Controlled Burn-Off Demonstration Given

By DONNA WATSON

Smoke filled the air over Lake Colorado City Thursday as the first controlled burn ever attempted in the state park area took place under the supervision of Dr. Henry Wright of Texas Tech University.

Park Superintendent Bill Griffin, accompanied by Region I Director Jerry Warden and 10 Supervisors from Region I assisted in the controlled burn-off.

Resources Director David Riskind, assisted by Larry Lodwich, both from Austin and Lynn Pace of Knox City gathered with the approximately 15 men at 6:30 a.m. to begin the first phase of the burn-off.

Archeologist Ron Ralph was also present in case the burn-off uncovered anything of historical value.

Dr. Wright explained the purpose of the burn-off as a two-fold effort.

First, the parks and wildlife department is attempting to bring the property which is controlled as a state park area back, as nearly as possible, to its original state.

This entails clearing the mesquite, shrubs, cactus and undergrowth and replacing it with desirable grasses.

About one and one-half years ago, according to Griffin, grass was seeded on the land.

Once the heavy growth of weeds, brush and undesirable groundcovers are burned off, the new grass will have an opportunity to grow and thrive.

Dr. Wright explained the land was originally a part of a cigar shaped tract of land that extends from Colorado City to Wichita Falls in which scattered Mesquite trees grew. They were sparsely scattered about rather than closely compact as they currently grow.

Grasses and vegetation which grew under and around these trees were conducive to fowl and wildlife.

He noted dove, quail and turkey would be encouraged to habitate the state park once the top kill burn-off is accomplished and the mesquite thinned.

The thick ground cover which currently exists in the park area is not conducive to birds who scratch the ground for food, however, after the burn-off and with the new growth of grass anticipated in early April, birds will find the ground accessible, he said.

Burn-off has been under experimentation for about the past 15 years by Dr. Wright's department.

Due to the ever increasing emphasis to not use chemicals by environmentalists, burn-off has proven increasingly useful, Dr. Wright noted.

The composition of soil is such that the act of burning does not hurt it.

Because of the high cost of chaining, where mesquite trees need to be cleared or thinned, burn-off has proven to be the most practical solution, Dr. Wright said.

Farmers and ranchers in this area have been utilizing this technique to clear land. Dr. Wright noted he had assisted in a burn-off of more than 10,000 acres on the Spade Ranch in the past few years.

Information from the burn-off will be used to assist producers in this area.

The second aim of the burn-off is to teach park personnel how to control a fire.

The burn-off began in the early morning hours in order to demonstrate how fire reacts to high humidity and cool temperatures.

An area on the north west corner of the park was selected as the first burn-off site.

Fire lanes were plowed and burned and with humidity setting at about 65 per cent and temperature in the 60's, drip torches were used to spread a path of fire from one end of the field to the other.

Dr. Wright explained that the field contained no trees and about 1,000 pounds of density to an acre.

The fire burned slowly and the torches, dripping fire, were used again and again to encourage the field to burn.

After a short time, the flames gave up the effort and went out of their own accord.

New Water Lines Placed In Sands

Residents in the Sands area will soon have fresh, clean, free flowing water.

Water Superintendent Buzz Rich and his crews have been working for the past week on Mulberry Street replacing 1,000 feet of old two inch cast iron water lines with all new five inch PVC lines.

New valves and joints will be placed in five locations along the lines in the Sands area. The cost of each of these units is estimated to be $650. This will increase the flow of water in all directions, Rich noted.

The PVC lines being used to replace existing lines were purchased under last year's budget and stored until the remaining equipment was available for re-

DR. HENRY WRIGHT of Texas Tech University leaves a trail of fire behind him as he deliberately sets the Colorado City State Park ablaze in a controlled burn-off Thursday. After 15 years of experimental controlled burning, Dr. Wright has gathered valuable information to be used in such planned programs as the one now underway at the state park.

Proverbs 17:9 "Love forgets mistakes, nagging about them parts the best of friends." (The Living Bible)

Water dripping into a pail or dripping where it can be heard is most annoying and nerve racking. God's word informs us that nagging and the continual dripping of water have the same effect.

Nagging about one another's failures and faults will part the best of friends. How much more does complaining, griping and nagging at the other members of the household weaken and widen the differences that already exists, thus driving the wedge of indifference between the members of the family.

Nagging will cause dissension in your home and create hostile emotions making the other family members miserable and wishing they didn't have to live with the sound of continued complaining.

Forgiveness and forgetting, that's exactly what we need. Sounds hard to do and sometimes it is. Nevertheless that's essential in having a healthy, happy home.

There will always be differences between ourselves and those we love. But like the scripture teaches, if we really love the other members of the family, we will let water that's under the bridge stay under the bridge. "Love forgets mistakes."

"When I came into the position of Colorado City Manager, a deficit budget condition existed. With the cooperation of all city employees, we were able to bring the city's financial status into a more stable and controlled condition.

"When I left the position, it was to secure for my family and myself a more stable condition, one which I believed Curtain time will be 8 p.m. nightly.

Later in the day, about 1 p.m., a much larger burn-off was attempted.

This time, the intended location was a long draw, on the same side of the park, heavily populated by mesquite, matted undergrowth and cactus, creating about 2,000 pounds per acre density.

Humidity was still too high for Dr. Wright to demonstrate how to control a hot, fast fire, but winds held to at least eight miles per hour in a southeastwardly direction.

Once again, the ominous fire dripping torches, fueled by diesel and gasoline, were brought out and the brush was set ablaze.
Temperatures had climbed into the low 70's and the winds whipped and fanned the flames so that they licked the branches of the mesquite trees as long stalks of vegetation burst into flames, curled over and ignited other plots of undergrowth.

The fire spread more rapidly and burned higher than the early morning flames. Dried dead mesquites ignited and blazed, while green mesquite went virtually unharmed.

As the flames crept up the draw toward the highway, Dr. Wright ignited a backfire from the north-west side.

Whipped by the wind, the flames burst into a hot flash fire and in seconds the raging fire covered the same amount of distance it had taken the eastward fire against the wind 30 minutes to cover.

As the two walls of flame met, they fought each other for a few seconds then died, leaving behind only charred embers.

Dr. Wright commented that by April the burned part of the park area should be a brilliant bright green. And although ground birds need a checkerboard pattern of burned ground and new growth, he anticipates an abundance of wildlife and birds will move into the burned areas.

Graham Services Saturday

Matt Noe Graham, 76, of Colorado City, a retired barber, died at 11:30 a.m. Thursday in Root Memorial Hospital.

Funeral services were Saturday in First United Methodist Church. Burial was in the Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of Kiker-Seale Funeral Home.

Born Feb. 1, 1905 in Carbon, he married Mary Frizell on June 9, 1933 in Silverton. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

He held Bachelors and Masters degrees in history and government from the University of Texas and spent almost 20 years in the field of education. He taught school in Avoca, Rochester and Colorado City and was superintendent of schools in Haskell County for eight years before becoming office manager at the State Board of Education in Austin.

The organization of the first consolidated rural school in Haskell County was largely due to the efforts of Graham and was named Mattson for him and the late Elmer Watson. He was also responsible for the first mobile school library in Haskell County.

For the last fifteen years, he owned and operated the Matt Graham Barber Shop in Colorado City.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Don (Carolyn) Cox of Lamesa and Mrs. Barrett (Susan) Scott of Colleyville; a son, Pat of Atlanta, Ga.; three sisters, Mrs. B.W. Feris of Stamford, Mrs. Mac Clyatt of Eastland and Mrs. Cecil (Ethel Mae) Smith of Freer and four grandchildren.

YOU AUTO KNOW

By Aaron Carpenter

Q. The coolant in my 1970 Buick Wildcat is rusty. I can't drain the engine, only the radiator. How can I thoroughly flush and clean it?

A. You'll have to force the old coolant out by back-flushing. Fit a flushing T to the heater supply hose (the one running to the engine block or carburetor manifold, not the water pump). To find the correct flushing T size, measure outside diameter of heater hose and subtract 3/8 inch. To flush, attach garden hose to T, using adapter. Set heater controls inside car to "hot". Remove radiator cap and open drain plug. Run water until it comes out radiator. Shut off engine and allow radiator to drain. Close petcock and add antifreeze until water forced out at T appears the color of antifreeze. This allows a 50-50 mixture.
