Census Reveals Retail Business Of $10,589,000 In City

Upswing Noted Since '33 For Lubbock Firms

Sales Are Increased Nearly Two And A-Quarter Million Dollars In Past Two Years, Salaries $248,000

Stores Total 388

Employes In City Paid Total Of $1,015,000 During 1935; Figures Are Obtained From Nation-Wide Survey

BY GORDON WEBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

REMARKABLE upswing of Lubbock retail business in 1935—a fact realized already by scores of business men and hundreds of their employees—has been put in black and white by the federal bureau of the census.

In 1935 total sales increased $2,221,000 and salaries $248,000 as compared with 1933 figures, the bureau has informed Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Sales Total $10,589,000

The bureau of the census obtained reports from 388 stores which last year disposed of $10,589,000 in merchandise and paid their employees $1,015,000.

In 1933, the year of the previous business census, 381 stores reported $8,368,000 in sales and $767,000 in payrolls.

The automotive group of 48 stores reported the heaviest sales, but the general merchandise group of 11 stores paid the largest total for salaries. General merchandise, however, had 169 more employees.

Ratio Is Lowered

In 1933 for every dollar spent for salaries the merchants had average sales of $10.00. Last year the ratio was $1 in salaries for $10.42 in sales.

Full-time and part-time employees totaled 1,278 in 1935. A total of 750 persons were employed full-time two years before. That census did not list part-time workers.

Issue Final Reports Soon

Final reports on wholesale trade, services business, and 11 other phases of the census will be issued as rapidly as the material can be tabulated and assembled, F. A. Gosnell, chief statistician of the business census, of Philadelphia has informed the chamber of commerce.

The 1935 business census was much broader in scope than previous censuses of business, Gosnell explained.

The nation-wide survey of business was taken during the first eight months of 1936 by enumerators who personally contacted approximately 3,000,000 business es-

County's Ginnings Exceed '35 Figure

Lubbock county's ginnings for the 1936 crop up to December 1 had exceeded the total crop last year by over 3,000 bales, it was indicated in the report for ginnings up to that date this year announced Saturday by A. L. King, special agent of the bureau of the census.

Ginnings were 53,515 bales, compared to 34,890 bales on the corresponding date last year. The increase was 18,625 bales, or 53 per cent.

Between November 14 and December 1, 8,247 bales were ginned in the county. For the previous period, November 1 to 14, ginnings were 12,449 bales. For the 30-day period from November 1 to December 1, a total of 20,696 bales were ginned.

It is believed that the greater portion of the county's crop was out on December 14 and that the remainder of the crop will probably not exceed 5 to 8 per cent of the total.

A FEW hundred toys and a few dollars nearer the goal of "a larrupin' Christmas for every underprivileged boy and girl in Lubbock", the Goodfellows campaign starts in on what should be its final week of 1936 today.

But the drive is far from completion.

Hundreds of dollars and hundreds of toys still remain to be collected and, declared Chief Goodfellow last night, "there's no time like the present. Donors of toys are asked to deliver them to central fire station at City hall so they may be repaired and repainted by WPA workers. And donors of cash are asked to take or send their money, checks or post-office money orders to The Avalanche-Journal, 1211-13 Texas Avenue."

THE listings committee of the drive, seeking names, ages and addresses of every underprivileged boy and girl of 14 years or less—regardless of creed or color—is still asking aid in uncovering every likely recipient of a Goodfellows Merry Christmas.

A coupon, printed in this paper in Section 1, Page 6, is ready for the pencils of those who will do their part in letting the Goodfellows know what boys and girls need their attention.

Scouts Get 400 Toys

Boy scouts, paced by Arno Dalby's big trucks, picked up between 400 and 500 toys in their canvas yesterday and Hal Grady delivered 122 toys taken in at the special matinee at the Lindsey theater Friday afternoon.

John Teal To Accept Term

Announcement Made Saturday That 50-Year-Old Machinist Will Take His Penalty For 18-Year-Old Slaying

Finis in the 18-year-old slaying of Miss Evelyn Monts will be written in 64th district court at Muleshoe Monday morning when John Teal will accept an 8-year sentence for the school teacher's murder.

Announcement that the 50-year-old machinist would accept the sentence given him last week by a 64th district court jury was made Saturday by George W. Dupree who, with Chas. C. Crenshaw, defended Teal.

Arrested Last January

More than 17 years of fugitive freedom for Teal was ended last January when he was arrested in Pendleton, Ore., by two West Texas peace officers, Sheriffs Tom Abel of Lubbock and Jim Cook of Muleshoe.

Drama has been packed into the case since that Easter Sunday in 1918 when the four-times married Teal shot to death the 22-year-old woman he testified was his fiancee.

Teal fled in his automobile. He took a new name and, his friends

DALLAS, Dec. 12. (AP)—Rep. Sam C. He said he intended obtaining the views of Governor Allred before drafting a bill.

Problems Will 'Be Up To FDR After Return

Momentous Decisions That May Shape The Course Of Second Administration Have To Be Made In Near Future

NRA Is Included

Business Is Calling For A Balanced Budget; Congress Is Also A Question; New AAA On Program

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Momentous decisions that any shape the course of his second adminstration face President Roosevelt on his return next week from South America.

Primarily, they involve interpreting the mandate given by the American people in reelecting him him by a plurality of more than 11,000,000.

Did the voters call for a constitutional amendment? Did they ask for a new NRA, a new AAA, a balanced budget, or continued expenditures? There are some of the questions awaiting the chief executive's dicision.

Expressions In Conflict

Many of the groups which supported the president during the campaign have placed their own interpretations on the outcome. In many cases their expressions have been in conflict. It will be up to the president to make the choice.

High on the list of his problems is the selection of a method to carry out his pledged purpose of gaining the objectives of NRA. Many plans have been proposed. Labor, which supported him in the campaign, is clamoring for action.

Would Require Charters

One of the chief executive's first callers probably will be Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) with a plan to require all corporations doing interstate business to get charters from the federal government. These charters would require them to live up to certain minimum standards.

Some farm spokesmen are de-

MAY BE PEACE MAKER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—Growing bitterness in the house leadership contest gave hint today that President Roosevelt might find the necessity of a peace-maker role when he returns next week from his South American trip.

Chairman O'Conner, (D-NY) of the house rules committee, a contender for the post, insisted tonight that efforts to get him out of the race "have been a complete flop."

Managers for the campaign of Representative Rayburn however, declared there was a "very good chance" for the Texan's election.

Criminal Libel Charges Will Be Dismissed Against Editor

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12. (AP)—Criminal libel charges probably will be dismissed Monday against P. Milton Smith, weekly newspaper publisher, who was arrested after attacking President Roosevelt editorially.

U. S. Attorney H. H. McPike announced after a conference with Fred L. Thomas, Santa Clara county district attorney, that the charge is "too puny and far-fetched" to prosecute.

Smith in an editorial charged President Roosevelt with being a "hypocrite, a montebank and a false alarm."

State Department Of Public Welfare Proposed By Board

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (AP)—The Texas Planning board committee on government and social aspects approved today and sent to the main body a proposed bill to create a state department of public welfare.

The department would embrace the old age pension commission, Texas Relief commission and division of child welfare of the board of control, under administration of a nine-member board to be named by the governor. County and district advisory boards would be set up.

Dr. Glenn Frank To Resign As Univ. Of Wisconsin President

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 12. (AP)—The Capital Times said tonight that Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, would submit his resignation or be dismissed at a special meeting of the board or regents Wednesday.

Dr. Frank has been at odds with progressive regents, who dominate the board, for nearly a year. An ouster movement, growing out of a disagreement over administration policies, was started last spring, but did not materialize.

President To Be Re-Elected On Monday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—It won't be exactly a surprise, but President Roosevelt will be re-elected on Monday.

The 531 members of the electoral college will meet then in their state capitals and vote for president and vice-president. The chances are the Roosevelt-Garner ticket will poll 523 votes to 8 for Landon and Knox.

It is part of the elaborate election procedure set up by the constitution. The popular balloting on November 3 chose presidential electors rather than deciding directly between Roosevelt and Landon.

These electors—the total equals the number of senators and representatives—will send their votes here to be counted by the senate and house on January 6. Then Mr. Roosevelt's capture of a second term will be official.

City Dads For Making Appeal From Decision

Stand Is Taken In An Informal Discussion Of Commissin Saturday; "Heads" Taken From Meter Posts

Four of Lubbock's five commission members favor appealing the parking meter injunction suit to the Amarillo court of civil appeals provided Dual Parking Meter company of Oklahoma City will defray the expenses.

That stand was taken in informal discussions at a special meeting in City hall late Saturday.

No Steps Taken

The commission took no steps to control the downtown parking situation pending appeal.

Three hundred 17 aluminum-colored metered stands gleamed on downtown sidewalks like headless ghosts last night.

The City had stored the meter heads, officially stemming a stream of nickles in compliance with ruling of Judge Homer L. Pharr of 72nd district court that the City did not have police authority to maintain the nickel-and-hour parking.

Temporary Writ Issued

A temporary writ of injunction restraining the meter operation was issued by the judge.

Without formal motion, Mayor Ross Edwards and Commissioners W. G. McMillan, W. B. Price, and J. A. Fortenberry committed themselves to appeal if expenses were

Eleventh Child, Weighing 19 Pounds, Is Born To Couple

WAVERLY, O. Dec. 12. (AP)—Dr. W. L. McCaleb of Beaver said today he had delivered as the 11th child of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brigner a son weighing 19 pounds—only about two pounds less than the normal weight of a year old baby.

Dr. McCaleb said the infant, which was born on Dec. 4, was normal in every respect, and was "getting along just fine." The mother, who weighs only 135 pounds, likewise was recovering nicely, he said. The birth of the 19-pound infant, said Dr. McCaleb, was about 30 days later than expected.

Powers Indicate Willingness To Concentrate Best Offices In Effort To Terminate Civil Disturbance In Spain

Resolution Passes

Belief Prevails That Several Nations Will Rally To Put Principles Of Intervention Distaste In Effect

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Dec. 12.—Unanimously backed by the League of Nations council, France and Great Britain will concentrate their energies toward bringing to a quick end the Spanish civil war, it became apparent tonight.

The general impression among league officials, after the council's adoption of a resolution urging a halt to the war because it endangers international peace, was that all nations concerned, including Italy and Germany, would rally in principle to a strengthened non-intervention accord designed to keep foreign soldiers and munitions out of Spain, and perhaps to the Franco-British mediation proposal.

New Fear Arises

As the league agreed to seek isolation of the Spanish war, a new trouble arose—serious dispute between Turkey and France over Turkish-Syrian border clashes.

Correspondence between the Turkish and French governments was published at the instigation of Turkey.

START "STARVATION SIEGE"

MADRID, Dec. 12. (AP)—Fascist insurgents have abandoned efforts to smash their way through Madrid's defenses and resorted to an encircling "siege of starvation," the capital's military leaders believed tonight.

Nevertheless, the capital rushed its program of evacuation of women and children. The evacuation committee estimated 300,000 persons had been escorted from the metropolitan area and that 200,000 more would go shortly.

Favorable Year Is Seen For Farmers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—A forecast of a favorable year for farmers in 1937 was coupled by federal economists today with a warning that "there are fundamental weaknesses in the position of agriculture that will require vigor—and action."

A. G. Black, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, presented these views to Secretary Wallace in an annual report.

Despite the drouth, Black said, cash income of farmers will mount to $7,850,000,000 this year, the fourth consecutive annual advance from the 1932 low of $4,328,000,000.

However, the dry weather was said to have "left scars that will require time, careful planning, and much labor to erase."

Beaumont's Jails Opened And 288 Striking Seamen Released

BEAUMONT, Dec. 12. (AP)—The doors of the county and city jails were opened here tonight, releasing 288 striking seamen on a writ of habeas corpus issued by the ninth court of civil appeals.

Jailed for alleged violation of a fifty-eighth district court anti-picketing injunction, the seamen were declared being illegally restrained.

Contempt hearing for the seamen were set for Tuesday.

Girl Masquerades As Boy For 4 Months In School

(Special To The Avalanche)

MONTROSE, Colo., Dec. 12.—A handsome student, known as a boy, at Montrose high school turned out to be a girl today.

School officials said the student, who for four months has masqueraded as a boy under the name of Joe Coberly, is readily Helen Coberly whose parents live at Trinidad.

Her disguise was discovered today after she had told her instructors she would not be in school next week.

The girl had deceived schoolmates and teachers completely with her boy's garb and sleek, masculine haircut. The school principal even had recommended "him" to a Montrose family for part time employment as a chore boy and "Joe" had done such odd jobs as digging ditches and mending fences.

"I never liked girl clothes," the girl said after telling how she had decided to enroll in school in September as "Joe Coberly."

"I wanted to be a boy, therefore, I decided to dress like a boy."

The girl, a sophomore, recently was elected president of the Boys' Sunday school class.

Classmates had regarded her as one of the most handsome "boys" in the school.

New King Hailed By British People

Edward, As Duke Of Windsor, On Way To Switzerland

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Under dreary skies Britain proclaimed George VI king today while Edward VIII sought in a foreign land the solace of the love that cost him his throne.

As golden-uniformed heralds moved through foggy London streets in medieval pageantry which twice within a year has heralded a new sovereign, the crisis of Edward's abdication passed into history.

With unruffled calm the British peoples accepted the melodramatic change of sovereigns and turned from the Prince King they loved so well to his tall, family-loving brother George—but with deep sympathy and a goodspeed to him who found the burden of kingdom too heavy without "the woman I love."

Before the musty battlements of St. James palace, heralds hailed the new King. Trumpets shrilled as throngs watched the pageantry of centuries ago reenacted.

Anchored In New Allegiance

So tonight the British people were anchored safely in new allegiance to the second son of the revered George V and his plump little Scottish commoner wife who will grace the golden throne which the American-born Wallis Warfield Simpson might have held had other fates prevailed.

And at Boulogne-Sur-Mer, France, Edward who henceforth will be his royal highness, the Duke of Windsor, arrived aboard the destroyer Fury to begin self-exile. From there he boarded a train for Switzerland.

"It may be some time before I return to my native land," he told the far-flung British realm in radio adieu last night before he sped to Portsmouth to speed from England.

Mrs. Simpson In Seclusion

At Cannes, Mrs. Simpson kept in seclusion. Through a spokesman she intimated Edward would not come there.

In Dublin, the Irish Free state rushed legislation to accept Edward's abdication and become the last dominion to accept the new monarch—but only in the conduct of foreign affairs. A measure passed last night established the Free State's independence of Britain in the conduct of internal affairs.

London's day of splendor to pay homage to George VI centered at Charing Cross, at Temple Bar, at the Royal Exchange.

Whether the crown as the last great link holding the self-goverened-empire together has been materially weakened by Edward's abdication no one knows.

Some Englishmen lamented today that "the old empire will never be quite the same again."

Plainview Child Is Killed In Accidental Discharge Of Gun

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 12. (AP)—Accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of a 12-year-old playmate killed Everest B. Rosser, jr., 11, here last night.

Funeral services for the Rosser boy were arranged for tomorrow afternoon in Plainview.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek Is Prisoner In Rebellion In Shensi Provincial Capital; Edict Is Issued

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Dec. 13. (Sunday)—Chinese authorities unreservedly admitted today Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was being held prisoner at Sian-Fu as a result of a military rebellion in the Shensi provincial capital.

Detention of the powerful military and administrative leader by Marshall Chang Hsiao-Liang, former dictator of Manchuria and for the last five years an active associate of Chiang, the Nanking government declared, faced them with one of the gravest crises in the history of China's nationalist movement.

Authorities Hold Session

In an all-night session the Chinese government's highest authorities here dismissed Marshal Chang from all official positions in the Nanking administration.

They threatened to launch a military drive against the "young marshal," who was charged with treachery, unless he released his captive immediately and submitted unconditionally to Nanking's orders.

Geo. B. Hickok Meets Instant Death In Fall

Trainmaster For Santa Fe On Slaton Division Victim Of Unusual Accident Saturday Night Near Abernathy

Train Has To Back Up Three-Fourths Of Mile To Recover Body; Skull Fractured In Plunge; Services Today

A FUTILE effort to maintain his hold on a rail inside the cab of a speeding Panhandle & Santa Fe locomotive brought instant death to George B. Hickok, about 45, roadmaster of the Slaton division and a Lubbock resident, near Abernathy Saturday night.

The big engine of passenger train No. 95, southbound from Amarillo to Lubbock, was racing at 70 miles an hour, Engineer L. W. Smith of Slaton was quoted as saying. Fireman E. J. Schermerhorn, also of Slaton, said he looked around from his seat in the cab and saw Hickok attempting to hold the railing with one hand and, a moment later, saw him fall out the gangway of the locomotive. The engineer did not see the tragedy.

Held Position 10 Years

The victim, who had been roadmaster on this division at least 10 years, according to friends, suffered a crushed skull.

The engine crew told Dane Shearer, Slaton fireman, when the train pulled into the station at Lubbock at 10:28 o'clock, 28 minutes overdue, the train could not be stopped within a distance less than three-fourths mile. As soon as its momentum was checked, the train was backed to the spot where the body lay, and Hickok was placed in the baggage coach and brought to Lubbock.

Wife Was Waiting

Mrs. Hickok, unaware of the tragedy, was awaiting her husband at the station, planning to drive him to their 1316 Avenue Q residence.

Officials at Lubbock and R. G. Kirkpatrick, chief dispatcher of the division, at Slaton said they had been informed the train, in charge of Conductor G. B. Middleton of Slaton, left Amarillo at 7:25 o'clock and was near the Tuco utilities

Band Session Ends Saturday

"Success Of Clinic Here Is A Challenge To Us," Leader Of Waco Band Says; Prepare For Spring Contests

Band directors returned to their homes in various parts of the state last night after hearing interpretations of contest numbers for the 1937 West Texas School Band and Orchestra contests at a two-day band clinic, after changing one required number for the contests, and hearing suggestions for band leadership from A. R. McAllister, of Joliet, Ill., president of the National School Band association.

Directors indicated they thought the clinic successful both in attendance and benefits received. A few more than 100 directors attended and about 500 band members during the two days.

Success Is Challenge

"Success of the clinic here is a challenge to us", said Lyle Skinner, Waco Senior High school band director, in inviting directors to attend a state meeting of band leaders in Waco Feb. 5-6.

D. O. Wiley, director of the Texas Technological college band, and Klein Ault of Fort Worth, head of the Ault Music company, sponsored the clinic, which was conducted in Senior High school auditorium. Lubbock and Slaton High school bands and the Tech band played the contest numbers under direction of McAllister.

To Change Required Numbers

Class D directors decided to change their required contest number from Andante Cantabile ((Beethoven) to Panora overture (Guy E. Holmes). The original number is not technically difficult but Class D bands generally do not have enough musical background for the number, said Joe Berryman of Fort Stockton, president of the western division of the Texas School Band and Orchestra association.

West Texas contests will be conducted in Lubbock April 29-30, and May 1. Three days are being allowed rather than two because orchestras are being admitted this year for the first time, said Berryman. About 40 bands, including probably 1,500 players, likely will come here for the contests, he said.

Attend Luncheon Saturday

Fifty-two directors and several members attended a luncheon at Hilton hotel Saturday, when McAllister gave an address and several others spoke briefly.

Asked to give suggestions for directors, McAllister said "Balance is the big thing I would try to improve in this section. . . . Let every player know his importance. For concert work the second, third and fourth parts are just as important as the first".

He discussed the plan for dividing the United States in regional contests. He was the originator of the plan, which will be voted upon at a meeting of the national association in Urbana, Ill., Jan. 7-8.

Amarillo Recommended

The West Texas group already has recommended Amarillo as place for the first regional contests, should the plan be adopted, said Berryman. This region would include Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma, according to the division which has been suggested by McAllister.

Cooperation of directors of this area was particularly noticed by McAllisted. He has found dissention among directors in some areas, he said.

The Tech band is a "fine group", he said, commending the players for their "goodfellowship and sincerity". He found the best points of both high school bands their "readiness in catching on and carrying out ideas".

Col. Earl D. Irons, director of the North Texas agricultural college band at Arlington, also commended the local bands. Colonel and Mrs. Irons will return home this morning.

Clyde H. Rowe of Slaton, secretary of the West Texas band group, is director of the Slaton band which played during the clinic. H. A. Anderson is director of the Lubbock High school band.

Now Is The Time For All Good Patrons Of Santa To Mail Their Packages Early

Now is the time for all good patrons of Santa Claus to mail their Christmas packages early.

This is the advise of Postmaster Amos Howard, Lubbock, who also suggests that extreme care be used in the packing, wrapping, handling and addressing of all packages.

"You get them to us easly and we will get them delivered—if the people for whom they are addressed are at home," says the postmaster. "Pack and wrap them correctly, be sure the addresses are right and you will have little trouble."

Not Correctly Prepared

A very heavy proportion of packages, too many in fact, are not correctly prepared. This results in additional work for postoffice employes, delays in arrival of the articles and trouble all around.

First wrap carefully. Umbrellas, canes, golf clubs, etc., all sharp pointed articles, should be bound by lengths of wood tied tightly. Guard carefully sharp points.

Should Mark Packages

Articles likely to be broken or smashed, should be packed in strong cardboard or fiber boxes and marked fragile. Use liberal quantities of excelsior or other packing materials.

Perishable articles should be so marked. They should be in containers that will not break, permitting the contents to spill out.

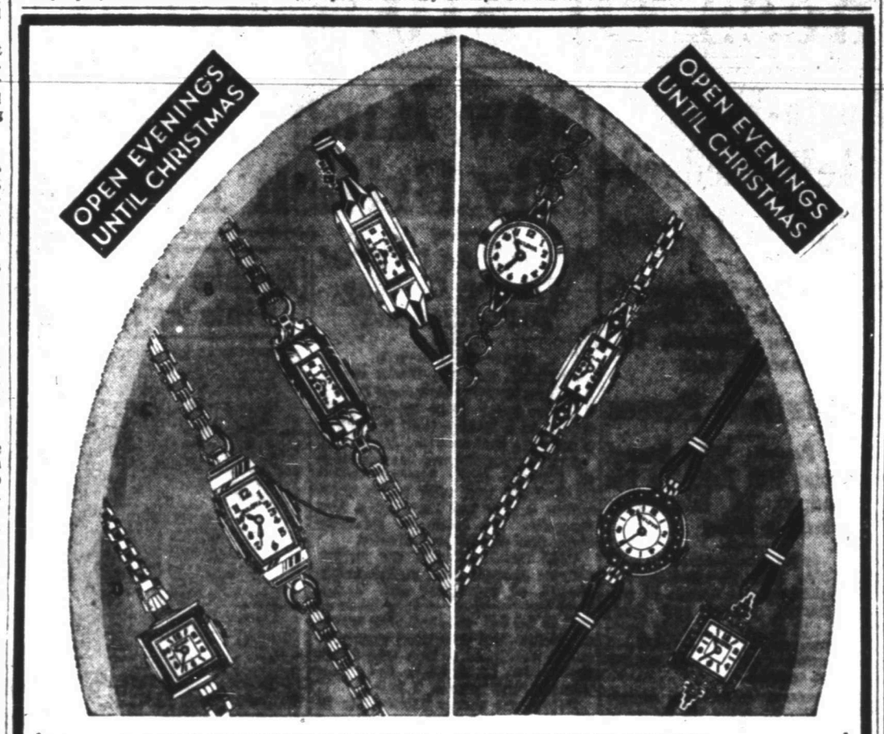

Special delivery stamps should be used to insure delivery on Christmas day, if mailed at the proper time.

Valuable gifts should be insured. Persons sending articles about which the mailability is questionable, should question clerks or postmasters about it.

Postage must be fully prepaid on all mail.

Credit Of 25 Per Cent For Fire Insurance Premiums Will Be Allowed By Record Set In This City

Lubbock payers of fire insurance premiums are assured, beginning in March for one year, the maximum credit allowance of 25 per cent on their payments, D. A. Forbess, city fire marshal and building inspector, said yesterday. This year's credit is 20 per cent.

Declaring that many fire losses on insured property would be carried over until after January 1, 1937, Forbess said the ratio of fire losses to premiums was approximately 23 1-2 per cent, below the 24 per cent ratio set as a maximum to permit the 25 per cent credit.

Losses on insured property over a five-year period, on which the credit is based, Forbess said his records indicated, totalled $150,256.64, whereas premiums paid were $673,683.91.

He estimated the 1936 fire loss on insured property at $11,830, and the 1936 premium payments at $154,000, indicating that the latter figure might be increased when final tabulations are available.

Habits Of The Black Widow Spider Are Being Watched

BEAUMONT, Dec. 12 (AP)—The habits and hardihood of the black widow spider are being noted in an experiment by Boyd Cutler.

Nine weeks ago he placed the insect with its egg in a bottle without food. The spider, without delay, spun a web around two pine splinters, and soon after several score young ones hatched. The spider and its young have received no food, but appear to be thriving.

William Ramsey Will Make His Headquarters In City

William Ramsay, Ph. D., district general manager of The Macabees, a combination of life insurance and practical fraternity, will make his headquarters in Lubbock. Plans for an invitation of a class of 100 men and women will be made soon, he said.

Mr. Ramsay received his higher education in Scotland, being graduated from the University at Edinburgh. He is a cousin of Ramsay MacDonald, former premier of England, and is a member of the bar of Scotland, England and Texas.

He has traveled extensively for the Maccabees, which is the largest legal reserve association on the North American continent.

Liquor Complaints Still On Dockets For Federal Courts

AUSTIN, Dec. 12 (AP)—Although prohibition was repealed in Texas 16 months ago, illicit manufacture and sale of liquor and "home brew" continue to be the main cause of federal court complaints here.

Four-fifths of the half hundred complaints filed before U. S. Commissioner Bruce Bledsoe since the federal grand jury met in June deal with violations of federal liquor taxing laws.

Half of these resulted from whisky still seizures, the majority in the Brazos river bottoms of Washington and Burleson counties. Twenty stills also were seized in the Austin area.

The blow-fly takes less than a day to develop within the egg.

Pre-Christmas Tree Will Be Given For Children Living At Milam Home By Tech Girls

A pre-Christmas tree will yield popcorn and fruit to orphans of Mrs. W. T. Milam's Opportunity home Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock when the Women's Athletic association at Texas Technological college gives a program for the orphans.

About 30 members of the Tech association are planning to sing carols and to present the gifts at the home, said Miss Elise Tucker, association president.

The association recently planned a project by which students will supervise play and tell stories at the home each week. They will begin the project the second week after classwork is resumed on Jan. 4 after Tech Christmas holidays.

Gifts, principally clothing, will be presented to the orphans by Mrs. Milam and others from a tree on Christmas Eve.

A Christmas dinner, with turkey and all the trimmings, will be served to the orphans on Christmas day, said Mrs. Milam.

Cars For Transportation Of Visitors In City Required

Approximately 20 more cars are needed to provide adequate transportation facilities to a delegation of 185 Eastern Farm bureau members who will be in Lubbock Tuesday afternoon, it was announced at the chamber of commerce Saturday.

Services of 32 automobiles have already been secured in response to a call which was issued the middle of the week.

The farm bureau members, on a tour of representative farm sections of the nation, are to arrive at 3:20 o'clock, be taken over the city, and depart from Slaton at 6:20 o'clock.

Final arrangements will be discussed at a chamber committee meeting Monday, although the hour had not been set.

Data Is Given On Bollworms

Five More Counties Added To Quarantine; Representatives Of Bureau Are In Area To Furnish Information

Five more West Texas counties have been added to the 16 in this section under a pink bollworm quarantine by the United States Department of Agriculture and warnings on th movement out of the area of cotton seed for planting, was issued by H. B. Prickett, in charge of the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine.

Lubbock has been district headquarters for the bureau since 1933 and a force of men has been here since the fall of that year, handling regulations on movement of cottonseed.

The new areas were added by the U. S. department upon finding of pink bollworms in trash around a gin at Big Spring, and at Patricia, Dawson county, during October. Counties added included: Martin, Howard and Glasscock; the parts of Dawson and Midland not previously regulated.

Representatives in Area

Representatives of the bureau are stationed at Littlefield, Levelland, Brownfield, Midland and Big Spring. These men may be contacted by those who desire information on what to do about moving of seed out of the county where it was grown.

"Cotton seed from the infected counties cannot be sold for planting outside the area," Mr. Prickett said. It cannot be moved out except to designated oil mills, where machinery and equipment for sterilizing it is located. Practically all West Texas mills and some port or terminal mills are equipped.

Great Danger Possible

"Great danger is possible if infected seed is sold for planting outside the area, as the spread is possible, and probable. Hence, the department has strict regulations on it.

"We have had splendid cooperation from farmers of this area in the past, and we are appealing to them and to farmers in the new counties, to assist us further. If all persons concerned will cooperate with us in safeguarding seed movements, it is believed that it will not be necessary to adopt more drastic measures in this area."

Machines Detect Worms

The bureau has machines that can detect worms and these machines, with experienced operators, were placed in the field early in September of this year. They were placed north of San Antonio to Ballinger, Abilene, Sweetwater and Colorado. Later they moved to Big Spring, Midland and Lamesa, in October.

About the middle of October first worms were found at Big Spring. It was the first time that they had been found there since in 1927 and 1928. Worms were found around Midland about the same time.

Later the machines were sent to Snyder, Tahoka, Post, Lubbock, Sweetwater and other points. No worms were found except in Dawson county.

SMALL EARNERS HAVE CARS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Families with incomes below $1,000 a year own three times as many automobiles as those earning $3,000 or more, according to department of commerce figures received by the California State Automobile association.

COMING BACK HOME

MIAMI, Dec. 12 (Special)—Mrs. E. R. Haynes, associate editor of the Miami Chief, is moving to Lubbock for the winter, to spend the time there looking after her property interests on the South Plains.

Leo Paris, a rancher near Laketon, Gray county, has leased her house and is moving his family here for the winter. He will be here the first of January.

1914-1936

This picture is a view South from Broadway on Texas Avenue and was taken on October 31, 1914. Outstanding local news items for the year 1914 were: A campaign to install modern fire equipment to replace the antiquated equipment; appropriations to eradicate the boll weevil; and steps toward the backing of a building movement.

An estimated 2,000 population in 1914 and a population of approximately 28,000 in 1936 shows an average increase in population of over one thousand each year.

Many are firmly convinced that approximately 200 new homes will be built in Lubbock during the year 1937. A further expansion of Lubbock's business district is predicted.

The trend of Lubbock's growth indicates that many thousands of dollars will be used in extending gas lines to new homes. It is important that your gas company keep in step, not only in the expansion of its distribution system, but in providing a sufficient and dependable supply.

Distant Star Is Discovered

New Star Is Said To Be More Than Two Quintillion Miles Away In Space; Brightest Of Stars Also Found

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Determination of the most distant star of the universe, swinging two quintillion miles (2,000,000,000,000,000,000) away in space, was reported today by the Carnegie institution of Washington.

Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the institution's observatory at Mt. Wilson, Calif., attending the organization's annual exhibition of scientific research, said astronomical work this year also had disclosed the brightest star in the universe, a super nova, or new star, 20,000 times brighter than the sun, and another star which probably weighs several thousand tons per square inch.

The most distant star, he added, is a faint cluster of nebulae almost at the outer limit of space which can be observed through the 100-inch telescope at Mt. Wilson.

STANDEFER SPEAKS

Dr. Fred W. Standefer, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, will speak on "Ear and Throat Problems," on the Parent-Teachers program, over KFYO, Wednesday morning at 9:35 o'clock.

KENNY BAKER FEATURED

Kenny Baker—There's a name that may strike you as very unfamiliar unless you are a constant listener to a particular coast-to-coast radio show (Jack Benny, of course). But actually Kenny Baker has been with the KFYO audiences since the Uptowners Quartette was first introduced into the Standard Radio Service. Kenny was a top-tenor with the quartette for some length of time and only proceeded to new solo heights after winning the Eddie Duchin award a little over a year ago. He then went on the Jack Benny show where he has been a feature ever since. KFYO listeners are receiving the Uptowners in generous doses, as the Standard Service contains a large number of releases.

"THE ANSWER MAN"

The weird, the fantastic, the unusual are all discussed by "The Answer Man," new one-man show heard over KFYO each Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at 6:30 o'clock. The show is sponsored by the Firestone Service stores.

EVELYN CASE SINGS

The Champagne Waltz," a melody in three-quarter time, will be sung by the beautiful, blonde-haired Evelyn Case on Chevrolet's "Musical Moments" program, to be broadcast from station KFYO Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. Rubinoff, conductor and violin maestro, will recreate on his violin one of the most popular songs ever written, Franz Lehar's "Frasquita." The orchestra is scheduled to play two numbers, "La Bomba," from the motion picture production "The Big Broadcast of 1937," and "Bye Bye Baby," swing sensation of the current season.

Insurance Is Being Planned

Proposal Being Prepared To Guarantee 50 To 75 Per Cent Of Average Yields; Dates On Wheat Risks Stressed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—An agricultural department expert said today a plan for federal crop insurance being prepared by a commission under Secretary Wallace would guarantee farmers 50 to 75 per cent of their average yields.

The expert, working on proposals to be submitted to congress, said date on risks in wheat had been stressed. Western wheat farmers have asked that experiment be tried on them during the next season.

While the crop insurance plan would be voluntary, this official said farmers who plan to seek insurance would be asked to join in the soil conservation plan for 1937. Under the plan, only 50 to 75 per cent of the average crop would be insured.

Thus, a farm with an average yield of 16 bushels an acre would be insured for 8 to 12 bushels a year.

EL PASO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy selected Miss Minetta Holly of El Paso as its candidate for queen who will reign over the Southwestern Sun carnival New Year's day.

Texas Ranges In Good Condition

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (AP)—The department of agriculture reported today Texas livestock and range conditions were favorable on December 1 and would come through the winter in good shape.

Cattle declined 2 points during November, but cattle and calves were in good flesh and fared well in all sections. There was an ample supply of feed.

The condition of sheep was 86 per cent of normal, compared with 87 per cent the previous month. Sheep were entering the winter under favorable conditions. Goats were 87 per cent of normal, a drop of 1 per cent under the previous month.

Average decline in cattle ranges was 1 per cent for November under the 10-year average (1926-1935).

Although cattle ranges declined 4 points in November they were in better shape than usual for the state as a whole.

There was a very good supply of matured grass on sheep ranges and an ample supply of forage but some shortage of grain feed.

Amarillo Couple Is Injured In Car Collision Near Slaton

SLATON, Dec. 12. (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Max O'Brien of Amarillo, injured here a few minutes before noon today in collision of their automobile and a truck, were to be released tonight in time to return to their home aboard the Globe-News grid special, en route there from Abilene.

Physicians at Mercy hospital, where the couple was treated for minor cuts and bruises, said both O'Brien, associated with an automobile finance agency, and his wife apparently were in satisfactory condition.

One physician said highway partolmen had investigated the wreck. He indicated no charge would result, that "settlement" had been effected.

Tech To Stage Play Thursday

"Big Hearted Herbert" Will Be Presented By Dramatic Students Of College At High School Auditorium

A public presentation for which a cast of Texas Technological college speech students has been preparing since soon after opening of the fall semester in September will be offered Thursday night at 8 o'clock in Senior High school auditorium.

"Big Hearted Herbert", a three-act comedy, will be presented. Miss Ruth Pirtle, head of the speech department, is director of the play.

Plot Is Sketched

Rex. Webster plays the part of Herbert Kalness, a self-made business man who insists that his family be brought up in the plain tradition. When his daughter becomes engaged to a Harvard man and his wife has Harvard men to dinner, he nearly goes out of his mind with rage. His home becomes safe for Harvard men only after his family has embarrassed him by embracing his plain traditions literally. The sight of his wife in an old wrapper, and his supper of Irish stew and apple pie destroys his resistance.

Other Tech students in the cast are Eron Gafford, Helen Lehmberg, Earl Crow, Lillian Heard, Noel Edgar Thompson, Ernesteen Lockhart, Billy Yeatts, Lee Byrd, Katherine Kersch, R. V. Jones and Priscilla Davis. A public school student, Thomas Pirtle, has a part.

Student activity tickets will admit Tech students.

Tipica Orchestra To Appear In City

Mercado's Tipica Mexican orchestra, which now is touring the western coast, will present the "Romance of Mexico in melody" Thursday, Jan. 7, in Senior High school auditorium, said R. A. Mills, chairman of the Texas Technological college artist course.

The program will not be part of the artist course program for the year, but special rates will be offered to Tech students.

The orchestra will appear in Philharmonic auditorium in Los Angeles Jan. 3. It is composed of several outstanding soloists, Gustavo Carrasco, tenor; Lolita Valdez, soprano; the Ojeda dancers; and Sarita Sanchez, salterist. Angell J. Mercado is director.

The orchestra presented a series of broadcasts over the NBC hook-up last winter for 13 weeks.

Big Dunes Of Sand Blocked

Great Sand Dunes In The Dust Bowl Of Texas Are Gradually Being Torn Down By Winds That Built Them

DALHART, Dec. 12 (AP)—Great sand dunes in the "dust bowl" are being gradually torn down by the winds that built them.

Government experts, sent here to combat drouth and dust, discovered that colliding wind currents caused the mounds to be formed. They found also that if this collision is prevented the wind will tear them down.

Dr. Charles J. Whitfield, Soil Conservation Service expert, says the dunes are collections of small mounds started by sand-filled tumbleweeds.

"In June, 1935, theer were some fifty small dunes varying from two feet to more than 18 feet high, and of various lengths and widths (in the Dalhart area)," he says. "In June, 1936, there were only five relatively large dunes with seven outlying smaller ones."

Dr. Whitfield's studies show that the sand accumulates on the east side of the weeds, since the prevailing winds are from the west and southwest.

"The windward slopes are generally long and gently rising, while the leeward slopes are crescent-shaped," he says. "There is evidence that the crescent shape of the leeward side is responsible for the increase in dune size. When the wind approaches the top of the dune it drops its load of sand, due to the formation of eddies or wind currents that move at right angles to the prevailing winds."

The experts found by eliminating the crescent on the leeward side of the dunes they could stop the accumulation of sand. To do this they took a long pole, eight inches square, and dragged it across the dunes with horses.

Dunes Are Lowered

"The wind was thus prevented from forming eddies and, as a result, carried huge quantities of sand out beyond the dune," Dr. Whitfield says. "Disking of dunes that had become compacted still further facilitated their movement. As a result of the application of these methods, dunes have been lowered as much as fifteen feet in five months."

Dunes naturally are the accumulation of sand from the ground between them. The experts found some kind of vegetation was needed to hold the sand redistributed over these areas.

"To hold the sand removed from the tops of the dunes to adjacent areas, the exposed substratum can either be listed or planted, or both," Dr. Whitfield says. "One of the best crops is a stand of local weeds such as Russian thistle. Preliminary studies indicated that hummock leveling, listing and planting the critical area retarded wind movement across the hard lands and further prevented the blasting actions of the wind."

Texas Dairymen To Gather At A. & M. Short Course Monday

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 12 (AP)—More than 100 Texas dairymen are expected to attend the second annual short course of dairy herdsmen and cow testers, sponsored by the dairy husbandry department of Texas A. & M. College Dec. 14 to 18 inclusive. Prof. A. L. Darnell, director, is preparing the program.

Instruction will include dairy herd management, inspection, classification, sanitation, shelter and feeding. A conference of dairy herd improvement association testers and a contest on culling dairy herds on type will be features. Staff members of the dairy husbandry department, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Texas Extension Service will be assisted in carrying out the program by Dr. H. L. Darby of Fort Worth, chief inspector for Texas of the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture; and D. T. Simons, field man for the American Jersey Cattle club.

Great Britain Is To Default

Another War Debt Payment To Go By The Boards; Finland Will Be The Only Country To Meet Obligation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP) — Great Britain informed the United States today that it was defaulting on its war debt again on December 15, but left the door open for a new discussion of this international sore spot.

Significantly, the British note, when opened at the state department, was found to omit the usual statement that Great Britain was unable to meet the regular installments on its $5,029,169,196 total debt, which have been in default since 1933.

This omission raised hope that Britain might soon follow the lead of France in inviting overtures looking toward definite negotiations.

Finland To Pay

On December 15, Britain will owe $117,670,765 as its regular semi-annual payment plus $668,694,071 already in arrears. Finland, owing on December 15 an installment of $231,315, is the only one of 13 debtor nations which has continued to pay regularly. It has already announced that December 15 installment would be met promptly.

All the other countries are expected to default again, although France may take the opportunity to present a specific proposal for adjusting her debt.

The French foreign minister recently expressed to American Ambassador William C. Bullitt the desire of his government to arrange a settlement.

The British note said the government "will be glad to reopen negotiations whenever circumstances are such as to warrant the hope that a satisfactory result might be reached."

Decorations Are Arranged In City

City workmen Saturday were erecting in the sidewalk circle halfway between county courthouse and Texas avenue an elaborate Christmas decoration to supplement flags and strands of colored lights along streets.

The added setting will replace lighted trees placed in barrels at intersections in the business district, a plan followed in the past but resulting in traffic hazards.

Ten Christmas trees with lights were being placed in two semi-circles to permit unhindered passageway along the sidewalk, and overhead, an eight foot star covered with fir branches and outlined in red colored lights with a blue bulb in the center was to be set.

The work was being done under authorization of City Manager W. H. Rodgers.

Usual Christmas Procedure In Lubbock Schools Changed

Modern invention stepped in this year to change usual Christmas plans for students of Senior High school.

For several years music groups in the school have walked through the halls of Senior High school singing Christmas carols during the final days before Christmas holidays. But this year the situation is different. With the help of the new radio system every student in Senior High school is given an opportunity to participate in the singing of carols each morning for ten minutes.

The choral group, directed by Mrs. E. Waldo Trotter, gathers in the auditorium each morning and broadcasts its carol program. In the fifty classrooms in the building students have their song books ready, turn to the page number given and join in the singing sent to them by microphones in each room. This practice will continue through December 22, the day school will be dismissed for the holidays.

LARGEST BUCK

ROCK SPRINGS, Dec. 12 (AP)—The largest buck of the current hunting season was brought here by Les Ellis. The animal dressed 185 pounds and had 20 points. Game wardens say not as many deer was killed through the first week of December in this section as in past seasons, although the number on range appear as large as heretofore.

Its engine crew visibly shaken, the train proceeded from Lubbock to Sweetwater.

testified, a new life in the Pacific northwest.

He left behind him: A note which a state's witness declared Teal had announced he would kill himself; the embittered relatives of Miss Monts and his own saddened kinsmen; and burning love letters which he had written to Miss Monts and which were kept for a jury's ears by the woman's sister, Mrs. J. L. Tilson of Hale county.

Residents Were Aroused

Bailey county residents were aroused by what they considered a wanton slaying. Rewards totaling $1,000 were offered.

Many investigators, both private and official, attempted to pick up Teal's trail.

All had failed until last January when Sheriff Abel paid $250 for information which enabled him to locate the accused man in the employ of a railway company in Pendleton.

Sixth Wife At Trial

Teal readily admitted his identity, waived extradition, and accompanied the sheriffs to Lubbock. The machinist's sixth wife followed him here and stood by him in his trial.

District Attorney Chas. H. Dean of Plainview and Dennis E. Zimmermann, a special prosecutor, of Tulia presented the state's case before a jury and Judge C. D. Russell last week. paid by the company which sold the City the meters, City Commissioner A. J. Richardson opposed appeal.

Round-table discussion among the commissioners, City Manager W. H. Rodgers, and City Attorney Durwood Bradley occupied the commission session.

McMillan Advocates Appeal

Commissioner McMillan was the first to advocate appeal.

"I think the meters didn't get a fair trial because of unfavorable publicity in the newspapers," he explained. "I favor appeal because I would like to see it threshed out in the higher courts."

Declaration that "the parking situation here concerns people all over the South Plains" was made by Commissioner Fortenberry.

Mayor Edwards expressed an opinion the meters had not had "a fair trial."

Rex Bell Assumes Leadership Role

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 12. (AP)—Rex Bell, husband of Clara Bow, assumed in real life at the National Grazing conference Friday the leadership role he plays each year in western motion pictures.

Star of many a cowboy thriller, the handsome actor runs 1,500 cattle and horses on his large ranch at Searchlight, Nev., where he and the former "It" girl celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary last week.

As one of the four directors of his grazing district, Bell presided at group sessions of the Nevada delegation where sentiment of the Sagebrush State regarding range administration improvement was crystallized. His fellow ranchers made him a member of the national grazing committee today.

Bell said he makes eight films a year, but finds not much similarity between his real ranch life and the romantic, glamorous roles he plays.

Mrs. Bell, who as Clara Bow, vivacious flapper of silent pictures almost a decade ago made "It" a national term for glorified sex appeal, has definitely retired from the films, her husband said.

Parents Visit Two Schools At Slaton

SLATON, Dec. 12. (Special) — Visiting day Thursday in Slaton West Ward and Junior High schools attracted from 90 to 95 per cent of the parents of the students of both schools, according to teachers. Objective of the day is to bridge the gap between the home and the school by bringing parents closer to the teachers of their children.

Parents exhibited much interest in activity works shown in the grade displays. These exhibits presented a panoramic view which included: primary room with a complete child-life-size three-room playhouse; second grade rooms displaying a clay animal show, original drawings, and a complete library unit in which all the furniture was made by the children; third grade, an Indian village; and fourth grade, a section of the Texas Centennial.

In Junior High school exhibits one of the outstanding features was the culminating activity of a sixth-grade geography unit. This display, as well as including maps, drawings, and themes, showed letters from Europe, furnishing information requested by the students. Also each group, carrying flags and dressed in native costumes, presented a program for their countries.

Three boys, Cloyd Stanford, James Eubank, and Emory Clifton had an interesting project showing a library corner in the study hall for the entire school.

Efforts will be made to have at least 75 per cent of the parents on the next visiting day which will be in March.

Youth Describes Fight With Deer

KANE, Pa., Dec. 12 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Thomas Garris told today of battling with an empty rifle against a wounded 150 pound deer after he became lost in the hills.

Searching parties after an all night hunt found him at a camp and brought him home, along with the deer he killed.

The youth, hunting alone, shot and wounded a buck. He trailed the animal in the snow until dark, then lost his way.

He said he shot all his ammunition in an effort to attract attention.

Suddenly he came upon the wounded six point buck, which charged, catching his left arm with its antlers. The youth fought desperately, using his rifle as a club, and finally killed the animal.

His high powered rifle was smashed and he himself was cut and bruised.

BRAKEMAN INJURED

LAREDO, Dec. 12. (AP)—John Bertani, brakeman for the Texas Mexican railroad, slipped beneath the wheels of a car switching in the yards at Mirando city today and his right leg was amputated just below the knee. His left leg was badly mangled and he was rushed 35 miles to a Laredo hospital. Physicians hoped to save the left leg.

President Roosevelt On His Last Lap On Homeward Trip

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, Dec. 12. (AP)—President Roosevelt started the last lap of his return from a Latin-American peace mission today, leaving Port-Of-Spain for Charleston, S. C., where he was due Tuesday.

Tomorrow the cruisers Indianapolis and Chester were to stop at Birds island, west of the windward chain in the Caribbean sea, if the water was smooth enough for Mr. Roosevelt to fish from a small boat.

Otherwise he planned to continue on to North Culebra island, east of Puerto Rico, to fish there.

The president's schedule called for his arrival at Washington at 8 or 9 p. m. Tuesday night.

The British House of Commons once adjourned to see 11-year-old William Betty, boy prodigy, play in Hamlet. Betty could master the most difficult Shakespearean parts with ease.

Sandies Smother Eagles, 46-13; TCU Gets 9-0 Victory

Wild Horse Mayes Leads Sandstorm In Brisk Attack

Sandies Gain Revenge For Other Seasons When Result Of Battle Was Reversed

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

ABILENE, Dec. 12.—The Golden Eagles of Abilene High gave ten thousand fans something to remember them by this afternoon when they scored two touchdowns against the Amarillo Sandies in the fourth period of their schoolboy league quarter-final football game.

The Eagles thus ended their 1936 Interscholastic pigskin season, the only team in Texas to tally as many touchdowns against the state champions, An Oklahoma team, one Norman high, did it early in the season, before the Sandies started campaigning for their third straight Texas championship.

Amarillo won today's game, 46 to 13, but the final score is incidental. It might have been 70 to 13, or 70 to 0. Abilene, which never quit fighting, pierced Amarillo's second and third string defense for two quick touchdowns early in the last quarter. The Sandies, who had led 33 to 0 as the final chukker opened, just as quickly made up the difference, Coach Blair Cherry shooting his "varsity" back in the game in plenty of time to protect the boys who "took" Amarillo and gave 30 points.

The worm turned today as Amarillo's Sandies, paced by Wildhorse Mayes, Clod Hopping Robert Clesson and Jumping Joe Davis, gained a measure of revenge for drastic defeats handed them in previous encounters with the Golden Eagles. It was the fifth meeting of the teams, and four times before Abilene had carried away the honors. Amarillo was winning its first Interscholastic league game from Abilene today, and the Sandies did it to the full and complete satisfaction of Panhandle fans who have been waiting for the chance.

Weather Is Perfect

The skies were clear, the weather just cold enough to make for perfect football temperature, the wind just strong enough to make the teams anxious to "change ends," and the Sandies were right . . . they couldn't do anything wrong.

Mayes, the wildhorse, cavorted like a stallion of the mesas who had escaped capture. He was spilled, and spilled hard, on a few occasions, but mostly he ripped and slithered and skitted and sifted like a bit of gold ore through the miners sieve.

Has Fine Blocking

Like the other Sandie ball carriers, passers and kickers, Mayes had fine blocking. It came from his lineman, from the other backs, who opened up passages that a young army could have marched through. Clesson, ramming the middle of Abilene's line, would cause the latter to close up, thus giving Mayes a chance to circle the ends or tackle, in sweeps which rarely failed to produce long yardage and first downs.

Abilene was pitifully helpless against the Horse's sweeps, against all-state Clessons charges, against Davis' thrusts through center, over tackle or through the guards.

The other hold over all-stater from Amarillo, raging Elwin Ricketts, tackle, carved another niche in the hall of high school football fame, doing everything a good tackle should do, plus.

Even Carries Water

For Abilene, honest Odell Herman, husky fullback, did everything but lead the yells. He even carried the water bucket to the thirsty Eagles. He was the team's leading ground gainer, gathering in possibly more yards against the Sandies than any other entire team has done all season. But even Herman was stopped by the regulars. He made long dashes for touchdown as the fourth quarter opened, but was denied the honor of making either touchdown. Galbraith made the first, from the 8-yard line. Beams a reserve halfback, accounted for the other on one of the most sensational plays of the game, a 56-yard return of a punt for six points.

Amarillo's first drive, after going 20 yards, was halted when Waters intercepted a lateral pass from Clesson. But a few minutes later the Sandies drove from their 20-yard line to a touchdown in seven plays, Mayes carrying four times and making the counter, Davis and Clesson making runs of 16, 17 and 12 yards. Miller missed the try for point.

The Sandies Punt

An Abilene punt was caught on the 2-yard late in the period. Armstrong, replacing Mayes, brought it to the 11, Clesson went to the 16, but the Sandies punted. It was killed on the 40. An Eagle pass was intercepted by Davis on the 35, and he took it to the Eagle 44. Armstrong made 9, Clesson 4. Clesson made first down on the 19 as the second period opened, and four more line thrusts brought a touchdown, Clesson going over. Miller kicked goal.

Two more Amarillo counters came in the second period. Two penalties for 20 yards helped the 64 yard drive. From the 31 yard line, Mayes broke loose, sifted through six would-be tacklers and was ten yards ahead of his nearest pursuer at the goal line, Clesson passed to Sweeney for the extra point.

Sweeney, reserve end, blocked an Abilene punt a few minutes later. It bounced from the 17-yard line behind the goal line, where Overhuls, sub guard, recovered for touchdown. Miller kicked goal.

The same Sweeney caught a pass from Clesson, good for a 19-yard gain, for touchdown in the third period. Miller kicked goal.

Clesson had his second and third stringers in when the fourth period started, and Abilene lost no time scoring. The Eagles drove 80 yards, starting in the third period and keeping it up in the fourth, for touchdown with Herman doing the going. Galbraith took it over from the 8-yard line. Try for point was missed.

Then Beams who had replaced the popular John Kimbrough who came out in the opening period, hauled down a Clesson punt on his 44 and raced for touchdown.

The Amarillo regulars scooted back in, and it wasn't long before Mayes had scored from the 6-yard line, the Sandies having driven from the 20. A few plays earlier, Clesson had run 85 yards for an apparent touchdown, but the play was called back and Amarillo penalized to the 1-yard line.

Clesson made the final tally, leaping over from the one yard line to climax a 56-yard drive.

Kerrville Hot To Take Game

Tivy High Antlers Roll Up A 31 To 6 Triumph Over The Lufkin Panthers In Game Played At Waco

WACO, Dec. 12.—Kerrville's Tivy high Antlers rolled into the semi-finals of the state high school football race today with a lop-sided 31 to 6 triumph over the Lufkin Panthers.

Kerrville meets Port Arthur in the semi-finals.

Roy Holbrook, the Antler's backfield ace, heaved three passes to Co-Captain Preston Chambliss for as many touchdowns, and also flashed some spectacular ball carrying as long as he remained in the game.

Long Pass Intercepted

McCaleb, shifty Tivy back, scored one tally and W. Coleman intercepted a Lufkin pass and ran it back 45 yards for another score.

Jones tallied Lufkin's lone touchdown late in the final quarter after a belated passing attack had put the ball in scoring position against the Kerrville second team.

The East Texans, despite their overwhelming defeat, rang up a total of 18 first downs. Tivy also counted 18 first downs.

Two Outstanding

Jones and Spivey were outstanding in the Lufkin backfield. They ripped off many long gains through the Tivy defense on spinners and reverses. Their dashes accounted for many first downs, but Tivy tightened before pay dirt was reached.

Hauser of Kerrville backed up his line to play the outstanding defensive game for Tivy.

Gallant Gainesville Team Beaten, 31-0

FORT WORTH, Dec. 12. (AP)—Fort Worth's North Side Steers swept a gallant Gainesville high school football team out of its path, 31 to 0, in a quarter-final battle in the Interscholastic championship race today.

The Steers' surprisingly decisive victory over the Leopards gave them entree into the semi-finals of the state schoolboy pennant fight.

It was with a sparkling display of versatile ability that the Steers scoring five touchdowns and never outclassed the lighter visitors by allowing Gainesville to come within 20 yards of the maroon goal.

Ably assisted by a full herd of helpers, Marion Pugh led the Steers to a triumph. He scored three touchdowns, one on a 53 yard gallop and threw a pass to Paul Monriques for another. He did all of the punting and passing. He carried the ball 21 times for a total of 112 yards or an average of 5.3 yards per play.

In the first quarter when they fought a fresh south wind as well as the Leopards, the Steers failed to count. They got underway in the second period with one touchdown and the half closed 7 to 0. They chalked up two touchdowns in the third quarter and two more in the fourth.

Great Talent Is Located On Little Teams

Texas Tech Players Receive Honorable Mention On 1936 "Little All-America" Picked By Associated Press

BY ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP)—This year's "little All America," selected by Associated Press survey from the small-college footballers who romp the gridirons from coast to coast, presents an aggregation of talent that belies its designation.

With a line averaging 200 pounds and 6 feet 2 inches, from end to end, clearing the way for a quartet of unusually versatile ball-handlers, the team's manpower qualifies for competition in any league.

Pick Of Players

The selections represent the pick of players who annually perform only with such recognition they get in their own ballwicks or when they tackle the bigger fellows. From their ranks each year professional teams gather talent that often steals the big league show.

With the exception of Norman Cooper, captain of the Howard Ala., team, "little All America" center, the selection were made from colleges with a student body well under the 1,000 mark.

The east fills four places on the "little All America" eleven.

The south, middle west and far west occupy two places, the southwest one.

Texas Has Fine Backs

Texas produced a flock of fine backs, including Jim Neill, of Texas Tech, credited with outpassing the great Sammy Baugh on the day Tech upset Texas Christian. Johnny Stovall of North Texas Teachers was another standout.

Based on a country-wide survey, here are the small-college allstars —the "little All-America" football team for 1936:

Position, Player and College:
End, Henry Hammond, Southwestern (Tenn.)
Tackle, George Mike, West Virginia Wesleyan.
Guard, Douglas Oldershaw, Santa Barbara (Cal.)
Center, Norman Cooper, Howard (Ala.)
Guard, George Anderson, Middlebury (Vt.)
Tackle, Ralph Niehaus, Dayton (Ohio).
End, Leo Deutsch, St. Benedict's (Kan.)
Q. Back, Douglas Locke, St. Mary's (Texas).
H. Back, Richard Riffle, Albright (Pa.)
H. Back, Milton Kobrosky, Trinity (Conn.)
Fullback, Richard Wesigerber, Williamette (Ore.)

Honorable mention included: Ends—Ramsey, Texas Tech; Buchanan, St. Mary's (Tex.)
Backs — Stovall, North Texas Teachers; Schoen, Baldwin-Wallace; Neill, Texas Tech; Stanford, Daniel Baker (Tex.); Cherry, Hardin-Simmons (Tex.); Devaney, St. Edward's (Tex.); Sunderman, Howard Payne (Tex.); Garrison, East Texas Teachers; Hester, North Texas Teachers.

Forty-Eight Cities Chosen To Stage Baseball Tourneys

CHICAGO, Dec. 12. (AP) — The national semi-professional baseball congress announced today the 48 cities which next summer will stage state semi-pro baseball tournaments, with each state title winner eligible to compete in the national finals at Wichita, Kas., Aug. 13-15.

Cities selected in the United States, subject to later change include: Roswell, N. M., and Waco, Texas.

Former West Texas Lad Ace "Pigskin Snatcher" For Nevada University

* * *

Hollis McKinnon To End Career With Four Letters

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 12. (Special)—Before the strains of the 1936 football melodies die away completely, it is nothing but fitting that the prowess of a former West Texas lad and Plainview High school gridder receive his dues for pigskin work extraordinary.

Hollis McKinnon, who concluded his high school eligibility at Plainview High in 1930, has completed his third year and won his third letter on the University of Nevada varsity.

Tallest Man On Team

A regular end on the Nevada team, McKinnon has attained popular heights for his blocking, pass catching and defensive ability. He weighs 204 pounds, stands 6 feet, 4 inches tall, is the tallest man on the team and one of the fastest. He has received several awards for being "most valuable player" in Nevada games.

McKinnon probably will be the last athlete to graduate from Nevada with four varsity football letters. He "made" the varsity his freshman year, before the freshman rule was put into force there. With his third letter already sewed up, he is expected to carry on next season as a regular, thus winning a fourth straight varsity "N."

Navada finished third with an average of .500 in the Far West conference race this year.

Westerners To Open Tuesday

Comparatively Green Cage Club To Meet Meadow In Second Game Of Twin Bill; Polish Lent By Two Vets

Paced by two crack bellwethers, Capt. Letsinger and Oden, guards who lend balance to an otherwise comparatively inexperienced squad, Lubbock Westerner cagers are clearing decks for a Tuesday night game here with Meadow.

Coach "Goober" Keyes promises the fans more than a first look-see at the club this season; a double-barreled attraction has been arranged, with the Cowhands, reserves of the high school, engaging a "B" team from Meadow in a preliminary slated to get underway at 6:45 o'clock.

Height Encouraging

Coach Keyes, head mentor of the maplewood squad, said height of his squad, which opened the season Friday night with a 41 to 26 win over Sudan in the Lamb county town, is encouraging. Of his first 10 hopefuls only two stretch less than 6 feet. Ford tops the squad with 6 feet 3 1-2 inches, and others are: Simmons 6 feet 3 inches, Nabors 6 feet 2 inches, Letsinger and Allen 6 feet 1 inch, Oden, Webster and Venable 6 feet, Ingley is 5 feet 9 inches, Johnston 5 feet 11 inches.

A pre-Christian holiday warmup will include a return ame with Meadow at Meadow Friday night and a tilt here the following Monday with Anton. After Christmas will follow games with Amarillo, Plainview and Pampa, likely with Abilene and Big Spring, said Coach Keyes.

The squad's smoothness, considering brevity of the training period, pleased the coach when it worked the ball up the court with precision at Sudan and got numerous "crip" shots at the basket. It plays a man-for-man defense and breaks quickly from defense into offense.

Approval For Cotton Bowl Game Is To Be Sought

DALLAS, Dec. 12. (AP)—Texas Christian university, which defeated Santa Clara 9 to 0 at San Francisco today, was invited tonight to meet Marquette in the Cotton bowl here January 1.

Curtis Stanford, oil man who is promoting the post-season contest, said he did not expect to have an answer from T.C.U. until tomorrow. Arkansas university has been definitely dropped from consideration as an opponent for Marquette, he said.

Ask For Approval

E. W. McDiarmid, president of the Southwest conference and chairman of the T.C.U. athletic council, told Stanford he would ask the T.C.U. faculty committee for approval. If the committee approves, the next step would be to submit the matter to the conference faculty committee.

Sam Baugh, ace Christian back and outstanding pass heaver, has been selected to play in another game on the same date. He was picked to play with the West team in the annual East-West game in San Francisco January 1.

Meyer Claims His Frogs Are Ready For Marquette

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12. (AP)—Coach "Dutch" Meyer of Texas Christian university's football team said tonight "the boys are ready and willing" to meet Marquette in the Cotton bowl at Dallas January 1.

"They have had a long, hard season," Meyer said, "but they'll play if the Southwestern conference and Texas Christian officials approve the game."

Meyer declared it was up to the conference and T.C.U. faculty committees. "It's frankly immaterial to me whether the game is arranged or not," he said.

Sam Baugh, the Texans' great pass slinger, tentatively accepted an invitation to play in the annual East-West New Year's day game here. His acceptance depends on whether the Dallas game is arranged. If it is, he will play there.

Braddock And Schmeling To Fight June 3

Two Fighters Get Together And Are Signed For Title Battle At Long Island Bowl Of Garden Group

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP) — It looks like a merry Christmas for Max Schmeling. He got his first present today in the form of a title fight with James J. Braddock.

Almost before the gallery realized what was going on, the New York state athletic commission got the two fighters together and signed them for a 15-round championship battle in Madison Square Garden's Long Island Bowl next June 3.

The Garden and the 20th Century sporting club will be joint promoters. The contracts call for Braddock to receive 37 1-2 per cent and Schmeling 12 1-2 per cent of the gate, but private agreements will raise these figures to 42 and 20 per cent, respectively.

In sharp contrast to Friday's bitter wrangling, today's session was a love feast. It required less than an hour to reach an agreement.

Braddock and his manager, Joe Gould, made the match possible by turning their backs on Atlantic City and promising not to fight Joe Louis prior to June 3.

Brought Up Squabble

The champion's flat refusal to do this brought about Friday's squabble.

Mike Jacobs, 20th Century club promoter, who was to have been associated with Herman Taylor of Philadelphia in staging the show, said today's developments automatically cancel Braddock's proposed no-decision meeting with the brown bomber in Febrhary.

Brown Bomber Prefers To Have Fight With Schmeling

CLEVELAND, Dec. 12. (AP)—The brown bomber from Detroit, Joe Louis said today he'd prefer a return fight with Max Schmeling before one with Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock.

"I'd pick a Schmeling fight first, of course," he said after shadow boxing and punching a light bag, preparing for his ten round battle Monday night against Eddie Simms, local heavyweight.

"Simms is a good, hard hitter," said Louis, whose brilliant rise was halted by the effective right hand of Schmeling.

"Can't fool around with Simms long. Don't pay to dilly dally with that kind." Joe laughed.

Players Selected

The players chosen for negotiations included:

Chicago Cardinals: Tinsley, Louisiana State.
Pittsburgh: Finley, Southern Methodist; Roach Texas Christian.

Soprano Coach Is Latest For Texas School

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (AP)—Women have entered almost every profession, but Edith Schell, 22-year-old school-teacher, tackled the grid-iron game by surprise.

She trained herself in college to teach English and after graduation obtained a job in an elementary school.

"But out of a clear sky, I was told that if I didn't take over the football and playground work, the boys would have no team this year," she said. "So, of course, I couldn't let them down."

She spends one-fourth of the school day teaching English, health and spelling, and the rest of her time supervising playground sports and coaching football.

Port Arthur Yellow Jackets Prove Too Tough For Boys From Coast; Corsairs Slow In Getting Started

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 12. (AP)—A Port Arthur Yellow Jacket eleven that took advantage of every scoring opportunity today defeated the Corupe Christi Buccaneers, 17 to 7, in an Interscholastic league quarter-final game.

The Jackets scored their 17 points before allowing the Corsairs to get started. They counted a field goal and touchdown in the opening period and another touchdown in the second. Holding a 17 to 7 lead, Coach Tom Dennis' men played safe football throughout the second half.

20-Yard Field Goal

A 20 yard field goal by Big John Crouch, guard, started the scoring a few minutes after the game got under way. A few minutes later the Jackets recovered a Buccanneer fumble on the Port Arthur 43 yard line and on the first play, Mike Arisco, speedy halfback, took the ball on a reverse and scampered 57 yards for a touchdown. Crouch added the extra point from placement.

The final Jacket touchdown was scored early in the second quarter, Palumbo plunged over from the one yard line after the fleet Arisco had toted the ball to that point on a 15-yard dash.

Corpus Christi scored on the kick-off after this touchdown. Quarterback John Conoly, who was a continual threat throughout the game, took the ball on his own five and raced up the sideline for the score. Tackle Clyde Rigers neatly added the point with a place kick.

Port Arthur ran up a total of nine first downs to Corpus Christi's five. The passing attacks of both clubs were ineffective. Marland Jeffrey, ace of the Port Arthur backfield, played on a few minutes because of an injury suffered last week.

Walter Stratton Will Meet Parks

Walter Stratton, the man with the muscles from Des Moines, Iowa, will be trying for a repetition of his victory last Wednesday night in the main event of this week's wrestling card at Sled Allen's auditorium.

His tough assignment will be Herbie Parks Wednesday night, and faces familiar to the ringside audience will be back on the canvas in two other goes.

The resourceful villain, Sailor Moran, will be pulling tricks out of the bag—or from behind his belt—in the semi-final when he faces Bob Cummings of San Francisco.

Oklahoman George Bennett versus Art Perkins, the Detroit Tiger, is scheduled for the curtain raiser.

University Of Virginia Is Seeking To Quit Conference

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 12. (AP) — The Southern conference, which pledged itself last night to a "modified" form of the abolished Graham plan, today unanimously voted to withold action for a year on the University of Virginia's resignation.

The Virginia statement, signed by the board of visitors, maintained the "fundamental ideals (against athletic subsidies) as expressed in the Graham plan" had "not been fulfilled." It furthermore held "the present situation is intolerable because it breeds suspicion, distrust and mutual recriminations."

Santa Clara Broncs Are Baffled By Dizzy Pace

BY RUSSEL J. NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12. (AP)—Led by the greatest passer this football-mad section of the country ever has laid eyes on—cool and courageous Sammy Baugh—Texas Christian swept to a 9 to 0 victory over University of Santa Clara today to send the Broncos down to their first defeat of the season.

It was "Baugh this, Baugh," that while 40,000 cheering fans watched the last unbeaten team in the United States crumble before an aerial bombardment of deadly effectiveness.

He Was Big Gun

"Slingin' Sammy" pitched, punted and ran with the ball occasionally for 60 minutes of a bitterly fought battle. He was the big gun, the powder charge and the igniting spark in the terrific attack laid down by the Horned Frogs from the plains of Texas.

Behind the clever quarterbacking of this rangy field general, the Texans levelled the once proud gridiron fortress built up by Santa Clara during a season which brought it seven victories, neither defeat or tie, and an invitation to meet Louisiana State in the New Year's day Sugar bowl game at New Orleans.

Outplayed in the first period, and short-enders at the kickoff, Texas Christian turned the tide of battle in its favor with startling suddenness in the second quarter.

Snags Bronco Pass

Glenn Roberts, 170 pound fullback from Fort Worth opened the way for his team's touchdown. It was going toward the close of the second period when he leaped up to snag a Santa Clara pass on his own 32.

Baugh sized the situation, decided that the aerial lanes held the answer, and shouted to his team mates "let's go."

Five plays later Texas Christian chalked up a touchdown while frenzied bandsmen from the Lone Star state nearly beat in the heads of drums and blew out the valves of overheated horns.

The scoring mareh, good for 68 yards, went like this:

Baugh passed to sub half Montgomery for two yards; Baugh passed to right end Roach who lateraled to Roberts, who ran 16 yards before being downed. It put the oval on Santa Clara's 48.

While the shocked Bronco's were trying to muster a shattered defense, Baugh whipped one to Left Half McCall who was downed on the 9 yard line—a gain of 39.

Smacks Into Line

Then Baugh crossed up the boys on the other side. He smacked into the line for four yards. The befuddled Santa Clarans were running around in circles when Baugh started the scoring play. It was low swift pass to Roach, who nabbed the ball over the line.

"Dutch" Meyer, nephew and namesake of his coach, came in to try for the extra point. He failed but the points that eventually won the game already had been scored.

Young Meyer redeemed himself later in a big way. With Texas Christian holding the ball on Santa Clara's 13 yard marker, Meyer, who meanwhile had played a bangup game at left end, dropped back for a field goal try. The ball split the uprights to make the count 9 to 0. He toed the oval at the 22 yard line.

It ended the scoring for the day. The points loomed large on the scoreboard. The Broncos spirit and drive had crumpled during the touchdown thrust and almost completely disappeared when the ball sailed through the uprights for the field goal tallies. Only once in the second half did Santa Clara cross mid-field.

Santa Clara had its chance to score early in the game it failed on the same kind of plays which Texas capitalized on.

Southern California Trojans Invade City; Southwest Studies Subsidizing

Noted Cagers From West To Meet Raiders

USC Squad On A Barnstorming Tour Of Several States And Southwest Conference Teams Are To Be Played

Southern California's famous Trojan cagers, on a Christmas vacation barnstorming trip before seeking its fourth straight Pacific Coast conference southern division basketball championship, Wednesday night will engage Texas Tech's Red Raiders at Tech gym.

The Trojan squad, which includes in its itinerary games with Arizona, New Mexico A. & M. college, Southern Methodist, Texas A. & M., Texas university, and a double-header with Rice, will place an experienced starting quintet on the floor, including Eddie Oram, all-coast guard and captain, and Jerry Gracin, sharpshooting forward. Both are 6-feet 3-inch players, and Anderson and Remsen top 6 feet 1 inch.

A Tall Aggregation

The team is almost the tallest, reckoned by averages, Coach Justin M. (Sam) Barry ever has placed on the court. Several transfers are expected to get their baptism under USC colors.

Barry for seven seasons has piloted the men of Troy, and his record has been brilliant. In the 1930 campaign his team won the title in the southern division and took the play-off from Washington. His 1931 and 1932 teams were second to California, but took the top for the next three years. His '35 boys took two out of three games from OSC to win the second title in six years.

In southern division conference competition over the six-year period, his Trojans won 50 of 65 games and never lost a series to such powerful clubs as California and Stanford.

Tech Uncaps Season

Tech, which uncapped the season Friday night with a 40 to 29 win over Cosden Oilers of Big Spring, all-star ex-collegians, will face a definite system of play, "ball-control" type offense. The guards control the ball until the front line can start a play designed a breaking a man loose for a close-in shot at the basket. "Prayerful" shooting is not allowed; but clever pivots and feints and careful handling of the ball has marked the invaders' style of offense.

If one type of offense fails there always is another to fall into by the Trojans, and their versatile system is being followed by several of the largest American universities.

The game will begin at 8 o'clock, said Head Basketball Coach Berl Huffman, who said Friday night after the Cosden encounter work of his squad was heartening for its play in working the ball up under the baskets for close shots.

Doors Closed To Action On New Members

Texas Tech Again Is Left Out In Cold By "Big Schools" Of State; Official Championships Awarded

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Dec. 12. (AP)—Open and above board subsiding of "salaried" athletes for the Southwest conference was prosed before the seven-man governing body today.

Dr. J. C. Dolley, chairman of the University of Texas athletic council, championed the cause and succeeded in having a three-man committee, including himself, appointed to make a careful study of such a plan.

To Report Back

President E. W. McDiarmid of Texas Christian university, asked Dolley, J. S. McIntosh of Southern Methodist university and J. T. McCants of Rice institute to spend the next few months in evolving, or rejecting, a plan and report back at the spring meeting at Austin in May.

Discussion on the matter was limited, Dolley, after tossing the bombshell, asking that comment be withheld until a concrete plan had been evolved and presented.

J. W. Metzenthin, vice-president of the body and a University of Texas professor, whose similar proposal met a cold reception at the 1935 meeting, said after the session that "we should come out from behind our whitewashed fences and do this thing in the open."

Make Liars Of Everybody

He argued that the present methods were " making liars of everybody" and detrimental to the athletes.

Doors were closed on any possible applicants for entrance into the conference when the committee resolved not to enlarge the membership at this time. It was not disclosed whether actual applications had been filed but it was known that Texas Tech at Lubbock has long been anxious to join the circuit.

Major Biff Jones, retiring head coach and Tom Stidham, newly elected mentor at the University of Oklahoma, were present but denied it was for the purpose of asking entrance into the conference.

Games Are Opposed

The committee reiterated it was "measurably opposed to post-season games," but added that in the cases of conference champions and other exceptional instances, such as a Rose bowl invitation, the objection could be lifted by a mail vote.

No specific action was taken on the proposed Cotton bowl game at Dallas on New Year's day. Marquette university of Milwaukee has agreed to meet any Southwest conference team Curtis Sanford, organizer of the game, may select. Texas Christian and Arkansas were considered.

Junior college transfer rules were discussed at length, the general interpretation being that two years of junior college is equivalent to one year of senior college competition, effective Sept. 1, 1937.

Junior college transfer now in senior colleges of the conference, or those who enter in the February mid-term, will not come under this ruling.

Championships Awarded

The committee awarded the track and field championship meet to the University of Texas, Austin; swimming, Texas A. and M., College Station; golf, T. C. U., Fort Worth; tennis, Rice institute, Houston and cross country, Texas A. and M., College Station.

Officially declared champions were University of Arkansas, football and basketball, and University of Texas, tennis, golf, track and field, baseball, cross country and swimming.

Basketball Joust Planned For Area

A boy's independent basketball tournament sponsored by New Deal High school of Monroe will be played the nights of December 18, to 21 at Monroe.

The tournament is open to everyone, and lettered sweaters will be awarded to first place winners. No entrance fee is required.

All entries must be made by Tuesday night. Teams wishing to enter should write or talk with Alvin Crews, coach of New Deal High school. His address is Route 3, Lubbock.

Crews said that about 12 teams had entered.

Watwood Selected To Manage Buffs

HOUSTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—President Fred Ankenman of the Houston club of the Texas league announced Saturday night Johnny Watwood, hard hitting first baseman, would manage the Buffaloes next season.

Chevigny To Get Job With State

No Time To Be Lost In Seeking Coach For University

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (AP)—Governor Allred's announcement today that Jack Chevigny would become an attorney for the state tax department Jan. 19 gave rise to fresh speculation as to who would succeed him as football coach at the University of Texas.

Chairman J. C. Dolley of the athletic council said several days ago no time would be lost in starting negotiations with topflight eligibles over the country but refused to name names.

Mentioned by curbstone gossipers in the order of their frequency were Dana X. Bible of Nebraska, Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt, Ted Twomey, first assistant to Chevigny and formerly of Kentucky and Georgia, Wallace Wade of Duke, Howard Jones of Southern California, Tiny Thornhill of Sanford, Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, Ralph Sasse of Mississippi State and Harry Mehre of Georgia.

The cream of three cities' poloists will race up and down the field in a 6-chukker affair that promises thrills every minute. Lamesa and Plainview will send two men each. Lubbock's squad will be split and, bolstered by the outsiders, the two divisions will be pitted.

All-Stars Of Texas Beaten By St. Mary's

Rattlers Lash Out Hard For Early Score And Coast To Win; Former Luminaries In All-Star Lineup

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. (AP)—The St. Mary's university rattlers lashed out hard once for an early score on the University of Texas All-Stars here today and then coasted to an 8 to 0 victory.

The All- Stars, featuring Bohn Hilliard, Longhorn brilliant of two years ago, Coach Jack Chevigny and Assistant Coach Ted Twomey, plus "Red" Sheridan, Bill Pitser, Walt Launey and several present-day luminaries, made a creditable showing against the vicious little eleven from San Antonio.

Ripe Off 53 Yards

St. Mary's coached by Frank Bridges, former Baylor mentor, made its first score immediately after the starting whistle, when Doug Locke, diminutive fullback, ripped off 53 yards on the Rattlers' first play and Burren Brown ran over right guard for the remaining four to score. An attempted pass for extra point failed.

Late in the fourth period, the Rattlers scored a safety when Sub Pyland, former San Marcos star, was tackled behind the goal line. Holcomb of St. Mary's had booted the to the All-Stars' 19. Three plays later, Hilliard, going down under a tackle, tossed the ball to Pyland who was forced back of the zero-stripe and tackled.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 12. (AP)—July delivery of wheat shot suddenly skyward almost three cents a bushel today to above any Chicago price peaks reached before in seven years, the companion breadstuff, rye, also outdid former top record quotations.

Chief immediate stimulus for new upturns of wheat values came from reports indicating likelihood of subnormal yields in the United States the coming season because of widespread moisture shortage. The reports, if correct, would radically change the country's crop prospect at a time when overseas war clouds are threatening, and there is unusually urgent export demand.

At the close, wheat was 1 cent to 2¾ above yesterday's finish, Dec. 1.28⅝@1.28¾, May 1.34⅝@1.34¾, July 1.12⅛@1.12⅜, with corn 1¼ off to ⅝ up, Dec. 1.04¼@1.04⅝, May new 1.03¾@1.03⅞, July new 90¼@90⅝, oats ⅝ to ¾ advanced, May 49¼@49¾, and rye showing 1⅝ to 2 cents bulge. The outcome in provisions was unchanged to 12 cents dearer.

Rye, corn, oats and provisions all scored gains when wheat prices climbed. Some selling of corn, however, was done against simultaneous purchases of wheat.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 12. (AP)—Demand for grain continued fair today to the, close of the week.

Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 1.45¾@1.46¾; No. 1 hard 1.45¾@1.46¾.

Barley No. 2 nom. 90@96; No. 3 nom. 90@97.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom. 1.95@2.00; No. 3 milo nom. 1.92@1.97. No. 2 white kafir nom. 1.90@1.93. No. 3 kafir nom. 1.87@1.90.

Corn, shelled, No. 2 white 1.16½@1.17½; No. 3 yellow 1.15@1.20.

Wheat farming employs more persons throughout the world than does any other paying occupation.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP)—Buying forces gave specialties another rush in today's stock market and a number of favorites were lifted 1 to 5 points or so.

As in the past several sessions leaders in other groups stumbled over selling obstacles and many were barely able to hold their own. There were a few sizable declines in evidence at the rather nervous close.

Farm implements and amusements were easily the star performers of the day. The former continued to find support on indications the agricultural machinery makers are preparing for their best spring season in several years. Moving picture stocks responded to roseate dividend hopes engendered by bounding box office receipts.

The Associated Press average was up 1 on a point at 70.6. Transfers totalled 1,235,810 shares compared with 1,000,560 last Saturday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 12. (AP) — Prices were back on the upgrade in the cotton market today with futures recovering most of Friday's losses and ending at the best levels of the day.

Even the customary week-end liquidation failed to halt the advance, the market taking offerings and moving ahead 65 cents a bale on the average.

Trade and speculative buying appeared in all positions and Dec. finished at 12.67, March at 12.35, May at 12.20 and Oct. at 11.62. Spot cotton gained 13 points to 12.85 at New Orleans for middling staple.

The pressure of new crop cotton moving to market has been lifted from prices with spot sales down around 20,000 bales and hedge offerings limited.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (AP)—Active near month covering and replacement buying caused cotton to reach the highs for the movement in some positions today.

March advanced from 12.28@12.30 and closed at 12.28 with final prices generally 7 to 16 points net higher.

The market opened unchanged to 4 points higher in response to the action of Liverpool.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 12. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 12.77 cents a pound.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 12. (AP)—Custody of Louisville's richest boy, Hubert Johnston Jenkins, jr., 14, was awarded to his father, whom the boy's grandmother once had indicted for kidnaping him.

The boy, now a Kentucky Military Institute student, will receive from now on the income from a $623,[illegible] trust fund and revenue from one fifth of the $1,500,000 estate of his grandfather, the late T. L. Bradford, Dallas, Texas, insurance man.

Joseph S. Lawton, lawyer for Jenkins, sr., announced today the Texas Supreme court had ruled the father was within his rights when he slipped his son away from Mrs. Addie K. Bradford, his step-grandmother, who had been appointed guardian by a Texas court. "That h[illegible] did so surreptitiously," the court observed, does not under the circumstances militate against his rights. Governor Ruby Laffoon refused to extradite Jenkins for trial for kidnaping his son.

The boy's mother was killed in an automobile accident in 1927, after having been divorced from Jenkins in 1924.

PRICE OF FAME

THE news that Caroline Miller, author of the Pulitzer prize book of backwoods life, "Lamb in His Bosom," and her husband have come to the parting of the ways at their home at Waycross, Ga., will not surprise those who notice Miller's statement that he had been a "faithful and affectionate husband" until his wife received national recognition. Mrs. Miller bringing suit charged mental cruelty and incompatibility.

Theirs was a high school romance, starting when Caroline Miller was a high school pupil and Mr. Miller her instructor. They were married for 13 years before the young Georgia woman found herself, almost overnight, the talk of the nation. The success was as meteoric as a sister Georgian writer, Margaret Mitchell. Of course we do not know the whole trouble, but we'd venture that much of it could be charged to Mrs. Miller's inability to adjust her life when she became pleasure mad after writing the book.

ARE BLONDES MUSICAL?

PHIL SPITALNY, conductor of that 32-piece all girl orchestra that you see in movie shorts, says that blondes make bad musicians. Unable to give any scientific explanation, he illustrates his point by revealing that of 1,200 girls auditioned for his band, none chosen was of the fair-haired type. He further points out that such concert artists as Swarthout, Myra Hess and Pons have dark hair.

We're not arguing with Mr. Spitalny, in fact we think he must know whereof he speaks. He believes it's an inexplicable condition which may be attributed to a glandular condition in the same manner that one cannot explain why some women are blondes and others brunettes—that is, naturally.

BOOKS FOR CHRISTMAS

THE Christmas season is a time for reading age-old stories, which bear this repetition year after year without growing tiresome to the listener. The single story of the Manger and the Star of the East and the Wise Men should be told to all children regardless of one's belief about the divinity of the Child Jesus. It is the most beautiful story in the world.

We believe that Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol" is one story that should be read in every home the day before Christmas. Old Scrooge, the exemplification of those who scoff at Christmas, and cheerful "Tiny Tim," who observed, "God Bless Us, Everyone," have lived for ages, for young and old. Henry Van Dyke's "The Other Wise Man"; Pulver's "The Dwarf and the Cobbler's Sons" and the classic "The

Mrs. D. N. Arnett, Pioneer Texan, Is Honored At Home

COLORADO, Dec. 12. (Special)—Surrounded by several members of the family of which she is the cherished center, Mrs. D. N. Arnett of Colorado celebrated her 86th birthday last Sunday, two days early in order that more of the children could come. There are nine of her ten children living in West Texas.

They are: Mrs. J. G. Merritt of this city; Sam C. Arnett and Mrs. Floyd Beall of Lubbock; Mrs. A. F. Curry of Tulia; Dick Arnett of Kansas City; Dudley Arnett of Lamesa; Mrs. T. W. Stoneroad of this city; Mrs. G. G. Johnson of Abilene and John Arnett of this city.

Born In Tennessee

The daughter of a Methodist minister who spent most of his years as a semi-invalid, Mrs. Arnett was born near Clarksville, Tenn. She moved with her parents to Texas as a child of seven, settling in Burnett county. She was married in December 1872 and for several years the couple lived on Mr. Arnett's farm-ranch in Burnett county. They had five children when they moved to Yellow Wolf ranch in what was then Tom Green county, moving in 1885 to the Renderbrook (Spade) ranch in Mitchell county. Renderbrook ranch became a leading social center of the county as the children entertained with many week-end parties and during summer vacations.

Grandchildren of Mrs. Arnett who live in Lubbock are Dr. Sam C. Arnett, jr.; Jack, David and Dudley Payne and Ophelia Mae Beall. Two grandchildren are attending Texas Technological college there. They are John Tom Merritt and Elizabeth Curry. Elizabeth Arnett of Lamesa, who attended Texas Tech last year, is studying at the Dallas Little Theater this year.

For twenty years Mrs. Arnett was president of the Methodist Women's Missionary society in Colorado and is now president-emeritus.

Club Contest Winners Told By County Agent Saturday

Miss Norfleet Grimes, county home demonstration agent, has announced winners in a farm foods supply demonstration just completed.

They were first, Mrs. W. H. Long of Slaton; second, Mrs. J. W. Ross of Homemakers club; third, Mrs. J. A. Wood of Idalou and Mrs. L. Williams of Slide (tie), and honorable mention, Mrs. Sam McWhorter, Wolfforth; Mrs. L. B. Kitten, Posey, and Mrs. T. A. McClure, Slide. Judging was by Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw, home economics specialist of Lubbock, who stated that competition was keen and that naming winners in a chronological order was difficult.

Miss Grimes said that Mrs. Kitten had an outstanding display of poultry and dairy products. At the achievement program conducted recently in the Kitten home, the hostess gave home baked whole wheat bread as prizes in two contests sponsored by the Posey club: for identifying seed of succulent vegetables and for the best prepared vegetable dish.

From 151 exhibitors in farm foods supply canned products the Ball Canning company chose the following winners, Miss Grimes said:

Mrs. Raymond Gentry, Posey; Mrs. C. R. Rogers, East Side; Mrs. W. B. Love, Homemakers club, and Mrs. W. H. Long in the order named, first place going to Mrs. Gentry.

Mrs. M. D. Collins and daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Troubaugh, and Mr. Troubaugh of Frederick, Okla., arrived Friday to visit several days with relatives. Mr. Troubaugh has many relatives in Lubbock and Lubbock county. Mrs. Collins is visiting her niece, Mrs. Kate James Lee, and Mrs. Mae James, both of 1620 Avenue O. Mrs. Collins is a mother-in-law of the former Dorothy Stone, actress and dancer.

From Lou to Louella...

DEAR LOUELLA: I'm practically the only person in town who hasn't almost completed her Christmas shopping. As usual, I will probably wait until 6 p. m. on Dec. 24 when everything is picked over and all the pretty wrapping paper and ribbons are gone.

I did take a little time out Friday noon to look around. I got as far as a display of books and stayed my entire lunch hour. Honestly, I can't begin to tell you of the bargains I saw.

Shakespeare—Condensed

One of them was a complete works of Shakespeare in one beautiful volume, generously illustrated by Rockwell Kent. It is a lovely thing. I have a weakness anyway for Kent's drawings. After reading the Kent edition of Voltaire's "Candide", I was so impressed I bought a Kent edition of "Moby Dick" by Herman Melville, several years ago. I can't bear the reading of it but I still like the pictures. I couldn't afford to buy "Candide". I think it has the neatest of all the Rockwell Kent illustrations, I've seen. They are in blue and white, and throughout the text are distributed between the sentences tiny nude figures in place of periods.

I bought Henrick Van Loon's "Geography" and his story of the Bible, I've forgotten the latter's correct title. I hope to read some of both before I get them wrapped as gifts.

• • •

ONE of the nicest book gifts I saw was "Good Medicine", Charles Russell's memories of the real West. It would be nice to send to a former resident who is now living in Chicago, for instance. It is being sold at a bargain, too.

"Gone With the Wind" still costs too much money. I wouldn't have thought of that had I not heard of the price war in New York. See today's Woman's Angle.

Reading Good One Now

I am reading a nice book which would make a welcome gift to some sensitive reader, Gulbranssen's "Beyond Sing the Woods". It is especially interesting to me because I am reading it after hearing Mrs. S. J. McFarland, whose copy I am borrowing, review it.

I saw SO many books Friday that I'd like to read, Huxley's "Eyeless in Gaza" being right at the top of the list, that I am left with a sort of a hopeless feeling. I'm always about three years behind production when it comes to keeping up with contemporary literature.

• • •

ADDED to the utter hopelessness of it all is the fact that I can't pass a magazine stand without picking off all the new numbers that are out. I wish you could see my house right now. There isn't any place to put them anymore, and I don't have time to read those on hand and I refuse to give them away unfinished. What shall I do, jump in the lake or something? (Editor's Note: That's an idea!)

I always enjoy getting letters from Hortense Ragland McInerney, of New York City. The other day she wrote of having seen Tallulah Bankhead in the stage play, "Reflected Glory": "She is truly fascinating. It was my first glimpse of her, and I must say I was completely won, much to my surprise." She further wrote:

Helen Hayes Praised

"There are so many good plays now. I do wish you were here. Helen Hayes is all that could be desired in the theater in "Victoria Regina". She plays Victoria from a young girl to an old woman of 80. Her make-up has caused more comments among the public and critics than any play this season. I am looking forward to Katharine Cornell in her new play, "Wingless Victory", which opens soon."

Well, I know what time of the year I want to be in New York from now on.

WHAT do you think of the Yancey Price-Juanita Price affair? I think it is a good idea, although it is too bad Juanita won't get to change her name. I wish for them the best of everything.

One of those secret weddings, I suppose you noticed, is revealed. For Beth Wulfman and "Mule" Dowell I also wish the greatest of happiness. They are a couple of swell kids.

I can't promise you very much Christmas wedding gossip. To date I have been too busy attending teas, musicales, receptions and things to associate with those who have time to talk. I did hear of another secret wedding rumor. It has to do with a couple of Lubbock residents who are a long distance from here. I hate to take advantage of their absence, so I will wait until they come home Christmas to tell you more.

Yours, Lou.

Federal Court Cases Are Set

Two Suits, One Against City Of Littlefield And Other Against O'Donnell School District, Are Slated

Two suits, one against the city of Littlefield and the other against the O'Donnell Independent School district, will come up in United States district court for the northern district of Texas, on Wednesday, December 16, according to the docket as set for this week by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, presiding.

Both are brought by the Bankers Life Insurance company of Des Moines, Iowa, and are for collection of unpaid interest and past due bonds, as well as to insure protection to the company for holding bonds by the two municipal units. The Littlefield bonds amount to $75,000 and the school district, $65,000.

Seventy-Five Voted

Petition, filed by Coker, Rhea and Vickery, Dallas, in the Littlefield case sets forth that in 1925 bonds, 75 $1,000 ones in all, were voted to construct a water works system. One bond was due in 1930; three in 1935; six are due in 1940; eight in 1945; 10 in 1950; 12 in 1955; 15 in 1960 and 20 in 1965.

The company holds bonds Nos. 26 to 75 inclusive. It also claims unpaid interest coupons due October 15, 1935; April 15, 1936 and October 15, 1936, amounting to $4,500. Suit was filed October 14.

In 1925 the O'Donnell school district issued $65,000 in bonds for construction of a school building, 130 bonds of $500 each. Bonds 1 to 25 were due between 1927 to 1941; Nos. 26-40, 1942 to 1946; Nos. 41-80, 1947-56; Nos. 81 to 130, 1957-66.

The insurance company eight bonds, amounting to $4,000 and $8,970 in interest, is due.

Other Cases Set

Other cases set for this week include:

Monday, F. A. Blankenbeckler, trustee, vs. Mrs. Edith Blackwell, et al; W. A. Thomas, vs. State of Texas, (writ of certiforari)

Tuesday: United States vs. Felix H. Latson, et al; F. A. Blankenbeckler, trustee, vs. Claud Roney, C. C. McGlasson, S. J. Underwood, W. A. Gillington, J. Hall Brown and W. J. Klinger; United States vs. H. B. Roberts; Federal Reserve bank vs. C. C. McClure, et al; same vs. Mrs. Mae Campbell et al and vs. Mrs. Paul Robertson.

Thursday: Artie Baker et al. vs. Food Machinery corporation; Food Machinery Corporation, vs. First National bank of Lockney, an equity case.

Friday: G. C. McMakin vs. John Aaron, et al.

Criminal matters will come up Tuesday.

Docket for the new term is to be called Monday by Judge Davidson. All cases already docketed are from the May term, which closed Saturday. Because of so many holdover cases, an extra week was used the December term actually beginning tomorrow. A number of cases, both civil and criminal, were disposed of the past week.

A jury has been summoned to report Monday morning at the usual hour. A special jury was called last week, to act as a grand jury.

Three Years In Prison Have Softened The Last Member Of Barrow Gang

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 13. (AP) — Three years behind prison walls have softened the last of the Barrow gang—once the terror of the southwest.

She is Blanche Barrow, widow of Marvin (Buck) Barrow, who with his brother, Clyde, and Bonnie Parker spread a bloody trail of outlawry through Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri until officers' guns ended their careers.

"A tiny woman but a hellcat," officers termed Blanche Barrow when they captured her in Iowa three years ago after fatally wounding her husband.

"A model prisoner," Warden J. M. Sanders of the Missouri State prison described her today.

"I've seen enough of that rough and tumble life," she explained.

Prison Mystery At Last Cleared

HOUSTON, Dec. 12. (AP) — Juan Guerrero's 10 years in prison weren't so bad—from the financial standpoint.

The "miser" of the Blue Ridge prison farm, his pockets stuffed with "saddle blanket" type greenbacks that had been the basis for a mystery on the farm, was on a deportation trip to Mexico today.

The mystery of the miser's greenbacks was solved when he was released on a conditional pardon that specified he must be deported. Immigration Inspector Robert McAfee explained it.

"He told me he wanted to get his money before we left," McAfee said. "Then he got a pick and I accompanied him out into the prison yard.

"There he started digging and soon uncovered a dusty tin can. Then he moved to another spot, stuck the pick in the ground and up came another can. He had half a dozen of them buried and all of them were crammed with musty bills, mostly of the old-fashioned large variety."

Guerrero counted his savings and reported he had $225.

There was no mystery about the source of the money, for fellow-convicts said the miser was lucky in wagering. The thing the convicts wondered about was the hiding place.

Guerrero patted his pocket and observed:

"That will give me a good start in some business in Mexico."

The miser served a 10-year term for murder in Starr county.

LOCAL LADY'S SLUGGISH KIDNEYS RELIEVED WITH REMARKABLE VAN-TAGE!

Mrs. Hickey, of Ave. Q, Suffered For Years Due To Weak, Sluggish Kidneys — Couldn't Sleep, Became Nervous And Irritable—Relieved By Van-Tage, She Says: "I Can Say One Bottle Has Worked Wonders!"

MRS. H. E. HICKEY, Widely-Known Lubbock Lady, Says: "I Have Tried Many Things But Nothing Has Done Me The Good That VAN-TAGE Has."

Another Amazing Instance of relief from Long-Suffering came to light here a few days ago in a statement about VAN-TAGE received from Mrs. H. E. Hickey, 213 Avenue Q, Lubbock. VAN-TAGE is the Remarkable New Compound of Nature's Roots and Herbs and Other Splendid Ingredients which has recently created such a sensation here in Lubbock, and which is being introduced to crowds daily here in Lubbock, by a Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from The Van-Tage Laboratories, at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway. Mrs. Hickey is a Widely-Known Lady of this town, with friends throughout this whole region. What she has to say about Van-Tage will be of interest to all who suffer as she did.

Nervous Disorders Cause Suffering

"My kidneys had been in a weak, sluggish condition for years," says Mrs. Hickey, "so that I had suffered a great deal of pain and misery. My rest has been broken up continually for some nights I would have to get up as many as nine times in order to relieve these organs. This caused me to become tired, worn-out and irritable. I was so nervous that it seemed as though my nerves were all Torn to Pieces! I just didn't know what to do.

Van-Tage Relief Now Eases Her Pains!

"Recently, I noticed that the Van-Tage Company was selling an introductory trial bottle in Lubbock so I got my daughter to get me one. Well, it seemed to do so much good that I got a large-sized bottle. I can say just that one bottle has Worked Wonders for my kidneys with its fine relief. Some nights I don't have to get up at all and my nerves are relieved and I sleep much better. I know if I keep on taking Van-Tage I will be like a different person. I have tried many things, but nothing has done me the good that Van-Tage has. I am glad to have the chance to say a good word for it."

Enlivens Organs; Clears Out Poisonous Waste

VAN-TAGE contains more than 30 ingredients, including 21 Natural Herbs. So, when you take this Amazing Formula, it is like taking several medicines ALL AT ONCE. It accomplishes several things inside of you at the same time. For instance, some of its ingredients sweep poisonous gas and waste from stomach. While that is being done, other ingredients give the bowels a great cleansing and clear out the old, foul substance that causes headaches, skin eruptions, foul breath, worn-out feeling and coated tongue. Other ingredients act as a splendid diuretic to Sluggish Kidneys and help Nature flush out quantities of impurity, relieving backache and night rising; and still others invigorate the liver action, thus relieving awful biliousness and sick headache, caused by the sluggish action of these organs. Van-Tage acts as a carminative, laxative, cholagogue and diuretic. Daily, worn-out, miserable men and women advise us they feel like different people due to the cleansing and invigorating properties of VAN-TAGE.

A Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from The Van-Tage Laboratories, is now at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway, Lubbock, daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this Remarkable Compound.

Annual District "Harvest Day" For Lubbock Methodists Set Wednesday

Leaders Will Meet In City

District Women's Missionary Society Gathering Also Is Being Held And 200 Women Being Expected

"Annual District Harvest Day," for the Lubbock district, Methodist Episcopal church, will be held Wednesday, December 16 at the First Methodist church, with an attendance of 100 laymen and pastors expected. In addition, the district women's missionary society session is being held at the same time and 200 women are expected for it.

The meeting will begin at 10 a. m. Rev. W. M. Pearce, presiding elder, will be in charge. The men's meeting will be held in the chapel; the women meeting in the auditorium.

Luncheon Scheduled

At noon a covered dish luncheon is to be served. An afternoon program is planned.

Letters were sent by the presiding elder to pastors and to lay leaders, giving an outline of the program for the day. Reports by pastors will include: public services, including prayer meetings, the attendance, spirit and interest; organization, plans, new enterprises, etc.

Subjects to be discussed will include: Points of emphasis on our work of the year, the pastor's attitude toward, and use of, his laymen; how laymen can best cooperate with their pastors.

"Come with the mind to give helpful and constructive discussion of all matters under consideration," the presiding elder wrote. "This initial meeting will show what has been done to date and cultivate the spirit and cooperation for the work of the year that has already well begun."

Stewards To Meet

Starting at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, district stewards will meet. An important matter, affecting the district parsonage, on Broadway, is to be discussed.

Besides pastors and stewards, Sunday school superintendents, lay leaders and other workers are expected.

In a discussion of the work of the district, Reverend Pearce said he had visited every one of the 31 pastoral charges of the district, and held nine quarterly conferences. He had also held several meetings in connection with special features of the work.

Other district items, showing progress of the work, as reported by the presiding elder, include:

New Parsonage Built

A new parsonage under construction at Whiteface, a new charge, made up of several churches formerly in other charges; Rev. Jesse Young is the pastor. Building committees have been elected for a new parsonage at Anton, a new charge composed of Anton and Spade churches. A church building committee has been named at Welch, Rev. J. G. Walker, pastor.

At Seagraves a move is under way to finish the church, the foundation of which was built 13 years ago. Rev. Cecil Fox is pastor.

The Rev. Tony Dyess, Lubbock, Texas Tech student, is pastor at Anton-Spade.

Robertson circuit, south of Lorenzo, in Crosby county, has purchased a house and moved it onto the lot adjoining the church, for a parsonage. This charge has not had a parsonage before.

McCraw Is To Talk At Rally

Members Of Men's Classes In Sunday Schools To Attend Gathering At High School This Morning

Members of four men's large Bible classes and others will assemble in the Senior High school auditorium at 9:15 o'clock this morning to hear an address by Attorney General William McCraw.

A gigantic rally for men who attend Bible classes and others is conducted annually here, with some widely-known speaker as the guest. This year's gathering is the fourth.

Hundreds Expected

George P. Kuykendall and Dude Buster, directors of arrangements, are expecting about 1,200 men to attend.

Sponsors of the annual meetings are the men's Bible classes of the First Baptist church, the First Methodist Episcopal church, the First Presbyterian church, and the First Christian church.

Invitations to attend have been sent to all men's classes in Lubbock churches and to other men regardless of creed.

Mowery To Preside

Ray C. Mowery, acting head of the animal husbandry department at Texas Technological college, will preside. Invocation will be given by Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church. Congregational singing will be led by H. W. Moore, and Marion Ford will offer a marimba solo.

Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of Tech's department of government and director of the graduate school, will introduce Attorney General McCraw, who, while Dallas county district attorney, taught a men's Bible class.

Benediction will be pronounced by Rev. J. Hodge Alves, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Dismissal will be at 10:45 o'clock, in time for men who attend to go to churches of their choice for the morning services.

Cash For Orphanage

As in the past, collection taken will go to the operating fund of Lubbock Milam home, inc., an orphans' home conducted by Mrs. W. T. Milam here.

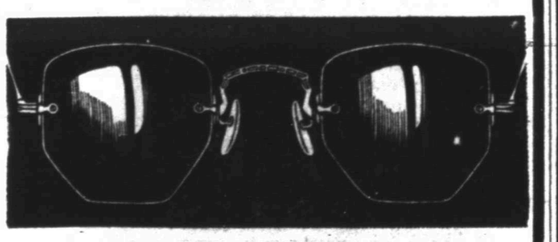

Officers and directors of the home will be introduced during the program. They are Kuykendall, president; Buster, vice-president; V. H. Moore, secretary; V. L. Doughtie, Tom Foster, Ellsworth J. Parsons, Morris Levine, and Mrs. Milam.

Mary Has Stopped Pouting And She Declares That She Has Good Reason

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 12.—Mary Maguire says she has stopped pouting. She admits to no particular reason for pouting in the first place, but she has a good one for stopping.

Mary Maguire

Mary Maguire, 17, with a pout looked too much like Simone Simon. They might have called her Mary Mary, and put her in schoolgirl roles and kept her there. When she reminds you a little of Peggy Conklin, and comes here as "the Mary Pickford of Australia," it would be too complicated to drag in a Simonish resemblance.

Mary hails from Queensland, and had been making pictures "down under" for five years before she stopped here presumably en route to the British studios. Her trip snagged on a Hollywood contract, with these results among others:

1—She has become addicted to gum-chewing.

2—She has taken up American slang.

3—She has stumped the wardrobe department with her requirement of Size 1 shoes which they didn't have, and

4—She has exposed Comedian Hugh Herbert to the afternoon tea habit, he being with her in her first film, "Love Begins."

Bette Back Home

BETTE Davis is back home, ready and anxious to work. She has been in England for nine months. She didn't make any pictures there. An injunction kept her from that.

Bette Davis

"I love to work," said Bette. She was between poses in the portrait gallery on the Warner lot, which she deserted nine months ago. Bette thought she wasn't getting her share of the gate.

A slimmer, prettier Bette Davis faced the camera. She said she had lost 18 pounds, but that she feels like a million dollars. Very few people feel like a million dollars after being out of work for nine months. Worry took off the pounds, Bette explains.

Wedding Souvenirs

NOW that her honeymoon is over and she is ready to again settle down to the business of being a movie star, Ann Sothern is packing away the souvenirs she collected at her wedding. And what a collector—her own wedding dress, Roger Pryor's tie, the best man's collar, the minister's boutonniere and the bridesmaid's handkerchief.

ROMANTIC NOTE: Lee Tracy and Florence Lake have reached that stage where they now spend most of their time at the night spots holding hands.

Dancing Vogue

IF things keep on, there soon won't be a feminine star in Hollywood who isn't an expert dancer. Carole Lombard is the latest to turn to the Terpsichorean art. Her new picture, "Swing High, Swing Low," calls for a tap dance routine. So Carole now is becoming an accomplished tapper under the guidance of Eddie Prinz.

• • •

News Flashes!

ANN Sothern has been cast for the feminine lead and January 2, set as the starting date for Robert Donat's picture at RKO, so it looks as if the English star really is coming back here.

Errol Flynn may draw the assignment for the title role in "Danton" at Warners.

Chico Marx is playing a part in "The Second Step," a short being produced by Carey Wilson—and doing it for nothing, what's more.

Boston's current murder mystery now has half a dozen scenarists hanging away at their typewriters, each trying to be the first to complete a story based on this crime.

George Raft may now become a producer as well as an actor. He is now negotiating for a release for two films a year with himself as both star and producer.

Former Hotel Is Now Fine House On Texas Ranch

LOBO, Texas, Dec. 12. (AP)—More than 25 years ago an optimistic townsite promotion company built a hotel here, which, in view of its environment was "imposing." The spot was identified by a yellow railroad pumphouse on an empty greasewood flat, but the high hopes of the promoters were not realized. The building stood solitary and empty for many years, except, residents of Valentine and Van Horn say, when owners of adjacent ranchland lived there.

In August, 1931, an earthquake damaged the building seriously. In the process of reconstruction the second story was lopped off and the erstwhile hotel transformed into what is regarded as one of the finest ranch houses in the trans-Pecos, with white walls, arched entrance, and topped by a red roof.

The ranch property on which the hotel stood came into possession of Dr. J. D. McGreggor, now living at El Paso, who sold it to J. M. West of Houston. Later T. M. Pyle, Van Horn cattleman, became West's partner, and, when they divided their holdings a few years ago, Pyle took the Lobo ranch of more than 100 sections. He sold to a Waco buyer, and says the house is occupied by the ranch manager.

The various owners planted trees and shrubbery around the once ambitious hotel enterprise and erected outbuildings. Today it is an attractive ranch spread, looming big in the empty country, 12 miles south of Van Horn and 20 miles northwest of Valentine.

SO HE'D HEARD!

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—"Daddy, our house is on fire!" yelled Barney Davidson, jr.

"Daddy" Davidson knew it. He had arrived with his company on a fire truck.

For Thoughtful People

THOUGHTFUL people will not lightly pass over a belief expressed by Webb Miller, one of the world's most famous newspaper correspondents, in his widely discussed new book, "I Found No Peace," that charges to the advance of the machine with the shifting and altering of forms of government the world over.

Thoughtful people will stop to consider the words of Mr. Miller, long a crack war and roving foreign correspondent for United Press, when he says in return for the machine's labor-saving we human beings must sacrifice a deal of our personal liberty. For Mr. Miller is a man of almost unparalleled experience and the possessor of great intelligence, both native and acquired through study.

In "I Found No Peace," (Simon & Schuster; $3) Journalist Miller declares:

* * *

"I have come to believe that the most significant development during my generation, not even excluding the World war, is the sudden burst in the advancement of science and machinery. It has introduced into the lives of the people of the world, into individual and international relations, imponderable forces which can make for their unprecedented material happiness or destruction; forces the effects of which are as yet little understood.

"I believe that these mysterious economic, financial, and political forces released by machinery and science are destined to affect the lives, liberties, and relations of peoples and nations more than any other development of the age. And I believe that the most vital task before the world is experimentation with these forces to harness them for the welfare instead of the destruction of human beings.

"I have concluded that the price the world must pay—and is already paying—for the material advantages of the modern machine is increasingly greater curtailment and restriction of the personal liberty of people. Already I have seen the machine infringe upon personal liberty in a multitude of ways. For instance, you cannot walk or drive when and how you please, and this is an interference with the fundamental liberty of movement. Owing to the advent of the automobile, you have to cross streets at prescribed places and times, halt and start your automobile at the winking of lights.

"It seems to me that this principle on a wider scale is being and will have to be increasingly applied to many phases of human life and government. I think that the rise of dictatorial or authoritarian forms of governments was basically impelled by these forces.

"Call it collectivism, regimentation, New Dealism, Fascism, Socialism, Communism, or what you will, it is all of a piece—a general movement inevitable sooner or later as a result of the astonishing development of machinery and science. It has come more rapidly or more slowly in various countries, depending upon local conditions, economic advancement or backwardness, the temperament and training of the people, their geographical position and natural resources.

"It seems to me that two separate governments, economic and political, cannot continue to exist in their old forms in parliamentary democracies under the impact of the vast forces generated by the machine. I think that the 'economic government' which prescribes indirectly how much a man shall eat, how he shall live and clothe himself, the amount of work he shall do or not do—that is, capitalism, business, or the employer—will have to come more and more under the control of the political government which prescribes how much taxes a man must pay, the uses to which they will be put, and other political functions inextricably intertwined with and dependent upon the economic life of the people.

"I have not been drawn to these conclusions by any attraction for those forms of government. As an American brought up in the democratic tradition, I detest the authoritarian or regimented forms of governments and do not want to live under them. I even resent restrictions upon when and where I shall cross a street. But I reflect that within my memory, under pressure of crises, the United States twice submitted temporarily to mild, voluntary forms of authoritarian government; during the World war and for a brief period during the banking crisis. In the modern machine age old-fashioned pure democracy seems too unwieldly at a critical juncture. I hope that the United States, with its heritage of liberty and great natural advantages over Old World countries, will make the necessary economic and political readjustments gradually and without conflict, but I am not convinced that this will happen."

STRONG words and strong thoughts, those, yet they come from a man who, for more than a score of years, has had a grandstand seat at world dramas from Verdun to the conquest of Ethiopia; from the Ghandi salt uprising in India to last week's sudden shift in the titular leadership of the British empire.

That they are worth careful perusal and thought will be agreed by all people who are wondering, to revert to World war days, "where do we go from here?"

Wally Simpson, who emits a glow in company, is the direct antithesis of the party-goer described by Dorothy Parker "When he came into a room it was as if someone had gone out."

Asked on his death bed whether he forgave his enemies, a Spanish general in the last century replied, "I have no enemies. I have shot them all." Spoken like a true Spaniard!

Today's One-Minute Sermon

And then the people complained, it displeased the Lord: and the Lord heard it; and his anger was kindled: and the fire of the Lord burnt among them, and consumed them that were in the uttermost parts of the camp.

And the people cried unto Moses; and when Moses prayed unto the Lord, the fire was quenched.—Numbers, XI:1-3.

THE NEW BOOKS

Duttons Claim Some Sort Of Record In Releasing "Her Name Was Wallis Warfield," Life Story Of Mrs. Simpson; "Let Them Eat Caviar" Presents Choice Washington Gossip

"HER NAME WAS WALLIS WARFIELD," anonymous; (E. P. Dutton, New York).

E. P. DUTTON AND COMPANY think they made something of a record in the production of "Her Name Was Wallis Warfield, The Life Story of Mrs. Ernest Simpson," which they published December 7th. The manuscript of this book was delivered to them on Friday morning, November 20, and books were received at their offices from the bindery Wednesday afternoon, November 25. This, of course, made proofreading impossible, and under the circumstances the publishers say there are a few typographical errors in the first edition, as, for instance, the marriage of Wallis Warfield to Ernest Simpson is dated 1918 instead of 1928, an obvious mistake, and Charleston, N. C. naturally should be S. C., etc.

In a letter to the trade John Macrae, jr., emphasizes the fact that there is nothing sensational about this book. It is not, he says, "fiction based on back-stairs gossip. It is not written by someone who claims to be a friend of Mrs. Simpson or claims to have 'inside information' with no real basis for it. One of the authors behind the pseudonym of Edwina H. Wilsen has been Mrs. Simpson's closest companion since childhood, and is still her most intimate friend today."

Some of the many fine photographs which illustrate the book appear here for the first time and are taken from the author's own collection. Mr. Macrae says that there has been an unprecedented advance demand on the part of the book trade for the Simpson book.

Kind Of Barnum's Museum

"LET THEM EAT CAVIAR," by George Abell and Evelyn Gordon; (Dodge, Philadelphia).

PERHAPS we overestimate the appetite of this land of the free fo Washington gossip.

Today there is "Let Them Eat Caviar." This is a book of approximately 300 pages which sets out to picture Washington as a kind of Barnum's museum, to tell little told gossip, to interpret to the country the inner goings-on of Washington personalities. It has had predecessors who have told some of the same gossip, and successors will retell it several times more. What sayes all the books is that the Washington scene is constantly changing, and new material is coming in from all the corners of the country—and other countries.

Had Sense Of Humor

George Abell is one of the numerous Washington columnists, and Evelyn Gordon, who collaborated with him, was once society editor of the Washington Post. Each of these careers is pretty apt to take the round-eyed wonder out of one. And each of these collaborators has a sense of humor. They take the diplomatic corps for a swift little ride. They picture, for example, Claude G. Bowers frantically trying to persuade the government to pay for a doorman at the Madrid embassy, and failing. And Straus from Paris urging vainly that a new phone be installed.

Take Up Lawmakers

They do the usual turn about the foreign embassies, and they take up with comparative thoroughness the lawmakers. There is no use trying to give samples from all departments, but it should be added that one of the nicest bits concerns the Townsend musicales, the snarl of limousines outside the Mayflower, the overstuffed ladies within, Dr. Hana Kindler, conductor of the National Symphony, being tactful near the door. Mrs. Townsend, "a sentimental but businesslike woman," fluttering about—it's quite a grand picture.

If you'd like some gossip to pass on, here's your book.

Major Miracle

"LAUGHING GAS," by P. G. Wodehouse; (Doubleday, Doran, N. Y.).

IF THERE has been no hitch in the calculating machinery, "Laughing Gas" is the 27th book by Pelham Grenville Wodehouse to be published on this side of the water. This does not include sundry shorter efforts, an original scenario or so, and such minor gravel as he has spaded up from time to time.

And "Laughing Gas" is funny. It is a triumph to have done 27 books, all funny. In fact, it is a major miracle. When it is added that each has run rather true to a formula, and that even the formula still seems funny, the magnitude of the accomplishment stands out like a wart on a debutante's chin.

To Rescue His Cousin

This time the third Earl of Havershot (hereinafter to be known as Reggie) is sent by the family solicitor, barrister, attorney or advocate, to rescue his drunken cousin Eggy from the toils of a Hollywood maiden. On the way Reggie is ensnared by April June; upon arrival, he finds that Eggy's affianced is none other than the girl Reggie lost on Mediterranean shores by trying to kiss her with a cigar in his mouth.

Reggie Wins Out

That represents, in the formula, twist No. One. The secondary twist occurs when Reggie's wisdom tooth kicks up, and he meets little Joey Cooley, the kid star, in the waiting room of a dentist. Joey is surrounded by movie columnists and such like; both Joey and Reggie take gas; somewhere in that shrieking void which comes after taking gas Reggie and Joey exchange bodies. Reggie emerges with blond ringlets and a Lord Fauntleroy outfit—

There is no point in going farther along this road. Mr. Wodehouse is so much better a guide, All the real Wodehouse fan needs to know is that "Laughing Gas" is standard Wodehouse, delivered in the standard package, containing the standard amount.

No Disappointment

"ONE MURDERED, TWO DEAD," by Milton Propper; (Harpers, N. Y.)

YOU can always expect a substantial and workmanlike detective story when Milton Propper sits down at his typewriter, and his newest puzzler—"One Murdered, Two Dead"—is no disappointment.

In this one we have a lovely but indiscreet lady of wealth stabbed to death in her own bedroom, in the dead of night. A lurking cop nabs a prowler, who seems to have had the supreme bad luck to be robbing the house at the time of the murder, and it all looks like an open and shut case.

But the lady's husband, it develops, is not above suspicion. Neither is her doctor — and why, pray, are detective story doctors such sinister folk? Then there is a cousin who has been up to no good, and a gentleman friend who was on the premises at the wrong time . . . and it all gets pretty confusing.

This yarn will keep you going all the way, even if there is nothing especially inspired about it.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

WISER heads among Democrats on Capitol Hill are hatching a scheme to strengthen Republican opposition at the next session of congress. Their strategy will explain many things which might otherwise bewilder the inexpert after the gavel falls.

These conspirators are afraid of their own parliamentary strength—of the top-heavy administration majority. What bothers them most is that the Republicans in the House have only one more than enough to force a roll call. In the Senate they fall short of the minimum. Thus Democratic leaders can sneak through pet proposals without a record vote, and such a system of secrecy usually produces bad or ill-considered laws.

So the more conservative Democrats have agreed to line up with the GOP-ers in all demands for yea-and-nay counts, thus forcing a showdown. They will also block other steamroller tactics. They say they're not anti-Roosevelt in framing this plan. They simply want to protect the party majority against itself.

* * *

WORRY: Administration liberals—on Capitol Hill and at the other end of the world's most political avenue—are grumbling and mobilizing these days. They swap their suspicions at luncheons, dinner parties and unofficial caucuses. They inspire friendly writers to question certain White House trends since the election.

They produce no evidence to bolster their fears that the President is turning slowly to the right. They can't pin their finger on any specific policy or appointment. But they think that various apparently innocent and unconnected acts suggest a softening of his liberalism. They note that he has cultivated conservative advisers. They worry over the outcome of pooling negotiations with power interests. They pout over the appointment of Joseph E. Davies, corporation lawyer, as Ambassador to the Soviet. They crave a mass slaughter of conservatives in the Cabinet, especially Secretary Roper. They deplore relief roll cuts. They mourn Rex Tugwell's departure.

Mr. Roosevelt's growing preoccupation with world problems — trade, peace, debts — bothers them, primarily because they are more concerned over domestic reform. Deep down they worry lest a world war, and his desire to avert one, distract the President's attention from bread-and-butter questions, as happened to Woodrow Wilson in his second term.

* * *

FUND: John J. O'Connor's managers in the house leadership contest bitterly denounce rival Sam Rayburn's missionary work among new and old members whom he helped to re-elect while serving as chairman of the Democrats' speakers' bureau in the presidential campaign. More than any other factor, it appears to have turned the tide in favor of the Texan.

Mr. O'Connor entered a vociferous protest when Chairman Farley named Mr. Rayburn as director of oratory, insisting that it gave him an unfair advantage. "Jim" agreed, but explained that he had given no thought to the effect upon House politics. Then the New York member extracted a promise that Mr. Rayburn would not be permitted to handle any money, to prevent the latter directly financing new and old Congressmen's rights. So far as the red-headed New Yorker's friends know, Mr. Farley lived up to this agreement.

But the shrewd Texan obtained funds—probably $50,000—from some source. He dished it out generously to Democrats running in close districts. He assigned sure winners — mostly southerners — to the stump and allowed them liberal expense accounts. Naturally they feel grateful to their benefactor. To aggravate matters — and Mr. O'Connor — the inside story is that the Rayburn fund came from Vincent Astor—FDR's yachting host and companion in other than election years.

* * *

DEMAND: Congress was supposed to have settled the Philippines problem by passing the independent act, but the question has been raised in sharp form in view of prospective war in Europe or the Far East.

Filipino politicos curry native support with cries for immediate freedom, but behind the official doors they beg our legislators and administrators not to take them seriously. Army officers who reflect the departmental viewpoint favor withdrawal on the ground that even a remote tie may some day involve the U. S. in a foolish and disastrous war. Extreme "big navy" spokesmen insist on keeping the islands as a Pacific outpost. They resent suggestions that they want to stay there simply because it necessitates construction of 35,000-ton battleships.

The social uplifters, with strong backing in high place, plead that Uncle Sam must not slough off the "white man's burden" for selfish reasons. But a powerful Congressional bloc, reinforced by lobbies seeking to bar island imports, will seize this mad moment in international affairs to demand that we get out—and stay out. The outcome will demonstrate —significantly—whether sentiment or economics dominates a major foreign policy of gravest import.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

FINANCIAL insiders comment that Stock Exchange authorities haven't been altogether bright in their dickering with the Securities Exchange commission about broker-dealer segregation.

Six months ago Chairman Jim Landis made it plain that the commission intended to carry out a segregation program. About three weeks ago a distinguished committee of Stock Exchange representatives met with the SEC to discuss the matter, and found the commission ready to move full speed ahead. As we reported at the time, it didn't ask them—it told them.

Yet in spite of that, and after that, the Exchange management prepared a statement for publication of its attitude towards the segregation program in the course of which it was stated that the SEC had agreed to further study the proposals involved. The SEC had done nothing of the sort—but inside indications are that Exchange leaders were quite surprised to discover that they had apparently misunderstood the situation. The statement, after consultation with the SEC, was not released.

* * *

TIGHTEN: SEC circles are privately irritated at what they consider a naive attempt to postpone segregation still longer. The incident has ruffled a relationship hitherto remarkably smooth.

One SEC official comments of the record: "We're willing to be nice with those fellows as long as they are on the square with us, but we object to being played for suckers. Either they were trying to pull a forced play on us or else they were just goshawful dumb.

"Either way the effect is the same. We've taken things pretty easy up to date—and been criticized for it. You'll see us tighten up from now on."

* * *

PRACTICAL: There have been some changes in the inside line-up of the president's advisers on power questions in recent weeks. Chairman Frank McNinch of the Federal Power commission has switched from the conservative side to become a supporter of David Lilienthal's militant public ownership ideas. Securities Exchange Commissioner J. D. Ross has also joined the party.

As the situation stands today, Chairman Arthur Morgan of TVA and Basil Manley of the Federal Power Commission—the latter a personal protege of the President—lead the element inside the administration which demands some sort of compromise agreement between the government and the private utilities as the only practical solution of power problems raised by the New Deal. Morris Cooke of the Rural Electrification Administration agrees with them.

They are also backed by Louis Brandeis Wehle—New York lawyer and nephew of Justice Brandeis; by Alexander Sachs—New York economist; and by Donald Richberg — ex-"assistant President." These three have no official connection with the administration but are none the less potent influences at the White House. Most "conservative" cabinet members, agency heads and advisers—Morgenthau, Cummings, Farley, Roper, Jesse Jones, Frank Walker, etc.—are of the same mind, although power questions are not directly within their province.

The Changing Fashions In Government

Russia's "Democracy" Outlined And Explained Here

BY IRA BENNETT
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—Soviet Russia purports to be a democratic union, governed by a dictatorship of the proletariat—that is, workers, soldiers and peasants. Actually its 178,000,000 people, divided into 182 nationalities, speaking 149 different languages, and occupying one-seventh of the land area of the earth, are under the domination of a political party possessing less than 3,000,000 members. This party, in turn, is controlled by a small clique of bolshevists. At the head of this clique, holding the power of life and death over his colleagues, is Joseph Djugasvili Stalin.

EDITOR'S NOTE
The accompanying article by Ira Bennett, widely known and long experienced New York and Washington reporter and editor, is the first of a series on government of today. The articles analyze the development and structure of the new patterns of government which have been growing among European nations for the past 20 years.
Other articles in the series will follow on successive Sundays in identical positions on the editorial page.

Stalin's only office is that of secretary-general of the communist party. In reality he is dictator of all the Russias. Through control of the communist party he controls the policy of the Third (communist) International, whose headquarters are in Moscow, and whose ambitious aim is to bring the entire world under the sway of communism.

DICTATOR STALIN
. . . Lenin Called Him "Brutal"

Dictator A Veteran

Stalin was one of the little band of bolshevists under Lenin who seized power in November, 1917. In the tumultuous times that followed, Stalin remained in the background, patiently gathering unto himself the lines of control over the army, the secret police, and the party. Lenin, not long before his death in 1923, wrote of Stalin that he had concentrated too much power in his hands as secretary of the party and was "too brutal". After Lenin's death a struggle for power began, with Stalin and Trotsky the principal antagonists. The world knows the outcome.

Differences as to policy as well as the thirst for power sharpened the controversy between Stalin and Trotsky. Trotsky was convinced that the communist revolution in Russia would fail unless other countries were also communized. He predicted an irreconcilable conflict between workers and peasants. His desire was to stir up revolution in other countries, so that communism would prevail in Russia, even in the face of peasant opposition.

* * *

STALIN went Lenin one better in making concessions to capitalism. He saved the face of communism by surrendering its principles. At present nearly 8 per cent of the Russian people enjoy the benefits of the capitalist system—that is, they can hold property, trade, accumulate wealth (not too much) and work for wages.

Order is mantained and power retained by Stalin by virtue of his control of the all-pervading secret police system. No conspiracy within or outside the communist party can get far before knowledge of it is laid before him. In some cases he accepts humble recantations. In dangerous cases the guilty parties are executed. Fear, from top to bottom, permeates the Russian atmosphere.

Concealment Is Practiced

In countries outside Russia the Communist International (Comintern) is unusually successful in concealing the extent of its machinations. Its activities have long been notable in China and more recently in Spain. Stalin deprecates the suggestion that Soviet Russia is bent on stirring up revolution in other countries, and this is true. For the Russian government is not the Comintern. Stalin, directing both, does not let his right hand know what his left hand is doing.

Stalin's greatest accomplishment, stamping him as an administrator of the highest rank, lies in rallying the Russian people to the new order, contradictory and paradoxical as that is. With fanatical zeal they are building up the country. They have made Leninism their religion. They are guided by an iron hand in a velvet glove, and they like it. Stalin is an "easy boss" over his followers in small matters. And all large matters are left to him. What could be simpler?

* * *

ENTHUSIASM — and fear — combine to perfect discipline in the national army of Russia. The raw material for the world's mightiest war machine is at hand. The country is rapidly becoming mechanized, both in armaments and in agriculture. The average Russian when trained is a good mechanic, a good soldier, and a good farmer. Development of industry and agriculture has gone forward with feverish speed. Through cooperation small peasants have the use of tractors. More than 3500 machine and tractor stations serve collective farms. The country now has at least 300,000 tractors and 40,000 combines for harvesting. Power development has been prodigious. By the end of 1937 Soviet Russia will rival the United States in power output.

The Russian people under the new order are intensely patriotic, in sharp contrast with the stupor of old times. Communist propaganda by forced feeding is the intellectual meat of the young. Systematic destruction of religion has brought about an era of materialism, sub-

Chess And Checkers Players' Corner

Problems And News Concerning Those Old Favorites

WIDESPREAD interest in checkers and chess over the South Plains area has prompted this "corner" of the Sunday Avalanche-Journal's editorial page. Several score persons are actively engaged in chess play and chess clubs; several hundred belong to checkers clubs and play that grand old favorite.

Here is the latest checkers and chess news, along with problems and comment.

The Checker Board

A report from the Long-Hunt world title match now being played at West Palm Beach, Fla., shows that the first 8 games were drawn. Four games are being played daily, and if the two are tied at the end of 40 games, an additional 10 will be played.

Here's a game played between Vinson Stanphill and J. L. Bills in the team match Nov. 28. Bills was high point man for Amarillo, and scored the only win over Stanphill: Black, J. L. Bills; White, V. C. Stanphill. 10-15, 23-19, 7-10, 22-17, 15-18, 17-14, 10-17, 21-14, 9-13, 24-23, 3-7, 26-22, 13-17, 28-24, 6-10, 23-21, 1-6, 30-26, 17-22, 21-17, 6-9, 17-13, 10-17,18-6, 2-9, 23-14, 9-18, 25-21. White wins. Try to pick the losing move made by Black, and you'll see that it is a well played game.

The recent Amarillo-Lubbock match was the first played here to use the three move restriction. This means that the first three moves of each game are drawn before the game starts. Nearly every tourney now uses the three-move style, and its purpose is to make the games follow new lines of play, instead of the beaten path of memorized games. It has brought out much new play, and has made obsolete many of the books of the old style of playing.

All the published play on this new restriction has been developed within the last year or so. To a player wanting solid lines of the three-move style, we recommend Wood's Checker studies, by Rex D. Wood, Gary, Ind. These studies contain sound play on the various openings that are new, and lots of good problems. We have just received study No. 9, of fifty-six pages, which sells for fifty cents.

Play in the county-wide round robin tourney has already begun. All players in the county are invited, and those wishing to enter should contact Otho Clendennen, or attend the Tuesday meeting at Hilton hotel. At last meeting two new players, Bill Freeland and Hugh Anderson, both of Lubbock, attended.

No solutions at all were received to last week's problem. The win is deceptive, and even Clendennen gave several hours to it without getting it. Here it is: Black on 2, 6, 8, 9; white on 17, 18, 21, 29; White wins by 17-14, 9-13, 21-17, 13-22, 14-10,

The Chess Board

Dr. Alan L. Strout, a former City chess champion, led a group of five last week in a championship tournament sponsored by Lubbock Chess club.

Victories by Doctor Strout over V. O. Jennings and a loss by Dr. B. S. Underwood to John Spencer contributed to Doctor Strout's ascent to first place. Spencer and Doctor Underwood split games.

Other results in the tournament include: Spencer 1, Jennings 0; Gordon Webb 2; Webb 1, Jennings 0.

Won games count two points and drawn games one point in the second double round-robin.

The standings:	Previous Score	Won	Lost	Pct.
A. L. Strout	14-4	10	5	.722
B. S. Underwood	14½-3½	17½	6½	.729
Gordon Webb	12½-5½	20½	7½	.732
John Spencer	11½-6½	18½	12½	.854
V. O. Jennings	9-9	9	17	.346

Play in the tourney will be continued at a meeting of the club in Astec room of Hilton hotel at 7:30 o'clock Monday night. Persons who are not in the final division will find opponents at the meeting.

The Illinois Chess Bulletin reports that the International Chess Federation has announced a return match will be played late in 1937 between Dr. Max Euwe of Amsterdam, world's champion, and Dr. Alexander Alekhine of Paris. The British Chess Federation recently passed a resolution approving Jose R. Capablanca, of Cuba as challenger to the winner of the Euwe-Alekhine match.

The international chess team tournament, sponsored by the international organization, will be conducted in Stockholm next summer. The United States team has won the last three tourneys.

A recent report of the Illinois-California correspondence match showed California leading 145 to 85. All games unfinished Jan. 1 will be adjudicated. The match began about 20 months ago.

Score of the following game is from the Dallas Journal and was played in the Dallas City championship tournament.

Nearly Quarter-Million Acres Measured In County For 1936 Soil Program

Total Of 1,425 Blanks Taken

Adjustments Now Being Made At College Station So That Applications For Payments May Be Entered Soon

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

NEARLY a quarter of a million acres of Lubbock county farm land has been measured for the 1936 soil conservation program and 1,425 work sheets have been accepted by land owners or tenants, according to C. C. Jobson, county agent.

There were 1,968 work sheets signed by farmers of this county. Of these, 1,425 sheets were accepted and the operators participated in the soil conservation program. These covered 246,000 acres.

Making Adjustments Now

"All of the accepted work sheets indicate the land has been measured," Mr. Jobson said. "We are making adjustments now, as suggested by officials at College Station.

"When the necessary red tape is gone through with, we may expect conservation payments to begin. That will probably be sometime early next year.

Just how many acres were planted to soil conserving crops, Mr. Jobson said had not been tabulated. He would not hazard a guess as to the total, but indicated that it should run about 20 per cent or better.

As soon as the work sheets, now at College Station for approval, are given this, applications for payments may be made. When the approval will come, Mr. Jobson says he does not know. He hopes it will be some time soon.

To Take Several Weeks

Several weeks will be needed to complete making out the applications for paymen. These will then be typed off, sent to College Station and payment should follow in a few weeks.

Based on the average of 173 acres covered by accepted work sheets, the 1,968 will cover approximately 340,000 acres.

Consensus is that at least 400,000 to 425,000 acres out of the 555,000 in the county are in cultivation.

Cotton acreage is placed at around 225,000; grain sorghums at 150,000; sudan at 10,000; wheat at 25,000 or better and smaller acreages for other crops. These total 410,000 acres.

Only a few farmers have failed to fully comply with the forms SR-6, according to Ben J. McGee, assistant in charge of the soil conservation work. Mr. McGee has sent letters to those who have failed to comply, advising them to get in touch with him as soon as possible.

Based on reports from several of the so-called "large" counties down state, Lubbock will be one of the large counties to cooperate with the program.

Unique Plan For Contest Is Given

A free trip to Texas A. and M. college next spring, when that school's judging team leaves for annual competition at College Station, will be awarded to the Roosevelt High school student who amasses the greatest number of points in the "most valuable student" contest to be sponsored by the school's vocational agriculture department.

Roy M. Monk, agricultural teacher at the Roosevelt Rural High school, conceived the plan whereby several projects grades points would dictate the winner. For instance, in the cotton projects, 500 points would be allowed for each 5 acres, with 100 points for each additional acre; for hogs, 100 points would be given for each pig raised to six weeks old, with provision made for additional pigs; 500 points will be allotted to the feed project; 500 points for each 50 chickens in the poultry division, with further provision of 100 points for every chicken over a total of 50; and 800 points for dairy cows, and additional points for cows that calve.

Other Points Provided

Each contestant in a meat show will receive 100 points for each animal shown, 250 points for each sow and litter exhibit. It is further provided that for each participation of a given student in chapel programs there will be 5 additional points, and the teacher has option of giving as many points as he wishes for each supervised project.

The contest will begin January 1, and will end May 1. Judges will be M. L. Kelly, a farmer in Roosevelt community, chairman; James Vardeman, F. F. A. chapter president, and O. T. Ryan, teacher trainer in the department of agriculture at Texas Technological college.

Further provisions made were that records must be kept in an official record book.

LONG WAIT FOR HORSE

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — Paul A. Stiling of Bogota, Colombia, has bought a horse here and four years from now he can put it to work. It is a pureblood Arabian stallion purchased as a colt from the W. K. Kellogg Institute of Animal Husbandry of the University of California. Stiling wants the institute to raise the horse for the first four years, then ship him.

GOURDS TO DISHES

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—J. D. Deaton has a new set of dishes — all made from gourds grown in his backyard.

"They are unusual," said Deaton, "but not quite as satisfactory as the clay kind."

He carved the gourds, then baked them.

U. S. Farm Dictionary: At-A-Glance Definitions Of Farm Terms Of Today

CHECK DAMS
. . . are structures built in water channels and gully erosions to slow down the movement of water, giving it more time to soak into the ground and preventing the depression from growing larger. Logs, sod, wire netting, brush, stone and almost any other suitable material may be used effectively according to the size of the channel and the amount of water to be controlled.

TERRACING
. . . . is the building of broad ridges of soil ranging up to about three feet high along contour lines of sloping fields to catch and hold as much as possible of the water flowing downhill. Properly constructed terraces, supported by vegetation, control the run-off of rainwater to a considerable degree and thus diminish the potential soil and water losses that would result otherwise.

STRIP CROPPING
. . . is the alternating of strips of clean-tilled crops like corn and cotton with similar strips of close-growing crops such as small grain, legumes and grasses. The strips are laid out in contour and when clean-tilled strips (with bare soil exposed between the rows) fail to absorb rainfall, the surplus runs into close-growing crops and there drops much of its soil load as it sinks into the ground.

CONTOUR PLOWING
. . . is the following of contour lines in plowing, planting and cultivation. By plowing around a field on the contour level, each row and furrow acts as an impediment to the downward rush of run-off water. By slowing the velocity of the water, more of it enters the soil. Where rolling land is thus cultivated (instead of plowing up and down the hill), much soil and water loss is prevented.

SEEDLINGS PLANTED

JASPER, Dec. 12 (AP)—Crews from the Turpentine camp in Jasper county and enrollees from the Jasper, Nancy, and Bannister CCC camps began recently planting pine seedlings in the Angelina national forest. The crews will set out 7,000,000 pine trees in this forest, and similar operations have begun in the Sabine national forest where 8,000,000 seedlings are apportioned for this reforestration project.

Millions Of Pounds Of Wool Contracted In West Texas

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 12 (AP)—More than 16,000,000 pounds of West Texas wool, it is estimated, was contracted in the current unprecedented movement. Of this, 1,250,000 was eight-months, or short, and the balance 12-months, or long, wool.

Contracting opened at 30 cents a pound of 12-months, and around 27 cents for the eight-months. Prices now are firm at 33 cents for eight-months, and 35 cents for 12-months, with the major part of both classes going at the maximum figures. Options at 36 to 37 1-2 cents are reported quoted for 12-months throughout the range country.

Estimated purchases on contracts include: Tom Richey, 3,350,000 pounds; Jack Allison, 2,500,000; Joe Blakeney, 2,300,000; Max Marshall and Wilson Gordon, 1,700,000; Vaughn Brothers, 700,000; and Marion Stokes, 600,000. Other bulk contracts range downward to 100,000 pounds.

Hotel Waiter Tells How He And New Queen Of England Won Dance Contest

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13 (AP)—Terry M. Kilroy, 43, hotel waiter, described today how he and England's new queen once won a dancing contest in June, 1918.

He, a former private in the king's Liverpool regiment, was on sick leave and with a dozen other soldiers was billeted at Glamis castle, Forfarshire, Scotland, ancestral home of the queen, then Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon.

"Lady Elizabeth was one of the most democratic of persons," Kilroy recalled. "She used to visit us every day and sometimes sat down to meals with us. Occasionally she brought in friends and we danced.

"One night there was a dancing contest. We danced the veleta with one of the nurses playing a piano and two others serving as judges.

"Lady Elizabeth and I were unanimously declared winners. She was so pleased she asked me to write in her autograph book."

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As Old Timer saw the hideous tableau revealed for a moment to his horrified gaze, the she-devil seized Kali Bwana by the hair and forced back her head. Then the long knife flashed in the light of the cooking fires that had been prepared for the cannibal feast.

The white man burst through the gates and ran toward the ghastly scene. He was unarmed except for a pocket knife, but his actions were dictated by love rather than reason. And now, as the sacrificial knife flew toward its victim, a shout issued from his lips.

To the astonished pygmies it sounded like the war cry of attacking natives. At the same instant a mysterious arrow passed through the heart of Wiala, and the knife dropped from her dead hand. Old Timer, no more than the pygmies, knew whence that arrow had come.

For a moment the small warriors stood in stupid astonishment, but the white man realized that their inactivity would be brief when they discovered they had a lone and unarmed opponent to deal with. Then he would join Kali Bwana as a prisoner marked for death!

Texans Arrange To Be Ready As Congress Opens

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—Two of Texas' three new House members came to Washington for several days early this month to arrange office and living quarters, but returned home for the holiday season.

Al Thomas of Houston, who succeeds Rep. Joe Eagle, was the honor guest at a luncheon of newspapermen given by George Stimpson, president of the National Press club and Washington correspondent of the Houston Post.

"I just want to look around a bit up here," Thomas said.

Clyde Garrett of Eastland, successor to Rep. Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene, arranged with Rep. R. Ewing Thomason of El Paso to keep after the House custodian "for a good location." Because of seniority, both Garrett and Thomas probably will be in the old House office building.

Garrett said he would like to become a member of the House agriculture committee, but expressed fear the fact two Texans who are on that committee—Chairman Marvin Jones of Amarillo and Rep. Richard M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi—would work against him.

Thomas said he was especially interested in flood control and rivers and harbors legislation, and would be pleased with assignment to either of those committees.

First Big Shipment Is Made Of Maverick County's Crop

EAGLE PASS, Dec. 12 (AP)—The rustle and thump of baskets and rattle of trucks accompanied the first big shipment last week of Maverick county's spinach crop, 30 days earlier than last year. Early planting last year was destroyed by worms.

Although the county's estimated 4,200 acres of spinach is not as large as last year, farmers say they produced a better crop from the experience of 1935. Also they beat other Texas growers to market with three carloads Nov. 14.

It is estimated the county has more acreage in cultivation, and more cattle and sheep on feed and pasture than heretofore. The early vegetable crop is regarded as favorable. One farm 20 miles southeast has 150 acres in beets and carrots, in addition to 600 acres in spinach. Other plantings include 500 acres of cabbage, 15 of cauliflower, and onions roughly estimated at 400 acres.

limated by the mysticism of Leninism. Compared with life under the Czars the people are faring better. Compared with life in the United States, the Russian people are still suffering from poverty and wretchedness.

With its paradoxical mixture of absolutism, terrorism and enthusiastic teamwork on the part of millions who think they are on the way to liberty and the more abundant life, Soviet Russia surges forward. With all its contradictions, the system "works"—while Stalin is at the helm.

Stalin is a native of Tiflis, in Georgia. His father was a peasant and small shoemaker. Stalin was sent to a seminary to be educated for the priesthood, but he became an ardent revolutionist and was expelled. Thereafter he was repeatedly in prison and exile. He was in exile in Siberia when the Czar was overthrown early in 1917. But he soon made his escape, and was an active associate of Lenin in the conspiracy that culminated in the coup d'etat of November 1917. He is about 54 years of age.

In opposing Trotsky's plan to revolutio nezithe world as a means of cementing the new regime in Russia, Stalin followed the policy of Lenin himself. Lenin did not believe that the revolution in Russia would collapse because of peasant opposition. "Ten or 20 years of good relations with the peasantry of Russia," he said, "will guarantee victory for Socialism on a world scale, even though proletarian revolutions elsewhere may be of slow growth."

Good relations with the peasantry were established and have been maintained. Whether the more grandiose portion of Lenin's dream will be realized is the question still before the world after 20 years.

Gly-Cas Gives Her First Well Days In Twenty Years

Mrs. Galle's Arms And Hands Crippled With Rheumatism, Sharp Stabbing Neuritis Pains Awful; Now Like New; Entire System Toned By Gly-Cas.

"Gly-Cas is the only medicine I have ever found that was deserving of the praise given it," said Mrs. Herman Galle, New Hope, Texas (near Abilene) "Gly-Cas drove the rheumatism out of my system and

MRS. HERMAN GALLE

I am enjoying my first well days in years. My arms and hands swelled badly with this dreadful rheumatism, could not bend my fingers they would become so stiff and I was greatly hindered in my daily work. My whole arms and hands would have that "dead" gone-to-sleep feeling and often had to hold my hands down to get the circulation started through them. Then to make me more miserable, neuritis pains, so sharp and stabbing were unbearable at times. Often severe sick headaches would put me right down in bed for days, was terribly nervous and could not sleep good. I lost my energy, had no appetite and was worn-out most of the time. But finally I was persuaded to try this new Gly-Cas and right then I began to show great improvement."

"I was actually surprised to see how Gly-Cas made my health troubles simply melt away," she continued. "It is almost unbelievable —but true—that every ache and pain of that awful rheumatism and neuritis has been driven from my system. The swelling has left too and even that dead, gone to sleep feeling has gone. My nerves are quieted, able to do my work with ease, sleep good and my former strength and energy has returned. Little did I realize that one medicine could be as wonderful. And Gly-Cas was not only for cases like mine but my husband having suffered with a disordered stomach for long put it to the test in his case. He too found it just what he had been needing and today he can eat the foods he wishes, enjoys his meals and is never bothered with gas, bloating or indigestion like he used to be. No wonder so many are praising Gly-Cas—it is one medicine that is deserving."
