Six Days Of Slow Rain Drenches County

Community Farm Meetings Begin In County Thurs.

Announcement of community farm meetings to discuss the changes in the 1941 farm program, the present cotton situation and the 1941 cotton marketing quota referendum on Saturday, Dec. 7, was made following a conference of county and community committeemen and other farm agencies of the county held Friday. The community committeemen will be in charge of the various meetings.

Speaking before the group Friday, W. K. Cottingham, county agent, pointed out the various educational phases of the AAA program, and outlined those things on which emphasis should be placed in order to meet the challenge now presented agriculture.

He was followed by C. V. Griffin, administrative officer in charge of the local office, and Clyde Emmert, chairman of the county committee.

"The number one problem of all government agencies is the propaganda going on among certain people," Mr. Griffin pointed out, describing the manner in which attempts have been made to undermine the work of the farm program in certain sections of the county. "We must be ready with the answers to what the farm program really is doing if that sort of activity comes here," he added. Turning to the present world cotton situation, Mr. Griffin termed it as serious. Of the 25,272,000 bales now on hand, 12,500,000 bales is carryover, and 12,772,000 bales is estimated from the 1940-41 crop. While only 6,191,000 bales was exported, 8,500,000 bales was consumed domestically, the highest number in the history of cotton (Continued on Page Twelve)

Pep Squad To Present Comedy

"She's My Daisy," a comedy in three acts, will be given under the sponsorship of the Wellington pep squad Tuesday evening, Dec. 3, at the high school auditorium. "This is one of the most amusing plays we've put on in several years," Miss Minnie Athley, who is directing the play, said. "Act one leads up to the laughs, act two is a laugh from beginning to end, act three has plenty of laughs and untangles all the complications that have arisen in the first two acts." Action concerns Daisy Darling, who is beneficiary of her uncle's will provided she does not marry before she is 25. Daisy has married, however, and her grim aunt Lucy, executrix of the will, is about to arrive for a visit, with a new husband, en route to Bermuda. Daisy's efforts to work out this situation, and the taking into her home of a mysterious woman, "Queenie," will provide the full evening's entertainment, pep squad members predict.

"We extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend this play. You can't miss the laughs, and in (Continued on Page Twelve)

Monte Mitchell, above, second from left, whose home is in the Quail community, is a member of the grain judging teams which will represent Texas A. & M. Highway Week Program Set Collingsworth County will join with other counties of the state in the observance of Texas Highway Week, December 2 to 6. Civic clubs of Wellington, city schools, the schools at Samnorwood, Quail and Dodson, and all common schools of the county have been invited to emphasize this week, and the work which the Highway Department is doing.

Programs built around this theme will be given by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. In the schools, study of Texas highways will probably be built into the regular school work.

Chairman of the Highway Week observance for this county is Deskins Wells.

"The Texas highway system is one of the most outstanding and unusual in the nation and the Highway Department, which is responsible for building and maintaining this system, has been declared by many leaders to be the most important of our state departments," Mr. Wells pointed out. "Because of its outstanding responsibilities and accomplishments, the history of the Texas Highway Department will be spotlighted as part of the observance of Texas Highway Week under sponsorship of the Texas Good Roads Association."

The law creating the Texas State Highway Department was enacted April 4, 1917. All previous road construction had been accomplished entirely at the expense of the respective counties to suit local requirements. (Continued on Page Twelve)

House Of David Team Back For Norwood Tilt

The bewhiskered House of David Basketball team will return to this county for the third consecutive year when they meet the Samnorwood All-Stars Monday night, December 2, on the Norwood court.

Games which this team plays here have rapidly become high points of the entire basketball season, and capacity houses have witnessed all previous games.

This year, the House of David brings an entirely new team to this section. The members are young and have just finished excellent college careers in the eastern states. All the clowning, trick plays, and clever maneuvers which have characterized the team in the past will again be in store for local fans, it has been indicated to Paul Morris, Samnorwood coach.

That the Davids will likely have a more difficult go of it than in

Highway Bond Election Set For December 28

Notice that the $500,000 Road Bond Election called for this county will be held December 28 was given this week by Judge C. C. Bishop, county judge. This election is to determine whether or not hard surfaced roads designated as State Highways shall be constructed in this county.

Announcement of plans for this road bond election was made last week by the Commissioners Court, and at the same time it was pointed out that this could be done with no cost to the tax paying property owners. This is made possible, it was explained, by issuing and selling the bonds only when the county receives from the State Highway Commission and the Board of County and District Road Indebtedness definite assurance that the roads to be constructed and improved with the proceeds from the sale of said bonds will be taken over by the state, and that the principal of and interest on said bonds will be paid out of funds lawfully appropriated for that purpose by the proper state agency.

The election was called by the court in a session Saturday, after a petition of J. C. Phipps and 111 other persons was presented for an election.

In discussing these bonds, Judge Bishop pointed to an announcement of the sale of such bonds for Leon County, as carried by the Fort Worth Star Telegram Nov. 25. The item read:

"Approximately $475,000 worth of road bonds were sold recently by the Leon County commissioners' court. They are part of the $510,000 issue voted in July, 1927. These bonds will be assumed by (Continued on Page Seven)

Lights On!

Wellington To Decorate

Christmas lighting for Wellington, already becoming a tradition, will be used again in the holiday decoration. The Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the lighting project this year, Sandy Parsons, Jr., president, said Wednesday morning. Other civic groups working with the C. of C. will be the Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, and Business and Professional Women's Club.

Lights on the court house, along with the revolving star used last year, were being put up Wednesday, and these lights, along with those in a number of business

Two To Four Inch Fall Is Estimated

Slow rain and drizzles, which fell over this section for six days, gave Collingsworth between two and one-half and four inches of moisture, the first general rainfall in the last six months.

Optimism mounted rapidly both among business men and farmers as the rain continued, and the general belief was expressed that the county is now wetter than it has been at this time of year since 1936.

Two and one-half inches of rain was caught in the government rain gauge in Wellington. While reports from most other portions of the county were estimates, they revealed that the moisture received in the north half of the county was definitely heavier than that in the south half.

* All sections north of Salt Fork River were estimated to have received from three to four inches, and at several points near the north line of the county, a five-inch estimate was given.

The lightest fall reported from the county was at Dodson, where a two-inch estimate was given. In the southwestern portion of the county it was believed that between two and a half and three inches fell.

Although the rainfall continued at intervals from Tuesday, Nov. 19 to Monday morning, Nov. 25, at no time was it hard enough to knock cotton out in fields not yet harvested.

At the same time, benefit to the approximately 10,000 acres of wheat already planted in the county cannot be estimated. While a part of this acreage was planted last September and has already made a good growth, farmers in several communities are still seeding their wheat. A small acreage of rye has also been planted and will gain growth following the rain.

Quail Ready For Harvest Festival Celebration

Plans are complete for the Quail Community Harvest Festival, to be celebrated November 28 at the Quail School. Visitors from all parts of the county are expected to enjoy the carnival, band concert, picture show, religious service, school program and Thanksgiving dinner.

Thursday evening, a picture show and two ball games between Quail and Samnorwood will be featured. Both the boys and girls teams will play. Each of these teams is considered outstanding in this section.

Red Cross Roll Call Continues Through Month

The Red Cross Roll Call in this county will continue through the remainder of this month, since rainy weather and mud have already delayed this work to a great extent, Dewey Ellis, Roll Call chairman announced Tuesday evening.

"The people of Wellington have already given generously to the Red Cross in the special calls made earlier in the year. We appreciate that to the fullest, but at the same time we urge the cooperation and support of all people of the (Continued on Page Seven)

Fortenberrys Hurt In Car Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fortenberry of Wellington received painful injuries Thursday, Nov. 21, when their car overturned between Dallas and Greenville.

They were en route to Greenville to spend the holidays.

Mr. Fortenberry, who returned here Tuesday night, stated that the accident occurred when they met a truck driving near the center of the road, and to avoid hitting it, Mr. Fortenberry pulled his car onto the muddy shoulder of the road. This caused the car to overturn several times, landing in a cotton field.

Mr. Fortenberry received torn ligaments in his shoulder, while Mrs. Fortenberry received deep cuts just above her right knee. Passing motorists took them to a Greenville hospital, where they received treatment.

Although the car was damaged considerably, Mr. Fortenberry drove it to Wellington. Mrs. Fortenberry remained at Greenville.

Wellington Man Is Marooned In Amarillo Freeze

Wellington missed the freeze which isolated Amarillo, but one Wellington man didn't.

J. D. Dorsey, local truck driver, not only was marooned in Amarillo, but he suffered what doctors described as a light attack of pneumonia, and was confined to an Amarillo hospital, which at that time was without lights and with but very little water.

Dorsey had been delayed by having his truck break down just outside Amarillo. As he was bringing the truck into town, he lost consciousness while he waited at a railroad track for a train to pass. A negro man, driving just behind him, found that Dorsey was ill and took him to St. Anthony's Hospital.

Unable to hear anything of his whereabouts, his wife and parents, Mrs. J. D. Dorsey and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Dorsey, left for Amarillo to try to locate him Monday. Mr. Dorsey, however, was able to leave the hospital Monday and had reached Wellington before (Continued on Page Twelve)

Registered Jersey bulls, comparable in quality to those found in any section of Texas, will be permanently a part of Collingsworth County's dairy herds when the six purchased recently by the Farm Security Administration arrive here within the very near future.

These bulls were purchased from the Hodgkins Dairy, of Port Worth, the highest producing dairy herd in the state.

The dam of Bull No. 2 is a daughter of Sultan's Fern King.

Bull No. 4: Sired by Brampton Free Standard, which is the bull Mr. Hodgkins refers to as the Canadian Bull, he having imported him from the best Jersey herd in Canada. The dam of this Canadian bull produced 816 pounds of fat in 365 days. The dam of bull No. 4 has a record of 525 pounds of fat in 305 days and sold for $200 when eight years old.

Bull No. 5: Sired by Poppy Foremost, whose dam produced 634 pounds of fat when on test. The dam of bull No. 5 is a daughter of Soeurette's Carnation and is now on test in the Hodgkins herd. She is an extremely high testing cow.

During the average football game of 60 minutes, the ball is actually in play only about 15 minutes. The other 45 minutes are taken up by the players in huddling, getting into position and unscrambling after downs.

Red Cross Aid To Britain Reviewed By Mrs. Harper

That the women of Collingsworth County may know of the actual help which their Red Cross Production Work is accomplishing, Mrs. John W. Harper, county production chairman, this week released a summary of the Red Cross War Relief work in Great Britain.

Two agencies in England have assumed responsibility as the chief voluntary relief agencies in the British Isles, Mrs. Harper pointed out, the British Red Cross and the Women's Voluntary Services. A committee representing the American Red Cross is also stationed in London. This committee meets daily, and to it come the urgent requests of the British Red Cross and the Women's Voluntary Service. These requests are cabled to the American Red Cross, after the need for every item has been considered and established.

"With an increasing number of families homeless, and as London's millions face the prospect of winter nights in air shelters, requests for new types of relief have come urgently to the American Red Cross," Mrs. Harper said. "A thousand kerosene stoves, with which to cook in air raid shelters; a half million blankets to take the place of those lost by the wandering families, more ambulances, mobile canteen units, motorcycles for doctors and first aid workers . . . these are the requests made during the last few days.

"Thousands of letters from England have come to the Red Cross headquarters, expressing thanks of these people for the food, clothing, hospital and medical supplies, and other necessities which the American Red Cross is sending," Mrs. Harper continued.

British ships have carried Red Cross cargoes without charge, customs duties have been waived, rail transportation within Great Britain has been paid for by the agencies receiving the supplies, and they in turn, send receipts for the goods received.

"From these reports which we receive through the Red Cross from the people of England, we can know that every garment that we make in our production work, and everything else that we do is most sincerely appreciated and that it is well worth the time we spend in making the garments," Mrs. Harper concluded.

Pipe Line Co. Urges First Aid

Three thousand men and women employees of United Gas Pipe Line and associated companies are equipped to give first aid treatment in emergencies, according to a survey of the results of the company's voluntary first aid training program made public recently.

"The time and effort that these employees have expended in obtaining this knowledge which has equipped them to render first aid in cases of emergency to both the public and their fellow employees is deeply appreciated," said N. C. McGowen, president of the companies.

The training program has been

How Winter OIL-PLATING maintains needed lubricant in advance for Safe Quick Starts

Any good timely oil ad tells you the one same truth . . . your Winter oil ought to flow fast. For it must come groping up from the bottom of your engine, to all inner surfaces—a total area bigger than a windshield, but tough for the oil to reach. The sooner the oil could get there, the more safely you'd start up.

That's what's at stake. And that's why many stop depending on fast flow alone, as they learn that their engines can be OIL-PLATED to lubricate "faster than instantly" at every Winter start. Simply changing to Conoco Germ Processed oil brings your engine OIL-PLATING, which cannot be late getting started, because it's always PLATED UP where needed, before you even step out of the house.

OIL-PLATING, you see, isn't all draining down during long cold standstills. The extra man-made substance in Germ Processed oil—patented—bonds OIL-PLATING to engine parts lastingly. It stays there. And lubricant couldn't be prompter than that in smoothing the way for precious parts, instead of letting them grind. Soil Conserving Work For 1940 Is Reviewed Terracing, contour furrowing, and the planting of cover crops still remain the chief means of soil conserving in Collingsworth County, a preliminary survey of the year's report which W. K. Cottingham, county agent, will send to College Station, reveals. Supplementing these, however, a wide array of soil saving practices, ranging from experiments with lespedeza to diversion ditches, have been worked out by conservation minded farm operators.

Mr. Cottingham's report shows that new terraces were built on 39 farms. These terraces totaled 173.7 miles.

Other practices include diversion ditches on two farms totaling 327 feet; contour furrowing of pastures on three farms on 39 acres; strip crop contour on 7 farms for 185 acres; summer fallowing on 44 farms for 954 acres; contour farming on 758 farms on 84,100 acres; seeding small grains on the contour on 9 farms for 202 acres; seeding grasses on two farms for 23 acres; seeding lespedeza on two farms for 5 acres; interplanting peas on 54 farms for 855 acres; deferred grazing on 8 farms for 1134 acres; cover crops on 704 farms for 13,114 acres; green manure crops on 505 farms for 3,478 acres; resodding on one farm for two acres; planting shelterbelts on 7 farms for 47 acres; cultivating shelterbelts on 177 farms for 1,691 acres; and cultivating home gardens under the AAA program, 413 farms for 545 acres.

taxes shall be levied upon all taxable property in said County for the purpose of paying the principal of and interest on said bonds at maturity; and,

IT APPEARING to this Court that said petition is signed by more than fifty (50) qualified resident property taxpayers voters of Collingsworth County, Texas; and,

Shelterbelt Quota For County Set At 25 Miles

Collingsworth County's shelterbelt quota for this year will be 25 miles, W. J. Grigg, who is in charge of the Shelterbelt office here, has announced.

In pointing out the purpose of shelterbelt planting Mr. Grigg stated that the primary purpose was the protection of soil from wind erosion.

"Aside from this, these belts will supply fuel and posts in later years, furnish protection for livestock, conserve soil moisture, furnish cover and food for wildlife, protect growing crops, improve living conditions, and in other ways contribute to the general well being of the region," he said.

Applications for a shelterbelt may be made through the county agent's office, or to Mr. Grigg at the sub-district shelterbelt office, which is located just south of the city hall in Wellington.

In connection with the shelterbelt planting, Mr. Grigg pointed out that certain requirements must be observed. The plantings, he said, will be located where, in the opinion of the Forest Service and the landowner, they will give maximum protection to fields. This will usually be in an east and west direction along the south or north edge of the field.

The plantings will be about 1 to 7 rods wide, consisting of 5 to 10 rows of trees and shrubs. A strip of less than one-half mile in length will not be considered unless it is limited by ground conditions or it would be a continuation of another planting.

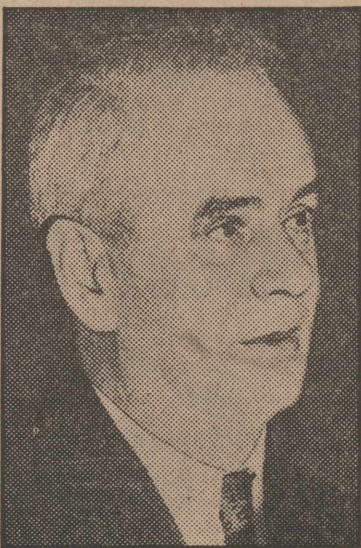

Nor will plantings be made where it is determined that the soil is not suitable for tree growth.

The trees will be furnished and planted by the Forest Service without charge. After planting, the trees will become the property of the landowner. The owner, however, must agree not to remove or sell the young trees.

The landowner agrees to keep livestock out of the planted area, and if fencing is necessary the landowner will furnish the fencing materials necessary for building a minimum standard two-wire fence with posts not more than 20 feet apart. The Forest Service will furnish the labor for constructing the fence.

The landowner will prepare the ground for planting the trees in a manner acceptable to the government. Proper cultivation, it is pointed out, is necessary for the successful growing of the trees. Since they become the property of the landowner after planting, it will be his responsibility to provide the necessary care. The government may, if funds permit, assist with cultivation, when an emergency exists.

Leaders At Labor Conventions

Prospects of unity in ranks of labor grew dimmer as two rival organizations met for their conventions. John L. Lewis, upper left, kept promise to resign as president of Congress of Industrial Organizations at Atlantic City gathering, but urged C. I. O. not to accept American Federation of Labor terms for peace parley. At lower left is Philip Murray, who succeeds Lewis. President William Green is pictured addressing A. F. of L. convention at New Orleans.

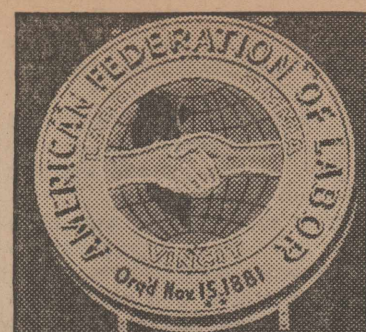

Onie D. Smith Is Carnival Queen Of Draughon's College

Miss Onie D. Smith of Wellington, who is attending Draughon's Business College in Oklahoma City, was crowned Carnival Queen at the annual School Carnival Nov. 8, sponsored by the Student Council.

Miss Smith is a graduate of the Wellington High School with the class of 1940. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ed Smith. Concerning the carnival, the school paper reported:

"The Carnival Friday provided an evening of delightful entertainment for those who attended. Onie D. Smith was elected Carnival Queen and she was indeed a very beautiful one. The program was a variety that was well worth watching and the persons participating did their parts very well."

Miss Dorothy Kenyon, who was one of the first of twelve women to be admitted to the New York Bar Association, is a member of a committee to report on the legal status of women in various countries.

Deck Wells Will Head Highway Program Here

Deskins Wells of Wellington is to be chairman of the observance of Texas Highway Week, December 2 to 6, inclusive, in Collingsworth County, it is announced by the Texas Good Roads Association, sponsor of the week.

Mr. Wells has accepted appointment to head the committee to arrange and stage the Highway Week program in this county and will work out details and name committees to assist with arrangements for the event, the Association's office at Austin advises.

Texas Highway Week will be observed throughout the entire state during the designated week by proclamation of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and the public is urged by the proclamation to take increased interest in their state highway system and its needs. Officials and civic leaders of the state, counties, cities and towns will lead in arranging public meetings and celebrations during the period. The Texas Good Roads Association and the State Highway Department are cooperating in helping plan state-wide observance.

The Governor's proclamation designating the week called upon all citizens "to take inventory of the manifold blessings brought to them by the highways of this state, to consider the progress that has been made in the past towards a completed highway system, and to give serious thought to the future highway needs of the state so that Texas will continue to grow and prosper as its system of highway transportation is extended and improved."

Motor vehicle transportation has experienced phenomenal growth in Texas during the last two decades, the proclamation said, and it pointed out that in the last fiscal year 1,758,761 motor vehicles were registered, as compared with only 484,628 in 1920.

Not only have peace time needs for more and better highways rapidly increased, but now, in view of the national defense program and the mechanization and motorization of the rapidly expanding Army, new and heavy demands will be made on the Texas highway system as a result, the proclamation declared. Texas, being one of the most important states in the national defense program on account of its extensive coastline and the long international border on the south, has 6,375 miles of highways that have been designated by proper national defense agencies as strategic military highways.

While relating that highways, as the base of motor transportation, have revolutionized trade, commerce, industry and agriculture in Texas, and have contributed immeasurably to Texas' growth and prosperity, Governor O'Daniel's proclamation also added that:

"Recent surveys by cooperating state and federal agencies have disclosed that the state highway system is far from complete and that it would require an expenditure of approximately $385,000,000 to bring the Texas highway system to a standard regarded as modern in the light of existing traffic demands. There are 8,860 miles on the state system only partially improved, 5,600 miles in need of reconstruction, 4,836 miles of farm-to-market roads in need of construction, and additional designations pending before the Highway Commission totalling 3,116 miles. Safety on the highways has become a problem of increasing social and economic importance," it also was added. The building of safety features into the highway system has become a major item in highway needs.

The Texas Good Roads Association is urging observance of Texas Highway Week in every county, city and town possible and is busy with plans for state-wide celebration of the week, Datus E. Proper, executive vice-president of the Association, announced.

Volume 1—Number 20

Wellington, Texas

Thursday, November 28, 1940

It is nice and quiet in our home. "The Calm After the Storm," so I think I will begin the "Soap Suds."

I will explain. In our family we have one son and daughter that are quiet—in other words you never know they are around. Their presence is easy on one's nerves.

Then we have two that are like a whirlwind or sandstorm blowing through the house. Well, the whirlwinds have been off at school and they blew in for Thanksgiving.

First there was a wrestling match among the boys to prove which was the strongest and had the most wind. They nearly tore the bed down and they overturned chairs.

Then there were loud words among the girls as to who had worn what and this one had worn that one's hose and got runners in them, etc.

But still we felt sad when they said Goodbye and drove off in the rain.

I read a story titled "The Old Sign Falls," by Pearl Buck in December's Woman's Home Companion. I sure appreciated the story and recommend all fathers and mothers to read it.

When the kids were home Son No. I took the flu so Son No. II had to sleep on the couch in the living room and it isn't a davenport bed either. Of course his feet stuck out over the arms and he couldn't turn over. His mother dropped the hint she would have to trade that couch in and get a Davenport Bed Couch (see article elsewhere about Davenport Beds).

The women folks can have the least excuse to get something new. Of course in other women I approve that.

Well, the duck season is here. Come in and get that heavy duck load for any gauge shotgun that you may own. Speaking of ducks, say, haven't we had some ducky weather the last week? Dec. 1 the quail season opens. Come in now; buy what you are going to need in shells and guns. We carry Winchester, Western and Remington ammunition, Winchester and Remington guns.

Davenport Beds Designed For Living Room

Once upon a time the davenport bed was a heavy, hard-to-operate mechanism. Even then, however, its practical value and utility made it a necessary item in most every home. For a time, the studio couch held the center of the picture as an auxiliary sleeping accommodation. It is still popular, but the davenport bed is gaining in acceptance.

Today's davenport beds are vastly different from those of yesterday, as we can easily demonstrate to you. Today's models are attractively styled, like all good living room furniture. Their secondary purpose is well hidden from the casual observer. No one would ever suspect they can be turned into a bed at a moment's notice.

Today's davenport beds are easier to move around, easier to operate. They are not cumbersome in any sense of the word.

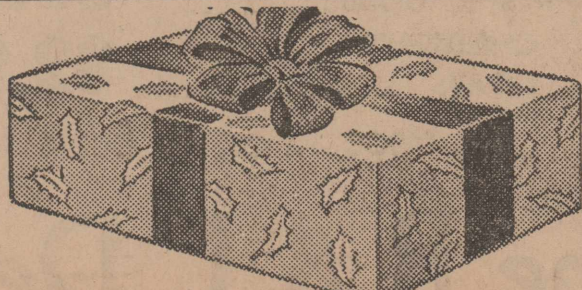

The sleeping surface also has been improved. Today's davenport beds have provisions for a large innerspring mattress—just as you would have on the finest bed. Resting, as it does on resilient, helically suspended cable fabric, it supplies the maximum of sleeping comfort.

There is also sufficient room to keep some of the bedding on the bed at all times, so that if the bed portion is being used regularly it is not necessary to make it up entirely every night. Only the heavy blankets and comforters must be stored elsewhere.

We also have davenport beds with big overstuffed arm chairs to match which make a complete living room suit.

Folks who get the most pleasure out of Christmas are those who begin thinking about it sometime during the last week of November; keep their minds on Christmas, jot down ideas for gifts, and buy a few things along as these ideas crystallize. These folks can get nearer just what they want because stocks in the stores are better, and there is no last-minute pressure and rush, which often results in buying just anything, whether it's appropriate or not.

We would appreciate you coming in and looking over our com-

One of the nicest affairs that has been in Wellington for a long time was the Hobby Show sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

One hobby that was especially interesting to the women was the complete fancy work exhibit of Mrs. W. E. Maddox. She had a piece of every kind of needlework.

We could mention 12 or 15 different interesting exhibits and hobbies but space will not permit.

We always like to see children take an interest in collections. There were 3 little boys and 2 little girls that exhibited their hobbies.

Dana Larsen had three collections: Lincoln pennies, nickles and bows & arrows.

Dick Ellis had a complete armament, and Clifton Hunter a collection of cactus.

Dolores Somerville and Diane Wells showed their dolls. Notice the names that begin with D—Dana, Dick, Dolores and Diane.

The farmers are cheerful about the moisture. Many of them say that it is the best November rain in fifteen years. Even this late in the season they are planning on planting barley and wheat. Walter Winchell recently reported that the New York gamblers were betting that wheat would be $1.50 by next June.

If the wet years return, we may receive benefits from the defense program boom quicker than we thought.

December 2 to 6 has been designated as Texas Highway week. An educational program regarding the work of the Highway Department will be put on in every part of the state. The department estimates the cost of needed improvements in this county at $393,000.00.

A number of Wellington stores are beginning to decorate for Christmas—the sooner the better. Some have their holiday goods on display and the rest are busy getting them in shape. In this war torn world, it is good to think of Christmas once again. And now that we know that peace has to do with business and economics. I see no reason for merchants hesitating to capitalize on it to the fullest. Now we know that commercialism is much more Christian than barbarism.

The good people of Quail are having their harvest festival Thursday. If it is at all possible go out and help them celebrate this second Thanksgiving. They did their part in a handsome way in helping put on the county fair here in Wellington. Just to mention one—G. S. Dowell spent three days getting up exhibits. They helped us. It is our time to help them.

Friday night Dodson will have a carnival for the benefit of their 6-man football team. Furthermore they will select a queen and have a lot of other entertainment. We need to help Dodson out, too.

Next Monday the House of David basketball team will play at Samnorwood. You girls might be interested in some particulars. This team is not the old men that we have seen in years past. They are young men, but if I know anything about the House of David these young fellows can still play basketball. If you want to get your money's worth, go out and see this basketball game.

The Wellington Lions will play the Pampa Tigers on the Rocket field Thursday afternoon. Both are colored teams. At the same time Ben Hurst will stage a rodeo in Wellington, but I expect his crowd will be cut down.

Well I have told you about all these things. Personally I do not see how I am going to attend all of them, but at least I have given you fair notice so that you can make your choice. The truth of the matter is that there will be a lot of entertainment in Collingsworth in the next few days.

Wellington people can appreciate hardships recently experienced by the people of Amarillo. In 1930 one-third of the water mains in Wellington froze, and a part of the town was without water for over a week. Even though the temperature was below zero, there were lights and gas. Amarillo had gas, but many homes could not use it due to an absence of power.

Remembering the Wellington experience, I suspect that many of the Amarillo people got a kick out of the hardship. People loathe poverty and lack of opportunity, but sturdy people get a certain pleasure out of adversity.

Incidentally Wellington people need not worry about the water supply failing if the power lights are down. Wellington pumps water just as Amarillo does. But back in the days when I was mayor and Bura Handley was running the city, as he does today, Wellington put in gas engines, but we did not take out the electric power. In short, if the high lines go down Wellington can pump water with gas. If the gas mains are broken, Wellington can pump water by electricity. It is a simple solution to a possible emergency, but it is also testimony to the efficiency of Bura Handley.

The heroic work of linemen in rebuilding telephone, telegraph and power lines has won the admiration of the Panhandle. Unless you have gone out with them in bad weather, you have no idea of what these men go through. It is their work that causes the people to realize the true meaning of utility. Naturally it takes a lot more than these daring men to make the system work, but they are the showmen just as the telephone operators who stick by their jobs in fire and flood and wind-storm.

All of us here at the Leader office are grateful for the fine manner in which you have been responding to our subscription offer. Renewals are way ahead of schedule.

Mrs. Mary E. Ross, who has lived in Collingsworth County since 1901, came by to renew her paper. While here she took the time to walk back and see how the printing machinery worked. It made all of us glad to have such a lady take such an interest in the paper.

Next week there won't be any observations in this space. I am going to Austin to learn how to prevent accidents on the highway.

Bill Leach Takes Puerto Rico Job

Bill Leach, formerly of Wellington, will sail Thursday, November 28, from New York for Porto Rico, where he has been named construction foreman at Borinquen Field, a new air base being established by the federal government. Mrs. Leach and their daughter, Andrea Juan, will join him in a few weeks.

E. L. Bradshaw, who for a time was with the State Highway Department office here, is also helping on the construction of Borinquen Field, which is located about 85 miles from San Juan, the capitol of Porto Rico.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Leach have spent most of their lives here. Mr. Leach is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Leach of Wellington. He was educated in the local schools. He was formerly with the State Highway Department office. Recently he and Mrs. Leach have made their home in Pampa.

Mrs. Leach is the daughter of Mrs. Ed Ward of Wellington. She formerly taught in this county and later at Sanger. She and her daughter will visit here for several weeks with her mother and with friends.

Lindsey Named To Artillery School

John Lindsey, of the U. S. Army, arrived in Wellington Tuesday, Nov. 19, for a 2-weeks' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Lindsey. He is en route from Fort Lewis near Tacoma, Washington, to Fort Monroe, Virginia.

Lindsey enlisted in the army 14 months ago, and is in the anti-aircraft division of the coast artillery.

He has been named as one of 158 men to attend the Coast Artillery School at Fort Monroe, with the opportunity of completing the work as a staff sergeant. He will be in training in the school for six months.

"I really like army life," he said. Mr. Lindsey has spent most of his life in Wellington, and is a graduate of the local high school.

Mrs. Bill Leach and daughter, Andrea, and Mrs. Ed Ward left for Dallas to visit Mr. and Mrs. John Vaughan and other relatives Wednesday.

Jones Leaves House Friday

Representative Marvin Jones, who for a quarter of a century served the Panhandle of Texas in Congress, Friday resigned that post and left the 18th district without a representative for the first time in its history.

Eugene Worley of Shamrock, representative-elect, will not take office until January 3, the opening of the next session of Congress.

His office stated that he took the oath of office as a judge of the U. S. Court of Claims Wednesday night.

Representative Jones gave his farewell address in Washington last Monday, in which he spoke for more than an hour to house members.

He reviewed some of his experiences in the house, and ended with an appeal for preservation of the United States' form of government and the liberties of its people.

"It is important that one great nation remain at peace," he said. "We can have far more effect as a stabilizing force than if we enter the insane struggle of destruction."

Representative Hope (R-Kans.), ranking minority member on the agriculture committee of which Jones has been chairman, said that the Texan had done a "superb job," had a splendid legal mind, a fine judicial temperament, and predicted that he would make the "same splendid, shining record" on the court that he did in Congress.

Representative Dozey (D-Miss.) another agriculture committeeman, said:

"I want Marvin Jones to get what he wants because he deserves the best he can get and the best isn't good enough."

Doxey said that he personally would favor Jones' appointment to the supreme court.

Among others who spoke were Representatives McCormack, (D-Mass.), Anderson (R-Minn.), Cox (D-Ga.), Fish (R-N. Y.), and Guyer (R-Kans.).

He was the youngest ordained Elder of the Philadelphia-Baltimore Church district, and also the youngest elder ever to be ordained on the Southern Kentucky District.

Rev. Hall is married and has three children.

He has extended a cordial invitation to the people of Wellington to attend services at the Church of the Nazarene and has expressed a desire to become acquainted with the people here.

CCC Camp Work Is Explained

Fifteen hundred CCC camps, each containing 200 boys, staffed with men trained in administrative and executive duties, provide employment, training and healthful surroundings for 300,000 boys the year round. Over 2,750,000 have been members of the Corps since its organization in April of 1933; in Texas alone, over 135,000 have been selected, returning to their families over $40,000,000.00, according to Mrs. R. L. Templeton.

Each County Welfare Agency has the responsibility to carefully select only the very best available boys; those with anti-social ideas are not desired as members of the CCC. Good citizenship is stressed and boys are returned home with a greater understanding of their responsibilities, trained to work, healthy and ambitious as a result of having been members of the Corps. In our national preparedness one of the first needs is to have strong, healthy and alert citizens, and this is what is being accomplished by the CCC. Their outdoor life tends to toughen and build them up and become immune to diseases. The educational programs develop their minds and awaken ambitions toward the better things—the American way of life.

Applications for enrollment in January should be made at once with the County Welfare Worker.

Pioneer Dozier Teacher Dies

Mrs. Joe L. Williams of Amarillo, member of a pioneer Collingsworth County family, and early-day Dozier school teacher, died unexpectedly at her home Friday evening, November 22. Mrs. Williams was born in Alabama, and spent her childhood there. She came with her parents to Dozier community in 1894. The community then had no name, and it was Mrs. Williams' mother who gave the settlement its name and who was its first postmistress. For several years, Mrs. Williams taught school at Dozier.

In 1899 she was married to Joe L. Williams of Fort Worth. They lived in Clarendon, Texhoma, Wichita, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., before moving to Amarillo about 20 years ago. The family is widely known throughout the Amarillo territory.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Caperton of Washington, D. C., J. W. Caperton of Clayton, N. M., Mrs. M. M. Baxter, Mrs. T. J. Potts, Mrs. Marjorie Fleener, and E. K. Caperton of Shamrock.

UNITY NOW NEEDED

Perhaps never before was there a more urgent need for putting political bitterness and striving for national unity on the part of all patriotic Americans than that of the present. It was unfortunate that a campaign had to divert our attention to some extent from the business of preparing the nation's defense, and both victor and vanquished may well be glad that it is over.

There are problems of the most vital importance to be met, both in domestic and foreign affairs. The solution of these problems concerns every citizen, from the highest to the humblest. Upon their wise solution may depend the fate of the nation itself.

It bodes well for our country that even before the smoke of political battle had cleared away, the ablest and most responsible of our leaders of both major parties have signified their intention to join with their fellow Americans in attaining a high degree of national unity without delay.

This does not mean that there will not be differences of opinion concerning details of the national program. Such differences are inevitable and within reasonable limits wholesome for the nation. It does not mean, or should not mean, that there will be petty sniping at officials who are trying to perform their duties acceptably in a time of stress, nor any petty reprisals on the part of officials against those who have recently opposed them.

In the last analysis, what is good for the country as a whole is good for Democrats, Republicans and all others alike. Let us forget parties and factions and personalities for a while. Let us all be loyal Americans first, to the end that our nation may be strong, and being strong may remain free.

THE STUBBORN GREEKS

Since the unprovoked invasion of Greece by Italy, the Greeks have put up a stubborn resistance comparable with that of the heroic Finns in their struggle with Russia's hordes a few months ago. But, like the Finns, they could not be expected to hold out long against overwhelming numbers without outside aid.

In the first two weeks of fighting, the Italians made little headway, and at some points were driven back into Albania, whence their invasion was launched. The Greeks have claimed the capture of many prisoners and the infliction of severe casualties on the Italians, while suffering comparatively small losses themselves.

Reports from Italian sources have denied most of the Greek claims, but it seems certain that the poor showing made by the Italians has been very disappointing to both Mussolini and Hitler. Considerable aid is being given the Greeks by British airplanes and warships, and bombing raids have been made on Naples and other Italian bases.

In the end Greece may share the fate of other nations which have been invaded by Germany and Italy, but they are making a gallant fight in the face of overwhelming odds. The army is small and most of it is poorly equipped, being especially deficient in airplanes and in modern tanks and artillery. The navy is also relatively weak.

The country has been the victim of war, like the rest of Europe, during much of its history, but its people are both brave and stubborn, and resistance to Italy has been remarkable under the circumstances.

YOUNGEST GENERALS

During the Civil War a number of officers attained high rank at an early age, the youngest to reach the rank of brigadier general on either side being Galusha Pennypacker of Pennsylvania at the age of 22.

He entered the Union Army as a captain of volunteers at the age of 18, was a major at 19, a colonel at 22 and a brigadier general the same year, having been promoted for exceptional gallantry in battle, for which he also received the Congressional Medal of Honor. He was wounded three times, but lived until 1916.

Among the young generals of the Confederacy were John H. Kelly of Alabama, Thomas M. Logan of South Carolina, Felix Robinson of Texas, and Joseph Wheeler of Georgia (later of Alabama), all of whom became brigadier generals in their early twenties. Wheeler was made a major general at 26, and was considered one of the greatest cavalry leaders of all time.

During the Revolutionary War the rank of major general was conferred on Lafayette by the Continental Congress when he was only 19, but this was not an earned honor, it being conferred because of his influence in connection with the French aid to America.

It is doubtful that many youthful officers will be given such high rank in future, for the exactions of modern warfare are so great that no one, however brilliant, can fit himself to command a brigade without many years of experience.

Bright Hollywood Stars Trek Back To The Farm

Theme of an old song is "How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm?"

Pertinent query in the film capital these days is just the reverse: how can you keep Hollywood's bright stars off the farm long enough to make pictures?

For many of Hollywood's biggest names, whose only knowledge of rural life is what they've picked up in western melodramas, have gone back to the land. Filmdom's cycle of luxurious living has shifted from beach estates and big limousines to ranches and riding horses.

Among the film stars who have turned to farming as a hobby are some of the brightest names in pictures—Clark Gable and Carole Lombard, Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck, Bette Davis, Robert Young, Spencer Tracy, Mickey Rooney, Paul Muni, Joel McCrea, and hosts more.

Just how serious they are about this back to the land business can be guessed from the prices they pay for that land—as much as $3000 an acre, and even at that price most of it isn't good farm land.

Gable and Miss Lombard occupy a $40,000 ranch, well-stocked with citrus and nut trees. The handsome Clark hopes his walnut crop will do something toward wiping out the deficit he incurred with citrus fruits. That crop netted him $2.70 and he must pay as much as $30 a week for water, on his arid acres.

Young Mickey Rooney has run into another difficulty. He bought some young turkeys for fattening, developed such an attachment for them he now refuses to sell.

Joe McCrea, who worked as a cowhand before he started on his film career, is about the only consistently successful farmer in the movie capital. The bulk of his profits come from a herd of 600 Herefords he maintains on his ranch. He clears about $600 a year, says he could make more if he had more time to devote to it.

Reasons for the screen stars' passion for the open country are several. Many of them like the peace and quiet; others hope to be able to make a living when their film careers reach an end.

But disillusion has come to many in the latter group. They find they don't know enough about farming. Spencer Tracy, who has a place of 15 acres, once figured a home-grown meal of chicken, string beans, potatoes and ice cream cost him $36 to raise.

Comedian Oliver Hardy took a brief fling at poultry raising, found he wasn't making any money. So he hung out his sign: "Eggs Sold at Cost—$4 a Dozen."

Discipleship An Exacting Task

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 1.
Text: Luke 9:49-62.

Two aspects of sincere and earnest Christian discipleship which have often been regarded as contradictory are emphasized in this lesson.

These two aspects of discipleship are tolerance and intensity. The course of Christian civilization might have been quite different if both had been recognized and practiced as universally as they deserve. Is it not strange how the clearest and most incisive teachings and examples of the New Testament are often most disregarded?

Jesus emphasizes the lesson of tolerance in a striking incident. Some man, observing the course of Jesus and probably under the influence of His teaching, had been casting out demons in His name. That is all we know about him, but evidently the man was acting sincerely and with efficacy.

But John, always very earnest and intense for his Master and for the rights and privileges of the inner group of disciples, rebuked the man and forbade him because, as he said, "he followeth not us." But Jesus rebuked John in very clear and emphatic words, "Forbid him not, for he that is not against us is for us."

That is the lesson of tolerance. The tolerant Christian cares more for right principles and right action and good results than he does for labels and organizations and for agreement with his own particular expression of religious opinions. He realizes that it is by their fruits that faith and teaching are known, and he is willing to recognize the good that is done even though it may be done by and through those with whom he differs very sharply regarding points of doctrine, organization, or other matters.

Can Christian people be thus tolerant and at the same time be earnest and consecrated in living up to their own convictions? Why not? Here in the lesson Jesus is just as insistent upon the intensity of discipleship. It is enforced in two or three ways.

There is the story of a certain man who came and expressed the purpose to follow Jesus wherever he might go. The reply of Jesus is as impressive as it is said. "The foxes have holes and the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of man hath not where to lay His head."

The other incident of the man who would follow Jesus, but who said, "Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father." This is a little more difficult for us to understand. On the surface, and with the bold statement as it stands, our sympathies seem to be with this man who made what appeared to be a reasonable request; but we do not know what was in the background of the incident. The probability is that Jesus sensed in the man some insincerity and that He said this to put him to the test.

There are passages and incidents in Scripture in connection with which we have to construct an imaginative background unless we are to be misled into harsh and unfair interpretations. The compassionate Christ who wept as he entered the home of Mary and Martha where his friend, Lazarus, was dead, could not have been unsympathetic toward a man professing sincere concern about his father.

But one thing does stand out: that Christian discipleship is exacting. It is the supreme commitment of a man's life; and in the real showdown nothing can stand in its way.

Alvin Wischkaemper of mighty happy over the he has 400 acres of Sept.

wheat. Upon asking if it had rained half an inch up to that time, he was told it was nearer an inch. "Well, I've always estimated that this field or that one would make a quarter of a bale to the acre, or half a bale, and they never make that much, so now I've learned to be conservative."

S. R. Pinkston saying he attended the Methodist Conference at Pampa last week and he didn't see a single chicken along the side of the road after he passed the Gray County line. No one can accuse the Methodists of not keeping up their traditional liking for chicken.

Edna Joyce Gribble and Clarence Harper saying they were mighty glad to get home for the holidays, but that college couldn't be any better than they were finding it.

"But it isn't a dust bowl anymore, we've had so much rain for the last three years," they said. They also said that in the section where they are, the government is buying up a part of the land that blows so badly and is turning it back to grazing land. "It's a good cattle and sheep country. Last year we didn't start feeding our cattle until March," they said.

Tot Parker saying his father was born in England, and ran away while he was still very young and came to America. "I always wanted to go back to England and see my relatives," Mr. Parker said, then added, "but I don't think it would be a very good time to visit over there now."

A thief who stole $51 from Alphonso McCormick of Newton, Mass., was lucky that he was caught before he spent the money. It was counterfeits, and the resulting charge would have been more serious than theft.

Unique Exhibits Attract Attention At Hobby Show

Hobbies, from pennies to pipes; from bows and arrows to guns; from toys to antiques which no amount of money could replace, were displayed in the county's first Hobby Show, held at the American Legion Hall Tuesday, November 19. The show was sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary unit, under the direction of Mrs. S. G. Henry, president.

Ribbons were awarded to the winners in each of five divisions: the table setting division, women's division, men's division, children's division, and quilt division.

Guests called through the afternoon and evening. During the evening, Dr. E. W. Jones showed motion pictures which he has taken of various sections of the country during the last two years, and W. F. Decker presented members of the Boys Service Club in a Magic Show. Both these forms of entertainment are hobbies.

Members of the Auxiliary acted as hostesses.

Winners and entries in the various divisions include:

Table setting division: winner, Mrs. E. W. Jones, with a setting for afternoon tea. Other entries were: Mrs. S. G. Henry, breakfast setting, and Mrs. W. D. Maddox, setting for a formal dinner.

Women's division: winner for the most unusual hobby, Mrs. Guy Clay, with antique furniture. Mrs. Clay's group included a hand carved, marble-top table brought from Spain to Mexico during the colonial period, and bought by Mr. and Mrs. Clay in Mexico; a sofa and chair 193 years old; two imported hand-painted lamps from an antique shop in Cleveland, O.; a family album from Germany, and a small marble top lamp table made by Mrs. Clay.

Winner of the most complete hobby was Mrs. Pink Sullivan, with a display of cup and tea towels. The collection contained more than 200 towels, many of which were embroidered by Mrs. Sullivan.

Other entries in the women's division included: Mrs. S. G. Henry, a collection of papers bearing headlines of famous events, family heirlooms, photographs, and a collection of china dogs; Mrs. W. D. Resistance...

More sickness occurs to people during the cold weather months than does during any other time of the year. Everyone should take every precaution in avoiding sickness. One of the most essential steps in this direction is RESISTANCE. Eat plenty of GOLDEN-KRUST BREAD, it gives you energy and each loaf is filled with resistance-giving vitamins.

Irishmen Get District Grid Championship

At a conference held in Wellington Monday, superintendents of five schools awarded the Shamrock Irishmen the District 3-A football championship after a review of the season's record of both the Irish and Clarendon Broncho teams.

Superintendents meeting here were W. C. Perkins of Shamrock, H. T. Burton of Clarendon, W. C. Davis of Memphis, Lee Gilmore of Wheeler, and Mr. Beard.

The Irishmen will play the Paducah team Friday afternoon, Dec. 6, at Shamrock for the bi-district title. This decision came Monday night, after J. D. Wilson, superintendent of the Paducah Schools and other school officials met with the Shamrock representatives here.

addition, you'll have the opportunity to see some of the outstanding actors and actresses of the school," Miss Atchley said.

The cast of characters includes Daisy Darling, played by Helen Maxwell; Donald Darling, her husband, Bill Hatch; Freddie Adair, a friend, Hoyet Short; Ann Adair, his wife, Margie O'Rear; Lucy Bell Barrett, a bride at 55 and an aunt of Daisy, Wilma Duke; Peter Barrett, her husband who complains of rheumatism, Bill Langley; Dr. Apple, who cures or kills, George Keller; Queenie, the mystery lady, Dora B. Roberts; Mrs. Snooks, Mary Clark; and Mrs. Kelly, Mary Lee Scarberry.

The play will begin at 7:30 o'clock. A small admission fee will be charged.

fore the other members of his family did.

Describing the appearance of the Amarillo area, the group said:

"On the road to Pampa and on to Amarillo, we saw high line posts smashed to bits, and ice hanging so heavy on the wires that they were touching the ground in some spots. In other places they were lying on the ground. Posts were lying across railroad tracks.

"In Amarillo the trees and even bushes were in splinters, and covered with ice. The ice made the trees and grass look white—just like something imaginary. People were doing without lights and water, and the only way to see at night was by kerosene lamps. It was amusing to see cafes, drug stores, filling stations and hospitals using lamps."

Mrs. Vera Hester and son, Charles, visited in Bryson last week end.

Rocket Boxers To Open Season Friday Night

The boxing season for Wellington High School opens Friday night, November 29, at the high school auditorium with intermural boxing, John Lee, coach, announced this week.

This initial appearance of the Rocket boxers will consist of eight bouts, a battle royal, and possibly two outside fights, Lee said.

This year's team is headed by six outstanding lettermen, Leo Thompson, Jimmie Bowen, Frank Cook, Willie Jo Cummings, J. W. French, and J. A. Goodson. Backing these are a large number of first year boys. Among this latter group, boys who already give promise of some outstanding work are Junior Montague, Junior Young, Denzil Ingram, Carroll Wayne Tollison, Herbert Puryear, Don Smith, Jackie McPherson, and others, the coach said.

"Interest is definitely growing in this section in the Rocket boxing team," Mr. Lee stated. "We had an outstanding team last year with only two lettermen, and all indications are that the present season will be even better.

"We extend a most cordial invitation to the people of Wellington and all surrounding territory to attend this opening event, and all events that follow."

A small admission charge will be made.

Highway Week -

quirements. Little thought was given to the continuation of the road beyond the county's boundary. No effort was made toward a coordinated system of highways.

The Highway Commission is made up of three members, appointed by the Governor, for six year terms each. The Commission was created to formulate policies and plans for the location and construction of a comprehensive system of state highways and public roads. The Commission appoints the State Highway Engineer. His duties are to prepare plans for location and construction of state highways and to carry out the policies and direct the work of the Department.

With the creation of the Highway Department and Commission in 1917 a system of state highways was designated. Most of those highways were unimproved county roads with only a few miles of pavement adjacent to the larger cities. The number of motor vehicles in the intervening years has increased from approximately 195,000 to 1,693,183. Today the tourist traffic is Texas' second largest cash crop, exceeded only by oil.

With this motor vehicle increase has come a corresponding need for increase in road mileage. There were approximately 9,100 miles on the original state highway system and only 1,600 miles in the state were surfaced, most of which was gravel. Today there are 26,500 miles on the state system and 22,600 miles of this are under state maintenance. Only a little more than one-half of the mileage under state maintenance is considered modern, however, and recent surveys made by cooperating state and federal agencies disclose that Texas' highway system is far from complete. The Highway Department has available from all sources for all highway construction purposes an average of approximately only 300 million dollars a year and it is estimated it would take 14 years to bring the entire state maintained mileage to present day standards with the revenues now coming to the Department.

And the State Highway Department, highway construction and maintenance is financed on the pay-as-you-go basis. No state bonds for highways have ever been voted in Texas, though the state has since 1933 assisted in retiring outstanding county and road district bonds, the proceeds of which were expended on state highways. One cent of the state gasoline tax was set aside for this purpose.

The Texas Highway Department has the reputation throughout the nation of being not only one of the best, but one of the most economically operated highway departments.

But for the construction of a uniform, connected system of state highways, commensurate with the size and needs of this great state, funds are needed.

And the problems of the future of highway development in Texas as elsewhere, are of providing the necessary finances and revenue for the construction and maintenance of more and better highways. This may be largely obtained by restoring present highway income that has been diverted to other sources. Not only should all of us in Texas continue to back the splendid work and program of our State Highway Commission and Department, but we also should urge submission by the next Legislature of a constitutional amendment that will end, once and for all, the constant threat of a further diversion of motorists' taxes to purposes other than the building and improving of our roads and highways.

Premiums of $1.00 for first place, 50c, for second, and ribbons for third will be given. Any variety of bird listed and approved as standard by the American Poultry Association may be entered in the Collingsworth Show. In addition to these, Mr. Lindsey added that White Giant chickens, although they are not listed by the association as a standard variety of chicken, may be entered.

"Not only will there be chickens of all kinds, but there will be turkeys, ducks, geese — in fact, any fowl or bird," Mr. Lindsey said.

At the same time, he emphasized that any bird not absolutely healthy will not be allowed in the show. Two local poultry specialists will be in charge of the entering, and they will determine whether or not the birds are healthy.

Serving as secretaries for the show will be Mrs. Lindsey and Mrs. Guy Clay.

A judge licensed by the American Poultry Association will be secured to judge the events.

Wake Lazy Insides All-Vegetable Way

Here's a laxative that generally acts thoroughly, but is a gentle persuader if used by simple directions. Take BLACK-DRAUGHT at bedtime. There's usually time for a good night's rest. Morning generally brings a thorough evacuation; relief for constipation's headaches, loquacity. Try spicy, aromatic, all-vegetable BLACK-DRAUGHT. It's economical, too: 25 to 40 doses, 25c.

Mr. Griffin warned his listeners, however, that they must not expect an improvement in the situation so long as the present war continued.

Emphasizing "It's your program, take an interest in it," Mr. Emmert spoke along the lines of the present program and the changes likely to be made in 1941. He discounted the rumors occasionally heard that this section of Texas has been discriminated against in setting the cotton allotments.

"Texas and Oklahoma are the only two states to get their Conservation money before the first of December," he said later in his talk. In closing, he urged that in the future, all farmers earn their maximum soil building allowance, since many farmers throughout the state had failed to do this in the past.

The community meetings set by the group included the following points: Samnorwood, Thursday, November 28, 7:00 p. m.; Cross Roads, Shinnery and Cottonwood, Friday night, Nov. 29, 7:00 p. m.; Houselog, Rolla and Swearingen, Monday night, Dec. 2, 7:00 p. m.; Kelley, Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 2, 2:00 p. m.

All farm operators and their wives are being urged by members of the county and community committees to select the meeting place nearest to their home and attend at least one of these meetings.

Attending the meeting Friday were Pete Dowell, G. S. Dowell, J. D. Schoonover, C. W. Bradley, H. L. Peters, Buster Smith, W. S. Brewer, Truett, Holland, Buck Breeding, Frank Ford, Clyde Brown, Wayne Johnson, U. E. Among the men who have already indicated to Mr. Hurst that they will enter in this division are John Henard, Waddell Bailey, A. Y. Bell, Gibbs Glenn, Jack Parker, Rufe Williams, Corbett Ford, Claude McKinney, Allan Peters, A. B. Mears, Elmer Lowe and Ben Hurst.

Other attractions will include the regular calf roping, goat roping, bronc riding, and steer riding. The first of the series of rodeos planned by the Association was given Armistice Day before a large crowd from the entire county.
