HUNGRY BUT PROUD. According to New Delhi reports, more than 100 million people in seven Indian states are threatened with starvation due to drought. The U.S. and Canada offered aid, to be channeled through the U-N, but India rejected it. New Delhi, for reasons of pride and prestige, observers speculate, prefer the aid to come from the nations individually, so it would look less like charity. ## Priest Injured In Car Crash

A Catholic priest yesterday miraculously escaped death in an auto accident on Highway 35 about 16 miles north of Rockport.

The Rt. Rev. Edward J. Jansky, 62, pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Inez, was in satisfactory condition today at Refugio County Hospital after his car hit a bridge, hurtled 75 feet through the air and landed on its top.

Father Jansky suffered a fractured left arm, several broken ribs and lacerations to his head and face, but his physician reported that he "is doing well."

The priest, who had been in Rockport earlier in the day, was proceeding north on Highway 35 when the accident happened. He later told State Highway Patrolman R. R. L. Brown that he glanced into his glove compartment "and when I looked up I was heading into the bridge abutment and was unable to avoid hitting it."

Thrown from the car and bleeding profusely, Father Jansky was lying on the roadside when an unidentified man came along, carefully placed the priest in his car and headed for Aransas Pass to take him to a hospital.

Minutes later, the motorist saw officer Brown driving north and heading for the scene of the crash. The motorist flashed his lights to get Brown's attention.

Brown radioed Refugio to dispatch an ambulance on Highway 774 to get the priest and take him to Refugio County Hospital. Brown then transferred the priest to the patrol car and headed for Refugio. When the ambulance and the patrol car met, Father Jansky was placed in the ambulance and rushed to the hospital.

Father Jansky's car was demolished. Sheriff Joe Earl Hunt and Constable Buddy McLester directed traffic at the scene of the crash.

RYSCO to Stay Here, Build In Brownsville

During the past few weeks rumors were flying around that the city's leading industrial plant—Rockport Yacht & Supply Co.—was going to close shop and locate in another city.

One report was that RYSCO was going to move its entire operation to Brownsville, Texas. Another rumor was that the company planned to make Biloxi, Miss., its boat building center.

This week the rumors were dispelled, and the facts are as follows:

T. Noah Smith, Jr., president of RYSCO, announced that the company will continue to operate here, and also will build a plant in Brownsville to build bigger boats.

"A 10-acre tract on the Brownsville Ship Channel has been leased from the Brownsville Navigation District," Smith said. "This site will permit our company to build boats of larger size and deeper draft than is possible to build and launch in Rockport."

He said the Rockport plant will continue to build and repair boats up to 100 feet in length and 23-foot beam, not over 100 tons.

"Additional planning is being done," Smith added, "to enlarge the Rockport yard's repair operations for both commercial and recreational boats."

An indication of the importance of RYSCO to Rockport, from an economic standpoint, can be gained from Smith's report that the company now employs over 214 persons.

Regarding the rumor about moving to Biloxi, Miss., another official of RYSCO admitted that Biloxi had invited the company to locate its new plant there, but that Brownsville had been selected.

At about the same time that President Smith was stating that RYSCO would remain here, as well as setting up a new plant in Brownsville, another fact emerged pointing to the long range plans of the firm with respect to Rockport.

The Commissioners Court revealed that it had authorized County Judge John D. Wendell to execute an instrument to the Rockport Yacht & Supply Co. to purchase approximately 20 houses at the Airport Radar site from the county.

RYSCO is buying these houses to provide adequate housing at reasonable cost for its key employees.

The Rockport Yacht & Supply Co. recently was declared the apparent low bidder on four steel shrimp boats financed by a Federal Maritime Administration, according to U. S. Rep. John Young of Corpus Christi. RYSCO bid a total of $1,094,000 on the four boats at a unit price of $273,600.

SOLUTION

Security Specials

For this week and next if they last that long.

NUMBER ONE — An ideal site for a medium priced motel. It consists of six lots in Fulton, a total of 37,500 square feet and the price is $16,000.00. This property is in the shape of an 'L' and will easily accommodate 20 units in a one-story complex or 40 units in a two-story complex. This gives you a land cost of $800.00 per unit for single-story or $400.00 per unit for a two story set up. Adjoining this property in the same block is a super-market and across the street is an established restaurant, well-known for its food. You can build your units with a swimming pool and you will be in the luxury motel class for a whole lot less money than those who are in the luxury motel class. It is within walking distance of the Fulton Harbor for boating and fishing, and within walking distance of the bay and beach for sun bathing, salt water bathing, surfing, and many kindred activities. Access is through public property. Good water is available through wells, septic tanks work due to elevation and soil, and all other public utilities including electricity, gas and telephone are available at no extra cost. If you are in the market for something along these lines, it is our opinion that this is a 'sleeper'. We had one local real estate dealer that was interested in buying it for himself.

NUMBER TWO — We have for sale probably the best site for a mobile home village anywhere between Mexico and Canada. Approximately 22 acres, with 920 feet of frontage on Highway No. 35, By Pass Route and more than 1000 feet deep, with large beautiful live oak trees that were there during Biblical days. All utilities, including city water and sewer are within reach. It has such features as a dug lake that will never overflow nor never go dry (it is dug down to a water sand), good drainage, artistic surroundings and other features. Many people are interested in this property but at this time this property is not committed. The trend of times indicate that the number of mobile homes will increase over and above a natural increase and in Rockport and surrounding areas, it is certain that in the near future we shall have zoning of mobile homes, which will mean that mobile homes will be zoned to mobile home parks. Already some restricted subdivisions are restricted against mobile homes.

Freezer Boats On Way to S. America

Two new freezer boats built by the Rockport Yacht & Supply Co. are now enroute to South American shrimping grounds.

The boats, belonging to the Gulf King Ice Co., left Aransas Pass Friday to rendezvous with four others from Brownsville and then head for South America, according to Sidney Herndon, one of the Gulf King partners.

Herndon said the two boats will rendezvous at Port Isabel, with four others belonging to the Western Shellfish Co., owned by Walter S. Godfrey, and from there make the long trip to Bridgetown, Barbadoes, where they will headquarter.

The two freezer boats bring to nine the number of Gulf King Ice Co., has operating in the area—seven conventional-type trawlers using ice to refrigerate their shrimp, and the two new ones using mechanical refrigeration capable of freezing about 500 pounds of shrimp an hour.

Feb. Shrimp Landings Total 1.4 Million Lbs.

Landings of headless shrimp at Texas ports amounted to 1.4 million pounds in February, according to Orman H. Farley, Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Galveston.

This was slightly below the previous month and brought the January and February 1966 total to 2.9 million pounds—some 768 thousand pounds below corresponding 1965 landings.

Current February landings were made up of 51 per cent brown, 28 per cent pink and 21 per cent white.

The Brownsville-Port Isabel area accounted for 57 per cent of the total volume followed by Aransas Pass - Rockport, with 24 per cent.

The following breakdown covers the total landings with comparisons:

Port Arthur-Sabine area: February, 1966, 155,500 pounds; January - February, 1966, 243,600; January-February, 132,600.

Galveston - Seabrook; Feb., 1966, 36,000,800; Jan.-Feb., 1966, 115,200; Jan.-Feb., 1965, 76,300.

Freeport: Feb., 1966, 72,-700; Jan.-Feb., 1966, 180,600; Jan.-Feb., 1965, 148,300.

Matagorda - Palacios: Feb., 1966, 4,600; Jan.-Feb., 18,600; Jan.-Feb., 1965, 11,700.

Port Lavaca-Port O'Connor-Seadrift: Feb., 1966, 40,100; Jan.-Feb., 1966, 78,500; Jan.-Feb. 1965, 50,300.

Aransas Pass - Rockport: Feb., 1966, 289,300; Jan.-Feb., 1966, 571,000; Jan.-Feb., 703,-300.

Brownsville - Port Isabel: Feb., 1966, 779,600; Jan.-Feb., 1966, 1,655,100; Jan. - Feb., 1965, 2,507,800.

Totals: Feb., 1966, 1,378,-600; Jan.-Feb., 1966, 2,862,-600; Jan.-Feb., 1965, 3,630,-000.

Shrimp trawl vessels working adjacent waters lost about 20 days of the month due to bad weather conditions. Units working white shrimp from Freeport to Cameron, La., made fair sporadic catches of small shrimp but trips were short.

Vessel captains reported good population of small white shrimp from the Matagorda area north and east to the Mississippi River. Vessels working brown shrimp offshore caught about 175 pounds per 12 hours' effort but again rough weather restricted fishing activity.

Long range vessels working Campeche and the high seas off central Mexico made only fair catches of brown shrimp and extremely poor catches of pink shrimp. Catches from Campeche averaged 125-150 pounds per 12 hours' effort. Indications are that the 1966 spring Campeche fishery will be one of the poorest on record as was the 1965 fall season.

Oyster and dredge units working Texas bays harvested about 44,000 barrels of oysters in February, slightly below the Feb., 1965 harvest. This was the first month in almost two years that a production record was not obtained. Several out-of-state dredge craft left in mid-February as rough weather hampered fishing activities.

Landings of blue crabs amounted to 50,000 pounds, or about half the previous month's volume and about 33 per cent below landings in Feb., 1965. Bad weather was partially responsible for this decline in landings; in addition, one processing plant was closed early in February.

Finfish landings were down in February as compared with the previous month. Fish landings of about 350,000 pounds were well below Feb., 1965 landings as snapper vessels were restricted by rough weather.

Earth tremors occurred again along the Texas coast. The cause of these tremors has not been officially determined. However, local theories range from thunder to atomic devices.

Throughout the past several years several fishing craft picked up aircraft parts in shrimp trawls. These parts, varying in size from small, tangled bracework to complete aircraft wings and bodies, have proved rather costly to vessel owners.

One vessel owner from Aransas Pass has owned three vessels, and each has been damaged by aircraft down at sea. The last vessel to be involved sank in February after her nets picked up aircraft scrap and knocked one or more timbers out of stern. Fortunately, another vessel rescued the crew. This vessel, Kathy Sue, sank in 24-26 fathoms off Pass Cavallo.

In the past five years, 1961-1965, this area has produced about 38 million dollars in shrimp alone, thus the feeling that some means of retreaving downed aircraft and fishing vessels from this as well as other Gulf areas definitely has merit. Three Texas vessels were lost at sea in February, and two others were damaged.

The dockside value of some sizes of machine - graded shrimp reached a record high in February, reflecting the ever-increasing cost of production and constant demand for shrimp.

SOCIAL SECURITY ADJUSTS HOURS FOR PUBLIC CONVENIENCE

The district office of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi will remain open to the public from 8 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon next Saturday, March 26.

The time limit for people who are over age 65 to enroll for Medicare expires March 31. In addition to the Saturday opening, the office will also remain open until 9 o'clock in the evening Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 28, 29 and 30.

"The working hours of some employed people and the children of some others who have social security business to attend to, are about the same as our usual working hours. We are temporarily adjusting our office hours so that no one who has business with us will have to lose time from his job," explained H. M. Cleveland, district manager.

"Many people have delayed making an application for social security health insurance," he continued. "Exact information and assistance in applying for the benefits will be provided during this time. On Thursday evening, the last day for those over age 65 to sign up, we will remain open as long as anyone is there to see us."

In discussing the purpose of the extra office hours, Cleveland said, "We don't want any eligible person to lose the valuable health insurance which Medicare provides."

In this area, interested persons should visit, write, or telephone the Social Security Administration, 1802 South Staples Street, Corpus Christi. The telephone number is TUlip 3-5511.

Shrimp Landings for Two Months Lower Than Same Period in '65

Although shrimp landings at Aransas Pass and Rockport for January and February have been good, production is down from that for the same months in 1965.

A review of figures released by Bert Strock, statistician for the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, shows landings at the two ports in January, 1966, totaled 281,660 pounds as compared to landings of 347,202 pounds for the same month in 1965.

January production this year included 234,365 pounds of brown shrimp, 47,295 pounds of white shrimp, and no pink shrimp, while the January, 1966 production at the two ports included 252,051 pounds of brown shrimp, 20,516 pounds of white shrimp, and 74,635 pounds of pink shrimp.

Aransas Pass landings in January, 1966, included 198,-310 pounds of brown shrimp and 36,322 pounds of white shrimp for total production of 234,632 pounds.

February 1966, landings at the two ports totaled 289,251 pounds as compared to landings of 356,419 pounds during February, 1965.

Landings this February included 209,484 pounds of brown shrimp, 33,157 pounds of white shrimp, and 46,610 pounds of pink shrimp. Landings in February, 1965, were 86,722 pounds of brown shrimp, 38,-761 pounds of white shrimp, and 230,936 pounds of pink shrimp.

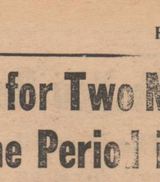

Aransas Pass landings in February, 1966, included 181,-703 pounds of brown shrimp, 30,110 pounds of white shrimp, and 46,610 pounds of pink shrimp.

Meanwhile, 75 trawlers delivered 91,300 pounds of shrimp to seafood plants in Aransas Pass and Rockport during the week ending March 13, 1966. 79,400 pounds were landed at Aransas Pass and 11,900 pounds were landed at Rockport.

The landings at Aransas Pass included 16,100 pounds of brown shrimp, 38,700 pounds of pink shrimp. Dockport landings included 1,500 pounds of brown shrimp and 10,400 pounds of white shrimp.

TWO COUNTRIES THAT CAN BE PALS

These seem to be the times when many of the countries of the world appear to think it smart and sophisticated to be obstinate and uncooperative.

There is Mr. DeGaulle. He's at odds with the U. S., Great Britain and the European Common Market on almost every point. He wants to play the game his way and if he can't he wants to sack up his marbles and go home.

Russia is another. Just propose something to the Ruskies and before the words are cooled there's a barrage of nyets that can be heard all the way across the caynon.

Then, of course, there is Peking. The Chinese Reds don't believe in any proposition except their own and this involves violence and their own dominance.

Nevertheless there are a few exceptions of nations working together, cooperatively for the good of all, and once again it is necessary to point to the relations between Canada and the United States.

Take commercial fishing, for example. The delicious sockeye salmon was about to become extinct. The two countries formed the International Pacific Salmon Convention. The commission set about rehabilitating the sockeye, which had dropped to as low as two million a year, and now it is estimated the population is now around 15 million, about the same as in earlier days.

The countries also formed the Great Lakes Fisheries Convention to re-establish in the Great Lakes and to eliminate damage done by lampreys. Scientists of the two countries developed an electric barrier preventing the adult lamprey from entering the lakes and spawning streams.

Try getting an agreement like these two from Russia. She has, time and time again, avoided agreements or cooperation in fishing waters along the Alaskan coast. She barged in on other fisheries and defies anyone to kick her boats out. Some day, however, Russian fishing boats may go home empty because there were no fish.

World cooperation is needed in many fields of endeavor, but so long as there are De Gaulles, Ruskies and brainwashed Chinese Reds there isn't much chance and its too bad, indeed. It could be such a pleasant world in which to live.

NEW GI BILL MAY BOOST SMALL COLLEGES

A wire service survey indicates colleges are going to be bursting at the seams to handle the influx of veterans under the new GI bill. By next fall something like 250,000 ex-servicemen will be going back to school, financed by government funds.

Most of the big colleges say they will be pressed hard to handle the increased enrollments but that they will do the best they can to take the GIs. But many may not choose the big schools.

The new GI bill is different from the old ones. It will not pay tuitions. Rather, it pays veterans $100 a month, which will be just about enough to pay room and board.

Tuitions will have to come either out of the $100 or from savings, if any, and from loans, scholarships and so on. This means the GI will have to scratch for the tuition money. He may be more choosy about where he goes to school as a result.

It's possible that the no-tuition feature will be a real booster for the smaller, lesser known college because of lower fees. These schools, according to reports, have room for more students. They simply haven't attracted as many students as the larger more prominent institutions.

For the GI wanting an education this may be his best bet, too, for the academic quality is just as good, if, in many instances, not better than the larger colleges. They do not have the frills, and the athletic prominence and an education is all they have to sell.

Many of those who will seek GI aid have have already reached the point in life where frills do not mean much. They're serious. They want an education. Therefore, the smaller college may be just the place for them, educationally and financially.

Then, too, there are some other advantages to the new bill. For example, the no-tuition and the flat $100 a month may serve to cull those who are not sincere in wanting an education and are just marking time. This will make more room available for the chaps who want an education.

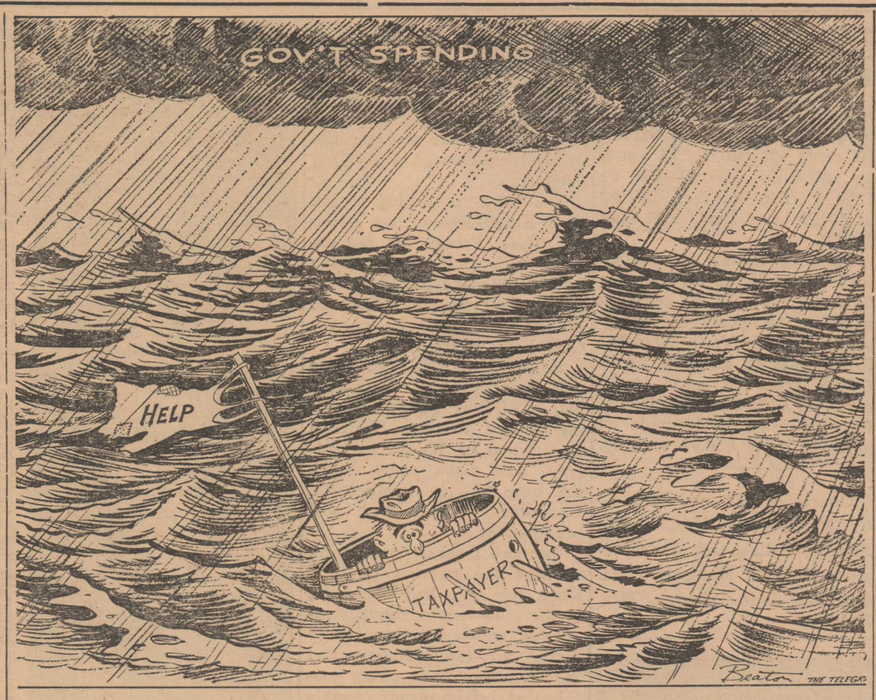

For those who are sincere, the smaller colleges may be just the spot for them.

SHIPPING TO CUBA DECREASED?

The number of ships docking at Cuba from non-Communist nations has declined from 341 in 1964 to 260 last year, according to an exile organization that keeps tab of the number of ships coming and going. In December only 19 free world ships stopped at the docks as against 33 in November, says the Revolutionary Unity.

Assuming the figures from the organization are correct—and they undoubtedly do have good sources of information—then two things must be happening. Pressures are being applied to other countries to refrain from doing business with Castro are working, or else Fidel's funds are running low. Exporters have a habit of wanting money for goods shipped to such unstable countries as Cuba. So the latter sounds more plausible.

BLOOD, SWEAT, TOIL, TEARS

Critics of government research projects have demurred at a program to investigate the perspiration rate of Australian abrogines. On the other hand, maybe this inquiry will round out a 25-year search to pin down the exact meaning of Churchill's 1940 conference. We know a good deal about the composition of blood and have analyzed the salt and mineral content of tears. Only sweat remained to be identified scientifically, although many a hard-working taxpayer would be glad to furnish samples nearer than the Australian bush.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

BREAK FOR THE OLD

Growing old isn't necessarily fun, but nowadays the elderly are discovering unexpected rewards. To get a discount on taxes, a free checking account, a cut rate on medicine and a half price ticket to a ball game, all one has to do is grow old.

We were interested to learn about some of the benefits now provided for elderly citizens. One midwest chain of drugstores gives people over 60 a 10 per cent discount on prescription drug prices.

Many companies have found it good business to be nice to the old folks. Younger members of the family appreciate the kindness. As yet, there has been no protest of discrimination against the young and middle-aged. The spirit of good will toward the elderly apparently is going strong.—Charleston (S. C.) News & Courier.

SURPLUS GRAIN DWINDLES

The burdensome surplus of grain crops have dwindled steadily since 1961 and now are within sight of what the nation prudently should hold against disaster. But not all of those surpluses have gone abroad. Farm Journal charges that the Agriculture Department for years has dumped Commodity Credit Corp. grains as strategic times to "persuade" farmers to sign up for "voluntary" government farm programs.

Added evidence of this sort of manipulation came in the announcement that some high-protein wheat in CCC's bins was being released to prevent bread prices from rising. In this case the "dumping" was widely-publicized, for who's going to protest against less costly bread? But it still comes under the head of manipulation.—Albuquerque (N. M.) Journal.

BATHROOM SWANK

Have you noticed what is happening to bathrooms lately? They are being advertised in some magazines as works of art. It's no wonder that the socialist countries point to us as being decadent.

There's no reason why bathrooms shouldn't be comfortable as well as functional. We don't have to go back to the crescent cut on the door or the old mail order catalogues days, but we don't have to glorify our ablutions, either.

Thick carpets on the floor, step-in tubs with gold fixtures special warming cupboards for towels, oil paintings on the wall, onyx toilets with fur-covered seats are all becoming fashionable. It's a new status symbol. Some hostesses can hardly wait until a guest needs to be shown the way so that this expensive bauble is talked about.

Gee, we've got it tough!—Saskatoon (Sask) Star-Phoenix.

NO FAVORITES PLAYED

The Department of Justice in Washington recently received a letter that was four days late in arriving. There were circumstances, little as you may think it, that made this state of affairs unusual. The missive had been mailed by the Post Office Department which is located two blocks from Justice. The envelope, by the way, was stamped "Mis-sent to Silver Springs, Maryland" and thus far no one has emerged who was willing to hazard a guess as to why. At the least, though it is comforting in a way to know the postal people are playing no favorites and provide everybody with the same sort of service. —Memphis Commercial Appeal.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"The Light Was Green"

At busy corners all over the country stand familiar machines, designed to help automatic justice, We call them traffic signals, and they deliver a clear and simple rule of law: green means go, red means stop.

Unhappily, justice is far too complicated for total automation. The signals do help, but they cannot give a final answer. In fact, they are sometimes no more than a starting point in the process of telling right from wrong.

For example:

A motorist, sued for knocking down a pedestrian, offered this defense in court:

"The light was green when I entered the intersection, so I had the right to go through."

But the pedestrian too had started across lawfully, on a green light. The motorist was held liable for relying blindly on the signal, not giving the pedestrian a fair chance to complete his crossing. As one judge phrased it:

"A green light is not a command to go, but only a limited permission."

In another case a motorist was held negligent, again in spite of a green light, for colliding with an ambulance. Evidence showed that the ambulance had its siren on, that others heard it plainly, and that the motorist's window was down and his radio off.

Nor does a green light, beckoning in the distance, justify bad driving in an effort to get there before it changes.

One motorist, with that in mind, crowded close behind the car ahead of him. When the light changed to amber, the front car was able to make a proper stop. But the following motorist could not. Result: a bad crash, for which the impatient driver was duly held liable.

Just as green doesn't always mean go, neither does red always mean stop. For instance, emergency vehicles are often given the right by local law to go through a red light.

Yet even this special right is not clear-cut. Thus is was held negligent for an ambulance must respect the one bedrock rule that underlies all the rest:

SAFETY FIRST.

WORKING STUDENTS GET WORD ON TAX OBLIGATIONS

Working students got word today on how to fulfill their tax obligations to Uncle Sam from Asa L. Crow, administrative officer, Internal Revenue Service, Corpus Christi.

1. Students earning $600 or more during 1965 must file an income tax return, even if the student is claimed as a dependent by his parents.

2. Students with incomes of less than $600 during '65 and who have had income tax withheld, should file a return to get the taxes refunded, a Form 1040A will do the trick.

3. Single students filing a return should claim one exemption for himself, even if he is also claimed as a dependent by his parents.

4. In a community property state, such as Texas, the total combined income of husband and wife ordinarily is considered one-half attributable to each. Thus married persons, including students, may elect to file a joint return by combining their total incomes; or separate returns with each reporting exactly one-half of the combined income.

Usually, a telephone call to IRS will get answers to many tax questions.

MISS JANET GRANT WED TO WILLIE YULE

Miss Janet Clair Grant became the bride of Pvt. Willie Mahlon Yule of Jena, La., in a double ring ceremony Thursday evening, March 17, at the home of the bride's parents.

The mantel banked with greenery, white flowers and white tapers formed the background for the ceremony performed by Rev. Cecil Lang of the First Presbyterian Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie. The oval neckline was appliqued with lace and pearls. The bell-shaped skirt fell into a small train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a pill box of peau de soie, appliqued lace and pearls. She carried a cascade of white feathered carnations.

Mrs. Rodney C. Johnson was the bride's only attendant. She wore a turquoise satin dress fashioned with scalloped neckline and sleeves. She wore a rose head piece and shoes of turquoise. Her corsage was white carnations.

Rodney C. Johnson was best man.

A reception was held following the wedding. The bride's table was laid with a white embossed organdy cloth and skirt. The center piece was the bride's bouquet on a reflector. A miniature bride and groom decorated the wedding cake which was served by Miss Glenda Brundrett. Miss Anna Belle Casterline poured the punch.

For a going away costume the bride chose a beige knit suit bound in beige satin with rhinestone and black accessories. A white carnation corsage completed the attire.

The mother of the bride wore a sleeveless green silk A-line dress with bone accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Aransas Refuge To Change Entrance Fee

Effective April 1, a fee of $1 per car will be charged for daily entrance to the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge. All persons in private non-commercial vehicles who display a current Land and Water Conservation Permit will be allowed unlimited free daily access.

Bob Shields, manager of the 47,000 acre wildlife haven, located northeast of Rockport on Blackjack Peninsula said the $1 per car, per day fee will replace the present daily charge of 25c for all persons age 16 or over.

Money received from the sale of entrance permits goes into the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund, where a portion of it is allocated to the various State Park Agencies to be used in constructing outdoor recreational facilities. The remainder of the fund is used to purchase land for endangered species of wildlife.

Shields stated that although the refuge's main attraction, the rare whooping cranes, will be leaving for their northern nesting grounds during April, there will continue to be many wildlife attractions throughout the summer.

He stated that 8 a.m. to mid-morning visits would yield many wildlife observations but that tours of the area from about 4 p.m. until sunset would be most rewarding.

As a rule, wildlife seeks shade during the warmer midday hours and feeds in early mornings and late afternoons. Entrance to the refuge is not permitted after 5 p.m. but those visitors who have secured an entrance permit before 5 p.m. are allowed to remain on until sunset each day.

The Aransas Refuge, which is administered under the U. S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, provides 25 miles of public tour roads where hundreds of deer, wild turkey, javelina, alligators, and many other wildlife species may be seen on favorable occasions.

PRAISE, WHERE PRAISE IS DUE

In our recent emergency call for an ambulance, Rockport City and County law officers responded so swiftly, that we were amazed. Our many, many thanks to them and the local ambulance driver. These are Rockport's assets of which to be proud, as they strive to serve us all.

Also, our thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Al Patton, Gilbert Stetler and other friends and neighbors who have helped in many ways.

NEW PARISH HALL—

Blanc said, "called for a 90 by 40 foot concrete block building with rest rooms. But with the careful management of the budget plus the generosity of the suppliers we were able to add a 40 foot sliding door, a tiled floor and a beautiful stage."

Speaking of the short time it took to complete the project, he recalled a meeting of the building committee with the priests on a Sunday of the last week of January when it was decided to go ahead with the project.

On Wednesday of that week, permission from the Bishop was obtained and on Thursday of the same week the site was marked.

After expressing his thanks and appreciation for the cooperation he received from the committee members and all the members of the parish, he expressed the hope that they would continue to cooperate as well in the other projects on the agenda for the parish.

Thanking the pastor for his help and especially his prayers, LeBlanc presented Father Hennel with the keys to the hall.

A variety program was presented by the school children of Sacred Heart School, under the direction of the Sisters, including the choruses, trained and directed by Mrs. Jerry Wendell, who accompanied them on the piano. Ann Smith, Diana Gonzalez, Denise Picton, representing the CYO sang two numbers.

Coffee and punch with cookies were served afterwards by the officers of the Sacred Heart PTA, Mrs. James Bracht, Mrs. Lupe Martinez, Mrs. Isabel Valdez, Mrs. Delo Caspary, Mrs. Jerry Bowling, assisted by Mrs. Dick Picton, Mrs. Tony Mejorado and Mrs. Jack McDavid.

It was decided to accept the building after proper lighting had been installed and weather stripping placed on the front door and that the County accept the building as per contract with no extra pay to contractor except for insulation in the amount of $50.

—Heard County Judge John D. Wendell report that James W. Hunt, representing the VFW, had inquired about securing one of the surplus buildings at the Aransas County Airport site to be wrecked for material for the VFW. The matter was left pending until further investigation could be made by the commissioners.

It was decided that Enterprise Blvd. would be accepted and built as set out in a letter agreement from William H. Bloch, dated Feb. 9, 1966 to County Judge Wendell.

—Heard Judge Wendell inform the court that the Board of Equalization meeting with oil companies had been tentatively set for June 2.

This and That

JOHN KINSEY

"You sure must meet a lot of interesting people in your work."

That remark has been made by someone, somewhere to just about every newspaperman in the world.

And, I guess it's true. It certainly has been my priviledge and pleasure to meet and interview many interesting people throughout the years, and I shall always treasure the memories of many of these meetings.

Sir Alexander Fleming, who died in 1955, was the British bacteriologist credited with a discovery which led to the development of penicillin. Along with other Chicago reporters, I interviewed Sir Alexander in 1944.

He impressed me more than anyone I have ever met. He was somewhat shy and and completely truthful. He frankly admitted that "it was strictly by accident" while he was experimenting with molds that he made the discovery which triggered research, experimentation and soon the production of drugs which saved thousands of lives.

Then there was Dick Powell, the movie and TV star. Somehow, before meeting him, I had the impression he was short and cocky—probably an impression gained from his early movies.

He was six feet tall and one of the friendliest, most likeable guys I ever met. I remember one question I asked was: "How does an actor like you, with a tremendous income, invest your money?"

He said, "You're the first reporter who ever asked me that question. I'll be glad to answer."

He then explained that he concentrated on business real estate, particularly constructing buildings for super-markets and leasing them to grocery firms such as A&P and Kroger's for long periods. He made millions this way.

Six months after the interview I wrote to Powell, told him my parents were coming to Los Angeles and would like to see some movie studios and TV shows. He wrote back immediately and sent complimentary tickets to several of the top television programs. My Mother and Dad had a memorial vacation.

When I was a cub reporter in the 1930's I was assigned to interview Phil LaFollette of Wisconsin, who, I believe, was a U. S. senator. I knew so little about politics, national and international issues that I was having difficulty thinking of any questions to ask.

LaMollette realized this and said, "Young fellow, if I were in your position, here are some of the questions I would ask." Then proceeded to pose one question after another and give lucid answers to all of them.

I'll always be grateful to this man. I think I would have voted for him for president if he had run.

CARD OF THANKS

May we take this method of thanking our neighbors and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in our recent sorrow. For the beautiful service, floral offerings, and other kindnesses, we are deeply grateful.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The querolous title of "Snowbird" received a fairly good "thrashing about" in the last edition of the "Pilot." The way, I believe that most of us feel about the so-called "Snowbird" is hopefully and rather meanderingly expressed herein.

The person might be called any number of such descriptives — "Winter Visitor," "Tourist," "Winterite" or so. The term "Snowbird" is, if anything, one of endearment, and applied, if at times unimaginatively, with knowledge afore thought, that there is more than the slightest chance that sometime we too will be visitors to towns not unlike Rockport, and labeled whatever the current jargon happens to be.

Rockport contains on its sunlined shores the very essence of a "visitor's paradise." The overtone of it all is "The Toast of the Coast" and if it ever suffers a mercurial drop beyond a mean 30 degrees, it is something of a weatherlock indeed, but quickly forgotten.

The populance proper keels and swells in the early months of winter as it has just begun to shrivel with the exodus of the summer throng. The mighty incoming procession is different for it reeks of the "way out" license plates of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Canada. If there are a few of these that come to see and are not enchanted, there is hardly an instance that the town doesn't like the tourists and do all in its grasp to make him feel welcome.

With such an onsweep the town begins to flounce and turn into a wail of bridge parties, fishing binges, offshore waders and high-styled hairdoes, let alone a never-ending stream of pick-up trucks with campers and assorted trailers. The town economy knows the difference, too, as the seasonal visitors spend their winter dollars and find their ways to the various cash registers of the business world.

Such people are reluctant to leave when the weather warms and most insist that a kind of restlessness is the chief cause of their going—that, and the urge to 'see how things are back home.' As one has said, "When I'm here, I want to be there, when I'm there, here." A great many of the women like to square off at the weekly bridge affrays at the community complex, at the same time, sending friend husband off to the jutting out points where all fishermen congregate, if not to fish, merely to talk things over and "bone up" on the latest news.

In March, the sudden change is noted, the beaches empty themselves of their saucy winter patrons, and the latter begin to take their respective northern routes, discussing the pros and cons of various roadways, detours and bypasses. As there are a number of trailer parks, motels and "putting in" places for the folk, there are frequently get-togethers which now become "farewell" parties.

Then, in April, the pullout starts in earnest, and the humans who are referred to as "Snowbirds" return to the somewheres from whence they come. The town is temporarily drained, and there is a noticeable void in all who have known the pleasant visitors to our shores or served them at the restaurants, quick-stops and gas stations. The Woman's Club is conspiciously silent, and the brisk flow of campers and trucks apparently stilled.

The "visitor" has shaken himself loose and heads for home and a hoped-for northern sunshine, but not without a glance back for one pure, undiluted moment at the town that calls itself Rockport—the town of rainbowed sunsets, mirrored bays and whispering palms—the town that says "howdy" all year long, and means it!

The mat is out, and again the onrush of summer brings a fresh swarm of people, the "probable" winter visitors of the future, but for now, mostly Moms, Dads, teenagers and little ones with buckets, shovels and lots of time for digging in the sand.

The "Toast of the Coast" land is one of sunshine and a passing extravaganza of memories—and more, it is a town that dwindles and bursts with the presence of people as much as the tides that wash its shores. Goodbye to a wonderful "winter visitor" and a happy trip home to all of you and come again next year!

Tessye Mauerer

Dear Editor:

Today, in this age of indifference, we, as Americans, are faced with a constant mass of confusion.

Speed is the agent of success. The man who has a product out first makes a sale. The man who speaks good or bad it makes no difference, in public the first one gets his name in the paper.

People rushing from place to place, making deals on the spur of the moment, making deals which may influence their whole way of life.

Cars made to go five-hundred miles an hour; planes made to break the sound barrier; high speed computers to have the answer in a flash.

Why?

For a better and stronger America!

"I am not a tired American!" To hear the boom of a jet breaking the sound barrier is a sound of peace. To have a car that can do well over one-hundred twenty hiles an hour does not preconceive a speeding ticket, but evidences hard work put into the construction of the car.

If one could open his eyes and look around to see the modern conveniences of today, and say nothing about them, but miss them when they are gone, is normal.

Of course, to hear of these racial demonstrations, draft card burners, or any other public spectacles, one could say he is tired of this.

But, who isn't?

As an American I am proud of America and everything for which it stands.

Our world is going through an age, "The Age of Apathy." So, accept this age and live for a better and stronger America.

David R. Vavra,
Fulton, Texas

This is in reply to the Kansas tourist from two former Kansas residents who chose Rockport to make their home.

For a year and a half we lived in a town in Kansas about the size of Rockport. The only recreation offered there were a few private clubs (of which you had to be a member to participate), a city park with picnic facilities, baseball diamond, swings and playground equipment for the children and beer taverns if you cared to go to them.

We came to Rockport in early February. The grass was green, the sun was shining and the climate warm (about 80°). The ground was covered with snow and still snowing when we left Kansas. We found the people here very friendly and courteous. We immediately found an apartment and set out to look the general area over.

The first thing we found was Rockport's Marina and Aquarium, then the beautiful beach which is one of the prettiest I have seen anywhere (from Florida to California). On Monday afternoon the Woman's Club offers bridge, canasta and etc. to the women to get the tourist as well as the local women acquainted. Thursday night the VFW sponsors bingo for both men and women, and Friday and Saturday nights, Paws and Taws Square Dance Club is open to the public. Roller skating and drive-in movies are also available.

There are all types of fishing available from deep sea fishing to fishing from a pier. Trout, flounder, redfish, red snapper, king fish, shrimp, crab and many others are available.

The Sea Gun Inn offers an excursion trip on the Whooping Crane, around the Copano Bay area, showing points of interest of which there are many.

This area is a paradise for bird watchers as most species can be seen here at certain times of the year. It is the native home of the amost extinct Whooping Crane.

This coastal area is for people who love the beauties of nature and the quiet serene life that natural beauties have to offer such as fishing, hunting, swimming, beach combing, shell collecting, boating, and sun bathing.

It is true that Rockport can stand to make many more improvements, but what area can't? Improvements are being made all the time and no one can do a complete conversion over night.

We are very happy with Rockport and Fulton and proud of their strides toward progress. We are glad to be called residents of this area.
—A former Kansas resident.

In the March 17th paper, I read a letter from a Kansas tourist and it made me boil. Why come down here if they are so dissatisfied?

Some of the litter and dirt are caused by the tourists themselves. I sat in our car by the Rockport basin one afternoon and saw bait boxes, paper cups, old rags thrown around and very few of the cars parked there had Texas license plates.

I have enjoyed the courtesy of the Woman's Club's Monday canasta and bridge parties. These ladies go to a lot of work preparing them. A nicer library couldn't be found than the one in Rockport, for a town of its size. The church we attend has had some very interesting study courses that are free to anyone that wishes to come.

The art gallery is a lovely place to visit.

The people have been so nice and friendly here.

I hope one sour grape dosen't make everyone in Rockport feel that the tourists are all like the Kansas one.

I too, would enjoy some talks or movies on the Texas Wildlife, also Texas State Parks. But I think there should be some small fee for this.

At home we go to travelouge programs and pay, so why feel that Rockport owes us tourists anything.

Also a weekly bus trip might be fun. We don't feel your town is lousy or we wouldn't be coming back.
—A Des Moines, Ia. Tourist.

MOTH LURES. In the war against insects, USDA scientists are experimenting with red light beams to determine what enables moths to detect mates or food sources in the night. Above shows moths using a form of radar to home-in on an electronic bait. Agricultural scientists hope electronic lures can one day be used to bring crop-destroying insects into traps or to draw them to insecticides. — WFS Photo

More About Medicare

Almost everyone of age 65 or older is eligible for hospital and medical insurance benefits under Medicare beginning July 1, even though they have not retired, according to Connie R. Balsley, field representative of the Corpus Christi Social Security office.

"They can keep right on working at their usual salary and still have this protection in the event of an illness," said Mrs. Balsley. The Medicare insurance will pay even if a 65 year old worker continues to receive his full salary or sick pay during his illness.

In order to have this protection, persons 65 or older must file an application with the Social Security office by the end of this month. By paying $3 a month beginning July the worker will have doctor bill coverage in addition to hospital coverage.

All persons of age 65 or older who have not yet applied for social security or Medicare benefits should get in touch with the Social Security office, 1802 South Staples, Corpus Christi immediately, Mrs. Balsley declared. Anyone who lives outside of Corpus Christi can meet one of the social security representatives who make regular trips to the larger cities and towns in this area. Get the address of the meeting place from your postmaster.

Remember, the March 31 deadline is only a few days away.

Veterans Act of 1966 Provides Many Benefits

The Veterans Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966 was signed into law Thursday, March 3, by President Johnson and provides a permanent program of benefits to veterans who have served or who will serve in the U. S. Armed Forces since Jan. 31, 1955. P. J. Mims, Manager, Houston VA Regional Office, stated that chief among these benefits will be education, home loan guaranty and the extension of VA hospital benefits on the same priority basis as for wartime veterans. Thus, approximately four million veterans discharged from the service since Jan. 31, 1955, ranging from "cold war" veterans to those now on duty in Vietnam, become eligible for benefits somewhat similar to those granted the veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict. Provision has been made for 600,000 additional veterans who will be returning to civilian life each calendar year to participate in the same benefits. In all cases, to be eligible the veterans must have discharges that are other than dishonorable and they must not already have used up their eligibility under previous programs. All of the new benefits, with the exception of the educational assistance program, went into effect immediately upon the President's signing of the Bill. The educational assistance provisions will go into effect June 1, 1966.

The benefits established by the new law are: Educational assistance, home and farm loans, medical care, job counseling, job placement, federal employment preference and the issuance of burial flags. Mims gave the following brief summary of each benefit:

Education: Veterans with more than 180 days active duty, any part of which occurred on or after Feb. 1, 1955, will be eligible for one month of college, vocational or similar education for each month or fraction of a month on active duty. Those taking full time courses will receive $100 per month if they have no dependents; $125 a month for one dependent, and $150 a month with more than one dependent. Proportional rates will be paid for parttime courses. The income of the veteran will not be considered. Application blanks and full information will be available at VA offices and at colleges and educational centers sometime in April, well in advance of the June 1, 1966, starting date. The maximum period allowed will be 36 months but this may be reduced by the amount of educational assistance previously received under a VA educational program. Since the program starts by law on June 1, 1966, there can be no retroactive payments. There is no deadline date to enter upon the educational program and veterans will have eight years from the date of their last discharge from active service to complete their courses. However, the first cut-off date will not be until Mar 3, 1974.

Loan Program: Veterans with more than 180 days of active duty will be eligible for VA guaranteed home or farm loans or VA direct home loans in areas where such loans are authorized. They will have until ten years after the date of their last discharge from active service plus one year additional for each three month period of active service to make such a loan, with a maximum dead line date of twenty years after the date of discharge from the qualifying service. For those veterans who have already been out of the service for a period of years, a minimum entitlement date has been set at ten years. VA guaranteed loans will be made at 5½ percent interest rate. The new law authorizes the Administrator of Veterans Affairs to establish an interest rate as he determines the requirements of the loan market, but not to exceed the rate in effect for loans insured by FHA. A one-time non-recurring fee not to exceed one-half of one percent of the loan amount is payable by the veteran but may be included in the loan and collected by the lender. However, it must be remitted to the VA before a guaranty certificate may be issued. In the direct loan program, the new law raises the maximum loan possible from $15,000 to $17,500. Veterans with unused and unexpired World War II or Korean Conflict entitlement will have that previous entitlement cancelled and will become eligible under the new law alone. However, during the period their cancelled entitlement would have been available such veterans not only need not pay the statutory guaranty or direct loan fee under the new law but they may also secure loans for business purposes as well as for home and farm purposes.

NOTE: Both the educational assistance and loan guaranty provisions of the new law will apply to those persons who remain in service after two years of military duty.

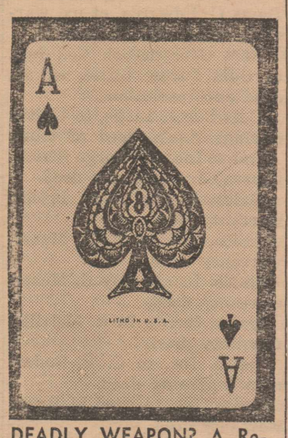

Medical Care: Veterans who have served as of Jan. 31, 1955, will be eligible for admission to VA hospitals on the same basis as wartime veterans. The priorities are: First — Veterans with service-connected disabilities have top priority for admission; Second—Veterans with service-connected disabilities but who are seeking treatment for some other ailment will be admitted as beds are available; Third — Veterans without service-connected disabilities may be admitted to VA hospitals if (1) hospitalization is deemed necessary, (2) they are financially unable to refray the cost of the hospitalization, and (3) beds are available.

Mims said the new law also makes provisions for counseling and job placement, both of these under the auspices of the veterans employment service of the U. S. Department of Labor; and Civil Service preference in federal employment. A United States flag will be provided for use at the funeral of veterans who have served after Jan. 31, 1955, and to be retained by the next of kin.

Veterans who believe they are eligible for any of these benefits except the educational assistance program, can write, telephone, or visit the nearest VA Office. Mims stressed the point that VA Office telephones are swamped with calls and veterans interested in the educational benefits are reminded that they cannot start any courses until after June 1, 1966. The proper forms and instructions for educational benefits will not be available until approximately mid-April.
