Wheat spokesmen say bakers gave incorrect statements on supplies

Leo Witkowski, President of the Texas Wheat Producers Association, along with the president of the National Association of Wheat Growers has charged baking industry spokesmen with making incorrect statements on the current supply situation which are calculated to spark public alarm and force export controls.

GROWER'S president, Ray Davis, Potter, Neb., explained in his response that the country is presently harvesting record wheat crops and more than 2 billion bushels are available for export, domestic use, and carryover this marketing year. Also, he said concern expected over the level of next year's carryover fails to take into account the fact that an even greater harvest will be under way at that time which can easily exceed this year's by 10 percent. He cited strong market prices and the absence of controls on products and exports, as primary factors accounting for another bumper crop.

Davis said that the American Bakers Association had "royally juggled statistical data to give the impression that bread would disappear from supermarket shelves because of the current supply situation."

He said the Nation's annual use of wheat for domestic food consumption was less than 1/4 of this year's supply and he advised that bakers should arrange for their needs now and not depend on a government bail out.

"Over the last 20 years farmers, the government and the trade have assumed the burden of holding reserves according to Davis, "but today it's a seller's market and users shouldn't rely on government intervention to assure their supply on the market," he said.

PHASE FOUR regulations enabled domestic wheat processors to pass on higher raw products (such as wheat) costs to the end product without affecting their profit margin. Growers, however, don't expect an increase in bread prices to be necessary because the farm bill which Congress passed repeals the "Wheat Certificate" which saves the wheat user seventy-five cents a bushel or about $1.66 per hundred weight on flour. This originally was supposed to be passed back to the consumer in bread price reductions, but now should practically offset increased wheat prices.

HAS IT BEEN SO LONG?

It may seem like a long, long time since the horse-drawn plow first broke out the prairie in Castro County. But has it been so long?

Many of our pioneers can remember, in this space age, when they followed a sod-buster plow across the prairie. Times have changed rapidly in their lifetimes. But luckily, some of the lessons they have taught us will never change.

Such as courage.
And foresight.
And love of the land.
And freedom.
And progress.
No—it hasn't been really been so long!

Aged copy of 'Hart News' is reminder of past for couple

A May 29, 1931 issue of "The Hart News", probably the oldest copy of what is believed to be Hart's first newspaper is now the prized souvenir of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Cox of Hart.

COX FOUND the paper inside the wall of a house he was remodeling in the late 1950's. He thinks it was put there to keep out cold air and was later covered with sheetrock.

The old paper is number 17 of volume three, indicating its probably beginning as January 1928. Franklin Rice was editor and manager and Mrs. E. R. Carpenter was local editor of the paper.

The weekly sold for $1 per year and was published every Friday by the Enterprise Publishing Co.

The banner headline of the aged chronicle proclaims "Trades Day Are Doing Much For Hart Business Men." The accompanying story cites efforts of Hart businessmen to "keep the trade of the people in the Hart community with the merchants of Hart."

THE STORY continues, "The crowds attending have been all that the business people expected, and they have cooperated remarkably with the businessmen who are staging the entertainments for them."

Advertisers included the Granada Theatre and McGlasson Equipment Co. of Plainview, Cox and Thompson Farm Machinery of Tulia, Plainview and Dimmitt, and Hart Implement Co. J. C. Penney & Co. of Plainview and Plainview Sanitarium and Clinic also had ads.

The calendar of entertainment offered by the Granada Theatre included "Booth Tarkenton's supreme masterpiece, 'Father's Son' starring Lewis Stone and Irene Rich; Charles 'Buck' Jones in 'The Avenger' — 'Buck Jones as 'The Black Shadow' in a drama crammed with thrilling and daring deeds and stunts and the funniest comedy in four years, 'The Ghost Parade' with Andy Clyde and Harry Gribbon."

The coming attraction, "The Front Page", was proclaimed as "positively the greatest film since talkies were born. Produced by the makers of 'Hell's Angels' and directed by the director of 'All Quiet on the Western Front'."

THE FT. WORTH and Denver City Railway and Wichita Valley Railway offered "low excursion fares between all points in Texas and Louisiana."

Swisher County Hospital in Tulia announced "all classes of cases treated."

Thomas & Asher Battery Company of Plainview offered "Model T Ford generator for your car or tractor — $4.50 on exchange."

A number of present day names of the Hart community also made the news columns: "L. J. RICE is in Dimmitt this week visiting his aunt, Mrs. Dyer Maynard."

"Hubert Maples made a trip to Hereford Monday afternoon."

"In a beautiful setting of colorful blossoms in the Holy Family Church of Nazareth, decorated with greenery, flowers and lighted tapers, the wedding of Miss Martha Huseman of Nazareth and Frank Bauman of Hart was solemnized Monday morning at nine o'clock," reads a front page story.

The story continues, "The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Huseman, a pioneer citizen of Castro County. Mr. Bauman is a prominent business man of Hart and is highly esteemed among his associates."

IT IS NOT known just how long "The Hart News" was published.

In 1947 Mr. and Mrs. Jim

Bruen Slade were editors and publishers of "The Hart Harvester." Subscription rate was $2 per year.

In 1958, "The Hart Beat" began as a portion of the Olton Enterprise. The first issue of "The Hart Beat" as a separate paper was published July 19, 1962.

The first issue of The Hart Dispatch was published Friday, July 20, 1962. The two papers were consolidated and the first issue of the present day Hart Beat was printed July 26, 1962.

VIRGINIA REED was news editor of The Hart Beat at the time of its birth as an official newspaper.

New program set for fall at DHS

Mrs. Estella Hottel, home economics teacher at Dimmitt High School has completed training at a five-day workshop in Austin for Home Economics Cooperative Education teachers according to Supt. Charlie White.

MRS. HOTTEL is now certified to teach in Dimmitt High School's new HECE program.

According to White, the new vocational program will be added to the curriculum of Dimmitt High School this fall. It includes in-class instructions and on-the-job training for students who are interested in home economics related occupations.

White said that each student in the program attends classes at school during a part of each day and is employed for a minimum of 15 hours each week in a home economics related occupation.

In addition to regular school classes, the student receives daily instruction related to the world of work and the occupation in which the student is employed.

STUDENTS OF junior and senior standing who are 16 years of age or older are eligible to participate in the program, according to White.

was to become one of the richest in the history of Texas girls' basketball. In 1930 the Bobbies won their first state championship, and have since built the number of titles to seven—an average of one state championship every seven years to date, not counting one runner-up title and one third-place finish.

16 sheriffs have served county

Sixteen men have served as sheriff of Castro County since 1891 and sheriff Jack Cartwright is in the process of collecting photos of all these former county officials.

CARTWRIGHT has collected photographs of the following former Sheriffs:

C. I. Bedford, who was sheriff in 1891; Ira Aten, who served from 1893-1895; Roy F. Barber, sheriff from 1908 to 1914; J. H. Flanagan, a county official from 1914 to 1918; J. A. Johnson, sheriff from 1918 to 1922; C. G. Maples, sheriff from 1916 to 1930; J. H. Flanagan, sheriff from 1930 to 1934; Garland Brown, sheriff from 1934 to 1948; Houston Fowlkes, Weyer, 1948-1950.

Sheriff Cartwright is also trying to find photographs of the following former sheriffs:

Perry G. Cox, who served from 1892-1893; J. E. Boyce, who served from 1895-1906; Frank Vaughn, 1900-1904; Press Burnam, 1904-1908; Bill Burnam, 1922-1926; and E. D. "Peck" Weyer, 1948-1950.

CARTWRIGHT hopes that eventually he will have a complete photo file of all former county sheriffs.

Braddock wins judging honors

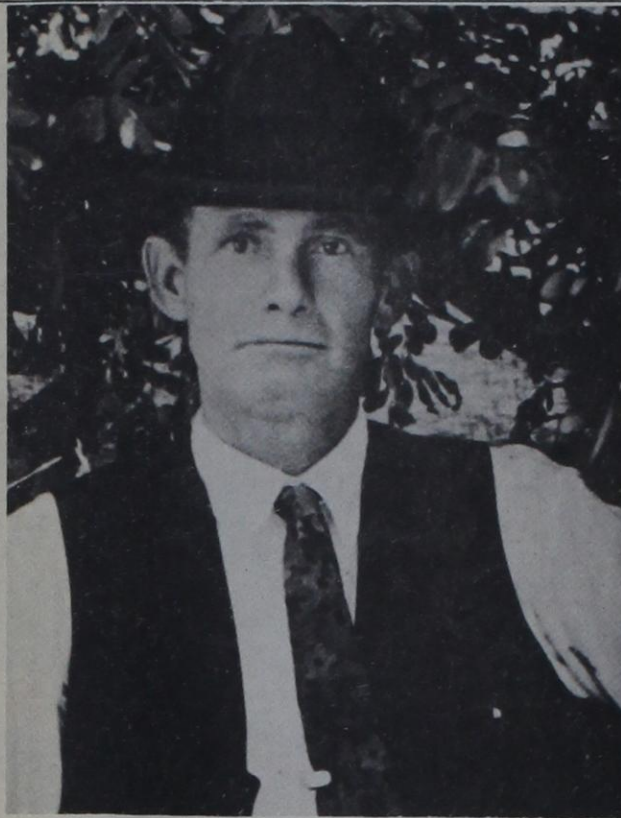

Clifford Braddock, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Braddock of Van Alstyne, former Nazareth residents, took top honors at LaRue's School, a nationally recognized four day series of classes dealing with the showing and judging of cattle sponsored by LaRue's Cattle Service of Georgetown.

BRADDOCK TOOK the top junior division and also recorded the highest score of the entire school, including the adult division.

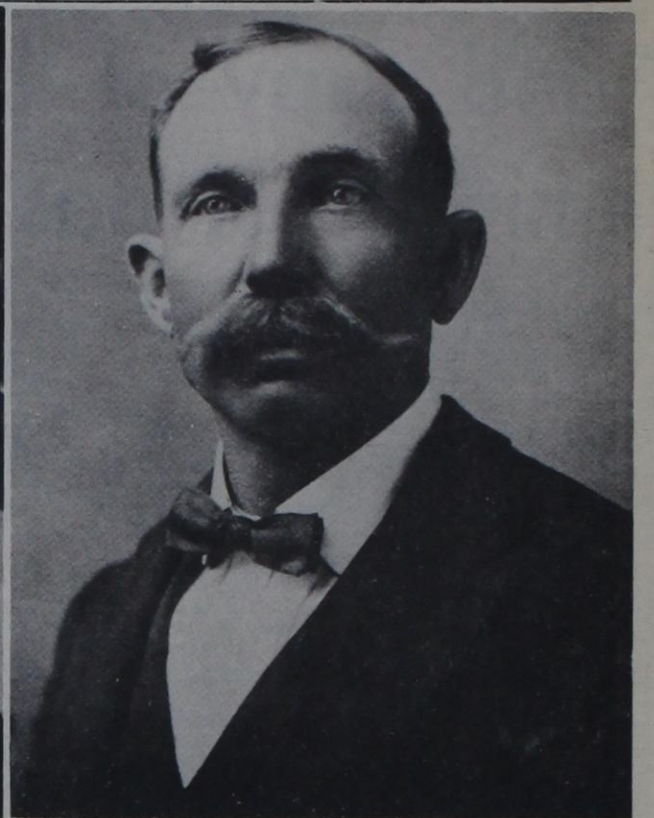

Braddock's father is foreman of Greenbriar Charolais Farms at Van Alstyne.

Young Braddock is the grandson of Mrs. Josephine Ball of Nazareth.

THE US takes first place in the average number of letters which each person posts during one year. The figure was 460 in 1970. Of all countries, the greatest discrepancy between incoming and outgoing mails is for the US where, in '69, only 817 million items were mailed abroad in comparison with 1,397 million items received from foreign sources.

Plans for a nine month academic year were made by trustees in Sept. of 1932

The prospects for a full nine months of school for Dimmitt students were good in September of 1932 following a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Dimmitt school.

A TELEGRAM was sent to Professor B. C. Barron of Wellston, Okla. requesting him to come to Dimmitt to help work out details for a nine month school year.

The action to begin a nine month school year was undertaken after a drive by local citizens to get tax-payers to promise to pay local school taxes on or before Oct. 1.

However, at that time there was no money in the local fund to start the school.

The board of trustees, however, depending on the loyalty of the Dimmitt school patrons to do their duty, had decided to, in the words of one of its members, "take a shot", and began making plans to open school as soon as possible with Sept. 26 set as the probable date of the opening.

TRUSTEES WERE counting on cutting the expenses of operation for the school and planned on costs of $800 a month, saving taxpayers up to $1,000 per month.

They estimated that the school could be operated until January for approximately $3,000 and found it necessary that Dimmitt citizens and school patrons pay taxes of $6,000 by October 1.

The trustees felt that raising this amount of money would make possible the operation of the school on a cash basis for a full nine month term.

The railroad and public utilities in Dimmitt had pledged to do what they could in helping the school.

PROF. B. C. Barron of Wellston, Okla. was elected superintendent of the Dimmitt schools.

Miss Acker attends lab

Agnes Acker of Nazareth was among nearly 150 young leaders from 4-H Clubs in 22 Panhandle counties who assembled at the Texas State Technical Institute in Amarillo Tuesday through Thursday for a district leadership lab.

A TEAM of 12 older teens conducted sessions throughout the lab.

County delegates, supervised by 22 adult leaders, were engaged in activities ranging from group sessions and game tournaments to special morning and evening ceremonies.

Theme of the lab was "Learning to Work Together," with emphasis on a human relations approach to problem solving.

Activities were geared toward helping the leaders learn to express themselves and their ideas, and to develop solutions to problems through group processes. Time for relaxation and fun provided the teens with opportunities to make new friends.

Others who conducted activities throughout the three-day event were: Clara Looten and Rex Caldwell, Carson County; Ricky Coleman, Deaf Smith County; Jayne Ann Cain, Hartley County; Julie Arrington, Hemphill County; Renee Burrus, Lipscomb County; Georgina Brown, Moore County; Jess Wall, Ochiltree County; Lesli Garnett and Larry Neusch, Potter County; and Mike Flores, Sherman County.

Checks will be delivered early

Social Security checks for August will be delivered on Sept. 1 this year, which is "unusually early," according to Travis Briggs, Social Security District Manager in Amarillo.

"CHECKS FOR A given month are usually delivered on the 3rd of the following month," Briggs said. "When the 3rd falls on a day mail isn't delivered — a Sunday or a national holiday — the checks are usually delivered a day ahead, the 2nd of the month."

"This year Sept. 2 is a Sunday and Sept. 3 is Labor Day, so social security checks will be delivered on Saturday the 1st. It doesn't happen very often," he said.

Social security pays over $4 billion a month in retirement, disability, and survivor benefits to almost 29 million people.

FACTS ABOUT CASTRO COUNTY

Castro County was organized in 1891, and was formerly attached to Oldham County. The first session of Commissioners' Court was held on December 3, 1891, with the following officers present: L. Gough, County Judge; W. B. Beach, County Clerk; C. I. Bedford, Sheriff; J. W. Carter, Commissioner Precinct 1; S. L. Richardson, Commissioner Precinct 2; S. F. Flores, Precinct 3; and Wm. Moore, Precinct 4.

The first County Tax levy was as follows: General Revenue, 25c; Court House and Jail, 15c; Road and Bridge, 15c.

First child born in County, son to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beach. First child born in Dimmitt, Nellie Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Turner, at present residents of the city.

Following are the only persons now here who were residents of the county when it was organized: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tate, Mrs. J. M. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Turner, Kenneth Turner, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tate, and W. B. Beach, who was the first County Clerk.

Dimmitt, the County Seat, is located about two miles west and one mile north from the geographical center of the County, and on the Ozark Trails Highway, and State Highway No. 9, going west to the New Mexico line.

Castro County lies in the heart of the Panhandle-Plains. The most fertile land in Texas, comprising 896 square miles of land, 96 per cent of which is tillable. Present population is conservatively estimated at 6,000, showing an increase over one hundred per cent in the last five years. Altitude, 3,200 to 3,500 feet above the sea level.

Water supply is inexhaustible, being obtained from 30 to 200 feet depth. The natural resources are farming and ranching, with farming rapidly taking the lead in recent years. Wheat is the main crop, making a yield of from 18 to 26 bushels to the acre. The season just closing saw nearly, or possibly a little over, two million bushels of wheat raised in the County. Sorghum, Sudan, Corn, Hygeria, Cotton, Fruits, and Vegetables all thrive in the County. Only a few years ago Castro County Wheat took the blue ribbon at the Dallas State Fair and the Chicago Exposition.

In 1926 a farmer of Castro County sold $11,987.22 worth of wheat from six hundred acres of land. This land sold for $16.00 per acre the year before.

In Dimmitt, the county seat, is one of the finest high schools, in point of credits, in the State, size and age of town considered. Within two years' time, this school has been given eighteen and one-half affiliated credits by the State Department of Education. There is being constructed at the present time, on one of the prettiest and highest spots in the city, a new high school building, costing $85,000.00, exclusive of the site. This is being constructed on the unit plan, and will be added to from time to time. The building will be ready for occupancy early in December or January.

Under construction also is an educational unit for the Dimmitt Baptist Church, costing $21,000.00, to be completed late next month. The new Methodist Church has been started, and the Church of Christ edifice was completed a few months ago. The Presbyterians have a substantial membership in the city also. There is now under construction a $40,000.00 city waterworks system, to be in operation within ninety days. A Sewerage system is under consideration as well as a paving program for the main streets of the city.

The population of Dimmitt at the present time is estimated at from 800 to 1000, with a very rapid growth noticeable, and which will increase more with the opening of school soon.

The view from your library

By MARY EDNA HENDRIX
More exciting things are happening at the new library building. Last week Mr. Carlton installed the new shelves and they are so pretty. Most of the furniture came in and the chairs are so bright and colorful. New books are coming in and Lupe and Gloria are cleaning the old books to be moved. We are hoping to move in about a week.

★ PHOEBE STROTHER started working in the library last week and we are proud to add her to our staff. Phoebe is a local girl who has attended Texas Women's University where she graduated with a B.A. in English. She has done graduate work in Library Science and is currently enrolled in a Christian Writing course by correspondence.

The summer reading program is over and the party will be held Friday, Aug. 17 at 10:30 a.m. at the new library building "Rhoads Memorial Library" at 105 SW 2nd Street. If you have registered for this program and you have read at least 12 books this summer, then you are eligible to attend this party, and you will receive a certificate from the Texas State Library. NO PRIZES will be given this year.

★ MORE DONATING books: Mary Acker donated two complete sets of books . . . Sandra Bagwell brought in four new books to pay for her overdue fine and Helen Braafadt always pays twice as much as she owes on her overdue books. Interesting people in the library: Mrs. LaVon Reeve brought some auto touchup paint (that Mrs. Lynn King had ordered from General Motors) and donated to the library. We really appreciate this. Mrs. Reeve. The Reeves are new in town but the entire family has already used the library including Mr. Reeve and the children, Jay, Jamie, and Julie . . . Swain and Katy Birkett's grandchildren who are David's children, Connie, Kati, and Davy came in the library last week. They live in Phoenix, Ariz. . . Mrs. Carmen Bray, librarian at Crockett School in Amarillo, is visiting her daughter Mrs. Gary White and family. They all came in for the little granddaughter to check out some books.

★ LAST SATURDAY afternoon Beral Hance and I were the guests of her son, Kent Hance, at the reception given by the Board of Regents and Dr. Cornette, honoring the new president of West Texas State University, Dr. Lloyd Watkins and his wife. We were also Kent's guests at the "Yum Yum Tree" for dinner which included Kent's wife Carol and children, Ron and Susan, John and Carolyn Hays, and Mr. and Mrs. George Whittenberry from Amarillo. The group then went on to Palo Duro to see the play "Texas".

Kent was appointed to the WT Board of Regents by Governor Smith last November and we are certainly proud of Kent.

Another Dimmitt man, A. J. Kemp, has been appointed to the Board of Regents to Tech University.

We would like to think that reading had a part in these men's successes! Use your library!

REUNION SITE—Here's where Castro Countians will gather today for the annual Old Settlers' Reunion—the remodeled community room of the courthouse. "Many people still haven't used our new community room, and we'd like to show it off," said County Judge Raymond Wilson, who's in charge of the reunion as president of the Old Settlers' Association. The community room, which received a complete remodeling in the recent courthouse expansion project, is air-conditioned and features a full kitchen and lots of seating space. The only problem is that it's a basement room, but Judge Wilson said someone will be on hand at the staircases throughout the day to aid those who need help getting up or down the steps.

NEWS

By GERALD BROADSTREET
Greetings Comrades,

Thank you for responding to my pleas and paying your 1974 dues early. I am real proud as to how we stand on membership and I hope that by Aug. 31, our target date, that we can have well over 100 members paid up. If you've been thinking about sending me your dues, don't delay, do it today—before you forget it and we fall short of our mark.

COMRADES this last weekend my wife, Linda, Florene Leinen and myself had the privilege and honor of attending District 9 Convention at Post 1475 Amarillo. I must say those people really rolled out the carpet for us and we were treated like "royalty". I had a most enjoyable visit with District 9 Commander Bill Montrose and his Sr. Vice Commander Lee Roy Moore. Post Commander Joe Van Bakel is a wonderful person and really made us feel at home. I did have a chance to talk with the Department Representative, Sr. Vice Commander Clyde Hall of Lubbock.

Clyde is very optimistic about the year we have ahead of us and he says the 1974 membership is really coming in strong. Next week Clyde will be leaving for the National VFW Convention in New Orleans, La. and he is really looking forward to it.

I will say, Comrades, when we have our District Convention we can expect visitors from Amarillo, Perryton, Borger and Pampa. We will be most happy to have them here as I sure did enjoy the day visiting with them.

SAY MEMBERS at our last regular meeting we had a real good turnout and I was glad to see all the Vietnam veterans present. Mostly routine business dominated the evening but we did decide that this Sunday, the 19th, we would have a "field day" type cleanup at the post home inside and out. All members are urged to be at the post home at 10 a.m. and we'll get everything cleaned up before our district convention the following weekend.

The Ladies Auxiliary will provide a cold cut type lunch so don't worry about dinner. Please bring a rake or hoe with you when you come out.

Plans for our district convention are complete and everything is running smoothly and according to plans. Like I say, this is going to be one of the best conventions ever and I hope you've made arrangements to be there and represent our post and help support me. The date for this meeting is Aug. 25 and 26.

Pressure canners needed for food
low in acids

Pressure canners are needed to process foods low in acid content, a foods and nutrition specialist advised the increasing number of home canning "buffs" this week.

KAREN KREIPKE with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, warned that bacteria will not be killed unless low-acid foods are cooked for a long period of time at boiling temperatures.

"Cooking with a pressure canner raises the temperature used to kill these bacteria and takes only a fraction of the time for the canning process," she said.

It is safe to can jams, jellies, fruit butters and high-acid foods without a pressure canner, she added.

Foods which don't require pressure canning are cucumbers when pickled, cabbage when made into kraut and fruits including tomatoes, pears and cherries.

FOODS WHICH do require pressure canning are asparagus, beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, corn, hominy, okra, peas, pumpkin, spinach, turnips and all meats, the specialist said.

"THAT GOOD OLD COUNTRY FEELING"

Mustangers played important role in removing horses from plains

By JIM STEIERT

The Texas Panhandle, now recognized for the fine quarter-horses it produces, was once part of a region where a special group of men sought another type of horse, the wild mustang.

CATTLEMEN who came to the plains were probably the first settlers to notice the presence of the mustangs, and they quickly decided that these animals had an important economic bearing upon their enterprise. They consumed the grass needed for his cattle and enticed away his range mares, cattlemen shot wild stallions on sight, finding the feral animals obnoxious.

In an area such as the plains where good horses were a very necessary part of a man's way of life, losses of domestic stock to mustang herds could not be taken lightly. Shortly after the arrival of the cattlemen, there was already a motive for thinning the mustang herds of the plains, and when farmers arrived at a later date, they also found the depredations of the mustang herds objectionable.

Cowboys and settlers eventually found the horses to be a source of fun and income, and took up chasing the animals. When the possibility of making money from chasing mustangs presented itself, a group of men who made their income from this practice appeared on the plains. They were called mustangers, or mesteneros.

A wild horse was worth from $10-$12, a "Mexican" horse raised from wild stallions brought $10 to $30 while an "American" horse sold for $150 to $300, according to Walker D. Wyman, author of "The Wild Horse of the West."

MANY COWPUNCHERS took up the chasing of horses for both fun and money, whenever they were able to capture a good horse for themselves or a few worthy of sale, they did so. Many ingenious methods were devised to capture mustangs, due to the speed and hardness of these animals. Often the natural impulses of the animals were used as a means to secure their capture. Occasionally mustangers chased down animals and roped them, but only if their mounts had the speed and stamina to catch the mustangs. Skill with the lariat was essential in this operation.

Professional mustangers sought to capture entire herds, and usually constructed pens in clumps of trees or brush. The pens were circular, and the posts were lashed together with rawhide thongs, giving the fence elasticity as well as strength. Wings, made of brush and tree tops extended for some distance on either side of the gate, which was closed with bars. The pen was strategically located in relation to the surrounding area. Horses were driven down the wings toward the gate by riders and once the mustangs entered the pen and the gate was barred, a blanket was placed over it so the mustangs would not rush the gate. The penning of wild horses, a technique developed in Mexico, depended on the reluctance of the mustangs to touch the sham fences which were constructed of brush.

Another method favored by many was to keep the mustang herd moving by trailing them until the rider had worn them down and was able to move in and capture them.

MUSTANGERS usually captured their animals in large numbers, but on occasion resorted to the capture of individual animals, primarily through roping the mustangs from horseback. The mustangs were fleet and possessed great stamina, so many ordinary roping horses and even some of the grain-fed animals were no match for the wild ones in an extended race.

Roping was a favorite method of the Mexican mustangers, especially for capturing colts. Although the Mexicans did take adult horses, the colts were much easier to capture and could be developed into better riding stock than the adult animals. Many Mexican families made mustanging a way of life, and in the spring brought their entire outfits to the plains for a time to capture a portion of the new colt crop.

Roping was a favorite method various hazards to the mustanger, who was open to many forms of injury when he rode at full gallop in pursuit of the wild horses, especially if his own mount fell.

Regardless of the method used to capture wild horses, the mustanger had to have some method of getting his catch to a place of sale. A favorite one was to use some sort of hobble made of rope, leather, chain, or sometimes, wood.

IN MANY instances, the methods used to aid in driving the animals were far from humane, and many animals arrived at their destinations much the worse for wear, but at the time, better methods of controlling the animals after capture were not available.

Amateur mustangers, and a few professional ones who were in a hurry resorted to a risky means of capture which many would refer to as barbaric. This method, known as creasing, required skill with the rifle. The rifleman attempted to barely graze the spinal nerve along the top of the neck with his shot, if he was successful the animal would be stunned temporarily and the man could close in and tie the animal. However, only the most expert marksman at close range could win a live horse, most men who attempted to take horses in this manner killed many more of them than they captured.

Though there was only a limited demand for mustangs as saddle horses, mustangers did reasonably well and enjoyed an available market until around 1900. Horses broken for riding might sell for anywhere from $35-$100.

THE MUSTANGER probably performed a greater service for the rancher than for any other group, as the mustang was considered an enemy by most ranchers. Wherever the mustang wandered onto the rancher's land, he was looked upon as worthless, and when the rancher did not have the time or the extra men to send out to shoot these animals, he welcomed the mustanger, and encouraged him to remove the unwanted animals from his rangeland.

Eventually the plains mustang herds were thinned to token numbers, and although the mustangers played a large role in eliminating many of these horses, other reasons, including crossbreeding of mustangs with other stock have been cited for their decline.

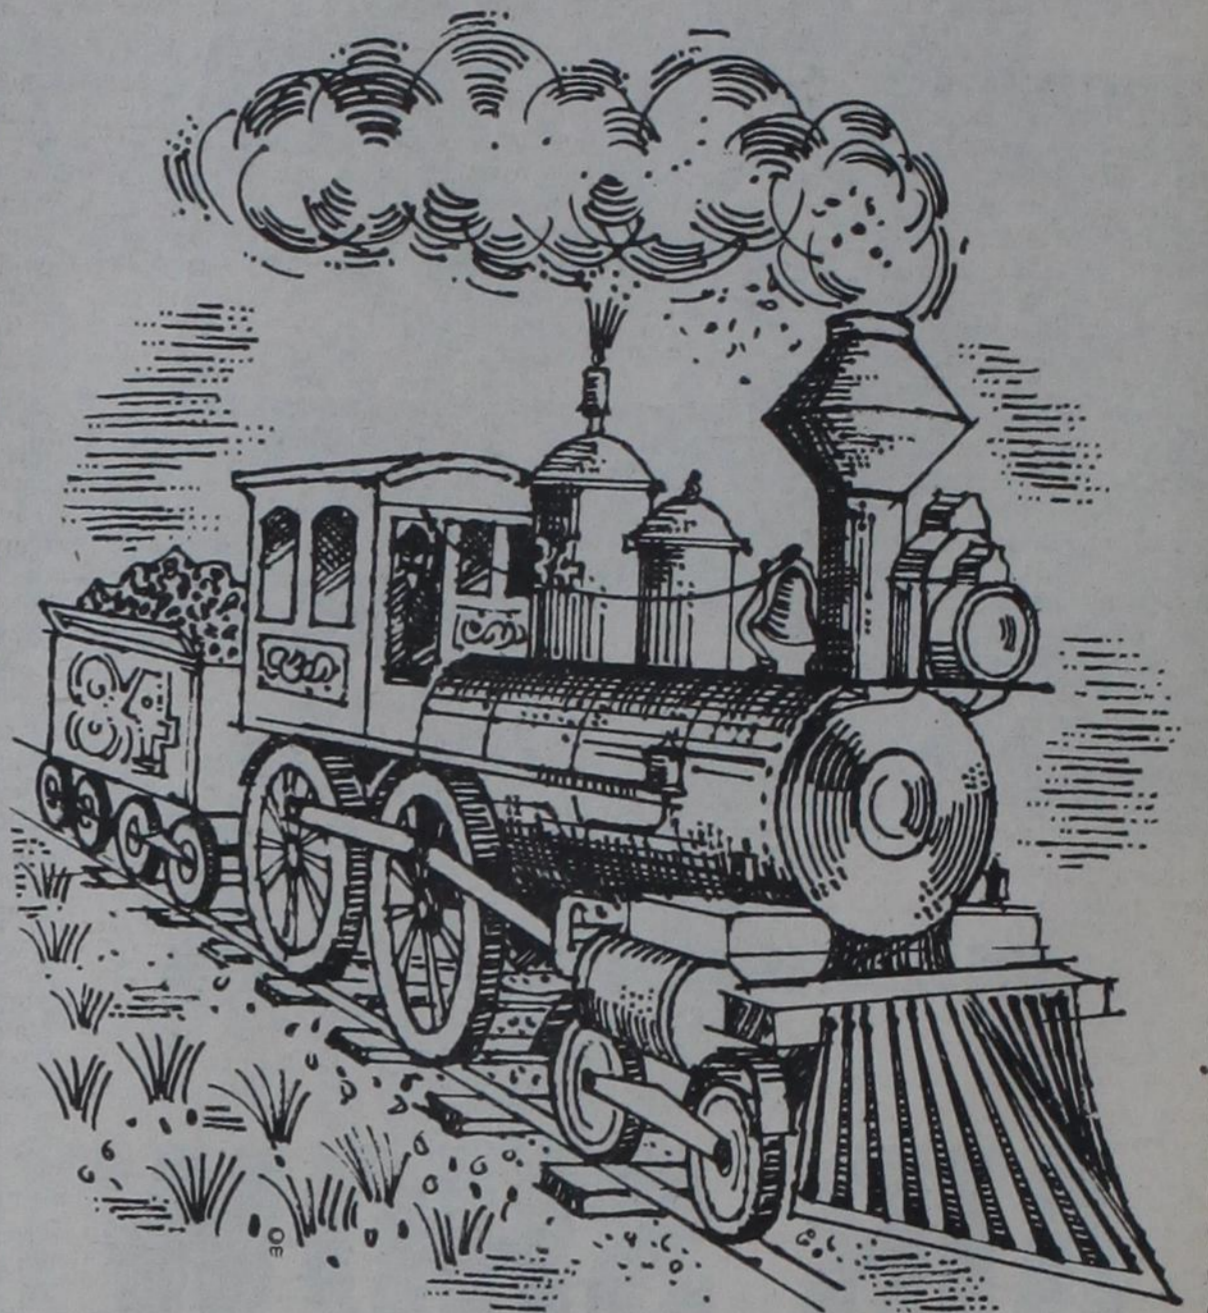

The mustangers themselves might well be compared with the buffalo hide hunters who, although they were probably unaware of it for the most part, were clearing the plains of the vast buffalo herds. Farming and ranching were impractical to a large degree when the buffalo herds wandered, as these animals were rather destructive in their roamings and offered competition for the available grazing. In much the same way, the mustangs were destructive in their wanderings, and were considered "bad grazers" by the cattlemen. If the vast numbers of both these species had been left to wander, they would have made the development of economic enterprises on the plains far more difficult. The mustanger, much like the hide hunter, was probably an agent who helped to bring an inevitable process to speedier conclusion.

The mustangers were active until capturing horses was no longer practical or feasible, then their enterprise came to an end like many of those of the frontier which were based on the availability of a single resource. They were successful in aiding ranchers, farmers, and others involved in enterprises upon the plains in clearing their land, and though their wages may have been meager at times, these men developed unique methods of capturing and transporting these animals to market, taking advantage of the natural surroundings and instincts of the animals to make their efforts rewarding.

THE MUSTANGERS served their purpose, then disappeared, leaving the plains minus the vast herds of mustangs, and open to the cattlemen, who proved that even their cattle could be "bad grazers."

Cadet Everett attends camp

Cadet Travis A. Everett, 21, son of Roy E. Everett of Dimmitt received practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps Advanced Summer Camp at Ft. Riley, Kan. from June 16-July 27. EVERETT, a student at Eastern New Mexico University was one of 7,200 students who attended the Army ROTC training at five installations in the US. Here are week's best food buys

Pork values are hard to find this week, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt. THE CONSUMER marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, attributed this situation to rising prices. "Consumers also may find beef supplies more scarce — as a result of producers holding back livestock in anticipation of the Sept. 12 price freeze change. "Nevertheless, most markets still offer some variety in cuts, with prices at ceiling levels. Chuck cuts, ground beef and beef liver generally provide the best values." According to the specialist, fryer chickens and eggs remain good protein food choices — despite price increases. TURNING TO fresh fruits, Mrs. Clyatt noted that this year's large crop of sweet cherries has hit the market attractively priced. "Watermelons and cantaloupes remain in good supply — and some medium to small sized nectarines are priced reasonably." The specialist cited bananas, seedless grapes and plums as being in best supply at the most economical prices. Warning that vegetable prices vary considerably, she listed cabbage, carrots, corn, turnips, okra, mustard greens, yellow onions, hard shell squash and varieties of southern peas as the best buys.

- On the Go Jake and Martha Laacs of Tucuman, N. M. were weekend visitors of her parents C. A. and Oleada Hance. Jeff returned home with them after a week's visit here and in Hereford. ● On the Go Nancy and Elizabeth Cranford, Ruby Ramsey, Oleada Hance, Jeff Isaacs and Lisa Honea went to Palo Duro Canyon last Wednesday night to see the musical "Texas". They reported a good time even though they got rained on.

Beard judging produces cheers, jeers, costumes

There were cheers, jeers, costumes, guffaws and applause on the courthouse steps Monday evening as 30 or more hairy-faced denizens gathered to have their beards judged.

THE TWO judges were barbers - Troy Kirby, who is a city commissioner, and Lynn West, who is an honest man. They awarded blue ribbons in 21 categories.

Three of the bewhiskered men were double winners in the Roundup Beard Contest. Randy Small strode away in manly fashion with blue ribbons for Grand Champion Beard Without Mustache and Most Distinctive Beard. F. B. Schacher captured the top awards for Best Old Gray Beard and Best Old Gray Mustache. And Avery Thrasher (who was, after all, the contest chairman and master of ceremonies) won the Reddest Beard award and the blue ribbon for Grand Champion Beard With Mustache.

Albert Hartman, splendidly dressed and with his well-groomed beard glistening with Suave, captured the Special Barbers' Award for Tonsorial Splendor.

OTHER TOP winners were Gerald Seibold, Longest Beard; Ray Davis, Thickest Mustache; Bill Behrends, Grand Champion Mustache; and Chuck Branstadt, Longest Mustache.

In the "longest beard" and "longest mustache" competition, the judges made sure they stretched the hair to give full credit for every millimeter of length. However, a few contestants indicated that they didn't appreciate the judges' concern.

Several contestants went all-out on costumes in search of awards. Eugene Hochstein came dressed as a hillbilly, pulling a rope ("Did you ever try to push one?"), and won the third-place ribbon in the Best Old Gray Beard category. Jerome Durbin was dressed as the Dirty Thirties, and it paid off as he captured the Woolly Bugger Award.

SANTA CLAUS showed up at the contest and won a blue ribbon for the Best Cold Weather Beard. Santa's appearance was arranged by his childhood friend, Jack Flynn, and caused quite a stir among the younger spectators. Santa took time to talk to a few of the children before the heat forced his departure.

The judges decided that Allen McLain's beard would probably be as good in cold weather as Santa's, so they awarded McLain a blue ribbon in this category, too.

Roundup Chairman Don Nelson showed up in an all-white Colonel Sanders outfit replete with white, planter's hat, and entered the only painted beard in the contest - a red, white and blue masterpiece with the word "Mother" lettered on his chin.

NELSON WAS the only contestant with a prepared acceptance speech. After winning (See Beard Judging, Page 4B)

Dimmitt man dies in wreck

Robert Lee Yates of Dimmitt was dead on arrival Friday afternoon at Plains Memorial Hospital following a pickup-truck collision at a county road intersection approximately three miles southwest of Dimmitt.

YATES WAS headed north in a 1965 GMC pickup when he collided with a 1969 Dodge truck headed east. The truck was driven by Armando G. Garza of Plainview.

According to investigating officer Dyrle Maples, the point of impact was almost exactly in the center of the intersection. He said the Yates vehicle apparently went into a broadside skid and struck the truck on the right door. Both vehicles proceeded east and the truck veered left and struck a highline pole and the pickup veered right and stopped in a bar ditch on the east side of the intersection. Yates was thrown from the pickup. Maples said he felt corn fields at the intersection hampered visibility.

The truck, which was leased by Plainview Rendering, was loaded with dead cattle at the time of the accident. Its final position was approximately 55 feet from the point of impact, while the pickup stopped some 74 feet away.

Garza, 30, suffered a sprained ankle and multiple bruises. He was treated at Plains Memorial Hospital and released.

GARZA WAS issued a citation for failure to yield the right of way and was later charged with homicide with a motor vehicle.

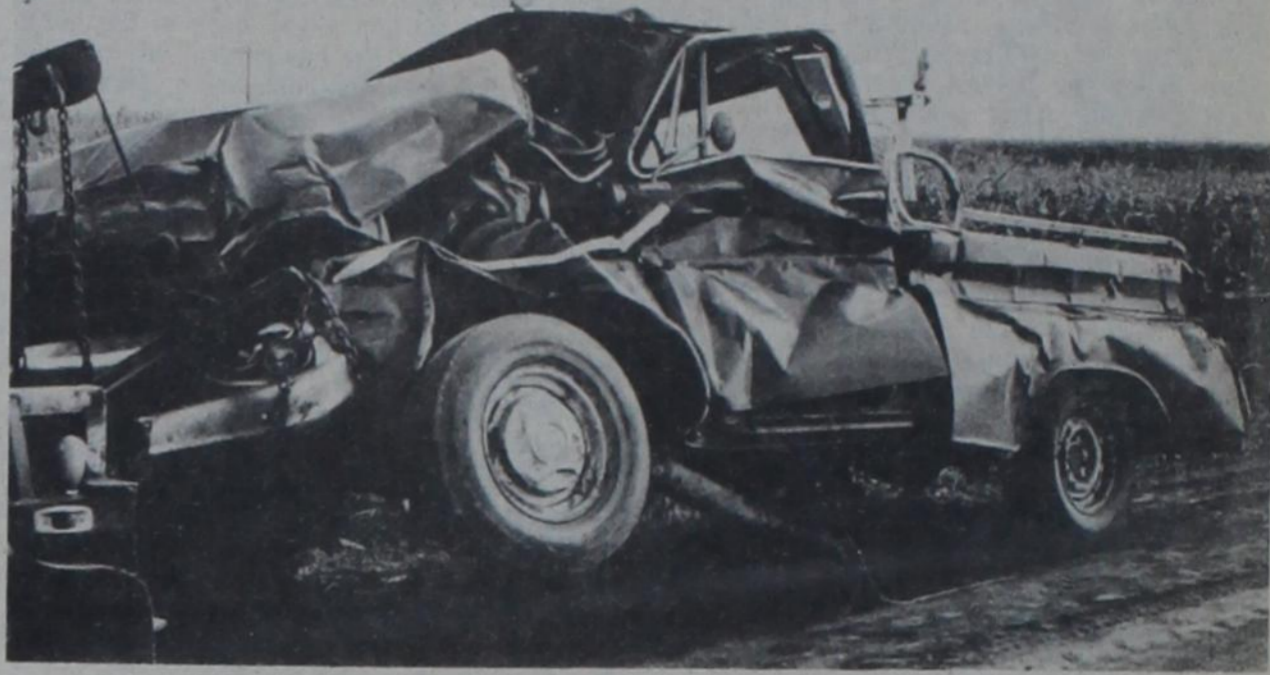

Funeral services for Yates were held Monday afternoon at the First United Methodist Church. Rev. Lennox Hester officiated.

Yates, 39, had been a Dimmitt resident for 26 years. A farmer, he was born in Ackery.

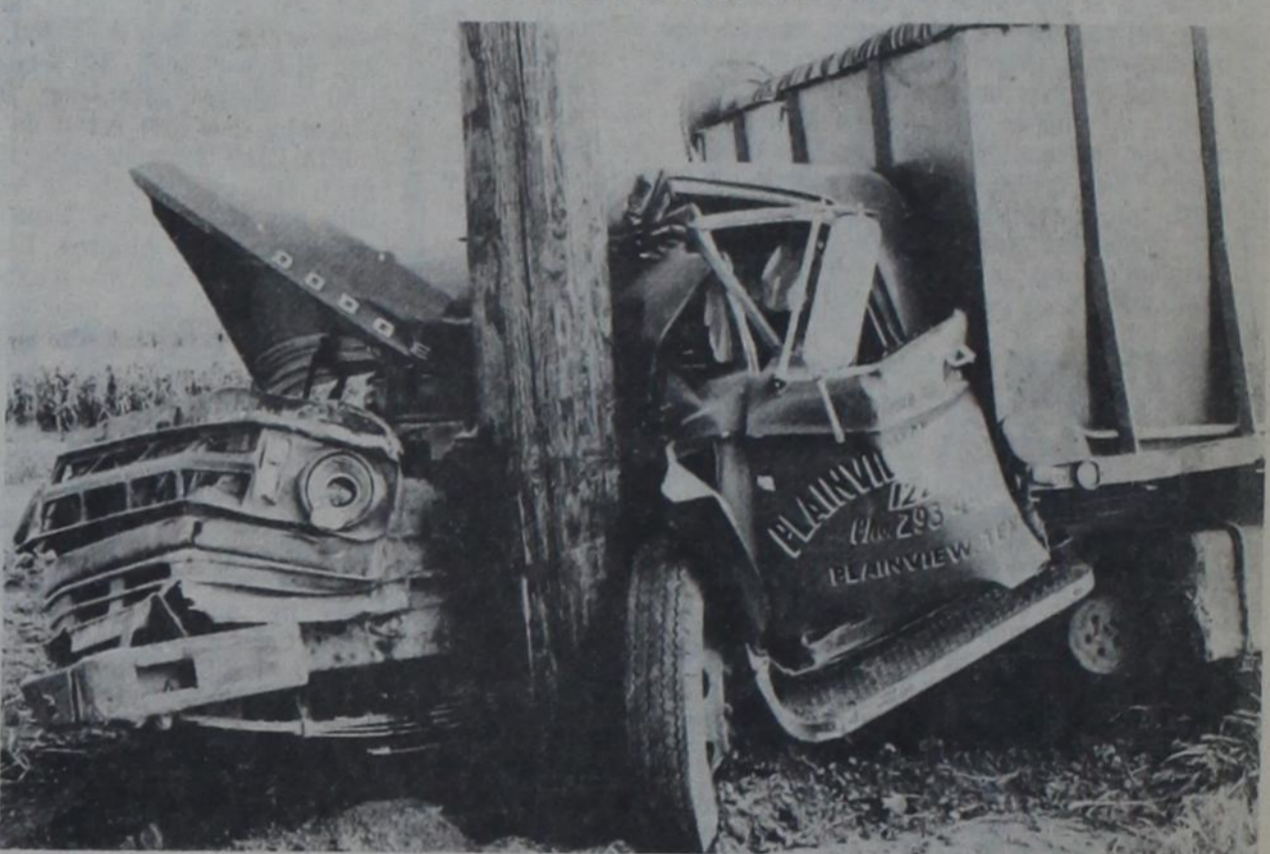

Survivors include his wife, Dee; four sons, Brad, Ricky, Kyle and Kip, all of the home; and a sister, Mrs. Leola Fish of Klamath Falls, Ore.

BURIAL WAS in Westlawn Memorial Park under the direction of Dennis Funeral Home.

The Robert Yates Memorial Fund has been set up at the First State Bank and at the offices of La Mantia, Cullum, Collier & Co. in Dimmitt. All proceeds will go to the family. Those wishing to make donations should go by the bank or the La Mantia offices.

Barbecue site is moved indoors

After sniffing the wind and eyeballing the clouds early this week, the Sunnyside Lions decided to move the big Roundup Barbecue indoors, to the South Elementary School cafeteria.

THE BARBECUE will be served at 6 p.m. Saturday, after the Roundup Parade. The Lions will serve pit-cooked beef, Underwood trimmings and home-grown vegetables. The beef, donated by the First State Bank and Dimmitt Feed Yards, will go into the pit at 6 a.m. Saturday for 10 hours' slow cooking.

Prices will be $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children 12 and under for "all you can eat."

Parade to have $150 in prizes

A missing line in a story on the Roundup Parade in last week's issue made it appear that cash prizes would be awarded in only one float division.

AWARDS OF $25, $15 and $10 will be given for the first, second and third place floats in the organizational, youth and civic club divisions - $150 in all, in addition to trophies and ribbons.

Deadline for entering floats is 5 p.m. today (Thursday). Entries should be submitted to the Chamber of Commerce office.

The parade will form up at 2 p.m. Saturday from US 365 up Southeast Third Street, near the Dimmitt Gin, and will move out shortly before 3.

Lunches at the Hart schools will be 40 cents for all grades according to Supt. Ted Averitt. Extra milk for adults and students will be 10 cents, and first graders will not be served milk in the afternoons.

AN EARLY childhood teacher will be available under the Plan A special education program and any three or four year old child with any handicap will be eligible to attend classes according to Averitt. Registration for seniors at Nazareth High School will begin at 9:30 this morning according to Nazareth Supt. Joe King. Juniors will register at 11, and sophomores will register at 1 p.m. Freshmen will register at 2 p.m.

All grade school, junior high and high school students will report to their respective rooms Monday at 9 a.m. according to King.

King pointed out that the price of school lunches has gone up a nickel with lunches for students in the sixth grade and under priced at 40 cents. Lunches for students in grades 7-12 will be priced at 45 cents.

REGISTRATION for Dimmitt junior high and high school students is set for Friday, Aug. 24 according to Supt. Charlie White.

Senior registration will be from 9 a.m. to 10:30. Junior registration will be from 10:30 to 12 and sophomore registration will be from 1 p.m. to 2:30. Freshmen will register from 2:30 to 4:00.

Junior high registration will be held at the junior high building with 8th grade registration from 9 a.m. to 10:30 and 7th grade registration from 10:30 to 12.

Lunch prices will be 45 cents in grades kindergarten-3, 50 cents in grades 4-8 and 60 cents in grades 9-12. Applications for free lunches can be made Aug. 24 and Aug. 27 in the East South Elementary Cafeteria according to White.

ALL COUNTY schools will provide a free lunch program. White said parents should also register their kindergarten age children immediately at the South Elementary curriculum office. He urged parents who feel that their three or four year old child has any handicaps or learning disabilities to sign their children up for the early childhood segment of the Plan A special education program at the South Elementary Curriculum office.

According to White, a free immunization clinic for students will be held in the cafeteria at South Elementary School Aug. 24.

Texas law requires that students and children entering school or child care institutions be immunized against polio, diphtheria, lockjaw, whooping cough, measles and rubella.

THE IMMUNIZATION clinic will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. White stressed that any student who fails to bring an immunization record or who does not have one on file at the school will not be allowed to register. If the student is not enrolled within ten days, the Compulsory Attendance Law will be applied, according to White.

Dulaney's travel to Bahamas for diving near reefs

By MYRTLE SHEFFY

Bob and Jean Dulaney and son Brad with friends from Amarillo flew down to the Bahamas to do some scuba diving from the coral reefs. They are called the biggest reefs in the world. They went down into the water 95 to 105 feet. It is clear as crystal. You can see hundreds of fish and coral. One night a guide with a flashlight went down with them and they saw the coral open up and feed on small fish or animal life (and all the time I thought it was a rock flower).

They saw a manta ray, a "thing" very few people have seen. It is a very unusual sea life fish. They saw a big shark but were told to be very quiet. Jean says, "Maybe he was not hungry." A small baby by shark tried to get Brad's flipper. They stayed at Freeport and toured other islands. Customs were a mess but they managed to get through. Bob says tell you they had 4 months training in diving at WTSU pool and made a high rating of N.A.U. 1. This is the only certification recognized over the world. The course was very hard, but it made for a good trip under the water. They planned to stop in Florida but Brad wanted to come home!

MOST PEOPLE are trying to get their trips taken before school starts.

These I hear about — the George Sides and kids, Jim and Ina Cleavinger, Tom and Jim, Bill and Kathryn Birdwell and Jim, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cooper of Roscoe, he is Kathryn's kin, all went camping to Ouray and Lake City, Colo. They cooked out, fished, hiked and took a jeep trip into the high mountains. Saw a lot of snow high up.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Hoyer and her son Stanley Harris are home from a good trip down south, first stop Port Arthur, on to Cameron, La. They visited friends and relatives, came by Dallas and Fort Worth, visited P. L.'s son Perry and family and a brother Otho Hoyer, took in Six Flags, then back south to Houston. Went to the Astro dome and Astro World. Well this is a fish story. Stanley paid $3.50 for a license, caught five three-inch fish. Jrew them back. A man felt sorry for him, so gave him an 18-inch trout or something. Then Stanley bought a $4 box and $2 worth of dry ice to take care of the fish. "This fish cost more than a steak."

CHARLES AND Opha Burks and sons Greg and Ronnie are home from a ten day trip to the northwest, stopped in Seattle, Wash. to visit cousins, went on to Canada to see the different things. The highlight of the trip was the Butchart Gardens at Victoria. Came home by Reno, Nev., visited other kin, stopped in South Dakota to see Mount Rushmore and other tourist attractions.

GRACE LUST (Mrs. Earl) was the birthday girl Saturday so daughter Mildred and James Bradford baked a batch of cookies and made a big bowl of fruit punch. Mrs. Loyd Lust helped with the hostess bit. Loyd and son Jeff and the daughters from Littlefield came for the party as did grandsons Bob, Jack and Susie from Lubbock, Mrs. Glen Lust from Lazbuddie, and dozens of friends

Tom and Donna Stafford and girls from Lewisville spent the weekend in Dimmitt, one night with Ray and Allan Bradley, one day with Ronnie and Connie Kenmore, and Grandma Dora Houtchens.

Tom was an usher at his friend Kent Lindsey and Beverly Hill's wedding Sunday afternoon at the Baptist Church. And Robbie and Evelyn Lindsey from Houston were here for the wedding and a visit with the Ulys Waggoners and the Bob Lindseys.

Mrs. Natalie Stephenson and daughter Susan of Perryton are staying here for a few days visit with her father Claude Forson and Cleo. The Forsons and Morans had an interesting trip a while back to Gallup, N.M. They visited the Zuni Indian people. They have one special friend there.

DALE AND LaDean Carmichael and C. B. and Jean Lunsford and boys spent the weekend at Red River, N.M. Their main activity is riding motorcycles up the mountain trails. I am just now meeting the Lunsfords. He has an auto repair shop north of the Chevy place. They live at 1011 W. Stinson Street.

Matthew Blakeman, 5-year-old son of Kathy and Larry of Lubbock, spent a few days with grandparents, Bob and Betty Huchakaby.

Cynthia Ethington tells me she is leaving here soon for Los Angeles, where she will attend Life Bible College. She is the daughter of the Don Ethingtons.

Shorly and Pat Barlow, son Claude Richard and Christy went to California last weekend. First across country to San Francisco to visit relatives then south to Disneyland. Will come home the southern route.

Delbert and Ruth Timmons and family spent a few days in the Raton, N. M. area. Most people drive over to Trinidad, Colo. only a few scenic miles.

FREDDIE AND Ann Mercer and son Fred Jr. and daughters Teresa and Freida from Grayson, La. were here for a few days visit with his friends Jack and Herb Howell and families. The three men were in the service together a few years ago and Mr. Mercer wanted to hear Jack do one of his cow auction sales which they did hear in Amarillo.

Our community is saddened by the death of our friend Robert Yates in a pickup and and truck collision. Robert leaves his wife Dee and four small sons. This story is on the front page, but our love and sympathy go to the family. J. R. and Mary Jo Brown, Bruce and Jill, and Zonell Maples went to Salida, Colo. to visit their brother Bernard and family, then on to see the mountains.

Tall Tate of Amarillo is spending the week with grandparents Curtis and Marie Tate. He is the son of Jim and Judith Tate and grandson of Zonell Maples and C. G. Maples.

from here and Bethel. A money tree and other gifts were brought. Mrs. George Bradford gave her a big orchid. Mrs. George Bradford stayed a few days in the hospital. She has several different hurts. Mrs. John Nolan, Jack Cowsert, Delores Gilliland and Mrs. Mills came back the second time. Mr. Cantrell or Ruby Lou Lee's dad was there too. Several other people I didn't know.

Mr. Petrie, the new respiratory technician I met, but he says Mr. West will tell you all about him and his job.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bolton of Pueblo, Colo. and Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Nelson were Thursday supper guests of Ray and Lottie Bearden. Ray cooked the steaks outside and do they taste and small good!

JANIS AND Gerald Davis of Amarillo were weekend guests of grandparents Elmer and Mauzee Youts and her parents Bob and Phyllis Mooney. Janis was organist for the Lindsey and Hill wedding. That beautiful Baptist Church was full of people for that ceremony.

Mrs. Oma Simmons of Springfield, Mo. is here for a visit with her sisters-in-law Maurine Henderson and Mildred Kyle. They plan to see the pageant "Texas" this week and visit Flag neighbors of a few years ago.

Jane Kooztz of Golf, Ill. is here for a visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kirkpatrick and her friends Shirley Stephens, Dorothy Sheffy and others.

Frank and Shirley Wise and kids, her parents Garland and Ruth Coleman, a brother Garland and Susie Coleman spent a week at Possum Kingdom Lake water skiing and fishing. They went on to Fort Worth to visit kin, out to Six Flags. They tell me Ruth did not miss a single ride or amusement out there. Frank says, now it's work, work!

Jess and Ruby Wooten and Richard and Ruth Wooten attended a big family reunion at Lone Wolf, Okla. I wonder if they found a fishing hole!

KENNETH CLEVELAND is home from athletic coaching school at Dallas. Kenneth was assistant chairman of the North All Star team and stayed in the dorm with the boys. Libby (his wife) flew to Dallas to be with him for the games. They drove home Friday. All the Dimmitt coaches and their wives came to the Cleveland's for a hamburger cookout supper. Dean and Dorothy Wright, Mr. and Mrs. McMinn, Bobby and Janelle King, Travis and Jan Sersa.

Fannie Mahan, my sister-in-law has moved out to South Hills Manor this week. Her walking is improving. But for a few days the legs refused to move out. She enjoys reading, knitting and visiting.

Pat Moran of Atlanta, Ga. (a school teacher) and Scott Moran a law student at Vaco are home for a few days visit with their parents Russel and Myrtle Lois Moran.

Bess Jones of Amarillo was a weekend guest of her friends Nettie Graham, Retta Cluck and Josie Bradford.

Nolan Froehner says the German supper at Nazareth was very good. I couldn't get there this time.

DORA JOHNSON spent a week in Lubbock visiting her daughters Beverly Russell and Melba Smith and families. She attended a choral concert that grandson Carl Russell sang with. The Smiths will return next month to Bangladesh. That used to be Persia. Mr. Smith has had some kind of ambassadors job with that country.

Sam and Virginia Gilbreath and grandsons Coby, Matt and Hal spent a week at Ski Valley, north of Taos, N. M. just fun time, camping, hiking. And in July Virginia, Ruth Skinner and Evie Froehner attended an art and crafts workshop at Taos. Stop off in that town some time and see the art galleries.

The Horace Carlies company and families Joe and Glenda De Sentes and son from Longmont, Colo., Bertie Stocks and a niece from Big Spring and Mrs. Wanda Stocks and son from Whiteface.

I am wondering which man will win the beard and hair growing contest this week.

RAYMOND WEST, T. D. Claborn and John Womack went to Texhoma fishing. They had a good time and caught some fish but the wind was too high for a good catch.

Clay Allen Carrell spent the weekend with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carrell.

Mrs. Tony McGee, Ronald and Regina from Houston are visiting her parents the Thomases Carrells.

Mrs. Cora West spent the night with her daughter Shelia in Amarillo. Shelia works for S. I. C.

Mrs. Daisy Wallen, Frank Carrell and Cora West went to McKinney to the Griffin reunion. Raymond West visited in Oklahoma and picked Cora up to come home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Kirby have spent a month visiting their sons Clifford Hulon and Olan and families in California. Also visited Mr. Kirby's sisters, Opal and Gladys. Mrs. Olan Kirby came home with them for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. West will fly to Washington, D. C. to attend the wedding of their son Carrell to Nancy Flowers Sept. 1.

Pam Barker and her roommate Linda Bustamante of Lubbock spent the weekend with Pam's parents, the Elvis Barkers. Both girls are Tech students. Linda is from Ft. Stock-

Ollene Williams and friend, Dr. Ruth Ann Franklin, who teaches at Northwestern University, Natchitoches, La., have returned home from a trip to Pompano Beach, Fla. Dr. Franklin met Ollene Williams in New Orleans where they stayed three days. Saw the sights including the Pete Fountain Show, all the French Quarter and Bourbon Street attractions, ate the wonderful food. Then on to Pompano Beach to visit daughter, Kay and Bill Stevens, Shane, Sherry and Scotty. There they stayed on the beach front, picked up shells along the beach, had fun with the kids. Too hot, too many people in too little space, and no breeze, but fun, and different from West Texas. Home looks good.

The RESPECTED WORD
The bible is a book translated into every known language. It is the word that men have died for, in order that it may be available to all men. It is the textbook for God's people.
The bible, itself, is not worshipped, but is respected, for it is the story of God and his relationship to man. It is man's guide for worship and daily living.
Attend church regularly, study, and seek God's will in your life.
"I wait for the Lord, my soul doth wait, and in his word do I hope."
The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
Coleman Adv. Serv.

With the new hunting licenses on their way to the post office, can the fall hunting season be far behind?

BUNDLES OF newly printed 1973-74 hunting and fishing licenses are due to be mailed Aug. 10 to Parks and Wildlife Department offices and license sales deputies across the state.

The licenses should be available to the public shortly after the 10th.

The Parks and Wildlife Department reminds Texas sportsmen not to be surprised at the new license fees as approved by the Legislature this spring.

Fishing licenses will cost $4.25, resident hunting licenses are $5.25 and a combination resident hunting and fishing license will be sold for $8.75.

THE NEW licenses will be required for hunting and fishing in Texas after Aug. 31, 1973, and will be valid until Aug. 31 of the following year.

Sportsmen can also pick up a copy of this year's Hunting and Fishing Guide where they buy their license.

Some licenses previously available at license deputy sales stores must now be purchased at district offices of the Parks and Wildlife Department and the Austin headquarters.

Shooting preserve, trapper, fish guide and bait dealer licenses must now be purchased at the department offices.

THE SHOOTING preserve license will also require an application this year.

As of Aug. 1, a $1 game importation permit will be available and is required of hunters who do their shooting in the Republic of Mexico and bring game back into Texas.

The game importation permit is good for 30 days and is available at all Parks and Wildlife Department offices and some license deputy sales stores.

Up to this year, the permit was free of charge.

Therapist brings new services

A form of therapy unusual for hospitals of such small size has come to Plains Memorial Hospital with the arrival of Jim Petra, a respiratory care supervisor who arrived here recently.

"THE TYPE of services we will be offering here under respiratory therapy are not normally provided in a hospital this small because of the costs, they are usually found in hospitals of 300 bed size or more," said Petra.

The new service has been made available to the Dimmitt hospital through Med-Mark Inc. of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Petra will be serving the company as supervisor of respiratory therapy services for as many as eight Panhandle area hospitals. The Dimmitt hospital will be his headquarters.

According to Petra, the company supplies all the manpower and equipment used in the therapy and serves various hospitals on a contract basis. The company has a plane which can fly equipment to hospitals in need of it.

Petra has worked in the respiratory therapy field for about eight years and says his first contact with the work was in the Navy where he was a corpsman with the Fleet Marine Force in the Pacific.

HE SERVED in Vietnam from 1963-65 where he was attached to a Marine helicopter squadron and served on medevac and search and rescue missions.

Following his discharge, Petra attended the respiratory school at Loma Linda, Calif. where he completed a two year course and served as one of three supervisors. He then worked at Health Systems Inc. until 1972 in a paramedic type work. He has been associated with Med-Mark just over a year.

Petra is planning on becoming a permanent citizen of Dimmitt. He and his wife Pam, who is originally from Littlefield, and twin daughters Krista and Koleta will soon be moving into their new home which is now under construction here.

The therapist feels that the local hospital will be able to provide university level services so far as respiratory care is concerned, once the program gets under way here.

PETRA POINTED out that

ADMINISTERS THERAPY—Jim Petra, respiratory care supervisor at the Plains Memorial Hospital administers a respiratory treatment to patient, J. A. Coughran.

many of the local farm workers are plagued with lung troubles due to dust and pollen inhalation.

Several methods of therapy will be used here once the program gets underway. According to Petra, some of these methods will include:

Intermittent Positive Pressure Breathing (IPPB) — A method often used after surgery, it is utilized to expand the lungs. It is also used to deliver medication to the lungs and dilate the airways.

Chest Physical Therapy — Used after the IPPB treatment to physically loosen mucus from the chest area. The chest is drained by means of vibration and other methods.

Ultrasonic Nebulizer Therapy — High frequency sound waves are directed at water which turns into a fine mist, and is used to wet the deepest part of the lungs. A similar form of aerosol therapy is used to moisten the upper airways.

Pulmonary Function Testing — This method measures the volumes of air inhaled and exhaled by the patients. It is often used prior to surgery to determine the patient's ability to withstand anesthesia.

Arterial Puncture — An air-tight syringe is used to withdraw blood from an artery and the gas content of the blood is determined. After determining the gas content of the blood, the correct treatment can be given.

Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation — Emergency work in the cases of respiratory and cardiac arrest.

"WE HAVE some new equipment on the way which should be here soon," said Petra. Included will be a volume respirator for continuous respiration and a machine for pulmonary function tests. The hospital already has five IPPB machines.

"Most of the treatment will be administered in the patient's room, but we will also provide outpatient care," he said. "Patients will be able to come to the hospital to receive care and in some cases the patient may be set up with the equipment at home and trained in its use," Petra added.

The oxygen equipment for the entire hospital will be provided by the Med-Mark Co. according to Petra. He pointed out that much of today's equipment is disposable.

Petra says he is looking forward to working with the people of Castro County. "Dimmitt is a nice clean town, a place where you can get to know all of your neighbors," he concluded.

Textile plant due for Lubbock

The Textile Investment Group of Texas, Inc. (TIGOT) and Nijverdal-Ten Cate of Almelo, Holland, jointly announced at a press conference Aug. 10 the signing of a joint venture agreement that calls for a $3.5 million investment in a Lubbock cotton yarn spinning operation with textile machinery valued at about $2 million. Production of yarn from Plains-grown cotton is programmed to begin in the fall of 1974.

TIGOT is a two-year-old group of 12 investors on the Plains concerned with the future of High Plains cotton as a textile raw material. Nijverdal-Ten Cate, with extensive operations both in and outside the European Common Market, is the largest and one of the oldest integrated textile firms in the Netherlands.

The newly formed joint venture company, known as Feather Fabrics, Incorporated, will operate from an industrial building leased for the purpose at 44th Street and Globe Avenue, Lubbock, officials revealed.

On hand for the announcement from Holland were J. Alberdingk Thijm, President of Nijverdal-Ten Cate, and the firm's Technical Affairs Director, Dr. Evert Ten Cate. Both expressed confidence in the success of the international venture, with Thijm adding "Our consultants have determined that the textile investment climate in Lubbock is excellent, and that Feather Fabrics is a proper vehicle for that investment."

The Feather Fabrics (FFI) plant will be built around an initial 2,400 spindles of the relatively new "open end" spinning system which produces yarn from three to four times as fast as the conventional ring spinning process. It will occupy about 40,000 square feet of space, operate 24 hours a day, six days a week, and will employ from 8 to 10 people per shift. Production is expected to be about 7 million pounds of yarn annually, consuming some 15,000 bales of each year's High Plains crop.

Paul Cook, who came to Lubbock two years ago from North America. Rockwell, where he spent four years as Director for Textile Machinery Development, said a conventional ring-spinning plant with comparable capacity would require up to at least twice as much labor. Cook went on to say "We are putting together the world's finest and most advanced textile equipment, and a prime consideration from the start has been its suitability for spinning what is now known as 'discount cottons' grown on the Plains."

The open end spinning system is most efficient in the formation of coarser yarns for which shorter, lower micronaire cottons are normally used, whatever the spinning system. Cook points out, "But studies done by personnel of the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University and other researchers have proven that the spinning of these cottons on open end frames is far more economical than on a ring system."

It has also been proven by Tech and others, Cook stated, that yarns produced from low micronaire cottons on the open end system actually have greater strength and better uniformity than like yarns from the same system using higher, premium-price micronaire cottons. The open end spindles to be used by FFI will come from Czechoslovakia. Bale opening will be done by the latest machinery made in the U.S., and cleaning, blending, carding and drawing equipment has been ordered from England, Switzerland and Italy. "THIS FOREIGN equipment is being used," Cook explained, "because it offers the maximum degree of automation, is shrouded for dust control. In this way we believe we will avoid any problem with standards set by the Occupational Safety and Health Act for prevention of byssinosis."

Byssinosis is a respiratory ailment common to textile workers and fast becoming a major problem with cotton spinning in the existing textile industry. Don Anderson of Crosbyton, TIGOT's Chairman of the Board, expects this first FFI plant to be "just the beginning of textile activity that can bring substantial benefits to the High Plains cotton industry and the area economy before it runs its course."

"One of our first objectives in this plant is to probe the adaptability of our cotton to the open end system and to show a significant economic advantage for plants located in the Plains area," he says, "and when we have done these two things we shouldn't have much trouble attracting the interest of existing textile companies and others who might be interested in similar operations. "WE HAVE seen what the cattle feeding industry since 1960 has done to stabilize and enhance our feed grain markets on the Plains, and we see no reason why a High Plains textile industry, utilizing High Plains cotton, can't do the same for our cotton markets."

In support of his expectations, Anderson cites a recent report from the US Department of Agriculture and two national consultant firms showing that the High Plains has all the ingredients for a successful op-on end spinning industry, including market opportunities, labor, water and other utilities.

It was also revealed at the press conference that TIGOT is the group which holds US rights to a "zero twist" yarn forming system and has contracted with the Texas Tech Textile Research Center for research work on that process. Nijverdal-Ten Cate is one of the Netherlands Consortium Companies which developed the zero twist method and from which TIGOT acquired U.S. rights about a year ago.

TIGOT has ordered six units of this new "machine," which bonds parallel fibers together with a water soluble bonding agent instead of twisting, for Tech's use in research. These six units are scheduled for delivery to Tech in September of this year.

OFFICIALS of both TIGOT and Nijverdal-Ten Cate both agree that the potential for efficient utilization of short, low micronaire fibers on the zero twist system at this stage looks even better than on the open end system. They emphasize however that zero twist yarn forming is yet to be perfected for commercial use, and that its use by FFI in the future will have to be considered in the light of research results yet to be obtained.

In addition to Anderson and Cook, TIGOT officers include Joe Thompson, Vice President, of Abernathy, and Donald Johnson of Lubbock, Secretary-Treasurer. Other members of the group are Roy Furr, Solon Clements, Dan Davis, Mrs. Howard Alford and Cotton Farming, all of Lubbock, Ray Joe Riley of Hart, Donnell Echols of Lamesa and Don Marble of South Plains.

Farmers awaiting impact of Phase 4 on commodities

How will Phase IV affect farmers when the new inflation fighting program begins on Aug. 12?

ACCORDING TO Dr. William Vastine of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, agricultural producers will be most directly affected in the short-run by the following: (1) the beef price freeze that continues until Sept. 12, (2) only dollar for dollar price increases on commodities not frozen may be passed on by processors, wholesalers and retailers, (3) decreases in raw agricultural costs must be passed on to the consumers, (4) beef price increases after the proposed freeze termination must be on a dollar for dollar basis.

Several other aspects of Phase IV are of interest, notes the specialist in marketing and food distribution. The Tariff Commission has been asked to review temporary suspension of import quotas on non-fat dry milk. Also, an 80 million pound increase for non-fat dry milk has been ordered on an emergency basis.

Another provision includes bringing back into production all remaining set-aside acres by 1974. Limitations on soybean and related product exports will be continued for the remainder of the crop year.

In addition, a request has been made of Congress to speed up anti-inflation legislation, including authority for export controls and selective tariff reductions, disposal of excess materials from the National Stockpile, and authority for construction of the Alaska Pipeline. The pipeline fight has already resurfaced.

PERHAPS OF most concern to producers, believes Vastine, is the request for farm legislation to "permit farmers to earn higher incomes through greater production rather than higher prices. Educational efforts have been directed at dispelling this idea for years, and it should be approached cautiously by producers," advises the specialist.

"Due to the nature of the demand for agricultural products, relatively small changes in supply can evoke relatively large changes in prices," points out Vastine. "Thus, flooding the market with products would reduce prices to consumers, but producers may find themselves in the position of the fellow who said he was losing 5 cents per bushel on his crop but hoped to make it up by producing a larger volume."

IN THE Civil War, the Ohio 23rd Volunteer Infantry Regiment boasted two future presidents, McKinley and Hayes.

beef price freeze is also evident. Continued high prices for most meat items during the coming months can be anticipated.

"Indeed there is little hope of any staple commodity being truly abundant in the near future," the specialist points out. MEANWHILE, the only bright hope lies in this fall's harvest, believes Vastine.

"If the 6 percent increase in the corn crop over last season and the 24 percent increase in soybeans, 5 percent increase in grain sorghum, and 8 percent increase in the wheat crops is realized, some price relief by late 1973 or early 1974 would be expected."

Mothers are busy preserving food

By IRENE KEATING

Mothers are all very busy now with canning and preparation for school. Everyone I've talked to has been busy preserving food. I've gotten several good hints lately that will help you with canning.

Ocie Bolton reminded me that if you rub the inside of jar lids with a cotton ball soaked in vegetable oil the lids won't rust. This should be a good idea for all of us to use. With the cost of food predicted to rise about 20 percent this year we need to save money in whatever way we can.

Dorothy Thomason has a good method for making pinto beans easier to shell. Dip the beans in hot water for about 30 seconds then into cold water and she guarantees they're easier to shell. Let's try it when we shell pinto beans to can.

SO MANY have asked about freezing potatoes and onions. Freezing is not usually recommended but you may freeze with a cathedral train. The bodice of the gown was fitted with a scalloped portrait neckline accented by pearl embroidery and iridescent sequins. The veil was a Camelot headpiece of lace held in a three-tiered veil of illusion.

Serving cake and punch to the guests at the reception held in the home of the bride's parents, were Misses Ann Lust, Sherrie Burrous, Marla Mayfield and Mrs. Jeannine Griffith.

Assisting elsewhere in the houseparty were Mmes. June Brown, Maurice Carson, June Davis, all of Hart, and Mrs. Virginia Hansen, Sue DeVaney and Gail Bruegel.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will reside in Ruskin Circle Apartments in Dimmitt.

chopped onions. After three to six months they tend to lose flavor when frozen. Select mature and good quality onions. Peel onions, wash and cut into quarter sections. Chop and blanch in hot water for 1½ minutes. Chill in cold running water or ice water. Drain, label date and freeze immediately.

To freeze new small potatoes, boil until barely tender. Pack in plastic bag and freeze. Thaw in bag and use as freshly cooked. Use within one month for good quality.

LAST WEEK Leta Ebeling of the Hi-View Ranch of Burnet was in my office. She and her family were visiting their relatives here, the Ebelings and the Struves. After she went home she sent us this recipe for pumpkin bread that is different. You might like to try it.

PUMPKIN BREAD
1½ cups sugar
¾ tsp. salt
½ cup oil
1 cup pumpkin
one-third cup each of dates, pecans and raisins
1 and two-thirds cup unsifted flour
1 tsp. soda
2 unbeaten eggs
½ tsp. each of cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg
¼ tsp. baking powder.

Mix everything in a large bowl at once. Bake in greased and floured tube pan at 325 degrees for 1 hour.

Mrs. Ebeling adds, "I usually double this recipe and bake in four small aluminum throw-away loaf pans or in one pound coffee cans. By doubling the recipe, it takes a number 303 size can of pumpkin so none is wasted."

VETERANS' SERVICES

By BEDFORD W. SMITH
County Service Officer

Burial benefits for veterans were brought under the single management of the Veterans Administration by the National Cemetery Act signed June 18, by the President.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson also reported that in addition to transferring to VA many areas of Army responsibility, the law directs an Arlington National Cemetery study to be conducted during the next year. The Administrator of Veterans Affairs and Secretary of Defense must report to the Congress by Jan. 3, 1974, as to (1) whether Arlington National Cemetery should be included in the National Cemetery System to be operated by VA, (2) the appropriateness of present eligibility requirements for burial at Arlington National Cemetery, and (3) the advisability of establishing another national cemetery in or near the District of Columbia.

In addition to this joint report, the Administrator of Veterans Affairs is directed by the Act to make a comprehensive study of these questions:

- (1) long range concepts for the development of the National Cemetery system, including the concept of regional cemeteries.
- (2) relationship of burial benefits provided by state governments and other federal agencies to those provided by The National Cemetery System.
- (3) private burial and funeral costs in the United States.
- (b) current headstone and marker programs.
- (5) sales practices among marketers of non-federal cemeteries and interment facilities.

Transfer of cemetery and grave marker functions from the Department of Defense is effective Sept. 1, but exempted from transfer are Arlington National Cemetery, cemeteries at 27 military posts and those at the US Soldier's and Airmen's Home in Washington, D. C., the Naval Home in Philadelphia, and those at the military academies.

Certain historic cemeteries under the Department of Interior and the American Battle Monuments Commission are also excluded from the transfer. The new law directs the Administrator of Veterans Affairs, in cooperation with the Secretary of Defense, to return the body of an unknown American who served in the Vietnam Era, for burial in the National Cemetery at Arlington, and it authorizes flying of the US flag over national cemeteries 24 hours each day. Burial benefits, in addition to the burial allowance, under the new law, are a plot or interment allowance of $150 for an eligible veteran who is not buried in a national cemetery or other cemetery under Federal jurisdiction, and a burial benefit of up to $800, in lieu of any other benefit, for veterans who are of service-connected disabilities.

Eligibility for burial in national cemeteries remains unchanged. Veterans as well as servicemen who die during active military, naval or air service are eligible, and members and air national guard are eligible when death occurs while on active duty for training, inactive duty training or while hospitalized or being treated at the expense of the United States.

GROWTH IN the veteran population, from 24 million to 29 million since 1965, will continue for two more years, then start a steady decline, a Veterans Administration projection shows, according to Jack Coker, VA Regional Director.

In 1975, living veterans of all wars will number 29.2 million, and after that date, deaths will begin to outnumber military discharges. By the year 2,000, the veteran population will be back to the 1965 figure of 24.1 million.

Coker said VA projects veteran population periodically for planning purposes, with special emphasis on assessing future needs for health care facilities. At the present time, for example, World War II veterans number over 14 million with an average age of 53, but by the turn of the century, more than 60 percent of the remaining veterans will have served during or after the Korean Conflict.

The projection shows the WWII group will be down to 13.5 million by June 1975 with an average age of 55.4 years, and 25 years later there will have been a 68 percent drop to 4.4 million with an average age of 77.4 years.

Two older veterans groups — WWI and Spanish-American War veterans — will still be represented by the turn of the century. The forecast is there will be about a thousand WWI veterans (average age of 101.9) and chances are that some of the Spanish-American War veterans will still be living in the year 2,000. This group currently numbers about 2,000 with an average age of 93.7 years; by 1975 approximately 1,000 will remain, and fewer than 500 probably will be living in June 1985 when the average age will be 102.8. No age projection is made for the few who will live to the year 2,000.

Folk Festival great success

By MRS. AGNES BROCKMAN

The German Folk Festival was a great success Sunday, and the Nazareth community wishes to thank all who took any part in it. Around 1,000 people were served at the worst supper. We appreciated seeing folks from so many surrounding towns, and hope you will be back again.

The square and round dances were enjoyed in the afternoon, and I am sure everyone who was present for the evening dance with the Havlak Polka Band enjoyed it very much also.

Mrs. Alma Umberson

— This Is Your Life!

THIS IS YOUR LIFE

Mrs. Alma Umberson has been a Castro County resident since 1921, coming here from Floyd County. Along with her husband and son she helped operate the county's first radio and television repair shop, doing bookkeeping and other work around the shop.

"We had the entire county's business for radio repairs for a number of years," she says. "At first there were no televisions, only radios, but people eventually began to acquire televisions."

Mrs. Umberson explains that when she came to the county, very few people lived here. "We knew practically everyone in the county," she says. "There were very few shops or stores, and there wasn't much social life either. Mostly we went to church and Sunday school."

Mrs. Umberson is a member of the First United Methodist Church and has been a church member since the age of seven. Her son, Dee, lives at Alamogordo, N.M. where he is an electronics technician at Holloman AFB.

Mrs. Umberson is gifted with her hands and makes many items such as waste baskets and candles. She also crochets and makes novelty dolls and foot stools.

Mrs. Umberson was one of the first persons to check into South Hills Manor in March. She says that the home is "a good place with good managers and nurses, splendid care for the residents and good food. This is a very nice place to come to," she adds.

A woman adept with her hands, Mrs. Umberson has helped county residents keep up with the world around them for many years through her work in the family radio and TV repair shop. She still maintains an active interest in the world around her and enjoys watching the new color television which she owns.

Go by South Hills Manor and visit with Mrs. Umberson. She lives in Room 1 Hall A, and would be glad to visit with you.

ARTICLE AUTHORS—Mrs. Alice Cowen, left and Mrs. Frances Duke have been notified of the acceptance of an article for publication in The Instructor, an educational journal. Mrs. Cowen sits before a stack of books representing the number an average elementary grade pupil without disabilities will read during a single school year. In front of Mrs. Duke is the number the two teachers say a child with disabilities will read in the same period of time.

rage elementary grade pupil without disabilities will read during a single school year. In front of Mrs. Duke is the number the two teachers say a child with disabilities will read in the same period of time.

Dimmitt teachers get article published

Two Dimmitt school teachers, master's degree graduates of West Texas State University, have been notified of acceptance of an article for publication in The Instructor, an educational journal.

MRS. ALICE Cowen of Dimmitt and Mrs. Frances Duke of Springlake said the article is on "Emphasis on Library Reading for Problem Readers."

Teaching remedial reading at the elementary and junior high level, the two teachers have developed a method of instruction through the reading of library books that are interesting to the pupil but do not exceed his reading level.

"We have established a library in our own room, carefully selected for our students," Mrs. Cowen said.

"They find and choose the books they want to read. We just try and interest and encourage them to read the whole book," she added.

TAPES OF books are also used in the method of teaching.

ing Mrs. Duke said. "If a child loses interest in a book, we sometimes tape a chapter or two or even the rest of the book," she said.

"When they finish a book, it really makes them feel like they have accomplished something, and they are encouraged to go on reading more books," she added.

Each child develops his own program attuned to his own individual reading level, the teachers explained. The books are selected on an individual basis.

"AFTER THEY finish the book they compile about a three-minute oral report, telling the class about the book and whether or not they liked it and whether it was easy to read," Mrs. Cowen said.

This remedial reading program was begun last spring by the two teachers. In evaluating the results, both women said it had been successful.

"We hope to further develop the course so that it might be even more effective," Mrs. Cowen said. "We think that by motivating the children to do their own selecting and reading they will want to learn more."

Archery hunt applications are available

The 1973-74 hunting season on Parks and Wildlife Department wildlife management areas kicks off with archery hunting during the first week of October on three areas.

BOW HUNTING for deer is slated for Oct. 1 - 10 on the Engeling Wildlife Management Area near Palestine and Oct. 1 - 9 at the Kerr Area in Kerr County. The deer sex will be determined at the time of the hunt.

Forked-antlered bucks may be hunted on the Stephen F. Austin Unit of the Angelina Area near Nacogdoches Oct. 1 - 11.

As in the case in past years, a public drawing will be held to select applicants for the hunts.

Applications must reach the Austin office of the Parks and Wildlife Department by 5 p.m. Aug. 27, 1973.

A PUBLIC drawing will be held at 10 a.m. Aug. 30 in the John H. Reagan Building in Austin to determine the hunters.

A total of 1,175 permits will be issued: 600 on the Engeling Area, 400 for the Kerr Area and 175 for the Stephen F. Austin Area.

To help defray the cost of conducting the hunt, a $20 fee will be charged with each permit issued.

If a hunter's application is selected in the drawing, he will be notified by the department and asked to remit the $20 fee. No refunds will be made to hunters who are unable to make the assigned hunts.

THE PERMITS will be issued for two days of hunting. Applicants must be at least 12 years of age and those hunters under 17 years of age must be accompanied by their parent or person over 21.

Parks and Wildlife Department personnel stress that the hunts are part of wildlife management studies and not necessarily indicative of high game populations.

In addition to permit hunting on the three areas, free bow hunting of forked-antlered bucks will be open on the Dam B. Unit of the Angelina Area and The Scientific Area near Jasper Oct. 1 - 31 with no limit on the number of hunters.

THE PAY Mayse Area near Paris will be open for archery hunting of buck deer Oct. 1 - 14, $10 per day with a limit of 75 hunters per day on a first-come, first-served basis.
