3 Criminals Flee Missouri Asylum

CARTHAGE, Mo. — UP — An alarm went up in four states Wednesday for three dangerous criminals, one of them recently released from an insane asylum, who broke out of the antiquated Carthage jail Tuesday night.

Sheriff George Hickam identified the trio as Walter E. Rice, 31, of Carthage; Roy L. Reynolds, 34, alias James V. Ross Jr., of Malvern, Ark.; and Joe S. Haycraft, 19, of Louisville, Ky. Hickam said Rice recently was returned from the Missouri hospital for the criminally insane at Fulton.

The three prisoners, locked together in one of the four tanks in the jail, first attacked a trustee who brought them cigarettes. Jailer Henry Blanton went to investigate the noise and was struck over the shoulder with an iron bar.

Hickam said Reynolds opened a desk drawer and got a .38 caliber revolver. They locked Blanton and three trustees in a cell and Reynolds took four shots at Blanton from outside the cell but missed him.

The sheriff said a resident across the street from the jail saw one man leave first, followed by two others about five minutes later.

Hickam said he believed Rice was the first man to leave and Reynolds and Haycraft followed him later. He said he believed the City Lets 8 Contracts For Equipment

The city commissioners yesterday let eight bids for assorted water and sewer supplies in connection with a current water and sewer improvement project.

The action yesterday saw 18 companies bidding for contracts to sell the city of Pampa supplies from sewer pipe to pipe fittings, valves, sleeves and other equipment.

Lone Star Steel got a contract amounting to $24,790 for cast iron, cement lined pipe for use in the city's water and sewer systems.

Other contracts included N. B. McKee Company, valves and extensions, $1,663; Dixie Lead Company, pig lead, $1,482.50; Texas Vitritified Pipe Company, pipe, $128.75; W. S. Dickey Company, clay pipe and fittings, $4,264.27; Texas Vitritified Pipe Company, pipe and sewer pipe compound $544.50.

The bids came to a total of $37,361.66.

Bids were also accepted on 5,000 barrels of cement but action was postponed until later in the week or until the next meeting of the commission, which will be Tuesday in the city commission room of City Hall at 9 a.m.

In other action yesterday, the commission set Sept. 30 as the date for the public hearing on next year's budget. They also set Sept. 10 as the date for the public hearing on the

Russian Arms Offer Could Touch Off Feud

By DONALD J. GONZALES
WASHINGTON — UP — Officials feared Wednesday that reported Russian offers to supply arms to Egypt and Saudi Arabia could touch off a weapons race in the explosive Middle East.

Diplomats said they heard that the Soviets made the offers after the Big Four "summit" meetings at Geneva — where Moscow leaders pledged themselves to work for peace.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was aware of the arms report before he made his offer of security guarantees to Israel and its Arab neighbors.

Dulles observed wryly at a news conference Tuesday that any Russian offers of arms aid to the Arab countries certainly would not be in harmony with the frindlier "spirit of Geneva."

Diplomats were surprised that the Russians had made arms overtures to the Saudi Arabians. They said the Soviets apparently want to upset American influence in that country and to gain at least a share of the Arab nation's rich oil output.

The reported offer to Saudi Arabia was made in Teheran, Iran, about three weeks ago. It was made directly to King Saud by Soviet Ambassador Laventov. King Saud at the time was paying a royal visit to Iran.

Plans Made For District Cancer Meet

Plans were made for a district meeting of the American Cancer Society to be held Oct. 5, in Pampa, at a meeting Tuesday afternoon of the Gray County chapter.

The session was conducted by Frank Stockwell of Amarillo, district field representative.

Stockwell explained that the meeting is a "work session" for members of county cancer units. About 100 delegates representing 20 counties are expected to attend.

The group voted to hold an executive committee meeting for the county chapter at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 9, in the Lovett library.

Attending the meeting were Joe Tooley and Mmes. Jack Foster, W. A. Spoonmore, Frank Shotwell, H. H. Hicks, Jess Clay and Nicholas Kadingo.

Stockwell is the newly-appointed district field representative, assuming his duties Aug. 5. Originally from Louisiana, he came to Austin in 1950 where he received his master's degree from the University of Texas. He joined the American Cancer Society July 5. He resides in Amarillo with his wife.

Big Three Ministers Meeting Set

WASHINGTON — UP — The Big Three foreign ministers will meet in New York Sept. 27 and 28 to co-ordinate western strategy for the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Geneva in October, it was announced Wednesday.

The U.S. British and French diplomats will be joined Sept. 28 by Heinrich Von Bretano.

An announcement, issued simultaneously in the three western capitals, said "these meetings are a part of the preparatory consultations which have already begun between the French, the United Kingdom and the United States governments and their NATO partners."

The announcement said the foreign ministers will discuss "matters of common interest, including the forthcoming Geneva conference."

The United States, British, French and Russian foreign ministers are scheduled to meet in Geneva Oct. 27, in a further effort to end the cold war.

The New York meeting was arranged because the western foreign ministers were planning to be on hand for the opening sessions of the United Nations General Assembly which begins Sept. 20. The announcement said the three foreign ministers "plan to take advantage of their presence in New York during the United Nations General Assembly to meet together."

Wiring the air conditioners will require 220 volts of electricity, started following the commissioners' court decision to buy the air conditioners.

Egypt Accepts Truce

UN Move Halts Gaza Strip Feud

JERUSALEM — UP — Egypt accepted Wednesday a United Nations invitation for a cease-fire along the Gaza strip to go into effect at 10 a.m. but Israel made its acceptance conditional on Egypt's first giving a flat guarantee against further aggression.

Arthur Lourie, director general of the Israel foreign office, said in a letter to Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the UN truce supervision organization, that Egypt should give a guarantee for immediate and complete cessation of all further hostile acts.

A communique from the Egyptian government information department earlier said Egypt had accepted the cease-fire along the strip where a week of clashes has threatened resumption of the 1948 war.

Lourie, in accepting for Israel, noted with regret that Burns' assumed common responsibility of both Israel and Egypt for the border incidents and said the Egyptian acts were "glorified by its official spokesmen as well as its controlled press and propaganda agencies."

"Without doubt full responsibility is directed solely at Egyptian authorities," he said.

At the same time Israel charged the border clashes still continued and that Egyptian soldiers fired on Israeli military vehicles near Faluja during the night, wounding a soldier.

In Tel Aviv Maj. Dan Gov, the Israeli military spokesman, told of five other new attacks in which two Israelis were killed and several wounded.

The two new deaths reported by Gov brought to nine the number reported killed since Monday, including one Egyptian.

5th Smog Alert Expected In LA

By UNITED PRESS
Smog threatened to reach the disaster point in Los Angeles Wednesday and an advancing cold front ripped the northeast wing storms.

The sprawling Los Angeles area expected its fifth smog alert in six days and Gov. Goodwin W. Knight offered to declare a state of disaster if necessary.

Knight acted after Francis J. Packard, chairman of the citizens anti-smog action committee, wired him that causes and remedies of the smog plague must be found "before a disaster occurs."

More smog attacks were expected for the next few days. The smog alerts banned all combustion burning in Los Angeles county and citizens and industries were asked to stop any smog-contributing activities.

Cool Air Pushes to Gulf
In the East, a vast mass of cool Canadian air pushed into the Gulf States and was approaching the Atlantic Coast. It touched off violent storms across the northern Appalachians and lower Great Lakes and an unconfirmed tornado hit Townsend, N.Y.

The possible twister swept up garages but left the cars on the ground at Townsend, the weather bureau reported. At Syracuse, N.Y., rains swept away a section of a city street and put other thoroughfares under a foot of water.

Earlier, a single engine private plane crashed in a fog near Dover Plains, N.Y., killing five persons.

Tornado in Texas
The massive cool-front also stirred up a tornado in Texas which tore apart a shack where 24 Mexican cotton workers were huddling. At least five persons, including four children, were injured by the Kendeleten, Tex., twister.

Temperatures were cool in most of the country Wednesday except for the Southeast, the northern Rockies, and much of the Far West. More hot, humid weather was predicted for the southland and unusually warm temperatures were slated for the Rockies and western areas.

Elsewhere, some communities had their coolest weather in months. At Chicago, the 85 degrees was the lowest temperature since June 27. It was 33 degrees at Fraser, Colo., 44 at International Falls, Minn., and 50 at Farmington, Mo.

County Awards Cooler Contract

The Gray County Commissioners Court authorized County Judge Bruce Parker to accept the bid of Paul Crossman, local Frigidaire dealer, for 62 air conditioners to be installed in Highland General Hospital.

UNNECESSARY KISSING BAN VIOLATES CONSTITUTION

STOCKTON, N. J. — UP — A Stockton couple objected Wednesday to Mayor Chester Errico's proclamation of a ban on "unnecessary kissing."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens charged the ruling violates the constitutional right to the pursuit of happiness.

Errico said the proclamation was based on a list of sanitary regulations sent to this flood-stricken community by state health authorities.

Auto Crash Fatal To Pampa Woman

CANADIAN — (Special) — One Pampa woman was killed and three were injured in a one-car wreck on Highway 60, 13 1/2 miles southwest of here Tuesday night.

Dead is Mrs. Hazel Colleen Rogers, 25, 119 N. Gillespie, mother of four children. Mrs. Rogers died in the Hemphill County Memorial Hospital two hours after the accident that occurred at 7 p.m.

Injured in the accident were Mrs. Monroe Forrest, 68, a broken ankle, Claude Fivecoat, 51, father of Mrs. Rogers, who received cuts on the head and serious bruises; and Herman Poe, 29, who was not seriously injured.

All were occupants of the car with Mrs. Rogers the driver. Investigating officers gave this estimate of the wreck:

"The group was returning to Pampa from Lake Marvin when the accident occurred. The car missed a turn on a winding hill and overturned, rolling about 510 feet. The car overturned an estimated three times and came to rest on its top.

All but Mrs. Rogers were thrown from the car. The car, a 1954 Chevrolet two-door sedan, was completely demolished."

The four victims were brought to Hemphill Memorial County Hospital by a Stickleby Funeral Home ambulance.

Mrs. Rogers was born Jan. 5, 1930, at Bay, Ark.

She is survived by four daughters, Jean, Joyce, Janet and Vivian; her father, Claude Fivecoat, 119 N. Gillespie; her mother, Mrs. Onie Ley, Denver, Colo.; a sister, Mrs. Modene Howerton, Pampa; and a brother, Charles Fivecoat, Denver.

Labor Leaders Plan Strike To Keep Dictator In Power

By WILLIAM F. L. HORSEY
BUENOS AIRES — UP — President Juan D. Peron announced Wednesday he will resign if it will bring political peace to the nation.

His offered resignation was announced to the public at 9 a.m. by Hugo DiPietro, secretary general of the General Confederation of Labor (GCT), and Andro Leloir, president of the supreme council of the Peronista party.

His followers in the powerful labor organizations and the party promptly called for another "October 17th Revolution" — the uprising in which workers in the streets retained him in power in 1945.

Gloria Turns Down Chance At $32,000

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK — UP — "I'd rather go away Gloria, the undefeated champ, than the foolish little girl who lost out."

With those words, perky Gloria Lockerman, the 12-year-old Negro spelling champ from Baltimore, explained her bow-out from CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Question" and retired $16,000 richer Wednesday.

Marine Capt. Richard Sherwin McCutchen, another contestant on the big giveaway show, correctly waded through a food-and-cooking query to reach the $16,000 level and earn a possible shot next week at $32,000.

Gloria, a ninth grade student, had held TV audiences spellbound for three weeks by threading her way through such orthographic toughies as "belligerent," "astigmatic" and "antidisestablishmentarianism."

Tuesday night, Gloria was offered the chance of doubling her winnings of last week to $32,000. She and her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Key of Baltimore, who has acted as Gloria's guardian on the show, turned the chance down.

"The Lord has been very, very good to Gloria," said Mrs. Key, "and I've decided we'll stop right here."

Gloria, who wore a canary yellow blouse and bright plaid skirt for her last appearance on the show, also told reporters: "I just didn't want to take any chances. I think I was blessed to get this far. I could get a whole jumble of words I never even heard of — I might be lost."

McCutchen, who is assigned to naval ROTC at Ohio University in Columbus, said he would use his winnings to help educate his children. The Marine officer has three young daughters.

McCutchen, a career officer, correctly answered a question dealing with the geographical origin and composition of various breads. They were: Tortillas (Mexico or Central America, cornmeal); pumpernickel (Germany, coarse boiled rye); pone (Indian and southern United States, corn); Graham bread (United States, whole wheat) and bannock (Scotland, Wheat, barley or oats).

Peron, on the same day, was excommunicated from the Roman Catholic church by the Vatican for his repressive measures against Catholics, including the arrests of many priests and the expulsion from Argentina of two members of the Catholic hierarchy.

Announcement of Peron's resignation was made at 9 a.m. (EST) by Hugo D. DiPietro, secretary general of the powerful

Bismarck Lions To Study Lewd Photos

By ARTHUR MCKINNEY
BISMARCK, N.D. — UP — Leaders of the Bismarck Lions Club plucked up their courage Wednesday and gave cautious approval to a Senate request that they study 1,000 pornographic pictures.

The Lions had protested the project was out of their line and one said he wanted the wives to take part in the examination, also.

But Past President Arvid Wiklund summed up the spirit of the club with the words "I think we should do it — it sounds interesting."

The 150 Bismarck Lions found they had 33 picked for the job through an announcement by Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.) in Washington Tuesday.

Langer said the Senate Subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency had selected the club to make a 30-day study of 1,000 pornographic pictures to determine whether they are too "obscene, lewd, lascivious and unfit" to be sold over newsstands.

Langer followed up the announcement by sending a packet of 1,000 photographs, films, booklets and drawings by registered mail to J. S. Favoid, president of the Bismarck Lions.

The pictures were confiscated by the subcommittee during its recent coast-to-coast hearings. Langer said they depict "everything from nudes to flagellation."

"Supposin'" Is Game Of Pretend; Not To Housewife Who Remembers

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent
LEXINGTON, Ky. — (NEA) — "Supposin'."

That's what they've named a deadly-serious yet make-believe game here in Kentucky's hill country. It's hard for most people to play, for the setting and rules require imagination.
But it takes no "supposin'" for attractive Mrs. Hella Herzner Ahren. Maybe that's why she's known as one of the steadiest and most serious of Kentucky's Ground Observer Corps volunteers.
Each week she faithfully works three hours in the Lexington Air Defense Filter Center. Today when 29-year-old Mrs. Ahren answers the phone at her job, she says:
"Air Defense. Go Ahead!"
But 11 years ago it was different. Then she cried into the phone: "Luftverteidigung!"
This meant about the same thing, except the attack was real. For when she was 18, Hella was drafted from her native town of Erlangen, in the Bavarian section of Germany, to become a ground observer and work in the Nuernberg filter center.
That was in 1944 during the final stages of the allied air onslaughts against Hitler's Reich. Hella's job took her through as many as 10 major raids a day.
She learned the full meaning of the horror of an air bombing. Once she was blown completely out of the building while working. A bomb had landed nearby.

Jane Talk

Pampa News Women's Editor

ARE YOU A NEW GIRL AT SCHOOL? If you've changed schools, OR your personality, over the summer, then you're a "new girl" this fall, says the September issue of Seventeen Magazine, which offers some useful pointers for girls off to a fresh start this term. Advising new girls not to "rush" their friendships and dates, the publication suggests these ways to find a brand new social life this year.

IF YOU'RE COMPLETELY new at school, look for another new girl with similar tastes and interests. Don't be shy about extending the first invitation.
Whether it's a boy or girl you'd like to meet, remember that being in the same class or activity usually substitutes for an introduction.
Be alert to any local school customs and show adaptability to them; your special personality will be more respected later when you've "settled in."
Be really careful not to steal another girl's beau.
Don't wait for a boy to speak or smile first. Courtesy actually requires a girl to be the first to acknowledge a new acquaintance.
Volunteer for as many school activities as you think you can handle.
Remember, shyness is not necessarily a handicap.
One good way to make friends with others is to ask their help. Look for situations where you might be able to help someone else.
Remember, if you were popular in your old school, you'll almost surely be so here, even if you feel very alone at first. If you weren't popular before, well, you're a new whole world of fresh opportunity ahead.

To dress-up cocktail tables and end tables, cut brightly colored swatches of felt into unusual shapes, then embroider them with bright threads and unusual stitches, say the experts of the Platt Sewing Institute. Embroidery is easy with modern sewing machines. Place the finished swatches under glass ashtrays or candy dishes. For a touch of graceful elegance, or a warm colonial flavor, in a functional modern room, elect a traditional sewing machine cabinet. French provincial, a lepers, will be shown.

Goodwill Home Demonstration Group Has Talk On Good Tailoring Methods

The Goodwill Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. John Morehead, south of city.

The program on tailoring was presented by Mrs. John Johnson. She told the group that silk thread is stronger for sewing seams when tailoring wool garments. Top stitching is done with mercerized thread to match the wool, she advised.

Proper care of a sewing machine is important, Mrs. Johnson told the women. It should be oiled well at least four days before beginning a suit or coat. The tension should be checked on two thicknesses of the material to be used.

Equipment essential for proper tailoring include a tracing wheel, carbons, measuring tapes, gauges, a tailor's ham and pounding board, seam board and a wool or treated pressing cloth to prevent shining the wool, she pointed out.

When using a new pattern, Mrs. Johnson told the women to first make the garment of muslin or print to be sure of a perfect fit before cutting into expensive wool materials. All materials should be shrunk and straightened before cutting and sewing, she warned.

Arrangements were made for the club's educational booth at the 4-H Clubs' achievement day Saturday in recreation park. The display will be on sewing and buying boys' clothes, with Mrs. Derrell Hogsett and Mrs. A. P. Coombes in charge.

Next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 15, in the home of Mrs. Hogsett, 417 Magnolia. Refreshments of pineapple cake and coffee were served during the social period.

Attending were Mmes. Worth Nelson, A. P. Coombes, John Johnson, Derrell Hogsett and John Morehead.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH

Read Luke 2:43-49
Jesus discovered law. Very early in his life Jesus seems to have discovered that life is lived according to law. It would have been impossible for him to be unaware of the Roman soldiers who policed the town of his youth, and their fishing swords and rhythmic tread must have impressed him daily. He also saw Roman law paralleled by divine law, and to this he gave his first loyalty early in life.

Seventeen times the phrase "the will of God" is upon his lips. By this he meant an authority which was from God, which was superior to any man's opinions, to which all nations and individuals were subject. Long before science discovered the law of cause and effect Jesus lived by it. Accepting the fact that life is ordered and orderly, he asked no special favors.

He came into the world as a little child, grew up under the same circumstances which surrounded other children, and as a man he faced all the hard facts other men faced. He never asked to be excused from the severities of life.

PERON

General Confederation of Labor whose 6 million members support Peron.

Pietro immediately called for a nationwide general strike protesting Peron's decision. Unions began mobilizing all over Argentina with the slogan: "Peron must stay."

New Revolution Develops

It appeared a new "October 17 Revolution" was developing. It was Oct. 17, 1945, that Peron's followers led a general uprising that led to his eventual leadership of the country.

The revolution, hailed by Peron ever since as "loyalty day," was marked by bloody rioting throughout Argentina.

Workers supporting Peron began streaming into the Plaza de Mayo in the center of the city, scene of the heaviest fighting in the June 16 abortive revolt against Peron.

Stores Begin Closing

Transport and public services were running normally as Peronist laborers gathered for their massive demonstrations but stores began closing.

All Peronists in the provinces of Argentina began organizing for demonstrations while telegrams poured into the capital urging Peron to remain at the head of the government.

One of the first big demonstrations was reported from Eva Peron (formerly La Plata) the big port some 30 miles from Buenos Aires which was renamed for Peron's late wife, Eva, who stayed by his side through much of his career before she died of cancer.

Peron's resignation was announced in letters to members of the Peronist party and to the women and men's groups of the General Confederation of Workers (CGT), the three pillars of his power.

To Insure Political Peace

He said he would resign if this would insure political peace, and end the tension which has gripped Argentina since the abortive navy-led revolt slightly over two months ago was quashed.

All Peronist congressmen were called in emergency session for 10 a. m. (7 a. m. est) and it was understood they would prepare a vote refusing Peron's resignation.

CONTRACTS

29 as a tentative acceptance and approval date for the budget.

The group also renewed the time deposit of $45,000 in the interest and sinking fund. They also renewed the time deposit of $20,000 from the 1952 water and sewer improvement fund.

The commission voted to renew the Railroad Commission's lease on rooms they occupy in the City Hall, for another year.

Rain Measures 6 Inches In ETexas

By UNITED PRESS

A cool front that set off a tornado near the Gulf Coast and rains measuring up to six inches in North and East Texas left milder temperatures over most of the state Wednesday.

The twister dipped into a cotton field in Fort Bend county, near Kedonken, and split in half a shack in which 24 Mexican pickers were huddling from the driving rain.

Five persons, including four children, were injured but none was seriously hurt. They were Mrs. Emma Martin, 20; John Valdez, 10; Ray Valdez, 3; Dan Valdez, 9; and Carmel Marino, 8. All live at Northmead, Tex.

At Alvarado, south of Fort Worth, a downpour dropped six inches of rain. Chambers Creek, half a mile south of Alvarado, ran out of its banks.

3.82 Inches at Tyler

An official 3.82 inches was recorded at Tyler, flooding some streets. About 125 telephones were out of order for some time because of damaged telephone lines.

This followed a 1.32 inch rain at Tyler Sunday. The county agent

Boy Scout Office Closed For Week

The Boy Scout office located on the third floor of the City Hall is closed for redecoration until Sept. 6, according to Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, secretary.

Paul Beisenharg and Phil Pegues, Boy Scout executives, are attending a training session at the University of Michigan for one week, and are expecting to return about Sept. 12.

Lefors Sets Enrollment

About 375 students are expected to enroll in Lefors Schools tomorrow at 9 a.m., according to Archie Roberts, superintendent.

High school students will report to the high school auditorium at 9 a.m. tomorrow for general instructions, from there they will report to their home rooms where they will receive student program cards.

The first eight grades will report to their respective class rooms at 9 a.m. The first four grades will report to the elementary school for instructions. Students in grades five through eight will report to the Junior high school building.

Regular full-day classes will be conducted tomorrow and Friday. No school will be held Monday, Sept. 5, then classes will resume on Tuesday.

A staff breakfast was held this morning for faculty and board members followed by a general faculty meeting in preparation for class-room enrollment tomorrow.

Two new faculty members were hired this year, Mrs. Ann Huddleston, a graduate of West Texas State, will teach high school English and journalism. Keith Wolfe, also a graduate of West Texas State, will teach high school speech and English.

Cloudy skies kept temperature lower than normal Tuesday afternoon. The high recorded was 100 at Laredo and the low maximum was 79 at Alpine. Most readings were in the 80s and low 90s.

Elks Plan Stag Night And Dance

The Pampa Elks Lodge will hold a "Stag Night" Sept. 9 and a dance Sept. 17.

Plans for the two special activities were made by the entertainment committee in a meeting last night at the lodge.

The "Stag Night" affair will be for members and their guests and will feature a meal at 7 p.m. Radios will be available for listening to the broadcast of the Pampa High School opening football game to be played that night in El Paso, and various other entertainment facilities will be available.

The committee urged members to invite prospective members to the affair.

The dance will feature the music of "The Notables," the Pampa orchestra which played at the Elks Club Dance last Saturday night.

Tickets for the dance will be sold in advance at $1.50 per person. The entertainment committee voted to establish a policy of holding one orchestra dance each month.

Teen Topics

By MARLENE KOLB

This is it—the day this column has been dreading for weeks now—today I bid Teen Topics goodbye. No more "Say, man!" and "real cool, no?" will skip out of my old typewriter; but writing Teen Topics for you is a memory to cherish forever.

Most everybody didn't know it, but Teen Topics had a ghost writer all this time—introducing chief-informer-on-what's-going-on, gossip scout, and big help—that couldn't have been done without—Tommy Lockhart. May I say thanks from the bottom of my heart for all his help—and best of luck at Tech.

Teen Topics' new author will need little introduction to the kids at PHS—she's been a Little Harvester staffer for the past two years (feature editor last year, and managing editor this coming term). Helen Steward's face is a familiar one at all meetings and doings at high school—you'll find her as all reporters, busily scribbling illegible notes on a little pad. Best of luck to Helen in her writing, and if today's column is a sample, she'll be keeping you well informed on the doings of the teenagers.

Come in, Helen.

By HELEN STEWARD
Tonight's the night. The very last night of summer freedom for nine hundred-some odd citizens of Pampa High School. Because at nine o'clock tomorrow students of the three upper grades will report to the girls' gym to receive home-room assignments. (The girls' gym is on the right, about half way down the first floor hall, sophomore.) From there everyone will report to their new homerooms. And once more the old routine of school life will get in full swing.

Starting back to school always means more than just reassigning to the old routine. There will be new friends to make and old friends to be reunited with, ones that have been missing from the local scene for awhile like Lotie Willis who recently returned from Oklahoma where she spent the summer. Winifred (Tweedy) Watson, back from a stay in California, Carol Carnes, home from a trip to Missouri, and Carolyn Miller, back from visiting Oklahoma.

Speaking of the old routine—seems it has been changed slightly since May.

The big change is the new public address system. The system has speakers in every room. No office girl running in and out with announcements, they can simply be made over the speakers to everyone at the same time. Real neat, what?

Prayers during lunch hours in the cafeteria will also be added, and, possibly, arrangements for music during the hour will be made.

Our Student Council, led by Lee

...topics 'ghost'

Ledrick, has already begun to make 1955-56 a big year, it seems.

Football training started Monday morning and bruises, black eyes and handbags will be in style again as the fighting Harvesters get in shape for their grid season.

The season opens Sept. 9, in El Paso with a game with Austin High School. It's a tough break, having the first game away from home, but Carol Henry, head cheerleader, says we're gonna give them the best pep rally and send them down there to "Beat those Bobcats" while we sit home with ears glued to the radio.

Sorry to hear that Burl Kirby's knee operation may keep him out of the lineup. Burl is one of five returning lettermen. The others are Ed Strickland, Buddy Sharp, Gene Emerson and Dicky Mauldin.

A new idea in football fashions (for fans) is the felt skirts in Harvester colors. They can be purchased in Pampa and several girls will be making their own.

"Yes I do!" won out over the "No, I don't!" last Friday night. The issue was over the popularity of Bill Haley's "Rock Around the Clock." A Pampa disc jockey asked his listeners to phone him and voice their opinions. The rhythm-cats got more calls than did the soft music lovers. Bop music is in solid!

Carol Hughes, who spent the summer in Pampa, will be leaving soon for Washington, D.C. Carol attends school there and it was discovered, quite accidentally, that she will serve as president of her class this term. Bob Prigmore is in Tennessee visiting his roommate before the two return to college at Baylor University. Bobby Wilhelm will be Wisconsin bound before long. And jillions of PHS grads are milling around waiting for college to open. Pampa will seem so empty without them.

Kit Kat Klub is planning a dance that sounds like real fun. It's a stag dance, no dates necessary. Just like junior high days when we were all too bashful for dates and everyone came alone or with a best friend and had loads of fun.

It's to be held Friday night on the slab in the Hobart Street park. Admission is fifty cents, the style is strictly informal.

KKK will also help out at the Pampa Country Club Golf Tournament (Several PHS boys will enter the tournament.)

Plans for a formal KKK initiation tea and a party for members who are '56 grads are being made.

Richie Gardner and two friends seemed to be having real fun on water skis at Lake McClelland Sunday. Looked almost professional, too.

Some other teens having fun at the lake were Barbara, Pirkie, Patay Gerik, J. N. Wright, Jimmy Alvey, Marcheta Hall, Charlotte Hoggatt, Frank Outhier, Jerry Boston, Neida Swain.

Las Cerasa Club members elected new officers at a meeting last night. Will have their names next week.

One of the fastest growing organizations in Pampa High is the Junior Red Cross Chapter. It was started last year with Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter as sponsor. It has been gaining momentum ever since.

Monday a meeting of J.R.C. was held in the Palm Room. Representatives discussed projects for the coming year. At the meeting were Martha Skelly, Jeaneane Leith, Rhona Finkelstein, Ted Swindle, Wayne Rogers, JoAnn Jones, Rose Smith, Jovanna English and Tommy Strawn from PHS. Representatives from Lefors and several adults who are interested in the program were there.

In closing, we'd like to say "so long" to Marlene Kolb, and thanks for keeping Pampa "hip" to its younger set by writing Teen Topics the past year.

Marlene, who recently announced her engagement to Lawrence Rice, did a great job pioneering Teen Topics and it is the sincere aim of this columnist to live up to her example.

Runaway Macaw Returns To Perch At Pan-American Union

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON — UP — Paz, the runaway macaw, is back on his perch in the Pan-American Union building. And it's the union's fault Paz ever ran away in the first place.

Paz, a multi-colored bird and Chapina, its playmate, were presented to the Pan-American Union last April as a gift to the children of America by the Guatemalan government.

No less than Mamie Eisenhower Moore, niece of the President, was on hand to accept the gift. She said a few fine words. The birds just sat there on their perches looking bright-eyed and pretty.

At that point, the macaws had been wing-clipped. All they had to do for their keep was look around and be admired.

But the other day, a soldier came charging into the lobby of the building and approached Mrs. Myrna Hunter Moroneil, of Argentina, the receptionist.

"Beg pardon, lady," he said,

"But a bird just flew out of your building. He was all colors. He is parked in the park across the street. He made motions like he was headed for the Washington Monument. I wouldn't know, lady. That's what it looked like."

Mrs. Moroneil ran out of the building, leaving her station, strictly against the rules, and looked around.

Paz had started off up the street and, being a smart bird, had decided that the traffic to the monument was not for him. So he reversed his course and headed toward the White House.

Paz realized it was too cloudy to fly, so he was walking — right through the traffic. Finally he picked a sidewalk without too many people on it.

The Pan-American Union sent a search crew. The crew spent quite a bit of time, but finally caught up with the wanderer and brought him back home.

Paz had nothing to say about his adventure. But he seemed to be glad to look at his own perch again. And up he went.

Paz's little playmate, Chapina, snubbed him. Maybe she is a him and the other way around. There is no way of telling for sure with macaws.

But there is one thing for sure. It will be a long time before Paz takes another walk — or even flies for that matter. Right after he was back on his perch, an order went out to have all macaws on the premises undergo a clipping of wings at least every three months. Paz and Chapina are now wearing a fresh clip job.

Anyway there's one worry the union doesn't have with Paz and Chapina. If President Eisenhower ever goes to the building, he isn't likely to be embarrassed like the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was by a 100-year-old parrot. Macaws don't talk.

All the parrot had to say to F.D.R. was "go to hell!" F.D.R. forgave the parrot because he added "sir."

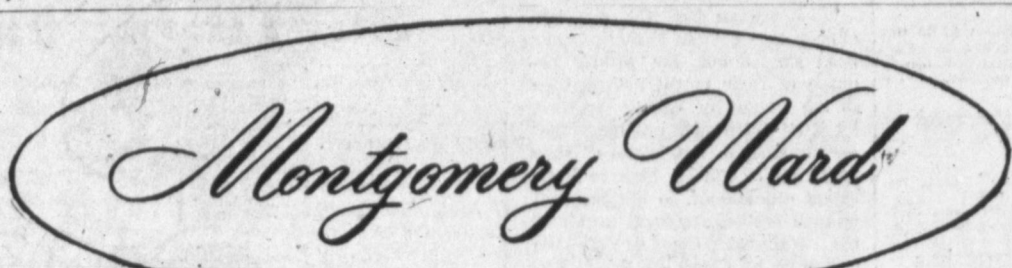

Ask Strike Vote

CHICAGO — UP — The AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen Sunday accused Swift & Co. of "stalling" in negotiations with poultry and egg workers and called for an immediate strike vote. Delegates representing 2,500 to 3,000 workers in 32 locals across the nation voted to take a strike vote this week.

BOSTON — UP — After reappointing George E. Proulx of Leominster as a master in chancery, Governor Heister was embarrassed to learn that Proulx had been dead for four years.

Mississippi Politics

Time Magazine in its scrawny August 1 issue has taken a poke at politics as it is being practiced in Mississippi. After delivering a below-the-belt blow to each of the five candidates running for governor, Time concluded that "for the Mississippi voter there was no clear choice at all."

Time, which frequently limps as a result of so much political weight on its left foot, missed an opportunity to underscore some very sharp wisdom which was uttered by one of the gubernatorial aspirants. Time, of course, in support of the Supreme Court's strangely unanimous decision respecting forcible mixing of races in public school, had no choice at all but to depict all five candidates as backwoods characters, ignorant, intolerant and illiterate because all five of them opposed the compulsion and the intolerance of the federal order.

But whatever—else she may be, candidate Mary Cain doesn't deserve to be lumped with her lawyer-opponents.

If Time is quoting accurately, Mrs. Cain delivered herself of this rather keen observation: "Why fight law cases all the way to the Supreme Court? What do we have when we get there but nine nincompoops? The only thing the Supreme Court has the right to dictate to us is on the 14th Amendment. If we don't have laws, then we can't violate them. If we have equal school facilities but no laws, then we can't violate them. Bring the schools back to the local level and do away with laws. I double-dare the Supreme Court or the federal government to tell us we have violated a law if there is a law, nothing but social custom."

Mrs. Cain was on very solid ground. The founding fathers of this country took great pains to establish a government which would be subservient to the wishes of individual free men. They relied on a system of checks and balances so that the federal government would not run wild across the freedom and liberty of the people. Laws were supposed to be kept at a minimum. But have they been?

Since 1789, when the Constitution was ratified, up to the present time, this nation has formulated and passed in legal form more rules, codes, regulations, and ordinances than have ever before been put into writing by all the nations of the earth rolled together. Beginning with the Codes of all Egyptian, Moslem, Hebrew, and Heraldic legal pronouncements, they are all but a drop in the bucket to what we have produced right here in the U. S. A. in less than 200 years.

And the single probing question that needs asking at this juncture is: Have these laws created a paradise? The answer, obviously, is in the negative. As a matter of observation, the more laws we have gotten from our various law-making bodies, the more confused, muddled, oppressed and repressed we have become.

With every law passed, a little bit more of someone's freedom is whittled away. For the bitter, but demonstrable truth is that laws do not protect freedom so much as they abrogate freedom. Even those laws which are supposed to aid in freedom, as in the case of the segregation decision, end by destroying the free choice and the self-determination of millions of persons in our eleven southeastern states.

True freedom can never be purchased by destroying freedom. And Mrs. Cain, whether she knew it or not, had uttered an eternal verity when she said: "If we don't have laws, then we can't violate them."

There is no way of arriving at truth and justice in the school segregation business within the framework of government schools. It is morally wrong to compel people who believe in segregation to pay for non-segregated schools. It is just as wrong morally to compel those who believe in non-segregated schools to pay for segregated schools. If the good people of Mississippi will just get away from both the Jim Crow laws and the Supreme Court ruling, they can abandon their government schools and give the children a break. Those who want schools where mixing of races occurs will provide them and send their children to them. Those who want separate schools will provide them and patronize them. Compulsion of law will have passed from the scene. And truth and justice will emerge.

There is widespread feeling that in America we must have freedom under law. But this is a contradiction in aims and terms. One does not have freedom under law. One has controls under law, and controls abridge freedom.

The correct conception should be that we must have freedom under God. If we are conscious of our own individual responsibility under God, then we do not need to rely on the rulings of men by which some men rule over other men. We should like to see what would happen in Mississippi if a governor were elected who believed in doing away with unnecessary and discriminatory laws. Nothing quite as heartening has been uttered by a politician since the days of Sam Adams, Patrick Henry, Tom Paine and Tom Jefferson.

Despite the lack of interest in the Mississippi contest on the part of Time Magazine, our interest is whetted. We shall follow events there with keen curiosity.

Council Of Churches' Aligning With CIO

The September issue of American Mercury contains an article on "Reuther's Revolution" written by J. B. Matthews. He notes how Reuther has gained access to the Catholic weekly, "Commonweal."

A couple of recent articles show how the C.I.O. and the Labor Union seem to be getting control of many of the churches.

A lengthy article in the "Commonweal" is entitled "A Man You Can Bet On," referring to Reuther.

Then the Mercury article goes on to say:

C.I.O. $200,000.00 "Gift"

"Lest anyone draw the rash conclusion that certain Catholics have been singled out for attack because of their moral astigmatism in the matter of Walter Reuther, let it be noted with emphasis that the standing of this socialist labor politician is equally high in Protestant officialdom. In the National Council Outlook, official organ of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. (October, 1954, page 21), Walter Reuther is pictured in the pose of handing a check for $200,000 to Methodist Bishop William C. Martin, then president of the National Council of Churches, to help finance the Council's educational program in the area of the church and economic life."

Of course, Reuther would not turn over $200,000 of tax-exempt money to the National Council of the Churches of Christ in U.S.A. unless he knew they were going to help him promote his myth that a monopoly in labor is just and honest, and can materially benefit those people working for wages. Remember, the National Council represents 26 of the larger denominations.

Church Seeking Closer Union Link

In the Los Angeles Examiner of August 12 "Labor News," Harry Bernstein reported:

"Episcopal Church leaders here yesterday said plans are being made to increase cooperation between the church and labor unions and to offset ideas that 'religion concerns itself with 'pie-in-the-sky' concepts.'"

Then the article goes on to relate that Canon Richard Lief, executive director of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the Episcopal diocese of Los Angeles, said:

"Religion is not something about 'pie-in-the-sky' but deals with all issues affecting working men and women. We want the church to be not only a house of worship, but also a community center to take up problems faced by workers and their unions."

"We have long been active in this field, but hope to increase this activity following more detailed planning at the convention in Honolulu," the church leader said.

"Organized labor has a militancy which we hope it can share with the church."

"A passive church will not win the militant worker. The union is fighting increasingly, in industrial areas, for housing, for equal opportunity, for better schools; for all kinds of things that make for a better community."

"As the church fights militantly for these goals, it finds itself fighting side by side with the labor union."

What Bishop Martin and Canon Lief seem to fail to realize is that the labor unions are fighting physically by using aggressive force to improve the lot of some people at the expense of others, while the church should be trying to persuade its members and everyone that the only way to really secure the material blessings is to insist on a free market economy where both parties in a transaction are benefited. The Labor Union care little whether one party in a transaction is benefited as long as their members are benefited.

It is certainly a travesty of justice to have the churches lining up with one of the worst form of human tyranny—Labor Unions.

Any questions?

EAGLE ROCK — Fifty-eight victims of the Israel air disaster (including four who were not Jewish) have been buried with military honors and public mourning at Tel Aviv. The truth about the Red Bulgarians' wanton murder of these people seems even deeper buried. For thirty-six hours after the plane was shot down, Bulgaria maintained an indifferent silence. Then it curtly acknowledged the truth of the incident without regrets or apologies. When it was charged that anti-aircraft batteries brought down the transport. Once more they agreed. When an investigating committee was permitted to visit the scene of the crash (two and a half days later) they found less wreckage than they should have. Now the Bulgarians were asked if one of their fighter planes brought down the transport. Once more they agreed. Then someone asked if TWO fighters were guilty. FOR THE THIRD TIME Bulgaria agreed. Why? What's being covered up? A new secret weapon? A calloused experiment upon the lives of innocent air travelers? Apparently Bulgaria will agree to anything that will head off investigation.

Rep. Walter Pulling No Punches In Red Probes

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Representative Francis E. Walter's current investigation of alleged Communist sympathizers in Hollywood and on Capitol Hill is designed basically to free Democrats of repeated Republican charges that the Party had been "tolerant" of Reds inside and outside the government.

The Pennsylvania Chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee is extremely close to Speaker Sam Rayburn, who originated the strategy of removing any Red stain from his beloved Party for the 1956 Presidential campaign. I carrying out the carefully planned program, Walter has pulled no punches.

He seeks to expose Hollywood figures (mostly minor ones), although the movie colony generally supported the New Deal and its exponents — F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman. The Capitol Hill fellows, under his fire, include the staffs of key Senate Committees, he charges, during the years of Democratic control of Congress. In his zeal to remove this issue from American politics, a consummation also desired by President Eisenhower, Chairman Walter will let the chips fall where they may.

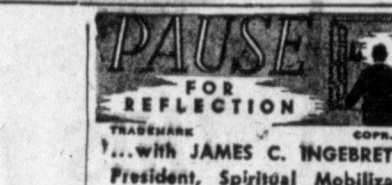

Besides providing inspiration for the Walter counteroffensive, Speaker Rayburn has supplied Democratic candidates, workers and speakers with other data to straighten out the record on Communism in the United States. Party publicists at Democratic National Headquarters here will soon issue a campaign pamphlet on the subject.

It will note that it was a Democratic Senate which "censured" the man who once assailed the Democrats as "the Party of Treason" — Senator McCarthy. But it will also emphasize that even the Administration, though Eisenhower profited from McCarthy's indictment in 1952, finally had to disown the Wisconsin Senator. And another GOP'er who echoed McCarthy's jibes a few years ago — Vice-President Nixon — was chosen as the agent to discredit the Democrats' detractor.

The shrewd Speaker has quietly outlined for the Democrats an itemized anti-Communist platform and record for use in next year's effort to recapture the White House and to retain its control of Congress. Here it is:

Foreign Policy: The Democrats gave greater support than Republicans did to these Eisenhower efforts to thwart the Soviet's overseas expansion — Authorization for use of U.S. Forces to protect Formosa against Chinese Communists; extension of the Mutual Security Pact in Western Europe; ratification of the Southeast Asia Defense Pact against Indo-China Reds; approval of the agreement for restoring freedom and sovereignty to West Germany as a defense bastion.

National Defense: Extension of the draft of civilians for military service for four years; establishment of a long-range and permanent Reserve System to provide a trained stand — by force; renewal of the Defense Production Act as a reserve for production of military weapons; additional funds for expansion of atomic power and warships; enactment of anti-sabotage measures in the atomic field; provision of severe penalties for

JAMES C. INGERSOLL, President, Spiritual Mobilization

In the field of economics, there is a pernicious myth, still very much alive, that should have died a natural death long ago. This is the wholly erroneous idea that, the greater the number of other people there are that have unemployment, the less chance there is that I will have employment.

This is the myth upon which is based the demand, in certain quarters, that retirement from remunerative labor be compulsory at a certain arbitrarily determined age.

Now the facts are that, the greater the number of other people there are that have employment, the greater the chance is that I will have employment.

Employment breeds employment just as unemployment breeds unemployment. This is as plain as the nose on our face if only we would stop long enough to look at it.

The more people there are producing goods and services of value to me, the greater is the chance that whatever I am prepared to offer is of value to others will find a market.

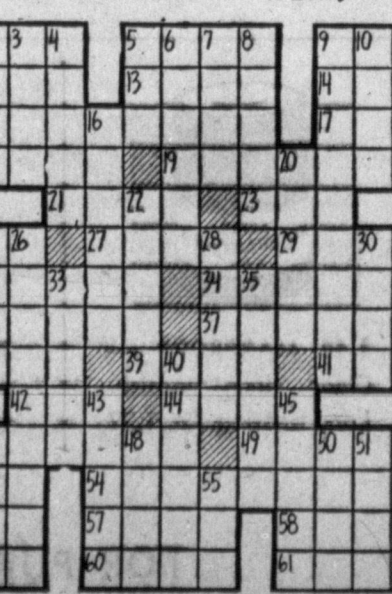

So let's have done with this idea that anyone should retire while he is capable of useful service in order to make room for a younger person. The younger person has a better chance of finding a better job at a better real wage the greater the number of other persons, regardless of their age, there are gainfully employed. Only a little reflection should be needed to show that this is true — and to help kill a myth that should have been banished from our economic thinking long ago.

The Gal — Don't be so impolite! You've yawned five times while I was talking to you.

The Gub — I wasn't yawning—I was trying to say something.

Dangers Of Mutations From Radiation Can Be Serious

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Geneva — I have always said that if you do not smirk about it or go around chalking walls, sex can be a beautiful thing. But now, I just don't know. These scientists at the international conference on the peaceful atomic energy uses have been springing repulsive surprises that make one year for one's old belief in the stork or the cabbage plant. These were two rival schools and rather contentious in an innocent little way, but never really bitter. In our old-neighborhood Stork boys grew up and married (Cabbage girls and vice versa) and they had children, whether stork or cabbage, I never thought to inquire, but never any mutations. I can tell you that. Do you know what they mean by "mutations"? They mean freaks.

These scientists have waited until now to spring it on us that radioactive "materials" scattered over earth and emanations from power plants will produce freaks unless the human race can be persuaded to exercise restraints in matters that it is not nice to talk about except to one's doctor or spiritual advisor.

They proved it on fruit flies and mice. Male fruit flies which had been exposed to small degrees of radioactivity went right out and dated up female fruit flies. Actually, they should have waited four or five minutes, which is quite a long time, relatively, in the life-span of a fruit fly, but the scientist had no way of warning them and, anyway, the flies have very low moral standards and probably would have paid no attention.

Some of those scientists are no better, if it comes to that. Professor Oppenheimer not only married one Communist but he didn't know it with another and he didn't know it was wrong to lie. So then, these unfortunate little female flies had thousands and thousands of babies and most of them were idiots. Some were even two-headed. Instead of buzzing in the normal way these defectives would just blow bubbles and drool. Some did not know fruit was good to eat and starved to death.

Mice are more closely related to human beings and their mutation rate was 15 times that of the fruit flies. The Mickey Mouse, after exposure to those rays, would pick out a nice looking little Minnie Mouse and in four days the poor little thing would have six or eight moron mice who wouldn't know cheese from laundry soap. And they would pair off with their own little sisters and brothers. I don't have to spell things out, do I? Here are all these great servantes, with all these machines brought together in the greatest intellectual field-day in human experience, and now they tell us that they have been producing idiot flies and mongoloid mice deliberately.

It gets worse and worse. For example, in 45 years they will produce in Britain as much power as now was produced by 300 million tons of coal. So British miners who are producing little more than half as much as Britain requires today, will then produce none. They will be unemployed but they will never move away from the coal pits. So they will stay where they are and radiations from the Atomic plants producing the power that coal used to produce will make them utter gibbering sobs. They will develop thumbs on their feet and there will be nobody left to pay the taxes to pay them the dole because everybody else will be two-headed from the same radiations.

This is the fate which these characters have inflicted on Human-kind of a pretext of relieving us from the burdens and dangers of existence. They all agree that if males who are exposed to such radiations will exercise self-control for a certain length of time, whether weeks, months or years, depending on the intensity and duration of exposure, the danger to progeny will be diminished although not certainly conquered. Some children might still cut up pet rabbits but others might make it through Dartmouth. Shall we be frank about this delicate subject of self-restraint? Or shall we just exchange knowing looks and let it go?

They are producing cereals so fertilized by radiation that corn, oats and wheat will ear-up and the seed whites begin to call when the boss has hardly hit the ground. That sounds promising, but so many of the people will be freaks that nobody will know how to harvest the crops.

They keep talking about another Beethoven as compensation for all this, but who wants another Beethoven? George Sokolsky runs him into his column every few days to evince culture, but isn't one enough?

And this is the price we pay for the peaceful use of the marvels of radioactivity. A world of imbeciles will be spared merciful obliteration by the hydrogen bomb.

Hank's College Education Is Beginning To Wear Off

By HENRY McLEMORE

My college education has just about worn off. It's painful to admit, but I'm afraid it's true.

Like an old and much-used pitcher of silver plate, my metal is beginning to show in spots.

I didn't realize this until I came up here to Seattle to visit Mary's family and found myself rubbing mental elbows, so to speak, with Mary's sister, Jeanie, who is about ready to pack her trunk for her senior year in college.

Colleges should either give a lifetime guarantee with each sheepskin or work out some sort of arrangement where the automobile dealers do which would entitle the graduate to return occasionally for servicing. You know, a sort of mental oil change every five years and a complete educational overhaul after, say, ten or fifteen years.

Right now I'm ready for a complete overhaul job.

Jeanie's conversation is generously sprinkled with allusions and references to things which either sail gaily over my head altogether, or stir only the faintest spark in my memory. It stands to reason that I must have known about some of them when I was a college student. I couldn't have spent all my time in class sitting in a chair on the sunny side of the room daydreaming or mentally improvising new steps to spring on my date at the next tea dance.

As I recall, I even once got an A, and A's are hard to come by, even in physical education.

I don't remember what we were talking about at the time, but the first night we got here Jeanie used the word "Lithosphere." Not in a showy way, but every bit as naturally as I would say "rattapatt."

"Lithosphere" didn't sail straight over my head. Somewhere down deep in the ashes of my memory it caused a tiny clinker to drop. "Lithosphere. Lithosphere." The fool word stayed right on the tip of my brain and I couldn't wait to look it up. As soon as I did, it came right back to me, and so did the word for the part of the world that is covered by

New Champion Looms In TOT Tourney; Pro-Am Tomorrow

Baxter Unable To Defend Title Here

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor
A new champion is likely to be crowned in the 20th annual Top of Texas Invitational Golf Tournament scheduled this week end on the Pampa Country Club course.
Rex Baxter, Jr., the defending champion, isn't expected to return since he was among the 10 Texans yesterday to qualify for the National Amateur.
Baxter had said earlier that he would not be able to defend his title here if he qualified for the National Amateur. The National Amateur will start Sept. 12. Although the tourney doesn't directly conflict with the Top of Texas tourney which will end Labor Day, Sept. 5, Baxter said he would have to rest up before the National Amateur.

At least three other former champs, however, will return for this year's tourney. They are C. F. McGinnis and Grover Austin, Jr., both of Pampa; and Billy Holmes of Shamrock.
Both McGinnis and Austin played a practice round yesterday in sharpening up for the tournament. Holmes was here Sunday to play a practice round.

A West Texas Pro-Amateur Tournament will kick things off for the 1955 TOT tourney tomorrow. All male and female golfers may enter the pro-am.

Between 10 and 15 pros are expected here for the pro-am. Among the ones expected here are J. T. Hammett, Phillips Country Club; Joe Houck, Huber Country Club of Borger; Johnny Austin, the immediate past Pampa pro and now the pro at Tascosa Club in Amarillo; Vern Farquhar, Ross Rogers of Amarillo; Bud P. Osey, Hereford Country Club; Ray Hardy, Shamrock Country Club; Jack Smith, Amarillo Country Club; Horace Moore, Plainview Country Club; Pat Patterson, Dumas Country Club; Kenny Wright, Clovis Country Club; Bob Gies, Jimmy Gainwell, Jack Earl and Scotty Edwards, all of Amarillo; and host pro Hart Warren.

Deadline for entering the pro-am is 12:30 p.m. tomorrow.
Entry fee for the pro-am is $3 for amateurs and $5 for the pros. The winning pros will receive cash awards while the winning amateurs will receive merchandise awards.

Official qualifying day for the tournament will be Friday. All who will not be bidding for medalist honors may qualify anytime between now and Friday.
Entry fee for the tournament has been set at $10. Individual trophies will be awarded to the champion, runnerup and consolation winner in each flight in addition to merchandise prizes.

This year's championship flight will play 72 holes of medal play starting Saturday. The second 18 will be played Sunday and the final 36 on Labor Day Monday.
All other flights will be played Friday. First round will be played Saturday, second round Sunday and the semi-final and final rounds Monday in the lower flights.

Swaps, owned by Rex Ellsworth of California and unbeaten in eight three-year-old starts, was the 1 to 3 odds-on favorite in the early line, while Nashua, owned by William Woodward Jr. of New York and beaten only by Swaps in nine races this year, was 6 to 5.
The chance that the faster of the two speedballs would come up with a new record for their mile and one quarter dash, with equal weights of 128 pounds, apparently disappeared Monday night during a two and one half inch rain.

The downpour turned the track muddy Tuesday and the best expected Wednesday was a racing of "good." Hence it was unlikely the winner could clip the track record of 2:00 2/5 set by Ponder in 1949, let alone the world mark of 1:58 1/5 hung up by Noor in 1950.

Babe Ruth is most famous for his record 60 home runs but he also won the American League pitching championship in 1915 with Boston, on a 18-6 record.

SIZING IT UP—Freddie Wyant holds the surveyor's stick on the West Virginia campus. Wyant, a physics major, has quarterbacked the Mountaineers through two seasons during which they have lost only once.

Jr. Oilers, Black Oilers Meet Tonight

The Pampa Junior Oilers and the Pampa Black Oilers will meet in an exhibition game tonight at Oiler Park, starting at 8.

It will be the final appearance of the season for both teams. The clubs play the second game of the series Wednesday night at Abilene at Albuquerque, Clovis at El Paso, Lubbock at Plainview and Pampa at Amarillo.

Andy Bush tossed a five-hitter for the Oilers.

Dixie Howell, a 35-year-old rookie who had just about given up hope of winning a job in the major leagues, is shaping up as the Chicago White Sox's most valuable player in the feverish American League stretch run.

Howell, a strapping righthander, won't win the official MVP award because he's been with the team only half the season but you can be sure he won't receive a half share of World Series loot if the White Sox make the grade. It was Dixie to the rescue again Tuesday night when the White Sox beat the Boston Red Sox 7-5, and regained possession of first place by a half game.

The White Sox took over the top rung before a home crowd of 44,166 when the Kansas City Athletics surprised their rich relations, the New York Yankees, 4-3 and dumped them into a second-place tie with the Cleveland Indians, who defeated the Baltimore Orioles 7-4. All three of the top teams have won 78 games but the White Sox have lost only 51—one less than the Yankees and Indians.

Howell, making his 27th relief appearance, yielded only three hits and one run in the last five innings to raise his won-and-lost record to 7-3. He's done almost single handedly the job Ray Narleski and Don Mossi are doing for the Indians and two or three men have been attempting to do for the Yankees and Red Sox.

The Yankees suffered their fifth loss in eight games on their final western trip when southpaw Alex Kellner turned in a five-hitter and Hector Lopez exploded his 11th homer in the fifth inning. Kellner, a Yankee nemesis from away back, never gave the Yankees another chance after that blow, facing only 12 batters in the last four frames.

Bob Lemon received credit for his 15th victory of the season for the Indians but needed a ninth-inning strikeout by Mossi to end the game.

Southpaw Billy Hoelt of the Detroit Tigers took over the AL lead in shutouts when his sixth of the year beat the Washington Senators 4-0. Frank House and Bill Tuttle hit two-run homers for Detroit.

Tuesday's Star
Rookie Dixie Howell, whose fine relief pitching enabled the White Sox to beat the Red Sox and climb back into first place in the American League.

Walks Costly As Oilers Drop Opener To Sox, 4-3

AMARILLO, Aug. 31—Bases on balls issued by Pampa pitchers were costly to the Oilers here Tuesday night when the Amarillo Gold Sox captured the series opener from the Pampans, 4-3, before a capacity crowd of 3,000 fans.

All of the Sox runs resulted from walks issued by three Oiler pitchers.

Tommy Harrison, second of the Oiler trio, was charged with the loss although the winning run charged against him was unearned.

Veteran Andy Bush went all the way for the Sox to pick up his 16th victory of the season.

Jack Venable started for the Oilers and pitched superb ball until giving way to Harrison in the sixth. Venable left after putting two Sox on base via the free ticket route.

Harrison came on and got the side out with only one Sox run crossing the plate.

The first Sox run also came via a walk. Wright drew a free pass, went to third on a single by Paul Mohr and scored on Meyers' sacrifice fly.

Bush fanned 12 and had excellent control, issuing no walks. The Oiler pitching combined for nine strikeouts but six bases on balls given up by the trio was the difference.

The two teams will continue their series tonight with Buddy Woods (9-10) going for the Oilers.

but the tally tied the score at 2-2. The Oilers had taken a 2-1 lead in the top of the sixth on Red Dial's sixth homer of the season. Venable, who had singled, scored ahead of Dial on the walkoff.

After the Sox tied it up in the lower half of the sixth, the Oilers went ahead once again in the seventh when Pete Carmona slammed a pinch-hit double off the left field wall to score Joe Fortin from second.

The Oiler lead stood until the bottom of the eighth when the Sox pushed across two runs, walks aiding the rally. Lynn Attyd led with an infield hit and moved to second on a walk to Moose Tellingier. Attyd moved to third on a bad pickoff throw by Jim Martin and then scored on a single by Tatt Wright that tied the score at 3-3.

Harrison was yanked at this point in favor of Dial. Dial walked Dick Meyers to load the bases and then got Karl Heron on a short fly to right but Harrison, who had stayed in the game in right field, dropped the ball and Tellingier crossed with the winning run.

The first Sox run also came via a walk. Wright drew a free pass, went to third on a single by Paul Mohr and scored on Meyers' sacrifice fly.

Bush fanned 12 and had excellent control, issuing no walks. The Oiler pitching combined for nine strikeouts but six bases on balls given up by the trio was the difference.

Non-Air Conditioned House Will Soon Be Obsolete Unit

By ROBERT F. MORISON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—UP—Experts believe it won't be too many years before a house without air conditioning will be obsolete no matter what other attractive features it may have.

Sales of year-around central system air conditioning units are expected to exceed 100,000 units this year, according to industry officials. Last year sales reached 70,000. Meantime, sales of room air conditioning units may hit the 1.3 million mark this year, compared to well under one million in 1954. Purchases of both types have skyrocketed since 1952. In that year less than 5,000 central air conditioning systems were sold and room air conditioners were purchased by well under 300,000 individuals.

Sign of Modernity

Air conditioning, one industry official said, is becoming a "sign of modernity." He predicted that in a few years "homes without air conditioning will be old-fashioned."

He also said that an air conditioned home is more and more considered a better value on the housing market.

The cost of air conditioning a home varies with the amount and quality of insulation, the shade from surrounding trees and certain general construction features such as whether there are picture windows to admit strong sunlight.

Industry officials are reluctant to estimate the cost of completely air conditioning a home, but if the house is not too large, has a reasonable amount of shade and contains quality forced air heating equipment — to be used by the cooling unit — it should cost between $800 and $1,000.

The National Association of Home Builders has a study under way that will tell future homeowners a lot about air conditioning.

NAHB has built 22 Texas homes in Austin, completely air conditioned. Each has different equipment and is built to test performance under varying conditions vital to air conditioning.

Results of the test are not expected before January. They will show that a house with air conditioning is a better investment than one without.

And that goes for all three of them — for Una, for Danny, and for Danny Jr., Una said in an interview with the San Francisco Call-Bulletin.

The newspaper said it reached Una in her auto trailer at an undisclosed spot here, 40 miles north of San Francisco.

"It's been mighty tough since this thing broke," the 21-year-old Una said. "I'm planning to go far away — I'll probably travel all over the United States before I can get over it."

Una revealed that the last time she saw Una was when she left San Francisco airport to join Airman Daniel Schmidt at Portland, Ore.

"I wished her well," Una said. "I still love her, but I'm not going to do anything about trying to get her back."

Dulles Asks Fighting End In Gaza Area

WASHINGTON —UP— Secretary of State John Foster Dulles disclosed Monday that the United States has appealed to Egypt and Israel to stop fighting in the Gaza frontier area.

He told a news conference that the appeal against using force to settle the border dispute was made in the capitals of both countries within the last 48 hours.

Dulles also said, in response to questions, that there are indications, with some signs of reliability, that Russia is offering to provide military equipment to Arab countries.

He stressed that the United States has no official information to support these reports and that there is no evidence that Russian equipment is now in Arab hands. Dulles said bluntly that any Soviet move to introduce military equipment in the troubled area certainly would not contribute to the relaxing of tensions pledged by Moscow at the recent Geneva summit conference.

Experts No Miracles
NEW DELHI, India —UP— V. K. Krishna Menon, India's roving ambassador, said that "no miracles" should be expected from the United States and Red China talks at Geneva. Switzerland, the Indian information service reported Monday. Menon was quoted as saying he thought the Sino-American talks would produce "some results."

Soviet Embassy Runs Short Of Forks At Big Celebration

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON —UP— What's new in Washington.

When the visiting Russian farmers were here, there was a big hoe-down at the Soviet embassy. There are some red faces. The embassy had run out of forks. The wife of an American newspaperman who had been invited spoke lightly to a waiter.

The white coat (who turned out to be an American working for the embassy) said in a whisper, "I'll call the Kremlin. You'll have a fork in 15 minutes." In two minutes the man was back. With a fork.

That same day there was a press conference at the embassy. Something had happened to the air conditioning system. The reporters were complaining.

The stock answer came from a Russian reporter who always covers Mr. Eisenhower's press conferences in the old State Department building. "The little hotel is never air-conditioned."

The library of Congress is disappointed because no applications have been made for song titles for Hurricane Connie and Diane. The copyright section had half a dozen before hurricane Hazel was out of the cradle.

The Army Quartermaster Corps is proud that it has fed and clothed the Army since 1776. It now feeds more than 3 million people a day. The food bill for last fiscal year was $530 million. And that's a lot of groceries.

The quartermaster corps also would like us taxpayers to know that it kicked in $509,481 for feeding and bedding 143 horses, 539 mules, 1,715 dogs. And that also includes feeding 1,560 pigeons, by actual count.

Lyndon Johnson, the majority leader in the Senate, took a breather back home to Texas. He hadn't been off the airplane 10 minutes before he dialed Washington and had his staff working on things he had "forgotten to do" before he left the capital. He said he had been reading up a lot of things on the plane.

More Uranium Near Clinton

CLINTON, Okla. —UP— Prospector B. C. Pitts said Tuesday he has found several smaller uranium-bearing rock formations in this area in addition to a 40-acre site he uncovered earlier.

Pitts, a former Oklahoman who now lives at Levelland, Tex., said he walked south almost to Cordell, Okla., 16 miles, in testing for the valuable ore. He said his instrument often showed radio activity.

He said he had also tested the area to the east almost to Oklahoma City and had found "small pockets" in that direction.

Pitts took out several samples from the 40-acre spot south of here Sunday and sent them to Oklahoma City for testing.

He said earlier tests had shown ore worth up to $200 per ton. However, he said it could not be mined profitably unless a $100,000 processing plant were constructed here.

"We can't build a plant here unless some other people go in with us," he said.

Trial Set For Child Beating

FORT WORTH —UP— Trial of Mrs. Mary Zeina Pitts, 26, charged with beating a 3-year-old girl, Tuesday was set for Sept. 15.

Mrs. Pitts will be tried in Tarrant county criminal court, where a jury found her sane at a hearing last June.

The woman was charged with aggravated assault after she was seen beating Barbara Combs near Peter Smith hospital. The child also had been burned with cigarettes.

Barbara's mother, Mrs. Ruth Combs, lived with Mrs. Pitts while her husband, Orval Combs, was in county jail on a theft charge.

Salesman's Stunt Hits Sour Note

HOUSTON —UP— The newly-formed National Association of Traveling Salesmen got off to a blushing start Tuesday with a publicity stunt that promised to turn into a political blooper.

However, America's No. 1 salesman—Elmer (sell the sizzle instead of the steak) Wheeler of Dallas—awarded Mayor Roy Hofheinz a plaque as a "remarkable salesman"—and then ducked. But nothing happened.

The award was made on the basis of Hofheinz' efforts in "selling" to the voters a recently passed charter amendment calling for an election Nov. 19 of city officials.

What Wheeler — and officers of NATS — didn't know when they dreamed up the award to kick off the group's organizational luncheon was that the amendment was a sore spot with city councilmen who have tried—up to near-impeachment—to oust Hofheinz from office.

Hofheinz has predicted none of the councilmen will be re-elected. Publicist Steve Alex, speaking for the NATS said the award was just a publicity stunt and was not made on the "merits of the case."

The "plaque" wasn't even real. It turned out to be a cardboard disc with a design on its face. Wheeler, making the presentation, told Hofheinz:

"You are the No. 1 salesman and No. 1 mayor of the No. 1 city of the No. 1 state in the nation."

Wheeler's reference to Hofheinz' "No. 1" mayor was a little unfortunate also because Houston has two mayors—Hofheinz, who refused to relinquish office, and Mayor Pro Tem Matt Wilson—not long ago.
