asserted today that the retreat now being carried out by General Baron Wrangel, anti-bolsheviki leader in South Russia, was in conformity with a preconcerted strategical plan, by which he purposed to realign his forces in the lower Don and Crimean regions. These regions, the embassy said, would serve as the base of new operations which circumstances might make necessary.

The embassy pointed out that General Wrangel had several times before used the same tactics with advantage.

SARAGOSSA, Spain, Nov. 2.—The Employers' association decided last night to lockout the workers in every factory of the city. This movement will affect 24,000 men, including municipal workers.

WHITE CONCEDES LOSS TO G. O. P.

President and Congress Go to Republicans, Says Campaign Head.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—George White, Democratic national chairman, conceded defeat of Cox and the election of a Republican congress.

Mr. White sent telegrams of congratulation to Senator Harding, Governor Coolidge and Chairman Will H. Hays of the Republican national Committee. They follow:

"Senator Warren G. Harding,

"Marion, Ohio.

"The American people have overwhelmingly chosen you. Accept my congratulations and best wishes for a successful leadership of this great nation in its critical hours."

"Governor Calvin Coolidge,

"North Hampton, Mass.

"You are the overwhelming choice of the people for vice president. Please accept my cordial congratulations and good wishes."

"Will H. Hays,

"National committeeman.

"Congratulations to you on the leadership of a most successful national contest."

REPUBLICAN IS NATION'S CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT

Chairman White of Democratic Committee Concedes Harding's Election.

American Voters Prefer Harding, Who Favors "Staying Out" of League

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—On the face of returns showing the growing landslide for Harding, Governor Cox's own newspaper, the Dayton Daily News, and Chairman White of the democratic national committee, soon after 11 o'clock tonight conceded the election of Senator Harding.

Without waiting for returns from the west, which four years ago elected Wilson in the face of pluralities for throughout the east, the democratic candidate and his chief manager conceded that in the "solemn referendum" which President Wilson declared would decide the League of Nations question, American voters had preferred Harding who favored "staying out" to Cox who favored 'going in."

Governor Cox who was in his newspaer office when the concession to Senator Harding was published said he would issue no statement.

Senator Harding at his home in Marion said he was "more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part" than he was to exultation.

When Governor Cox and Chairman White made their concession such returns as were coming in from the Western states showed a strong drift to Harding and the republican landslide which began to take on tremendous proportions throughout the East was continuing to roll with seemingly never-ending momentum.

At the hour the democratic concession of republican victory was made, there were practically no returns in to show the trend of voting on congress. The few returns at hand showed few net changes and these in favor of the republican side. The democratic fight for control of the senate, particularly of its potential effect on consideration of the peace treaty issue, showed no signs of waning. Penrose of Pennsylvania, Cummins of Iowa, Wadsworth of New York, Brandegee of Connecticut and Moses of New Hampshire, the latter two "bitter enders" in their opposition to the treaty of Versailles, seemed safe in re-election by substantial majorities.

Taking the republican landslide in the East as handwriting on the wall, metropolitan newspapers, among them those which staunchly had supported Cox and the League of Nations issue, announced the election of Harding early in the evening. There were then no figures to assure it, or to give assurance that the sudden turning about of four years ago which changed apparent victory for Hughes into election for Wilson would not be repeated. Democratic managers early in the night professed confidence that the votes from the West would overcome the sentiment of the East, while the republican managers continued to issue predictions of victory.

As the landslide in the East continued to roll down, however, and the first indications came that it would extend westward, there evidently was some hurried communication.

States from which returns were too meager to justify actually placing them in either the Harding or Cox column were Arizona 3, California 13, Colorado 6, Indiana 15, Kentucky 13, Maryland 8, Minnesota 12, Missouri 18, Montana 4, Nevada 3, New Mexico 3, North Dakota 5, South Dakota 5, Utah 4 and West Virginia 8; a total of 120.

States which were certain for Cox at that hour were Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia; a total of 136 votes in the electoral college.

NEW JERSEY FOR HARDING.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Twelve districts out of 2,046 give Harding 13,036, Cox 5,527 and Debs 177.

G. O. P. CARRIES ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Returns from 685 precincts, including 305 in Chicago, gave Harding 148,854 and Cox 54,386, a Harding plurality of 94,468.

MARTIN FOUND GUILTLESS OF THEFT CHARGES

for the money. He stated that he was under the impression that Martin had been given the envelope containing the money by the desk sergeant when it was made known that the Mexican was to be transferred to the county.

Martin, who was the last to be called, testified that he knew nothing of the arrest of the Mexican until told by Julius Ehlers, the desk sergeant, that the Mexican was hungry and had gone without food for several hours through the negligences of Jimmy Gonzales.

Says Ehlers Gave Envelope.

He said that after investigating the case and discovering that the prosecuting witness had left town, he released the Mexican and gave him a dollar with which to buy his lunch. He stated that when he brought him before Ehlers to have the release recorded, he was certain that he saw Ehlers hand him an envelope, although at the time he did not know that the Mexican had any money.

At no time, he testified, did he have in his possession any money belonging to the Mexican.

He said the Mexican came to him and asked for his money and mistakenly thinking that he might possibly be the same one who was recently convicted of petty theft in the county court at law, ordered him to report at the courthouse and make his request there.

"Gave It to Martin"—Ehlers.

Ehlers, who was questioned by Commissioner Bralley in addition to the regular examination by County Attorney John Davenport and Attorney Hicks, counsel for Martin, declared that he had delivered the envelope containing the Mexican's money to Martin when the latter appeared at the desk with the Mexican and stated that he was going to turn him over to the county.

He said that it was customary to give the officer taking a prisoner to the county the property of the prisoner, which was delivered to county authorities, who in turn sent a receipt acknowledging the prisoner and his effects. He said that he knew nothing else about the money until the Mexican came to him and asked for it.

Did Not Report Loss.

He admitted that he should have reported the loss of the money to Commissioner Bralley, but that he refrained from doing so and told Martin instead.

Ehlers became suspicious then, according to the testimony of Deputy Constable Belcher, and ordered him to consult the dockets of the county court to ascertain whether or not a case against the Mexican had been entered there. Belcher stated that Ehlers made as his reason for this action insinuations that "he could never tell how Bralley and Huff were running things around here."

Belcher stated that he returned with the report to Ehlers that a case had not been entered against the Mexican.

When asked joint blank if they had taken the money, Ehlers and Gonzales both answered in the negative.

Bralley Takes Stand.

Attorney Hicks called Mr. Bralley to the stand and asked if an audit had been made recently of Ehlers' accounts, and, if so, the condition of them.

Mr. Bralley said that an audit of the accounts of the city is still in progress, but that more than a month ago, after the accounts of the police department had been scrutinized, that he had gone to the auditor with a request to show him the report which he will submit to the city council when the whole audit is completed. Mr. Bralley said that the auditor pointed out two $15 discrepancies in the desk sergeant's accounts and said that they had not then been cleared up.

The report showed, he said, that the $30 was paid into the police department in two fines, which have not been accounted for so far.

Desk Sergeant Ehlers in a statement to The Record News Tuesday night explained the matter as follows:

Ehlers Explains Fines.

"These two fines were taken in about six or seven months ago when J. B. Marlow was mayor. One was for a man named Scroggins. His case was transferred to the county court and has been settled. I turned the money over to the attorney for Scroggins, a Mr. Gibson. But someone during my absence mistakenly stamped the fine on the city books as paid in.

"The other fine was taken in for a man whose name did not appear on the parallel set of books kept. George Thornburn, city clerk, told me that he did not have the name on his books of the man whom the fine was for. He instructed me to keep the $15 until an accounting was made and it was found where it belonged. I did this and have the money now."

Shorty Vandiver Makes Charges.

Verbal charges against Martin by "Shorty" Vandiver, which reached the ears of Commissioner Bralley Tuesday morning, were investigated and found without foundation.

According to the testimony of Deputy Constable Arrington, who repeated the charges to Commissioner Bralley, "Shorty" told him that a girl had told him Tuesday morning that Martin had been collecting $25 "fines" from various women in the "flat" district.

Vandiver partially denied Arrington's statement, saying that a girl had told him Tuesday morning that "Martin had been down there raising hell this morning."

A woman of the name furnished by Arrington, who was said by him to have paid the "fines" to Martin, was called upon the stand and plead ignorant of any transactions of this kind, although she admitted knowing Martin.

It was reported that Martin and Vandiver had recently had an argument over financial matters, and it was said that Vandiver was worsted. Vandiver made charges following.

It became known at the close of the trial that Martin had tendered his resignation from the force Monday night, but that Chief Huff and Commissioner Bralley had not had time to act on it at the beginning of the trial, and for this reason was kept secret.

In explaining his action, Martin stated that it was necessary for him to visit the bedside of his wife's mother for two weeks at the least, and that he did not feel right in asking the department for a vacation for this period of time.

Commissioner Bralley stated Tuesday night that he and Chief Huff had reached no decision in regard to the resignation, that they hated to lose a man who has produced such good results during his leadership of the detective department, and that if it was accepted they wished the public to take cognizance of the fact that this action was a coincidence and not the result of a cloud of suspicion over Martin, which would naturally be supposed to have been caused by the charges brought against him.

GOVERNOR-ELECT OF TEXAS

NEFF VICTORY BY OVER 5 TO 1 SEEMS CERTAIN

Gregor, 287; Neff, 222; Culbertson, 64.

RANGER, Nov. 2.—Neff carried Ranger by more than 2 to 1. The vote: Neff, 141; Culbertson, 58.

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMEN.

Texas stayed with the democratic party in every congressional race in the state, it was shown by returns early this morning. The hardest fight was against Congressman Carlos Bee of the Fourteenth district. He had 1,754 votes in 23 boxes, as against 1,694 of Wurzbach, his opponent.

The congressional delegation from the contested districts will be: First, Eugene Black; Second, John C. Box; Third, M. G. Saunders; Fourth, Sam Rayburn; Fifth, Hatton W. EL PASO, Nov. 2.—Ten precincts out of 53 in El Paso county give Cox 660; Harding, 607.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Nov. 2.—Brownsville, the home of R. B. Creager, who seconded Warren G. Harding's nomination for president in the Chicago convention, went for the republican candidate today by a majority of 99 votes. Point Isable, a coast town 20 miles below Brownsville, voted solid for Harding.

The Brownsville vote was: Harding, 376; James M. Cox, 277.

Woman Vote Fails to Hurt Socialists

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—"The socialist party has not been weakened by the American woman's vote, except in a few isolated instances," said Otto Branstetter, national secretary of the socialist party, in a statement to the Associated Press tonight. "Early returns indicate a heavy increase in the socialist vote."

Branstetter sent the following telegram to Eugene V. Debs, socialist candidate for president at the federal penitentiary at Atlanta tonight:

"Early returns indicate vote up to expectations. Debs is ahead of Cox in many precincts. Early scattered returns indicate a vote of from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000."

HARDING MAN SEES EVEN BORDER STATES

By Associated Press.

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Harry M. Daugherty, a member of the republican campaign committee, and close adviser of Senator Harding, declared at 9 o'clock Central time tonight that Harding had carried "every Northern state and the border states of Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri and probably Oklahoma."

FRANCE WILL KEEP HANDS OFF GREECE

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The French foreign office informed the Associated Press today that France would not interfere in the Greek situation unless former King Constantine attempts to return to Greece.

In such case, it was added, "France will take such measures as are deemed necessary."

COX CALLS IT A 'GOOD FIGHT' AS HE CASTS VOTE

DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 2.—"It has been a good fight on the part of democrats, win or lose," Governor James M. Cox declared tonight as he awaited for the verdict on his candidacy for the presidency. When Governor Cox came to his office at the Dayton News to receive returns. The first bulletin shown him was from Maine, a precinct that always goes strongly republican and Harding carried it today. "That isn't a fair way to treat me," Cox smilingly remarked, "You ought to have shown me one from Texas first."

When Governor Cox went to the polls at Clairmonte at 10 o'clock he was accompanied by Mrs. Cox, Frank L. Hopkins of the New York World, Harry R. Fenton of the Associated Press, Winder R. Harris of the Universal News Service and Bascom N. Timmons of The Record News.

Governor Cox had gone direct from his train to the polls. When he arrived at the polls he had to wait and he wanted a cigar. "The new order seems to be here for no campaign cigars are around the polls," Cox commented, and took a cigar from Timmon's pocket. He also had to borrow a pencil with which to mark his ballot from Harris.

Democrats in Gleeful Power

the first democratic primary in July, when about 5,000 of the 8,000 odd votes then eligible voted.

In box one, for instance, at 3 o'clock, about 500 votes had been cast. That was more than had been cast in the first primary during the entire day. And that was hours before the late afternoon rush which, as usual, witnessed an influx of labor votes after working hours.

Women frequently appeared to vote, but their number seemed not large in the aggregate.

Voting Facilities Few.

Voting facilities at this box were inadequate so far as convenience and secrecy of the ballot goes, but they were not so limited that everybody could not vote. Men and women pondered over the cumbersome ballots with wrinkled brows. Most of them gave it up as a bad job when it came to "making selections," and voted a straight ticket. It took about six black lines to vote. They scratched columns of names at one shot and left a straight ticket.

Ballots were dumped in steel boxes under the table where the precinct clerks sat. From time to time a clerk came down and carried a "coupla" buckets upstairs where Judge Fitts and his assistants were counting.

Even though Texas was resignedly democratic, the street talk here was something like this:

Wanted Cox; Felt Hopeless.

"I voted for Cox, poor fellow, but I don't see how he could win."

Some of the "I-told-you-so" variety, when they heard that early returns favored Harding, admitted that they "knew all along that Cox couldn't win."

The necessity for cancelling more than 50 ballots which were ruled out by judges at the four boxes in the court house as being "mutilated beyond hope of correction," increased the anger of those presiding over the various election boxes and proved a minor but none the less important obstruction to the progress of the long lines of men and women awaiting their turn to act their part in the presidential play.

Voted Four Different Tickets.

It was said by one judge at a box in the court house that several men and women had attempted to vote for four different party candidates for the same office. This was one violation of the state election laws which disqualified a ballot.

The electors for president and vice president named on the five different party tickets (the "independent party" having no candidates) proved a puzzle to many. Those who did not seek the advice of election officials were hopelessly out o' luck so far as having their ballots accepted—and, after all, that was the main thing.

Women voted for one elector, two electors, three electors, four electors, and any number of electors, regardless of their party, which happened to suit their fancy. "Oh, well," said one Susan Anthony exponent, "I might as well give one man in each party my support because I don't think it would be fair for me to be piggish and confine my vote to 20 whole men in one party. I'm for equality to all and partiality to none."

Ain't What It Used to Be.

"'Lection day ain't what it used to be," said a staid old politician in a tone of absolute resignation, "just look at those lines of wimmin filling the doors. In the old days, about this time (it was late in the afternoon) a man could pretty well tell how things were going to work out, but now—there ain't no tellin', because these wimmin are the most unknown quantity I've ever seen. They don't know theirselves how they are goin' to vote until they get the ballot in their hands, an' if they don't know, how in the world is anybody else going to tell?"

Wanted to Use Same Box.

A slight commotion in a corner of justice court No. 1, which was being used as a polling place, attracted the attention of an election official who happened to be disengaged at that time, and, upon investigation, he found one woman in violent hysterics and another in the act of following suit.

At a loss to know what to do, being a confirmed bachelor, but anxious to do something, the election man ran around in a circle for a few minutes, patting one and then the other on the back in the course of circling them until they were finally quited down to a normal state.

He later swore that his spasmodic "pattings" on the back were responsible for their return to the normal, but witnesses stated that his circular course made them dizzy and acted as an antidote for the hysterics.

The election official was at a loss to determine what particular kind of bad news they had received, but, growing bolder at observing the absence of a telegram, letter or communication of any kind in their hands, he asked the cause of their agonized state of mind, and was informed by a sobbing voice that a "nasty old election judge had refused to let us vote in the same box, and we don't want to separate because we want to tell our children and their children that we both cast our first vote together."

It developed that the two women were bosom friends but happned to be unlucky enough to live in opposite portions of the city, and the cause of their distress was due to their being directed to different boxes by election officials as the result of their different residence locations.

G. O. P. Gets Big Vote.

On the strength of partial returns it was evident that the republican campaign here had achieved by far the largest vote ever received by the party in Wichita Falls. Jack Culbertson, candidate for governor, and leader of the ticket, was running practically the same as the remainder of the party.

This was pointed to in political circles as evidence that Culbertson and his party were carrying the vote together. It disproved the claims of some of the opposition to the republicans that the vote Mr. Culbertson would get here would be solely a "very complimentary" one to him as a business man success and a citizen of Wichita Falls.

Charles Dodgen, running for sheriff as an independent, was beaten, early returns indicated, from 3 to 4 to 1, by Fred Smith, democratic candidate. Dodgen entered as an independent. He was endorsed by the republican party, and, through a mistake, his name was entered on the ballot as a republican candidate.

Dodgen is a deputy under Sheriff McFall.

CONSTANTINE KEEPS AWAY FROM STREETS

GENVEA, Nov. 2.—Constantine and Sophie, former king and queen of Greece, still are keeping to their rooms in the hotel National at Lucerne, although Prince Paul is seen in the street.

Constantine is greatly depressed by the report that Great Britain and France which, guaranteed the kingdom of Greece, would refuse even if the elections were favorable to him, to allow his return to the Greek throne.

MAINE DECISIVELY GOES FOR HARDING

PORTLAND, Maine, Nov. 2.—Harding carried Maine in today's election by the largest plurality ever given a presidential candidate in this state. Of the first sixteen cities completing returns Cox carried only one, Biddieford. In 1916 Wilson carried 12.

Returns from 496 precincts out of 632 gave Harding 104,685; Cox 46,883.

Coolidge, His Family and Home

Calvin Coolidge, Mrs. Coolidge, their two sons, John (left) and Calvin Jr., and the Coolidge home. The Coolidges occupy the left side of the double house.

Returns for 110 precincts out of 296 gave Harding 26,444; Cox, 13,750.

Smith 240; Dodgen, 88. Total vote, 368.

Biggest County Vote Cast

The election not only developed by far the biggest vote ever cast in Wichita county, but it brought out a big proportionate increase in the republican vote—a vote which was not only for Jack Culbertson, a local man, but for the entire ticket.

Based on comparisons between the Wichita county vote Tuesday and the vote four years ago in the presidential election the Republicans gained approximately five hundred per cent; the Democrats, only 200 per cent. These comparisons however, are drawn on the basis of partial returns so far, and are subject to radical change.

Four years ago the Democrats cast 2108 votes, the republicans 347. This is a ratio of 85 per cent Democratic; 15 per cent Republican. Based on incomplete returns, the total vote this year will be about 6600. If the ratio continues as in the same degree as early returns indicate, the democrats will poll about 4900 votes; the republicans 1700 votes. The vote already counted is 2544 for Neff and 800 for Culbertson, indicating a ratio of 76 per cent for the democrats; 24 per cent Republican.

The election, while bringing out a record vote here, was singularly free from disorder. Not a single fight over the election arose, in so far as police reports indicate.

The big vote came with little electioneering. The customary line of "friends" of candidates did not appear in the vicinity of voting booths. Practically the only electioneering under way here was in the interest of the passage of an amendment to the state constitution to allow school districts to fix their own rate of taxation.

The Diary of an Engaged Girl

THE SEQUEL

But that isn't the half of it. Nay, not by a jugful. The climax came in the evening and thusly:

Mother and I dined at our hotel and then we went out for a little walk in the Borghere Gardens. It was a heavenly moonlight night and there was a lilt in my heart—and a streak of golden joy somewhere in my throat, just for the sheer joy of living, of being young and happy and in Rome on such a night.

Mother was most loquacious, and bent on telling me how romantic my daddy had been as a young man, while she, well, she had always kept her head, it would seem from her accounts. She sort of condescended to lean her loveliness near to his ardent heart. I should have known that without her telling me, for no woman can be such an absorbed and excellent housekeeper and executive quantity who has deep sentiments, or is romantic. No, the two do not mix at all. And little Lindsey is her daddy's daughter. It's frightful to think of all he missed if mother was so unresponsive and all that? Still dad always looks as if he, too, had seen the land beyond the moon. Maybe he is like me and has also philandered in his time? Who knows?

We sat for an hour under the cypress trees and the scent of the night crept and seeped into every nit of me in a maddening way. Once I thought that I saw a shadowy form flit by through the trees. My thoughts flew to Ettore.

Once back at the hotel I sat dutifully with mother for a few minutes and then went up to my own room.

It was such a gorgeous night that my room was flooded with moonlight and I decided against turning on the light and sat down in a big arm chair to stretch myself and dream.

And then—how shall I tell it—I heard a heavenly sweet tenor voice somewhere in the street and just below my window raised in song. The voice was singing a Neapolitan love song—"Rose Rosse"—one pregnant with love and sentiment and passion. I started up in joy at the beauty of the serenade and wondered who on earth of all the lovers of the earth could be down there singing to his love.

And then I knew, for I stole to the window, softly, so as not to break the spell, and drawing my silk wrap round me a bit tighter, I leaned out of the window. Clear, by the light of the moon, I saw my Ettore. His love song I knew was meant for me!

He stopped as soon as he had finished the second verse and raised his arms to me, supplicatingly. There was only one thing to do, and I did it. I blew him a dozen kisses. Then, with a motion of his arm and hand, he motioned for me to come down and follow him. Did I hesitate? Not for long, for I knew that mother must be settled by this time and that I was being offered the key to the Garden of Paradise. And that's all there was to it, except that I ran down and out and into my adorer's arms, so to speak, and then palpitating at my own daring, I let him lead me back into the Borghere Gardens to a secluded spot. We sat down and listened to the thumping of our own wild hearts before we could even say each others names. That's Italian love—and, oh, there is really so much more to it—and everything that I feel quite dazed at my own self for ever thinking of any other man or country.

TESTED RECIPES

Yeast-Raised Waffles — Scald three-quarters cup of milk and while the milk is scalding place in a large pitcher two tablespoons of shortening, two tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon of salt.

Cream together and then pour over the scalding milk and add one cup of ice cold water and coll the mixture to 70 degrees F. Now add one-quarter yeast cake and stir to dissolve, then add four level tablespoons of cornmeal, two cups of sifted flour.

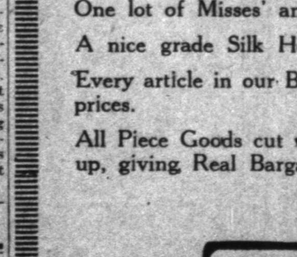

Beat thoroughly to mix and then stand in a place about 70 degrees F. until morning, and then beat for three minutes. Now all two-thirds cup sifted flour, one-half cup of hot water about 110 degrees F.

Beat and mix and then bake in the usual waffle manner.

Chestnut Fritters—Twenty large chestnuts, one tablespoon powdered sugar, one-half cup milk, one-half teaspoon vanilla, one tablespoon butter, three egg yolks.

Roast chestnuts slowly so as not to discolor them. Remove shells carefully and put nuts in a saucepan with the sugar, milk and vanilla. Cover pan and let mixture simmer until the nuts are very tender, about thirty minutes.

Drain and press nuts through a coarse sieve. Mix with butter and slightly beaten egg yolk. Cool and then roll into small balls about one-half inch in diameter. Dip in beaten eggs and then in fine crumbs and fry a golden brown in hot lard or a mixture of lard and drippings. Serve hot with powdered sugar.

FACTS ABOUT TANLAC ARE GIVEN TO PUBLIC

Special Representative Tells Why It Has Become Most Talked of Medicine in the World Today.

NO GREAT MYSTERY ABOUT IT, HE SAYS

Merit Alone Has Confirmed It in the Minds of the People All Over the American Continent.

W. B. Logan, special representative in the State of Texas for Tanlac, the medicine that has created such a sensation all over the United States and Canada, gives some highly interesting facts about Tanlac and the remarkable results achieved by it.

"Contrary to popular opinion," he stated, "there is no great mystery about Tanlac, except insofar as the chemistry of the human body itself and what it does with substances taken into it, is a mystery. Some of the ingredients of Tanlac have been known and used as medicines for centuries. Others are of more recent discovery, but every one of them is of recognized therapeutic value and used by the medical profession everywhere. Tanlac is simply a co-mingling of these medicinal elements in a way hitherto unknown and which brings out their curative and reconstructive powers to a most remarkable degree. Briefly, it allays irritation of the stomach, strengthens the digestive and assimilative organs, builds up and revitalizes the whole system, and gives the body new powers of resistance and strength. Gratifying gains in weight are not uncommon, especially where a person has suffered from under-nourishment brought on by dyspepsia, indigestion, illness, operation or other causes.

"It is a demonstrated fact in medical science that the stomach is the starting point of most of the ills that afflict the human body, and many of the so-called diseases are not diseases at all, but reflex symptoms of the stomach derangements of the weakened condition of the body that naturally follows. Some kinds of rheumatism, gastritis, palpitation, nervousness, kidney disorders and liver complaints are among the more common troubles developed through the stomach. Scores of other diseases have been traced to the same source.

"Tanlac was made especially to overcome these stomach complaints and the various so-called diseases and symptoms that follow them, but the astonishing reconstructive powers revealed by its have not only astonished the general public, but have somewhat surprised even the originators of the medicine themselves. Thousands of letters reach the Tanlac offices from all parts of North America telling of remarkable results derived by people who have suffered for years without being able heretofore to find relief.

"Naturally, these remarkable achievements have spread the fame of Tanlac to all quarters of the continent, and the demand for it has necessitated working the laboratories night and day.

"The tremendous popularity of Tanlac grows steadily instead of diminishing and can be explained in only one way—merit. Its remarkable restorative effects seem to be more permanent than hitherto believed possible. Thousands of persons who took it when it was first introduced five years ago report that they are still enjoying excellent health, and millions of American homes are now using Tanlac as the family medicine after having first tried it out thoroughly.

Tanlac is sold by all druggists.—(Adv.)

THE CROOKED BUILDING TRADES DEAL

The Lockwood investigation of the building trades in New York has so far borne out the charge from Samuel Untermyer, which brought about this inquiry, of existence of a combine or trust of employers and labor unions which holds up the building trades throughout the United States. It also justifies the repeated charge that building trades labor unions are crooked in the large cities.

Employers in New York have been subjected to so much nagging annoyance by crooked leaders of labor unions in the building trades that they have succumbed to the temptation to strike a corrupt bargain with these leaders. This is the story that comes out of the Lockwood investigation.

The effect of this corrupt alliance has been to aggravate the high cost of building until capital no longer consents to go into construction. Rapid advance of house rents and scarcity of houseroom have been the inevitable consequences. Special sessions of the legislature were called in New Jersey and New York, which enacted some remedial legislation, the New York legislature responding to the Untermyer broadside against the building trades "trust" by creating the Lockwood committee, which employed Mr. Untermyer, without pay, as its counsel.

While the crookedness of the building trades unions is not characteristic of the labor movement, yet it is the result of the greatest weakness of the labor movement. That is the practice of the best element of letting the control drift into the hands of specialists or professional agitators, rather than keeping it in the hands of the members whose prime interest is production and better human relationships between employer and employe.

HOW MONEY GROWS

The will of Benjamin Franklin, who died in 1790, contained a bequest of $5,000 to the city of Boston and the state of Massachusetts, "as a mark of respect for having appointed" him "as agent in England at the handsome salary of $10,000 yearly." The will also provided that the money should be put out at 5 per cent interest for 100 years. At the end of that time 31-131 of the accumulated money should be reinvested at 5 per cent for another hundred years. The remainder becomes available for public benefits. At the expiration of the second century the whole amount becomes so.

When the first century ended January 1, 1891, the $5,000 had grown to $431,-343. That amount is equally divisible by 131 and is the reason for the peculiar fraction of division which Franklin made a part of the bequest. He had worked out the amount the gift would be worth at that time. In accordance with the provisions of the will, the sum was divided. The reinvestment amount was 102,083. The city and state received the remainder which amounted to $329,300. This sum was set aside for public works.

On January 1, 1920, the interest-bearing fund had reached $281,195. By the end of the century, that is, 1991, it will have reached approximately $6,000,000. The gift was insignificant when it was made. Had the state and the city used it then, neither would have realized more than a remembrance from it. But Franklin saw the possibilities of the accumulated interest and when the end of the second century arrives the state and city will have a fund worth while.—Sioux City (Ia.) Journal.

THE KAMCHATKA CONCESSIONS

Till recently the northeastern tip of Siberia seemed of about as little value as any corresponding area on the globe, but the present demand for virgin mining fields has wholly altered the case. There is every reason to suppose that this territory is as rich in minerals as the corresponding region in Alaska just across the narrow straits, and ever since the discovery of the Klondike prospectors have been busy on the Asiatic side. Not many months ago a detailed account was given of remarkable gold prospects found by men in the employ of Seattle mining interests, which could not at the time be developed because the native population were bolsheviki and insisted that foreigners must make arrangements with the Moscow government.

If this has now been done it means of course a tremendous business enterprise. The territory said to have been leased for 60 years includes not only the peninsula of Kamchatka, with 237,000 square miles of territory, but all Siberia east of the 160th meridian, bringing the total up to nearly 500,000 square miles. Much of it is almost unknown, but presumably by this time a good deal has been discovered in regard to its mineral resources which is not to be found in the books. To locate the hidden wealth of so vast a region and to lift it in 60 years would be a task stimulating alike to miners and financiers. There is every reason to suppose that the exploitation of Kamachtka will soon begin.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Editorial Digest

TAXATION AS THE REAL ISSUE EVADED

"Taxes, linked with Death as life's chief certainty, have become the most persistent, ever-present annoyance with which ordinary folks have to grapple," says the Toledo Blade (Rep.), and the Newark (N. J.) News (Ind.) sees "a growing dissatisfaction with the lamentable avoidance in the present campaign" of serious consideration of this very important subject by either party.

There is no doubt, the Philadelphia Public Ledger (Ind.) thinks "that federal taxation is a burning issue the country over. And both parties will have to take up the question of raising revenues in the future from direct and indirect taxation in the broadest possible spirit." The Public Ledger quotes Secretary of the Treasury Houston as saying, in an address to the recent convention of the American Bankers association, "that there is no immediate reduction of taxation in sight, and that the country might as well face the fact that it has got to raise $4,000,000,000 next year in order to meet government expenditures." What is needed, the secretary said further, "is a prompt resurvey with a view to the reform of taxation, to the wiping out of inequalities and to the assurance of sufficient revenue, which may not be realized if the present system remains intact."

That this "resurvey" will be imperative is suggested by the Springfield (Mass.) Union (Rep.), since business has not remained "at a high pitch, which means that the aggregate of taxable incomes and profits is being radically reduced."

"Secretary Houston has already given warning of this," the Union says further, "in a statement in which he virtually predicts a shrinkage of $1,500,000,000 in the internal revenue receipts for the current year. He seems to base this on a 30 per cent shrinkage in the aggregate taxable income and profits, but it may be more than that."

At the same time the secretary, according to the Syracuse Post-Standard (Rep.) says "that the excess profits tax should be repealed, but that another tax must be put in its palce to produce as much." The excess profits tax has been retained, the paper continues, not because of any "lingering love of it," but because congress has failed to agree on a substitute. "And a substitute there must be. . . . The excess profits tax must go. There must be other taxes or increased taxes to make good a large fraction of what is lost by its repeal."

This substitute has been proposed by the tax committee of the National Industrial Conference board. As given in the Brattleboro (Vt.) Reformer (Ind.) their recommendations include "increases in the corporation income tax, letter postage, stamp tax, cigarette and tobacco tax, and taxes on musical instruments, candy, chewing gum, soap, and so on." It seems hardly probable, the paper comments, "that the public will approve of the proposed changes. . . . The committee evidently has reproduced the enternal tax question rather than offering a solution of it. It has also overlooked the established principle that the only popular tax is the one that taxes the other fellow."

The Philadelphia Bulletin (Ind. Rep.) thinks that the effort to find a substitute for the income and excess profits taxes will probably lead "to a revival of the tariff question and the consideration of the possibilities of returning to the former custom of indirect revenue through tariff duties . . . which might make possible a relief from the more odious forms of direct taxation."

A proposal for tax reform as advanced by Otto Kahn, says the Boston Transcript (Ind. Rep.) "sums itself up in a project for taxes on luxurious spending," and provides that "an abatement be allowed on such parts of private incomes as are saved and invested each year." Mr. Kahn further advocates a national commission "to investigate the subject of taxation and report a plan of reform." But the Transcript fears that "such a commission would accomplish little, for no matter how thoroughly it might study the situation and how good a report it might make, the matter would eternally come for decision to the halls of congress, with the usual political pulling and hauling there."

Democratic papers hold the republican congress directly responsible for the confused and oppressive tax system, and for failure to remedy it. The Butte Miner (Dem.), for example, charges "a breach of faith on the part of the republicans in this matter," since—

"Two years ago the republicans promised to revise federal taxes if given congress, but after obtaining a majority in both houses they consistently refused to revise the revenue laws, simply because they were playing politics and felt that they would have to tread on somebody's toes and thus lose votes if they framed a new act."

"Oh, dad!" wailed the fair Phyllis as the old chap limped into the sitting room. "I hope you haven't hurt Arthur!"

"Hurt him?" growled father as he sank into a chair and nursed his right foot. "No, I haven't hurt him! But if he comes here again with bricks in his coattail pockets I'll kill him."

Work and the world works with you,
Strike and you strike alone;
But that isn't the way

Production's the panacea
For every business ill;
But we'd rather shirk
Than to go to work,
For work gives us no thrill.

That is done by some one else.

A learned judge in the west is investigating the divorce evil. The trouble with the divorce business is that people seem to make much of trivial affairs. One man even asked for a divorce because his wife hadn't spoken to him in three years. The court decided that what the man needed was not a divorce but an alienist. If he had been granted a divorce that woman would not have been single ten minutes, and there would have been a riot at the marriage license window.

SHOULD MEN BE BEAUTIFUL

"Should men be beautiful?" asks a well-known writer on subjects of that sort. He advocates the use of corset belts and says that men should have some regard for the rights of others and should beautify their figures when possible.

Personally, although having the misfortune to be born very lovely ourselves, we are not as a rule partial to beautiful men.

We find some beautiful men in mythology, but none in history.

The batting average of the homely men has been up around 1000 since history began. A homely man has the nerve to do things because he doesn't care what happens to him. It doesn't make much difference.

A man was getting shaved one day and the barber, looking out of the window to note the passing of a young lady, cut off the customer's right ear. Now to a beautiful man this would have been a catastrophe, but this particular customer didn't make any fuss.

"That's all right," he said when the barber apologized. "Go right on shaving. I have another ear."

Nobody would have called Napoleon beautiful. They called him everything else, but not that. He was extremely bowlegged, and for that reason remained seated on the horse or behind his desk. Disraeli could not have secured a position as chorus man in a musical comedy if his father had owned the show.

Homely men deliver the goods. Beautiful men do not, and, come to think of it, we don't remember of ever having seen one of the latter.

POPE PLANS FOR MORE CARDINALS

By Edward C. Stuart, Staff Correspondent

ROME—It is stated in Vatican circles that the Holy Father will hold a consistory in the beginning of December, appointing several new cardinals. Among the latter will be the Papal Majordomo Mgr. Zacci, Mgr. Ragonesi, Nuncio to the Spanish Court, and the Archbishop of Cologne, Mgr. Schutte, who succeeded the late Cardinal Hartmann.

Although other candidates to the purple are mentioned, I have reason to believe that the list of additions to the sacred college will be a very limited one. The post of Majordomo left vacant by Mgr. Zacci will be filled my the Maestro di Camera, or Papal Chamberlain, Mgr. Sans de Samper, who in his turn will be succeeded by the Senior Private Chamberlain, Mgr. Caccia Dominioni.

The promotion of these prelates already somewhat advanced in age, will create several vacancies, thus enabling Benedict XV to carry out his policy of appointing young and active men to responsible posts. This system, as illustrated by Mgr. Cetetti the secretary of the important Congregation for Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs, and by the newly-appointed Nuncios who are all about forty years of age, is one of the secrets of the success of Vatican diplomacy.

Teacher—Now who can tell just what is meant by the saying, "All men are created equal?" We all know that some of us are born with wealth and many other advantages not shared by all.

Must be some car," ventured the Lizzie driver. "Can't feel it, can't smell it, can't hear it, can't see it! How do you know it is there?"

VERNON SCHOOLS WILL RECEIVE $18,860

VERNON, Nov. 2.—In the tentative awards to rural schools of the annual $2,000,000 appropriation, Wilbarger county will receive $18,860 according to an announcement just received from the rural school division of the state department of education by County Superintendent Fulcher. Thirty-one rural schools of the county will be benefitted by the aid, and the mount granted this year is an increase of over $4,000 over that received last year. The funds can only be used to pay salaries of teachers. The largest amount received by any county school is Oklaunion, which is $1500.

PAVING IS STARTED ON BUSIEST ALLEY

The city has begun excavating the alley between Indiana and Scott streets and on the block running from Ninth to Tenth streets, it was announced Tuesday by City Engineer Montgomery. The alley will be paved at once. This will complete paving of this busiest of downtown alleys from Seventh to Tenth streets.

Three other paving gangs are working in separate parts of the city.

"DARLING MINE" IS MAJESTIC FEATURE

How a little Irish immigrant girl broke into the cast of a Broadway musical show and converted some of the meaner souls into real human beings is told in "Darling Mine," the Selznick Picture starring Olive Thomas, which will be shown for two days beginning today at the Majestic theatre.

"Darling Mine" was written by John Lynch and Laurence Trimble and the picture was directed by Mr. Trimble. The supporting cast, with Walter McGrail at its head, is both large and notable.

Measure your COFFEE -don't guess!

EVEN a teaspoonful too much or too little may make all the difference between a good and a bad cup of COFFEE.

The amount of COFFEE to use depends upon the strength you like. Experiment until you find just the amount of COFFEE that suits your taste, then stick to it. Don't guess! Measure proportions carefully, both COFFEE and water.

Don't try to get more strength by letting the COFFEE pot stand on the fire and "over-draw." If you boil your COFFEE, let it boil for the briefest instant only. If you use a percolator, don't let it percolate too long. The result, if you do, will be a bitter, "woody" flavor — the commonest fault of badly made COFFEE.

For a drip (or filter) pot use a finely ground COFFEE—as fine as corn meal. For percolating or steeping use a medium grind.

In brewing, the COFFEE grounds absorb about one-fifth of the water in the pot. Therefore, to make five cups of brewed COFFEE, use six cups of water—and in the same proportion for larger or smaller quantities. (See rules for making good COFFEE.)

COFFEE
-the universal drink

Six Rules for Making Good Coffee

1—Keep your Coffee fresh—preserve the aroma to the last. Fruit-jars are ideal for this purpose.
2—Measure proportions carefully, both Coffee and water.
3—When serving hot Coffee, serve it hot. Never recook.
4—Use water only at full boiling-point in making "drip" Coffee.
5—Strain or settle carefully. ALL Coffee is clear if properly made.
6—Keep Coffee-making utensils clean.

This is the sign of The Coffee Club. Look for it in dealers' windows. It will help you find good coffee.

HARDING KEEPS CALM EXTERIOR UNDER STRAIN

MARION, O., Nov. 2.—Warren G. Harding, tonight had the greatest birthday party of his life.

Surrounded by members of his family and a circle of neighbors and personal friends, he received quietly at his home here the tribute of the millions who had voted to present him on his fifty-fifth anniversary with the presidency of the United States.

The smile of confidence he has worn for weeks broadened as he read the early returns and began to receive a flood of congratulations messages hailing him as president-elect. He deferred any formal comment, however, until the results has been established.

Seemed Unconcerned

During the day he outwardly concerned himself very little with the pending national decisions. With Mrs. Harding he voted during the morning and then made off for a forty mile automobile ride and a game of golf at the Scioto club near Columbus. He returned in the early evening, his face flushed by the raw fall air and his spirits heightened by the tramp over the muddy golf links.

Returns collected by the Associated Press were delivered to the senator in his home during the evening from the special leased wire which has been installed within a hundred feet of his front porch since the campaign began. He scanned the presidential and congressional figures with an equal show of interest for he has asked the people repeatedly for a republican congress to put the party's legislative program on the statute books.

As throughout the whole camapign, Mrs. Harding was an active figure during the evening about the candidate headquarters. She had familiarized herself with the local conditions in many states and she studied the returns with an eye for political detail.

Family Gathers

The senator's father, Dr. George T. Harding, and two of his sisters, Miss Abigail Harding and Mrs. Caroline Votaw, also were in the family circle and many friends from about town dropped in during the evening to pay their respects and chat with the Hardings outside in the street. A crowd gathered early cheering the news of the election returns as it filtered out to them.

Harry M. Daugherty, of Columbus, who was the senator's preconvention manager and who has been his close friend for years was one of those who received the election figures here. Since the Chicago convention, he has served as a member of the campaign executive committee, has accompanied the nominee on all of his speaking trips, and has been in consultation with him in Marion for more frequently than any other party leader.

CALL BOY WAS HURT BY HIS OWN BICYCLE

Herman Bell, M. K. & T. call boy who was seriously injured here Monday noon, was hurt by the breaking of a front fork in his bicycle and his resultant fall. Special Agent Garrett of the Katy and police officers, who at a late hour Monday night had not discovered the cause of the injury and were working on the theory that he was possibly run over by the automobile that brought him to the Union Station and abruptly departed, were told Tuesday by witnesses how the accident occurred.

Persons who read the account in The Record News and learned that the officers wanted the information turned in the data.

OLD LANDMARK BROUGHT $1275 MONTHLY; GOES

Work was started Tuesday on the tearing down of the building on the corner of Seventh street and Ohio avenue, which has been occupied by the People's Stock echange and the Savoy cafe for several months. The building, which is one of the landmarks of the business district, was one of the first brick buildings to be erected in the city.

A three-story, brick structure will be erected on the site, according to Wylie Wyatt, owner of the building. The first floor will be arranged so as to provide for six store rooms facing on Seventh street. The lot has a frontage on Seventh street of 85 feet with a 50-foot depth on Ohio avenue. The present building fronted on Ohio avenue. The second and third floors will be used for offices and for hotel rooms.

The building, which was formerly known as the Color building, was occupied by a saloon from the time it was erected until the saloons were voted out of the city. The building was purchased by Mr. Wyatt for a small sum when it stood vacant following the ousting of the saloons.

With the bringing in of the Burkburnett oil field the building was leased for a total rental of $1,275 monthly. Its owner at one time offered to rent the entire building for $100 a month.

EMPRESS TO STAR "SUNSET SPRAGUE"

William Fox's noted cowboy star Buck Jones will be seen at the Empress theatre beginning today in a lively Western picture called "Sunset Sprague." The author of the story is Clyde C. Westover, who is forging to the front as a writer for the screen.

Jones has made a big reputation for himself as a daring horseman. The story of "Sunset Sprague" gives him an opportunity to display his best horsemanship—and in the midst of a pretty romance.

Sunset Sprague is a happy-go-lucky cowboy looking for a job on the range when he meets a man who draws him into the quest for a stolen mine which belongs to a plucky girl. This girl is defying the bandits who killed her father and took possession of the mine. Sunset starts after the band, and when he finishes with them they are glad to disappear and leave the mine to the girl and the girl to Sunset.

DIPHTHERIA ON INCREASE HERE AMONG YOUNG

Although official statistics are not available, local officials are reporting an increasing number of diphtheria cases among young children. A number of serious cases have been recorded. Little Zelma Walters, 5 years old, died from the disease Tuesday afternoon.

Red Cross nurses and other charity officials have attended numerous cases during the past few weeks, although few of them have been serious. Children among the poorer families, with an unusual supply of "immunity," or resisting power, have successfully fought the dreaded illness, according to the attending nurses.

Dr. M. M. Walker, county health officer, was informed of conditions immediately upon his return from New York city Monday and at once set about investigating the circumstances and collecting statistics.

Funeral services for Zelma Walters, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Walters, were held from the home at 304 Burnett at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Rev. O. L. Powers conducted the services. The little girl died from diphtheria. Besides the parents, four brothers and sisters survive.

Begin Right Now to Conquer Your Rheumatism

If you are going to again rely upon the liniment bottle to try to rub your Rheumatism away, you will be doomed again to nothing but disappointment. A disease that can cause so much pain and suffering is not on the surface of the skin, and cannot be rubbed away.

Many forms of Rheumatism are caused by a tiny disease germ in the blood, and in such cases the only logical treatment is to search out and remove these germs from the blood.

For this purpose there is no more satisfactory remedy than S.S.S., the fine old blood remedy that has been in use for more than fifty years, and has given such general satisfaction for Rheumatism.

Begin taking S.S.S. today, and if you will write a complete history of your case, our medical director will give you expert advice, without charge. Address Chief Medical Director, 160 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

The executives and owners of the Wichita Falls baseball club will check out of town on Friday, en route to Fort Worth, to attend the league meeting. From there it is very probable that one or more representatives of the club will proceed to Kansas City to be "among those present" at the big doings there next week.

Jimmy Zinn is in town, and, according to his own words, is "here for the winter." Jimmy is not doing anything right now but taking a well earned rest, but he has several things in view and expects to be among the toilers in a very short while.

It has been learned here that Red Josefson is critically ill at his home in Allegheny, Pa. Red came back from Abilene a couple of weeks ago and complained that he had not been feeling well, but thought that a little touch of malaria was the only trouble. Some friends prevailed upon him to consult a physician, who was unable to find anything radically wrong with the slugging outfielder, but advised him to return home for a more complete examination. Red acted on his advice and it was found that he was suffering from an abscess on his liver and was really in a serious condition. Just how serious a condition the little favorite is in has not been definitely learned, but inquiries by the local baseball authorities are under way and it is hoped that information of a definite character may soon be received.

The Texas league mentors hold their annual fall meeting this coming Saturday in Fort Worth. The meeting was formerly called to be held in Kansas City, but several of the owners objected to the lengthy trip, so President Morris changed the original plan to the present one of holding the meeting in the Panther City. The importance of the election of new officers is likely to be overshadowed by the discussion of the plan for the control of the baseball world. The majority of the owners are expected to take the trip to Kansas City for the meeting of the minor leagues to be held there next week.

Rumor has it that Irslinger is to tie up here some time in the near future with Eddie O'Connell of Portland, Ore. The negotiations for the match are being made by a local business man who is a personal friend of O'Connell and has just returned from Los Angeles, where he and Eddie talked the matter over. The match is to be for a side bet of $2,500 a side, which will make quite a purse for the winner. O'Connell has for some time been the wrestling instructor at the Multanomah club in Portland and has quite an impressive record in the wrestling world. The details of the match have not been arranged yet, but it is planned to hold it in this city some time in the near future.

WICHITA HI MEETS VERNON SATURDAY

Arrangements for a game between the local high school football team and the team at Vernon, to be played on the Vernon field on Saturday, have been completed.

After two successive weeks without a game, the contests being cancelled by the opposing teams in both cases, the Wichita Falls eleven is on its toes for carrying the season forward. The game Saturday will be only the third this season. In the two opening games the Wichita Falls team held its opponents scoreless.

WICHITA PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN ENDORSED

Formal endorsement of the recently outlined publicity campaign to be carried on outside the city by the Chamber of Commerce was given by the directors in the regular meeting Tuesday morning and members of the publicity committee instructed to formulate a definite program for advertising. In addresses favoring the movement, Frank Kell, J. A. Kemp and Miles O'Reiley all declared Wichita Falls ready for the attention of the outsider after a thorough "cleanup" within the city proper.

Plans for a trade extension dinner near the first of the year were approved as a part of the publicity campaign.

October's financial report, read at the meeting, showed $7,559 in cash with an additional $360 to come from the Water company within the month.

HARVARD ATHLETE WINS LAW PRIZE

(By International News Service.)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Richard C. Curtis, who got his letter in varsity football as a member of Harvard's 1915 team, which overwhelmed Yale under the leadership of Captain Mahan, has finished first in a class of 220 members of the second year in the Harvard law school. Curtis' achievement has won him one of the five Sears prizes.

The remaining students awarded were A. W. McCurdy of Murphy, S. C., also a Harvard graduate; Sidney P. Simpson of Galesburg, Ill., who was graduated from Knox college in 1917; Ethan D. Alyea of Clifton, N. J., a Princeton man, and Bertram F. Willcox of Ithaca, N. Y., who took his college degree at Cornell in 1917.

To Married Women With Grouchy Husbands

If your husband is grouchy, ill-tempered, thoughtless, cold, unappreciative, sulky, moody, and unkind to you, take him to see Clara Kimball Young in her latest and greatest picture—"MID-CHANNEL," and it will do "wonders" to him.

If your husband is good, kind, sweet, considerate, take him to see Clara Kimball Young in "MID-CHANNEL," for it will make him even better than he is.

"MID-CHANNEL" is the famous stage play in which Ethel Barrymore caused a sensation in New York several years ago.

No man or woman, no sweetheart, or finance, should miss this ultra-smart picture.

Four million voters repeat - no arrests

SPEAKING OF elections.
BUT GENTLY, if possible.
TO AVOID bloodshed.
YOU KNOW what chance.
A REPUBLICAN used to have.
OF GETTING votes.
IN THE "Solid South."
WELL, THERE was a bird.
WHO RAN for office.
ON THE Republican slate.
IN GEORGIA, of all places.
AND WHEN the returns.
WERE FIGURED out.
HE HAD two votes.
AND THE election officials.
HAD HIM arrested.
FOR REPEATING.
SO ALL you voters.
WHO WANT to repeat.
DON'T DO it with votes.
GO TO some smoke shop.
AND CAST a ballot.
FOR CHESTERFIELDS.
THEN YOU'LL "repeat."
YOU JUST can't help it.
AND NO election official.
CAN PINCH you, either.
FOR "COMING back."
IN FACT, we hear.
FOUR MILLION smokers.
OF THIS cigarette.
REPEAT REPEATEDLY,
"THEY SATISFY."
In packages of 20 protected by special moisture-proof wrapper. Also in round AIR-TIGHT tins of 50.

NO other candidate has a chance with Chesterfields in the running. Over four million smokers have picked Chesterfields, and every return swells the votes. It surely is a landslide for the "satisfy" platform. Are you on?

N. Y. Socialist Attacks Methods of Older Parties

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Adoph Germer, New York organizer of the socialist party in a statement issued at party headquarters here tonight declared that the 'unusual tactics of intimidation and coercion followed by henchmen of the old parties in evidence in previous elections were also evident in the election today."

"A new method" in strong socialist districts to "cut down the workers' vote" was the "inadequate facilities" for handling the big number of balloters, Germer said, resulting in socialists being compelled to wait" from one to two hours before being able to vote".

"There is no doubt that the socialist party lost thousands of votes through these tactics," Germer said.

FARM HAND IS HELD, CHARGED WITH MURDER

By Associated Press.

LACROSSE, Wis., Nov. 2.—John G. Beier, farm hand, was arrested last night, charged with murder in connection with the death of Nicholas Biesen, Brinkman Ride farmer, whose body was found on August 26 with the top of the head blown off by a shotgun. The coroner's verdict was suicide.

Mrs. Helen Biesen, wife of the dead man, is held on a stautory charge. She confessed, it is said, that Beier told her he had killed her husband.

Two weeks ago Beier was brought into county court on a stautory charge involving Mrs. Biesen and the woman's 14-year-old daughter, Gertrude, who dramatically accused her mother on the stand of intimacy from the farm hand and told of the quarrels between her parents over Beier. Beier was released on bail and an investigation of a fire which destroyed the Biesen home about two weeks after the death of the husband was begun.

Mrs. Beisen declared her husband had ordered Beier to keep away from the house, but that for four months she had concealed him in a closet in the house. Then, on August 26, while she was absent, she declared, Biesen broke into the closet where her lover was hidden, carrying a shotgun. She said Beier told her he shot Biesen through the head with a revolver.

Later, she said, they had burned the farm house in order to have an excuse to leave the neighborhood, where they were under suspicion.

KANSAS GOING REPUBLICAN BY LARGE MARGIN

TOPEKA, Kans., Nov. 2.—Early returns from today's general election in Kansas, as tabulated here tonight gave substantial leads for the republican ticket.

The early figures, which consisted of scattered precinct returns from many counties, showed Senator Harding running ahead of U. S. Senator Charles Curtis and Governor Henry J. Allen, who are candidates for re-election.

Senator Curtis' lead over George H. Hodges, his democratic opponent, was somewhat more commanding than that of Governor Allen over Jonathan Davis.

Ten o'clock tonight with 184 precincts out of 2,526 in the state tabulated the count stood:

For president: Harding 31,479; Cox 15,839.

For senator: Curtis 26,610, Hodges 14,004.

For governor: Allen 26,834; Davis 13,518.

One of the outsanding features was the contest in the Eighth Congressional district where Representative A. W. Ayres, the only democratic member of the Kansas delegation in Congress, was opposed for reelection by Richard Bird, republican. The early figures give Ayres a slight lead.

Senator Harding led Governor Cox in some of the counties reporting by a ratio of 2 to 1.

'MIKADO' TICKETS ON SALE FRIDAY

Manager Crosby of the Wichita theatre announces that seats for the revival here of the comic opera, "The Mikado," will be on sale at the theatre box office, Friday morning. Requests by mail, telegraph and telephone will be filled in the order of their receipt.

Music lovers know that the Ralph Dunbar productions are second to none. Mr. Dunbar puts money, time and personal attention into all his attractions and gives the public the best of everything. He has over $200,000 invested in "The Mikado," "Robin Hood" and in "Carmen."

"The Mikado" will come to Wichita November 8 and 9 new and fresh and pretty. It has just been built and the costumes and scenery have only been in use a few weeks.

Ed Andrews, once a Bostonian star and the dean of all comic opera comedians, will sing the role of "Koko." He is one of the old school and his voice is as strong and as virile as it was twenty years ago. Andrews will be remembered for his splendid work last season as the Sheriff in "Robin Hood."

Miss Patricia Baker is singing "Yum-Yum" and Miss Ann McCasin has the role of "Pitti-Sing." The other principal roles are in capable hands.

LOVETT AND JOE DARCY TOP BILL

Lovett's concentration, a clever mind reading act and Joe Darcy, who is billed as "A Dark Cloud with a Silvery Lining" will top this week's vaudeville bill at the Wichita theatre.

The offering of George Lovett's act is a spectacular demonstration of psychic power, but presented in a manner different from the usual mind reading acts. He offers a revelation in the most scientific manner. Lovett is assisted by Mme. Zenda, a psychologist of wide reputation and "The Incomparable Ban of Mystery," a quintette of musical artists of ability. With these remarkable features it makes the number a genuine novelty of the highest type of vaudeville offering. Many different styles of "Mental Telepathy" have been seen in the past, but it remained for Mr. Lovett to combine the two distinct features of psychic power.

Almost every one knows Joe Darcey from some of the songs which he has written. He writes songs for his own use and songs for the use of the majority of the singing population of the country. Among the latest of his compositions are "Oh, La, La, Oui, Oui," and "Sing Me to Sleep Dear Old Mother Mine." Joe is also a blackface comedian, a dark cloud with a silvery lining. Hidden behind a coat of burnt cork, he breezes along merrily with a fine assortment of stories and songs.

Otto and Sheridan are two attractive, vivacious young ladies with excellent voices who offer some clever comedy songs and music.

The Ara Sisters are two clever, and exceedingly graceful girls who present an act billed as "The Own Dance Creation" which is an innovation of dancing art.

Herbert and Dare as a team, is undoubtedly the best gymnastic act in vaudeville, performing a number of difficult feats which for ease and graceful movements has no equal.

The Vernon candidates are E. M. McCrary, Chas. H. Thompson, W. C. Hagan, Jr., J. N. Fletcher and F. C Byrd Past commanders of Vernon commandery will fill all the stations and confer the work An elaborate banquet has been provided for the occasion, and the Sir Knights are anticipating a record breaking attendance upon the occasion.

EDISON THEORY OF NEXT LIFE HIT BY BISHOP

Written for the International News Service.
BY MARGERY REX.

NEW YORK.—Thomas A. Edison has evolved a new theory concerning the human personality and its chance of existence after the death of the body in which it dwells. In an interview recently published in a scientific magazine, the inventor expresses doubt that there is any hereafter awaiting personality, or soul, as we may wish to call that part of our mental and spiritual composition.

Our bodies are made up of countless small cells which Mr. Edison calls entities. These cells never die, but at the time of death pass from the body to take other form, "thus giving the eternal life which many of us hope for. This means little to you and me," as Mr. Edison is quoted as saying, "if, when we come to that stage known as death our personality breaks up into separate units which combine with others to form new structures."

Mr. Edison is at present constructing an instrument with which he expects to determine whether or not it is possible to communicate with departed spirits.

Dreary and hopeless as the scientist's belief may make the future for thsoe who agree with him or are influenced by his statements, the opposite side of his argument is here given by Bishop Charles Sumner Burch of the Episcopal diocese of New York.

"This is a very interesting contribution by Mr. Edison to the discussion of a subject which is before the people of today more insistently than it has been for a long time," said Bishop Burch. "I do not like to reply without giving this my long and earnest attention, but I will say this much:

"In regard to a hereafter, there would be no Christian belief that could be bulwarked by logic or by hope if personality ended with this life.

"I believe in the Christian idea of the immortality of the soul, and that would include the continuance of the personality after death. This is our reverent belief, yet we must depend on revelations, on our trust and belief in the past of the Christian religion and on what conclusions great philosophers have reached favorable to our faith. Take, for instance, Plato and Socrates, and others, not Christians at all. They did not believe that life ended at death.

"Without such belief we have nothing by which to justify life, our efforts, our sufferings, our inequalities that are almost unbearable, are without reason if we cannot look forward to the immortal life of the personality."

RETAIL PRICES STILL ABNORMALLY HIGH

(By International News Service.)

BOSTON.—Commissioner Charles H. Adams, of the commission on the necessities of life, says that the information which comes to their office from various parts of the state shows that retail prices are held up higher than they are justified by wholesale prices. For some time the wholesale prices have tended downward, with marked reductions in some lines. Yet the retail prices have not fallen proportionately. This condition, he says, results in the fact that the retail trade is losing the good will of its customers and in the long run that feeling will hurt.

GERMAN CROOK RIVALS MOVIE COMIC THRILLS

By FRANK E. MASON,
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN.—A good thriller two-reel comic with the regular old movie 'hokum' of Charlie Chaplin and Doug Fairbanks makes up the recent experience of Richard Donnerhack, Germany's newest sensation in comedy, criminality and con games.

The film opens with Richard making a regulation style bow in the smart uniform of a Prussian officer decorated with the necessary iron cross and black and white orders. After making a tour of West Germany reciting a monologue of fictitious experiences as a prisoner of war in farout India, which made tender-hearted Germans who had never seen India weep copious tears and open their hearts and pocket book strings, Richard landed in Dortmund one day during a general strike.

Posed as Secret Agency

With a air of profound secrecy he took the proprietor of Dortmund's largest hotel into his confidence and disclosed that he was a "secret agent of the German government." Furthermore he had come to Dortmund to arrange for the immediate deportation of all males between eighteen and thirty-five years of age, because the French were expected within a few days to occupy the Ruhr.

The hotel proprietor hastened to accommodate his important guest with a good dinner and the hostelry's best wine, but he also spread the news that a wholesale deportation of the masculine sex was contemplated. In twenty minutes nearly every man in Dortmund was either packing his luggage or devising a hiding place to escape deportation. Within thirty minutes the military authorities had dispatched a patrol to investigate the secret agent. The patrol officer took one look at his nibs the "government agent," and ordered him detained under arrest in his room on the fourth floor of the hotel.

Escape a "Flivver"

The next morning the military guard posted before the hotel room, after a period of suspicious quiet, opened the door and found the prisoner had disappeared. A bedsheet tied to the bed revealed an improvised ladder. The guard rushed to the window and peering over the edge he saw that our hero was dangling on a level with the second story window from his rope of twisted, knotted blankets, towels, bed sheets and dresser scarfs.

The green-clad Sicherheits-guard flashed out his bayonet and hacked at the towels across the window until it broke under the prisoner's weight. Dick landed with a thump in the court below. When he regained consciousness in the hospital he found that he had broken a leg and his right arm.

Pause while we change reels and two months pass.

The Scene Shifts

Scene: The hospital. Herr Donnerhack informs the patients, internes and guards at the hospital that he has had some little practise in magic. A pack of cards please He was very dexterous in removing the ace of hearts from the coiffure of the ward nurse, and everyone applauded his proposition to change their watches into live, singing canary birds. Dick collected the watches and not only disappeared into the next room but disappeared for good, the watches with him.

Several months later the police of Muenster on the lookout for the Communist leader Levien, who was wanted, believed that they had found Levien in the person of Richard Donhack didn't care to be put through the third degree and successfully escaped despite a shower of shots. The next scene is Berlin, where a woman betrayed him—accusing him before the police of being a marriage swindler.

Medical officers at the trial in Berlin's criminal court testified that the prisoner was of inferior mentality, in consequence of which, according to the Berlinger Tageblatt, the court reduced the sentence for his combined and assorted misdemeanors to three years' imprisonment.

What is Nuxated Iron?

Physician Explains—Says Public Ought to Know What They Are Taking—Practical Advice on What to Do to Build Up Your Strength, Power and Endurance and Increase the Red Blood Corpuscles.

The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over four million people annually and that so many physicians are prescribing it as a tonic, strength and blood builder in weak, nervous, rundown conditions has led to an investigation of its merits by designated physicians and others whose reports should be of great importance to the public generally. Among these is the statement made by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and Westchester County Hospital, who says: "When one patient after another began asking my opinion of Nuxated Iron, I resolved to go thoroughly into the subject and find out for myself whether or not it possessed the real value claimed by its manufacturers and attested to by so many prominent people. This is exactly what I believe every honest, conscientious physician should do before prescribing or lending his endorsement to any product whatsoever. If an article is worthless we practioners ought to be the first to know of it and if it is efficacious we are in duty bound to recommend it for the welfare of our patients. A study of the composition of the Nuxated Iron formula so impressed me with the therapeutic efficacy of the product that I immediately tested it in a number of obstinate cases. So quickly did it increase the strength, energy and endurance of the patients to whom it was administered that I became firmly convinced of its remarkable value as a tonic and blood builder. I have since taken it myself with excellent results. There are thousands of delicate, nervous, run-down folks who need just such a preparation as this, but do not know what to take. Therefore, I have urgently suggested the widespread publication of the sworn statement of the composition of its formula so that the public may know what they are taking. The complete formula is now to be found in newspapers throughout the country. It is composed principally of organic iron in the form of iron peptonate of a special specific standard and glycerophosphates which is one of the most costly tonic ingredients known. To the credit of the manufacturers it may be said that they use the most expensive form of iron peptonate, whereas by employing other makes they could have put the same quantity of actual iron in the tablets at less than one-fourth the cost and by using metallic iron they could have reduced the cost to less than one-twelfth, but by thus cheapening the product they would undoubtedly have impaired its therapeutic efficacy. In my opinion a careful examination of this formula by any physician or pharmacist should convince him that Nuxated Iron is to be placed among the very highest class and most strictly ethical preparations known to medical science. It excels anything I have ever used for building up the system and increasing the red blood corpuscles, thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease.—(Adv.)

DODSON SOUNDS CALOMEL'S DOOM

The "Liver Tone" Man Warns Folks Against the Sickening, Salivating Drug.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you lose a day.

Calomel is mercury! When it comes into contact with sour bile, it crashes into it, breaking it up. Then is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish, if liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach is sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodsons Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous, go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it can not salivate or make you sick.—(Adv.)

Neuralgic Pains

Give Way to Soothing Hamlin's Wizard Oil

Hamlin's Wizard Oil is a safe, simple and effective treatment for both headache and neuralgia. Rubbed in where the pain is, it eases the tortured nerves and almost invariably brings quick relief. Keep a supply on hand.

Wizard Oil is a good dependable preparation to have in the medicine chest for first aid when the doctor may be far away. Its healing, antiseptic qualities can always be relied upon as a preventive against infection, or other serious results, from sprains, bruises, cuts burns, bites and stings. Just as good, too, for sore feet, stiff neck, frost bites, cold sores and canker sores.

Generous size bottle 35c.

If you are troubled with constipation or sick headache try Hamlin's Wizard Liver Whips. Just pleasant little pink pills at druggists for 30c.

'PUSSYFOOT' NO LONGER JOKE IN BRITISH ISLES

By EARLE C. REEVES.
(By International News Service.)

LONDON—While each side interprets the results of the prohibition election in Scotland to its own advantage as much as is possible, one striking thing stands out in the minds of Englishmen:

W. E. 'Pussyfoot' Johnson is something to worry about.

The sentence is written so, without prejudice to the general issue of prohibition, but because, taken in the large, England looks upon anybody or anything that tends toward drought as a "worry."

England tried to laugh Johnson out of court a year ago. And in so doing gave him and his cause millions of dollars worth of free advertising. Johnson was literally "put on the map" by his enemies.

Many warnings have been sounded since. And the newspapers have ceased to consider any kind of a "pussyfoot" joke as propaganda against the cause, or they have learned the dictum of Joe Cannon that it is better to be attacked than ignored.

Sound Warning Note

The warning note sounded in display type by the Globe easily outranks all others, and is here given in extract form.

"It is time to issue a warning to the nation not to take this man's campaign too lightly.

"Mr. 'Pussyfoot' Johnson has methods of waging his war against 'the trade' which the people of England do not yet understand. It is a mistake to smile and call him "Pussyfoot', He is much more than that.

"He is one of the greatest phychological experts in the world.

'He beat the United tSates public on the question of prohibition, not because they really wanted prohibition, but because they did not know that he was so far advanced in his methods. He beat them because he had them beaten before they knew. That is his method.

"Therefore, it is time Englishmen knew what to expect.

"In the American trade boom and the Pussyfoot campaign it is easy to discern that working of that psychological force which is relied upon by the average American to drive home his point.

"He works behind the scenes, smiling, always smiling. That smile has pulled many votes to his party. He never starts a campaign without first setting his plans in working order and his workers bring him reports on which his plans are set.

"This is not a question of whether prohibition is a good thing or a bad thing. The point I am trying to make is that unless England 'sits up' Mr. Johnson will 'bring home the bacon' in England also.

"It's England's turn next."

RED CIRCULARS IN PARK BRING ARREST

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Michael Wolkowitch, a Russian, arrested today by the police for dropping alleged anarchistic circulars on park benches, is being held for investigation by the agents of the department of justice.

The pamphlets, which were entitled "The Proclamation of the United Communist Party," urged the workers to "boycott the election" and "be prepared for an armed insurrection."

The circulars also attacked the socialist party as "traitors of the workers."

Federal agents said Walkowitch denied having any connection with the alleged organized group of persons that have been flooding many sections of the country with anarchist literature.

Wilson Stays up to Get Returns at White House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—President Wilson remained up later than usual tonight to receive the election returns as they came into the White House over special wires from various democratic headquarters. The bulletins were delivered to him from the executive offices by messengers and during the evening he saw no one other than members of his immediate family.

The early scattering returns received during the day as the voting progressed were transmitted to the president and were understood to have been received without comment.

Rain began to fall in the afternoon and the president did not take his usual motor ride. He met with the five members of his cabinet who are in the city at 4:30 o'clock, but it was said only routine matters were talked over.

"BODY AND SOUL" AT OLYMPIC TODAY

Parisian photoplays—until "Body and Soul" brings Alice Lake to the screens at the Olympic today—have been of two sorts: very drawing room and impressively smart, or very underworld and very cave-mannish in an unconvincing, Apache-like way.

Hence the relief, and later, as soon as the really unusual story began to grip, genuine thrill at seeing the screen version of William Hurlbut's drama. It provided several things, including the first prerequisite of all fiction, whether presented in the pages behind the pretty-girl-cover of a magazine or on the boards behind the footlights: entertainment. From the first half-reel the audience is welded into an enthralled entity of attention. But more than that: "Body and Soul" gave thrills and material for thought and the most colorful and real picture of Paris the screen has ever drawn.

Credit for splendid direction is due Charles Swickard; and no less praise merited by Arthur Reeves for photography and A. E. Freuderman for the art settings. The photoplay was adapted by Hayden Talbot and Marc Robbins.

DEBS HEARS RETURNS.

By Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 2.—Eugene V. Debs, socialist candidate for the presidency, received the eletcion returns tonight in the federal prison here, where he is serving a sentence for violation of the espionage law.

The returns reached the prison authorities from the Atlanta newspaper offices by telephone and were promptly communicated to Debs in his cell.

GERMAN HEADS TEACH CLASSES IN GOVERNMENT

By FRANK E. MASON
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN.—Apparently the German government is not as busy warding off bolshevism, kaiserism and bankruptcy as the world imagines, for the cabinet ministers have announced that they will adopt the sideline of school teaching. Practically all the cabinet members including Dr. Simons and General Groener, are announced as lecturers on the faculty of the new German High school for politics.

You don't have to study dry-as-dust books if you wish t learn civics and poltical science in Germany. You sit comfortably and let the present minister of foreign affairs explain to you exactly how he works and worries; or if you are interested in railroads you go to the lectures of the Railroads Minister, General Groener.

President Ebert is the only prominent figure omitted from the list of professors and lecturers. The truth of the matter is that there is nothing to learn about the job of presiding in republican Germany. When the constitutional convention created a president to succeed the Emperor they deprived it of all the privileges and prerogatives which had made kaiserdom unpopular. When the shearing was over it was found that nothing was left but the title. As the president is permitted to say nothing or do nothing without the permission of his cabinet. Ebert's omission from the list of government pedagogues has no practical significance.

Neither high school certificate nor college degree is necessary to enrol in the school. "It is open to everyone who wishes to co-operate in the solving of our political and economic destiny," announces the Taegliche undschau. It is especially intended to be a training school for future diplomats, teachers of civics and administration officials.

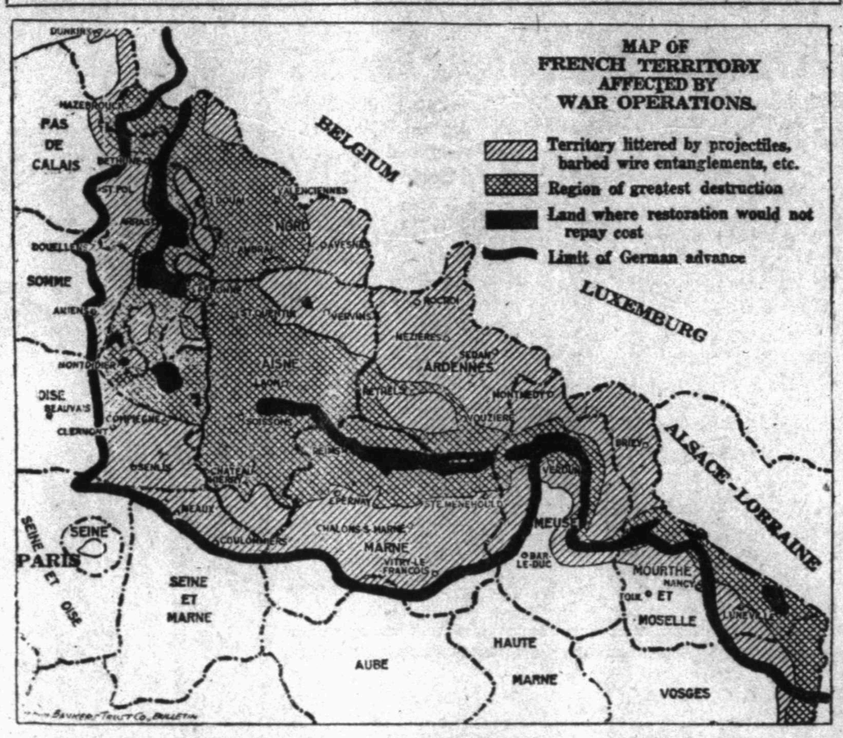

The classes will be held between 4 and 8 in the evening. The high school will have the usual school organization with regular and special courses divided into semesters.

NEEDED GIFTS P[illegible] INTO DAY NURSERY

A stream of gifts, ranging from wash rags and soap to silverware, has been coming into the day nursery this week from the members of the Federated Missionary clubs. From the Jewish council came three dozen towels; from the Presbyterian Missionary society, a large supply of wash rags and soap and some silverware; from the First Methodist church, Seventh and Lamar, a numberof cooking utensils, and from the Baptist organization, three large boxes containing 18 sheets, babies and children's clothing, shoes, stockings and outing night gowns.

The organizations are supplying a list of needs drawn up by caretakers at the nursery at their request about two weeks ago. Since that time articles on the list have been arriving every day.

ENTIRE FRENCH NATION AIDING IN REBUILDING RUINED AREAS

The shaded portions of the map, with the key, indicate the extent of the war-swept section of France now undergoing rehabilitation.

Bulletins issued by the French government show that France is striving bravely to rehabilitate the vast areas within its borders laid waste or partly ruined by the war. A large part of the nation is engaged in the actual work. The rest of the nation is aiding in the work with money.

ARK. HIGH COURT ADMITS MISTAKE

HIGH SCHOOL'S AMATEUR PLAY REHEARSALS ON

Mrs. M. Cummings, representing the Rogers amateur theatrical company, who is to direct the presentation of the Oriental extravaganza, "Kasha-Koo," to be given on November 22 and 23 for the benefit of the high school "Coyote," has arrived in Wichita Falls and assumed charge of rehearsals.

The cast of principals has been practically completed, chorus organized and rehearsals called for every afternoon and evening.

George Taylor, one of the most popular of local amateur comedians, has accepted the title role. J. D. Bivins will play "Maharajah"; Miss Florence Devers will impersonate the Chinese wife; Miss Mary Smith, the Brazilion wife; Miss Mabel Haley, the Irish wife, and Miss Ethel Owen, the French wife. Other members of the cast have been previously announced.

BOYS HELD IN STORE ROBBERY CASES INQUIRY

Hope Hill and J. Nicely have been arrested for investigation in connection with a theory that store robberies in Vernon and nearby towns Monday were the work of a gang operating all over the state. The hardware store of Herring-Showers at Vernon was robbed of merchandise valued at $300 and the Wilson drug store at Harrold and two stores at Oklaunion were robbed the same night. Detectives De Graffenreid and Boone are handling the case.

Chief of Police Huff Tuesday discovered two boxes of merchandise from Rounoke and Keller, Texas, of a similar kind to that stolen from the Vernon store. A big Hudson supersix containing some of the stolen goods was also located by the detectives in Wichita Falls without an owner. The automobile is believed to have come from Waco or some other place in south Texas.

Police are operating on the theory that a group of men operating all over Texas are responsible for the robberies.

CIGARETTE TUBES NEW LONDON FAD

LONDON.—Collapsible cigarette tubes of gold which fold into a tiny case smaller than my lady's thimble and dangle on her neck chain when not in use are the latest additions to the ever-growing list of feminine novelties to be seen in the shops nowadays.

Tortoise shell and gold cigarette cases, less than two inches square, and stocked with lilliputian cigarettes, are another temptation to the woman with plentiful pocket money. At the same shops are sold cigarettes as large as cigars.

Slave bangles are now square in section, and square also are the slender walking sticks of ivory, headed and tipped with ebony, which are considered the fitting accompaniment to the autumn "tailormade."

The shopkeeper is daily extending his provision of articles which form the perfect match for one another. Witness of this is a display of severely plain garters in sober colors, made in unfrilled silk elastic, fastened by a mannish buckle and labelled "For wear with the tailored suit."

Sets of silken harness for pet dogs are also to be obtained in regimental or racing colors, and collars of colored leather edged with fur are also to be seen.

Altogether the craze for novelties is amazing, and however extravagant or useless a novelty may be, women will be seen displaying it within a few hours of its arrival in the shops. Women know that to get any pleasure from the new craze one must be among the first to exploit it.

GIGANTIC SHAM BATTLES STAGED BY U. S. TROOPS NOW SERVING IN GERMANY

(By International News Service.)
COBLENZ, Nov. 2.—The most extensive peace-time maneuvers ever carried out by the American army have ended with the following message flashed from the "front" of the American army of occupation in Germany:

"Objective reached. Enemy in retreat along entire front. Will consolidate, reorganize and continue attack."

For two weeks practically every unit of the army of occupation engaged in the maneuvers conducted in the hills 50 miles southwest of Coblenz. To put spirit into the men victorious American attacks in the late war were simulated and in driving rain and mud the doughboys repeated the assaults of Chauteau Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Argonne with all the vigor of soldiers engaged in actual warfare. From every standpoint the two weeks of sham warfare was a brilliant success.

The First brigade, commanded by Brigadier General Fred W. Sladen, and the Second brigade, commanded by Colonel William H. Johnston, hiked to the Eifel hills and advance headquarters of the American forces in Germany moved toward the "front" to direct operations. There for a fortnight regiments marched and countermarched through woods and over hills, sleeping in the open, in wind and rain and suffering all the discomforts of war, excepting enemy fire and shortage in "chow." Meanwhile, staffs of various units, working under actual war conditions, received orders late in the afternoon or at night for movements to be begun at daybreak. Practically nothing was missing but aviation liaison, there being no planes with the American forces of occupation.

At "Chateau Thierry."

Troops of the Fiftieth infantry simulated the German attack on Chateau Thierry by attacking the village of Adneau. A battalion commanded by Colonel William W. McGammon advanced 20 miles through the darkness and rain, simulating the maneuver of the Seventh machine gun batallion, which was rushed to the south bank of the Marne to halt the Germans in 1918. In McCammon's battalion were a number of the machine gunners who actually fought at Chateau Thierry and they regaled the youngsters with stories of the fight as trucks went rumbling along the narrow roads to Adneau.

For the two days following "Chateau Thierry" the two brigades "attacked" each other after theoretical artillery fire, seeking to capture certain positions. The umpires declared the result a draw.

The problem of taking over a sector of the front followed this maneuver. The two brigades, moving as a division, used the same orders that carried the Ninetieth division into battle at St. Mihiel. Again actual conditions of war were simulated, the trucks moving frontward without lights during the night, infantry maneuvering through the woods in the daytime to conceal the advance from enemy aviators, and pine boughs being used to camouflage artillery.

Practice Open Warfare.

The division arrived at the front and relieved a mythical division on schedule time. It then repeated the open warfare operation carried out by the famous "Blue Ridge" division in the Argonne battle, when it attacked a strong point of German resistance in a wood north of Nantillois. The mounted detachment of the army of occupation was the "enemy," taking up positions from which it "poured machine gun fire" into the advancing infantry.

The orders for the attack were not received until late the previous night, the orders being read by staffs by candle light. Medical troops made ready to handle "wounded;" signal corps troops laid lines over the entire area; engineers went forward; machine gunners got ready for action; military police arranged straggler lines and prisoner pens, and the artillery began the desultory night fire, that was to increase into a barrage 20 minutes before "zero" hour.

Go "Over the Top."

At the actual "front" there was something of real warfare lacking, but at headquarters, where staff officers pored over maps and gave impatient answers to telephone calls it was the old "jump-off" night of the Argonne battle all over again. A heavy mist covered the battlefield throughout the night, but it lifted just before the "zero" hour and the troops "went over the top" with their movements visible more than a mile behind.

NEW ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION OFF ON EXPLORATION

(By International News Service.)
NEW YORK.—Commander John L. Pope, formerly of the Royal navy, has sailed from Norfolk, Va., on the steamship Thor No. 1 on an extensive Antarctic expedition. The party consists of Commander Pope, who will have charge; George H. Wilkins, who was second in command with Stefansson for three years in the Arctic, will be photographer; Surveyor N. C. Lester, R. N. R., will be navigator, and Thomas W. Bagshawe, geologist.

The expedition will have at its disposal three whalers of 7,000 tons each and a boat called a whale catcher.

The Thor No. 1 is bound for Montevideo, where a day and a half will be spent. Then the ship will proceed to Deception Island, where moving pictures of whaling will be taken. A second ship will start from Cardiff, Wales, for the Falkon Island at the same time the Thor No. 1 leaves.

After the party on the Thor No. 1 has completed the whaling expedition it will leave the ship and go to Hope Bay, Graham Land, on the Antarctic continent, on board the "catcher."

A dog-sledge journey on the west coast of Weddell sea will be made as far as the party can go. The party will try to reach Coastland, on the eastern side of the continent. This journey will be 1,500 miles, 1,200 of which will be made over unknown ground. The party plans to land in Hope Bay during the first week of January, 1921, and expects to return to Hope Bay February or March, 1922. The expedition will use entirely new methods. No portable huts will be taken, but the party will depend on snow houses and tents.

Instead of laying up during the four months of the Arctic nights, as preceding expeditions have done, the party intends to do continual sledging. As they make their trip across the continent they will lay up depots of seal meat to pick up on their way back. The Thor No. 1 during the time that the party is away will continue whaling. After the whaling season closes the Thor No. 1 will go to England to pick up an airplane and staff and take them to Deception Island. The airplane in December, the only month in which it is possible to fly in the Arctic regions, will conduct a test of flying conditions and make a camera survey. The Thor No. 1 will then take the party back to England and complete the first part of the expedition.

The main expedition will start out in 1922 to circumnavigate the Antarctic continent and penetrate it at various points. A separate expedition will start from the New Zealand side from the Bay of Whales, from where Amundsen made his dash to the Pole.

DETECTIVES PICK DREAMERS OF DOPE LAND FROM CROWD BY NERVOUS, NIFTY HABITS

"Cigarettes done ruin' mah baby,
Morphine done run me crazy—
But it's nobody's business but mah own."

The pale-faced, nervous young men who stand uneasily on street corners, shifting from foot to foot and casting only furtive glances about them now and again—they're "snowbirds," well-well boys or dope fiends, as you prefer.

It's easy to pick 'em when you know how, take it from City Detectives Boone and De Graffenreid, who recently proved their ability. You have only to look at the face and at the fingers, take a quick glance at the eyes and you're ready to make affidavit for or against.

They're a distinctive, though tragic lot. The eyes have a burning quality that may be spotted at almost any difference. There is a shuffle in the gait, saving when a new shot has just been obtained and used. Then the happy victim is temporarily resting atop the world and he's likely to have the head up, shoulders back and to be showing by his manner that the world—never doubt it—is his oyster. But the exaggeration in his carriage will reveal him to the initiated as quickly as does his normal slinking, fearful attitude.

Boone and De Graffenreid discerned one of the pale fraternity standing purposely at Eighth and Indiana streets. He had all of the symptoms. There was no mistaking him. So rather more on general principles than with definite purpose, they arrested him.

Down to police headquarters they went, the officers silent but pretending to be most knowing, the addict volubly protesting innocence and whining a little as is the way of his kind. In a little ante-room at the station they placed him in a chair between them and began firing the customary volley of questions.

They pretended to know all about some fictitious offense committed by the suspect. But, they explained, they wanted to give him a chance to tell his side. They believed him. They were his friends. They would see that he got a square deal. And so on. The usual formula of verbal third-degree was followed.

And when in the end the victim broke down and made admissions which led to the discovery of morphine worth more than $1,000—stolen morphine long sought—they were nearly as surprised as the victim would have been had he known on what flimsy basis the detectives had been working.

They'd merely decided to take a chance.

CHIEF THINKS TRAFFIC COPS HERE SUCCESS

The placing of traffic policemen on the main corners of the downtown business district is an attempt on the part of the police department to facilitate the movement of traffic during the rush hours, according to a statement made Tuesday by Police Chief Huff.

The men have been placed on the corners during the last few days as a try-out, Mr. Huff said, and if the results are satisfactory the plan will be continued.

It is believed by Chief Huff that traffic policemen will greatly relieve the congested situation on the downtown streets during the rush hours if drivers observe the signals of the policemen.

Chief Huff expressed himself as well pleased with the results obtained to date.

MEETS DEATH IN WHEEL OF ENGINE

Special to Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Nov. 2.—Lewis Campbell, an employe of the Gulf Production Company, was instantly killed Tuesday afternoon on a lease in block 88 of the Northwest field, upon stumbling headlong into a fly wheel of a gasoline engine. His neck was broken.

The body was brought here and is being held at the parlors of the Collier Undertaking Company. Mr. Campbell came here from Michigan, and the body will be held here pending word from relatives in that state.

—Believing the public is desirous of learning the true facts as to possible furniture price reduction, the item below is reprinted as summing up the situation.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED AT THE MEETING OF THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF FURNITURE ASSOCIATIONS, HELD IN GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., SEPTEMBER 29 AND 30:

WHEREAS, There have recently been established new and lower levels of price on a number of commodities, and

WHEREAS, It has been generally reported that the costs of manufacturing furniture have been materially reduced, and

WHEREAS, The retail merchants, desirous of ascertaining facts, have requested the executive committee of the National Retail Furniture Association of the United States to make a thorough and careful analysis of conditions governing the costs of furniture manufacturing today and to insist upon a lower level of prices, if conditions are found to warrant it, and

WHEREAS, This investigation has been made in an extensive and thorough manner, and

WHEREAS, It has been determined that there have been no changes affecting the costs of furniture generally that would indicate that any material reduction could take place in the immediate future without affecting seriously the wages and employment of men engaged in furniture and manufacturing, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED By the Furniture Manufacturers in the National Council Assembled, That the details of the findings of this investigation be conveyed to all branches of the industry and to the public generally; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the secretary be instructed to keep members of this Council and the officers of the National Retail Furniture Association of the United States informed of any changes in market conditions that affect the cost of manufacture; and,

FURTHERMORE, We deem it desirable and for the best interests of the furniture industry, as well as of the American home, that concerted effort be exercised by the manufacturers to reduce manufacturing costs, other than labor, to reflect these reductions in the finished product as soon as possible; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That to our best knowledge, no general reductions in the price of furniture can possibly take place at this time, and that the decline will be extremely gradual, and can only come with parallel reduction in manufacturing costs.

—It is the policy of this firm, when notice is received of reduction in price of any article we handle, to immediately reduce our selling price in that proportion.

Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets

are the standard of the American home. They save miles of steps and hours of worry. Call today for a demonstration, which will convince you that the Hoosier is the most complete labor-saving device ever offered to the housewife. A solid car of Hoosiers just received. A type for every requirement.
