Aileen, Inc., the firm bringing a new plant to Snyder, is now turning out apparel for next summer at its Abilene plant.

The material that goes into Aileen products is mostly polyester and cotton. Plant officials said that summer wear now in production is made from material of about 85 per cent cotton and 15 per cent polyester. The ratio changes with the seasons, but usually over a year's time the aggregate is about 50-50, with more polyester used in clothing for the cooler months.

The firm has its own research facilities.

Incidentally, Chamber of Commerce Manager Mickey Nunley was one of those making the tour through the Aileen plant Wednesday, although his name inadvertantly got left out of the story in Thursday's paper.

October is the month when the greatest number of football fatalities occurs, according to the 39th Annual Survey of Football Fatalities. The statistics also show that, although they make the most headlines, the professionals have the fewest fatalities. Of the 29 fatalities directly related to football during the 1970, three occurred in sandlot, three in college and 23 in high school. There were none in professional football last year.

However, there are many more high school players participating than there are professionals or college players. For example, there are two major professional teams in Texas and their active rosters are supposed to be limited to 40 players each, making a total of 80. There are around 1,000 high school teams participating in the UIL program. If they have an average of 30 on each squad, that is 30,000 players. That doesn't count the junior varsities, B teams and junior high teams.

For some strange reason that medical science has not been able to fathom, city folks have fewer colds than small-town residents, and people who live on sea coasts seem to have fewer colds than those in other regions, according to statisticians.

And women appear to be more vulnerable to colds than men. The cold germs haven't heard of women's lib.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, Nov. 28, the 332nd day of 1971. There are 33 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1520, the Portugese navigator, Ferdinand Magellan, reached the Pacific Ocean after passing through the South American strait which now bears his name.

On this date:

In 1895, the first auto race in the United States was held on the road between Chicago and Waukegan, Ill.—at an average of 7½ miles an hour.

In 1916, in World War I, ther Germans carried out their first air strike against London.

In 1919, the first woman to be seated in Britain's House of Commons, Lady Astor, was elected.

In 1942, nearly 500 persons died in a fire that destroyed the Cocoanut Grove night club in Boston.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill held a wartime meeting in Tehran, Iran.

In 1963, President Lyndon Johnson announced that Cape Canavarel, Fla., would be renamed Cape Kennedy in honor of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Ten years ago: The United States rejected a Soviet proposal for a ban on nuclear testing without contols.

Five years ago: American and Communist troops in Vietnam were exchanging artillery and mortar fire in flurries of fighting near the Cambodian border.

One year ago: Pope Paul VI received the adulation of hundreds of thousands of people on a visit to the Philippines.

INDIAN TROOPS ATOP ALLEGED PAKISTAN TANK — Indiansoldiers sit on what Indian sources described as a U. Fight Rages In East Pakistan

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN
Associated Press Writer

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — Fighting between Pakistan's troops and Indian soldiers still rages in three areas of East Pakistan, a Pakistani senior officer said today.

He listed the fronts as the Jessore sector in the west, the Comilla area in the southeast, and the Chittagong region in the east.

Another army source said the three attacks were repulsed but that Indian troops were making headway near Hilli in the north.

India admits two incursions into East Pakistan this week but said the major fighting is between the Pakistani army and East Pakistan independence fighters.

The Indian army was making preparations for fresh attacks, but Pakistani soldiers had been alerted, a Pakistani major general reported.

He said he was confident the Indians would not make any more headway in any part of East Pakistan.

Pakistani soldiers were continuing to exert pressure on Indian positions, according to reports of fighting still pouring into Dacca.

Pakistan claimed its forces have destroyed four tanks and inflicted casualties raising to 1,000 the total lost within a week by Indian invaders in East Pakistan.

The Pakistanis also claimed shelling along the frontiers killed civilians, including 20 near Feni on the eastern border of the province where Indian territory juts to within 25 miles of the Bay of Bengal.

While military commanders say 200,000 Indian troops are poised on the borders of East Pakistan, the people of this steamy Ganges provincial capital seem unperturbed.

A few slit trenches have been dug in the soft, earth sidewalks as precautions against air attack. Some shops have taped windows.

Pakistan Airlines has begun painting its planes camouflage colors. But one plane took off Friday with the front half camouflaged and the rear end the usual green and white.

The army has sandbagged antiaircraft positions on rooftops near the airport. Rolls of barbed wire and oil drums block the road to the heavily defended military headquarters.

Downtown, ancient hansom cabs pulled by shaggy ponies ply the streets as usual along with brightly decorated muscle-powered rickshaws and some cars.

Army convoys moved out of the city towards the West Bengal border.

A one-day curfew has been lifted, and no blackout precautions have been taken since a trial run earlier in the week.

The city is lit up at night, but the streets are deserted except for army patrols.

But beneath the outward calmn undercurrents of fear were noticeable.

"There's going to be a bloodbath here in the next two weeks," said a veteran diplomat. "I'd get out if I were you."

Most of the estimated 300 foreigners still remaining in Dacca have one fear: that the airport will be shut by enemy shelling and planes will no longer fly out. Roads to the port of Chittagong, and the Indian borders are virtually impassable.

Economic Indicators Show 1.2% Increase In October

By JERRY BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by a record number of housing permit applications, the Commerce Department's list of economic indicators showed a 1.2 per cent increase during October.

Asst. Commerce Secretary Harold C. Passer said the October increase and a 0.2 per cent increase in September were difficult to interpret "because of the sweeping change in government economic policy."

"The indicators are still on a decisive uptrend, however," he said, "and this is consistent with private forecasts of a vigorous expansion of the economy in 1972."

Three indicators—stock prices, industrial materials prices and contracts and orders for plant and equipment—declined.

But a 15-per-cent increase in housing permit applications, to a record annual rate of 2.2 million, and other increases offset the losses.

Elsewhere on the economic front:

—The Construction Industry Stabilization Committee, appointed by President Nixon to hold down wage increases in the construction industry, approved increases in 47 contracts, most of them far exceeding the 5.5 per cent guideline set by the Pay Board.

—The Postal Service announced it will raise third-class postage rates 23.9 per cent Monday unless the Price Commission rules against it. The commission does not meet again until Monday.

The Postal Service had planned to put the increase into effect Sept. 15, but was prevented from doing so by President Nixon's wage-price-rent freeze. The increase would affect the cost of mailing advertising circulars, catalogs and other printed matter.

—Cost of Living Council Chairman Donald Rumsfeld said that 64 price-increase requests considered by the commission averaged 3.3 per cent, a figure he said does not "threaten the achievement of the goal of bringing the cost-of-living increase down to 2.5 per cent by the end of next year.

—The Atomic Energy Commission announced an 11.5 per cent increase in its prices for processing fuel for nuclear power plants. AEC Commissioner Wilfred Johnson estimated in February that such an increase would boost the cost of electric generation by atomic plants by about 1 per cent.

Service For Mrs. Cockrell

Funeral service is set for 2 p.m. Sunday for Mrs. Fritz Cockrell, 57, who died at 12:15 a.m. Saturday in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene.

Mrs. Cockrell was a native of Polar and a life-long resident of this area.

The Rev. Wallace Kirby, pastor of First United Methodist Church, where Mrs. Cockrell was a member, will officiate at the funeral service at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Betty Jean Abel of Oklahoma City; two sons, Scotty Joe Fuller of Odessa and Scott Cockrell of Snyder; two sisters, Mrs. Edith Blair and Mrs. Elaine Crawley, both of Snyder; a brother, Bert Massingill of Noel, Mo.; and two grandchildren.

Dockers Heed Court Order

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Longshoremen responding to a federal restraining order aimed at temporarily halting a 58-year old walkout by Atlantic and Gulf Coast dockworkers reported to work in New York today but two shipping companies said their services were not needed.

Federal courts in six cities have ordered the men back to work, and the Justice Department is seeking similar action in six more cities to end the strike for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Representatives of the Home Lines cruise ship Oceanic and the Italian liner Michelangelo told the longshoremen that other arrangements had been made to handle passengers' baggage.

The Oceanic docked at 8 a.m. with 1,047 passengers. The Michelangelo was to sail for Europe with 300 passengers at noon.

Nearly 100 longshoremen milled in the pier area.

On orders from President Nixon, the government obtained temporary restraining orders Friday in New York; Philadelphia; Baltimore; Mobile, Ala.; Alexandria, Va., and Savannah, Ga., to end the dock strike under the Taft-Hartley Act. The orders affect 37,000 workers.

Justice Department attorneys were authorized to seek initial 10-day temporary injunctions.

Court hearings are scheduled today in Boston, Houston and New Oreleans; and suits are pending in Miami; Portland, Maine, and Providence, R.I.

Earlier court actions in Tampa, Fla., and New Orleans had ordered longshoremen back to work in those cities and in Savannah; Jacksonville, Fla., and Charleston and Georgetown, S.C.

The New Orleans injunction, stayed pending appeal, held the strike there was an illegal secondary boycott.

The initial back-to-work orders may be supplemented with injunctions to stretch the cooling-off period to the maximum 80 days allowed by the Taft-Hartley law.

Meanwhile, federal mediators will attempt to bring union and management representatives back together to resolve their differences.

Talks between the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association and shipping association negotiators broke off in Miami earlier this week in a dispute over guaranteed manhour provisions in the welfare and pension clauses of the proposed new contract.

Israel Agrees To Proposals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel has agreed to the reactivation of U. N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring's Middle East peace mission providing no strings are attached, the Israeli state radio said today.

The agreement was the main point in an Israeli response to proposals submitted by African presidents serving as envoys for the Organization of African Unity—OAU.

The Israeli reply was drafted by Foreign Minister Abba Eban for Premier Golda Meir's approval.

An OAU peace team, headed by Senegal President Leopold Senghor, had made certain proposals during visits to Cairo and Jerusalem this week.

Israel terminated Jarring's mission last February when he asked Jerusalem to agree in advance to withdraw to pre-1967 war boundaries.

U. N. headquarters announced in New York on Friday that the General Assenbly's debate on the Middle East would begin next Friday. A spokesman said it was possible Jarring would be there around that time.

But the talk in Egypt and other parts of the Arab world was of war.

Representatives of 17 Arab states met in Cairo today to map a unified political and military strategy against Israel.

Arab League Secretary-General Abdel Khalik Hassouna told the conference that "the whole responsibility rests on the Arabs themselves to liberate ctheir lands and restore their usurped rights."

Fugitives Hijack Plane To Cuba

By PAT LEISNER
Associated Press Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Three young blacks fleeing charges in New Mexico in the slaying of a New Mexico state trooper hijacked a jet airliner to Cuba today after allowing its 40 passengers to get off during a fuel stop at Tampa.

Armed with two guns and a knife, the sloppily dressed trio took over the jet as passengers were getting aboard during a scheduled stop in Albuquerque, N.M.

"They were ready to close the door when three guys came running, one holding a gun on the last passenger," said Kent Swigard, reporter with the Spokesman Review in Spokane, Wash., who was en route to New York with his wife, Marie.

"They seemed very organized and incredibly calm throughout."

The Tampa FBI office identified the hijackers as Michael Finney, 20, Ralph Goodwin, 24, and Charlie Hill, 21, charged with the slaying of New Mexico state patrolman Robert Rosenbloom last Nov. 8.

The plane, Flight 106 originating in Phoenix, Ariz., with scheduled stops in Albuquerque, Chicago and Washington, landed at Tampa International Airport and parked on a runway about a quarter of a mile from a terminal. The hijackers had told the pilot they would allow only a fuel truck and a bus for the passengers to approach the plane.

Movie actor Dustin Hoffman was listed on the flight manifest as one of the passengers but he was not spotted among them as they got off.

The airport, which has a modern underground fueling system, had no fuel truck but obtained one from MacDill Air Force Base five miles away, along with a blue and white Air Force bus.

C. A. Hill, a passenger from Phoenix, said one of the men held a cocked Army .45-caliber pistol on a stewardess as the passengers, including two elderly people in wheel chairs, filed off the plane.

Loading of 2,328 gallons of fuel aboard the plane took 20 minutes and it lifted off for Havana at 7:51 a.m. with three crewmen and three stewardesses still aboard with the skyjackers. The FBI said the passenger count was 40, although TWA had listed 43.

The plane touched down in Havana at 8:49 a.m.

Rosenbloom was gunned down by the side of Interstate 40 west of Albuquerque after he radioed that he was stopping a car for a routine check.

Finney, Goodwin and Hill have been the object of an intensive search since then. Road blocks remained in place in the Albuquerque area for a week after the shooting.

A suspect car was found the next morning and it was from materials and fingerprints in that car that the warrants against the three men were issued.

Robison Crusade Opening Tonight

The James Robison Evangelistic Crusade opens at the Scurry County Coliseum tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The crusade is expected to generate an attendance of up to 4,000 persons for nightly services that local church leaders are hailing as the largest evangelistic event in this area in recent years.

The crusade will continue through Dec. 5.

If the Robison team's past crusades this year from Lincolnton, N. C., crusade leaders said, to San Jose, Calif., are any gauge of what can be expected in Scurry County, churches here will see an outpouring of hundreds of new converts, as the toll climbs service after service with hosts of people who respond to simple gospel preaching and melodic sermons in song by tenor John McKay of Fort Worth, Tex.

The 16 churches sponsoring the eight-day interdenominational crusade are already preparing for the expected harvest of new converts, just as they have been planting the seeds for a dramatic spiritual movement for the past several months under the direction of crusade chairman Rev. Raymond Hall of Snyder.

"Many area churches will be dismissing their own Sunday evening worship services in order to participate in the crusade," Rev. Hall said.

The 28-year-old Robison, of Fort Worth, Tex., has been compared to evangelist Billy Graham by many church leaders who predict that he will someday don the noted crusader's mantle. Their predictions are based on the spiritual impact that Robison's nine-year ministry has already had in cities across the nation.

Robison has preached to more than 4.5 million people, with more than 75,000 of these making public professions of faith in Christ as a result of his crusades.

The Snyder crusade is the climax of a year's planning, according to Rev. Hall.

"We are going to have a combined choir from the churches here singing at each of the services," he said.

"Choir rehearsals begin each evening at the Coliseum at 6:45 p.m., and anyone who wants to sing is welcome to participate."

Leading the music will be gospel singer John McKay, headliner on the Robison evangelistic team and regular soloist for the team's crusades.

Accompanying on the organ will be Richey Craig, also of Fort Worth, and member of the crusade team.

Scores of counselors from participating churches have been trained to deal on a one-to-one basis with persons who come forward at the close of nightly services to make public decisions for Christ, Rev. Hall said.

Training of the counselors has been under the direction of Rev. T. D. Hall, executive director of the James Robison Evangelistic Association.

Search For Air Pirate Continues

WOODLAND, Wash. (AP) — The missing air pirate who bailed out of a jetliner carrying a parachute and 24½ pounds of $20 bills was "either an experienced jumper or crazy," the FBI agent coordinating the search for him says.

Officials say they believe the hijacker parachuted from the plane over this sparsely populated area of southwestern Washington but add that they have found no trace of him in two days of searching. They plan to resume the effort today.

FBI coordinator Tom Manning said Friday that searchers were working on the premise that the man was an experienced jumper.

"If he is in the area and has landed in rough terrain, it's an educated guess we will get some trace of him," Manning said. "We have to presume at this point he is still alive."

Authorities disclosed Friday that the $200,000 Northwest Airlines paid the sky-jacker in response to a bomb threat was supplied in $20 bills-a packet of 10,000 bills that weighed 24½ pounds and measured 8 by 6 by 27 inches.

Details involving the speed of the three-engine Boeing 727 jetliner, its course and the prevailing winds as it flew over the area Wednesday night were fed into a computer Friday in a quest for information that would help search parties.

FBI agents told searchers to look for two white parachute canopies and portions of a pink one found open and torn aboard the plane when it landed in Reno, Nev. They also said there might be traces of some crew food rations, which were missing from the plane.

A 100-man posse, aided by 10 patrol cars and six helicopters, fanned out Friday in a five-mile line through the mountain foothills, but Manning said the eight-hour effort under low clouds and misty rain did not yield any useful information.

Crew members disclosed Friday some additional details of the incident, which began after the plane took off from Portland, Ore., for Seattle, Wash., the last stop on a flight that had originated in Washington, D.C.

The man—described as calm, middle aged and well dressed—boarded at Portland and gave a stewardess a note shortly after takeoff.

"I thought he was trying to hustle me," stewardess Florence Shaffner, 23, said at home in Minneapolis, Minn. "I stuffed the note in my purse, and he motioned that I should read it."

His note said he had a bomb and wanted to go to Mexico, officials say. While the jet circled Seattle, the man also ordered that $200,000 and four paracutes be brought to the plane in Seattle, and Northwest agreed.

The 36 passengers and two of the three stewardesses were allowed to leave the plane in Seattle.

Scott said indicator lights in the cockpit showed the rear stairwell was being operated as the plane flew over the Woodland area, shortly after takeoff from Seattle. This also was soon after the hijacker's last communication with the crew, which had remained in the cockpit on his instructions.

The Air Force disclosed Friday that pilots of five chase planes which tailed the jetliner did not see a person leave the plane. But officials had said earlier that the chase planes would have difficulty spotting a skydiver at night if he did not open his parachute immediately.

Hearing Delays Meeting

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal judge has enjoined the directors of the Penn Central Co., parent company of the nation's largest railroad, from holding a stockholder meeting Monday.

U.S. District Court Judge Joseph Lord III set a hearing for Monday on a petition to make the injunction permanent.

The holding company's latest extension on $55 million worth of notes held by Swiss financiers runs out Tuesday. The directors had planned to seek stockholder approval of a refinancing plan to avoid what they called "bankruptcy or receivership".

The Penn Central Transportation Co., the operator of the railroad, began reorganization under federal laws in June, 1970. All of the railroad's estimated $6 billion assets are frozen in U.S. District Court here and can not be used to settle the $55 million debt.

The stockholders who filed the class action suit, Richard S. Robinson and Florence H. Robinson of suburban Merion, are charging that the conversion into stock would dilute the value of the common stock now outstanding.

SNOW STRANDS HOLIDAY TRAVELERS — Penna. State Police estimate that well over 1,000 vehicles were stranded on the Schuykill County portion of Interstate Rt. 81. They became stranded as early as 7 p.m. Wednesday night and were still there 24-hours later Thursday night. Snowmobiles from all sections of the county were put to use to bring travelers out who were taken to nearby church halls. (AP Wirephoto)

'Group Of Ten' To Talk Dollars

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally and finance ministers from the world's richest non-Communist countries will most likely try to work out a bulky package deal during the Group of Ten meeting in Rome next week.

Informants here said the package, aimed at solving the world monetary crisis, would have to contain:

—A new set of values for the dollar and other currencies, probably including a devaluation of the dollar in terms of gold.

—An end to the 10 per cent surcharge on U.S. imports.

—Some firm promises from Japan and the European Common Market that would increase their imports of U.S. goods.

Paul Voelker, undersecretary of the U.S. Treasury for international monetary affairs, doesn't think it can be done at a single session. The meeting, starting Tuesday, lasts three days.

"There could be a lot of splendid lunches and dinners," said one European central banker, "but no results."

Others think that an agreement can be reached or, at least, that enough progress can be made to prepare one that could be wrapped up in another session, perhaps before Christmas.

But even then the experts predict only a temporary settlement of the crisis triggered by President Nixon's announcement last August of his defend-the-dollar measures.

What Western governments really need is a long-term system for collecting and holding money reserves and for changing the values of their currencies when necessary. Such a system could take months or even years to work out.

The immediate problem is to start reducing the huge U.S. balance of payments deficit.

Although the 10 per cent U.S. import surcharge was imposed to start doing this, the Nixon administration insists that it is only a temporary measure. It could be removed, Washington says, when the major countries agree on a more effective way of doing the same thing: reducing the value of the dollar and increasing the value of other currencies.

Such a shift in currency valuation would discourage imports into the United States, as the surcharge does, and also would make American exports more saleable in other countries.

Many countries have already allowed their money to float upward in relation to the dollar, especially West Germany and Japan. The U.S. government would like to see these currencies rise still more.

Coalitionists For People's Party

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A coalition of delegates from various peace and activist groups voted Friday to form a fourth nationwide political party naming it the People's Party.

The convention then began haggling over party organization issues before settling down Friday night to hear a keynote speech by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska.

Gravel, who drew national recognition last summer when he released the controversial Pentagon Papers, faced reality on the group's chances for success in national elections, but nevertheless praised the group's efforts to air certain issues.

He said mankind's biggest problem is the lack of communication and the People's Party is "performing a service to society" by communicating what they believe.

"It's a free country, and it's good for people to get involved rather than copping out," Gravel said. "The dialogue and issues you raise can render a service to the country and the political structure of society."

He told the gathering that the new party has no chance of electing a president of U. S. senator.

Among the issues to be discovered today were:

—Whether to nominate candidates for president or vice-president for next year's elections.

—The approval of a campaign platform.

—The appointment of a shadow cabinet on which each member would keep tabs on his counterpart in government.

Nearly all the 186 registered delegates at the four-day convention which opened Thanksgiving Day agreed with the decision to form a properly constituted national party. But there was some disagreement between those wanting a strong national organization and those who favored a loose-knit grass roots approach.

About 2,000 delegates had been expected for the meeting, and the disappointing attendance was attributed by convention spokesmen to the long distance to Dallas from most of the nation and because many persons sympathetic to the coalition "are tired of meetings and marches."

Also attending the Friday sessions were anti-war activist Dr. Benjamin Spock and novelist Vidal.

Spock said he didn't want to be considered as a presidential candidate for the party because, "if they can't get some one younger than 68, they're bankrupt before they start."

The noted baby doctor said he personally favored consumer advocate Ralph Nader, "but he won't get into politics."

He added that the names of former Sen. Eugene McCarthy, Rep. Shirley Chisholm and Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, all Democrats, had been mentioned at the convention as possible presidential nominees.

The delegates at the convention came from 24 of the 50 states, though some states had a single representative. Texas provided the largest delegation with 50, followed by California with 35, Florida with 16 and New York with 12.

Minsky, a son of Northern Dancer, brought $140,000 as a 1969 yearling.

3 Mishaps Are Listed

City Police investigated three motor vehicle collisions Friday, and all of them involved minor damage.

The first one occured on Twenty-fifth Street at Avenue Z at 1:18 p.m. Involved were the 1958 Model Chevrolet of James O. Magness, 2707 Twenty-sixth Street, and the 1970 Model Ford of David T. Sands, 2604 El Paso. Officer L. D. Hinson investigated this mishap.

The second one occurred in the 2300 block of Avenue R at 2:35 p.m. Involved were the 1968 Model GMC ¾-ton truck of Joyce Marie Reese, 4102 Avenue U, and the parked 1965 Model Buick of Thomas McBroom, Route 1. Hinson also investigated this collision.

The other one occurred in the 2400 block of Twenty-second Street at 5:15 p.m. Involved were the 1967 Model Chevrolet of Roy S. Chamberlain, 2806½ Avenue J, and the 1963 Model Chevrolet of Annie Mize Smith, 2200 Avenue T. Officer Nick Martinez investigated this mishap.

Red China And Russia Clash

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Red China has clashed with the Soviet Union for the second time in the United Nations and wound up alongside the United States in rejecting a Kremlin call for a world disarmament conference.

The future of the conference is so uncertain that, when the 131-nation General Assembly finished debate on it Friday night, no immediate agreement was reached on when to vote on the proposal.

U.S. Ambassador Christopher H. Phillips, asked that the voting be postponed to permit consultations toward a new resolution that would forward the issue to the assembly's fall 1972 session.

Chinese delegate Chiao Kuanhua, following up his earlier proposal that the resolution not be put to the vote, said that, if it was, China would not participate in it.

Despite this, Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik announced acceptance of some suggestions for amendment of the resolution and expressed hope that it would be "supported and approved by the General Assembly."

Making his windup speech for the resolution, Malik said anybody who claimed it was not clear—as Chiao had done Wednesday—"is trying to delay or complicate the convening of the conference."

In an allusion to Chiao's blast Wednesday at the 1963 Moscow partial nuclear-test-ban treaty, Malik said those who criticize it "do not themselves cease their nuclear tests and do not propose any positive grounds for the solution of this problem."

Returning to his earlier theme of a "Sino-American duet" against the conference, the Soviet minister said, "We are against negativism as to . . . this conference regardless of whether this negativism is evinced in a solo or as a duet."

Chiao retorted that words about a "Sino-American duet of negativism" were "cheap and demagogic remarks which are not worth refuting."

The Soviet Union has rocket forces in Mongolia, north of China; and the United States has nuclear bases in Japan, east of China, he said, and in other parts of the world, "the Soviet leadership considers that the final say rests only with an agreement between the Soviet Union and the United States."

"Is this not a duet?" he asked.

Young Farmers At Hermleigh Meet

HERMLEIGH — A discussion of money management and the new farm trailer law will be featured on the program Tuesday night at a meeting of Hermleigh Young Farmers.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the agriculture building.

Marcus Hill of the National Farm Life Insurance Co. will present the program on money management, while Wendell Rehm of the Texas Department of Public Safety will discuss the farm trailer law.

Bicycle Stolen From Yard Here

Thieves stole a bicycle from the front yard of the Gerald Hicks residence, 3727 Avenue U, Thursday, according to a City Police report.

Burglars took $15 in change from the coin-operated machines at the Kwik Car Wash Wednesday night or Thursday morning. During the same period of time, burglars were unsuccessful in an attempt to take money from a coin-operated machine at the Robo Wash, officers said.

CELL MATES — Carol Ann Creager, 28, and Antonio Rodriquez, 29, repeated their wedding vows before Judge John Vance of the 194th District Court in Dallas, Wednesday. The honeymoon will be delayed as Rodriquez awaits the results of his appeal on a 1,605 year sentence for the sale of heroin, Miss Creager has a 4-year term for burglary. After the ceremony Mr. Rodriquez was returned to his cell in the Dallas County jail, the bride was awaiting transfer to the Texas Department of Correction in Huntsville. (AP Wirephoto)

REPAIR WORK UNDERWAY AT PRISON

Cahill Elects Group To Meet With Prisoners

By PETER M. HALDEN
Associated Press Writer

RAHWAY, N.J. (AP) — The repair work is under way at Rahway State Prison, and Gov. William T. Cahill has formed a committee to meet with elected inmate representatives to discuss grievances they raised in a Thanksgiving Day revolt.

Truckloads of debris were carted from the prison Friday.

Twelve prisoners who met with Public Defender Stanley Van Ness and a team of lawyers Friday told them the guards had taken no reprisals since the inmates released their hostages and returned to their cells late Thursday night.

In Trenton, the governor announced that the prisoners would elect 15 representatives, five of whom will meet with the governor's five-man committee. It includes prison Supt. U. Samuel Vukcevich, who was one of seven hostages taken by the prisoners.

The governor later visited with Vukcevich and five guards in Rahway Memorial Hospital, saying he was "proud of them all for what they did during some trying hours." The governor singled out the superintendent for his "courageous leadership."

None of those hospitalized was seriously injured. A sixth guard was confined to Perth Amboy Hospital. Eight other guards were treated for injuries and released.

The revolt ended after prisoners presented a list of 14 demands to newsmen and released their last four hostages.

The demands included better medical care, a drug rehabilitation program, unbiased guards, better food, educational training programs, classes in history and English for black and Puerto Rican inmates, higher wages for prison work and an improved rehabilitation program.

Two members of Cahill's committee—Archibald S. Alexander Jr., chairman of the State Prison Board of Managers, and Raymond Brown, a prominent Jersey City lawyer and former NAACP official—were instrumental in arranging the hostage release.

The two others are Louis Pirone, superintendent of the Woodbridge State School, and Hector Rodriquez, head of the New Jersey Puerto Rican Convention.

Van Ness said the prisoners told him they ended their revolt because "they had run out of steam."

"They were cold and hungry," Van Ness said, adding that the inmates he talked with "felt they had made their grievances known to the public and considered that an attempt would be made to redress those grievances."

Vukcevich, 43, told newsmen in his hospital room Friday there was "no organization, no leadership" in the revolt.

The superintendent, who suffered a back wound when he stepped into a melee in the prison auditorium and was taken hostage, praised the governor for his handling of the revolt.

He also called for prison reform, noting that his institution lacked funds for rehabilitation programs.

TI Goes On New Schedule

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — About 200 of the 4,000 employes at the Texas Instruments plant here will go on a new work schedule Dec. 1 that will result in longer weekends and bigger paychecks.

A Texas Instruments spokesman said the new schedule is "a compressed work week" with four teams of employes. Each team will work three 12-hour shifts a week plus a fourth 12-hour shift every other week.

Weekly pay checks, officials said, should be higher for the 200 workers affected because of overtime premiums.

Most employes were agreeable to the new arrangement, the spokesman added.

"Studies at other Texas Instruments plants—including Houston and Dallas—show that the 12-hour day does not cause fatigue after an initial adjustment period," he said.

Disney World Is Jammed

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A record 55,000 holiday visitors to Walt Disney World Friday resulted in a 30-mile long traffic jam that stretched into three counties.

Disney officials squeezed in 12,000 cars in three hours and then hung a "full" sign on the gates, leaving thousands of motorists backlogged on Interstate 4 and U.S. 192.

Today, Disney officials said, the park will be open from 8 a.m. until midnight in hopes of spreading out the crowd.

The giant, $400 million amusement-recreation complex was open from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. before visitors were turned away.

"We had no warning," said a dispatcher with the Florida Highway Patrol. "We expected the crowds when the park opened."

Extra troopers were assigned to handle traffic when Disney World opened eight weeks ago but weren't needed as overflow crowds failed to materialize.

A Disney spokesman said the one-millionth visitor would pass through the gates this weekend, however, and predicted the first year attendance may be 10 or 12 million.

"The only real jam was on the highways themselves," said another spokesman. "Once, they're on the property, there is a very good crowd control system."

He said the 12,000-maximum parking lot spaces would probably be expanded by next summer.

"There is much speculation and political meandering on this traffic situation," the spokesman said, adding Disney World has not taken a "political stand" on widening highways surrounding the complex.

Cars overheated, horns blared and tempers boiled in the noonday heat Friday during the tie-up.

Wreckers called to clear three accidents stalled in the congestion. There were no injuries reported.

The bottled up traffic spread into Orlando 15 miles away on the east, through Osceola and into Polk County on the west.

"There's never been anything before like this that I know of," said a highway patrol dispatcher.

Head-On Collision Kills 8

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — A grinding two-car headon collision seven miles east of here on U.S. 90 killed eight persons early today, four of them from one family. Two were children.

The dead were identified as Joe Key York III, 18, of Brackettville, the lone occupant of his car; Jose Medina Villanueva, 31, of San Antonio; his wife, Victoria, 21; and their two sons, one-year-old Eddie and two-year-old Frank.

Others in their station wagon were Lupe Cardenas, 17, and her brother, Juan Cardenas, 18; and Sylvia Villanueva, 20, a sister of Jose Villanueva. The Villanuevas and Cardenas were cousins. All were from San Antonio.

A highway patrolman witnessed the crash but was far enough back in his car to avoid the accident.

Payroll Plot Is Uncovered

FT. STEWART, Ga. (AP) — A group of servicemen plotted to heist the payroll of the Army flight-training center while holding him and other officers hostage, Brig. Gen. Eugene M. Lynch says.

Lynch, commanding general of Ft. Stewart, told a news conference Friday that Army investigators uncovered the conspiracy during a year-long investigation into alleged fraudulent activities by some of the fort's personnel.

Army sources told him they had learned that Lynch and members of his staff were to be seized and held at gunpoint while the payroll was taken, the general said.

The Army said that, because the base payroll, issued biweekly, varies from month to month, it could not readily calculate how much money the November payroll would represent. Some 3,500 men are at the fort.

Lynch said S. Sgt. Robert E. Ward, who for the last year has been noncommissioned officer in charge of physical security and provost-marshal investigations at the facility, was involved in the alleged plot.

Ward, 32, a five-year veteran, was wounded five times Monday in a gun battle with authorities in Punta Gorda, Fla. Officials said they had sought the sergeant for questioning in connection with the investigation of alleged fraud at Ft. Stewart.

Ward, recuperating from the wounds in a Florida hospital, is listed in satisfactory condition.

Lynch said the Army investigation at the fort has revealed larceny, fraud and the falsification of documents amounting to $20,000.

He said no formal charges have been placed against Ward or other servicemen implicated by investigators but a decision on the matter will be made soon.

Lynch said the payroll robbery plot "involved me as well as my deputy, Col. J. W. Herrington. For this reason, special security precuations were taken during the past week to protect the lives and property of those concerned."

Lynch said he was making known what he could of the investigation to insure public confidence in the military.

Tom Gordon, civilian public-information specialist at the fort, said Ward's job required that he cover Southern states in pursuit of persons for being AWOL and for other violations that occurred at Ft. Stewart. Ward, said Gordon, was on leave when apprehended at Punta Gorda.

Florida Asst. Atty. Jack Schoonover charged Ward with assault to commit murder in connection with the shoot-out at a Punta Gorda motel. Bond has been set at $10,000.

White Sands Is Test Site

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Friday that White Sands Missile Range will be the test site for the decelerator system for the 1976 Mars landing.

The tests will be carried out next summer under the management of the NASA Langley Research Center in Virginia.

During testing, a huge balloon will be launched from Roswell and will float over the range carrying a 2,800-pound test package to an altitude of 130,000 feet. At that altitude, a rocket engine attached to the balloon assembly will fire and lift the package still higher.

Westerners Nip Fort Worth In Second Round

DENISON — The Western Texas College Westerners won their second round match in the Grayson County Junior College Basketball Tournament here Friday afternoon, turning back Fort Worth Christian 85-78.

The victory qualified the Westerners to meet Cisco Junior College in the Consolation finals at 7 p.m. Saturday. The Wranglers bested Christian College of the Southwest 101-82 in their second round match.

The Westerners match with the Fort Worth team was close all the way. Christian led most of the way, but the lead changed three times in the first half with the Fort Worth team holding a 35-34 lead at halftime.

Christian led most of the second half, and the Westerners were eight points behind until the final eight minutes of the game. Then, a pressing defense enabled WTC to catch and pass its foe. Walter Hanibal and Mike Simpson made six steals apiece.

Western went ahead on three free throws by Steve Sparks. Near the end of the game when Christian threatened again, Johnny Neff dropped in four straight free throws.

"We beat them at the free throw line," declared WTC Coach Sid Simpson.

Christian held a 30-25 edge in field goals, but WTC hit 35 of 50 from the free throw line for 70 per cent. Christian got only 16 points at the foul line. Four of their players fouled out and another one was ejected after the second technical foul was called on him.

WTC's Hanibal and Fort Worth's Kenneth Shepherd shared scoring honors with 27 points apiece. Jimmy Hill, a post man from Amarillo Tascosa, put in 22 points for WTC, and Neff, the McAdoo guard, tallied 15. Larry Simmons was the only other Fort Worth player in double figures with 13 points.

The Westerners connected on 25 of 60 floor shots for 41.6 per cent.

"The boys were still tired from that 500 mile trip for the first game, but they began to get the feel of things against Fort Worth," Simpson said. He was pleased with the help the team received from the bench.

Cliff Gardner (forward, Tahoka) and Gary Henderson (forward, Tascosa) came in late in the game and did some fine defensive work. Joel Dyess, post man from South Garland, still is ailing from an ulcer, but he did a great job of guarding Shepherd while he was in.

The WTC record going into the Consolation finals Saturday night was 2-2 for the season.

Rosewall Wins World Net Title

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Ken Rosewall's body may get tired at times but there is nothing wrong with his cunning in crucial situations.

Rosewall, the 37-year-old "senior citizen" of Lamar Hunt's World Championship of Tennis, used every wile at his command Friday to capture the $50,000 first prize by defeating fellow Australian Rod Laver in four sets.

The championship first prize was the largest purse ever offered for a tennis match. Laver won $20,000 as the runnerup.

Rosewall, who had lost eight of his last nine matches to the powerful 33-year-old Laver, won the match 6-4, 1-6, 7-6 and 7-6 and was especially effective in the two tie-breaker sets.

Serving up a soft diet of feathery lobs, top-spin serves and strategically placed backhands, Rosewall took advantage of errors by the heavily favored Laver to delight the near-sellout crowd of 8,200 fans in Memorial Auditorium. It was the climax of a 20-tournament tour by the WCT professionals.

"I played a lot of soft shots and got the ball high hoping to throw off Rod's timing," Rosewall said. "The lights were a bit awkward and the ball seemed to be taking an unusually high bounce off the artificial surface. "Rod missed more shots than normal. I've played as well against him before and lost."

With the sets tied one-all and the third set even 6-games apiece, Rosewall won the tie-breaker 7-3 under the WCT system of giving the set to the player who takes the first seven of 12 points.

The fourth set tie-breaker went to the steady Rosewall 7-4.

Rosewall said before the match, "I hope to get an early lead on him because of it's a long match he has the endurance to outlast me."

The match lasted two hours and 55 minutes.

"I may just put this money in the bank, go home and stay there," said Rosewall, who has never won more than $100,000 in a year.

Rosewall said he would be back to defend his title when the WCT finals are held again—this time in May. The first half of the WCT season has already been played to qualify for next spring's finals.

Laver, who has won more than a $1 million in professional tennis, suffered 10 double faults and four foot faults-uncharacteristic play for the usually steady performer.

"The foot fault calls worried me a little," Laver said. "I kept wondering why the guy on the other end of the court wasn't calling them. Ken played a good consistent game. I didn't put enough pressure on him."

Asked if he liked the tie-breaker system, Laver replied, "I dislike it right now. Actually, the system is fine."

Rosewall was taking the victory, the money, the championship diamond ring and the gold trophy any way he could get it.

"It's about time he lost one to me," said Rosewall, who couldn't have picked a better time.

Baseball Meetings Set Monday In Phoenix

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Baseball's winter meetings—the annual marketplace for trades—open here Monday with a number of big name players available—if the price is right.

Almost all 24 major league clubs are looking for help in one area or another and most general managers have indicated a willingness to part with players once termed untouchable in order to get what they want.

The New York Yankees, for example, are after a third baseman who can hit, someone like Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs, whose name heads those available. Santo and Manager Leo Durocher didn't get along last year and when Leo was rehired last week, it all but assured a trade involving the third baseman.

The Yankees would be willing to part with a front line pitcher such as Mel Stottlemyre or Fritz Peterson if the right deal comes along. But to get Santo, they'll probably have to outbid their crosstown neighbors, the New York Mets.

The Mets need hitting and they've never had the stability at third base that a Santo could provide. Like the Yankees, the Mets are offering pitchers with Nolan Ryan the main bait.

Cleveland, with new manager Ken Aspromonte anxious to start fresh, could be the most active team at the meetings. The Indians are rumored ready to unload ace left-hander Sam McDowell, who had contract problems last summer. But it will take a handsome package to get the fire-balling ace.

The Los Angeles Dodgers have always coveted McDowell and in fact came close to completing a deal for him last year at these meetings. They'll be in on the bidding again as will the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, who'd also like another pitcher.

Three aging sluggers who may also be available are Atlanta's Orlando Cepeda, Philadelphia's Deron Johnson and Frank Howard of the new Texas Rangers. Kansas City has talked about all three but the conversations quickly ended when the Royals were asked for Dick Drago, ace of their pitching staff.

Baltimore's AL champions, who had four 20-game winners last year, have expressed an interest in a fifth—Wilbur Wood of the Chicago White Sox. With Bobby Grich, the International League's batting champ, graduating to the majors, an infielder like Mark Belanger or Dave Johnson might be available.

There's certain to be action with Trader Frank Lane, Milwaukee's general manager on the scene. Lane engineered a 10-player deal with Boston during the World Series and is anxious for more deals.

Also on the agenda is the expected naming of a new manager by the California Angels. Lefty Phillips was dismissed following last season along with GM Dick Walsh. Harry Dalton was lured from Baltimore to replace Walsh and is about ready to name his new field boss.

The meetings open with the annual player draft of minor leaguers which has produced precious little in the way of talent recently. Last year only eight players were chosen by major league clubs willing to lay out $25,000 apiece. And none made significant contributions during the 1971 season.

The minor league meetings will occupy the first three days of the meetings and will be concluded with the installation of Hank Peters as new president of the National Association. Peters succeeds Phil Piton, who is retiring after eight years as president.

Racing Death Was Avoidable

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The world's top racing drivers will meet in London next week to demand stepped-up fire precautions after allegations that Swiss ace Jo Siffert need not have died.

Siffert, 35, died in the blazing wreckage of his car five weeks ago at Britain's Brand Hatch circuit.

A pathologist told an inquest Friday that his only injury from the crash was a broken leg.

"One can certainly say that, if there had been no fire, he would not have died," he said.

As it was, no one could get near him for five minutes. Track marshals testified at the inquest that two fire extinguishers failed to work and a third was ineffective.

Ector Rally Rips Snyder, 93-74

ODESSA — Host Odessa Ector's Eagles outscored Snyder's Tigers 32-14 in the last quarter to break up a tight game and take a 93-74 triumph here Friday night.

"We made them play our game the first three quarters, but they ran wild the last quarter," said Tiger Coach Bob Moore.

"They just run and shoot," he added.

It was close for three periods. Snyder led 20-18 after the first quarter and trailed 45-41 at halftime. Ector led by only one point, 61-60, after three frames.

Joe Davis pitched in 29 points, and Darell Mitchell netted 20 to spark the high-flying Eagles, who still are unbeaten. Ray Lewis contributed 14.

For Snyder, Dubby Preston was high point man with 20 points. Tommy Washington and Kent Horsley each roped 12 points. Jerry Brooks put in nine, Fred Liner had eight, Kevin Jones made five, David Thompson posted four, Gary Brooks notched two, and Jimmy Dyess and Jackie Murray each made one.

Ector hit 50 per cent from the field, compared with 43 per cent for the Tigers. The hosts also held an edge at the line, sinking 68 per cent, compared with 63 per cent for Snyder.

The Bengals overcame a 24-10 first period and 34-28 halftime deficit to win the "B" team game, 62-57. The Bengals led 47-43 going into the final period.

Darrell Morgan connected on 21 points, Richard Gorman zeroed in 16, and Jimmy Dyess hit 13. Also scoring were Moell Blalock with six, and Mike Hinton, Henry Ramos and Max Underwood with two points apiece.

The Tigers will be at Andrews Tuesday. Their record now is 1-1.

Baltimore Bounds Into First In NBA Central

ASSOCIATED PRESS

A national television audience watched Archie Clark pour in a career-high 40 points, but there's little doubt his Baltimore Bullets teammates were just about as happy with the 30 Austin Carr scored.

Clark's output, plus 26 by Jack Marin, led the Bullets to a 118-105 victory over Atlanta Friday; and, several hours later, Baltimore bounded into first place in the National Basketball Association's Central Division as the Carr-led Cleveland Cavaliers whipped Cincinnati 128-114.

In Friday night's other NBA games, the New York Knicks won their sixth in a row and closed within a game of Atlantic Division-leading Boston with a 104-89 triumph over the Celtics, Milwaukee ripped Portland 120-105, Chicago clobbered Golden State 121-89 and Los Angeles 132, Detroit 113.

In American Basketball Association play, Dallas beat the New York Nets 106-101, Indiana topped Denver 110-96, Utah turned back Carolina 124-115 and the Floridians edged Memphis 106-104.

The victories by Baltimore and Cleveland squeezed even more the already sardine-tight Central Division with the Bullets leading the Royals by half a game, the Cavs by two and a half and the Hawks by three—and not one of the clubs has a winning record. Baltimore's mark is 9-12.

The Bullets, en route to snapping a three-game losing streak and handing the Hawks their third straight setback, were in command by the end of the first period and led by as many as 15 points in the second. Jim Washington's 23 points topped Atlanta scoring.

Carr, Cleveland's 6-foot-3 rookie playing only his fifth game after being sidelined with a broken bone in his right foot, hit 12 of 20 field goal attempts.

But it was the Cavs' balanced scoring—19 points by John Johnson, 18 by Bobby Smith and 17 apiece by Butch Beard and Walt Jersley that offset 33 point performances by the Royals' Nate Archibald and Jim Fox. It was only the fourth time in the club's history it has managed successive victories.

The Knicks wasted little time as they cruised to a 22-point first-half lead, then settled back behind a solid defense, to the disappointment of the crowd of 15,315, largest pro basketball turnout in Boston Garden history.

Walt Frazier's 25 points, Jerry Lucas' 24 and Dave DeBusschere's 23 paced New York. John Havlicek had 28 and Jo Jo White 26 for the Celtics.

Hank Egan is the new basketball coach at the Air Force Academy.

Three State Prep Champs Advance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three state high school football champions from last year have advanced into next week's quarter-final playoffs, and a fourth defending champion was to square off in a regional game.

Class AA defending co-champion Refugio trounced Fremont 42-0 and last year's Class A winner, Sonora, defeated Nocona 34-7 Friday. In the lone regional game Thursday night, Class AAA defending titlist Brownwood edged Lubbock Estacado 7-6.

Austin Reagan, which has won Class AAAA state titles three out of the last four years, met Alice Saturday in Austin.

The only other Saturday game in AAAA is the Wichita Falls-Arlington tussle at Wichita Falls, a matchup involving the No. 1 and No. 4 teams, respectively in the final Associated Press poll taken last week.

In Friday night's AAAA games, Hereford beat El Paso Coronado 29-12, Dallas Carter tripped Fort Worth Eastern Hills 21-13, Killeen blanked Richardson Lake Highlands 34-0, Houston Lee edged Houston Sam Houston 13-7 and Houston Smiley slipped by favored Port Arthur Lincoln 16-12. San Antonio Lee bounced Seguin 32-14 in day action Friday.

There were five Class AAA games played Friday night. Plano slapped Azle 40-7, Jacksonville beat Daingerfield 15-7, top-ranked Silsbee trounced Wharton 36-17, Lockhart swept past Uvalde 21-6 and highly-ranked Gregory-Portland shut out Raymondville 33-0. Saturday's AAA games match Canyon and Andrews at Lubbock and Athens and Brenham at Waco.

All eight regional Class AA winners were decided Friday. Besides Refugio, Childress advanced by beating Lubbock Roosevelt 14-6, No. 1 Eastland, outscored Coahoma 56-30, Jacksboro blanked Clifton 30-0, Linden-Kildare slapped DeSoto 26-14, Rosebud shut out Diboll 34-0, Tomball edged Kirbyville 26-24 and Hondo trounced Needville 34-7.

Class A teams had the least action Friday as Albany defeated Iraan 20-14, Barbers Hill tripped Hubbard 21-6 and Schulenberg beat Tidehaven 15-12 in addition to Sonora's triumph.

Saturday's Class A games match White Deer and New Deal at Amarillo, Wylie and Crowley at Mesquite, Kerens and White Oak at Jacksonville and Somerset and Falls City at Plesanton.

When Roberto Clemente played for Montreal in 1954 he started only eight of the first 60 games played by the Royals.

Dempsey Gets Job Back

Tom Dempsey had such a good time last winter it cost him his job as placekicker with the New Orleans Saints.

Dempsey, the guy who kicked a record 63-yard field goal for the Saints to beat Detroit last season, was unceremoniously dumped as the last player cut of the training season.

Until the Philadelphia Eagles signed him for their taxi squad, some six weeks later, Dempsey confined his kicking to the back yard with a friend holding the ball.

"I was climbing the walls on Sundays," says the 255-pound Dempsey. "I knew I could still kick. All I needed was a chance."

Dempsey got his chance last Sunday when the Eagles gave up on rookie Happy Feller, a No. 4 draft choice, and activated Dempsey.

Dempsey didn't waste the opportunity. He kicked three field goals and four extra points conversions for 13 points as the Eagles defeated St. Louis, 37-20.

Let's get back to last winter's good time. Dempsey became a hero with his 63-yard field goal. He was an honored guest at almost every banquet worth mentioning.

"It was hectic to say the least," Dempsey recalled. "I let it interfere with my football career. Instead of lifting weights I was lifting too many forks and spoons and knives.

"Football is a year-round business. I should have been keeping myself in shape. A good athlete makes time for the gym. I wasn't in good shape when I reported for pre-season training."

An out-of-shape Dempsey made only one of eight pre-seaon field goal attempts. He felt that Saints' Coach O.J. Roberts didn't like him and that one small mistake would mean he was finished. Dempsey admits he didn't like Roberts.

"I let my emotions get away," Dempsey says. I was to blame. I forgot that a player is paid to play football. If you let your emotions interfere, that's bad."

Dempsey has never allowed his physical handicap—half a right foot and a stub for a right hand-interfere with his grid success.

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco 49ers have a chance Sunday to regain first place in the National Conference West, while the Washington Redskins must regain their momentum in the East to have a shot at the playoffs.

The 49ers, who visit the New York Jets—and may run into Joe Namath—moved into a tie with Los Angeles for the divisional lead Thursday, when the Rams fell to the Dallas Cowboys 28-21.

And with their victory, the Cowboys opened a one-game lead over the faltering 'Skins, who face Philadelphia Sunday and have won only one of five games since capturing their first five outings of the season.

Sunday's other National Football League games have Baltimore at Oakland, Atlanta at Minnesota, New Orleans against Green Bay at Milwaukee, Denver at Pittsburgh, Cleveland at Houston, New England at Buffalo, St. Louis at the New York Giants, San Diego at Cincinnati and, in Monday night's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) game, Chicago at Miami.

The Raiders' margin over Kansas City in the American Conference West widened to a full game as the Chiefs bowed 32-21 to Detroit in the other Thanksgiving Day clash.

The Colts, trailing front-running Miami by 1½ games in the East, have beaten Oakland in four of five meetings, including 27-17 in the 1970 AFC championship. They'll be sending their No. 1 conference defense against the Raiders' offense, which is rated No. 3.

The Vikings' hold on first in the NFC Central Division was trimmed to a game by Detroit. The Falcons, one-half game back of Los Angeles and San Francisco, can keep the three-way race alive, but they'll have to do it against the stingiest club in the league.

The Vikes have given up only 82 points, the only team to yield less than 100. It's the first visit to Minnesota for former Vikings coach Norm Van Brocklin, who now coaches Atlanta.

The Saints, all but eliminated from the NFC West race, can lift their record within a game of the .500 mark—but to do so they'll have to stop Packer rookie John Brockington, the conference's No. 1 ground gainer with 806 yards.

The Steelers, with Ron Shanklin sharing the AFC pass reception lead, haven't lost at home this year. The Broncos hope to give new head coach Jerry Smith his first victory. They lost 28-10 to the Chiefs in his debut.

The Browns, who share the AFC Central lead with Pittsburgh, broke a four-game losing streak last weekend. Now they hope to duplicate their season opener, when they stunned the Otlers 31-0.

Time is running out for the winless Bills, out to reverse their 38-33 loss to the Patriots two weeks ago. Neither the Cardinals nor Giants are going anywhere this season, but St. Louis has the added incentive of trying to climb out of the NFC East cellar.

Despite a dismal 3-7 record, the Bengals still have a shot at catching the Steelers and Browns, whom they trail by only two games. It figures to be an aerial show, with Cincinnati's Virgil Carter and the Chargers' John Hadl unlimbering their arms.

The Dolphins, with AFC passing leader Bob Griese and No. 1 runner Larry Csonka, can open a two-game lead over Baltimore and deal the Bears a virtual death blow with a victory. Chicago trails first-place Minnesota by two games with four to go.

Cotton Ducats Are Limited

DALLAS (AP) — The Cotton Bowl Athletic Association says the only tickets remaining for the Cotton Bowl Classic New Year's Day between Texas and Penn State are available through the two schools.

Texas is accepting orders through the UT Athletic Ticket Office, Austin, Texas 78712. The Penn State address is Athletic Ticket Office, University Park, Pa. 16802. All tickets are $7.50 and each order must include an additional 50 cents mailing fee.

Texas won its third straight outright Southwest Conference championship, after tying for the title in 1968, Thursday with a 34-14 victory over Texas A&M. Penn State boasts a 10-0 record and has one game remaining, a nationally-televised (ABC-TV) date with Tennessee on Dec. 4 at Knoxville.

Conigliaro To Salt Lake City

ANAHEIM (AP) — Ailing outfielder Tony Conigliaro, placed on the disabled list last week, has been assigned by the California Angels to Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League making him eligible for next Monday's baseball draft.

Famed Gridders Will Be Lauded

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex. (AP) — Five new members of the Texas High School Football Hall of Fame will be honored by their old coaches Dec. 6 at the fourth annual banquet.

Starting with the 20s will be Bohn Hillard of Orange, a star back who won fame in high school, university and professional football. He will be inducted into the Hall of Fame, with Bully Gilstrap, who coached him at Schreiner before he went to Texas, giving him his plaque. He played Canadian pro football.

In the 30s will be Dick Todd, who became a heralded schoolboy star at Crowell and was sought by many universities. He made 664 points and headed for Texas A&M, where he won fame with his great running before being a star in pro football. To be inducted into the Hall of Fame will be his old coach, C. G. Graves, who had him four seasons at Crowell.

From the 40s will come James (Froggie) Williams, who starred at Waco High School, then was an All-American end at Rice. He was two-time All-Stater at Waco, where he played in 1943 44-45, and from there comes Clifford (Cotton) Lindloff, who played with him and will present him for the Hall of Fame.

Two players from the 50s will make up the remaining members of the annual five getting their honors at the Breckenridge National Guard Armory.

Jerry Tubbs, Breckenridge's center who lost only three games in all his career here at home, will get a plaque from his coach, Joe Kerbel. Tubbs was an all-stater in high school, All-American at Oklahoma and has been a star of professional football. He now is an assistant coach of the Dallas Cowboys.

Karl Milstead of Athens was a wild card selection. He was a big star at guard and was sought by many college teams, finally going to Oklahoma where he was an outstanding player. He will be inducted into the Hall of Fame by his old coach, Herman Bailey, who now lives at Dallas.

Rhea Williams, director of the Texas Interscholastic League, and Morris Southall, former president of the Texas High School Coaches Association, will make talks.

Fifteen players who formerly were inducted into the Hall of Fame were invited to attend the banquet either in person or be represented. Those who have been inducted into the Hall of Fame were Blue Smith, Buster Mills, Boody Johnson, Bobby Wilson, Glynn Gregory, Roy Lumpkin, DeWitt Coulter, Stan Mauldin, Leo Baldwin, Boone Magness, Honk Irvin, Kyle Rote, Chal Daniel, Bert Marshall and Bob Harrison.

The banquet opens at 7 p.m. and will close at 9 p.m.

More than 400 persons are expected.

SWC Cage Season Begins Wednesday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Southwest Conference basketball season opens Wednesday night with the league trying to make up for some lost prestige on the intersectional front.

Not known as a powerful basketball league, the SWC has made great strides in the last several years and should have its best balance in decades.

Eighteen games are on tap Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday night. Conference play begins Jan. 15 with the final round of games March 4.

Defending champion Texas Christian, with four returning starters in the lineup, faces a tough task in trying to repeat against the likes of Texas, Texas Tech, SMU and Arkansas all bolstered by key sophomores and junior-college transfers.

Houston, newest SWC member, doesn't compete for the SWC title until 1975-76. The Cougars play a strong intersectional schedule again this season.

This weeks's schedule: Wednesday—Georgia Southern at Arkansas; Houston at Stanford, Mississippi at Texas, TCU at Oklahoma City, and Western Kentucky at Texas Tech; Thursday—Western Kentucky at Baylor; Houston at California; Rice at North Carolina; Vanderbilt at SMU; Texas Wesleyan at Texas A&M; Saturday—Arkansas at Missouri; Baylor at Oklahoma City; Tennessee at Houston; Rice at Wake Forest; Austin College at SMU; Alabama at Texas; Northwestern Louisiana at Texas A&M; and South Dakota State at Texas Tech.

Cattle Business Is Growing In Thailand Jungle

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN

PAKCHONG, Thailand (AP) — Using American purebred cattle, Texas know-how and the Chinese business savvy that has made him a multi-millionaire at the age of 34, Chockchai Bulakul is carving a cattle industry out of the jungles of northeastern Thailand.

He is confident he can prove beef cattle can be a bonanza for Thai exports.

Visitors to his 12,000 acre spread, two hours drive from Bangkok are treated to the eye-popping spectacle of sleek, fat cattle grazing in lush pasture land with Thai cowboys, booted and spurred, mounted on Texas-bred quarter horses, roping and branding as if to the manner born.

Except for the waving coconut palms, red roofed Thai temples and jungle covered mountains in the background it could be Texas.

Chockchai, a Cornell graduate and former part-time California ranch hand, has turned his ranch into an Eastern version of a set from a television Western. He has a six bedroom log cabin for guests that could have been taken from one of the Hollywood cowboy movies he admits to having loved as a boy. His own ranch house is fenced in like a Western fort, complete with sentry tower. A replica of an Indian totem pole he carved himself stands outside the stockade.

The ranch also boasts a zoo, in which the main attraction is a lion that eats rice. He also has a pigmy elephant, and seven hog deer which he claims may be the last in Thailand. Then there's a monkey, a bear, and a bulldog.

Any of his 60 cowboys who give him trouble get sent to the nearby Buddhist temple to have their heads shaved and spend two weeks contemplating the error of their ways. His cowboys earn 50 cents a day and he reckons them to be as good as any he saw in the United States where they earn $2 an hour.

"I have trouble keeping the young ones," he said. "You teach them to ride and three days later they want to go to Bangkok and become a jockey."

Chockchai's project to transform the impoverished Korat Plateau into rich cattle pasture has important political and economic implications for northeast Thailand, which comprises one third of the country's population and land area.

He has so far succeeded in winning support from the Thai and U.S. Governments, and the World Bank.

"This area has always been regarded as the Siberia of Thailand," said Chockchai.

Dry and dusty six months of the year, the North East has been neglected by the Thai Government, but not the communists, who have infiltrated and subverted large areas along the Mekong river and now boast an armed strength of about 2,000 men.

There are terrorists bands barely 30 kilometers from Chockchai's property. But so far they have proved less of a menace than rustlers and tigers who prey on the cattle.

"Cattle are the way to keep out communists," he said. "At the moment a farmer around here gets $12 an acre from growing corn, after ploughing, planting, harvesting, buying fertilizer and insecticides.

"His corn is sold to Japan for cattle feed. Thailand then imports Kobe beef at $10 a kilo (2.2 lbs). That's crazy! Why don't we feed the corn to our own cattle? This area is perfect for cattle. We can turn the jungle into pasture and graze millions of head. A farmer can get $85 an acre if he changes to cattle."

The son of a merchant who was known as the King of Rice, Chockchai wants to be known as the "Cattle King of Thailand."

HOW MANY POSIES ON THIS ROSE PARADE FLOAT? — That's the question pretty Teri Tait, 17, "Miss FTD Rose Parade Contest," is asking as she invites the public to guess the number of flowers on "Aquarius," the Florists' Transworld Delivery entry in the 83rd annual Pasadena Tournament of Roses Parade on New Year's Day, 1972. Winner will receive an all expense paid trip for two to the 1973 parade and Rose Bowl football game. Entry forms can be obtained at any of the 12,500 FTD florist shops in the U. S. and Canada. Contest closes Dec. 30 and the number of flowers on the float will be announced after the parade. Miss Tait gave these hints: The FTD float will be 50 feet long, 18 feet wide and 16 feet high. Parade officials estimate commercial entries of this size average about 150,000 whole flowers, more or less, depending on the design and style. An artist's illustration of the float will be on display at FTD shops.

Saint John Gets First Crude Oil Port, Terminal

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — North America's first supertanker crude oil port and terminal will be in Canadian instead of U.S. waters.

Nature played a major role but the U. S. political climate also was a major factor in Saint John, N. B., receiving the $60 million facility that later may include a $160 to $180 million refinery.

Continental Oil Co. is designing the terminal to facilitate delivery of low sulphur Libyan and Middle East oil to Canada and to U.S. markets as far south as the Mid-Atlantic area.

A number of U.S. sites were considered for the terminal and some still were in the running when Continental and other participants cut the list to five before selecting Saint John.

Continental officials are not commenting but New Brunswick's warm welcome for the project is in sharp contrast with attitudes of some state officials and congressional delegations from U.S. East Coast areas.

Delaware recently prohibited the construction of an oil refinery in that state by another company.

Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., has organized a group of East Coast congressional representatives to fight Interior Department proposals to offer Atlantic Coast offshore area leases for oil explorations.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is a frequent petroleum industry critic.

John L. Kelly, vice president for supply and transportation for Continental's Western Hemisphere division, ignored the U. S. political climate when he outlined for New Brunswick and Saint John officials the key factors leading to the final site election.

"Very important was the simple fact that you invited us," Kelly said. "Provincial and city officials made us feel welcome and wanted. They expressed a confidence in the company which we have every intention of fulfilling."

Other key factors, Kelly said, were Saint John's having deep water relatively close to shore and being located not far from the energy-hungry metropolitan centers of Canada and the United States.

Premier Richard B. Hatfield of New Brunswick responded by pledging government assistance and cooperation "in this great new development." He noted that the initial $60 million price tag includes $3.7 million in extensive plans to safeguard the environment during every step of the project.

Hatfield visualizes the terminal as the possible start of a $500 million industrial complex that also would include a power plant, the oil refinery, and chemical plants.

The Saint John complex will be used to unload supertankers up to the 300,000 deadweight ton category. The crude oil will be carried by above ground pipelines to an onshore tank farm with a 4 ½ million barrels storage capacity. From the tank farm, the oil then will be pipelined to smaller tankers capable of operating in Canadian and U.S. ports which can handle tankers no larger than 50,000 to 60,000 tons.

The Saint John supertanker dock will be 900 feet from shore in a water depth of 105 feet. Two other docks for handling smaller vessels will be about 700 feet from shore.

Continental hopes to complete the terminal in 1973 and gradually increase its through put capacity from 115,000 to 300,000 barrels a day.

Stella Stevens To Run In 1976

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Stella Stevens for president?

Sounds absurd, and the curvy blonde actress is the first to admit it.

But Miss Stevens—who once posed nude for Playboy, says "all sex is natural" and calls marijuana a gift from God—swears it's no publicity stunt. She's going to run as a third-party candidate in 1976.

Actor George Murphy made it to the U.S. Senate and actor Ronald Reagan is governor of California, but isn't it a putton to envision a sex symbol in the White House?

No, says Stella. She thinks she has a chance of winning. "I wouldn't run if I didn't think so. It's no sillier than running for movie star, which I did 11 years ago. It's a new challenge in my life. If I work for it I think I'll win it."

She's never run for office. Why now?

"I'm an idealist, and I think our country has fallen apart. It has not become America the Beautiful....

"I've seen the tremendous pillage and rape of the land and our lives by money-crazy men. Everything's polluted. Our minds are polluted. By being told things are wrong. By being told lies."

After acting in perhaps two more movies, and directing one she's been writing for 2½ years, Stella said, "I'll have all my time to help mankind if possible. On the real stage of the world, where it can do some good, instead of on the silver screen."

She wouldn't seek the nomination of Republicans or Democrats—"I don't see much difference between them, the way they're behaving now."

Instead, she'll run as the candidate of the "One Party." "One is a symbol of unity, of one God, one Now, one Existence. There should be one peace on earth, and it should be soon.

"I believe God is inside every human being; there is that oneness."

She started the party with seven friends and now has "about 50 people who have volunteered support and some money."

Heartdshaped campaign buttons will read: "I'm One—Are You?"

Stella's trim curves alone could win her some male votes. Blue-eyed, with short-cropped hair, she was born 32 years ago in Yazoo City, Miss.

When she was 3, the family moved to Memphis, where she modeled in a department-store tearoom and did her first acting at Memphis State College. A touring movie publicist suggested she go to Hollywood.

She wrote her own screen test, from a scene in a Harold Robbins novel, "79 Park Avenue," and was signed by 20th Century-Fox.

Stella later had contracts with Paramount and Columbia. "The most fun" among her 23 movies were "The Nutty Professor," with Jerry Lewis; "The Silencers," "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," "The Rage" and "The Ballad of Cable Hogue."

In an interview, the self-styled presidential aspirant said, "I think it's time somebody got serious and did something about conditions in this country.

"Man is going to be doomed as a species if something is not done about the ecological problem. There's no air to breathe in our cities, no water to drink. Poison is pouring out of the taps in Los Angeles.

"We're living in a sewer."

On other subjects—

"I believe every law which goes against the laws of nature, which is God, should be abolished. Restrictions on private morality, sexual morality.

"God made sex. That's what keeps us going on. All sex is natural. There is no such thing as an unnatural sex act.

"It's absurd to be able to grow poppies in your yard but not cannabis. Marijuana, a plant of nature.

"God made the plant and put it there, made it produce that effect on man which is pleasurable. A lot of people have died from liquor, but nobody has died from grass that I know of."

Won't such claims kill her presidential chances?

"No, because I'm not a liar. If I lose by telling the truth, the country doesn't really want the truth."

Airport Courts

DALLAS (AP) — The police at the new regional airport between Dallas and Fort Worth should have little trouble finding a court where they can take apprehended persons.

City courts in Dallas, Fort Worth, Grapevine, Coppell, Irving and Euless will be available, according to Lee Holt, a Dallas assistant attorney assigned to the airport. The giant complex extends into all these cities.

Cheese Recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says it is examining samples of a French cheese suspected of causing stomach ailments, and a New York importer is recalling 200 cases of the cheese.

The FDA said Friday that Anco Cheese Imports Inc. issued a recall order after being notified by the agency that the cheese was implicated in three outbreaks of gastrointestinal illness.

The recall applies to eight-ounce packages of Le Roitelet brand, French-produced Camembert cheese, the FDA said. The packages are stamped on the bottom with the number 3169.

The packages had been shipped to 15 consignees in New York; seven in Connecticut; six in New Jersey; three in Massachusetts, and one each in Southfield, Mich.; Denver; Atlanta; Los Angeles; New Orleans; Seattle; Cheverly, Md.; Wayne, Pa., and Washington.

The cheese has been sold mainly through specialty shops.

The labels say, "Camembert Soft Ripened Cheese Le Roitelet, Manufactured by S.A.F.R., 44 R. Louis Blanc, Paris, France . . . Fromage Camembert Cheese. . . ."

The FDA recommended that consumers not eat cheese from the batch and said the packages should be returned to the stores where purchased.

Piano Gets Around

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — If you've ever worried about moving a piano, consider the travel history of a massive, hand-carved grand that was contributed by Bertha Lindel to Goodwill.

It first was shipped from Boston to Iowa City, Iowa, where Miss Lindel's mother resided. That was in 1887, and over the next half-decade it followed the music-loving Lindels on their gradual move westward. In a whistle-stop prairie town in South Dakota it was an object of fascination to the Indian populations among them Chief Rain-in-the-Face.

It eventually was brought to California by Miss Lindel, who gave it to Goodwill because of lack of space.

Tell George the law's not all on his side!

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: George and I have been married for 36 years. We have five children, all married and on their own with nice families. George was never much for a family. All the time they were growing up, he was scared to death of him. His idea of "teaching" them something was to give them a good belt in the chops. It's a miracle they turned out as good as they did.

I've always covered up for George, but I've known all along he ran around with other women. He's in his middle fifties now and you'd think he'd slow up in that department, but now he runs more—not less.

Last week he came home very late smelling like a brewery, with lipstick all over his neck. I got mad and hit him with the broom. He said: "If you don't like it, go live with one of the kids! Everything in this house is MINE because I paid for it."

Is that true? I never worked outside the home. Can he really kick me out? I don't know he law. CHARLOTTE

DEAR CHARLOTTE: Tell your husband that the law has provisions for Lochinvars who get their second romantic wind in their mid-fifties, and if he doesn't behave himself, HE may have to go live with one of the kids. Even if the wife did not contribute a dime to the house, she is part-owner of everything in it. She contributed to the marriage by caring for the home and rearing the children. See a lawyer and find out what your rights are. It will come in handy, if George ever tries to bully you again.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was getting his hair cut the day the Orioles tied up the World Series, and his hair hasn't grown out yet. MARGIE IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR MARGIE: He's lucky he wasn't getting a shave!

DEAR ABBY: We live beside my husband's parents, whom I truly like. His mother has a hobby; his father doesn't. My husband isn't home during the evenings, so his father comes to see the children and me while his wife works at her hobby.

It would be fine if he came once or twice a week, but he comes over every single night and he stays four or five hours! I would like to be alone occasionally in the evenings, and this is beginning to bug me. There are lots of things I could be doing besides entertaining him.

He reads your column faithfully, so maybe he'll see himself and cut down on his visits. Thank you.

HOPEFUL IN OHIO

DEAR HOPEFUL: And what if he doesn't see it? You're a big girl now, so tell him in a nice way that you have little chores to do and need a few evenings a week in which to do them.

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior citizen [65] who is keeping company with a gentleman who is 68. He is a widower, and I am a widow. We enjoy each other tremendously as we both like to bowl, golf, sail and play bridge. He takes me to lovely places to dine and dance. Before he pops the question [which I feel certain will be very soon] shall I tell him that I wear a wig? I have five, all the same shade and styled the same way. My own hair has become so thin these past few years that it cannot be styled, and when I wear a wig it's so natural looking no one could ever tell it's not my own hair. My gentleman friend has complimented me repeatedly on my "lovely hair." Should I tell him now? Later? Or not at all? UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Tell him now.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Screwworm Cases Rise This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Screwworm outbreaks in the Southwest have been worse in 1971 than in the past several years, the Agriculture Department reports.

There were 433 cases listed through mid-November, making this the worst year since 1968 for the screwworm eradication program when 9,877 cases were reported, the department said. Only 153 cases were listed during 1970.

Although severe drought conditions during the spring kept screwworm populations low in the spring and summer, ideal conditions for screwworm development were recorded for the usual fall peak of cases.

Since the first screwworm case this year was reported Feb. 5 in Hidalgo County, Tex., 404 cases have been reported in Texas, four in Arizona, and 25 in Arkansas. California and New Mexico have had no reported cases this year. The fall screwworm season is about over so few additional cases are expected until next spring.

The department noted that an unusual occurrence this year was the screwworm outbreak in Texarkana, Tex., and nearby Arkansas.

This isolated but persistent infestation was first found on June 24 and resulted in 56 cases in a three-county area of Texas and Arkansas. The department said animal health officials theorize that the infestation was started by an infested animal that was shipped into the area. A thorough spray program and regular sterile fly drops ended the outbreak.

The department said that the screwworm eradication program in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands is continuing with sterile flies being dropped twice weekly by the 317th Special Operations Squadron of the U. S. Air Force. About two million sterile flies are flown weekly from the rearing facility at Mission, Tex., for distribution over the islands.

Al Capp To Stand Trial

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP) — Al Capp, creator of the cartoon Strip Li'l Abner, is expected to stand trial on morals charges in January or February, a judge says.

Judge Thomas Barland of the Eau Claire County Court commented Friday after turning over jurisdiction of the case to Circuit Court Judge Merrill Farr. Barland said the move would permit faster arraignment.

Capp was charged with sodomy, attempted adultery and indecent exposure after a 21-year-old married coed at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire filed a complaint. Capp has denied the charges.

U Thant To Leave Hospital

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant will be released today from a hospital here where he has been under treatment for a duodenal ulcer, a spokesman reports.

Thant, who plans to retire Dec. 31 after 10 years as secretary-general, entered Leroy Hospital Nov. 2.

CREW OF HIJACKED JET — The crew of a Northwest Airlines jet, hijacked Wednesday night in Seattle, appeared at a news conference at the Reno International Airport Thursday, about 2½ hours after the jet landed in Reno. The hijacker apparently parachuted with $200,000 after the plane left Seattle. It had stopped in Reno for fuel. Left to right are: Capt. William Scott; First Officer Robert Rataczak; Stewardess Tina Mucklow, and Second Officer Harold Anderson. No one was hurt, although the hijacker said he carried a bomb. (AP Wirephoto)

Harper Named Top Engineer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — William J. Harper, Houston, has been named young engineer of the year in Texas by the Texas Society of Professional engineers.

President Robert FM Mountz said the award recognizes Harper's technical ability, professional achievements and his civic and humanitarian activities. He will now represent Texas in the National Society of Professional Engineers young engineer of the year competition.

Harper, a materials and soils engineer for Southwestern Laboratories in Houston, was graduated from the University of Texas at Austin in 1960 with a B.S. degree in civil engineering. He received a M.S. degree in civil engineering from Texas A&M University in 1964.

He worked for the Texas Highway Department from 1960-63 as a senior engineering assistant and from 1964-67 as an assistant research engineer for the Texas Transportation Institute. He was an instructor in the Department of Civil Engineering at A&M in 1965.

Fights Measles

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The city council has begun a two-month drive to immunize 15,000 schoolgirls against German measles. Vaccine, which cost the authorities $1.40 per child, was available to all white girls in their first year of high school and to all 12-year-old schoolgirls of other races.

German measles, or rubella, is an infectious disease which, if contracted by pregnant women, can result in mentally retarded children.

Injunction Halts Eviction

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Ernest Guinn issued an injunction Wednesday halting eviction proceedings against James McDonald of El Paso. The injunction was requested by James M. Gardner, compliance investigator for the Economic Stabilization Program office. McDonald says he was told to leave when he refused to accept a $40 a month rent increase. The Myrtle Cockrill estate owns the duplex where McDonald lives. Guinn said he will hear the case for a permanent injunction Dec. 1.

MR. AND MRS. WAYNE GRIZZLE

Merritt, Grizzle Wed In Home Ceremony Nov. 13

Miss Fleeta Dianne Merritt and Dennis Wayne Grizzle were united in marriage at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 13 in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Cone Merritt officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Merritt of Snyder. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Grizzle of Ira.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street length dress of white crepe and lace and an elbow length veil of white lace which was fashioned by her mother. The blue garter she wore was a gift from her aunt. She carried a bridal bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Linda Loper was maid of honor and Miss Kathy Merritt, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore street length dresses of soft yellow with long sleeves of chiffon. They wore corsages of white carnations.

Stanley Harrison of Arch, New Mexico and cousin of the groom served as best man.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar of yellow mums and greenery and a memory candle, which they lighted together.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents follwoing the ceremony. The table was laid with a white cloth and held a centerpiece of yellow roses. Mrs. Lonnie Loper served the two tiered wedding cake which was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Linda Loper served punch to the wedding guests. Out of town guests were from Arch, New Mexico.

For her going away outfit the bride chose a navy blue pantsuit of double knit and wore an orchid corsage from her bridal boquet. After a short wedding trip to Lubbock the couple are at home in Snyder on the Clairemont Road.

The bride is a Senior at Snyder High School. The bridegroom is a 1967 graduate of Ira High School and attended Baylor University. He is presently employed by Universal Oil Well Service.

She Danced To Live

By DAVID GOELLER
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) The Good Old Days mean different things to different people. To Betty Rector, they are sore feet but soaring spirits during weeks of waltzing and Lindy Hopping in a Depression-era dance marathon.

In those days of the early 1930s, Mrs. Rector of Glen Burnie, Md., was Betty Moore, a 96-pound wisp of a girl who danced much of the time with the dozing hulk of a partner draped over her shoulders.

"I was in the marathons because I liked to dance," said Mrs. Rector, who served as the unpaid expert consultant to University of Maryland students who staged a 52-hour marathon recently to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America.

To Mrs. Rector, a 52-hour marathon would have been a short warm-up jog.

She danced in 20 dance contests beginning in Philadelphia in 1931 and continuing in a circuit stretching from Massachusetts to Cumberland in Western Maryland.

Her longest marathon performance was three months of 'round-the-clock dancing, and she still did not win.

"I never won any of them," she recalled. "They always gave prizes to the last four couples, and when we got down to five or six couples left, I'd get bored and move on to another one."

Mrs. Rector, now 58, said that marathon dancers got 10-minute breaks every hour, ate or snacked six times a day and were given massages by trainers.

"We did our sleeping on the dance floor," said Mrs. Rector, who was nicknamed the "Sugar Nymph" during her marathon days.

She said she worked for a promoter named Zeke Youngblood who paid travel and expenses for dancers on the marathon circuit. Her usual partner was Eddie Kish.

"I'd love to get in touch with some of the people I danced with," she said.

Mrs. Rector recalled her first marathon.

"The first week I couldn't sleep, and half the time I didn't know where I was. When I came to and found out where I was, I was shocked. But then the whole thing was a lot of fun.

"The first week our feet were killing us," she continued. "We had to put them first in hot water and then ice. It sort of toughened your feet up."

Mrs. Rector said the hardest part of the marathons was "carrying those heavy partners around." But "I haven't danced for 35 years—ever since I got married," she said. "My husband didn't dance."

Make Your Own Cranberry Juice

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

DEAR CECILY: I would appreciate a recipe for making pure cranberry juice for drinking purposes. I read your recipe in the paper for preserving cranberry jelly. I made some and it was very successful.—MAN COOK.

DEAR MAN COOK: Here's the recipe you want—as pure as it can possibly be made.—C.B.

HOMEMADE CRANBERRY JUICE

1-pound package (about 4 cups) cranberries, fresh or frozen
4 cups water
2-3rds to 1 cup sugar

Rinse cranberries in cold water and turn into a large saucepan; add water; bring to a boil and boil until cranberries pop and are soft—15 minutes. Strain cranberries with their liquid through a food mill, then strain again through a fine sieve to remove seeds. Pour juice into a saucepan; add sugar; bring to a full boil; spoon off foam. Refrigerate and use within a few days, diluting—if desired—with water. Or freeze or can juice following directions below. Makes about 1¼ quarts.

TO FREEZE CRANBERRY JUICE

Chill juice. Wash 5 half-pint wide-mouth freezing jars in hot soapy water; rinse, drain and cool. Wash and rinse lids and bands. Place lids in a small saucepan and pour boiling water over them; let stand off heat until ready to use. Fill jars with cranberry juice, leaving 1-inch headspace. Wipe sealing edge and threads of jars with a clean damp cloth. Put lids on jars; screw bands very tight. Place jars upright in freezer until frozen, then arrange in any desired position.

TO CAN CRANBERRY JUICE

Before beginning the preparation of Cranberry Juice, prepare a boiling-water bath. An ordinary covered pot with a rack in the bottom may be used. The rack should hold the jars about ½-inch above the bottom of the pot and it should be deep enough for water to cover the jars at least 1 inch over the top without boiling over. Add water to the pot and heat so that the water can be coming to a boil while the cranberry juice is being prepared. After straining the berries and before bringing the juice and sugar to a boil, wash in hot soapy water 5 half-pint wide-mouth canning jars, lids and bands; rinse and drain. Place lids in a small saucepan and pour boiling water over them; let stand off heat until ready to use.

Bring cranberry juice with sugar to a boil; spoon off foam. Pour boiling-hot cranberry juice into jars, leaving ½-inch headspace. Wipe sealing edge and threads of jars with a clean damp cloth. Put lids on jars and screw bands very tight. Using a jar lifter, lower jars into boiling-water bath. Cover pan and when water returns to a full rolling boil, start counting time. Process 10 minutes. Remove jars from bath and place 2 or 3 inches apart on a rack or several thicknesses of cloth; let cool completely. Test for seal. If center of lid is down or stays down when pressed, jar is properly sealed. Remove bands if you like; bands may be reused, but do not reuse lids. Wipe and store jars in cool dark dry place.

ACC Students Reach Goal

AUSTIN (AP) — Two Abilene Christian College sophomores looked on Austin as some mountain climbers view mount Everest.

"We just wanted to see if we could make it," said Vernie Bernard, 19, of Austin of his and a classmate's 210-mile bicycle trip from Abilene for Thanksgiving dinner.

Bernard and Kim Abraham, 19, of Atlanta, Ga., started their hilly, chilly ride at 10 a.m. Wednesday and arrived here about 6:45 p.m. Thursday, They said they did not train for the long jaunt on 10-speed bikes.

The slept over in Goldthwaite, roughly halfway between Abilene and Austin — Abraham in some bushes behind a church and Bernard in a laundromat after he found it too cold in the bushes.

Are they biking back?

"We are going to drive back in a pickup truck with our bikes in the back," Bernard said emphatically.

Police in Pittsburgh, Pa., will receive a $400 pay increase per man in 1972. The city has 1,600 policemen.

Phesants Need Cover

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Pheasants introduced into the Texas Panhandle need more cover, say game bird experts. Particularly, they need places to keep warm in the winter.

Cover just as much as food is largely responsible for limiting the bird population and a low survival rate thus reduces brood stock for the coming nesting season, the Parks and Wildlife Department reports.

Birds in northern states benefit from land near lakes, late crop harvest, windbreaks and lush growth of tall grasses on idle acres not subject to cultivation.

Panhandle birds aren't so lucky. The Panhandle is extensively cultivated, and lake lands are scarce except for play lakes. Crop stubble often is plowed or burned, and there are few windbreaks and too much short grass. All of this adds up to very few places a pheasant can go to shiver when the cold winds blow.

And, according to biologists, clean farming as practiced in the Texas Panhandle plays havoc with the pheasants' winter food supply.

All conditions equal, say biologists, Texas pheasant could probably tolerate Texas winters better than the birds in sub-zero northern areas but without necessary cover the birds are literally out in the cold.

If farmers and ranchers want pheasant they must farm for them, biologists say. The birds are on the land year around, hence the unplowed fence-row and heavy stubble left on the land may mean the difference in survival for good brood birds next spring, and death from starvation, cold and exposure. Leaving some dense cover may prevent pheasant die-off and waste.

JANUARY WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Dockrey of Colorado City announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their duaghter, Rhonda Gayle, to Ira Baxter (Iky) Roberson, son of Mrs. Charlcie Roberson and the late I.B. Roberson. The bride-elect attended Texas Tech University and is a graduate of Charles and Sue's School of Beauty. The prospective groom attended Angelo State University and Sul Ross and is presently employed by Oil Well Supply of Snyder. The couple plan to be wed Jan. 29 at the First Baptist Church in Colorado City. (Photo by Craft)

Many Babies Born In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — While the nation's birth rate dropped to the lowest level in history in the first half of 1971, Dallas continued to report an average of 2,000 babies born each month.

"Actually, we expect to end the year with more than the 25,074 recorded last year," said Dr. Billy J. Moore, statistician for the Dallas Health Department. "Our percentage rate per 1,000 of childbearing women might be down slightly but the total will be higher."

Judge Doubles As Cave Guide

STANTON, Mo. (AP) — Whenever Larry Davis visits Meramec Caverns on U.S. 66, staffers sing out, "Here Comes The Judge."

Davis was a cave guide there for nine years. He is now magistrate of Franklin County. He and his family visit the cave often as his father-in-law is Lester B. Dill, cave owner.

MR. AND MRS. A. P. BIGGS

Couple To Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. A.P. Biggs of Rt. 1, Aledo, Texas will observe their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house and reception from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 5, at the Gause Ware Room, 1200 Pennsylvania Ave., Ft. Worth, Tex.

The reception is being given by their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. John Tillman, who also reside in Aledo.

Mr. and Mrs. Biggs were married Dec. 8, 1921 in Fluvanna. They both, however, were raised in Snyder and lived here until 1942, when they moved to Ft. Worth. Mrs. Biggs was the former Lola Lee Ramsey.

Mr. and Mrs. Biggs belong to Ridglea Methodist Church and both are very active in church work. They are also Gold Star Parents, having lost their only son in World War II. They have done volunteer work at Carswell Air Force Base Hospital, United States Public Health Service Hospital and Peter Smith Hospital.

Mr. Biggs is now retired and enjoys working with quarter horses and Angus cattle. Mrs. Biggs enjoys gardening. She also trains and shows Border Collie Dogs. They both especially love to travel. They've been all over the United States including Hawaii. They have also been to Canada and Naussau.

Others who will help with the reception are Mrs. Jack Ramsey, Mrs. Audry Head and Mrs. Fred Davis of Snyder and Mrs. Howell McClinton of Ft. Worth.

Champion Mouse Trap

DALLAS (AP) — Mr.. and Mrs. Augustus B. Green believe they may have the champion 49-cent mouse trap of the world.

This is because it caught three mice with one piece of cheese and one snap recently.

"I think those stingy rats were fussing over that little piece of cheese," said Mrs. Green, "and they got just a little too greedy."

Troubled with the sound of mice in the ceiling for some time, the Greens are at peace now with no nighttime patter of little feet.

Water Problem

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Water hyacinth has choked up nearby Lake McIlwaine and the government is to be asked for the equivalent of $70,000 to clear it. Officials don't want to use herbicides to clear the hyacinth because they could pollute the city's drinking water.

Dogs Are Eating Better

LONDON (AP) — One member of the British household who has not suffered from rising prices is the dog. According to an advertising survey owners are buying five per cent more dog food than they were three years ago, despite a drop in the canine population.

CHERRY SAUCE

For dessert fans who favor maraschino cherries.

1 jar (8 ounces) red maraschino cherries.
1 can (17 ounces) apricot halves, undrained
3 thin strips (2 inches long) orange rind
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon water
3 tablespoons apricot liqueur

Drain cherries, reserving syrup. Chop cherries and set aside. Place cherry syrup, apricots and orange peel in electric blender; puree at high speed until smooth. In a saucepan stir together cornstarch and water until smooth; stir in apricot puree and cherries. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Chill. Just before serving, stir in apricot liqueur.

What's new on the market?

THE PRODUCT — A wrench especially for use on undersink pipes and "gooseneck."

Manufacturer's claim—That this wrench will do away with the problem of removing the pipe nuts under a sink, which often defy the efforts of do-it-yourself home owners without professional plumbing tools..... That the two open ends of the wrench, one 2 inches and one 1¾ inches, will fit 99 per cent of all gooseneck nuts..... That the wrench has a corrosion-resistant gunmetal finish on steel. ... And that, because it will fit the nut exactly, there will be no marring of the gooseneck's chrome coating.

THE PRODUCT—A bolt cutter with a unique shearing action.

Manufacturer's claim—That the action of this cutter enables chains, rods and threaded bolts to be cut cleanly.... That there is no need to redress threads on machine bolts and threaded rods.... That the cutter has a nose-cutting feature that lets you cut chain, fencing and long wire..... And that the cutter is so designed that it also can be used for bending metal stock up to one-quarter of an inch thick.

THE PRODUCT—An abrasive eraser for removing rust.

Manufacturer's claim—That a finger-sized abrasive handbar wipes away rust, other corrosion or spots from metal surfaces, leaving bright finishes. ... That it eliminates surface preparation and can be handled without gloves. .... That it can also be used for removing scuffs, stains and discolorations from composition flooring, ceramics, plastics, rubber, glass, fiber, wood, brick and stone.

THE PRODUCT—A so-called "burglar proof" security bolt.

Manufacturer's claim—That the security feature of the new bolt is a rotating pin coated with a non-stick finish enclosed in the barrel. ... That a hacksaw might cut through the outside of the bolt but would be stopped from cutting further when it meets the freely rotating pin. ... That the non-stick finish, of the kind used on cooking utensils, provides a smooth surface, permits the pin to rotate easily and makes it rustproof.

(Thirty home repair problems are discussed in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," which can be obtained by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Updike Characters Orate About Current Topics

RABBIT REDUX. By John Updike. Knopf. $7.95.

This is the sequel, after 10 years, to Updike's "Rabbit, Run." Harry (Rabbit) Angstrom is not running very fast this time. But he is as dopey as ever.

He had returned—under what circumstances is not explained—to his wife Janice. But now Janice has left him, to live with a Greek-American lover who obviously has no honorable intentions. The 13-year-old son of Rabbit and Janice, a mixed up kid named Nelson, stays with Rabbit.

So Rabbit, slumming in a bar catering to the local blacks, picks up an 18-year-old white girl, Jill, a spoiled, over-privileged daughter of a wealthy Connecticut family, who has run away and has freaked out with a young black known as Skeeter. Casually, Jill comes to live with Rabbit.

Then Skeeter barges in and comes to live with Rabbit, Jill and Nelson. Just why the Rabbit is such a doormat to accept this arrangement is not clear. But it becomes obvious that Skeeter is trying to get Jill back on drugs.

The novel is puzzling. None of the characters seems very real and their actions are implausible. They orate at each other about Vietnam, racism and similar topics. And live sordid lives.

In his novel "Couples," Updike discovered, somewhat belatedly, that there is some wife-swapping in the suburbs, and then wrote a peculiar thing called "Bech: A Book." Just what he is up to this time is anyone's guess. Maybe he wants to use his puppets to have his say about contemporary topics? Whatever the purpose may be, it seems that this has been a waste of time for both the author and the reader.

Film Star Is Married To Her Director

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Actresses married to movie directors can "have their cake and eat it too," says charming British actress Nanette Newman, star of the film, "Loot Ago, Tomorrow."

As a matter of fact, Nanette is surer of the biscuits she feeds her husband-director Bryan Forbes, than she is of her acting ability. But his confidence remains steady. She has played in most of his films.

"I'd like to say that Bryan tested a lot of girls for my latest role. But it simply wouldn't be true. I suspect he wrote the screen play with me in mind."

A warm personality, Nanette is a homebody, who had her needlepoint at her fingertips as she discussed the film.

But she says her relaxed appearance is at times deceiving.

"I always put Bryan through a terrible evening before I begin a movie. I am a terrible panicker. I become absolutely ill and say such things as 'I would do anything to get out of this .... I'm happily married with two wonderful children.... why do I want to be an actress,' and so on, far into the night."

"Of course there are a lot of little drawbacks in being a director's wife .... you must be on your toes every minute .... first on the set, and last to leave it. You can't have people think you are trying to get special privileges...."

She says she doesn't know why she gets so upset before a movie because Bryan is, after all, an actor's director. He was an actor and understands the traumas. And she knows no matter how he tells her to play a scene, it will be right for her.

If Nanette ever had to choose between acting and being a housewife, she'd choose the homebody role.

"There are a phenomenal number of unhappy people in this business, and when two people are in it in different parts of the world and their children are wondering when mommy and daddy are coming home, it isn't right."

She would never take an away-from-home role unless she was accompanied by her family. When Bryan travels, they all travel, she says.

"But we love our home, and I am more confident about my cooking than my acting. I'm a good cook, an experimental cook, who loves to try out new disasters. I've just collected a whole batch of recipes in France when we stayed at Yul Brynner's house in Normandy.... I can't wait to try them."

Although there is another movie for her in the near future she'll have a good whack at cooking and housekeeping as soon as she gets back to England. The Forbes' house at Wentworth is a delightful one, she says, with its own lake and little island. When they bought it several years ago, it was rundown and everyone said they were "absolutely mad." She manages the huge house with a dayworker and a nanny who cares for the girls, Sarah 12 and Emma 6.

The girls have bit parts in the movie, but Nanette isn't necessarily encouraging them to movie careers because "acting is a very tough profession ... I wouldn't push them either way ... but if they were desperate to do something about it, I would help them."

When Nanette decided to marry Forbes after completing her scholarship award with the Royal Academy of Art, her father was unhappy, believing it would terminate her career. But soon Bryan went from acting to writing film strips and directing. Nanette was able to combine a career and motherhood.

"I really love working with him...."

Queen Of Bread Puddings Is Old-Fashioned Delight

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
CAssociated Press Food Editor

DEAR CECILY: My grandmother used to make a delicious dessert called Queen of Bread Puddings. It had a topping of jam and meringue. I can't find a recipe for this pudding. Do you have one?—NOSTALGIC COOK.

DEAR NOSTALGIC COOK: Queen of Bread Puddings is indeed an old-fashioned delight that should not be neglected. Here is an up-dated recipe for it. It may be served warm or cold; when we did our taste-testing we found it equally good both ways. The strawberry preserves and the meringue really make this dessert outstanding—good enough for company.—C. B.

OLD-TIME TREAT—Bread pudding rises to new heights when it's given a luscious topping of strawberry preserves and meringue.

QUEEN OF BREAD PUDDINGS

2 cups milk ¼ cup (½ of a ¼-pound stick) butter
3 slices (about) firm-type bread
2 large eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup sugar
½ cup strawberry preserves

In a 1-quart saucspan heat milk and butter just until butter is melted; set aside to cool slightly.

Without removing crusts, tear bread into ragged dime-size crumbs to make 2 cups. Place crumbs over bottom of a 1-quart round glass casserole (6½ by 2½ inches) or similar utensil.

Separate eggs, putting yolks into a small mixing bowl and whites into another small mixing bowl.

Beat yolks until thickened and lemon colored. Slowly stir in ½ cup of the milk-butter mixture, then stir back into remaining milk-butter mixture. Stir in vanilla. Pour over crumbs in casserole. Place casserole in a square cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). Add 3 cups hot tap water to the pan—water should be about 1¼ inches deep. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a knife inserted halfway between center and edge comes out clean—50 to 60 minutes. Remove from oven (leave oven turned on) but do not remove casserole from water.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Beat in sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time; continue to beat until meringue stands in stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn.

Spread strawberry preserves over pudding. Spoon meringue over preserves. Return pudding, without removing it from water, to 325-degree oven and continue baking until meringue is lightly browned—10 to 12 minutes. Serve warm or chilled.

Makes 6 servings.

Family Living Costs

COLLEGE STATION—How much money does it take to live?

For an urban U.S. family of four living on an intermediate budget, it cost an estimated $10,664 in Spring, 1970, reports Bonnie Fowler, Extension home management specialist. For a family of four on a lower budget, the cost was $6,960, compared to $15,511 for a family living on a higher budget.

These figures, based on Bureau of Labor statistics, are for an urban family of four with two children, a boy aged 13 and a girl 6, in which the homemaker is not employed.

Living costs vary widely among various regions and cities, continues Mrs. Fowler. For example, the costs are generally lower in small cities and in southern parts of the United States. In non-metropolitan areas of the south, living costs for the urban family of four on an intermediate averaged $9,862. The national average was $10,664.

According to the estimates, the family spent approximately 23 percent of their income for food, 23.4 percent on housing and 10.7 percent on clothing and personal care. Transportation accounted for 8.6 percent, while 5.3 percent went for medical care, and 18 percent was spent on taxes. All other spending, including gifts and contributions, occupational expenses and life insurance, totaled 11 percent.

The ruffed grouse season in upstate New York has been extended from Dec. 31 through Jan. 31.

Quotable Women

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I think the whole trouble with the world is that people are taught to expect—not react. After all these years of asking questions, everybody has missed the point—that there are no answers. The point is to raise the questions."—Comedy writer Marcia Jacobs, in an interview.

"Men have monthly rhythms too, although not much research has been done in this area since all the researchers are men. But it has been shown that men have pronounced four- and six-week mood cycles."—Gay Gaer Luce, a scientific writer who authored "Body Time."

"I was really inspired by the Indians' relationship to the land. They have a well thought out way of living in harmony with nature. We're all asking how to cope with nature today, and it seems to me the Indians had a few answers."—T.C. McLuhan, author of the book, "Touch the Earth."

"I'm very happy for all women and myself...I've been a liberated woman all my life."—Sally Reed, involved in a legal case which resulted in a Supreme Court ruling barring arbitrary discrimination against women by legislators everywhere in the nation.

"The present type of economic, political and social system in the United States makes it impossible for any type of justifiable prison system to be run in the U.S."—Kathleen Cleaver, wife of exiled Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver, at a news conference.

New Angle On Dancing

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — About 75 per cent of divorces start on the dance floor, says a publication of the Dutch Reformed Church. The clergyman-author wrote that "The joint screaming and sweating (of modern dancing), the oneness of rhythm and movement, rouse one to the feeling of one body with many members—the one is the other. This can clearly be seen when one of the girls goes into ecstasy—actually becoming hysterical—and begins to undress... Sometimes one wonders if this is not possibly the goal of these sensually moistening 'shake' and 'soul' dances."

Police Force Has Woman Sergeant

DALLAS (AP) — Mary Trout, one of 21 women on the Dallas police force, has been named its first woman sergeant.

The attractive 5-foot-6 policewoman joined the force in the juvenile division, later worked as an investigator and on the vice squad.

In the face of increasing burglaries and other crimes people are turning the key and buying better locks.

Salmon Survey Is Launched

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Danish and British fishery authorities will launch a large-scale operation to mark salmon off Greenland to determine how badly they have been decimated by intensified deep sea fishing.

Experts fear that wide-scale drift-net fishing in Greenland waters may have seriously depleted salmon schools and threatened breeding in Scottish rivers.

Youths Risking Lives To Escape Red China

By DAVID J. PAINE
Associated Press Writer

HONG KONG (AP) — The two youths, near exhaustion from many hours in the water, swam wearily towards the island which loomed above them out of the darkness.

Suddenly the water behind them swirled. A huge fish, a shark or barracuda, glided towards them out of the darkness.

One of the swimmers screamed in terror as razor sharp teeth tore the flesh from just below the knee and ravaged his leg.

The attacker struck again, ripping at his calf. A third time the vicious teeth snapped, clamping on the youth's foot and dragging him down. He twisted and writhed and the teeth released their grip.

The victim was Chan Sze-king, a 20-year-old freedom swimmer fleeing Communist China. He survived the attack and 30 hours waiting on rain-swept rocks for help, but lost his left leg.

Chan was one of a steady stream of young Chinese who risk their lives to escape from Communist China. Most of them are lured by the bright lights of Hong Kong—the hope of a good job in this industrial colony and material benefits they could not expect in China.

Almost all the escapees swim across Mirs Bay or Deep Bay, the two stretches of water several miles wide between Hong Kong and the mainland. They are the freedom swimmers. Only a handful try to cross the 22-mile-long land frontier, which is far riskier.

Most are in their late teens or early 20s. The swim across the bays is a dangerous and arduous one. Few older people attempt it. In late 1970, as the water became colder with approaching winter, several dozen bodies of would-be refugees were washed ashore in Hong Kong.

There also is the risk of being caught by Communist Chinese border guards.

In the first 10 months of 1971, about 3,300 refugees were apprehended by Hong Kong authorities as they entered the colony. This was almost double the number for the whole of the previous year. For every one caught, probably another four slipped in unnoticed. This would mean that about 16,500 Chinese fled from Red China to Hong Kong between January and October.

As in the case of Chan, the refugees almost invariably are allowed to remain in Hong Kong.

Chan was working on an agricultural commune about 80 miles from the Hong Kong border in China's Kwangtung Province, when he and a friend decided to try and flee to Hong Kong.

The slimly-built youth had been a high school student in Canton when he was sent to the commune two years earlier.

"I was not very happy doing agricultural work and we had barely enough to eat, so I decided to try and get to Hong Kong," he said. "I hoped that I could get a job here. The question of communism did not come into it, I am not politically-minded. I just wanted a better life."

Chan spoke in a soft voice, often hesitantly, as he related the story of his escape.

"It took us several days, possibly a week, to reach the sea," he said.

"Eventually we reached the water (Mirs Bay) and it was not very cold. The weather was warm at this time of the year.

"I don't quite remember how many hours we swam but it took most of the night. We had plastic bags which we blew up to support us. My friend and I are both good swimmers; we used to swim a lot in the rivers around the commune.

"It was just before dawn, when we were getting near a small island, that I was attacked by a big fish. I did not see the fish at all and I don't know what sort it was.

"My friend, who was not attacked, helped me to get to the island.

"The next morning, about 30 hours after the attack, my friend saw a Hong Kong marine police launch. They saw him waving and came to the island.

"We were taken in the launch to a place where an ambulance picked me up and took me to a hospital. My leg was so bad by this time that they had to amputate it that afternoon."

The future is uncertain for Chan and he is reluctant to discuss the past. But he showed no signs of regret over the flight which cost him his leg and said: "I can't look back now."

Junior Editors Quiz on POLITICAL PARTIES

QUESTION: What is the difference between a Republican and a Democrat?

* * *

ANSWER: The Republican party in the U.S. is a descendent of the Federalist party of Washington and Hamilton, and the Whig party of Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. When there was dissension in the Whig party over the extension of slavery, the Republican party was formed in 1854 prior to the Civil War. The Republican party has been considered conservative in politics and economics. It favored a strong central government and high tariffs to protect industry.

The Democratic party, originally known as the Democratic Republican party, originated with Thomas Jefferson in 1800. In 1828 it assumed the name Democratic party under Andrew Jackson. It opposed central federal authority, favoring states rights. It emphasized personal liberty and sought the support of farmers and laborers.

The U.S. party system resembles the English Tory and Whig, or as they are known today, Conservative and Liberal. However, in recent years, there are conservative and liberal wings in both the Democratic and Republican parties.

Modern Express

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Eight North Texas area universities are running their own kind of modern pony express for the Inter university Council's new library courier service is initiated.

The eight schools, all connected by the council's interlibrary teletype network, are financing the daily courier service which will carry an estimated 10,000 pieces of library material over some 37,500 miles within the next year.

Authorized and financed by the schools for a six-month trial period, the courier service will operate out of the University of Texas at Arlington.

Charles Armstrong, a former UT-Arlington student whose wife is interlibrary loan librarian at the school, will drive the 144-mile route daily, delivering material to Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, North Texas State University and Texas Woman's University in Denton, Southwestern Medical School in Dallas and the University of Dallas in Irving.

Material also will be delivered each day to Transportation Enterprises, the Dallas-based commuter bus service, which in turn will relay it on to East Texas State University in Commerce.

The success of the interlibrary loan teletype network between these eight schools promoted the addition of the courier service, said Col. Stanley Reif, the council's executive secretary.

"Even with the teletype available to locate needed material, a student had to wait an average of five days for the resources to arrive by mail," he said. "With the courier service, the material should be in the student's hands the following day."

If the service proves successful, the program may be extended to include the other council schools, Bishop College, Baylor Dental College, Texas Wesleyan College, Dallas Baptist College, Austin College and the University of Texas at Dallas

Jobs Working With Indians

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I'm a sophomore in college. My parents send me your column but I don't recall if you have ever discussed careers working for the Bureau of Indian Affairs. I would like to know the various jobs available. — T S T, Denver

The Bureau of Indian Affairs is part of the U.S. Department of Interior, and nearly all positions in Interior are under civil service. By law, hiring preference is given to American Indians, Eskimos and Aleuts although this does not mean that others are not hired also. Some 360 different types of occupations are found within the Bureau.

CURRENTLY, however, there's a hiring freeze throughout the Interior Department, one which is separate from the President's wage-price restrictions. The precise date for lifting the hiring ban is unknown but the freeze is expected to last at least 6 months for the Indian Affairs agency.

A booklet, "Careers in the U.S. Department of Interior," describes the work of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

"The Bureau has a basic responsibility as trustee for about 51 million acres of Indian land (about 39 million of which is tribally owned and the balance owned by Indians who are heirs to allotted lands under an 1887 act)." Bureau programs take 2 primary directions:

"SERVICES TO THE PEOPLE themselves and economic development of natural resources." Social service programs to the people include: "school construction and operation, teacher training, adult education and recreation activities, welfare to needy families, vocational training for adults, on-the-job training and placement services, aid to families and individuals wishing to leave the reservations, aid to tribes in law enforcement on the reservations, and technical assistance to tribal governments in developing programs of social and economic improvement."

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS which the Bureau subsidizes in whole or in part include: "irrigation, road construction, flood control, sustained yield management of forest reserves to produce maximim revenues, development of facilities to serve Indian communities, extension-type guidance in farming and ranching, real estate appraisal to insure maximum returns from leases and land sales, technical aid in developing mineral resources, and loans for agricultural, commercial and industrial expansion."

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES. The primary need in the Bureau at the present time is for foresters, range conservationists, personnel specialists and electronic data processing personnel (the latter in the New Mexico data processing center). Other occupations which the Bureau has needed in the past in relatively large numbers are teachers (greatest need is for Indian teachers), engineers of many types, realty specialists, employment assistance specialists, social workers, soil conservationists, soil scientists and some administrators.

THE DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR is the nation's principal conservation agency with basic responsibilities for water, fish, wildlife, mineral, land park and recreational resources, in addition to Indian and territorial affairs. Readers interested in details for Interior Department training programs, and a wide range of career opportunities can obtain a copy of "Careers in the U.S. Department of the Interior, A Directory for College Students" by sending 50 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Mexicans Have Most Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau says it has compiled figures on the fertility rates of various ethnic groups for the first time and found black and Mexican-American women have more children than women in other groups.

The bureau said Friday that figures from a sample survey conducted in November 1969 on women 35 to 44 showed:

Mexican American women already had an average of 4.4 children each; black women 3.6 children each; women of Russian and Italian extraction 2.4 each; and most other groups were at the national average 2.9 children each.

The report also said that women living in low-income neighborhoods were more fertile than those living in other parts of metropolitan areas and that women in the Northeast and West were the least fertile.

A conference on pollution control and the marine industry will be held next April w0-21 in New Orleans.

Impeachment Drive Started

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay is the target of an impeachment drive by Forest Hills residents angered over his support of a low-income housing project in their middle-class neighborhood.

Petitions distributed Friday by protesters at the construction site urge Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a long-time political foe of Lindsay, to institute impeachment procedures against the mayor "for continual failures."

The governor is empowered to suspend the mayor for up to 30 days pending preparation and disposition of charges. He then may remove the mayor from office after allowing him to defend himself.

Lindsay is in Honolulu for a meeting of the National League of Cities and his press office declined comment on the petition.

Air Crashes Claim 8 Texans

Two out-of-state private plane crashes have claimed the lives of eight Texans since the Thanksgiving holidays began.

Four persons died Friday afternoon in a crash of a light plane about 20 miles northeast of Rolla, Mo. near the High Gate community.

The highway patrol said the victims were the pilot, H.M. Wingfield Jr., 37, and his wife, Gracie Jean, 33, of Bryan, Tex.; the pilot's mother, Mrs. Ellie Wingfield, and Mrs. Leona Crawford Virgil, 51, both of Fort Worth, Tex.

James Cummins, stationed at the Rolla National Airport, 10 miles north of Rolla, said there was misty rain when the pilot radioed for permission to make an instrument landing at the field.

Miss Janet Clark of Bland, Mo., a motorist, saw the plane briefly before it disappeared into the timber.

"It came out of the clouds in a spiral," Miss Clark said. "It was almost vertical."

The patrol said the plane was enroute from Texas to St. Louis.

Another Texas plane crashed Wednesday night in Southwest Kansas near Garden City killing four persons and injuring a fifth critically.

'No Contest'

KAMPALA (AP) — Police had to search for the organizer of the Miss Uganda contest which was to have decided the beauty to compete in the Miss World contest in London.

He disappeared—along with the prize money, leaving 19 local beauty queens and 500 guests in the lurch.

Missing Girl Found Dead In Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The months-long search for 13-year old Colette Anise Wilson ended Friday with the finding of her badly decomposed body about 200 yards from a spot where another dead girl was found last Tuesday.

Miss Wilson had disappeared from a rural road intersection near her home in Brazoria County on June 17. The girl had been dropped off there to wait for her mother who was driving from the family home about a mile and a half away.

She had been attending a band camp at nearby Sugar Land.

Last Tuesday a hunter found the remains of Gloria Ann Gonzales, 19, in the same area in the Addicks Reservoir woods in southwest Harris county.

An autopsy revealed that Miss Gonzales, a Houston bookkeeper who had disappeared Oct. 31 after leaving for a vacation, had been beaten to death.

"We were prompted to search this area again, when we discovered that one of the teeth found scattered in this area did not belong to the other (Gonzales) girl found earlier this week," Harris County Sheriff C.V. Kern said Friday.

"We were pretty certain that it was the Wilson girl, after we found the peace ring near the remains, and after the medical examiner discovered the faulty hip bone," the sheriff said.

The girl was wearing such a ring when she disappeared and had walked with a limp.

Like the Gonzales girl, Miss Wilson's head was removed from her body but deputies said they believed both were the result of decomposition and not decapitation.

The finding of the Wilson girl brought to five the number of unsolved murders in the Houston-Galveston area of young girls since summer.

However, Sheriff's Capt. Charles Goodnight said he did not believe the two slayings were related to the other three.

In early June, the body of a 14-year-old girl, Brenda Jones, was found floating in Galveston Bay off Galveston Island. She had been strangled.

Last week, the bodies of two 15-year old Galveston Ball High School pupils, Maria Johnson and Debbie Ackerman, were shot to death and their bodies dumped in a bayou at nearby Texas City.

Dr. Thomas Wilson, the father of Colette and an Alvin dentist, positively identified his daughter by dental work he had himself done.

"That's her," he said. "I'm positive that's Colette. I guess we (her family) knew that it would probably end this way. She just wasn't the type of girl that would run away.

"She was very happy and God was she beautiful. The dental work that was found I did myself. There's no doubt that it's her."

Deputy M.F. Patton of the Brazoria County sheriff's office said there was an obvious connection between the deaths of Miss Gonzales and Miss Wilson.

"We don't have any clues as to who did this, but he'll be found," said Sheriff Kern. "We've been looking for Colette since she disappeared in June, and we won't stop now."

Mrs. Claire Wilson, 38, Colette's mother, said she saw an old, black car leaving the area near where she was supposed to pick up the girl on the day she vanished and thought she saw a girl in the back seat.

Colette was the second oldest in the Wilsons' family of 10 children. Mrs. Wilson is expecting an 11th child.

The first global conference on the environment will be held in Stockholm next June 5-12.

Adustments Made In New Economic Program

By STEPHEN H. MILLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel producers and auto makers announced price-hike moves this past week amid some of the most important adjustments yet in Phase 2 of the Nixon administration's new economic program.

The Justice Department obtained injunctions in 12 cities in efforts to force a break in the crippling East and Gulf coast dock strikes. Other major business news of the week saw the Reading Railroad file for bankruptcy reorganization.

The Price Commission granted price increases of more than 4 per cent on tinplate products of Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's biggest steel firm, and National Steel Corp. There was immediated reaction from container makers, the principal tinplate users.

Continental Can Co. said it was applying for a "directly proportional" increase on its prices. American Can and National Can said they too wanted price hikes.

The biggest steelmaker, U.S. Steel Corp., was expected to push for price-increase approval on sheet metal in the coming week.

General Motors Corp. asked for a 3 per cent price increase in a move expected to influence a other auomakers. Chrysler Corp., which had already won approval for a 5.9 per cent hike, said after GM's move that it would boost prices 3 per cent.

Justice Department lawyers obtained on Friday court orders forcing 45,000 striking East and Gulf coast longshoremen back to their jobs. The strike was 57 days old.

The Reading Co., operator of the Reading Railroad, said the dock strikes, local strike and slump in steel shipments this year were prime contributors to an immediate deficit of about $1,530,000.

"There is nothing wrong with this railroad that a good business pickup wouldn't cure," said President Charles E. Bertrand in announcing that the company had filed for reorganization under bankruptcy laws.

Labor unhappiness with wage controls continued. Some 50,000 AFL-CIO Meatcutters struck for one day in various parts of the country. Afterward, Secretary Pat Gorman of the meatcutters union said some of the struck firms had agreed to help the union get scheduled pay raises which have been held up by contols.

Most of the nation's soft coal miners returned to work this past Monday after the Pay Board approved a new contract giving them wage and fringe-benefit increases of 15 to 16.8 per cent in the contract's first year.

Treasury Secretary John Connally expressed what he said was his personal disappointment over the approval. He suggested in the same news conference that the Nixon administration might agree to some provision for retroactive pay raises if Pay Board standards were preserved.

At the week's end, the Commerce Department announced that the U.S. trade deficit with other nations fell to $821 million in October, a record imbalance which government economists blamed on the dock strikes.

Annual Concert Slated Tuesday

The Texas Tech Symphony Orchestra and the Lubbock Civic Ballet will join Tuesday to present the concert sponsored by the Snyder PTA in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The concert, in a festive "circus" mood, will open with "Circus Overture," by Ernest Toch. Bill Lucas of the Texas Tech voice faculty will be featured next on the program as narrator for "Tubby the Tuba at the Circus."

A highlight of the program will be a presentation of a ballet by the noted English composer, Ralph Vaughan Williams, called "Old King Cole." The Lubbock Civic Ballet, choreographed and directed by Suzanne Aker, will feature as soloists G. W. Bailey as the King and Barbara Weaddock as the Queen. Costumes will be by June Bailey.

The story of this charming ballet is based on the old nursery rhyme and follows the traditional story as the King, after a grand processional, calls for his bowl, his pipe and his fiddlers three, each appropriately danced. The fiddlers have a contest, one is selected winner by the King, and one is quietly rewarded by the Queen as the King and his court process grandly off stage.

Following the ballet the traditional selection of a boy and a girl from the audience will be made by the orchestra's conductor, Paul Ellsworth, to come to the stage and conduct.

KING AND QUEEN — G. W. Bailey will have the role of the king and Barbara Weaddock will be the queen as the Lubbock Civic Ballet presents "Old King Cole" when it appears Tuesday with the Texas Tech Symphony in a concert for school pupils at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Flu Outbreak Is Forecast

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The National Center for Disease Control CDC warns that outbreaks of flu are likely to reach epidemic proportions this winter.

The CDC reported Friday the chances of an epidemic are high because of the relatively few cases of flu reported last year. The center said heavy flu incidence appears to come in alternate years.

The infection, a CDC spokesman said, probably will be most intense in heavily populated areas and will be regional rather than nationwide in scope.

Meany Still In Intensive Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany is listed in satisfactory condition today at George Washington University Hospital although a spokesman said the labor leader would remain in an intensive care unit at least through Sunday.

Meany was admitted Thursday after suffering chest-pains. A preliminary diagnosis indicated the pains resulted from "a possible spasm in the coronary arteries," Dr. Marvin Fuchs said.

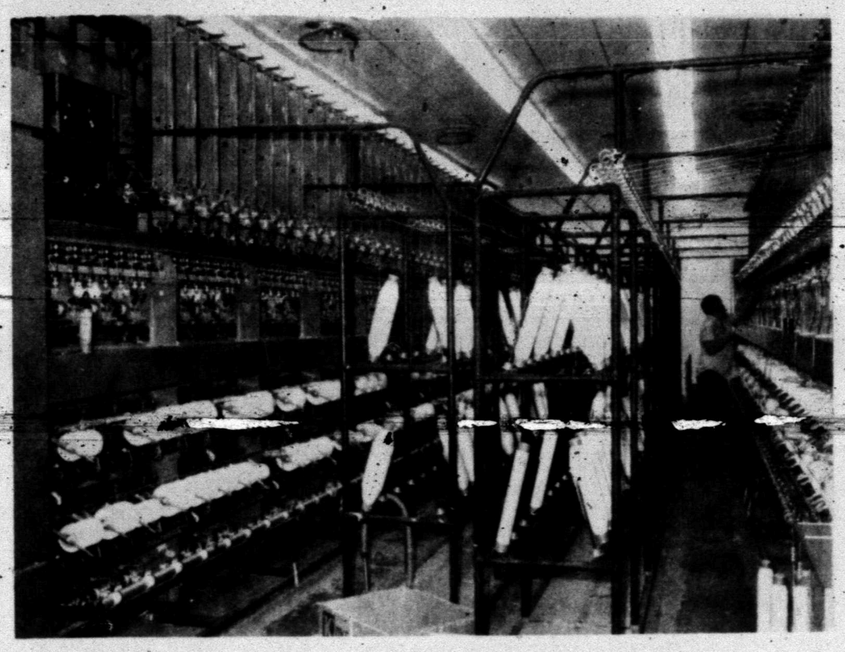
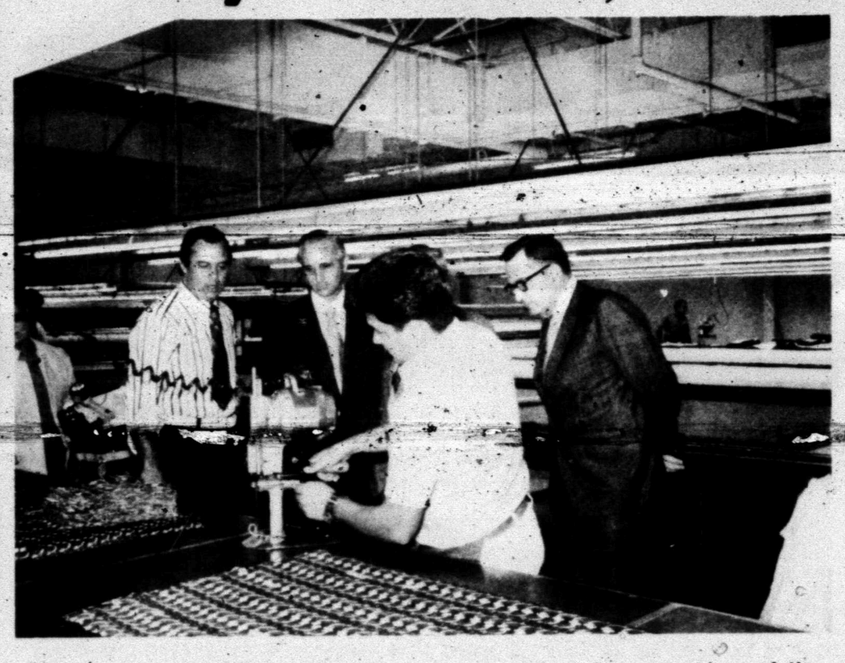
Apparel Turned Out By Aileen, Inc.



DOING THE TWIST — Huge spools of yarn go through the twisting process at the Abilene plant of Aileen, Inc., a firm which plans to establish a sewing plant in Snyder. The Abilene plant turns out apparel for women and girls, taking the material from the yarn to the finished product. Soon, it will be spinning its own yarn.



CUTTING THE CLOTH — Material is being cut here by an employe of the Abilene plant of Aileen, Inc. Looking on as the cutting machine is guided along PRESSING DEPARTMENT — An employe at the Abilene plant of Aileen, Inc., operates a machine that presses blouses as soon as they come from the sewing machines. Aileen will have a sewing plant in Snyder after the first of the year.

FINISHED PRODUCTS — Jim Wills, left, production manager, and R. C. Fry, personnel manager, display products just made in the Aileen, Inc., plant at Abilene. The firm manufactures and distributes apparel under several well-known labels.

READY FOR SHIPPING — Bob Moyers, left, manager of the Aileen, Inc., plant at Abilene, shows E. W. Schrader and Henry Clark of Snyder how Aileens products are boxed for shipping to distributers.

Mansion Converted

CANTERBURY, England (AP) — A 400-year-old mansion near Canterbury is about to become the noisiest stately home in England.

Charlton Park, a 16th century manor with a 100-acre garden, is being turned into a giant pop-music auditorium.

Owner Michael Underwood, an army colonel who likes music, said he is planning to install camping grounds, mobile lavatories, retaurants, medical teams and a day and night movie house.

"The kids should get a fair deal," British movie actor Stanley Baker, a member of the business group behind the move, told a news conference Friday. Baker said youths at a dozen previous pop rallies in Britain had to put up with poor conditions and high prices, but Charlton Park will be a permanent and comfortable festival site.

In the project with Baker and the colonel is Lord Harlech, former British ambassador to Washington.

Front Weakens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas cool front weakened today as it moved across the southern tip of the state. Cloudy skies and fog extended along its trailing edge.

Elsewhere skies were clear.

Predawn temperatures ranged from the 30s over West and Northwest Texas to the 60s in the Brownsville area.

The National Weather Service said the outlook for today was for partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures.

Aid For Refugees

NEW YORK (AP) — George Harrison, Allen Klein and Ravi Shankar have received a letter from the United Nations Children's Fund, with a receipt for $255,971, proceeds from two concerts at Madison Square Garden.

Klein, president of ABKCO, paid for leasing the Garden for the two shows.

Complaints Handled By SS Office

The Big Spring Social Security Office, along with social security offices in 850 communities around the country, has been appointed by Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Elliot L. Richardson to serve as a local center to receive complaints about substandard conditions in nursing homes.

Persons who have information about instances of poor quality care, neglect, unsanitary, or unsafe conditions in a nursing home may give that information to the nearest social security office in person, or by letter or phone. If desired, the name of the person making the complaint and the name of the nursing home patient will be kept confidential, Erven Fisher, Social Security District Manager in Big Spring, noted.

The social security office will see that the complaint gets to the proper Federal, State, or local authority for investigation.
