

Utilities Heads and Bankers to Tour

I. R. Kelso, president of Texas Utilities Co., has announced the itinerary of a group of directors and Eastern bankers visiting properties of Texas Utilities Company and New Mexico Utilities company, arriving at Slaton, Texas, on October 25th and returning to St. Louis via Clovis, New Mexico on October 28th.

Tentative routing of visitors through West Texas and East New Mexico, if weather conditions are favorable, leads the party from Slaton at 4 p. m. October 25th by automobile through Lubbock, Idalou, Lorenzo, Raha, Crosbyton, Floydada, Lockney, Plainview, Canyon, Hereford, Clovis, Farwell, Texico, Muleshoe, Sudan, Amherst, Littlefield, Fortales and Clovis between the 25th and 28th, at which latter time Clovis will be the final destination of the party.

Returns From Tour of European Countries

Mr. M. F. Klattenhoff and two daughters, Misses Clara and Lena, returned to Slaton Tuesday after making a four and one-half months tour of three European countries—Germany, Switzerland and Italy. They left their home here about the first of June.

On the return trip they passed through a portion of Canada, visited Niagara Falls and New York City. They report an exceedingly enjoyable and profitable trip. Many things of great interest came under their observation, and they feel richly paid for their time and expense in making this interesting tour. They brought back many relics, trinkets and pictures from the countries they visited.

Mr. Klattenhoff is a prosperous farmer and business man residing just west of Slaton on the highway toward Lubbock. His many friends will be glad to learn of the return of this party of tourists after such an extended absence.

Telephone Service Here Needs Manager

A short time ago, mention was made in this paper of the poor telephone service furnished in Slaton and the movement to organize an independent telephone company to furnish the service that Slaton deserves. Exceptions were taken to the possibility of a second telephone company and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company stated they were in touch with the situation and that the manager had made survey for more phones wanted in Slaton and did not meet with much encouragement. Word has come to this office that there are a number of people in Slaton very anxious for telephone service as well as rural customers, and the telephone company say they are out of boxes, or equipment of some kind and the people are forced to do without telephone service. If the present telephone company cannot keep abreast of conditions here and be in a position to furnish service when requested, then it is time that some other means be devised to furnish this service to those wanting it.

There is no reason why Slaton should not have a local manager of the telephone company, some one who can keep in close touch with the needs of this growing community and one to whom complaints can be directed and to whom requests for additional service can be made, and this is one of the reasons why our phone system is no better than it is, because we have no one who looks after the business as it should be. The girls in our local exchange are good and do all that is possible, but their authority is limited, and they have to ask Lubbock every time the moon changes.

Let's have something done in regard to our telephone service.

AT THE CUSTER

For Friday and Saturday of this week the Custer Theatre has the biggest race horse production on the screen. It's "The Dixie Handicap," a sensation throughout, and a picture for old and young. There will be the regular matinee Saturday afternoon.

"A Kiss in the Dark," a Paramount picture, is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday of next week. And for Wednesday and Thursday the best feature comedy of the season will be shown, when Bebe Daniels stars in "Lovers in Quarantine."

School Notes

Progress in the manual training department is very satisfactory indeed. Mr. Bivens is now giving instructions to 39 boys with two periods daily for each of the three groups. The first year workers are doing well and present busy and interested groups.

Naturally we would find the most efficient workers among the second year boys. Among those doing excellent work we mention Dale Watson, C. W. Wilkes, Roland Anderson and Bill Huckaby.

We understand that an order is out now for Red Cedar and other cabinet wood for the advanced students. All friends and patrons are invited to visit this and other departments of our school.

The Home Economic department which is under the supervision of Miss Mandsley and the Cafeteria also under her direction, are doing fine work. Mrs. Ivy Moore and the young ladies of the cooking class are giving wonderful service in the cafeteria. The noon hour lunch is cooked and served scientifically. The girls are being taught the real art and practice of "feeding the brutes" and are happy in this work.

Slaton High has every right to be proud of the newly installed business department. The school classes are full and the pupils are working earnestly and seriously. The close, quiet attention in the bookkeeping room is attractive and the busy click, click, click of the eleven typewriters make music to the ears of those who aspire to fill some business position in the future.

The shorthand classes are enthusiastic workers and the instructor reports almost 100 per cent making good.

Enrollment follows: bookkeeping 44, business arithmetic 51, typewriting 49 and shorthand 22.

Classes are still open to out of school students. These classes are still growing.

BIG BROADWAY CAST IN "LOVERS IN QUARANTINE"

Speaking of all-star casts—Bebe Daniels has a real Broadway cast of players appearing in her support in her latest starring picture for Paramount, "Lovers in Quarantine," coming to the Custer Theatre on next Wednesday and Thursday.

Bebe's reputation as a comedienne will go up several notches as the result of her fine work in this one, an adaptation by Townsend Martin and Luther Reed of the stage hit, "Quarantine," by F. Tennyson Jesse which was one of the outstanding comedy successes last season (1925).

Harrison Ford is featured in the leading man's role. Ford is a young explorer who believes himself in love with Bebe's flirtatious sister but winds up by marrying Bebe.

MUCH SANITARY IMPROVEMENT

That much sanitary improvement is in progress throughout the state is evidenced by the large number of plans for water purification and sewage disposal plants received by the state board of health during Sept.

Water purification plants or improvements thereto, for which bonds have already been voted or which will be voted on soon, are reported from the following towns:

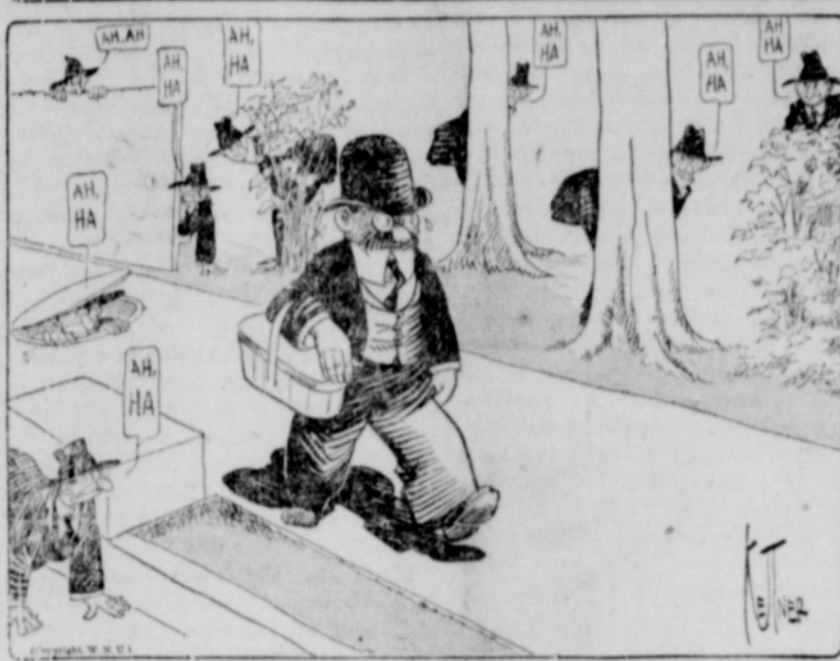

Amherst, Anson, Big Lake, Bryan, Como, Copperas Grove, Dodd City, Duncanville, Falfurries, Florence, Floresville, Frost, Grapeland, Greenville, Hubbard, Iowa Park, Jayton, Kemp, Lometa, Mabank, Mexia, Moran, Muleshoe, Olney, Richardson, Rusk, Santa Anna, Shamrock and Slaton.

Plans for sewer systems and improvements or enlargements are reported from the following towns:

Abilene, Alice, Anson, Atlanta, Brady, Carrollton, Colorado, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Campo, Grapeland, Grapevine, Groveton, Harlingen, Houston, Kemp, Livingston, San Angelo, San Antonio, Schulenberg, Trinity, Weslaco, and Yorktown.

Misses Vinita Bowen and Aiyne Tucker, who are attending Simmons University, Abilene, and Misses Margie George and Clara Dabney, who are attending McMurray College, Abilene, spent last week-end with homelinks here. Misses Tucker, Dabney and George were accompanied by the latter's brother, Carl, to Sweetwater Sunday afternoon, making the trip that far by auto. At that point the young ladies proceeded to Abilene by train.

A Troubled Conscience

A Great Forward Move

(AN EDITORIAL)

Nothing in Slaton has happened for a long time that affords us so much pleasure and genuine satisfaction as the action of the City Commission in wisely determining to order bond election to issue bonds to pave Slaton streets.

And another desirable thing about the move is that it is one on which our progressive citizenship are heartily united. It is action that comes very near enlisting the unanimous support and co-operation of Slaton people.

This is not to be wondered at, for the necessity of paved streets in Slaton is so great as to be recognized by all. Particularly do the principal property owners of the city approve of the move. With the increase of traffic and the amount of wind in this section, it is impossible to keep the streets in the business section in passable condition, and in wet weather they are worse. The progressive business man recognizes the value, from a dollar and cents standpoint, of paved streets, and the property owner knows by the experience of people in those towns having paved streets that his property is thereby increased in value and desirability far in excess of the cost to him.

People judge a town chiefly by the progressive or non-progressive appearance of its business section, and improvement of the business section adds to the value and desirability of every piece of property in the town.

It is right and logical, of course, to pave the business streets first, since they are the only streets in the town that are used by all the town; and then as we grow, the paving can be extended into the residential sections.

Another fact is that in voting this bond issue, the tax rate in Slaton will not be increased so much as one cent. The normal increase in property values and the normal increase in the amount of property in the town is sufficient to take care of the cost without increasing the tax rate.

Another thing, Slaton's tax rate is considerably under that of most towns and cities in this section, and our rapid growth, while making necessary these public improvements, do not increase the burden on the individual, because the cost is divided among so many more individuals than would have been the case a few years ago.

The bonds are to be serials, $2000.00 to be paid on the principal each year for the first twenty years and $3000.00 to be paid on the principal for the second twenty years, thereby decreasing the amount of interest payable each year.

Another significant fact is that these bonds bear only 5 1/2% interest, whereas all prior bond issues in Slaton have borne 6% interest; and we understand that already the City Commission has received assurances that certain bond buyers are willing to pay a premium for the bonds. This is in itself a splendid recommendation for our town, and it is up to the citizens to add to that recommendation by making the election carry as nearly unanimously as possible.

County Exhibits Good At State Fair, Dallas

Farm exhibits at the State Fair in progress at Dallas have been of the usual high order expected of Texas counties. Much interest has been shown by all the fair visitors in the exhibits.

Harrison County, an east Texas county, right down on the border line between Texas and Louisiana, was awarded first prize for the best county exhibit. The prize was $350.00 in cash. The next three counties in the order of prize awards were: Garza, Hartley, and Dallam.

Of the first eighteen prize awards, West Texas counties captured thirteen, a lucky number in this instance. East Texas counties took five out of the eighteen. This is a record of which all West Texas may feel justly proud. It shows the continued superiority of the West over the East.

Beyond the first eighteen prizes, the following took awards in the order named: Wood, Carson, Brown, Crosby, Howard, Lubbock, Collin, Case, Hill, Bowie, Franklin, Angelina, Lamb, Cherokee, Lynn, Midland, Nolan and Zavalla. This shows Lubbock to have taken 24th prize. There were thirty-six counties showing exhibits. Harrison's score was 928 out of a possible 1,000 points. Lubbock's score was 821. And, so we see that Lubbock had a good showing. Heavy rains in this section served to hamper the appearance of Lubbock exhibits, it is said by those in charge. And so, we have no reason to feel discouraged about the place taken by this county. In fact, considering the sum total of conditions, we may feel rightly proud of our exhibit at the Fair.

Local Men Open New Office for Real Estate

A partnership was formed this week between Mr. G. M. Cullar and Mr. W. E. Martin for the purpose of handling real estate, insurance and abstracts. Their office is located upstairs in the Masonic building, and they are now ready to serve you. These gentlemen are well known to the people of Slaton and surrounding territory, and will doubtless receive their share of the public's patronage.

Phone Personal Items to this Office

We again call the attention of our readers to the fact that we are always glad to have news items of personal mention phoned in to our office for publication. When you have a guest, or when you make a trip or visit, or learn of someone having made a trip, or if you learn of any local news we would appreciate your telling us about it either in person or by telephone.

It is no only a favor to us to get this information, but it is a favor to your friends who are always glad to keep up with local happenings. Don't hesitate to call us. Our phone number is 20. Tell us what you know.

prize awards, gives West Texas credit for being far in the lead, for, although an East Texas county took first prize, the larger number of the best exhibits came from the West.

The outcome of prize awards this year may serve as an eye-opener to other sections of the State, as did the awards of last year which also placed West Texas in the agricultural limelight.

Think It Over!

The Slatonite has been bending its effort constantly since Home Industry Week was named, toward the furtherance of this commendable movement. In advertising and sponsoring this movement we feel that we are in no way helping one group of the citizens of this town; for every cent spent with a fellow man in Slaton is just one penny invested in town building. We feel that the citizens of Slaton have the interest of their own city at heart, and will respond in mass to a plea for trading at home.

It has been said, and oftentimes we find it regrettably true—that the only way to appeal to some people is thru their pocket book. Naturally we all have some thought of self and strive to make all the money we can, and keep all the money we make. It is a proven fact that the better town you live in the more opportunity there is to make money and since trading in Slaton is direct city building, that is a big argument for the sponsoring of Home Industry Week. As to keeping the money we make—everyone admits freely that after you have made a purchase in Slaton you have more money than if that purchase had been made at any other town on the South Plains.

For a long time we have been scattering our money pretty promiscuously, through mail order, agents, and other towns. It might be well to try trading in Slaton exclusively, for a while and observing the direct reaction on our pocketbooks. November 28th to December 5th is Home Industry Week.

Bible Study at City Hall Friday Night

Bible study—where? At the City Hall. When? Every Friday night. Taught by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Page of Lubbock. The study is growing in interest and attendance and all are invited and urged to attend these meetings. Second Timothy 2:15—"Study to show thyself approved unto God a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." We find the Bible is God's will and testament to us and unless we read and study it how can we know it? "Being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord" sins forgiven that brings peace for the past, grace for the present, and glory for the future. John 19:34.

But one of the soldiers with a spear pierced His side and forthwith came there out blood and water. In Zechariah it was foretold that there should be opened in the house of David a fountain for sin and uncleanness. The Son of God has been pierced by that Roman soldier's spear, the prophecy fulfilled and we know there is no other way we can be saved only through His blood. "And I if I be lifted up will draw all men unto me" Are we as Christians today lifting up the Christ or are we letting His banner trail in the dust? A usurper has got possession of this world now, but Christ will have it soon. A little more suffering and He will return. He will rend the heavens and His voice will be heard again. He will descend from heaven with a shout. He will sway His sceptre from the rivers to the ends of the earth. Oh let us pray to the Lord to hasten His coming. Remember it is written, "The friendship of the world is enmity with God." That cross shall be a witness against you in the day when the Crucified One returns and when he comes the cross will be the object of terror to its enemies. They would not be saved by it and they must bear its condemnation. The love which it so long proclaimed shall be turned into wrath and the awful sentence, depart from me I never knew you. Isaiah fifty-three—"He was wounded for our transgressions. He was bruised for our iniquities. The chastisement of our peace was upon Him with His stripes we are healed." All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all. You find the prophets believe the story of the blood in the book of Daniel we find this prophecy, "He shall be cut off, not for His sins, but for the sins of His people." The Bible study for Friday night will be the book of Daniel every one that will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear these Bible truths will be repaid when the Son of righteousness shall arise with healing in His wings.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pember spent a few days in the vicinity of Portales, N. M. this week.

May Soon Have Flashlight System

Representatives of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce who were in Dallas recently called upon assistant general manager P. K. Baker of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in regard to the telephone situation in Slaton. After listening to a short outline of the situation as explained by his visitors, Mr. Baker promised that he would see to it personally that engineers of the Telephone company were put to work immediately making a thorough survey of the Slaton telephone system. This survey, according to Mr. Baker, will be completed and ready to present to the Slaton Chamber of Commerce in about thirty or forty days. The object of the visit made by Chamber of Commerce members and the survey that is to be made is to come to some definite basis on which the common battery or flash light system telephones may be installed in Slaton.

The Chamber of Commerce officials are in hopes that the Telephone Company will notify them as to the progress being made as the survey progresses, that they may pass the information on to the citizens of Slaton.

Masons To Have An Open Meeting Tonight

Masons of Slaton will hold an open meeting at the City Hall this (Thursday) evening.

Mr. Berry B. Cobb of El Paso and others will be here on that date and will address the meeting and will show moving pictures. No admission will be charged and the public is invited. Masons and Eastern Star members are requested to be present. Mr. Cobb spoke in Slaton two years ago with the Masonic service association committee and those who heard him at that time will know that they will hear something worthwhile when he comes again.

Text Book Commission Takes Action

Last week the Text Book Commission of this state took action relating to the presence of subject matter on evolution in our public school texts. Twenty pages on the subject contained in a text book, "Biology For Beginners," by T. J. Moon, will be removed from the text in the final form to be used in Texas' schools.

A text, "New Essentials of Biology," by Hunter, was rejected by the Commission. This is the book that attracted attention in the Scopes trial at Dayton, Tenn.

Since the tilt at Dayton, many people have wondered what Texas would do. The Texas legislature has not touched the matter yet, and may not do so, but the Text Book Commission has taken the initiative by rejecting "evolution material" in the text books to be used in the schools in this state for the next few years.

No doubt this will draw criticism against the Commission on the part of some, while others will rejoice at seeing such action taken.

Health and Home

CAMPING AND PROBLEM OF FOOD

There is no healthier sport than camping. During the warm and balmy spring and summer days, it is real recreation. To get out in the fresh air and sunshine, free from worry and care, enhances the health of anyone, be he office man, salesman or what not.

But due to the entirely inadequate means of food preservation and refrigeration found in the majority of camps, there is the ever-present danger of sickness from infected foods. The utmost care must be taken in order that this may be avoided. Butter and eggs should be bought only as used. The milk is a problem in itself. Perhaps the solution lies in the use of a milk other than market milk. In order that purity and sterility may be assured. For such use, evaporated milk is ideal. Many people are wont to confuse evaporated and condensed milk but there is no similarity between the two. Condensed milk is a combination of sugar and milk and can be used only when both of these substances are desired. Evaporated milk is merely pure, fresh milk with about sixty per cent of the water removed and the nutrient content left intact. It is absolutely sterile and pure, having been sterilized before leaving the factory. The water, removed by evaporation, may be replaced very easily and the milk returned to its original volume. Evaporated milk may be obtained in small cans, containing six ounces or in larger ones containing sixteen and can be taken to the camp in quantities sufficient for the needs of the entire period, thus assuring a constant supply of pure, fresh milk without the worry or the danger attached to the use of the market product.

Following are recipes for a few dishes that are best adapted for camp consumption because of ease of preparation, purity and food value.

- Tomato Soup.
1 pint tomato pulp 1 1/2 cups water or canned tomatoes Salt and pepper
mato soup to taste
1 1/2 cups evaporated milk 1/4 tsp. soda
Bring tomato pulp or soup to the boil, add the seasonings and soda. Heat the milk and water and combine slowly with the tomato mixture.
- Stirred Eggs.
1/4 cup evaporated milk 1/4 tsp. paprika
1/4 cup water 5 eggs
1/4 cup pepper 2 tbsp. fat
Beat the eggs, add the milk, water and seasonings. Melt the fat in a frying pan. Add the egg mixture and stir until the mixture is creamy. When almost done, sprinkle with grated cheese. Serve on slices of bread, toast or crackers.

BIG STILL CAPTURED IN TERRY COUNTY

County officers aided by local citizens located and captured Monday the biggest still ever taken in Terry County. It had been suspected for some time that the still was in operation but no clues by which authorities could get to work on had been disclosed until some unusual drunkenness and carousing Sunday gave it away. Sheriff Ellington and his posse got busy immediately and put out searches that resulted in the discovery Monday.

Nine barrels of mash were captured in the drive and carried to Brownfield.

The still was permanently located on a farm two and one-half miles southwest of Mendota, and was arranged and operated in a very crude way. Barrels were used to serve as boilers and no worm was connected with the barrels, but galvanized pipes were used instead. The main boiler was a 50 gallon iron oil barrel and the other material used for the cooling and condensing being three oak barrels and a tin strainer. Considering the material and the odor connected with the place, it is very mysterious why anyone who has partaken of the fiery beverage has not already led a long procession to the last resting place.

CHEVROLET PHOTOGRAPHIC SERIES DISPLAYED

The marvels of modern automotive precision and production methods are depicted in a series of 42 enlarged photographs now being shown to the public at the salesrooms of all American and Canadian Chevrolet dealers.

The photographic series covers the same interesting operations in the manufacture of Chevrolet cars which would be shown a visitor at the factories.

One of the most spectacular pictures shows a huge drop forge hammer weighing 140,000 pounds. Hammers of this type are used to make the Chevrolet crankshaft. The falling weight is a three-ton block of steel which is lifted by steam. It is so responsive to the touch of the skilled operators that they are able to place a watch on the bottom die block and strike it with the hammer so delicately that the crystal remains unbroken. Each hammer will forge 880 crankshafts during a 10-hour day.

Other striking features of the exhibit are pictures of a monster machine which uses 300,000 amperes of electricity to weld the Chevrolet one-piece banjo type rear axle housing; a machine which drills 32 holes simultaneously in the bottom of the Chevrolet cylinder block; a rotary milling machine which finishes at one operation the lower sides of six cylinder

Good Progress Made On Smart's Buildings

The two brick buildings being erected by W. E. Smart just north of Mr. Smart's grocery store are going right on up. Unless unexpected delay occurs, Mr. Smart states that the buildings should be completed by Nov. 1st. Each building is 25x110 feet.

One of these buildings will be occupied by a theatre, and the other by a dry goods establishment, according to Mr. Smart.

No conqueror can make the multitude different from what it is; no statesman can carry the world's affairs beyond the ideas and capacities of the generation of adults with which he deals; but teachers—I use the word in the widest sense—can do more than either conqueror or statesman; they can create a new vision and liberate the latent powers of our kind.—H. G. Wells.

blocks, and a 62-ton press which forms a Chevrolet fender at one stroke.

The individual grinding of valves, the delicate balancing of pistons so that every piston in each motor weighs the same and many interesting micrometric inspections also are illustrated in the remarkable exhibit.

ICED DRINKS IN THE SUMMER

On a warm and sultry summer day, there is nothing more refreshing to the mind and to the body than an iced drink. Of course, when such drinks are being used, moderation should be practiced, because if taken in excess or too rapidly, they are liable to be injurious to the stomach. However, when taken in a sensible manner, they are refreshing and beneficial to the fatigued. In the manufacture of these drinks, care should be taken to avoid any combination that may be indigestible or hard to assimilate. The drink should be consumed in a slow and leisurely manner.

The greatest danger present in the use of iced drinks is the one that involves the use of ingredients that are possibly impure or contaminated in any way. This is very liable to happen if the juices that are used are allowed to stand until they become soured and unfit for use, or if the milk or other ingredient used is not strictly fresh. The predisposition of milk to spoil quickly at summer temperatures makes it oftentimes necessary to use evaporated milk, which after all is just pure fresh milk with more than half the water taken away. It is sterile and, therefore, always safe. For use in iced drinks, it is ideal.

Following are several formulas used in the manufacture of iced beverages. If these formulas are followed religiously, the results will be found to be very satisfactory.

Chocolate Malted Milk.

1 cup evaporated milk 1 teaspoonful cocoa

1 cup water 2 teaspoonfuls malted milk

Mix cocoa with water until syrup is obtained. Put all ingredients in Mason jar and shake thoroughly and serve with chopped ice.

Milk Punch.

1 cup evaporated milk 2 tbsp. orange juice

Sugar to suit taste 1/2 cup water

1 cup tea Small stick cinnamon

2 tbsp. lemon juice 1/2 cup fruit juice (currant or berry preferred)

Boil slowly the cinnamon, a lemon rind and orange rind in water for ten minutes. Strain and when cool add the other ingredients. Place in a Mason fruit jar and shake well. Serve in tall glasses with chopped ice.

Egg Nog.

1 egg 1 1/2 tbsp. powdered sugar

Pinch salt 2 tbsp. fruit juice

1/2 cup cold evaporated milk Nutmeg gratings

1/2 cup ice water Add salt to egg white and beat to a stiff froth. Add the sugar, the well beaten yolk of the egg and the fruit juice and nutmeg. Fill glass with milk and cold water. Sprinkle top with chopped nuts.

He is not ignorant who knows that he knows little.

The amount a man weighs does not determine how little he may be.

Kind words are good, but he is cheap, indeed, who lets them take the place of kindly deeds.

Some people often send their condolences on a vacation to prevent their being wounded at home.

Many a man in world history has been proclaimed great when his fame was born of an accident.

The reason so many of us make poor conversationalists is that we find too much to say and do not know what to leave unsaid.

Some people pay such a price for success that ere they have gained much of it they are pitiable failures.

Why should not one love his enemies, seeing that they so freely and efficiently show him his faults?

Who was it that defined marriage as an institution where all on the outside wanted in and all on the inside wanted out?

When you get too intimate with your friends you contradict and spoil the fair picture their fancy has painted of you.

No one sees evil in wealth like the person who possesses none and has not the ability and genius for gaining any.

We are quite willing to suggest things for the benefit of others, but terribly reluctant to do things to the same end.

To our way of thinking, one way of casting pearls before swine would be to advise a man to tend his own business who has no business to tend.

Our favorite theories are beautiful things until some thinker comes along and then our pretty, fantastic mental toys are scattered to the winds.

He who would be a bully should remember that a certain gentleman named Goliath in his latter days reached the conclusion that size does not always count.

A splendid example of wise foresight has just been brought to light from world war days. It was a man who, on hearing the report that postage rates were going to advance to three cents, immediately laid in a big supply of two-cent stamps.

Exploration of ancient ruins have disclosed the fact that our ancestors like their modern descendants, spent much of their time in monkey-business, which discovery has proved very disconcerting to the anti-evolutionists.

"OLD IRONSIDES"

Ask any high school pupil what "Old Ironsides" is and you will promptly receive the information that "Old Ironsides" is the nickname of the most famous battleship the United States ever possessed, and that her name is the "Constitution."

You will further receive the information that she was a 44-gun frigate that under Captain Isaac Hull, in a thirty minute fight on the 19th of October, 1812, captured the British frigate, Guerriere in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and otherwise performed feats in the war of 1812 which in large measure deprived England of her proud title of "Mistress of the Seas."

You will receive the further information that the Constitution lost only 14 men killed and wounded while her rival lost 100 men and was a total wreck.

She was one of the most famous ships known to history, built in Hart's shipyard in Boston, and launched October 21, 1797 at the place where Constitution Wharf now stands. She was captured by Paul Revere and first went to sea in August, 1798 under Commodore Nicholson. In 1833 she was pronounced unsound and it was decided to destroy her. Then it was that the poet, Oliver Wendell Holmes, wrote his famous poem, "Old Ironsides," which poem created such a storm of protest against the noble ship's destruction that she was repaired and put to sea again in 1834. Later she was placed in the Navy Yard at Charleston, Mass., where she was a shrine visited by thousands of Americans, who, on gazing at the venerable ship, contemplating her name, and her exploits, and the gallant part she played in American history, have had their patriotism kindled anew.

If you will ask the high school pupil, he will readily recite for you the beautiful poem, "Old Ironsides."

The venerable ship has again come into prominent mention due to the fact that this is "Old Ironsides Week," when a half million dollars will be raised by popular subscription to repair the ship.

And while that is being done, and the story of the old frigate is once again told, in the press, and at the fireside, once again the heart will thrill at the greatness, and the grandeur and the glory of our native land, great and glorious because of the deeds of the ship Constitution, and firm and solid in behalf of truth, liberty and justice because of that document of the same name that makes us a nation, and safeguards human rights, lives and property.

THE WEAK END

The paramount issue before the world today is the issue of law enforcement. It is the problem that concerns the minds of thinking men and women as no other modern problem. It has its financial side because it is the most costly endeavor of the modern world—the problem of dealing with the criminal element. It has its moral side because the spirit of lawlessness is undermining the morals of the rising generation. It has its economic side because it affects the pocketbook of every man, woman and child in the nation. It has its political side because politics have so much to do not only with the making of laws but also with their enforcement. It has its industrial side, because law and order make for efficiency in industry and lack of it tends to impair such efficiency. It has its religious side because the church owes to itself and to the world the duty to combat the things responsible for lawlessness. It has its judicial side, because the courts are charged with the duty of enforcing the laws.

We have many laws covering every actual and imaginary phase of human conduct. The weak end is not in absence of laws, though no doubt the greatest weakness in our statute books is their thickness. The weakness is not in the body of officers and policemen charged with the duty of detecting crime, because they round up hundreds of thousands of criminals every year. The weakness is not in our grand juries, because they present indictments far, very far, in excess of the number that are tried for their crimes in court. The weakness is not in popular opinion, for the public conscience is awakening and the demand grows louder and louder for enforcement of the law.

The weak end is not in our grand juries, because they present indictments far, very far, in excess of the number that are tried for their crimes in court. The weakness is not in popular opinion, for the public conscience is awakening and the demand grows louder and louder for enforcement of the law. The weak end is to be found in the courts of the land, and perhaps more specifically in that body of men directly charged with the duty of presenting society's side of the matter to the jury.

It is one thing we are not fully able to comprehend, just why a prosecuting attorney will dismiss so many cases without a trial after a grand jury has found an indictment or after proper complaints have been made. It is another wonder why so many judges will permit the prosecutor to take that course.

The long and short of it is that sheriffs and their deputies and police officers round up the criminals, the grand juries indict them, and the courts turn them loose.

The remedy for this deplorable condition rests with the people themselves in the power of choice they possess at and through the ballot box. Under the facts as we view them, the sole remedy rests in the voters exercising wisdom and good judgment in electing judges and prosecuting attorneys. With frequent elections, a wise provision in our scheme of government, the people have the power to abolish evils and inefficient persons who turn out to be mistakes in public office, whether the mistake occurs through their own misguided votes at an election, or from appointment of a mistake to office by a person in power over whose official acts they have no direct and immediate control.

Crime will decrease when, and only when, men are put in office who will enforce the laws against crime, with diligence, honesty and efficiency. And diligence and honesty are impotent without EFFICIENCY.

Not Precarious

"Your life hangs by a thread," said the doctor. The patient breathed a sigh of relief; he was married, and often had buttons remain that way for a long, long time.—Boston Transcript

Exchange Shots

Iowa has passed a law disqualifying 100,000 Iowans from marrying. It sounds like a plot against divorce lawyers.—Dallas News.

And so it is. Also, it's a plot against those 100,000 Iowans—a plot that will prevent perhaps ninety per cent of them going to divorce courts sooner or later following marriage, or that will leave untold misery for unborn descendants of theirs. Along with preventing misery of the descendants, the people who would have associated with these descendants will be signally benefitted by the non-existence of the descendants. Iowa has taken a step in marriage regulation that Texas and many other states of this Union might follow out with much profit to themselves. We believe in being strictly humane, and in giving equal rights to all people unless the welfare of the majority be jeopardized by continuation of privilege to the minority. But, the time is unquestionably at hand when we need regulation of marriage to the extent that deficient mentalities, moral degenerates, and physical defectives cannot leave their semblances to perpetuate the corruption of society.

Wonder what would happen to this old world of all of the time and energy going to waste in the thousands loafing around the towns and big cities could be harnessed and put to work. The hotel lobbies are full of seemingly loafers. The streets are crowded and usually a good per cent seem to have nothing to do. The show places are filled during work hours with hundreds of people. Most of them merely passing away the time—valuable time.—Randall Co. News.

Too true, too true. Loafing is fast becoming a general nuisance. People either do not know what to do with their time, or else care little as to the disposal of it, that is, those who loaf. Yet time and energy are the two most precious gifts at the command of men. If more general and complete education and enlightenment of mankind fails to teach men how to use time instead of wasting it, we shall have failed, largely, in the matter of education.

Here are a few things that never happen: Success without work, happiness without giving in, health without taking care of what you have, the having of friends without being one, and the appreciation of money, fame or good fortune without earning such.—Lorenzo Tribune.

All the evidence in hand proves the truth of these statements. Still, there are countless numbers of people seeking success without "hitting the ball." They want happiness but contend for their own way. They desire to retain physical vigor, but dissipate their energies in every conceivable form. Apparently, they expect people to fall all over them, but show little regard for others. They think they could appreciate good fortune if it were thrust upon them, but not many do.

But, there's a brighter side. While there are many who tally with the above description, there are many, many others who take the sane view of things. After all, this is a pretty good old world, and, considering the

GOOD FOOD AND HUSBANDS

A certain publication mentions that the way to a man's heart is the same as of old—through the kitchen.

Granted that kind, amount, and quality of food one eats partly determines the disposition, it would be well for the housewife to remember this old-fashioned maxim about the "way to a man's heart." Should there be any danger of a tendency on the part of the husband to become displeased, dissatisfied, or disgruntled with domestic relations, such a tendency would, to some extent, be averted by proper attention to the husband's diet.

It is a foregone conclusion that food DOES affect the attitude one has toward life. Good food keeps the body in good condition, laying the foundation for cheerfulness and optimism. With a healthy body, the individual is apt to attack individual life problems with considerably more zeal. Too, adverse conditions make less impression on the healthy person, as a rule.

Asserting an opinion, we might say that many divorces might be avoided if the right attention were given to the family diet. No doubt there have been many instances of homes broken up where the food question started the trouble, and yet, perhaps, neither party to the divorce realized what started the trouble.

To say the least of it, the housewife, if she be a good dietitian, holds a strong weapon to use in maintaining her place as "the one woman."

And, after all, we might remark, too, that the husband should be such a provider as will give the woman opportunity to prove her skill in appealing to the taste.

advantages and disadvantages, we are, personally, of the opinion that it's an advantage to be here among the throng.

After all Snyder is going to gin lots of cotton this year; in fact, the number of bales produced in Scurry County this year will be surprisingly large to some.—Scurry Co. Times.

Same here, Bro. Martin. Weather conditions have thus far hindered progress of picking, but Texas weather changes, and when we have had some time to get at the job, this county will come to the front in a hurry. Slaton ginned about 12,000 bales last year.

DEVELOPING CONCENTRATION

How do you like to listen to a public speaker? Can you concentrate your mind on what a speaker is saying? Does your mind wander off into other fields while somebody else is making a public speech? Are you able to concentrate your mind on the thing you are reading right now?

These are all important questions. Probably most mistakes people make, and most of their twisted opinions are the direct result of their failure to concentrate. Old people who have this failing can correct it to a certain extent. But, there is no excuse for a young person failing to train himself to LISTEN or to CONCENTRATE upon the thing he reads.

When you hear a public speaker, look him in the eye while he is speaking. This will assist you to keep your mind on what he is saying, even though it may be rather uninteresting. And, by keeping your eye on the speaker you not only help yourself to HEAR what he says, but you will assist the speaker, for a good speaker looks you in the eye while he speaks. And, he will be inspired if you give him the close attention that always goes with looking a speaker straight in the eye.

It is an accomplishment to a speaker to give him your attention, you injure give him your best attention. To fail your own power of concentration, and make him feel that you do not care much for him or his speech—which is an unjustified attitude.

When you hear any kind of a public speech, listen to the speaker attentively, keeping your eye on him constantly. Cultivate your own power of concentration of thought and help the poor "guy" who is doing his best to get something off his chest.

Rotarians Discuss Business Associations

The subject for discussion at the regular weekly Rotary Luncheon last Friday was on business associations and their part in promoting co-operation and ethical practices among business and professional men.

John W. Hood had charge of the program and led off with a number of good suggestions on the subject. Some of the Rotarians who were scheduled to take part on the program were unavoidably detained from the meeting and their places were filled by other members impromptu.

W. H. Smith discussed the subject from the standpoint of transportation, and R. A. Baldwin was called on by the program chairman. He responded with a talk on the value of good will and co-operation among business and professional men, and good will and co-operation between towns and communities, declaring that whatever makes for the welfare and progress of one section of the south plains country helps every section.

A poll of the members present disclosed that a large majority of Slaton Rotarians belong to various associations having for their object accomplishment of those things in their respective lines of business which the Rotary-ideal wishes all to unite in for the greater good of the entire community.

J. B. Miller, variety store man, was admitted as a new member of the Club. There were a number of visitors present from distant points, and the meeting was not only enjoyable but profitable.

CLOVIS TRANSFERS PLANT TO NEW MEXICO UTILITIES

Clovis has voted to sell the municipally owned water and light plant to the New Mexico Utilities Company, the vote on the issue being 369 for the sale, and 273 against it.

Probably one of the main points that influenced the voters in favoring the sale of the plant were the many letters from Texas towns showing the progressiveness of the Texas Utilities Company and their interest in community development as well as the service given in these towns.

Since the election, I. R. Kelso, president of the Utilities Company, has said that all city employees in the water and light departments would, if they desired, remain in the employ of the Utilities Company at no salary reductions. Mr. Kelso declined to make such a statement before the election was held, feeling that it was a matter that should not be discussed during the campaign.

All details have been completed for the transfer. Plans are going ahead for the extensive improvements to be made in the plant here, and within a short time actual construction of the "White Way" and necessary expansion at the plant will be under way.—Clovis News.

Clovis has taken a progressive step. The Texas Utilities and the New Mexico Utilities are linked up under the furnishing the name for that branch of the industry. Slaton, and large numbers of other Plains and Panhandle towns, are served by the Texas Utilities.

The service rendered these towns is good and, so far as we know, is adequate in all cases. The Utilities Company is a public service corporation with progressive standards. They realize that town development and good service means increased business, and are always ready to co-operate with the towns they serve in making needed improvements.

Slaton has the "White Way" such as Clovis is soon to have, and so have many others towns in this section. We congratulate our neighbor—Clovis.

Lincoln Portrait Drawn From Life

In a Way, Most Interesting of All Pictures of the Great President.

Freeman Thorpe, in an article published in Leslie's gave a deeply interesting account of how he made two life sketches of the martyred President, one of them being at Gettysburg while Lincoln was waiting to deliver his famous speech.

Mr. Thorpe wrote:

I was at home in Geneva, Ohio, when I heard that a train which was coming that afternoon from the east had on board Mrs. Lincoln, wife of the newly elected President. I hustled about and stirred up the militia company of the town, and when the train pulled in we had the cannon and were firing a salute in honor of the future occupant of the White House.

Then I was introduced to Mrs. Lincoln as the boy who had caused the salute. She was pleased, and treated me very graciously. Some weeks after that I wrote to President Lincoln and asked him to stop his inaugural train at Geneva, so I could make a sketch of him.

To my delight, Lincoln replied, agreeing to my request. I let it be known in Geneva that President Lincoln would honor the town by stopping there a few minutes, on his way to take office, and from sunrise until the train arrived every bell in Geneva kept up a continual ringing. People heard the noise away out in the country, and came in to learn what it was all about.

George G. Barnard, well-known sculptor, is here shown at his New York studio putting the finishing touches to the first of four 15-foot heads of Abraham Lincoln which are to be placed along the Lincoln highway, in four states.

When the train pulled in I was the first to clamber onto the platform of the President's car. There stood Lincoln ready to clasp my hand. Then I took my position on the next platform, and began my sketch, while the crowd pushed up to shake his hand. Of course that sketch was rough, but I got the likeness.

Then came the war. I enlisted and served in the Second Ohio cavalry, fighting in the Shenandoah valley. My health broke down and I was sent on detached duty to Jeffersonville, Ind., to recuperate. When I regained my health, I went on to Washington to rejoin my regiment. That was just before the first anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg. With my precious Geneva sketch of Lincoln, I went to the War department and asked for a furlough to go to Gettysburg and make another sketch of the President, for it had been announced that Mr. Lincoln would speak on that occasion.

I got the furlough and rode on the same train with the President, securing an audience. I showed him my finished drawing, made from the Geneva "sketch," and he complimented it.

When we arrived at Gettysburg, we found a great crowd there, interested in the scenes of the battlefield, rather than in the program of speeches. There were many open graves and battle victims were being buried.

Only a comparatively small number of people gathered about the stand to hear the speeches. I stood within 15 feet of Mr. Lincoln, as he sat on the platform. There I made another sketch. There is a wonderful difference in its expression from that of the Geneva sketch! The lines are deeper; the countenance more grave.

We listened two hours to the oration of Edward Everett, then the President stepped forward, a sheet of paper in his left hand. There he stood, his left foot advanced ahead of his right, and began to speak, gestulating somewhat with both long arms. The crowd settled down to hear an hour's address, but it was all over in less than three minutes and the President sat down. There was no applause. The audience was astonished. Three minutes, when they had expected an hour! The meeting silently broke up.

In 1871 I went to Washington with my two Lincoln sketches. They were the only known sketches from life of the martyr President, and that fact interested the senators.

They built a studio for me on the capitol roof, over the senate wing, and I occupied it for 20 years. I was twenty-seven years old when given that studio, but not until last year did I finish my portrait of Lincoln. The library committee of the senate recommended its purchase, and the senate unanimously voted $2,000 for it.

Few but Have Kindly Feeling for Lincoln

"You (the South) have no oath registered in Heaven to destroy the government, while I have the most solemn one to preserve, protect and defend it," said Lincoln in his first inaugural. This is the Lincoln who appeals to the conservatives, the Lincoln who saved the Union, says a writer in the Boston Globe.

They quote him on emancipation: "If I could save the Union without freeing any slave, I would do it; if I could save the Union by freeing all the slaves, I would do it. . . . Whatever I do about slavery and the colored race, I do because I believe it helps save the Union."

However much he hated slavery, Lincoln saw the Union as his first job, and even the stodgiest Tory of today can respect him on this count.

But the nonconservative (from the lightest pink to the deepest red) remembers Lincoln's remark on first seeing a slave market. "If I ever get a chance to hit that thing, I'm going to hit it hard."

During the spring of 1910, one of the reddest magazines in America daunted a full-page face of the Emancipator on its cover and in its editorial section justified its course with examples from the life of Lincoln.

Even Lenin, in one of his "Letters to American Workingmen," commented on the emancipation of the slaves and paid tribute to the President who accomplished it.

The South always felt that had Lincoln lived it would have been spared the major horrors of reconstruction.

Presidential Victory Came as Birthday Gift

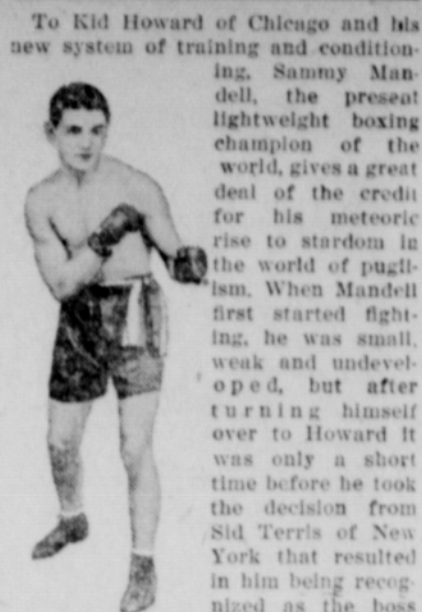

Almost in the nature of a birthday gift came the news to Abraham Lincoln that he had been elected President of the United States. The electoral college met and voted and on February 8 congress assembled in joint convention.

At this convention the vice president announced he had the returns from the states of Tennessee and Louisiana, but in obedience to the existing laws, he held it to be his duty not to present them to the convention. Only the returns from the loyal states, including West Virginia, were counted. The result showed 212 electoral votes for Lincoln and 21 for McClellan.

On the very day of the President's birthday, announcement came to Washington that the cotton ships Sherman had sent from Savannah had put into New York and Newport, R. I. The dispatches were featured in the newspapers announcing the arrival of the vessels and commenting with favor on the prospects of getting cargoes of cotton from the newly opened ports of the South.

If there were any thoughts of death on his mind on his last birthday, however, it is more than likely that they were due to a conscientiousness of having labored under too terrific a strain for any man to survive, especially with four years more of vexatious problems and unceasing labor ahead.

Trainer of Boxers Gives Diet Hints

Sammy Mandell. Howard's system is unique in that it works no hardship on the athlete who is in training. Unlike the systems that have been used for years, this prominent and successful trainer of men makes conditioning more of a pleasure than a distasteful necessity. Instead of demanding that his men eat only certain things he advises them to eat what they want and when they want it as long as it is cooked in a proper manner. Mr. Howard, in a recent interview on the subject of diet and condition, said, in part: "Years ago it was a task, and an unpleasant one, for a boxer or a wrestler to train for a bout because he was forced to literally starve himself unless he wanted to eat steaks and chops at all times. I remember that when I was training for a match, I was so truly tired of steaks that I choked every time that I ate one but it was steak or nothing. I advise my men to diet at all times but it is perfectly possible for them to diet and, at the same time, to enjoy their food. My only 'don't' is the one regarding the eating of such combinations as fresh milk and cheese, and fruit with cream. In fact, I advocate the use of evaporated milk entirely. Vegetables are fine and the more that the athlete eats the better he will be for it. Pastry, of certain kinds, such as homemade pies, cakes and cookies, if made correctly, and with pure butter, evaporated milk and pure lard, are very beneficial. Stews and boils are ideal. Taken as a whole, any food, with a few exceptions, is all right if properly cooked and eaten without gorging."

And one has but to look at Howard, who is the most religious user of his own system, to realize that it is a success.

FEEDING BABY DURING SUMMER

Milk is recognized as the ideal food for young children. It should be carefully guarded during the warm summer months, to insure its freedom from germs or bacteria that might cause harm to the child. Because of its nature, it is, under certain conditions, a breeding and propagating ground for germ life and may soon become unfit for use unless it is handled with the utmost care and vigilance. Perhaps the ideal way to obviate this risk is through the use of evaporated milk. This milk is only pure milk with sixty per cent of the water removed from it and is absolutely sterile. It is of double richness but may be modified by the addition of water, which will return it to its original volume with a greatly enhanced food value.

Evaporated milk is sterilized and has a high nutritive content. This causes it to be a very excellent food for the young child and the infant. In fact, many of the leading pediatricians of the country advocate its use after the child is deprived of its mother's milk. A formula, evolved by these pediatricians, through experimentation, is as follows:

From Sixth Week to Third Month.

Milk, evaporated 6 ounces
Lime water 2 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Bottled water 25 ounces
Seven feedings in twenty-four hours: 4 to 5 ounces at three-hour intervals during the day and four-hour intervals at night.

From Third Month to Fifth Month.

Milk, evaporated 7½ ounces
Lime water 3 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Bottled water 25 ounces
Six feedings in twenty-four hours: 5 to 6 ounces at three-hour intervals during the day and a feeding at 10 p. m.

From Fifth to Seventh Month.

Milk, evaporated 10 ounces
Lime water 3 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Bottled water 25 ounces
Five feedings in twenty-four hours: 6 to 7 ounces at four-hour intervals, the last feeding to be given at 10 p. m.

From Seventh to Ninth Month.

Milk, evaporated 11 ounces
Lime water 3 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Bottled water 25 ounces
7 to 9 ounces at four-hour intervals during the day. Last feeding at ten at night.

From Ninth to Twelfth Month.

Milk, evaporated 12 ounces
Lime water 3 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Bottled water 25 ounces
8 to 9 ounces at four-hour intervals during day. Last feeding at ten at night.

HOW MUCH WOULD THE GOLD BE WORTH

Dorothy Clifton Wilson
What if you were the only one
On this monstrous old earth,
And all the gold was yours,
How much would the gold be worth?

Just think everything on the earth,
All the cattle, stock and land,
Would be yours, only yours,
To hold in the palm of your hand.

What would you do with your land,
Your stock and cattle galore,
Would you just sit down and take
Things easy, or would you wish for more?

I imagine it would be all right for a while,
And you'd really enjoy yourself,
Until you found there'd be,
No one to envy you, left.

I'd rather have just the barest necessities,
Than live in a land of gold,
For then I can keep my body,
And let God possess my soul.

THE WOMAN WHO WORKS

In this new order of things, with women, both married and single, broadening their business activities, a very serious problem arises. It is the problem of what, when, and where to eat.

Breakfast is always a hurry-up meal for the men but much more so for the woman who goes to business. Lunches, of course, are taken in the lunchrooms and restaurants in the business districts and are no problem. But how about dinners? Shall they, too, be restaurant meals or can they be so planned that business women may enjoy the home cooking of which they are so fond? Take away the element of haste and anxiety and in its place put carefully thought-out menus, well planned and easily prepared, and home dinners will again regain their high favor with the working housewife.

One of the big worries is frequently with the milk. Did it come? Is it fresh? Is it frozen? Has the milkman been paid? Are the bottles washed and set out? However, there is no cause for worry about milk. Why not keep a dozen cans of evaporated milk in your pantry? There are large cans, equal to a quart of milk and smaller cans that will meet the lesser needs.

For evaporated milk is just pure, fresh milk with more than half the water missing. This water can be replaced in a jiffy. If you so desire or you can use it as cream if rich and creamy foods are desired.

Here are a few recipes that may be used by "The Woman Who Works" for forming her plans for self help and good home cooking.

Scalloped Ham and Potatoes.

1 pound smoked ham	1 1/2 cups water
1 green pepper
1/2 medium potatoes	(may be omitted)
1 1/2 cups evaporated milk	Flour

Cover the bottom of an oiled baking dish with sliced, raw potatoes. Sprinkle with flour and pieces of ham 1/2 inch square. Repeat until dish is full. Fill dish 3/4 full of diluted milk. Bake until potatoes are tender.

Eggs en Casserole.

6 hard-boiled eggs	1/2 cup evaporated milk
2 tomatoes	1/2 cup water
2 tsp. butter	1/2 cup grated cheese
2 tsp. flour	Buttered crumbs
2 tsp. salt

Cut hard-boiled eggs in half and arrange around the edge of a greased casserole. Slice tomatoes in center of dish. Make a white sauce of the milk, water, fat and flour. Add cheese and stir over a low fire until cheese is well mixed and smooth. Pour over tomatoes and eggs. Cover with crumbs and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

The Rose in History

The rosary of religious services is named for the rose, crushed roses, according to chroniclers, having been strung before the advent of beads. And we are told that the expression, "sub rosa" came about because the Romans used to paint a large rose on the ceiling of their banquet halls as a reminder to those present that what of curried was not to be repeated.

Longevity Recipe

The Cardinal de Solis, archbishop of Seville, in Spain, was one hundred ten years old when he died. He used to tell his friends, when asked what regimen he observed to enable him to live to such a great age, "By being old when I was young, I am able to be young when I am old. I led a sober, studious, contemplative, but not lazy or sedentary life."

INFECTIOUS DISEASES

With the majority of schools in full swing over the state, precautions for the protection of school children against infectious diseases are urged upon county and city health authorities and school officials by the state board of health.

In regard to this, Dr. H. O. Sappington, state health officer, stated: "With the beginning of each school term, reporting of infectious diseases is given an impetus, rising in successive peaks on the heels of epidemics common to childhood such as measles, whooping cough, mumps, diphtheria and scarlet fever. The reasons for this are obviously due to the close association of children in rooms which are often overcrowded, not sufficiently heated and improperly ventilated."

"All of the infectious diseases which are commonly called children's diseases are generally conceded to be caused by some specific germ, and are transmitted from one person to another through personal contact or through the air of a badly ventilated room. Thus a child suffering from one of these diseases may be the means of starting an epidemic in any school community."

To Prevent Epidemics.

"As a general thing, a 'slight cold' is an advance symptom of many of these diseases, consequently a cold in a child especially if accompanied by temperature, should be regarded with suspicion. As all these ailments of childhood will prove themselves within a short period of time, children suffering with suspicious colds should be kept at home until sufficient time has elapsed to determine the character of such cold."

"Infectious diseases are more contagious during the early stages, though some people have the erroneous idea that the 'peeling off' period of measles and scarlet fever is the most contagious period. Children suffering with infectious diseases should be kept at home, and if possible, isolated from other children until health authorities say the danger period is over."

THE BABY CLINIC

The Baby Clinic will be held at the City Hall next Monday afternoon from two to five. All parents are urged to bring children who are under school age.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY

The meeting of the Presbyterian Auxiliary was held last Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. McKirahan. A missionary program was held, Mrs. Scudder being the leader. Others having parts on the program were: Mesdames Fogerson, Donald, and Waiters.

The meeting next Monday will be held with Mrs. W. H. McKirahan, and a program for Bible Study will be rendered with Mrs. V. E. McKirahan leading.

T. E. L. CLASS HAS SOCIAL

The T. E. L. Class met in business and social meeting last Friday afternoon with Mrs. F. H. Lanham. The Halloween idea was carried out in decorations of orange and black, the rooms being lighted with Jack O'Lanterns.

After all business was transacted, the ladies had their fortunes told in new and novel manners. Mrs. Thomas was adjudged as having the "most terrible" future predicted.

Mrs. Lanham, the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Watson and Marriott, served refreshments to the group. Owing to inclement weather, only sixteen members were present, but all heartily agree that Mrs. Lanham was a charming hostess.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. C. V. Young.

What the Pastors Said Last Sunday

"Men have hindered people from obeying the truth by perverting or changing the truth into a lie. Stinginess, temper, jealousy, hatred, envy, carelessness, and forgetfulness have all played their parts in crowding out the word of truth."—T. L. Kimmel, Pastor Church of Christ.

"The Golden Rule of Christ is a general rule intended to be applied to all the relations. It applies to conversation, and has been smashed into fragments many times in Slaton by the bitter criticisms of men by men and women by women. It applies to the business and industrial world successfully as has been proved many times in great business affairs."—From Sunday morning sermon of B. W. Dodson, Pastor M. E. Church.

"Genesis one was not written to teach science, but to teach the unity, spirituality, and omnipotence of God in opposition to the polytheism with which the children were surrounded. While this is true, it is miraculous how great is agreement between Genesis one and the proved facts of modern science. Evolution is an unproved theory. If "day" is interpreted in Genesis to mean an indefinite period of time, as is now being done by practically all Bible scholars, there is a general agreement between Genesis and the proved facts of science. The fourth day does not teach that the sun and moon were created at that time—for the Hebrew word for "create" is not there used. It probably means that the sun and moon at that period became visible through the vast clouds which science declares doubtless surrounded the earth for untold ages. Hence the sun and moon could then become available for signs, seasons, days, and years. Man was made in the image of God, and Christ revealed God's ideal man. Christ offered to man an eternity of progress and joy. No proved fact of science will ever destroy the Bible or disprove the Deity and Divinity of Christ. The Bible will abide forever to guide all nations."—Sunday night sermon of B. W. Dodson, Pastor M. E. Church.

"Widespread arguments are abroad to the effect that the forms, creed, and theology of the Church should be changed to meet the frequently changed and constantly changing conditions in the world. Answering such argument, I would say that Jesus Christ set up an organization, a New Testament Church, while in the world. The forms, creed, and ceremonies of that church are simple and adequate. Today's confusion results from efforts made to change Christ's simple commands to meet the whims of different people and in order to popularize Christianity. All that any man, or set of men, needs is a copy of the New Testament, an open mind, and a will to do His will. We need unwavering devotion and uncompromising loyalty to the pure truth that Jesus died to establish."—Jno. P. Hardesty, Pastor Baptist Church.

"It is the duty of parents to provide every possible advantage for the child as to education, home training, religious training, and physical development. In return, it is the duty of children to obey their parents rigidly. Children should strive to surpass the highest ideals the parents have set for the children to attain. Let the children "honor their fathers and mothers."—M. G. French, Rector Catholic Church.

Elder L. F. Powell was unable to fill his pulpit last Sunday because of illness. He will be with his congregation next Sunday at the City Hall.

DIXIE HIGHWAY MOTORCADE REACHES END OF TRAIL

"The Tenth Anniversary Tour of the Dixie Highway is over, but its benefits will continue for years." These were the words of Capt. W. S. Gilbreath, Grand Marshal, as he alighted from his Chrysler Six pilot car in Jacksonville, Fla., after a ten-day drive from Sacile Ste. Marie.

"Judging from the enthusiastic receptions extended us all the way from the Soo," continued Capt. Gilbreath, "this tour has awakened undying interest in the Dixie Highway, the first improved, through motor route from the north to the south."

A fine tribute was also paid to the Chrysler Six roadster.

To quote Capt. Gilbreath, "The car

COLLEGE HEAD PRAISES ATTITUDE OF SLATONITE

Among the many expressions of appreciation of the attitude of the Slatonite on public questions which have come to us from prominent citizens, The Slatonite very much appreciates the indorsement of President Paul W. Horn, of the Texas Technological College at Lubbock, on the editorial appearing in The Slatonite of October 8, 1925, entitled, "Lincoln at the Tech College." Dr. Horn's letter follows:

"Mr. R. W. Collier, Jr., Editor Slatonite, Slaton, Texas.

"Dear Mr. Collier: "I thank you very greatly for your editorial in the Slatonite of October 8, with reference to medallions on the outside of the Administration Building of the Texas Technological College.

"I think your sentiments are exactly correct, and I appreciate them very greatly indeed.

"With thanks and genuine appreciation, I remain,

Yours very truly, performed wonderfully. As leader of the caravan it set the pace and none passed it. It was the center of attraction everywhere, and elicited thousands of inquiries. I could not ask for better performance from any car. The trip was a constant grind but driving was a delight."

In Chattanooga, the national headquarters of the Dixie Highway Association the motorcade was welcomed by ten thousand people and escorted into the city by city officials, the fire and police departments and a detachment of U. S. Cavalry. In the evening a mammoth banquet was held in honor of the event. Similar celebrations were held in Rome, Atlanta and Macon.

Should Observe Fire Dep't. Regulations

Mayor S. F. King calls our attention again to the manner in which many people interfere with fire department service. When the fire alarm is sounded, many people start toward the fire at once, filling the street with cars, and making it impossible for the volunteer firemen to make time in going to the scene of the fire. These firemen go in their own cars, and should be allowed full right of way on the streets so they may reach the scene as soon as possible.

Recently, after an alarm call, some of the firemen reported that they could have been at the scene of the fire from five to ten minutes sooner had they not been held back by a stream of cars carrying the curiosity seekers. Sometime such delay might mean the needless loss of thousands of dollars worth of property.

It is the duty of all citizens to observe the regulation of turning in to the curb, at the sound of the fire alarm, and remain there at least five minutes. This gives the firemen complete freedom to reach the fire and get busy at once. No protection is provided even if the fire truck goes at once to the fire, unless the volunteer firemen can be there ready to use the fire-fighting apparatus.

Let's all co-operate in the suggested manner, and thus give better fire protection to the whole town.

In all malarial countries the popular remedy is Herbine. People find it a good medicine for purifying the system and warding off disease. Price, 60c. Sold by CITY DRUG STORE, John Dabney & Son, Props.

THEREFORE, BE IT ORDERED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF SLATON, TEXAS, that an election be held on the 17th day of November, A. D. 1925, at which election the following proposition shall be submitted:

"Shall the City Commission of the City of Slaton, Texas, be authorized to issue the bonds of the City of Slaton, Texas, in the sum of $100,000.00, payable serially from one to forty years after their date, said bonds to be in denominations of $1000.00 each, two of such bonds to mature on January 1st, 1927 to 1946, both years inclusive, and three of such bonds to mature on January 1st, 1947 to 1966, both years inclusive, being two of such bonds to mature each year for the first twenty years and three of such bonds to mature each year for the second twenty years, bearing interest at the rate of five and one-half percent per annum, the interest payable semi-annually on June 30th and January 1st of each year after the date of said bonds; and to levy a tax sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds as the same accrues and to create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem them as they mature, for the purpose of the construction within the said city of Slaton, Texas, of permanent street improvements, to-wit: Street paving, under authority of the Constitution and laws of the State of Texas relating thereto."

The said election shall be held at the city hall in said City of Slaton, and the following named persons are hereby named and appointed officers to hold the said election, to-wit: Ben White, Presiding Judge; R. Said election shall be held under the provisions of the Constitution and Laws of Texas applicable to such elections, and only qualified voters, who are property taxpayers of said city, shall be allowed to vote.

All voters who favor the proposition to issue the bonds shall have written or printed on their ballots the words: "For the issuance of $100,000.00 of Bonds for the purpose of the Construction of Permanent Street Improvements, to-wit: Street Paving, and the Levying of the Tax in Payment Thereof."

And those opposed shall have written or printed on their ballots the words: "Against the issuance of $100,000.00 of Bonds for the Purpose of the Construction of Permanent Street Improvements, to-wit: Street Paving, and the Levying of the Tax in Payment Thereof."

The manner of holding said election shall be governed by the laws of the State of Texas regulating general elections in so far as the same may be applicable.

Slatonite Advertising Shows Effectiveness

And the good work goes on. More news of quick action resulting from advertising done through the columns of the Slatonite.

In last week's issue of this paper, the Slaton Supply ran a nice display advertisement announcing a one-cent and ninety-nine-cent sale of aluminum wares. The sale was advertised to begin at 8:30 on the morning of Saturday, October 17th. Early this week in conversation with the manager, Mr. F. H. Lanham, we learned that the bulk of the goods advertised for that sale were disposed of in just a few minutes time. "In fact," said Mr. Lanham, "we had sold $100 worth of those goods by nine o'clock, thirty minutes after the sale opened." One lady reported that she arrived at the sale at 8:35 and found all the goods she was interested in had been sold during the first five minutes.

Another instance. Several days ago a bunch of keys were picked up on the streets and were handed to the Slatonite editor. Last week we inserted a line about the keys, asking the owner to call at our office and get them. Friday just after noon the owner appeared. He was Mr. J. L. Carter, cashier at the Harvey House, and naturally he was glad to get his keys back into his own hand.

And again. Little R. W. Collier, Jr. No. 2, son of the Slatonite editor, lost his sweater out at the scene of the aeroplane ride he took several days ago. We advertised for the sweater in our columns this past week, and within a few hours after the paper was in the mails the sweater was again warming the body of its youthful owner.

Now. The moral of this story is: "Advertise in the Slatonite for quick results. Your message will get to the crowd."

IMPROVING AFTER LONG SIEGE OF ILLNESS

Mr. J. I. Jones, who lives five miles south of Slaton, is improving slowly after having been confined five weeks suffering with typhoid fever. He is not able to leave his bed yet, but is much better than he has been, according to his son, Wilbur L. Jones who lives in Slaton.

Mr. Jones' many friends are all hoping he will soon be completely recovered.

LYNN COUNTY FARMER GETS 5-YEAR SENTENCE

The indictment charging murder was brought against Roberts following the fatal shooting of Calvin Petty on March 28, 1925. The shooting occurred at home of Roberts.

The Low Cost of Using Long Distance

LONG DISTANCE saves so much time, effort and money that some people just naturally assume that the rates for the service are high. But are they?

One of our subscribers recently sent his voice to eleven different people in eleven different towns from 8 to 225 miles away at a cost averaging 76 cents a call. He covered nearly 1000 miles and he transacted business with all of these people in 33 minutes.

How else could you accomplish such remarkable results in such little time at such low cost?

Rates for many Long Distance calling points are listed in your telephone directory. Consult this list. It will pay you.
