Marriages By Germans And Yanks Taboo

By DANIEL De LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Sept. 11—The Army still is turning thumbs down on marriages between American soldiers and German girls despite the prospect of an increasing number of illegitimate children from forbidden romances.

More and more enlisted men and officers are asking permission to wed, officials said, but the answer remains the same:

"It probably will be a year yet before such weddings will be permitted by the high command."

Many Babies Expected

Gen. Eisenhower's welfare department said a large number of babies fathered by GI's would be born within six months, but there was no official estimate of how many.

Some observers expressed belief that the fathers might be permitted to assume support of such children even though non-fraternization rules were in force when the romances began.

Eisenhower's advisers are trying to figure out some solution and are expected to announce a decision in about two weeks.

Rumors of secret marriages before German pastors are current in the capital although there have been no officially reported instances.

Officers and chaplains are agreed that combat veterans are as likely to engage in forbidden romances as "green" troops who never knew what it was like to fight Germans.

Chaplains Oppose Force

Chaplains, said Maj. Gen. George B. Woods, Episcopalian divisional chaplain of the 82nd Airborne division, are "strictly against 'shot gun marriages' and will protect any soldier from being forced into a union like that."

"But as for the couples that are convinced of their love, the Army must eventually face up to the issue," he added.

A Catholic chaplain said that "if a marriage between an American boy and a German girl represents true love, then it is a natural law."

He expressed concern, however, over "loose statements" by some married soldiers that they would like to divorce their wives and remarry in Germany.

Youths Held In Latin Troubles

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 11. (AP) — Ten Anglo-American youths have been charged here with assault with intent to murder in connection with an attack on Ben Aguirre, Latin-American U. S. citizen who is an honorably discharged war veteran.

Aguirre, who was beaten in a street fight the night of Sept. 1, is in critical condition in a local hospital. Two other Latin-Americans escaped when Aguirre was beaten.

Two 17-year-old Anglo-Americans were free on $1,000 bail each in the case today.

Garrison Orders Inquiry

In Austin, Col. Homer Garrison jr., director of state police, ordered an investigation of a complaint from San Angelo pastors that Anglo-Americans have abused Latin Americans here.

Garrison ordered the investigation after the complaint had been referred to him by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, to whom it was sent. It was signed by pastors of a Catholic and two Protestant churches.

The complaint asked aid of Rangers to protect Latin-Americans against "an organized gang of Anglo-Americans who have been and continue to threaten, abuse, beat, maltreat and waylay Latin-Americans."

Further Oil Output Cut Said Required

AUSTIN, Sept. 11. (AP)—Proper balance of supply and demand will require an additional reduction of about 200,000 barrels daily in Texas oil production, Col. Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad commission said today.

Thompson was not prepared to say how quickly the cut should be made but pointed to increasing crude oil storage as an indication that continued production at current rates might result in too much surplus oil.

"When and where the reduction should come will be a question for determination at Friday's statewide proration hearing," he said.

To facilitate a review of Texas oil production history commission engineers are preparing for presentation at the hearing statistics on 10 years production of crude oil and liquid hydrocarbons.

VETERAN ELECTROCUTED

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 11. (AP)—Vernon Lee Bradshaw, 23, a discharged overseas veteran, was electrocuted yesterday when he backed a truck into a high tension wire at Normoyle depot, District Fire Chief H. A. Dustin reported.

Fantastic Facts Of Atomic Bomb Crater In New Mexico Revealed

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

ALAMOGORDO, New Mexico, Sept. 11.—The fantastic facts about the atomic bomb crater, a saucer - shaped depression, 25 feet deep and a half-mile across, where the top quarter-inch of New Mexico's red-gray soil boiled and bubbled and then cooled into a carpet of jade and turguoise-colored glass, were released today.

A party of 31 writers and photographers, a dozen Army officers and five scientists spent half an hour in the crater Sunday afternoon in the first public inspection. The group was led by Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the atomic bomb project.

The tour's purpose was dual One, to tell the almost incredible story. Two, to show first hand that the facts do not bear out Japanese propaganda that apparently tried to lay the foundation for claims that Americans won the war by unfair means.

This New Mexico bomb was big, its effects comparable to those bombs dropped on Japan.

The great jade saucer lies in the center of a square of tall mountain ranges. It is smooth except at the center where there is a small, shallow bowl-shaped depression of red-gray earth where the boiling soil was blown completely away.

The central bowl is 300 feet across. Out beyond the rim of the great jade saucer is a ring where the earth was wiped bare of vegetation. This mile wide ring was the complete annihilation center.

Beyond that signal wires five feet above the ground vaporized, their stubby poles were knocked down and the low desert bushes still lean outward as if the great atomic wind were blowing them.

Snakes were killed. Ground squirrels and other small animals died. A bat was found miles away, hanging apparently unharmed, but so shocked that it did not attempt to get away from men. There was the stench of death for about three weeks, all from small animals.

The atomic heat that boiled the earth's face is still a military secret. The British official report stated that it was millions of degrees at the center of the explosion.

This great crater is different than anything ever before observed. It was not made by gouging out and blowing away earth, except right at the base where a few score barrels of dirt were blasted out. This depression was made simply by pressure which pushed the solid earth straight down. The pressure is also a secret, except for the British official estimate that it was many millions times the 14 and one-half pounds per square inch pressure of the atmosphere.

The great bomb exploded only 100 feet above the earth here. The result was to make the crater soil temporarily radio-active. It was still emitting X-rays when the party entered on Sunday. To read the strength of these rays, scientists carried what looked like camera boxes, each with a long, solid snout.

The boxes gave readings showing the rays would not harm anyone remaining a short time, perhaps for hours. But they indicated that more than a month after the July 16 explosion the rays were still strong enough to make spending a day and night right in the crater a possibly risky business.

Before he entered every man donned white canvas foot-bags shaped like shoes. This was to insure that no grain of radioactive sand might cling to his shoes to remain for weeks after the expedition.

Just in the outer rim of com-

Senate Group Votes 26-Week Jobless Aid And Asks Financing Of Migrants' Return

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Senate Finance committee late today voted against any federal supplements to increase state payments to the jobless, but approved aid to make the maximum duration 26 weeks in all states.

Chairman George (D-Ga) announced after a two-hour session that the group had agreed tentatively on a bill also embracing:

1. Unemployment compensation for all federal civil workers. Rates will be at the same rates as are paid by the state where the federal worker is employed. Federal workers abroad will be paid the District of Columbia scale.

2. Unemployment compensation for an estimated 400,000 maritime workers.

3. Transportation payments to enable migrant workers to return to their former homes, or to a place of new employment. It was agreed to limit individual payments to a maximum of $200 and to allow only travel for a worker and his dependants. No allowance was approved for movement of household effects.

To Take Issue To Floor

Senator Kilgore (D-WVa), author of the original plan for federal supplements to boost payments to a maximum of $25 a week throughout the country, told reporters he intended to take the issue to the Senate floor.

"Do you think you have a chance?" he was asked.

"I don't know but I am going to try."

George said the question of federal supplements to increase the state payments was put to a vote in the committee in several different forms.

"There were several members who wanted it understood that if state laws did not conflict they would have favored the $25," he added.

Twenty-one states had advised the committee that their laws would require deductions from state payments if federal payments were made, or that there were other difficulties.

Other Proposals

The chairman said other propositions put to a vote included:

A suggestion by Senator Connally (D-Tex) for a flat extension of 10 weeks in state payments. This got "considerable support," but was rejected, George said.

The committee chairman emphasized that the federal payments for a nationwide 26 weeks duration of unemployment compensation are mandatory, under the tentative draft of the bill.

If the states want to cooperate, he said, the payments will be made through state machinery, once state payments have run out. If the states do not cooperate, the federal government will make the payments independently.

School Trustees Sell $1,500,000 In Bonds

Sale of $1,500,000 worth of bonds recently voted for a school expansion program in Lubbock at an average interest rate of 2.053 per cent per annum was effected Tuesday night in a meeting of the board of trustees of the Lubbock Independent school district at the school offices, 1007 Texas Ave.

The low bid was submitted in joint account by the following firms: Crummer and Co., of Texas, Dallas, Braun-Bosworth, Toledo, O., Stranchan-Harris, Cincinnati, O., City National Bank and Trust Co., Kansas City, G. H. Walker and Co., St. Louis, and Stern Bros., Kansas City.

$2700 Premium Included

The firms were represented by C. M. Smith of Plainview, affiliated with Crummer and Co.

In addition, the combine bid a premium of $2,700 above the interest rates.

A. C. Jackson, district business manager, said the low rate for maturities of 1946 to 1959 was 2 1-4 per cent, for 1960 to 1970 2 per cent.

The only other bid was submitted in a joint account of 12 firms. Their average interest rate was 2.187. For maturities of 1946 to 1961 their bid was 2½ per cent, for 1962 to 1970 2 per cent. The premium offered was for $177.70.

Conditions of Sale

Under conditions of the sale, the first group is to furnish all legal transcripts, the costs of printing the bonds and to bear other expenses of the issue.

Bids were opened at the school office at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The expansion program encompasses construction of new buildings and extension otherwise of school facilities.

The board also accepted resignations of seven teachers and elected the same number.

Faculty Resignations

Resignations were offered by Mrs. Betty Rahlfs, Dupre; Doris Kolb, George M. Hunt; Marion Short, Junior High; Mrs. Rosalie Chappell, Senior High; Ed Chenette, Junior and Senior high band director; Mrs. Eleanor Mitchell Bond, George M. Hunt, and Mrs. Opal Tucker, Dunbar.

Teachers employed were Mrs. Nina Claire Greenlee, Dupre; Mrs. Dorothy M. Rosson, Junior High; Willie Thomas, Dunbar; Fanny R. Thomas, Dunbar; Mrs. Auta Lee Reed, George R. Bean; Mrs. Elliott Murray, Dupre, and Mrs. Olive Huff Deavours, Guadalupe.

The board employed the firm of Condray and Hallmark of Lubbock to make the annual school audit.

Scheduled Arrivals Home From Europe

On the Marine Devil, which was due at Boston Monday was T/5 Edgar H. Schultz, of Littlefield and on the SS Sea Owl, also docking in Boston, were Pfc. Thomas Frausto of Lamesa, Sgt. Leonard C. Parker of route 2, Crosbyton, Billie W. Brooke, Littlefield, Pfc. Bobby R. Fults, Tahoka, and Sgt. William E. Elliott, Plainview.

Returning Tuesday from the European theater of operations was Cpl. Billy L. Briggs, 1409 Ave. M, who arrived on the Francis Walker in New York. Monday's arrivals on the Argentina, docking at New York, were 1st. Lt. Norman G. Igo, of Route 5, T-5 J. E. Humphreys of 612 Ave. M, and Pfc. Lester P. Moncrief of 511 Broadway, the Associated press reported.

MEDIATOR SLAIN

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 11. (AP)—Guadalupe C. Leal, 30, a civilian worker at Kelly Field, was shot to death late last night when he attempted to mediate in an argument between two civilians and two soldiers, witnesses reported to police.

Maj. Hud Wright Back In States

Major Huddleston Wright of Lubbock — weighing 190 pounds, about his normal weight — arrived Tuesday by plane in the New York area after more than three years of imprisonment by the Japanese. Recently promoted from the rank of captain, Major Wright, commanding officer of the Lubbock unit of the National guard before it was mobilized for defense in the Pacific, thus became the first Lubbock member of 131st Field artillery, later known as the "Lost Battalion," to arrive back in the states.

Mrs. Wright and their two children, LaNelle, 13, and Linda, 5, received an unexpected telephone call last night from Major Wright, calling from Garden City, N. Y. The news was relayed to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright. His father is Lubbock county jailer.

Due In Area Soon

Major Wright told his wife he expected to be sent in the next three or four days to a hospital in Texas or Oklahoma for a routine check-up.

Arriving from Calcutta, India, on the same plane were other officers of the famed battalion, including Col. Winthrop Rogers of Wichita Falls and Col. Harold G. Elkin of Fort Worth, formerly of Lubbock.

Ten or seven other members of the group—"I was so excited I don't know how many he said," Mrs. Wright said—also came home, Major Wright said. However, Major Wright was the only Lubbock man on the plane, he said.

Sure He's All Right

"I'm sure Hud is all right — his weight indicates that," his wife said. "He asked me if 'the old car' was still running, wanted me and the kids and his parents to meet him when he comes to the Texas or Oklahoma hospital."

"The children talked to him and were so thrilled they're still jumping all over the house," Mrs. Wright said.

Linda, who was 18 months old when her daddy left, said brightly: "I told him I had a black cat."

The officer's wife lives at 2201 Twenty-fifth.

MORE TEXANS FREED

CALCUTTA, Sept. 10. —Robert C. Rushing of Marble Falls, Tex., Jack D. Smith of Rotan, Tex., and James G. Autrey of Bryan, Tex., are additional survivors of the USS Houston, released from prisoner of war camps in Thailand.

Jap Kamikaze Took Heavy Toll Of Navy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The battle for Okinawa when the Japanese threw their kamikaze horde at our fleet cost the Navy and Marines 24,869 casualties, the Navy disclosed today.

Thirty ships were sunk, including 12 destroyers, and 223 were damaged. The injuries were sustained by 10 battleships, 13 aircraft carriers, three heavy cruisers, two light cruisers and 67 destroyers.

MAY LOWER POINTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—The War department is considering lowering the discharge score for Army nurses from 65 to 35 points, it was learned today.

Survivors Of USS Houston Recall Fight

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—The first 13 survivors of the Cruiser Houston to reach the United States said tonight the vessel went down in Sundra strait the night of Feb. 28, 1942, after "slugging it out with the Japs for an hour and a half."

The Houston left Panjong after dark on the day following the battle of the Java sea, intending to pass through the strait under cover of darkness.

During the night a report was received the cruiser had made contact with an enemy force off St. Nicholas point on the coast of Java. There all information about the ship's fate ended. And no word came from any of its personnel until almost nine months later when a Japanese shortwave broadcast was heard purporting to come from one of her officers.

Figures Now Revised

The Navy, however, did not feel then there was sufficient evidence to change the status of her crew from missing to prisoner.

It since has revised its figures to show 94 liberated survivors, 108 identified dead, 179 prisoners of war, 594 missing and seven whose status is in doubt.

Lt. (j. g.) Harold S. Hamlin Jr., of Orlando, Fla., said the ship was the victim of both enemy gun fire and torpedoes. It was lost only after it had exhausted practically all of its heavy ammunition and had little left but star shells.

Survivors were in the water from three hours to three days, he said, and many made their way to Java shore where they became prisoners.

Eventually Reach Burma

About six weeks were spent in a filthy jail in the little town of Surong, he said, and then they were transferred to Batavia. Subsequently they were transferred to Singapore, and then to Burma, where they were landed at Moulmein.

In Burma they were joined to a crew of some 60,000 prisoners assigned to construction of a railroad from Burma into Siam (Thailand). Of 368 survivors who reached Burma, he said, 69 died of malnutrition during the year spent on the railroad construction job.

Lt. Hamlin said the Houston survivors were able to keep fairly well informed on the progress of the war through surreptitious radios in the prison camp. Two British officers, he said, were discovered with a forbidden radio and were beaten to death when it was found.

Natives Tip Them Off

Friendly Siamese natives tipped them off, he said, that something big was happening just before the end came by waving their hats, clapping their hands and shouting.

He said his first word from home arrived March 1, 1944, just two years after he was taken prisoner.

The group, which flew here from Calcutta, India, looked surprisingly healthy considering their experiences, but Hamlin explained that those who suffered most did not survive the ordeal of 1943. For the past 18 months, he said, rations had been fairly decent.

Others In Party

Others in the party included Ensign John B. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Nelson, Orange, Tex.; Valvon S. Roberts, fireman first class, son of Albert J. Roberts, Smiley, Texas; Robert L. Yarbro, gunner's mate first class, son of Will H. Yarbro, Marathon, Texas; William J. Weissmyer, seaman first class, 1022 12th street, Corpus Christi, Tex.; Col Back, ship fitter third class, Mansfield, Texas; and Charles L. Thomas, seaman first class, Seagraves, Texas.

40 Jap Bigwigs Ordered Held; Complete Nip Defeat Is Cited

MacArthur Says Nation Reduced To Fourth Rate Power, Industry Ruined

By DON STARR
Distributed By Associated Press

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 11—Japan has been reduced to a fourth rate nation, General MacArthur, commander-in-chief for Allied forces in the Pacific, said today.

MacArthur declared that the complete defeat of the Japanese Army had been generally overlooked in reports of Japan's military disintegration which had a tendency to stress tremendous naval and air victories by American forces.

Basing his estimate of the situation on service as commander-in-chief in this theater throughout almost five years of war as well as observations made since landing on Japanese soil, he declared this nation would be unable to wage war again within a predictable future.

Industry Flattened

Not only has industry been flattened but the Arby which once convinced Nipponese people of its invincibility, is now being returned to civilian life with a record of defeat.

The chief of the occupation forces sat easily and informally on a gray davenport which might have come from an American laborer's home as he chatted with three correspondents.

The general discussed with youthful enthusiasm his views on present day Japan and what is in store for the Japanese people.

The plainly furnished office in the customs building lent added dignity to this man who has cloaked in dignity every dramatic moment of his war years.

The general, who has never shown his years, seems to have krown younger in the historic days since he assumed the burden of occupation responsibilities.

Three Steps Necessary

Without acknowledging criticism by certain ununiformed persons who have expressed impatience with what they regard as a slow application of authority in occupation procedure, the general said there were three preliminary steps necessary to safeguard Allied interests. All three were related to the lives of his fighting men.

These were:

1. The transfer of Allied prisoners of war to safety from miserable Japanese camps scattered throughout the Japanese islands and those in the Pacific.

2. The landing and dispersal of sufficient occupation troops to insure utmost security without endangering the lives of troops while at the same time being prepared for any eventuality should there be an outbreak of violence.

3. The complete disarmament, demobilization and return to their homes of all Japanese military personnel.

The question of retention of the emperor was dealt with in a manner to leave the distinct impression the general is proceeding with full knowledge and understanding of the Japanese people.

He explained that the emperor actually takes on two separate and distinct forms, temporal leader and pastoral leader. He made it clear that occupation forces would not tamper with religious faith in Japan, thus leaving the emperor as spiritual and moral guide.

On the other hand, possible

Tojo, Homma Are Included

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Sept. 11. (AP)—Tightening the occupation grip on Japan, General MacArthur today ordered 40 important Japanese held for questioning and one of them, former Premier Hideki Tojo of Pearl Harbor infamy, promptly shot and gravely wounded himself.

Ten members of the cabinet which helped the former dictator plunge Nippon into war with the United States were among the ranking personages ordered detained.

Steady expansion of the occupation zones continued. It was announced that two more landings would be made shortly. The

HAS 50-50 CHANCE

TOKYO, Wednesday, Sept. 12 (AP) — Hideki Tojo, given another blood transfusion, still was given better than a 50-50 chance today to survive his suicide attempt—and thus possibly face trial as a war criminal. (See details on Page 6).

U. S. 81st Infantry division was scheduled to go ashore at Aomori, northern Honshu, about Sept. 23. A few days later the U. S. 77th Infantry division and the Ninth corps headquarters will land at Otaru, on Hokkaido, the northernmost home island.

Demonstration meanwhile broke out in Seoul, the Korean capital with Koreans protesting the American announcement that Japanese officials would be left in office to carry out directives of Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commanding the occupation forces there.

General MacArthur ordered General Hodge to replace all Japanese in governmental positions as rapidly as possible "consistent with the safety of operations."

Homma Among Those Held

MacArthur's directive ordering important Nipponese political, Army and Navy figures into custody included Lt. Gen. Masahara Homma, Japanese commander in the Philippines. Homma was responsible for the "Death March" from Bataan.

Others, a headquarters spokesman said, were Joe Laurel, puppet president of the Philippines; Jorge Vargas, puppet ambassador to Japan; Heinrich Stahmer, German ambassador to Japan, and Pratap Mahendra, president of the "Aryan Army," an Indian pro-Japanese organization.

Tojo's Pearl Harbor cabinet associates ordered held were Adm.

Col. Devereux Of Wake Fame Reported Safe In Jap Camp

(By The Associated Press)

Lt. Col. James P. Devereaux, commander of the heroic Marines who early in the Pacific war held out gallantly on Wake island until swamped by superior numbers of Japanese, yesterday was reported alive and in charge of a prisoner of war camp in Japan.

He was reported thin but well in a camp at Bibai, one of four spotted for the first time on the mountainous northern Japanese island of Hokkaido.

The report was brought to this naval base, now American-occupied, by five men from an Allied prison camp at Bibai in the mountains of the northern Japanese home island of Hokkaido.

Several Messages

One of the five, Pharmacist Mate William T. Sterling, Herington, N. J., brought out several messages to relatives of prisoners left behind. One was to Mrs. Leonard C. Campbell, Jacksboro, Tex., whose husband is a staff sergeant. Campbell told her he was well and would be homeward bound soon.

U. S. naval fliers who located the camps learned by radio from the inmates that the Bibai main camp, two smaller ones at Ashi-Betsu and a fourth at Akabira hold 1,556 Allied prisoners.

Meanwhile five camps crammed with 19,000 women and children were discovered on Java. An Aneta (Dutch) news agency report said 2,000 of the inmates were seriously ill.

The massing of other prisoners freed recently from Japanese home island camps continued at Yokohama. They were being shipped out of the crowded port by plane and ship

14,000 Said Liberated

General MacArthur's headquarters at Tokyo announced that 14,000 Allied prisoners had been freed from Japanese camps by midnight Tuesday and that 11,468 of these had been evacuated. An additional 1,137 were being cared for aboard hospital ships in Tokyo bay.

In the steady liberation process, headquarters said, 1,362 prisoners were released on Tuesday. They included 474 Americans, 694 British, 110 Canadians, 37 Australians and 47 Dutch. In the same period, 3,150 others were started for their homes on ships.

A group of more than 1,000 who arrived Sunday in Manila from Formosa camps detailed to investigators stories of hardship and horror which will be added to other thousands of similar dossiers against the Japanese captors. Among them were 74 Americans captured in the Philippines. Many voiced the opinion that "the Japanese still are a definite menace and "our victory was complete but too many of their armies were untouched."

Medicine, Food Dropped

Planes of a U. S. carrier task force showered down medicines and food to the Hokkaido camps in a day-long operation.

Torture stories cropped up at widespread points in the Pacific. Three B-29 crewmen liberated from a Singapore camp said their arms and legs were twisted and dislocated by Japanese seeking information. One said he was confined seven days without food and beaten with swords.

But Yanks subject to prison tortures almost beyond belief still could lend mercy. Some of them, en route from an interior camp to Yokohama, stopped their train near Hachioji to give aid to Japanese victims of a railroad wreck.

ON WAY HOME, ANYWAY

MANILA, Wednesday, Sept. 12. (AP)—An American prisoner of war who arrived here today en route home from a prison camp in Japan sent the following message to his family:

Pfc. Robert L. Isom Is Freed From Japs

Pfc. Robert L. Isom, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Isom of Idalou, has been liberated from Tokyo prison camp, a telegram from the War department informed the family Tuesday. He was taken prisoner in the fall of Corregidor.

Few of the details of his liberation were known, but the telegram said that he would be given an opportunity to communicate with his parents upon arrival back with U. S. military forces.

Dual Purpose Anditorium Used For Past 16 Years, But . . .

New Orleans Plans Two Buildings

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles being written in connection with the current tour of Southern and Southwestern cities by Lubbock's Civic Center committee.)

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

NEW ORLEANS—For the past 16 years, New Orleans has operated a dual-purpose municipal auditorium similar to the one in Memphis, Tenn., and is now planning to change to two buildings, one of the arena type for the presentation of athletic shows, ice carnivals, horse shows and the like and the other strictly a theater-type building for staging of musical comedies, road shows, concerts, symphonies and lectures.

"As you can see our building is too large for road shows," Irvin F. Poche, auditorium manager, told members of Lubbock's civic center committee in his finely-appointed office with its walls covered with autographed pictures of scores of stage and concert stars.

"You lose intimacy in a large house and the stars don't like to play in them," Poche continued. "I'd say the right size for a theater auditorium is about 1,800 seats.

"A town the size you live in, a theater that seats 1,500 ought to be suitable for you," he counseled. "You wouldn't want to seat more than 2,000. If the show is so good that it attracts 4,000, then put it on for two nights."

Poche, suave and executive-like, has been manager of New Orleans' auditorium the past seven years and has served as president of the International Association of Auditorium Managers two years.

"All auditoria should provide a theater separate from the arena," Poche continued. "We're positive of that and our committee is now planning to build a fine theater-type structure and convert our present building into an arena-type building similar to Madison Square garden in New York."

New Orleans' auditorium, with the disappearing stage two-thirds of the way in the center of the building so that it can be raised to divide the house into two different compartments, seats 10,600 persons when the stage is lowered and performances like prize fights, wrestling matches, horse shows and the like are staged on the arena floor. With the stage in position, one side of the house seats 3,800 and the other 2,800.

But changing from one type of house to the other is expensive and requires much work on the part of a crew working all night and into the next day, Poche pointed out.

Poche then told us of the time the building had to be changed from a rodeo arena, requiring the

Handful Of Aleutians Planes Kept Tenth Of Jap Air Force Tied Up

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In the following story, 11th AAF headquarters in the Aleutians discloses for the first time how American strategists effectively tied up one-tenth of the Jap air force by bluffing them with a handful of American planes, operating from Aleutian bases.)

11TH AAF HEADQUARTERS, Aleutians, Sept. 11—A handful of Aleutian-based American planes —two Army bombing squadrons and a small force of Navy wing planes — tied up approximately one-tenth of the Japanese air force from August, 1943, to the war's end, it was disclosed officially today.

Revealing American aerial strength in the Aleutians, one of the war's top secrets, 11th AAF headquarters disclosed that since the conclusion of the Attu and Kiska campaigns, the Japanese were bluffed into deploying one-tenth of their air strength for fear of massed raids from Aleutians bases.

Most of Force Withdrawn

Actually, all but the United States 404th Heavy Bombardment squadron, the 77th Medium Bomber squadron and Navy bombers of Fleet Air Wing Four, were withdrawn from the Aleutian theater after mid-1943. This small aerial task force maintained a threat of an aerial "pincers," with attacks on Japan's Kurile islands.

For two years the planes operated in spite of winds that often reached 130 miles an hour, ever-present fog, swarms of enemy fighters, strong enemy anti-aircraft, and hundreds of miles of open ocean.

The 77th Medium Bomber squadron was identified as the squadron which flew out of then-secret Aleutian bases, located, surprised and helped turn back a Japanese carrier task force attacking Dutch Harbor on June 3-4, 1943.

Taking off in Marauders with improvised racks which gave their torpedoes only four inches clearance from the steel matting of their improvised runways, the 77th squadron sank at least one heavy Jap cruiser and damaged other enemy task force units.

Later, the medium bombers sank 21 cargo vessels, transports and warships, probably sank seven more and damaged 30.

The attacks were so effective the airmen crippled one of Japan's main sources of food—the Kurile fish traffic.

In effect, the 77th squadron, with an operational strength of 12 bombers, was "wiped out" four times, losing 49 bombers in the two-year period.

1st. Lt. Norman G. Igo Arrives In New York

1st Lt. Norman G. Igo, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Igo, route 5, arrived in New York Tuesday after serving with Patton's Third army all over Europe and after going to San Antonio he is expected home in about ten days.

His arrival here will signal the staging of an Igo family reunion with all of his brothers and his sister planning to arrive here almost simultaneously. One brother, Cpl. Dorman G. Igo, stationed at Panama City, Fla., may not be able to come, but everybody's hoping.

Coming here will be: Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Williams and their two children, from Syracue, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Igo and daughter of Bakersfield, Calif. Also attending will be Mr. and Mrs. Granville Igo and family of Lorenzo and Mervy Igo, who is at home.

Stangel And Hooper To Judge Coast Show

W. L. Stangel, dean of Texas Tech's division of agriculture, and Robert E. Hooper of Plainview plan to leave Monday for Bakersfield, Calif., where they will serve as judges for the American Quarter Horse association held Sept. 19-21.

The show is being sponsored by the Pacific Quarter Horse association.

Dean Strangel and Hooper will inspect all show entries and reject those not typically in type of quarter horses. Judges will enter their final decision Sept. 20.

Other judging dates Dean Stangel has scheduled are Oct. 10, when he will judge beef cattle exhibits at the New Mexico State Fair at Albuquerque, and Oct. 17 at Iowa Park, Tex., where he will judge Herefords at the Wichita County Fair and Hereford show.

Milk Shortage Seen; Drouth Is Blamed

A 2,000-gallon a day shortage that may develop to 4,000 gallons below normal production is reported in Lubbock's grade A milk supply by local milk inspectors F. E. Boone and G. G. Hunter.

They blame the early drouth and the prevailing high prices of protein feed for the condition. Because of the shortage of grade A, larger quantities of ungraded milk are being sold in local stores, they explained. Ungraded milk is being retailed at the same price as grade A.

Warning Issued On Use Of DDT

West Texans are being urged to exercise caution in the use of DDT, now available on local markets, by the division of agriculture at Texas Tech.

Officials of the agriculture division state that information furnished by Tech's department of chemistry indicate that DDT, when applied in oil solution to the intact skin of certain animals, is toxic and can result in the death of such animals.

In the Sept. 3 issue of News week (page 56) appears an article explaining the death of a bull, as a result of the application of an oil solution of DDT. Findings of experiments indicate that water emulsions of DDT can be successfully and safely used in the spraying of cattle.

Kerosene Solutions

Precaution against using kerosene solutions of DDT for spraying cattle directly, also that individuals using DDT solutions take care to prevent the spray from settling on their bodies, is advised by officials of the chemistry department and agriculture division.

"It would seem wise to buy only products with specific directions for their use on the container and follow directions closely," officials said.

A recent warning by the U. S. Department of Agriculture states that DDT can be used by civilians only "for certain purposes and under certain conditions."

Unless these purposes and conditions are clearly outlined to the purchaser, he should refrain from using DDT, authorities warn.

Kay Kyser To Retire For At Least A Year

LAKE ARROWHEAD, Calif., 11. (AP)—Kay Kyser is quitting the entertainment field for at least a year, and maybe longer, he said yesterday, because he is tired and wants to rest and enjoy life while he can.

"I still have my health, I'm only 40 and I have a wonderful wife. (She's Georgia Carroll—"Gawgeous Gawgia" of Kyser's radio program.) I want to spend a few months with my mother down in North Carolina and then a few more months not doing anything."

Kay said he would go overseas anytime the USO wants him to, but he won't entertain in this country, except, perhaps in his own parlor.

Cheese Now Ration-Free, Outlook On Meat Situation Much Brighter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP) —The government made all cheese ration-free today as top-flight food officials conferred on the possibility of an early termination of meat rationing.

The ration point value of all varieties of cheese was reduced to zero effective at 12:01 a. m. Wednesday. This action had the technical effect of keeping cheese on the ration list, but officials said it undoubtedly signified the end of rationing of this commodity.

Go Over Meat Situation

The cheese action, announced jointly by the Agriculture department and the Office of Price administration, came as acting Secretary of Agriculture J. B. Hutson and OPA Chief Chester Bowles went over the meat supply situation.

Some announcement of plans may be made soon after Secretary of Agriculture Anderson returns to his office, probably Wednesday, from his home in Albuquerque, N. M.

Hutson's spokesman said the end of meat rationing might come yet this month, or it might be delayed several weeks.

"It all depends," he said, "on livestock marketings during the days and weeks ahead. The meat supply has not yet improved sufficiently to assure equitable distribution without rationing."

Marketings Gain

Cattle marketings are running considerably ahead of a year ago, when they were at a record level for the period. Some marketing authorities believe cattle sales will increase even more this month to provide a plentiful supply of beef, particularly of medium and lower grades.

Pork, on the other hand, will remain relatively scarce until December and January.

Supplies of the food fats and vegetable oils remain short of overall requirements despite some reductions in military demands.

Retired Plane Maker Dies Of Heart Attack

FORT WORTH, Sept. 11. (AP)—George Newman, 61, of Fort Worth, retired airplane manufacturer, died of a heart attack today at Miami Beach, Fla., where he had resided the last three months, relatives here were advised.

With Maj. Rueben H. Fleet he established the Consolidated Aircraft corporation in 1923 and became vice president and general manager at East Greenwich, R. I., and at Buffalo. He remained with Consolidated until 1935, when he retired.

In the early days, crude oil was carried in barrels by horse and wagon.

Local Men Die In Jap Prisons

Messages telling of the death of two Lubbock members of the "Lost Battalion" in Japanese prison camps have been received here. The men are 1st Lt. Lemuel M. Boren, son of Capt. and Mrs. L. E. Boren, 1922 Twenty-fourth, who died Nov. 13, 1943 and the other is Cpl. Bruce Bray, son of Mrs. W. H. Bray, 805 Ave. S, who died of dysentery in a camp in Thailand Sept. 9, 1943.

Both men were members of the Lubbock National Guard Unit and sailed for the Pacific in November, 1941. They were taken prisoner in the fall of Java at the end of February the following year. Lt. Boren was known to be a prisoner, but Cpl. Bray's family had known nothing of his fate after Java fell until they received the message yesterday morning.

Details Not Given

No details were given as to how or where Lt. Boren died. The message from the War department said that he died on the above mentioned date while a prisoner of war of the Japanese government. When last heard from he had been in Thailand.

Lt. Boren, son of a retired Army officer, was reared in Army posts in the United States and three years of his high school work was done at a consolidated grade and high school in Hawaii while his father was stationed there from 1927 to 1930. Following his graduation from High school in Waco, the family moved to Lubbock where Capt. Boren was officer in charge of instructing the Lubbock unit of the National guard, and the son entered Texas Tech.

When Lt. Boren was 18 he joined the Lubbock Guard unit and remained in continuous service with Battery C until the 131st Field Artillery (Texas National Guard) was triangularized after mobolization and part of it went to the Pacific. At that time, Lt. Boren, with other officers from the Lubbock battery, was transferred to another of the units that sailed to Java.

During the two years before the 131st Field artillary unit was mobolized, Lt. Boren was associated with the McPherson Engineering company for which he installed air-conditioning apparatus. He was a junior electrical engineering student at Tech when mobilized for the regular Army.

A brother, Lt. Claud B. Boren, is stationed in France.

Cpl. Bray remained on the "missing in action" lists throughout all the years that other men from this area were known to be prisoners, even though the official notification of his death in the Japanese prison showed the family that he had been a prisoner for a year and a half after the Japanese took Java.

A sophomore student at Texas Tech when the Lubbock National Guard, of which he was a member, was mobilized Cpl. Bray had lived in Lubbock since he was nine years old. His death came when he was 24. The corporal had been a member of the Guard unit for a year when it became part of the U. S. Army.

A cablegram announcing his arrival on Java and two letters written before his capture, are all that was heard from him after the 131st sailed in November, 1941.

Survivors are the mother, two brothers Sgt. Joel Bray, who expects to arrive home on an emergency furlough from his station at Frederick, Okla., to be with his family, Dick Bray of the home address, and two sisters, Miss Marian Bray, teacher in the Lubbock school system, and Hermanell Bray, High school student.

Houston Oil Fire Routs Many, Sends 26 To Hospitals

HOUSTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—An oil fire that caused damage estimated at from $100,000 to $150,000, forced several hundred persons to evacuate their homes and sent 25 firemen and refinery workers to hospitals was brought under control today after raging for about 12 hours.

The fire was started during a heavy thunder storm when a bolt of lightning struck a 55,000 barrel crude oil storage tank.

R. B. Kahle, president of the Eastern States refinery where the fire occurred, said the damage would not exceed $150,000. He added that the tank was not full of oil and that about 20 percent of it was pumped out through the bottom and saved. The tank foundation and dikes were undamaged.

Twenty-four firemen and two refinery employes were injured, the most serious being District Fire Chief Roy Whittlessey, 36, who suffered burns on the face and arms. Most of the victims were treated and released.

The refinery fire was the worst in Houston's history.

Recurring explosions shook the neighborhood, flames shot high and a heavy pall of smoke overhung the area. Thirty-six policemen and auxiliary policemen battled to keep thousands of spectators back out of danger and to untangle traffic jams.

Assault Indictment Returned At Levelland

LEVELLAND, Sept. 11 (Special)—One bill of indictment was returned Monday afternoon to Judge Dan Blair by a 72nd district grand jury headed by Otto L. Simms as foreman.

It charged A. C. Clemens, a negro, with assault with intent to rape a 9-year-old Mexican girl Sunday morning at Sundown.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks said the Judge Blair recessed the jury until 10 o'clock the morning of Dec. 10.

Parachuting Professor To Run For Governor

AUSTIN, Sept. 11. (U.P.)—Parachuting Professor Walter Scott McNutt, president of Jefferson college, Jefferson, has sent letters to Austin outlining his proposed campaign for governor of Texas.

McNutt ran once for governor of Arkansas, parachuting from an airplane to make speeches. He ran for state school superintendent in Texas and received 121,367 votes in the Democratic primary of 1944.

WAR-WEARY CARS NEED

*Preferred Quality

TIRES!

Your used car—(every car in America today is a used car)—is giving your tires a great deal more punishment than it did when the car was in factory-new condition. Look at the tread on your tires for proof of this fact.

Your replacement tire must be a much more rugged tire than one built for new car "standard equipment". It will have to be better to give satisfactory service on a war-weary car. That's why Dayton has developed the *preferred quality tire—the Thorobred.

Into the Dayton Thorobred has gone the technical skill of over a quarter of a century of practical experience in mastering the use of synthetic rubber.

So, when you part with your precious new tire certificate, insist on the *preferred quality Dayton Thorobred built especially for war-weary cars by experts in synthetic rubber.

*Preferred • The preferred tire is the tire you personally select to replace the mass-production-built tire that originally came on your car.

The Dayton Thorobred is a preferred tire built to special high-quality standards to withstand the greater punishment given tires by war-weary cars.

THERE'S AN EAGLE ON THE WALL AT FOLGER'S

FIFTY-EIGHT men, back from the war, wearing the gold colored eagle of honorable discharge have joined or rejoined Folger's. We've just put up a card on the wall with an enlarged picture of the little gold colored pin they wear. So everybody will know them and have a chance to honor them as they deserve.

That card says "Welcome home" in about the only way we know how to say it.

There's not much you can really do to show your appreciation and gratitude to a fellow who's fought through a war and conquered . . . not only the Germans and the Japs . . . but boredom and fatigue and loneliness.

Not much that any of us can do—no more than there would be if somebody here at home saved our lives. We couldn't find ar adequate way to show our appreciation. But we'd want to know who saved us and we'd remember . . . with gratitude . . . to the very last breath of our lives.

And in some magic way perhaps that eagle on the wall will help keep alive the kind of spirit that made a Marine travel 25 miles on Okinawa to see another Marine who used to work with him at Folger's. (And between battles they talked for hours about coffee!) Those boys aren't back yet—but everybody at Folger's will be glad when they are!

Each time we change the number on that card with the eagle on the wall, we will be saying another "Welcome home." Remembering . . . thanking . . . acknowledging in even so small a way their faith in us . . . and the American way of life.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THE warnings to get your Christmas packages to men overseas in the post office within the next few weeks throws some of us into confusion. We are cautioned against sending packages if we think the men will be moved before the packages arrive at their destination. Well, for the love of goodness, how are you to know whether the man of the moment is going to stay put until you get his Christmas cheer to him?

We hope and hope this will be the last year that hundreds and hundreds of families will be rushing down town trying to find gifts to send sons, fathers, husbands, cousins, boy friends, who will once more miss their White Christmas.

WAC's OPINION

THINKING people realize you cannot stress too much the urgency of keeping the morale of our men who must be retained in occupation units throughout Europe and Japan. They now need the help and encouragement of those at home more than ever. As they aimlessly patrol the vast rubble of that which is left of Germany, Japan, and some of the smaller countries, their minds cannot help but be affected by the squalor that lies all about them.

As for the Woman's Angle, she hopes we will never forget those soldiers, sailors and marines, now that their usefulness as fighting men is at an end.

SOMEONE who is able to express this thought better than the writer is WAC Sgt. Estelle Carruth of Meadow, who at present is in Marseilles, France, awaiting the day when she can come home. In a recent letter to her sister, Mrs. Idell C. Westbrook of Meadow, Sgt. Carruth wrote: "I am impatient and yet it is really nothing to worry about. It's that we all have nerves in the worst way. We know there's lots of work to be done here. We've had hell, heaven, fun, danger, hardships, luxuries. We've been cold, hot, we've worked and played hard. We have memories that we can re-live and feel a happy glow and memories we can re-live and feel an unexplicable horror. I wouldn't trade the experience for a master of arts degree from Columbia university and remember how I used to want that? I wouldn't do it over for all the oil in Texas. Finally—the war is over and I want to come home.

"I'm being very thankful that soon there will be peace all over the world but with peace doesn't come prosperity. We're bound to have an awful depression. I hope we can take that like we took this. Eight million men—that's a lot of men to be trying to find jobs! But, what a reward! It's a humble feeling to realize you're a member of the greatest and the biggest army in the world and that you're a citizen of the greatest nation on earth.

"Well, the rationing, the hard times, the national money situation, nothing is over except that no more of our boys will get killed on the front lines. There's not a front line! I can't believe it! May there never be another one."

READING COURSES

GLANCING through courses of study chosen by Lubbock culture clubs we've noted with interest that many women are going to seriously devote time to the problem of rebuilding the world. According to those outlined programs they are going to go all out to gain an understanding of the woman's part in the future of America. It's a thrill to contemplate that helping to plan the postwar world holds a lure for women.

It would be a brave woman who would try to predict what women could do if they seriously set their hands to entering industry or politics and we are not talking about that this morning. We are glad that a few women have decided to study conditions and to discuss ways and means of righting them.

We think women who hold no membership in study clubs should determine to get some outstanding books on sociology, economics and government and devote a few minutes daily to serious reading. There has never been a more opportune time than now to invest your leisure moments in such a study.

There are several women in Lubbock who are asked to lecture on current sociological, economical and governmental problems before church and study groups and they do so willingly and in a scholarly manner. But the hours they spend in research are a good investment to the lecturers only; someone else can't do your reading for you.

Luncheons, Musical Programs, Lectures Highlight Tuesday Study Club Meetings

Luncheons, musical programs and lectures highlighted study club meetings Tuesday.

Lubbock Woman's Forum, in its opening meeting at a luncheon at Hotel Lubbock was entertained with solos, "Alice Blue Gown" and "Sweethearts" sung by Mrs. C. N. Hallmark, accompanied by Mrs. Jerry Dye. A reading was given by Mrs. Gradie Bownds.

The table was decorated with bowls of red gladioli, carrying out a color scheme of red and white. Hostesses were Mesdames G. V. Fulton, William Lowrimore jr., and Alfred Crosby.

"America, Yesterday and Today" was the theme of a lecture given by Mrs. O. R. Hand in a background study of the American immigrants, in the meeting of Twentieth Century club at Hotel Lubbock.

Mrs. Hand used original watercolors to illustrate the panorama of outstanding immigrants and she stressed the fair play and tolerence which they had as an objective.

Clement Sorosis club meeting at the Chicken house for luncheon answered roll call with a favorite poem.

Three old members attending were Mesdames J. D. Sanders, Dwain Rogers, and Jess Hendryx. Guests included Mesdames Elmer Haas and Dick McDuffy.

A musical program entertained the Pierian Sorosis club which met for luncheon at the Hilton hotel.

"Homing" and "I See A Tree" were sung by Miss Ruth Towne and Miss Eleanor Jackson played a piano solo, "Serenata Andaluza." Mrs. Ralph Douglas was elected secretary to replace Mrs. J. R. McDaniel who is resigning.

Mrs. John Minton was guest.

Thursday Is The Day—Call Our Society Desk And Give Club Report

The society desk needs your help. In writing the calendar on Thursdays, we wish to include your organization. We ask that your reporter call us between 10 a. m. and 6 p. m., on that day giving the what, when, who and where facts about your club's meetings. This enables us to cover more organizations and print the facts more correctly than if we call you, because of our time limit and inability to always reach a club representative, or one who has the exact information.

Federal Aid For Industrializing 'Under-Developed' Areas Sought

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—A new administration plan to put factories in the farm country will go to Congress soon.

It proposes to give government help to private industry for the creation or expansion of industries in "under-developed" areas of the South, Great Plains states and elsewhere.

Commerce Secretary Henry A. Wallace, advocate of 60,000,000 peacetime jobs, is a leading sponsor. The plan was developed jointly by the departments of Agriculture, Commerce and Labor.

$5,000,000 Proposed

A proposed bill, calling for an initial $5,000,000 appropriation for the three departments, is on the desk of Senator Bailey (D-NC). He expected to introduce it shortly.

The measure is based on these theories:

That this country cannot achieve full peacetime employment or prosperity while there exist large areas which are lagging behind in standards of living and purchasing power;

That the reconversion period gives a ripe opportunity to stimulate such areas, because industry wishes to expand and many war veterans want to set up small businesses.

Employment Supplement

The sponsors describe the bill as a "supplement to the full employment act." Three million dollars would go to Wallace's department and $1,000,000 each to Labor and Agriculture, with subsequent funds to be voted as Congress sees fit.

The initial funds are intended to start the work of surveying under-developed areas as to raw materials, power, labor and other resources, and to discover needed and suitable types of industry which might be opened in each locality.

Commerce would recommend loans to the federal lending agencies to help finance the industrial development.

Merchants Told Good Service Must Return

DALLAS, Sept. 11. (U.P.) — The era of two straws in a chocolate soda has returned now that the war is over, and the public will no longer tolerate pushing around by salespeople, Elmer Wheeler told members of the Dallas Retail Furniture Merchants association.

"From now on the retailer must be prepared to give good service if he wants customers to return," Wheeler asserted.

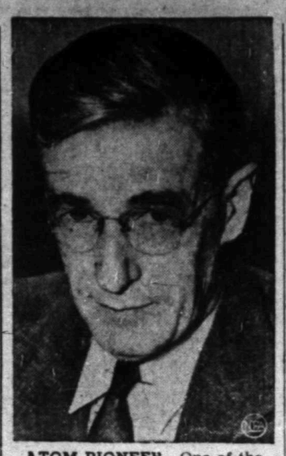

He also predicted the early return of many such pre-war services as windshield wiping and delivery of small packages.

Deshazer Would Be Missionary To Japs

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 11 (AP)—A flier who starved for three years in a Japanese prison camp wants to spend the rest of his life as a missionary with the people who mistreated him, his mother said today.

Mrs. H. M. Andrus, mother of Sgt. Jacob D. Deshazer, captured after the Doolittle raid on Tokyo, received this news today in a letter written for her son by a Washington, D. C. nurse.

Australia's native forests consist primarily of hardwood trees.

ATOM PIONEER—One of the early collaborators in splitting of the U-235 atom and development of the atomc bomb was Dr. Vannevar Bush, above, director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development. Dr. Bush who witnessed the New Mexico test of the bomb, was originally in charge of the undertaking.

Japs Serve Tea To Liberated Yanks

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 11. (U.P.)—Allied prisoners arriving in Yokohama from Sendai today said their train was met at the halfway point by Japanese who politely served them tea.

They were greeted by a 22 star-studded "brass band" headed by Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the U. S. 8th Army, and including Lt. Gen. Charles P. Hall, 11th corps commander, Lt. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold, 14th corps commander, Vice-Admiral T. S. Wilkinson, Third Amphibious force commander.

The prisoners were under command of Capt. Charles C. Underwood of Amarillo, Tex., who was captured on Bataan.

On Saturday carrier - based fighter pilots reported they had sighted three new prison camps in the Kobe and Osaka areas.

U. S. Doctors Fight For Life Of Tojo, Who Is 'Sorry For People'

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Sept. 11. (AP)—Hideki Tojo, first of Japan's three wartime dictators, lay as an ashen-faced, tight-lipped ordinary patient in the American evacuation hospital tonight with a grevious wound from an attempt to shoot himself in the heart.

The one-time premier, who shot himself at 4:15 p. m., at his suburban home, groaned repeatedly "I want to die, I want to die."

"I am sorry for the peoples of Greater East Asia," the Japanese Domei news agency quoted him. "I will shoulder the whole responsibility. I hope they will not go amiss in dealing with the situation. I did not want to stand before the victor to be tried as the vanquished. This is my own case. I wanted to kill myself at one stroke. I first thought of using my sword to kill myself, but instead I used the revolver for fear I might fail and survive."

Others Also Held

General MacArthur had ordered that Tojo be arrested and brought to headquarters for questioning along with ten members of his cabinet who helped him instigate the Pearl Harbor attack starting the war.

But Tojo apparently thought he was to face trial as a war criminal, and hastily shot himself instead of committing the traditional hara kiri by sword.

American doctors said he had better than an even chance to survive.

The medical skill of American doctors was being utilized to save the life of the most prized prisoner in the Pacific because authorities still want to question him.

Tojo shot himself with a .32 caliber American Colt automatic pistol.

Came Near Killing Him

The single shot come close to killing him immediately, said Capt. James Johnson of Newark, Ohio, of the First Medical squadron, First Cavalry. Johnson was the first to treat Tojo.

Johnson said that Tojo doubtless intended to kill himself quickly, but that the gun was slightly misaimed. The bullet went through Tojo's body.

Lying on a stretcher and bundled securely in an American Army blanket because he was suffering from shock, the former dictator was simply a short, shaven-headed hospital patient.

He was too weak to move himself. Pain rippled across the stern grey face and periodically he pinched his eyes shut and drew his mouth into a sharper line.

No Relatives Present

None of his relatives nor henchmen was present as American GI's carried him from the house. Present were only foreigners—officers and men of the victorious Army and American correspondents.

A few Japanese stood to one side, including a quartet of newspapermen and one or two local officers who were busy making a report on the incident.

When I arrived at Tojo's house about 1:30 p. m., after orders for his arrest had been issued by General MacArthur, I saw his wife and another woman, probably his daughter, sitting in a rear room.

The women informed me that Tojo, accompanied by gendarmerie, had taken a walk and this story was repeated by policemen in front of the house.

Scowls At Photographer

But all the time Tojo was sitting alone in the front room of the house, evidently his study, behind tightly closed windows.

"I am Tojo!" he exclaimed when officers and correspondents arrived at his home. He scowled as Associated Press Photographer Charles Gorry of Seattle took his picture.

Then Tojo slammed the window shut. The officers went to the front of the house, and a shot was heard. They broke down the doors and found him on the floor.

All members of the household, except the secretary and garlener, mysteriously disappeared during the furore over Tojo's deed.

Tojo, in the growing darkness, was placed in a regular field ambulance and driven to the First Squadron clearing station following the prescribed routine for handling badly wounded cases.

Still ashy-faced, he was taken inside the tent and a transfusion of blood plasma was given.

Identity Spreads Quickly

Word of Tojo's identity spread quickly and hundreds of American soldiers crowded around, muttering "there's the guy." "Boy, he sure caused me a lot of trouble." "They should have given me a crack at him."

Soon Tojo was driven to Yokohama, the ride over rough roads requiring an hour and 20 minutes.

Tojo may live to face questioning which he attempted to avoid —"because as former head of the state I shouldn't stand trial by the victor"—but his end will be cleaner than the two other world rulers, Hitler and Mussolini, with whom he came into power.

Thinks Hitler Dead

Murlin Spencer, Associated Press correspondent, reported that Tojo said he thought Hitler was dead.

Tojo apparently attempted to avoid the same confusion over his own fate because he explained he deliberately shot himself in the chest to preserve his features.

Since his downfall after the Americans captured Saipan, Tojo had lived quietly but an obviously healthy life with his family.

His "elba" was a comfortable house in the countryside, on Tokyo's outskirts. But the constant danger to his life and the certainty of his isolation were underlined by the continual presence of police.

North Carolina Judge Due For High Court

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (U.P.) — President Truman may announce tomorrow appointment of Federal Judge John J. Parker, Charlotte, N. C., to the U. S. Supreme court, it was indicated today.

Parker, who was nominated for the high court in 1930 but failed to win Senate confirmation, is now presiding judge of the fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

He is scheduled to confer with Mr. Truman late today.

It would be considered highly unusual here if a candidate for a supreme court vacancy should be called in for a personal interview with the President and then fail to receive the appointment.

EVEN AS YOU AND I—Apparently bobby-sockers and their boy friends are not the only autograph hounds. Above, British Field Marshal Bernard L. Montgomery awaits eagerly while Denmark's King Christian X, right, signs his autograph book.

Local Man's Brother In On Yamamoto Kill

Major Albert R. Long of Taft, Tex., who took part in the aerial ambush of the braggart Japanese admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, is a brother of George B. Long of 2215 Twenty-second, superintendent of grounds and buildings at Texas Technological college.

Maj. Long, 26, a former student of the North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington, has visited in Lubbock numerous times, the Lubbock man said. Maj. Long was among the 12 P-38 pilots who provided "cover" for the four pilots assigned to "the kill."

Connally To Present Veterans' Protests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) took up with the War department today a protest by some Texans in the veteran second division against orders which will send them to the Pacific as occupation troops.

A telegram dispatched from Bastrop, signed "Doughboys of the second infantry division," said the "so-called low point men" of the outfit had fought in the Battle of the Bulge and elsewhere in Europe.

Connally said he also told War department officials about many letters and messages he is receiving from persons wanting to expedite the discharge of sons and daughters from the armed forces.

Koreans Continue Celebraton As Chagrin Over Jap Leaders Mounts

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 11—On the fourth day of its occupation by Americans, Korea still is enthusiastically celebrating an independence that may be a disappointingly long time in arriving.

To the rapidly increasing chagrin of the Koreans, the occupation force is dealing with the Japanese rulers of the island and is likely to continue to do so for some time. But those are the orders under which Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, Korea's American military governor, must work. The orders are from General MacArthur.

General Hodge said in an interview that about 16,000 Seventh division troops had landed and finished cleaning Japanese troops out of Seoul yesterday. He expected a link with the Russians, who have occupied northern Korea, on Wednesday.

He estimated some 200,000 Japanese troops are in the American occupied area of Korea. These with their families and other civilians bring Korea's Japanese population to an estimated million and a half.

"The Allied powers have declared Korea to be independent in due course," Hodge declared, and he emphasized the phrase "due course." The Koreans have been under Japanese rule for 35 years.

"The Japanese are disarming themselves and doing a good job of it. We are supervising the job and taking over the arms.

"We haven't fired a shot. There have been a few incidents between the Koreans and the Japanese.

Must Maintain Order

"We had to leave the Japanese some small arms as protection against the Koreans since it is our duty to maintain order.

"Because the Japanese government ran everything here—the railroads, the telephone and telegraph companies, the postoffice and the hotels—we must use the Japanese governmental machine until we can get the Japanese back to Japan.

"Meanwhile the Japanese have released political prisoners and discharged Koreans from the Japanese Army."

The general said the political situation among the Koreans was "chaotic with no central theme except a desire for immediate independence."

Plans Set For Public Works

KASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Plans are ready for $2,500,000,000 worth of public construction jobs to be undertaken in the next 12 months.

Work can begin on many projects as soon as the War Production board gives the signal. There may be some delay on federal projects until Congress appropriates funds.

The relaxing by WPB of construction bans, except perhaps on housing, is expected about October 1.

Road Program All Set

The $3,000,000,000 three-year federal aid road program is all set to go. The $500,000,000 federal allotment for the first year, to be matched equally by the states, already has been apportioned, although Congress has to make the appropriation. On August 1 the states reported plans completed for work estimated to cost $616,000,000.

President Truman has asked Congress to release, in addition, $164,750,000 of road authorizations for previous years which were held up during the war. These plans call for roads in national forests and parks, access roads to Indian reservations, and parkways.

Reclamation Projects Halted

Construction was stopped or deferred on reclamation and irrigation projects totalling $1,158,981,200 because of the war. The Reclamation bureau estimates that to complete work now under way will cost $171,997,000. The bureau has $60,000,000 immediately available for construction without waiting for additional appropriations

Army engineers have plans ready for more than 250 flood control and rivers and harbors projects $750,000,000.

They estimate that more than $75,000,000 can be spent in the first year on flood control works suspended during the war and nearly $200,000,000 on new projects. The projects have been authorized by Congress but no money has been appropriated.

Work on new rivers and harbors projects cannot begin until six months after the official termination of the emergency.

Newly Freed Yanks Halt Train To Aid Jap Wreck Victims

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 11. (AP)—American prisoners of war, newly released from the Japanese prison camp where they had starved and suffered, stopped their train from the camp to give succor to Japanese victims of a train wreck, the Eighth Army reported today.

The prisoners of war train was halted, the headquarters announcement said, at the request of the prisoners, near Hachioji, 18 miles south of Atsugi air field, while the prisoners provided "comfort and first aid" to the Japanese victims.

In a reunion at the Yokohama station, S/Sgt. Joel D. Whatley of Cisco, Tex., who was captured on Bataan, met his former troop commander in the Fifth Army Cavalry at Fort Bliss, Tex. The ex-troop leader is Maj. Gen. Clovis E. Byers, now chief of staff of the Eighth Army.

To effect reunions and assist the former war prisoners as many as possible of the high ranking Army and Navy officers as possible make it a point to meet the prisoners of war trains. On one occasion there were 22 gold stars on the collars of the welcoming group.

The be-starred group met a contingent of prisoners of war under Capt. Charles C. Underwood of Amarillo, Tex., who brought them from the Sendai camp.

Jap Prisoner Camp Found On Hokkaido

OMINATO, Japan, Sept. 11 (AP)—Rear Adm. H. M. Martin, commander of Carrier Task Force 44, reported today to Vice Adm. Frank Jack Fletcher, commander of the U. S. Ninth Fleet, that reconnaissance planes had spotted an American prisoner of war camp at Bibai in the west central section of Hokkaido, northernmost of the Japanese home islands.

SAYS SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE:

Despite Victory Used Fat Saving Must Go On!

Every woman in America should know that our country continues to face a serious fat shortage. And victory over Japan won't solve the problem immediately. We must keep on saving used fats in our kitchens!

If you have any thought that saving used fats is one of those wartime chores we can drop, now that Victory is here, please consider these facts and tell them to your neighbors.

America still needs salvaged fats. Not even at the peak of our war effort, when fats were required for mountains of shells and bombs and medicines, in addition to the ever-present need for soap, were our needs for salvaging fat greater than now. Our stocks have been drained by four long years of war, and there isn't enough on hand to meet all requirements.

Don't let "Victory psychology" blind you to this national need! If housewives stop saving fats now, the shortage will become even more critical.

Don't let a single drop of used fats go to waste! Little trimmings of fat left on the platter at the table, scraps left on plates, and even the skimmings of soups and gravies are important. It is the consistent saving of even these small amounts that counts.

Don't turn in fats that can be re-used! But some fats, such as those rendered from lamb and mutton, are not suitable for re-use. Put them immediately in the salvage can. And, with other fats, after you've got all cooking good out of them, there is always a little left. No matter how little it is, save it.

Your butcher will still give you 4¢ and 2 red points for every pound you turn in. Save consistently—save every drop you can—every day—until Uncle Sam says the job is done.

French Demands Are Among Major Problems Facing Big Five Meet

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Among the many knotty problems to be taken up during the meeting of the council of foreign ministers, starting in London Tuesday, not the least will be France's demands regarding the future status of western Germany.

France's aspirations are not the first business before the meeting. No. 1 topic is expected to be the peace treaty with Italy, looking toward her early reconstruction and admission to the United Nations.

Paralleling that will be the treaties with the other former enemy nations—Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland. Britain and the United States are anxious for an early and reasonably lenient peace with Italy, drastically modifying the unpublished but reportedly onerous armistice terms.

Treaty Friction Feared

No difficulty is expected over Finland, but friction may develop with Russia over the treaties with Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary. Britain and the United States are not satisfied with the present governments of those countries, which are supported by Russia. It is possible that Russia may put obstacles in the way of an early settlement with Italy unless Britain and the United States make concessions in the Balkans. France is more likely to string along with the Anglo-Americans than with Russian on this matter, while China, the other member of the Big Five comprising the council, is more or less disinterested.

Regardless of the fact that the peace treaties have priority in discussion, it is more than probable that France will want to make a major issue of her future position on the continent, especially with regard to Germany, and her status in general as a revived world power.

French Pride Hurt

France's pride has been hurt by her comparative exclusion so far from the major Allied deliberations conducted by the Big Three. Now she is taking her full place for the first time as one of the Big Five and is determined that her voice shall be heard.

The continental as well as the world balance has been entirely changed by the war. Germany and Italy no longer matter on the continent; Russia is dominant in eastern Europe. France therefore wants to be assured of her position in the west. For that reason, she is intent on a unity of aims with Great Britain, or an Anglo-French alliance if possible.

Major Powers Emerge

In the world picture, Japan has joined Germany and Italy in the crushing Axis defeat. The United States and Russia have emerged as the most powerful nations, with Great Britain not as strong as she was, and China having the chance to become a great power, if she can make the grade.

France's inclination, therefore, is to avoid a conflict of interests with Britain and the United States, while at the same time preserving good relations with Russia in the interests of Big Five solidarity.

France is a little perturbed by the accomplished fact of Russia's territorial arrangements in eastern Germany while the status of the west remains undecided. The French admit that Germany does not yet have even the nucleus of a central government with which a permanent peace can be arranged. They feel, however, that agreement can be reached on certain problems in the west in advance of a formal treaty, and may press the issue.

De Gaulle Interview

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, French provisional president, expressed his attitude in an interview given to the Times of London. He pointed out that Germany has lost East Prussia, Silesia, and valuable parts of eastern Poland, and may in consequence turn her hopes westward.

The French want possession of the Rhineland from Cologne to the Swiss border, as a natural frontier. They want international control of the rich Ruhr, with its coal and industrial capacity, to keep Germany from building up again to aggressor status in western Europe. They also want Belgian-Dutch-British control of the area to the north. These problems alone would constitute almost a minor peace conference.

Department Buys Area's Potato Crop

DALLAS, Sept. 11. (AP)—Two thirds of the Irish potato crop in the Lubbock-Plainview area since August has been purchased by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to Latham White, regional director of the USDA production and marketing administration.

White said the purchases amounted to $748,000 for 1,032 carloads. They were made to save the huge Texas crop which is competing with bumper crops in other parts of the country. About half of the Texas potatoes are going into cold storage and into distribution channels in ten surrounding states, White explained.

Summer potato production in the Panhandle this year is estimated at 1,830,000 bushels, against 1,406,000 bushels last year and a ten-year average of 1,290,000 bushels in the area.

August Election Results Approved

AUSTIN, Sept. 11. (U.P.)—Results of the Aug. 25 election on four constitutional amendments today were officially canvassed, and Gov. Coke R. Stevenson immediately issued the proclamation declaring one defeated and three adopted.

Defeated was the proposal to put Texas legislators on a year-around salary instead of $10 per day while in session. It received 42,879 votes for to 130,983 against.

Results of Other Voting

Results of the vote on other amendments were:

For soldiers being allowed to vote without poll tax payment through 1946—134,865; against 38,679.

For increasing the state supreme court membership from three to nine judges—92,114; against 79,295.

For increasing old age pensions from a maximum of $15 to $20 a month and placing a $35,000,000 a year ceiling on the state's portion of all welfare grants—96,959; against 78,052.

Thirteen Counties Unreported

The canvassing board is composed of the governor, secretary of state and the attorney general.

Sec. of State Claude Isbell said election results were not received from 13 counties. He said voting was not held in five counties.

Isbell said that these delinquent returns would not be great enough to change outcome of the election.

Six members of the state Supreme court commission who now will become members of the court will meet tomorrow to decide when they will take their oaths of office.

Adoption of the amendment elevated Judges J. E. Hickman, Few Brewster, A. J. Folley, G. B. Smelley, C. S. Slatton and W. M. Taylor to the high court.

Different Colors For Greenbacks?

Avoidance Of Confusion In $10, $1 Bills Is Sought

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Here is a suggestion for Secretary Vinson of the Treasury made by a citizen of Philadelphia and endorsed by a substantial section of the American public.

Print $1, $15 and $10 bills—and other denominations of paper mony—in different colors.

GALLUP

Why? Well, if the colors were different fewer mistakes would arise in making change at movie ticket windows, restaurants, drug stores, ball parks, etc., and people, especially housewives, could fish the right bill out of their pocketbooks quickly, without having to paw and hunt or to examine the numbers to make sure of the denomination.

Although this idea of different colored bills is a novel one, more than two - fifth of the American public thinkit would be a good thing, a survey shows. While an equal number are opposed, more than 40 percent is substantial support for a new idea that hasn't been widely discussed.

The whole thing started when a woman in Philadelphia wrote this short letter to the editor of a Philadelphia paper:

"Dear Editor: Have you ever given a $10 bill for a one? Many persons besides myself have been unable to recover the loss of $9. The solution may be very simple: a yellow background for the $10, a brown for the $5. It would be a time saver, too."

To find out how many Americans approve this unusual idea, the Institute put the question to people from coast to coast:

"It has been suggested that the paper money bills of different value be printed in different colors. Do you think this is a good or poor idea?"

Among people expressing an opinion, as many like the idea as oppose it. The interesting thing is that people with the most education are inclined to favor the idea to a greater extent than the less educated.

The vote for the nation as a whole, and the vote by education levels, are shown below:

NATIONAL
Good idea	42%
Poor idea	42
No Opinion	16

	College Trained	High School	Grade or No School
Good idea	49%	45%	38%
Poor idea	46	41	42
No Opinion	5	14	20

Many foreign countries use variations both in size and color to make handling of paper currency easier.

Speaker Claude Gilmer Brings Son To Tech

Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives Claude H. Gilmer was in Lubbock Tuesday bringing his son, Carson Gilmer, here to attend Texas Tech college.

Young Gilmer will be a freshman student in engineering.

Speaker Gilmer visited with Rep. Preston E. Smith of Lubbock and met a number of Lubbock business and professional leaders before departing for his home.

Gilmer was speaker during the 49th Legislature. He has served four terms in the Legislaure but will not seek re-election as speaker, he said.

Conventions Ban To Lift Oct. 1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—The ban on all conventions, group meetings, and trade shows will end October 1.

Announcing this today, the Office of Defense Transportation said it was acting on the recommendation of the office of reconversion. The restrictions were imposed February 1, 1945.

ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson said the lifting of the ban was neither an invitation to travel nor an assurance that sufficient transportation will be available.

He asked sponsors of conventions, group meetings and tradeshows to defer meetings whenever possible and keep necessary meetings small until after the peak of the troop movement early next year.

This, however, is merely a request, and an ODT permit will not be required for any kind of gathering.

TO ATTEND LABOR MEET

MOSCOW, Sept. 11 (AP)—M. P. Tarasov, secretary of the Soviet central council of trade unions, left for London tdoay to attend the 77th Congress of British Trade Unions.

NOW FOR THE TELEPHONE JOB AT HOME

The big war telephone job is nearly done. Now we can turn to the big telephone job here at home—the job of reconverting and constructing for peacetime telephone service.

We have a long way to go to catch up with the demand for telephone service. More than 240,000 people are waiting for us to furnish them telephones. Serving them will require millions of dollars' worth of new equipment. Poles must be set. Wires must be strung. Miles of cables must be laid. Switchboards and dial equipment must be made and installed.

Big jobs—complicated jobs—take time. But telephone factories are turning as rapidly as possible from war to peacetime production. Telephone people are eager for the job of putting new equipment to work. And soon, we hope, other skilled telephone men and women will be returning from the armed forces to help with the task.

Some of the 240,000 who are waiting for telephones will get service soon. For others, especially in cities where telephone facilities must be expanded, the wait may still be many months. As new equipment can be installed those who are waiting will be served in their proper order.

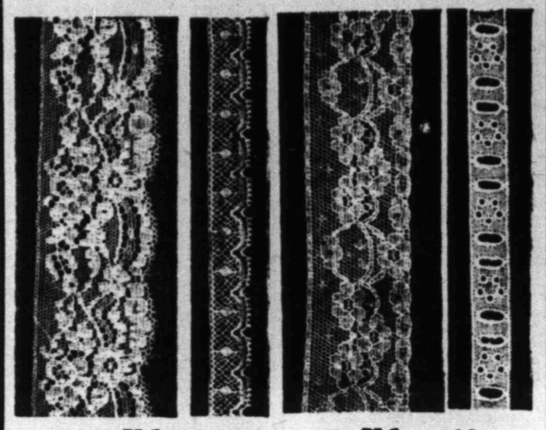

You may be sure that all our efforts are aimed at making the wait just as short as possible. We're working as hard to that end as we worked to supply the armed forces with vital communications equipment.

Lanphier Identified As Airman Who Downed Boastful Yamamoto

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (U.P.)—The Army revealed today that it was Lt. Col. Thomas G. Lanphier, jr., of Washington, D. C., who in 1943 shot down and killed Adm. Isoroku Yamamoto, the man who boasted he would dictate peace in the White House.

Lanuhier, piloting a P-39 Lightning, was able to track down Yamamoto's plane and down it in flames because naval intelligence had cracked the enemy's naval sipher.

The 29-year-old Army flier, the War department said, encountered the Japanese admiral's plane at the precise spot over Bougainville island in the Solomons where naval intelligence had predicted it would be.

Now In Washington

Lanphier is now on duty here in the office of chief of personnel, Army Air force headquarters.

The story of Yamamoto's death, long withheld from publication for reasons of security, was revealed earlier this week but the names of the U. S. airmen and others who had a hand in it were kept secret until today.

The late Secretary of Navy Frank Knox played a part in destroying the boastful Yamamoto, the Army disclosed. It was he who relayed to the Southwest Pacific information about the admiral's movements obtained through breaking the enemy's naval code.

Acting on this information, Lanphier and a group of Army P-38 pilots led by Lt. Col. John W. Mitchell of Enid, Okla., then a major, left Guadalcanal for their rendezvous with Yamamoto on the morning of April 18.

Much of Staff With Him

Riding in one of his newest bombers at more than 200 miles an hour, the admiral was accompanied by virtually his entire high command in a similar aircraft. For cover, six Zeros were known to have been assigned and many others were expected to be encountered.

Lanphier's flight had been directed to attack the Japanese bombers carrying high officials. While others flew protective cover, Lanphier shot down the admiral's plane, which fell in flames from so low an altitude as to preclude the possibility of escape by parachute. The second Mitsubshi bomber was destroyed by Lanphier's wingman, Maj. Rex Barber (then lieutenant), Culver, Ore.

The Japanese reported Yamamoto was "killed in combat with the enemy."

Awarded Navy Cross

Lanphier is the son of Col. Lanphier, sr., also of Washington, and Mrs. Janet Cobb Lanphier of Detroit. The young colonel's wife is Phyllis Lanphier, formerly of Boise, Ida. They have a one year old daughter, Patricia Cobb Lanphier.

The colonel was awarded the Navy Cross for the mission, and also wears the Silver Star with one Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Air Medal. He also has been awarded the Navy Presidential citation. He flew 97 combat missions and shot down seven enemy aircraft, including Yamamoto's.

Other participants in the reception for Yamamoto and his staff included Capt. Everett H. Anglin, Harlingen, Tex.; Capt. Eldon E. Stratton, Anderson, Mo., since killed in action, and Lt. Albert R. Long, Taft, Tex.

Licenses Of Odessa Beer Men Suspended

AUSTIN, Sept. 11 (AP)—The state liquor control board has suspended the licenses of three beer establishments at Odessa for 15 days, Bohn Hilliard of the law enforcement division said today.

The board's administrator is empowered under the law to suspend licenses of establishments where there has been evidence of disorderly conduct. In these particular cases, no contest was entered by the licensees, and no hearing therefore was necessary, Hilliard said.

Reds Power Subdues Whites In Tech Grid Show, 20-13

By MACK TURNER
Avalanche Sports Editor

Texas Tech's Red Raiders gave an open house crowd of better than 3,000 fans plenty of grid thrills Tuesday night at Tech stadium as the Reds, paced by Walter Schlinkman, roared to a 20 to 13 victory in a wild scoring duel with the Whites.

With the exception of kickoffs, the game was rolled off in regular game scrimmage, with the Red Raiders showing plenty of drive, speed and rugged defense, while passing came in for a share in the glory.

Most of the returning veterans came in for their share of the glory, on both offense and defense, and many new men in the Red Raider camp battled on even terms for the glory.

Reds Start Early

The Reds scored the first time they had the ball, and were never behind, although they were tied in the third quarter. Taking the ball on its own 35, the Red Shirts rolled straight down the field on the churning legs of Arthur Shahan, the veteran backfielder from Graham. Shahan carried the ball three out of four times to go from his own 35 to the Whites 21.

Schlinkman knifed into the line for six, then Shahan bounded back for five. Schlinkman then bulldozed his way to the five. On the next play, Jack "Spider" Dillon faked the ball to Schlinkman, then circled his own left end to score standing up. Schlinkman booted the extra point for a 7-0 lead for the Reds.

The Whites took the ball on the 35, but found the Red line too tough. Otis Turner, veteran from Wink, Mac Weaver from Temple, Reeves Moren from Graham, and the veteran Joe Snodgrass from Brownfield smeared the speedy boys in White, and Moyers kicked out on the Reds 20.

Late in the second period, the Whites began to click, and with Gene Hardey, veteran from Hugoton, Kansas, heaving passes to glue fingered Bob Kelley from Idalou, clicked off one for 18 yards and another for six. Hardey was then spilled back on the 40 by Lester Hahn, end from Fredericksburg, and a loss of six yards. Hardey then hit Jack Hinson of San Angelo to carry to the Reds 27, where the half ended.

Whites Tie Score

The Whites started a scoring drive from its own 37 early in the third quarter, and showed plenty of class in the match. Little Tommie Dutton of Bowie flashed through to the Whites 45. Hinson flashed through to the Reds 45. On the third try, Hardey connected with Kelley on a pass to the Reds 30.

Frank Smith of Memphis came in on the next play, and smashed down to the 21. Dutton skirted right end for three before Bill McWilliams of Ozona threw him out of bounds. W. C. Johnson of Hale Center took over, and in two plays went to the ten before going out with an injured ankle. Bennie Tidwell of Bowie picked up a first down on the seven in two stabs. After an incomplete pass, Hardey hit Kelley on the goal line for the touchdown play, and Dutton left footed the ball through the uprights for the extra point to tie the score.

Scoring came thick and fast in the last quarter. On the first play of the period Schlinkman went into action with a 16-yard gallop to the Whites 49. On the next play, he went to the 41, then A. W. Montague of Fort Worth made it first down on the 36. Dillon then heaved the ball into the northwest corner of the field, and Malcolm Mitchell of San Angelo took it in over his shoulder and stepped over the goal line. Schlinkman booted the extra point for a 14-7 lead.

The Reds muffled the Whites passing on the Red 47, and Schlinkman at once set up another touchdown when he broke through the line and galloped to the Whites 20 before stumbling over his own blockers. After Shahan picked up two yards, Schlinkman took a latteral, and circled right end to score. Joe Davenport of Eastland smashed through to block Killon's kick to leave the score 20-7.

Just before the scrimmage ended, the Whites struck for another score. Jiggs Jackson, squadman last year, heaved a long pass to R. W. Moyers of Lubbock, who made a great catch over his shoulder and stormed to the Reds 11 before he was roped in. The gain was good for 50 yards. After two incomplete passes, Jackson smashed through to the four, and on an extra play, Don Davis of Tulia smashed over to score. Moyers try for the extra point was wide.

Texas Wildlife Funds Allotted

AUSTIN, Sept. 11. (AP)—Apportionment of $45,430 by the federal government for wildlife restoration and development in Texas will mean that this state will have a total of approximately $60,000 for that purpose this year.

The state contributes $15,000 of the total available for wildlife restoration.

The only new project under way at this time is the plan for restoration of the big horn sheep in far West Texas.

The funds are spent principally for maintaining game refuges for experimental purposes, and for re-stocking depleted ranges.

Experts Put Finger On Texas Longhorns

FORT WORTH, Sept. 11 (AP)—If the Texas Longhorns don't win the Southwest Conference football championship, it's going to be a major upset for the experts.

Eighty per cent of the newspaper sports editors and radio sports commentators of the Southwest sports editors and radio sports commentators of the Southwest have named the Steers as the No. 1 team in the 1945 race.

Never has there been such an overwhelming unanimity of opinion in the 11 years that J. Willard Ridings of the Texas Christian university news service has taken the pre-season poll. Only 15 of 74 ballots placed Texas out of the title spot, and only six of these 15 put them lower than second.

There is almost equal agreement as to the tail-end positions, awarded to Rice and Baylor by a wide margin, no one putting the Bears higher than fourth nor the Owls more than third.

The over-all picture for the predictions on the forthcoming race is:

Texas.
Southern Methodist.
Texas Christian
Arkansas.
Texas A. and M.
Rice.
Baylor.

Snavely Hopes That History Is Repeated

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Sept. 11. (AP)—Coach Carl Snavely of the University of North Carolina hopes it's true about history repeating itself.

While he was here in 1934 and 1935 he pulled the Tar Heel football team out of a terrific slump and put it into the top ten in the country. He lost only two games.

Returning now after a nine-year stay at Cornell, he finds the Tar Heels in another extended slump. They've been kicked around by almost everybody, including the old standby rivals at neighboring Duke.

Snavely isn't what one would term optimistic. "Our hopes naturally are very modest," he says, "as we are starting from scratch. Also, we have a very hard schedule, including three of last year's bowl teams and at least three other opponents of outstanding strength. Nevertheless, I like our squad and the splendid conditions under which we are working, and we might do something better than the conditions would indicate."

The North Carolina squad is about equally divided between Navy trainees and civilians, and the bulk of the men are freshmen and sophomores.

The only six lettermen are Ed Golding, Ed Twohey and Del Leatherman, guards; Arthur Collins, tackle; and Bill Voris and Don Clayton, backs who probably will carry the brunt of Snavely's basic single wing system.

Borowy Pitches Cubs To Victory

CHICAGO, Sept. 11. (AP)—Hank Borowy, ex-Yankee hurler who was mysteriously waived out of the American League two months ago, pitched his tenth complete game in as many starts for the league-leading Chicago Cubs today, and although he blew a 3-0 lead, came up with a ninth-inning victory over the Boston Braves, 5-4.

The tall, angular hurler gave the Braves ten hits in winning his eighth victory against two losses for the Cubs, but he let Boston put together four hits in the fifth for two runs and four more in the seventh for two more tallies.

His mates came back in the last of the ninth with one out to score the deciding run, before a crowd of only 5,588.

Trout Hurls Tigers To Win Over Bosox

BOSTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—The invincible combination of airtight pitching and timely hitting, as demonstrated by righthander Dizzy Trout and by Doc Cramer, today produced a 5-0 shutout over the Boston Red Sox and enabled Detroit's weakened but determined Tigers to expand their slim lead in the American League's blistering pennant race windup.

Trout turned in a sparkling two-hit performance while chalking up his 17th win of the season against 13 losses.

Cramer blasted his sixth homer of the season into the right field bull pen in the seventh inning, after Joe Hoover had doubled in that same direction and Skeeter Webb had beaten out a bunt.

That marked the end for big Pinky Woods, who, after getting off in impressive fashion, kicked away his own game in the sixth by giving the Tigers their first two runs on Rudy York's two-bagger and four bases on balls, one of which forced in a tally.

Heat Turned On For Horned Frog Drills

FORT WORTH—Sept. 11. (AP)—Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer called it the "hottest" football workout Texas Christian university ever had.

But the coach referred only to today's weather, which was officially tabbed at 100, the hottest Sept. 11 in Fort Worth's history. So the Horned Frogs sweltered through a drill consisting mainly of conversation, a minimum of moving around and a bit of defensive work.

SEWELL SIGNED AGAIN

ST. LOUIS, Sept 11. (AP)—Luke Sewell, who guided the St. Louis Browns to their first pennant in American League history last season, has been signed to a new two-year contract, it was announced today by Richard C. Muckerman, president of the club.

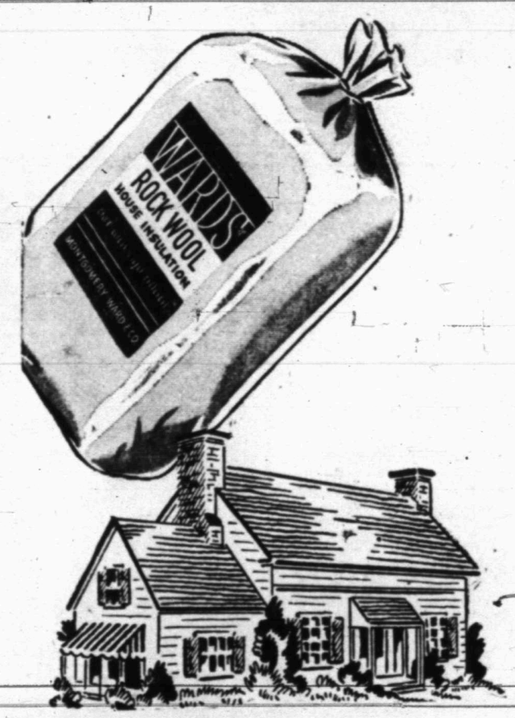

TO FIELD TEAM

NEW YORK, Sept. 11, (AP)—The First Air Force, whose wartime duties included guarding the long Eastern shoreline, will field a football team for the first time this fall now that peace has returned.

Officers Being Demoted In Rank

By JOHN L. CUTTER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (U.P.)—The War department revealed today that many general officers are leaving active duty or are being demoted to keep pace with the Army's demobilization of enlisted men and lower grade officers.

The announcement came as congressional criticism mounted against postwar promotion of Army officers. Charges were heard that demobilization was being delayed because of the large numbers of high ranking officers.

Seventy Have Retired

The War department said that since V-E day—last May 8—70 general officers have left active duty or have been put under orders to leave. Another 100 general officers are in the process of being reduced in grade, the War department said.

The War department said these reductions were in line with the Army's plan to lower the number of its general officers to conform with demobilization.

Specialists To Be Retained

They were made possible in a number of cases, it was said, by inactivation of Supreme Allied headquarters in Europe, of all Army groups, and of a number of corps and divisions.

The announcement said that within three months only a few oft he 136 general officers who were recalled from the retired list for war duty will remain in active service. These will be specialists retained for a few additional months to train their own replacements.

Some general officers still are being promoted. Nominations were sent to the senate yesterday for six brigadier generals to become major generals and 17 colonels to become brigadier generals.

To Continue Promotions

Recommendations for such promotions will continue to be made on the basis of superior performance of duty and qualifications to provide an incentive for officers seeking advancement, the War department said.

"The War department plans to effect necessary reductions with due consideration for the services and reputations of the individuals concerned," the announcement said. "These men have carried heavy responsibilities and have contributed much to the successful war operations.

"It is unavoidable that men with distinguished records in staff and field assignments will revert to lower ranks. In 1940 the prewar Army had 100 general officers, which amounted to two thirds of one per cent of the total officer personnel of the Army. When Japan was defeated, the Army had approximately 1,600 general officers or one fifth of one per cent of the total officer personnel of 800,000."

Complete Defeat

changes in the emperor's pastoral leadership is subject to future developments in which there is hope that the emperor himself will display democratic liberalism, but for the present his position is a matter for speculation in which the general refused to indulge.

Contrasts With Europe

The general, gratified at the obedience of his command, again pointed to the contrast with the situation in Europe. Here, authority is respected by every last person who carried out occupation orders, while in Europe the only leaders the people ever followed were of necessity placed in jails.

Elaborating on this point, he said Japanese would have an extremely hard time maintaining life itself in the coming months because they are going to be compelled to rehabilitate themselves without the hope of assistance, whereas civil affairs officers in the American zone in Germany already were compelled to provide coal and are faced with the prospect of supplying other necessities. They will have to provide these necessities in the fear that any other course will precipitate disorders.

Japs to Pay Bills

The Japanese and not Aerican taxpayers are going to pay the price of war here, he added.

He expressed the belief that Japan would be allowed to retain sufficient heavy industry to rebuild the nation themselves, but that this would be controlled to the extent that war industries would be completely wiped out.

He said destruction in Tokyo convinced him Japan did not have enough war industry left in this area to build a musket.

Territory Restrictions

Japan's rise to take the leadership in trade in the Orient cannot be prevented even if it is desired, the general said. He made it clear that the confinement of the nation to her four home islands will prevent her reconstitution as a leading world power.

Enlarging on military possibilities in the future, he said that never in history was an army dealt such a defeat. He admitted Japan still had men in great numbers, but pointed out that the men were in small, ineffective and unequipped groups, incapable of united action where they were most needed.

The general said that Japanese Army supplies were so low troops could not have been fed six months hence.

Civic Center Trip

moving of thousands of yards of dirt, in time for the presentation of a Dale Carnegie "How To Win Friends" lecture the next afternoon at 2 o'clock. "We just barely made it," he jokingly remarked.

Poche pointed out the importance of an auditorium manager knowing the wants of the people of his community. "Why, since the rodeo was staged, which incidentally drew a corporal's guard, we've known that New Orleans doesn't care much for rodeos."

He then told how New Orleans patronizes 16 operas a season and revealed that all attractions of the Philharmonic society have already been sold out for the approaching season.

But Forest Lotz, building superintendent, who escorted us through the gigantic five-story structure, has praise for Poche's judgment.

"Since he's been manager, New Orleans people have seen this building and that means he has been staging a variety of events to please as many people as possible," Lotz said.

Variety To Be Pleased

And believe me, there's a variety of people to be pleased in this romantic city of 525,000 souls at the mouth of the broad Mississippi.

Built in 1929 at a cost of $2,500,000 on land owned by the city on St. Claude street between North Rampart and Liberty streets, the huge building is just seven blocks from the heart of New Orleans and borders the historic old French quarter on the west.

Since it was built, another $500,000 has been added to the building in air-conditioning equipment and other improvements until it now represents one of the largest auditorium investments in the Southland.

Lotz shows us all through the massive building from the basement, where we saw how the stage was raised and lowered on motor-driven screw jacks to the great rigging loft 60 feet above the stage where 90 lines of scenery may be operated. The fly loft extends 90 feet overall above the stage.

Soldiers Use Corridors

We walked through broad corridors which extend around the building on all levels. On the third floor corridor, we walked between long rows of cots where 800 service men have been sleeping through cooperation of the city and the USO during the war.

We learned from Poche that the building has a staff of 24 employes and is operated as a separate department of the city, governed by a commission of nine leading business and professional leaders, with a new member being appointed every year for a nine-year term.

We arrived in quaint old New Orleans late Thursday afternoon after driving through Mississippi's timber country, breaking the eight-hour trip by a brief stop at Laurel, Miss., home of Masonite products and other related lumber materials to inspect a combination auditorium-gymnasium in that bustling city of 31,000 people. The population has increased 3,000 in the past year and right now it's busier than ever with 4,000 persons working in three shifts at the Masonite plant and several thousand others at the Reliance products factory and other plants.

Government Agencies

Laurel's building is ten years old and beneath the seats are maintained offices of various government agencies as the county farm agents, the AAA, Veterans organization, National Guard and chamber of commerce.

Approaching New Orleans over Lake Pontchartrain's causeway, we drove to world-famous old Canal street and down it to our hotel, the Roosevelt, from where we could view a goodly section of the city. Off to the left stood New Orleans' famed Charity hospital with thousands of rooms.

We visited Antoine's famous restaurant in the old French quarter, which stands just as it did when New Orleans was under French domination. Except for our architect, W. T. (Tanlac) Strange, having trouble with his "pompano in a sack," we got along all right with the French menu and cuisine. Later we visited several of the French quarter night spots.

Chennault in Town

Gen. Claire Chennault, hero of the Flying Tigers in China, arrived in town about the same time we did and as a result we failed to attract much attention. The town was flag-bedecked and paid tribute to Louisiana's native son with a gigantic parade.

J. D. Hassell is leaving us here, to fly to New York on business matters, so our group will have dwindled to five. From here we go to Beaumont than on to heavenly Houston and San Antonio before arriving back home.

Russia's War With Japan Kills 8,219

MOSCOW, Sept. 11. (U.P.) — The Soviet Union's brief war with Japan cost the Russians 8,210 dead and 22,264 wounded between Aug. 9 and Sept. 9, as compared with a Japanese toll in the same period of 80,000 killed and 20,000 wounded, the Soviet information bureau announced today.

STOCKS RALLY LATE

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Late bidding for steels, motors, rails and specialties rallied the stock market today after early irregularity in virtually all departments.

Demand in the final hour lifted favorites fractions to better than two points with the overall average hitting another peak for more than eight years.

Transfers of 1,120,000 shars compared with 1,110,000 Monday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .4 of a point at 69, a top since May 7, 1937. The industrial average touched its best level since Aug. 31, 1937 and the utilities made a new high since March 20, 1937.

Prominent on the front line were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Southern Pacific, Goodyear, Southern Pacific, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Kennecott and American Telephone. Losers included Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Dow Chemical and United Aircraft.

Bonds improved at the last but finished a shade mixed.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills. Adv.

Congress Opens Discharge Probe

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—Congress, under fire to get the boys back home faster, undertook today to divert some of the heat to Army and Navy leaders.

The Senate Military committee invited General of the Armies George C. Marshal and Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King to come to the Capitol tomorrow and explain their demobilization plans.

Bolstering sentiment for public hearings was a War department report that the Army totaled 8,050,000 on September 1, a net reduction from a year earlier of 53,000. The committee also received assurance that the Army is discharging 11,000 men a day and hopes to double that figure soon.

Other Developments

The red-hot issue produced these other developments during the day:

1. Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House Military committee urged his coleagues to be "discreet and temperate' in their demands for demobilization.

2. The War department disclosed that the Army has started thinning out its war-swollen ranks of 1,600 generals. Seventy general officers have been released or put on the inactive list since V-J day and an additional 100 are being reduced in grade.

3. Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.) proposed a system of "indefinite furloughs" to release eligible Army men in advance of their formal discharge.

FULL STORY PRESERVED BY GALLANT LEADER

OMINATO, Japan, Wednesday, Sept. 12. (AP) — The full, untold story of the heroic defense of Wake, including the fate of its gallant Marines—the dead and the imprisoned living — has been preserved by the garrison leader, Lt. Col. James P. S. Devereux.

Pharmacist Mate William S. Sterling, of Herington, Kas., one of five prisoners of war newly arrived from a Japanese camp on Hokkaido brought word of Devereux.

Several With Him

"He has all the information on his Marines and has a number of them with him," said Sterling today. He had talked with Devereux at Camp No. 3 about 40 miles from Bibai prison camp on Hokkaido.

The man who sent out the famous message, "send us more Japs," before Wake capitulated Dec. 23, 1941, is presently in charge of the camp and will be brought out soon.

Also in Hokkaido, Sterling met two survivors of the sunken Cruiser Houston.

A Texas National Guard unit also was there. Sterling had the names of a few: S/Sgt. Leonard C. Campbell, of Jacksboro; Pvt. John T. Baker, of Perrin; Cpl. Jack Kenner, of Marlin; and Pvt. Douglas F. Knight, of Amarillo.

"Lion" Leads Dallas Police A Dog's Life

DALLAS, Sept. 11. (AP)—Reports that a lion had escaped from the circus now showing here had three squad cars of police dashing thither and yon today.

The officers finally found a huge, black shepherd dog, that had been closely clipped except for tail and mane.

Negro Woman Dies In 'Triangle' Stabbing

The "eternal triangle" caused a negro woman, Willie Bee Moore, of 1618 Ave. C, to die early Tuesday night of two stab wounds near her throat, inflicted with an ice pick.

Police held another negro woman, Luvada (Doll) Johnson, in connection with the death. She was arrested soon after the affray by prowl car patrolmen Robert Adkinson and Harvey Nix.

In answer to a call at 6:30 o'clock, police went to Willie Bee's home and found her dead on the floor of the kitchen.

The Johnson woman, in a statement to police, said she and Willie Bee "got to talking and drinking and fussing over a man." When Willie Bee rushed at her with an ice pick, Luvada grabbed another pick out of the wall and they clashed, she told officers. Willie Bee received a deep stab wound and Luvada a wound in the hand. When Willie Bee rushed at her with a butcher knife, she stabbed her again, she said.

"Willie Bee died pretty soon and I told somebody to call the law."

plete destruction sits Jumbo, so named because he is a huge, stubby bottle of steel, with walls about six inches thick. He was neither harmed nor blown over although the tower above him was seared and laid flat. Jumbo is 800 yards from the center of the explosion.

Late Sunday the writers circled above the crater in a plane. Far off on the mesa they could see cavalrymen riding guard. Every entrance to the area is closed by military guards 25 miles from the crater.

The plane view indicated that the crater is disintegrating rapidly in the occasional rains. Already the dried beds of rivulets run down to the center. They are destroying the amazing outer contours, which from above, look like a bursting spot of blue-green flame, frozen right at its peak.

Others Explode Higher

To avoid this poisoning of the earth with X-ray radio activity, the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs were exploded far higher above the ground.

In the Sunday party was Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer, head of the secret laboratory in northern New Mexico.

He said the Japan heights of explosion—still secret—were picked so that there would be no indirect chemical warfare due to poisoning the earth with radioactive elements, and no horrors other than the familiar ones due to any great explosion.

General Groves said that there were evidences of some Japanese deaths due to radioactive rays, but that the information now available indicates that this number was relatively small.

Safe After 11th Day

General Groves said that reports now coming to the Army states definitely that 11 days after the Hiroshima bomb fell, it was safe for a person to move permanently into the center of the blast area.

Dr. Oppenheimer said that one hour after the blast it probably was quite safe for rescue workers to be in the center of the blasted area.

The latest Japanese reports states that rescue workers from outside Hiroshima who were not present during the explosion have shown no signs of ray trouble.

News Briefs

Firemen halted a fire early last night in a basement room of the old First Baptist church building, in 1400-block Main, before it could gain much headway. Firemen, who received the alarm at 6:30 o'clock, said the fire had spread upward and was eating at the floor joists of the main floor when they arrived. The blaze originated in a trophy case, destroyed the case and leaped to the joists above. It was not known how the fire started. Assistant Fire Chief Glenn Smith said he was informed the 20-foot square room has been in use as a meeting place for Boy Scouts. At 3:08 o'clock yesterday afternoon, firemen made a run to a storage place for the W. G. McMillan contracting interests in 1600-block Fifth. Sawdust around a gasoline motor-driven saw had caught fire.

Foreign Ministers Open Conference

LONDON, Sept. 11. (AP)—Foreign ministers of the five major Allied powers met today to chart the worlds first steps toward a return to peace, beginning with the questions referred to them at the historic Potsdam conference.

A communique issued after their secret four-hour opening session left the door open, however, for consideration of other questions that might be proposed by the nations they represent — the United States Great Britain, the Soviet Union, China and France.

The announcement that the Potsdam outline would be followed appeared to spike rumors that the Russians might refuse to discuss a peace treaty for Italy unless the Americans and British accept the present governments of Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria.

Congress To Conduct Pearl Harbor Probe

WASHINGTON Sept. 11. (AP)—Congress voted today to conduct its own investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster, the third inquiry since the Japanese struck Dec. 7, 1941.

The House passed 308-0 a Senate resolution providing for a 10-man committee to:

1. Investigate the background of American preparedness and

2. Determine whether any individual's neglect contributed to the success of the enemy attack.

Five senators and five representatives will serve. They will be given a $25,000 appropriation and ordered to report back by Jan. 3, 1945.

Six will be Democrats, four Republicans, appointed by President Pro Tem McKellar of Tennessee and Speaker Rayburn of Texas.

Public Weigher Ruled Out As Cotton Buyer

AUSTIN, Sept. 11. (AP) — The public weigher was ruled out as a cotton buyer today by the attorney general.

An opinion by Assistant Attorney General J. C. Davis, jr., called attention to the statute setting up qualifications for public weigher.

Another opinion by Assistant Attorney General L. P. Lollar held that cities and school districts may not tax bus and freight lines traversing their districts.

Two Freed Marines Reach West Coast

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 11. (AP)—Two Texas members of the Marine corps who were captured at Corregidor were flown back to the United States today. They looked happy and hardy.

Cpl. B. B. Pitts of Dallas and Pvt. Lytdal B. Preslar, 25, of San Angelo, joined the Fourth Marine regiment in Shanghai in May, 1940.

The Japs forced them to work as stevedores at the Marbara prison camp, 200 miles from Osaka. Day after day they carried 250 pound sacks across a bridgeway of narrow planks

Earlier the Japanese compelled them to aid in building airstrips in the jungles.

Both said that after B-29 bombings had been stepped up, trains on the mainland were loaded with women, youngsters and old men, all bearing bamboo spears and knives. These people were bound for strategic areas to defend the homeland against anticipated Allied landings, Pitts and Preslar stated.

Nation To Go Back To Old Time Soon

WASHINGTON Sept. 11. (AP)—Wartime will be abolished as of Sept. 30, Congress leaders decided today.

The House interstate committee voted without dissent for a bill to end "fast" time at 2 a. m. on that date—a Sunday.

Senators said similar action would be taken on their side of the capital soon and there seemed little doubt that both chambers would approve the bill.

Clocks thus will be turned back one hour. They were advanced an hour on January 20, 1942, as a war measure, intended to increase daylight hours of production and to save fuel, light and power.

Death For Divulging Atomic Secret Asked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—Legislation providing the death penalty for divulging atomic bomb secrets to foreign powers was introduced today by Chairman Sumners (D., Tex.) of the House Judiciary committee.

"Some safeguard to protect our interests should be taken pending a determination of policy," commented the veteran legislator.

"Everybody is discussing what we should do about this terrible weapon. We have invested $2,000,000,000 in public funds in it. We have in it the world's most powerful force, yet with all this talking we may be letting the secret out before we formally determine what policy we should adopt."

A More Attractive Army

Retirement Pay Raise Proposed

SEEKING to make United States military service more attractive, the House Military Affairs committee has voted to liberalize the Army's retirement system.

Under the proposed arrangement, a soldier would be allowed to retire voluntarily after twenty years of service. Then for the remainder of his life, he would receive one half of the average annual pay, given him for his last six months of active service.

At the present a man can retire from the Army after twenty years of service, but only if he is disabled.

The purpose of the proposed change in the retirement system is to make Army life so attractive to young men that voluntary enlistment will be stimulated. By speeding up the enlistment of volunteers, men, who have done considerable foreign service or have other points favoring their discharge, may be released from duty. If the proposed plan works, it may in time mean the complete abolition of the draft.

The plan appears to have considerable merit. In addition to aiding the Army in obtaining men eager to serve "and see the world," it will offer youngsters, who face an uncertain economic future, an opportunity of earning a living without undue hardship. Peacetime military service is always easier than wartime service, even if it does lack the zest of high adventure. And these boys, who volunteer, will be rendering a worthwhile service to world security. They will also be helping those who are worn and tired by the rigors of war to return home.

Airlines To Receive Boost

COMMERCIAL aviation, which has been retarded necessarily by numerous wartime regulations, will receive a strong boost forward when priorities for travel over commercial air lines are abolished October 15.

This announcement by the War department, and the other good news that the volume of priorities will be reduced from 100,000 a month to 15,000 or less, beginning September 15, are encouraging all who are interested in air travel.

It is also excellent news for Lubbock and other Texas communities, which are beginning to rely more and more on air transportation.

Positive Program Is Needed

MOST Texans will agree with the suggestions offered by Bernard M. Baruch for aiding returning veterans to readjust themselves "socially, economically and humanly" to their home communities.

Baruch urges the following:

(1) Immediate steps be taken to provide jobs for all workers.

(2) The medical and non-medical functions of the Veterans' administration be separated and streamlined.

(3) The GI Bill of Rights be liberalized.

(4) Veterans going into business be given special incentive tax rates.

While there will be general agreement with the Baruch proposals, there will be differences of opinion as to how to go about providing "jobs for all workers."

Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, appearing before the Senate Banking and Currency committee recently, offered this idea:

"The future security of the American people individually, and of this nation as a whole, rests, not upon a defensive program of permanent relief, but upon a positive program for permanent prosperity."

Mosher added that he believed an adequate flow of private capital into manufacturing could be assured by "a major revision of our tax laws and general governmental policies which will promote confidence among investors."

Manufacturers, he declared, wish to see "full employment," because well paid workers can buy more goods and make more work—a cycle that leads to true prosperity.

This problem of assuring full employment, either by governmental relief or by aiding private industry to employ more men and turn out more merchandise with less governmental regulation, is the big No. 1 headache before Congress at this time.

A positive approach to the problem appears to be better than a negative, defensive one.

American of all groups and ages are becoming acutely food conscious. The other day in Alabama the first words spoken by a seven-months-old baby were, "When do we eat?"

We're not growing old so fast as we used to. During our 21st year we added 5 per cent to our age, but during the past year we added only 2 per cent to it.

Just then Dr. Lacey came noisily down the stairs. His eyes were burning. "She was trying to reach the phone to call me," h said. "I got that much from her." Mrs. Kittridge flinched back from the anger in his face. "Why in heaven's name wasn't I called hours ago? You fust have realized the importance of it."

"It—it didn't seem serious," Mrs. Kittridge faltered. "She'd been out without a coat; she had a chill. I—I didn't want to disturb the whole household."

"That's unfortunate." The two words were a lash.

Brock pressed forward. 'You mean—she is really ill?"

Lacey snapped his words. "What in hell do you suppose? Where's the phone? That's what I came down for . . . Last night I might have been able to do something. Now I can't; she'll lose the child."

"Dear God!" It was a hoarse whisper from Hildreth. But Mrs. Kittridge stood as if she had been struck a blow which had stunned her and from which presently she would fall. Color washed out of her face; her eyes, enormaus and terrified, sought her son. She fumbled stupidly for words "But I didn't know — I didn't know . . .

Dr. Lacey did not answer; he reached for the telephone.

Brock had not spoken. He seemed beyond speech. In utter silence he was looking up the stairs; now in utter silence he started toward them.

"Brock," his mother cried. "Brock, you can't go up there. Not now, like this. You haven't even your canes. . . " She tugged at his sleeve. "Brock . . ."

He put her aside. He said five words, so fraught with purpose that she quailed. He never took his eyes from his goal. He said, "Get out of my way." There was a pounding clamor to his ascent of the stairs; his hands tore at the banister as he jerked himself up step by step.

• • •

Thayer lay in the big bed, her gaze wandering about the room. This had been her room for months yet nothing looked as it once had; nothing was the same. In this room she had waited, in it she had hoped; in it she had known complete despair.

Dr. Lacey, for all his skill, had been unable to save the growing child within her. Always she would know regret and tenderness for the nameless son who might have been.

But tonight many things filled Thayer's heart, and holding the most important place, that never-to-be-erased picture of Brock coming in at the doorway of her room. Numbly she had heard the sound of noisy footsteps on the stairs and her pain-filled eyes had turned to seek Dr. Lacey. Instead it had been Brock, a Brock whose shocked incredulous face bore no resemblance to the embittered self-centered man she had known these past months.

She saw that he was clutching at the side of the door jamb; she saw that he had no canes. From her bed it seemed far far off to where he stood.

His eyes were fastened on her face. He came to her, across the long expanse of carpet, alone, unaided, walking with unsteady, uncertain gait, but walking.

She had cried out, a whisper more than anything, "Brock—Brock, you came up—the stairs . . ."

He was beside her then, on his knees by the bed, his tortured face close to her own. He was saying over and over, utter denunciation of himself in the words, "Thayer, Thayer—what have I done to you? What have I done?"

She was crying weakly, soundlessly. She said, "Brock—I wanted the baby. Brock, we can't have —this one . . ."

Lying there, wracked by pain and exhaustion, she knew too a sort of ectacy that was above pain. This was Brock come back to her, who, obeying at last the summons of a need greater than his own had, through that obedience, founr himself.

• • •

Corinne Kittridge sat in her room amid the ruin she had pulled down upon herself. The old pain was dogged in her chest, but a deeper pain was in her heart.

She had wronged them both—Brock and Thayer. She had meddled with a terrible consequence to them all. Hilldreth had put it into unforgettable words of harsh pity. "I'm sorry for you, Corinne, because after all most of what you did was stupidity, and Life is somehow kinder to the sinners than to the fools."

She had tried to cling to the lame excuse, "I tried to do what I thought best for my son; I loved him." But now there seemed no ring of truth in the words. Love. She had seen love this day—in the eyes of two people brought together by the tragedy of a shared loss.

She got up heavily and went out. She looked in at the open door of Thayer's room. They were together. Brock was holding the girl's hands and they were looking into each other's eyes. They were neither missing her, nor caring. She could not intrude with her poor apology, her plea. They did not need her, they would never need her. They would tear their eyes form each other unwillingly at her intrusion. They would be embarrassed because of her embarrassment, but kind. Having so much they could be generous.

They were young and the world was theirs, the new world that they an dtheir kind would make. She belonged to yesterday. They could claim tomorrow. That was where she had been wrong. The old have their place, but no part of it should be in keeping the world from the young. Their lives would go on, theirs and their children's. The children she would never see.

She turned from the bright rapture of their faces and went back to her room.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

MANY of you who live in the country or in the suburbs must have had about the same experience my wife and I go through all summer.

The subject is: Weekend guests. As soon as the weather gets nice, every friend and acquaintance, not to mention relatives, remember all of a sudden that they have some very dear folks out in Brookfield (or Goose Creek or Smith's Corners or Hanktown) whom they simply must look up.

BRANDEIS

So you get a telephone call which subtly fishes for an invitation, and sure enough, on Saturday afternoon they arrive and expect to be entertained until late Sunday night or very early Monday morning.

Now my wife and I just love to run around in old clothes, and one of my greatest delights is that I don't have to wear a necktie out here or have my shoes shined. And my wife is happiest in a pair of slacks, a sports shirt and a pair of comfortable, old, low-heeled shoes.

• • •

But the guests arrive in highly polished or high-heeled shoes, in Harper's Bazaar or Esquire sports clothes and are afraid to step out into the wet grass or on God's own brown earth. They might get spots on their elegant togs.

They lounge around in your living room, rustle your newspapers, throw cigaret ashes and stubs all over the place and expect steaks, thick cream and lots of butter without the slightest worry w're you are going to get the stuff or the ration points.

Oh, yes, they usually bring some little gift for which you have no use—such as what we got this week-end—a bottle of toilet water (my wife has about five of those already) and a cigaret holder for me, when all I ever smoke is a pipe.

Most of the guests don't pay the slightest attention to the beauties of your garden or to the lovely scenery that's all around you.

All they talk about is themselves and their own problems, about all the wonderful restaurants and theatres in their own city, and then again about themselves.

• • •

YOU ask them whether they want to go for a walk or a ride, but they tell you they'd rather play gin rummy and insist on teaching you their version of the game.

The women usually offer to help your wife in the kitchen when the wife would rather be left alone, and what help they do give as a rule consists of little more than wiping a few glasses, or making up the guest room bed, which is only extra work because the sheets have to be taken off anyway to be sent to the laundry.

And when winter come, everybody promptly forgets about you and you haven't a friend in the world, except your own nearby neighbors.

They aren't all that way Some of them are welcome and you hope they'll come again.

But the majority—well, when they leave with the usual pretty speech, you feel as if you are running a roadhouse.

If you live in the country you know what I am talking about.

Foreign Policy Is Set

Truman, Byrnes Chart U. S. Plan

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Truman and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes have formulated a definite and aggressive round-the-world foreign policy for the first time in recent American history. Although difficult to define in precise terms, they regard it as a program of enlightened but selfish idealism —the prevention of economic political and battlefield conflicts.

Our role in World War II has given us incredible authority in future international councils. The world rightly gives great credit to the Red army for dealing the final stroke to Germany. But it is likely to forget that the U. S., while making a major contribution to Hitler's defeat, simultaneously crushed Japan without real help from any other power.

TUCKER

We produced some of the finest weapons, even excluding the atomic bomb, and two of the greatest generals — Eisenhower and MacArthur. We also turned out two of history's finest naval strategists in Nimitz and Halsey.

Through the use of our demonstrated military, industrial, economic and scientific authority, the Truman administration believes that it can help to build a more orderly universe on the ruins of prewar imperialism and dictatorship. As General MacArthur said in accepting Japan's formal surrender on the USS Missouri, it realizes that civilization faces its "last chance."

• • •

CHINA: Here are some of the fruits of our emergence as the greatest power in the history of mankind:

The Sino-Russian treaty, which gives China its first opportunity to become a great modern state, was due largely to the Truman-Byrnes attitude at the Potsdam conference. Their pro-Chungking stand there explains why their foreign policy may be termed both selfish and idealistic.

The White House recognizes that the friendship of this potentially powerful nation of 400 million people can be a great asset to future geneations of Americans. China can be a balance wheel against too strong a Russia or a revived and militaristic Japan. She can help to build a bridge of amity between this country and 350 million restless inhabitants of India and other peoples of the Far East.

What Messrs. Truman and Byrnes accomplished in the Berlin suburb surpasses the generosity we showed after the Boxer rebellion and in demanding an "open door" to that portion of the Asiatic continent. They made a permanent and historic comrade of China, barring unforeseen developments.

• • •

RUSSIA: As a result of the Truman-Byrnes attitude, Stalin has promised to keep hands off territory he had been expected to demand for himself—Manchuria and North China — and to withdraw support from the Chinese Communists. Mr. Truman insisted on complete recognition of Chiang Kai-shek, and the iron man of the Kremlin agreed. His acquiescence surprised even the American delegation, and the British were stunned.

The American assertions at the same parley forced Moscow's satellites to agree to the holding of free elections supervised by unofficial observers from this country and England.

Although Russia's puppet rulers in the Balkans had scheduled phony elections for late in August, they postponed them after Washington and London insisted that they keep the pledges signed by the Big Four at Yalta. But they did not fall in line until after they had consulted "Uncle Joe." He ordered them to behave.

Incidentally, it is noteworthy that the new Attless government backed President Truman in all these demands. It is doubted here whether former Prime Minister Churchill would have given his assent, fearing that the inevitable consequence of our policy would be American insistence on greater freedom for India, Burma and eventual withdrawal of the British from Hong Kong.

• • •

FINANCIAL: Messrs. Truman and Byrnes did not achieve these diplomatic triumphs by mere vocal persuasion or the charm of their personalities. In these they do not match former President Roosevelt.

Their unsheathed weapon was the general realization that every nation in the world, including Russia, Britain, France and China, now looks to us for financial aid to put it back on its feet. We can furnish or withhold the billions in food, raw resources and machinery which they need for survival.

What all this adds up to is that the United States can now afford the luxury of a foreign policy with a punch. We don't have to wiggle and wobble, or be the tail to any other foreign power's kite.

• • •

DOCTRINE: It is probable that the framers of this new program do not realize it, but they have devised an extremely far-reaching corollary to the historic Monroe doctrine. Indeed, their plan for American intervention to preserve world peace makes the Monroe-Canning guarantee seem as mild as a sorority pledge.

The analogy is almost complete. In the first quarter of the nineteenth century the United States secretly aided South American nations to free themselves from Spain's yoke. That was an ideological thrust at the theory of the divine right of kings. England joined with us — for we did not then have the strength to enforce the doctrine — because it meant the weakening of the Holy Alliance, the continental coalition hostile to her.

When the monarchs sought to recover their lost colonies, we told them to forget it on the ground that, inasmuch as we did not intend to interfere in European affairs, they had no right to intervene on this side of the water.

Now we have spent blood and treasure to bequeath the "four freedoms" to all the nations of the world in accordance with the Roosevelt-Churchill guarantee. That is one reason why we entered the war, in addition to the fact that Japan dragged us in. The Pearl Harbor reports suggest that we would have participated even without the senak attack on December 7, 1941.

Therefore, we believe we have the right — and the might — to insist that these democratic pledges be kept in the remotest regions of the earth. Otherwise, from the standpoint of idealism, we shall have fought in vain. But, from the practical and humanitarian viewpoint, there will be more wars and more useless sacrifice of American boys unless we use our authority and power to remove all causes of conflict everywhere.

TEXAS
By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN. — The State Department of Health is in a peculiar position when it comes to enforcing two new laws it is charged with enforcing.

The trouble is the legislature enacted the laws and then didn't give the department any money to use in carrying them out. That's just about the same thing as a law forbidding a person from stealing a horse and then not specifying the penalty.

The money-less laws are for state inspection of meats for public sale and for licensing of livestock medical remedies.

While both were in the debate stage in the Legislature, they caused considerable comment — especially the meat bill. Its object is to prohibit the slaughtering of diseased livestock and selling that meat to the public.

FEATURES: The law, which became effective September 4, sets out a penalty for selling of diseased meat. It also has regulations about slaughtering of livestock. There are other features which some legislators feared would prohibit a rancher or a farmer from killing his own beef for his family and friends.

Catch in the law is that no funds are appropriated to get the registration work started. Imagine being given a job without money.

"After he voted for 13 consecutive years, it is discovered that a certain Vermont resident is not a citizen." We suppose that in Vermont this means he's a Democrat.

President's Plan "Worth Fighting For"

Stokes Hails Truman's Program

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — President Truman set himself a high, progressive course in his message to Congress to attain a better America and a better life for everybody. This objective he would have us achieve as a nation, acting together as a nation, with the direction and full co-operation of the national government.

It was a call to action.

His program, outlined in elaborate detail, spelled out a continuation of the New Deal which was shunted aside during the war. Franklin D. Roosevelt never said it more clearly or explicitly or more eloquently. Mr. Truman's was the eloquence of simplicity and forthrightness. There was no question of his meaning. He spoke plainly, sometimes bluntly.

STOKES

• • •

Nothing Needs To Be Added

It can stand as his political philoshophy and simultanously as his platform for re-election in 1948. Nothing need be added, as far as his position on national problems is concerned, though he left a few matters on which he will present subsequent messages.

At the same time, he set himself in open conflict with Congress on a number of issues, some already being considered by committees. He is in sharp disagreement with Conservatives of his own party, largely from the South, as well as preponderant Republican sentiment in Congress.

• • •

CONCILIATORY as he was to Congress, gracious as he was in praise for its war service, he nevertheless threw down the challenge for the future, and in unmistakable terms.

The question now is:

Will he fight for his program? It will take a fight.

And it can't be delayed. For the reading of his message found the same coalition of Conservative Southern Democrats and Republicans who operated so effectively against progressive domestic measures in the war years now preparing to wreck his proposal for federal funds to supplement low unemployment benefits of some states to tide over the reconversion period. Likewise the coalition is viewing coldly and skeptically his recommendations for the so-called "Full Employment" bill.

• • •

Truman "Knows The Score"

He is aware of this antagonism. In his message, he took occasion to re-state his advocacy of these measures emphatically, explain the reasons fully, and brush away some false impressions that their enemies have tried to spread.

He can recall—for he was a member of the Senate then—how the Conservative coalition defeated a similar temporary Unemployment Compensation bill less than a year ago.

This coalition blocked progressive domestic legislation during the war. With the return of peace it is taking on a new lease of life, hoping to exploit war weariness. It is formidable, particularly because most of its leadership comes from within the President's own party from men in powerful key positions. To overcome it will take some personal missionary work in Congress, some laying down-the-law, as well as the rallying of public opinion by the President to bring pressure on Congress.

• • •

WILL the President go that far? The schism with his own Democratic household is going to make it difficult.

If he chooses to fight, he might as well settle down for a long one. For he rubbed sensitive Conservative nerves in many other places than the two already mentioned. For instance, in his advocacy of an average increase in the minimum wage rate of the Fair Labor Standards act from 40 to 65 cents; in his plea for a permanent Fair Employment Practices act to prevent race and religious discrimination in employment that so roils the Southern wing of his party; in his appeal for a Missouri Valley authority to develop that great watershed along the lines of TVA; in his recommendations for more federal assistance for health and medical services; in his urging of adequate appropriations for planning public works, now pitifully insufficient.

Altogether it is a fine progressive program that is worth fighting for. The President can count on large public support.

Religious Film To Be Shown Thursday Night

A religious tall-talking film is to be shown in the Four Square church, Eighth and Ave. Q, Thursday night, Rev. Daisy Wiltbanks, pastor, announced Tuesday.

The picture will portray the Bible story, "The Prodigal Son," as is recorded in the 15th Chapter of Luke. The lives of the characters in this story are re-lived on the screen, with a modern setting, which applies to the Prodigal of today. It is done in beautiful and dramatic story form.

The picture will be shown following a short evangelistic service which begins at 8 p. m.

The public is cordially invited, Rev. Wiltbanks said.

Vain Tojo Takes Whole Blame In His Effort For Place In History

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11. (AP)—Hideko Tojo pointed a pistol at his heart, but he was aiming at history, too.

He wants what he thinks is his rightful place in it—and that is not the forgotten grave of a war criminal.

WHITE

Tojo is many things, but he is also vain. As American plasma kept him alive Tuesday he told someone that he shot himself near the heart because he didn't want to mess up his head.

Tojo coordinated—if he did not actually plan—the start of the war. He had such resounding success that all Japanese acclaimed him a hero.

Japs Also Blame Him

One of the strange things about Japan today is the way many Japanese who are in contact with American correspondents voluntarily name Tojo—this man who carried them to their greatest heights—as their No. 1 war criminal. The main reason, they say, is that he had not—until today—committed suicide to atone for the disgrace he had brought upon the empire.

This smells like the same snivelling we hear from Germans who blame everything on the Nazi party.

It is not necessary to feel sorry for Tojo to realize that he is not alone to blame.

Seek To Shift Guilt

This column has suggested before that certain Japanese groups seem to be working methodically to shift as much war guilt as possible on the military class who did the fighting for them. The Tojo business tends to support that suspicion.

Certainly the military are guilty, but they could not have accumulated their guilt without the support of other Japanese. The extreme measures they have taken in the past have embarrassed the throne and the big business interests in Tokyo, but these same banks and firms (often with imperial household capital behind them) have followed closely in Japan's march of conquest.

Baptist Pastor Speaks At Lions Luncheon

Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church, told Lubbock Lions at their luncheon Tuesday noon in the Hilton hotel that "you can never make this world secure by force . . . you never control man from without, he has to be controlled from within."

"The demand for this hour is big men," Dr. Hereford said. "The individual is becoming more important and this is a great day for the little man but not a day for the man who is little.

"We've been building ships, airships; now we must build fellowships. We've been building houses, now we must begin building homes. . . . If we don't have a better generation of men, we'll have another war. If we become little individuals and selfish again, we'll pull the house in on us . . ."

Dr. Hereford was introduced by Vernice Ford. Out-of-town guests at the luncheon included: Toby Greer of Los Angeles, former Tech grid star who is to coach at Deming N. M.; Bob Lemon of Sulphur Springs, Leonard Gunderson of Memphis, Tenn., and Maj. Pete Chaney. Joe T. Brown and Preston E. Fish were presented credentials as new Lions by Dr. Marshall Harvey.

TO LEAVE FOR JAPAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (AP) Jose P. Laurel, former puppet president of the Philippines, soon will leave Japan for the Philippines "by request of the Philippine government," Domei agency reported today from Tokyo.

Australia is about the area of the United States.

News Briefs

Final state transportation allotment for the 1944-45 term of Lubbock county rural schools was received here this week, Roy Boyd, county superintendent said. The payment was for $1,475.00.

Three teachers are needed in as many Lubbock county rural schools to complete faculties for the fall term, Roy Boyd, superintendent, said Tuesday. Frenship is in need of a boys' coach, Idalou wants a girls' coach who can also teach two English classes and commercial subjects and a seventh grade teacher is needed by the Roosevelt school.

Toby Greer, who has been employed in war production work in Los Angeles the last four years, is in Lubbock visiting his brother-in-law, Roy Boyd of 2115 Tenth. Gree, who formerly was coach in the Lovington, N. M., and Monahans school, has been employed as coach at Deming, N. M.

Pvt. Robert C. Coffey, son of J. L. Coffey of Melrose, N. M., has been liberated from a Japanese prison camp and is now in a hospital in Calcutta, India, relatives here and in Crosbyton have been informed. He was taken prisoner in the fall of Java. A cousin, Pvt. Kenneth Coffey of Gila, N. M., taken prisoner by the Japanese in the Philippines, died when a Japanese prison ship was sunk last October.

State Orders Check On Driving Licenses

AUSTIN, Sept. 11 (U.P.)—Do not be surprised if the next highway patrolman you meet asks to see your driving license.

A check-up on drivers has been ordered by Director Homer Garrison of the state safety department as a step to reduce the number of traffic accidents. Garrison estimated that unlicensed drivers are figuring in more than their proportionate share of the accidents.

Garrison said the outlook is for a traffic toll of 10 lives a day with the return to general driving. He said great care will be needed to keep it that low.

Funds Already Sought From Newly-Created State Commission

AUSTIN, Sept. 11. (U.P.)—Texas' newly-created state aeronautics commission already has an application for funds, though it has none to distribute.

Paul M. Alexander, director of the aernautics department and airport manager of the Anahuac public schools, made the application.

Alexander said qualified students were allowed flying instruction up to eight hours a day in the school's plane.

However, because he is trying to teach school and still run the airport, Alexander said he didn't have time to keep the facilities in proper condition. He asked the commission to file Anahuac school's request for improvement funds.

He said the field was midway between Houston and Beaumont and would make a fine emergency port.

More Texans Freed From Japanese Camps

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 11 (AP)—American prisoners of war being released from Toyama camp No. 7, in the Nagoya district of Japan included:

Ratings For Overseas Service Are Revamped

FORT WORTH, Sept. 11 (AP)—New instructions as to adjusted service rating scores and age limits will be applied to all future shipments of enlisted men to overseas duty from the Army Air Forces training command, Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount, commanding general announced today.

For overseas duty, enlisted men must be at least 18 years of age with at least 17 weeks of training; be under 34 years of age; have an adjusted service rating score of less than 45.

The only complete exceptions are all regular Army volunteers, Yount said.
