SENIORS TO GO ON CARLSBAD TRIP FRIDAY

All Pampa high school seniors and sponsors who expect to go to Carlsbad cavern tomorrow are requested by Ernest Cabe to meet at 7 o'clock in room 202 in the high school to make final arrangements.

The seniors and sponsors will leave tomorrow morning just before 8 o'clock in buses and cars. The cars will make their own arrangements. Mr. Cabe will be in charge of the excursion. A total of 197 seniors are eligible to go; though it is believed not that many will make the trip.

The Carlsbad trip is an annual senior excursion. Eight teachers will travel with the buses. Numerous students will go in their own cars, but will be under the supervision of the teachers.

The program at Carlsbad will include a picnic tomorrow night, swimming at the lake, a visit to the caverns from 10:30 to 4 o'clock Saturday, a dance Saturday night at Carlsbad, and the return trip Sunday. They expect to arrive here late Sunday afternoon.

The next big event on the seniors program before graduation and commencement ceremonies and functions will be the junior-senior banquet to be held May 14.

FRENCH LINER BURNS IN LE HAVRE DRY DOCK

LE HAVRE, France, May 5 (AP)—Minister of Merchant Marine Louis Du Chappellaine ordered an immediate inquiry into a fire which today ruined the nine-year-old French liner Lafayette in drydock here.

One version of the origin of the blaze was that a blow torch being used by an engineer in the hold ignited tanks of oil.

A report from London said it was understood the 25,178-ton liner was covered by insurance totalling between $200,000 and $1,000,000—$4,000,000 to $5,000,000.

De Chappellaine also announced he would take disciplinary measures against striking members of the crew of the Champlain, another liner of the fleet operated by Compagnie Generale Transatlantique.

RATABLE GAS TAKINGS IN PANHANDLE SOUGHT

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—Another attempt to require ratable takings in the sour gas area of the west Panhandle field was under way today. The railroad commission yesterday completed the first prororation order for the area since one was struck down by the United States Supreme Court early in 1937 because it did not consider rock pressure.

The new order, retroactive to May 1, provided output of each well would be based two-thirds on acreage multiplied by rock pressure and one-third on potential. The maximum acreage assigned to any well for prororation purposes will be 640 acres.

The May allowable for the sour gas area was set at $81,837,000 cubic feet daily.

SINGER STEPS FROM AUDIENCE INTO ROLE

LONDON, May 5 (AP)—Hilde Konradi won extravagant praise from London's opera goers today for stepping from the audience into Mme. Lette Lehmann's role when the diva collapsed in the first act of Der Rosenkavalier at Covent Garden last night.

At the final curtain the audience raved her a great ovation and critics today called her equal to Mme. Lehmann as Marschallin.

Just one man asked for his money back and he got it.

The diva broke off her singing in the first act, throwing up her hands and exclaiming "I can't go on."

Today her illness was ascribed to seasickness on a stormy crossing from New York. She was recuperating.

I HEARD ---

That directors of the Pampa Country club this morning named a new golf pro. He is James Oliver Love, a mighty mile of 8 pounds and 2 ounces, born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Del Love at Pampa-Jarvis hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Love are the popular "pros" at the club where Pampans play their golf.

Nazis Marching in U. S.--Not Germany

Youth is known as "the backbone of Nazism" in Germany. These pictures, taken during the May Day celebration of the German-American Volksbund near Andover, N. J., show children of this country under the sway of the Nazi movement. While their uniformed storm-trooper elders goose-step at stiff-armed salute in the photo above, more children are shown carrying swastikas and American flags on parade in the photo below. Fritz Kuhl, their Führer, who is seen (at right) reviewing the marchers in the upper picture, declared U. S. Nazis are "through making excuse" for their acts.

POPPY DAY TO BE ON MAY 28

Peppy Day will be observed in Pampa this year on Saturday, May 28. Mrs. Hupp Clark, chairman of the poppy committee of Pampa unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, has announced. Extensive preparations for the observance of the day are being made by the Auxiliary women.

Memorial poppies, to be worn in honor of the World War dead and to raise funds for the welfare of the disabled veterans and needy families of the dead and disabled, will be distributed throughout the city. Organization of corps of "poppy girls" to offer the flowers to everyone on the streets during the day and to receive contributions for the Legion and Auxiliary welfare funds. The flowers have been ordered from Legion Hospital where they have been made by disabled veterans.

"Poppy Day is the day of personal tribute to the men who gave their lives in the nation's defense," explained Mrs. Clark. On that day everyone can show that they still remember and honor the sacrifices of those who lost their lives in the war. The poppy is their flower, made in memory by their disabled comrades.

The American Legion Auxiliary will ask no set price for its poppies. We want everyone to wear a poppy and to contribute as he is able for the flower. All contributions will be used for the work of the Legion and Auxiliary among the men who lost health and strength in the war, and among the children whose fathers are dead or disabled. The bulk of the money will be expended right here in Pampa for the work our unit is constantly doing among needy families of veterans here."

KILLED AT LOCKNEY
LOCKNEY, May 5 (AP)—A train-truck crash near here yesterday left one man dead and his companion critically injured. Curtis Willis, 37, was killed. J. V. Glover Jr., 35, was hurt. The men, residents of Littlefield, were returning home after delivering a truckload of cattle at Silvertown. The truck collided with a freight train.

FAVORITE OUT OF THE DERBY

The old story of there'll be just two blows struck—when I hit you and you hit the ground—was enacted here this morning, only on a different basis. This time it was the case of a negro leading in Pampa at 4 o'clock and landing in the city jail at 10 o'clock.

It all happened when a couple of negroes entered City Drug and one of them asked Jack Keahy to show him some merchandise which happened to be behind the counter. While Jack was securing the article, the other negro opened a hose case and snatched six boxes. Then he fled as Jack "came up and started in hot pursuit."

The chase started north on Frost street but by the time Jack reached the end of the first block he was winded. It was then he thought of the police and rushed to the station where Chief Art Hurst was just leaving.

The two "started after the negro who had rounded the Phillips Service station in high and kept traveling in a circle, rounding the corner at Stanard Food, the corner at the Pampa Daily News and then down."

PRODUCTION OF GAS IN TEXAS FIELDS DECLINE

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—Production of gas from Texas fields declined during March, the railroad commission reports.

Production for all purposes was 3,020,217,000 cubic feet daily, compared with 3,038,559,000 in February.

For both months of this year, however, as for January, production was greater than for the similar periods last year.

A total of 37.56 per cent of the output moved out in pipelines for light and fuel purposes. The rest was distributed as follows:
Extraction loss in gasoline plants 4.74 per cent.
Plant fuel-lease operations 15.28 per cent.
Vent to air 12.19 per cent.
To carbon plants 26.90 per cent.
Gas life and repressuring 3.33 per cent.
Carbon black production in March dropped approximately 60,000 pounds daily as two plants in district 19 were shut down. Production was 1,145,877 pounds, compared with 1,207,942 in February.

Knuckle-ball Beats Tribe In 13 Verses

By EDDY GILMORE.

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—Dutch Leonard, the knuckle ball artist who pitched a 13-inning shut out against the league-leading Cleveland Indians yesterday, doesn't hurl his knuckle ball with his knuckles.

"It's a knuckler, I guess," explained the roly-poly Washington pitcher today, "but I throw it with my finger tips."

Most knuckle experts fold their fingers under and sail the ball straight off the knuckles—but Dutch does it differently.

He digs his nails into the ball and lets the horsehide fly off his fingertips.

Leonard, an aging rookie playing his first season in the American league—flattered his knuckler in the faces of 44 Cleveland batters yesterday.

He gave up but six hits, one of which was a home run.

Nobody got as far as third base. And for 13 consecutive innings he walked not a single batter in one of baseball's greatest exhibitions of pitching control.

"It was control and lots of luck," said Leonard, a broad smile creasing his face.

Dutch's performance was all the more impressive because he beat the league leaders and for 10 innings had as his mound opponent the sensational Bob Feller.

Feller, throwing his famous power ball and fast breaking curve, allowed but three hits, but he walked nine batters.

Leonard came to the Senators from Atlanta in the Southern Association.

He is, incidentally, a pitcher whom the Brooklyn Dodgers sent back to minors because he didn't have anything on the ball.

18 PLEAD GUILTY, 89 NO DEFENSE IN K. C.

KANSAS CITY, May 5 (AP)—Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis counted 187 convictions and pleas of no defense on Kansas City's sensational vote fraud purge today and declared "As yet there is in America no power strong enough to thwart justice."

Ninety-five indicted election workers, both Democrats and Republicans, paraded before Judge Otis yesterday after he invited them to plead guilty or no defense and help speed up the long series of trials growing out of the November, 1936, election frauds.

Eighteen pleaded guilty. Eighty-nine pleaded no defense. Only eight stuck to their original pleas of innocence and demanded trials.

That brought the government's box score to date to:

Indictments—257.
Convictions—61.
Pleas of guilty—26.
Pleas of no defense—100.
Miscellaneous—4.
Acquittals—0 (none).

Judge Otis pronounced "merciful sentences." Three Democratic precinct captains drew prison terms of a year and a day, in contrast with many previous sentences of three, four and five years.

SEVEN CHILDREN BORN DEAD TO CUBAN MOTHER

HAVANA, May 5 (AP)—Dr. Roberto Fonseca, director of a hospital at Bayamo, Oriente province, telephoned to Havana today that a farm woman near Bayamo had given birth prematurely to seven children but none had survived.

He said he had visited the woman but had not seen the children, because the midwife had disposed of them before his arrival. The birth, he said, occurred Monday, after only three months gestation.

The woman's name was given as Rafaela Conova, 30 years old. She was recovering.

Further perfecting of plans for the American Legion 18th district convention, to be held here May 21-22 and featured by the visit of National Commander Daniel J. Doherty, will be made when the Kerley-Crossman post No. 334 holds its regular meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the Legion hut.

A series of good will trips to posts in the Top O' Texas started this week, has attracted attention to the convention.

Next Monday night, Dan Williams and C. M. Carlock will head a local group on a trip to Tulsa, and Charlie Maisei and W. C. DeCordova will be the leaders of a party to Panhandle.

Tuesday night, Sherman White will be the leader of a party to Miami. Leaders and trips scheduled for May 16, 17, and 19, are: May 16, W. L. Heskey, Perryton; May 17, Dan Williams, Hereford; Charlie Maisei, Memphis; C. E. Cary, Wheeler; May 19, Earl Perkins, Paducah and Turkey; Charlie Maisei, Wellington.

This week, posts at Borger, Childress, Matador, Shamrock, Clarendon, and Amarillo were visited. On Monday night, W. L. Heskey was the leader of six trippers to Borger. John Crout went to Childress, Paul D. Hill and Charlie Maisei to Matador. On Tuesday night, leaders and trips were: C. E. Cary, Shamrock; Ralph R. Thomas, Clarendon; Commander Howard Buckingham and Charlie Maisei, Amarillo.

At Matador, nearly half of the post membership said they would attend the convention here. The Matador post contains many members with Scottish names, and some of the Legionnaires in that city served in Scottish regiments during the World war.

Among those who signified they would come to Pampa for the convention were Commander D. P. Keith, Vernon Doss, post adjutant, M. S. Patton, L. L. Russell, H. S. Gilbert, H. H. Schwartz, Henry Ford, Joe Speer, C. D. Jones, D. F. Kirk, and D. I. W. Birnie.

CHINESE REPORTED TO BE OUTSIDE PEIPING

PEIPING, May 5 (AP)—The windows of this Japanese-held north China city rattled today to what military authorities called "bombing practice" as reliable foreign sources told of the approach of Chinese Guerrilla forces to within a few miles of Peiping.

The Guerrillas raided Langfang, less than 30 miles southeast of Peiping, on the Peiping-Tientsin railway, last week and today were reported near the Paoan railway race course southwest of the city.

The "bombing practice" started yesterday. All roads to the Marco Polo bridge area where the Chinese-Japanese war broke out last July 7 were closed to certain traffic.

Yesterday Japanese planes were seen dropping bombs on the hills beyond Marco Polo bridge, 20 miles southwest of Peiping. Today's bombing was much closer, estimated at within five miles of Peiping's walls.

Army headquarters reiterated a warning that nationals of third powers in areas occupied by Japanese forces would lose protection of their lives and property if they communicated military secrets to the enemy.

The army statement said some third power nationals, through misdirected sympathy, were disregarding a similar warning of last October.

Trapped Japs Mowed Down By Defenders

SHANGHAI, May 5 (AP)—An inspired Chinese army claimed capture of Matowchen, walled town four miles northwest of Tancheng, as continued "rapid progress" was reported today in erasing the second big Japanese offensive in south Shantung province.

Matowchen was considered by Chinese commanders the key to Tancheng, which had become the southernmost point of the Japanese advance toward the Lunghai railway, 15 miles away.

Tancheng was encircled and beleaguered, Chinese said, through it had formed the east side of a salient until counter-offensives from the opposite corner at Tancheng apparently straightened out the battle line.

At the same time a sudden attack by General Miao Chen-Lieu's 57th army was reported to have driven the Japanese back toward Antungwei on the Yellow Sea. In a battle along the Shanghai-Pampa's summer recreational program is sponsored by the Council of Clubs, and Mrs. J. W. Garman, council president, was chairman of the meeting yesterday.

The summer recreation program director is band instructor at B. M. Baker school and a graduate of the University of Colorado.

Mrs. Bob Curry, wife of the sophomore coach, was named assistant director. She is a graduate of West Texas State college, Canyon. She is also teacher in Baker school.

Pampa's 1938 program will actively begin on June 6 and continue to August 12.

As a means of providing wholesome activity for Pampa school children during the vacation months, the summer recreational program has been of increasing benefit each year. The program for this summer is expected to be similar to the one last year, which included free swimming for children at the Pampa Municipal Swimming pool each Friday morning, softball and tennis, archery, ping-pong, baseball games in the park and hiking.

Attending the meeting yesterday were Mayor E. S. Carr, Supt. L. L. Sore, Garnet Reeves, chamber of commerce secretary, Mrs. Ernest Gee, Mrs. James B. Massa, Mrs. W. Purviance, and Mrs. J. W. Garman.

PAMPANS SNAPPING UP STRAW HAT BARGAINS

It's straw hat time in Pampa. Heavy felts were being discarded today, as Pampans snapped up bargain gear away and donned sailors and panamas.

Attractive displays in the windows of Pampa stores and advertisements in the Pampa Daily News urged Pampans to buy their straw hats now in order to have them by Saturday, which has been officially proclaimed by Mayor E. S. Carr as Straw Hat day.

In the center of the fleet that moved out of the gulf, each warship attended by Satellite Craft, was the 22,000-ton battleship Cavour, carrying Hitler, Premier Mussolini, King Vittorio Emanuele and their staffs.

Suddenly, submarines broke the surface, all sides of the fleet in mock attack and the warships thundered salvoes at the "enemy" craft.

In another maneuver, attacking torpedo boats shrouded themselves in smoke screens, darted from them to attack and fled back to cover to escape counter-attack.

"Qualities considered most worthy and those to be strived for in the development of the child's character are self reliance, attentiveness, self confidence, gained by responsibilities fitting the child's age, contentment, consideration and courtesy toward associates both in work and play. All of these qualities are needed to make a useful individual."

One guest, Aline Tate, attended. Refreshments of angel cake, ice cream, and tea were served.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys
Many of these gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 2 pints a day or about 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

73-Year Old Mother Accuses Son Of 4 Unsolved Murders

WALLA WALLA, Wash., May 5 (AP)—A 73-year-old mother accused her son of four unsolved mystery murders, prison officials said today, as they arranged to bring the pair together for the first time in ten years.

By a fuse, Deputy Prosecutor John Schermer of King county said, investigators extracted from Mrs. Mary Eleanor Smith a gruesome tale of how her son, Earl DeCastro Mayer, hampered to death James Eugene Bassett in Seattle ten years ago, dismembered his body and hid it in scattered, secluded spots.

Unexpectedly, Schermer said, Mrs. Smith wrote State Patrolman Joe McCauley, who duped her by posing as a clergyman, that Mayer previously killed two other men and a woman in Montana and Idaho.

The letters named the victims as Mrs. Ernest La Casse of Butte, Mont., who vanished in 1923; Ole Larson of Anaconda, Mont., who disappeared in 1921, and a man named Randall whose body was buried in a stone quarry in Idaho.

Both Mrs. Smith and her son are in prison here, where they were sent for grand larceny after the state was unable to prosecute them for Bassett's murder, one of the most baffling in Washington state's criminal history because they could not find the body.

They were convicted of stealing Bassett's automobile. The mother was sentenced to five to eight years in prison and was to have been released Monday. The son was sentenced to life imprisonment as a habitual criminal.

Warden James McCauley said Mrs. Smith admitted writing the confessions because she wanted to get right with her maker.

Lured to House.

The letters said Bassett, a former naval officer, was lured to the "little brown house" where Mayer stayed with his mother on the pretense they were to buy his automobile.

She said she took no part in the actual slaying but she boasted of the manner in which she cleaned up everything so thoroughly that, when officers searched the house, soon after the crime, they could find no trace of the slaying.

"I was sitting on the couch, where I had a rod of iron hidden in a quilt, in case of a struggle," she said.

Bassett was forced to write a telegram to his sister in Bremerton, Wash., and then was slugged on the head with the hammer after Mrs. Smith left the room.

"I heard the body fall and went back into the room. He was gurgling. I stepped out again and Earl gave him one more blow and it was all over. . . . He never allowed his victims to suffer."

Body Dismembered.

Then, Mrs. Smith said, Bassett's body was removed to the bathtub, where Mayer dismembered it with a meat saw and a butcher knife.

"The poor boy worked so hard," she said, "to keep up his strength I made him an egg nog."

The dismembered body was put into a galvanized iron tub and hidden for the night in Mayer's bedroom.

"That was one night," Mrs. Smith joked in a letter, "if Dr. Clark (owner of the home) had called I would have had to admit there were indiscretions going on in the bedroom."

She said all the body except the head and hands were put into four sacks and hidden separately under bushes in the north of Seattle. The head and hands, she said, were thrown into a woodchuck hole in a different locality.

Laughed In Glee.

She displayed pride in outwitting law enforcement officers whom she termed "smelt alcks."

"They made perfect fools of themselves," she wrote. "No wonder Earl and I sat back in the old county jail in Seattle and laughed."

Confronted in his cell yesterday with one of his mother's letters, Mayer showed no emotion. He said coldly, "she's got it."

In Seattle, Attorney Ewing D. Colvin, who was prosecutor when Mayer won a retrial in 1929 in the Bassett case, said both Mayer and his mother made substantially the same confessions when submitted to the "lie detector" and "truth serum" tests. He said the confessions could not be used because the court, after hearing Mayer charge he was subjected to "third degree by the tests, banned use of the devices."

Schermer and Ernest J. Yorks, chief of Seattle detectives, talked for three hours inside the state prison with Mrs. Smith yesterday. Schermer arranged to bring them together today to "show them the evidence and get a true picture of what happened."

Bassett was a World war aviator with rank of lieutenant.

After the war he was business manager and tennis coach at the Tome Institute, a boys' school at Port Deposit, Me. He took a civil service examination and was en route to Manila to take a secretarial job when he vanished.

Bassett's disappearance was blamed for the death of his father, Frank, in 1932. Mrs. Elizabeth Ilgner of Detroit, a cousin of young Bassett, said last night, "if ever a father died of a broken heart, James' father did."

COURT FIGHT LOOMS IN CHURCH UNIFICATION

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 5 (AP)—Organized laymen fighting unification of North and South Methodist churches today to remain in their churches until a civil court ruling has been obtained.

Transfer of the case into civil courts was planned by the laymen's organization for preservation of the Southern Methodist Church after the highest ecclesiastical judiciary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, held the present "plan of union," adopted overwhelmingly by the Southern General Conference, was legal.

At the same time, the lay group announced appointment of G. Seals Aiken, Atlanta attorney, to map a challenge to the judicial council decision that upheld merging the Southern Methodist Church with Northern and Protestant Methodist branches.

The Methodist Episcopal Church (North) and Methodist Protestant Church have adopted unification.

LABOR OFFERS PEACE TERMS TO BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—Overtures by the American Federation of Labor for a business-labor peace pact received the informal approval today of many delegates attending the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"Labor invites industry to discard the weapons of industrial warfare directed against labor by employers' associations both now and in days gone by," the federation's executive council said in a statement of its aims.

"Unemployment can only be overcome through the creation of work opportunities for working men and women in private industry. . . . Industry and labor should get together and seek to find a way by which this real remedy for idleness can be applied."

The A. F. of L. statement was regarded as distinctly conciliatory by Chamber members, most of whom—like the federation—have been critical of the national labor relations board and John L. Lewis' C. I. O. There was speculation that the chamber might make some response.

"The American Federation of Labor," the council's statement said, "is committed to the principle of private ownership, private initiative and protection of private property; the right to own and manage property must be conceded and safeguarded."

"Working people must be accorded the right to organize and bargain collectively. The highest wages which industry can afford should be paid and a fair return upon legitimate investments to those who own private property must be freely conceded."

Besides considering labor-business relationships, the chamber delegates were advocating closer cooperation between government and business.

REPORTER SALUTES SCOUTMASTER AFTER DUCKING PAPER WADS AND SAYING 'KAFRO' FOR FEW WEEKS

By LAWRENCE THOMPSON
Of Daily Oklahoman

The next time you see a scoutmaster, come to attention and salute. There's no man more deserving of your respect and awe.

There was a time when I thought a scoutmaster was a man who got to go on fishing trips and overnight camps all the time, and used the Boy Scouts as an excuse to have one long lark.

The reason I thought that was that I remembered what fun those camps and hikes and things were when I was a Boy Scout. In those days I figured the scoutmaster was a lucky fellow to get to come along with us all the time.

But that's all wrong. The man who can survive a year as a scoutmaster can do anything.

I didn't survive. I lasted about three months, and they were the longest three months in the history of calendars.

The troop at our church was about to disband, and the preacher thought I was a young man who could put new life into things. Because I never learned to say no to anything, I decided he was right and that I could inspire the Scouts to bigger and better good turns.

The first meeting is what ruined me.

If I had come in looking very stern and a little older, if I had been tolerantly jovial and frigidly friendly, but very strict at the same time, things might have been better.

But I wanted to be one of the boys. I was going to show them that I was just a Boy Scout in long pants. So I went around asking them their first names and patting them on the back and saying what good times I knew we'd have together and what games should we play to get things started?

They saw I was a failure right off. It took several meetings for me to realize it.

They admitted me right into their little circle and little hearts, all right. We'd have wrestling matches, only it would end up with me against the troop, and I'd always lose. The matches would end with a dogpile, me being at the bottom. It's hard for boys to respect or admire a scoutmaster who is always at the bottom of a dogpile.

After the first two or three times they got to grabbing my tie and turning it around until I'd yell "Kafro" or "Calf Rope." I didn't have time to worry about how to spell it. I was busy yelling it.

During meetings they'd throw paper wads at me. They made a game of it. One of them would hit me on the left cheek. I'd turn to give him a stern but dignified reprimand, and one would hit me on the right cheek. I'd turn, and splash! there was my left cheek again.

Finally, I sat behind the blackboard, and they all threw paper wads at it. After a while they'd get tired and go home, and the meeting was over.

There was no denying that I had put new life into the troop, tho. New kids joined every week. It became a swarm. Everybody joined, and nobody paid any dues. When I'd try to talk about dues, they'd start that paper wad game again, and I'd duck behind the blackboard. Word about the new scoutmaster spread fast, and the new recruits continued to join up.

Finally they got to throwing rocks over the church tower. I was so glad they weren't dogpiling that I just stood around while the windows broke. Three of them fell by the wayside. They weren't the fancy, painted windows, but they were windows just the same.

After that I resigned. The preacher or nobody else tried to get me to reconsider, and they never asked me again. I was left with one consolation. Half of the troop quit when they got a new scoutmaster.

MAGAZINE 'KEN' PUT ON MAIL TABOO LIST

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—Postmaster General Farley barred from the mails today all copies of the May 5 issue of "Ken," new semi-monthly publication, on grounds that it contained obscene matter.

In a printed statement, the department said the article to which Farley objected was entitled "Los Angeles Sporting Girl."

Under postal regulations, the magazine will be denied further use of the mails until it pre-applies for second class mailing privileges and offers an issue acceptable to the postoffice department.

COURT UPHOLDS DRILL PERMITS IN EAST TEXAS

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—The Austin Court of Civil Appeals upheld the Texas Railroad Commission in four cases involving the commission's issuance of oil well drilling permits in the East Texas field as exceptions to rule 37, which regulates spacing.

The court approved a trial court's ruling refusing a temporary injunction restraining the drilling of a well on a 141-acre subdivision of a 32-acre oil lease in a suit by the Humble Oil Company to set aside the commission's order granting a drilling permit to H. E. Lasseter. The court held the permit protected vested rights.

A district court's order overruling a motion to dissolve a temporary injunction enjoining the drilling of a second well on 22 acres was set aside and the injunction dissolved on appeal of N. S. Massed in a suit brought by the Sayre Oil Company.

The appellate court said the injunction was void, since it had been granted without notice or hearing. The suit in which the injunction was issued to restrain the drilling of an adjoining tract about a year before the discovery of oil in East Texas.

The appeals court ruled a voluntary subdivision rule did not apply and the appellants, holders of the permit, were entitled to drill one well. It declared rule 37 was passed with an intent, among others, to prevent property confiscation.

SUPERVISOR ADVISES VARIETY IN GARDENS

Advice on what to plant in Top C Texas gardens is given by Miss Vera R. Martin, home supervisor for the Farm Security administration, who stresses variety in garden crops.

"Don't limit your garden to mustard greens and beans," says Miss Martin. Now is the time to complete your plans for an adequate garden. By an adequate garden we mean one that provides plenty of fresh vegetables to eat, some to can and enough to store for winter use. By raising 75 percent to 90 percent of your family's food supply on the farm, the family living costs are greatly decreased, and those foods most necessary to health—vegetables—have been provided by careful planning and planting of vegetables. By having a true variety and have vegetables several months earlier than waiting to grow all of them in the field. The dimensions of the frame garden should be 4 to 5 feet wide, and of any desired length. The usual length is 20 feet. Frames 4 to 5 feet in width are better than wider ones because of the convenience in cultivating and harvesting from the side.

The side walls of the frame may be 12 to 13 inches in height. Scrap lumber may be used, but 1 x 12 inch planks make a better frame. A side wall, and strips 1 x 1 inch should be nailed across the frame every 5 feet apart to support the cover. A good grade of muslin cloth should be tacked on one side and some means for holding the muslin down over the ends and other side provided.

The following vegetables and varieties, are adapted to this territory: Radishes, Scarlet Globe; Lettuce, Black Seeded Simpson; Mustard, Tendergreen; Spinach, King of Denmark; Parsley, Moss Curled; Chinese Cabbage, Wong Bok; English Peas, Alaska; Beets, Crosby's Egyptian; Carrots, Nantes; Beans, Horticultural Dwarf and Refugee.

MALIHINE-KAMAHINA LUAU HELD FRIDAY

McLEAN, May 5.—There was a malihine-kamahina luau in McLean Friday night. The luau, the annual junior-senior banquet was held in the basement of the Presbyterian church.

Leis were placed around the neck of each guest as they entered the basement, which was decorated to represent Hawaii. The food for the banquet was furnished and cooked by the mothers of the junior class members and was served by the sophomore girls.

Names appearing on the program were written with repeated syllables in the Hawaiian manner, thus: hostmaster V. Smith was "V. Smiththine."

Rev. W. A. Erwin gave the invocation. Welcome address was by N. Trimble, response by Kid McCoy. "Hawaiian Love Song," "Aloha Oe," "Song of the Islands," and a poem "Hawaii" were included on the program.

Poi, pango yugo salad, maui potato, passion fruit cocktail, south sea salt wafers, and okechahu were on the kaukau.

Senior class officers are: Kid McCoy, Jr., president; Farris Hoss, vice-president; Letta Mae Phillips, secretary-treasurer; Olive Louise Atwood, reporter.

Betty Farley and Jewell Cousins are senior class sponsors.

HARVESTERS PROMISE TO SET EXES BACK ON HEELS IN GAME TONIGHT

BILL DUNAWAY WILL PLAY IN EXES LINE-UP

The new will meet the old under the lights at Harvester field at 8:15 o'clock tonight when the Harvester football squad of 1938 plays a regulation length game with the Exes. Admission will be 10 and 25 cents with proceeds going to the student activity fund.

All the thrills of a real game will be there. A referee will start the game. A headlinesman will watch for offenses and a field judge will be on hand to look for rule infractions. A battle of passes is in prospect with Showers pitching for the Exes and Auld for the Harvesters.

The exes will be the favorites, naturally, but the Harvesters point to Amarillo and Berger teams downing their exes in battle, declaring that the worm has turned.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean will be without Bob Karr and Glenn Nichols, fullback, and Jack Hessey, big tackle, when the Harvesters take the field. Karr is on crutches from a knee injury and Hessey is nursing a charley horse.

Either Coyle Auld or Melvin Watkins will replace Karr at fullback and either Ripple or Giddens will be at tackle. Coaches were uncertain this morning as to definite team starters, but "had a good idea," Nichols failed to appear for practice yesterday because of sinus trouble.

Two Regulars Back
Only two Harvesters who were regular starters last season will be on the field for the Harvesters. They are Captain J. W. Graham and Carl Brown, tackle. Others who played last season who will return are Dunaway, Stiles, Parish, Andis, Watkins, Kemp, Kidwell, Rumpel, Dull and Flemming.

A battle of brothers will be waged during the game tonight. Of principal interest will be the ball totting contest between Pete Dunaway of the Harvesters and Bill Dunaway of the Exes. Bill reported for workout Tuesday remarking, "I want a chance to show up the kid and make him get down and work all the time."

Big Brothers Brag
The other brother argument will be between Big Carl Brown, Harvester tackle, and W. J. Brown, halfback of a few years ago. "I'm going to run right over him," said Brown, "and what the weather brother of mine can do," declared "Little" Brown.

Third set of brothers to match ability will be Grover Lee Heiskell, midget Harvester halfback, and Claude Heiskell, last year ace Harvester ball totter and punter.

And still another brother act will be on the program when Coach Odus Mitchell sends little Clarence Matthews into the game at halfback against his big brother, J. P. Matthews, exes star guard. Matthews was a Junior high Reaper last season but is showing up well with the Harvesters.

Another former Harvester reported to workout yesterday in the person of Glen Maxey, who will replace Topp Reynolds at end. Reynolds dropped an anvil on his foot and will be unable to play.

With the weather giving promise of being "fair and warm" an estimated 2,000 fans are expected to watch the game. Visitors will be present from Amarillo, Berger, Plainview and Lubbock and maybe from Lamesa, new team in the district.

Probable starting lineups for tonight will be:

HARVESTERS	POS	EXES
Fleming	le	Maxey
Ripple	le	Coshaw
Parish	lg	Nelson
Solomon	center	Noblett
Stiles	rt	Mathews
Brown	rt	Gillis
Andis	re	Ayer
Graham	qb	Woodridge
Dunaway	lh	Drake
Kemp	th	Heiskell
Auld	th	Showers

Henderson Jumps Into League Lead
(By The Associated Press)
The Henderson Oilers led the East Texas league today, with a 12-4 victory over the erstwhile leading Tyler Trojans last night.

The Oilers took 14 safeties for their fifth straight win while the Trojans were dropping their fifth straight.

Longview defeated Jacksonville 10-0 as Harry Boyles, Longview hurler, scattered eight hits.

Five Kilgore errors aided the Marshall Tigers in annexing a 11-0 win. Corbett and Frierson hit homers for the Tigers.

The Palestine-Texarkana game was called off and a double-header was scheduled for tonight.

WAR ADMIRAL UPSETS CAMP; BISCUIT CALM

By GALE TALBOT

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP)—War Admiral and Biscuit, training out at Belmont park for their $100,000 match race on May 30, are a couple of equally beautiful steeds, but their similarity ends at about that point.

The Admiral, pride of the east, was brought out first on the dappled lawn to pose for the photographers. He buck-jumped and reared and tossed his saddle off twice before they finally got him settled down. Even then he jerked his head and stared intently when a train whistled two miles away.

The Biscuit came sauntering up like he owned the place and after jockey Red Pollard had climbed on his back he struck a pose and held it for close to five minutes.

That's why the War Admiral camp is trying to get the conditions of the big race altered to permit a walking start. They are down now to start from stall gates, and the Admiral doesn't like that sort of confinement. The Biscuit, on the other hand, wouldn't care if they started him from a coal chute.

Seen one after the other, it is apparent that Biscuit is the larger horse by a couple of inches in height, and maybe 100 pounds on the scales. He is a rangy bay, several shades lighter than the chunky Admiral, who is called by his trainer, Charley Conway, a "seal brown."

They both looked pretty as their coats glistened in the sunshine and they danced around on their trim legs. Some thought the Biscuit looked more like Gallant Fox than like his famous grandsire, Man O' War, but they all agreed War Admiral was pure Man O' War, only a smaller edition.

Breaks Record

Leslie Pawson, winner of the Boston Marathon in 1933, goes through a familiar ceremony as an official of the race places the laurel wreath upon his head for repeating in the 1938 event. The Pawtucket, R. I., veteran covered the 26-mile course in 2 hours, 34 minutes, 38 seconds.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5 (AP)—Kentucky's annually recurring tornado, better known as the derby, struck his horn-rimmed community full force today and gave no indication of expending its energy until the king of the three-year-olds is crowned at Churchill Downs late Saturday afternoon.

It has been gaining momentum the last few days that the eleven equine principals in America's most colorful turf spectacle stepped through their final prep for the $50,000 test and the early arrivals from every section of the country sipped their mint juleps and argued pro and con the merits of each horse.

From the looks of the town's hostilities and crowded streets, one would never guess there is such a thing as a "recession."

Out of all the arguments came only one clear fact—this is the most wide open derby since Brokers Tip surprised in 1933. It'll be the smallest field since Nine trailed Morvich home in 1932 but no less than seven of the horses figure strongly and only three can be classed strictly as outsiders. If the track should be muddy the field may be reduced to even smaller than ten.

Heading the list is Maxwell Howard's combination of Stagehand and the Chief, trained by Earl Sande.

Next in line are Fighting Fox, Wood Memorial winner from William Woodward's Blair Stud, at 3 to 1, and Warren Wright's Bull Lea, chief hope of the hard boots, at 4 to 1. Herbert M. Woolf's Lawrin and Hal Price Headley's Menow, both speed demons, are quoted jointly at 8 to 1 and William Du Pont, Jr.'s Dauter at 10 to 1.

Behind the leaders are Myron Seidnick's Can't Wait at 15 to 1 and the three outsiders—Mrs. William O'Toole's Elotot, Bert Friend's Co-Sport and Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Mountain Ridge—at odds ranging from 30 to 50-1.

Former St. Louis Pitchers Winning

(By The Associated Press)
Bill Strickland, the Dallas Steers' recently acquired hurler from the St. Louis Browns, halted a bombardment by the Beaumont Exporters last night but the Exporters had sailed the game in the first inning with four runs before Frank Cook was relieved by Strickland.

With Al Baker on the mound the Steers hoped to avenge tonight last night's 6-1 loss to the Exporters.

The San Antonio Missions hammered Ed Greer and Joe Gibbs for eight runs and 10 hits in a game with the Fort Worth Cats, the Missions winning 9-4. Harry Klinker work his opponent close to the ropes and then use them for leverage while the referee is watching the other fellow's shoulders.

The referee for Monday night has not been announced. It may be Jern Nemanic who is scheduled here soon.

Hitter's representative is said to be a tough hombre but he will tangle with one of the same type in Reynolds.

CHAMBERS MATCHES TREMAINE AND DAVIS FOR MONDAY NIGHT

Promoter Cliff B. Chambers has scheduled another of his "best" wrestling cards for next Monday night at the Pampa Athletic arena. It is headlined by a main event which will see Andy Tremaine, victor over George Hartay last Monday night, meeting Sterling "Dandy" Dilly Davis the redheaded Houston bad man.

And that's not all the little promoter will hand fans. He will present Count Von Bromberg, German ace, who was unable to arrive in time for last week's battle, against Buzz Reynolds who showed fans that he is an able wrestler and a rougher if he so desires.

Opening the big card at 8:30 o'clock sharp will be Soldier Thomas and Pasha Bey who will return for a few matches.

Reserve seat tickets at 65 cents, tax included, are now on sale at Creney Drug. General admission will be 40 cents.

Andy Tremaine had to come from behind to defeat Hartay in one of the greatest wrestling matches of the year. He showed that he can take it and come back to dish it out. Tremaine is naturally a clean, scientific grappler but he can get tough if the occasion demands.

The Houston mauler is a slick customer. He doesn't come out in the open to get rough but goes at it underhanded. His pet trick is to work his opponent close to the ropes and then use them for leverage while the referee is watching the other fellow's shoulders.

lin, another St. Louis Browns product now engaged in mound chores in the Texas league, went the route for the Missions. John Berardino San Antonio rookie second baseman, hit a home run in the first inning. Seven errors brought a 4-2 defeat to the Oklahoma City Indians at the hands of the Houston Buffaloes. Each side got six hits. The Shreveport-Tulsa game was called off because of cold weather.

City Softball League To Be Organized Here

Organization of a City Softball league will be started tomorrow night when sponsors and managers of teams will meet at 7:30 o'clock sharp in the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall. Alton Hall, Pampa's softball commissioner, will call the meeting to order.

Every team desiring to enter the league should have a representative at tomorrow's meeting. It is hoped that the league can be completed with one meeting but that can be accomplished only by attendance of all team managers.

At present the following teams have submitted their entries: Jay-ces, Pampa Daily News-Christian church, Southern club, Gray County Creamers. The Central Baptist church and one or two other churches have been discussing organization of a team and any of them planning to enter a league should have a representative at the meeting.

Dean To Take Off Month To Get His Arm Fixed Up

By SID FEDER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

If you could peek behind the scenes into the homes of Messrs. Sam Brandon and Branch Rickey in St. Louis' residential districts today there's a very good chance you might get a look at a choice exhibition of snickering-up-sleeves.

The two of 'em probably are taking a quick look at the St. Louis Cardinals' bank book, then glancing toward Chicago and Phil Wrigley's worried brow. And if they can keep from snickering at the set-up, then they certainly have an awful lot of self-control.

For the bank book shows a neat entry of $185,000—which, they say, ain't hay. That sum came to the Cards from the Cubs for Dizzy Dean, who, for all his pitching class, was a large order of headache for the gas house gang bosses.

Now that priceless piece of pitching brain-power, the Dean right arm, is showing signs of coming apart at the hinges. An X-ray yesterday resulted in the edict that Diz will have to take a month off to get it fixed up.

Of course, there isn't the slightest indication that Messrs. Brandon and Rickey knew anything about the condition when they wrapped old Diz up and sent him to Wrigley field. But the fact remains that from the time the Cards shipped him to the Cubs, the one-and-only hasn't been much more impressive than "Joey" pitcher Mutschy, which is hardly impressive at all. He went six innings his first time out, and tired; he looked good in his second start; he lasted three frames the next time, and he was worn out at the end of seven only last Tuesday.

Giants Going Strong.
With Dean out, the Cub pitching staff doesn't figure to be strong enough to stop Bill Terry's terrific Giants—not the way they're going now, anyway.

The Giants won again yesterday, 3 to 2, over the Cincinnati Reds. Old meal-ticket Carl Hubbell was in there, and, although given little help by his mates, except for Jimmy Riddle's four hits, King Carl produced as usual.

At the same time the Cubs were taking a beating at the hands of the futility Phillies, 6-4, which left the Giants 3½ games out in front.

Old Reliable Bill Dickey, whose two-run eighth inning homer gave the Yankees a 3-2 decision over the St. Louis Blues (Browns to you), boosted the World champions into the American league's second place. Bob Feller pitched a honey of a ball game for ten innings before giving way to a pinch hitter, but his relief, Bill Zuber, couldn't hold it and the Indians dropped a 13-inning 1-0 duel to Washington's Senators. Dutch Leonard, who couldn't make the grade in the National league, went the entire distance for the Nats.

Lloyd Waner walloped a homer, two triples and a single and paced the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-5 decision over the drooping Dodgers. The Bees and Cardinals went to a 3-all deadlock in a game cut to five innings by rain, after Ducky Medwick belted a homer.

Poof Poffenberger pitched a six-hitter for a 4-1 win by Detroit's Tigers over the Boston Red Sox and Bill Dietrich turned in a five-hitter in hurling the White Sox to a 4-1 decision over the Athletics.

ANNUAL TEXAS GOLF TOURNEY GOES INTO MATCH PLAY TODAY

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT.

FORT WORTH, May 5 (AP)—Rid of some of its most lustrous talent after a weird qualifying test, the 36th annual Texas Golf Association tournament went into match play today with more stars due to be shuffled out in first round matches.

Not there to engage in the titular fight were such names as Don Schumacher, Dallas' chubby Trans-Mississippi champion; Leland Hamman, former Trans titleholder; Bill Welch, the University of Texas lad who recently whipped Johnny Goodman, national amateur champion, and many others.

But still firing for his second straight title was chesty little Reynolds Smith of Dallas, making his last tournament appearance before sailing next week for the British amateur and the Walker Cup matches. The little fellow with the big golf game had 73 in the medal test yesterday, despite bogies on the last two holes.

Today there were first round matches that would put class into any ordinary tourney finals. Spectacular Jack Munger of Dallas, who shared medal honors at 71, one over Colonial's par, with Charles Moore and Floyd Malone, a couple of Fort Worth "Sunday" golfers, had one of the roughest matches.

Lavender Playing.
His foe was Dennis Lavender, colorful state champion of 1929, who, after years of inactivity, started in last summer to regain some of his faded links laurels. Lavender, a great match player, was cautiously around the layout in 75 yesterday.

David (Spec) Goldman of Dallas, 1934 national amateur finalist who again has gone to the tournament wars, had steady-firing Buck Luce of Austin, former state junior champion, in his path. Goldman played his usual flawless short game over time to card a qualifying 73. Luce had 76.

GRAY TO HAVE FCIC MANAGER

A county supervisor for the wheat insurance program of 1939 will be appointed by the county agricultural committee probably within the next fortnight, County Farm Agent Ralph H. Thomas said today.

Under the wheat insurance program, outlined at a statewide meeting held Monday in Amarillo, wheat farmers may insure their 1939 wheat crops against all hazards. Premiums and losses will be paid in wheat.

Farmers may insure for half or three-fourths of their crop, based on average wheat production, 1926-1935. September 15 will be the final day for insuring wheat under the 1939 program.

Handling the plan will be the supervisor, county agent's office, and county agricultural committee. E. R. Duke, former Potter county farm agent, is head of the plan for the state.

Roy M. Green of Washington, manager of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation, explained the program in detail at the meeting held Monday in Amarillo, attended by farmers, state agricultural leaders, representatives of the extension service and of the United States department of agriculture.

The Amarillo meeting was the first of a series of four similar meetings being held in other sections of the state.

Attending the meeting from Pampa were County Farm Agent Ralph P. Thomas, Jim Saunders, J. E. Yoder, C. L. Thomas, member of the state agricultural conservation committee, and John Turcotte.

The meeting was entirely devoted to the crop insurance program and there was no mention of the 1938 wheat plan, County Farm Agent Ralph Thomas said that Gray county's 1938 allotment had not been announced, but information on the quota should be received by the middle of the month.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., May 5 (AP)—A spectacular oil refinery fire caused damage estimated by Shell Petroleum corporation officials at between $500,000 and $1,000,000 before it was extinguished early today. The blaze destroyed the compounding plant at Shell's Roxana refinery.

the alley by the Pampa brake shop. The officers lost track of the negro but later flushed him from his hiding place at the rear of the Gray County Wheat Growers Inc. elevator on South Frost street.

Still able to travel the negro started across country for the flats with Chief Hurst in hot pursuit, in a car. Deputy O. T. Lindsey then came in sight and he drove to Brown street where he headed off the negro who was caught near Road Runner park.

Under the loading stand at the elevator the officers found six boxes, containing nine pairs of silk hose, and the negro's coat under which he secreted the boxes as he left the store.

He was lodged in the city jail after saying he was from Fort Worth.

The Japanese took Lini, and reported their artillery within range of the Lunghai railway.

But barring the way was a Chinese army 800,000 strong, its lessons learned from the fighting at Shanghai and Nanking, better armed, with new equipment, fighting under much more efficient staff direction and above all vastly encouraged by its victory at Talerichang when it punctured the legend of Japanese invincibility.

While Japanese superiority in artillery, planes and mechanized equipment was still a powerful advantage, observers on the front said Chinese were adapting their tactics to minimize their lack of equipment.

These tactics consisted of night attacks when the Japanese were unable to use their supporting arms efficiently in aid of the infantry, and maneuvering of the Japanese into hand-to-hand combat.

In these close encounters, Chinese used hand grenades and big words and made their numerical superiority count, whereas the Japanese artillery was useless.

MRS. ALLEN SEEKS TO RECOVER FAMOUS HORSE

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—The United States army has one of the most famous collections of race horses in the world.

The fact came to light today after filing of a suit in federal district court by Mrs. Agnes Allen of New York, seeking the return to her of the race horse, Vanderpool, purchased five years ago by the war department.

Scattered at army posts and used for breeding purposes are thoroughbreds which once crashed the headlines of the nation's newspapers. Some made fortunes for their owners.

Now they serve to raise the standard of the army's cavalry horses. The famous Aga Khan is in Texas as he won the Lawrence Realization stake in 1924.

Pillory is in Nebraska musing on the great days when he won, in 1922, both the Preakness and the Belmont. In Oklahoma is Coventry, who won the Preakness in 1925.

10-YEAR RESIDENT OF CITY TAKEN BY DEATH

Fred W. Clyma, 55, died this morning in a local hospital where he had been confined since Monday. He had resided here for 10 years and operated a laundry at 115 South Gillespie street. He is a former railroad man.

Survivors include a brother, Frank Clyma of Sand Springs, Okla., who is enroute to make funeral arrangements. The body lies at rest at Duenkel-Carmichael funeral home.

Questioned whether he was investing one million sterling in British film industry Sam Goldwyn, American movie magnate, said smiling: "Silence is Goldwyn."

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP)—A moderate rally in utility stocks today helped market leaders get back on their feet after an early slump.

Losses running to 2 or more points in the first hour were converted into gains of as much as 100 points, but light profit selling put brakes on the rally and closing was uneven.

Transfers were in the neighborhood of 650,000 shares.

Utility section lifted as rumors, floating around Wall Street for the past several days, became more persistent that the administration might tender an olive branch to the power and light companies.

Markets seemingly were unexcited by the evaluation of the French franc at 2.79 cents in terms of the dollar. This was about in line with predictions.

U. S. government lagged. Commodities were irregular lower. Wheat at Chicago was off 1/4 to 1/2 of a cent a bushel and corn was unchanged to 1/2 cent.

Best performances were given by Phillips Petroleum, Western Union, North American, Public Service of N. J., national, Glenn L. Martin, Johns-Manville, Gulf, Peapack, W. P. Carey, Santa Fe, Chesapeake, and Ohio, Seaboard, J. I. Case and International Harvester.

Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Union Carbide, Westinghouse, Goodrich, Goodyear, and Rubber preferred and Montgomery Ward.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 5 (AP)—The nation's oldest oak tree, the 650-year-old great white oak of Mingo, apparently is dead, state forester D. B. Griffin reported today.

Leaves failed to come out this year for the first time and Griffin said a fungus which grows only on dead or dying trees was noticed several months ago.

The Smithsonian Institute determined from borings that the mingo oak was the oldest of its species in the United States. The oak is 145 feet tall and has a girth of 30 feet at the base.

Don't Keep on Having Constipation!

If constipation's got you down—so you feel heavy, tired and dopey—it's time you did something about it. And something more than taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat only the things most people do, the chances are that a very simple fact causes your constipation—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, eat crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran is not only rich in "bulk," it also contains the natural intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

WAGNER LABOR ACT ATTACKED BY GM'S HEAD

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—William S. Knudsen, President of General Motors Corporation, told the United States Chamber of Commerce today that the Wagner Labor act is "the largest drawback to good industrial relations."

Discussing the strikes that have tied up his company's plants at various times in recent months, Knudsen said in a prepared address: "The National Labor Relations act makes no pretense even of paying any attention to the employer's side of the case."

"He can only be heard when he is summoned, and he knows before he goes that there is no record of a single decision where he has had a shot of a show, so what?"

The automobile manufacturer's speech renewed an attack on the labor board that started yesterday when Senator Burke (D-Neb.), addressing the labor section of the Chamber of Commerce convention, demanded that the members of the labor board resign. He proposed that a new board be appointed to represent the viewpoints of labor management and the public.

The labor section, after hearing Burke, adopted a resolution asking an investigation by congress of the "effects" and administration of the Wagner act, which created the board as a means of assuring workers of the right of collective bargaining.

A resolution asking amendment of the Wagner act to require registration of labor organizations was adopted last night by representatives of seven unaffiliated unions, in session here. Publication of union financing also was asked.

Sit-Down Fought

Knudsen in his speech expressed the belief business is not discouraged, "despite all that is said" against it. Tracing the history of sit-down strikes in the General Motors plants beginning early last year, he estimated the loss to the men in wages as a result of the first strike "was around 30,000,000 hours, or about $25,000,000."

At the outset of the strikes, he said, "the first reaction was rather bad."

"The usual steps in law were taken with no results, as everyone's eyes were directed at Washington for an expression as to what was law anyway. The more Washington vacillated, the more mob hysteria was employed by the C. I. O. union.

"A feeble attempt by the department of labor to justify possession of plants in defiance of law did not help matters any; in fact, to this day only public opinion has condemned sit-down strikes."

Knudsen asserted the only issue in the General Motors strike was collective bargaining. Eventually his company's union problem was solved in some degree, he said, but then the recession set in and the company adopted a short work week, providing the workers an income of about $22 a week.

"It was called down to Washington by Senator Byrnes' (unemployment) committee and mildly castigating for having laid people off," Knudsen continued.

"Attention was called to the corporation's surplus of over $400,000,000 which, of course, was only part cash, the balance being undistributed capital ploughed back into the business."

"I was told that it was better to put men to work than to lay men off—a fact which could not be disputed—the whole trouble being that we had more motor cars than the public could buy."

The labor situation today, he said, is better than last year.

Treble Clef Club Inaugurates Music Week Observance

Under the leadership of Mrs. Phillip Wolfe and Mrs. May Foreman Carr a group of women met once a week in the Methodist church for choral practice. After some months this group organized in October of 1932 into the Treble Clef club with Mrs. Wolfe as president.

The other officers of this organization were Mrs. W. A. Bratton, director; Mrs. May Foreman Carr, pianist; Miss Iva June Willis, assistant pianist; and Mrs. Sam Irwin, secretary and treasurer. The club became federated immediately with ten members.

Work on programs was started at once. The long plan of the club was an American Association of University Women's banquet; gave a concert, and at Christmas time rendered a sacred cantata. In January the members entertained all the women of the city belonging to the club with a tea; were represented by Mrs. Carr at a program sponsored by the Amarillo Harmony club; assisted in a concert given here by Mrs. Carr and T. Duncan Stewart, violinist of Lubbock, in May; accepted the invitation of the Amarillo Club of Professional Women's club to give a style show sponsored by them; ending the year with their biggest achievement, the inauguration of National Music Week in Pampa. During this week the Treble Clef club presented a cantata and arranged for a program by some other organization on every other evening of the week. Since that time this has been the main project of the club each year.

Motto Selected By Club

The club chose as their colors pink and green and selected the motto suggested by Miss Loma Groom, "Music Exalts Life."

In April the club moved to the new club rooms in the city hall, which were furnished through the cooperation of all the women's clubs of the city. The organization of the Council of Women's clubs, the Treble Clef club became a member, sending a delegate to each monthly meeting.

Mrs. Wolfe and Mrs. Bratton held their offices for a second term with Mrs. Newton Dilley as assistant director. Early in the year Miss Loma Groom, "Music Exalts Life."

which he still holds. Mrs. McCoy as president was responsible for many activities for the year. Miss Evelyn Shanklin was appointed as the club's representative to the Carollees, formerly the Junior Treble Clef club. The delegate to the district convention at Lubbock in October was Mrs. Dave Dodge. Each month a well known opera was studied.

Tea Entertains Women

In February a Martha Washington tea was given with the club women of the city as guests, the program being furnished by the McDowell Music club of Amarillo. For the return engagement the club went to Amarillo in April giving the program for a tea held in the parlors of the Folk Street Methodist church. The club also assisted in the massed chorus sponsored by the Philharmonic club of the Amarillo in the Crystal room of the Herring hotel.

Music Week activities were officially opened by program given over radio station KPDN on Sunday afternoon and concluded with a bridge tournament featuring Pan-American music. The cinema, "Maytime," was attended by the entire club and their husbands and a dinner at the Schneider hotel on May 2 closed the club year.

On September 9, 1937, 20 active and honorary members attended the breakfast given at the hotel with Mrs. Schneider, the president, as hostess. Mrs. E. Malcolm Brown was elected club pianist. The study course decided upon for the year was based on the text "Our American Music."

Contributions were made toward a band suit for the Pampa high school band, the McDowell Endowment fund and the Christmas Good Will fund, and other worthy causes. Upon the dissolution of the Carollees, the members of that organization became absorbed into the Treble Clef club.

Attendance Awards Given

Members are being awarded Federated Music Club pins for perfect attendance and others not qualifying are buying the pins.

At Christmas time a half-hour program was rendered over the radio station KPDN; a bridge tournament was given on Valentine's Day; in April the club supplied the program for the McDowell club in the new club rooms in Amarillo; a cantata, "The Rose Maiden," will be the contribution to Music Week and on the last day of Music Week the McDowell Music club will present a program of numbers written by Radie Brittain, formerly of Amarillo, now of Chicago and New York; and one evening's entertainment for the week will help celebrate the Sesquicentennial of the United States.

Mrs. Garman and Mrs. C. N. Ochiltree were the delegates chosen to attend the State Music convention at Beaumont in April of this year.

BABY FOUND BECAUSE COOK WAS RADIO FAN

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 5 (AP)—Unwittingly kidnapped by an automobile thief, a 2-year-old baby girl was returned to the arms of its frantic mother today because a cafe cook listens to police radio calls at night while he works. Pink-cheeked Sally Lea Tiesenga was left asleep in the back seat of the family automobile by her mother last night. When Herman Tiesenga returned the parked car and baby were gone.

William Tandrup, the cook, identified the car from police broadcasts, as he walked home from work this morning. By that time

Baby Sally Lea was objecting lustily to the whole situation.

Trial Flight

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES COPYRIGHT, 1938, BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Roger proposed a trial engagement, merely to satisfy Jackie's mother. And Jackie accepts. But will their plan work so smoothly, she wonders.

CHAPTER IV

ROGER'S idea went over beautifully. Evelyn was delighted to think Jacqueline was engaged to be married. "I do think, darling, it's too romantic!" she said, ecstatically.

Jackie denied that there was anything romantic about it. "We simply decided to get engaged," she said. "So, now, Mother, you can go ahead and marry Mr. Scott!"

"So I can," Evelyn said, but rather off-handedly. She wanted to know when Roger was coming to the house. "There are a great many things to discuss," she added thoughtfully.

Jackie experienced that same foreboding once again. She did not see what there was to discuss. If she and Roger were engaged that was all there was to it, wasn't it? Apparently bitter experience had not taught Jackie everything, yet.

Roger was surprised that next morning when Jackie came to see him take off. "Gosh," he said, taking both her hands on his, "to think you'd get up almost at sunrise just to wish me happy landings! That was pretty swell of you, Jackie."

"It wasn't my idea," Jackie said shortly. She pulled her hands away. Why, Roger was acting as though they were engaged! "Mother insisted I ought to see you off. Not that I don't wish you happy landings, Roger," she added. She did wish he hadn't been leaving on such a dangerous undertaking. She would be pretty jittery until he came back.

"Thanks," Roger returned rather shortly, too. "Mighty nice of you to be so concerned." He turned to the mechanic. "Make contact, will you Jerry? And give her the gun."

"You will be careful, won't you Roger?" Jackie had a peculiar feeling in the pit of her stomach. Almost as though she were the one who was going to make the test dives.

"Oh, sure, I'll be careful," Roger said carelessly. He adjusted his helmet, buckled on a big, heavy chute. He was flying an open job.

That empty gnawing in Jackie's stomach persisted. She was glad Roger would have that rip-cord to rely on.

The mechanic had the ship warmed up now. He climbed out and Roger took his place. "Well, so long, Jackie," he called, raising a hand in salute. Jackie ran up beside him, straining on tiptoe. "Happy landings!" she called again. She wanted him to know this time she meant it. She could not imagine why she felt so panicky. She didn't feel any fear toward Roger just because they were pretending to be engaged.

"Oh, yes!" She clung onto the side of the ship. "I forgot—Mother wants you for dinner the first night you're back."

"For dinner?" Roger leaned over the side. Jackie never noticed before how blue his eyes were, like the sky on this May morning. He certainly was enough to make any girl's pulse quicken.

Maybe that was why Jackie's heart started throbbing so rapidly now. Or maybe it was because his lips—for one brief moment—had been so close to hers.

She jerked herself back sharply. "You'll come, won't you, Roger?" "Sure, I'll be there. With all my medals." He placed a hand over his heart. "Didn't I promise to stand by you no matter what happens?"

Jackie had to step back now. He was ready to take off. In a few minutes he would be only a small dark object high up in the sky, getting smaller and smaller, vanishing completely. She raised a hand in salute, too, a gesture of farewell and good-bye. She wished she had chosen different words to say in parting; "no matter what happens" had a sort of ominous sound. The sort of journey Roger was headed for might not so easily have that happy landing.

She watched that small dark object as long as her eyes could follow it. She felt very much alone and forlorn. She told herself, angrily, that she was behaving like a little fool. Roger was a good pilot. They didn't come any better. He would come back safely—stand by—as he had promised.

NEVERTHELESS Jackie searched the evening papers to see if there were any accounts of crack-ups. She heaved a sigh of relief, then a sharp exclamation, as her attention focused on an entirely different item. There, heading the society column, was her own name!

Her mother was serenely sitting before her triple-mirrored dressing table with its confusion of jars and bottles.

"Did you see this?" Jackie demanded, dashing in on her. She held the paper out at arm's length. Her lovely eyes flashed their golden fire; her face was flushed.

Evelyn finished the perfect cupid's bow of her mouth. "What is it, darling?" She saw the paper; her eyes lighted, too. She stretched out a hand. "Why, how very nice! The announcement is made," she read aloud, "of the engagement of Miss Jacqueline Dunn, daughter of the romantic actress, Evelyn La Farge, to Mr. Roger Breckinridge. I wasn't at all sure they could get it in so soon," she added with something like triumph.

"Do you mean that you put that in the papers?" If Jackie's pretty face had been flushed before, now it was crimson.

"Why, of course, darling."

Jackie ran up beside him, straining on tiptoe. "Happy landings," she said again. She wanted him to know that this time she meant it.

"But I didn't say you could. You didn't even ask me..."

"It scarcely seemed necessary. After all, an announcement always comes from the mother of the bride-to-be..."

"BUT I'm not going to be a bride!" "Not going? Why, my dear child, whatever are you saying!" Evelyn got up to put a cool hand on her daughter's brow, to force her gently to sit down. "Didn't you tell me last night that you and Roger are engaged? Didn't you get up almost before daylight this morning to go see your fiancé off—such a pity that the poor dear boy had to go away practically on the eve of your betrothal..."

"I wish you wouldn't talk that way!" Jackie said. Her face was a thunder-cloud now. "Of course, darling... Naturally you're upset because Roger had to leave, you're terribly worried about him..."

"I'm not!" Jackie winced at a denial that somehow did not ring true. "You had no right, Mother, to tell the whole world," Jackie had not expected quite such developments. But apparently this was only a beginning. "No right? Why, darling, of course I shall tell everyone that my little girl is going to be married! We must have a big party, and then there will be showers given for you, and we must start shopping right away for your trousseau... Jackie, what's wrong? Where are you going, darling?"

But Jackie did not hear this last for she had taken flight from her mother's plans, which were indeed working out much too fast to suit her.

COOGAN NOT INCLINED TO ACCEPT COMPROMISE

LOS ANGELES, May 5 (AP)—The olive branch has been extended by Mrs. Arthur L. Bernstein to her son, Jackie Coogan, but the one-time child film star today showed no disposition to accept it.

Coogan has sued his mother and stepfather for an accounting of his screen earnings as a minor, estimating them at $4,000,000.

Mrs. Bernstein declared that if she retains control of her son's estate she will make a "fair settlement" with him.

Helium gas was discovered in the stars before it was known to be present on earth.

TODAY'S SERMONETTE

If Christ dwell in you, you desire peace with your fellow man. Christ is the salt of the Christian life, and the Master said, "Salt is good; but if the salt has lost its saltiness, whither will ye season it? Have salt in yourselves, and have peace with each other."—Chivers.

PA'S PRIVATE LIFE

The last few years have been pretty tough ones on Father.

The world has gone drifting off to no-where like a Kansas corn-crib before a cyclone, and Father knows no more what it is all about than any other citizen. The job of supporting a family—in a world where jobs keep getting scarcer—is growing tougher and tougher; and to occupy his traditional position as the symbol of wisdom and the source of earthly security is getting to be an impossibly difficult task.

Nevertheless, Father still rates pretty well. Optimist International, a service club organization, recently polled some 5000 American boys, asking them (among other things) to list "the greatest person now living."

The majority vote in strange election was won by President Roosevelt; which, considering youth's natural bedazzlement by the White House, is only natural. Second place went to "Mother"—which, once again, is quite to be expected. But third place, high above people like Lindbergh, Joe DiMaggio and Buck Jones, went to Father.

Which ought to be heartening news for the battle-weary dads of the land.

No one has ever taken the plain, ordinary humble citizen of this country aside and put him under the microscope to find out just exactly what it is that he is fighting for. If the job is ever done, the investigators will undoubtedly discover that the most compelling motive he owns is the desire to look like a somebody in the eyes of his son.

That isn't the easiest thing to do, because the ordinary man has a pretty clear conception of his own unworthiness. Even if he happens to be a boss man, sitting behind a big desk and rejoicing in a gaudy title and a fat pay-check, he is all too conscious of the fact that he is only a cog in the business-wheel after all, and that he could be replaced without too much trouble. And if he is one of the hired hands, as he usually is, hardly a day passes without reminding him of his insignificance.

But at home it is a little different. There someone actually looks up to him, relies on his wisdom and his knowledge of life, trusts that he can do the impossible, and creates a private title of nobility for him.

Which makes all the difference in the world.

Life isn't easy, for most people. Unless a man can draw strength from some outside source, he is apt to fail. And that source of strength, in most cases is nothing else than the love and the trust in the heart of a youngster at home.

About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It's like this: You are walking along the street and you meet people, and they tell you things.

That little man with the big eyes and the black hair bouncing out of the Cafe de la Paix is Eddie Cantor. He has come over to the St. Moritz for a conference with Eddie Davis, his script writer. . . . Davis is one of the highest paid script writers in the business.

Yet, there was a time when he wondered where the next quarter was coming from.

You learn this in this manner: Davis steps out of a cab at the hotel door and tosses the man a quarter tip. . . . An attaché at the hotel says: "It seems strange to see Eddie tossing quarters to people. It hasn't been so very long since Eddie was driving the cab and having the quarters tossed to him."

John Jacob Astor 3rd is getting about. . . . He seems moody and bored. . . . I saw him at the circus, in a box, yawning while the aerialists were making me border on apoplexy. . . . And then again at a night club, sitting with Merle Oberon, the actress, and Frank Shields, the tennis player. . . . Astor didn't seem to be having a very good time, although the others seemed to be enjoying themselves very much.

This man with the bushy eyebrows is a representative of the American Express company. . . . "You wouldn't think there could be much humor among thieves," he says, but listen to this. . . .

And he tells an astounding story. . . . The other day a package was delivered to an executive of his company. It was a batch of travelers' checks which had been stolen with a lot of money and other loot.

But it is very unhealthy to try to cash stolen travelers' checks. . . . Those little serial

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Unless numerous well-informed persons in Congress and the administration are whispering through their new straw hats, the reorganization bill is likely to be brought back to the House floor for another vote.

Supporters of the measure keep saying that "the bill would pass if it were brought up today." The special Houses committee on reorganization to which the bill was recommended is as strong for it as ever. Administration strategists, although they may deny it, have been assuring each other that the measure is far from dead.

Any plans which may definitely exist for reporting out the bill possibly in modified form, are secret. Conceivably it might be rushed onto the floor in a surprise move. But if it actually is presented again at this session, the chances are better than even that it won't be until after the House disposes of the spending-lending program and the wage-hour bill.

The bill lost April 8 by a vote of 196 to 204. A switch of five votes would have carried it. Pro-Roosevelt constituents have written many letters berating members who voted to recommit. Six Wisconsin Progressive congressmen who voted against the administration have been especially exoriated in this way. It has been hotly argued whether the bill was defeated more by the onslaught of propaganda against it or by administration clumsiness in handling it. Other arguments are being presented to prove that the bill couldn't lose if again offered.

Roosevelt's "Is" On April 9, writing to Majority Leader Sam Rayburn to thank him for his fight for the bill, Roosevelt said the measure "is" intended to simplify and improve the public service and that the question presented "is" solely on of policy.

If this present-tense attitude toward the bill had not persisted, Roosevelt probably by now would have appointed someone to the comptroller-generalship, long ago left vacant by resignation of John R. McCarl. The White House believes that the group surrounding Acting Comptroller General Richard N. Elliott, former Republican congressman, was one of the strongest forces in the anti-reorganization lobby.

Although the bill would have abolished the comptroller general's office, the fact has gone unmentioned that Roosevelt can appoint a New Dealer to this 15-year term if he so desires and thus end McCarl policies which he considers "obstructive."

Undersecretary of the Interior Charlie West has been quietly promoting himself for the job. Congressman Lindsay C. Warren of North Carolina has been "mentioned." And of course if you happen to hear of either of them—or of someone else—being appointed to the post, it will indicate that the administration has given up hope for the reorganization bill.

Farley's Speech Now that the tax bill compromise has been made—with its skimpy face-saving concession to the President—who do you suppose is going around at this late date defending the undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax? Strangely enough, that conservative Jam Farley, who has been warning congressmen against any more reform legislation.

In a recent speech at Montgomery, Ala., Farley noted that the "capital gains" tax and the surplus reserve tax have been declared the reason for the present stagnation of business," and asserted:

"The first of these was designed simply to make the profits of speculation pay taxes, just the same as profits from investment. That does not seem to me a very oppressive measure. The second was to prevent tax-dodging by enormously lucrative corporations, which covered up their gains by slipping them into excessive reserves instead of distributing them as dividends. These taxes were in the law during the peak years of Roosevelt recovery, and there was no sign that they were depression breeders."

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

It was announced that the regular two-month summer session of the public schools was to open June 4 at the high school building.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Rainfall in Pampa totaled .60 of an inch, according to an official rain gauge measurement.

Members of the Boy Scout troop at Kingsmill, sponsored by the Rotary club, provided the entertainment at the regular meeting.

numbers frequently lead to Alcatraz. . . . So the thieves bundled the checks into a nice big roomy envelope and returned them. With this little note: "Oops! So sorry!"

We got to talking about the men, some of them noted criminals, who are now behind bars because they were thoughtless enough to try to cash stolen travelers' checks.

"Here's a story," he said suddenly, "a little different from the others. The other day we received a letter from a man out west. To it was pinned a dollar bill. The letter went on to say that, 20 years previously, he had been an employee of the American Express company, and one day a package broke open and a baseball fell out. Somehow, he wanted that baseball, badly. So he stole it. He put it in his pocket and took it home.

"And then he left the company and went to work in another state. And as time went by it began to weigh on his conscience. He got, he said, 'religion.' And now he wants to atone for that misdeed of 20 years ago. So he sent in a dollar bill. And he hopes the company will forgive him."

Both In The Same Boat

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The Cinderella business is picking up.

For a time Hollywood wouldn't even look at the faded heroine unless she'd been in a Broadway hit, toured in stock, or at least brought some little theater experience with her to Hollywood.

The old silent film custom of looking behind five-and-dime counters, in restaurant kitchens, in barber shops for potential movie stars was forgotten. People like that—the studios said airily—couldn't talk. You had to have training, and long years of it, to be a talkie actor or actress.

They were forgetting that Garbo once worked in a barber shop, and that Clara Bow was a Brooklyn kid with her picture in a beauty contest. Each, in her way, was a Cinderella. Just as later on was Alice White, a studio script clerk.

Last year Lana Turner got a break—just a school kid spotted in a soda fountain by a talent scout. Then Margaret Tallichet, a studio stenog, got a boost from Carole Lombard and a contract. This year came Arlene Whelan, little redhead who a manufacturer held many hands without dreaming that one day she'd be holding Warner Baxter's—as heroine of "Kidnaped."

Moving Up The latest is Erin Drew, formerly known as Terry Raye.

Erin, 22, petite, blondish, is getting places fast—and she's the epitome of Cinderellas as Hollywood has known them from the first. Yesterday a minor stock player, doing "atmosphere" work on the sets, today she's the one girl in "Sing You Sinners" with Bing Crosby and Fred MacMurray. Tomorrow she's one of two girls opposite Ronald Colman in "If I Were King," the other being Frances Dee. And the day before yesterday—she was a waitress in a Hollywood confectionery, taking orders for ice cream, sodas, hot fudge sundae, an evening $10.50 a week plus tips, or around $18.

Before that she worked in Chicago—Christmas help in a department store, followed by a steady job in a five-and-ten, or strictly speaking, as Erin does, a "five-to-dollar department store." People were always telling her she should be in pictures: "But you know how that is," says she. "Most of them were the 'sugar-daddy type,' just a line. Fact is, I always wanted to be an actress, but coming to Hollywood seemed just a laugh, out of the question."

A Big Night When she did come to Hollywood, people kept on telling her she should be in pictures, but the only one she took seriously was an agent, who came back with credentials and an offer of a test at Paramount. So the girl who'd dish up scoops of ice cream for George Raft, Melvyn Douglas and other ice cream-eaters went to the studio and began serving time.

It was a big night for her one Tuesday when, according to custom, the stock players of Oliver Hiss-dell's "school" put on their regular show for executives and directors of the lot. Erin did a scene from "Golden Boy" with a young stocker named Philip Warren, and Wesley Bugles ordered a test of her for "Sing You Sinners." Before that picture was finished Frank Lloyd tested her for the Colman film—and here she is, on her way.

She thinks Philip Warren is going to get places too.

Paul Muni took so many screen tests for "Scarface" that he lost patience with the whole idea and hid away, leaving his wife to do as she pleased about arranging his movie work Muni, now, however,

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM.

Here is a choice bit of "gossip" that you are bound to enjoy. It illustrates the point that if you give a gossip an inch he or she will take a mile. This bit of gossip started after a local social meeting, of all places. You may want to lynch all gossips after reading it, but at any rate you will laugh.

Well, recently there was a man living in the north part of town who decided to build a house and pen for his dog. He hired two boys to do it. One of them knew another boy who had two cedar posts which were donated. Well, the woman who started the gossip saw the two boys laboriously dragging the two posts down the street (it was a hot day) and she followed them in her car. She saw them chopping the ends off the long posts. Soon her story appeared.

She said that the man wouldn't pay his gas bill, and that they had cut off his gas, and that he had installed wood stoves in his house and was making some boys go out and swipe posts and lumber to keep him in wood. The funny thing about the story is that this one bet the gossip who told it won't recognize it because she has told it so many times and enlarged it so much since then.

Book A Day

By BRUCE BARTON.

It would be hard to think of a book more purely and pungently American than Jesse Stuart's autobiography, "Beyond Dark Hills" (Dutton; $3.50). Here is a book which has won the very smell and feel of the Kentucky mountain regions in it; a homespun sort of story which gives an uncommonly full and vivid picture of a region, a people and a way of life.

Mr. Stuart is a young mountain man who struggled laboriously to get himself an education, and who unexpectedly found that he had a genuine talent—if that word is broad enough—for poetry. He wrote artlessly, assiduously, sending his verses off to the magazines with child-like confidence. All of a sudden they began to get printed; and the critics "discovered" a brand-new American poet.

In "Beyond Dark Hills," Mr. Stuart tells his story. Occasionally he seems to remember his obligations to his public, or to his position, or something, and on such occasions he gets a bit too literary and sounds affected; but most of the way he writes simply and very effectively. He is now an established figure in the current literary scene, and his career is barely begun; but he surely came up the hard way if a man ever did. He tells of his fight for an education of the hillside farm that had to be wrestled with, of the debts that had to be incurred and paid, and of the background against which this long fight was waged.

It makes a very fine story. The sure poetic touch is absent from few of the pages; nor is Mr. Stuart's complete identification with his background ever forgotten. Altogether, "Beyond Dark Hills" is one of the most important books of the spring season.

It is a fiend for tests, giving days and weeks to each new role.

Vaccine Versus T. B.

When the germ of tuberculosis was discovered in 1882, hope was high that an effective vaccine might soon be found with which individuals could be made resistant against tuberculosis.

Since then many types of tuberculosis germs, treated in a variety of ways, have been tried as vaccinating agents. But none has proved safe and effective.

Despite the marked decline in tuberculosis germs, treated in a variety of ways, have been tried as vaccinating agents. But none has proved safe and effective.

Despite the marked decline in tuberculosis prevalence, the need for a vaccine against this disease is still great.

The population at large perhaps does not require such a vaccine. But those who come into intimate contact with a tuberculosis sufferer, say the children of a tuberculous parent, would benefit greatly if their resistance to the infection could be heightened by some vaccinating process.

Cornell University Medical college, department of pathology, has reported a new tuberculosis vaccine, but does not claim its worth has been established. However, experiments on animals indicate that this vaccine may be of greater value than any previously tested.

The vaccine is made of heat-killed tubercle bacilli to which is added horse serum. Since the tuberculosis germs are dead, there is no danger of the vaccine causing active disease.

In testing this vaccine on rabbits, two groups of animals were employed. One was treated with the vaccine. Both were then injected with tuberculosis germs (of the bovine variety), and the two groups were compared as to average length of life and amount of disease developed. The vaccinated rabbits fared appreciably better.

These experiments upon animals have encouraged the use of vaccine in human beings repeatedly exposed to tuberculosis and the results have been impressive enough to warrant a continuation of the trials. It is still too early for a definite opinion on the value of this vaccine.

Cranium Crackers

Before a football game in Ann Arbor, Mich., when the hotels are full, seven men in a party arrived one night at one of the leading hotels. They had previously engaged accommodations at this time, with the proviso that each was to have a room to himself, but through some oversight, only six rooms, all in one wing were available.

The hotel manager put the first and best known man in Room No. 1, and asked one of the other men to stay there also for a few moments. He then put the third man in Room No. 2, the fourth man in Room No. 3, the fifth man in Room No. 4, and the sixth man in Room No. 5. Then returning to Room No. 1, he took the seventh man to Room No. 6. Thus, each man had his own room.

Could he really get seven men in six rooms, and each have a room alone?

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—Completion of primary construction of what would be the first public road to pierce the vastness of the former King ranch, or geographically speaking, in Kennedy county, appears certain in about a year.

The last link of the primary work—grading and drainage structures from Mifflin to Armstrong, a 12.4 miles stretch in the heart of the primeval brush country—is scheduled in the federal aid program beginning next July 1, highway engineers say.

This means the final link would be let to contract before June, 1939, end of the federal government's next fiscal year.

Step by step the virgin terrain has yielded to modern engineering since right-of-way has been obtained from the ranch owners several years ago.

From Kleberg county on the north southward to Mifflin the sandy soil has been grubbed, graded and drained in preparation for base work and pavement. From Wilacy county on the south to Armstrong 22.4 miles northward into the interior of ranch domain, workmen are performing a similar operation which is more than 20 per cent finished. Its completion would leave only the Armstrong-Mifflin sector untouched by the dragnet.

Permanent surfacing of the road, a portion of which is now under construction along the Texas Gulf coast, will follow grading, drainage and base work although plans for it have not been set up.

"We follow the egg-before-the-chicken principle," said one engineer when asked whether permanent topping of any one of the sections within the ranch would be undertaken before preliminary work was completed on all.

Completion of the road would cut about 45 miles between Riviera in Kleberg county and Raymondville in Wilacy county.

Currently the motorist travelling between those two points must drive approximately 100 miles, swinging off the hug-the-coast road to U. S. highway 281 via Falfurrias and San Manuel.

While adjoining counties team with vegetable, citrus and oil industries, Kennedy, Pountinhead an many a small campfire story is slowly but surely becoming acquainted with the odor of motor exhaust.

Exchange professors, dear to universities, might find a counterpart in the Texas State Police Force.

Although the idea is still in the unofficial stage, there is considerable talk at public safety department headquarters about exchanging the services of several Rangers and highway patrolmen for officers of other states, and for that matter, members of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

Briefly, the plan is this: In exchange for many patrolmen and Rangers the Canadian police would send two men to Texas to study crime conditions. Similarly, the Pennsylvania and Michigan police and California highway patrol would provide two officers each.

Said one official: "We think the officers could learn more about coordinating crime prevention and detection in this way than at conventions."

The same official wondered how many theories concerning recent crimes would be advanced by El Paso June 20-22 when 400 officers attend a joint meeting of the Texas division of the International Association for Identification.

Seeking the 10 leading causes for 815 automobile accidents in March highway patrolmen listed them in this order: speed, 106; driver had been drinking, 84; did not have right of way, 79; driving on wrong side of road, 63; pedestrian ran into path of car, 48; improper left turn, 39; driver did not signal, 37; improper passing, 35; blind lights, 33; and skidded on wet pavement, 32.

State police have acquired new and accurate equipment for checking mechanical defects of automobiles.

The apparatus will be used in two safety lanes which will be taken over the state beginning May 5 with Eastland as a starting point. Safety lanes are not new to Texas motorists but, police point out, the new equipment

TAXING GOVERNMENT BONDS AND SALARIES

We believe that the President is right in recommending the elimination of tax exempt government securities and salaries. There is no reason to believe, to our mind, that the Federal government does not have the right to tax states and their subdivisions' securities and the salaries of state and subdivision employees just as it now taxes the salaries of its own employees, if they have income enough to cover the extreme exemption. And on the other hand, we believe there is no constitutional reason why the state should not have the right to tax income from federal employees and federal securities. It is true the Supreme Court, many years ago, ruled that one state had no right to tax bank notes issued by the other than state institutions. The court ruled that to give any state the right to discriminate against federal banks in this manner, would give them the right to eliminate Federal banks entirely. Just so, for the state to have the right to place a special tax on salaries or securities of the Federal government, would give them enough power to destroy the federal government, and vice versa, for the Federal government to have a right to put a discriminatory tax on state securities and salaries of employees, would give them the power to control the states.

The Supreme Court, however, never has ruled that it was unconstitutional for a state to have a uniform tax on bonds or salaries that taxed both the state and the Federal government at the same rate. A tax that was uniform on both the employees, or both securities, could never usurp the power of the other.

So there is little doubt that the Supreme Court would deny the Federal government the right to tax the income of state employees and the income from state bonds, provided the state obligations and salaries were not discriminated against but taxed at the same rate that all other income, private or Federal, were taxed.

While we do not believe in the principle of taxing income resulting from producing or from working, if we are to have an income tax, we certainly should not have any loopholes in it that permit anyone to be exempt from this tax.
