Minings Issued Against Aminopyrine Compounds

We have had several inquiries about the notices which appear in last week's Wichita Star warning against the taking of aminopyrine and certain compounds containing aminopyrine.

Granger consulting local druggists as to whether they offer the following tentative conclusions: Certain people are sensitive to aminopyrine just as some people are sensitive to other outside causes which cause certain ailments. They are the ones who are sensitive to aminopyrine.

Those who make use of taking sedatives or who should be examined whether they are sensitive to aminopyrine. We do not offer this as accurate information. The investigation is in the experimental stage and doctors are not in their opinions. At any time there is fear of any danger, be wise to consult a chemist and have him examine the situation as it stands.

Be careful whether the name of people are in any danger, but if any fear is shown, the person should consult a chemist who will be able to give the proportionate amount of drug on the market. The patient's sensitivity to it, if indeed, there is sensitivity.

Interscholastic League Debating

The subject for debate in the Interscholastic League contest this year is "Resolved—That Texas Should Adopt a Unicameral Legislature." Each school in the county may enter one boys' team of two members and one girls' team of the same number. The rules of the contest provide that none of the debaters may be nineteen or older before the preceding September 1, none may be passing less than three academic subjects, and none may enter any other speaking event. On the day of the contest, a representative of each team chooses by lot the Affirmative or Negative position for the debate. The Affirmative, in this case, attempts to prove that Texas should adopt a unicameral legislature, while the Negative will attempt to prove that Texas should not adopt the unicameral plan.

The speeches are arranged in the following order:

Main Speeches—Affirmative, 10 minutes; Negative, 10 minutes; Affirmative, 10 minutes; Negative, 10 minutes. Rebuttal Speeches—Affirmative, 4 minutes; Negative, 5 minutes; Affirmative, 4 minutes; Negative, 5 minutes. Affirmative Rejoinder, 3 minutes.

The purpose of debate is to train students to think clearly before an audience, make a purposeful, questioning study of a controversial subject, make a thorough study of any problem before forming an opinion, be able to maintain an opinion justifiably through the use of examples and inductive and deductive reasoning, and to develop in the student a feeling of self-confidence.

There are several approved techniques for training debaters. The debate coach should be allowed to have a regular class in debating daily with one less class than the full teacher-load. The coach begins by impressing on the students the necessity of maintaining an open mind, since debate teams must be prepared to discuss either side of the question. The first and most intensive work of the debaters is to gain a thorough knowledge of the subject matter. It is here that a regular class period for debate becomes a valuable asset.

As soon as the material has been covered satisfactorily, the main issues about which the debate will center can be easily ascertained. The coach then sets half of the debaters to work on the Affirmative and the other half to work on the Negative. For a few days each group takes notes on its side of the question. Then the groups exchange notes taken in their studies and work on the other side of the question. By this time the debate is becoming familiar so that it can be written into a forensics, or outline, for the students' reference while learning and making their main speeches.

Now the debaters may begin speaking. Criticism by the other speakers and the coach helps the student to become conscious of his faults so that some effort may be made to correct them. After daily practice of this sort for some time, work on refutation begins. Refutation, or the disproving of the opponents' proof, is the real center of debating. Since one team never knows what issues its opponents will bring into the discussion, it is necessary to be prepared for anything. Thus when the opposition brings up for discussion any phase of the subject, no matter what, the debaters must be able to disqualify statements of the opponents and bring out substantiating facts for their own position. After a study of possible proof for both sides of the question and methods for refuting these proofs, the teams are ready for preliminary or trial debates with teams from other schools. It is in the round-table discussions which always follow such trials that the coach and debaters begin to see and strengthen the weak points and prepare for more possible refutations.

Judges of debates are supposed to consider, first of all, which team proposed more arguments which withstood the attacks of the opposing team; then they decide which team disproved more of the opposition's argument; and finally they decide which pair of contestants had the most sincere, forceful, logical, grammatically-correct presentation.

Debating is work! Any debater will tell you so; but he will also tell you that no satisfaction is so great as knowing that he can completely prove his side of a question and disprove his opponent's viewpoint.

The head of every extravagant family must have a mild sort of sympathy for President Roosevelt in his current financial dilemma.

IF GEORGE COULD PEEK

By Seven Anderton

If Washington could leave his tomb
And take a look around
He would be flabbergasted
By the "progress" that he found.

First time he saw a modern plane
Go roaring through the air
He'd swiftly cross a vast terrain
Besides the Delaware.

If George had seen a flivver-load
Of flappers on a spree,
His hatchet he'd have thrown away
And climbed that cherry tree.

Could he behold the salary checks
Of Congress' limping ducks
His ghost would sue the U. S. A.
For umpsteen million bucks.

Could this land's dad observe his child
'Twould fill him full of gloom
And he would shed a tear or two
And crawl back in his tomb.

LaGuardia to Speak WTCC Wichita Falls

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York City will be the principal speaker at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention to be held in Wichita Falls April 26th. The convention is expected to draw huge crowds to Wichita Falls, and surrounding communities are all cordially invited. It is an opportunity few will want to miss to hear this famous man who is one of the most colorful political figures in our nation.

Mayor LaGuardia was originally contacted by Dr. O. B. Kiel of the Clinic hospital staff, a personal friend of the New York Mayor, and his agreement to come to Wichita Falls to address the convention was primarily the result of Dr. Kiel's efforts.

Mr. LaGuardia will stop in Guthrie, Oklahoma, on the 22nd of April to speak at the Eighty-Niners' Day celebration. He will be brought from Guthrie to Wichita Falls by Dr. Kiel, who is to meet him there.

The mayor and the doctor served two years at the same air training base in Southern Italy during the World War. At that time, LaGuardia was commanding officer of the base while Dr. Kiel was chief medical officer.

When LaGuardia crashed in a plane one day at the field, it was Dr. Kiel who took charge and kept him from dying. Since that day, the two men have been solid friends, exchanging letters frequently and occasionally seeing one another.

First plans were to broadcast the speech at Wichita Falls, but when informed of these plans, Mayor LaGuardia said that he did "not care to broadcast and address an audience at one and the same time."

Extensive preparations are being made for the convention and much interest in surrounding communities is being evidenced.

Texas Insurance Commission Issues Fire Credit Record

Marvin Hall, State fire insurance commissioner, announced this week that Burk Burnett's "fire record", effective March 1, will be 15 per cent credit. This is the same rating as last year.

Commissioner Hall explained that once each year the Texas Fire Insurance Commission promulgates and publishes a fire record credit or penalty for all eligible Texas towns and cities. These fire records, effective for one year, are based on the loss ratio produced by a comparison of the fire insurance premiums written to the losses paid over a "fire record period" of five years.

An average net fire insurance premium volume of at least $1,500 over the fire record period is required before fire records are promulgated. The fire record varies from a 15 per cent penalty, or "bad" fire record, to a 25 per cent credit, or "good" fire record. Credits of 20 and 25 per cent apply only to those cities and towns whose average annual fire insurance premium volume is at least $20,000.

"It cannot be overlooked," Hall pointed out, "that when a city receives a fire record credit, every person buying fire insurance pays that percentage less premium. Texas is the only state in the Union where this system prevails—where reduced fire losses result in a corresponding reduction in the fire insurance rates. Our insurance buying public can feel justly proud that here in Texas, there is a very real reward in dollars and cents to the policy holders when effective fire prevention and control is practiced and the losses thereby reduced."

Junior University Study Club Has Valentine Party

Members of the Junior University Study Club entertained with a Valentine party in honor of their husbands and invited guests at the home of Mrs. R. P. Reagan, Saturday evening, February 12th.

Mrs. Morris Strong and Mrs. Dale Cropper were hostesses for the evening. Tables were decorated with bouquets of Japonica.

The game of hearts was played. Mrs. Carlton Royce and Dr. Carl Morrison made high score for the evening; Mrs. Truman Garland and Harry Dodson made low score.

A buffet supper was served to the following members and their guests: Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Reagan, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Kimbrow, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Royce, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van Loh, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Spearman, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Strong, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cropper, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Baker, Mrs. Johnny Foster, Mrs. Truman Garland, Misses Gladys Westbrooks and Grace Warman, Al Pierce and Harry Dodson.

Double the expenditure made in preparation for the Panama-Pacific Exposition of 1915, is being spent to construct and beautify grounds and buildings for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. The coming pageant of the Pacific is a $50,000,000 project, compared with an outlay of $25,000,000 in 1915.

You will fall right in

And hear them sing throughout

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Big Rabbit Creek

February 14, 1938
Hawkeye is just a day behind with the Rabbit Creek news, but there is still time to get it to the press. Hawkeye was auto riding nearly all day Sunday making observations of the wheat and oat crop up and around Cooke town and Emerson. The crop is just fine and nearly every wheat and oat field had from 8 to 50 head of cattle, mules and horses on pasture. Prices for pasture ranges from $1.00 to $1.50 per month per head.

Ed Martin left last Friday for Jal, N. M., to look after his oil interests. He will be gone several days. Ed has an offer of $35.00 per acre for an oil lease.

This neck of the woods was visited at 3:15 p. m. with a very nice little shower of rain. At this writing, 7:45 p. m., we are having a very good rain and it is thundering in the Southwest; a good indication for an all night's rain.

Well, the election time is coming around again and several of Hawkeye's old time friends have started to don their election duds for offices from sheriff to commissioner. Now, listen, boys, just do as Hawkeye advises you to do when you start out for your votes, as self-experience is a mighty good teacher. Start out early every morning and make every house, especially where they have big families of children, but go to our friendly little city of Burkburnett and get 3 or 4 pounds of mixed candies, fill your pockets and every house you make, grab up the little old dirty-nosed, dirty-faced kid; hug him or her up and kiss it and then fill his or her pockets full of this mixed candy and go in the house and begin to comment to the good mother on what a fine set of children she has; how smart and brilliant they are; what fine foreheads they have. Now and then give the mother a handful of your mixed candy and a chunk of wax, if you have it. We all know this day and time that our female sex votes and wears the pants; also, the overalls. We all know it is a cinch it's the ladies' votes that will put you guys over and by a big majority, so be sure and get on the good side of the women if you want to get elected to your office. And, listen boys, be sure and make it to some big voting family where there are from four to six or more voters just at lunch time or dinner time, of course; when dinner is announced you will be invited to have lunch. Several times while having lunch, brag on the housewife's fine biscuits, or if it's corn-dodger, brag on it. Tell her that you would give a hundred dollars if your wife or daughter could make such fine biscuits or corn-dodger as this good housewife baked. 99 2-3 times out of a hundred you will get this lady's vote and all of her family's votes. Furthermore, this housewife will get out and will canvas the whole neighborhood for you. Just try it out. I will guarantee it will work like magic. Hawkeye has tried it out and got over by big land-slides.

Last Saturday, of course, Hawkeye was over in the fine city of Burkburnett where everyone lives in peace and harmony. On the south side of main street Hawkeye met his fine friend Stanley Gartside, the manager of the fine Palace play house. Stanley says to Hawkeye, "Come along with me. I want to show you something." So H. E. went to the Palace and after he got inside, to his great surprise, he found 7 or 8 up-to-date, best carpenters in Burkburnett with saws and hammers in hands tearing down and remodeling the interior of the Palace play house from the rear to the front. After this work is completed, which will take 10 days or two weeks, it will mean $5,500 has been spent to make the Palace Theatre one of the finest and prettiest picture houses in a radius of 100 miles around.

Through the fine knowledge of Stanley Gartside of managing picture houses, will add to our friendly little city of Burkburnett one among its largest assets. The foreseeing of making the Palace Theatre the finest play house in Northwest Texas goes to Stanley Gartside.

It's 9 p. m. right now and it's raining pitch forks and saw logs for handles, and I don't mean maybe. Already our 3-4 of an inch of rain has fallen and it is still raining.

Joe Ryals, who is farming the Jim Selfe Indian lease two miles west of the Rabbit Creek school, received a long distance phone call from West Texas that his mother, age 93 years, was laying very low, so Joe had his son, Otha, drive him down to Wichita Falls Saturday, where he took a bus to be at the side of his aged mother.

Tobe Martin, Mrs. Martha Nails, her son Charlie, and their cousin, Otis Bowe, spent Monday afternoon with the Owens family. Brother Tobe drove over to Burkburnett Monday morning to Kelley's big chick hatchery and got 52 of those thoroughbred Rhode Island Reds for Mrs. Ed Owens. Hawkeye and his better half say they are the finest chicks they ever saw.

It appears to Hawkeye that the changes that were made by the city dads from cash drawing to those coupon books are drawing larger crowds. Then when the pure old boot hides were being given away, I'll just tell you folks there wasn't any room on the sidewalks for another person. The stores of all kinds, even C. E. Gray's up-to-date Shoe Repair Shop were even standing outside in lines to get their shoes and boots repaired. C. E. can sew on a pair of soles on your shoes or boots before you can say "Jack Robinson" with your mouth open.

Yours very truly,
HAWKEYE,
By Ed Owens

George Washington

In the month of February we always look with pride at the life of a wonderful man. At the age of thirteen George Washington prepared a group of rules for himself that all of us should read and think about. Perhaps they would help us; perhaps they did help to make him the great man that he was.

"Honor and obey your natural parents, although they may be poor."

"Avoid bad company, which is the bane of good morals, economy and industry."

"Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire, conscience."

"When you speak of God or His attributes, let it be seriously and with words of reverence."
"The foolish and wicked practice of swearing is a vice so mean and low—that every man of sense and character detests and despises it."

"I hope I shall possess firmness and virtue enough to maintain what I consider the most enviable of all titles, that of an honest man."

"Without a humble imitation of the divine Author of our blessed religion we can never hope to be a happy nation."

"Let us with caution indulge the supposition, that morality can be maintained without religion—National morality can not prevail in exclusion of religious principle."

LIONS CLUB

Reserve Officer Addresses Lions At Meeting Tuesday Night

Thomas R. Vague, a Captain in the Infantry Reserve, addressed the local Lions club Tuesday evening on the subject of "National Defense." Captain Vague explained the nation's plans for maintaining an adequate defense in time of peace and for rapid increasing of the enlistments in case of war. According to statistics, it would seem that the United States would be very vulnerable in this matter of adequate defense in case of another war, unless added measures are taken on this question. Congress has been asked for appropriations and further development of defense measures await their decision.

Miss Margaret Tanner also presented the pupils who are to enter the one-act play tournament in Electra in March. The play is titled "Sparkin'," and the cast was as follows: Marilyn Harwell, Pauline Brownrigg, Virginia Vaught, and Billy Walker.

Congressman W. D. McFarlane

Farm Bill Conference Report

On Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, the House considered the Conference Report on the Farm Bill, which has been receiving serious consideration since near the close of the Second Session. As Congressman Jones said during the debate on the bill:

"We do not claim that this bill is the final solution. We do claim that we have tried to work out a sound and practical measure under very difficult circumstances and amid widely divergent opinions. But about equality for agriculture there can be no difference of opinion. I hope everyone, whether he is agreed as to its wisdom, will see that this bill is given every chance to accomplish its purpose. If it does, we shall all be happy. I certainly hope that it will clear the way for the final solution."

It is well recognized that nearly all legislation, as finally worked out, is a matter of compromise and certainly this measure is no exception to the rule. The different farm organizations were divided in their attitude concerning the bill.

Quite a number of the Members of both Houses, opposed the measure for reasons best known to themselves, evidently believing that a more satisfactory measure could be written for their particular district. We must bear in mind that the interests in our Nation are well diversified and cover a wide range. Legislation satisfactory to the farmers of the Northeast might not satisfy those of the Southeast, and the same rule may equally be applied to each and every section of the Nation. For example, the Boileau Amendment which gave many Members so much trouble in their districts, was heartily favored by the Dairying interests of the Northeast and the Middle West. But this amendment was bitterly opposed by those living in the other sections of the Nation whose interests it adversely affected.

Briefly summarizing the final effect of this bill, as compared to the present law, we find it is built on the present Soil Conservation Act. These payments will be continued in modified form and are made necessary to offset existing tariff laws. The bill is administered by committees selected by the farmers themselves and its restrictive marketing quotas will not be effective unless approved by two-thirds of the farmers on a referendum vote. About $50,000,000 is set aside to increase the payments to the small farmers who would otherwise be paid less than $200 for compliance with existing law. This provision is justified on the grounds that it is more expensive for the small farmers to produce their crops than it is for the large farmers to produce their crops. The bill contains provisions that if a man reduces his tenants or the number of acres handled by his tenants he is not to get his payments increased. This and other provisions in the bill give much more protection to the tenants and share croppers. The bill provides for an adjustment in freight rates for all farm products and authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to make complaint to the Interstate Commerce Commission with respect to rates, charges and practices relating to the transportation of all farm products and to prosecute such complaints before the Commission.

Parity price to farmers would depend on the money available. No farmer is permitted to receive in excess of $10,000 for compliance under this program regardless of the size of the farm, etc. Voluntary crop insurance is started for the 1939 wheat crop. Four regional Research Laboratories, one for each major farm producing area is provided to conduct researches into and to develop new scientific, chemical and technical uses for farm commodities and their by-products, and $4,000,000 is authorized for this purpose.

The bill contains a mandatory provision that 30 per cent of the American Tariff collections that represent about the same percentage, the farmers of the country bear to the total population, shall be used for the purpose of widening distribution of farm commodities at home and in enlarging their distribution abroad, if and when marketing quotas are made effective by a two-thirds vote of the farmers. The quota for corn will be about 2,700,000,000 bushels, and for cotton about 19,500,000 bales. The farm organizations split principally on these features. The American Farm Bureau favoring the bill because of its compulsory features, and the National Grange opposing it for the same reason.

The bill does not place the farmer on equality with industry nor does it give him cost of production plus a reasonable profit for his products nor does the bill give the farmer the exclusive American Market. However, the bill is a great improvement on existing law and gives the American Farmer many of the rights and advantages previously denied him. The farmer is now planting his crops and must know what he can depend on. Therefore, this legislation must be enacted at once and future inequalities worked out as soon as possible.

The Calendar

The House last week passed several minor bills on Monday. On Tuesday and Wednesday it debated the farm bill conference report approving same Wednesday by a vote of 264 to 135. The remainder of the week the House considered the miscellaneous bills and were busy in committee work. The Senate last week continued their filibuster on the Anti-Lynching Bill until Friday when the farm bill conference report was taken up and this will be pending business until disposed of.

This week the House on Monday considered the District of Columbia Legislation; on Tuesday the $250,000,000 Relief Appropriations Bill; on Wednesday Territorial legislation and the remainder of the week the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor Appropriations Bill. The Senate is due to resume its filibuster after its disposal of the Farm Bill Conference Report.

Spanish Important Language To Us

Spanish is a language spoken by about eighty-five million people of the half of the globe which concerns us most, that is, in the Western Hemisphere. Spanish is far more than the language of Spain. It is the language of Mexico, of Central America, of South America (except in Brazil, where Portuguese is spoken). It is the language of Cuba, of the Antilles, of the Canary Islands, and of the Philippines.

We of the Southwest have been fortunate enough to be associated with the Spanish speaking people of Mexico. There has crept into the speech of our part of the country many Spanish words which you yourself may have used for years without suspecting their origin. No doubt you speak quite casually of fiestas, of siestas, of adobe houses, of patios, of plazas, of sierras, of canyons, and of mesas. You can hardly talk about cowboy life without mentioning sombreros, rodeos, of broncos, pintos, burros, and corals. Perhaps you have tasted hot tamales and chile con carne (meaning chile with meat). No doubt you know what is meant when someone tells you to act pronto. And when you mention a mosquito, you are using the Spanish word for "little fly." Indeed in a certain sense, you are hardly justified in speaking of Spanish as a foreign language. It has always been much nearer to you than you realized.

Because the Spanish language is so closely related to our own language of the South, I believe Spanish to be one of the essential high school courses. Students acquire knowledge of the Spanish speaking countries and their inhabitants through the study of their language which it is impossible to acquire in any other way. A student can read a travel book or a translation of a Spanish novel, yet in these he misses the intimate touch which a Spaniard writing of his beloved country will bestow on it. Here the characteristics of the race are lacking.

Take for example in the study of the language: We learn that a Spaniard or a Spanish speaking person is extremely courteous to everyone just as he expects everyone to be courteous to him. His language is full of charming phrases which express his consciousness of his own dignity and that of the person to whom he is speaking. It is not enough to learn and to be able to use these phrases; one should understand the spirit which must prompt them. He has an endless number of polite phrases to put you at your ease. He tells you that he is always at your service, that his house is yours. If you admire one of his possessions, he immediately insists that you must accept it from him. Sometimes this extreme politeness is amusing, especially in small children. To the Spaniard so accustomed to courteous formality, we in the United States often seem very abrupt even when we least intend to be.

The Spanish of Mexico is more beautiful than that of any other part of the world. (The Spanish spoken by Indians and Pecos along the border and in Texas has given rise to many erroneous impressions about Mexican speech). It is spoken with perfect correctness, but it has a certain softness of inflection never heard in the Spanish in provinces of Spain. It is a language of infinite wealth and innumerable connotations.

Burkburnett History

At a meeting of the Board of Education of the Burkburnett Independent School District held last Friday afternoon, W. B. Hogg, superintendent of schools, was re-elected to serve during the term of 1938-39, which will be his second year as head of the institution.

A new traffic ordinance becomes effective today which requires all vehicles to stop at street intersections where stop signals are located.

The Palace Theatre safe was looted early Friday morning. According to Mike King, owner of the theatre, the jewels escaped with approximately $100 in cash.

A new national highway that will make use of the free bridge across Pad River at Burkburnett has been designated by the federal government and will receive a substantial amount of federal aid for improvement, and maintenance work. The new road is known as Highway No. 70 and runs from Raleigh, N. C., to Clovis, N. M. The letter published in the Star last week, written by W. B. Hogg, superintendent of schools, in an effort to locate his brother, Tom, was successful. The brothers were separated about seven years ago. Tom has been a citizen here for several years.

The Freshman class of the Burkburnett High School is organizing an orchestra. The enterprise is new to the High School. Those interested in the organization are: Winona and Juanita Gragg, Nadine High, Mark Westbrook, Justin Bush, Earl Wright, Sunnie Knauth, Rowan Fisher, Mike Maloney, Velma Collins, Jack Ellis, Chester Roberts, Marguerite Allen, Ruby Lowery, W. M. Price, Ray Thompson, Wilbur Gragg, Miss Charlotte Bradshaw is sponsor.

The B. P. O. Elks held their regular institution meeting Tuesday night and W. F. Smith, H. D. Smith, brothers, and Ben L. McDonald were initiated into the order.

"WE ARE ALL POOR IN ARITHMETIC"
RUTH ARNOLD

"I am glad to meet Spencer's teacher," said Mrs. Thompson to Miss Gray, at the close of the Parent-Teacher meeting. "What have you to tell me about my child?"

"Nothing that isn't good," smiled Miss Gray, "except that he doesn't do well in arithmetic as he should."

"Oh dear—arithmetic!" Mrs. Thompson rolled her eyes. "I'm afraid if you knew my side of the family, you'd find that we are all poor in arithmetic, I suppose. He went on, 'you might say we are a bit literary, instead. My father taught English literature in the State University for twenty-five years. Pride crept into her voice as she finished."

"And you were good in English and poor in arithmetic?"

"Yes, and so were both my sisters. Father simply wasn't a good business man, and as for me, it's no use to attempt to count change, because I just can't add."

"It must be a bit of a handicap," hazarded Miss Gray.

"I suppose it is," Mrs. Thompson became thoughtful. "I know I would be a better housekeeper if I were less stupid about figures."

"Perhaps Spencer will outgrow the family failing," ventured Miss Gray again.

"Why, I hope so—" replied Mrs. Thompson, somewhat disconcerted. Then after a moment she added, "You are right; it is a failing. All of us in my family have wished from time to time that we had more business ability."

"Then," said Miss Gray, "may I ask you a personal question?"

"Please do."

"When you were growing up, did you ever hear members of your family say, 'We are all poor in arithmetic?'"

"Well, something like that," laughed Mrs. Thompson. "I remember hearing my mother say often, 'You are just like your father,' when we showed poor marks in mathematics. She didn't mean it as an adverse criticism. I think she was rather proud of the fact that Father was a scholar rather than a business man. I wonder," she continued.

"—do you suppose I took a kind of pride in my inability to be good at figures? Perhaps I thought it was more aesthetic not to be mathematical. How silly! But I believe it's true."

"And Spencer?" prompted Miss Gray.

"I believe I have been doing the same thing with him—giving him a mind-set against arithmetic from the start. Do you think I have?"

"I don't know," answered Miss Gray, "but it sounds possible, doesn't it? Many parents do. Spencer is a bright boy and he has reasoning ability. He ought to be as good in mathematics as he is in everything else, but he seems to set his mind to resist that subject instead of desiring to understand it."

"What do you think I should do?" questioned Mrs. Thompson, seriously. "This is my problem, now."

"How about Mr. Thompson?" asked Miss Gray. "He seems to be a successful business man. He must be well grounded in arithmetic."

"Indeed he is," responded Mrs. Thompson, enthusiastically. "He seems to be good in everything. He is just as much interested in artistic things as I am, but he's a good business man too."

"Then isn't that your answer?" said Miss Gray. "Perhaps it would be well if you stopped speaking about arithmetic at home for a while. Let Spencer forget that he's supposed to be poor at mathematics. Now that I understand his difficulty, I shall know better how to deal with it. It will help if you will occasionally call his attention, casually, to his father's fine all-round development."

"I do hope he will grow up to be like his father," replied Mrs. Thompson.

Editor's Note—Many a child, like Spencer Thompson, suffers from an arithmetic complex. Such a difficulty needs to be understood. Watch for the next article in this series: "The Pattern" by Esther H. Doolittle.

School Lands Vacancy Solution Is Proposed

A solution of the school land vacancy problem was proposed by a resolution passed by the South Texas County Judge and Commissioners Association at San Antonio last week.

The resolution proposes a session of the Legislature to amend present vacancy laws to allow landowners a better chance of holding the property they have paid taxes on for several years.

The school land vacancy resolution:

Whereas, by virtue of the present vacancy laws, great injustices have unwittingly been fostered upon the citizens of the State of Texas, by throwing the doors open to the exploitations of the land owners of the State by unscrupulous parties, now commonly known as "vacancy hunters;" and

Whereas, the activities of these people have now reached the proportions of a racket in the State; more especially in those sections where oil development is undertaken; and

Whereas, we feel that the lawmaking bodies of Texas did not intend, nor have any desire to place an unjust hardship upon the citizens of the State, or that a racket of such magnitude would follow in the wake of said law; and

Whereas, both Houses of the Legislature have expressed their feelings so strongly against the operation of the present law, and have recognized the necessity of corrective measures, whereby the interests of both the State and its citizens may be protected; and

Whereas, the operation of said law is shaking the foundation upon which title to all lands now rests, and is causing the withdrawal of capital from investments in lands and land mortgages; therefore,

Be it resolved by the South Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association, meeting in San Antonio on the 22nd day of January, 1938, that the Governor be petitioned to call a special session of the Legislature to the end:

—1— That the vacancy law be amended so that where a vacancy is alleged and said purported vacant land is under the possession of one holding the same under deed or deeds for more than ten years and having paid taxes thereon for said time, such persons shall be entitled to sufficient notice of the attempt to establish such vacancy, and in the event a vacancy is finally determined, said person shall have the right to purchase said land in preference to any other person at the price paid for the last State land sold in that area regardless of its distance from any producing oil wells, the State however reserving to itself one-sixteenth of the royalty in oil, gas and other minerals in and under the same.

—2— That the venue of all litigation arising under and by virtue of the vacancy laws of the State of Texas shall be exclusively in the county in which the vacancy is alleged to exist.

—3— Where the Commissioner of the General Land Office determines that a vacancy does exist, and in the event said decision is litigated in the courts within a period of one year thereafter, said decision of the General Land Office shall not be prima facie evidence of the existence of such vacancy and the burden of proof shall be upon the person or persons asserting such vacancy.

—4— That said vacancy law be further amended with reference to preferential rights to purchase and/or lease such vacancy when same may be established to the end that the preferential rights and that Vacancy Hunters be discouraged.

—5— That the vacancy law be further amended to the end that all applications filed with the General Land Office to declare lands to be vacant lands shall be accompanied by a bond in such amount and in the manner as the Legislature may determine, conditioned, in the event that such vacancy shall be denied and the owner of said land shall be damaged by the filing of such application, such owner shall be entitled to bring suit thereon to recover his damage in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Be it further resolved that in the view of the strong sentiment heretofore expressed in both Houses of the Legislature against the operation of this law as contained in the resolutions passed by the Legislature, that the Commissioner of the General Land Office and the Attorney General accept this sentiment of the Legislature, and refrain from further considering applications until such time as the Legislature shall meet and amend said law; and

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be presented to the Honorable James V. Allred, Governor of the State of Texas, to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, and to both Houses of the Legislature, and to the press of the State.

Mrs. Roosevelt To Make First Texas Speech In Wichita

(SPECIAL TO THE STAR)

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, America's First Lady of the Land and an outstanding woman in her own name, will make her first appearance in Texas when she speaks in Wichita Falls, March 7. Mrs. Roosevelt is being brought to Wichita Falls by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

This versatile woman will speak on a subject of interest to all true Americans, "A Day at the White House." Because of the interest in the home life of the First Family, and because Mrs. Roosevelt is reputed to be one of the most gracious hostesses and most efficient home managers of the country, the speaker's subject was requested by the sponsoring organization.

In addition to her educational, political and philanthropic work, Mrs. Roosevelt has become a well known author in recent years. She is the Author of "When You Grow Up To Vote"; "It's Up to the Women"; "A Trip to Washington With Bobby and Betty"; "Hunting Big Game in the Eighties" (the letters of Elliot Roosevelt, sportsman), and her recently published autobiography, "This is My Story." Also she is vice-president of Val Kill Shop; vice-principal of Todhunter School in New York City; finance chairman of the women's division of New York State Democratic Committee, and a member of the New York State League of Women Voters.

The lecture will be given in the Memorial Auditorium in Wichita Falls, on the evening of Monday, March 7, at 8 o'clock. Tickets are now on sale in Wichita Falls and may be obtained by mail addressed to Business and Professional Women's Club, Box 893.

A Letter From New York

The following letter was received from Mr. and Mrs. Ace Garland, 111 Elm Street, Cranford, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Garland are former residents of Burkburnett:

February 7, 1938

"Dear Fred:

"It should be news when Burkburnett people get together in New York City. At any rate Henry Pearlman, Edith and I decided that it was news when Henry had us over for dinner with him at the Hotel New Yorker Thursday night.

"He informed us that he was up here visiting friends and relatives about Newark, New Jersey and shopping for spring merchandise in New York. One thing is certain, if he has talked business to these New Yorkers as fast as he talked Burkburnett to us we'll not be surprised to find he's taken a goodly portion of the city back to Texas with him.

"It was certainly a pleasure to hear at first hand some home town news and gossip, as well as to meet with a Burkburnett brand of friendliness after a year in the East.

"Our best regards to yourself and to Burk in general.

Edith and Ace Garland."

At the next meeting, weather permitting, the members will exchange chrysanthemums.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Wid Phillips, B. F. Gilchrist, R. M. Gilchrist, A. H. Bazell, M. R. Hayes, Henry Porter, Lily Green, George Kerr, Carlton Royce, John Anderson, J. Burk Community Golf Club to Have Meeting Thursday

The Burk Burnett Community Golf Club will meet at the City Club Thursday evening at 7:30, according to R. P. Reagan, president of the association. All members and others interested in the club are invited to attend. Plans for the coming year are being discussed and new officers elected. Officers now serving are: R. P. Reagan, president; Carl J. Johnson, secretary and treasurer; J. L. Bell, chairman of the membership committee; and F. A. Bell, chairman of the maintenance committee.

A membership drive is planned. The club had 37 members last year and it is hoped that this year will see a decided increase in membership. It is hoped that a year will see the addition of 50 new members. Plans are to be made for a city tournament play, which is expected to arouse greater enthusiasm this year than ever before.

Club members have expressed hope that enough interest will be given to the club to establish better facilities for golf and other sports. One of the building of a club house is being considered. Anyone interested in civic development can readily see the value of such a project.

Many towns no larger than Burk Burnett have had Golf Clubs for years and count them among their most important assets. We have been a little slow in developing what would certainly prove to be of lasting benefit to the community. The present course is ideally situated and in good condition. New members join the 'fold' every day. With adequate housing facilities, a swimming pool, croquet and tennis courts, we have our place among the cities of the state who have considered the building of such institutions of great importance.

Everyone recognizes the value of a wholesome, entertaining and recreation to the youth of our community and we have noted ourselves to this end. We might have, and not does this dream appeal to the youth of the town, but to everyone; everyone who is interested in sports as a medium for civic development. Of course, there is the problem of initial cost and upkeep, but if the proper interest were stimulated, perhaps some solution might be worked out.

All who are interested in the game of golf, or those who do not care to play themselves, but who realize the importance of the club as a municipal asset, are invited to attend the meeting to be held Thursday evening.

Yarbrough Says He Battled To Save Millions

The dramatic appearance of District Judge Ralph Yarbrough before a legislative committee a year ago when he eloquently opposed certain features of legislation which he contended would cost millions of dollars to the taxpayers was recalled today when Yarbrough issued a vigorous denial that he had fought against the creation of a board to handle school land leases.

Yarbrough, who has taken a six months' leave of absence from the bench without pay to make the race for Attorney General, declared:

"A large number of newspapers over the State have recently carried articles sent out from Austin to the effect that, last winter, I appeared before a legislative committee and opposed the establishment of a school land leasing board. This is not correct though I am sure that the newspapers printed the statement in the best of faith. The facts, however, briefly are these: "When I was assistant Attorney General, I was fortunate enough to carry through to a successful conclusion a number of lawsuits which added millions of dollars to the permanent school fund."

"A year ago, when legislation had been introduced which school leaders would cost the taxpayers millions of dollars they invited me to appear before a legislative committee and discuss certain phases of the proposed legislation. In a speech before the committee, I declared that, in my judgment, some parts of the legislation were good and that other parts were bad. I did not oppose the creation of a school land leasing board; I have never opposed it; I do not oppose it now."

"I do not recede one inch from the position that I took at that time in opposing the parts of the proposed legislation that I considered vicious and if anyone wishes to make those points an issue in the race for Attorney General, I will be glad to debate the matter at any place and at any time."

WHEN LIGHTS FAIL

Keep some spare light bulbs in your car. Lights burn out every once in a while you know—and more often if there's something wrong with your electrical system. So carry a few "spares." Bulbs are mighty cheap when compared with doctor bills and hospital charges. Remember, it is against the law in most states to drive with a headlight missing. And of course it always is a violation of the law of safety. It only takes a minute to change a light bulb. It's a simple trick—if you've got the "spare."

and is expected at an early date. These plants are offered at wholesale prices.

A report was made by the Shelter Belt Committee. Enough applications from land owners, offering strips of land to be used by the government for this purpose, have been made to insure the certainty of trees being planted here. More information on this subject will be available later.

A resolution was passed to co-operate with the local American Legion Post in preparing for the American Legion Convention which will be held here in June, and to co-operate with the Firemen in making their convention, which will be held here in May, a success. Herman Engelman, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was instructed to write letters to all American Legion Posts and to all delegates who will attend the Firemen's convention, assuring them of the Board's hearty co-operation.

Effort is being made by the Chamber of Commerce to establish a local Drivers' License Bureau for the convenience of Burk Burnett citizens. Letters have been written to the Department of Public Safety at Austin asking that a member of the State Highway Patrol be stationed here at regular intervals to conduct tests and issue licenses. An early reply is anticipated.

The Board also passed a resolution, which will go into effect the second Monday in March, that any director who misses three Board meetings will automatically be dropped from the roster. The Chamber of Commerce must have the full co-operation of everyone to render the highest possible service. The adoption of the above resolution reflects on no member of the organization but is for the good of the body as a whole.

Announcement has been received that Burk Burnett Day at the Fat Stock Show will be March 17. Plans are being made to send a delegation. A committee was appointed to handle all arrangements for publicity, etc., at that time. The committee is: R. L. Mattingly, chairman; H. D. Smith, D. R. Peevey, J. H. Brumley and Harold Van Loh.

Mr. Engelman announced that one of the most active campaigns for civic betterment ever planned has been mapped out by the Board for the ensuing year, and they are hoping for the co-operation of every person interested in the growth and development of our town. At a later date, they will issue a detailed outline of their plan for all activities.

Forty-foot elephants, fashioned by sculptors, will look down from the massive Portals of the Pacific, the main entrance, on visitors to the Golden Gate International Exposition.
