Rockets Play for Bi-District Championship Friday

THE SKYROCKETS—BI-DISTRICT BOUND

Wellington Skyrockets take the next step toward the state Class A football title when they meet Sanford-Fritch in bi-district play Friday, November 21.

The game will be played in Frank Kimbrough Stadium at West Texas State University, Canyon. Game time is 7:30 p.m. Wellington will be the visiting team and Wellington fans will be on the east side of the stadium. There will be only general admission tickets.

Sanford-Fritch won the District 1-A championship by defeating Canadian November 7, but followed this with a loss to Stinnett in the last scheduled game. They go into bi-district play with a 7-3 season record.

"Coming out of the Clarendon game, I feel our kids had the best effort I've seen in a high school team," declared head coach James Williams.

But that game took its toll, and some of the key people came out with severe bruises. Both Shane Tarver and George Brewer have thigh bruises. Arnie Ingram has a bruised knee and Billy Dan Blacksher a twisted knee. The Rocket coaches are watching these closely.

"Sanford-Fritch is a big game and we're excited to get here. We are looking forward to playing them and to playing in a college stadium. I think our boys deserve this," said Coach Williams. "We get ready for a game every week, and we are doing it this week, just like we do to get ready for all football games."

Coach Williams looked back only briefly at the Clarendon game and that was with praise for the Rockets.

"We had our backs to the wall in turning the ball over to them, but we played good defense."

"Overall, throughout the game, our kids never did let up on Clarendon, but kept hitting all the way. The score of 31-0 at halftime shows our type of defense. The boys did a great job in playing defense and moving the football."

Sanford-Fritch's two losses early in the season were to Class AA Spearman and Guymon, Oklahoma. The only other was to Stinnett.

They run a similar offense as Clarendon, the veer option and sometimes out of a straight T backfield.

"They haven't been a high scoring team. They have good size backs who take the ball a few yards at a time, grind it out, and put a score on the board without letting you have the ball."

The Sanford-Fritch backfield has considerable size. Quarterback Scott Richerson is 6-3 and weighs 180. Others are running back Guy Walston, 175 pounds, Kenny Draper, 172, who plays both fullback and halfback, and Gerald Simmons, 150-pound tailback. In Terry Sommers, 170 pound right end, Richerson has a good receiver when he does throw the ball.

The tackles also have size, Donnie Spear at 210 and Mike Thompson, 175.

Another thing Sanford-Fritch has going are the 22 seniors who play on both the offensive and defensive teams. This gives them a little more age, more depth than the Rockets.

Sanford-Fritch seldom throws the ball.

But Richerson is an excellent punter with an average of about 58 yards per punt.

"He places the ball real well. It will go out of bounds on the two or three yard line, or he will kill it inside the 10. He gets you in poor field position when he punts," says Williams.

As for quickness, the Rockets have a little more than Sanford Fritch, just as that team has a little more size than Wellington.

"We're not going to change anything. We'll stay with what got us here, if our kids get ready and go out and play football like we know how, we'll be all right provided we get over these injuries," the Skyrocket

Dedication of Historic Marker Will Be Saturday Afternoon

An official Texas Historical Marker in front of the first brick commercial building in Wellington will be dedicated Saturday, November 22, at 3:00 p.m.

This will also mark the opening of Collingsworth

County History Appreciation Week, proclaimed by Governor Dolph Briscoe and by Mayor Bill Hatch.

The historical marker is sponsored by Mrs. Clint C. Small of Austin, daughter of E.T. O'Neil, who had the building erected 82 years ago—1893.

The dedication ceremony and related activities are sponsored by the Collingsworth County Historical Survey Commission, which is also the local sponsor of the historical appreciation week, November 22 to 29.

The public is invited to attend this dedication.

Descendants of Mr. O'Neil will have key roles in the dedication ceremony. Clint C. Small, Jr., of Austin, a grandson, will give the history of the marker. Louise Neal Smith of San Antonio, a granddaughter, will dedicate it and two great-grandchildren, Allison Cook and Charles Clinton Cook, of Austin will unveil the marker.

Judge R.L. Templeton will be master of ceremonies, while the Rev. Roy Collins will give the invocation and Judge Denzil Bevers of Lubbock will introduce the guests.

Immediately following the dedication, the Historical Commission will hold a

O'Neil Descendants Due at Dedication

Prominent among visitors attending the dedication ceremony for the Texas Historical Marker at the first brick commercial building in Wellington Saturday, November 22, will be Mrs. Clint C. Small of Austin.

Mrs. Small, the former Zoe O'Neil, daughter of E.T. O'Neil, is the sponsor for the marker, having compiled the necessary information and proof of historical value, which was sent to the Texas Historical Commission.

Other members of Mrs. Small's family who plan to attend are Mr. and Mrs. Clint C. Small, Jr., their daughter, Miss Cathy Small, grandchildren, Allison and Charles Clinton Cook, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Small and children, Cecily and Clint, all of Austin.

Coming from Houston will be Mrs. Small's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jones.

Invitations and programs were mailed to other O'Neil descendants. Those indicating they will be present for

Quail Teams Go To Mobeetie Friday Night

Quail Quails and Bobwhites will travel to Mobeetie Friday night, November 21, for the second meeting of the teams this season.

Playing on their home court, Quail won both games the first time they played, according to Coach Billy Wilson. Both victories were by substantial margins, the boys 76-68 and the girls 53-32.

"We expect Mobeetie to be much tougher at home," said Coach Wilson.

A PIONEER WELLINGTON AT SUNRISE

The O'Neil Building, where an official Texas Historical Marker will be dedicated Saturday, November 22, was new when this picture was made—and the first brick commercial structure in Wellington. It is indicated by an arrow at left. New also was the court house, center. The E. T. O'Neil home, also on the square, is at right. This view shows the northeast face of the Courthouse. The picture is from a collection which Mrs. Clint C. Small of Austin, daughter of Mr. O'Neil, gave the Collingsworth County Historical Survey Commission.

Guard Detachment Cited for Excellence in Gallant Shield

Three awards, all related to the National Guard's summer training period, Exercise Gallant Shield, have been received by the Wellington unit, according to Platoon Sgt. Eddie Riley.

This is the first time in recent years the detachment has received more than one award following a summer training period.

A Certificate of Commendation from Headquarters, 49th Armored Division, was presented to Detachment 1, Support Co., 2d Battalion (Mechanized) 142d Infantry, "in recognition of outstanding unit accomplishment during participation in JTX Gallant Shield 75, and successful completion of company level Army Training Text with an overall rating of Excellent.

United States Readiness Command Joint Readiness Certificate, cited the unit "for its joint combat skills as displayed on Gallant Shield 75, Ft. Bliss." Signing the certificate were General John J. Hennessey, US Army, commander in chief, USREDCOM, and Lt. General Ernest C. Hardin, Jr., deputy commander in chief.

The Adjutant General's Department Certificate of Commendation was awarded to the detachment "for outstanding performance of duty while participating in USREDCOM Exercise Gallant Shield 75. Signing the certificate was Major General Thomas S. Bishop, Texas Army National Guard, Adjutant General of Texas.

Sgt. Riley said the next drill for the unit will be December 6 and 7 at the armory.

M/Sgt Donald Settle, now living at Aspermont, has transferred his guard membership back to the unit.

Five vacancies exist in the guard at present for enlisted men only, either with prior service or non prior service, Sgt. Riley said.

Two Attempts Made to Enter Guard Armory

Burglars entered the National Guard Armory about 3:30 a.m. Sunday, November 16, but set off the burglar alarm and fled before officers could arrive, Sheriff John Rainey reported.

Another attempt was made to break into the building Monday about the same time, possibly from a west window, but again the alarm alerted officers and the would-be burglar left apparently without getting inside the building.

Sheriff Rainey speculates that the same person or persons may have made both attempts.

An earlier attempt to burglarize the armory also failed.

Porter Issues Set Of Western Prints

Kenneth Porter, young Wellington artist, has issued a set of five western prints in limited edition, which will go on sale to the public Friday, November 21.

Only 500 sets were printed, and these are hand signed and numbered. The set includes a drawing in black and white of a windmill, saddle, barn and two abandoned farm houses. They were executed this fall.

Porter and his wife, Sue, have opened Galleria de Tejas--The Texas Gallery--at 805 West Avenue, on the west side of the square, where the prints will be available from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Reared in Wellington, Porter began painting while in junior high school. His formal instruction in art came after he entered Clarendon College.

1975 FOOTBALL QUEEN AND ATTENDANTS

The climax to the emotion charged Wellington High School Pep Rally Friday, November 14, came with the crowning of the 1975 Football Queen. Kim Goforth, center, was chosen by the Skyrockets. The golden helmet was placed on her head by quarterback George

SKYROCKET FOOTBALL

George Brewer (10) has it all to himself around left end Friday, October 14, and the Skyrockets had it all to themselves 45-12 against the Clarendon Bronchos for the District 2-A Championship.

Museum Members Hold Annual Meeting Sunday

The annual membership meeting of the Collingsworth County Museum will be held Sunday, November 23, at 4:00 p.m. at the museum.

The guest speaker will be Dr. James Hanson, director of the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum on the campus of West Texas State University. Described as a "knowledgeable, quietly witty and down-to-earth museum man", Dr. Hanson has guided the Canyon museum for about a year.

His work with museums began in Wyoming, where he grew up, and also includes work at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

"We feel most fortunate that Dr. Hanson has accepted our invitation to come help us evaluate our own progress, share his expertise and help us when we are deciding new directions and seeking courts to begin a new year," said Mrs. Clyde Drake, director of the Collingsworth County Historical Museum.

There will be a short business session to receive the report of the nominating committee, followed by the election of officers and three board members for 1976.

Clyde Drake, president, will be in charge of the meeting. Other officers currently serving are Marshall Peters, vice-president; Mrs. Russell Yates, secretary; Earl Hunter, treasurer; and Larry Henard, finance chairman.

Those attending are invited to come early to look at the museum's exhibits. Some are short-loan exhibits which not many have seen.

reception in the Heritage Room, to which the public is invited.

Wellington will be colorful with bunting and United States flags for the ceremony, and the bunting will remain through Collingsworth History Appreciation Week. Wellington Lions and Chamber of Commerce are in charge of this project, with the Kiwanis Club responsible for the flags.

The marker is in front of Browning Shoe Shop, owned by Cecil Browning, at 909 9th Street, and stands on the sidewalk near the curb. On the face is the official Texas Historical Seal. The history of the building is on the back.

The marker itself is of cast aluminum with Swedish steel effect, and measures 18 by 28 inches.

The building itself was put up in 1893 by Mr. O'Neil from brick left over from the county's first brick court house. On another corner of the court house square was the O'Neil home, a large wooden structure. Buildings on the square were few indeed, and most were small and were replaced after a few years. Ownership of the building remained in the O'Neil family until recent years.

Several committees from the Collingsworth County Historical Survey Commission are spearheading preparations for the dedication of the marker.

Mrs. Clyde Drake and Mrs. L.C. Hill are overall chairmen.

On the invitations and program committee are Miss Bessie Rainer, Mrs. B.M. Sims, and Mrs. Glen Thomas. Reception chairman is Mrs. Cal Hurst, and members of her committee are Mrs. J.D. Coleman, Mrs. Hubert Bowen and Mrs. Edd Henard.

Assisting in placement of the marker and building of the planter in which the marker standard is set are Alvin Horton, Clyde Drake and Earl Tompkins. Plantings will be done by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Caterlin.

The Collingsworth County Historical Museum will be open from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. just before the dedication. Members of the 1954 Study Club, who have the museum decent program as bicentennial project, will be hostesses.

There are a number of special exhibits to be in the museum at this time, said Mrs. Clyde Drake, director.

Also, an exhibit of old coverlets and quilts will be exhibited during the week, a project of the 1924 Study Club, and there will be a special exhibit of pictures.

BAND ROYALTY

Debra Stallings and Freddy Chambers were named Sweetheart and Beau of That Skyrocket Band. Announcement of their selection took place at half-time activities of the Wellington-Clarendon football game Friday.

Deputies Finish Law Enforcement School

Two deputies in the Collingsworth County Sheriff's office were graduated from the Panhandle Regional Law Enforcement Academy in Amarillo in exercises Friday, November 7.

They are R.E. Nelson and Gary Thomas. Twenty-seven area lawmen were in the class, representing 19 towns.

Rainey Condition Much Improved

Jerry Rainey of Tulsa, who is convalescing from a recent attack of viral encephalitis, has received a good report from his doctors, his father, Sheriff John Rainey, reported Monday, November 17.

Rainey spent several days with his parents after he was released from a Tulsa hospital.

He went back to that city late last week for his checkup. Rainey's condition was considered critical when he first became ill.

Those completing the class satisfactorily and completing one year as a working officer are then eligible to be certified as Texas law enforcement officers.

Walter Eubanks, chairman of AC public safety education, was master of ceremonies at the graduation exercises and speakers included Dr. H.D. Yarbrough, Amarillo College vice-president, and Dr. Wallace Johnson, dean of technology at AC.

Jujitsu Class Being Organized In Childress

Additional members for a class taught in Childress in jujitsu are still needed, it was announced today by Warlick Dollar, local coordinator.

The classes are being taught by Bill Beach of Amarillo, who holds a sixth degree Black Belt in jujitsu, karate, and judo.

"We now have 10 members in the class and we need at least 15 or 20 more," Dollar said.

The classes are taught from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesdays in the Childress Junior High School gymnasium.

Beach has taught thousands of persons across the country, including not only men, women and children, but also the elderly, crippled and blind, the art of self defense.

He has instructed law enforcement officers, prison guards, FBI agents, wild life officers, military police, nurses, and ambulance personnel in the art of self defense.

Beach, in 1969, was national vice-president of the Kodokan Karate Association, and at the same time was the second highest ranked Black Belt in the United States.

He holds the rank of sixth degree Black Belt in jujitsu, karate, and judo. Beach is authorized by the International World Judo Federation.

He is qualified as an expert on the Martial Arts by federal court, and has testified in this capacity in two different cases. He is the only person in the United States to be so qualified.

In addition to having served five and one-half years on the Amarillo Police Department, Beach has taught jujitsu, kung fu, karate, and self defense as a faculty member of Amarillo College.

Further information may be obtained by calling Warlick Dollar at AC 817 937-2865 or writing him at 406 C SE, Childress, Texas 79201.

Veterans Administration counselors at 72 centers across the nation have conducted more than 2.1 million interviews with Vietnam-era veterans.

Foliage Tour through Smokey Mountains Told

Mrs. Edna Bradley returned from Kraft's Smoky Mountain Foliage Tour, which took her as far east as North Carolina. They found the foliage beautiful and at Gatlinburg, Tenn., famous crafts center, the group was told that had they arrived a few days earlier or a few days later, they would have missed the peak of the beauty.

Mrs. Bradley gives this account of her trip:

The bus left Tulsa at 6:00 a.m. October 20, with 43 passengers and the driver. My traveling companions were my sister, Adelle Tinney of Sulphur, Oklahoma, and her sister-in-law, Edna Elmore of Austin.

We traveled through the Winding Stairs Mountains in Oklahoma and on through the Black Fork Mountains in Arkansas, stopping at Hot Springs. Later in the day, we drove on to Memphis, Tenn., and spent the night just across the bridge over the Mississippi River at a Holiday Inn.

We left early the next morning for Chattanooga, Tenn., and stayed that night near Lookout Mountain.

The next morning, part of us rode the cable incline up the mountain. It is the steepest cable incline in the world. During the Civil War, the Battle Above the Clouds was fought on top of the mountain, November 24, 1863. A peace monument was put on the mountain by New York at a cost of $100,000.

On down this mountain, we visited Rock City, a mountain-top wonderland. The different formations of rocks, the swinging bridge, Lovers Leap, Fairyland Caverns and Mother Goose Village.

We had dinner on top of the mountain, and then traveled on to Asheville, North Carolina to spend the night.

Early the next morning, we visited Biltmore House and Gardens. Begun by George W. Vanderbilt in 1890, the house took 5 years to build. Mr. Vanderbilt was 35 years of age at that time, and he lived to be only 49.

There are 255 rooms in Biltmore, and it is furnished with antiques.

At this lovely house, we saw a chess set used by Napoleon while he was in exile, and a bathtub used by Julius Caesar more than two thousand years ago. It weighs 2,000 pounds and was brought from Italy.

Leaving Asheville, we drove through the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, and the foliage on the Smokies was beautiful.

We arrived in Gatlinburg, Tenn., just before night and found our motel, the Rivermont Inn, on the banks of the Little Pigeon River.

Here we spent two nights and a day. Gatlinburg is a town with one main street about a mile long. On both sides nothing is to be seen but gift shops, candy kitchens, restaurants, cafeterias and lots of motels. It is strictly a town for tourists and there were plenty of them.

Here we went through Christie's Gardens, many gift shops and the Smoky Mountain Marketplace.

Early next morning we started back this way. We stopped at Pigeon Forge, Tenn., to see the old mill on the Little Pigeon River, built in 1830. Water turns the 24-foot breast wheel and the two old tub wheels to furnish power. It is still in use, and I brought home some corn meal and whole wheat flour ground there. Until 1930, the mill furnished electricity for the town of Pigeon Forge.

Coming on to Nashville, Tenn., that day, we visited the Upper Room Chapel and saw the World Christian Window, the wood carving picture of the Last Supper. In the evening, we went to the Grand Old Opry, where we all enjoyed seeing some of the musicians in person that we have heard and seen on TV for so long.

Early next morning, we headed back to Oklahoma. It was a hard day and a long ride, but we got back to Tulsa at 8:00 p.m. after being gone 7 days and six nights.

Florida Has Much for Wellington Visitor

By Louise Kendrick

Returning home with my daughter, Mickye Ann (Mrs. Jim Campbell) and her son, Stewart, of Orange Park, Florida, a suburb of Jacksonville, we traveled to Memphis, Tenn., to visit Mickye Ann's great aunt, who is 96 years old. This drive through Arkansas and Tennessee was beautiful, since the leaves were beginning to turn all colors.

From Memphis, we drove to Tupelo, Miss., then Birmingham, Ala. Most of this is a wooded area and it is a scenic drive. There were lots of factories along the way. Towns were close together and we saw many beautiful homes.

Jim, Mickye Ann and Stewart have lived at Orange Park since January. Jim is First Lieutenant at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, about a 10-minute drive from their apartment. It is situated on St. John's River, the gateway to the Atlantic Ocean. Jacksonville has many parks, with beautiful tropical plants. It is also home of the "Gator Bowl".

Jacksonville beaches have miles of white sand, washed by the Atlantic. We enjoyed driving along close to the surf. Motels and condominiums line the beaches.

At Mayport Naval Station we saw huge aircraft carriers and other ships being repaired and serviced.

We visited St. Augustine, Fla., the oldest city in the U.S.A. and drank from the Fountain of Youth. The water tasted terrible and did not make us feel any younger. We saw the first fort built in the U.S., walked down narrow streets where only pedestrians could go, and visited the quaint little shops. Hundreds of tourists were buying souvenirs and making pictures.

The next week end found us at Daytona Beach, where we saw the famous stock car race track, home of the Datona 500, which is huge.

Walt Disney World is 15 miles from Orlando, in the lake and forest country of central Florida. This is a Magic Kingdom, where the young at heart of all ages can laugh and play and learn together.

Getting there, or rather getting around after getting there, is half the fun at Disney World. Visitors leave their cars at the main entrance and board monorail trains, motor trams and even old fashioned steamboats and ferryboats, for the one mile journey over or around the Seven Seas Lagoon, to the Magic Kingdom. The monorails are designed to demonstrate today a transportation method of tomorrow.

First, we saw Main Street, U.S.A. It brings back memories of care-free times. There were horse-drawn streetcars and motorized jitneys. We browsed in the Market House, watched artisans work in the glassware shop and silhouette studio, and saw marching bands and parades. We visited the happiest kingdom of them all, which was in the Cinderella Castle. This is truly a Fantasyland. The child in all of us awakens.

We took the Jungle Cruise to see the charging hippos, elephants and Indians. Colorful plants and flowers grow to the water's edge.

We did not visit Tomorrowland, but it is a stepping stone to the future for youngsters. Only yesterday, these adventures seemed many generations away!

Since it was nearing Halloween, we went through the Gloomy Granite Haunted Mansion, which was the home of 999 restless goblins and ghosts, just dying to meet us!

There are too many interesting things to see at one visit and one day is not long enough, but tired feet are an old vacation tradition.

Our next day was spent at Cypress Gardens in Winter Haven, where the vegetation and landscaping are beautiful. There are four water ski shows daily with 7 graceful ballet girls on skis, the human kite flyer, and the scenic electric boat rides. It is called the "Fairyland of Flowers," with its 100 acres of blossoms and dark blue waters. Glenel Elbert, formerly of Wellington, was once one of the graceful ballet girls in the Cypress Gardens Show.

We also saw Ringling Brothers "Big Top" of red and white striped canvas. Winter Haven is the circus' home during the winter months.

En route to Kennedy Space Center at Cape Canaveral, we drove through miles and miles of grapefruit and orange groves, full of green fruit.

At the space center, we took a two-hour tour which hundreds of visitors from all over the world take daily. There were the launching pads, the vehicle assembly building, the crawler transporter (which carries the rockets from the assembly building to the launch pad). Also, there are the suits worn by Astronauts Armstrong, Collins and Aldrin, displayed on mannikins at the Space Center.

The grandstands where reporters and cameramen watched the launching are miles from the pad. On television, the pictures seem to be made right at the site of the launch pad. This was all very interesting and made me proud to be an America.

I stayed one week longer than I had intended so Jim and Mickye Ann could attend homecoming at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn. Stewart and I drove over to the base to get a glimpse of President Gerald Ford on his visit to Jacksonville that week end.

Another Thanksgiving Day is almost here. Each of us should be very thankful for the blessings we have received this year, for the bountiful crops and for our health. We should also be thankful for our town. I think we have one of the nicest in the Panhandle.

We had 109 people to have their blood pressure taken last Wednesday. We appreciate people taking advantage of this service.

We are having our Thanksgiving dinner here at the Center Wednesday, November 19. We expect a good crowd.

Birthdays for November are Mrs. Esdel Bartlett, Mrs. Clyde Emmert, Mrs. Alice Wall, Mrs. Otho Talley, Mrs. Jennie Holcomb, Mrs. P.E. Lowrie, Oliver Young, Mrs. Edna Downing, Mrs. Jack Nelson, Mrs. Jewel Goodnight and Mrs. Walter Franks.

Work to improve our new Senior Citizen Center is still progressing. We are looking forward to moving into it.

We still need telephone callers for our Telephone Re-assurance Program. We intend to call people that live alone each day to see how they are getting along.

Squyres Retires After Thirty Years With SCS

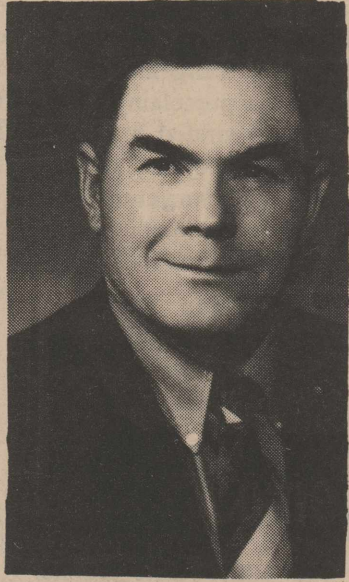

Fred Squyres, who helped to bring Salt Fork Soil Conservation District to national recognition, retired from the Soil Conservation Service at Dumas on November 16, with 30 years of federal service to his credit.

Upon his retirement from federal employment, Mr. Squyres has become a field representative for the Texas Soil and Water Conservation Board.

He will be in a 25 county area of Texas Panhandle, including Collingsworth. In his new job he will be working with and advising soil and water conservation district boards of directors on regulations affecting them.

Many of the regulations affecting conservation projects come out of such federal and state agencies as the Environmental Protection Agency, the Texas Water Quality Board, the Texas Air Control Board, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. He will continue to live in Dumas.

During his 9-year tenure as head of the Soil Conservation Service here, 1952-1961, Salt Fork SCD entered into its period of greatest expansion with emphasis on the development of terracing, introduced grasses, irrigation, range improvement—in fact, the gamut of conservation work applicable to this area. He introduced the Great Plains Program, and at one point had more Great Plains contracts than any soil conservation district in the nation.

Notable, too, were the number of honors won individually and by Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, more than any other in the state. Many of these were the Save the Soil and Save Texas awards, initiated by the late Walter Humphrey, editor of the Fort Worth Press.

"Salt Fork Soil Conservation District became something of a showplace for conservationists, agricultural leaders, and even for foreign visitors studying American Agriculture," wrote The Wellington Leader at the time Mr. Squyres moved to Dumas.

Notable also was his program for trainees entering Soil Conservation Service.

★ Use only detergents manufactured specifically for dishwashers. A wetting agent helps prevent water spots on glasses and silverware.

Use Herbs With Fish

Use herbs and spices in your seafood cookery to add flavor and aroma, suggests seafood consumer specialist Annette Reddell with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

But when using herbs and spices, use with a light hand because the aromatic oils are strong and too much of any flavor is objectionable. Spices should enhance seafood, not disguise it.

Herbs are plants grown in the temperate zones, the leaves of which are used fresh or dried. Among these are basil, majoram, oregano, rosemary, savory and thyme. All of these are good with seafood.

In the broad sense, the word "spice" is any aromatic vegetable product which adds zest to food. True spices are seeds of allspice, cloves, ginger, mace, nutmeg and pepper. Spices are dried and available whole or powdered.

Herbs and spices lose their flavor and strength with age. The essential oils evaporate, so they should be bought in small containers. Sniff the containers to see if the delicate aroma is still there. Freshness may also be tested by rubbing a little of the herb or spice briskly between the palms, then sniffing. If the full fragrance is gone, spices should be replaced.

Safety Features Important In Children's Clothing

COLLEGE STATION-- "Built-in" safety features are an important part of choosing children's clothing, Claudia Mitzel says.

She's a consumer marketing-clothing and textiles specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Each child varies in his need for safety features, but a few guidelines can help parents protect their children better."

"For children who are especially curious about fire, mothers may consider buying flame-retardant play clothes. Since 1975, all children's sleepwear is flame retardant. Also some costumes are available with flame-retardant finishes--but it's important to check labels to be sure."

Children who ride bikes at dawn or dusk need reflective tape on clothing--and bright and light colored jackets help prevent accidents also.

"Be sure that trims and decorative details are sewn on securely and won't be caught on knobs."

Skyrockets Win Title Over Bronchos 45-12

by H.K. Ballard

Wellington's Skyrockets rode the Clarendon Bronchos to a 45-12 victory and the District 2-A championship, the Rockets' first in 12 years, before a standing-room-only crowd at Powell Field Friday, November 14.

The largest crowd to see a Wellington football game in many years packed the stands and lined the field. Earlier in the afternoon the school and townspeople had participated in an emotion-packed pep rally at the school gymnasium.

The Rockets fumbled the opening kickoff, and Clarendon recovered at the Wellington 30. But the Rocket defense, which had allowed only 40 points in the season, backed up only 9 yards before forcing Clarendon to turn over the ball. It was a psychological blow from which the Bronchos never recovered.

On the Bronchos' next series Jessie Davis stripped the ball from quarterback Gary Jack and an alert Randall Maxwell recovered for the Rockets on the Broncho 27.

The Rockets stalled at the 10 yard line, and on fourth and three Davis put the Rockets on the scoreboard with a field goal with 4:42 left in the first quarter.

Cliff Pennon recovered a Clarendon fumble on their next series to set up the Rockets' first touchdown. George Brewer passed to Arnie Ingram from eight yards out for the score, and Davis' kick put the Rockets in control 10-0.

The Bronchos' first drive in the second quarter came to a halt at the 50 when a tough Rocket defense caused another Clarendon fumble and Edward Thomas recovered.

That recovery set up the Rockets third scoring drive ending when George Brewer sneaked in over left tackle from the one yard line. The extra point pass failed and the Rockets led 16-0.

The aggressive Rocket defense, led by Maxwell, Pennon, Thomas and Tony Martinez, held the Bronchos deep in their own territory and on fourth down and 11, a high snap from center went over the Broncho punter's head and he was trapped in the end zone by a host of red shirts for a 2 point safety. The Rockets led 18-0.

Wellington---
Jessie Davis - 30 yd. field goal.

Arnie Ingram - 8 yd. pass from George Brewer, Davis' kick good.

Brewer - one yd. run, pass failed.

Safety - ball down in end zone on high snap from center.

Shane Tarver - 60 yd. run, Edward Thomas' kick good.

Tony Martinez - 12 yd. pass from Brewer, pass failed.

Tarver - 44 yd. pass from Sammy Gonzales, Tarver pass from Brewer.

Thomas - 48 yd. run, run failed.

Clarendon---
Walter Riggs - 46 yd. pass from Gary Jack, run failed.

John Hall, 33 yd. pass from Jack, pass failed.

With 1:06 remaining in the first half speedy Shane Tarver took a reverse handoff, cut across field and dashed 60 yards with the help of excellent blocking for 6 more points. Thomas' kick was good and the Rockets blew ahead 25 to 0.

The Bronchos fumbled Edward Thomas' kickoff and Thomas recovered on the Broncho 20.

The Rockets then moved 8 yards on a pass from Brewer to Baumgardner. Then Tony Martinez grabbed a Brewer pass for a score from the 12 with just 24 seconds left in the half. The extra-point kick was no good and the Rockets led 31-0 at the half.

It was late in the third quarter before the Rockets scored again. This time Sammy Gonzales found Shane Tarver open, and Tarver covered 44 yards for a T.D. Brewer threw to Tarver for two extra points and the Rockets led 39-0.

Richard Sims, halted the next Broncho drive with an interception. The Rockets were forced to punt eventually, but on Clarendon's first possession Mickey Vassey recovered another Clarendon fumble.

With second down and 16, the Rockets came up with a little razzle-dazzle when Brewer passed to Joe Baumgardner. Baumgardner flipped the ball back to Thomas, who raced down the sideline for the Rockets' final touchdown of the night. The two-point try was no good.

The Bronchos' first score came late in the fourth quarter when Gary Jack threw a 46-yard pass to Walter Riggs. The Bronchos recovered their on-sides kickoff, and with 3:30 remaining Jack connected with another scoring pass, this time to John Hall, from 33 yards out for the final Clarendon score. Both extra point attempts failed.

The YEAR OF THE ROCKETS continues this Friday, November 21 with the bi-district match against Sanford-Fritch at 7:30 p.m. in West Texas State University's Kimbrough Stadium.

The Quails were ahead 22-8 by the end of the first period, 40-24 at the half and 59-31 at the third quarter.

"This was a much closer game than the score indicated," Coach Bill Wilson said. "Allison has a hard playing kind of ball team."

Gary Wischkaemper was top scorer for Quail with 22 points. Johnny Needham added 15 points; Bryan

Deck's Didactics

—by Deskins Wells

It has been a long time since Wellington has had the honor of representing this part of the panhandle in the football playoffs. Such will be the case when the Rockets meet Sanford-Fritch in the Buffalo Stadium at Canyon next Friday.

It is interesting to read the neighboring papers that come across The Leader desk. Memphis, Clarendon, Shamrock, Canadian, etc. These papers are full of basketball news. This is not true of Wellington or Childress who continue to devote space to football, for each town has a district champion who tied each other 13 to 13 at the beginning of the season.

When a packed stadium watched the Rockets and Bobcats play to a tie on September 26, little did the spectators dream that they were watching two future district champions. It was one of the classic games played on Powell Field in recent years. Two teams that were later to win their respective district crowns were battling it out to the last minutes. It was a game that will live in memory.

The entire district has followed a relatively consistent pattern throughout the season. The one exception has been Clarendon and its play against Claude, which the Bronchos won by a one-sided score. Otherwise Claude had a consistent season defeating Memphis by one point and forcing Wellington to come from behind in the last period to win. Now it is time to go to Canyon to see just how far the Rockets go this season.

Politics will soon be raising its head in the midst of the holiday season. The rules for publishing political ads are about the same except more so. In the past it has been necessary for the advertisement to carry a line saying who paid for it and payment was required at the time the ad was placed in the paper. Both of these are still required. Before, the payment at time of ad insertion was a matter of business judgement. Now it is a matter of law.

There is talk that W.R. [Buck] Breeding may enter the race against Phil Cates for state representative. Buck will continue to be Commissioner if he does enter the race. He was elected for four years in the last election. He will make a good race if he runs and will make an excellent representative if elected. He has the ability and experience that is needed in such an office.

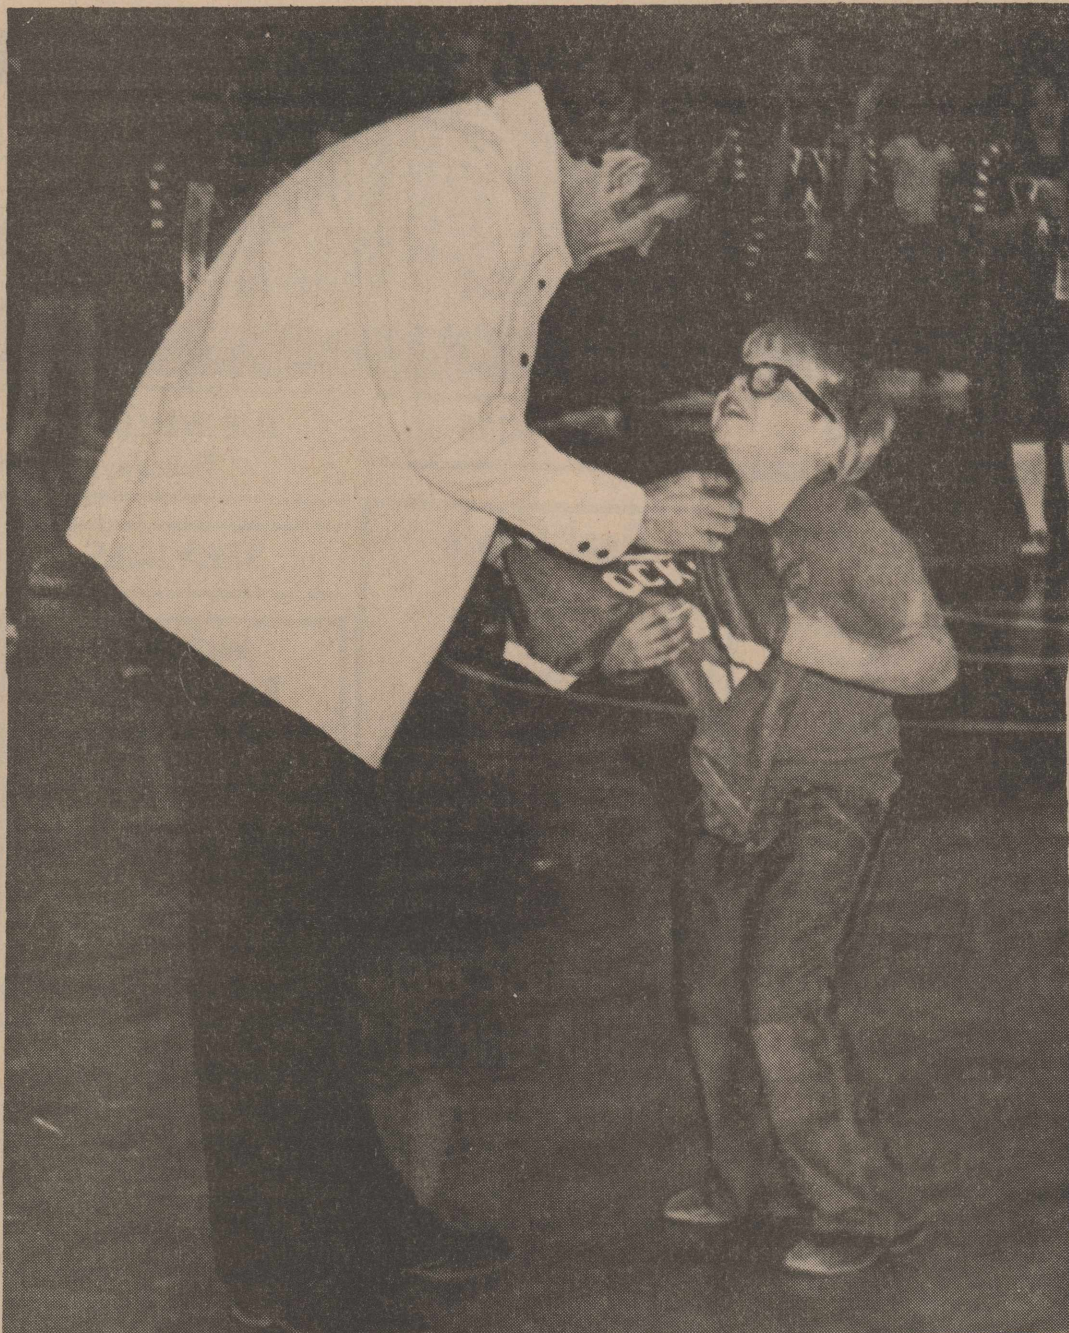

Cotton is better than average between here and Dodson and here and Loco. It is much better on the sandy land than was thought possible three weeks ago. The weather has been favorable. The price is over 40 cents a pound locally and ginners say the price should be better if the cotton is left in the field long enough to mature properly. Perhaps the weather will force them to do what they should do naturally. It is hard to leave it alone when it looks so pretty.

Cartwright Boy In Who's Who

Jeffrey Cartwright received word last week that he has made Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Selections are made on the basis of accomplishments, performance, leadership qualities, and execution of responsibility and enthusiasm.

Jeffrey is a senior in Claude High School. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Cartwright of Claude, and the grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Cartwright of Wellington.

A JERSEY FOR A YOUTHFUL BOOSTER

"I know you had a happy Hallc-ween because the Rockets beat Shamrock" 8-year-old Dell Davis said in a letter to Coach James Williams. "I hope you win your other games and when I am in High School, I want to play football under you." At the pep rally Friday, November 14, Dell, who has had a great deal of illness in his young life, received a red and white Skyrocket jersey, No. 60, a gift from his favorite coach.

Cairo Opens Door to Egypt's Ancient Life

(This is in a series of articles by Dr. Dorothy Jane Holman describing her visit this summer to ancient civilizations of the Middle East and Mediterranean area.

Dr. Holman is an associate professor at San Diego State College, San Diego, Calif.)

Between the heat and my allergy to dust, I found myself most uncomfortable in trying to enjoy, study, and record the many artifacts I was allowed to see. In addition, there were armed guards in all the rooms who maintained a rigid, military posture with faces completely void of any emotion.

Probably the most outstanding exhibit in the museum is the discoveries of a Mr. Carter, the Englishman who found the tomb of King Tutankhamen, a Pharaoh who was buried in seven identical body sculptured coffins in gold, all of which were inside four box shrines.

We would not see the last one until we arrived at his tomb in the Valley of the Kings near Luxor, but the outer ones were on display in all the splendor. This much said sculptured to hold his mummified body, each one just larger than the other, is a sight you almost have to see to believe that such artwork could have been accomplished these thousands of years B.C. with the implements they invented for themselves. Hereafter, this Pharaoh was merely referred to as King "Tut".

Our guide informed us that it took seventy days to mummify a body. Everything in this life that was of value was thought to be needed in their belief of eternity, even to the foods such as onions, raisins, and melon seeds. Carter's discovery is one which has been recorded in many archeological books, which I intend to read more about on my return to the states.

I particularly enjoyed the many art objects of the women of ancient Egypt, and found their place in history to be unique in the many ruins of ancient civilizations we visited. Their contributions as leaders of their people was and is held in high respect, especially Queen Hatshepsut, Egypt's only woman Pharaoh. Many of the art sculptures of her depict the false beard to appear as an authoritative man, with her hair enclosed in many of the headdresses still recognized today as "the Egyptian style". Anytime the symbol of the cobra is used in their art, this indicated the person was of royalty as the snake was held in high esteem and never killed. The history of Egypt was always referred to as "upper" and "lower" Egypt, but this actually was their version of the separation of the country by the river Nile, which as we see it on the map today is East and West, rather than north and south.

Cub Scouts To Hold Rain Gutter Regatta

The annual Cub Scout Pack 231 Rain Gutter Regatta will be held Thursday, November 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the American Legion Building.

Trophies will be awarded for speed and best design. Charles Darter and Lee DeVoss will be the judges for the event. The public is invited to attend and enjoy the lively competition.

Mrs. John L. Green, pack committee chairman, has announced that beginning the latter part of this week the cub scouts will be selling gift items for Christmas. This is to pay for the annual Blue and Gold Banquet in the spring.

Children of Building Tenants Due Saturday

Judge Denzil Bevers of Lubbock will take part in the dedication of the Texas Historical Marker for the first brick commercial building in Wellington Saturday, November 22, at 3:00 p.m.

Judge of the 62nd District Court, Judge Bevers is the son of the late John Bevers, who, along with Bill Burden, purchased the City Cafe from Roger Collins. The two operated the cafe in the historical building for a time before moving to another location.

Judge Bevers' mother, Mrs. John Bevers, still lives here.

Mrs. John D. Coleman, Jr., of Canyon, the former Sandra Burden, will also attend the dedication. Mrs. Coleman is the daughter of the late Bill Burden. Many will remember Mr. Burden as owner and operator of the Coco Cola Bottling Plant in Wellington for many years, and later in Shamrock.

Report Cards Issued Wed.

Wellington High School first quarter report cards were issued to students Wednesday, November 19, and parents are asked to examine and sign these, according to Melvin Cardwell, high school principal.

If the student is finishing a one-quarter course, he will keep the report card. If the course is for the full year, the card is to be signed by the parents and returned to the school, Mr. Cardwell said. He requested especially that absences be noted. "Absentees have been excessive this quarter, it seems, and parents should check this," he said.

School Bell Moved To Museum Grounds

The bell that called thousands of children to East Ward School over a long period of years will ring again. This time it will be from the grounds of Collingsworth County Historical Museum.

It will be rung for the first time in its new location Friday morning about 8:30 a.m.—the hour it used to ring to hurry lagging feet to school.

Donor of the bell is James Sullivan.

His parents, the late Pink Sullivan and the late Clay Wells Sullivan Beam, acquired the bell when they bought the old East Ward school grounds, shortly after World War II. It has been in storage since then.

Tom Caterlin put together the tower, which will duplicate as nearly as possible the original tower on the school grounds. Plans were drawn by Clyde Drake from the description given by Barney Glenn, who rang the bell when he was an East Ward student.

Wellington Lumber Yard donated the lumber, while Marshall Peters and Dan Henard, Jr., were in charge of moving it. Wellington Fire Department sandblasted the bell to give it a newer, cleaner appearance.

Harmon Group Protest Salt Control Program

W.D. Stewart, Jr., president of the Southwest Water and Soil Conservation District, Inc., and Paul Horton, a district member, attended a hearing at Vernon Oct. 15 pertaining to a proposed salt control program on the Red River basin.

Stewart recorded a protest to construction of lakes to store salt water evaporation north of Hollis on Fish Creek.

The proposed site for one of the salt lakes, Oklahoma Site No. 6 would be located on Fish Creek, east of SH30 near Elm Creek in Harmon County.

In his statement, Stewart said:

We are in no way protesting the need for the control of salt from our waters, because we readily admit that this would be a great help in making a better quality of water available for both municipal and industrial uses. We are not against progress. We are only protesting the method you propose."

Stewart noted that his organization attended a workshop in regard to the proposed plan on August 26, 1974, and went on record at that time asking that the Corps of Army Engineers substitute the use of deep well disposal.

"It seems evident to us at this time that your original plan is still foremost in your decision," he said.

Stewart continued:

Water is one of our most valuable resources in western Oklahoma, and in the area of Texas joining us to the west. At least 99 per cent of the water used for irrigation of our crops and the water for our livestock comes from underground water supplies.

It is a known fact that our underground water supply is dependent on recharge from our immediate areas of drainage. This fact has been proven over and over by us through the use of local recharge wells and the use of diversions to carry water to natural gypsum sinks. We have two large lakes in our county that are living evidence of both the ability to recharge our underground water supply and also point out the danger of endeavoring to store a volume of salt water in surface lakes built over a cavernous soil, inasmuch as both of these lakes have developed gypsum sinks in the area where water was to be stored. Through over 20 years of employment in this immediate area, I have observed and can show you many farm ponds, both large and small, that have failed because of the development of gypsum sinks. Many of these functioned as planned for several years before they failed.

"We do not believe that the use of surface lakes is sound planning because of the living evidence of failure of such type structure in this area."

"We do not believe that one area of a project should be put under this kind of jeopardy in order that other areas might be benefitted."

"Because of our convictions that we would be in danger of the pollution of our water supply as long as this lake is present, we again voice our objection to the method you have proposed. We are prepared to take every step we deem necessary, both political and legal, to prevent the construction of this lake in our area."

"We want to thank you for the time used in the presentation of our protest to your proposed plan."

Stewart said that Forrest Nelson of the Oklahoma Water Resources Board has agreed to send the board's state engineer when core drilling begins on the proposed Fish Creek site.

Core drilling was planned in late October or early November on the proposed lake site.

Members of the Southwest Water and Soil Conservation District were awaiting an announcement on the drilling operations in order to have a specialist on hand in order to have expert testimony available in case court action is necessary in attempting to block the plan.

Toll-free telephone service to Veterans Administration offices is available in 312 cities and 45 states.

The Veterans Administration's National Cemetery System consists of 103 cemeteries. Plans call for four new cemeteries in fiscal year 1976.

The Veterans Administration compensation and pension rolls include 400 widows and children of Civil War veterans.

The Thanksgiving speaker will be the Rev. J.L. Harrison, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene and newest member of the Ministerial Alliance.

Other members of the alliance will be leaders and participants in the service.

"This is one of the great times the members of the various churches have as they come together for a time of thanks and fellowship with each other," said the Rev. Jim Boswell, as plans were being completed.

"We will be looking for you Sunday evening that we might have another fine service."

Choir members of the community and county churches are asked to be at the Church of the Nazarene at 3:00 p.m. Sunday afternoon for a practice session.

President of the Ministerial Alliance is the Rev. Steve Dolloff of Fundamental

Grade 41 Quality Predominant in Cotton Classing

Grower prices were unchanged to slightly higher during the week ending November 8th, according to C.E. Cox, in charge of the Altus Classing and Market News Office. Trading was slow, and consisted mostly of old crop cotton. In some localities a small amount of new crop cotton was reported moving. Supplies were moderate, and growers offered in moderate quantities. A few sales in mixed lots, mostly grades 41, 42, and 51, staples 31, and 32, Mike 3.5 to 4.9, were reported bringing 42.00 to 44.00 cents per pound.

Grade 41 was the predominant quality in this week's classings from the Memphis, Texas, area counties, and accounted for 40 percent of the classings. White grades accounted for more than 80 percent of the samples classed. Staples ranged from 30 through 34, with Staple 31 accounting for one-fifth, Staple 32 one-third, and Staple 33 about one-fourth of the samples. Mike readings were in the desirable range of 3.5 to 4.9 on nearly 90 percent of the samples, with most of the rest of the samples being lower mike.

About 400 samples were classed by the Altus Classing Office from counties in the Memphis, Texas, area for the week ending November 8th. This brought the season's total to nearly 700 samples, compared with less than 50 on the same date a year ago.

COLLINGSWORTH MACRAME

Mrs. Wayne Cudd stands by the macrame piece, using the skull of a fine Collingsworth bull, which she and Mrs. Richard Nall recently completed. Two horse shoes welded together form the ring by which it hangs.

Bull's Skull, Macrame In Handsome Piece

A large macrame piece, with the skull of a Collingsworth County bull at the center, was a conversation point of the Cavalcade of Crafts in Amarillo Saturday, November 15. The exhibitors were two Wellington women, Mrs. Wayne Cudd and Mrs. Richard Nall.

The show was sponsored by the Federated Home Arts Club of Amarillo and was held at the Federation Clubhouse. Proceeds went to the benefit of Girlstown.

Approximately 75 exhibitors participated.

The macrame with skull appeals especially to those who appreciate all things western and is in itself a work of western art. It is woven of three sizes of jute rope, made especially for macrame work.

The suggestion for this particular piece came from Mrs. Nall's husband, who picked it up on a county ranch about 15 years ago.

Coming in one day where the two women were working on a large piece, Nall volunteered to part with the skull for the project. That was its beginning—but first Jane and Jean made sure he was ready to give away this memento of his range days.

"I wish we'd had a camera to record the expressions on the faces of people when they first saw the skull," said Mrs. Cudd.

The Cavalcade of Crafts was the first time the piece

Tom Vermillion Ethnic Speaker

"Wellington is ten to twenty years behind in social advancement," Tom Vermillion said Friday, November 14, during Ethnic Literature class. Mr. Vermillion spoke on ethnicity and the problems of prejudices—whether intentional or not—in Wellington.

Mr. Vermillion is child welfare worker for The Texas Department of Public Welfare.

Friday was the last day for Ethnic Literature. The class learned about the cultures of many ethnic groups. Mr. Vermillion ended the course, leaving everyone with the wish that there could be a further and deeper study of ethnic minorities.

Harvest Festival at Dodson Church Sun.

Dodson Church of the Nazarene will hold its fall harvest festival, featuring a guest musical program Sunday, November 23, at the morning service.

Sunday School will begin at 10:00 a.m., and the harvest festival at 10:30.

Guest musicians will be the Vanlandingham family of Hollis. Musicians and vocalists of the Dodson church will be included with special numbers.

The Rev. Howard Smith, pastor, will preach.

Following the service, dinner will be served in the fellowship hall, according to Mrs. Melvin Cardwell, who is helping with plans.

Early County Rancher Rode His Bicycle to Wellington

Not all Collingsworth County ranchers traveled by horseback. One, a staunch individualist, rode his bicycle when he had to commute from his ranch in the north part of the county to Wellington or Shamrock.

In a talk before the 1954 Study Club Thursday, November 13, County Judge R.L. Templeton told of G.H. Aldous, "The Rancher Who Rode a Bicycle." His material was taken from the journal Mr. Aldous kept over a long period of years, and which was published a few years ago by Dr. Donald Green of the History Department, Central State University, Edmond, Okla.

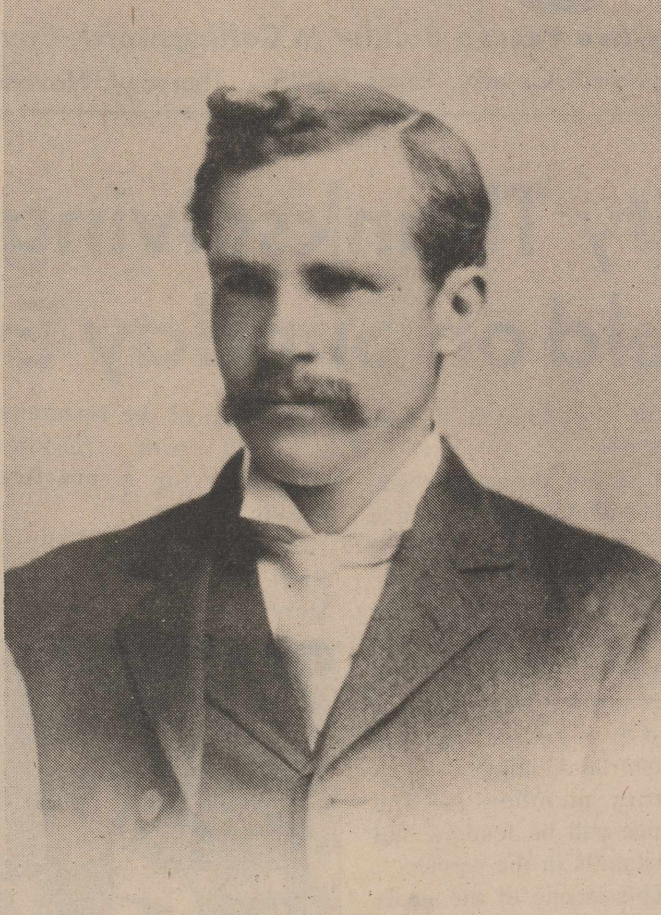

The journal--and Judge Templeton's talk, revealed another sidelight of Collingsworth history: among all the cattle ranchers, there were a few who raised sheep. Mr. Aldous's first job after arriving here was one as a sheep herder.

In 1899, he recorded in his journal that he was summoned to jury duty in Wellington, and rode his bicycle to town. It is also known that he had jury duty in Wheeler County...not exactly legal even for those pioneer days, and all the more unusual since Mr. Aldous was an English citizen.

G. Herbert Aldous was born at Ipswich, Suffolk, England, September 18, 1868, the son of a lawyer with 11 children. Judge Templeton told the group.

He raised homing pigeons and silk worms, and when he was 16 years old, he had saved enough to pay his passage to the United States---$112, the speaker continued.

He left for the United States May 4, 1886, bringing with him a small alcohol stove his mother gave him, so he could brew tea during the voyage. He recorded in his journal that he landed at New Orleans, had his clothes boiled and then disinfected, and caught the train to

G. H. ALDOUS

Dallas--Fort Worth--and then to Harold, just east of Vernon and the end of the Ft. Worth and Denver line.

Mr. Aldous bought a gun, shot, powder, bedding, and a horse. He shot doves and rabbits for food and arrived at the site later to become Wellington on June 1, 1886.

He worked as a sheepherder for Henry Parris and Frank Cole and lived in a dug-out on the north bank of Elm Creek.

Once in 1889, he ran out of tea and had to grimly drink coffee for a while.

The journal reveals that he tended John Robert (Bob) Jones for two weeks when he was kicked in the head by a horse, and tended Mrs. C.C. Cook while she had smallpox. He voted in the elections of 1896 and 1900.

Mr. Aldous also hunted prairie chicken; danced at Elm Creek School; and attended a picnic and singing at Aberdeen.

He was married to Miss Lillie Cook, a teacher at Elm Valley School, September 18, 1902.

His part in helping organize the Episcopal Church was noted in the journal in 1905.

Although his wages as a sheepherder were only $20 a month, he was able to buy 400 head for himself in September 1888.

Mr. Aldous bought 640 acres of land for $250 and traded a bay mare for 320 more.

As the 20th century opened, he owned 1280 acres of land and was paying his hired hand 50 cents a day. He had bought his first cattle in 1890, and two years later he had 147 head.

Mr. Aldous planted kaffir corn in 1897, believed to be the first in the county, and by 1905 he was growing alfalfa.

He had noted in his journal that his entire income in 1891 was $414.25 and his expenses $317.62. He must have had a little money tucked away, for he loaned out $115 at 12 1/2% interest.

When he died in 1923, Mr. Aldous was still a citizen of Great Britain, and as long as he lived, he returned once every five years to his native land.

His journal is an accurate reflection on prices of the day in Collingsworth County. He paid $135 for a row binder and $34.55 for a disc seeder. Eggs cost 25 cents a dozen and bacon 7 cents per pound.

Even his bicycle earned him a bit of income. Bicycle riders were considered sissies, so he once challenged two cowboys to a race of 40 miles. He won handily and collected 10 silver dollars from each.

Mrs. Lynn Wright was hostess when the 1954 Study Club heard this bit of Collingsworth History. Members brought gifts for the Vernon State Hospital.

During the business session, directed by Mrs. Virgil Patterson, plans were made for club members to conduct a tour of the Collingsworth County Museum for children on Thursday, November 20.

The Whole County Rallies Behind the Skyrockets

Many superlatives are used to describe the Skyrockets and their coaches this week. Not in many years has anything happened that has drawn the community together so closely as have these fine young athletes. All of us wish them well Friday night at Kimbro Stadium.

This team is a case of a group of exceptional young men coming together with a group of exceptional coaches. All of them show great ability. By lending themselves to the discipline of hard training, the Skyrockets have become the brilliant schoolboy champions that they are.

In putting together the District 2-A Championship, they have given identity to themselves and to Wellington. But they have become more than that.

All of Collingsworth County has taken the Skyrockets for their own. It is hard to remember when the county was so united behind a football team.

What the Rockets have done this year is good for them, it is good for the school and for the whole community.

Other Editors Say . . .

Not a Day to Be Wasted

The centennial of state agricultural experiment stations in America was observed in Houston the other day. The tribute was to a century of experimenting, learning and developing food and fiber producing technologies that have made this nation a world provider.

But in recognizing this remarkable progress, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz warned farm scientists, and the public that they must support their work, that the tougher job lies ahead. In another 25 years, Butz said, the world will have 80 per cent more people to feed. This task will require even greater successes in unlocking the secrets of nature and finding ways to improve crop and livestock yield.

What is more, the job must be done on fewer acres as urban sprawl consumes land formerly used for agricultural purposes.

A quarter century is precious little time to accomplish the task. Not a day of it can be wasted. We must assure that, with each sunrise, technological progress is being made in the fields and laboratories of state agricultural experiment stations.

The tougher job indeed lies ahead. But the job must be done.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

The Human Brain

Discovering Yourself in the Brain Age is the title of a new booklet which, hopefully, may stimulate high school students to start planning for careers in the brain sciences.

The booklet, published by the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke, U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, is an excellent overview of what is known about the human brain.

Understanding of the brain is essential in the study of emotional and mental health and human behavior, but until relatively recently man has understood his brain processes scarcely at all.

"Yet today," the booklet says, "we stand on the brink of discoveries of the nature of the mind that we can hardly believe or barely imagine."

Discussing the role of the brain in perception and awareness as well as its relation to the nervous system and all the body's processes, the booklet is an imaginatively written challenge to young people to explore and know their own "brain-self."

Thus the booklet should aid youth in the well-known search for identity. To discover who you are, it advises, means "to better recognize and live with your actual feelings, attitudes, skills, and processes in all of their flowing, changing reality. "All these aspects of yourself," it continues, "are centered in the functioning of your brain."

The booklet is recommended as a good supplement for science courses in high school. It indicates briefly the many fields concerned with brain research, and suggests that planning early can mean getting started in college with basic training in physics, biology, chemistry, psychology, and mathematics.

It also suggests students might look into zoology, embryology, and anthropology, and says "you can get to know the wide range of fields and jobs associated with exploring the brain age."

GOAT'S CAFE

STATE CAPITAL

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Revenues, the Comptroller said, increased 13 per cent over 1974 income — reaching $5.7 billion.

"The real story," said Bullock, "is that revenue increased because of inflationary prices while the tax base remained the same. Spending jumped 21 per cent over the previous year. If legislators want to increase spending another 25 to 30 per cent in the next biennium, they had better have that billion dollar tax bill ready."

GOP Moving

Texas Republicans outlined major plans for 1976 campaign activities at a meeting here recently.

The State GOP Executive Committee approved Chairman Ray Hutchison's proposal to establish a powerful new executive campaign committee and central political fund.

Special recruiting committees were also appointed to seek out qualified congressional and legislative candidates.

Republicans decided to conduct their presidential preference primary on a congressional district basis. Ninety-six of the 100 GOP presidential nominating delegates will be elected at the polls May 1, and only four will be picked at the June 19 state party convention in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Pat Archer, wife of Houston Congressman Bill Archer, was elected new GOP National Committeewoman to succeed Mrs. Rita Bass Clements of Dallas who resigned.

Hutchison named Ernest Angelo of Midland to head the new 15-member GOP executive campaign committee. Bob Flournoy of Lufkin was designated vice chairman.

Rates Studied

A 7.1 per cent increase in workmen's compensation insurance rates has been recommended by State Insurance Board actuaries.

Insurance company spokesmen aren't happy. They recommended a 12.3 per cent boost. Industry representatives weren't pleased either. They pointed out Texas business and industries already pay $611.6 million a year to insure employees against on-the-job death and injury, and they claimed this is too much.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court left standing a lower court ruling that state and local governments can charge fees for access to large records computer data and microfilm.

The Open Records Act, court rulings have held, permit charges to examine such records.

In another ruling, the High Court affirmed a Texas Railroad Commission gas curtailment order placing Houston Lighting and Power Company in seventh priority as a customer of United Texas Transmission Company.

The Supreme Court also held that a Smith County man must be jailed for contempt of a court order by returning a tractor which he sold out of Texas.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the 100-year prison sentence of a Grayson County man in the death of a fifth-grade girl from Denison who had been abducted on her way home from school.

1+ DIALING IS HERE

Now that you have 1+ Dialing, it is important that you know the many advantages of dialing your own long distance calls.

Since an operator is not required to handle your station-to-station calls when you dial it yourself, we pass this savings on to you by charging a lower dial-it-yourself rate. Station-to-station, collect, credit card and calls charged to a third number — which are placed with the operator — cost more than station-to-station calls you dial yourself. Person-to-person calls are even more costly than other operator handled calls.

This savings — along with the faster service and the convenience of dialing your own call — is not all. For example, to get an unknown number in any distant city, you can dial directory assistance yourself at no charge. Just dial 1+ the area code (if different from yours) +555-1212. This Universal Directory Assistance number can be dialed from anywhere in the United States.

Other helpful information is found on the 1+ instruction card you received earlier. So remember to use this convenient new long distance service.

EAGLES BACKING THE SKYROCKETS

Samnorwood students sent this banner to the big Wellington High School pep rally as the Skyrockets prepared to meet the Clarendon Bronchos for the

Junior Varsity Ties for 2-A Championship Friday

The Skyrocket Junior Varsity closed its season with an 8-6 loss to the Clarendon Bronco JV, to leave Wellington in a three-way tie for the championship.

Sharing this District 2-A JV honor are Memphis and Clarendon.

Wellington defeated Memphis; Memphis beat

Clarendon; and Clarendon won over Wellington.

The Rocket JV scored first in the game Thursday, November 13. Wellington boys mounted a long drive with three minutes left in the first quarter, then Ricky Jones scored on a four yard run.

The extra point kick was wide to the right.

With three minutes left in the second period, Wellington threw a bootleg pass and Clarendon picked it off for a 60 yard run and touchdown.

The Bronco JV went for two points, but the Rockets stopped them. However, officials called Wellington offside, and on the second attempt, Clarendon carried the ball over for two points.

"Defensively, we played a good game. They didn't move the ball at all. Offensively, we moved the ball down the field, but in scoring position we would fumble or get a penalty," said Coach Robert Hicks.

Wellington lost the ball 5 times by fumbles, three times inside their own 20.

"Overall, the kids played a good game. They gave it all they had and even though they tied for the championship, they outplayed Clarendon. The turnovers and the penalties seemed to be the difference.

Deger Has Hip Surgery

Jess Deger of Shamrock is in St. Anthony's Hospital, Amarillo, following surgery on his right hip almost three weeks ago.

He is due to be released late this week, his son, Jack Deger, said while in Wellington Friday, November 14.

This is the fourth time Mr. Deger has undergone hip surgery, twice on each side, and he is responding better to this than to any of the others.

Mr. and Mrs. Deger lived for many years in the Lutie-Samnorwood area before moving to Shamrock a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Farrar and Mrs. Celia Johnson were in Canyon Sunday to attend the initiation of their daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Bonnie Duncan, into the Alpha Chi Honorary Sorority.

Joel Ross was on the 10-member team which represented the University of Texas-Permian Basin, Odessa, in the 9th annual World Championship Chili Cookoff at the ghost town of Terlingua Saturday, November 1.

The team placed fifth with a chili recipe that was of their own making. Besides the traditional ingredients, they gave it a south-of-the-border touch by adding a bit of chocolate. They have not divulged their complete recipe.

Approximately 15,000 attended, including contestants for the chili cookoff title and those who came to look and taste. Several foreign countries represented (Mexico is considered home folks). United States contestants came from as far distant as Oregon and Florida.

The cookoff was started by the late Wick Fowler and is sponsored by the Dallas-based Chili Appreciation Society. There are pods (chapters) in a number of states.

Terlingua is a ghost town which once produced a major part of the country's quicksilver. It is located on Dirty Woman Creek, just a short distance from its juncture with the Rio Grande, and is just outside Big Bend National Park.

Some contestants fly in, and since there are no motel or hotel accommodations, many arrive in campers. Those coming by jet plane usually land at the Odessa-Midland Airport, 250 miles distant.

The cookoff was held in front of the Chisos Oasis Saloon on Saturday. The night before there was the Ghosts of Terlingua Ball, in the saloon and adjacent ruins of the old opera house.

Among the guest performers was top ten progressive country music singer, Dotsy, and the official Terlingua cookoff band, the

Who's Who Includes 11 County Students

Eleven Wellington and Quail students were among the 76 from the area selected for the ninth annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students".

These include students who were enrolled during the 1974-75 school year and are: George E. Brewer, son of Mrs. Yvonne Brewer; Sharon Childers of Quail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N.E. Childers; Jennifer A. Earnest, now married to Ronnie Glen and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fulcher;

James S. Saied, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Saied, Jr.; Richard M. Sims and Randall C. Sims, sons of Mr. and Mrs. B.M. Sims; Betty L. Kimberly D. Goforth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Goforth; David L. Null, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Null; and Carol Jones.

While there he will attend four study courses to earn six hours credit toward the profession's continuing education requirements. Regulations of the State Board of Licensure call for 30 hours study each biennium to keep administrators abreast of newest techniques and procedures and to keep their licenses valid.

In addition to attending educational sessions, Tommy will be enrolled for certification to participate in business proceedings to be conducted by the TNHA House of Delegates. Principal item on that agenda will be the election of new officers to head the Texas Association with membership of 610 facilities and a total of over 54,000 beds licensed for long term care.

Mrs. Thomas is accompanying her husband to Fort Worth and will attend the social-activity directors' educational session and business meeting.

"They learned a lot from it and they gained a lot of experience. It will pay off in the junior and senior years," Coach Hicks concluded.

"We played good football all year and we have had the upper hand all the way. We just let it get away from us with Clarendon.
