College Girl Plans Career As Farmer

RUTH WILLIAMS
. . . Likes The Good Earth

(By The Associated Press)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 17. — Although heckled by fellow members when she joined the Ag club, Ruth Williams, an attractive, blue-eyed blonde who might pass for a Follies chorine, still is determined to become a farmer.

Miss Williams, a junior in the University of Tennessee College of Agriculture, chuckles when she recalls how the all-male group laughed at her when she joined the club.

Has Definite Ideas

The slender girl from Marion, N. C.—she's the only girl enrolled in the Tennessee Agriculture College—has definite ideas about farm life.

"It's a grand feeling to stand on a hillside with your feet firm on your own land and survey neat fields, orchards and garden patches which you have created with your own work," she says.

"I was raised on a farm; I love the country and think farming is the most interesting work I can find."

To Help Manage Farm

Miss Williams is majoring in horticulture and intends to help manage her father's farm.

Matrimony? Yes, she thinks marriage the ultimate aim of every woman. But only an outdoor man, who understands her will be considered.

Hollywood's Perfect Pair Honeymooning In Secret Spot Today After A Wedding That Shattered Extravagance Records

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 17.—Hollywood's "perfect pair," Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond, began their married life at some secret spot today, after a wedding that shattered every existing movie colony record for excitement and extravagance.

They will have a Honolulu honeymoon, sailing June 26.

More than 15,000 persons massed around the fashionable Wilshire Methodist Episcopal church last night when the ceremony took place.

The jam delayed the bridesmaids for 40 minutes.

Inside the church, approximately 1,000 top-ranking stars and celebrated film figures, were getting restless.

Outside, the crowd was all but out of hand. A woman fainted. A child knocked down, screamed with terror.

One by one, the bridesmaids struggled through.

Meanwhile, the guests, who packed every inch of the mammoth church, had time to see the decorations. There were nearly a million roses.

Finally, Nelson Eddy began to sing "I Love You Truly" as the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna MacDonald, took her place. Then the familiar "Here Comes The Bride," the Lohengrin Wedding March, rang out.

As the service, proper, began, a woman gurgled, gasped and fainted dead away.

Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers, whose wedding is scheduled for this month, leaned forward in their

Workers Return To Their Jobs Today

(By The Associated Press)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 17.—An undetermined number of steel workers returned to work today in the embattled Cambria plants of the Bethlehem Steel corporation. There were no disorders.

Non-strikers slipped into the huge works as Washington pondered appeals to intervene in the labor controversy, which has made 100,000 idle in a strike called by the Steel Workers Organizing Committee to enforce demands for signed contracts covering wages, hours and working conditions.

Appeals Sent To FDR

The strike is directed against the Republic Steel corporation, Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Inland Steel, and the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

Before President Roosevelt today were appeals from Mayor Daniel J. Shields of Johnstown, and Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio, who failed to bring the union and corporations together.

Soviet Leader Is Suicide

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, June 17—Josef Stalin's machine pushed its mass cleanup of opposition elements today after announcing that the president of one of the country's eleven socialist republics had killed himself.

With at least 151 persons executed within a year for alleged anti-government activity, officials disclosed hundreds of arrests had been made throughout the Soviet union and hundreds of thousands had been ousted from the communist party.

Commits Suicide

Alexander G. Cherviakoff, leader of the White Russian Soviet socialist republic, which adjoins Poland, was said by the government to have committed suicide.

The official explanation was "family reasons." But he had been denounced at a communist party meeting at Minsk, capital of White Russia, 48 of his colleagues had been

The prisoner was placed in the sheriff's automobile and taken to an unrevealed jail for safekeeping.

Six highway patrolmen, as well as rangers, were on hand when the verdict was read. The court warned the spectators against any demonstration.

To Pour Or Not To Pour Today Is Question Facing The City

To pour or not to pour was a question debated by city officials this morning, with indications that "not to pour" would win.

The indecision related to what is known as Avenue Q lake, an expanse of approximately four acres of water in the vicinity of the 1900 block on that street. The city commission ordered at its regular meeting last week that the lake, now comprising more than 2,000,000 gallons of water, be poured into a dry well nearby.

The drainage would be accomplished through a ditch from the shallow lake to the lip of the hole.

The problem was described as one of simple engineering, it being explained that sands at various depths in the well would absorb the water as rapidly as it could flow into the opening.

Members of the commission directed that the drainage be done after being assured that the project would not endanger the purity of the city's water supply. The nearest producing water well is more than a mile distant from the hole and is at

Allred Kills Talk Of Another Extra Session

No Revenue At This Time Is Needed

New Tax Legislation Likely Will Be Considered At A Session Slated In Fall

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 17—Possibility of another special session of the legislature during the summer faded today when Governor James V. Allred announced he would not reconvene the lawgivers before September.

The chief executive also said he would submit no more controversial subjects to the present extraordinary session which will end June 25 at the latest.

No Revenue Needed

A statement by old age assistance officials that there was no specific need for more pension revenues at the present obviated the need of another special meeting, the governor declared.

The legislature is currently working on anti-dog race gambling and horse race bookmaking statutes and with completion of these the chief executive said he might submit a few local measures, excepting those dealing with salary increases.

Opposes Submission

He said he had decided definitely against submission of the question of removing from sale the remaining unsold public school lands and requiring that they be leased to yield a greater return to the school fund.

The legislature likely will be summoned in the fall to consider revenue raising matter to reduce a general fund deficit and provide for an increase in appropriations for the next biennium of approximately $10,000,000.

Malakoff Man And Officer Are Victims In Tragedies

MALAKOFF, June 17. (AP)—Bill Baker, employe of the Malakoff Clay Products company, was killed instantly in an altercation with Constable D. D. Billings and Deputy Constable E. O. Brown Wednesday night, and a short time later Brown was fatally injured when his motor crashed into the rear of a truck, reported to have been parked on the highway between Malakoff and Trinidad without lights.

A verdict of death while resisting arrest was returned by Justice of Peace W. F. Young at Malakoff in Baker's death.

Brown, 26, died in a Corsicana hospital at 7:30 this morning. He was motorcycle patrolman for Henderson county.

Proposal By Roosevelt To Be Refused By Japanese Navy

TOKYO, June 17. (AP)—An authoritative source asserted today Japan had decided to refuse a secret proposal made by President Roosevelt for the limitation of naval armament to guns of 14-inch caliber.

The substance of the Japanese reply to what was described as the United States president's "last appeal" for a curb on the world naval arms race was expected to be that Japan adheres to the point of view that reduction of gun calibers from 16 to 14 inches will not achieve real disarmament.

Odessa Entry In League Folds Up; Players Are Sold

ODESSA, June 17. (AP)—Professional baseball passed from Odessa today when a syndicate operating the local entry in the West Texas-New Mexico league announced the team had been dissolved and most of the players sold to other league clubs.

The local syndicate, organized last week, failed to increase attendance.

A newspaper correspondent reported the folding of the club with: "Financial headache. Fifty-seven runs in last three games. Still no crowds."

KIDNAPING OR MURDER?

Differences Of Opinion Over Case Shown

Federal Men Still Believe Woman Kidnaped; County Officers Fear Murder

(By The Associated Press)

STONY BROOK, N. Y., June 17—Sharply growing differences of opinion between the federal men and Suffolk county authorities investigating the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Alice McDonell Parsons, Long Island society matron, was evidenced today as the government agents pursued a kidnaping theory, the others expressing the belief she was slain.

A Suffolk county official, who asked that his name be withheld, said the county and state authorities and the agents of the federal bureau of investigation were reaching a climax in their relations.

Evidence Is Held

"The federal men think it is a kidnaping," he said. "We think it is murder, and we are ready to proceed on that theory and to act quickly. There seems to be evidence enough to make it possible to present the case to a grand jury."

This official said robbery did not appear to be the motive.

Even while this official was talking, however, reports were growing that the federal agents, still clinging to the kidnaping theory, had established secret headquarters twenty miles away from the trim little white farm house from which Mrs. Parsons vanished eight days ago.

Contact Is Reported

And still another report had it that a person who represented himself as the kidnaper communicated with the Parsons family promising to return the 33-year-old missing woman if the $25,000 ransom, originally demanded in a note, were paid and immunity from police intervention guaranteed.

Neither of these reports could be confirmed at once.

The search of the woods which has been going on since Monday continued today.

Some of the searchers directed their attention to a spot about 2,000 yards from the house where an odor, indicating the presence of a body was detected.

The odor was discovered last night after dark, but investigation was deferred until today. Lieut. Stacey Wilson of the Brookhaven police said the odor was "unmistakably that of a body," but added that the body might be that of an animal.

Racing Meets Are Refused

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 17.—Racing fans will purchase no certificates at major horse racing tracks in Texas this summer.

The racing commission today by a vote of 2 to 1 rejected applications from three major plants for late summer meets. Legalized track wagering in Texas will end sometime in September, or 30 days after termination of the current session of the legislature which repealed the certificate wagering law.

Vote For Rejection

Albert K. Daniels, a member, said he and Dolph Briscoe of San Angelo, agricultural commissioner and third member, voted for rejection.

Applications of Alamo Downs at San Antonio, Epsom Downs at Houston and Arlington Downs, midway between Dallas and Ft. Worth, were denied. Also rejected was an application from Fair Park track at the Pan-American exposition grounds in Dallas.

The commission approved a meet at Midland June 25 to July 6, contingent upon cancellation of the same dates at Harlingen. The same interests operate both tracks. It previously had approved a meet at Pampa June 5 to 19.

Governor James V. Allred whose fight for repeal culminated in a victory this month recently vetoed an appropriation allotting funds to the racing commission for the biennium beginning Sept. 1.

Oklahoma Prisoners Become Angels As Dating Bureau With Real Boy Friends Is Promised

(By The Associated Press)

TECUMSEH, Okla., June 17—A dating bureau at the Oklahoma training school for girls was promised today and the prospect of nights out with their boy friends had 240 inmates atwitter.

A plan of Mrs. Creighton Burnham, superintendent, approved by the state board of affairs, is this:

Thirty of the more eligible young girls with unspattered records will move into a trim cottage set apart and the superintendent and her aides will arrange dates for them with nice young men.

"Already," laughed Mrs. Burnham, "the idea is providing incentive for better behavior. Why, some of our most incorrigible girls have decided they want to be 'angels.'"

But the dating probably won't start until late in July, Mrs. Burnham said, and between now and then the girls will battle it out for the best records and places in the cottage.

Notes trickle into the superintendent's office from some of the "angels," she said, hopeful of being among the select 30.

Mrs. Burnham said she would hand-pick the girls mostly from those of the ages of 16 and 17.

They will live in the cottage, she said, and will be left free to leave the grounds at night with their dates for maybe a picture show, or a cold drink at the corner drug store.

"And how about the supply of young men?"

"Why," said she, "we have had applications from three young men, all from outside this county, already."

And what if love and mayhap matrimony should enter the cottage?

Mrs. Burnham wasn't certain, but she indicated she might release the bride-to-be. Girls are committed here until they are 18 or are dismissed by the superintendent.

The school is operated by the state and is in effect a girls' reformatory. The inmates are committed by the courts for various forms of delinquency.

FDR And 400 Demos Plan For Parley

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 17—The court reorganization bill, informed persons said today, undoubtedly will be a major topic at the three day pow-wow late next week between President Roosevelt and 400 Democrats in congress.

The president will meet the party members at a three-story white colonial clubhouse, situated among the swaying pines of a 20-acre island near Annapolis, Md.

Some members predicted Mr. Roosevelt would do some plain talking at a series of buffet luncheons in an effort to end several intra-party conflicts.

Foremost among these is the court measure, on which the president said Tuesday he hoped the senate would vote as soon as possible.

Other issues which may be discussed at the secluded club include:

1. Labor: Details of the wage and hour bill are in dispute. Some members have expressed concern over the current strike situation.

2. Government reorganization: Senate and house committees have disagreed over provisions of the bill to realign executive departments.

3. Relief: An economy bloc in both houses has endeavored to change provisions of the 1938 relief bill. This problem may be settled before the island meetings on June 25, 26 and 27.

Provisions Worked Out

4. Farm aid: Final provisions of the bill to loan funds to tenants to purchase land have not been worked out.

5. Power: Arguments arose among members in both houses over what committees should handle the Norris bill to set up seven "little TVA's."

Informed persons said that none of these problems, aside from the court bill, had created any serious friction but that many members would welcome the opportunities to discuss them with the president.

Cooperation Of Farmer Will Be Asked In Tree Planting

LINCOLN, Neb., June 17 (AP)—Revision of the federal government's great plains shelter belt project so as to provide for farmer cooperation was predicted today by E. W. Tinker, assistant chief of the U. S. forest service.

The mass tree planting program was undertaken in an effort to anchor soil which, unprotcted from winds, now is being stripped from farm lands.

"We're coming to a new plan of operation, with the forest service perhaps obtaining seedlings and planting them, then turning them over to the farmers for all necessary care," said Tinker.

Strike Of Hotel Workers In Kansas City Is Closed

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 17 (AP)—A strike of 450 Kansas City hotel workers ended early today when operators of seven hotels signed a contract guaranteeing virtually a closed shop to an equal number of unions.

Another clause in the contract calls for a 48-hour week for women and a 56-hour week for men employes. Wage increases ranging up to 25 per cent also were agreed on.

Red Cross Officers Will Be Named At Local Meeting

Officers will be elected, committee reports made, and other business considered at the concluding meeting of the fiscal year of the Lubbock county chapter of the American Red Cross at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the mezzanine floor of Hilton hotel.

Mrs. J. S. Johnson is present chairman. Other officers are: Secretary, Mrs. W. P. Clement; vice-chairman, Dr. James M. Gordon; treasurer, Paul W. Hardwick.

Prosecution Is To Be Sought

SHAW, Miss., June 17. (AP) — A "citizens committee" sought funds by subscription today to aid the state in the prosecution of Claude Vance, 40-year-old pharmacist charged with slaying Marshal E. C. Harrington, 54, in a pistol duel last week.

Vance is in jail at Cleveland awaiting preliminary hearing on a charge of murder.

County Attorney E. H. Green said the hearing would be held as soon as Vance's daughter, Miss Grace Vance, 19, recovers from a bullet wound in the hip, received when she attempted to avert trouble between the men.

To Employ Attorneys

The committee began soliciting funds last night to employ attorneys to aid in the prosecution.

"They raised about $400 last night," Mayor A. P. Latimer said, "and got some more money today but I don't know just how much. They are already making arrangements for hiring counsel in the case."

The shooting occurred in the Vance drug store here when the men apparently quarreled over Harrington's arrest of a negro porter who worked for Vance.

Miss Vance, Louisiana State university co-ed beauty, said she was eager to testify in her father's defense. She told Vance's attorneys the shooting "was forced" on her father.

Vance came here four years ago from Tyler, Texas.

New Ships To Be Launched

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The navy cleared the way today for construction of two new battleships, the first ordered for the American fleet in 14 years.

To Build Submarines

Private bids also were ordered open today for two 1,400 ton submarines. Construction of two more submarines will be allotted to navy yards.

The new battleships, which will cost about $60,000,000 each when fully equipped, are intended to replace over-age capital vessels now in service. They already have been named for the states of South Carolina and Washington.

Three-Man Federal Board For Strike Mediation Appointed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Secretary Perkins announced today appointment of a three-man board to mediate all current steel disputes.

She named Charles P. Taft, Lloyd K. Garrison and Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady as a federal steel mediation board authorized to investigate, conduct hearings, make findings of fact and act as "voluntary arbitrator" in both sides in the controversy so request.

Miss Perkins said the board would set up headquarters at Cleveland immediately.

She said McGrady, who is returning from Europe, would arrive in the United States Saturday night.

She said President Roosevelt had given his approval to her executive order creating the board.

The secretary's administrative order declared "an emergency has arisen as a result of the labor dispute in the steel industry which tends to obstruct and interrupt the free flow of raw materials, semi-

Many Devices For Evasion Are Listed

Secretary Morgenthau First Witness And Sharp Barbs Tossed At Violators

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 17 — Secretary Morgenthau told a congressional inquiry committee today he hoped that "continued publicity" on methods of alleged tax evasion and tax avoidance would help to stop tax dodging.

Morgenthau, first witness at the joint senate-house investigation into evasion and avoidance, asserted that "a variety of devices to avoid taxes' have been used in recent years. "The situation calls for remedial legislation," he said.

No Names Mentioned

Morgenthau's statement contained no names of asserted tax evaders or tax avoiders.

Treasury officials, however, reported that a list of names has been compiled for later submission to the joint committee.

In a statement read to the committee, Morgenthau struck repeatedly at rich taxpayers who he said employ "expensive attorneys" to avoid taxes.

The secretary expressed concern over what he termed an attitude of many that tax avoidance is "a legitimate and honorable aim."

Publicity Is Urged

Morgenthau said the publicity on "the more fantastic methods of tax avoidance now considered legitimate" may create an attitude against tax dodging.

The treasury chief traced various methods of tax evasion, re-outlining devices described in President Roosevelt's recent message to congress on evasion and avoidance.

Morgenthau, who made the preliminary tax survey on which Mr. Roosevelt's message was based, told the committee that one of the chief tax avoidance devices "is the creation of a multiple personality in the taxpayer."

"By this device," the secretary continued, "he ceases to be a single individual and becomes a whole group of people, some of whom are earning money while others are losing it.

Divides Himself

"He divides himself into several people, sometimes incorporated and sometimes not.

"He purports to carry on business transactions with his family at arms-length.

"Often he convinces himself that these people actually exist."

(By dividing their incomes among several members of their families or among personal holding corporation, some taxpayers may receive lower-bracket rates, reducing their total tax payments.)

Morgenthau also cited as examples of tax avoiders persons who run racing stables or other projects as a hobby, but claim business deductions on tax returns for their losses.

Income Transferred

Morgenthau said that in some cases wealthy individuals had set up corporations abroad, transferring income to them and avoiding taxes.

"The process of fighting in the courts all the different schemes which may be woven around this concept is too slow for efficient tax administration," the witness continued.

"We intend to give examples of a large number of cases, not all of which would be upheld by the courts but many of which are sufficiently plausible so that they can delay and hinder tax collections."

Years To Outlaw Device

"It is the history of tax litigation," Morgenthau said, "that it akes years to finally outlaw a tax avoidance device, once it gets a foothold among tax attorneys."

Saying it could not be determined exactly how much tax evasion and avoidance had cost the treasury in revenue, the treasury chief addel that "it is a substantial factor which is cumulative in effect."

Citing that March income tax collections fell below estimates, Morgenthau said that this brought his preliminary investigation of income tax returns.

Early in his statement, the tall treasury secretary hit at tax lawyers who "make their living by srowing to people, who can afford to employ them, ways by which they may pay th least possible taxes."

Contest Is Unequal

Morgenthau said that 28,000 revenue field agents now are pitted against 45,000 registered attorneys and tax accountants.

"The contest is, of course, unequal," he continued.

Morgenthau said some tax attorneys received their early training from the government, assert-

Drift Into Vacation Maelstrom Is Beauty Expert's Advice

Day's Routine Is Outlined

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Foolish indeed is the girl who, on the first day of her vacation, plays 18 holes of golf or two or three fast sets of tennis, goes swimming, rows a bit, takes a brisk walk, then dances half the night. If she has not had much exercise since last summer's holiday, such an ambitious start will overtax her muscles and make them sore and, in general, do her body more harm than good.

The sensible idea, of course, is to take active sports as well as white hot sunshine in lackadaisical manner for the first four or five days. Swim, ride, play tennis and golf or go mountain climbing if you like, but don't do any of these for hours at a time or all of them in one day. And do get a little more sleep and rest than you are in the habit of getting at home.

Naturally, having as much fun as possible is all-important, and it does not matter when you sleep as long as you do it. If you have danced until two, don't make an appointment to go swimming at nine the same morning. Go on and sleep until past noon, then swim. Two or three weeks of adequate rest and a sensible amount of exercise can do a good deal to keep you healthy and happy for an entire year.

And don't go native unless you have isolated yourself in a little cabin miles and miles from another human being. No matter where you spend your vacation, keep a lipstick handy and do use something to prevent a severe case of sunburn and all the grief which invariably follows it. If you are one who seldom can find time to apply a mask or give face and throat a thorough creaming and if you really enjoy playing around with beauty preparations, use a few hours of your vacation improving hair, skin, figure. You might even take along some samples of new makeup you have not had a chance to try.

Get Rid of Excess FAT with this SAFE DRUGLESS Treatment

Do you feel as though you have a rubber tire around your stomach? Do your fat arms distress you? Is your face pudgy looking because of surplus flesh? Does that layer of fat across your back and shoulders classify you as "fat and forty"? If so, you'll be interested in WATE-OFF, the pure vegetable tablets for weight reduction. WATE-OFF is guaranteed safe and harmless, and yet is amazingly effective, as testified to by thousands of users, many of whom gratefully report reductions of 5 pounds a week and even more, and with great benefit to their health and general well-being.
WATE-OFF is a compound of pure vegetable matter and herbs. It is absolutely free from drugs and so guaranteed. "Results," say users, "are simply amazing." Unsightly fat seems to melt away like magic, leaving no saggy, flabby skin or broken-down tissue.

Lubbock County Pioneers Believe Women Should Slow Up On Their Bridge Games

BY MARY HOWELL

When it comes to gambling, playing bridge at so much a point suggests the need of legal remedy more than the "good old-fashioned poker parties of a generation ago," said several of Lubbock's pioneers, when questioned as to their conception of the efficacy of Governor Allred's plea that gambling on all fronts stop.

"I have seen some mighty big pots of money won and lost gambling in my life" says Bob Parrock, 84-year-old Lubbock man who witnessed murders of two men in San Angelo gambling halls years ago when West Texas was young and when bans against betting and gambling were never mentioned in the halls of the Texas legislature.

There was gambling and betting on everything back in the days when wagering was about the only sport, said Eastin Wolffarth, pioneer of Lubbock county. Opposed to cutting out one form of gambling, Wolffarth said he believed horse racing was "blowed up" since the recent repeal of the horse racing betting bill at Austin.

"There's nothing better than a horse race," he said.

When asked if there was betting on "cock" fights in the early days, Wolffarth said, "there wasn't a rooster on the whole plains country." Pony races were common in the days before most people thought of moving to the Plains, the 68-year-old man said.

Would Ban All Of It

I enza D. Hart who has been in Lubbock 40 years and during the time "when the Lubbock county courthouse was not big enough to cuss cattle in," said he thinks all gambling should be banned if one phase is eliminated. He admitted that he had "gambled some" during his earlier life.

The new gambling proposal would be a good idea, said J. D. Caldwell, who has been in and around Lubbock 49 years and who built the first courthouse on the Plains.

Favorite games of gambling were poker, craps, seven-up, Monty, Spanish games, and "faro," they said.

"All cowboys gambled during the earlier days of the section." Rollie Burns, retired bronc buster and cowboy, said. He said he favored the laws prohibiting betting and gambling.

Tricks Of Game

Parrock said that he had won "over $2,000 in one night in gambling halls of Colorado, Texas, and had lost $300" at another time. There were tricks of the game that sometimes led to shootings and murders and "they were nearly always aggravated by liquor drinking," the 84-year-old man said.

There was not much wagering on elections, to amount to anything during the cradle days of this country, the men said, "because there were so few of us and we were not interested in governmental affairs anyway."

Generally the men think, they said, that if "anything is cut out, it should be these women playing bridge and getting prizes", and P. P. Brown, who was second county judge of Lubbock county, is no exception. He said that "if one form of gambling is bad, so is the rest of it."

Await Action On Parking

City officials still awaited word today as to when parking meters will be returned to Lubbock streets although they expressed assurance that it will be within the next few days.

It all depends, it was explained, upon when the Dual Parking Meter company of Oklahoma City, from which the devices were obtained, completes the readjustment of the meters to set parking limits at two hours instead of the one hour under which they were operated last December until a district court injunction forced their removal.

New Ordinance Adopted

Subsequent action of the city commission has been the adoption of a new parking meter ordinance for a test of 120 days and a formal resolution asking the meter company to readjust the meters so as to establish the two-hour limit. Those instructions have been forwarded to the company, but no reply had been received up to Wednesday night.

The meters, officials said, may be adjusted by an agent of the company sent here for that purpose, or it may be necessary to send them to the factory. The fact that they still were stored in city warehouses Wednesday made it appear more probable that the work will be done here.

In any event, according to announcement at the city manager's office, as soon as they have been adjusted, they will be put back on the streets, that work probably to be done between midnight and dawn of the day on which they will be put back into operation.

And enjoy the evening. Get aching corns off your mind. Foot-Aid corn pads promptly stop the pain and quickly remove the corn. 35c at Jarrett-West Drug Co. Adv

Change Of Scenery Puts Zip Back In Arms Of Newsom And Ferrell

Salary Wings Uncorked In Close Games

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The changes of air and scenery, from Washington to Boston (and vice versa, seems to have been just what the doctor ordered for Buck Newsom and Wes Ferrell.

There's still a lot of pitching left in the salary wings of both Newsom, now with Boston, and Ferrell, at present serving them up for the Nats.

Until they were traded, both were well on the way to having the worst year of their careers. Newsom had won three, lost four and pitched only three full games out of 11, Ferrell, going the route five times in 12, had dropped six decisions and won but three.

Travel At Good Clip

Whether the change of locale also fixed the well known temperament of each, or whether the new air put some of the old zip back in their "soupbones," each is now traveling at 1,000 clip in his new uniform. Ferrell, one of the league's top elbowers for eight years, more or less, started out by stopping the onrushing White Sox in his first action as a Senator last week, and yesterday topped the Tigers 2-1 in 12 innings. Newsom, just reversing the procedure, whipped the Tigers and followed up with a 3-2 win over the White Sox yesterday.

Ferrell allowed but eight hits in the 12 innings he worked. Newsom handcuffed the White Sox with five. Ferrell with his corner-cutting control and "nuthin'" ball back in service, has walked but six men and given 12 hits in his 21 innings of full time work. Newsom, giving the opposition a lot of his strikeout ball, has fanned 16, walked 15, and allowed 11 hits in 18 innings.

Senators Favored

The rest of last week's swap appears to have favored the Senators. The combination of Wes and brother Rick and leadoff man Mel Almada has lent the Senators' batting order considerable more punch than has been provided the Red Sox by Newsom and Ben Chapman, whose batting average as a Boston performer stands at .217.

The defeats for the White Sox and Tigers helped the Yankees stretch their American lead to two full games yesterday. The New Yorkers themselves took a hand in the pastime of belting first division contenders by stopping the Cleveland Indians 4-1 behind Lefty Gomez' six hit nine strikeout pitching.

The New York Giants came from behind to top the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 with an eighth inning, three run rally, and advanced to within five percentage points of the National league lead, held by the Chicago Cubs, whose game with the Boston Bees was rained out.

The Cardinals clouted Phillies pitching for 14 hits and a 7-6 win for their fifth straight triumph. The St. Louis Browns tagged the Athletics 3-2. Rain washed out the scheduled night game between the Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds.

Gamblers Jittery About Big Fight

Tulsa Hanging Back In Second Division

(By The Associated Press)

While their betters scramble noisily for the top rungs of the Texas league the Champion Tulsa Oilers content themselves with lurking menacingly a step or two out of first division.

The inference is that the Oilers, possibly remembering last year, may not be worrying excessively over their failure to crash the upper crust of the circuit this season. As long as the Shaughnessy plan obtains, the Tulsans can repeat their performance of last year by slipping into the first division, winning the playoff and going on to win the Dixie series.

Today the Oilers were a mere game and a half back of the fourth-place Fort Worth Cats, having overhauled Galveston to head the second division. Tulsa got there by battling Fort Worth through 11 innings and winning 6 to 4 when the Cats succumbed to fielding jitters.

Galveston dropped a notch in losing to a hard-hitting San Antonio team straining to get into first place. While Johnny Sams was cutting down the Bucs with six hits the Mission batters ganged Schesler in the fourth for all their runs. The score was 3 to 0.

A conquering Dallas team came home after a successful road trip to whip Oklahoma City, the leaders, 8 to 2. The Steers were outhit 11 to 7 but their hits came at the right time and Fred Marberry was given perfect support by his Dallas mates.

Beaumont clung to its tie with San Antonio, bumping off Houston 4 to 1.

Heavy Weekend Of Baseball Faced

Pacing another heavy week-end of baseball, local teams were active in workouts yesterday, and will be back this afternoon in preparation for at least five games, beginning Saturday.

Skipper Sport Wooldridge takes his Hub Clothier team to Amherst for a single game with the Reds Sunday. Amherst dropped the first game of the season to the Hubbers, in Lubbock. A large crowd is expected to pack Welch Park Sunday for the contest.

The Black Hubbers, looking rather weak against top notch competition last Sunday in their debut double header, are lined up for a big Juneteenth baseball party in Lubbock. White fans are especially invited to attend. Seating arrangements, prices, etc., announced for last Sunday's games will hold good for double headers Saturday and Sunday here.

The strong Odessa team—yet not so strong as the San Angelo Sheepherders, are to furnish main event opposition for the Black Hubbers. There'll be a double header Saturday, June 19, when the colored folks celebrate emancipation. There'll be another double bill Sunday. Odessa will play in one of the games each day. Another team, yet to be named, will compete against the Black Hubbers in nightcaps of each day's program.

The contests will start at 2:30 each day.

Odds Of 9 To 5 Likely At Fight Hour

BY EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO, June 17. (AP)—The "prince and pauper" world's title battle set for next Tuesday night has the betting boys jittery.

The "prince" won't be Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock. He'll step into the ring against Joe Louis, one of the financially poorest boxing kings in history. From a financial standpoint, the brown bomber has a better claim to that title. Louis, who has earned more than $750,000 in three years, will climb through the ropes one of the wealthiest challengers of all time.

Never In Big Money

Braddock never has been in the big money, even since beating Max Baer for the title, a chore for which he received but $31,244. Since then he has had to borrow money, so Tuesday night will be his big chance.

To date, there has been little or no wagering. One Randolph street commissioner is holding $10,000 he'll put against $5,000 that Louis wins—and no sign yet of a taker. There are Braddock bettors asking as much as 3 and 4 to 1 odds, but the impression prevails that the night of the bout Louis will stand about 9 to 5.

Await Downward Shift

Alternately good and bad form by Louis at his Kenosha, Wis., camp has the "wise money" waiting for a sudden downward shift in the Louis odds the day of the battle. Glowing reports on the physical condition of the champion, idle for two years since taking the title from Max Baer also have tended to minimize gambling on the big battle.

The same lack of action, however, wasn't widespread. Scores of out-of-town newspapermen jammed fight headquarters. Loop hostelries reported hundreds of reservations, many sports fans coming here also for the $25,000 added American derby to be run Saturday.

Promoter Joe Foley said rainy weather slowed the ticket sale yesterday, but that about $650,000 already had been taken in.

The state boxing commission has narrowed the list of eligible referees to five. One of the following will be chosen just before the bout begins: "Little Phil" Collins, Dave Miller, Tommy Thomas, Joseph McNamara, and Frank "Spike" McAdams. Collins was regarded as the probable choice.

Police made plans for handling the anticipated sell-out crowd of 80,000. More than 1,200 policemen will be on duty.

Chicago Talking Of Fight And Series

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

CHICAGO, June 17 (AP)—This bustling town is filling up for the big fight. . . . All you hear talked in the spots around the noisy loop is Braddock vs. Louis, a city World's series between the spurting Cubs and White Sox and Saturday's American derby hoss race at Washington park. . . . Right now it looks as if the odds will be about 9 to 5 on Louis by Tuesday night . . . Surprisingly little dough is being laid on the line. . . . (The bangtails get it out this way) . . .

Ran into Freddy Lindstrom, former Giant, Cub and Dodger at Kenosha yesterday . . . Freddy quit the Dodgers last year because he didn't think he was hitting enough for the coin he was getting. . . . He looks fit and is itching to get back into baseball. . . Seems some major league club could use him . . . Drift Along, one of the flappers out at Washington park, has won her last three starts by five lengths. . . . Jimmy Dykes, manager of the surprising White Sox, collected $65 in bets for laying off cigars for a month. . . Clay Bryant, young pitcher for the Cubs, who is the talk of the National league these days, has turned in 18 consecutive innings of scoreless ball.

Ho hum . . . A week ago Louis looked terrible and Braddock looked great. . . . Now it is just the reverse. . . . What is it, a gag? . . . If Joe Louis takes Braddock and Schmeling (and doesn't go through with his decision to quit) Mike Jacobs plans to take him on a tour of Europe next winter. . . . Glad to see Wally Berger getting a long deserved chance with a top flight club. . . . His mark of 38 homers in 1930 still is the record for a first year man in the majors. . . . Incidentally, it looks as if Hank Leiber is out for the rest of the season.

Baseball men out this way think the Cincinnati Reds are going to be sorry for letting outfielder Joe Dwyer, the slugger from the Southern association, get away from them.

Promoter

NOW THAT OUR curiosity has been satisfied, let us petition Promoter Sled Allen to book no more "champion" wrestlers for local appearances. A letter such as the following is suggested:

Dear Promoter Allen,

Now that you have satisfied our curiosity to see wrestling champions in action, we, the loyal subjects of your box office appeal, hereby wish to petition you to please lay off the "champions" when making up future cards.

As a baseball umpire, Mr. Allen (this from Tahoka ball players and fans) you are a mighty fine wrestling promoter, and you have given us a lot of good, clean entertainment. Well, good, anyway.

Two of your largest "houses" have been attracted by the advertised appearances of champions. We saw Middleweight Champion Gus Kallio wrestle, and, we still like Joe Bauer much better. Now we have seen Welterweight Champion Jack Reynolds in action, but having seen that aged, pillow-stomached, knob-eared guy, we had rather see Art Belcher or Lobo Brown, or even Jack Gorman.

If Kallio and Reynolds are champions, then we'll take raspberry, with ginger ale, if you please.

Of course, we can upderstand how and why these two mugs are "champions," despite the fact that the word "cheese" would fit in nicely in qualifying the term, and despite, also, the honor and importance shorn from the word "champion." They are champions, so-called, because they can make their own rules, fight whom they please, and, because of their ostensible reverence, can pretty well control the actions and decisions of referees.

But they are not fighters, not champions in the true meaning of the term as we understand it. We are used to seeing favors extended one and not the other. Well, we may be somewhat used to it, but we still don't like it.

So please, Mr. Allen, keep the champions out and let us have the boys we know and like, with a newcomer now and then to change the scenery. And let 'em go to it, and let the best man win. Even the old boys are slowing up a bit, and some of their matches look a trifle screwy. Make 'em snap into it, make it LOOK real, anyway, and we'll still be pouring through the doors of the Auditorium. We thank you.

Affectionately yours,
The Mat Fans.

Lanham Unaware Of Any Move To Make Him President Of Texas U.

Texas Solons Are For Him

WASHINGTON, June 17. —Representative Fritz G. Lanham of Fort Worth said last night he was unaware of any move to make him president of the University of Texas, and that reports he was being considered "embarrassed" him.

Other Texas congressmen adopted a resolution "that we respectfully call the attention of the regents of the University of Texas to the desirability of offering the presidency of that institution to the honorable Fritz Lanham of Fort Worth, Texas."

The resolution introduced at a dinner meeting of the Texans, by the delegation's secretary, Representative W. R. Poage, of Waco, Tex., was prefaced with these remarks:

"The members of the Texas delegation have heard a rumor that our colleague, Honorable Fritz Lanham, was being considered for presidency of the University of Texas. We have been unable to secure a verification of this from our colleague, and he advises us that he has not and will not take any step toward furthering this eventuality.

"However, the members of the Texas delegation are probably in a better position to know Mr. Lanham's true worth than anyone else. We are firmly convinced this position should be a practical man and should know and love the southwest. He should be a polished and well educated gentleman. Fritz Lanham meets all these requirements."

Lanham said he appreciated the compliment paid him in the resolution, but would take no action in the matter because such a position as the presidency of the university was one where the "job should seek the man, not the man the job."

The vacancy at the university was created by the recent sudden death of Dr. H. Y. Benedict.

7-YR. VICTIM OF GASSY STOMACH

Couldn't Sleep; Bowels Were Irregular; But Now Van-Tage Has Relieved Her

Mrs. Loretta Foutch, of 1325 Curtis St., Denver, Colo., is publicly endorsing Van-Tage which is the "Amazing Mixture of Nature's Roots and Herbs and Other Splendid Ingredients," now being introduced in this city at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway.

Mrs. Foutch

"I had been suffering with stomach gas and sluggish bowels for 7 years," said Mrs. Foutch. "I couldn't eat a thing without having terrible gas pains all through my stomach, and I had attacks of heartburn. The gas pains would torture me so much I couldn't sleep. I was very irregular, too, and had to resort to strong physics. All this suffering made me nervous and irritable. I heard about Van-Tage and decided to try it. I have taken two bottles and I feel like a different person. The gas pains have been wonderfully relieved and I do not have heartburn like I did, and I am very regular for the first time in years. Van-Tage has certainly proved to be all that it is represented to be."

VAN-TAGE helps invigorate bowel, stomach and kidney action. Its 21 Great Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Agents (over 30 Ingredients in all) have a surprising effect on suffering people. Due to the immense volume in which it sells, Van-Tage is NOT expensive, so get it—TODAY—at the Mark Halsey Drug Store at 1219 Broadway. (Adv.)

charm end and captain not so long ago, now coach at Mineola High. . . . Wilson "Bill" Gilmore, colorful basketball star, coach at Vernon High last year. . . . Expected visitors right away are the McWilliams boys, Bill and Bennie, who were great tackles. . . . Bill set the Class B District 4 afire for the last two years as coach of the scrappy and winning Plomont Steers. . . . Bennie, assistant at Lubbock High until last year, is coach at Denison. . . .

Recapitulation: It's news to many that Will Gilmore has resigned at Vernon and will be with Turner at Wink this year. . . . Gilmore was telling us this spring that he didn't expect to remain at Vernon, although he had been re-elected. . . . Wink offered a better salary, so he'll be giving the Class B gang a fit over in the oil belt. . . .

Old pals are reunited as Moon Martin takes a summer job with an oil company, an esteemed employe of which is Leonard "Bear" Curfman. . . . Old Bear has himself a rather sweet job as a gas checker. . . . His technical training at Tech put him in shape. . . . He was quite a star in the engineering dept., as was Martin. . . . They learned things besides how to block opposing ends and weave suits of clothes. . . . Through Curfman's "pull," Martin has a job for the summer. . . .

Bill McWilliams, who was succeeded as a regular tackle by young brother Bennie, is moving into this Class B league. . . . He's the new coach at Ralls High, succeeding C. B. Hendrick, who has given up coaching in favor of the oil and gas racket. . . .

HITTING A FEW GOLF HIGH SPOTS

From Mr. L. P. Stark, managing editor of the Lamesa Reporter, we learn that John Edmisson, former Country club star golfer, is still at it. . . . Now a resident of Lamesa, old John stepped out the other day and set a new course record on the newly opened Lamesa Country club course. . . . He did it with a 64 on the par 72 course . . . and it goes down in Lamesa books as the best round ever turned in there. . . . Joe Dick Slaughter is hitching up his trailer this weekend and tearing out for Denver to compete in the Trans-Mississippi, one of the biggest amateur tournaments of the country. . . . The Chamber of Commerce should take formal recognition of Slaughter's services as a one-man good will delegation to golf tournaments. . . . Among other accomplishments, as a result of his getting around, he has been appointed on the board of directors of the Texas Golf association. . . . He's the first and only board member west of Fort Worth. . . .

Another lefthanded golf guest at Country club, the second in as many days—Al Cook, formerly of Clarendon, now of Sudan . . . and a pretty fair country southpaw golfer, too. . . . The golfing Smiths, Glenn and Vivian, are off on vacation to Kansas, North Dakota, Colorado and points north. . . . They'll be home in time for her to play in the Country Club Women's invitation, and him in the men's meet, which should be one of the best tournaments in West Texas this year. . . .

Invitation to local golf women to compete in Big Spring's annual joust has arrived. . . . Dates are June 23-27. . . . Thanks, Alice. . . . Some of the gals are going over. . . . This conflicts with Meadowbrook's women's invitation, which opens Sunday, continues through next week. . . . Ladies Day at the C. C. drew six players yesterday, so they're giving it up in favor of mixed foursomes, beginning Sunday next. . . . Hooper Stiles, former President's Cup title holder, is shooting a nice game of golluf. . . . And Vic Weber parred the first four holes at Meadowbrook yesterday!!! We'll tell you about Sled Allen's game tomorrow, if you want to know. . . .

Plans For A Bigger School Are Made

Plans for an even bigger school next year were in the making today as result of success of the second annual short course for cleapers and dyers which came to a close at Texas Technological college late Wednesday.

The event was presented cooperatively by the textile engineering department of the college, the West Texas Cleaners and Dyers association and the Allied Trades.

Highlights of the three-day session included an inspection of cleaning and dyeing plants here and a dance and banquet at the Lubbock hotel. Approximately 125 persons registered for the course, M. E. Heard, head of the textile engineering department at Tech, was director of the school. It surpassed in success the meeting last year, insuring continuation on the event in future years.

W. C. Grover, president of the Cleaners Specialties company of Kansas City, Mo., spoke to the group yesterday after an inspection of Tech's engineering building. Other lectures Wednesday were "Furs" by Sam Bifano of Bifano's Furriers, Dallas; "What I Expect of My Dry Cleaners" by Mrs. Sam Reid, jr., of Lubbock; "Advantages and Services Offered by the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners" by George G. Gaubatz, textile analyst of the National Association Institute of Dyers and Cleaners of Silver Spring, Md.

Harvest of the greatest wheat crop ever raised in Floyd county has started and will reach its peak next week, according to Frank L. Moore, county assessor-collector of Floyd county, who visited his brother, Louie P. Moore, chief deputy county clerk, in Lubbock Wednesday.

Moore predicted that the crop in Floyd county this year will exceed 2,500,000 bushels.

Mrs. Moore and their daughter, Norma Jean, accompanied him here.

START YOUR NEW HOME WITH A BIGELOW NANTASKET

Your rugs "take a beating" 365 days of the year (excepting leap year when it's a good 366). Probably no home furnishings item gets as much punishment day after day, so be sure you buy the kind of rugs that won't sprout irritating worn spots or lose their fresh, clear colors in short order. Rugs from the famous Bigelow Weavers, no matter what the price, are firmly woven of Lively Wool, colored with costly dyes. So look for the blue-and-gold label.

Six Hungry Ravens Are Newest Pets For Lubbock Man

Six hungry, wide mouthed ravens, four weeks old and unable to fly, are the new pets of W. E. (Bill) Lyle, garage man at Texas avenue and Tenth street.

Lyle found the birds about a week ago in a nest on the ground in Yellowhouse canyon, about five miles down stream from Mackenzie park. The nest had been in the limb of a tree that was probably knocked off by a cow, he said.

"I remembered the story in the Bible about Elijah and the ravens feeding him," Lyle commented. "Thought perhaps when these got big enough, they might feed me."

The parents have nested in that particular part of the canyon for the past four years and raised their young. This year the birds saw Lyle at the nest, but did not attempt to lead him away so they could get the birds to safety.

Lyle says ravens make good pets. The birds are not yet feathered out. Feathers are black, with some white or gray feathers and there is some down on the bodies. The mouths are prominent, the head being large in comparison to the rest of the body. Ravens will eat meat, bread, grasshoppers, bugs, and in fact anything. "They eat all day long, too," Lyle added.

STILL HOLD BONDS

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP) — Treasury reports disclosed today that about one-fourth of the veterans who received bonus bonds a year ago still are holding them.

Nearly $3,000,000 is being spent by Argentina this year in the war on locusts, the pest being collected in sacks and burned in huge piles, and "flame throwers" for burning locust armies on the wing are being supplied free by the Government to farmers.

"Morning After" Headache Eased In A Hurry

Over-indulgence often results in a dull, "morning after" headache; upset nerves and an "all in" feeling. When you wake up like this, let "BC" lend a helping hand.

The quick-acting ingredients in the "BC" formula will relieve headaches and neuralgia pains of an inorganic character, and greatly aid you in snapping back into your stride. Remember this: Keep a package of "BC" handy. Convenient 10c and 25c sizes, or by the dose at fountains. (adv.)

That Girl on Broadway says you can always tell a fourflusher. He never praises anything for fear he will be considered too easily impressed.

Man's a funny creature. He wants wealth to make him free and, after he gets wealth, spends all his time trying to keep from losing any of it.

ETHRIDGE Eagan sent this in, noting that it came from last month's issue of Public Safety's pedestrian peril article by Lewis E. MacBrayne, manager, Massachusetts Safety Council:

"The rabbit is the only animal that can see behind his ears, yet you find it dead on western highways when it tries to beat the motor car. The postman, on the other hand, is a pedestrian every day he works, but you never find his name in the casualty list because he uses cross walks, is accurate in his judgment and never competes with traffic."

How to overcome ill health (condensed from a 90,000 word book): Quit doing the dumb things that cause it.

INDIVIDUAL members of the Lubbock City commission have been thinking recently about substituting civil service for the present hit-or-miss, slam-bang system of choosing and keeping employes of the municipality.

More power to them!

The longer they consider this important step, the more they will lean toward accepting it.

And as noted in this column more than a year ago, the present makeup of the commission is almost perfect for the civil service plan to be placed into effect here.

No operator of a private business in Lubbock would agree to build and keep his staff upon the vagaries of politics and the political trends of every second year.

The biggest business in Lubbock is the City of Lubbock—and that includes Texas Tech, too.

We need as a community a fair, just and non-political method of operation of our city government—and we, as a community need it a lot worse than the individuals who happen to be working for the city.

Here's hoping civil service is put in before the present commission retires.

THE third degree method of getting confessions is considered brutal except when parents use it on Junior.

That Man on Avenue Q says it's all right to make a career of marriage as long as you're sure you'll never want to get a promotion.

Another good way for a parent to assure respect on the part of the children is to be respectable.

THERE is a story that has been going around this country for some time. The Plainsman heard it when he first settled on the South Plains nearly 14 years ago and he's willing to wager a little that many another citizen has heard it, too.

It goes like this:

A bunch of cowboys were holding a herd up in the canyon just north of Lubbock and a man rode in with the report that Grover Cleveland had been shot.

"Grover Cleveland?" asked one of the punchers. "I don't believe I know him. What outfit did he work for?"

Back of the story, of course, was the insinuation that West Texas cowboys didn't keep up with the times.

The Plainsman has always accepted the story, feeling that in those days of no daily West Texas newspapers and little or no mail service, that doubtless it was impossible for those isolated citizens to keep abreast of what was going on.

However, until last week-end he would have sworn that sort of thing had gone by the boards with the buffaloes—especially with the white buffalo shot by J. Wright Moar down close to Snyder in the 1860's.

BUT last week-end The Plainsman, the Little Woman and two-thirds of the younger generation happened to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Price down at the old Igo ranch and there we ran into a gentleman who doesn't give a hoot about what's going on and probably is happier than those of us who think we keep abreast of local, sectional, state, national and international affairs.

Although this particular gentleman lives within 15 miles of Lubbock and five miles of Slaton, he reads newspapers only when they are brought out to him by Mr. Price; he has no mail delivery; the closest telephone is in Slaton and he wouldn't fool his time away twisting the dials of a radio.

To quote him: "When Mr. Price comes down, I ask him 'how's everything in town?' He says 'OK', and that suits me. I'm getting along fine!"

And Frank Montgomery—that's his name—is getting along fine. To him, Mussolini, Stalin and Hitler mean nothing more than Smith, Brown and Jones. He's got his chickens, his pigs and his Herefords to occupy his time and when he's through with them it's bedtime!

Personally, The Plainsman would turn raging, roaring maniac after three days of being cut off from the happenings of the world. His whole training has been that way.

Probably the average reader of this column, likewise, couldn't "take it", since not being in touch with goings-on would be too much of a change from the normal.

But Mr. Montgomery, who is plenty satisfied where he is, doesn't have to worry himself over the President's judiciary remodeling, mounting taxes, or whether or not Governor Allred plans to oppose Senator Connally for re-election in 1940.

That must be a relief, although we'll have to admit that if his tribe were to increase there would be another family on relief!

BOONE Horne, who edits the official bulletin of the Lubbock Lions club—the name of it is "The Roar"—came out with this recently. It looks to us like a lefthanded swipe at Prof. Hardison Pender, president of the club, and at Prof. Trent Root, also a Lion:

"Someone explained the difference between a professor of government and a professor of economics as follows—

"'The government professor knows a little about a great number of things while the economic professor knows a great deal about a few things. As time goes on, the government professor knows less and less about more and more and the economic professor knows more and more about less and less. Eventually, the government professor knows nothing about everything and the economic professor knows all about nothing.'"

If there's any libel connected with this, we respectfully call the attention of Professors Pender and Root to Editor Horne's publication!

"Flame Trail"

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD
(Copyright, 1937, Marie De Nervaud)

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon, who runs her own ranch, is stretched out on a mountain ledge when, far below, she spots a man suspiciously piling brush against a dead pine. She recalls the firebug the county has been hunting and hurries down quietly to catch him. Pulling her gun, she orders him to "Throw 'em up"! Desperate and defeated, he explains he hoped to get a job fire fighting to buy food for his mother and sister. Kay believes him when he says it is his first attempt to set a fire. On impulse, she slips her gun back into its holster.

Chapter Two
Quick Thinking

An incredulous look of surprise flashed over the man's face before he turned it away from her. Then, after a moment's tense silence, he said, in a muffled voice, still with his back to her, "Why did you do that?"

"Because I believe you." Kay answered, "and perhaps I can help you to find some other way."

With a rush of words, the man's story poured out.

"They've foreclosed on me," he explained, "and we've got to get out next week. I've got a blind sister and an invalid mother. I'm not married, thank God!" Kay shuddered at his bitter tone. "I've sold everything we have, even my gun. I figured a week's fire fighting pay would get us away—" he broke off with a despairing shrug.

Kay had inherited her father's quality of quick decision, and of standing by that decision once it was taken. Something about this man had stirred her sympathy and made her believe in him. Now, as she listened to his story, she felt her original intuition confirmed. By the time he broke off, her resolution was taken.

"It's a rotten trick to foreclose on anyone at a time like this," she tactfully let indignation take the place of sympathy in her tone, "but I tell you what you can do. There's a couple of cabins on our ranch, and you can move your family there if you'd like to join our outfit. I can't pay much, but you won't go hungry."

'You Won't Be Sorry'

When the man's answer finally came, after a long silence, it had a husky break in it.

"You're square all right," he managed to get out. "You won't be sorry either, I—"

"That's settled, then," Kay veered away from his thanks. "What's your name? And where are you living now?"

"Ted Gaynor's my name, and I'm living over by Blackfoot creek."

"And I'm Kay Crandon, of the Lazy Nine." Kay held out her hand.

"You won't be sorry," Ted Gaynor repeated, as he gave it a mighty grip.

"I know I won't," Kay cut back through the woods to the trail, with the new member of her outfit beside her. "You'd better come on now, and have a look at the ranch," she suggested, "then you'll know what you're getting in to."

She laughed to relieve the tension, and was amazed at the difference his slow answering smile made in his drawn face. Why, he was almost good looking and much younger than she had taken him to be at first! He couldn't be more than 25 at the most, she decided.

"I left my horse off the trail a half a mile or so farther down," he said as they came out on the trail and he glanced up to where Flicker was patiently waiting. "I'll join you down there."

As he finished speaking, he suddenly stiffened, and following his gaze, Kay saw a lone rider at the head of the trail. He passed Flicker, and made swiftly for them at a quickened pace.

Kay noted that he had black hair and eyes like her companion, but here the likeness ended. The newcomer had a stalwart rangy figure, with broad shoulders in marked contrast to his slim hips. A healthy color glowed under his tan, and his bearing had all the assurance of success and self-confidence.

As he neared them, his gaze rested on Kay with frank admiration and approval. Then, as he glanced at her companion and took in his gaunt face and general shabbiness, a look of surprise and uncertainty flashed into his eyes.

He touched his hat to Kay as he pulled up beside them.

"I didn't expect to run into company up here," he began genially. "I'm Tom Runyon, the new fire patrol for this area."

Kay felt the man beside her stiffen as she answered the unspoken question behind the newcomer's words.

"My name's Kay Crandon." She felt the color flooding her cheeks in spite of herself at his searching look, and her mind flew from one idea to another for a plausible explanation of Ted Gaynor's presence. The fact that his horse was hidden off the trail made it all the more suspicious and complicated.

Telltale Brush Pile

A sudden inspiration flashed in her mind, and she added, without perceptible hesitation, "I'm thinking of taking up some timber land up here, and Ted Gaynor has been looking over it for me."

Without looking round, she could feel the taut figure at her side relax.

"Oh, I see." Tom Runyon focussed his attention on her again, to her great relief. "You're the owner of the Lazy Nine," he went on, smiling at the picture Kay made with her brilliant coloring set off against the dark background of pines. "I've heard about you. But why don't you wait another month before you take up any timber land? You're liable to buy up a forest fire, if you get it now."

"Not with you for fire patrol!" Kay looked up demurely from under her long dark lashes. The more she could keep his attention centered on her the better, in this danger spot.

He gave an appreciative chuckle. "You've said it! Firebugs aren't going to have the cinch they've been having any more." Suddenly his eyes wandered past her, and he stiffened in his saddle, as he peered through the woods. "Hullo! What's that?"

"What? I don't see anything."

"Looks to me like a pile of brush." He swung off his horse as he spoke. "Just wait a minute until I investigate."

Tom Runyon strode off through the woods.

Tomorrow, Kay outwits Tom Runyon of the fire patrol.

IT'LL BE A GOOD TRICK—IF IT WORKS!

Cornell university buys a farm to study the problems of animals suffering from nervous disorders. A recent story of a college farm-bred pig that got the jitters because of a feeding trick, was an account of but one of the experiments. The theory is to be tested that some nervous disorders are hereditary.

The fact that animals under certain conditions get frazzled nerves is familiar to most rural people who never thought of extending their study of animal psychology. A naturally kindly dog kept tied up in the back yard may become vicious. A colt given impossible tasks and cruelly treated while being trained for work, may become balky or ugly.

The Cornell experiment will follow the effects of animal nervous disorders through generations of the afflicted and will analyze the nervous tissues of such animals to try to discover what break-down actually occurs in the brain and nerves when the erratic conduct of nervous disorder is manifested. Through comparative studies something may be learned to help the large number of human beings who find a ready excuse in nerves for their orneriness.

And if that is accomplished all the effort will be worthwhile!

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 17 — The major studios no longer shoot chapter serials such as "The Perils of Pauline," but they're all scrambling to establish characters for frequent use in sequel features, because the screen-series business is booming.

It's a natural boom, at that. A flesh-and-blood star is an expensive and highly perishable commodity. But once you develop a fictional character such as, for instance, Sherlock Holmes, you've got something.

A fictional character is a chattel, a slave. He doesn't get temperamental, or die, or become involved in scandal. He doesn't squawk about his roles, his billing or his salary. Indeed, he doesn't get any salary.

Dashiell Hammett received $40,000 from M-G-M for the future use of his "Thin Man" characters, Nick and Nora. Metro expects to use William Powell and Myrna Loy in these roles as long as they're available, for it is certain that there'll be more "Thin Man" pictures.

But the Powells and Loys can come and go; Nick and Nora will keep on working for the studio and may live 10 years or 50 years, being portrayed by any players whom the company wishes to assign.

Deathless Tree-Climber

Warner Oland wasn't the first choice for Charlie Chan, and it seems likely that the imaginary Mr. Chan will live a long, long time and will be played by other actors.

Look at Tarzan, the old tree-climber and monkey-pal. He already has survived several of his impersonators. The first was Elmo Lincoln, in 1918. Then Gene Polar, a New York fire department lieutenant selected as the jungle hero in "The Return of Tarzan," in 1920.

Next came "The Son of Tarzan," with a leading man named P. Dempsey Tabler. In 1925 James Pierce, son-in-law of Author Edgar Rice Burroughs, took over the part. He was succeeded by Frank Merrill and Merrill by Johnny Weissmuller. Buster Crabbe played Tarzan in 1933. Herman Brix, still another athlete, was engaged for the role in 1935.

Weissmuller re-entered the picture in 1936, and now Glenn Morris, Olympic decathlon champion, is fraternizing with various zoo beasts in preparation for his debut as the jungle lord.

Crime Solvers

The aforementioned Charlie Chan is such a big money-maker that his own studio, Twentieth Century-Fox, is bringing forth a rival—another Oriental detective, too—the toothy Mr. Moto. Peter Lorre is Moto and the first of the series is being released about this time. The second is in preparation.

Detective stories are best for sequel films. Grand National has bought the rights to the fantastic Dr. Fu Manchu stories. Philo Vance and Erle Stanley Gardner's Perry Mason are two other well-known crime-solvers.

Incidentally, William Powell, Ricardo Cortez and Warren William have in succession played each of the two gumshoers. You've had Rod La Roque as "The Shadow," Bulldog Drummond is a continuity character born in the earliest days of the talkies.

The Hopalong Cassidy pictures probably are the best known sequel westerns, but they have a mystery theme. The Jones Family series is about the only one outside the thriller category.

Prosperous Aliens

The screen colony contains a lot of alien immigrants. These are not quite the type of immigrants who come to this country with all their possessions tied up in a handkerchief. Their possessions are tied up, instead, in stocks and bonds and annuities and 20-room cottages in Beverly Hills.

Greta Garbo is an alien immigrant. So are Ronald Colman, Herbert Marshall, Marlene Dietrich, Sonja Henie and hundreds of other players. Of British citizens alone, there are about 300 here. The Misses Dietrich and Henie soon are to become naturalized Americans.

If screen players came here as visitors they'd be able to remain only on temporary permits, and could work only under contracts previously signed. As "immigrants," though, they have the status of permanent residents but are unable to exercise the privileges of citizenship either here or in their homelands.

When they leave the United States for a visit abroad they first must secure permits of re-entry. Otherwise they'd be obliged to await their turns on the quota list.

Large Wheat Crop In Crosby County Is Being Forecast

Crosby county's wheat crop will approximate 2,000,000 bushels this year, Ralph Trolinger, traveling freight agent of the Santa Fe said this morning. He made a thorough trip over the county looking over crop prospects and talking with farmers, grain men and others, Monday.

"Smallest yield reported was 18 bushels to the acre," said the railroad man. "The highest was 50 bushels. Most of the wheat ranged from 27 to 38 bushels per acre. I believe the average for the county will be about 27 bushels."

Trolinger estimated 80,000 acres will be harvested this year, unless unexpected hail destroys much of the crop. There are about 60,000 acres in Crosbyton's trade territory, 18,000 to 20,000 in Ralls territory and several thousand at Lorenzo. The latter town is expected to ship 100 cars of wheat this year.

Thinking Of Cutting In?

Politics Or Efficiency Is Problem Facing Administration In Filling Two Vacancies

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 17 — Vacancies on two of the most important of the independent federal commissions are forcing the administration to decide whether it wants to abandon the habit of filling such vital posts with weak sisters and political hacks.

Herbert J. Drane is quitting the Federal Power commission and Irvin Stewart, in open disgust, has left the Federal Communications commission.

Dutcher

The Federal Power commission, although charged with regulation of electric energy in interstate commerce, and although it is now actively lobbying for the huge task of supervising and coordinating the Roosevelt program of separating the country into eight regional developments along the line of TVA, is notoriously weak.

The Federal Communications commission is commonly regarded here as the New Deal's hottest hotbed of scandal. It has supervision over radio, telephones, telegraphy, and television. Although there is plenty of violent argument as to the relative performances of other government agencies under the New Deal, few insiders in Washington will argue with much heat that the FCC has not put on as disgraceful a performance as any. The general idea here is that "politics and favoritism" should be engraved as a motto on FCC's front door. Stewart was the commission member most conspicuous for a combination of honesty and ability.

Rate Cuts Chief Pride

Various "deserving Democrats" are after the two posts. They include certain members of Congress none too confident of renomination and re-election next year, who would prefer the assurance of a nice steady job to the trials, tribulations, and expense of the next campaign.

The outstanding job of the FCC has been the investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the subsequent rate reduction in long distance telephone rates negotiated principally by Carl Wheat, former public utilities counsel for the city of Los Angeles. Wheat wrangled a reduction in long distance rates amounting to about $12,000,000 a year. Formerly he had been instrumental in California rate reductions amounting to about $5,000,000.

Either someone like Wheat will be appointed to the commission

AID FOR BRIDGE PLAYERS

Dear Plainsman: It looks like the bridge and poker players are going to be forced to establish a lobby at Austin or else be put on a 9 cent limit. You and I know that a 9 cent limit was all right during the depression but the legislature is behind the times. In this day of high food costs with everything else soaring to inflation prices, the legislature don't have any right to put a measly limit like that on our games of bridge, when we have been used to something better.

My wife and I both were in favor of cutting out the betting on horse races. We signed a petition to help get it done. It wasn't right for the people in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio to squander their money on horse races. We lent a helping hand in stopping that. You bet. It was a shame and disgrace the way some of them bet a dollar when they didn't know which horse was going to win. We thought they ought to use that dollar to make a down payment on something they didn't or did need. It would be better than taking a chance on a horse. There's too much excitement at a horse race, too. It was bad on those people's nerve, and we know we have helped them a lot by helping the legislature the way we did with our influence.

But those bad elements are not in bridge. You see my wife plays bridge. She just eats it up but it doesn't bother her any. When she goes to a bridge party with $6.39 and comes back with $1.38, she says it is all right because the hostess had such nice things that must have cost a lot and that was just my wife's way of contributing to such a lovely occasion. Besides, we have all ready bought a lot of things that we pay for on the installment plan.

So you see this 9 cent limit the legislature is trying to shove off on us is against freedom of action and speech and liberty. It would be awful for us to sign a petition getting them not to pass it. We are not public people and our preacher don't see things like we do. We feel like you being a public servant ought to stand up for us in your column since we are behind the eight ball, so to speak. Speak out otherwise, we are stymied. After all we know the legislature will listen to you speaking the voice of the people. And besides, Mr. Allred has a horse betting business in his home form, but he didn't say anything about bridge or poker, so he has a leg to stand on when you take up the cudgel for us. My wife will take it up at one of her bridge parties tomorrow afternoon and she is certain you will be backed by 100 per cent and she belongs to two bridge clubs, so you will have plenty of support. You know how sentiment spreads, too.

We can't sign our names for reasons stated, but we are all for that something be done immediately about this. We are law-abiding people. We wouldn't break any law like the one against horse betting but a 9 cent limit is too much and no fooling.

Sincerely,
Two friends,
Lubbock.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of flushing the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day, or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood may, when due to functional kidney disorder, be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills today.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, down 4 to 7 points on lower Liverpool cables, liquidation and foreign selling. July 11.85; Oct. 11.92; Dec. 11.90; Jan. 11.92; March 12.00; May 12.03.

The declines here were in response to easiness at Liverpool. There was fair trade and far eastern buying as well as covering. Wall street also bought cotton. But during the first half hour considerable scattered selling developed, including additional July liquidation.

Prices fluctuated irregularly over a range of 4 or 5 points. The undertone held about steady at the decline.

Trading became quieter, with hesitancy to trade more actively attributed partly to nervousness over the labor situation.

Oct. fluctuated between 11.91 and 11.95 and shortly after the first half hour sold at 11.95. Prices generally were 4 to 7 points net lower.

At Liverpool scattered realizing was influenced by disappointment over action of foreign cotton markets and favorable weather reports.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 17 (AP) — Cotton opened slightly lower today in sympathy with weak Liverpool cables and some trade and local selling.

There was a decided lack of pressure in early trading.

July contracts opened at 11.77, October at 11.92, December at 12.00, January at 12.01, March at 12.05, and May at 12.10, or four to six points under the previous close.

Business was light and active positions traded within a narrow range.

Liverpool reported that disappointing foreign advices and favorable weather induced scattered realizing which encountered a lack of enthusiasm on the buying side.

The market gained strength as the morning progressed and the previous closing levels were passed by active positions. At midsession prices were 5 to 6 points net higher on near months.

Fears of too much rain in the northwest and in portions of the eastern section of the belt brought out covering by shorts and a little demand from the trade.

As a result July recovered to 11.89, Oct. to 12.03, and Dec. to 12.09, or 16 points above the early lows.

A private report predicting some strike developments in the midwest in the next few hours was construed as bullish and had considerable to do with the buying movement.

Cloth and yarn markets both here and abroad continued quiet and business was limited.

Awards Presented In Daily Bible School

The First Baptist church's daily vacation Bible school closed with commencement exercises at 7:30 o'clock last night when awards were presented to more than 60 pupils ranging in age from 4 to 16 years who made outstanding records.

The commencement address was delivered by Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor. Exercises were held in the church auditorium.

Each of four divisions of the two-weeks' school presented parts of the program; songs by beginners; a Bible story, memory work, and songs by intermediate pupils; and a Biblical drama by the juniors. Mrs. Leo E. White was director of the drama and was in charge of music at the school.

Midget Bibles, described as about the size of postage stamps with 200 pages requiring magnifying glasses to be read, were presented to students who passed oral memory tests, attended the school every day, and attended exercises last night. The awards were presented to: 24 primary students, 28 junior, and 10 intermediates.

Hand work completed by both boys and girls was on display. Winners in the hand work contests last night had not been announced.

Waite was principal of the school.

Girl's Condition Is Serious As Result Of Car Accident

A serious skull injury, as well as lacerations and bruises over the face and body, was suffered by Miss Marie Alexander, 15, of Anton in an automobile accident near Anton shortly after 9 o'clock last night, examinations revealed this morning at Lubbock sanitarium. Her condition was reported as extremely serious, but recovery is expected.

R. D. Webb, about 19, also of Anton, suffered a fractured nose and chest injury, but was released from the sanitarium shortly after receiving emergency treatment last night about 9:40 o'clock.

The automobile in which they were riding met in a head-on collision with another automobile which was pulling a trailer.

The couple was rushed by automobile to Lubbock by R. J. Alexander, father of the girl and storekeeper of near Anton. They had started to Littlefield to a picture show, it was reported here.

Alexander was informed last night that the driver of the other automobile was a Littlefield man named McNabb. He was quoted as saying he was blinded by lights.

Literary Digest Sold On Wednesday

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP) — The Literary Digest was told yesterday by Funk & Wagnalls Co. to Review of Reviews corp. and will be merged with the Review of Reviews as a weekly publication.

"We have not yet decided on a name," said Albert Shaw, jr., president of the Review of Reviews corp.

"It will be a news, interpretative and review magazine," said Shaw. He declined to disclose the price paid for the Digest.

Last fall the Digest suffered a blow when President Roosevelt's victory upset the results of its expensive and elaborate nation-wide straw poll. The presidential polls of the Digest in previous years had been remarkably accurate.

Another Water Test Planned For City

Test of possibility of water sands deeper than the city ever has gone in that particular area was started today on the city's 80-acre tract near the northwest edge of the city limits after having completed a regulation bore to a depth of 100 feet.

The well is at the site of a 30-million-gallon reservoir which officials believe may become the eventual assurance of Lubbock's water supply.

City Engineer Marlin R. Smith reported that approximately 30 feet of water sand in several strata was encountered above the 100-foot level but that no test of their water potentialities has been made. It is wholly a matter of speculation, he added, as to whether the sands will produce from 500 to 1,000 gallons per minute as had been hoped. If the yield should exceed 500 gallons per minute, it was explained, eventual plans of the city are to drill several other wells nearby and divert the flow of all into the reservoir.

Just when the test of potentialities of the well may be made was uncertain, Smith said, as small bore drilling about 50 feet deeper is planned. The operations, he explained, are designed to determine whether water sands exist below 100-foot depths in that area.

Should such sands be found, it was added, it may mean permanent solution of Lubbock's water problem. However, engineers generally were described as being of the opinion that none will be discovered.

the extreme edge of the downward slant of sands from which the city's supply is obtained from wells to the north.

However there are numerous windmills and private wells in the vicinity and their owners have complained that the drainage might contaminate their supplies. Although engineers were quoted as declaring that such fears are unfounded and that sands the water would penetrate would provide perfect filtration, the objections have carried sufficient weight to make the carrying out of the project improbable.

Meanwhile, the usual plan of spreading oil on the waters has been followed to keep the place from becoming a breeding spot for mosquitoes, officials said today.

Strikes

taken over patrolling picket lines at Cambria, said many non-strikers entered the plant during the calm that followed a quick flurry of violence last night in which two pickets were stabbed.

Company police asserted that virtually the normal day shift entered the mills unmolested.

Squads of mounted state troopers reconnoitered the strike zone and reported quiet prevailed.

"The matter has gone way beyond the powers and opportunities of one state to deal with it," Gov. Davey telegraphed the president.

"Therefore I request you most earnestly to intervene on behalf of the federal government and undertake in such manner as you may deem best to find some bases on which this costly and threatening strike can be settled."

Thus, with a governor, a mayor and a strike leader all petitioning for intervention, the $750,000-a-day strike had twisted itself today into a question mark that pointed toward Washington. Before the president, too, was the appeal of Mayor Daniel Shields of Johnstown, charging that the strikers had resorted "to the most dastardly crime" of kidnaping.

Lewis was in Chicago where tonight he is to address a CIO mass meeting; but another CIO chieftain, Philip Murray, was in Washington with an appeal for federal intervention.

W. C. Fields Loses Out In Suit; Must Pay Physician $12,000 Medical Charges

(By The Associated Press)

RIVERSIDE, Calif., June 17. — W. C. Fields, screen comedian, will have to pay Dr. Jesse Citron, small town physician, $12,000 for medical services rendered last year when Fields was critically ill in a Riverside hospital, a superior judge held today.

Fields

Judge O. K. Morton ruled that Dr. Citron's fee of $12,000 for 25 days' treatment was reasonable. He also denied the actor's demand for $25,000 damages on the claim the physician administered a narcotic that impeded recovery.

"I never have felt that a doctor or lawyer in a small community is entitled to less compensation than one in a large city," Judge Morton said in giving his verdict. "Dr. Alan Dafoe, who brought the Dionne quintuplets into the world, was a small-town physician.

Impressed By Results

"I have always been impressed by results more than theory. Mr. Fields is alive and well, and the results in this case seem more important than the theories advanced concerning the treatment.

Fields was the last witness on direct examination before the attorneys submitted the case without arguments. He was on the stand about 10 minutes. He denied that he ever told Dr. Citron that he had an accumulated surplus of $700,000 in banks and that he discussed money matters at all.

Income Is Revealed

"What was your income in 1935?" his attorney asked.

"$57,678.31," Field replied.

"And your income in 1937?"

"$82,238.93."

Under cross-examination, Fields said he did not know how much he had in banks in June 1936.

"Did you have any stocks and bonds?"

"Stocks? Did I have stocks? Yes, indeed, and they were terrible. They jumped up and down. You pay $100 for some of them and they jump down to $60. I didn't get any dividends. They were terrible."

"Can you estimate your total wealth?" Fields was asked.

"Naw, I don't know. The only guy that can tell is the income tax collector. I worry about thinking up gags for my pictures. I let other people worry about how much money I have."

Fields said his contract with Paramount studio called for $100,000 a picture, and three pictures a year.

Flight Recorder, Which Charts Progress Of Plane On Translucent Map To Get Test

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, June 17. — Army, navy and department of air commerce officials will observe an airplane test flight from Los Angeles to Oakland this week in which a flight recorder, invention of Dr. Samuel Spitz, will chart a transport's continuous progress on a translucent map at Union Air terminal, Burbank.

Short wave radio impulses from a portable transmitter in the plane light up electric globes on the big map.

Dr. Spitz who invented the marine depth sounder, said the flight recorder can "nurse" a plane through murky weather and locate a plane in distress.

Dr. Spitz said he spent $100,000 perfecting the flight recorder.

Eastern Harris Residents Launch Move To Secede

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, June 17. — Residents of eastern Harris county declaring they "have received the backwash of Houston long enough," pressed a move today to secede and form a new county.

An old sore was irritated by action of commissioners court in redistricting the county precincts, which gave the City of Houston a majority block of votes in each precinct, and George L. Keene opened another fight for a new county.

Keene, member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and former city commissioner at Goose Creek, said there are enough qualified voters in the tri-cities (Goose Creek, Baytown and Pelly) to demand that the legislature enact a law permitting us to establish a new county."

Keene's action revived an old movement to carve a new county out of western Chambers and eastern Harris counties.

Said Keene:

"Houston has been running things in this county too long."

Light Sentences Meted Out To Hunt County Farm Agents

DALLAS, June 17. (AP) — Julian P. Green, Hunt county agricultural agent, and Louis M. Taylor, his assistant, drew light sentences in federal court today for conspiring to forge endorsements to government checks.

Green, who pleaded nolo contendere, was fined $1. Taylor, who pleaded guilty, was assessed a 60-day jail sentence. The indictment cited 11 overt acts consisting of alleged attempts to forge names to checks issued under the Bankhead farm act.

Democrats Hopeful Of Healing Few Of Intra-Party Conflicts On Outing Trip

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 17. — Democratic leaders were hopeful last night that some of the intense intra-party conflicts of the present congressional session may be ended by the simple process of talking them out with the president on a week-end outing.

They invited President Roosevelt and the entire Democratic membership of the house and senate to spend June 25, 26 and 27 at the Jefferson Island club, playground of congressional Democrats, noted for its good food and comfortable informality.

They announced that no subjects would be barred; that any member of the party can talk about anything he wishes. Cabinet members will be there, too, ready to straighten out any congressional difficulties they may be experiencing.

The president readily accepted and senators and representatives talked enthusiastically of the project today.

Senator Robinson (D-Ark.), the majority leader and president of the club, called with a delegation at the White House today to obtain Mr. Roosevelt's acceptance.

"It will be purely an outing," he told reporters, "but no strings will be attached and anybody can talk about anything he wants to."

Since there are 407 Democrats in congress and the club's sleeping facilities are limited, Robinson explained that one-third of the party membership will visit the Chesapeak bay island each day, embarking for the club at Annapolis, Md. Mr. Roosevelt and party leaders will stay at the club throughout the week-end.

The club was established several years ago, largely through the instrumentality of Senator Tydings (D-Md.), as a recreation center for Democrats in congress. The requirements of membership are a $50 initiation fee and annual dues of $100. Not all the eligibles are members.

At the White House it was said that the president was delighted at the opportunity to talk things over with the members of his party; that he was ready to take up any legislative or other problems they wish to bring up.

Among the difficulties that have beset the administration this session, the controversy over his bill to reorganize the Supreme court stands out as by far the most intense. It has ripped the party wide open and has produced scars that some have predicted may take long in the healing.

Further Delay Is Given Bills

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 17.—Senate bills to outlaw dog track betting and put teeth in the statutes against horse race book-making met further delay in the house today.

They went back to committee on a point of order a quorum was not present when they were recommended. Two committeemen who had been recorded as present at the session told the house they were not there when the vote was taken.

The senate, meanwhile, marked time awaiting house action. It had passed the bills in a few minutes last week.

Governor James V. Allred won his fight against extension of the anti-gambling drive to include what the governor considered trivial forms of gaming.

The house voted more than 2 to 1 to back up Acting Speaker Fred Mauritz of Ganado in his ruling that the bill to which the universal anti-gambling amendment was attached was out of order. The bill, offered as a substitute to the senate dog race proposal, was held to be not germane and outside the governor's call.

Members said the amendment would have prohibited bridge playing in the home and shooting marbles for keeps. The governor asserted its enactment into law would make the anti-gambling campaign look ridiculous.

Baker-Hemphill Co., At San Angelo Sold To Local Firm

SAN ANGELO, June 17 (AP)—Spencer Wells of Lubbock's Hemphill-Wells Co. and W. M. Hemphill, sr., president of the old company, announced Wednesday night they had purchased assets of Baker-Hemphill Co., leading department store here since 1909. Wells is one of the new owners.

The store here and the one at Lubbock will be operated as sister stores, Wells says, and capital stock of the new concern will be raised to $200,000. Wells was associated with the store here from 1909 to 1922 and then went to Lubbock with Hemphill-Price Co. In 1928 the Lubbock firm became Hemphill-Wells Co., and Wells was later named vice-president and general manager.

The store here is housed in its own five-story building.

Wells said that no change was contemplated in personnel but that he would spend two or three months here in reorganization of the local store.

Acute Labor Shortage Reported In Rio Grand Valley Sections

HARLINGEN, June 17. (AP)—Cotton growers of the Rio Grande valley tonight announced an acute labor shortage threatened unless other sections furnish workers to harvest the estimated 125,000 bale crop.

J. S. Elliott, district supervisor of the National Reemployment service, told the growers at a meeting enough workers could be produced if growers registered their requirements with the NRS.

Harvesting of approximately 30,000 acres in Starr, Cameron, Willacy and Hidalgo was expected to begin about July 10. The growers said only about 3,000 laborers were available.

Almost A "Wreck" Before The Gly-Cas

Mrs. Guerrero Had Lost Her Appetite; Kidneys Weak, Head Ached Continually, Sleep Was Impossible; Gly-Cas Only Medicine To Help Her

"I was almost a nervous wreck when I began using this new Gly-Cas," said Mrs. Lawrence Guerrero, 1023 Market St., Shreveport, La. "I had no appetite, my kidneys were acting too freely. My rest was disturbed at night and it was impossible for me to get any sleep. I was very badly constipated, suffered pains continually in my back and sides and was also bothered continually with intense headaches. Everything I tried was worthless as far as getting any benefit from it and it was not until I began Gly-Cas that I was helped in anyway."

"Gly-Cas wasted no time in restoring my health," she continued. "My headaches and backaches left me at once, kidneys seldom bother me at all anymore, nerves quieted and bowels are regulated. I consider Gly-Cas the one REAL MEDICINE of them all and it should not be confused with the ordinary medicines of today. Never before have I seen a medicine with such quick effective action."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns. (Adv.)

Taber To Pay Visit Here

Plans for a series of meetings when Louis J. Taber, of Columbus, Ohio, national president of the Grange, visits Lubbock Monday were announced late Wednesday by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college.

Taber will stop off here enroute to Columbus from a trip to California where he has been speaking. It is his first visit to this section of Texas, although he has visited other sections of the state before.

Three Meetings Scheduled

Three meetings are scheduled for the campus. They are:

3 p. m., in the livestock pavilion, with an open forum meeting for agricultural workers, a round table discussion of leading agricultural problems as applied to this section.

7:30 p. m., probably in the stadium, an open mass meeting for farmers, county agents, vocational agriculture teachers, Resettlement administration men and others.

Grange Meets At Night

8:30 p. m., in the college gymnasium, a meeting of the Lubbock county Grange, a closed meeting for members of the Grange in this section.

Dr. Knapp is to preside at the afternoon and the evening sessions open to the public. The county master, or some other Grange official, will preside at the Grange session.

"I consider Mr. Taber one of the outstanding leaders in American agriculture," said Dr. Knapp in commenting on the visit. "When I learned he was likely to come through Lubbock, I immediately invited him to visit with us."

There are about 1,000 members of the Grange in this section of the state. Work of orgahization is still going on.

In the winter of 1936, a society in Austria arranged for the transportation of 10,000 birds from Vienna to the southern part of Europe, where they stayed for the winter.

or the lobbyists and politicians will persuade Roosevelt to appoint a congressman or other favorite who can be depended upon to be as sweetly reasonable to the detriment of the public interests as most other members of the commission have done.

Driscoll's Name To Fore

The situation as to the Federal Power commission vacancy is similar. This commission was so severely criticized that a national power policy committee was created to perform the function of thinking and planning on a national scale, a function that was previously supposed to be within the commission's bailiwick. And when the public utilities holding company bill was passed, Congress deemed it advisable to commit administration and enforcement not to the FPC but to the securities exchange.

Those primarily interested in reducing electricity rates to consumers have been promoting Dennis J. Driscoll, head of the Pennsylvania Public Utilities commission, for the job left vacant by Drane. Driscoll served briefly as a congressman and was defeated for re-election after he had so boldly exposed the fake telegram campaign of the Associated Gas and Electric Co. against the holding company bill. Driscoll probably can have the power commission job if he wants it. Reports from Harrisburg are that he does not.

Chances are fairly bright that the post will go to a Texas congressman who wants a relatively permanent job.

Few things are more important in Washington than the appointments to the several independent commissions. Inadequacy of the Federal Trade and Interstate Commerce commissions for their huge problems also has been frequently charged. The administration's new wage and hour bill is just another obvious evidence of the fact that no piece of New Deal legislation amounts to very much unless Roosevelt is willing to appoint men who can and will make it function.

Increased Attendance Noted In Water School In City

Increased attendance reflected growing interest Wednesday night in the second of the series of nine programs at a water school in progress at City hall here.

J. N. Hinyard, of the state department of education and director of the course, dealt with chemistry of water and water softening.

The next session, to be held Friday will be a discussion on bacteriology of water and water borne diseases. In addition to information to be presented by Hinyard, Jack Wyatt, city chemist at Amarillo, is expected to attend. His subject will be fluorides and mottled enamel.

The three weeks' school, which started Monday, is holding classes at 8 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights. They are in the City commission room at the City hall.

SCHOOL IN CEMETERY

ORANGE, N. J., June 17. (AP)—Eighth grade teachers at Cleveland street school looked around for an ideal place for their pupils to study nature. They picked Rosedale cemetery, and classes are being held there twice weekly.

The huge Goodrich Zeppelin hangar at Akron, O., expands and contracts six inches a day. The building has an atmosphere of its own; at times it rains inside.
