US Jobless Rate Is Lowest In 3½ Years

WASHINGTON (AP) - The unemployment rate dropped to 6 percent for the first time in 3½ years last month as more Americans were able to find work, the government said today.

The proportion of the working-age population holding jobs rose to 58.4 percent, the highest in history, the Labor Department said.

In an encouraging jobs report, the department said total employment rose by 535,000 in April to 93.8 million. About one-quarter of this increase, however, reflected the return of striking coal miners to work.

The 6 percent unemployment rate was the lowest since a 5.9 percent rate in October 1974. Since then, unemployment jumped to 9.1 percent in May 1975 before gradually descending to 7.1 percent last April and 6.1 percent in February of this year. The jobless rate was 6.2 percent in March.

The Labor Department also reported:

-The unemployment rate for adult men dropped from 4.5 to 4.2 percent, while it remained the same for adult women at 5.8 percent.

-Black unemployment dropped from 12.4 percent to 11.8 percent, the same rate as in February.

-Unemployment among black teen-agers, a big concern of the Carter administration, improved substantially, falling from 39 to 35.3 percent.

-The average length of unemployment declined from 6.2 to 5.8 weeks in April.

-The labor force, which is the total number of persons with jobs and looking for them, rose by 370,000 to 99.8 million, as more adult women sought employment.

-The average work week rose from 36.1 to 36.2 hours.

The improvement in the jobs picture came as the economy recovered from the effects of a severe winter and the coal strike.

Industries increased their output, retail stores were selling more, indicating that more jobs were becoming available.

The percentage of adults holding jobs has continued to climb as women and teen-agers have gone into the job market. The proportion of these people holding jobs was 58.2 percent in March before rising to 58.4 percent last month.

Friday update

Uvalde Elections On

WASHINGTON (AP) - A group of Mexican-Americans lost its legal bid today to block Saturday's scheduled primary elections in Uvalde County, Texas, commissioner races.

Supreme Court Justice William H. Rehnquist denied without comment an emergency request by the group, which contends the boundaries of the four voting precincts used to elect commissioners are illegal.

Another Message

ROME (AP) - A purported message from the Red Brigades said today they were "carrying out" the death verdict against kidnapped former Premier Aldo Moro.

It was not immediately determined whether the message was authentic. A similar message last month turned out to be false.

Carter Trip Success

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - President Carter, nearing the end of a four-state Western tour, calls the trip a success and says he is not a "political handicap" to campaigning Democrats.

Carter offered his optimistic assessment at a regional news conference here Thursday night before moving on to a final stop in Spokane, Wash., today. He visited Colorado and California on Wednesday and Thursday.

Dollar Drops

LONDON (AP) - The dollar dropped today in early quiet trading on European money markets after the Ascension Day holiday. But prices generally were better than those in New York late Thursday.

Dealers said many operators were taking a long weekend.

SENATE OFFICERS - Officers of the Student Senate at Western Texas College for 1978-79 were introduced Thursday. Pictured above (standing) are Joe Dunn of Loraine, vice president, and David Galvan of Loraine, president. Seated are Becky Westbrook of Kermit, treasurer, and Valerie Wilson of Snyder, secretary. Other officers and representatives to the Senate will be elected at the beginning of the fall semester, Mrs. Mickey Baird, Director of Student Activities, said.

Keeping tab on the neighbors:

Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press-Reporter wound up his comments on the election campaign by announcing his own "Country Editor Emmy Awards" for "best of category," based on his personal observations as the candidates visited Lamesa.

Here's how some of them went:

"Most Eloquent Award: Bob Krueger. He can express himself so well in such a mellow voice, he could convince Dawson County farmers to go ahead and plant without a rain!

"Best Meal Award: Krueger again. A noontime luncheon at the Pheasant was absolutely the finest.

"Biggest Welcome Sign Award: Preston Smith. It covered the west wall of the Caprock Room at Turner's Cafe.

"Smallest Sign On The Wall: Kent Hance reception. Someone put up a bumper sticker on that same wall.

"Most Kin Folks Award: John Hill. He sent everyone out except Aunt Martha and she's probably in East Texas. Hill dispatched his wife, the kids and the son-in-law to Lamesa. No telling what the metropolitan areas got considering their voting prowess."

Eileen McGuire of the Big Spring Herald says the best explanation she's heard yet for marriages no longer lasting as long as they used to came not from human behavior experts, but from a television movie. Two of the main characters were an elderly couple reflecting on their 40-year marraige.

"Marriages don't last as long as they used to," said he to her.

"They don't have to," she observed. "Who could have afforded divorce when we were young?"

Absentee voting trends have caused revisions upward in voter turnout forecasts for Saturday's primary election. We were interested in some comparisons and appraisals of the situation in some of our neighboring towns. Scurry County's absentee vote total of more than 500 is considered good, or heavy. At Hereford, the Brand reports that an absentee total of 293 there may be an all-time record. But the Vernon Daily Record reported more than 1,000 absentee votes there, which it called "unprecedented."

Scurry County Farmers To Plant 'Wall-To-Wall'

As Scurry County farmers stand poised to begin this year's planting, it appears it is going to be a 100 percent production.

Despite pleas made by the American Agriculture Movement earlier this year that called for a 50 percent cutback in production, several area farmers have reported that economic necessities are forcing them to a full crop production.

At one time, farmers said, approximately 55,000 acres of farmland in Scurry County had been signed up for the production cutback. Statistically, the 55,000 acres represented about 26 percent of the total cultivated acreage in the county. Now, that's gone.

"It's melted away. No more than there were participating in it, it wouldn't have worked," said one farmer who had at one time enthusiastically embraced the proposals of the AAM. "Everyone's going to plant wall to wall," he said.

Of the three farmers interviewed, all requested anonymity.

"It has all gone down the drain," said another farmer. "The government put a kink in it."

He said he discovered that disaster payments, which are made by the government to help farmers following weather and climate disasters, are based on the percentage of the crop planted.

"They got it to where you're going to cut your own throat if you don't plant. They got you over the barrel," he said.

Another farmer also cited the problem striking farmers could face in disaster payments by planting at anything less than 100 percent.

"The reasons for it," he said "are the rules and regulations the U.S. Department of Agriculture has come out with."

He added that it is "best to comply with what it (the USDA) has mandated."

Senior Citizen Fun Day Set In Park Tomorrow

Get the Saturday chores done early this week, because you've got an invitation to meet some friends in the park for Fun Day!

It all begins at 2 o'clock and continues until about 7.

"Everyone in Scurry County is invited, young and old," Mrs. Gloria Shaw, Fun Day coordinator, said. Mrs. Shaw is director of the Senior Citizens Center at Western Texas College. Fun Day has been planned by the Center to acquaint community residents with the Center and with the organizations which serve local Senior Citizens.

Fun Day will be almost like a country fair, with booths offering refreshments, games and entertainment. Some activities will be in the park barn and others will be in the park nearby, so visitors are encouraged to bring lawn chairs or blankets so they may relax and stay as long as they like.

Transportation to the park will be provided by the Senior Center van. Persons who have not already made arrangements for transportation may call Dale Glover at 573-7544 between 8 and 11 a.m. Saturday so they can be picked up and returned to their homes.

Starting at 4 o'clock, a meal featuring barbecued beef brisket will be served in the pavilion. Due to heavy advance ticket sales, no tickets will be sold on Saturday until 6:30 p.m. (Serving is to continue until 7). Everyone who eats must have a ticket, Mrs. Shaw emphasized, and this includes all Senior Citizens. The meal is being prepared by George Gann, director of the WTC cafeteria. Gann also prepared food for the noon meal served in the Senior Center each weekday and he is preparing the barbecue at cost as a benefit for the center.

Entertainment will get underway at 2 o'clock in the park. Von Roeder Seed Farms has donated the use of a large truck to serve as a stage. First on the continuing program will be Mrs. Audine McCann from 2-2:15. Following will be Mrs. Opal Woodard, 2:15-2:30; Senior Center Square Dancers, 2:30-2:45; James Davis, 2:45-3; RSVP Kitchen Band, 3-3:30; Fiddlers' Contest, 3:30-4; Western Ranch Hands, 4-5; Senior Center Square Dancers, 5-5:15, and Hobo Band, 5:15-6:15.

Prizes of $25 and $15 will go to the first and second place winners in the Fiddlers' Contest.

Senior Citizens will be demonstrating quilting skills in one of the booths. The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will furnish information about their organization at a booth and the Triple L Club from the First Baptist Church will operate a Bargain Store. Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) members will offer ice cream and lemonade for sale at their booth. Visitors will be invited to rest in a booth provided by Leisure Lodge.

Other activities and committee chairmen in charge are:

Bingo, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Williams; Cake Walk, Mrs. P.J. Kubena and Mrs. Lloyd Reeves;

Big Selection For Local Democrats

Scurry County Democrats will find contested races for a dozen state offices, two district offices and five county offices on their primary ballot tomorrow.

Republicans have only one contested race, that for governor.

However, both ballots have special referendums. A referendum on parimutuel wagering on horse races is on both ballots. In addition, the Republicans have a referendum on a proposal to elect national convention delegates in the party's primary, and another on limiting the amount of taxes that can be levied by state and local governments.

The Democrats have a second referendum on a proposal to authorize higher interest rates on loans of $5,000 or less.

The parimutuel betting referendum, which is on both ballots, is normally a lively issue, but in Snyder this year it has been crowded into the background by a local option election scheduled Monday, just two days following the primary election.

Snyder and Scurry County attracted campaigners for several state offices in recent weeks, with candidates for the 17th District seat in Congress leading the way. All seven of the Democratic Party candidates for Congress were here during the campaign, some of them several times, and Bill Fisher, the lone Republican candidate for the post being vacated by Omar Burleson, has campaigned here.

In local races, County Judge Preston Wilson is being challenged by Bobby Goodwin, current justice of the peace in Precinct No. 1. This race in turn has resulted in a three-way battle for Goodwin's JP post, with Dan Callaway, Janet Hall and Lesley Shelburne in that

Daily News Sunday Issue To Be Later

Snyder Daily News subscribers who are accustomed to receiving their Sunday paper after the press runs on Saturday evening will have to wait a while longer this Sunday, May 7.

Press time for the Sunday paper this time will be delayed so that results of Saturday's primary election may be included. The Daily News plans to publish complete results on local races and hopefully decisive figures on state races in the Sunday issue.

8,000 Voters Registered In Scurry

Some 8,000 voters are eligible to cast ballots in Scurry County primary elections Saturday and possbily half or more will vote, estimates were today.

Over 500 absentee ballots were issued for the primaries and 428 were issued for the Snyder local option election coming up Monday. Only voters who live in the city may cast ballots in the local option election. Estimates are that there are more than 5,000 registered voters in the city.

Voters who have received the yellow registration cards and were registered at least 30 days before the election are qualified to cast ballots. The registration card should be presented at the polling place, but if it has been misplaced, each polling place will have a list of registered voters and a voter who has lost his card can sign a list and vote.

Six County Races Are On Fisher Ballot

ROBY--Fisher County Democrats will find six local contested races on the ballot when they go to the polls Saturday in the primary election.

Incumbent Dwight L. Lovett is opposed by Marsha Bennett for county judge, Incumbent Geneva Perkins is opposed by Lunette Goforth and Patsy Neeper for county clerk, Inez Pullig Stephens faces a challenge by Tom Collins for county treasurer, Jimmy Wright and J. Garland Moore are candidates for commissioner in Precinct No. 4, Incumbent E.J. (Junior) Kiker is opposed by Billy Henderson for commissioner in Precinct No. 4, and Incumbent Jeff Simmons is opposed by Aubrey Chandler for justice of the peace in Precinct No. 1.

The polling places will be located as follows: Box 1, courthouse in Roby; Box 1A, City Hall in Rotan; Box 4, courthouse in Roby; Box 4A, police station in Rotan; Box 6, school lunchroom in McCaulley; Box 10, Community center in Rotan; Box 12, football fieldhouse in Rotan; Box 13, school building in Hobbs; Box 17, Captola Community Building; Box 18, new community building at Longworth; Box 22, Sylvester Community Center.

Mitchell Has 3 Contested Demo Races

COLORADO CITY--Three incumbents face challenges in Saturday's Democratic Party Primary in Mitchell County.

Marie Bassham, county clerk, is opposed by Joan Beach, while Robert Bruce, county commissioner in Precinct No. 4, is in a race with Bill Preston and George Lee, and Ruby C. Sweatt, justice of the peace in Precinct No. 2, is challenged by Grace Plummer Johnson.

Running unopposed are Bill F. Carter, county judge; B.H. Erwin, district clerk; Clarence C. (Mike) Burt, county tax assessor-collector (unexpired term); Mildred Mann Boyd, county treasurer; Henry Doss, justice of the peace, Precinct No. 1; Mary Lee Moore, justice of the peace, Precinct No. 3, and W.H. Hart, justice of the peace, Precinct No. 4.

2 Contested Borden Races

GAIL--Borden County's Democratic Party Primary ballot has only two local contested races.

Doris Rudd, the incumbent county and district clerk, is opposed by Dorothy Brown, and Van York, the incumbent commissioner in Precinct No. 4, is opposed by Ed Rinehart.

Running unopposed are County Judge Jim Burkett, County Treasurer Don Cox and the commissioner in Precinct No. 2, Larry Smith.

common sense needed

Events of the past several months have created doubt concerning two considerations of significant importance. Both involve information supposedly gathered for guidance in determining public policy.

One is the practice of laundering soiled public linen in full view of all who care to look. Damaged by this particular activity are both the Central Intelligence Agency, the nation's official secret collector of information deemed to be of interest on the international scene, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, traditionally assigned sole responsibility for collection of information on criminal activities in nationally sensitive areas.

To the surprise of many it became evident during and following the Watergate episode that both CIA and FBI had been used for purposes never intended by Congress when these agencies were created. Even since these revelations were established by credible evidence there has been an open season on both agencies and, more disturbingly, on secret police activity in general.

Instead of proceeding with necessary reform in this field with a minimum of publicity involving personalities and different Presidential Administrations we have had a rash of name-calling, followed in some instances with filing of public charges, and just a few days ago indictments against a former FBI Director and his chief assistant.

Latest development of this nature was publication of a news interpretive this week predicting that a Senate committee will soon issue a report in which a charge will be made that information gathered by CIA on the subject of Soviet oil consumption has been doctored to support Administration claims that USSR purchase of Middle East oil will begin years earlier than the facts indicate.

This isn't the kind of situation that can be corrected with a change in the law. There is nothing that can be inserted in an act of Congress that prevents distortion or misuse of information in reports which are necessarily secret.

A President can make his own interpretation of secret information. Change in policy is overdue. Correction could begin with a reasonable dose of old fashioned common sense. If this can't be done, it would be better to drop all pretense of seeking the truth.

students keep faith

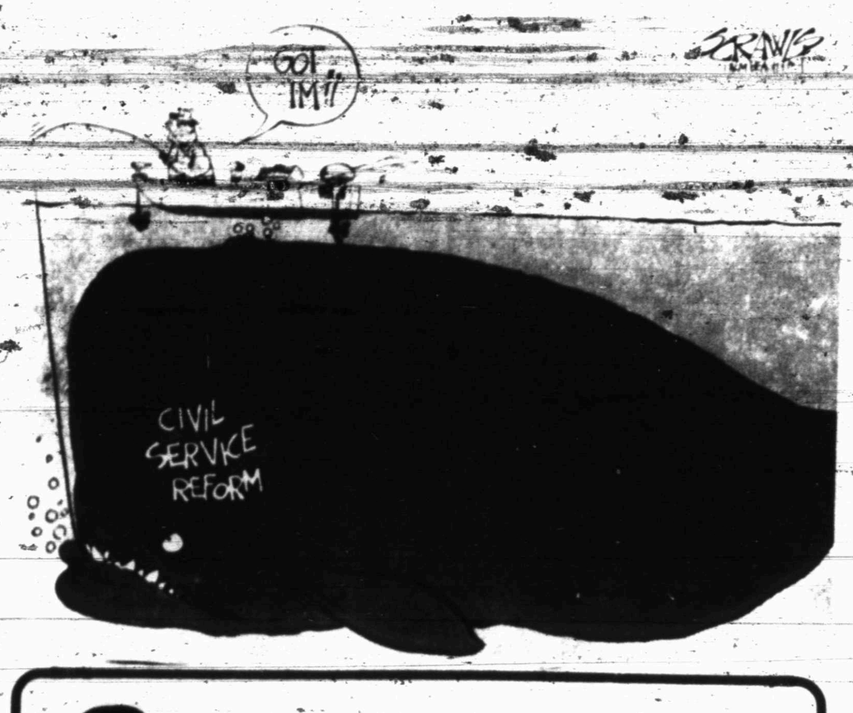
Interestingly, there is some evidence that one group is not losing faith in higher education - American students.

A serious attitude toward studies was apparent in responses to a recent poll of collegians from campuses throughout the nation gathered at Daytona Beach, Fla. during the spring break.

An overwhelming 87 percent of the 712 men and 1,046 women queried by Toni Home Waves in a survey on career, lifestyle and fashion trends said they were pursuing higher education either from personal desire or because they considered it a necessity.

The group also registered a very strong career interest, with 68 percent declaring definite plans for post-college work. Among freshmen, the proportion was 63 percent.

Awareness of the tough job market was an acknowledged factor in early career planning, with 51 percent noting they were concerned about finding jobs following graduation.



at wits end

by erma bombeck

I knew it was only a matter of time before men started to get testy about women in pants. One of them a carpenter from Illinois, has gotten downright militant about it and submitted 77 signatures on a petition to "get our girls, wives, and ladies back into dresses again."

Despite the fact he wants women in dresses for all the wrong reasons, I have to admit I'm bored to death with pants. At first I saw them as a lifesaver. They'd keep my legs from growing together. They'd give me freedom. They'd be a friend to my allergies: washing and ironing. They'd be a firm statement for my equality and once and for all they'd liberate me from the contents of those little chicken eggs that hatched panty hose that fit me like a respirator.

That was seven years ago. The other night while I was watching MASH, Klinger began to look good to me. He was wearing a wrap-around dress in a floral pink with a V-neck and a soft collar with a pair of pumps and a matching bag and gloves.

I looked at myself. I was wearing a pair of faded jeans with paint swatches on the knee, a T-shirt that read, "INSANITY IS CONTAGIOUS. YOU CAN CATCH IT FROM YOUR CHILDREN." My legs were bare and my tennis shoes raggy.

Dressing up for me anymore was wearing a clean T-shirt. And I wasn't the only one. From toddlers to teenagers, to matrons to elderly women, all they ever wore were pants. When I thought about it, I hadn't seen my mother's legs since the Eisenhower administration.

It occurred to me maybe we had gone to far. Suppose restaurants discriminated against us as they once did when we wore slacks? Maybe we couldn't be seated until we went home and put pants on.

If we kept going in pursuit of fashion freedom, would we one day end up like Diane Keaton (whom I love!) but who, at the Academy Awards, looked like she couldn't decide what to wear, so she wore her entire closet.

I made a momumental decision yesterday. I went out and bought a dress...a floral wrap-around with a V-neck and soft collar.

My husband said, "Good Lord, are those your knees or are you playing the cymbals?"

Maybe, like Klinger, it needed a rifle over the shoulders.

SENIOR CITIZEN DAY

Food, fun and entertainment highlight the First Annual Senior Citizen Day beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday, according to event sponsors.

The festivities are part of Senior Citizen's month and are open to all Scurry County residents.

Continuous entertainment kicks off the event with a fiddler's contest, the Senior Center Square Dancers, RSVP Kitchen Band, the Western Ranch Hand Band, Hobo Band, Mrs. Ardene McCann and Opal Woodard performing.

Boothes selling homemade ice cream and lemonade, baked goods and canned foods, a bargain store quilting exhibition and many others will be open for visitors.

The day concludes with a barbecue dinner from 4-6:30 p.m. at the barn. Tickets are scarce, so be sure you buy one ($2.50) before the dinner. Tickets, if any are available, will go on sale at the door after 6 p.m.

Proceeds go to the Senior Center and it should be a very fun day for all. The center does a great job for the citizens of our county and should be supported.

BEFORE YOU GO...

VOTE. Saturday is also election day across the state. Many races are shaping up very competitively and your vote can make the difference in guaranteeing good government on the local, state and national levels.

Prognosticators say this year's election may have one of the lowest turnouts in history. It's been the trend for many years, and we've seen the consequences. There are many people representing us who received less than 10 per cent of the eligible voter support, and we can see how these people perform.

Government has gotten away from the people and may get even worse if YOU don't get involved. Our democratic form of government was set up to be run by the majority. If you want the minority. If you want continued lack of representation and increased government takeover of personal freedoms, don't vote.

But, if you want to return government to the people, please take 30 minutes of your time Saturday and go to the polls.

It's important!!!

WET-DRY

The liquor question again comes to Snyder with a vote scheduled Monday. The issue has been hotly debated by both sides and is important to the community. If you don't take time to express your opinion, don't gripe when the decision goes opposite of your wishes. Wishes don't elect representatives or settle issues. Only voting counts; so vote!

Keep your eye on the ball. The fellow pitching ahead of you has sticky fingers.

If you get to know them, celebrities are no different than the rest of us — that's what's so disappointing.

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The Carter White House, while not too proud to beg Republican support for the Panama Canal treaties, continues to ignore and offend GOP Congressional leaders on a day-to-day basis.

The president passed up a golden opportunity to placate the opposition when he recently resubmitted two nominations to the politically sensitive Federal Election Commission that are vehemently opposed by GOP leaders on Capitol Hill.

Republicans don't have much cause to gripe about Carter's choice of Democrat John McGarry, a protege of House Speaker Tip O'Neill, for the majority party vacancy on the FEC.

But Senate GOP leader Howard H. Baker, Jr. and House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes are furious that Carter is sticking to his decision to name liberal Sam Zagoria to the Republican vacancy on the commission. They view him as a Republican in name only who could well side with the three Democrats on the six-member FEC on crucial votes.

Baker and Rhodes have long charged that Carter in originally nominating Zagoria last summer broke a promise to fill the Republican vacancy from a list of names submitted by GOP congressional leaders.

Both the McGarry and Zagoria nominations died on the vine when Congress quit for the year last December. Rhodes had a private meeting with Carter on Jan. 19 and came away thinking he had a commitment that the president would "renew our consultations" on a suitable FEC appointment.

But Carter did no such thing, choosing instead to resubmit both names in early April. Baker and Rhodes have now fired off a letter to the president questioning "whether it serves any purpose at all to have bipartisan commissions if the membership is to be stacked to accommodate only the view of the White House."

Numerical control of most regulatory commissions ordinarily goes, by law, to the party occupying the White House. But the FEC, because of its inherently political jurisdiction, is supposed to be evenly balanced. The fact that this is an election year simply increases Republican ire at what "seems to us to be another step on the road to the imposition of one-party rule," Baker and Rhodes told Carter.

The tension and drama of the final Panama Canal treaty vote managed to bring out the worst in some senators, including the inimitable California Republican S.I. Hayakawa who called a press conference four days before the vote to complain about totally extraneous aspects of Carter's foreign policy.

Reporters had flocked to the press conference (it was a slow news day) in expectation that Hayakawa was announcing a switch from his initial "yes" vote. They were furious to find he was merely brooding aloud about other foreign policy foibles which he said caused him to wake up "in a turmoil" at 4 a.m. a couple days earlier. One newsman stalked away muttering, "To think we could have been spared all this with one sleeping pill."

White House press secretary Jody Powell came up with the one-liner of the year at the recently concluded Washington meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

In response to an observation that the Carter administration seemed to be in trouble, "and not in the sense that applies to teen-aged girls," Powell grinned and replied:

"The cause, at least figuratively, is the same in some cases."

Tip O'Neill left the editors reeling with his own patented brand of the English language. Some prime examples: "Congress is gonna make a dictation to the president..." "We'll unturn every stone..." "The voice of the president of the United States or his embissary."

john cunniff

big government

NEW YORK (AP)-List the various publics - customers, employees, union, government personnel, and so on-you find most difficult to deal with, a sampling of chief executives was asked by a surveyor.

Fifty-four percent named government personnel, four points more than the percentage listing unions, the traditional adversary of corporate management. Only 8 percent named customers.

The same executives were asked "What is the single most important problem facing your company right now, today?" The greatest number of respondents, 15 percent, said government regulations.

The responses, several hundred of them from a questionaire sent to chief executives by John Arnold ExecuTrak Systems, a Waltham, Mass., management consulting concern, show a basic change in the marketplace.

That change: Government involvement.

Comparisons aren't available, but it hardly seems likely that a decade ago union personnel would have rated lower than government employees on a scale of how difficult they were to work with.

Or that two decades ago sales would have been judged the single most important problem by only 7.5 percent and profitability by just 6.5 percent, while government regulations registered twice as high.

Government, in short, is pushing many executives up the wall, burying them in paper, in testimony, in defending their actions and sometimes, said a chief executive, in "telling us how to run things.

How ironic, exploded this chief, head of a major steel company, that the government, which couldn't run a house if ill repute at a profit, now tells business how to run its affairs.

Another chief executive, head of an automotive company, related in an interview that he now spends about 20 percent of his working time in dealing with federal government matters alone, often in Washington.

More important perhaps than the degree of government involvement in the marketplace, is whether Americans really want it.

The National Association of Manufacturers, sounding militant again, insists Americans didn't ask for big government. It sometimes even suggests the public has been duped and misrepresented.

In the current issue of its monthly journal, "Enterprise," for example, it quotes William Simon, former Treasury Secretary, as saying the bulk of regulation results from lobbying rather than public demand.

"In sum, the Public Interest movement is a lobby; not for the People, but for expanding police powers of the state over American producers," states Simon, who equates it with dictatorship.

But few people, even those angered by the tangle of wasteful paperwork, foolish limitations on competition, and absurd bureaucratic edicts, are likely to ask for a total recission in any area.

To The Daily News:

I would like to let the people know what some of the residents of a wet town think about it. The town of Sweetwater is the town that the Snyder Upward group use as an example and it is the one I refer to. The person that I talked with said, "I hope Snyder doesn't go wet because liquor has ruined our town and it has hurt our children.

So voters let's keep our city clean and prosperous and dry.

I don't have a vote for I live outside the city limits but I do my shopping in Snyder, my child goes to school in Snyder and I attend church in Snyder. So for the sake of my child and yours keep Snyder Dry.

To The Daily News:

I would like to challenge the voters in this area who are decided or undecided on their candidate for the 17th Congressional race to closely look at a wealthy lawyer from Abilene and conscientiously decide if he is the man to totally represent you in Congress.

Dusty Rhodes has already contributed well over $100,000 to his own campaign and has been quoted as saying that he will spend whatever it takes to win. He is also quoted as saying, "I don't consider myself a rich man. I probably am worth in excess of a million dollars - but that is not a lot of money in this day and time." Can you agree with that?

Political writer Ron Calhoun of the Dallas Times Herald quoted Rhodes, as they were flying over in Rhodes' Beechcraft Baron, in the April 17, 1978 edition as saying, "See that town down there below us. That's Rising Star. I've got a lot of friends in Rising Star and I will carry it big. But over there in Eastland and Cisco I'm not in as good a shape. I defended the guy who shot the Cisco chief of police and got him off. They don't forget that overnight."

Many can't forget other controversial cases in which Dusty Rhodes has been involved, such as the 1967 murder trial of highway patrolman Al White, who claimed he blacked out before he beat his wife to death with a piece of pipe. He also defended Rush McGinty in the 1972 bribery trial of former Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher.

According to the same Dallas Times Herald article as mentioned above, Mr. Rhodes refers to himself as a liberal on civil rights and has been on the liberal-loyalists side conventions and in intraparty fights.

Voters of the 17th District, don't let name identification, which requires thousands of dollars in advertising, mislead you again. Base your choice and vote on the man, not a name easily recognizable.

Fashion And Beauty Tips

Hair that has been straightened frequently required tender care. Use a shampoo for delicate hair followed by a conditioner. Avoid brushing; use a wide-toothed comb instead.

If you're ambling about on crutches, wear leather-palmed gloves outside instead of knits, to give you a good grip.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Which spade honor should you play at trick one?

The question would be purely academic if the king of clubs were held by West, but you can see that East has it and is going to get right in with that card. If East returns his partner's suit, you are going to make your contract, but if he shifts to a diamond your hand is going to collapse.

Consequently, lots of players win that first spade with the ace. East does get in with that king of clubs and if he stops to think he will know for sure that South also holds the king of spades.

Why does he know this?

Because if West holds a suit headed by king-queen-10 he will open the king, not the fourth best.

Now suppose South makes the expert play of the queen of spades. East gets in with the king of clubs. He may still shift to a diamond. Some players just don't like to return their partner's suit. But there is a far better chance that he will play his partner for having led that three of spades from A 10 4 3 and be able to take four spade tricks right then and there.

Ask the Experts

A California reader wants to know what happens if the dealer deals the cards without his right hand opponent cutting them.

If a player who has not looked at any of his cards calls attention to the oversight it is a misdeal. Otherwise, the deal stands.

21 Acts Are Featured In Hobbs Talent Show

By JOHN DUNNAM

HOBBS - Twenty-one acts representing a half-dozen West Texas cities and towns entertained a full house at the Annual Hobbs Talent Show last night. Performances ranged from elementary grade students doing baton twirling routines to gray-haired musicians filling the auditorium with blue grass music.

Somewhere about the middle of this spectrum was a rock band from Snyder called, "Axxe." This group walked away with the prize in the junior high-high school division by pleasing the crowd with favorites from such rock music giants as Rod Stewart. Second place in this division went to Billy Allen of Hobbs. Allen performed one of the songs he had written and accompanied himself on the guitar. He also did a John Denver number.

The elementary division was won by Dana Souter of Anson with her guitar playing and rendition of "I Believe in Music." Second place in the elementary division went to Sheila Fields from Sweetwater who did a baton twirling routine.

Dancing, inspired by the theme from Star Wars, captured the highest honor in the adult division for Snyder's Kellye Elrod. Second place went to Walter Miers and his band of county-western singers who are all familiar faces to Hobbs.

Tom Bates, radio announcer from Abilene, was master of ceremonies for the event.

Judges for the show were Harry Krenek and Guy Gamble, faculty members at Western Texas College in Snyder.

The talent show and pancake supper that preceded the show were sponsored by the senior class. The proceeds will go toward financing a trip to Hawaii by the seniors at the end of the school term later this month.

ANSON WINNER-Taking home the top prize in the elementary division of the talent show was Dana Souter from Anson.

STAR WARS AT HOBBS-Kellye Elrod, Student of the West Texas Theatrie Arts Center in Snyder won the adult division with a dance inspired by the musical track from the movie Star Wars.

'The Fonz' Weds Today

NEW YORK (AP) - Henry Winkler, heartthrob of teenagers as "The Fonz" on the television comedy "Happy Days," announced that he was to be married in a private ceremony here this morning.

The 31-year-old actor, who has played the soft-hearted leather-jacketed tough guy since the ABC series debuted in 1973, said he would introduce his bride, Stacey Weitzman, at a news conference today. The wedding was to be at an undisclosed location.

"They agreed to meet the press after the wedding and to cut the wedding cake then," said Michael Wright, a press agent for Winkler. "But they insisted that the services be private."

A native New Yorker, Winkler lives now in California where the television series about a group of middle-American teenagers in the mid-1950's is taped.

Six Arrested In Diamond Sale

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)-Police announced the arrest of a retired U.S. army colonel and five other men in connection with the allegedly illegal sale of more than $500,000 worth of diamonds.

The police said the American was Col. Ben Armstrong, 55, who lives in Pretoria. The others were a Durban diamond cutter, two Cape Town diamond exporters, an Italian living north of Johannesburg and a Rhodesian farmer.

High Speed Chase Ends With Arrest

A high speed chase ended Thursday afternoon with a 20-year-old man being booked in city jail on charges of speeding, driving while intoxicated, and fleeing a peace officer.

Although sketchy, reports indicate the pursuit began in the county and initially involved the highway patrol. With speeds ranging over 120 miles an hour, the chase quickly involved patrol cars from the city police department and the sheriff's office.

The 20-year-old subject was finally overtaken just north of the city. He was booked in the city jail at 2:19 p.m.

In more detailed reports, a minor traffic accident was investigated shortly before 1 p.m. Thursday in the 1800 block of 40th St.

The mishap involved a 1970 Ford driven by Jimmie Wayne Browning and a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Shirley Ballard Stewart.

SHS Band In Contest At Six Flags

Snyder High School's Black and Gold band was scheduled to compete this afternoon in the Six Flags Over Texas band contest at Arlington.

Some 150 SHS band members, their directors and chaperones, left by chartered buses Thursday. They were to play in the contest at around 4 p.m. today.

The band is scheduled to return to Snyder on Sunday.

Dodge City Gets Marshal

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP)-Although Dodge City was popularized as the televisfon home of "Gunsmoke's" Matt Dillon, the southwestern Kansas town has never really had a U.S. marshal's office.

But all of that changed Thursday when officials named a marshal and formally opened a marshal's office in the post office building.

Kenny House, one-time chief of police in Dodge City, was sworn in as marshal by Mayor Bill Miller.

"You can't be a marshal until you ride a wild horse bareback with a barbed-wire bridle at a full gallop with a tin cup of red whiskey in your left hand, rope a jackrabbit with your right hand and don't spill a drop," said House.

The 1934 Metropolitan Handicap, in which Equipoise was disqualified in favor of Mr. Khayyam, figured in the plot of the Broadway play and movie, "Three Men On A Horse."

Mortgage On Church Will Be Burned

The Church of Nazarene, 704 30th Street, has invited the public to attend a mortgage-burning celebration Sunday at 10:45 a.m.

Gene Fuller of Lubbock, the West Texas District superintendent, will preside over the morning service. Following the service, there will be an old fashioned picnic in the park.

The church had its election of officers for the 1978-79 year. Those elected are Oliver Butler, superintendent; Ken Burkhart, assistant superintendent; Naoma Lake, MWMS president; Bill and Lisa Hale, NYI; and the following stewards; Marie Dollins, Lillian Golihar, Carol Burkhart; trustees: Mark Jones, Everett Golihar, Ken Burkhart; Church Schoolboard: Madalyn Jones, Jeanette Green and Violet Samples.

They will take office on May 8. The Rev. Ivor Lake is pastor of the church.

AT BROADCAST CONSULTATION - Two members of Colonial Hill Baptist Church in Snyder were among 80 pastors and laymen discovering methods of broadcasting the gospel at the fifth annual radio, television, and cable consultation sponsored by the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission in Fort Worth last week. With Dr. Paul M. Stevens (left), Commission president, and Dr. James W. Waters (second from right), chairman of the Commission's board of trustees, were Jimmie Joe Key (second from left) and Charles Greenfield (right).

PAUL SAVAGE

Paul Savage To Graduate At Seminary

Paul Savage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Savage of 707 28th Street, will receive the master of divinity degree during the spring commencement exercises of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary to be held at 10 a.m. May 12 at Travis Avenue Baptist Church, Fort Worth.

Seminary President Robert E. Naylor will present degrees and diplomas to the 370 candidates from the seminary's three schools. Included in this total are 15 doctoral graduates.

W.A. Criswell, pastor of First Baptist Church, Dallas, will be the commencement speaker. A graduate of Baylor University, Criswell holds a PhD degree from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has pastored for thirty-two years at First Church, which is reported to be the largest Southern Baptist church in the United States. A former president of the Southern Baptist Convention, Criswell has served on various denominational boards and is a former trustee of Baylor University. He is the author of 26 books.

Atheists Torn By Discord

NEW YORK (AP) - Atheists, those who believe there is no God and who promote faith in his nonexistence, are experiencing some troubles familiar in religious history. They've been torn by schism.

Several former members of Madalyn Murry O'Hair's atheist group, the Society of Separationists (SOS) in Austin, Texas, say they either have resigned or were "excommunicated."

They formally launched their Freedom from Religious Foundation of Madison, Wis., as a national organization last month, with an active executive committee of 15 former members of the O'Hair group.

"Perhaps you could call our movement a sort of atheist reformation" says Anne Gaylor, president of the foundation which she had started prior to its conversion into a national organization.

Taking a swipe at the O'Hair group, she adds, "We think that a cause organization has no business owning Cadillacs or holding its meeting in the country's most expensive hotels."

Reports and rumblings and conflict in the O'Hair organization have gone on for some time, with disgruntled followers accusing her of monopolizing control, caustic rudeness, suppressing dissent and appointing relatives to major posts in the organization.

"We decided we wanted a democratic, accountable organization that is responsible to its membership," says Rodger L. Buck, a physician who hosted the founding meeting April 8-9 in Spencer, Ind.

Withdrawals from it by atheist chapters in about a half dozen states reportedly were precipitated by a stormy confrontation at a New Jersey meeting in February over smouldering complaints.

"We never thought we'd get kicked out," says Jane Conrad, head of the Colorado chapter of atheists, Quest for Truth, among those saying there were expelled by Mrs. O'Hair.

"I hadn't even opened my mouth," she says, but nevertheless says she was accused by Mrs. O'Hair of 'conspiracy ... and false and malicious representations against the national office."

Mrs. Conrad says that contrary to impressions that the O'Hair organization has 60,000 to 70,000 on its mailing list, she had learned the mailing list actually numbers 2,517 and membership 1,207.

This and other information reportedly came from a letter sent to members by Mrs. O'Hair's son, William Murray, who earlier had split with his mother to form his own organization.

Figures on the number of American atheists are unavailable, but repeated surveys have found that 97 to 98 per cent of the population believe in God.

Meanwhile, Mrs. O'Hair, the veteran atheist crusader who gained the 1963 U.S. Supreme Court decision banning Bible reading, the Lord's prayer and other devotions from public schools, is seeking in federal court to force removal of the motto, "In God We Trust" from U.S. coins and currency.

Says she: "We're all being forced to carry a symbol of God in our pockets."

The Greek poet Pherecrates invented a meter, known as Pherecratean, which is found in the choruses of Greek tragedies as well as in works of Horace.

Death Penalty Sought

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The death penalty will be sought as punishment for a man and wife charged with capital murder in the shooting deaths of two young women here, the district attorney's office says.

Murphy John Averitt, 31, and his wife, Sue, 26, were arrested in Indianapolis by FBI agents Wednesday on federal warrants charging them with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Also arrested was Susan R. Walker, 32, wanted in San Antonio on charges of theft by worthless check.

The Averitts were charged earlier by proxy with two counts each of capital murder in the March 20 slayings of Mrs. Mary Ann Venus, 25, and Mrs. Andrea Millican. The two sisters were the wives of servicemen stationed overseas.

The bodies of the two women were found just outside the San Antonio city limits in Bexar County.

"We will seek the death penalty for the Averitt couple," Assistant District Attorney Charles Conaway said Thursday. Application has been made with Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe to obtain an extradition warrant for the trio's return to Texas, he said.

Bexar County sheriff's investigators believe Mrs. Venus and Mrs. Millican were gunned down after they stopped a car which Mrs. Millican had sold earlier. Mrs. Millican had complained the check she received for her car was worthless.

New Standards

WASHINGTON (AP) - New standards to reduce the danger to about 660,000 workers who routinely come in contact with arsenic go into effect Aug. 1.

The Labor Department says the standards will reduce worker exposure to airborne, inorganic arsenic, which has been linked to lung cancer. Inorganic arsenic principally is found as a by-product in the smelting of sulfide ores of copper, lead and zinc.

"THOSE CRAZY EPISCOPALIANS"

they invite your crazy questions

If you attend any church on some regular basis, this invitation is not for you. But if Sunday mornings give you the "blahs," maybe the Episcopal faith offers something you've been missing. It is a bit different...and very personal.

You might enjoy learning the reasons behind some of the Episcopal ways of doing things. There'll never be a better opportunity than the next Inquirers' Class at the church near you. No one twists your arm to "join" anything. That's strictly up to you...only after you've heard the full story and both your head and heart say "Go!"

You'll find a group of people there who share your own feelings and doubts. Great time to join in asking that "Crazy Episcopal minister" some crazy questions.

Who knows? He may surprise you with some very sane answers...instead of "pie in the sky."

Interested? Come visit Sunday services. Or phone for details on Inquirers' Classes.

Rangers' Game Postponed...

Dodger's Smith Turns Hot

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers just don't give you any rest.

First it was Rick Monday with the hottest bat in the National League in April.

Now it's Reggie Smith getting away to a blazing start in May.

The Dodgers' illustrious switch-hitter has taken up where Monday left off, knocking in three runs Thursday for the second straight day as Los Angeles beat the Chicago Cubs 4-1.

In the first inning, his two-run homer fell into the left field seats as he batted from the right side of the plate. Then he turned to the left side and smashed a sacrifice fly. He also had a double in the ninth.

Smith also drove in three runs in Wednesday's 9-5 victory on a triple, a double and a pair of singles that helped the Dodgers break a three-game losing steak.

In other National League action, the New York Mets defeated the Atlanta Braves 8-2. A game between San Francisco and St. Louis was rained out. In the American League, the Boston Red Sox whipped the Minnesota Twins 8-1 while rain postponed the Texas-Baltimore game.

Smith's first-inning homer, following a single by Bill Russell, was all the support Rick Rhoden needed in winning his fourth decision without a defeat.

"I'm throwing as well as I can," said Rhoden, who shook his head negatively when asked if this was his best start.

"I was 5-0 last year and 9-0 in 1976," said Rhoden. "In the past when I didn't have good stuff I'd try to overpower the hitters. Now I can go to my breaking stuff."

Mets 8, Braves 2

Bobby Valentine drilled a two-run homer and drew a bases-loaded walk and Jerry Koosman pitched a seven-hitter as New York beat Atlanta. Valentine's homer came off Phil Niekro to cap a three-run sixth.

"The homer was on an inside knuckler," said Valentine. "It was just floating around waiting to be hit. I'm a zone swinger on knuckleballs. I swing in a zone and hope the ball floats into it."

Red Sox 8, Twins 1

Jim Rice clouted a pair of triples and knocked in three runs to help Dennis Eckersley notch his first victory in a Boston uniform as the Red Sox beat Minnesota. Eckersley, 1-1 in his sixth start of the year, scattered four hits.

NBA Play Continues; Denver Meets Seattle

DENVER (AP) - The Seattle SuperSonics, who started the National Basketball Association season by losing 17 of their first 22 games, meet the Denver Nuggets tonight in the opening game of a best-of-seven series for the Western Conference championship.

The winner of the series will meet the winner of the Washington-Philadelphia series for the NBA championship.

For two of the Sonics, center Martin Webster and forward Paul Silas, tonight's game will be a homecoming of sorts. Both played for the Nuggets last year before being sent to Seattle in the trade which brought guard Bobby Wilkerson to Denver.

"I didn't really want to go there, because I wanted it to be all over with Denver," said Webster Wednesday night after learning the Nuggets had beaten Milwaukee in the seventh and deciding game of their quarter-final series.

Seattle won three of four games against Denver during the regular season, and Webster said he sees that as the key to the playoffs.

"I really think we'll beat them 4-1 or something like that. I'm not underestimating them, but I just have that much confidence," he said.

Washington-Philadelphia

The Injury jinx has struck the Washington Bullets again, jeopardizing their chances against the Philadelphia 76ers in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Center Wes Unseld and guard Kevin Grevey are considered doubtful performers tonight when the two clubs resume their best-of-seven Eastern Conference championship series at the Capital Centre in Landover, Md., tied at one victory each.

Rose Predicts Record Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP) - Pete Rose, on the verge of being the 13th major leaguer to get 3,000 career hits, predicts tonight is the night.

The Cincinnati Reds third baseman has 2,998 hits going into tonight's game with the Montreal Expos.

"Friday night," Rose predicted. "I don't want to upstage the Kentucky Derby" on Saturday, he joked.

Rose, who will lead off the Reds against Steve Rogers, 2-3, had two worries; First, he doesn't want to make an error that might cost the Reds the game if he gets the two hits, and, second, he does not want the final hit to be one of dispute over the ruling of the official scorer.

On Thursday, Rose spent the day making a broadcast commercial with the man who was there when Rose started his career in the Reds farm system at Geneva, N.Y., in 1960 - Tony Perez.

Tiger Duo Set For Qualifiers

BELTON - Snyder's Randy Courtney and Dale Jenkins will join a number of athletes from around the state at the State Qualifier's Track Meet here Saturday.

The meet, which begins in the morning, serves as a final preparation for those track and field athletes who have qualified for the upcoming state tournament in Austin.

Courtney, representing District 3-AAA, was the district and regional high jump winner. His best effort so far this season is 6-10. Teammate Jenkins, a freshman, took top district honors and was runner-up at the regional meet with a mark of 14-6 in the pole vault competition.

Those two events are expected to get underway about 2 p.m.

Clark Said To Be Deceptive

WASHINGTON (AP) - J. Brant Clark, the former NCAA investigator who told Congress that the collegiate sports association routinely used bribes to obtain information about its members, has been described as a "misleading and deceptive" witness.

Rep. Norman F. Lent, R-N.Y., a member of the House investigations subcommittee, released a confidential memo and a 42-page staff report on Clark's 3-month-old testimony which, he said, is "devastating to the credibility of Clark."

"As I read the report, I must conclude that J. Brent Clark was a misleading and deceptive witness who cavalierly utilized such terms as 'bribery' and 'flesh peddling' to besmirch the reputations of innocent individuals who, as yet, have not had and opportunity to present their testimony before the subcommittees," Lent said.

Powder Puff Game Slated

The annual Powder-Puff Football game has been re-scheduled for Wednesday at 5:30 p.m., according to Snyder High School head coach, Mike Jenkins.

Tickets for the game, held at Tiger Stadium, are $1 each and may be purchased from players or at the gate.

The contest, which reverses the male-female roles of players and coaches, is designed to raise funds for the senior class.

Cats Shut Out Tors; Sighting Title Now

Snyder High School baseball team is just one game away from clinching its second consecutive district championship - and they could do it as early as this afternoon, without lifting a finger.

With Mitch Mackey atop the mound here yesterday, the Tigers won their third second-round game in a row. The 2-0 first-of-the-year shutout means Snyder needs only a victory over Brownfield Saturday to wrap up the title for good, but things could be settled even before that.

Lamesa, 0-3 in round-two action plays host to the Cubs today. Should the Tors jump off their losing streak and nail one on the Brownfield crew, neither team could manage better than a tie for the district series. Since Snyder won the first round (5 wins, 1 loss), the Tigers would get the go-ahead for district representation.

"It would just about put us in there," commented Tiger Coach Albert Lewis. "But we're going to try to go out there (Saturday) and get in anyway."

Snyder, with a win over Brownfield Saturday, would take the title outright, having already defeated the Cubs once in round-two play.

Yesterday's game here was "our second real good defensive effort," according to Lewis. "You need to start sewing it up this time of the year if you're trying to make the playoffs, and we're sure trying to make them."

Snyder scored one run in the opening inning as Alvin Ollison, Tracy Witherspoon and Mackey all snatched hits off of Tornadoes pitcher Keith Lee. Ollison was thrown out, but Mackey's hit, a double, pushed Witherspoon in for the run.

The Tigers came back in the fifth inning to add another run. David Lee walked and Lee (Keith) put Scott Crenwelge on base with a wild throw to first. With runners on second and third, David Zajicek socked a grounder which advanced Jay Hammond - running for Crenwelge - to third, but Lee (David) was thrown out at home. Next-up Ollison hit into a single however, which put Hammond in for the score.

Meanwhile, Mackey gave up five hits to the Tors. The left-hander, who now supports a 1.93 ERA, is 9-1 for the year. Hitting for the Tigers were Mackey, a single and a double; Sid Everton, a double; Ollison, two singles; and Crenwelge and Witherspoon, a basehit each. Witherspoon's effort extends his "safe-hit" string to 18 consecutive games.

Everton, 5-1, 2.28 ERA, will step up to the mound against in Brownfield at 1 p.m. Saturday as District 3-AAA play continues for the Tigers.

Snyder will continue its efforts Monday in Lamesa at 2:30 p.m. That game was originally scheduled for May 13, but was changed due to an school-related conflict.

John Hill Opposes State Income Tax

When he announced for Governor, Attorney General John Hill said that he would oppose — and would veto — a state income tax or any other new tax bill. He has repeated that pledge many times since. Anyone who says that Hill would support a state income tax is just trying to mislead the public.

As Attorney General, John Hill cleaned up political corruption in Duval County, sued the phone company to stop an increase in rates and worked for a national energy policy that would be fair to Texas.

As Governor, John Hill will use the state's budget surplus to reduce property taxes and to help pay more of the cost of our public schools. There will be no state income tax and no other new taxes if Hill is elected Governor.

Sports Ceremonies Set Monday, 7 p.m.

Ceremonies honoring the 1977-78 Snyder High School athletes will be held 7 p.m. Monday in the campus auditorium. Master of ceremonies will be Jerry Worsham of the SHS drama department.

Following the annual ceremonies, which are designed to focus more attention on the athletes than in years past, will be a reception, held in the Student Center. Refreshments will be served.

Student athletes will be recognized and awards presented in the fields of tennis, basketball, golf, gymnastics, football, track, volleyball and football during the ceremonies, with emphasis on the varsity athletes.

In addition, several students will provide musical entertainment during the proceedings.

All parents and interested fans are welcome. The ceremony is sponsored by the Athletic Booster Club.

Cauthen Makes Derby Debut Atop Affirmed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Trainer Laz Barrera describes jockey Steve Cauthen as being almost as old as the Kentucky Derby. That 3-year-old classic turns 104 on Saturday while Cauthen only recently turned 18.

"Cauthen's 100 years old," says Barrera of Cauthen, who does indeed have poise and experience beyond his tender years. Cauthen, who has been riding in New York this week, makes his Derby debut on Affirmed, the 7-5 early second choice for the 1¼-mile event, which has attracted a field of 11 3-year-olds.

Cauthen, the top jockey in winners and purse earnings last year, is no newcomer to the Churchill Downs track having got his start here several years ago. However, he became Affirmed's regular rider last year only after veterans Angel Cordero and Laffit Pincay could not devote full time to riding Affirmed, owned by Harbor View Farm.

The first leg of racing's Triple Crown, worth $239,400 if all go with a first prize of $186,900, boils down to a four-horse race with Calumet Farm's Alydar the early line favorite at even money, and Top of the Marc Stable's Sensitive Prince the third pick at 6-1 followed by Hickory Tree Stable's Believe It at 8-1.

Affirmed and Alydar, each unbeaten in four starts this year, meet for the first time this year. As a 2-year-old, Affirmed beat Alydar in four of their six meetings, but because of sentiment and impressive victories in the Blue Grass, Flamingo and the Florida Derby, Alydar is expected to go off as the favorite with Jorge Velasquez in the saddle.

In the draw for post position Thursday, John Veitch, trainer of Alydar, got his wish by landing an outside post position.

UT Sweeps Track Meet

AUSTIN (AP) - The University of Texas swept a quadrangular track and field meet here Thursday night - without the expected showdown between the conference's two star sprinters.

Texas A&M trailed by only one point with a total of 72, but competed without sprint star Curtis Dickey who was expected to square off against Texas' Olympic gold-medalist Johnny Lam Jones in the 100-meter dash.

Texas Christian and Rice weren't even in the running. TCU ended up with 16 and Rice was shut out.

Jones, springing back from a season of injuries, raced to an easy win in the 100 with a 10.9, his best effort of the year.

Jones anchored Texas' 400-meter relay team to a first-place finish in 40.31, but he jumped the gun in the 200 and did not run. Teammate Bob Clary won that event in 20.96.

The Aggies' top performer was distance runner Manfred Kohrs, the meet's only double winner. He took the 1,500 in 3:51.13 and won the 5,000 in 14:43.79.

Mike Mosley took the long jump with a leap of 23-3½ but was upset in the 110-meter hurdles by TCU's Jeff Matthews with 14.23. Mosley took the second place honors with the same time.

RANDY COURTNEY

Courtney Picked To Region Team

Randy Courtney, local high school basketball star, has been named to the third team All-Region by the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches, local Coach Jack Stephenson announced.

Courtney, who averaged 17 points and 10 rebounds a game this year, has also been an unanimous All-District selection the past two seasons for the Tigers.

The 6-5 senior, not content to be idle following his cage term, is one of two Snyderites attending this week's State Qualifier's Track Meet in Belton. Courtney currently holds the state's 3A best effort of 6-10 in the high jump.

He is being sought after by several schools for his basketball and track prowess.

Hall of Fame outfielder Zach Wheat wore only a size six baseball shoe.

Indy500Cranking Up For Saturday

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Less than two weeks after seven key officials of the U.S. Auto Club were killed in an airplane crash, registration of drivers and technical inspection of cars for Saturday's start of Indy 500 practice were proceeding smoothly.

A record 92 entries were received by the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. As of Thursday, the paperwork for about 15 cars had been cleared through USAC and the vehicles lodged in their Gasoline Alley garages. About 75 individuals, including drivers and crew members, also had been registered.

Other cars, like the Wildcat racer purchased for Janet Guthrie from George Bignotti, still remained in other garages in Indianapolis.

As a steady rain greeted the arrivals at the track, USAC continued with perhaps its two most critical staff positions filled.

The racing organization, which earlier appointed Jack Beckley as technical chairman, named Bob Cassaday as registrar-coordinator Thursday.

Cassaday succeeded Stan Worley, one of the April 23 crash victims, although he won't start his job with USAC until May 16. Registration for the May 28 Indy 500 will have been completed by then, so his first race will be at Mosport on June 11.

Cassady, 50, was with the Firestone Racing Division for 18 years before Firestone dropped its racing program in 1974. On Wednesday, USAC named Beckley to succeed Frank DelRoy. None of the other five vacant staff positions have been filled.

At State Competition...

Meters To Cause Record Stalemate

AUSTIN (AP) - Canyon's Merry Johnson, virtually unbeatable in high school basketball or track, has finally been stopped - by a change in the record book.

The all-state basketball player for Canyon's unbeaten team this past season is returning to the state track meet, where she set a national record in the 440-yard dash of 54.2 in 1977.

This year, however, the race has been converted to 400-meters, denying her a chance to lower her existing 440 record.

Texas girls, however, appear to have a chance to set two national records at the meet. Team track championships will be determined in Class 2A and 3A Friday night and in B, A and 4A on Saturday.

Girls also will compete for state championships in golf and tennis.

Easter Gabriel of Houston Sterling leaped 40-4½ in the triple jump in a 4A regional meet, which is 5 inches farther than the national record, set last year by Jackie Mays of Stamford.

Mays is returning to the meet with the best jump of 38-8¾ in the 2A regionals. She also qualified in the 100-yard and 200-meters.

In the 80-yard hurdles, Kathy Bergoon of Alief Hastings has run 10.3. The national record of 10.2 is held by four girls, including Karen Holmes of Fort Worth Wyatt.

All running events except the 80-hurdles and 100-yard dash have been changed from yards to meters.

A featured tennis performer will be Pam Hill of Beaumont South Park, who will be trying for her fourth consecutive title in 3A singles.

Conroe returns to defend its 4A golf championship but trailed Stafford Dulles by 61 strokes in regional.

Skys Clear For WIT

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) - Clearing skies and diminished winds were expected to permit the start toay of the storm-delayed Women's International Golf Tournament at Moss Creek Plantation.

The first round of the 72-hole tournament was delayed Thursday by sustained winds of more than 50 miles per hour and lashing rains. The weather forecast for this morning still called for high winds that could skyrocket scores in the 10th tournament on this season's LPGA tour.

Sixty-eight top golfers - 59 pros and nine amateurs - are entered in the $80,000 tournament. The winning pro will take home $12,000.

CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER
OF PRECINCT NO. 4

I have had several people ask me what my goals are if I am elected County Commissioner of Precinct No. 4. Many have also wanted to know about my educational background and qualifications.

Generally, my goals are as follows:

To be conservative as possible with the taxpayers' money. I will always consider the best interest of the people of Precinct No. 4 and Scurry County when voting on expenditures.

To keep our county roads in the best possible condition and maintain all county equipment assigned to Precinct No. 4.

To be available to the people of Precinct No.4 at all times and to fulfill all responsibility of this office, as determined by the people I will serve.

Regarding my educational background, I am a high school graduate. I attended Commercial Trade Institute in Chicago, Ill. and have attended numerous technical training schools in the United States Air Force.

I'm currently attending Western Texas College and am working toward completion of the Associate in Applied Science Degree in diesel mechanics.

I have had courses at WTC in management, technical mathematics, physics, communicative skills, history and precision measurements.

Regarding my qualifications for this office, I am a retired air force sergeant with 21 years of honorable service. I feel the technical experience and military training received will be extremely valuable to this office.

I feel this qualifies me for Commissioner of Precinct No. 4 and Scurry County.

Thank you for your vote of confidence and support!

IS YOUR CHILD REALLY LESS VULNERABLE IN A DRY TOWN ?

A key issue in Monday's election is the affect being "wet" will have on children. The following is a reprint of a recent Snyder Daily News article.

The Snyder (Tex.) Daily News, Fri., April 21, 1978

Three Caches Of Liquor Uncovered

The liquor caches of three alleged bootleggers were uncovered Thursday by deputies of the Scurry County Sheriff's Office and agents of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

The raids were the culmination of the April 15 liquor buys made by an undercover agent, deputies reported this morning, deputies said that three suspects were expected to be taken into custody.

Placed in evidence were a total of about 95 bottles of beer, wine, and liquor seized in the raids.

Once arrested, the suspects are expected to be charged with possession of alcoholic beverages with intent to sell them in a dry area, a misdemeanor offense, deputies reported.

That's right, 95 bottles of liquor were confiscated. Who's buying it all? You guessed it, minors. A bootlegger is operating illegally by selling liquor in a dry area. It's a crime whether he sells to a minor or adult. The bootlegger really doesn't care. He just wants to sell his product and make blackmarket profits.

Stores selling legally would never be so stupid. The local merchant must be licensed. If he sells to a minor, the license will automatically be revoked, the owner fined heavily and the establishment closed. Would a merchant with such a large investment in licenses, merchandise and buildings risk his livilihood to sell to a minor?

You be the judge. Is "dry" better than "wet"?

FOR THE SAKE OF YOUR CHILDREN, VOTE "WET" MONDAY.

If you need a ride to the polls, please call Snyder Upward at 573-5881.

Home Buyers Urged To Use "Sweat Equity"

By RICK SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) "Sweat equity." That's what one top Texas mortgage banker recommends for people trying to buy their first home in today's housing market.

"Buy a home today. Pay as much down as possible and borrow as much money as you can for as long as you can. Sweat it out for two or three years. Then, your income will increase and it won't be quite as tight," says John C. Weebles.

Still, many people just can't qualify for the big, high-interest rate loans often needed to buy a house today, said Weebles, president of the Texas Mortgage Bankers Association.

And, he said in an interview Thursday, the lending industry's toughest task today is finding customers with the income and assets to qualify for mortgage loans.

Weebles, who is presiding over his association's state convention here, said inflation is the root cause of problems facing lenders and homebuyers.

"The rapid increase in the cost of homes and the rapid increase in the cost of money is leaving fewer and fewer families who can qualify for loans," he said.

"And as long as inflation is with us, the days of lower interest rate loans, those 5 and 6 percent loans of the last generation, are gone," he said.

On the bright side, Weebles and other experts said they believe there is sufficient money available to meet the demands for loans created by the current housing boom.

But the bad news, according to Weebles, is:

"We're not proud of the price."

For the short term, Weebles said the mortgage lending rate is likely to remain in the 9¼ per cent to 9¾ percent range.

"If the lender is looking at double-digit inflation down the road, he's got to do something to cover himself," the San Antonio mortgage banker said in explaining the reason for high rates.

Nevertheless, Weebles believes buying a home is one of the best investments around and that the cost of homes will continue to rise.

Mark J. Riedy of Washington, D.C., and economist who is executive vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, said interest rates may rise as much as one-half to three-fourths of a percent this year and about half that over the long term.

"And that's contingent on the rate of inflation being controlled," Riedy added. "Inflation in home prices and inflation in the cost of money."

"We're approaching 10 percent loans right now, and if we hit that it could knock the demand right out of the housing boom. The 10 percent figure is a real psychological barrier.

"But what we have today is that anybody who can get a downpayment will buy a home, and he will pay any interest rate to get a home," said Riedy.

To meet the minimum down payment requirements and the monthly payments, he said more spouses are having to go to work. In some cases, he said, parents are refinancing their homes and helping their children make downpayments.

Riedy said housing construction nationwide, backed by availability of mortgage money, will continue at a strong pace through the remainder of this year, although it is not expected to top the near record levels set at the end of 1977.

He said that while the flow of money into savings institutions will probably decline by one-third to one-half from 1977 levels, record loan repayments from "the phenomenal lending pace of 1976 and 1977 will generate sizeable cash inflows to offset the reductions."

Money that would go into savings institutions may be diverted to other investments which pay higher interest rates, he said.

Escapee Goes First Class

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - For Raymond Allen Williams it was fun while it lasted. Instead of hiding in deep woods or swamps and waiting to be chased by dogs as more typical prison escapees might do, he decided to go first class.

His adventures since driving off from the Leavenworth federal prison motor pool April 23 still has the FBI shaking its head.

"You have to like his style," one agent said.

After abandoning the prison pickup truck at Kansas City, Mo., 20 miles down the road from Leavenworth, Williams rented a limousine complete with chauffeur from a limousine service, and drove to Tulsa, Okla.

There, he rented a suite of rooms for himself, and a separate room for his driver. That night, April 24, he called the Kansas City limousine service for another day's rental.

For tax purposes, he asked the service to charge all his expenses on his limousine tab. That was agreeable.

Williams, 31, posing as an entertainment impressario, spread the word around the motel in Tulsa that he was giving a reception for a country music singer on concert tour.

Complaining of facilities at the first motel before his so-called reception was to come off, he repeated his procedure at another motel, referring the charges to his account at the other.

Wednesday morning, April 26, just ahead of the FBI, Williams checked out, went to the airport where he bought a two-engine private plane on credit, and hired a pilot to fly him to Dallas.

The FBI caught up with him there, and he was awaiting return to Leavenworth as authorities attempted to add up the bills.

Williams was serving a five-year sentence for car theft when he drove away from the prison's honor farm. He was transferred to the honor farm March 2, and would have been eligible for parole in October.

Manslaughter Charges Dropped

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (AP) - Manslaughter charges have been dropped against Andrew Zinmer, 17, a runaway accused of setting a fire that resulted in 42 deaths last June at the Maury County jail.

However, Circuit Judge Jerry Scott allowed two arson charges to stand Thursday. He agreed with Zinmer's lawyer that the manslaughter indictments should be dismissed because they did not originate in Juvenile Court, as required by state law.

Ambulance Service Seeks A New Home

Galyean Ambulance Service, which provides the only ambulance service in Snyder and Scurry County, is looking for a new home, but hasn't had much luck in finding one.

Tommy Galyean said the firm lost its lease at 2507 Avenue U and has not been able to find a suitable location. Galyean is operating the service temporarily from his home, but said he hopes to find a more convenient place soon.

He said the firm was given 30 days notice on its lease and had hoped to have a new location by the time the lease was up, but so far the efforts have been fruitless. He said the ambulance service, which receives some subsidy from both the city and the county, can't afford a high rent situation.

The British Methodist Charles Wesley wrote a total of 6,500 hymns.

Phobic needs help

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Two years ago when I was driving home from work, I experienced a horrible sensation of choking and couldn't swallow. It happened off and on for awhile, so when my place of employment moved, I resigned. It seemed as though as soon as I'd get home, I'd be all right.

Recently I read about a sickness called agoraphobia, and it sounded like me. I mentioned it to my doctor, and he suggested I write to you. I really need a job, but I am so afraid to go any more than five minutes away. I've worked all my life, and I am 47 years old. Have you ever heard of this? And could you possibly give me some advice or help with this matter? I can't afford a psychiatrist and I am so sick of being this way.

DEAR READER - Your brief story sounds like agoraphobia. Agoraphobia is fear of open spaces. It may begin with a person being afraid of open fields, meadows or open squares. It usually progresses until open streets or any location outside the house provokes an immediate and unreasonable fear reaction.

A famous case often referred to in psychiatric literature was of the man who became so fearful that he could not go anywhere without his wife. That included going to the toilet. He couldn't cross a city square without great fear and mumbled that he was going to die. As long as his wife took hold of his arm and held it tight he was able to cross the square.

Characteristically such patients single out someone with whom they feel secure and can go places with. Otherwise they may have great anxiety at even going out of the house. The condition is the opposite of claustrophobia which is a fear of being enclosed in a small place.

Phobias are unreasonable fears. It is one thing to be frightened by a knife-wielding terrorist in the street and another to be frightened when confronted by a common house cat. Stark terror often grips the victim.

Phobias are often classified as those of objects, such as the cat; phobias of situations such as agoraphobia, or fear of heights and other situations; and phobias of function, such as fear of eating which can be very troublesome indeed.

I am always amused by the names of these unreasonable fears. They are based on Greek and Latin. To give you a sample: you can have taphophobia (fear of being buried alive), or ailurophobia (fear of cats), belonophobia (fear of needles), iderodromophobia (fear of railways), or even triskaidekaphobia (fear of thirteen at the table). If that isn't enough you can have pantaphobia for the individual who suffers from all of the above.

What causes phobias? I'm afraid there is no good answer. Theories include basic psychological problems. And it will take professional help to begin to unearth the underlying problem and resolve it.

Some patients have a depression as part of their agoraphobia and some of these have been helped quickly with anti-depressant medications. I am sending you The Health Letter number 10-10, Depression: The Ups and Downs of Life. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, TX 78292.

To live a normal life, treatment is just as important to you as treatment is for a person who has a heart attack, ulcers or a cancer. I would strongly advise you to try to work out a way with your doctor to get professional help.

Remains Of Dinosaur Found

SAN YSIDRO, N.M. (AP)-The remains of a 60-to 70-foot-long Sauropod dinosaur found in a nearby arroyo is the first complete skeleton of its age discovered in New Mexico, says Barry Kues, a paleontoloist and University of New Mexico assistant geology professor.

Kues said the fact that it was found south of numerous dinosaur discoveries in Colorado and Utah "will add to our knowledge about the geographic distribution" of dinosaurs.

Widower Looking For New Romance

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: What do you make of a man who buries his wife on a Thursday and asks you for a date for the following Wednesday? I accepted, thinking he needed someone to console him, but I got the surprise of my life. He acted like a sailor on shore leave after six months on a ship.

His wife and I were very good friends and I realize that she had been sick for a year, but I can't see any excuse for the rush this man was in to make up for lost time. When he asked me out for the next night, I told him I didn't think we should be seen in public together because people might talk. So he's been parking himself over here every night telling me how lonesome he is, and how much he needs "female companionship."

Abby, I'm a widow and I am lonesome, too, but I'm not THAT lonesome. How long do you think I should wait before I let him court me? I know lots of women in this town who would be glad to have him.

EUNICE

DEAR EUNICE: The man shows a shocking lack of respect for the memory of his wife. Put him on ice for about a year. He could use some cooling off.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I am a very poor hostess—at least I think I am. It's not that I can't relax around people, because when I'm a guest, I'm perfectly relaxed and have a wonderful time. But when guests are in my home, I am nervous and tense and I am just not myself.

I am not the fussy kind of hostess who runs around emptying ashtrays all the time, but if there's a lull in the conversation I feel embarrassed and worry that I'm not giving my guests a good time.

When I invite people over, they say, "Why don't YOU come HERE instead?—which leads me to believe that they have noticed my nervousness, too, and would rather spare me the agony. What's wrong with me? And is there a solution?

POOR HOSTESS

DEAR POOR: Guests can't relax unless the hostess is relaxed. The secret of being a good hostess lies in getting compatible people together in a comfortable atmosphere. No host or hostess can give guests a good time. The guests must make it themselves.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with one of the smartest women in town who's so convinced she can't pass the driver's test that she's been driving without a license for six years?

I try to tell her that all she has to do is read the driver's manual, then go take a test and maybe drive around the block a few times with the examining officer. But she won't believe me.

What can I do? She's a good driver, but I can't persuade her to get a license. A husband can't turn his wife in to the police, but I am tempted.

NO NAME, PLEASE

AP Poll Shows...

Trust In Carter Eroded

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP)-Trust me, a candidate named Jimmy Carter told the American people in 1976. For months after electing him president, Americans said they did trust the man from Georgia to do what's right.

Now that trust has been eroded, the latest Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

Along with this weakening of Americans' trust in their president has come a precipitous decline in their view of his performance in the White House. Carter's job rating now stands at the lowest point of his term, at a level passed only by Richard Nixon among recent occupants of the Oval Office.

In the AP-NBC News poll taken Monday and Tuesday, 40 percent of those questioned said Carter could be trusted to do what is right just about all the time or most of the time.

Fifty-six percent said they could trust Carter only some of the time or almost never.

By contrast, in February 1977, 70 percent of those questioned in an NBC News poll said Carter could be trusted at least most of the time. And 25 percent expressed little trust in him.

Carter's job rating has dipped to new lows, at least partially because of the public perception that he has not been able to get much done as president.

Only 29 percent of the 1,600 adults questioned said Carter has done a good or excellent job in office vs. 60 percent who rated his work only fair or poor. Two percent were undecided.

That is down four points since the last AP-NBC News telephone poll in March.

A job performance question similar to the AP-NBC News wording has been asked in recent years by pollster Louis Harris. The current AP-NBC News rating on Carter is lower than the lowest point found by Harris on either Lyndon Johnson or Gerald Ford. Only Nixon's 71-26 negative rating in March 1974 is lower than Carter's current position.

The poll was taken before Carter began his fence-mending trip to Western states and before the announcement of the latest bulge in the wholesale price index.

But the poll came after Carter's first major foreign affairs victory-Senate approval of the Panama Canal treaties; settlement of the coal strike and his announcement of an anti-inflation program.

About 80 percent of those interviewed across the country agreed with statements that Carter is honest and that he is hard-working. About 14 percent disagreed with either statement.

But 63 percent disagreed with the statement that, as president, Carter has shown that he can get things done. Thirty-one percent agreed with the statement and 6 percent were undecided.

Carter's inflation-fighting plans drew only a tepid response from Americans. While two-thirds agree the president has the power to deal with inflation, only 24 percent say Carter is doing enough to hold down prices. Eighty-eight percent say Carter is not doing enough.

As with a sample survey, the results of the AP-NBC News polls could differ from the results of interviews with all Americans because of chance variations in the sample.

For polls with 1,600 interviews, the results should vary no more than three percentage points either way because of sample errors. That is, if 20 polls were conducted with the same questionnaire, the results would vary from these results by no more than three percentage points at least 19 times.

The results could vary from other polls because of differences in the wording of questions, timing of interviews or the method of interviewing.

Retail Beef Prices Near 1975 Record

WASHINGTON (AP) - Preliminary figures by the Agriculture Department show that retail beef prices on the average are near the record that consumers paid in the summer of 1975.

This comes as no great surprise because cattle prices have been rising gradually for six months and those have triggered an upward spiral at retail counters which USDA and industry experts say will continue for some time.

The preliminary figures, which are subject to adjustments later, show that in April the retail price of beef averaged more than $1.60 a pound, the most since a one-month record of $1.61 a pound was reached in July 1975, according to USDA records.

Beef prices generally declined after that as farmers and ranchers, beset by depressed market prices for live animals, trimmed their herds severely to cut losses. But after three years of reducing herds the smaller supply is having its effect and prices are going up.

Earlier this week USDA issued a regular "prices spreads" report for selected farm-produced food which showed that in March, the most recent month fully tabulated, retail beef prices averaged almost $1.55 a pound on an all-cut basis used by marketing experts.

The preliminary figures for April are more generalized and are highly tentative because those sometimes are slightly higher than the final figures for a month.

Looking at the March situation, however, the $1.55 for a pound of beef then was up from about $1.51 in February. In March of last year, beef was slightly more than $1.33 a pound.

Pork prices also are going up, averaging more than $1.39 a pound in March, up a penny from February. A year earlier pork was $1.21 a pound. The record was about $1.59 a pound in Oct. 1975.

Rising meat prices are a major season for USDA's prediction that retail food prices overall will average 6 to 8 percent higher this year, compared with a 6.2 percent increase in 1977.

The official figures for March showed that of the $1.55 a pound consumers paid for beef the "farm value" of it was 98.1 cents and the middleman's share 56.5 cents. In February, the farm value was 89.8 cents and the middleman share 61.4 cents.

Farm value is not what producers get for live cattle because it takes almost 2.3 pounds of choice-grade steer on the hoof to make one pound of supermarket beef. It is, however, the producer's share of what consumers pay for beef.

The report said that choice-grade steers in March averaged $48.26 per 100 pounds against $44.34 in February at major livestock markets.

Retail pork prices at more than $1.39 a pound, included a farm value of 84.2 cents a pound and a middleman's share of 55.2 cents in March, compared with 87.6 and 50.8 cents in February, respectively.

In this case, higher middleman costs accounted for the retail price increase from February while the farmer's share declined.

The average price of market hogs in March was $47.50 per 100 pounds against $48.83 in February, the report said.

A State Income Tax.
A Hangman's Noose For Texas.

If you think taxes are choking you now, consider the possibility of a State income tax. It would be a noose around your neck. Around the neck of every Texan. And around the future of Texas.

A vote for John Hill is a vote for:
- bigger government.
- more government spending.
- more inflation.

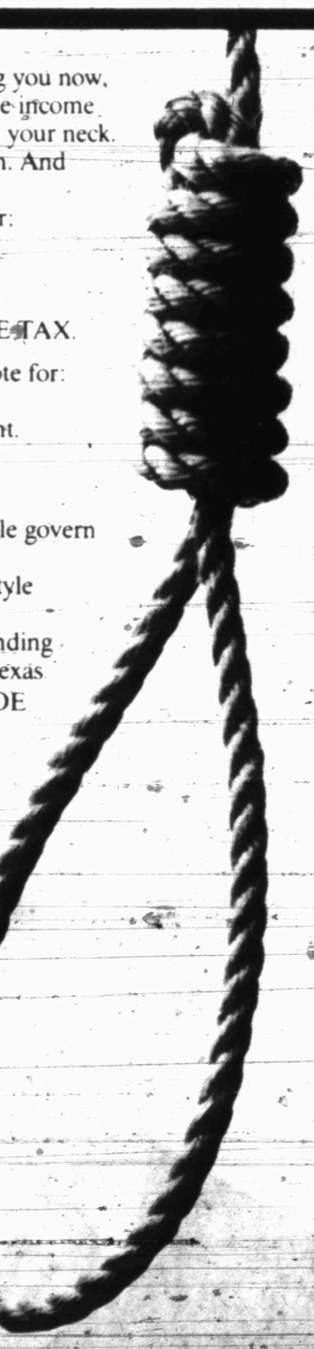
AND FOR A STATE INCOME TAX.

A vote for Dolph Briscoe is a vote for:
- fiscal responsibility
- less – not more – government.
- continued economic growth.

AND FOR NO NEW TAXES.

- We don't need New York-style government in Texas.
- We don't need Washington-style bureaucracy in Texas.
- And we don't need a big spending liberal activist as Governor of Texas

LET'S KEEP DOLPH BRISCOE AS OUR GOVERNOR.



"We are already footing the bill for run-away government in Washington. As Texans we should not have to foot the bill for run-away government in Austin.

"I don't think Texas should spend itself into a state income tax. That is exactly what will happen if Mr. Hill fulfills only some of his political promises."

Mutilated Animal Carcasses Probed

ROGERS, Ark. (AP)-Seven animal careasses have been found in northwest Arkansas within the past month with eyes and internal organs missing, removed with surgical precision. Some think they were killed by Satan-worshippers celebrating spring.

While investigating the animal mutilations, officials stumbled across crude, flagstone altars in the woods littered with animal skulls and candles. The altars were emblazoned with white symbols.

The first victims, two calves, were discovered April 8. Three more calves and a cow were found dead within the next 12 days, and the most recent victim was a horse on Monday, authorities say. The livestock all were killed on Benton County farms and ranches.

A University of Arkansas anthropologist has called it "witchcraft in the European tradition," but he questions whether the mutilations are the work of a legitimate coven.

"If you were in an underground cult, you would not try to attract attention to yourself," said Dr. Jerome Rose, assistant professor of anthropology at UA.

"You would do the same thing a witch doctor in Haiti would do: Buy them organs."

Rose said internal organs and "about anything you want, even bats, whisker," can be purchased through shops and catalogues that specialize in magicians' wares.

But the slayers of the seven animals have chosen to obtain their organs from live animals.

According to one theory, the animals are injected with a drug that temporarily paralyzes them and then are dismembered and their blood siphoned off and removed.

Authorities won't discuss how the animals were killed, but only say they were slain "in an unusual way." They say the strange mode of death is a key to their investigation right now.

If the animal mutilators are apprehended, they probably would be charged with destruction of property, a misdemeanor, officials have said.

Rose, who successfully predicted Monday's livestock death, believes the mutilation deaths will end now.

He says the influence of the spring equinox is waning. "It's important for nature worshippers to reproduce at this time, sexually, or through imitation, such as through witchcraft and magic."

Educators Seek Answer To Reading Problems

By SUSAN LINNEE
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP)-Growing pressure from parents and state legislatures to do something about children who cannot read is foremost in the minds of teachers, school administrators and educational publishers gathered here this week at the 23rd annual International Reading Association convention.

And while many of the 11,000 registered participants agree that increasing numbers of youngsters are leaving school unable to perform minimal skills necessary to survive in the late 20th century, there is less agreement how to stem the tide of functional illiterates.

Suggestions range from offering monetary incentives to teachers who work in schools where reading is a serious problem to using newspapers to teach reading and comprehension skills.

Ruth Ann Plate, a reading supervisor from Lorain, Ohio, showed how teachers are using the Lorain Journal to teach reading and comprehension skills to students who have reached junior high school without being able to read.

"There was great concern that we were testing comprehension skills but doing very little to teach them," said Mrs. Plate, who set up the program after the newspaper agreed to donate 800 copies a week to the schools.

A U.S. Office of Education study carried out in 1975 revealed one out of every five adult Americans is incapable of understanding written instructions necessary in carrying out daily activities. These 23 million persons are called functional illiterates-they can read words but they often don't understand what they mean.

Minimal competency and accountability are terms used frequently during meetings and in informal conversation with participants. Many school boards and state legislatures now require proof that students leaving school know how to read a want-ad and write a check. And they hold teachers responsible for students' failure to pass competency tests.

Clare Lynch O'Brien, an educational consultant to the children's television program "Big Blue Marble" said teachers are concerned about the effect of television on learning.

"They say television gives children poor role models and discourages them from reading and they're often right," she said. "There's something very wrong when you think that by the time a child leaves high school he has spent 15,000 hours watching television and only 12,000 hours in the classroom."

Carnetta Blakey, a former reading teacher now with the North Carolina Department of Education, said pressure to improve reading and comprehension skills has been filtering down from the top "and elementary school teachers are now feeling it."

"A convention like this shows teachers a variety of methods they might use to help students, but we've got to recognize that this is a community problem-parents, teachers, everyone has to make a commitment," she said.

Why the dickens do we need Bob Dickenson on the Court of Civil Appeals?

You need Dickenson if you ever have to contest a lower court decision for custody of your child or a contract disputed or a juvenile trial
or insurance claims or settlement of an estate or a property settlement or a consumer complaint or settlement of a land title or any other common civil matter.
A fair decision from the Court of Civil Appeals is a right you must be guaranteed.

Bob Dickenson has the educational background, knowledge, experience and ability to guarantee this right. He knows the law.

He graduated as a lawyer from SMU and taught law at Baylor University before coming to Abilene in 1960. Dickenson has practiced civil law for 20 years. He has a thorough understanding of the law and its applications. There's no person better qualified to protect your legal rights in court.

He has the courage to make decisions based on the law, not emotion.

You can be sure that when Bob Dickenson is judge the law will be upheld. He can write strong legal opinions and set precedents if necessary. The Court of Civil Appeals works with pure law. Bob Dickenson believes a judge needs a complete knowledge of the law, wise and mature judgment and the courage to do what is right.

Bob Dickenson also strongly believes that a judge should have a sense of humility. He is a man with deep moral principles.

A man who knows the law, a man who has taught the law, a man who has practiced the law, a man with the heart and courage to protect your rights under the law — that's Bob Dickenson.

$500,000 Welfare Cases Found In Civil Service

WASHINGTON (AP)- Those nasty rumors are true. Our taxes do pay civil servants big salaries- as much as $50,000 a year-to do little or nothing, say administration officials who claim some high-salaried workers haven't been seen in the office in years.

The reason? It's easier to leave imcompetents on the payroll but pushed out of sight than it is to fire them.

"We found $50,000 welfare cases. We were paying them to stay away. One person on a very high salary hadn't been seen there for years," William Drayton, assistant administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, told the Senate Government Operations Committee on Thursday.

Drayton was one of several administration officials to complain about the complicated procedure for firing civil servants. President Carter is proposing a simpler method in his planned shake-up of the system.

Drayton said administration officials began looking at bureaucratic waste when Carter took office- seeking out sandbagging workers for dismissal. But he said department and agency managers discovered they were spending about 30 percent of their time on dismissal preparations only to find it wasted because of minor procedural errors.

In one case, Drayton said, he found a $40,000-a-year bureaucrat performing at the level of a $10,000 worker.

"I told him to look for another job. He said he wouldn't. He knows we won't do anything about it because we can't spend the time."

Barbara Blum, EPA deputy administrator, joined in the complaining, primarily about civil service hiring practices that give veterans lifetime preference.

She said a test score bonus given veterans is thwarting her attempts to hire women and minorities.

As the system works now, agencies needing a worker are given three names by the commission. Usually, the candidates all are white men because of the point bonus, she said.

"If those three veterans are not as qualified, we have to go back to the Civil Service Commission with each veteran to explain why they are not qualified and then we have to go to the next verteran on the list," she told the committee.

She said the procedure can take a year or longer and, by then, the minority candidate has been hired by a private employer.

Carter wants to cut veterans' lifetime preference to 10 years, except for disabled former soldiers.

Red Tape Cut To Free Wine

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)- Gov. Robert Bennett cut through red tape to liberate 15 cases of French wine, five days before the French delegation that sent it to Wichita was to arrive in the city.

The wine-a gift of Wichita's sister city, Orleans- became entangled in Kansas' complicated- liquor laws.

The 180 bottles of French Vouvary Mousseux white wine were impounded by the U.S. Customs Service because the gallonage and enforement taxes had not been paid.

Wichita officials offered to pay the $50 in taxes. But an attorney for the state Alcoholic Beverage Control office said the state's liquor law prohibited that.

Bennett then signed a bill forwarded to him by the legislature Thursday that allows the city to pay the tax.

The French delegation is coming Tuesday for an Orleans art exhibit at the Wichita art museum.

Protesters To Stay At Tent City

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)- Anti-nuclear demonstrators vow they will remain at a tent city on a rail line leading into the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant until May 27-the date of a United Nations conference in New York on disarmament.

The 35 to 40 protesters, who have been camped in 19 tents and makeshift plastic shelters for four days, say they will submit to arrest if ordered to leave. They are the rear-guard of an estimated 5,000 people who demonstrated at the plant last Saturday to urge an end to the production of nuclear weapons.

Electronic Church Is Now Rival

ST. LOUIS (AP) - The "electronic church," the description applied to the expanding Christian radio and television stations, is becoming a major rival to local congregations, says the Rev. Dr. Martin E. Marty, church historian of the University of Chicago.

In an article in Perspectives, published by Evangelical Lutherans in Mission, he says the modern-style, broadcast packaging of "Old-time religion" competes for supporters with the disciplined, pastoral life of the church.

"We should worry about members of the completely private, individual, 'invisible,' do-it-yourself religion that competes against the Biblical faith wherein Christ exists for us today in communion, in the members of the Body he heads."

Wright's GOP Foe Has Endorsement Of AAM

Politics and economics were the main items of discussion last night at a meeting in which local farmers were briefed on the happenings at a state American Agriculture Movement convention held earlier in the week.

The state AAM meeting, held May 3 in Fort Worth, was attended by local farmers, Bill Houston and Barton Willingham.

In only one case, said Willingham, was a political candidate endorsed at state meeting. That candidate is Claude Brown, the Republican challenger facing Jim Wright in the 12th District race for the U.S. Congress.

Brown was endorsed because, said Willingham, the convention members viewed Wright as being anti-AAM.

Also discussed last night was an economic proposal passed at the state convention. That proposal calls on each local strike office to donate $50 to the state AAM office and another $50 to the national AAM office.

For organizational purposes, explained Willingham, the state was divided into five districts, and each district delegated the responsibility of coordinating its own affairs.

Snyder, said Willingham, is in the second district. The delegate representing this district is E.D. Holbomb of Stanton, and the alternate is Lauren Prather of Abernathy.

Each district, he said, has a mid-level organization, falling between the local and state offices in the makeup.

Also discussed at the meeting last night were the upcoming precinct and county conventions.

Sterling Williams, former 132nd District Court Judge, was called in to explain convention procedure and how to become delegates to at the conventions.

Drink Named For Jockey

LOUISVILLE (AP)-The mint julep, for years the official drink of the Kentucky Derby, now has a non-alcoholic counterpart named for teen-age jockey sensation Steve Cauthen.

The drink was listed with other Derby concoctions in a story by John Finley in the Louisville Courier-Journal. Called simply the "Steve Cauthen," it is a mixture of orange juice and ginger ale with sprigs of mint.

Cauthen, who turned 18 this week, still is not old enough to buy a drink in his native state of Kentucky.

He'll have his first Derby mount Saturday when he takes Affirmed to the starting post.

Credits Lay Participations

NEW YORK (AP) - Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, told Reform Jewish leaders that lay participations makes the difference between a synagogue that is alive and one that is "a museum."

SCALE MODEL - A scale model drilling rig donated by the Ideco Division of Dresser Industries is a center of attention in the new oil exhibit in the Scurry County Museum at WTC. Ruth McClurg, museum secretary, is pictured with the model and other items in the exhibit. The public is invited to the first formal showing of the exhibit from 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

SADDLE SHOP - Saddles, bridles and other equipment used in years past when horses provided power are displayed in the Scurry County Museum's saddle shop. The shop is across the "street" from the blacksmith shop in the community section of the museum. Displays in the permanent gallery of the museum trace the history of the county from the times of pre-historic Indians.

Hand Is Reattached

MANCHESTER, England (AP)-Roger Hampson, 32, cut off his hand accidentally with a power saw in his wood-working shop, but surgeons attached it to his wrist in an 8½ hour operation performed under a microscope. Doctors said it will be several months before they know if the surgery was a success.

Withington Hospital said the surgeons rejoined 22 tendons and blood vessels less than a millimeter in width along with nerve connections.

Lists 55 Holdings

Collins Leads Pack In Financial Statements

By MILLER BONNER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) Joe Namath, Farrah Fawcett Majors and Texas congressman Jim Collins all have at least one thing in common: Faberge.

The former quarterback, the sex symbol and the Dallas Republican receive part of the annual incomes from the company that sells perfumes, colognes and other toiletries.

In Collins' case, he listed less than $5,000 in Faberge stock among his holdings which, along with 19 other members of the Texas delegation, were made public this week under new House procedures requiring more specific financial disclosure statements from most of the 435 members.

Retiring House members - a classification that includes six Texans - were not required to file financial statements. Two Texans vacating their House seats - Barbara Jordan and Bob Krueger - did file the forms, however.

Collins emerged as the most affluent member of the Texas delegation, listing 55 holdings ranging from Faberge and Ideal Toy to Gulf Western and four farms. Congressmen were not required to list the specific value of each holding and most placed their real estate or stocks in one of five categories ranging from "Under $5,000" to "Above $100,000."

Collins' holdings totaled a minimum of $1,723,000. He listed no liabilities.

By comparison, Democrat Jack Brooks of Galveston listed holdings woth a minimum of $1,113,000 and debts totaling at least $366,000.

The outside income of the 18 Texans in the House who will be seeking re-election this year averaged $44,539.17. That's in addition to their $60,000 congressional salaries.

Collins and Brooks were the only two with minimum holdings topping the $1 million mark, although almost all of the Texans listed at least one holding in the category of "Above $100,000."

Real estate holdings plus shares of stock in oil companies and banks were the most common listing.

Democrat Jack Hightower of Vernon was the only Texan to list no outside income.

Reps. Ray Roberts of McKinney and John Young of Corpus Christi have their annual incomes supplemented by military benefits. Roberts, chairman of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee, listed $6,973 a year in Navy benefits while Young noted $7,200 from the Navy also.

Freshman Democrat Jim Mattox of Dallas filed the thickest statement. In addition to listing his holding and debts, the Budget Committee member provided a copy of his 19-page income tax return from last year.

Democrat Sam B. Hall Jr. of Marshall turned in a five-page statement outlining 32 holdings with a minimum value of $742,000 and debts totaling at least $120,000.

Krueger, a candidate for the U.S. Senate seat held by John Tower, listed $8,182.70 in outside income during the three-month reporting period. His list of 17 holdings ranging from Braniff and General Motors to Allied Chemical and Union Carbide totaled $334,477.13 in net value.

Democrat Jim Wright, the House majority leader, listed $15,763 in outside income from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31. His holdings in real estate, three banks and three businesses - Tandy Corp., Gearhart Owens and Western Company of North America - were given a minimum value of $82,000. His debts were listed in the $50,000 to $100,000 range.
