NATION-WIDE BOOZE RING FOUND

RAIL STRIKE THREATENS TEXAS LINE

T. & P. OFFICERS REFUSE TO TAKE MEN'S DECISION

THIRTY-EIGHT MEMBERS OF BOARD TURN DOWN NEW PROPOSITION

(By the Associated Press)
DALLAS, Feb. 20.—The decision of the railroad labor board announced in Chicago today with regard to the pending walkout of 2,000 firemen, engineers and trainmen on the T. & P. railroad, was rejected unanimously today by the general committee of 38 officers of the railroad's employes meeting here.

The three brotherhoods have consistently maintained that all freight trains of the Missouri-Pacific operating over Texas and Pacific between Alexandria and New Orleans shall be manned by Texas and Pacific crews.

Strike Is Growing
The conferences during the last week between labor officials and rail executives of the road's general offices here will be continued independent of the labor board decision, it was announced. Negotiations thus far have proved fruitless and the strike is declared to be growing.

The committee of 38 officers of railroad employes and men, meeting here today, unanimously rejected the decision of the railroad labor board, a joint statement, given out by three high officials of the three national brotherhoods, declared.

Decision Complicated
"The decision is complicated, unworkable and in our opinion is the most potent argument yet advanced for the abolition of the board."

To attempt to apply the decision would involve intermingling of the seniority of our men on both the Missouri Pacific and the Texas and Pacific to an extent that these organizations, and we believe that the two railroads themselves, cannot tolerate."

Men Make Statements
The statement was issued by S. R. Harvey, Kansas City, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; R. L. Erlington, Cleveland, Grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; and Fred W. Lewis, Cleveland, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen.

Operating heads of the Texas and Pacific today refused to discuss either the decision of the labor board or the progress of negotiations.

Stage Is Set For Big Invasion Of Littlefield's West Texas Chamber Of Commerce Convention Monday

Wife Welcomes Hero

MRS. GEORGE FRIED, escorted by Admiral Plunkett, greets her hero husband, Captain of the steamship President Roosevelt, as he disembarks in New York from the European voyage on which it rescued the crew of the Antiope, a British steamer. The Antiope rescue, which took place in mid-ocean, is the greatest sea-thriller of recent times and the American crew of the President Roosevelt, has been honored and feted ever since the return of the boat. Many tales of heroism and unselfishness on the high seas have been told concerning the incident.

"All aboard for Littlefield!" That will be the cry here tomorrow morning when between fifty and seventy five carloads of Lubbock boosters, bolstered by the Tech and high school bands, swing off for the district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Officials of the Lubbock Chamber said late last night that "practically every business man in Lubbock wants to make the trip" and with many problems of importance to Lubbock and the surrounding territory coming up before the convention that there is certain to be a great crowd make the jaunt.

Committees from the board of City Development, the Retail Merchants Association and the Junior Chamber of Commerce met yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce to discuss final plans for securing a big delegation to attend the district West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting at Littlefield Monday.

Rix Heads Committee

Jed A. Rix, at the head of the committee gave them a few of the outstanding reasons why Lubbock should have the biggest delegation at Littlefield of any town represented. Lubbock is Littlefield's nearest neighbor, friendship has developed between these two cities which has helped Lubbock, materially and because of the cooperation we have always received from Littlefield, Lubbock urges it to Littlefield to go up and help make the district meeting the biggest success that has ever been recorded in West Texas, Rix stated.

To Secure Ten Cars Each

Each of the committees pledged their hearty support to the drive and promised that they would secure ten cars each to make the trip and to carry a part of the Band boys of the High School Band and the Tech Band.

The delegation will meet at the city hall Monday morning at eight o'clock and will go in a body to Littlefield where, with the assistance of the two bands, they will make more noise than all the rest of West Texas combined.

The Shaw-Earnest Mercantile Company, located on the main street, has been selected as headquarters for the delegation following a special trip here by Gus M. Shaw, Friday, when he tendered the Lubbock delegation a special invitation to use his store where every convenience and comfort will be found.

75 To 100 Autos Expected

From seventy-five to one hundred automobiles are expected to be lined up when the automobile caravan heads northwest Monday morning for Littlefield. The two bands will hit up a lively tune when the city is first reached and Lubbock will start the day off right by an appropriate parade to let Littlefield know that Lubbock is with her, and to let the West know.

Congressmen May Sample Beer

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 20. (AP)—That congressmen may determine for themselves whether beer is intoxicating, the chief of the Schlitz Brewing Company has sent an offer to Representative John Hill, of Maryland, to supply each member of congress with a case of the brew before de-alcoholization is accomplished.

The offer was made in a telegram to Hill, who declared in a debate recently with Representative Blanton, of Texas, that the prohibition beer was not intoxicating in fact.

If permission to supply the beer is given, the brewery is ready to ship a case of real beer to each member of the congress, to test it.

MOTHER JAILED FOR POISONING

Husband And Child Die Under Peculiar Circumstances; Third Baby Is Sick

(By the Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20.—Charged with administering poison to her five year old daughter, while the bodies of her husband and two other children who died within a period of eleven months, are to be exhumed, Mrs. Lawrence Bussey, 23, was being held in jail here tonight without bond. Mrs. Bussey maintained an attitude of defiance. She claims all the deaths in her family resulted from natural causes.

Child May Die

Physicians said tonight that Verda Bussey, the defendant's living child, would probably die within twenty-four hours. Physicians and county officers reported that the child told them before entering into a state of coma, that her mother had forced her to eat a slice of bread with soap spread upon it.

Mrs. Bussey married when 16 years old. Her husband was a New Orleans fireman. Investigation today revealed that he carried insurance totalling $3,632 at the time of his death. Clarence, three years died December 25, 1925 and Esther six months, died January 1, 1925.

When exhumed tomorrow by Parish officials, the bodies of Bussey and his two children will be examined for traces of poison.

Coolidge Stays In Bed With Bad Cold

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—President Coolidge remained in bed again today, hoping to shake off the cold which has been bothering him. Assurance was given him at the White House, however, that his condition was improving and that he would be able to keep his engagement to speak here Monday night before the Department of Superintendence of the national education association.

ABANDONED CHILD SAN ANGELOAN IS GIVEN ESTEP LOCATED SAFE

Final action in connection with the new born baby that was found on the morning of February 1, on the doorstep of the Lattie Rankin home here was taken late Friday afternoon when District Judge, Clark M. Mellican officially awarded the child to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Estep, in whose custody it has been since the afternoon of the day it was found almost frozen to death in the chilly air of the early morning hours.

The action followed filing of a petition by Mr. Estep with the court setting out that he was willing and able in every respect to care for and nurture the infant in a Christian home, and the simultaneous filing of an affidavit by County Attorney, Owen W. McWhorter, signed by a local physician, that the parents of the child were unknown, and that it had been abandoned.

The child was discovered in the early morning hours of February 1, by school children, who in passing heard faint cries from the strange looking bundle on the concrete porch, following which neighbors were advised, a physician called, and an examination revealed that the child was normal in every respect, and was very little the worse for its exposure. It has been in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Estep since that time, and is now doing fine.

Texas Moonshiners, In Shadow Of Capitol On The Alert As Officers Search Country

(By the Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Feb. 20.—Sleepless nights are spent by the moonshiners now back in the rough hill country of Travis County. Sentinels stand watch over the chaparral, mesquite and cedar covered jagged range South of the winding Colorado River, ever alert for threatening raids of "prohibition officers."

"There on those hills where the juice of corn and fruit is slowly made into drinks for the city fellow," the dome of the state capitol can be seen.

Claws Being Formed
Moonshiners, who combine whiskey making with charcoal burning and cedar cutting, as means of livelihood, are drawing into clans of their own. Each fearing that his neighbor has betrayed him, the friendly nods have been replaced by suspicious looks and cautious movements. Wolf guns have been placed on trails to the stills, and the rifles of these backwoodsmen stand handy to the doors of their crude homes.

Shots Are Exchanged
Reports of exchanges of shots have reached the city following a visit to the rough section by prohibition agent C. E. Brent, who today captured one still and confiscated a large quantity of liquor and arrested one man.

Brent is the prohibition officer, who entered the University of Texas and uncovered sources of liquor which resulted in arrests of a score of persons.

U. S. GOVERNMENT INQUIRY STARTS IN MANY CITIES

FROM 20 TO 200 PEOPLE BELIEVED IMPLICATED IN CONSPIRACY

(By the Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Feb. 20.—More than two weeks of federal grand jury investigations here into an alleged nation-wide conspiracy to violate the eighteenth amendment have served to show how extensive were the operations of the supposed "ring" but has not brought in sight the end of the inquiry.

As questioning of witnesses goes on from day to day new links are forged in the chain of evidence that now reaches from San Diego to Providence and links up "ring" operations in New York, Boston, Atlantic City, Baltimore, Newark, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland, Saint Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and other cities.

Other Cases Coming
Before many days, District Attorney A. E. Beers hopes to have indicted from 20 to 200 persons.

While the grand jury is in recess until Tuesday, Mr. Beers is at work on the indictments, having gone into seclusion for that purpose. When the grand jury returns it is satisfied to hold night sessions for the first time in the history of Cleveland's federal court.

Treasury Department agents here have been sent from Washington to hunt for bootleggers in Philadelphia and New York.

With the apprehension of three witnesses, and suspects, new evidence is expected in the Eastern subdistrict of the alleged "ring."

The bringing in of the witnesses and suspects and indefinite extension of the investigation since each person that goes into the grand jury implicates more people and reveals new angles.

Among those definitely involved are internal revenue officers, prominent professional and business men, health and employees of industrial alcohol companies, railroad employes, automobile transfer men, customers, truck drivers, former policemen and bootleggers already sentenced in other cases.

Lubbock's Music Festival Praised By New York Man

No other city of its size in the State of Texas has ever considered possible of realization a musical festival program so ambitious as that announced by the South Plains Music Teachers' Association for the season of 1926, according to Philip Van Loan, manager of the American Concert Artists Bureau, of New York City.

The musical festival referred to by the manager of the biggest artists bureaus in the United States is the third annual South Plains Music Festival which will be held in Lubbock March 24, 25, 26, and 27 under the auspices of the South Plains Music Teachers' Association.

"We are to have an All-American program," Miss Mary Dunn president of the organization stated recently, "and have to present: James Stanley, America's foremost Bass-Baritone, Madame Dorothy Welton, one of America's greatest dramatic sopranos, Edwin Hughes, universally recognized as America's greatest pianist, and Max Pollokoff, America's and one of the world's greatest violinists, in addition to the third annual South Plains Music Teachers' Association Musical Contest."

The musical contest in which 250 contestants from all points over the South Plains including twenty counties were entered last year is expected to be a much bigger success with more contestants this year according to Miss Dunn.

The South Plains Music Teachers' Association are again bringing one of the best musical programs to Lubbock that can be supported by Lubbock and surrounding trade territory, according to Miss Dunn and the association is going to count on the business men and music lovers of Lubbock for the same hearty support they have received during the past two years. This festival will bring the best class of citizens from every town on the South Plains and will add to the already established prestige of Lubbock for being the center of this section, from every standpoint.

The musical contest will be conducted morning and afternoon during the four day festival and will be capped by the announcement of winners of the last night when all the winners will render the winning selection again. The first three nights of the festival will be used by the artists of national fame who have been secured.

A local chorus, a selection from "Elijah" under the direction of Professor W. R. Waggoner, head of the music department of the Texas Technological College, in which Madame Welton, Madame Dorothy Welton and James Stanley, baritone, will do the solo work will be a feature of the program the first night, in addition to a joint recital of Madame Welton and James Stanley.

Edwin Hughes, pianist of international reputation, who has won for himself a firm place in American musical life since his return from the continent where he studied under the leading musicians will appear the second night of the festival.

Max Pollokoff, one of the greatest violinists in America will render a program for the third night of the festival. Pollokoff a young man has been a pupil of Leopold Auer for years has studied piano and ensemble with Carl Herrman and harmony and composition with Prof. Cornelius Rybner.

The fourth and last night will see the best musical talent of the South Plains gathered to entertain music lovers of the South Plains. E. Clyde Whitlock of Fort Worth has been secured as general critic for the festival. Special judges for the various contests have not been announced.

Approximately 2,500 South Plains people attended the Spring Festival last year but this number must be doubled this year in order that the management meet the expenses of the festival, according to Miss Dunn.

The South Plains Music Teachers' Association are to bring a program here this spring in keeping with the needs of this section believing that the musical life of this section has advanced during the past year, in keeping with the agricultural, industrial, commercial and social progress here.

2,000 PERSONS IN LUBBOCK ARE NOT MEMBERS OF ANY CHURCH, IS DISCOVERED BY CANVAS SUNDAY

With approximately 10,000 cards turned in in the religious census taken of Lubbock last Sunday, it was found that there are about 2,000 persons in the city who are members of no church and do not have any church preferences. There are about 25 Christian faiths represented; the Methodists and Baptists received about an equal number of cards and there were about 700 homes where no one was found, according to the census.

The Church of Christ has the third largest membership and the First Presbyterian and First Christian have about an equal number and the Cumberland Presbyterian church stands next in size.

Many Faiths Represented

Several faiths are represented by only one family in the city, according to the cards, and others were represented by only a few families. Among the denominations designated on the cards were Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran, Congregational, Holiness, Pentecostal, Holiness, Apostolic, Church of God, Nazarine, Friendly Baptist, B. M. A. Baptist, Primitive Baptist, Calvary Presbyterian, Seventh Day Adventist, Methodist, Baptist, Christian, Church of Christ, Cumberland Presbyterian, Episcopal, Catholic, and society of Friends.

Names Not On Rolls

Several of the churches reported that individuals turned in cards saying they were members of local churches when their names are not on the church rolls and have never been on them. Sometimes the pastors or church secretaries fail to record names, according to one of the secretaries, and sometimes people forget where their membership is.

There were very few who said they did not know where their church membership was.

Visits will be made to the homes where no one was found during the last census by the young people of the city churches, according to L. E. Payne, secretary of the First Baptist Church.

Painting By French Soldier Being Shown

Considerable interest is being shown in the picture, "Never Alone," which is being shown at the Rix Undertaking company by the Lubbock Music club. This painting will be here about three weeks.

The picture was painted by a French soldier in 1914, Herbert De Moreau, and the subject of the picture is a dying soldier on the battlefield just at sunset. Christ is appearing through the smoke. The artist was killed in the battle of Chateau Thierry.

This picture belongs to the private collection of Paul Fontaine and is valued at $75,000, although it is not for sale. Many of the school children of the city are seeing the picture.

Mrs. Trent Hostess To Music Teachers

Mrs. Dana Harmon Trent was hostess to the Lubbock Music Teachers at her home on Broadway Monday evening. Plans for the spring musical festival were discussed and it was decided that all church choirs of the city will be urged to enter into the festival. Games were played during the evening and a special dance was given by Miss Edabeth Harmon Trent after which refreshments of salad in orange cups, olives, sandwiches, coffee and ice cream and cake were served. Those who were present were Mrs. J. L. Ratliff, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Scoggins, Mrs. Mimmie L. Neal, Miss Lucy Smith, Miss Daley Baskin, Miss Mary Dunn, Miss Ruth Dunn, Miss Annie Owens and Mrs. Ermine Howard.

May Plant In April

Any time after the first or second week of April is a safe time to plant these flowers, provided they are protected, he said. Otherwise, it is not safe to plant until after the first of May. The average date in Lubbock for the last freeze is April 10, although it has been known to freeze here as late as May 5.

Roses are always popular as yard flowers and can be used effectively provided care is used in selecting them, Mr. Mahoney said. Bulbous flowers, chiefly hydrangeas and dahlias, are successfully grown out doors in this vicinity and they make lovely flowers. Beds of various varieties of these bulbs are often successful through arrangements according to colors.

Protect The Flowers

All of the flowers demand protection from the strong winds, and, if they are expected to bloom early, need protection from the cold. The late frosts and hard winds often blight the flowers in the spring.

Lawns are usually more attractive if they are not cluttered up with flowers, trees or shrubs. However, the flowering shrubs may be effectively placed against the base of the house, at the back of the lawn and in beds at the back of the lot. Sometimes hedges are used as division hedges between property, although it is usually more effective for all of the lawn on a block to be even, with no divisions, Mr. Mahoney explained.

Of course, each lawn must express individuality and should correspond with the house in order to be most beautiful, he said.

Need Pedigree Seed

If uniformly is demanded in floriculture, pedigree seed should be used, Mr. Mahoney said. These are not particularly expensive but they may be had from reliable seed houses. Directions for planting usually accompany the seed and if they are watered enough, they usually grow well.

There are several varieties of ivy that should grow successfully here. The Boston ivy, although of slow growth, seems adapted to this vicinity, and the Arizona Cypress is grown successfully. Among the ever greens are the red cedar which is inexpensive and easy to transplant, and the arbutus. It is not usually well to have a hedge at the front of the lawn, although this is sometimes used successfully, Mr. Mahoney said.

Avoid Spring Blooming Roses

In choosing roses, the spring bloomers should be avoided because they flower only once in the year and that is early in the spring, he said. In this vicinity the high winds and frozes will ruin these early flowers. With the ever-blooming roses, flowers may be had until November in some instances, he explained. The hardy roses should be selected and it is usually more desirable to plant them on the East side of a structure to give them protection. Among the "roses" best adapted for Lubbock are the American Beauty, the White American Beauty, the Hugh Dixon, a brilliant scarlet; the Genevieve Clark, an intense scarlet, the J. L. Mock, a pink tea rose which is not as hardy as some of the others and therefore requires more protection; and the Lady Hillington, a yellow rose. Among the climbers, the American Pillar, a pink rose, is ever-blooming variety.

Plant Roses Now

Roses may be planted at this season of the year but they likely will be more successful if the beds are prepared in the fall. The fertilizer should not be added when the plant is put in the ground as it gives off heat and may cause the plant to rot before it takes root, he said. The fertilizer cannot do the plant any good until it has had time to decompose. Therefore, it is necessary to put it in the soil several months before the flowers. "Anything will grow in the soil at Lubbock, as rich as it is, excepting for a few places where it is too rocky, and there is no reason why this town might not have as pretty grounds around the homes as are found anywhere, Mr. Mahoney concluded.

the vanishing point, wheat prices here took an energetic upward swing today. Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1/2 to 2c net higher. May (new) 1.39 to 1.39 1/4, and July 1.48 1/4 to 1.48 7/8 with corn showing quarter cent to 1/2 advance, oats unchanged to 1-3c up, and provisions varying from five cents decline to a rise of 15c.

With total receipts of corn at the principal markets this season reports as a nearly 50 percent than in other years having a similarly sized crop, the corn market today, and oats as well, moved up grade. Moist weather and indications this distressed selling of corn had about reached an end were an indication to friends to higher prices.

Cotton Markets

NEW YORK COTTON

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Continued evening up, near month commitments featured the cotton market today, but the demand for March was supplied at a premium of 56 to 57 points over May. After selling up to 20.32c, March closed at 20.25c. The general market closed barely steady, net 2 points higher to 3 points lower.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By The Associated Press) NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20.—The cotton market today showed more activity than has been the rule during the current week, due to the fact that the short session was the last before a double holiday as well as the last opportunity to liquidate the March position before the first notice day for that month which will be Tuesday. After easing off four to nine points in the pointing Liverpool cables. Offerings were light. Demand for near months shorts was accompanied by reports that the stocks of certificated cotton here had been drawn down to slightly less than 14,000 bales with further withdrawal of 1,000 bales expected today. Spot house brokers again were sellers of March against purchases of May at the prevailing preference and the demand from March shorts was gradually supplied but the strength of the near position had a sympathetic influence on the general list.

May sold up to 19.75c and October to 19.22c, net advances of 3 to 6 points in the forenoon. The market then eased under releasing for over the holiday. There also was probably some selling in late trading in reports of an easier tone New Orleans. May sold off to 19.65c, and October to 18.16c, the market closing at the low price of the day on most positions.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 129,000 bales against 117,000 last year. All American will be closed on Monday. Tuesday is the first notice day in the local market. There were rumors today that some cotton was being shipped here for delivery next month, one report being that five thousand bales were definitely expected.

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET REPORT

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Lack of a definite trend again characterized today's stock market, which was featured by another bullish demonstration in American Can which carried that issue to $44 1/2, a new record high, and sixty nine points above the low price of this year. Realizing sides forced the stock back to 23 1/2 at the close.

Irregular fluctuations in the main body reflected to a large extent the usual pre-holiday readjustment of speculative accounts. The announcement that the senate and house conferees had agreed upon a tax bill apparently was without influence on the price movement.

Bear traders continued to seek out weak spots, and succeeded in forcing moderate recessions in some of the foods, chemicals and ordinarily inactive specialties.

American Snuff broke over five points to 145 in further reflection of the poor 1925 earnings reported and net declines of two to five points were recorded by American Locomotive, California Packing Case, Threshing Machine, A. and B. Dupont, Fox Film, General Electric, South Portorican sugar.

Meanwhile the bullish operations took place in a few industrials and specialties whose earnings show signs of improvement. Central Leather preferred, Columbia Foundation Company, International Harvester, Savage Arms and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe all closed two to four points higher.

Bulls displayed a firm undertone. Atlantic Coast Line was run up eight points to 238 on a small turnover and Erie common second preferred and Pere Marquette advanced a point or two.

Further heaviness of French francs which duplicated the year's low and a jump of nearly fifty points in the Norwegian krone featured the foreign exchange. Demand sterling steady at 4.86 and most of the other European rates showed only nominal changes.

DAY GOODS REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—Wholesale dry goods houses reported a steady trade in small lots this week. But February has not proved so good as January in several centers thus far. Primary cotton goods in the gray cloth division have been quiet with the best business passing on sheetings. Printed goods in silks and cottons are active. Owing to the sympathy of Japanese exchanges, prices for raw silk have held steady here while weakening abroad. Burtraps were slightly steady at Calcutta and firm here. Retail trade has been curtailed this week by storms over a wide area.

Livestock Prices

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 20. (AP)—Very small receipts were in vogue in all branches of the Livestock market here today. Cattle receipts were posted at 200 grown cattle and 100 calves. The trading was called nominal. Steady trading developed in the hog division, with receipts around 200 head. The sheep market was nominal with receipts posted at 200 head.

Lubbock Does Enjoy the Advantages of Modern Labor Saving Devices to a Great Degree

The wood has gone out about the general use of Electric Stoves in Lubbock homes. It is a fact that Lubbock wives employ this modern method of cooking to a most unusual and successful degree. Too, they are being served by electric heaters, washing machines and dozen of equally nice and useful devices made possible by the power and heat of the electric current.

This general usage of labor-saving appliances and modern methods of homekeeping, naturally raises the standard of living in the average home of Lubbock over that of other cities not employing them to the extent Lubbock people do.

Not only the enjoyment of a very low rate of cost for electric current made or created the demand and sales of such appliances—but the type of service rendered to these homes by THE ELECTRIC CURRENT—made the use of electrical appliances safe—and dependable.

On the basis of rendering to every home and business house a WONDERFULLY DEPENDENT SOURCE of electric current—this Company bids for the attention, goodwill and patronage of progressive people of this vicinity.

If we can render you a BETTER service at no higher cost—then that service is LOWER—and we are only wanting you who are not our patrons to ask those who are about the type of service we render. They will gladly tell you and in so doing may render you a service that will result in much added satisfaction to the fuller use of electric current in your homes.

Demonstrations Over 10-Year Period Show Hairy Peruvian Alfalfa May Be Grown Successfully In South Texas

(By The Associated Press) SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 20. — Demonstrations through a period of ten years have shown the famous Hairy Peruvian Alfalfa can be grown successfully in South Texas, and Prof. Fred W. Mally, an authority on agriculture, believes they have proved that this variety is the best for developing the alfalfa possibilities of the territory. This alfalfa, introduced in this country 20 years ago by the United States Department of Agriculture as a variety which might succeed better than all other known varieties in the dry, acid districts where crops were grown under irrigation has peculiar super-qualities over other alfalfas for the section adjacent to San Antonio and south to the Mexican border.

These Prof. Mally enumerated as "Hairy Peruvian alfalfa has the ability to continue growth in the fall at a much lower soil temperature than the other well known varieties. For that reason it often happens that the last cutting in the fall is much heavier than for even the best of the season's cuttings for other varieties. It also often happens that an entire additional cutting is obtained from this variety during the late fall or early winter season.

"In spring this variety begins growing vigorously while the soil temperatures still are so low that other well known varieties do not start vegetating. For that reason the first cutting of Hairy Peruvian in spring is always much heavier per acre than is possible with other well known varieties. Hairy Peruvian has consistently yielded a greater tonnage per acre a year than any other variety tested in south Texas.

"The fact that Hairy Peruvian is inclined to produce one of its heaviest crops during the year with the first cutting in the spring as well as the last one in the fall, is a material advantage, because during both of these seasons—the opening and closing—the sale of the crop is on a higher price level than during mid-season.

"Hairy Peruvian also has another special quality in relation to drought resistance. On account of its great endurance of heat as well as tolerating a limited amount of moisture without fatal results, it has been possible to extend the culture of this variety to rich fertile lands without irrigation, where the rainfall averages 25 to 30 inches annually. The tonnage produced as compared to irrigation, however, per acre a year, of course, is much reduced. This variety has demonstrated that it is extremely drought resistant and except under greatest extremes of drouth may be expected to live through and make a good showing whenever ample rainfall occurs."

The first region where commercial acreages of Hairy Peruvian were sown was on the Yuma, Arizona, projects. About the time this variety's value has become fairly well determined there, Professor Mally, who formerly was a member of the faculty of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, was sent to Arizona and California by the Laredo chamber of commerce to study alfalfa culture. After his field studies he arranged to get the true type seed for farm demonstration work in Webb county, where he was county agricultural agent. From the demonstrations he supervised in Webb county, the culture of this variety quickly spread through the irrigated districts of adjoining counties.

"It has taken approximately 10 years for these special qualifications of Hairy Peruvian to become generally well known among the stockmen and farmers of south Texas," Professor Mally said. "At this time, however, there is a general tendency to increase greatly the acreage devoted to alfalfa culture in south Texas. The new impetus given this crop began with about 55 farmers and demonstrators in the immediate vicinity of San Antonio. Adjoining counties have also undertaken a number of important acreage demonstrations."

Professor Mally holds the positions of Bexar county agriculture agent and secretary of agriculture of the San Antonio chamber of commerce.

Jury Commission Makes Up List For April Court Term

The Lubbock county Jury Commission, appointed here Thursday by District Judge Clark M. Mullican, adjourned Saturday afternoon after a two day session at which jurors for the regular April term of District court were selected. The Commission is composed of J. O. Jones, of Lubbock; Clark Rush, of Idalou; and H. T. McCurdy of Slaton. Five lists of petit jurors, one for each week of court, and a grand jury list were selected by the Commission. The lists will be opened March 5, just one month before court convenes, and those selected will be summoned for service. The April term of court, which is a five weeks term, is to convene here April 5.

MINTER-GAMEL STORE WILL HAVE SECOND BIRTHDAY PARTY MONDAY AFTERNOON FROM THREE TO FIVE

VERY SATISFACTORY BUSINESS BEING BUILT BY FIRM IN LUBBOCK, MANAGER J. W. GAMEL SAYS AFTER TWO YEARS OF BUSINESS HERE

The Minter-Gamel Dry Goods company of this city will tomorrow launch into its third year of retail business in the city of Lubbock and an informal reception has been planned for Monday afternoon, between the hours of three and five, Manager J. W. Gamel, told the Daily Journal yesterday. "There will be nothing fancy about the reception," Mr. Gamel said. "We merely want our friends to come in and look over our offerings." There will be flowers for the ladies and cigars for the men, he said, and music from one of the orchestras of the city will enliven the occasion.

The Minter-Gamel company is owned jointly by Mr. Gamel, of Lubbock, and Messrs. George L. and W. A. Minter, of Abilene. Mr. Gamel, who has been thirty-one years in the dry goods business, acts as general manager of the store here and the company also operates a similar high-class establishment in Abilene. Both Messrs. Minter who are well known throughout West Texas business circles, are expected here tomorrow to attend the store's second birthday party. These men have operated the Minter Dry Goods company in Abilene for the past twenty-five years, Mr. Gamel says.

Fourteen persons make up the payroll of the Minter-Gamel company here and while Mr. Gamel says the business of the establishment has not been greatly larger during the past year than it was for the first year the store is continually building a larger clientele and prospects at this time are much brighter than they were last year, due to the better condition of the soil and the general business outlook.

The store specializes on standard lines of merchandise in all of its departments and especially in the shoe department has a great gain been shown. Mr. Gamel recently returned from a tour of the eastern markets and he reports that he has purchased an entirely new line of merchandise of a class which he is sure will please the buying public here.

Prior to coming here Mr. Gamel spent eight months with the Minter company in Abilene and before that time was in business in Roswell, New Mexico, for a period of twenty years. For twelve years he was connected with the Joyce-Fruit Dry Goods company and after that was proprietor of Gamel's Ready-to-Wear store, specializing in ladies clothing.

The store here, which operates along the lines of the slogan "We Do What We Say We Do," does a cash business only and, with its owners "sold on Lubbock and Lubbock's future," is building up a very satisfactory business. It is located at 1107-1109 Broadway.

Ever since coming here Mr. Gamel has taken an active part in the civic circles of the city and has just recently closed a very successful term as president of the Lubbock Retail Merchant association. He is still serving as a director of that organization and is also a director of the Kiwanis club. Prior to the change in the chamber of commerce to a Board of City Development Mr. Gamel also served the organization in the capacity of a director.

Say U. S. Must Free Europe From Power Of Italian Leader

BERLIN, Feb. 20. (AP)—"Washington must free Europe from Mussolini," declares Vorwaerts, the socialist organ, today, in commenting on news from the United States of opposition in Germany to the debt funding agreement concluded by Count Volpi and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

"In the interests of European democracy, it must be hoped that the opposition against ratification of the agreement will see that the cabinet will remember the great traditions of the country," says Vorwaerts. Vorwaerts asserts that Mussolini now plays a role in Europe similar to that of the Kaiser before the war, and makes the charge that his ruthless oppression of all opposition dates from "the diplomatic triumph over Secretary Mellon."

Fitch, regional executive of the Boy Scouts of America whose territory embraces Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, is to be on the South Plains for an educational speaking tour on scouting February 24 to 27 inclusive, through the urgent invitation of L. S. Harkey, Area Commissioner and K. N. Clapp, vice president of the South Plains Area Council, who attended the regional executive meeting in Dallas the past week.

Mr. Fitch is recognized as one of the most forceful speakers ever to visit the South Plains, and his fifteen years experience in boys' work, the most has been spent in Scout endeavor, places him in position to disclose much information of interest to Scout followers.

The following schedule has been arranged through local scout headquarters, with surrounding towns:

Lubbock, Wednesday noon a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis club. To be held in the basement of the Leader building.

At Tahoka, W. R. Luce, J. E. Nance, Rev. Ben Shepherd, W. E. Smith and Rev. Eldridge are arranging for a mass meeting at the District Court room for Wednesday night, Feb. 24th.

The committee composed of Ben T. Brown, C. E. Kelly, Rev. Wood Parker and Ben S. Cain of O'Donnell are arranging to have all stores close at eleven o'clock and have the entire town meet in the picture show and hear Mr. Fitch's address, also arranging for a luncheon to follow the public meeting.

At Lamesa, Mrs. S. O'Neal, Dr. J. C. Loveless, J. D. Dyer, T. Windsor, and Judge V. O. Key met and are making plans to have the entire citizenship at the high school auditorium Thursday night, Feb. 25th, immediately following a dinner given by the local council.

Friday noon the Slaton Rotary club with Post Rotary club as visitors lead by Marshall Mason, C. C. Day and Mr. Greenfield, also some of Southland's business men, will give entire program to Mr. Fitch at their regular weekly luncheon. The party will go from Slaton to Crosbyton Friday night, to Ballis 10 a. m. Saturday, to Lorenzo and Idalou Saturday p. m. finishing the tour Sunday morning by addressing a joint meeting of Sagan, Amherst, Shallowater and Littlefield, at Littlefield. It is hoped by the South Plains officials to perfect this last part of the program at Littlefield, because troops have been organized recently at Littlefield and Sudan, and some preparatory work done at Shallowater and Amherst.

Plea For At Least 100 Cars For Littlefield Trip Made By Jed A. Rix, In Charge Of Arrangements

Only fifty-five cars, have been pledged up to late Saturday night to make the trip to Littlefield Monday to attend the district meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, according to Jed A. Rix, head of the transportation committee.

"We should have at least a hundred cars," Mr. Rix stated late Saturday. "If Lubbock is to hold to her established record of being a live town and one hundred per cent strong for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce."

The road between Littlefield and Lubbock is in perfect condition at this time and it is only about thirty-eight miles up there. There is no reason why a hundred cars should not make the trip. This number of cars is to be needed to carry the members of the High School and Tech Bands and the Tech faculty and students who have been invited and the Lubbock business men who must make the trip to insure a true representation from Lubbock, according to Mr. Rix.

The following men have promised to take their cars and go:

O. E. Sears, Plains Motor Co., Lubbock Insurance Agency, Lubbock The Co., Sheppard Smith Drug Co., A. V. Weaver, J. A. McClevey, F. W. Groce, W. B. Thorp, I. E. Barr, B. H. Jones, Bell Ice Cream Co., Frank Jones, Elmer Conley, G. A. Gunn, H. L. Allen, E. B. Green, E. L. Klett, Pink L. Par-

JOE INMAN HELD IN JAIL HERE AFTER PLANS TO RETURN HIM TO OKLAHOMA PEN FRUSTRATED FRIDAY

Joe Inman, notorious Oklahoma character, who left here shortly before noon Friday in the custody of two local officers and two men from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of Oklahoma, is now banking in the sunlight of West Texas and the care of Texas officers following frustration of an effort of Sheriff H. L. Johnston and Chief of Police T. E. May to lodge him behind the bars in the Oklahoma penitentiary at McAlester.

The party was turned back toward Lubbock after they stopped at Floydada Friday at noon for lunch, and the entire affair was characterized by Sheriff Johnston as a frame-up in which he had been double-crossed by Sooner State authorities whom he considered as his friends. So strange a turn did affairs take at this point, and so strong did the Sheriff believe that all was not fair sailing ahead that he absolutely refused to proceed further toward Oklahoma, and gave the Sooner State authorities who were accompanying the party their choice of coming back to Lubbock and catching a train out or taking a train out of Floydada.

The latter route was chosen by them.

Believed Foul Play in Store

He expressed the belief Saturday that foul play was in store for the party had they proceeded, and although he had no definite proof of his assertion, he said that he believed the party would have been met as soon as they crossed the Oklahoma line with a proposition of choice—take a certain amount for the prisoner, or take chances on his life in protecting him.

Having successfully slipped away from two of the four Oklahoma officers who came here for the prisoner, or at least thinking they had done so when they left Lubbock, they were met by the same two officers, one of whom was said to have been in Austin seeking requisition papers for the prisoner, while taking lunch in Floydada, and so tense did the situation grow that all hands were either on hips or ready to draw on a second's notice.

The Sheriff repeated the story of the incident as follows:

The two men came into the cafe at Floydada as the party of five were seated at a table, appeared surprised that Chief of Police May was in the party, and passed on by to a lunch counter toward the rear. Here the Sheriff was met with the exclamation from Inman of "I told you so" referring to his former charges that he would not reach home alive, and asked "are you going to do what you said you would," which referred to the Sheriff's promise that he would see the prisoner was given justice.

Intruders Break Away

The latter was answered in the affirmative by the Sheriff as he began to negotiate himself into a position for action with the remark that the prisoner would be given a gun if such became necessary for his protection. At this point one member of the party with the prisoner made his way to the intruders and imparted the information regarding delivery of a gun to Inman, following which the two broke for their car at the front of the building, and disappeared in a cloud of dust, leaving the other two Oklahomans behind. It is presumed that the two former were soon in Oklahoma, and that the other two, who were left at Floydada when Inman was brought back here, later caught a train out of Floydada for the Sooner State.

In defense of Luther Bishop, one member of the Oklahoma corps who came here, Mr. Johnston said he believed Bishop was absolutely innocent of all discrepancies in the plans.

Information regarding the affair was wired by Sheriff Johnston to the Governors of Texas and Oklahoma and to the Adjutant General's department of both states, Saturday, but no information in connection with the case had been received here late today. Inman will be held in the county jail here until the case is threshed out, Mr. Johnston said.

Selections were made from the collection of the Grand Central Art Galleries of New York which held what was regarded as a brilliant and successful exhibition at the museum a few days ago.

The collection was open to public view at the museum, which is a municipal institution. In the two weeks of the exhibition more than 75,000 persons visited it.

Among the works of art which are remaining in Houston homes are two paintings by Sargent, "Venice" and "Florentine Garden." The museum also regards itself fortunate in receiving several gifts which are declared to be of unusual value. "Late Afternoon" by Edward Redfield, was presented by the City Federation of Women's Clubs; "Joy of the Waters," a large bronze by Harriet Frishmuth, was given by a group of 30 clubs and fraternal organizations; Adolph Weinman's large bronzes, "Rising Sun" and "Descending Night," were unanimous gifts. George Wharton Edwards' "Ice Bound Brook" also was given anonymously, while Sidney E. Dickinson's "Portrait of the Artist" was purchased by the museum's accession committee.

The exhibition was given by the museum in celebration of the opening of the new wing of the structure.

"It sets a high standard for the museum," a statement from the institution said, "and in keeping up this standard the museum of Fine Arts of Houston is due to become one of the leading art forces in the South."

Many persons widely known in the world of art, whose works were exhibited, came here for the occasion with Walter L. Clark, president of the Grand Central Galleries, and Edwin S. Barrie, manager. Among them were Sidney E. Dickinson, George Wharton Edwards, Karl Anderson, George Elmer Browne, F. Luis Mora, F. Ballard Williams, Paul Dougherty, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rolshoven and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dennett Grover.

"Bury Me Not On The Lone Prair-e-e" Is Heard In Montana As Cowboys End First Roundup Of 400 Elk Bound For The East

(By The Associated Press)

MOHESE, Flathead Indian reservation, Montana, Feb. 20.—Strains of the cowboy's chant "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prair-e-e-e," sounded from bunkhouses today with an unusual merry lilt, for a band of cowpunchers, turned "elkpunchers," temporarily, were happy to be rid of a herd of 400 elk that were ready to be shipped today from the bison range to a new home in the hills around Middleboro, Mass.

For several weeks they have ridden herd on the animals, getting them ready for shipment East in a special train of ten electrically lighted palace cars. When they pushed and dragged the last fractious bull elk into its train stall, the punchers breathed a sigh of relief and turned wearily but happily to their bunkhouses.

But their cup of joy contained just a little gall. In two weeks they must round up another herd of 200 to complete the shipment at least 600 animals contracted for by the national elk grazin and breeding association. The association contracted to take the animals from the bison range where they had multiplied so rapidly they endangered the ranges here reserved exclusively for the fast disappearing buffalo. The organization agreed to pay a small sum a head and all costs incident to rounding up and shipping the herd. Almost impassable roads combined with difficulty in dehorning more than 100 bulls delayed the work and made costs mount until it is estimated the elk will cost $400 per head put down in the Massachusetts hills.

Legion Planning Special Program For Monday Night

The regular semi-monthly meeting of Allen Bros. Post of the American Legion is to be held here next Monday night in the basement of the Leader building at 7:30. It was announced here Saturday by Post Commander H. D. Woods, who urged full attendance at the meeting.

By coincidence, the meeting date is February 22, birthday of George Washington, and in keeping with the occasion, a special program of a patriotic nature has been arranged, including a short address by one of the Legion's well known orators, of which there are many. Final arrangements, however, had not been completed for the address Saturday night.

Another phase of Legion activity that is of great interest to every ex-service man will be a discussion of the trip to Paris, France, to the National Conventions in 1927. A man well versed in the particulars of the trip will explain preparations in detail, and there possibly will be a round table discussion. It has been explained before, however, that to make the trip and take advantage of the special rates and service accorded Legion men, a man must have been inactive member of the Post during this year as well as 1927.

Reports from the Mess Sergeant Saturday were to the effect that the beans are now beginning to simmer, and will be ready with all accessories for the Monday night program.

Since the return of Sheriff H. L. Johnston and Chief of Police T. E. These came not from the fact that he refused to proceed to Oklahoma with the prisoner after his plans were

Texas League War Cry Is Sounded

Local Golf Champs Issue Blanket Challenge To West Texas Players

BEAT PANTHERS IS WAIL OF RAILBIRDS

DALLAS, Feb. 20. (AP)—As the incurable "railbirds" of seven Texas League cities around March 1 watch veteran and recruit ball tossers start their muscle-loosening antics, one absorbing question and appeal will be tossed about: "Can the skipper build a machine out of that gang capable of stopping those confounded Cats?"

In the eighth Texas League city, Fort Worth, the most incurable fans "No" as they watch Jackie Ats and his "bebbies" begin the spring training grind which the Fort Worth partisans fondly and confidently believe will lead the Fort Worth Panthers, champions of the South, to their seventh consecutive Texas League pennant. Winning Texas League flags long ago became a matter of course for the ardent Panther City diamond followers who refute the tradition a ball club fails to draw a large number of cash customers, if it smothered rival clubs over a period of several years. There are hundreds of Fort Worth fans who grieve if the Panthers lose a game, even though the "Pelines" may be 10 games in the van at the time.

Recall Sad Experiences

With the knowledge that the canny Josephus Pate and "Lefty" Johns, great southpaws, are likely to stick in the majors, and that Billy Mullen, the splendid third-sacker of the 1925 Fort Worth nine, has also been lost to the club, sport writers now would be singing a requiem for the Cats, did they not recall their sad experiences of last season.

From the championship 1924 club, the Cats lost Clarence Kraft, home run king of the minors who potted around 50 circuit smashes in 1924, and "Pee-wee" Tavenar, a fielding fiend of a shortstop. Sport writers in a number of Texas League cities felt the ignominious reign of Jackie Ats and his hired hands doomed and so told their readers. But "Waco" was the same story in 1925. "Big Train" Konecny, former major league home run king, made the Panther fans all but forget the great Kraft, holding down the initial sack in more brilliant style than Kraft had ever done, and swatting the horsehide at a merry clip. Wayne Windle failed to replace Tavenar at short, but the Atzmen managed to worry along to another Texas League and Dixie championship, defeating Atlanta, Southern league winner, in a spectacular series.

Thus far, Paul La Grave, the trading genius of the Fort Worth Panthers who in the old days would have made a fortune had he been a horse trader, has failed to obtain twirlers who seem capable of replacing both Johns and Pate. Upon the fervent hope these capable performers will not be replaced, partisans of seven rival clubs are basing the many times renewed hope that the Cats this year will falter less than to allow the Dallas Steers, the Houston Bisons, the Wichita Falls Spudders, or any other Texas League aggregation to finish on the top rung of the percentage ladder.

"Old Marster" Believed Lost

Pate, the "Old Marster," acclaimed by many the greatest "money player" in minor league baseball, should stick with Connie Mack's Athletics. "Lefty" Johns is now the property of the Detroit Tigers, and as the Cobblers will be needing all the fingers they can get, he has an excellent chance of seeing action with the Jugglers.

Billy Mullen, the human rubber ball who last season hit around 250, fielded sensationally, and added a lot of fight and drive to the Cats' attack, was also sold to the Detroit Tigers. Many capable critics rated him the best all-around diamond performer in the circuit last season, and if he lives up to expectations of his many admirers he'll certainly stay in the big show.

To replace the valuable Mullen, the Cats have secured Homer Ezzell from the Boston Red Sox. If Ezzell follows the example of many others who have drifted from the big show to Pantherdom, he'll play great ball for the Atzmen.

"Red" Bird, powerful southpaw last year with Waco and Houston, may be much to solve the pitching problem caused by loss of Pate and Johns. Last season, "Red" won 19 games, Pate and Johns together won 40.

Largely because of the confidence born of victory, and because of Ats' well known ability to get the most out of his material, the Cats must be conceded the best chance of winning the 1926 gonfalon. The seven rival managers, who will employ every legitimate stratagem to break the monopoly of the "Pelines" together with a brief sketch of their prospects, follow:

Dallas Has Veteran Crew

At Dallas, "Skipper" Conley will lead a veteran crew. Last year, the Dallas Steers tied the Cats for the championship of the second half but were overwhelmed in a playoff series. On paper, the Steers have an excellent chance of moving over the Atzmen, but they must first break a jinx which the Cats in the past have seemed able to throw over the Dallas club almost any old time a critical game was played.

The Mavericks have an excellent infield and outfield—on paper—but can stand much strengthening on the mound and behind the bat. The infield likely will be composed of Riley,

ENTHUSIASM AT HIGH PITCH IN CLUB HERE

Interest in the municipal golf association, re-organized here recently through the influence of several local golf enthusiasts, is steadily gaining momentum, and it is the hope of officials of the association to map out a program for the year whereby golf players and fans of this city and surrounding territory may see some of the best players in the Southwest in action during the year.

Plans are already under way for the staging of an inter-city tournament later in the season after local followers have warmed up to the occasion and limbered up the joints that have become more or less rusty during the winter months, and the announcement here Saturday that two of Lubbock's real golfers have issued a blanket challenge to the best that West Texas can produce has served to heighten enthusiasm considerably.

Herbert Stubbs, who has one of the longest and truest drives ever exhibited on a local course, and Dade Germany fumed for his wicked approach and put shins, who took a portion of his tutoring under "Scotty" Sampson, designer of the Lubbock Country Club course, constitute the pair of champions guilty of the latest challenge. And on the heels of this, then, comes the announcement from V. E. Wilson, President of the association, that efforts are under way to secure two of the South Plains' best men to meet them.

The Association to date has 42 members signed up with the cash now in a local bank at the disposal of officials, and several more have signified their intention of joining themselves with the association before the first of March. It is the pronounced ambition of officials that the membership be not less than 100, however, and they urge that those who wish to take advantage of the opportunity had better do so before the entry fee is raised on March 1 to $15. Membership is now $10, which entitles the holder to participation for one year.

Work of reconditioning the course is now under way, with the leveling of greens being the greatest worry of those in charge. All greens will be leveled, necessitating in one or two instances the moving of many wagon loads of dirt. One man is giving his full time to this, and additional men will be put on the job the coming week.

This particular job is considered as the one big task, for after this is done, only a few days will be required to finish the greens with oil treatment and cotton seed hulls. All greens will be re-hulled and refinished in every way to bring the course into first class condition.

Include Miner, Davis, Perrin, Tucker, McNamara, and Keyes.

The mound candidates are made up in large measure of promising Class C twirlers of last year, among them, Vick, Lybrand, Rodriguez, and Jefferson. Turro, the Cuban moist ball artist, who turned in a number of splendid games last season, probably is the ablest of all the mound tryouts.

Many Thrills With Sports

With the veteran Bob Tarleton at the helm, Shreveport is due to provide the partisans of the Sports many thrills this year. The loyalty and enthusiasm of Shreveport fans is a byword in the League, and Manager Tarleton will make every effort to give the fans a first division contender.

The Sport outfield should cover itself with glory this season, for in Joe Bonowitz, who broke all records last season for putouts in the Texas League, Don Brown, purchased from Waco, and "Chink" Taylor, bought from Beaumont, the Sports have a trio of capable fly-chasers. Too, each of the three should hit well over 300. "Alabama" Jones, bought from the other Atlantic League, is another promising candidate, as is Marvin Powledge, a Jacksonville, Texas recruit.

In "Buzzer Bill" Whittaker, in other years a Fort Worth ace, last year with New Orleans; Joe Gleason, and Joe Cantrell, the Sports will have three pitchers who have seen much service in the Texas League. Among the other players are Harry Thompson and Sylvester McCauley, southpaw hold-overs, and Barnabee, a pitcher from Evansville of the Three-I League, and Cason, left-hander, from Dyersburg of the Tri-State.

Beaumont Looks To Redemption

Beaumont Exporter fans are counting on Manager "Bad News" Jim Gallagher to develop a club that will redeem the dismal showing made last year by Beaumont. In 1925 the Exporters finished in the cellar. Gallagher, one of the best first-sackers and heaviest hitters ever to play in the league, will hold down first base. Gallo-way, who starred last year for Waco, is making every conceivable effort to obtain competent players. His recent acquisition of Claude Robertson, catcher, from Indianapolis, was hailed as a master move. Robertson caught for Dallas in 1921 and was rated the best prospect among the outfielders, which

Biggest Task Of Year

MANAGER BILL McKECHNIE of the Pittsburg Pirates has the hardest job of any man in the majors for 1926.

Piloting the Pirates, McKechnie won a pennant and a world series last season. This year he has nothing to shoot at except a repeat if he is to retain his new-own prestige.

The Pittsburg club is admittedly the best club in the National League. It is doped to win by all the experts. Failure to deliver would make it seem that McKechnie didn't get the best from his club.

During the world series the judgment of McKechnie was several times taken to task. It was rumored that he and Fred Clarke, his assistant, nearly came to blows as the result of a difference of opinion.

There are some experts who insist that Clarke is the guiding head of the Pirates, that until his arrival McKechnie failed with clubs that should have won.

The season of 1926 is certain to be the acid test for the leader of the Pirates from any number of angles.

Colorful umpires are the exception. The game boasts few characters like Tim Hurst, Silk O'Loughlin and Bill Byron.

Of the more modern school, Billy Byron is still active although he didn't do any work last summer due to a broken leg suffered during the winter months.

Byron lives in Detroit. Quite frequently last summer he would drop around to the dressing room to pass the time of day with the umpires, although he seldom stayed for the game.

Like most of the colorful players or umpires, being a mere spectator carried no thrills. Byron thrives on action.

Byron first won fame by being known as the stinging umpire. When a player kicked, Bill would recite extemporaneous poetry or sing a little ditty composed on the spur of the moment.

When a player struck out, Bill having called the third ball, while the player stood with his bat on his shoulder he would greet the protest of the player thusly:

"If you would many base hits make, A healthy swing you must take."

If the crowd yelled its disapproval as a player after being called out at the plate made a strenuous protest Byron's reply as he dusted off the plate, would be something like this:

"Fandom must be very sore, Listen to the awful roar."

Bill would repeat the jingle many times or until the player decided it was no use and make his way to the bench.

BYRON VS. MCGRAW

I always got a kick out of a remark I once heard Byron make to Manager John McGraw of the Giants. I am inclined to think McGraw also enjoyed it, although at the time he gave no outward demonstration of such a feeling.

As a youngster Byron suffered an injury to one of his fingers, which necessitated the amputation of the first joint. In the game I have referred to, Byron had chased several of the Giants and McGraw was a bit peeved. McGraw is quick with the retort, "You know, Byron, for the first time he noticed the missing first joint on Byron's finger."

"I suppose you lost that finger trying to pick somebody's pocket," said McGraw rather derisively.

"Wrong again, John," answered Byron. "I've worn it down pointing you to the exit sign on your way out here."

BILLY EVANS Says

As he issued the words that meant McGraw's removal from the game he assumed a theatrical posture and pointed to the exit with the curled finger.

CHASING BUTTERFLY

Knowing that Bill has pulled hundreds of wise cracks at the expense of players and managers, I asked him the funniest stunt ever pulled at his expense.

"A minor league manager did it," said Byron. "I had chased about half his ball club from the field and he was much disgruntled. Late in the game a big butterfly insisted on flying about the diamond, mostly between the batter and pitcher.

At a rather critical spot in the game, the manager coaching at third called for time. I stopped the game and asked him what was the trouble. "Nothing, except that since you are so good at chasing players off the field, why don't you get rid of the butterfly?"

"I wanted to laugh, but I decided to try and make good and did. I sneaked out and on the first try put my cap over the butterfly. I then summoned the bat boy and ordered him to take it to the clubhouse."

Mustang Quintet Smothers Bears Under Big Score

GEORGE BROWN TO END ATHLETIC CAREER HERE

(Special to Daily Journal)

ABILENE, Feb. 20. — Through a lucky and strange coincidence that is worthy of more than passing interest, George Brown, son of Mr. P. F. Brown, county superintendent of Public Instruction in Lubbock county, will close a most brilliant career as an athlete for Abilene Christian College in his home town when he with his teammates, meets the Tech College Messadors at Lubbock in the last game of a two game series, next Tuesday night that will officially close the season for both clubs.

Although he did not play any high school sports while in Lubbock, Brown has starred for four years on the Wildcat football and basketball teams.

He was selected second All-T. I. A. A. guard last fall at the close of the football season, and missed playing only five minutes during his entire four seasons, which in itself is no little feat to perform. In basketball he has been a consistent star at guard, and will close his career Monday and Tuesday nights at Lubbock.

Young Brown will receive his degree from Abilene Christian College next June.

STORM CLOUDS APPEAR AGAIN ON TAX BILL HORIZON BUT HOPE IS HELD OUT FOR AN EARLY TRUCE

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Storm clouds appeared today over the course of the compromise tax reduction bill agreed to by house and senate conferees.

The inheritance tax also continued the center of controversy on the bill in the senate where members who voted for its repeal are ready to fight the conference agreement restoring the tax to the measure.

Revised estimates of reductions in the bill as finally drafted by the conference showed today that it would provide for an actual saving to tax payers this year of $37,811,000 instead of $381,000,000, as first figured.

The retroactive reduction in the inheritance tax whereby the increased rates made in the 1924 act would be substituted with the lower rates in effect in the 1921 act was voted by the senate. This vote, however, was coupled with the vote for repeal of the inheritance tax and the proposal was not voted upon separately.

the 1924 act went into effect on June 3 of that year.

Pointing out that the house had not considered such a proposition and that no one had requested it before the 1925 and means committee hearings, Representative Newton, who is considered one of the Republican "regulars," today described the proposal as "unprecedented and unparalleled legislation for the benefit of a few persons."

The revised estimates proposed today showed that the net saving to income tax payers this year will be $154,400,000. However, on the income taxes all the saving will be about $129,000,000, but this is offset some in the increase in corporation taxes.

EXCELLENT PROGRESS BEING MADE ON HOTEL

INCLEMENT WEATHER HAS LITTLE HANDICAPPED WORK ON BUILDING THAT WILL HOUSE NEW HOSTELRY

BRICKLAYERS START ON EAST WALL TOMORROW AS CONSTRUCTION GOES ON; CONTRACTORS SAY THEY WILL FULFILL CONTRACTS

Excellent progress is being made on the Lubbock Hotel, a new six-story building here, despite the handicap of more or less inclement weather for concrete work, in the opinion of R. W. Blair, President of the Board of Directors of the Hotel Company.

Bricklayers will be put to work Monday on the east wall, the foreman said, and as the brick work is finished up, finishing men will be placed on the building to bring this phase of the work along just as fast as the brick are laid.

Contract To Be Fulfilled All phases of the construction work are being carried along with all haste possible in order that the building may be finished according to contract, and the contractors have promised that unless handicapped by bad weather, they will almost finish on schedule time.

In connection with the building program, it was explained Saturday by Mr. Blair, President of the Hotel Company who is devoting much of his time to looking after details of the work, that such progress demands finances, and that there is yet between $12,000 and $13,000 subscribed by local people toward the building that has not been paid.

Interlocking hollow tile will be used to back up the brick wall. This is considered to be the best material available, as it not only furnishes a strong background, but leaves the effect of a vacuum in the wall that brings warmth in the winter and cooling in the warmer months.

Mr. Hollis, cement finisher with the Johnson Construction Company has arrived here, and Monday will take charge of the concrete work, putting the finishing touches on all portions of the building that require it.

The epidemic of influenza that is now sweeping the country has taken its toll from the crew of men on the hotel. Bob McMillan, construction foreman is confined to his room, the

SHERROD NAMED HEAD OF RETAIL MERCHANTS HERE

ANDERSON AND RIX NAMED VICE PRESIDENTS AND HASSELL TREASURER

The Directors of the Retail Merchants Association met Friday afternoon to elect officers and appoint standing committees for the coming year. L. Sherrod, who has been active in the work of the association for the past year was elected president of the organization and was issued into office at the meeting, taking over the management of the association under the most favorable conditions that the organization has faced since its organization.

J. C. Anderson and J. A. Rix who have been active in the work of the Retailers were elected vice-presidents and J. D. Hassell, credit manager for Hemphill Price and an active member of the association was elected treasurer.

The board of directors which direct the work of the association are composed of the following men: F. L. Sherrod, president; J. A. Rix, vice-president; C. Anderson, vice-president; J. D. Hassell, treasurer; J. W. Gamel, W. W. Royalty, W. W. Nelson, W. R. Fickas, L. C. Ellis, Raleigh Martin, and Joe Nislar.

J. W. Gamel, retiring president, left the helm of the organization with the association in the best shape since its organization and with a year of successful accomplishments to his credit.

A new advertising committee was appointed Saturday by the new president. This committee performs one of the most important duties of the retail organization. They pass on all special advertising and donation schemes. The members of the association each have posted in their place of business a card reading: "This firm subscribes only to those objects to which a letter of approval has been given by the Retail Merchants Association." When some solicitor comes to Lubbock in the interest of some special advertising scheme or donation proposition, the members of the Retail Merchants Association refer them to the association. The advertising committee who have had experience in handling such cases and who are better qualified to pass on same because of this experience than the average merchant is called together to consider the proposition. Thousands of dollars have been saved Lubbock merchants during the past year as a result of the work of this committee. The committee is known only to the president and office force of the Retail Merchants Association to prevent any promotion being made by one of the committee on his proposition before it has been given the careful consideration of the entire committee.

A committee composed of J. D. Hassell, chairman, L. C. Ellis, and J. W. Gamel were appointed by President Sherrod to work with committees from the chamber of commerce in working up a good delegation to attend the district meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, at Littlefield Monday.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—L. H. Daingerfield, government meteorologist, who notes the moods of the weather and duly makes record of it when it smiles and when it weeps, finds that January was colder and wetter than the average in Texas.

The monthly mean as shown by reports from 125 stations, was 44.8 degrees, which was 2.7 degrees below the state normal. The highest monthly mean was 57.8 degrees at Fairburn and the lowest was 33 degrees at Vega. The highest daily temperature was 88 degrees at San Marcos on January 17 and at Mission on January 20. The lowest was three degrees below zero at Clarendon on January 21. The monthly range within the state was 91 degrees and the greatest daily range was at Brownwood on January 27, when the thermometer registered a 57 degree difference in temperature in a single day.

On the moisture side of the record, Mr. Daingerfield found from reports from 215 Texas stations that an average of 3.15 inches of rain fell which was 1.35 inches greater than the state normal. The greatest monthly quantity was 12.9 inches at Conroe. At the other extreme there was none at Muleshoe and only a trace at Booker. Excessive quantities of 2.50 inches or more in 21 consecutive hours occurred at 18 stations. The greatest was 4.95 inches at Hillsboro on January 17. Meanwhile 16 inches of snow had fallen during the month at Knickerbocker the largest quantity in the state for the month.

Noting the other moods of the weather, Mr. Daingerfield's records show that 14 days were clear, six partly cloudy and 11 cloudy. The wind blew mostly from the north and reached 40 miles an hour, its highest velocity at Dallas, January 21, and at Galveston, January 21.

RAIL TROUBLE TO BE HEARD

DALLAS, Feb. 20. (AP)—Further differences between railroad brotherhoods and officials of the Texas and Pacific system were to be held here this afternoon in the hope of averting a threatened strike.

Officials of the three international brotherhoods of firemen, engineers and trainmen met with the railroad officers yesterday and announced today that no settlement had been reached. They indicated both sides were awaiting word from the United States rail labor board, which the dispute has been referred.

The dispute involves assignment of crews on a stretch of track between Alexandria and New Orleans jointly owned by the Texas and Pacific and the Missouri Pacific.

Orphan Children Will Entertain L. O. O. F. Meeting

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 20. (AP)—Forty-eight children from the Odd Fellows orphan home at Corsicana, will provide the entertainment for the annual state meeting of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows here March 15, 16 and 17. The institution's band and glee club, which the 48 children compose, are expected to enliven the meeting.

The Rebekahs, sister organization to the Odd Fellows, will hold a meeting simultaneously with the Odd Fellows.

One of the main subjects to be discussed will be the proposed construction of a dormitory at the University of Texas, for the daughters of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

Seven local committees have about completed the plans for the meetings. Contrary to custom, no election of state officers will be held on the first day of the meeting. C. W. Moore, of Austin, who will be master of ceremonies, announced. Approximately 5,000 delegates are expected.

The Corsicana visitors will provide a musical program on the first night, and on the last day of the convention, the delegates will take part in a parade. As the last number, a dance will be given Wednesday night.

Heavy Increase Seen In Business Department At TCU

FORT WORTH, Feb. 20.—Popularity and increasing favor of the general professional courses are shown in the large increase in enrollment in the department of business education at Texas Christian University here for the spring semester. Against 57 enrolled two years ago and 264 enrolled last year for the fall term, 327 lined up in this department this month.

Approximately half of the students enrolled in the department are majoring in business administration. There are 11 candidates for the bachelor of business administration degree in June, as compared with six last year and one the preceding year. There are now 20 candidates for the professional degree in 1927.

SHAW EARNEST CO. HEADQUARTERS FOR LUBBOCK

The Lubbock Delegation to the district West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting at Littlefield Monday will use the Shaw Earnest Mercantile Company as headquarters. It was announced here by J. A. Rix, head of the committee working up the delegation following a special trip to Lubbock by Gus M. Shaw, member of the firm to extend an invitation to the Lubbock delegation to use the store as headquarters.

"We're expecting the biggest and 'peppiest' delegation from Lubbock than from any other town," Shaw stated when here, "and we want this bunch to make the Shaw Earnest Mercantile Company headquarters."

A large sign reading Lubbock Headquarters is in place and will guide the Lubbock delegation to the place, Shaw stated and every convenience will be found when they arrive.

The Shaw Earnest Mercantile Company is located in the middle of the main street at Littlefield and will afford the delegation from here a convenient place to gather.

A big delegation has been signed to make the trip, according to J. A. Rix, at the head of committees from the Board of City Development, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants Association.

Motor Buses Soon To Have Fixed Rates

AUSTIN, Feb. 20.—Motor buses in Texas soon will have fixed rates as railroads for carrying of passengers and express. The Texas Railroad Commissioner will hold a hearing in the Spring, so that stabilized rates can be fixed. The commission recently sent out questionnaires to operators of bus lines, to learn about the business, cost of operation and other factors in the business.

16 INDICTMENTS RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Sixteen indictments against Lubbock county citizens were returned by the grand jury here late Friday after a week of almost feverish activity in investigation of law violations in this city and county.

Eight of these indictments were for violation of the city and state statute prohibiting the sale of Jamaica ginger, Pear extract, and kindred products for beverage purposes. Five of these were charged against business men of Lubbock, and three against Slaton firms.

Other indictments were: three for conversion of personal property, the indictments setting out that three automobiles are involved; two for swindling; two for violation of the prohibition laws; and one for burglary.

Announcement as to the person or firms involved in the indictment has not been made pending legal action toward arrests of the alleged law violators.

Big Celebration Planned For Next Week At Laredo

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 20. (AP)—For more than a quarter of a century the citizenry of Laredo, with the exception of two years following the World War, has annually commemorated the birthday anniversary of George Washington, with an elaborate three or four day celebration.

Each year the annual celebration has vied with the preceding one for supremacy. The Improved Order of Red Men, thirty years ago originated the idea, and conducted the celebrations until a few years ago. Since then, the Washington's Birthday Celebration Association of Laredo, Inc., has conducted the affair.

This year, beginning February 20 and continuing to the 24th, the greatest celebration of all is planned. Thousands of visitors from all sections of Texas and Mexico are expected to attend due to the rates granted by railroads. Accommodations are to be had for immense crowds.

STUDEBAKER HAS NOVEL TESTING GROUND

Studebaker has purchased a section and a quarter of land 12 miles from its South Bend plant, on which is being laid out the very last word in proving and experimental grounds.

Over rough roads, through sand and mud, up and down hills, theories and plans of the engineering and experimental departments of the Corporation must meet the actual test of use. The task of testers will be to try to break down cars and put to the acid test every idea submitted to them for trial.

A car or a car part which survives the trials it meets on this unique 500-acre tract never will worry its owner. No owner ever will meet the combination of bad roads which the test-cars must conquer.

The Studebaker test ground covers matted hills beside a level plain. A straight-away track of a mile and a quarter, 20 feet wide, is ample for pick-up and acceleration, rolling friction and fuel economy tests; for braking trials and for determining adjustments necessary for wide speed ranges.

A three-mile loop with 20-foot driveway for endurance tests at sustained high speed will permit driving up to 75 miles an hour. This is sufficient to bring out first evidence of wear, so that provision may be made in manufacturing to meet that wear.

But it is the hilly road, winding up and down gradients of varying steepness, which brings out the power capacity of the car and will be the scene of the most picturesque and interesting tests. Long, continuous grades of 7 per cent, 9 per cent and 12 per cent will mark the outward journey over the hill road from the offices and experimental laboratories. On the return, steep hills up to 20 and 25 per cent will make the ultimate demand on power performance of a car.

Another corner of the big tract provides location for the three "hard-core" test roads. A shallow basin of water 250 feet long, followed by a 400-foot section of rutted, slushy mud, will be adequate, in combination with a 150-foot stretch of soft, shifting dunes sand nearby, to demonstrate the pulling power of the Studebaker engine, the most powerful in any car of its size and weight.

A section of roadway a quarter of a mile long of the poorest kind of un-graded dirt road, filled with ruts and bumps and running over low foot-hills will test the riding comfort of the car to its utmost, display its ease of operation and determine the substantial construction of bodies and framework to avoid squeaks and rattles.

Cars of each model made by Studebaker will be taken at random from production each day and sent to exhaustive tests on the proving grounds, as an insurance that the 1,200 inspectors who check every step in the manufacture of the car continue each day to permit perfect workmanship to enter construction. Each car will carry a load equivalent to five passengers.

10 Drivers Ran Into Trains In January

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 20.—Ten drivers ran their cars into railroad trains in Texas during January, the February number of the Bulletin of the Southern Pacific railroad publication issued here, said. In 24 collisions between automobiles and trains during the month, 12 persons were killed and 31 injured.

"In other words, nearly one-half of the total contacts were due to what may be termed reckless or careless operation of automobiles. The caution which is being stressed by management and practiced by railroad employees is thus almost rendered futile by failure of the public to consult their own safety."

Floyd County Gins Turn Out 14,358 Bales

LOCKNEY, Texas, Feb. 20.—Floyd county gins have ginned 14,358 bales to-date. 3,558 bales have been ginned in Lockney alone. This is approximately 8,800 bales less than the 1924 crop which was 22,596 bales. Due to the low price cotton has been coming in very slow and many farmers will not try to pick, but will prepare their land for the 1926 crop. It is believed that about 600 more bales will be ginned in the county this season. Many farmers are cutting the cotton acreage, and will plant small grains and sorghum instead.

Much Building Now Under Way At Lockney

LOCKNEY, Texas, Feb. 20.—The Chamber of Commerce reports that twelve business and city lots in Lockney were sold Tuesday and Wednesday for $6,000.00 and that buildings would be erected on at least four of them as soon as titles could be examined. There is at present several residences under construction. E. S. Shoaf, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce states, that 37 inquires from 11 states were received last week regarding Lockney and Floyd county property, and that every day tourists and home-seekers were visiting Lockney and looking at different pieces of property.

NAMES SELECTED BY SCHOOL BOARD FOR TWO NEW BUILDINGS THAT WILL BE ERECTED FOR USE AT NEXT TERM

Names have been selected for the two new school buildings, work on which will be started here just as soon as material can be assembled following letting of contracts at a meeting of the Board of Trustees with contractors and architects here the first of the week. It was announced Saturday by C. E. Meadgen, Secretary of the Board.

The names, selected on an unanimous ballot of the trustees after much careful consideration are designed to reverberate the memory of one man who meant so much for the advancement of the public schools here, and to preserve to future generations the name of another man yet living, who though not actively engaged in the school profession, has always more than carried his part in the school program.

One Named For Late M. M. Dupre The building in the southwest part of the city, which is to be a sixteen room, two-story structure, will be named in honor of the late Marcy M. Dupre, who for ten years was at the head of the system here, and under whose administration such rapid strides forward were made.

"I desire to express to you and to Mr. Dupre's entire family of children the high esteem in which Mr. Dupre was held by the members of the Board of Trustees of Lubbock schools," a letter from Mr. Meadgen to Mrs. Dupre advising of the action taken by the board said, "and to express to you our appreciation of the wonderful services he rendered to Lubbock and all those with whom he came in contact. In memory of his life, we feel that we could do him no greater honor than to have his name and memory perpetuated to many generations of Lubbock school children."

"I express to you the hope of the members of the school board that the inspiration which Mr. Dupre was capable of imparting may continue to be a great force in educational attainment. May the naming of this building in his memory be a sufficient reward for the elegant life he lived and the services to humanity he performed to furnish pleasure to you and his boys and girls throughout years and their life time."

Liff Sanders, Honored In selecting a name for the building in the north part of the city across the railroad, it was the unanimous opinion of the board that Rev. Liff Sanders, a minister of the Gospel, who for so many years was the driving power behind educational movements in that portion of the city, should be accorded the honor, despite the fact that all former precedents were broken when the action was taken, as no building has yet been named in honor of a living man.

"We think you should consider it a distinct honor bestowed upon you on behalf of the school board in view of the fact that heretofore no building has been named in honor of any living man," the advisory letter to Rev. Sanders, who is now located in Lubbock, said. "This position has been deviated from in your case. This action on the part of the school board has been suggested by a number of your friends here, whom the entire membership of the school board is pleased to join in paying honor to you. "May your life continue to be a great inspiration to all those with whom you come in contact, and may the memory of such a life through the naming of this building for you be perpetuated to many generations."

The name of each building will be cut into stone, and placed at conspicuous places, so that future generations may recall at a glance the wide scope of work carried on by the two men so signally honored.

Much Interest Shown Livestock Exposition

CANYON, Feb. 20.—According to Professor Frank B. Phillips of the Agricultural Department of the West Texas State Teachers College, who has farmers' sons enrolled in his classes from many West Texas counties, stock raisers of West Texas are showing great interest in the livestock exposition to be held at Fort Worth in March. Mr. Phillips thinks the attendance and exhibits from West Texas will be greater than they ever have been before. He expects to attend with a group of agriculture students from the West Texas State Teachers College, a part of whom will participate in the stock judging contest to be held between the Teachers colleges.

The Canyon school won first place in stock judging last year. C. G. Kelsor, Tom Dowling, and Fred Ward of Randall county will send registered Herefords to Fort Worth for the purpose of competing in the respective classes.

110,000 Acres of Wheat Sown In Floyd County

LOCKNEY, Texas, Feb. 20.—Farmers of Floyd county have sown approximately 110,000 acres of wheat, and a good stand is reported in most communities, moisture is needed very much at this time as there has been very little rain since October, and only one snow that was of benefit.

Col. French To Be In Lockney February 23

LOCKNEY, Texas, Feb. 20.—Col. C. C. French, industrial agent of the Fort Worth Stock Yards Co., of Fort Worth will be in Lockney Feb. 23 in interest of "The More Hogs For Texas Campaign," which is being sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Floyd county for many years has produced many fine hogs in great numbers. The Griffith local hog man has shipped from Lockney more than a million dollars worth of hogs in the past five years. Albert King Lockney farmer sold 122 hogs in September for $2,500.00. Col. French will be welcomed to Floyd county by many farmers as the Cow, Sow and Hen program is the topic of the day.

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 20. Col. Lindsey Blayne, president of the College of Industrial Arts, Denton, will be the chief speaker at the patriotic convocation to be conducted at the A. & M. College on the morning of George Washington's birthday. Reserve officers who will be present at the College for a contact camp will be honor guests at the convocation. Col. Blayne's address will follow a review by the cadet corps of the college honoring the visiting reserve officers. The review will be at nine o'clock and the convocation at 10 o'clock.

The contact camp originated last year when about fifty members of the officer personnel of the 360th Infantry regiment of the 96 Division spent a week end on the college campus in a contact camp. This year this regiment commanded by Col. Ike S. Ashburn and the 485 artillery regiment commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Frank G. Anderson, also of the College will complete their camps being held at the College February 20-21-22. Col. F. H.

Former Cow Puncher Seeks To Be Judge

LOCKNEY, Texas, Feb. 20.—William McGehee old time cow boy and range rider on the F ranch and the Matador outfit has laid away his spurs and announces for county judge of Floyd county. McGehee has been on the plains over forty years and is public spirited to the core, having promoted the building of the first railroad in Floyd county which was later purchased by the Santa Fe. In the recent campaign to get the proposed Denver McGehee was a tireless worker for Lockney and Floyd county.

Turner, professor of military science and tactics of the College and his staff of thirteen regular army officers will direct a program of instruction for the visiting reserve officers. In addition to the two regiments there will be a group of officers from other units and branches of the service.

Colonel Blayne was formerly a member of the 360th Infantry regiment.

West Texas Motor Company

MANY TESTS MADE FOR ENGINE IN PONTIAC SIX

Before the new Pontiac Six was placed into production by the Oakland Motor Car Company, six engines were built and tested out for thousands of miles over a period of three years in order to determine the final design of the engine to go into the car.

These six engines were not all built at once, several of them being improved on the earlier ones. Some of the engines were radically different in design—a high speed type, for instance, being among those considered.

The fifth engine built was unanimously decided upon by both Oakland and General Motors engineers as being fundamentally the type of engine that should go into the new car to meet present day requirements. This fifth engine was built more than a year and a half ago and thoroughly tested. As a result of these tests, the sixth and final engine was built, which was essentially the same as the fifth, with refinements and improvements that had been dictated by the grueling tests to which the previous designs had been put.

The various engines built had different displacements, different bore stroke ratios, different oiling systems, different designs of cylinders, cylinder heads, manifolds, and various designs of crankshafts.

Five motor car companies have gone to such great lengths to eliminate the element of guess work in the development of a new car as the Oakland Motor Car Company, which is producing and distributing the Pontiac Six as champion to the Oakland Six. The Pontiac is the only entirely new car introduced at the automobile show this year, but because of its long period of careful development, it has been popularly referred to as "new—yet three years old."

FORD REDUCTIONS SHOW TREND TO CLOSED CARS

Probably the biggest recent piece of automobile news is the Ford Motor Company announcement of a reduction in price of the entire line of Ford closed cars.

The new price level is ascribed to the trend of closed car buying which has been rapidly developing. According to a statement by the company accompanying the announcement, this trend has reached such a high point that manufacturing economies have been effected and, in accordance with the established policy of the company, the benefits of these economies are passed on to purchasers of Ford cars. Coming virtually on the heels of the sweeping improvements and refinements made in Ford cars last fall, the new prices mark the climax of a period of general ascending values. Less than six months ago, Ford bodies were completely redesigned to make possible a greater degree of beauty, driving ease and riding comfort. In line with this development, all steel bodies were introduced together with closed cars in color and numerous refinements in the chassis.

These improvements, which were the most pronounced ever made in Ford cars, are now supplemented by the lowest prices at which Ford closed cars have ever sold. The reductions range from $25 off the cost of the Fordor to $20 off the price of the Coupe. The Tudor, most popular family car of the Ford line, is reduced $25.

GRAIN SORGHUMS IN TEXAS SHOW BIG YIELD

(By The Associated Press) COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Feb. 16.—Texas grain sorghums in the seven year period from 1918 through 1924 averaged 25.1 bushels an acre, as compared with 18.2 bushels in Oklahoma and 18.4 in Kansas. Department of Agriculture figures show. These facts indicate to A. D. Jackson, of the state experiment station, Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college here, the increased value to Texas farmers on the sorghum crop of $19,597,535 more than the farmers in Kansas realized and $18,855,445 more than the farmers of Oklahoma.

The explanation lies in the high type of seed planted in this state, for which the A. & M. college is largely responsible, Mr. Jackson asserted. "The story of the evolution of the grain sorghums is a romance in itself," he said. "Twenty years ago when the farmers began to break the raw prairies of Western Texas, the only type of grain sorghum grown was giant milo, a tall, slow-growing, late-maturing variety that was not drought resistant and was, all in all, poorly adapted to West Texas conditions."

About this time the main station and the Chillicothe substation began experimenting in an attempt to find varieties more suited to this new region. In the meantime standard milo had replaced giant milo.

In 1905 A. B. Connor, then in charge of the substation, discovered a field of dwarf milo and brought and distributed the seed to the farmers of the state. Within a few years dwarf milo had replaced both standard and giant milo. Today the best dwarf, yellow milo is found from the Panhandle to Southwest Texas.

Feterita is another contribution to the Texas farmer by the experiment station system. It was evolved at Spur only a few years ago by H. E. Dickson. Today Spur feterita is known to every West Texas farmer. "Mr. Connor, who caused dwarf milo to be spread over the state, is also responsible for the introduction of another crop that has meant millions of dollars to the Texas farmer—Sudan grass of The Bulletin, a Southern Pacific railroad publication, shows an average of that line snowbound at Lubbock.

ly gained a permanent niche in the Texas farmer's cropping system. "Still another widely known crop that owes its origin to the experiment station is dwarf, black bull kaffir."

PINKSTON TO RUN FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

J. T. Pinkston, of Slaton, one of Lubbock county's most prominent farmers, has authorized the Journal to announce his candidacy as County Commissioner of Precinct No. 2, which comprises the southwest portion of the county.

Mr. Pinkston lives on his farm one mile north of Slaton, and not only is a successful farmer, but is a citizen who has the good will and respect of everyone with whom he has come in contact. He has lived in West Texas as the past fourteen years, ten years of which have been spent in this county.

He is a familiar figure about the Lubbock county court house here by virtue of his frequent calls to the service of his fellowmen in the capacity of juror, either of petit jurors or on the grand jury, and is always ready to assist in apprehension of law violators in any capacity that he may serve.

His promise, if elected to the office which he seeks, is that he will serve all the people to the best of his ability, with special favors to none.

Two Mississippians Are Thought Slain

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Authorities of the state plant board here were advised today that William Minge and J. A. McClemore, employees of the Federal Bureau of Entomology, were murdered late yesterday or last night. Their bodies were found today near Piquette, Miss. The two men, who were riding in a government automobile which was said to have been stolen together with the money and personal effects of the murdered men.

Catholic Situation in Mexico Is Easier

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The Catholic situation in Mexico apparently is growing less tense. Numerous schools where the curriculum included Catholic religious instruction, are re-opening with religious teaching excluded. This is said to meet with the approval of the government. Up to the present in Mexico City no Protestant ministers or Protestant institutions have been affected.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 20.—(AP)—A. H. Schockley and Bernard McKenna were killed and five others injured today when the truck on which they were riding was hit by a passenger train at White Fish Bay.

GOOD MONEY TO BE MADE IN TEXAS WEEDS, CLAIM

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Fortunes can be made from Texas weeds. This is the belief of J. M. Del Curto, state and federal plant pathologist.

Mr. Del Curto is receiving inquiries from music companies, perfume manufacturers, burlap manufacturers, and rubber companies about giant cane, cape jasmynes, blue bonnets, bear grass and other plants that grow wild in Texas. The companies are seeking new sources of supplies for their business, and Mr. Del Curto says they are here in Texas for the asking.

A New Orleans concern, which manufactures burs and bagging, has been buying large quantities of yucca or bear grass from New Mexico people, but is looking for a source nearer home. The concern asked Mr. Del Curto if he plant, a hardy wild fiber, grows in Texas, and was informed that it grows profusely in this state, especially in west Texas. In sections of West Texas laborers have been employed at great expense to clear the land of bear grass, the owners not knowing the fiber plant is in demand by manufacturers.

From New York comes an inquiry from the largest music instrument manufacturing company in the world about the giant cane known as "Arundo Donax." The company explained this plant provides excellent reeds for saxophones. The plant grows in abundance in some sections of the state, Mr. De. Curto said.

Inquiry about the growing of cape jasmynes and blue bonnets in Texas has been made by a French perfume manufacturing company. Mr. Del Curto said that in Galveston and Brazoria counties the cape jasmynes grow wild on thousands of acres, while the blue bonnets cover millions of acres in the southern sections of the state. He explained that the cape jasmynes produce aromatic oils, and that perfume manufactured from it is superior, in opinion of many persons, to that of the rose. The aroma from the blue bonnet is one of the most pleasant produced by flowers, he asserted.

At Marathon Texas is the only rubber factory in the United States. Rubber is made from the guayule plant, which grows wild over the Southwest section of the state. It is a shrub, resembling the sage brush. The rubber is obtained from the sap under the outer bark known as slatex. The production at this factory is only a ton a day, but cost of operation is almost confined to gathering the shrub. Attempts are being made to make wax and rubber-like substances from the candlella which grows in gigantic quantities in the coastal counties.

both counties have arranged to transfer the engineers to consideration of road building plans.

Hidalgo county recently voted a $3,500,000 bond issue for building of concrete roads.

In Cameron county a bond issue of from $1,750,000 to $4,000,000 is being urged, and sentiment indicates the issue will be carried by a large majority if the election should be called.

Prancing In Moonlit Forest, 50 Naked Men and Women Are Placed In Jail; 'It's Religion', Claim

(By The Associated Press) MUNICH, Feb. 20.—Fifty members of a cult called "The Friends of Light" have pleaded guilty to charges of prancing about the wooded Bavarian Alps, clad in costumes of Adam and Eve. Each was fined 100 to 150 marks for disorderly conduct.

A jealous wife, her husband a member, oblivious to the high ideals professed by the cult, notified the police. A raid followed while the men and women were singing and dancing in the moonlight on the shores of Lake Tegern, their clothes hanging on nearby bushes. The "friends" protested against the ruder interruption, but the blushing policemen took their names and ordered them to appear in court.

Only one of twenty arresting officers testified that he was not shocked by the nymphlike dance. Counsel for the cult explained that the organization sought "to develop and strengthen the noblest traits in mankind." He said that even the grand duke of Hess sympathized with its ideals.

Other persons testified that had the police failed to stop the performance the White Caps of the Mountains, an organization of rural highlanders, would have administered series of sound thrashings.

ON BEING VAINGLORIOUS

E. Haldeman-Julius, publisher of 50 editions of the classic of literature, is asked by a correspondent if he is egotistical and if he has a cocky strut.

Thus does man ever think and inquire of his successful fellows. We habitually judge others by ourselves. We believe the successful have "megalocephalia" because we know we know we would be all swelled up under like conditions.

A man may be egotistical without being well-headed and he may walk erect with eyes straight to the fore without having a "cocky strut." It is right and necessary for a man to have confidence and to be interested in himself but it is wrong and disastrous for him to force his peculiar qualities and achievements upon others and to purposely express professed superiority in one's manner of walking.

We have often associated "well-headedness" with success because we have failed to discern between success in the making and success achieved and to fully define just what success is. Many so-called successes are only on the second rung of the ladder. Very often these fellows think the second rung from the bottom is just as good as the top rung and oppress and irritate the public with their complacency. By the time they attain the top rung, if their self-appraisal permits them to complete the ascent, they will have learned that success is a relative and elusive thing that brooks no retrospection nor self-praise. There is always an extension ladder to climb when you reach the top rung of the ladder you are now ascending.

No it is usually those who have the most to be proud of who are the least vainglorious.

CHANGING CUSTOMS

Times have changed greatly since Hector was a pup. The younger generation proves it. Older generations admit it—albeit reluctantly—and official cognizance has just been given of the fact that things aren't what they were when grandma was a girl.

A New York court has decided that what were grounds for divorce 25 years ago are not necessarily grounds for divorce in this age of equality of the sexes and of new freedom for femininity.

It is all because of the new code of social conduct. A girl nowadays may do with impunity many things that would have meant social ostracism for her mother and jail for her grandmother in their girlhood. Modern woman is given a much wider latitude as regards her personal habits and tastes.

So rapidly has been the change one now is tempted to scoff at history recording that courts less than a quarter of a century ago granted divorces to husbands of women so "demoralized" as to use rouge and face powder, using tobacco and intoxicating liquor who had "fallen to the depths" of tors. One does not wonder that such things seem incredible to a generation which does not consider petting and drinking parties enjoyed by wives with other men as sufficient grounds for granting divorces to their husbands.

Man is so constituted that he sel-

When It's Not Hard to Say Goodbye

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Henry Rand, 35, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Griffen. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the yellow stub of a theater ticket.

Jimmy Rand, his son, goes to Cleveland, where the theater is. The stub is traced to Thomas Fogarty, who says he gave it to Olga Maynard, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with Mary Lowell. She faints when she learns police want her for murder. Mary, out with Samuel Church, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub and handkerchief might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives several mysterious warnings to leave Cleveland but ignores them. Later he is attacked at night by two men. He escapes after seizing a blackjack from one of them.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church presses his advantage and gets Mary's promise to marry him. Mary tells Jimmy this when they accidentally meet in the park.

Now go on with the story CHAPTER XXI Jimmy had seized her by the hand. He was leaning toward her. His voice was agonized.

"Mary, you mean you—you love him?"

But she did not answer. She had turned her head away and was crying.

"Mary, look at me. Look at me and then tell me that you're marrying this man because you love him."

"Don't!" Her voice was muffled, her handkerchief pressed tightly to her lips.

And then again her anger overwhelmed him. He was seized once know my opinion of Sam Church. I think he's a dirty sneak.

"It is hardly the chivalrous thing to do to speak like that of him when he isn't here."

"He lied about me!" Jimmy cried. "He poisoned you against me—"

"I suppose," she retorted, "you think your taste in choosing friends is better than mine. The lady you were seen with is not exactly unknown, you know."

"Yes," he answered hotly, "and I see her nearly every night. What do you think of that? I'm with her every night."

He rose from the bench and clamped his hat down viciously on his head. He walked away, without another backward glance, taking long, swift strides.

She sat perfectly still for several minutes, doing nothing but gaze after his departing figure as it strode through the park. Then she bowed her head on her arm and cried as if her heart would break.

"Jim," she sobbed, "you don't care. You don't care, or you wouldn't talk like that."

Jimmy's job that he had been hunting all morning was waiting for him in the first place he entered after leaving Mary. The irony of it all was that he no longer cared whether he got a job or not.

He plunged through the park without a glance to left or right, his hands stuck in his overcoat pockets, jaw grimly set, head down.

"Money!" he exclaimed bitterly. "Mac was right. All you need is money and you can buy anything."

At the edge of the park he paused and looked backward. But the bench

"Why Mary, what's the matter?" asked Mrs. Lowell. "Aren't you well?"

"It's just a headache, mother. I'll go in my room and lie down for a while. It will be better."

And she went in her room, to fling herself face down on the bed and wet her pillow with tears.

On her dressing table was a portrait of Samuel Church, placed there recently by her mother.

Jimmy, after leaving the laundry office, walked, without being conscious of direction, back to the park. He was half way through it before he realized where he was. Then, drawn by some irresistible impulse, he walked swiftly over the bench where he had left Mary.

She had gone, and he sat down wearily. A small handkerchief was lying on the bench, and he recognized it by the perfume on it. He picked it up and pressed it to his lips and cursed himself for talking to her as he had.

"I was a fool," he said. "I had no right to hurt her like that, even though she did hurt me. It's that damned temper of mine. Whatever chance I had I suppose I've lost now."

He took out his wallet and placed the handkerchief in it and then put it back in his pocket. His left hand, fumbling idly in his overcoat pocket, came in contact with the blackjack that he had taken away from the man who had followed him home that night. It had been in his pocket ever since. O'Day had left him. He had put it there, intending to give it to the lieutenant the next time he saw him.

He took it out of his pocket and idly studied it. Emory was leaning out of it where O'Day had ripped the stitches. He took his penknife from his watch chain and ripped the rest remaining stitches, letting the rest of the heavy emery dust run out.

"It will never hurt anyone else," he said abstractedly. He was suddenly overcome with a feeling of tenderness.

He shoved the now harmless weapon back in his pocket and stood up. It was quite dark.

"Hell," he said, and shook himself together. "Something to get my mind off myself before I go crazy."

He set off through the park at a brisk gait and didn't stop until he had reached his room, a walk of more than a mile. There, after washing and putting on a fresh shirt, he went to the telephone, called up Olga Maynard at her apartment and asked her to meet him downstairs for dinner.

"Anything to forget," he said, after he had hung up the receiver.

TEACHING RELIGION

Can we build a worthy American citizenship without religion in the schools? If not, then, there is going to have to be a complete change in the program of present day education.—Bronze Enterprise.

The teaching of religion in the schools has again become somewhat of a moot question. It is a question that must engage us all until settled. Certainly, there can be no argument as to whether or not religion and religious studies should be taught in the denominational schools. It is a foregone conclusion that such must be done. But what about the teaching of religion in the public schools? That is a different matter. Certainly, the plan adopted by some public schools whereby the Bible is read at the chapel exercises without comment is a good plan to follow. It creates in the mind of the student an interest in the Bible and where the Scripture is read each morning it serves to remind the student of the value of the Bible in helping to start the day off right. Doubtless some folks may think that the Bible ought to be read in each business house to the employees before the day's business is started. Well, that's another matter. But the fact remains that the reading of the Bible in the public schools is a mighty good course to follow.—Abilene Reporter.

GROWTH

They say Stamford, like the wasp was bigger soon after infancy than it has ever been since. They do say we once had 7,500 people here, located in tents, huts, wagons and sleeping at night on the ground. Might have been. There was no other place for them to stay, it seems. That population was truly floating. We may have that many here on a certain day and the next day they may have been gone. There are more than 5,000 who stay here now and happy for it for they are sheltered and fed and cared for, the floating part having mostly floated off. What we get now we keep and we are constantly getting more, all the while.—Stamford Leader.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

PRESIDENTIAL SPOKESMAN SPEAKS ONCE TOO OFTEN

BY CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer WASHINGTON — The impossible's happened.

Calvin Coolidge has talked too much. At any rate, the "presidential Spokesman" has.

Congress consists of regular Republicans, regular Democrats and so-called radicals, who are rebel Republicans, mostly.

In the 68th Congress, as in this, the 69th, the regular Republicans had a safe majority in the House of Representatives, so leave the House of Representatives out of consideration.

But in the Senate the Democrats and radicals together are stronger than the regular Republicans — that is to say, when they vote unitedly. In the last Congress that's what they did, tying up everything.

So, between sessions, the regular Republicans buttonholed the regular Democrats and said, "Let's combine against these dam radicals and you shall have some of the gravy."

Thus was formed what the radicals called the "coalition," though the regulars, on both sides, hated the expression.

Every time the regular Republicans wanted to do anything of any consequence, they proclaimed, "This is non-partisan," which enabled the regular Democrats to vote for it.

Hence the expression of appreciation from the "presidential spokesman."

The regular Democrats senators' home folks hadn't been paying much attention to what their senators were doing, but when a Republican "presidential spokesman" complimented them they sat up and took notice.

Whereupon the "coalition" blew up, with a deafening report, in the midst of the Senate debate on the tax bill. As far as the tax bill, "Go to it! Rip it up! Rip it!" yelled Senator Smoot, its sponsor, in an access of fury, as he saw what the combined Democrats and radicals were doing to it.

"Jim, don't. Please don't say any more."

But he went heedlessly on, the words rushing haphazardly from his lips.

"This man Church has money—lots of it. He got you with it. You're marrying him for his money, that's what you're doing."

"How are you?" She turned on him, her lips trembling.

"You don't deny it." He laughed scornfully. "You don't dare tell me you love him. You can't. You don't dare look at me and tell me you don't love me."

She drew herself up. "You presume a great deal."

"I presume nothing. I'm stating facts."

She had regained her composure now. She said, trying to wound him. "To be so sure of yourself certainly indicates you are not lacking in conceit."

The barb went home. His face reddened. "Perhaps," he said, "I did take too much for granted. I'm sorry."

At the contriteness in his tone she reached involuntarily toward him with her hand, but he did not see it and she hastily drew it back.

And so he went plunging ahead, still trying his best to hurt this girl whom he loved better than anything in the world.

"I had thought Mac was wrong. I thought there were some things in this world that money could not buy. But I was wrong—I was a fool. You even got me out of the way down at the office. I offended you, and so you had me fired."

She looked at him, startled. "You thought that?" she repeated slowly. "You thought I had you fired?" and instantly he saw he was wrong in accusing her.

"What else was I to think? I found you cold. You wouldn't even speak to me, and that evening the man I work for discharged me."

"I don't think," she said in a whisper, "that Sam Church would think such a thing of me."

Interesting in that connection is the first anniversary of the Ford guaranteed used car plan, which has not only raised to a new height public confidence in used Ford cars, but due to the fact that approximately half the cars in use are Fords, has gone a long way to stabilizing this phase of the automobile industry.

Public acceptance of the Ford used car plan is clearly indicated in reports made to the company general offices in Detroit.

DISCIPLINARY BOARD TO BRING STUDENTS UP 'ON CARPET'

(By the Associated Press) DENTON, Tex., Feb. 20. (AP)—The disciplinary committee of the College of Industrial Arts here was to meet today in executive session to consider action regarding the threatened student revolt nipped yesterday.

The session was ordered by Dean E. V. White, who aided in frustrating a mass meeting planned to protest against the resignation of President Lindsey Blayney.

The students who it is said will be called before the committee are the Misses Dell and Francis Bacon, of Dallas; Miss Margaret Dowling and Miss Aschbacher of Houston; Miss Peggy Ericson of Los Angeles; Miss Minta Roberts of Crawford and Miss Sylvia Scholl of Dallas.

Dr. Blayney prevented the reading of a statement at the weekly college assembly yesterday. The statement reviewed conditions leading to his resignation and presented complaints of students favoring Dr. Blayney. The president advised that such statements must be presented to the board of trustees.

As Dr. Blayney and Mrs. Blayney walked from the college to their home, students cheered them.

Charge Foresters Issue Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—A charge that the American forestry association has conducted a campaign of propaganda throughout the country in behalf of policies of the forestry service of the aviation department, was made today by Chairman Stanfield of the senate public lands committee.

The charge was made when Ovid M. Butler, executive secretary of the association, appeared in opposition to the Stanfield measure to regulate grazing on public domains and national forests. Asked about the extent to which employees of the government forestry service were connected with the association Mr. Butler said that W. B. Greeley, chief of the forestry service was one of its directors, but exercised no more influence than any other member of the board.

"It is not a fact," Chairman Stanfield asked, "that the association's magazine, American Forests and Forest Life, is a mouthpiece for Mr. Greeley?"

"No," replied Mr. Butler. "The magazine is devoted to advancing the cause of America for American forest conservation."

"When Mr. Butler expressed disapproval of the questioning, Chairman Stanfield said if he not choose to answer voluntarily, he would be subpoenaed by the committee and placed under oath.

Ask Your Wife

to pass on this Studebaker Big Six Sedan —now $1895

One-Profit prices and Unit-Built construction have made Studebaker Big Six the fastest-selling high-powered car in the world today

YOU will appreciate the Big Six Sedan because it has all the power, speed, stamina and long life that a man could desire in a motor car.

Your wife and her friends will be delighted with the individuality of the Big Six—the sheer richness of genuine mohair—the refinements of finish that exacting women love.

Fourteen months ago, the Big Six Sedan (7-passenger) sold at $2785, but since then, One-Profit savings have been passed on to purchasers in three price reductions. As a result the seven-passenger Sedan now sells at $2145 and the five-passenger Sedan at $1895, and the Big Six is outselling every other car in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower.

Studebaker's unique facilities Few motor car "manufacturers" have foundries, forges, etc., to make their own engines—yet one-fifth of the cost of an automobile is in the engine. Even fewer build their own bodies—yet one-third the cost of a car is in the body.

Not only does Studebaker make all bodies and all engines used in Studebaker cars, but also all clutches, gear sets, springs, differentials, steering gears, brakes, axles, gray-iron castings and drop forgings. Only Ford in the low-price field and Studebaker in the fine-car field enjoy the benefits of such complete manufacturing facilities.

One-Profit value These facilities enable Studebaker to manufacture quality cars on a One-Profit basis. They enable Studebaker to eliminate the profits of outside parts and body makers. Many major savings are thus effected and passed on to the ultimate buyers of Studebaker cars, either in the form of higher quality, lower price—or both.

Unit-Built construction Studebaker facilities result, too, in Unit-Built construction—in cars designed, engineered and built as units. The hundreds of parts used in a Studebaker car function together as a unit, resulting in longer life, greater riding comfort and higher resale value. Scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation thus are built into Studebaker cars.

Always kept up-to-date Because all phases of manufacture are directly under Studebaker control, Studebaker cars are constantly kept up-to-date. We add improvements regardless of the calendar—we do not save them up for spectacular annual announcements which make cars artificially obsolete. Resale values are thus stabilized.

Rock bottom time-payment rates Leading bankers, recognizing Studebaker stability, have made money available for financing Studebaker cars at low interest. They know Unit-Built cars bought at One-Profit prices and always kept up-to-date are exceptionally fine risks. Therefore, no car in the world is able to offer lower time-payment rates than Studebaker.

Studebaker Big Six 5-Passenger Sedan

$1895

Under Studebaker's fair and liberal Budget Payment Plan, this Sedan may be purchased out of monthly income for a small initial payment and at the lowest time-payment rates known to the automobile industry.

STUDEBAKER Big Six 5-Passenger Sedan

To surpass it in rated horsepower costs $2855 to $8155 more.

THE 5-Passenger Big Six Sedan is powered with the identical engine that carries hundreds of Studebaker busses at high speed over some of the most mountainous and difficult-to-travel roads in America—hence we urge you to compare its thrilling performance with that of any eight-cylinder car. It is luxuriously comfortable, beautifully finished, elaborately equipped.

Based on the rating of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and the Society of Automotive Engineers, only seven American cars equal this Big Six Sedan in power. But they sell for two to four times its price.

It is richly upholstered in genuine mohair, which is indicative of the fine quality body construction you cannot see. Body pillars are of northern white ash—cross-members of hard maple.

It has an automatic spark control, safety lighting switch on the steering wheel, gasoline gauge on the dash. There's also an 8-day clock, automatic windshield cleaner, rear-view mirror, air cleaner, oil and gas filters, cow ventilator, stop light, inspection light on 10-foot cord.

Ride in it, feel the surge of power from the smooth, silent engine, compare its performance with any eight-cylinder car, and you will know why the Big Six outsells all other cars of equal or greater rated horsepower.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, President of the Tech College, will speak at the morning hour, and will have a message that will be of interest to all who will attend the announcement said.

At the evening service, Dr. John C. Some statistics in connection with the practice, both local and over the nation, will be presented, and various phases of the situation will be discussed, in a frank manner, Dr. Granbery said Saturday.

PLACID CADDO LAKE, UNDER DISPUTE BY THREE GOVERNMENTS, MAY BECOME NATIONAL PARK AND PLEASURE SPOT

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 20. (AP)—Placid Caddo Lake, one of the Southland's scenic jewels, which for three quarters of a century has given man pleasure, sustenance and transportation. Now is endangered by an agitation involving three governments.

The lake, one of the largest in the country, lies in East Texas and Northwestern Louisiana, and because of its navigability, also is under control of the United States government, a triple guardianship that makes the lake no man's child.

May Become National Park. Texans interested in this body of water desire that it be preserved, chiefly as a pleasure spot, possibly to become a national park. Some citizens of Louisiana wish it drained and its bed turned into farms. The federal government, which now is repairing the dam by which the lake was formed, after a subterranean rift caused the sinking of the area, has virtually given notice that it soon will abandon the body, leading its fate to be determined by the two states.

On the bosom of these disputed waters once rode a not insignificant commerce, and even before commerce found it profitable, it had been a rendezvous for sport lovers from many states. It still is a delight to amateur fishermen, and the rolling hills about it are a joy to hunters, while its scenery is dotted with many pleasure cottages. Neither has it been deserted by the boats of commerce, for in 1924 tonnage totalling 17,988 pounds, valued at $1,211,000 was carried on the lake.

37 Miles Long. The lake is 37 miles long and varies from three to six miles in width. The town of Jefferson, Texas, lies at its western extremity, while Shreveport, La., is near the eastern end.

The original dam, built to preserve the lake, was constructed before the Civil War for the purpose of bringing commerce up the Red river over the lake to Jefferson from New Orleans.

No secure did Jefferson feel in the benefits of this commerce, that when the Texas and Pacific railroad built through that section, the town refused to give the road a right of way, and the result was that the shops and terminals of the road went to Texas, Kansas and Marshall, Texas, building up those towns at the expense of Jefferson.

Level Raised by New Dam. A new dam was built in 1914, raising the level of the lake four feet. This dam was damaged by the erosion of a drainage ditch, and emergency repairs by the federal government are now in progress. The government, however, threatens to withdraw from this project when the present repairs are completed, on the theory that the lake no longer is navigable.

According to interested Texans this situation probably would leave Caddo Lake in a precarious situation, because the dam will need maintenance. Texas citizens state that Louisiana property owners probably would be averse to supporting the maintenance because they seem to favor use of the waters for drainage. Legal technicalities appear to prevent Texas from making any appropriation for maintenance of the dam because it is in Louisiana, while the impounded water is largely in Texas.

T. W. Davidson of Marshall, former lieutenant governor of Texas, has suggested that the legislatures of the two states dedicate the bed of the lake to the federal government, and that an act of Congress be passed accepting the donation and creating a game sanctuary where wild ducks and migratory birds would be safe from the sportsman's gun.

Five hundred oil wells have been drilled in the bed of the lake and tributary streams. It is said the wells could not have been drilled if the lake had not been fagged, because formerly the area was an impassible marsh. The drilling operations were conducted from barges.

Many Breeders Expected To Be At Fat Stock Show

FORT WORTH, Feb. 20. (AP)—Several thousand breeders of registered livestock are expected to be here during the auction sales to be held during the 1926 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, March 5-13. It is announced by department heads of the exposition. The annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, held at the same time, will attract many cattlemen to the show.

For several years the interest in the auction of thoroughbreds has increased, due, the cattlemen say, to the fact that the spring of the year is the time when effort is made to improve the herds with registered animals.

Practically every breed of dairy and beef cattle will be led into the new auction arena which is nearing completion. The arena will have a seating capacity of 1,000. It is built of steel and concrete, the architecture harmonizing with that of the other structures erected on the exposition grounds during the past two years.

Convenience of the livestock owners, crowds and auctioneer was taken into consideration in planning the building, a structure declared by Secretary-Manager Ed R. Henry to be second to no other livestock sales pavilion in the United States.

Houston Section Under Heavy Snow Thirty Years Ago. HOUSTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—Thirty years ago Feb. 15, this section and southwestern Louisiana was under a blanket of the deepest snow on record. A picture printed in the current issue of The Bulletin, a Southern Pacific railroad publication, shows an immense of that line snowbound at Lake Charles, La., Feb. 15, 1895. "According to B. G. Moore, an employe at Lake Charles, the snow was 22 inches deep when the photograph was taken," the Bulletin says.

The date is not far wrong, L. H. Daingerfield, government meteorologist here, said. Record of his office show that in 24 hours on Feb. 14 and 15, 1895, 20 inches of snow fell in Houston. The nearest approach to the record was but a paltry two inches, the records show.

WOMEN'S STRUGGLE FOR SUFFRAGE RECOUNTED

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 20. (AP)—Struggle for women's suffrage raged for decades in Texas. It was not until the fourth Saturday in July 1921 that women were granted full suffrage in Texas, although they voted in the primaries of 1918.

In the fight persons nationally known led and it was waged more by Julia Ward Howe of Boston, chairman of the executive committee of the American Women Suffrage Association and Lucy Stone, president, than by the women of Texas. The women in Texas were busy building homes for their pioneer husbands, when the association presented memorials to the Texas senate and house of representatives, Feb. 14, 1872, asking for the right of suffrage.

These memorials, written on letter-head of "The Woman's Journal," then published at No. 3 Tremont Place, Boston, are in the secretary of state's files. Lucy Stone was president, Julia Ward Howe was chairman of the executive committee, Mary Green was corresponding secretary, and Henry B. Blackwell was recording secretary, all of Boston. Kate N. Duggett of Illinois was foreign corresponding secretary. Amada Way of Indiana was foreign recording secretary, and John K. Wilderman of Pennsylvania, was treasurer.

The vice presidents were numerous and well known in their respective states, and there were a number of vice presidents at large. They were: T. W. Higginson of Rhode Island, Mrs. W. T. Howard of Missouri, Mary A. Livermore of Massachusetts, William Lloyd Garrison of Massachusetts, Geo. William Curtis of New York, Hanna M. T. Cutler of Illinois, George W. Julian of Indiana, and Margaret V. Longley of Ohio.

The memorials were alike and were addressed "To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Texas." "The American Women Suffrage Association respectfully represents: That, whereas the first section of the second article of the constitution of the United States expressly provides that each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature there-of may direct, the electors of president and vice president

"And where, women are not unjustly excluded from any participation in the election of these highest officers of the nation.

"We therefore respectfully pray your honorable bodies that you will exercise the authority thus vested in you by the federal constitution and enact a law conferring suffrage upon women who are citizens of the United States and the State of Texas, in the approaching presidential election, upon the same terms and conditions as men.

"And we further respectfully represent that whereas the constitution of the State of Texas contains no restriction upon the exercise of the suffrage by women in regard to the election of certain state county, town and municipal officers, we, therefore, respectfully pray that you will enact a law abolishing all political distinctions on account of sex, except where the same are expressly contained in the present constitution of your state.

"That whereas the constitution of the State of Texas restricts suffrage for certain officers to men alone, therefore we respectfully pray your honorable bodies to take the necessary steps to amend the state constitution so as to abolish hereafter all political distinction on account of sex.

"This memorial is presented in accordance with resolution adopted at the annual meeting of said American Suffrage Association held in Philadelphia on the 22nd day of November, 1871, at which were present delegates from auxiliary societies in twenty-two states."

Texas Return After Fruitless Trip And Say Robbers Missing

CAMDEN, Ark., Feb. 20. (AP)—Sheriff Gib Abernathy of Palo Pinto, Texas, and W. D. Stephens, cashier of the Strawn State Bank, Strawn, Texas, have returned home after failing to identify Fred Stratton, Charlie Roberts and John Roberts as members of a gang that robbed the Strawn bank.

The trio, held in jail here denied connection with the robbery, officers said. They made a statement in connection with the robbery of a bank at Lapan, Texas, on January 8, however. The men have indicated their willingness to return to Texas for trial, however, without requisition. They will not be released to Texas officers unless the usual reward for bank robbers is paid, Sheriff John Newton said, but will be held here and tried on charges of automobile theft pending against them.

John Langley, Kentucky congressman, convicted and sent to prison for a liquor conspiracy, resigns and goes to prison and his wife is a candidate for his vacant seat. And, mind you, she is very apt to be elected.—Houston Post-Dispatch.

SCENIC HIGHWAY UNDER WAY AT LAREDO

LAREDO, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—The success of what promises to be one of the most important and scenic highways on this hemisphere has been started in the Nuevo Laredo-Monterrey branch of the Nuevo-Laredo to Mexico City, highway, which is being constructed in the Nuevo Laredo-Monterrey construction company of Chicago for the Mexican government. Work of construction from both ends of the Nuevo-Laredo-Monterrey branch of the highway is now under full headway under the supervision of C. M. Hammeken, assistant superintendent.

Recently Mr. Hammeken and Mexican Consul Y. M. Vasquez, headed a delegation composed of M. W. Brennan, Charles Mumm, Sam Meckin, Matias de Llanos, J. R. Moore, Benjamin Salinas, J. M. Ramos, W. B. Hambley, Mexican Vice Consul Angel Canales Castillo and J. W. Falvela, on an inspection of part of the road.

The highway starts at the international bridge on the Mexican side on Guerrero street and extends to the National Lines of Mexico railway tracks. On the south side of these tracks the construction work is under way for five miles. The work is being done by caterpillar tractors and graders. Gravel for the base is being hauled from the mountains. A feature of the highway is a tangent of 34 miles.

Grades will be kept low and the engineers plan to make the road as straight as possible, eliminating many of the curves. The highway is 30 feet wide, with a traffic base of 18 feet, which will be hard-surfaced.

The work will be pushed as fast as possible, Hammeken announced.

MEXICO SEEKS TO HALT SMUGGLING OF SILK GOODS

MATANOROS, Mexico, Feb. 20. (AP)—While customs officers and border agents of the United States are busy seeking to prevent the smuggling of liquors, narcotics and aliens into that country, Mexican authorities are equally vigilant seeking to prevent the illegal entry of silks and other valuable goods into Mexico.

Ten bolts of silk, averaging 50 pounds to the bolt, and valued at about $7,500, recently were brought here by Luis Horcasitas, chief of the customs office at Nuevo Laredo for the border district. The silk was captured after a skirmish between the officer's force and the smugglers at a place called "plan del Alazan," southeast of Nuevo Laredo and north of San Fernando.

The goods had been loaded and stored in the customs house at Brownsville for some time and officials on the south side of the Rio Grande had been notified. They had been watching the silk, believing an attempt would be made to smuggle the contraband across the river, and when the silk was withdrawn from storage they were apprised.

Officers set on guard, on seeing a bus approaching, called to the driver to halt. Instead the machine was speeded up. The officers fired, and the men in the bus returned the volley, a warm chase ensuing. After the skirmish had gone on for a considerable time, the bus was driven into underbrush along the side of the road, and the men made their escape in the thick undergrowth.

A determined drive to end the traffic in silk is being made by Horcasitas, and seizures are made frequently.

CLARENCE SAUNDERS MAY AGAIN FACE COURTS, THIS TIME AFTER GRANDJURY DECIDES ON CHARGE

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20. (AP)—Information obtained by the postoffice department in investigation of the sale of Piggly Wiggly Corporation stock by Clarence Saunders of Memphis, Tenn., in 1923, was presented to the federal grand jury here Thursday in an effort to obtain an indictment charging him with use of the mails to defraud.

Postoffice inspectors declared Saunders caused newspaper advertisements to be published and mailed promising a 7 percent return to those who invested in his chain system of self service groceries. Saunders' spectacular financial collapse that year made promise unavailing, inspectors said.

12 Witnesses Ready
About 12 witnesses were on hand to go before the grand jury including some who had invested in the stock and seven residents of Memphis who were officers or employees associated in the business with Saunders. One of these was John C. Burch, now secretary-treasurer of the Piggly Wiggly Corporation, with whom Saunders had a first fight January 23 in Memphis when it became known inspectors were making an inquiry.

Saunders published full page advertisements in Memphis newspapers last Monday declaring he was "about to be outraged by an indictment in St. Louis," brought about by "some of the Piggly Wiggly bunch."

Saunders resigned as president of the Piggly Wiggly Corporation in August 1923. The previous March it had been reported he had defeated Wall Street speculators in a struggle over Piggly Wiggly stock, having raised a $10,000,000 pool to corner the market, of which St. Louisians supplied $1,000,000. The New York Stock Exchange then struck Piggly Wiggly from its list and Saunders lost control of the company he had founded. He filed a petition in bankruptcy in Memphis two years ago listing claims of St. Louisians amounting to $182,990. He was relieved of bankruptcy last December and it was reported he was succeeding the manufacture fabricated stores which he was shipping over the country to be set up and operated under his "help your self" scheme.

MOCKING BIRD IS ADVOCATED AS STATE BIRD

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—The mocking bird should be the state bird of Texas, in the opinion of the Houston Outdoor Nature club.

A statement issued by the society notes that the St. Petersburg Audubon Society is advocating its selection of the mocking-bird as the state bird for Florida.

"We are in hearty accord with this movement to select a state bird," the statement says, "but in all sincerity, we feel sure that Texas has more mocking birds than Florida and that our Texas Mockers are the sweetest singers in all the Southland's wonderful chorus of graceful, gray-coated minstrels."

"For more than two years the Outdoor Nature club has advocated the selection of the mockingbird as the state bird of Texas as a deserved honor to our best known bird citizen, an incentive toward greater interest in our native flora and fauna and a lasting world-wide advertisement for our state."

"Texas has a worthy state tree, the pecan, and a beautiful state flower, the Blue Bonnet. Eventually we shall have a state bird and so will every other state. There is no reason why we should lag behind until other commonwealths, more alert and appreciative, have chosen the most attractive birds as their avian standard bearers. Were we to do so, we would prove ourselves deserving of some such species

FOUR MEN MAY BE DEAD AS RESULT OF CRASH

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—Four men were missing after a collision yesterday between a New York Marine Company's tug and the Fall River line steamer New Hampshire in the East River near Brooklyn bridge. Six others, three of whom were in serious condition, were taken to Beekman Street hospital following submersion and exposure.

All of the crew of the tug were thrown into water by the force of the collision. Three men clung to floating ice cakes until rescued by the New Hampshire and several tugs rushed to the scene. A three hour search failed to reveal the four missing men. The tug sank immediately, only the top of its smoke stack remaining above the surface of the river.

The boy died at hospital from a fracture skull without regaining consciousness. He was brought to the hospital by a negro, who disappeared while physicians were examining the lad. This negro told doctors the boy had struck his head against a lamp post in alighting from an automobile.

The boy's mother, Agnes Williams, is in jail with seven others charged with Isbell's murder. The policeman was shot to death several weeks ago when he halted an automobile driven by negroes.
