TOSSED STONE KILLS BURK YOUTH

Outlook Of Hoover-Smith Battle Baffles Political Seers

Faith

Candidates Speak—
They'll Be Lonesome—
Papa Who Pays—
In Capable Hands—

County candidates inaugurate their campaigns tonight with speakings at Bellevue park in Wichita Falls and at Electra. The meetings are worth attending, from the viewpoint of both education and entertainment. A man's ability as an orator, of course, is not necessarily an indication of his fitness for the office which he seeks. There is little orstory, however, and a great deal of information in the addresses of county candidates. The issues of the local campaign, and the qualifications of those seeking office are pretty well thrashed out before primary election date.

To all the candidates disgruntled who declare they are going to vote the Republican ticket do so, the attendance at the county political rallies will be rather discouraging to the candidates.

◆ ◆ ◆

From all indications the city is in for a hot time over its sewer tax, with its penalty of discontinuance of water and sewer service for failure to pay. City Manager George D. Fairtrace has rightly declared for carrying out the provisions of the city ordinance which provides penalty for failure to pay the tax. City ordinances should be carried out. They should not be passed merely as idle threats. And if the city intends to collect its tax, it should collect it despite warnings of possible law suits. If it has no such intention, then persons who have already paid should be given a refund. It really makes little difference how the tax is collected. The property owner bears the burden in the end.

To this writer, the most interesting feature of the tangle in the situation faced by the person who rents or leases a residence or business building. If the property owner refuses or fails to pay the sewer tax, then the tenant has his water and sewer service discontinued. If the owner changes his mind and pays, the tenant must pay reconnection charges to the city. Of course he can get mad and move, and pay his money to the transfer man.

Fire Chief J. E. McClure issues his annual warning against carelessness with fireworks, a statement that should be addressed primarily to parents. If the average adult is injured, or loses his property, he really must blame himself. But for the injured or maimed child, the responsibility goes back to the mother and father. Teach your child the danger of fireworks, teach him how to play safe if he must have his displays, and above all, BE CAREFUL yourself.

Leo M. Underwood, director of several Wichita Falls bands, provides a new stunt in aviation by serenading the people of the city while flying about in an airplane. Which is all very well, we suppose, as long as the neighbors players don't find out about it.

This newspaper is glad that Mrs. Lois Parker, who was so successful in her work for the Grand Opera company last year, is to present Paul Whiteman's band in a concert here this year. Concerts and other entertainments, capable presented, bring many visitors to Wichita Falls, and make many friends for the city. Mrs. Parker unusually successful in her grand opera work, should find a willing and interested audience over Northwest Texas in her new work.

Rhea Reported Steadily Improving

John B. Rhea, Wichita Falls attorney, who underwent a major operation at the Hargrave-Walker hospital Friday, was reported to be steadily improving Sunday. Mr. Rhea collapsed in his office in the Hamilton building Friday afternoon. Examination revealed a ruptured stomach ulcer, which necessitated immediate operation.

Attendants at the hospital did not believe that Mr. Rhea would be able to participate in his campaign for district attorney prior to the primaries the last of this month. His condition was blamed on the strenuous campaign he has waged, physicians say.

Man Charged With Car Theft Returned Here

T. C. Smith, charged with theft of above $50, was lodged in the Wichita county jail Monday night after he had been brought here from Abilene by Charles Gant, deputy sheriff. Mr. Gant also returned two automobiles Smith is charged with stealing in Wichita Falls.

Fliers Carry Serum To Lubbock Patient

DALLAS, July 1. (AP)—Lieut. I. M. Palmer and Sergeant E. G. Gault left here at 8:15 today in a Douglas plane with anti-gangrene serum with which Lubbock physicians hope to save the life of Glenn Williamson (who is in a hospital there.

Williamson suffered a compound fracture of the thigh in a fall from a windmill near Levelland Friday.

INDICATORS OF PAST VOID IN COMING FIGHT

Unknown Factors Take Important Places In Campaign

VOTING TOTAL LAGS

Last Eleciton Brought Only Half of Voters To Polls

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

HOUSTON, Texas, July 1. (AP)—So many unknown factors will figure in the Hoover-Smith battle that it [illegible] professional and amateur, to take out heavy accident insurance. The casualties among the political guessers are going to be something terrific this year.

In the first place, previous election results, which are to political forecasters what form charts are to racing men, will be almost useless this year.

This is the first time that prohibition has figured in the choice of a president and none knows today how the fact that Governor Smith has taken his position squarely upon the promise to work for a change in the Volstead act will affect the voting. Off hand, it might be thought that this would drive all drys away from him. Yet such unquestionably dry Democratic leaders as Josephus Daniels of North Carolina, and Gov. Dan Moody of Texas, have said they would support Smith not because they agree with him on this issue, but in spite of it.

Split Unknown

Nobody knows how many wets and drys among those average citizens who seldom take the trouble to go to the polls will be out next November. Nobody knows how far religious feeling will affect the result. The basic fact is that our recent presidential elections have brought out only about half of the qualified voters of the United States. The remaining half, or such portion of it as votes this year, is an unknown quantity.

Without in any sense trying to forecast what is going to happen, it may be pointed out that practically all anti-Smith Democrats and most independent observers feel reasonably certain the ten states of the solid south, which have always gone Democratic, will do so again this year. If so, these would give Smith a basic block of 114 electoral votes from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas and Virginia.

New York's 45

Democrats feel confident that Governor Smith will carry New York state and most independent observers give him a liberal chance to do so. That would give him 45 more electoral votes and a fairly certain block of 159 votes. He would still need 107 more to win, 266 votes being required for a majority of the electoral college.

Leaving out of consideration scattered minor states where he might pick up an occasional handful of votes, Smith would have to turn to two groups of states in his quest for the remaining votes to overturn the normal Republican majority. One group consists of the five border states containing 61 electoral votes divided as follows: Kentucky, 13; Maryland, 8; Missouri, 18; Oklahoma, 10; Tennessee 12. Even if he carried all of these he would still need 46 votes to go over the top.

The second group, where Smith might turn for votes, includes the following major states: Illinois, 29; Massachusetts, 18; New Jersey, 14; Ohio, 24; Wisconsin, 13.

In 1916, Wilson had a majority in the electoral college over Hughes of 23 votes; California having tipped the balance in his favor by a close vote. In 1920 Harding had a majorit yof 277 electoral votes over Cox. In 1924, Coolidge had a majority of 277 electoral votes over Davis. Manifestly, if Governor Smith wins, it will be by taking a large number of states which the Republicans have carried in the last two presidential elections.

Six Injured as Fireworks Made By Boy Experimenter Pop Prematurely

NEW YORK, July 1. (UE)—Six persons were injured today in a succession of explosions of fourth of July fireworks manufactured by Philip Rosenblatt, 17, at his home, No. 331 East Nineteenth street.

The boy experimenter himself was the most severely injured. He suffered a fracture of the skull and severe burns on the hands and face when one of his giant homemade firecrackers let go.

The detonation was followed an instant later by one even more severe, which blew Philip's sister, Estha, 16, from her bed. In an adjoining apartment a three-months-old baby, Margaret Mary Snee, was hurled from her crib.

With the arrival of policemen and firemen 11 of the remaining petards were gathered up and wrapped in a newspaper by Robert Withers, an inspector of the bureau of combustibles.

Holding the deadly package in his hands, Withers was explaining his intent to analyze the mysterious compound when the entire 11 exploded with a flash and terrific roar.

Nearly all of Withers' fingers were torn from his hands. Patrolman William Seubert of the East One Hundred and Fourth street station was struck in the right eye by flying debris. Philip's brother, Louis, 11, suffered painful lacerations and burns on his face.

Miss Estha Rosenblatt, who has escaped the first blast, was caught in the third one. She suffered burns and lacerations of her hands.

Philip was no amateur at chemistry. He had graduated from Stuyvesant evening high school, where he specialized in that science.

GRAND JURY MEETS TODAY

Probe of Pryor-Shook Arrest Scheduled

The grand jury of the 30th district court will meet Monday morning, when the July term of the court opens in Wichita county. There are a number of important matters to be considered by the grand jury. Judge E. G. Thornton, presiding, completed the June term of court in Young county Saturday.

Most interest, however, is being manifest in what action the body will take on charges filed against Ed Pryor, constable, and Tom Shook, former chief of police, of Electra. Charges of "concealing a criminal" were filed against the two men after Henry Shumate, escaped from the county jail, had been found sleeping with Pryor, according to Sheriff W. G. Bralley.

One murder charge, the nature of which was not revealed, also will be brought before the grand jury by members of the district attorney's office, it is understood.

The 89th district court, Judge P. A. Martin, presiding, also opens its July term Monday.

FIVE NATIONS JOIN RESCUE OF LOST MEN

Savior of Nobile And Five Companions Float Toward Death

ICE FLOE BREAKS UP

Message From Marooned Sextet Reveals No Fear of Danger

OSLO, Norway, July 1. (UP)—Lieut. Einar-Paul Lundborg and five members of the polar dirigible Italia drifted helplessly toward death [illegible] five great nations fought desperately but futily to save them.

Lundborg, the outstanding hero of the fatal porth pole expedition because of his rescue of General Umberto Nobile, sent a radio message from the isolated camp where Nobile and his party were stranded urging the rescue parties to hurry their work. The ice floe on which the men were marooned was rapidly breaking up, he said, and they were in immediate danger of being swept to sea.

Fearless Men

The men who had faced death since May 25, when the dirigible was wrecked retained their stoic calm in the face of the danger which they had feared most during the last month—the summer season when the ice forest would be tossed about, broken and probably carry them to death at sea. There was no note of fear in their message. Lundborg's reckless but fearless return to the ice floe after Nobile's miraculous rescue was typical of the men who have participated in the expedition and the relief work, but the message carried the theme: Hurry, hurry, or you will be too late.

Arctic experts were pessimistic regarding chances for the rescue, or of finding the nine other members of the Italia's crew or the six—including Raold Amundsen — who were lost attempting to find Nobile.

Knud Rasmussen, Arctic explorer, told the United Press today that even should Lundborg and his companions be carried into open water on an ice floe it would not necessarily indicate they were in danger of death since many ships' crews had floated in such manner for several months.

Large, Old Floes

The ice floes upon which Lundborg and the five men of the Italia are drifting are large and many years old, Rasmussen said, and it is possible they would form a satisfactory refuge for weeks or months, if the men had sufficient clothes, shelter and guns.

He recalled that Vjalhmar Stefansson, the explorer, planned to drift over the polar basin on ice floes which he considered the best means of travel in those latitudes.

Lundborg's message, however, indicated his fear the iceberg would break up until it would no longer be a safe refuge for the explorers.

Rasmussen said the month of July would increase the dangers and the difficulties of the rescuers because the sea would be filled with floating ice.

Amundsen Thought Dead

Helmer Hansen, companion of Amundsen when he discovered the South Pole, told Peter Freuchen, noted Danish explorer, that he believed Amundsen dead. The Latham seaplane, he said, was able to float only about two hours. He believed Amundsen was forced down in the open sea, the machine turned turtle and the passengers were drowned.

Freuchen deplored the mishap to the Nobile expedition, saying its failure likely would hurt the future of Arctic exploration. He also deplored the fact that many of Sweden's, Norway's, and Russia's best Arctic explorers were risking their lives for the crew of the Italia. He insisted the Italia's expedition was ill-planend and said Nobile was warned not to start in view of the fact he was not an Arctic explorer and lacked experience.

Rasmussen said the statement that the men on the ice floes now are moving eight kilometers daily is a "complete phantasy" inasmuch as an ice floe movement differs from day to day and it is impossible to predict anything about them.

Special Prayers Held

Nothing has been heard of the men in the dirigible's crippled gas bag since they vanished in a gale May 25. A few days later three men, including Prof. Finn Malgren, Swedish physicist, left Nobile's party in an attempt to reach North East Land, and have neither been sighted nor heard from.

Churches throughout Norway today held special prayer services for Amundsen and the other lost men. Many Arctic explorers believed Amundsen irretrievably lost and they discouraged further search for him.

Boy Shot To Death After Pleading With His Mother

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, July 1.—Joe Taylor Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Taylor of this city was shot to death at his home here today. He was shot twice with a pistol and died instantly.

The shooting occurred while members of the Taylor family were preparing for breakfast. Mr. Taylor was in the rear of the home when he heard the boy cry, "Mother, please do not shoot me." He rushed into the room and witnessed the firing of the two pistol shots.

Mrs. Taylor was in a state of dementia, according to members of the family.

COAL GAS TAKES LIVES OF 48 FRENCH MINERS

Fire Damp Kills 41 Men While Seven Are Lost When Shaft Walls Crash in Disastrous Fire

STE ETIENNE, France, July 1. (AP)—Bodies of 48 coal miners killed by fire damp in a mine here yesterday, have been recovered. A roll call of employes showed that all others have been accounted for and that [illegible] wave of fire damp and vitiated air swept the galleries and asphyxiated 41 of the miners. The other seven were crushed by cave-ins resulting from fire which burned away the supports, the collapse of the galleries causing the blast of firedamp.

Fire Breaks Out

Twenty of the dead were foreigners, mostly Poles.

The catastrophe, one of the worst in French mine history, started when fire broke out in a gallery carrying pipes which supplied compressed air into portions of the workings which had no direct ventilation. The pipe supports burned and the pipes themselves burst.

But the fresh air in the pipes, which might have meant life to the men, became itself a source of disaster for the pressure from the broken pipes acted like bellows and fanned the flames into fresh fury, bringing down the roof supports. Survivors still were numb today from the horror that this development inspired.

City in Mourning

The entire city is in mourning and all mines will be closed tomorrow, the funeral day. Cardinal Maurin came from Lyons to conduct the services and delegations of miners are expected from Great Britain, Germany and Belgium.

League Assembly To Hear War Protocal

GENEVA, June 30. (AP)—A collective protocal, open to signatures of all states, whose object would be a strengthened covenant of the league of nations is before the committee on security and arbitration, and will be presented to the league assembly for approval.

The protocol, whose details are still under discussion, was suggested by the German delegation. It provides that immediate measures be taken by the league council in the event of war or the threat of war which the signatories would undertake in advance to abide by. One measure is the declaring of an armistice.

Town of 7000 Persons Destroyed by Volcano

LEGASPI, Province of Albay, P.I., July 1. (AP)—The coast town of Libog, with a population of 7000, and several villages near the eastern base of the volcano Mayon, have been virtually destroyed by lava streaming down the volcano's side, refugees reaching here today reported. The volcano has been in eruption since June 21, and all the inhabitants of the devastated district were presumed to have left days ago.

Series of Pro Raids Started at Galveston

GALVESTON, Texas, July 1. (AP) State and federal officers early sunday began a sweeping series of raids on alleged gambling and liquor resorts in Galveston, obtaining temporary injunctions against three night clubs to prevent gambling. Federal officers, working separately, arrested 15 men and women on charges of liquor possession in raids on a dozen places scattered throughout the city.

DRINKING KILLS JILTED CONSUL

Handsome Swede Drinks Self to Death

NEW YORK, July 1. (US—Theophilus Wessen, former Swedish vice-consul here, drank himself to death because he was jilted by the wealthy and beautiful Mrs. Henrietta Guerard Hartford, his friends revealed today.

On Saturday, the man who was a member of one of Sweden's finest families, died in a hospital of cute alcholism. Some mystery surrounded the sudden slump in the fortunes and health of the young diplomat who was a favorite in the social world.

Career Ended.

Wessen's career in the consulate ended abruptly after the arrival in this country of the Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden in 1926. At this time, Wessen and Mrs. Hartford had announced their engagement. His fiancee wished Wessen to use his influence to persuade the prince to be her guests at Newport, R. I. Sweden's royal representative departed without visiting her and Mrs. Hartford broke her engagement to the vice-counsel.

Inconsolable over this turn in his affairs, Wessen commenced to drink heavily. Last Thursday he was taken to the hospital after suffering three convulsions.

Frederick Dudley Kohler, international lawyer and close friend of the former diplomat, explained:

Admired By Women

"Wessen was tall and handsome. Many women admired him but only one of them fascinated Wessen. She was Mrs. Hartford. Her husband died in the fall of 1926. In the spring of that year, Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden came to the United States. He was much sought after by society. Mrs. Hartford planned to entertain the crown prince for a few days at her villa in Newport.

"Shortly after the arrival of the prince there was a political upheaval in Sweden and although Wessen retained his rank as vice consul, he was relieved of active duties.

"The crown prince did not visit Mrs. Hartford and Wessen told me she was greatly disappointed at his failure to be her guest.

"Shortly afterward, Wessen told me the engagement was off. He appeared heartbroken. Although he had never been a drinking man, he commenced to drink heavily. That is what shortened his life."

De Rivera's Resignation Considered No Secret

E. J. DAULTON FATALLY HURT AT LAKE DAM

Rock Used as Boat Anchor Hits Victim When Tossed to Spillway

SKULL IS CRUSHED

Wichita Falls Boy Held Blameless by Witness To Accident

Elmer Jewell Daulton, 22, of Burkburnett was accidently killed at the Diversion dam Sunday afternoon when he was struck in the [illegible] with a large rock, according to word received here by Sheriff W. G. Bralley. The rock was thrown upon the spillway of the dam by Scott Allday, 14, son of Mrs. Alva Allday, 2703 Holliday street, according to witnesses.

Young Allday, according to an uncle, R. N. Tweedy, of 1114 Glenwood avenue, who was with him at the time, had thrown the rock from the boat in which he was fishing to the spillway, using the rock for an anchor to the boat. Instead of lodging on the spillway, the rock slipped over and struck Mr. Daulton, who was standing beneath the spillway by a flood gate of the dam.

Knocked Into Water

The blow crushed the young man's skull and knocked him into the water, witnesses said. The body was recovered about 30 minutes later and was taken to Burkburnett.

Immediately after the accident Mr. Tweedy telephoned Sheriff Bralley, who in turn advised officers of Archer county, where the dam is located.

A number of witnesses to the accident completely exonerated the Wichita Falls boy of all blame in Mr. Daulton's death, Mr. Tweedy told Sheriff Bralley.

Scott and his mother had accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Tweedy to the dam on a fishing trip.

Father in Party

Mr. Daulton was at the lake with a number of friends. His father was in the party.

The Daulton home is between Burkburnett and Midway. Mrs. Daulton, who did not accompany the party to the lake, had not been advised of her son's death late Sunday night.

No funeral arrangements had been completed, but it was understood that burial would be either at Burkburnett or Lawton, Okla. The body is being held by the Owens Funeral home at Burkburnett.

Earthquake Detected By Washington 'Seismo'

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—An earthquake about 2500 miles from Washington was recorded today on the seismograph at Georgetown university. Father Tondorf, director of the observatory, said the shocks began about 4:20 a. m. reached maximum intensity at 4:45 and continued until about 6 o'clock. They were of moderate intensity and probably originated in South America.

Havoc of Storms In Tennessee Subsides

NASHVILLE, Ten., July 1. (AP)—The havoc of rain and windstorms which for two days had virtually paralyzed middle Tennessee appeared to have completely subsided today. Communication lines were open in almost every direction, and flood waters, while still mounting slowly through a large section of the storm area, offered no threat of further rise.

German Pension For Bennett's Widow Urged

BERLIN, July 1. (US)—A petition from the German government for the widow of Floyd Bennett, the airman, who died after being taken ill while attempting to rescue Koehl-Fitzmaurice-Huenefeld trio from Greenley Island, was proposed today by the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. The newspaper is the semi-official organ of Foreign Minister Stresemann.

Body of Pilot Missing Three Days Found With Wreckage of Plane

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 1. (US)—Leslie Smith, 25, Robertson Aircraft corporation pilot, missing since last Thursday when he was lost while en route from Little Rock, Ark., to St. Louis, was found dead today at Elsinore, Mo., by a fellow aviator, Bud Guerney.

Guerney wired officials at Scott field here that he came upon the wreckage at noon today, and the position of Smith's body indicated the flier had been thrown clear of his plane when it struck the ground.

Smith had been assigned to transport pictures of the Democratic convention from Houston to St. Louis. He arrived safely at Little Rock last Thursday, refueled and took off for this city.

Frank Robertson, president of the airline corporation, took off in a plane to claim Smith's body when informed of Guerney's wire.

William Hickman Engages Mate In Death Cage in Mortal Fight

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, July 1. (US)—Locked in mortal combat in their cell in "condemned row," William Edward Hickman, kidnaper-slayer of little Marion Parker of Los Angeles, and Joseph Troche, a condemned murderer from Eldorado county, aroused the other inmates of the death house to a frenzy during the early hours of this morning.

While the yells of the combatants and the other condemned men rang through the death house, guards struggled frantically with the three heavy locks on the cell door.

Hickman, in a frenzy of rage, was astride of his battered and bruised cell mate. He had ripped the leg from a small wooden stool and was battering Troche over the head with the weapon.

Troche was bleeding and almost unconscious when the guards succeeded in separating the two. He was taken to the prison hospital for treatment but steadfastly refused to disclose what the battle was about.

Hickman, equally reticent over the cause of the fight, was locked up in his cell alone. He had but few marks upon him and lapsed into sullen silence.

SCENIC SPOTS ON MOTORCADE

Texas, New Mexico And Mexico Points Included

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, July 1. — Scenic spots in two of the most picturesque states of the Southwest, Texas and New Mexico, and a romantic foreign nation, Old Mexico, will be visited on the third annual motorcade to be sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Date for the event has been set for August, as a result of the lateness of the annual convention just closed, and because primary elections do not occur until July 29.

Bouriand Signs Up

Among the distinguished members already signed up for the party are: A. M. (Andy) Bourland of Vernon and Oklaunion, newly elected president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Bourland, Miss Frances Long of Abilene, now known as "Miss West Texas", a number of officers and directors of the West Texas organization, state officials, well-known newspaper writers and photographers, and prominent West Texas citizens. The Famous Simmons Cowboy Band, new official musicians of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will make the motorcade trip to afford entertainment. The party will be limited to 150, including the band.

Richly seasoned old-fashioned West Texas meals will be served de luxe from a weathered chuch wagon, this to be provided for the occasion. Col. R. L. Penick, sturdy pioneer westerner of Stamford, will have charge of the attendant camping and commissary arrangements, and expenses of these features will be shared by all who make the trip. A special trouble car and mechanics will accompany the party to insure a "bon voyage". Whereever desired, arrangements will be made at nearby hotels for parties preferring those accomodations to camping.

Staff In Charge

The manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will have charge of the itinerary and other features of the motorcade, being assisted in this by members of the staff, their aim being exploit and advertise the vacational and recreational advantages of the beautiful West Texts region.

While the complete itinerary has not been worked out, main objective points are ready for announcement. The start of the trip will be made from Snyder, Scurry county, August 6. Setting forth at 9:30, the party expects to travel over Highway No. 83 as far as Carlsbad, N. M., where the first night will be spent.

August 7 will be an epochal day in the motorcade program when the party attends the Inter Mountain District convention of the WTCC which session will be held in the famous Carlsbad caverns, known as the eighth wonder of the world.

Night At Canyon

Leaving the caverns at 5 o'clock, the motor caravan will move to McKitterick Canyon, a gorge east of the famed Guadalupe Peak, the highest in Texas, where the night will be spent. The following day, the tour will include a drive around the peak, which is nearly 10,000 feet of rock, and which is acknowledged one of the most beautiful points in Texas.

From this spot, the group will move through Van Horn, thence down the Southern Pacific railway through Valentine, and to Fort Davis where members will camp or divide into groups to visit the wonder towns of Alpine and Marfa and other points.

August 9 will write another historic day in the motorcade when the second regional convention of the trip will be staged in the romantic Mile High Town of Fort Davis. The session will be that of the Big Bend district. Scenic drives, trips to famous camp grounds and ranch houses, will be features of enjoyment while in this place.

Cross Pecos

Departing from Alpine, home of picturesque Sul Ross, teachers college, at noon, August 10, the route will follow the Southern Pacific railway, through the great sheep and goat raising section of Texas, crossing the Pecos river near the highest railroad bridge in America, and on to Devil's river, one of the most beautiful streams in the southwest. Langtry, former throne of Roy Beam, the well-known law of the Pecos, whose rulings were dispensed from his saloon, is one of the most interesting and historic towns on this route.

Camping arrangements will be made on Devil's river for the night and the next day, August 11, visit will be made to Del Rio, from which point a short excursion will be taken into Old Mexico, Mexican officials will welcome the party.

Night At Junction

The party will start from Del Rio, August 12, en route for Junction, a distance of 135 miles. A brief stop will be made at Rock Springs, recently devasted by a cyclone, but city than ever. The night will be now rebuilt into a more attractive spent at Junction, known throughout the country for its secenery, restful environment, bathing and fishing opportunities. A real camping opportunity will be afforded here, as the start from that point will not be made until August 14.

From Junction, the journey will be continued for two days, the exact route and breaking up point to be determined by members of the motorcade.

Detailed plans for the third motor caravan are being worked out at the headquarters office of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Stamford, where registrations for the event are being received.

Protestant Bishop Thinks Contest To Be Uninfluenced by Religion

By PRINCE VALERIO PIGNATELLI

ROME, July 1. (US)—Religious considerations will be unable to influence the Hoover Smith presidential contest in the United States, according to the opinion expressed today by the Right Rev. Ernest Milmore Stires, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Long Island.

Bishop Stires said:

"The Republican and Democratic parties are fighting again on civil and secular grounds. Although religion is the greatest spring of human feelings, I am confident that the American people will not allow the religious issue to outweigh the facts of a material life like politics. American politics have no religous problems."

I met Bishop Stires in front of the American Protestant Episcopal church of St. Paul. He was somewhat angry because he had found the church closed for the summer, unexpected and, as he said, against the rules. He expected to lodge a protest.

The bishop hopes that the American church will be opened before he leaves Tuesday on his European tour. Otherwise, he will be obliged to pray in the British church, All Saints.

The bishop rejected the idea that the Episcopal church might proselyte in Rome. The American and British churches, he said, were for members already resident or visiting in the city. For them to proselyte, he said, would be "unjust, like stealing sheep from a peaceful shepherd."

Both the bishop and Mrs. Stires are to be received by Premier Mussolini.

Corn Belt Farmers To Meet in Des Moines

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 1. (AP)—The cornbelt committee, comprising representatives of middle western farm organizations, will meet here next week to discuss the platform adopted by the Republican and Democratic parties, Milo Reno, president of the Iowa Farmers' union, announced today. Mr. Reno said that the meeting would give particular attention to the farm relief planks.

Speaking at a Farmers' union meeting at Ogden, Iowa, last night, Former Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota, declared he would be "bitterly disappointed if Senator Brookhart has come out for Herbert Hoover."

HOOVER WOMEN TOORGANIZE

Dry Groups to Give G. O. P. Support

WASHINGTON, July 1.— (UP)—The women of democracy "will bolt their party rather than vote for Governor Smith," and they will support Herbert Hoover in an active campaign, Mrs. William Atherton Du Puy, Liason press representative for women dry groups at the Houston convention, declared in a statement here tonight.

She said that working through these dry organizations she plans to start immediately formation of the "Hoover Democratic women."

"I do this confident in the belief that a million of them will be brought to the polls for Hoover in November," Mrs. Du Puy said. "These women will support Mr. Hoover without in any way yielding their democracy.

"We hold that Governor Smith is an unnatural nominee of the Democratic party, forced upon it by a conspiracy of circumstances. We hold further that the spirit of the platform written at Houston was dry and that the party is dry. We believe that, when Governor Smtih, after being nominated, resurrected the prohibition issue and made it the basis of his campaign he did it in defiance of the will of his party and that Democrats are therefore justified in refusing to support him. We believe he deliberately scuttled the ship.

"Ninety per cent of the women of democracy are dry," Mrs. Du Puy said. "They know that Governor Smith is wholly wet and that his election would plunge the country back into a distressing series of liquor fights."

She added that "we intend to serve notice here and now that we will not follow unsatisfactory candidates blindly," and that we propose to defeat the nominee of our own party."

And the Garden?

Husband (who, during house cleaning time, has to shift for himself): I say, dear, where the deuce can I find a knife and fork?

Wife: Don't be silly, Harold. You know they are kept in the side board.

Husband: I know, but where is the sideboard?

Wife: Oh, it's in the garden.—Passing Show.

DRY COUNSEL ROUSES VOTERS

Anti-Saloon Head Sees N. Y. Against Al

NEW YORK, July 1. (US)—A call to the Republican party of this state to reject both Attorney General Albert Ottinger and United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle as candidates for the gubernatorial nomination was issued today by Orville S. Poland, counsel for the anti-saloon league of this state.

Mr. Poland declared that if the Republicans pick an upstate "dry" to lead their state ticket, and make a strong stand for continuance of prohibition, Governor Smith will lose the state by 150,000 votes. He said that 500,000 "dry" Republicans remained away from the polls two years ago, and that the party can get them out to vote this year only by putting a "dry" state ticket in the field.

These assertions were made by Mr. Poland both in the form of a public statement, and in an address which he delivered before the Centenary Methodist Episcopal church at Syracuse, N. Y. He said in part:

Drys Get "Shadow"

"A Tammany-controlled convention has conceded to the drys the shadow while it retains the substance for the wets. The obvious and overearnest ballyhoo for party loyalty can not and will not dissuade thousands of dry Democrats from voting for their principles when these principles have been betrayed by the selection of a wet Tammany standard bearer.

"George Brennan was right when he said, 'The candidate is the platform.' Every known official and private act of Governor Smith's touching on the subject matter has been hostile to prohibition."

"The dry Democrats of the south have already given notice of revolt at his betrayal of their party in return for the promise that Smith will carry New York. But the drys of New York—both Democrats and Republicans—will have to be reckoned with. The one-half million dry Republicans who were entitled to vote in 1926 but did not vote, will come to the polls and lose New York for Smith provided only one thing happens. That is that the Republican leadership in this state demonstrates sufficient intelligence to do the thing which has been the prerequisite to Republican success for the last 15 years.

Women Organize

"Let the Republican leaders deny the Ottingers' and the Tuttles'—favorites of New York county Republicanism who make no appeal to the dry upstate vote—and place in nomination candidates on the state ticket who do make such an appeal."

The publicity department of the anti-saloon league also announced the formation of a Brooklyn Women's Constitutional Hoover-Curtis campaign committee. This committee is headed by Mrs. Ida B. Sammis Woodruff as chairman, with Mrs. Newell P. Andrus as secretary, and Miss Lois Pinney Clark as treasurer. In a statement given out through the anti-saloon league, Mrs. Woodruff said:

"The women of Brooklyn—regardless of party—who place the constitution and the law first, will be united in support of Hoover and Curtis."

This committee, it was announced, is composed of women who supported Christman, the upstate Republican who was put forward by the "dry" element as a candidate for the United States senate two years ago.

'Emancipated' Negro Convicts In Alabama Sing of New Happiness

FLATROD, Ala., July 1. (AP)—Strains of "Sweet Low Sweet Chariot," and "All My Troubles Are Over," wafted from shafts of coal mines here as eight hundred negro convicts completed their last "task" under the Alabama convict lease system, a practice of more than 20 years standing.

Condemned as a "relic of barbarism," the convict leasing system ended Sunday after a fight which lasted for a period of 13 years. It was in 1915 that first agitation against selling the services of convicts of the state to private interests was started.

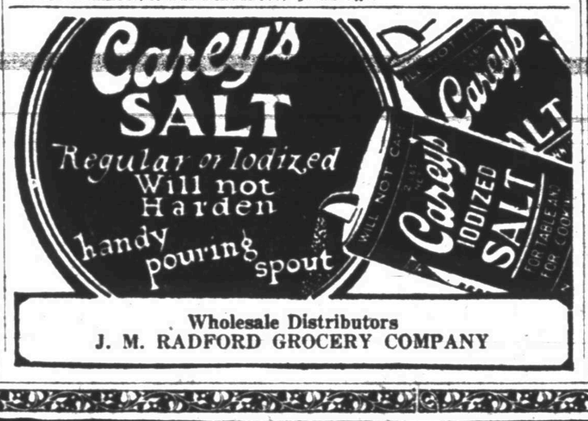

Governor Bibb Graves promised that convict leasing would end with his inauguration. With the aid of the legislature the governor's plan was written into law and all white prisoners were put on state highway projects and on state farms last June. Because of the lack of facilities, it was necessary to delay removal of all prisoners until facilities for working them had been obtained.

Five hundred of the prisoners taken from the coal mines here and at Aldrich mines today were transfered to the state's model prison farm in Escambia county. The farm is composed of 1304 acres, 700 of which are cleared and under cultivation. Others will be distributed among road building camps in the state.

Dorothy Dix Finds Seven Things Desired by Dissatisfied Wives

"What's the Matter With Wives That Nothing Satisfies Them?" Cries a Domestic Husband and Good Provider; To Which Dorothy Dix Replies—"From Thousands of Tear-Sodden Letters I've Learned Seven Things Women Want."

When a man who has been a good husband according to his lights perceives that his wife is peevish and dissatisfied and goes about with an expression of patient suffering on her countenance, he throws up his hands in despair and cries out in a voice of baffled rage:

What's the matter with women that nothing can satisfy them? Haven't I done everything in my power to make my wife happy? Have I ever beaten her or been cruel to her? Am I not as domestic as the house cat? Have I ever looked at another woman? Am I not a good provider? Hasn't she a nice home and a new car and a charge account at the best shops in town? What does a woman want anyway?

To answer this question I have made a summary of thousands of letters that I have received from disgruntled and unhappy wives who have wept upon my breast, so to speak, and told me the sad, sad story of their lives. And from these tear-sodden missives I deduct that what the average wife wants in marriage are seven things.

First she wants to be the only one and the only thing in her husband's life. She can't bear for him to have any other interest except herself. She wants him to make money and succeed in business or his profession, but she hates his old office and resents the time he gives to his work, and she regards the time and money he spends on any sports or fad as a high crime and misdemeanor. No complaints from wives are more bitter than those who claim that their husbands neglect them for their business or who bewail their fate as golf widows.

This desire to wives to monopolize their husbands is the crux of the whole in-law question. They cannot endure that their husbands should still love the mothers who bore them or the sisters they played with in infancy. They are even jealous of their husbands' old friends, and their first assertion of wifehood is to freeze them out. They grow jaundiced at the very mention of an old sweetheart that their husbands haven't thought of for 20 years. And virtually every wife believes that every woman her husband works with is a vamp who is trying to get him.

Second, the average woman wants her husband to remain the perpetual lover. Men marry to get rid of courtship. Women marry in the fond illusion that they can make a continuous performance of it, and they get a jar from which they never recover when their husbands drop the lovemaking at the altar.

It isn't enough for a woman that her husband proves his affection for her by deeds; that he works his fingers to the bone to provide her with comforts and luxuries and to keep her from having to toil; that he slaves in a hot office in the summer so that she may go to a cool place, or endures the winter cold so that she may go where it is balmy; that he has his old hat cleaned so that she may have a dozen new ones. What she wants is words. She craves sentiment and romance and for him to swear over and over every day that no man ever loved a woman before as he does her, and that he would commit suicide if she should die.

Third, she craves compliments. She hungers and starves for flattery. She wants her husband to notice her new dress and her new haircut, and she wants him to tell her that she gets more beautiful every day and that none of the flappers can hold a candle to her.

She wants him to call her fat, plumpness. Her skinniness, slenderness. Her temper, nerves. She wants him to hand her out a perpetual jolly, and if he will do this he may beat her and starve her and she will still consider herself the happiest of women and believe that she drew a matrimonial prize.

Four h she wants her husband to show appreciation of what she does. When a woman complains of how hard she has to labor over her housework and tells you how many hours she stood over the cooking stove or how long it has been since she had a new coat, it isn't because she begrudges what she does for her family; it's a bid for sympathy.

She is fishing for praise. All she wants is for her husband to tell her that she is a cook who would make any Parisian chef turn green with jealousy, and that he doesn't know what he would do if he didn't have the greatest little wife in the world to take care of his money and help him along.

Fifth, the average wife wants her husband to take her out to places of amusement. This is a veritable obsession with wives. It is the high point of matrimonial etiquette that they feel must be observed to save their faces among their friends.

Heaven knows what, with matinees and clubs and bridge parties and teas and receptions, etc., any woman can get all the diversion she needs in the afternoon and leave her poor, tired husband to sit in his slippers at home and listen to the radio in peace.

But no. This does not suffice. A man must show up in public with his wife or else she believes that he is ashamed of her, and chief among the plaints of women who find marriage a failure is the wail that their husbands never take them out.

They would be satisfied with the movies. All they want is the gesture that will indicate to other women that their husbands still regard them as lady loves to be entertained and amused.

Sixth, the average wife wants her husband to talk to her. She desires a chatty fireside companion, or at least someone who will listen while she pours out all of the neighborhood gossip.

Most wives regard reading as a vice in their husbands, and one of the blighting disappointments of matrimony to them is to find out that husbands do not consider that entertaining and amusing their wives is any part of a husband's duty, and that they are expected to spend their evenings sitting up with a stuffed figure that only grunts when it is spoken to and that is just about as chummy as a store dummy would be.

Seventh, the average wife wants a fair division of the family income, and she wants her part of it given to her as her right and not as a gratuity.

She wants a definite allowance and she doesn't want to have to go like a beggar to her husband for every cent she gets. Nor does she want her husband to act when the bills come in as if she had eaten all the food and monopolized all the room and heat and light and worn all the clothes that were required for the upkeep of the entire household.

These are the seven things that wives want and mostly they don't get them. —DOROTHY DIX.

CHIC CHERIE

Shall she let her hair grow in or not? It's six months now since she decided she would and you can see the ruffle of curls in her neck that are the only result. Of course that's short just a few curls in back and on the side. They are attractive, too. No, it isn't the curls themselves that make the problem. The problem is, what to wear with curly looks? This costume, of course, is entirely satisfactory—a dress of blue organdie dotted with white and trimmed with lace. A sleeveless dress, because summer frocks are made that way this season. A hat of blue straw with a transparent edging of hair braid—a wide hat under which those curls may show most gracefully.

LATEST FASHIONS

If one could always wear a picture hat and a robe de style! Not that this costume is bad for this hair cut. It might be much worse. The eyebrow skull cap merely lets the curly ends escape. The suit is three piece and plain blues—but for evening? Shall she buy this transformation of white hair which is so new and smart for evening?

Andy thinks she is adorable. Andy loves her hair. Andy thinks those white transformations are so silly when a girl really has golden locks like Cherie's. And loves her dress—of pale pink organdie, the skirt drooping to the floor in back, and the shoulder ribbon of pink and white roses. In fact it looks very much as though Andy loved Cherie.

GAUGE HIKES PECOS YIELD

Test of 207 Wells Rates 2,575,049 Barrels

SAN ANGELO, July 1.—The potential daily production of the Yates oil field in Pecos county is 2,575,049 barrels, it was learned Saturday, following hourly gauges of 207 wells taken during the week-end, computed by multiplying the gauges by 24. The gauges were taken to establish part of the basis of revised pipe line proration under state order which goes into effect July 1.

A new record for the field was established by California company's No. 10 Yates, lease 1, which flowed 5196 barrels in an hour, a rate of 124,704 barrels daily, through three six-inch lines under 140 pounds back pressure into eight 1000-barrel tanks. The previous record also was by a California company well, No. 15 Yates, lease 1, which flowed 4192 barrels in 60 minutes, a rate of 100,608 barrels a day. The wells are in section 34, block 194, G. C. & S. F. Ry. CO. survey. The revised proration raised the pipe line runs from 60,000 to 65,000 barrels a day.

Merit Badges Given Scouts at Frederick

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., July 1.—About 15 scouts were present at the Carnegie library auditorium Friday night where a Court of Honor was held for Scoutmaster John Russell's troop, No. 17. Merit badges were earned by these boys:

E. O. Billingslea, cycling and automobiling; Haskell Taylor, hiking; Woodrow Taylor, athletics, first aid, woodcarving and handicraft; Billy Zumwalt, leathercraft, handiwork and swimming; Walter Cole, wood carving and leathercraft; Harry Shepard, carpentry and wood carving; Winston Jones, swimming and carpentry.

C. H. Sumner passed his second-class examination and qualified for two merit badges, friendship and bookbinding.

P. V. Ruch, Merle Russell and R. H. Wessel served on the examining board.

Electra Oil Employe To Houston for Treatment

ELECTRA, Texas, July 1.—Opal Smith, an employe of the Humble Oil company, who was struck in the left eye by a piece of flying steel Thursday of last week, was taken Saturday morning to Houston, where he will undergo an operation.

Doctors here removed the offending steel Thursday afternoon and later complications set up which necessitated an operation. The sight of the eye is seriously threatened.

WILD LIFE MOVIE

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, July 1.—Frank J. Gibbs, assistant state forester, will present a free moving picture show of an instructive nature, at 8 p. m. Tuesday, July 3. It will be shown in the open at the federal site and will include reels and slides on tree planting and wild life. The pictures are furnished through the courtesy of the Oklahoma forest commission to encourage more tree planting in southwest Oklahoma and also to assist the Izaak Walton league.

It will be especially interesting to farmers and city folks who try to raise trees and to Boy Scouts who are interested in nature study.

Electrans Hurt In Auto Accident

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, July 1.—D. K. Smith, an employe of the Humble Oil company who resides in the Rock Crossing district west of this city, was called to Sunset Friday night to attend the bedside of his wife and two children, who were injured in an automobile accident earlier in the afternoon.

The Smith car, a small sedan, was completely wrecked when a larger car crashed into it. Mrs. Smith, who was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Litten, was seriously injured and the two children were painfully scratched and bruised. Mrs. Litten, who was also an occupant of the car, was also injured. Telephone messages from Sunset Saturday evening stated that the injured people were doing as well as could be expected.

MRS. LEVI WILSON

FREDERICK, July 1.—Mrs. Levi Wilson, 78, pioneer settler of this locality, died at her home southeast of Tipton at 9:45 a. m. Thursday after being an invalid three years. She was born in Jefferson county, Alabama, Nov. 7, 1850, and moved to Arkansas in 1860, where she lived until she came to Oklahoma in 1885.

On October 15, 1871, she married Levi Wilson, to which union 13 children were born, six of whom survive. They are: Albert, Alfred and Virgil Wilson, all residing at Tipton; Mrs. Lee White of Hollis, John Wilson of Jacksonville, Texas; Mrs. Vera Long of Plainview, Texas.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Hess cemetery where burial was made, R. G. Shaw officiating.

E. J. SHOWALTER

FREDERICK, Okla., July 1.—E. J. Showalter, 42, of 1532 East Thirty-fifth street, Oklahoma City, member of the firm of George M. Burkhardt & Co., Frederick, was found dead in his room at a Kingfisher hotel Friday morning. When nothing had been seen of him from Wednesday night a search was made, resulting in finding him dead. An autopsy showed death was due to heart trouble. Funeral services were held at Oklahoma City Sunday where burial was made.

In the early days of Frederick he was secretary of Moncrief, Cook & Co., first abstract concern to locate here, which later became the George M. Burkhardt & Co. He made numerous visits to Frederick. He is survived by his widow.

Back of the Mighty Empire of Texas---

---is the unseen, constructive force of Life Insurance

Do you Know: That the total amount of insurance in force in Texas Life Insurance Companies is now nearly a billion and a half dollars? You should know that this great financial bulwark is contributing immeasurably to the prosperity and growth of Texas.

Nearly two million people in Texas are engaged in building a vast estate on the installment plan. This estate is valued at nearly $1,500,000,000. And if any of this great army of people dies before his payments are complete, his account is marked "Paid-in-Full," and his share is turned over to his family. Did you ever look at Life Insurance that way before? Probably not.

And there are countless other results of Life Insurance that benefit you and everybody in Texas. These are the unseen, unheralded things, unknown to most people.

Through the purchase of securities issued by banks and trust companies, industries and public utilities, the Life Insurance Companies of Texas are constantly accelerating commercial expansion. These Companies also buy bonds for public improvement projects, and hasten their building by offering an immediate source of funds . . . . Beneficiaries and policyholders receive about ten millions of dollars in insurance money yearly and this, nearly always, is put into immediate circulation.

The Life Insurance Companies of Texas are helping build the Great Texas Empire.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK, July 1.—New York seems to be built for permanence, but the average life of a New York building is from 10 to 20 years. The Belmont hotel, when it was built the last word in hostelries, has been closed. An office building will take its place. The 12-story Pictorial Review building, put up at a cost of more than $2,000,000 in 1919, is being demolished to provide a site for another structure. Fifth avenue mansions which cost from $500,000 to $1,000,000 less than 20 years ago are being pulled down.

Buildings go up and down so fast in New York that no one would be surprised to hear that the Woolworth tower was being torn down to make way for another.

A New York department store advertised for a man to play a ukulele in its musical department, and had 1000 applicants, most of them college men.

Which is a reminder that Mayor Walker's Boswell, Frank Stearns and William F. Kenny is Paul Block, the newspaper publisher. They are inseparable. They both like baseball, so Block bought a ball team so they could always get seats and sit where they wanted to.

Relief for out-of-town visitors from the gypping methods of many New York barbers may or may not result from the courageous effort of a rebellious tourist to punish a tonsorial artist who tried to charge him $7.85 for a haircut, shave and other treatments some barbers force upon customers. The visitor had the barber arrested; and prices in unscrupulous shops went down for a day or two.

In such shops prices are not only extortionate for the service given, but the customer is expecter to tip the barber, the porter who makes motions around his clothes with a brush and the girl who checks his hat. A further strenuous effort is made to force the customer to have his shoes shined, his hat cleaned and his nails manicured, with further excessive charges and tips.

The tipping evil is steadily getting worse in New York because of the average person's mistaken idea that to protest being forced to pay tribute to every palm that is pushed under his face is to label one's self a cheapskate.

Advice to visitors about tipping: Give tips only to railway station red-caps, hotel bellboys and restaurant waiters, whose services usually are necessary. They receive no salaries and are dependent on tips for a living. Give waiters 10 per cent of the check, and no more.

Do not tip checkroom attendants. The checkroom concessions at cafes, theaters, night clubs, barber shops, etc., are owned by syndicates who pay employes straight salaries and profit from the tips. Do not tip barbers, salespersons, doormen, ushers, theater-ticket speculators, starters, railway ticket-sellers, manicurists, washroom attendants, telephone girls, newsboys, bootblacks, information clerks, all of whom, because of the profligate liberality of Americans, have grown to expect tips.

TODAY

With every coming of the sun
Think of your life as just begun.

The past is gone; it's buried deep
With its kind. There let it sleep.

And when you think, think of today.

You'll do the things you think you can.

Disprove this statement, if you can:
Today's the greatest friend of man.

Dinner Stories

LONG ENOUGH.

"Well, who's been waiting the longest?" ask the dentist, cheerfully, as he opened the door of his surgery.

"I think I have," said the tailor. "I delivered that suit you're wearing three years ago."

HIS ERROR.

He woke up with a "morning arter the night before" head. So he rang up his employer's private number and said, "I'm afraid I shan't be at the office today, I'm feeling very unwell."

"You needn't have troubled," came the reply, "it's Sunday."

Electra Baptists Hold All-Day Meeting Today

ELECTRA, Texas, July 1.—The Baptist W. M. U. of this city will hold their regular monthly all-day meeting Monday, at which time the Y. W. A. circle will be in charge of the program. An interesting meeting is predicted. Mrs. J. M. Tanner, president of the W. M. U. of the Wichita Falls district, will be in charge of the meeting and the members of the Y. W. A. circle will be hostesses.

One-Minute Sermon

I will remember the works of the Lord: surely I will remember thy wonders of old.

I will meditate also of all thy work, and talk of thy doings.

Thy way, O God, is in the sanctuary: who is so great a God as our God?

Thou are the God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy strength among the people.—Psalms, lxxvii, 11-14.

Worthy Children

PARENTS who have brought their children up properly, and treated them well, have the right to expect one thing from them—that they shall be WORTHY. The worthy child will guard against dishonoring his parents in any manner. If he has been well born he will try to keep his body in as good condition or better than he keeps his automobile. If he has enjoyed the companionship of his parents, the worthy child will reciprocate by bestowing his own companionship upon his parents. If he has received the best educational preparation for life and work that his parents could provide, the worthy son or daughter will seek to make his education serve the world, his parents and himself.

Immortality

MANY think much about immortality and the thought that they may live in some fashion forever. And yet in one way some of us may live too long. It is a tragedy for the body to live on when the spirit has gone or when the character is degenerating. The death of the body is not always concurrent with the death of the spirit.

Frank Collins Spillman tells us the difference between young men and old men. In the Bible he reads that the young men shall see visions and the old men shall dream dreams. If you have come to the time when you only dream dreams and see no visions of the future you are old. When you look back over your shoulder instead of forward you are old.

Real Sanity

THE really sane person has the ability to look at himself without prejudice. He has the ability to see himself in the proper perspective. He has the ability to analyze his own condition, his own motives, his own mistakes, his own failures, hopes, fears and aspirations. The really sane person can quit deceiving himself. He can give himself the right reasons for doing what he does. Most of us give ourselves the reasons that we think are proper and not the real reasons. And most of us make vain boasts and idle promises—to ourselves—that we will do things we have no intention of doing. Real sanity enables a man to agree with himself as to what he can do and what he is willing to try to do. Real sanity means self-honesty.

Napoleon's Success Secret

THE WORLD never tires of writing, reading and thinking about Napoleon. Some modern writers—H. G. Wells, for example—call him little better than a wholesale murderer. Apparently he did little for his time or the times that came after him. He changed the map of Europe, but only temporarily. The fact remains that Napoleon was great—great in ability. Above everything else, he was great in his capacity to get things done. He slept little and worked prodigiously. Napoleon didn't put things off. If he thought the army ought to move at 3 a. m. he stayed up all night. Comfort and convenience meant little to the Corsican.

Napoleon's business was war—or murder, if you prefer—but his secret of success applies equally well to any modern business, whether it be manufacturing or agriculture.

No Boundaries

YELLOW fever has been steadily driven out of Mexico, Central America, Brazil, Peru and Ecuador until it has been practically banished from the western world. Now the Rockefeller foundation is fighting yellow fever in West Africa. This wonderful organization for human betterment made possible by the wisely spent millions of the Rockefellers knows no boundaries. It knows only human need and it is animated only by unsullied ideals of human service.

What if 50 per cent of the men of even moderate wealth had the vision of John D. Rockefeller? What a change would come over the face of the world!

Civilization is pretty sadly hindered by two classes—those who won't spend money and those who don't know how. A third class—those who have no money to spend—is the largest in number but the least harmful.

Safety by Education

NO better proof of the efficacy of education in traffic safety can be had than the example of San Francisco.

This city began shortly after the first of the year in applying the regulations and methods suggested by the model traffic ordinance of Miller McClintock, the noted traffic engineer, and already it notes a decided decrease in its toll of traffic deaths and injuries.

This ordinance is less one of compulsion than of prevention and education, and as such turns the tables on the old school of thought. It provides for extensive use of automatic signals, marking of crosswalks, designation of parking and loading zones and other means of modern traffic control.

While the new law prohibits jaywalking, city officials prevent this habit by educating pedestrians into crossing streets at intersections and with traffic.

In addition the city is conducting a safe summer driving campaign to cut down the toll during the most hazardous period of the year. Police are co-operating, while other departments are helping along with such things as free brake inspection and headlight adjustment. Radio, newspapers, women's clubs, the street railway and the pulpits are being used to spread traffic education, and as a result a further decline in street accidents is expected.

Thus, while San Francisco must have a law of some kind to control the recalcitrants, it lays most stress on methods of common sense, of education and prevention which appeal more to the people than any number of compulsory rulings.

It is a method which other cities would do well to emulate.

Business Interests Find Little To Fear in Democratic Party's Platform

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, July 1. (US)—The Democratic party, in its platform and in its nominee for the presidency, slays the myth that it is incapable of giving an efficient, businesslike administration.

The platform inculcates the idea that the Democratic party is safe for business. With the possible exception of the farm plank, which is nevertheless vague, and a demagogic reference to the federal reserve system and stock speculators, the statement of principles is geared up to assure men and women of business that prosperity would be safe in the hands of the opposition party.

The tariff plank virtually removes the traditional point of cleavage between the two great parties. For years, the older Democratic doctrine that there should be a tariff for revenue only has been modified. The late Woodrow Wilson urged the lifting of tariff questions out of politics, and the solution of tariff issues by a committee of experts. In its present platform, the Democratic party virtually accepts the Republican doctrine of protection, saying: "The Democratic tariff legislation will be based on the following policies:

"The maintenance of legitimate business, and a high standard of wages for American labor.

"Actual difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, with adequate safeguard for the wage of the American laborer, must be the extreme measure of every tariff rate.

"Equitable distribution of the benefits and burdens of the tariff among all."

South Industrialized

The change in Democratic views toward the tariff is not an accident. The agriculture south, which has the stronghold of the free trade doctrine for generations, has in recent years become industrialized. The setting up of factories in the south has been remaking the political map of the country. Conversely, the emergence of America as the leading creditor nation in the world, has induced some of the international bankers, who were formerly protectionists, to favor a letdown of tariff barriers in order to encourage debtors to pay back their obligations in goods.

The plank for economy and reorganization was designed to appeal to business executives and give them the idea that the Democratic party speaks their language. With Governor Smith as the standard bearer, the party has a right to make promise, for the New York executive has heightened efficiency in the state departments, and eliminated duplications and obsolete methods.

Government Out of Business

Moreover, there was little in the platform to stimulate the older fear that the Democratic party leaned toward state socialism. In the merchant marine plank, the Democratic party gave evidence that it accepted the United States chamber of commerce doctrine of "less government in business." The plank says: "The Democratic party has consistently and vigorously supported the shipping services maintained by the regional United States shipping board in the interest of all ports and all sections of our country, and has successfully opposed the discontinuance of any of these lines. We favor the transfer of these lines gradually to the local private American companies when such companies can show their ability to take over and permanently maintain the lines."

In other words, the Democratic party seems to be for getting the government out of business, rather than for putting it in.

After taking credit for the establishment of the federal reserve system and characterizing it as the "greatest legislative contribution to constructive business ever adopted," the party, evidently stealing the thunder from the Republican Senator La Follette, says:

Speculators Slapped

"The administration of the system for the advantage of stock market speculators should cease." Speculators, who in recent weeks have felt the depressing effect of the federal reserve restrictive policy, will read the preceding sentence with an ironic smile."

The Democratic planks, dealing with unemployment and farm relief, are more specific than those of the competing party.

The foregoing resume has dealt only with the planks which are of direct significance to the business community. The point is that, like the Republican party, which has long sought the favor of business, the other major party is making its plea for support along similar conservative economic lines, accordingly, the election is without broad economic significance, and politics may be dismissed from the minds of business men this year as a decisive influence in the course of the business cycle.

WOODS PUSHES MANY SHOWS

Producer to Launch 10 New Productions

NEW YORK, June 30. (US)—When bigger and better theatrical seasons come to pass, Al Woods would have you understand, he will build them. Indeed, he is engaged in that activity at the present writing for during the next 10 weeks, he admitted today, he will launch no less than 10 productions. Of these, four are plays new to this city, five will be road companies of "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and the other one is designated as a "second road season" offering.

A conservative estimate places the number of actors, executives and stage hands under Woods' contracts for next season at 500. The enormity of the task of such wholesale trafficking in the drama becomes evident when it is realized that every detail, from the engaging of the players to the booking of routes, has been looked after personally by Mr. Woods since his return from Europe three months ago.

The New Plays

Of the new plays under the Woods aegis, "Jealousy" goes into rehearsal on August 6 with Glenn Hunter, no less, in the stellar part. Eugene Walter is the author.

"Jealousy" is the piece which Katherine Cornell was to try out in California for Mr. Woods but was prevented from carrying out her plans by illness. Just who will appear in the chief feminine role is yet to be disclosed. But feminine actress or no, Hunter and "Jealousy" are scheduled to open in New York on the evening of September 24.

Drama of Juveniles

"Fast Life" is the engaging title of the Samuel Shipman-John B. Hyman opus of youthful indiscretions which will engage the Woods rehearsal halls on August 13. This drama of high didoes among the juveniles opens in Atlantic City on September 10, with Claudette Colbert and Chester Morris in the leading parts. The local premiere will be during the week of September 24.

Edith and Eddie Ellis have been combining their respective writing and acting talents, retaining the best features of each in a new play. It is called "Women"—you can perhaps guess which of the collaborators named it—and has been duly signed, sealed and delivered to Sam Harris for autumn production. Jack Halliday has been engaged for the leading role.

ABE MARTIN

It seems like th' deliberations of ever' Republican "national" convention have t' wait till th' train from Pennsylvany gits in. Th' farmer has allus been a failure as a dude or a politician.

When A Girl Loves

© 1928 by NEA Service by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED

NATHANIEL DANN, struggling artist, is engaged to VIRGINIA BREWSTER, whose father is a Wall street financier. After losing his fortune in speculation BREWSTER dies suddenly and leaves his daughter penniless.

NIEL urges VIRGINIA to marry him at once, but an old family friend, FREDERICK DEAN, and his daughter, CLARISSA, persuade her to make her temporary home with them. This angers NIEL, for he suspects DEAN'S motives and does not like CLARISSA. He returns to his work and quarrels with his model, CHIRI, who is jealous of VIRGINIA.

Meanwhile, VIRGINIA is unhappy in her new home. She resolves to tell NEIL her fears, but when she phones his studio in the evening CHIRI answers. She tries to fight suspicion but she cannot bring herself to call him again.

That evening CLARISSA places VIRGINIA beside her father at the dinner table—to the obvious discomfort of a MRS. FARLEY, who apparently resents the presence of VIRGINIA in the DEAN home. After dinner CLARISSA and her fiance go out to a night club and VIRGINIA goes to her room, leaving the others to play cards. MRS. FARLEY tells DEAN that he cannot throw her over for the younger girl without paying balm for a wounded heart. Rather than face a scandal which he knew would spoil his chance of winning VIRGINIA, he meets her demand. His next problem is to dispose of NIEL.

Now Go On With the Story

CHAPTER X

Andrew Barrows was head of a big advertising agency. An important man, but not so important that he was not ready to see Frederick Dean, a club crony, at any time.

They had a friendly little chat, a perfectly clear and to-the-point chat in Andrew's sumptuous office, and then Dean took his departure. Before he closed the door behind him, however, he was careful to repeat one specific injunction:

"Don't let my name slip out!"

Mr. Barrows assured him it would not happen.

Later that day Nathaniel Dann received a telephone call to make an appointment with Andrew Barrows. Nathaniel wished to turn away from commercial work to devote himself to the serious side of art, but the thought that this interview might lead to something that would be a means of hastening the establishment of a home for Virginia helped him decide to see Barrows at three o'clock.

He had hoped all that morning to hear from Virginia. At the same time she was trying to summon courage to call him while drooping and reviving alternatingly under despair and hope. She knew the ordeal of confronting him with evidence that appeared to be duplicity on his part had to be faced, but the moments when her faith sank low terrified her so that she could not again possess the feeling of complete faith in him. She was afraid to see him. Afraid he would be unable to explain.

After luncheon she could no longer bear the agony of uncertainty, and she sought her room to put in the call. Nathaniel answered instantly.

"Virginia," he cried when he heard her voice; and Virginia's heart throbbed with joy.

"Can you come up?" she responded. "Right away?"

"I'll hop the sub, it's quickest. Oh, wait a minute; it's nearly 2 o'clock, sweetheart, and I've got an appointment downtown at three. I'm afraid I can't make it. Will you wait for me until four? I'll be there before if I can. It seems ages since I saw you. How are you?" His voice took on a tone of anxiety. "Everything all right?"

"Not quite . . . no; there's something wrong, Niel. But I feel better just talking to you. You'll hurry, won't you?"

"I'd fly if I could. But whatever's wrong, we'll fix it up. Don't you worry. I think something good is waiting for me downtown. The Barrows people, they telephoned me. It may mean a lot of work. Wish me luck."

Virginia wished him luck and Nathaniel certainly thought when he talked with Andrew Barrows later that it was working like a charm. Until he was told that the work was to be done in San Francisco. He was too disappointed to speak at once.

"Are you prepared to leave immediately?" Mr. Barrows inquired.

Nathaniel shook his head. "I can't leave New York," Nathaniel said regretfully. "It's impossible."

Barrows scowled. "But we are offering you a wonderful opportunity," he pointed out, unnecessarily, Nathaniel thought. He realized it well enough. In fact, he had been swept off his feet when he heard the amount of money he was promised for his services.

"I'm much obliged to you," he assured Barrows, "but I can't consider the offer. I have other interests that will keep me in New York, for a while at least."

"Well, think it over. We will allow you until the day after tomorrow to give us an answer. Perhaps in the meantime, you could dispose of the other matters. You'd be a fool to turn this chance down, Mr. Dann."

Nathaniel took his problem to Virginia. He decided on the way uptown that he would accept Barrows' offer if, by any chance, he could persuade her to go with him. It cost him more than a little regret to think of letting his mural work go. But he was glad he could make some sacrifices for Virginia. Art, at the moment, was of small consequence compared to his love for her. He wanted her with all the capacity of a one-woman man . . . with his whole heart and soul.

Nathaniel gave silent thanks that she was alone when he arrived, for he knew that he could not have trusted himself to meet her without manifesting deep feeling. One touch of her fingers and little rivers of desire were coursing all over his body. She had no chance of preventing him from sweeping her into his arms and covering her face with kisses. He strode across to her from the door and took her so without one word passing between them.

But her attitude was so unresponsive, so unyielding, that Nathaniel became aware of it even while his lips touched hers. He lifted his head and looked into her eyes. He looked deeply and questionably.

"Virginia," he asked, fearful of what he saw there, "what is it? Why don't you kiss me? You're cold!" He spoke in genuine amazement, for he knew that his Virginia was fashioned to love and be loved. The memory of many sweet caresses bloomed fresh in his heart.

"Niel, it's you, I've found out th at that girl, Chiri, was in your studio yesterday morning."

It was not Virginia's way to take a kiss without returning it.

"Let's sit down, Niel," she said, struggling out of his embrace. Nathaniel followed her to a sofa and sat beside her, turning to look at her closely.

"Better tell me straight out what's gone wrong," he said quietly.

"I intend to, Niel, because I can't go on not knowing the truth. Ever since yesterday afternoon the world has seemed like a bottomless pit of despair to me."

"I knew you couldn't be happy here," Nathaniel told her flatly.

"It's not the Deans, Niel, it's you. You see, I've found out that that girl, Chiri, was in your studio yesterday morning!"

She saw Nathaniel start guiltily, and her lip drew together with the pain of it.

"She's a bohemian, you know," he said lamely.

"Is that why she told me I had the wrong number?"

"I don't know why she did that, Virginia; I couldn't reach the phone in time to stop her. But, look here, sweetheart, you don't mean that I should think you worried on that account?"

"Perhaps you artists are different from other people," Virginia said a trifle tartly; "but even if I could believe it were proper for her to be there why should you deceive me about it, Niel?"

"Virginia, please don't say that. I've never deliberately deceived you about anything. I confess I might have let you know you had the right number in the first place, but I realized it was difficult for anyone who doesn't know her to understand Chiri. She's as irresponsible as a child; I didn't see how I could tell you then and make you understand. She was right there, you know."

"That's partly what hurts, Neil—to have her know that you let her interference pass."

"It didn't pass unrebuked, Virginia. I gave her the devil."

"You haven't explained what she was doing there."

"She was there when I got home. Had cleaned up the place, scrubbed it inside and out, and when I found her she was dead to the world. I hadn't the heart to disturb her, Virginia, so I read myself to sleep in a chair and the next thing I knew she was answering your ring."

Virginia felt a little ashamed. "You could have told me enough to let her know that we don't have secrets," she said defensively. "You see what it leads to, Niel. I've agonized over the whole thing so terribly. It did look bad for you, you'll admit that, won't you?"

"I don't blame you, sweetheart, but I'm sorry you didn't have more faith in me. I'd trust you blindly, Virginia."

"Wait until your pride is wounded and see if you will."

"All the time, first lady of my land. There isn't anything or anyone that can make me doubt you until you yourself tell me you don't love me."

"You make me feel very small and mean, Niel."

"That's good," he assured her; "you ought to feel like a worm."

"Oh, Niel, I do, but it's sweet to feel that way. I'b rather be a happy worm than an offended goose."

"That's right, but while we're on this subject, I'd like to ask you how you found out all my sins?"

"I recognized Miss Mond's voice when I telephoned you again yesterday afternoon while you were out."

"And I was only gone 10 minutes," Nathaniel mourned. "I was so upset because I didn't hear from you, I imagined all kinds of things. I imagined that old High Hat was keeping you locked up in a closet and feeding you on gold, or taking you around to show you how the wives of poor husbands slave in the kitchens. So I came up here last night and patrolled the place until Clarissa and her boy friend came in."

Virginia sat up straight and looked stern.

"Didn't Miss Mond tell you I called? I asked her to."

"I suppose she forgot it, Virginia. She would."

"Yes, I think she would," Virginia said slowly. "Oh, Niel," she cried suddenly, her eyes widening with fear; "Niel, I'm afraid of her and of . . . ."

"Ah, good afternoon, Mr. Dann." Nathaniel and Virginia turned quickly, the latter a little embarrassed. Frederick Dean was coming toward them from the hall.

Wires are the Nerves of Industry

HAVE you ever seen a progresive city without wires, hidden or exposed—the copper wires, the metal nerves of industry?

Every surgeon knows that to cut a tendon, sever a sinew, part a nerve, is to restrict the functioning of the human body.

Every engineer likewise knows that to separate a community from its source of light and power; is to set that community back a long span of years. Were this separation to be prolonged, suspended animation would take effect and city progress would be done a death blow.

We are accust med to the free use of hands and legs and we are also accustomed to the daily advantages of reliable and ample electric light and power. It is only as we picture what deprivation would mean, that we can fully appreciate the blessings of this modern age of health and light and power and the other conveniences that are ours.

GEORGE WHITE

This future theatrical producer started his career as a messenger boy, but such a life was too slow for him. He craved something faster than telegrams so he rounded up a bevy of actresses and the first "George White's Scandals" came into being.

The "Scandals" is now a national institution. The Metropolitan museum is also a national institution—the difference being that the Metropolitan has three free days each week.

White announced recently that in the future he would permit none of his chorus girls to wear paint or powder. My goodness gracious! What are the poor things going to wear.

Chorus girls used to dress like Mother Hubbard—now they dress like Mother Hubbard's cupboard. If this sort of thing keeps up the time may come when chorus girls can't conceal even their thoughts.

One more word about the "Scandals." White closed them during the summer because the shows have a greater temperature than the weather.

Please stand by for George's favorite hilarity yarn.

"I was trying out a singer recently who, when she came for the audition that afternoon, apologized for the cold she had. I told her to go ahead and do the best she could under the circumstances.

"She stepped to the front of the stage, and some carpenters, who were building new scenery, rested their hammers. Presently, in a rather harsh voice, she began the song:

"'I'll hang my harp on a willow tree-e-ee—ahem! On a wee-e-eeping willow tree-e-ee—oh!'

"When her voice cracked the second time, she started again:

"'I'll hang my harp on a wee-e-eeping willow tree-e-eek!'

"'Listen, Kiddo,' broke in one of the carpenters, 'why don't you try hanging yer harp on a lower branch?'"

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health."

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Mr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

Green Corn

Green corn is one of the few starchy foods that can be used freely during the hot weather. It is a wholesome and appetizing addition to our menus, and may be used as the principal part of the meal. It is most appetizing when the kernels are plump and well filled, yet soft and milky inside.

Since green corn deteriorates rapidly after being picked, it should be eaten as soon as possible. It is well to choose those ears, the husks of which are bright and fresh looking.

Green corn contains a large amount of soft pliable cellulose which is only partly digested in the intestines, but has much value because of this fact, since is supplies a bulk which is filling and non-irritating. Bran is often recommended for this purpose, but there is a great danger of the bran being too scratchy and thus further irritating the intestines.

It is apparent that colitis is often caused from using too much bran in an effort to cure constipation. Those who are constantly affected with this disorder will find that green corn would be of great help to them. The intestines of those who are constipated are usually ballooned and entirely out of their normal shape, consequently a large amount of bulky food must be used to properly fill out the intestines, so that normal peristaltic movements will be promoted and this disease of civilization, which is so responsible for creating other diseases, may be overcome.

It is interesting to know that green corn contains a much larger proportion of mineral salts than is found in cornmeal or in dried field corn. Its potassium alone is four times as plentiful as the amount found in ordinary cornmeal.

Green corn is listed as a starchy food, but when young the starch seldom reaches a percentage of one-fifth of the total bulk. Whole cornmeal is 68 per cent starch, while green corn is something under 20 per cent starch, giving us a carbohydrate food which is very palatable and yet does not burden the system with excesses of starch.

It is quite safe for anyone troubled with constipation to use corn on the cob once a day during the summer time, always combining the corn with some of the green vegetables such as asparagus, string beans, also a few of the salad vegetables such as celery or young carrots. Avoid acid fruits, including tomatoes, which are really an acid fruit, near the "corn" meal.

My daughter who has recently passed her botany examination has just reminded me that corn is really listed botanically as a fruit. Yes, that is true, but we do not list corn that way as far as practical dietetics is concerned.

The average person can use three or four small ears of corn at a meal with none but the most beneficial results. Corn is best cooked by boiling in slightly salted water or by baking in the husk. The latter method gives it a very delicate, nut-like flavor. Before baking, one would have to pull back the husks to clean the corn, after which the husks may be replaced and the ends twisted or tied together.

Questions and Answers

Question: S. G. J. writes: "Please tell me how to reduce the upper arm."

Answer: Any kind of arm exercises will reduce the fat on your arms. The best ones to take are those requiring a reasonable amount of muscular tension and, at the same time, these exercises should be used rapidly and with vigor. Probably the best plan would be to purchase one of the "chest weight exercises" which you can secure from any sporting goods store. This apparatus is attached to the wall, and the exercises are taken by raising and lowering weights which are attached to handles by ropes running over pulleys. Secure a booklet describing how to take these exercises. This booklet can usually be obtained at the same store where the apparatus is sold.

Question: Mrs. I. H. asks: "Is it ever advisable to use any kind of breadstuff with a meal containing either potatoes or meat?"

Answer: Genuine wholewheat crackers, or muffins may be used in a limited quantity with either a protein (meat) or starchy foods (potatoes) by those in good health. This is an exception to the general rules regulating the use of proteins and starches.

Question: Mrs. L. M. G. asks: "Is there any cure for insipient tuberculosis?"

Answer: Insipient tuberculosis is curable if the proper methods are used; even advanced cases can usually be cured if every habit of the patient can be controlled. If you will send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope I will be glad to send you some articles on the subject which I have prepared for distribution.

Cotton Acreage Decline Small

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, July 1.—Although parts of the Tillman county cotton crop have been replanted as many as three times there is but about a five per cent reduction in acreage, according to J. B. Cunningham of the firm of B. Robey & Co., cotton brokers, who furnish this information for the benefit of their representatives. Cunningham believes 118,000 acres were planted to cotton this spring, which would leave 6700 acres not replanted to the staple, but which was put into feed stuff, the only other crop which could now be put in and make anything.

Seventy-five per cent of the crop will be from 40 to 45 days late, in his opinion, and 25 per cent about two weeks late. The number of bales will depend in great part on the lateness of the first frost and may total as high as 65,000 bales. Last year 86,167 running bales were ginned in this county, and 87,973 the year before.

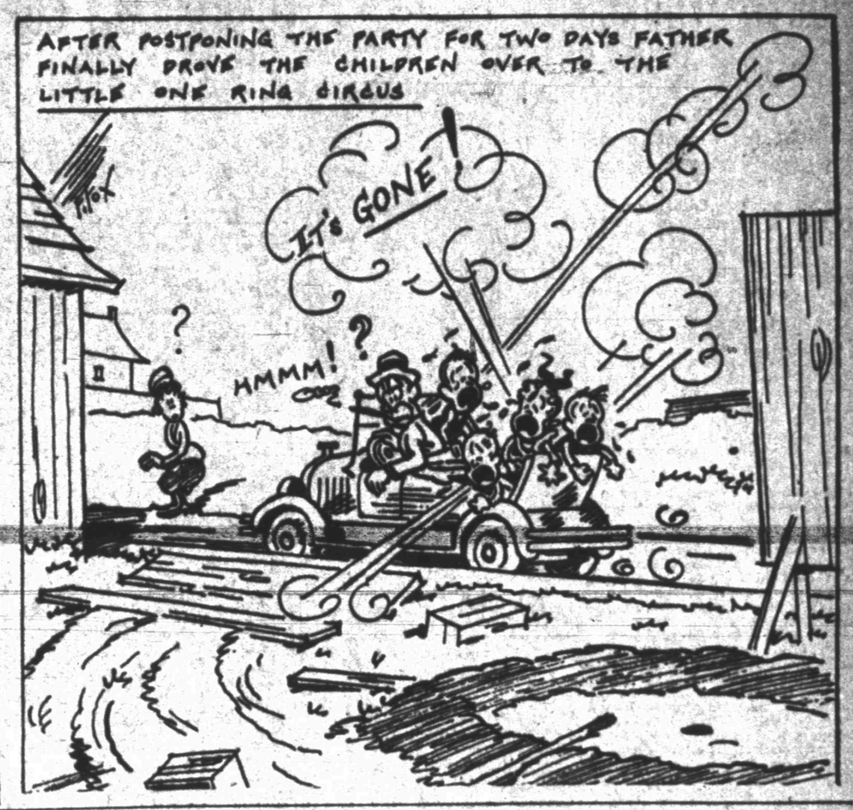

The banner year was 1924, when 96,487 bales were ginned; this was more than for the three preceding years combined, as 24,501 bales were ginned in 1921; 32,227 bales in 1922, and 39,990 bales in 1923, a total of 96,718 bales. The smallest crop raised in the county was in 1918 when the total was but 12,338 bales.

This spring, hail, rain, sand and electrical storms have damaged the crops and about the only section which did not feel the effect of one or more of these storms was a strip south of Tipton, according to Cunningham.

SPUDDERS CAPTURE DOUBLE-HEADER FROM SPORTS, 6-4; 4-3

ROETZ POUNDS 3 HOME RUNS

Hard-Hitting Cops Opener; Steengrafe Shades Hearn

SHREVEPORT, La., July 1.—Led in the attack by the home run hitting of Ed Roetz, a utility infielder, the Wichita Falls Spudders made a sweep of the double header here Sunday with the Sports. They won the first game, 6 to 4, and the second, 4 to 3. Estell, who relieved Payne in the first game, and Steengrafe were the winning hurlers.

Roetz opened the first game with a home run over the left field wall and did the same thing to start play in the second. When he found the home club leading in the fifth inning of the second game he produced another home run to tie the count. It was his fourth home run in three days.

After that the Spudders went out and clinched the game, scoring one run in the sixth and another in the seventh.

The second game was a hurling duel between Steengrafe and Hearn, a southpaw. A wild pitch for a third strike that put Turgeon on base in the seventh paved the way for the victory. Fitzgerald doubled and Turgeon scored.

Spuds Start Scoring

A little bit of everything cropped out in the first inning of the opener to give the Spudders a lead. Roetz hit the third ball pitched for a home run. Turgeon and Fitzgerald drew passes. Lamb hit a slow roller to Kilduff and was safe at first and on Kilduff's bad throw to Whelan on the roller, Turgeon scored. Jenkins hit to Kilduff and Pete delayed making the play at second while trying to tag Lamb and Fitzgerald scored. Kilduff then threw to second to retire Lamb and Jenkins was safe at first. Swenson singled to center. Wattwood came up back of second base for Stanton's short fly and Deviveros made a nice throw from deep short to retire Lapan at first.

Holman knocked down a roller off Keifer's bat and with a pretty peg retired Keifer at first in the second. Whelan took Roetz's high skier back off first base. Turgeon doubled off the score board, Wattwood making a nice play in taking the ball on the rebound. Fitzgerald singled to center and Turgeon scored. Estrada cut off Wattwood's throw to home and threw to Deviveros at second, who ran down Fitzgerald between first and second.

Sports Score in Half

Wilson led off in the second half of the second with a double to right field and it started the Sports' scoring. The bases were packed when Cox was walked and Holman was hit by a pitched ball. Deviveros flied to center and Wilson scored. Tobin singled to center and Cox scored. Estrada hit to second and Tobin was tagged out and Holman scored. Turgeon made a play for Estrada at first base but his throw was bad. Whelan singled to center and Estill relieved Keifer on the mound. Kilduff hit the first ball pitched on a liner to center for the third out.

That ended the scoring for both teams until the sixth when Jenkins hit a homer over the left field wall. Wilson of Sports matched Jenkins' blow with a homer over the right field wall in the seventh.

The Spuds further clinched their victory with a run in the eighth on a double by Lamb and a single by Swenson.

To start the second game Roetz duplicated his feat of the first game by leading off with a homer over the left field wall.

Steengrafe turned back the Sports in rapid fire order in the first three innings. Only one ball was hit beyond the infield. In the third Steengrafe retired the side on three pitched balls.

The Sports gave a flashy performance in the field in the fourth to check the Spudders. Lamb doubled to left and was held at third on Jenkins' single to center. Swenson hit down the third base line and Lamb was held at second while Holman, Kilduff and Whelan completed a double play. Stanton flied to left field.

Shreveport Tallies

The first hit of the game off Steengrafe was Kilduff's single to left after Whelan fanned. Wattwood was safe on a hot grounder to Stanton and Kilduff scored on Wilson's double to left field. Sears was walked to fill the bases. Holman grounded to short and Sears was out at second as Wattwood scored. Deviveros lined to Steengrafe.

Roetz put the Spuds back on an even footing with the Sports in the fifth. He hit a homer over the left field wall, his second of the game, and third of the day. It made his fourth homer in two days at the local park. Just before Roetz turned his circuit drive Whelan staged a sensational one hand catch of a foul ball against the grand stand to retire Steengrafe.

A couple of hits and a costly boot by Deviveros put the Spuds in front in the sixth. Fitzgerald led off with a single and Lamb was safe on Deviveros' fumble. Jenkins singled to center and Fitzgerald scored. Swenson bunted a fly to Holman and Lamb was doubled off second. Jenkins stole second. Stanton walked and Smith brought the inning to a close with a skier to Kilduff.

Holman's Homer Ties It

Two were out when Holman hit over the score board in the sixth to tie the game.

A wild pitch that Turgeon batted at for the third strike paved the way for the Spuds to score in the seventh. After two were out Turgeon went safe when he struck at a ball that bounded away from Hayworth. Fitzgerald hit to deep center for two bases. Wattwood made a nice try for the ball but could not hold it. Turgeon scored. Lamb was safe on a roller to third and Jenkins rolled out to Hearn.

The Sports were blanked in the seventh.

Mallonee Grocers Beat Charles Battery, 10-9

Roberts Played Ball Two Weeks

Texas Loop Prexy's Diamond Experience Limited

DALLAS, Texas, July 1. (AP)—Although he is president of the Texas league, one of the most successful minor circuits in the country, J. Doak Roberts never played but two weeks of professional baseball in his life.

Roberts, then a righthand pitcher of some promise, joined the Waco club in 1888, leaving a perfectly good job as grocery boy to seek some of the supposedly "easy money" to be derived from the national pastime.

The league blew up after two weeks, and not until this day has Roberts received the salary stipulated in his contract.

The future league official, by the way, was not a righthand hurler by choice. An accident early in his career forced him to switch from the portside. He is one of the few players in history to turn the trick and get away with it. Eddie Roush, one of the greatest of outfielders, started out a righthand thrower and changed to his left wing.

Following his short tenure at Waco, Roberts was in turn manager of clubs at Temple and Houston.

One of the saddest memories of his life is the fact that he turned down a chance to purchase Ty Cobb from the Augusta, Ga., club for $200. Not only that, but he refused to give Rogers Hornsby a tryout when that young Texan was seeking to break into the game.

Brown Beats Texan To Keep Valley Net Title

ST. LOUIS, July 1. (AP)—Wray Brown, St. Louis, retained his title as Missouri valley tennis champion by defeating Bruce Barnes, Houston, Texas, youth in the final round of the men's singles event at the Triple A club here this afternoon. The match required the limit of five sets, Brown winning, 6-3, 3-6, 0-6, 6-0, 6-3.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

"BRUCE CALDWELL will join the Cleveland Indians. He was a triple threat football star at Yale," says a press dispatch.

IT IS RUMORED that the Yankees are bidding for Bobby Jones and Bill Tilden. "Jones' driving, approaching and putting should be a great asset for the Yankees," Miller Huggins said. "Tilden will be a star, with his cannonball service, backhand and volleying," the mite manager further asserted.

"AFTER ALL, when one stops to think about it, what a ridiculous thing it is to try to stop these stars from writing," comments Vincent Richards, on the ban imposed on tennis stars participating in the Wimbledon meet, from writing news stories.

Well, one probably hasn't thought much about it. Affairs of greater moment have absorbed one. But following Mr. Richard's hint, one WILL stop to think about it.

WHY NOT carry out Vincent's suggestion further? Abolish all editors and reporters and save newspaper publishers money, and let the news be written by people concerned. That would be logical, to Richard's reasoning. Something like the following:

Ritt's Riticisms

By BILL RITT

A new Indian boxer has made his appearance in the east. He's out to scalp the white man's pocket-book.

The scrapper was born and reared among the teepees where men are rough and women do all the work.

His daddy was Big Chief Busted Beak, the heavyweight loafing champion of the Sioux. The old man would have been a great fighter himself if he hadn't been too tired.

Many nights the belligerent old chief staggered home punch drunk. On other nights he drank just plain fire water.

The kid's name is Lo, but he isn't a poor Indian. From his bouts he's already salted away plenty of greenbacks and paid off the mortgage on the family wigwam.

As a papoose Lo trained on pemmican, which is a collection of tough steaks canned without benefit to refrigerator. The beauty of pemmican is that after you eat it you'll never taste anything again as bad if you live to be 100.

But now Lo has grown and is civilized to the point where he makes his living beating down the ears of his fellowmen.

Roush Given Two Weeks Vacation by McGraw

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—A two week vacation has been granted to Eddie Roush to permit a torn muscle in the star outfielder's abdomen to heal, John J. McGraw announced here tonight. Roush disappeared from the Giant's hotel in Philadelphia a week ago, and the secretary of the club, after first trying to make a secret of the affair, announced that the player had been "suspended for breaking the club rules."

Singh Grapples Parelli Tonight

Wrestlers Feature Mat, Boxing Program

Joe Parelli and Basanta Singh, two "wrestlers who believe in treating 'em rough" hook up Monday night on a boxing and wrestling card to be staged by Alec Ross in Spudder park.

Parelli and Singh are said to be two of the best wrestlers ever presented in Wichita Falls by Ross and the match promises to be one of the fastest staged here.

In the mitt pushing contests, Johnny Owens and Alvie Anderson are scheduled to step around in the ring for the feature bout of the evening. The two boxers were matched last week; however, Owens was compelled to withdraw in the fourth round of a six-round battle due to injuries. It was an even scrap until Owens withdrew.

Tommy Walton and Martin Craig will go four rounds and Henry Adams and Jim Newell will open the evening's entertainment with another four-round affair.

Ross has announced that Monday night will be "ladies night" and that all women will be admitted to Spudder park for the card free of charge.

Phone Your Classified Ads to

Our courteous ad taker will receive your Classified Ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the following day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for the convenience of our patrons in transacting business over the telephone.

Classified Ad patrons desiring to have ads charged must have a telephone listed in their own name. No book record is made by the publishers on account of the great number of transactions, hence the necessity of collecting promptly.

Correction of errors in Classified Ads must be made before the second insertion. No allowance will be made for more than one incorrect insertion.

Cancellations and adjustments regarding errors should be telephoned to the Classified Ad Department between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Where ads are ordered and paid for no refunds are allowed where ads are cancelled before expiration date.

STOCK-A-DAY

H. H. FRANKLIN MANUFACTURING CO.

The H. H. Franklin Manufacturing company was formed in 1925 and manufactures automobiles and automobile parts. It formerly manufactured die castings but this section of the business was transferred to the Franklin Die Casting company in 1919. The company owns the entire capital stock of the Franklin Automobile company, a selling organization, and has several other subsidiaries including land development concerns. It has a well equipped and modern plant at Syracuse, N. Y., containing more than 1,600,000 square feet of floor space.

5-Year Record

The net income of the company has been somewhat irregular. It dropped from $1,1747,539 in 1923 to dropped from $1,174,539 in 1923 to a deficit of $811,435 in 1924. It recovered in 1925 to above $2,000,000 and slumped again in 1926 to $72,381. In 1927 it amounted to $226,933, which was equivalent to $3.85 a share on the preferred stock and nothing on the common.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding includes $5,886,783 in 7 per cent cumulative preferred shares of $100 par, and 299,375 shares of no par common.

Dividends have been paid regularly at the stipulated rate on the preferred stock. On the old common of $100 par, dividends were at varying rates from 1907 to 1920. In the latter year there was a stock dividend of 250 per cent on the no par common stock. No dividends have been reported since July 11, 1921.

As of January 1, 1928, total current assets were $5,623,724, current liabilities were $597,740, and net working capital $5,025,984. Book value of the common stock, excluding patents and good will, but including $69,267 reserves for contingencies, amounted to $20.46 a share.

Advertising Clubs Of Texas Go to Meeting

DALLAS, Texas, July 1. (AP)—Members of West and North Texas Advertising clubs will meet here next Friday preparatory to leaving for the 24th annual International Advertising association convention and exposition at Detroit, July 8-12.

At St. Louis, delegates from South Texas will meet those who gather here, and the combined delegations will leave that city for Detroit on a special train Friday morning. About 100 advertising men from Texas, including large delegations from Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth, will make the trip.

The visitors will be entertained with a dinner here.

NORTH DAKOTA PROVES DAMP

Many Districts Vote For Repeal

WASHINGTON, July 1. (US)—At least two-thirds of the people of North Dakota are "wet," the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment announced today in a statement based on the recent prohibition referendum in that state.

Two out of the three congressional districts voted in favor of repeal of the prohibition clause in the state constitution, the association pointed out.

A message to the association from Pierce Blewett, North Dakota member of the board of directors, said:

"With less than 15 per cent of the voters of North Dakota still to be heard from, a tremendous victory for the anti-prohibition cause is assured. The total vote so far compiled gives over 48 per cent for repeal of the prohibition clause in the state constitution.

"When we consider that the drys have carried on an extensive and well-financed campaign, this result shows conclusively that a majority of the citizens of North Dakota are opposed to prohibition.

"While the repeal referendum will probably be lost by a very small dry majority in the whole state, we have overwhelmingly carried the third congressional district and have carried the second congressional district by a small majority, leaving only the first congressional district as prohibition territory."

Four states are now without state enforcement laws for prohibition, New York, Maryland, Montana and Nevada, the association said.

Goebel Reveals Plan For Non-Stop Flight

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., July 1. (AP)—Arthur C. Goebel, winner of the Dole airplane race from San Francisco to Hawaii last summer plans to make a non-stop cross country flight from Los Angeles to New York in an attempt to lower the present record, he said here.

Goebel, who stopped here while flying from Los Angeles to Washington where he will receive the distinguished flying cross, said he would make the cross country attempt immediately upon his return to the west coast.

Plans Completed For Free Swimming Lessons

Four swimming pools are cooperating with the park department in making the city-wide free swimming instruction a possibility of the immediate future, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, head of the park department.

"We have been informed that admission will be free to all at Lake Wichita's swimming pool where the people are to take the free swimming lessons," Mr. Bunnenberg said. "This pool will also change its water every 24 hours. Similar cooperation is being received all over the city.

"Two men have volunteered to assist us in this program, and we are waiting until after the holiday week which includes the fourth of July to start the free lessons."

ONE'S ENOUGH

McBroom Returns From Visit at Houston Convention

Having fulfilled the edict of the city council that he "take a bath in the Gulf of Mexico" and also that he attend a certain large Democratic meeting at Houston, W. E. McBroom, city clerk, is back at his desk in the city auditorium.

"The water of the gulf was rough, and the convention was strenuous," Mr. McBroom said. "I enjoyed my vacation, and I enjoyed the national convention. However, I don't believe I want to attend another as it is real work.

"I sat in the press section and watched the work of the world's great writers of the events of the day as they kept the outside world informed as to the heat and the convention itself. I wouldn't have missed that convention for anything, but I wouldn't want to have to go through it again."

TWO HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Police Hunt Negro Speeders In Wreck

Bee Branson, 25, who works at the Wichita garage, 707 Lamar avenue, and Henry Franks, 18, 514 Burnett avenue, were seriously injured in an automobile collision on the Fort Worth highway just within the city limits about 6:30 o'clock Sunday night. Police were searching for the negro driver of the automobile which struck the car in which Branson and Franks were riding.

The two men were taken to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital by a passerby after their car had been overturned when a large touring car in which half a dozen negroes were riding had sped across the intersection, striking the second automobile, according to Branson.

It was not believed at the hospital that injuries received by the two men would prove fatal. Branson sustained severe bruises about the body and head and a back injury. Franks was injured in the shoulder and a leg was broken.

POLICE FINES TOTAL $3593

Traffic Violations Lead With 769 Cases

Fines aggregating $3593 were collected and 1123 persons were arrested by the Wichita Falls police department during June, according to the monthly report compiled by R. M. Hurst, clerk of corporation court. The amount collected in the past month is highest since September, 1926, when $4011 was taken in.

June was $1089 ahead of May in the amount of collections.

The increase was due, according to Mr. Hurst, to the large number of persons fined for traffic violations. While 438 traffic law violators paid fines in May, 769 persons paid off during June. The total number of arrests for May was 773, or 350 less than in June.

Seventy Three persons were charged with drunkenness during the month and 61 vagrants were arrested. An arrest was also made of a man handing out circulars on the street.

Of the 1123 persons arrested, 988 were disposed of in corporation court. Fines were imposed on 207, bonds were forfeited by 655, 78 cases were dismissed, 41 persons were found not guilty, one was transferred to the state, five were transferred to the county and one name was placed on the docket in error.

Arrests made include: Traffic violations, 769; drunk, 73; vagrancy, 61; disturbing the peace, 28; gaming, 24; violating vice ordinace 20; affray, 11; theft under $5, six; congregating and obstructing sidewalk, six; violating health ordinance, six; assault, one; breaking glass on street, two; handing out circulars on street, one; violating sanitary ordinance, two; violating plumbing ordinance, one.

MOVIES AT PARK

Motion pictures will be presented at the park department at Bellevue park at 8 o'clock Monday evening, but will be shorter than usual, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of parks. The shortening of the usual Monday night program is being made that the political speakers who are scheduled to make campaign talks will have adequate time to present their pleas to the public.

6000 Attend Flying Circus

A crowd estimated by Fulcher Armstrong at 6,000 persons watched R. P. Bridgers make the highest parachute leap seen in Wichita Falls for years and possibly at any time, over the Wichita Falls Air Transport field Sunday afternoon.

Acrobatics that had the crowds thrilled and chilled and jumping all afternoon preceded the jump which was made shortly after 6 o'clock.

Slats Rogers, piloting an old Canadain Curtis plane, looped, and zoomed and spun close to the ground and didn't fail to make a few Immelman turns. His flying was the unannounced attraction of the flying matinee.

It was from the plane he piloted that Slats Rogers finally made the 5,000 foot leap.

Chester Bailey, flying Leo Keim's new Travelair, showed the crowds a few stunts with the ship which Mr. Keim purchased just a few days ago.

Boyd Kennedy, pilot and field instructor for the Wichita Falls Air Transport company, was flying Fulcher Armstrong's demonstration Eaglerock all afternoon. He took up many pay passengers, prospective purchasers and a newspaper man or two, and was in the air practically all the time.

Only about one-fifth of the total number of flowers possess fragrance.

SKY STORY

The sky revealed a little news story to the flying reporter of The Record News Sunday afternoon in the progress of the additions to the Austin and Franklin schools and also of the new plant of the Tuf Nut Garment Manufacturing company.

From a sky seat in one of the Wichita Falls Air Transport planes, the brickwork of the additions to the schools could be seen to be well advanced. Both are about to the top of the first floor levels with the brick work. The windows are being outlined in white stone.

The roof is on the Tuf Nut company plant, and from the air it has the appearance of being completed. However, an announcement by Manager P. E. McLain of the plant several days ago indicated that there is considerable work yet to be done inside the building.

Mission Theater To Reopen Wednesday

The Mission theater will be reopened Wednesday, according to an announcement made Sunday by Charles Moorehead, manager.

The Mission was closed about a month ago when fire destroyed the scenery and damaged the building while a musical tabloid company was playing there.

Renovated and redecorated, the Mission will present the appearance of a new theater, Mr. Moorehead explained, when it is opened for the first matinee Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

This matinee will be a special for children and is known as a "two for one" matinee each boy or girl under 12 years of ago who comes to the matinee and buys a ticket, may bring another boy or girl in with him free.

The opening picture will be "The Horseman of the Plains," a new Tom Mix feature, in which Sally Blaine is featured. Tony, the wonder horse, also will be in the picture.

Illinois Democrats Pass Through Vernon Today

VERNON, July 1.—A special train bearing prominent Democrats of Illinois passed through Vernon at noon Friday on a tour of the western states and up into Canada. The party was returning from the Democratic convention at Houston. The train was elaborately decorated with pictures of the standard bearer, Governor Alfred Smith.

TIME EXTENDED ON SEWER TAX

Back Payments May Still Be Made

Due to the fact that it was impossible to wait on all who wished to pay their sewer rentals Saturday, George D. Fairtrace, city manager, announced Saturday night that those who have not paid up may still do so.

"The city has no desire to be hard on anyone, and is willing and ready to give all a chance to pay their back sewer rentals," Mr. Fairtrace said.

"In return it is but fair that the citizens co-operate with the city to the best of their abilities as that tends to make for better city government. By doing his best and by making some kind of arrangements at the water department office to pay the rentals, the citizen is doing his part.

"Anyone will realize that it is quite a big proposition to consolidate departments, and that is what has been done in putting the sewers under the management of the water department. It is a move that also discontinues entirely the rental charge on sewers from July 1 on. In recognition of the efforts to give a better government, the citizens are appealed to for their support of these efforts.

"There is still a large sum due on sewer rentals, and while the ordinance gives the authority to disconnect water and sewer service where the past due sewer rentals have not been paid, it is the wish of the city to give all the chance to pay or make arrangements to pay before taking any action."

Dr. Lucey is now giving his entire time to his veterinary practice and his veterinary hospital on the Henrietta road.

Council to Consider Literature Ordinance

Possible consideration of replies from a number of cities in Texas on their ordinances or attitudes toward ordinances on the sale by newsstands of immoral and salicious magazines, and the consideration of delinquent tax suits were the only items on the calendar facing the city council when it meets Monday night in the Memorial auditorium.

Letters have been sent out by Thelbert Martin, city attorney, and replies have been received from all save one or two. Copies of several ordinances now used in other cities as well as a copy of an ordinance worked out but never passed by the former city administration are now in the hands of the city attorney.

Funeral Services Held Sunday For Virginia Robertson, 19

Funeral services for Miss Virginia Robertson, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Robertson, 1411 Tenth street, were held from the family residence at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, with Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Miss Robertson died in a Colorado Springs sanitarium Friday.

Miss Robertson is survived by her parents, two brothers, Henry Robertson of Wichita Falls and Ernest Robertson of Portland, Ore.; both grandmothers, Mrs. H. Young and Mrs. S. L. Robertson; two aunts, Mrs. W. P. Ferguson and Miss Minnie Young, and an uncle, Frank Robertson, all of Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, who were at their daughter's bedside when she died, returned to Wichita Falls Saturday morning. The body, accompanied by Henry Robertson, reached here Saturday afternoon and was taken in charge by the Hines Mortuary.

Active pallbearers were W. S. Abbott, James L. Randel, B. A. Stayton, Jim Robinson, John E. Kilgore and J. C. Mytinger.

Wichita County Candidates Open Speaking Tour With Two Meetings

The season of the county candidates in Wichita county opens Monday night with one group of candidates speaking at Electra and the other at Bellevue park. The meetings will begin at 8 o'clock.

Beginning Monday night the various candidates will speak at 13 places in the county. The speaking tours were arranged by the candidates themselves at a special meeting sometime ago. The details were compiled by a special committee composed of John O. Marrs, Sam B. Spence, Max Shumake, Bob Crain and Harry Bunnenbreg.

The entire field of candidates was divided into two groups. Both groups will speak on the same night at different places in the county. The itinerary is the same for both groups.

Plane to Drop Bottle of Lake Kemp Water in Dedication of City Airport

In extending an invitation to the citizenship of Wichita Falls to attend the opening celebration of Kell field on the Burkburnett road at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Charles I. Francis, president of the chamber of commerce, announced that the formal dedication would be made by dropping a bottle of Lake Kemp water from a parachute on the field from an airplane. This ceremony will precede the army aerial maneuvers and also the parachute jump.

"Arrangements are complete for the celebration and dedication of the field," Mr. Francis said. "All of Wichita Falls should see the dedication ceremonies and enjoy the flying. The army planes will be there with formation flying and other aerial work that we have not had the opportunity to see in Wichita Falls for a long time.

"As this is a public celebration, the public is most cordially invited to attend."

Representatives of 50 cities have been invited to the opening, and a special general invitation was issued Sunday by C. W. Cahoon, president of the airport, to all local pilots to attend.
