Pat Bullock, center, chairman of State Board of Pardons and Paroles, receives a plaque for unselfish service to Mitchell County and State of Texas at a joint luncheon of Kiwanis, Lions and Jay-

Joint Civic Event Tribute to Bullock

Colorado City offered its plaudits Tuesday to hometown, Pat Bullock, for his service as chairman of Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

The former state senator and Colorado City businessman was honored at a combined luncheon of Kiwanis, Jaycees and Lions.

He received a bronze plaque inscribed "in appreciation of unselfish service to Mitchell County and The State of Texas" from the three civic groups.

Sims Palmer, Kiwanian and former postmaster, presented the plaque to Bullock at the conclusion of the luncheon program for which the board chairman was principal speaker.

"This is a surprising honor," Bullock told the audience. "And I want you to know that Colorado City is the finest place to live... and it is the place I would rather live in all the world, but circumstances keep me in Austin."

Bullock heads the three-member board which supervises the Texas probation and parole system, which began in 1893 as Board of Prison Advisers and now through additional legislative revisions in 1937 and 1957 has progressed to its present program.

Approximately 2,000 cases per month are handled in the board's files each month and at least 300 visitors are interviewed.

And the adult parole system has a staff which includes a director, assistant director, parole analyst, 90 parole officers and 400 staff workers.

Bullock was first appointed to the board 10 and a half years ago by the Chief Justice of Texas Supreme Court. The other two members appointed by the governor and Presiding Judge of Court of Criminal Appeals. Although he still has oil and property interests in the Colorado City area, Bullock closed his oil lease and investments business when he accepted the appointment and moved to Austin. Previously, he has served as State Senator after a career which included school teaching and management of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce.

4 Admit Burglaries, Fifth Suspect Sought

Four young Snyder men—two of them expectant fathers—went before Judge Austin McCloud in 32nd District Court here Wednesday and pleaded guilty to burglary and attempted burglary.

Their admissions of guilt cleared up June burglaries of downtown Montgomery

Ward & Company Catalog Store and Merchants East Freight, located on East Highway 80 business route all in Colorado City; and May 31 burglaries of Twin Creek cafe and station at Lake Champion, plus attempted burglaries in June at C. R. Anthony Store and Richburg Decorator Center.

Judge McCloud assessed prison terms totaling 77 years concurrently, but probated the sentences, subject to good behavior and full restitution of losses and damages at the businesses.

Here are the guilty pleas and probated sentences: James M. Crosson Jr., 22, four 10-year terms for burglary at Ward's Merchants, Twin Creek cafe and station; two 4-year terms for attempted burglary at Richburg's and Anthony's.

Garry Rains, 19, three 5-year terms for burglary at Ward's, Twin Creek cafe and station; two 4-year terms for attempted burglary at Richburg's and Anthony's. Tommy McKinley, 15, two 3-year terms for Twin Creek cafe and station.

Leon Franks, 19, two 3-year terms for burglary at Twin Creek cafe and station.

All four were named in sealed indictments returned July 14 by Mitchell County grand jury. Rains was taken into custody last week and the other three were arrested in Snyder early this week prior to their court appearances here Wednesday.

When the indictments were read in court it was revealed that officers are seeking a fifth person—Roy Burditt, also of Snyder.

Burditt is charged with all four burglaries and both attempted break-ins, but was not in custody Wednesday. He has been reported in the Snyder area recently, however.

The probated sentences mean that all four of those sentenced Wednesday, to remain free, must keep good records and make regular reports to probation officer for the length of their probated prison terms.

The 10-year probated sentences assessed Crosson were the longest of this type handed out by Judge McCloud in Colorado City. Crosson, who told the judge he was tempted to turn to the burglary because he was out of money at the time and thought he could get away with the offenses, has been to prison before. His wife is expecting a baby in less than two months.

He declared he would meet the demands of probation regulations.

Weevil Build Up More Trouble For Short Crop

Mitchell County's 1967 cotton crop—already short because of dry weather—may be in for extra trouble from boll weevils.

County Agent Bobby Lemons reported Wednesday a continuing build up of weevil infestation.

And staggered planting dates, resulting from variant moisture conditions across the county, can aggravate the weevil problem.

Lemons right now is estimating that Mitchell County's cotton acreage is about 75 per cent of last year's planted acreage which produced approximately 35,000 bales.

"The last crop report submitted my office estimated 80 per cent of last year... and we have abandoned some since then.

"Seventy per cent probably is too low a figure but I can't go 80 per cent."

Lemons in his Cotton Insect Report No. 7, dated July 31, emphasized the continuing build up of weevils on older cotton in the county's short-crop acreage.

"Boll weevil damage was observed on all farms being checked in the regular survey," the county agent said. "Punctured square damage ranged from 49.5 to less than one per cent."

However, additional checks Tuesday showed additional increase for the infestation.

For example, a cotton field with 5 per cent damage in the July 31 report had jumped to 20 per cent. Another field with 20 per cent damage in the July 31 report had increased to 33 per cent.

The top percentage field damage—49.5 per cent in July 31 report—had dropped to 24.5 Tuesday after a third low volume spraying in a control plan which will include total of five treatments.

Weevils now building up in early planted cotton can move onto later planted cotton after damaging the old crops.

"In this manner the weevils can get to both old and new cotton and cause more damage than if there had been uniform planting."

Mitchell County's expected short crop this year—just how short will depend upon moisture and other factors for the remainder of the growing season—in line with estimates across the nation.

The nation's 1967 crop amounted to 16 million bales, with Mitchell County

FOR HOSPITAL ELECTION

Rides To Polls, Town Hall Meeting Planned

A "town hall" meeting for Thursday evening, Aug. 10, and a Jaycee "ride to the polls" service were announced Wednesday in connection with the hospital district election here Aug. 12.

The "town hall" session is planned for 8 p.m. Aug. 10 in Medallion Room of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative Inc., according to J. S. (Jay) Craddock Jr., chairman of the hospital district election committee.

"This meeting will be for all citizens and will continue our efforts to provide the facts for every individual in this election which is so crucial to the health and welfare of our community," he emphasized.

Simultaneously with the "town hall" announcement, Craddock said Colorado City Jaycees have volunteered their services in providing transportation election day for those citizens who need a ride to the polls.

"If you desire to have this transportation to the polls," Craddock said, "then phone the Jaycees at RA 82351."

Volunteer from the Hospital District Education Committee already Wednesday had spoken to more than 20 separate groups in an effort to enlist full support among voters for the district plan.

These appearances have been before clubs, civic organizations, business and industrial employees, and church groups.

Sunday Bob Reilly, chairman of the Hospital District Committee, spoke to Oak Street Baptist Church and Tuesday two committee members—Craddock and Dr. Kenneth Cowan—spoke at St. Ann's Church. Craddock also discussed the district plan Tuesday with Mitchell County road employees and Wednesday Reilly spoke to members of Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

Two groups will hear hospital district speakers Thursday (today)—Southwestern Bell Telephone, at 8 a. m., and Westbrook Baptist Church, 7:30 p.m.

Speakers will appear at 11 a.m. services of four churches Sunday—First Christian and First Baptist in Colorado City, Plainview Baptist Church and Payne Baptist Church.

Part Of Long-Ago Water System Uncovered

Newby Pratt, manager of the Colorado City office of Federal Land Bank, surveys one of the cisterns uncovered during remodeling of his office and Gerald Gordon's insurance office on 101 block of West Second. The old cisterns, bricked and lined, were under the floor in the back part of the building, 10 or 12 feet apart in an off-set zig-zag pattern. New flooring will hide the old cisterns just as the old flooring had covered them for generations. Nothing of their history or origin had been learned by Pratt Wednesday.

Good Neighbors On Tractor Mission

Twenty-eight tractors plowed 500 acres of crop land Saturday morning. The work was by friends and neighbors of J. W. Blasingame, Buford farmer, who died July 20.

Tractors were furnished by 22 farm operators whose work—a gift for Mrs. Blasingame—was accomplished by 1 p.m.

In addition, nine youths contributed hoe help for the project.

Persons furnishing tractors were Henry Hoyle, Reuben Alvarez, Harold Kruse, Evert Haggerton, Glenn Harris, Louis Small, Alton Rashko, Mack Ritchey, Clyde W. Feaster, Archie Feaster, Hubert Feaster (2), Warren Anderson, Willie Giger, Ed Adams, Murrell Blasingame, Don Blasingame, A. M. Beights Jr., Bo Merket, Albert Martinez, Romaine Hammond, E. S. Miles and A. K. McCarley Jr. (3).

Hoe helpers were Ewen Feaster, Lawrence Feaster, Vera and Bonnie Kruse, Leo Reddell, Greg Reddell, Lonnie Reddell, David Reddell and Joe Blackard.

1 Dead, Another Safe Aboard Fire Ravaged Forrestal

Eldon Lee Cooper, Colorado City electrician's mate second class on the ill-fated USS Forrestal, is safe.

The 25-year-old sailor managed to place an overseas phone call with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cooper of Texas Electric Service Company Village, about midnight Tuesday.

But for Cooper's old buddy and former roommate, Jerry Paul Rodgers of Snyder, the news was different.

Rodgers, son-in-law of Colorado City's Northside Church of Christ minister and younger brother of Bobby Rodgers, 1216 Pine, died in the tragic fire and explosions aboard the carrier Saturday off Vietnam.

Previously, Rodgers had been reported missing by the Navy. Then the family was informed Tuesday he was dead.

When Cooper's good-news call came (collected) from the Philippines where the damaged Forrestal is now docked, the Cooper family was still awake Tuesday night.

Waiting with Cooper's parents were the navyman's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Grammer, and his paternal grandmother.

There has been little sleep or rest at the Cooper home since news of the disaster.

Cooper told his parents, who shared extension phones, that he was just under the flight deck when the fire and explosions of bombs began.

"We knew what it was," he said, "and ran to the opposite end of the vessel until general call to posts."

"I am fine. I have written you, sent you a cable and just now got this line through."

business over his escape from injury was the fact that his buddy and former roommate when both worked at Big Spring, Jerry Paul Rodgers, did not escape. Rodgers, working on the flight deck when the accident happened, lost his life and is listed officially dead by the United States Navy.

Cooper, graduate of Colorado High School in 1960, attended Howard County Junior College and the University of Texas at Austin, where his major is electrical engineering.

He joined the Navy in 1963.

Fire on the Forrestal came just four days after the giant carrier arrived in Tonkin Bay. A total of 129 men were killed in the accident and 64 were injured.

attended aviation school the former Miss Charlotte Batten, daughter of Oscar Batten, minister of Northside Church of Christ, and Mrs. Batten. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rodgers, 212 Elm St., Snyder. Mr. and Mrs. Batten flew to Oceania, Va., to be with their daughter, shortly after news of her husband's death reached here. Mrs. Rodgers has been living at Oceania, home port of the Forrestal which left for Viet Nam, June 6.

Graduate of Snyder High School with the class of 1963, Rodgers enlisted in the Navy in October 1964 and Rodgers was husband of for six months in Memphis, Tenn., before spending a year at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. His marriage to Miss Batten took place in Northside Church of Christ here when he returned from Cuba.

Also surviving him are four sisters.

2 Directors and Board Officers

Lone Wolf Re-elects

The board, following the membership, then re-elected its officers for another term. Renamed by members to the co-op's board of directors were Raymond Althoff, Area 5, and A. K. McCarley Jr., Area 7.

Two other candidates were on the ballot — Don Richburg, Area 5, and Henry Hoyle, Area 7. In the board session Tuesday night, Martin Murphy was re-elected president of the board of directors. Two other officers, re-elected were McCarley, vice president, and Gwan Strange, who has served as secretary since 1953.

Approximately 1,500 persons attended the annual membership meeting in Lone Wolf Coopatorium.

Free coffee doughnuts and soft drinks were served by Westbrook Future Farmers, beginning at 6 p.m. The Lorraine Quartet were featured entertainment at 6:30 p.m.

Fred B. (Rudy) Rudolph of Coleman was master of ceremonies and humorous speaker.

In the annual financial report, for the period ending last Dec. 31, the cooperative listed $2,375,025 in assets. These assets included $1,014,460 in net value for the Lone Wolf system plant not counting $919,014 in plant depreciation.

The co-op report listed a total of $1,641,228 owed to Rural Electrification Administration, including $1,565,014 in principal and $76,214 in deferred interest.

Through the years Lone Wolf has paid $973,272 in due payments and $197,006 in advance payments.

Revenue from electric service last year — down from previous year because of weather conditions that cut down irrigation pumping — amounted to $383,777. Total revenue, including other electric and not non operating income, was $401,716.

Lone Wolf in 1966 paid $107,701 for power it purchased; paid out $130,728 for operating and maintaining its plant; counted $82,310 in plant depreciation; paid $12,241 in taxes and $31,438 on REA debt.

Ryerson capital and margins for 1966 amounted to $35,113.

Murphy and Althoff in their annual report told Lone Wolf members that "your cooperative and you can move forward together."

"With your continued patronage of your electrical business," their statement continued, "and the cooperative's constant striving for better electric service, the growth, development and success of this small portion of West Texas enterprises and people can and will reach new objectives and new goals."

Buy Bonds where you work.

They work for freedom. And they hope it's a temporary job. They look forward to getting back home, when their tour is over, to a college education. Or to a family. Or just to the future they're helping protect. Right now they're saving for that future through regular purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds. (A majority of our men in service—those who defend our freedom—are helping pay the bill for freedom by buying Bonds.) Show these men you're with them by buying Savings Bonds where you bank or joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. You'll make a good investment in your future. And you'll walk a bit taller.

U.S. Savings Bonds

Bond facts: Savings Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 at maturity in only seven years... are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen... have special tax advantages... can be redeemed whenever the need arises.

IN HOME CEREMONY

Miss Karen Marricle Is Wed To Robert Holman

Miss Karen Yvonne Marricle became the bride of Robert Glen Holman, Saturday evening, in a ceremony performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Marricle, route three. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Holman, also of route three. Rev. James Renfro of Coahoma was officiant for the exchange of double ring vows.

Improvised altar was arranged in front of the fireplace where the mantel held twin bouquets of daisies and English ivy accented with white satin bows, placed at each end.

Entering with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a street-length dress of white crepe enhanced with a panel of white Irish lace, draped around the neckline and down the length of the back of the gown. The wedding dress was designed and made by Mrs. Bob Head, aunt of the bride, of Snyder.

A crown of lace and seed pearls held the bride's shoulder-length veil. Her bridal bouquet was of calla lilies centered with a yellow daisy corsage, topped a white Bible.

Maid of honor was Miss Sharon Byrne, Landers Community. Miss Byrne's yellow crepe dress was fashioned in the A-line with a rolled collar. With it she wore a matching Dior bow in her hair and carried a long-stemmed yellow carnation.

Charles N. Stubblefield was best man, attending the groom.

Reception feting the bride and groom and their wedding guests followed the ceremony.

The bride's table, covered in a white hand-crocheted cloth over yellow, held the three-tiered wedding cake, baked by the mother of the bride.

For a honeymoon visit in Ruidoso, New Mexico, the bride traveled in a white linen dress complimented with a lace coat.

The couple will live in Colorado City where the groom is engaged in farming. He is a 1960 graduate of Colorado High School. His bride was graduated from Colorado High School in 1965.

Out-of-town guests present at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Holman and daughters of Coahoma; Mrs. Trina Marricle, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. Iris Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marricle, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Haygood, maternal grandparents of the bride; Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Head and family, Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Aeri, Jr., and family, Waco; Janet and Ray Morgan, Cortez, Colorado; Miss Idalia Wood, Sweetwater; Mrs. Terrance Duffey and Shelly of Big Spring.

producing about 50,000 bales. Revised national estimates point to "less than nine million bales" for 1967.

If the county agent is right in his estimate that Mitchell County now has about 75 per cent of last year's acreage in growing cotton, then that means the crop is less than 35,000 acres. Last year, the county's 42,000 acres produced 35,500 bales of cotton. Many of these acres had above average yield.

Lemons reported insect activity, except for weevil build up in older cotton, generally light across the county.

Pleashoppers were reported in medium and aphids were reported heavy in one field.

Ball worms were light with first generation having completed their life cycle. Egg laying has been light for worms. Average damage to squares and bolls for checked fields was one per cent.

Beneficial insects were counted light to medium.

CONVERSATION CORNER

VIEW with alarm department is headed this week by that picture of The President and Mrs. Johnson and their first daughter, Lynda Byrd, on their way to church Sunday.

Lynda Byrd, really a lovely-to-look-at young lady, has been conned by some style expert or ultra-fashion magazine into the current and cunning "little boy" look.

And there stands Miss Johnson wearing a figured, double-breasted coachman's dress two inches above the knee, fishnet hose, babydoll slippers with straps, and a plain hat with rolled brim in the back.

Heavenly daze . . .

NOBODY clothed and in the right mind would presume to try to tell the President's elder daughter what to wear in public or in private.

But there are those staunch admirers of Lynda who will have to restrain themselves now from telling her what NOT to wear.

She has a good figure. Nice long legs. Beautiful eyes. A magnetic smile.

Why would anybody on earth want to turn her into a Tall Texas Twiggy?

WONDER WHY list for now includes wonder why lawyers call the papers they draw up for trials "briefs," when they're anything but?

Why do doctors keep calling it "practicing medicine" even after 40 years of "practice?"

Why are grandparents "grand" and what makes great-grandparents "great?"

Why does one house burn down . . . another house burn up?

Why isn't it ever the heat and not the humidity?

Why do otherwise smart people say height-ht when practically nobody ever says wright-th?

POINT with pride department is headed currently by our Jodie (Arla Jo Payne) who appears again, Sunday, on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour TV show. She's daughter of Addie V. and Jimmie Payne.

This time, Jodie will compete as one of the winners in a previously viewed series of shows televised in Texas. The University of Texas at Arlington student was flown to New York City in the spring for the taping of August 13 show. She does a terrific percussion number.

And did you happen to read that Green Oaks Inn ad in the Sunday Ft. Worth Star Telegram? After noting the fact that Kyle Rote, former All American at SMU, and his wife, one-time Miss America, had been staying at Green Oaks, the advertisement added this paragraph: "Another guest who looked like a former Miss America was Madge Bell, the dazzling wife of Colorado City publisher Joe Bell."

SEEN LATELYS included Leslie Hamilton on the downtown scene . . . Clem Myers talking plans for a vacation up at Cloudcroft for him and his wife Frances . . . Mrs. Jimmie Maddox with a beautifully becoming new hair-do.

Mrs. Sue Edwards was wearing her "happiness is" expression. The Edwards expect son Spinks and his family for a visit from Venezuela very soon.

Neille (Mrs. Jesse) Bunch was an office visitor . . . Ditto Jay Craddock . . . and Weems Dykes.

RED RIVER, New Mexico, is meeting place this week for three C-City couples.

Arlene Morris, his wife Catherine, their sons Dale and Bill . . . Dr. H. Jene Steakley, his wife Bobbie, their younger sons Rusty and Dan . . . and Fred and Addie Ruth McKay planned their vacations to include several days together at Red River.

Topper Steakley, first son of Jene and Bobbie is attending summer classes at Baylor University, Waco.

RIDING Cloud Nine are Gus and Frances Chesney and their beautiful daughter Linda.

Linda's husband, Lt. Tim Bennett, is home from a 13-month tour of duty in Korea. The young couple visited his parents in Pittsburg, Texas, and are here with the Chesneys until Friday.

They leave Friday for El Paso where the lieutenant will be stationed until his separation from the Army, come February.

GUESTS in the home of Bill and Nettie Doss six days of last week were Nettie's sister Lila, her husband Hoyle Foster, and the Foster son James Martin Foster of San Antonio.

The Fosters were enroute home from a visit to Canada's famous Expo 67. They also visited Mr. Foster's mother in Nebraska before returning to Texas.

HEAR TELL that Guy and Ellen Burson returned to San Antonio, scene of their honeymoon, for first part of their week's vacation.

That Buddy and Lou Hertenberger and their Jerry Lyn and Russell are talking Cloudcroft for their family vacation.

That the Fred Nalls are back in C-City. They've been living in Alaska.

That Randle Davis, son of Ann and grandson of Bill and Josie Randle, will celebrate his eighth birthday, come Saturday.

T. J. GOSS, rural mail carrier and correspondent to a batch of daily newspapers who also makes his own news pictures, was an office visitor.

Goss, one of this corner's more amusing friends, "allowed as how" he got all dressed up one day just to get his name in the column . . . and then couldn't find the columnist at work.

Which has to mean he came calling before 9 a.m., after 5 p.m., between 12 noon and 1 p.m. or maybe on one of the mornings "off."

POSTSCRIPT — One of the occupational hazards of this job is that up mixing up the names of people's sons — especially if they have similar, sound-alike names. Sunday's column had Don Redwine instead of DAVID Redwine. They are brothers and sons of trusting readers, the Heston Redwines.

DON is married to the former little Golda Cary who is working in Sun Oil office while he fights a war in Viet Nam. They met in Hawaii, recently, when Don had a short Rest & Relaxation leave. Remember?

DAVID, married to the former Linda Carter, is a student in SMU, daddy of Andrea, the year-old grandchild visited by the Redwines and the Arthur Carters.

Their friends all know the difference . . . but just to keep the Record straight . . . DAVID and Linda and Andrea live now in Dallas.

DON, David's brother, is somewhere in Viet Nam. And his heart belongs to Golda.

Pretty Powerful

That's a big party Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative throws every August for its membership.

The hundreds and hundreds attending are personal reminders for the tremendous impact this business co-op has upon our community.

While some keep count of how many Cokes are consumed during the anniversary gathering, I'm usually thinking about the 3,000 customers Lone Wolf is servicing with electricity.

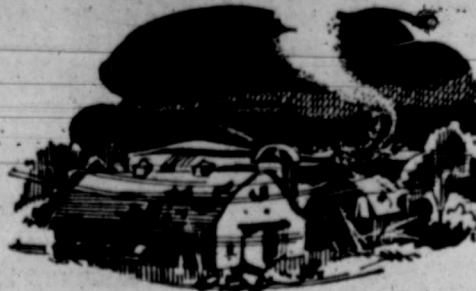

Have you ever stopped to consider how many more refrigerators, televisions, freezers, toasters, vacuum cleaners and all the rest are sold here in Colorado City because these customers have that service?

That's a pretty hefty business for all us. And, as I've said before, those customers of Lone Wolf are like all the rest of Mitchell County citizens — the best in the world.

Whys Blast Whats In Dad's Game

The Whys slaughtered the Whats 12-4 in the Junior League Dad's Game Thursday night.

The Whys got a roaring start, and most of their runs, in the first inning. Jim Davalt was safe on base after a first baseman's error when Henry Hoyle knocked a single.

Jack Pharris walked before losing What pitcher, Moose Montgomery, got hot enough to strike out Why short stop H. P. Vest.

Davalt and Hoyle scored, but base umpire Mrs. Alvin Self called Pharris out at third. Umpire for first and second bases were Mrs. Dan Benson and Mrs. Dale Blonette.

Joe Kirkland, Joe Boyd, Pat Holbert, and Dale Bisnette all crossed the plate before Davalt was put out after tripling his second time up.

The Whats were not as fortunate this inning. Don Benson scored after a catcher's error, and Buck May stretched his single into a run. But Randy Phillips and Donald Hillhouse were left stranded on base after Mike Wadlington flew out to first baseman Hoyle. Montgomery struck out, and a oulek throw from Vest to Hoyle put out Emmett Banks.

The second frame was even more one-sided. Pharris, Vest, Kirkland, and Boyd all scored, with Pharris and Boyd getting hits.

It was three up and three down for the Whats. Winning pitcher Bisnette struck out Jav Guelker and Benson, while some more Vest-Hoyle teamwork put out Blonette at first.

Davalt made the only Why run of the third, but the Whats managed three. Wadlington scored after walking, while Hillhouse and Banks singled before crossing the plate.

May was tagged while trying to reach home, and both Phillips and Montgomery were thrown out at first by Bisnette.

Even though plate umpire Don Delaney was possibly disappointed at not having called anyone out at the plate that frame, a tired majority of players decided that three innings was enough.

Court Rules Voters Must Register

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association

State Supreme Court has ruled that the constitutional amendment requiring annual voter registration in Texas is valid.

AFL-CIO challenged the amendment. They contended that voters did not get "fair notice" that the amendment provided for annual registration.

State Supreme Court agreed with ruling of the Third Court of Civil Appeals — approved by Texans last year — to abolish the poll tax as a requirement for voting and substitute annual sign-up should stand.

There was no opinion. Appellate judges had reversed the trial court finding.

Austin District Judge Herman Jones agreed that the full purpose of the amendment was not adequately described in the proposition on the ballot. It stated only that the poll tax would be knocked out as a voting requirement.

Last April Court of Civil Appeals said it was unlikely any voter, in view of widespread publicity given the issue, failed to understand what he was voting on.

Roy Evans, Secretary-Treasurer of Texas AFL-CIO, said the State Supreme Court will be asked for a rehearing. If that is rejected, a hearing will be requested before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, Texas election machinery and voter registration for the big 1968 election year will proceed under annual sign-up law as amended this year.

All voters, including those who live in cities under 10,000 population, must register between October and January.

In other cases, the State Supreme Court:

- Left standing lower court decisions refusing cash judgments to two parties to the collapse of Billie Sol Estes' fortunes. Case originated in Pecos District Court.

- Reversed Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals and sustained district court in holding that 49 strikers against the Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation in 1964 could draw unemployment benefits due to circumstances of their joblessness. (Strikers had offered to return to work.)

- Unheld Third Court of Civil Appeals' ruling that State Savings and Loan Commissioner was justified in denying a branch office application for downtown Houston of the Gibraltar Savings Association.

ATTORNEY GENERAL — Oil and gas produced on federal land at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station are subject to state production and pipeline taxes (except for 16 2/3 per cent payable as royalty to the U.S.), Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin has concluded that:

- A $1,500,000 appropriation to construct protective devices at railroad grade crossings is constitutional.
- If a county commissioner is a director and stockholder in a bank desiring to receive bond issue funds, the county commissioners court does not have authority to designate that bank as a county depository.

HIGHWAYS — As July began, the State Highway Department had $618,899,810 worth of highway construction under contract. During June, contractors were paid $35,802,146 for work completed.

In 1919, only $273,000 was spent for road construction.

WELFARE — An audit of the State Department of Public Welfare reveals that $461,000,000 in federal and state money was used in Texas during the two years ending last August 31 on welfare programs.

Rate was $120,000,000 last year, of which $168,620,302 was in direct grants to the needy aged, blind, children and disabled, plus $41,431,787 for medical care for the needy aged, blind, children dependent children and those who are permanently disabled continues to rise, training programs are reducing the amount of aid needed by blind persons.

Distribution of surplus commodities also is handled by this department. In two years, 45,000,000 pounds of flour, 19,000,000 pounds of corn meal and 17,000,000 pounds of dry milk were distributed to needy families from federal surpluses. However, the amount distributed is declining as the government stockpiles are used up and high employment is reducing the number of needy families.

Payroll and other administrative costs for giving away $215,000,000 came to $12,708,278.

SCREWORM — Between May 28 and July 1, some 19 cases of screwworms were confirmed in Texas.

To prevent spread of the disease, Screwworm Eradication Program planes recently released 757,780,000 sterile screwworm flies in Texas. Some 106,144,000 were dropped over Trans-Pecos and the Valley portions of Texas.

HIGHER RATES — Texas Railroad Commission has authorized higher rates for shipments of household goods by specialized carriers. No increase was allowed in packing charges, which had been requested by the van lines.

Rate changes, based on averages of 7,600 shipments, come to 17.3 per cent higher than present rates.

However, larger shipments are actually less and smaller shipments are more. New rates will take effect on August 5.

COLEMAN PARK — City of Coleman will receive a $124,810 federal grant to help develop a 139-acre park site at Coleman Lake, 14 miles north of the city.

Grant is under the federal land and water conservation fund program.

City will put up an equal amount to landscape the area and provide boat ramps, picnic units, camping sites, trailer units, playground, swimming beach, fishing piers, concession building, bath houses, restroom and necessary utilities.

SHORT SHORTS — Secretary of State John L. Hill, who becomes chief election officer of Texas under a new law effective August 28, has called a statewide conference on recent election law changes for October 27.

State Water Pollution Control Board approved application of Orange for a permit to replace Simmons Drive Sewage treatment plant with another and increase amount of treated sewage discharged into the Sabine River.

Texas Banking Commissioner announced applications for Duncannon (Dallas County) State Bank and Valley Bank of El Paso.

Construction men, landscape architects, and State Board of Control gardeners have started the big job of tearing up the lawn and parking pavilion of the Governor's Mansion to transform it into a $150,000 formal garden — a real coup for Mrs. John Connally and the 38,000 members of Texas Garden Clubs who are making the Mansion Garden their major project.

Value of building permits issued in Texas during June fell four per cent according to the U.S. Bureau of Business Research.

Texas Water Development Board and Texas Water Rights Commission authorized the Sabine River Authority of Texas to issue an additional $4,000,000 in revenue bonds to help pay for the Texas half of the Toledo Bend Reservoir.

Texas is the 33rd state to ratify an agreement with Interstate Commerce Commission to help each other enforce state and federal highway transportation laws.

Railroad Strike Issues

Senator Straightens Record on Vote

For the first time since 1946, our railroads were paralyzed this month by a nationwide work stoppage. It lasted only forty-eight hours because Congress passed emergency legislation to get the trains running again — largely because of demands for war material in Vietnam.

Let's consider this bill Congress approved and its effects on a precious American right — free collective bargaining in a free enterprise system.

Here is a chronology of the events which led up to the action by Congress:

On May 17, 1966, six unions representing 137,000 shopcraft workers requested pay raises and changes in work rules to meet the rising cost of living. In June of last year talks began with the railroad companies — representing 95 per cent of the total railroad mileage in the United States.

Later in 1966 the National Mediation Board attempted to mediate the dispute and failed. In February of this year President Johnson set up an emergency board to study the deadlock. That board also failed to settle the dispute between the railroad workers and railroad management.

The question then came to Congress. Each House passed a bill to keep the railroads operating, largely because emergency shipments were needed to supply the men in Vietnam. But there was a basic difference in the two bills. The House Bill preserved free collective bargaining in a free enterprise system. The Senate Bill provided for a Government Board to be appointed to set the wage, and then required workers to accept that wage and work under government edict until January, 1969.

The Senate bill was a forced labor bill; the House bill was a free enterprise, free collective bargaining bill.

Let us make no mistake about it. The free enterprise system is a two-way street. It's free for management, and it's free for labor. If you put labor under government edict, if government fixes the wage and says you've got to work for it, it won't be long until government also fixes the prices of the commodities and the profits that companies earn. It's a two-way street.

Everyone in the United States Senate voted to get the trains running again. The only difference was which bill we wanted. I voted for the House bill which keeps free enterprise, the free collective bargaining system. But the majority voted for the Senate bill with a mandatory work order for the shopcraft unions under a wage to be fixed by the U. S. Government. The vote in the Senate was 69-20, but nobody voted to keep the strike going.

There was a grossly erroneous report in the newspapers that those who voted for the House bill were voting to keep the strike going. In the House of Representatives the vote was 244 to 148 — 244 for the forced labor Senate bill and 148 for the House bill. Both bills were alike in putting the men back to work and setting the trains moving again.

There were false reports that 20 members of the Senate and 148 members of the House voted to keep the trains deadlocked with a paralyzing walkout. This was absolutely incorrect; no one voted to keep the strike going.

Collective bargaining has suffered in this dispute. I hope Congress will continue studying problems of our transportation industry. We must find a way to preserve the free enterprise system, else it will be lost for all, management as well as labor.

Burleson Views Riots

More Enforcement - Less Appeasement

By OMAR BURLESON
U. S. Congressman
17th District

About everybody with a pencil has been writing about the riots occurring in our larger cities. About every politician is talking about it. There are about as many ideas as there are talkers and writers. Here is another.

It seems that one of the most singular and obvious facts in all these disturbances is that they have not been confined to the poverty stricken. There is definitely proof that those in what is commonly called the middle class, and in fairly prosperous circumstances, have joined in mob action.

The President's commission will attempt to analyze the cause and supposedly recommend remedies.

More than likely their recommendations will repeat those which have been made numerous times by other groups, the theorists and reformers. The line invariably taken by those thumping the tub on this issue is more housing, more schools, more medical care — just more of everything. There are already proposals to provide entertainment for the idle, at Government expense, to sporting events to keep them occupied. A resolution of this nature is before the Congress. Here in Washington, five movie houses are to provide free pictures in the afternoon (the Romans tried it with free circuses, but it did not work very well for them).

What will not likely be said by the President's Commission, and not admitted in official circles, is that too many people have mistaken Civil Rights legislation as a conferment of privilege. Many of those who are supposed to be benefited by Civil Rights legislation have found that they can not eat it. They have felt that with the passage of the several measures guaranteeing "rights" they would suddenly come into the possession of all good things.

In addition to these misconceptions is another rather obvious fact not admitted by those who honestly believe they are about to cure all social ills by the passage of laws. This factor is the decline of chances of detection and punishment for crime. Fear of prison has long been a natural deterrent to criminal actions, but much of this has been removed by the Courts.

Mobs of rioters and pillagers in cities across the land would not take the risk against officers of the law if police had not been deprived of their principal weapons of law enforcement.

Officers of the law trained to pull no punches when they see lawlessness have had to become hesitant to act. They are accused of brutality when they do their duty. Mobs have a way of taking advantage of this situation. A minority creates instant anarchy.

The emphasis on "Freedom of Speech" allows the agitators to turn listeners into a howling, lawless mob. In past decades our highest Courts have affirmed the principle that public utterances which incite to crime are not immune from prosecution. Today the agitators receive publicity and become heroes and martyrs.

No less a person than former Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Charles E. Whitaker had this to say: "While all crime is not due to any one cause it can hardly be denied that a large part of our current rash and rapid spread of lawlessness has derived from planned and organized mass demonstrations, for, and defiance of, the law and the Courts, induced by the irresponsible and inflammatory preachments of some self-appointed leaders of minority groups to obey the good laws but to violate the bad ones... in other words, the taking of the law into their own hands."

The responsibility is broader than the Courts alone. It is also the hesitancy of politicians in Government to use the powers of law enforcement promptly and intensively for fear of political backfires.

This brings to mind the passage in I Corinthians: "If the trumpet gives an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself for battle?" The trumpeters in high places have been giving off uncertain sounds as clear as they hoped the tone would be. The result has been the mob responding to the call of the drums.

Thomas Jefferson in his Eighth Annual Message to Congress in 1808, said: "Love of liberty, obedience to law and support of the public authorities... a sure guarantee of the permanence of our Republic."

Taxpayers Quiz

For Your Income Tax

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — My son graduated from high school in June and has started work. If he stays home with us, can we still claim him as a dependent?

A — Generally, you may not claim as a dependent anyone who earns $600 or more during the year. However, the earnings test does not apply to your child if he is under 19 years of age or is a full-time student during any part of five calendar months of the year.

You must, of course, meet the other dependency tests. This includes the requirement that you provide more than half his total support for the entire year.

Q — If I take a course in shorthand as my boss wants me to, will that be deductible? He hasn't said he would pay for it.

A — If your employer expressly requires you to take the course to retain your present position then the cost would be a deductible expense. Even if the course is not required by your employer the cost would still be deductible if it is necessary to improve or maintain the skills needed for your job.

Books, supplies, laboratory fees and tuition fees are covered if the course qualifies.

Q — We had to sacrifice some of our furniture for practically nothing when we moved. Can we deduct this loss?

A — No. The law does not allow losses on the sale of personal property to be deductible.

Q — I've got asthma and the doctor says I should air condition our house. Can I deduct the cost as a medical expense?

A — If air conditioning is recommended by a physician for the treatment of a specific condition or illness and the air conditioning is installed primarily for this reason, it is an allowable medical expense. However, only the excess of the cost over the increase in value of your house resulting from the installation of the air conditioning is an allowable expense.

To avoid any question about this expense, be sure to obtain a statement from your doctor explaining why he recommends air conditioning for you.

Q — I'm a student and am banking my summer earnings. The bank wants my tax account number. What is that?

A — This is your Social Security number. The law requires financial institutions to ask the depositor for his number and to use it when reporting to IRS the interest payments on all savings accounts earning $10 or more during the calendar year.

Q — Will I get any "tax breaks" when I reach 65?

A — Yes, there are several changes which could reduce your Federal tax liability. You are entitled to an additional $600 exemption when you become 65 and you may be entitled to a retirement income credit.

"Tax Benefits for Older Americans," IRS Document No. 5569, describes these and other benefits for persons 65 and over. A free copy may be obtained by sending a post card to your IRS District Director.

Q — I paid a lawyer to fight a speeding ticket I got. Are his fees deductible?

A — No, legal fees for this purpose are considered a personal expense and not deductible.

Putting The Real Bait in Fishing

By VERN SANFORD

No artificial bait is superior to the real thing.

Often, however, an artificial lure can be manipulated in such a way as to appear more lifelike than the real McCoy.

But let's talk about live bait.

Trouble with live bait is that too many fishermen simply put these natural baits on their hooks any old way. Then they cast them out, and expect the fish to grab them eagerly.

An important thing to remember about bait fishing is to use baits that are indigenous to the water in which you're angling. A frog might not produce a bite if fished in a spot where there are no frogs. But drop one in a pond where frogs are abundant and more than likely you'll find a taker.

For example, let's consider the clear-running Llano River which snakes down through the granite and limestone country of central Texas. Two of the best baits to use in this stream, for both catfish and bass, are hellgrammites and crawfish. Both are plentiful here. You can find them around shallow riffles and by overturning large rocks. Both baits really pay off.

So, fish natural baits where they appear natural. A friend from Brady was telling me about an incident on Brady Creek, a small stream near this central Texas community. He'd been fishing for catfish without success. Then one of his acquaintances came up the bank with a heavy stringer of channel cats. He said he'd caught them on jumbo yellow grasshoppers... which were profuse along the grassy shoreline.

My friend put a "hopper" on his hook and tossed it out. He had plenty of weight to carry it to the bottom. For about 30 minutes he fished with no offering. Then he happened to notice a grasshopper misjudge its flight and fall into the water. Immediately there was a fast swirl and the "hopper" disappeared.

Eureka! This was it! He reeled in, removed the weight and captured another lively grasshopper. He hooked it through the collar, behind the neck, and pitched it into the current. Old "hop" gave a few frantic kicks on the surface then vanished in a swirl. From that one spot my friend picked up nine nice cats.

Answer of course was to fish the bait without any hindering weight so that it would appear alive.

Often you can take channel cats simply by balling earthworms on a hook and putting the bait right on bottom. Channel cat root along the bottom and feed both by smell and sight.

Black bass, on the other hand, feed visually. A black prefers something moving and alive.

To catch bass take a large worm and affix it to the hook so its ends are free, where it can wiggle. Use no weight. Simply let the worm float with the current and brace yourself for action.

I've taken numerous bass by "free fishing" a minnow; that is, using it without any weight.

I prefer a thin-wire hook, about a 3/0. In this case the minnow should be large, about three inches long or longer. Hook it through the lips just behind the dorsal fin.

Toss it beside a submerged stump or alongside a weed bed and let it struggle as it sinks. If there is a bass lurking there, very likely it will pounce upon this helpless creature.

Free-fishing with earthworms also pays off well on streams just after a rain, especially when the river is rising and is murky. Hook the worm as you would for bass and simply let it tumble naturally along with the current.

Rising water washes many worms and insects from the banks and cats will gobble anything which appears helpless in the current.

With a bottom rig, one of the most popular methods is to tie a heavy sinker to the end of your line, then add a dropper line with a hook about 18 inches above the sinker.

This way, when the sinker is on bottom and the main line is drawn tight, the dropper is suspended, just off bottom and it fans back and forth in the current — thus giving the bait a lifelike motion.

Beautiful water and hot weather have caused thousands of Texans to converge on Texas lakes and rivers including Colorado City's two lakes for one of the state's favorite pastimes — boating.

By the end of the year however, a great number of these boating enthusiasts will no longer be with us. They will have joined the ranks of a large number of Texans who have died as the result of a boating accident. Many more will be injured and thousands of property dollars will be lost.

These safety tips could prevent a boating tragedy.

First of all, make sure your boat meets the equipment specifications set by the Texas Water Safety Act. Requirements for lights, mirrors, horns, fire extinguishers and flame arresters vary with the size and type of boat.

Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department in Austin will be glad to send a copy of the Water Safety Act upon request.

Texas law states that one Coast Guard approved life preserver, buoyant vest, ring buoy, or buoyant cushion in good and serviceable condition must be provided for each person on board a boat. Adults who are weak swimmers and children should wear life preservers at all times when in a boat.

Over 97 percent of the boating deaths in Texas over the past seven years have been drownings. Life preservers could have prevented most of these.

Every boat owner should check into insurance needs for boats. There are policies that cover physical damage to the boat hull or motor, liability of the insured for injury to the third party for personal or bodily injury, and liability of the assured for property belonging to others.

The average cost per boating accident in Texas is almost $700. This figure represents property damage only.

If you are involved in a boating accident you must stop and render such assistance as is practicable, and not leave the scene until you would seriously endanger your boat or other persons. You must also give your name, address, and identification number of your boat in writing to any injured person and to the owner of any damaged property.

If death results from a boating accident, collision, or casualty, a written report must be submitted within 48 hours to the Texas Highway Department.

If such occurrence results in injury to any person requiring professional medical attention, or physical damage to property, including vessels, in excess of $50 a written report must be submitted within five days to the Department.

Most boating accidents occur between 12 noon and 7 p.m. Statistics also show that the operator involved in the largest percentage of boating accidents is between the ages of 26 and 50 and has over 500 hours experience in operating a boat.

The largest number of boating accidents are caused by improper lookout when towing skiers. Negligence on the part of the operator of the boat causes the next largest number. Other causes are faulty machinery, excessive speed, and hazardous water or weather conditions.

It is always important to check the weather forecast before planning a day on the water. Boating in bad weather is extremely dangerous.

The majority of boating accidents occur when the boat is cruising. A large number also occur when the boat is drifting and has no power, when towing a skier, or at the dock. The majority of accidents are collisions with other vessels.

In boating, as in driving a car, there are rules of the road. To know and obey the following rules will increase your boating pleasure and safety:

1. Powered boats must yield the right of way to all boats without motors except when being overtaken.

2. When meeting another boat head-on, keep to starboard unless you are too far to port to make this practical. (Starboard is right; port is left. A good way to remember is that port and left each have four letters.)

3. When overtaking another boat, the right of way belongs to the boat being overtaken.

4. When two boats approach at an angle and there is danger of collision, the boat to port must give way to the boat to starboard.

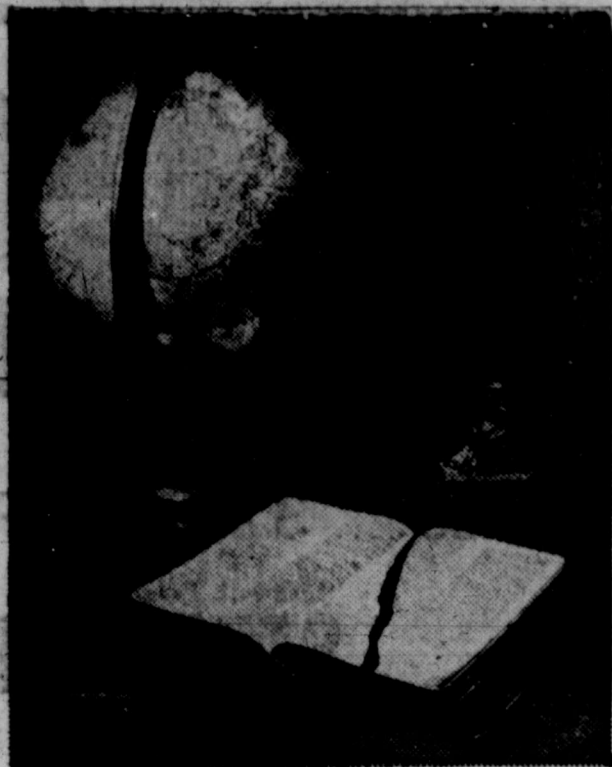

5. Always keep to starboard in a narrow channel or canal.

6. Boaters underway must stay clear of vessels fishing with nets, lines, or trawls. However, fishing boats are not allowed to fish in channels or obstruct navigation.

The Church For All All For The Church

A WORLD IN TROUBLE

What has happened to this marvelous world of ours in this twentieth century of God's grace? Mankind seems to be passing through a sea of troubles which has no counterpart in human history.

There are wars and rumors of wars among the nations, and many of the nations themselves are split into warring factions, each faction striving for supremacy, and each intolerant of the views, hopes, and rights of others.

The great trouble with the world is that men have forgotten God. They no longer seek spiritual guidance, but follow the vain ways of the modern world. We have become a cynical, materialistic generation.

If this drift toward world tragedy and chaos is ever stopped, the churches of the world must do it. The world's hope—our hope—is in God and His Church. He alone can save mankind from a sorrowful fate.

The Church seeks to turn the hearts of men from the ways of war and fear and hate to the ways of peace and love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
