He will not reach the Russian city until Tuesday. The railway company mobilized fifty-seven trolleys to convey his baggage, which weighed twenty tons, to the train. The Shah's hotel bill was $25,000 for eighteen days.

Alberto Diaz preached a sermon on "McKinley, the Liberator," reminding his congregation that to him Cuba owed her liberty. The attendance was the largest in the history of the church.

THINK METEORS CAUSE FIRES IN FORESTS

(By Associated Press)
Denver, Colo., Sept. 16.—The prevalence of forest fires in Colorado which are devastating the forests has aroused scientists to the theory that a great number of meteors have fallen in the Rocky mountains, tearing up the earth to a great extent. These meteors drop in heavy pine forests, explode and start these fires. Local scientists are making a study of this topic.

Police Already Have a Man Who Is Charged With Committing the Brutal Crime—Victim a Member of Noted Family

(By Associated Press)
New York, Sept. 16.—A man giving the name of Thomas Sharkey was arrested early today, charged by the police with assaulting the banker Nicholas Fish, who died shortly before three o'clock this morning. Mr. Fish's injuries, which were at first supposed to have been caused by a fall, developed, under investigation by city detectives, to have been the result of a most brutal assault.

Foefully Murdered
The banker left his office in the National Park building in the afternoon. He rode to Forty-eighth street and entered a German restaurant near the avenue. He was seated at a table where he spent about two hours. Three women occupied seats near by.

Suddenly a heavy set man strode into the room and was seen to speak to Mr. Fish. What was said could not be heard, but the banker started to rise from his chair when he received a terrible blow in the face. He sank back and again attempted to rise. His assailant rained blow after blow upon his head but the banker managed to reach the sidewalk where he was again struck down. His assailant ran to Eighth avenue where he boarded a car and rode away. From the accurate description of those in the restaurant, the police set to work at once and about the time Mr. Fish was breathing his last at the Roosevelt hospital, the arrest of the man known as Sharkey was made.

Distinguished Citizen
Banker Fish, who was fifty-three years old, was the descendant of one of the oldest and most distinguished of American families. His grandfather, Colonel Nicholas Fish, fought with distinction in the battles of Harlem Heights, Saratoga and Yorktown, and his father, Hamilton Fish, was the first secretary of state under President Grant.

After several years in the diplomatic service he entered the banking business in this city in 1887. Of his brothers, Hamilton is former Republican speaker of the New York assembly and Stuyvesant is president of the Illinois Central railway company.

Senator Bard returned from Catalina Island on Friday evening where he had spent several days fishing in company with Senator Quarles of Wisconsin.

On Thursday Senator Bard got wet and on Friday morning he complained of a cold. He returned to this city Friday evening and immediately went to bed at the Van Nuys hotel. His temperature at that time was 104 and there were strong symptoms of pneumonia. The upper part of his left lung is congested. There is also a strong symptom of toxicæmic poisoning, caused, it was stated by the suspension of the functions of the bowels, liver and kidneys.

(By Associated Press)
New York, Sept. 16.—Rev. T. H. Carley, rector of St. Mary's Catholic church of Yonkers, said to be one of the wealthiest between New York and Albany, in a sermon, has denounced women who go hatless to church. He declared the practice to be a violation of the church rules, and quoted the Apostle Saint Paul to the effect that women must come to worship covered. The rector declared that hatless women will, in the future, be refused admission to his church.

Hermosillo, Mex., Sept. 16.—The military authorities here have received word of a desperate battle between a band of thirty Yaqui Indians and a party of Mexican farmers near Tomatal. The Indians were on a foraging expedition and were attempting to drive off a lot of cattle when a number of farmers of the locality banded together and attacked them. Six Indians were killed and four captured. Two of the farmers were wounded.

San Francisco, Cal. Sept. 16.—There has been more rioting on the outskirts of the Presidio reservation.

A band of soldiers gathered opposite a saloon and began throwing stones in the direction of the place and the police were summoned. The soldiers then assailed the police with sticks and stones. Some shots were fired by the soldiers who then rushed across the street and proceeded to wreck the saloon. They set fire to it, but the flames were extinguished by the fire department.

The soldiers then directed their attention to another saloon and partially demolished it, while other houses in the vicinity were also more or less damaged.

The rioters finally were quelled and a patrol forced them to retreat to the reservation. No one was seriously hurt and only one slightly injured policeman being struck with a beer bottle.

Want Schley Here For School Children

Why not have Admiral Schley come to Fort Worth for a few hours in October in place of attempting and risking the sending of from 1000 to 5000 school children to Dallas, to see the hero of Santiago?

This is a question that is agitating the minds of a good many people at Fort Worth these days. There is no good answer to the query.

The board of trade and the school board seem to have taken a view of hopelessness in the matter of getting the hero of the great sea fight to come over to our own town. There is no such word as fail. If Admiral Schley can spend three days in Dallas it ought not to be a very difficult task to have him in this city for two or three hours.

Some Good Reasons.

It would not be so difficult, likely, if Admiral Schley could be put in possession of the facts; that Fort Worth people want to see him; that Fort Worth is only an hour's ride from Dallas; that 5000 school children are anxious to see the man who whipped the Spaniards at Santiago; that to see him those self-same children will have to be transported to Dallas in order that their desires may be gratified; that probably not one-fifth of the children can possibly get there; that the larger portion of these school children have parents who are unable to send them to Dallas; that to do so for even those who feel that the object lesson in allowing their children to look upon the man who they study about in their school lessons, should not be lost will cost them quite a sum of money more than they can afford, for railroad fare and proper clothing, especially if they happen to be parents of two or more children; that there is danger to life and limb in sending so many youths away from home in a crowd, no matter how much care is taken; that in all probability at least one of so many would not come home alive; that if Schley would come here all the children of Fort Worth could see him, a remembrance that would be dear to all of them in the years to come, and furthermore, there are thousands of grownups who are just as anxious to see and to give a cheer to the hero of Santiago as their children are.

If Fort Worth were 100 miles away it would be an entirely different matter, but Dallas is only an hour's ride away and the trip to Fort Worth and return could be made in a mighty short time. Dallas will see enough of the admiral to allow him a chance to see Fort Worth and Fort Worth a chance to see him.

Let the school board of Fort Worth and the mayor of Fort Worth take this matter up. If the whole matter were presented to the admiral himself in proper light, The Telegram would not that there would be a moment's hesitation in coming over here to see us all.

If it is going to cost any money The Telegram will agree to raise it and will head the list with a substantial sum. The Telegram wants all of Fort Worth's school children to see the hero of Santiago.

BUCKSKIN BILL'S GREAT SHOW

Modern and Moral It Will More Than Make Multitudes Marvel

The modern exhibition must combine education with amusement, suit the old and young, and present something that will make a lasting and favorable impression on the public. Owing to the rapid disappearance of the Indian and the astonishing advance of the west towards civilization, the history of that large and important portion of our country is yet an unwritten book to thousands of people.

The entertainment proper, however, faithfully reproduces life on the frontier, showing Indian sports and warfare, the skill of the cowboy with rifle, lasso and pony, the discipline and training of the western girl, the clever work of the bolas throwers of the South American plains, the Arabs in their wonderful riding and shooting, the Mexicans as marksmen and horsemen, the Cossacks of the Russian steppes, and the innumerable other features of this unsurpassed entertainment.

The military tournament is something never equaled either in magnitude, picturesqueness, or enthusiastic popularity. Engaged in it are U. S. Cavalry, English, German, French and Mexican soldiers, Indians, Cowboys, and many other interesting people, who will be strangers to many thousands who see them here September 19.

He will have with him six bands of music, the most famous of which is the cowboy band. The military band and the female band from Wyoming together make the greatest musical aggregation in existence.

FORGERY AND PERJURY CASES HAD AN INNING IN COURTS TODAY

All Pleas of Guilty and the Juries did the Rest — One Negro to Suffer for His Associates — General Court News

Five Years for Perjury.
Cal Cummings, a negro crap dealer, one of a bunch of 15 arrested some months ago in a raid by sheriff's officers, today pleaded guilty to perjury in the Seventeenth district court, and the jury gave him the lowest sentence—five years.

Cummings and a gang were tried and convicted on gaming charges in the county court. They were all arrested on perjury charges, and it appears, had boosted these men up to swear falsely—that he was not "exhibiting." By an agreement with the counsel, Cal was allowed to plead guilty, and the others' cases were filed.

In this court this morning C. M. Archer, a young white man, pleaded guilty to forgery and was given two years. Two cases were dismissed.

Upon recommendation of the county attorney, Ben Williams, colored, was dismissed on a charge of burglary. The following cases are set for tomorrow: George B. Holland, theft from person; Daisy Lester, theft from person; W. J. Reed, assault to rape, two cases; M. Haley, rape; Aaron Williams, burglary; C. Sanders, burglary; Oscar Galloway, theft of over $50; Jack Williams, theft of over $50.

LIST OF INDICTMENTS
Among the indictments returned by the grand jury last week in which arrests have been made, the following appear:

Jim Slatterly, theft from person.
Dave Gay, assault to murder.
Steve Murrin, alias Steve Weisman, burglary.
Lewis Smith, burglary.
Clark Roberts, burglary.
Frank Holmes, theft from person.
George Kimmell, horse theft.
Andy Cooper, two cases of burglary.
Will Massie, criminal assault.
E. L. Perry, murder in connection with the Newman case.
Frank Smiley, theft of property of over $50.
Henry Clark, horse theft.
Creasy Pierce, theft from person.
Robert Goettsche, murder.
Ed Shutt, burglary.
John Brown, burglary.
A. M. Newman, murder.
The case on trial today was that of the state vs. J. S. Clarkson, from near Keller, who is charged with resisting an officer who called to serve a civil paper on him. The defendant claims some irregularity in serving the papers.

THEATRICAL

Hermann, the Great, comes to Greenwall's opera house Friday matinee and night, Sept. 19. The Chicago Inter-Ocean recently said of this genius:

"In the collection of tricks with which Hermann entertains his audiences is one in which he borrows several watches from people in the audience, apparently places them in a funnel-shaped revolver, shoots them at a man's head, and they appear hanging to the seat of the chair in which the assistant sits."

"In order to make the trick especially interesting, the magician induces some young man from the audience to come on the stage and take part. If a good natured fellow offers his service, considerable fun frequently results, especially when the magician, preparing to shoot the watches at him, says in his broken English:

"Oh, you have no protection, I see. I give you a revolver, too."

"Then he hands the frightened assistant a toy pistol about three inches in length. In Arizona last season Hermann proceeded with the trick and induced a healthy looking cowboy to come on the stage. All went well until he offered the small pistol, when some one called from the audience:

"Use your own gun, Jim. The Frenchman may mean business."

"Jim took the advice and produced a six shooter that took all the humor out of the situation, at least for the magician, who suddenly decided that he would work with his own assistant, and escorted the cowboy carefully back to his seat."

SIX APPLICANTS ARE RECEIVED

Examining Surgeons for the Navy Pass Half Dozen Boys

Examining surgeons for the United States army yesterday accepted six applicants for enlistment under the recent order authorizing the recruiting of certain regiments. On an average the station in Fort Worth has fifteen or twenty applicants each week, but under the restrictions few are accepted.

The age limit has been increased from 18 to 28 to 35. This is said to have been due to the recent Miller case, which occupied the Federal courts in Texas two months ago. Miller resided in Hillsboro, and after enlistment made the claim that he was under age. The department in Washington ordered his release, and has increased the age limit.

A GIRL'S PROBLEM.

How to Feed Herself When Running Down.

"I am a stenographer!" That statement brings up a picture of long hours of tiresome indoor confinement, close mental concentration and subsequent exhaustion and brain fog. Then comes up the food question.

A young lady in Dayton, O., writes: "Some time ago I was a stenographer in a large city retail store and having the responsibility of the office work resting largely upon me my health began gradually to decline, and I stood facing the difficult problem of finding relief of some kind or leaving my situation. Worry added to my trouble; I became dyspeptic and nervous and suffered with insomnia and restlessness at night."

I was speaking of my illness one day to a trained nurse, who recommended that I begin a systematic diet of Grape-Nuts at once as she had seen its beneficial effect upon several of her patients who had suffered as I did.

"So I began to use the food conscientiously. It formed my entire breakfast with perhaps Postum Coffee or some other nourishing drink and a second dish was taken at the evening meal. In about two weeks time I began to feel stronger and more hopeful; my digestion and appetite were better; I was less nervous and could sleep. I continued the diet steadily and soon courage and vitality began to revive and once more I began to think success lay somewhere in this big world for me."

"My work grew smoother and easier, and after seven months of this diet I could do almost twice the amount of work in a day and do it easily and without feeling exhausted."

Today I am filling a much more responsible position, and do the work easily and satisfactorily. I attribute it all to Grape-Nuts which I still continue to use. For a palatable and healthful diet, there is nothing on the market to equal it, and the fact should become of common knowledge." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

GOVERNMENT COTTON REPORT.

Conditions in the Various Cotton Raising Sections of the State

The very cool weather has checked the opening of cotton in central and western portions of the cotton region. Picking has advanced rapidly, generally throughout the belt and as a rule under a favorable condition, although picking has been inadequate in some states over the southern parts of the cotton belt, the bulk of the crop has been gathered and in some sections many fields are already abandoned. Rains have caused damage to the open cotton in portions of Arkansas, Louisiana, Georgia, Texas and South Colorado.

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION

WEST VIRGINIA MINERS ENTOMBED BENEATH THE EARTH

SEVENTEEN ARE KILLED

Shut in by Burning Coal There is No Hope of Even Securing Their Bodies—Mine Gas and a Miner's Lamp Cause Catastrophe

North Fork, W. Va., Sept. 16.—A destructive gas and powder explosion occurred in the Big Four mine of the Algoma Coal and Coke company here Monday morning about 8 o'clock, as a result of which Jas. Lester and John Rockk, a Hungarian miner, and fifteen colored miners are known to be imprisoned in the mine. There is hardly a chance of the men being recovered alive as they are beyond the point where the explosion occurred. The gas and smoke is so thick that all rescuing parties have been driven back. H. F. Frankfield, a mine boss, and Geo. Gaspie, a Hungarian miner, succeeded in crawling over the fallen coal and slate after the explosion, to the lights of the rescuing party and were taken out alive though badly burned and nearly suffocated by the gas and smoke inhaled.

The explosion is said to have been caused by an accumulation of gas catching on fire from the lamp of a miner who was going to work, and this in turn fired six kegs of blasting powder that had been stored in the mine.

The explosion knocked down all of the brattices for a quarter of a mile back toward the mine entrance, thus cutting off all of the air from the men imprisoned behind the debris.

There had been a small gas explosion in this mine on Sunday last and Mine Superintendent A. J. Stuart had personally cautioned the men who worked in the mine to not attempt to work again until the air had been tested by a safety lamp.

A rescuing party headed by Mine Inspector Cooper attempted a rescue but was driven back by the want of air. It is now learned that the coal is burning and there is no hope of extinguishing the flames until a new air passage can be built to the point of the explosion.

Superintendent Stewart has a large force of men at work now and will make a second attempt to reach the imprisoned men.

ALABAMA SOLDIERS THANK GEN. TORRANCE

EXPRESS RESOLUTIONS SHOWING APPRECIATION OF HIS MINNEAPOLIS LETTER TO G. A. R.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 16.—A special from Montgomery to the Age-Herald says:

The following resolution was passed by Confederate Veterans here:

"We, the members of Camp Faulkner, United Confederate Veterans, in special meeting assembled, take this, the earliest opportunity, of expressing to General Torrance, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, our heartfelt appreciation of his recent and generous act of kindness in appealing to all the people of this country for help for the Confederate home at Mountain Creek.

"The appeal of General Torrance was unexpected and unthought of, and came from a heart that is big enough to take in all men that are in distress. He came among us and was received as a friend and comrade by those to whom the bitterness of war is but a memory. His every utterance showed that for those against whom he had stood in battle he had only friendship, and whose misfortunes have outlasted the war, his heart overflows with tenderness and sympathy. We send back to him and all those who co-operate with him a greeting in the spirit of comradeship, of gratitude and of our common citizenship."

Shot in the Head.
San Angelo, Tex., Sept. 16.—Fred Dearing, son of a prominent cattleman, was shot in the top of the head at this place. A shotgun was the weapon used. John Lee knocked the gun up just in time to prevent the discharge from entering Dearing's body. The wound is not fatal. E. C. Chism, a wood hauler, is in custody, charged with the shooting.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage of it, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. TWENTY LIVES ARE LOST IN FOREST FIRES

RETURNS FROM BURNED DISTRICTS IN OREGON SHOW THAT APPALLING LOSS OCCURRED

Portland, Ore., Sept. 16.—Twenty lives have been lost, and it is roughly estimated that $1,500,000 worth of property has been destroyed during the past week by forest fires in Oregon and Washington. Many more people are missing, but it will not be known how many are dead until reports from remote districts come in. The estimate of the property loss does not include standing timber, but covers saw mills, houses, barns, shops, cord wood and farm implements. Thousands of acres of timber have been burned over, but the destruction of great timber has not been heavy. Relief is being hurried from this city. Tacoma, Seattle and Vancouver to those who have lost their homes and crops. The districts where the greatest destruction occurred are at Latta, Springwater and Bridal Veil, in Oregon, and Fifty Plain, Lewis river and Elma in Washington. In all the places it is estimated there are about 500 people without food and shelter. The fires have nearly burned out, and yesterday morning the smoke cleared away so that the sun was visible most of the afternoon.

Sixteen at Vancouver.

Vancouver, Wash., Sept. 16.—The list of fatalities in Clark and Cowlitz counties as a result of the terrific forest conflagrations to increase rapidly. Sixteen deaths are reported and people living in the vicinity of the burned district say the list of dead will aggregate 50.

Thirty-Eight at Tacoma.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 16.—Reports from the stricken districts of Lewis river continue to grow worse. The charred bodies of 33 persons have already been found and it is believed there will be more to follow. Many campers and an unknown number of soldiers from outside points are missing. The burned district was settled by perhaps 500 persons.

WILKESBARRE MINES QUIETNESS PERSONIFIED

NO DISTURBANCE IS REPORTED IN THE REGION AND DEPUTY SHERIFFS ARE UNEMPLOYED

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 16.—Sheriff Jacobs and a large number of deputies assembled at the courthouse at an early hour Monday morning in anticipation of trouble occurring at some of the mines. But outside of an outbreak at Old Forge, in which an Italian was badly beaten by strikers, the day was a very quiet one in the strike region.

John Fallon went to Nanticoke early in the morning to head off any trouble in that section, and other prominent officials of the United Mine Workers went to other parts of the country to advise against any marches on the collieries. But no marches were attempted, neither was there any effort made to resume work at any of the big mines. It is said that the attempt may be made when least expected, probably some day this week.

An important conference will be held at strike headquarters. Among those who will take part will be President Mitchell, District Presidents Nichols, Duff, Fahy and National Treasurer Wilson of Indianapolis and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. Bishop Fallows, of the Reformed Episcopal church of Chicago, may also be present. It is stated the chief topic will be the relief plan. Mr. Gompers, it is said, has some proposition to make which will insure steady relief for the striking miners all winter, should they decide to continue the battle.

TRAINMEN ARE AFTER MORE

PRESENT WAGES ARE UNSATISFACTORY TO THE EMPLOYEES

IS NO TALK OF STRIKE

Efforts to Secure Advance Will Be Conducted Along Orderly Lines and the Men Believe Their Wishes Will Be Granted

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Lodges of railroad trainmen and railroad conductors west of a line drawn from Duluth, Minn., south of New Orleans, are voting on a proposition to ask for additional compensation for their services. E. E. Clark, grand chief of the Order of Railway Conductors and P. J. Morrissey grand chief of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, stated that "owing to the vastly changed conditions as compared with those in existence at the time the present wage scales were made, both the conductors and trainmen believe they are entitled to an increase in wages."

The movement was begun at a meeting of the chairmen of the adjustment committees held in Kansas City in June, the decision being reached that an increase of from 10 to 20 per cent. should be demanded. The chairmen of these committees met again in Cleveland, O., July 24, where the project was submitted to the grand officers of both bodies. With a few alterations and corrections to conform to the laws of both organizations, it received their endorsement.

The lodges are now voting and send the returns to Kansas City where the joint committees will hold their meeting Oct. 12. Should a two-thirds vote be cast in favor of demanding an increase in wages on any one or more railroad systems, or on railroads within the prescribed territory, the joint committees will prepare a joint wage scale for all parallel lines, through lines and independent systems and feeders to these.

The present talk of a wide spread strike is unwarranted sensationalism, declared Grand Chief Clark of the conductors.

"No strike will occur, at least not until all other means have been entirely exhausted and then only upon a two-thirds vote of the members of the organization involved."

Mr. Morrissey for the trainmen said: "If anything is done it will be along orderly lines in accordance with the long established policies of the bodies affected."

TOMMY RYAN DEFEATS KID CARTER EASILY

SUPERIOR RING WORK IS THE CAUSE OF HIS VICTORY AT FORT ERIE LAST NIGHT—CARTER PUNISHED

Ringside, Fort Erie, Ont. Sept. 16.—Tommy Ryan may be the veteran of the middle weight in the prize ring, but he is still far from a back number. Last night in the arena of the Fort Erie club in a vicious, bruising fight he knocked out Kid Carter of Brooklyn in the last minute of the sixth round. The knockout was clean and decisive and came chiefly as the result of superior ring generalship of Ryan, ring generalship which enabled him throughout to successfully evade or withstand the heavy onslaughts of his opponent. Sturdy and heavy hitting, proud of his endurance, full of energy, confidence and ambition, Carter was no mean opponent. In fact, he hustled Ryan throughout the fight, forcing him from corner to corner with wicked lunges, which effectually destroyed any effort on Ryan's part to box prettily. Forced to fight, Ryan finally went at the game as few can. He stung and jabbed Carter until he had him bleeding and bewildered and then several well placed right arm jolts on the jaw tumbled the husky young fellow, a bleeding mass of inextinguishable humanity to the rosin. Carter fought vigorously and tried hard, but he suffered about all the visible punishment that was noted during the bout.

Colombian Reinforcements.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Senor Concha, the Colombian minister, received a cablegram Monday, dated Sept. 13, and signed by President Marroquin and Secretary of War Fernandez, which stated that 5000 government troops under the command of General Perdomo had started down the Magdalena river to reinforce the government troops on the isthmus. The cablegram also stated that 15000 additional government troops were held in readiness to move to the isthmus and that the interior was quiet.

Lieutenant Morris Suicides.

Boston, Sept. 16.—Lieutenant John N. Morris, United States navy, was found dead in his state room on the Olympia by his fellow officer. He had committed suicide by shooting. The Olympia is anchored off the Boston navy yard. No cause is known for his act. He was one of the Maine survivors.

Will Remain Intact.

Nashville, Sept. 16.—The last meeting of the Nashville baseball club was held Saturday morning, for the season of 1902, and the subscriptions of the directors were returned, leaving the net earnings about $7,500 on the year to date. The club will remain intact for the next year.

The sleeping car that leaves Fort Worth on our night train is ready to receive passengers at NINE o'clock, each evening, and this car is set out at Colorado Springs for guests to vacate at their leisure. The place where the car waits is only about six miles from the mountains, and a beautiful sight greets the wakers from that long, refreshing Colorado sleep—under blankets.

This night train also has a sleeper that goes into Denver, reaching there at a comfortable rising time.

Both of our daily THRU TRAINS have those sleepers with "Large, Ladies' Dressing rooms," also meals served in our own Cafe Dining cars, a la carte service, 25c and up per individual. These special features of distinguishing excellence are among the characteristics that have, now for some time, made appropriate the "Only-One-Road" and "You-Don't-Have-to-Apologize" verdict of persons who are capable of appreciating good service and making distinctions.

FORT WORTH, TEX., SEPT. 16, 1902

THE NEW TELEGRAM.

Attention is directed to the article elsewhere in today's Telegram which tells something of the installation of new machinery in the Telegram plant. Something over $5,000 is being spent by the new management to put the plant's mechanical department in shape for a big fall and winter business. The Telegram now has three linotype machines representing an investment for these machines alone of nearly $11,000. The Telegram proposes to be a NEWSPAPER in every sense of the word, believing fully that its efforts will be amply repaid when full confidence has been established in the new company's ability to turn out a good newspaper and take care of the property. The new management is composed of men of newspaper training. They have come to Fort Worth to build up a paying property. The immensity of the task is not unappreciated. But it will be done. Nobody ever yet said he WOULD do a thing and then directed his every energy along proper lines, who failed in his task. This the new Fort Worth Telegram company intends doing. It has already given evidence of what it can do in the line of getting out a newspaper. Other plans of development and widening out are in progress. There will be no let up until every achievement planned has been accomplished. These words are as sincerely meant as were words ever penned. The new company has capital sufficient to undertake its plans which will be carried out as rapidly as they can be unfolded. Not a dollar of stock of the new company has been subscribed for in Fort Worth. Not a dollar was asked of Fort Worth people to push along the plans. Not a dollar will be asked. The Telegram will be promoted on its merits and not on bonuses or blood money. Every dollar invested by a subscriber or an advertiser will be repaid in value received. No money will be asked of subscribers or advertisers unless value can be given. The Telegram is a business proposition. It will be developed along that line and no other.

Still no end in sight for the anthracite strike.

It is just the right kind of weather for talking up Fort Worth.

That Free Fall Festival isn't so far away. Make it advertise the town.

For genius unsurpassed, commend us to the Beaumont oil wells' press agent.

Isn't it something of a joke for the city sprinkling wagons, to be pouring liquid mud on the streets to lay the dust?

Disastrous forest fires are reported from Butte, Mont. But they have not yet burnt up Mary MacLane's "two trees."

There is serious talk in some of the business colleges of the city, of replacing red ink with Fort Worth city water.

By the way, you might mention to your friends that The Telegram's new linotype is another evidence of Fort Worth's prosperity.

It is alleged that the next national Republican convention will be white. This, of course, refers only to the color of the delegates.

Negro girls have been barred from the dormitories of the Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill. Nothing has yet been said about "coon" songs.

Few realize the appalling seriousness of those northern forest fires. There is a strong probability that if they continue, President Roosevelt will have no place left in which to hunt.

Swift and Company have purchased six big cotton mills and are planning to make Fort Worth a refining center. The refinery will be the largest in the state, but in comparison with

Elisha Raiseth the Shunammite's Child

And when the child was grown, it fell on a day that he went out to his father to the reapers.

And he said unto his father, my head, my head. And he said to a lad, carry him to his mother.

And when he had taken him and brought him to his mother, he sat on her knees till noon, and then died.

And she went up and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the door upon him, and went out.

And she called unto her husband, send me I pray thee, one of the young men, and one of the asses that I may run to the man of God and come again.

And he said, wherefore wilt thou go to him today? It is neither new moon nor Sabbath. And she said, it shall be well.

Then she saddled an ass, and said to her servant, drive and go forward; slack not thy riding for me, except I bid thee.

So she went and came unto the man of God to Mount Carmel. And it came to pass, when the man of God saw her afar off, that he said to Gehazi his servant, behold! yonder is that Shunammite.

Run now, I pray thee, to meet her, and say unto her, is it well with thee? is it well with thy husband? is it well with thy child? And she answered, it is well.

And when she came to the man of God to the hill, she caught him by the feet; but Gehazi came near to thrust her away. And the man of God said, let her alone; for her son is vexed within her; and the Lord hath hid it from me and hath not told me.

the packing houses it can be referred to as "among Fort Worth's many thriving industries."

It is now called the deadly six shooter. The victim of Saturday night's affaire de revolver has died.

Since the recent repairs to the waterworks causing a peculiar condition to exist in city water, good Fort Worth people have taken mud-baths daily.

It is a happy thought that in this busy nation, men took time Sunday to pay tribute to the memory of the late president. Life isn't altogether sordid.

Two prominent circus men visited Fort Worth Saturday. They had intended to secure part of the Republican convention, but failed to get here in time.

A violinist in New York went crazy after playing nine hours without a stop. What the other roomers in the boarding house did, isn't told in the dispatches.

The revivalists who are holding tent meetings in Beaumont, had a striking illustration of the hereafter, in the recent fire. They will doubtless take advantage of it.

In last evening's Telegram was a graphic account of how tramps play poker without cards. Ardent deputy sheriffs and sparrow cops may be seen at the railroad yards for the next few days gathering evidence for indictments.

IT'S UP TO TEXAS.

Every one interested in the advancement of the South should read, if he or she has not done so already, the Associated Press dispatch in last evening's Telegram regarding the progress of the South during the past year.

While much of it refers to the eastern tier of the southern counties, nevertheless the same conditions largely apply to Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi. The progress during the past year is largely attributed to the effects resultant from the consolidation of the many railroad lines which have heretofore had a checkered existence, into strong trunk lines, capable of operating on a paying basis.

While the advantage to any section of having strong and prosperous railroads is plain, yet the prosperity of that section is largely responsible for that of the railroads. Of more importance in gauging the progress of the year, is the information contained in the latter part of the dispatch.

In 1899 the South raised 7,311,392 bales of cotton and of this crop manufactured 548,894 bales or a little more than 7 per cent. In 1901 out of a crop of 10,393,422 bales, more than 15 per cent were manufactured into goods before leaving the territory in which they were raised. For the year ending Aug. 31 last, more than 18 per cent were manufactured.

This shows progress in the right direction. The prosperity of any country or of any section of a country depends upon the degree it turns into finished products the raw materials it produces. No further proof is needed than the wonderful one we have had during the past very few years. The manufacture of American-mined iron into American steel and the shipment of American-made machinery, made of American steel to foreign countries, was but one of the many instances. The great crop of the South at the present time is cotton. When the South can deliver in England finished

Then she said, did I desire a son of my lord? did I not say, do not deceive me?

Then he said to Gehazi, gird up thy loins and take my staff in thine hand, and go thy way; if thou meet any man, salute him not; and if any salute thee, answer him not again: and lay my staff upon the face of the child.

And the mother of the child said, as the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. And he arose and followed her.

And Gehazi passed on before them and laid the staff upon the face of the child; but there was neither voice nor hearing. Wherefore he went again to meet him, and told him, saying, the child is not awake.

And when Elisha was come into the house, behold! the child was dead, and laid upon his bed.

He went in, therefore, and shut the door upon them twain, and prayed unto the Lord.

And he went up and lay upon the child, and put his mouth upon his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands; and he stretched himself upon the child; and the flesh of the child waxed warm.

Then he returned and walked in the house to and fro; and went up and stretched himself upon him; and the child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes.

Then he called Gehazi, and said, call this Shunammite. So he called her. And when she was come in unto him, he said: Take up thy son.

And she went in and fell at his feet and bowed herself to the ground, and took up her son and went out.

Second Kings, 18-37.

cotton goods cheaper than they can be made in that country, or when, in your pleasure, the South can deliver on the Northern market the goods at a lower figure than they can be produced in the eastern mills, then is her prosperity assured.

Texas has a future in this direction. The Fort Worth packing houses for handling Texas live stock are but another proof that northern capital is taking knowledge of the truth. Texas has other openings for other capital in her other boundless resources. Her oil should be refined before it leaves the state. Her iron should go out as finished steel. Her cotton should go out in cloth, her wheat as flour and her illimitable raw products all should be handled before they leave the boundaries. Texas is waking up. When she do it before northern capitalists have grasped the opportunities so plainly presented. Texas capital and Texans deserve the first reward. When they get it?

THE IDLER'S NOTE BOOK

When I came down to breakfast the other boarders all grinned. "Hullo Lo," said one. "You're a sure-enough Idler," was another's greeting, and "why didn't you wear your blanket?" was the third.

I went over to the looking-glass and looked at my reflection. Then it dawned on me. The night before I went home late, turned on the water in the bath tub, without lighting the gas jet in the bath room, and had taken a quick plunge.

The red water did the rest.

I took a ride around the loop the other night. Maybe you all don't call it "the loop," but anyway it's where you get on on Houston street and keep a-going till you get to Main. You could get to Main by walking the block between, but it wouldn't cost you a nickel.

I saw something on the car that made me full of displeasure. It was this. Young men and boys stood lined up on the back platform three deep. When a lady wanted to get on or off, she had to pass through a row of these people who weren't tired enough to sit down. Some of them were smoking. Maybe that was why they lined up.

It was very unpleasant and I was ashamed of the boys who were guilty. As my friend, the fruit man says, "Dot shouldn't had ought to be."

Said a maiden of fair Martinique, Who was known far and near for her chique:

"When volcanoes lique About six times a wique, It gets to be very antique."

A Tarrant county girl who is attending school in Fort Worth, wrote home to her parents, "I am just in love with ping-pong." The stern Texas father is alleged to have said, when he heard it, "You kin write and tell Amariyllis Jane that if she is goin' to fall in love with any of them blamed Fort Worth Chinamen, she can jes' count on bein' cut off without a cent."

Say, why don't they wash the street car windows here? I was going home the other night about 11 o'clock, and maybe I was a little happier than I should have been for Saturday night. But anyway it was just after the news of the Beaumont fire and I was thinking about it, I guess.

I saw something, 'at made me jump up suddenly and yell. "Look there, there's the fire at Spindle top, I can see it plain as day, the whole state's going to be burned up."

The other passengers got scared, till they looked at where I was pointing, and then they gave me the icicle laugh.

I had seen one of the windows of the street car, which had been decorated with mud and rain till it looked like Mount Pelee. The light shining through it made it look all the world like a big fire, and that's the reason I got off at the next corner and walked home. But they haven't washed the street car windows yet.

THE MYSTERY OF GRASLOV

By Ashley Towne

Copyright, 1901, by Charles B. Ederington

Prince Neslerov wants to marry Frances Gordon, the charming daughter of an American who is building the Trans-Siberian railroad. Frances is interested in the fortunes of Vladimir Paulpoff, a stalwart Russian blacksmith. She asks Neslerov to use his influence for Vladimir. Neslerov goes to Vladimir's hut. The blacksmith has talent and shows Neslerov a picture he has painted. It is the portrait of a woman of rank copied from a miniature. The prince is excited and asks for the original. Vladimir's father says it has been lost. To Vladimir old Paulpoff confesses that he lied to Neslerov and still has the miniature.

Neslerov has the Paulpoffs sent to Siberia as nihilists.

Frances Gordon goes to the forge with books for Vladimir. At the door of the lonely hut she encounters Neslerov. The prince presses his suit violently and Frances stuns him with a pistol shot in the head. Gordon wishes his daughter to marry Jack Denton, an American bridge engineer. Frances demands that her father intercede with the governor for Vladimir. They start for Obl. Neslerov boards the same train which breaks in two, and Neslerov has Frances alone in his power.

Neslerov drags Frances before a priest and bids him to perform a marriage ceremony. Jack Denton comes to the rescue. Neslerov is beaten off.

CHAPTER VII

A DUEL.

NESLEROV recoiled, and the writhing of his face in pain and fury, together with the long red cut made by the whip, gave him the expression of a demon.

"You! You!" he gasped.

"Yes, I!" said Denton. "Fortunately, I arrived in time to take advantage of a defenseless girl. I have been riding along the railway from stream to stream examining the bridges. I reached this place on my horse a moment ago. A boy saw me coming and hurried to tell me what was going on. I had no idea I should find a friend in need of help. But, thank God, I was in time."

"You will never leave this place alive," said Neslerov.

He plucked a revolver from his pocket and aimed at Denton.

A woman standing near held out her hands and caught the form of Frances and bore it into her house. Denton, with flashing eyes, leaped forward and closed with Neslerov.

"It is a battle to the death between giants!" cried a man in the crowd.

The pistol fell from the grasp of Neslerov, and the whip before wielded by Denton dropped to the ground.

The iron fingers of Denton would close on the throat of Neslerov, and it seemed as though the struggle would end that moment, but Neslerov would wrench himself free and leap at his enemy with a curse and growl.

"It is you or I! One of us must die!" cried Neslerov.

A swinging, crashing blow from the American's right hand sent the governor to the ground, where he lay as if stunned.

"Take care of him, somebody," said Denton in Russian. "I don't want to kill him."

He turned without a look at the fallen man and started toward the hut into which Frances had been carried.

"Look out!" cried a woman.

At the cry, which was echoed in the crowd, Denton turned suddenly. The dastardly Neslerov had feigned. He had risen to his feet and was creeping upon his enemy with a dagger drawn.

"Oh, you are an assassin, eh?" said Denton as he drew his revolver. "Let me see if we can't settle you once for all."

While it might be that not one of the villagers sympathized with Neslerov, yet his act was not a crime to them. With their sordid understanding of women having no rights, no freedom, no liberties save what their lords and masters gave them, the men of this place looked upon the eagerness of Neslerov to be married to so beautiful a girl as natural.

One of them, realizing that the governor's safety was necessary to their own, sprang upon Denton and drove a knife through the fleshy part of his arm.

The pistol fell to the earth near that of Neslerov and two villagers picked them up and hid them.

Like a flash Neslerov was upon his unarmed foe, and his knife was raised to strike, but Denton, with a quicker movement, drew a knife from his belt. He had hidden too often over the tundra to go unprepared for enemies, human and otherwise.

And now began a duel the like of which the banks of the Irtysh or its branches will probably never see again.

Steel flashed on steel.

The blood from the wound in Denton's arm was flung over the face and clothing of Neslerov, while that from the bruises on the governor's face grew thick and dark, making him truly hideous.

And now began a duel.

With a grasp as of iron Denton seized the hand of Neslerov that held the dagger, but with a wrench the governor got it away and cut to the bone half the length of Denton's finger.

But the American scarcely felt the wound. He was not fighting now for life, nor for vengeance. He was fighting for that girl who lay in the hut. He knew that if Neslerov killed him and was not killed himself, her life would be made such a hell in the power of this monster of brutality that death would be preferable.

A year ago she had told him she did not and never could love him. It had been a quarrel. She didn't want to get married, and he asked her if his rough exterior, the result of years of hard work in rude and dangerous places, was disagreeable to her. He said there were fine gentlemen at Paris, New York, London and St. Petersburg. She had answered that she knew it. She preferred their company to bores. They parted then and had not met till now.

Denton and Neslerov kept fighting on, the villagers too much aghast to step between or utter a word.

Neslerov felt his right arm getting weaker. Denton's knife had slashed through the sleeve of his coat and found the bone near the elbow. An artery must have been cut, for the blood was thrown from the end of the sleeve. Made desperate, he gathered all his strength for a final effort and sprang bodily upon his foe.

Denton, seeing an opportunity and knowing that nothing but a deathblow seemed likely to end the fight, met the plunge and drove his knife into Neslerov's side.

With another curse, a spluttering of blood and a groan the governor of Toms sank to the ground at the foot of his adversary unconscious.

"Take care of him, you fellows; no need to let him die," said Denton, examining the wound. "His lung is not touched. Nothing fatal here, I am glad to say. Here, you!"

The old priest came mumbling toward him.

"You know more about surgery than the rest. Get some water, bathe these wounds, take a few stitches in the long cuts and bandage him up."

"Yes, little father," said the priest, trembling. "But what of you?"

"I can take care of myself."

He strode to the bank of the stream, over which he had but a few months before built a bridge, and bathed his wounds. Then he went into the hut to see Frances, as if nothing had happened.

REBUILDING
The Broken Down Structure.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND
Repairs the Diseased Parts of the Human Body and Establishes Health, Comfort and Happiness.

Can we rebuild our pain racked, emaciated, and wasted bodies? Yes, the work can be done even though the spark of life glimmers but fitfully and feebly. This work of rebuilding can only be effectually accomplished by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, that marvelous medicine that has saved so many lives in the past.

Paine's Celery Compound, nature's fortifier and builder, acts directly on the great nervous system, giving pure, vitalizing blood, nerve force, digestive vigor, refreshing sleep and increased weight.

Begin the good work of health building today. Take home a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, use it faithfully, and you will have cause for rejoicing and thanksgiving. Mrs. James Arthur, Spokane Wash., a lady almost helpless from cruel rheumatism and terrible neuralgia, and cured by Paine's Celery Compound, writes thus:—

"I have suffered for three years with neuralgia and rheumatism, and tried many different remedies which would give me only temporary relief. From last January, and through the spring months, I suffered terribly. I could walk but a short distance, and some days not at all. I used Paine's Celery Compound and have not been troubled since. Before using the Compound my knees were so bad I could not get down or up, but now I can walk a mile or more every day, with no stiffness or lameness in the joints."

WILL NOW HIT THE PIPE

Jordan Y. Cummings Has a Smoker of Which He is Very Proud

Jordan Y. Cummings, assistant county attorney, has an interesting curiosity in a stone pipe. It was presented to him by his friend L. C. Adams of Palo Pinto county. It is a species of red stone, and is said to have been found in an Indian cave in the historic loni mountains of Palo Pinto county in May, of 1867. It has all of these years remained in the keeping of Mr. Adams, who has been offered fabulous prices for it, but has as often turned down all offers.

The bowl of the pipe is a fac simile of a barrel resting in the palm of a hand, the fingers of which are exquisitely and delicately drawn, showing the nails, a ring on the third finger; the barrel hoops are as delicately represented. The polish is smooth, inside and out, and shows the wonderfully artistic tact of the Indian in those days, who evidently used the crudest of tools in his handiwork.

Mr. Adams says that in the cave can be seen evidences of artistic work even more wonderful than this, on the walls are carvings in the rocks of Indians chasing and shooting buffalo, of wrestling contests; of various wild animals, horses, Indians mounted and afoot, athletic contests, warlike implements, etc.

Mr. Cummings prizes his pipe very highly, and has accepted an invitation from his friend to visit this wonderful cave.

The opening of the 1902-03 term was most gratifying in point of attendance, said to be greater than on any former opening—so great, in fact that the problem of seating capacity is a serious one. This, however, was not unexpected. While elaborate preparations have been made, still they are inadequate.

AFTER THE LEGAL FRATERNITY FOR TAXES

State Resume Agent Cunningham Wants the Lawyers to Pay Their Occupation Taxes

The report comes from Austin that: "County Attorney Faulk announces that he will institute legal proceedings against every attorney in Texas who is delinquent in payment of his annual occupation tax of $5. These suits will be brought as soon as Mr. Faulk receives a list of the delinquents from State Revenue Agent J. C. Cunningham, who is now compiling it. The law gives the county or district attorney of Travis county jurisdiction in these cases."

Asked if there was anything doing in Tarrant county with reference to delinquents, County Attorney Lattimore said that there was not. "The county judge holds that the law is unconstitutional, so what's the use?" asked Mr. Lattimore. "However, Tax Collector Winston has promised to furnish this office with a list of delinquents, and when he does so I will take the matter up. State Revenue Agent Cunningham seems determined in the matter, and I am ready to prosecute whenever the matter is properly brought before me. I'll admit this occupation tax ought to be paid, but there appears to be a loophole in the law."

Tarrant county is reported to be $20,000 in arrears on this proposition.

IMPROVING THE TELEGRAM

ADDITION OF $5,000 WORTH OF NEW MACHINERY

PLANS CULMINATING

A Third Mergenthaler Type Setting Machine Installed Together With Other Needed Apparatus To Get Out Good Newspaper

The Telegram continues to install into its plant the machinery that is sufficient to get out a good, live, up-to-date newspaper.

The type for the issue of today is partly set by a new Mergenthaler linotype machine, a piece of mechanism that puts news matter into type in about one-fourth the time that the human hand will do it.

But linotypes are expensive pieces of machinery. The new one just installed will cost the new management the sum of $3,500. This is the third of these machines that can now be seen in operation every day in The Telegram office.

The Latest Out
This latest addition to the mechanical equipment of the paper is the very latest pattern turned out by the Lino-type company. It will allow of the setting of all the news matter in the paper and the major portion of the head lines as well. Not content with this the machine will also be utilized in a large degree, to set up the advertising announcements of Fort Worth merchants.

Besides the purchase of this new machine the present company has spent something like $700 to put the other two linotypes in shape for some hard work this fall and winter, and in modernizing them so that they will be capable of the same kind and quality of work turned out by the new machine.

A Modern Newspaper Plant
A modern newspaper can not be turned out without a requisite mechanical department. Reporters and news men may be hired and told to get all the news in and out of sight. But what would it avail if the composing room was unable to turn the copy into type. This has been the handicap of the old Telegram. It will not be the handicap of the new Telegram. The new company has, and will spend something over $5,000 before its mechanical plant is in the condition that it must be so that the right kind of a newspaper may be furnished to the people of Fort Worth and North and West Texas.

Proper Direction
Of course mechanical equipment is of no avail if there be no proper direction of it. The new company will give to it the proper direction and impetus, according to its ideas of standard. The people of Fort Worth will be the judge of that standard, and in that judgment The Telegram will not be afraid of the result.

Some Recent Troubles
Within the past week there has been enough trouble in The Telegram plant to sink a ship. Gas electricity, machine contrariness and other hoo-doo have gotten in their work, but there's always an end to such things, and very soon; when the newness of the machinery has passed away and the hoodoo dispelled, The Telegram will blossom forth like a fresh-blown rose.

A Growing Subscription List
The Telegram solicitors are hard at work on the up-building of the subscription list. Every day new names are going on the books and papers being delivered. The constant addition of new names has caused some confusion among the carrier boys, and occasionally new subscribers are missed. In such cases the management hopes that a prompt report will be made to the office so that the omission can be speedily rectified. Meanwhile if the new people who order the paper will be patient everything will come out all right.

The Sunday Telegram
The reception given to The Sunday Telegram has been more than flattering. The management has, on that account, been spurred on to even greater things than were originally planned, and there is fine promise in store for future issues of The Sunday Telegram.

All in all, The Telegram wants to put forth a newspaper in every sense of the word. Every energy will be directed toward that end and at all times the management will be glad to have friendly and particular criticism of methods and policies.

MOTHER SEES AFTER YEARS OF BLINDNESS

New York, Sept. 15.—After being totally blind seven years, Mrs. Julia Morowski, of Trenton, N. J., has had a momentary glimpse of her husband and six children, when the bandages were lifted from her eyes. An operation was performed two weeks ago, and when the bandages were removed for the first time, she saw her youngest child, born after she became blind.

USEFUL TO KNOW

Raw potato rubbed upon the hands will help to remove stains.

If coffee stains do not yield to the treatment of having boiling water poured on them, try using the yolk of an egg in the same way as soap when washing them.

When gravy is being made from roast veal, lamb, beef or chicken, use milk instead of water added to the brown drippings left in the pan after the fat has been poured off.

It is a good plan when boiling a ham to add for each gallon of water a teaspoonful of vinegar and six or eight cloves. If this is done, the flavor of the ham will be much improved. The ham should always be allowed to cool before it is cut, so that it may keep moist after in the water in which it is boiled, in wards.

ATTEMPT TO CREMATE A MURDERED INFANT

Women strolling on the banks of the Trinity river discovered the partial remains of an infant and reported the find to police headquarters. Officer Rolston and Justice Terrell went to the place indicated by the women and there found the partially decomposed remains, which showed conclusively that an attempt had been made to cremate the body soon after birth. One of its legs had been burned off, and only a very few of the bones of the skull could be found. The body had been wrapped in rags and these rags set on fire, but had not thoroughly burned. This was evidently done before the body was placed where it was found, for a copy of an unburned paper, a New Orleans Times-Democrat, was wrapped about the bundle.

WILL SERVE THE STATE

PLEAS OF GUILTY IN CRIMINAL CASES IN SEVENTEENTH
DISTRICT COURT

TWENTY YEARS' TIME

To Be Devoted to the State by Three Men, One Getting Ten County
Court Pleas of Guilty—
Tomorrow's Docket

In the Seventeenth district court yesterday there were a number of pleas of guilty before Judge Smith, and twenty years must be served by three persons for their crimes.

The first to enter a plea of guilty was C. W. Kimber. There were four cases against him for forgery, and one was dismissed. He pleaded guilty in three, and was given two years on each.

Ira Phalen is colored and his desire to possess a horse got him into trouble. He pleaded guilty to horse-theft and was given ten years.

Dr. J. D. Phillips of Arlington was charged, in three cases, of burglary, and one of these was dismissed. He pleaded guilty to two cases and was sentenced to two years on each. The prisoner appeared at the bar with a three months' old child in his arms.

An old man named Howard, charged with stealing Policeman Sam Garrett's horse, was brought into court. He is said to be afflicted with paralysis, or St. Vitus' dance. He entered a plea of not guilty and the court appointed Judge B. D. Shropshire to defend him. The case was set for next Monday. The following cases were also on today's docket and received consideration after 2 p. m.: E. Lindsey, sodomy; Will Rucker, perjury; H. Hooper, perjury; H. M. Gray, bigamy; H. Branchfield, theft from person.

In the County Court
In the county court considerable business was disposed of.

On the list were two cases against W. H. Ward, selling on Sunday, pleas of guilty.

John Ward, a county man, aggravated assault, plea of guilty, $5.00 and costs.

John Homan, J. R. Peterson, Mat Carwyle, Frank Hunter, Dave Riddle all pleaded guilty to betting and were fined $10.00 each and costs.

Suit Filed
In the district clerk's office only one document was filed yesterday and that was given a hearing: Experte Hardy Boone, to remove the disabilities of a minor, granted.

Commissioners Rescinding
The county commissioners' court stands adjourned until Wednesday in order to allow Judge Harris to catch up with the county court docket.

PEOPLES' PULPIT

To The Telegram:
John D. Pitts, of Hill county, and E. M. Menefee, of Hood county, writing in the Public Press, object to the nomination of Gillespie for congress by "lot." The former says: "It is creating profound consternation in some Democratic circles;" and the latter says: "The action of the convention ought to be repudiated."

There were many devout Christians in that convention and they were instructed to vote their instructions, first, last and all the time; hence could not, without disobeying, elect either of the three candidates, admittedly good and true men. They searched the New Testament scriptures diligently, and obeyed precedents therein set forth for guidance of the faithful.

The writer, being called upon by the convention to address it, advised them to elect by "lot." Jonah was divinely instructed to preach at Nineveh. Disobeying he started elsewhere. A storm arose, and by casting of lot the offender was ascertained, and this casting of lots was done clearly by divine approval, and taught a great lesson.

When Judas Iscariot had betrayed our Savior and hanged himself, the eleven disciples had no leader. The Savior had been crucified. The eleven, by the advice of Peter, elected by lot, Matthias, and he was numbered with the eleven. It seems that there were two candidates for the apostleship, and they were not hampered by instructions.

Our national constitution and every state constitution provides for casting lots. Recently lands were given by lot in our territories.

It is to be hoped that the manner of Gillespie's nomination may not be criticised by God fearing people, for most surely it was not contrary to scriptural, constitutional and legal precedents.

JOHN BROWN'S HOMES

MOVEMENTS TO PRESERVE THEM AS HISTORIC MEMORIALS.

How Connecticut is Looking After a Homestead Once Owned by the Antislavery Hero - Adirondack Home Needs Attention.

A movement which might be described as a John Brown revival seems to be well under way. Efforts are being made to preserve as historical monuments the various houses where the pioneer abolitionist lived during his varied career.

In Connecticut there has been organized the John Brown association. Its special object is to maintain the old Brown homestead in West Torrington, Conn. The association is hunting for a caretaker who will occupy the hundred acres of farm rent free and keep off relic hunters. Its members believe that the old house in a good state of preservation will be a far better memorial than the monument to be erected with the $1,000 appropriated for that purpose by the last Connecticut legislature.

The Adirondack homestead of John Brown, near North Elba, N. Y., where he spent his last days and where his ashes lie at rest, is also sadly in need of attention. Visitors have noticed that the historic farm is in worse condition than it has been in years, and they say the state of New York should do something to preserve the place. Summer guests at the various hotels in the vicinity who have been making their annual pilgrimages to the one time home and grave of the antislavery hero have expressed themselves indignantly over the condition in which they find the buildings and especially the house.

The present caretaker of the place is Mr. Reuben Lawrence, and residents of the locality, who have known him for years as a thrifty, industrious man, know that whatever blame for the present condition of the John Brown farm may rightly exist none can attach to him. The rear portion of the house has not been repaired since Brown built it years ago, and now it is scarcely habitable, although Mr. Lawrence's family are obliged to use it for lack of room. The floor timbers were originally supported by huge logs. These have rotted away, allowing the floor to sink and become unsafe. The dropping away of these timbers has also had its effect upon the whole rear

REAR PORTION OF THE HOUSE, CAUSING THE ROOF TO SAG. IN ADDITION THE OLD SHINGLES HAVE STARTED UP SO THAT THE ROOF LEAKS BADLY. IT IS ASSERTED THAT THE TOTAL REPAIRS NEEDED ON ALL THE BUILDINGS WOULD COST OVER $1,000.

Another matter which should receive prompt attention is the proper marking of the graves of John Brown's two sons, Oliver and Watson, buried beside their father. These graves are now simply marked by plain wooden stakes bearing no inscriptions whatever. The original stone planted above John Brown's grave was some years ago covered with a wooden frame having a cross front. This still stands and has served to protect the stone. This stone is appropriately inscribed, as is also the huge boulder at the head of all three graves. It was Brown's last wish that his body be laid at rest beside this great stone he had learned to love in early life.

That John Brown thought much of his peaceful little Adirondack home his last wish reveals. It was not the place of his birth. He had lived in many larger places in the more fertile lands of the west. In the milder climates he had spent portions of his life. But it was John Brown the man, not John Brown the reformer, who made that last simple request. Worn out in a fruitless endeavor, deserted by friends, facing death, John Brown's wife sickened heart yearned again for that little green dip in the Adirondack hills, for the soothing of the trees, for the birds, for the sunshine, for the rolling fields and the blue hills beyond, for that home where he had spent fourteen of the pleasantest years of his life. And he asked to be buried beside the great boulder where he had built that little home many years before.

The request was heeded, and his bones lie beside the great boulder, and floating in the mountain breezes the stars and stripes high overhead proclaim to the country for miles around that within that little iron-railed inclosure is a spot of sacred ground.

A Great Pity.
It is a pity that some of this praise of the way mother used to do things when men throw at their wives was never given mother when she would have most appreciated it. - Atchison Globe.

A MAN WANTED AT AURORA ON AN EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE HAD TO BE SHOWN

EYES DID NOT DECEIVE

City Police Made What May Prove to Be an Important Capture This Afternoon — Nature of Embarrassment Not Known

For the past two days the detectives and a detail of police officers have been watching the postoffice for a man named W. H. or W. P. Carney to call for mail. Their vigilance was not rewarded at that place, but this afternoon Policeman John Temes got a tip and that tip carried him off his beat more than a city block. He had both eyes working, and while walking along by the Columbia he accosted a tall, athletic man, something past middle age, short, gray hair, ordinarily dressed. The officer eyed the man, and the man eyed the officer.

A "Tete-a-Tete." "Pardon me brother, but is your name Carney?" said Temes.

"Suppose it is or isn't?" asked the man.

"Well," replied Temes, "just playing it was, come with me to the city hall."

"Not on your life—not until you have read me a warrant," said the man, swelling up and edging away against the show windows.

"Now, here, pardner," said Temes, "you are going with me to the city hall; you can go peacefully if you will, or take what happens. I will treat you like a gentleman. Come on."

Officer Rolston appeared on the scene about this time.

At the station Detective Thomason set the sweat machine a-going—nothing doing.

Finally Thomason left the hall, giving instructions to "search that man. Get every paper and other article. I am going for his wife."

Clerk Newby and Patrolman Howard searched him over a violent protest. Something like $50 and several pounds of letters and documents were taken from his pockets. He made a strong protest against the officers having his papers, saying some of the letters had never been opened and some not yet mailed—but he was searched.

Red Hot Instructions.

A day or two ago Chief Rea received instructions from the chief of police at Aurora, Mo., to look out for Carney and his wife, wanted there for embezzlement. When the arrest was made today Chief Rea wired Aurora and a reply came back:

"Hold both parties. I have warrant."

Apprized of this message Carney said to Detective Thomason: "They can't hold me on that—there must be something else."

Carney was especially anxious that his arrest should not get into the papers, saying: "Can't you fix that, Mr. Clerk?"

Carney did not know when being searched that an officer had gone for his wife. He was about as nervous as one ever sees a man to be when under arrest, and complained of the unkind treatment of being subjected to a search.

The wife of Carney held. The wife of Carney was brought to Chief Rea's office at 2:30 p. m. At 3 p. m. the chief, Carney and the woman were in consultation.

Carney asked Officers Temes and Rolston en route to the station: "Now, gentlemen, simply as a man-to-man proposition, what is the lowest fine on an adultery charge?"

He was told that the "rate" run from $25 to $100.

Both are being held subject to instructions of Chief Connor at Aurora, Mo.

A number of sub-contracts on the Rock Island construction between here and Dallas were let today by the contractors, Creech, Lee, Crane & Co., and it is announced the first dirt will fly this week.

A majority of the contractors are from the International and Great Northern, the roadbed of which has been completed. Creech, Lee, Crane & Co. has opened an office in the Dundee building, Seventh and Houston.

VALUE OF TESTIMONY.

Greater Than Assertion.

There is none of us so hardened but that when we have been able to aid our fellow creatures by conferring a benefit or bringing a little comfort into their lives we like to have appreciation shown. This generally affords more pleasure than the performance of the act itself, and in this connection the following letter from a Paris, Tex., lady is of more than usual interest:

"Dear Friends—I address you as such, for you have been such to me. I suffered for three years off and on with piles. I was treated at the hospital, of Memphis; they only gave me temporary relief. I came west, thinking the change of air and water would benefit me; five months ago the bleeding piles came back on me, and bled so much that I thought I would die. I have had four of the finest doctors in this section of Texas; all they did was to finally nearly let me go to my grave; all they wanted was a big sum of money from me and to operate on me. I said no, no surgeon's knife would enter me; if it was my time to die I would die, and when I died I would die all together. I began hearing about your medicine. I had no faith in you, but I sent and got a box of your Pyramid Pile Cure; in two days the blood flow had slackened to one-half the amount, and in one week I felt so much better I walked four blocks and did a little housework. I was not bleeding then; in three weeks I was well. God bless you for putting such a wonderful medicine within the reach of suffering men and women. I shall never cease to recommend your medicine or be without it; also I used your Pyramid Pills. Sallie A. Herndon."

Testimony like this should be more convincing than all claims and assertions, and should leave no doubt in the mind of the readers as to the merit of the remedy. Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists for fifty cents a package, or will be mailed by the makers to any address upon receipt of price. Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their book on cause and cure of piles.

A Communication

Mr. Editor — Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. Brockman, Bagnell, Mo. This remedy is for sale by N. E. Grammer.

Came Near Being a Cripple

Josh Westhafer, of Logansport, Ind., is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. No external application is equal to this liniment for stiff and swollen joints, contracted muscles, stiff neck, sprains and rheumatic and muscular pains. It has also cured numerous cases of partial paralysis. It is for sale by N. E. Grammer.

Devoured by Worms

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother. 25 cents at H. T. Pangburn & Co.'s.

May Be Fatally Hurt.

A little country boy, Luther Clouch, aged 10, was run over at 4 p. m. today, by a Waples-Platter wagon. The boy was crossing the street on Houston between Thirteenth and Fourteenth. The boy is quite seriously hurt. His father is a wood hauler.

A Sad Disappointment

Ineffective liver medicine is a disappointment, but you don't want to purge, strain and break the glands of the stomach and bowels. DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They cleanse the system of all poison and putrid matter and do it so gently that one enjoys the pleasant effects. They are a tonic to the liver. Cure biliousness, torpid liver and prevent fever. Every creation on exhibition delineates an individual style, characteristic of the very highest expression of the milliner's art—millinery fashions which you will admire for their exclusiveness and picturesque elegance.

This particular showing comprises the very latest Paris models, and is planned to give you the correct style hints for the fall and coming winter season.
