Maybe it's just as well the biscuit-tossing civic clubs did not meet at the postoffice corner stone laying—they might have thrown stones instead of placed them.

Brain wave: Fire prevention weeks cannot be expected to enlist the cooperation of everybody. Therefore, we need not clean out our own attics—just let the "other fellow" clean out his and the results will be about as good as anyone expected.

Those Shawnee lads are smart—playing us at night with their passing attack their main scoring threat.

"Hub" Walker is sending Ripley this:
"At a Columbus day bridge party, the writer was playing rubbers with I. E. Duncan against W. A. Bratton and Carl Boston. The latter were losing. Bratton pulled a Columbia half dollar from his pocket and laid it on the table. 'The Columbus' side up. When the game was over, Duncan and I had won by exactly 1492 points."

We believe it; stranger things than that have happened "on the hill."

George Kelly, the kidnaper, says he is sorry he did not "take Urichel to Arizona and bury him." We'd like to sit with a jury trying a public enemy who talked like that.

Roosevelt answers his "fan" mail, proving again that presidents are gluttons for punishment. We can imagine how cramped a president's dignity must be when he or his secretary attempt to answer a "crank" letter.

Tyler is having a rose festival. There, sure enough, is a "city of roses."

BREVITORIES

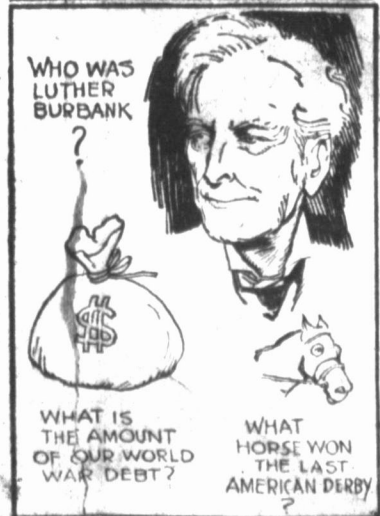

Our heartiest congratulations go to the Kid band of Woodrow Wilson school, which has two invitations to play at state conventions in Austin. One is from the Texas Federation of Women's clubs and the other from the Texas State Teachers' association. Mrs. Annie Daniels, the principal, assures this Pampa that the youngsters will make one of the trips. Winston Savage, an A-1 young man we have known from his early boyhood, is the director, and Miss Lois Stallings is accompanist. Pampa should appreciate the music instruction being made available by the schools and the many very fine instructors who make this city their home. A musical city is a cheerful city.

Figs Grow Here.
A Fort Worth tree expert told Mrs. E. G. Barrett, 523 East Francis, that figs would not grow as far north as Pampa, but she was "from Missouri." This week she called this Pampa out to see the result. And the result is a well-laden white fig tree, or bush, 5 feet high. The fig does not bloom, but the fruit grows out at the base of each large leaf. The figs are large and of a ju-ju-ber tree, with fruit resembling dates in taste, but it has not yet borne fruit here, although it bloomed profusely. It is just a year old and looks much harder than the fig. Protected by many fruits, it will do well in this section, but the sudden blasts of icy winds are devastating to unprotected trees from the semi-tropical areas.

Murrah for LeFors.
We swap felicitations with Marlon

THREE GUESSES

LEGISLATURE IN AGREEMENT ON BOND BILL

COMMISSION OF NINE WOULD SUPERVISE RELIEF FUND

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—Members of the legislative conference committee on the relief bond bill said today they had agreed to recommend the creation of a commission of nine members to supervise the administration of state and federal funds to the needy. Governor Miriam A. Ferguson would be ex officio chairman of the commission but would not be empowered to vote except in case of a tie. The committee also agreed that three of the other commissioners would be named by the lieutenant governor, three by the speaker of the house, one by the governor, and the others would be the chairman of the industrial accident board and the civil judicial council. Earl Adams of Crockett is the present chairman of the industrial accident board and W. N. Christman of Dallas is chairman of the civil judicial council.

BAND CONCERT WILL BE HELD IN SCHOOL GYM

Program Will Include Nine Popular Numbers

PAMPA high school band will give its first indoor concert Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. People who attended the last concert in City park three weeks ago, were bothered somewhat by the high winds, and it was decided that this time the concert be held in the high school gymnasium.

There will be on hand ushers from the pep squad who will distribute programs, and all are assured of comfortable seats.

The program will include religious numbers, overtures, marches and waltzes. Folk songs will be played by a violin trio composed of Misses Eleanor Frey, Dorothy Mears, and Willie Reese Taylor.

The band is anxious to have a capacity crowd at this free concert. The attendance at the last program was gratifying. "This is a 'feeder' program for band concerts to be held indoors every few weeks during the winter months," Director Roy Walmsbenden said. "Your attendance will signify your desire for more Sunday afternoon concerts." Power march, H. Bennett; Concord march, H. Bennett; Village Chimes waltz, G. Rice; Trombone solo—I Love You Truly—Charles Frazer. Royal Highway overture, S. J. Mustel; Moonlight on the Nile, K. L. King. Violin trios: Enchanted Forest, Philip Spitalny; Song of the Volga Boatman, Russian Folk Song; Lead Kindly Light, John B. Dykes; Recessional, Reginald De Koven; Sabo march, H. Bennett.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—A boycott was declared by the American federation of labor convention today against goods and services supplied by Germany, Italy, Russia, China, or "any other country" which forbids free trade unionization.

FUGITIVE CAPTURED
CLARKSVILLE, Oct. 13. (AP)—Charles Frazier, one of 12 convicts who participated in a break from the Angola, La., penitentiary Sept. 10, was captured at Box Elder, 17 miles southeast of Clarksville, today, and was lodged in the county jail here pending determination of where he would be tried.

PAID NO TAX
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—A Dillon, Read & company member told senate investigators today how he paid no income tax in 1929 on a stock profit of $864,000 by means of setting up a personal company in Canada.

From Alley's 'Papa'—

V. T. Hamlin, Creator of "Alley Oop" Comic Strip, Pleaded by Formation of Boys' Club Here — Sends Original Drawings.

PAMPA BOYS WHO, thrilled by the "Alley Oop" comic strip which started recently in The NEWS, formed an Alley Oop club, have won time through the interest of the Newspaper Enterprise Association (NEA) of Cleveland, Ohio, and the author of the cave-man strip, V. T. Hamlin.

The club idea will be used by NEA in promoting the strip all over this and other countries, and Pampa will be given credit for having originated the idea. It's all in fun, of course, but the idea has "it." The artist has sent the Pampa lads two of his original drawings. These, which are instructive as well as interesting, will be on display at The NEWS for a week, then turned over to the Alley Oop club. Mr. Hamlin wrote a personal letter to the boys. It follows:

Alley Oop Club
Pampa, Texas,
Dear Boys,

The existence of your Alley Oop club was brought to my attention this morning and to say I'm flattered is putting it mildly. I am an ex-Texan myself, having served four years on the staff of the Fort-Worth Star-Telegram and another year on the Houston Press.

Drop me a line sometime and let me know how the club is getting along.

Best wishes for your success.
V. T. HAMLIN,
Alley Oop's Papa,
Cleveland, Ohio.

NEA Service Pleased
With Hamlin's letter came this one:

Mr. Olin E. Hinkle, Editor,
Pampa Daily News,
Pampa, Texas.
Dear Mr. Hinkle:

Thanks a lot for your swell contribution on the Alley Oop club of Pampa. This is just the sort of promotional matter we like to get, and we certainly will be able to make good use of it in some of our future promotion. Incidentally, our new strip has now hit its stride and we are getting exceptionally favorable reports on "Alley's" popularity from NEA client papers.

Mr. Hamlin was very much interested in your story and is anxious that the Alley Oop boys of Pampa should have an original cartoon or two for their clubhouse. We are attaching Mr. Hamlin's letter, and under separate cover we are sending you his drawings, because we believe that you will be interested in looking them over before handing them over to the boys. You might also tell them that should other Alley Oop clubs be organized, we shall always be glad to give Pampa due credit for having the oldest club of its kind in the country.

Thank you again for thinking of us.

Jury Asks Ford To Pay $100,000 In Sweeten Suit

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13. (AP)—Verdict of $100,000 against Henry Ford was awarded today by a jury in the suits involving the Detroit manufacturer and the Sweeten Automobile company of this city.

The jury was out three hours. Ford sued the Sweeten Automobile company for $6,800 admitted to be due on promissory notes, and the Sweeten company, brought a counter action to cover $180,110 which it claims it lost as result of Ford taking over the Lincoln Motor company. The Sweeten company was the Philadelphia distributor for the Lincoln car at the time. It is now in receivership.

The Sweeten company contended that Ford had promised to make good all obligations outstanding against the old Lincoln company. Benjamin O. Frick, counsel for Ford, said he could not determine whether an appeal would be filed until he had consulted with general counsel for the Ford interests.

Roy Wight Makes Hole-in-One Shot

Texas Company Gas Foreman in Lucky Blow at 6th Hole of Country Club.

THERE was great agitation at the Texas company offices near here today. Roy Wight, gas foreman, made a hole-in-one at the Country club golf course yesterday and is reported to have been incoherently garrulous about it ever since. Dan Gribbon, member of the foursome and superintendent of the Texas company production department, called The NEWS early today and broke the story.

"Roy's sitting here now," Mr. Gribbon said, "and I thought by telling you about it myself, I could spare you the ordeal of listening to his explanation of how he did it." (Mr. Gribbon feels very kindly toward The NEWS—its tennis playing managing editor is about the only golfer he can beat consistently.)

The rare feat of golfing took place at the Country club's No. 6 hole with a span of 140 yards from tee to green. Roy, grinning and wisecracking as usual, teed the ball low and carefully (according to the other three) smacked it with his No. 5 iron. The ball landed short and to right of the green—according to

HOUNDS TRAIL 2 NEGROES IN WISE COUNTY

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS AND TOSSED INTO RIVER BED

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 13. (AP)—Sheriff Perry Browning remained in a serious condition today while officers sought hobo who attacked him, knocked him unconscious and tossed him over a railroad trestle across the Wichita river here last night.

The officer suffered three fractured ribs, concussion at the base of the brain, possible internal injuries, and many cuts and bruises.

Wise county officers reported they had sent bloodhounds out for two negroes who fled when they searched a freight train at Bridgeport last night. One fitted the incoherent description Browning gave of one of his attackers.

Sixteen suspects were rounded up in a general cleanup by officers here. None appeared to be connected with the attack.

Browning and Hugh L. White, a deputy sheriff, received word that a group of hobos were along the Denver railroad right-of-way in North Wichita Falls. Browning told White to take the automobile and wait for him at an underpass. Browning then caught a freight in the yards.

According to fragmentary statements of the officer, he had arrested and was following seven men, three white and four negroes, across the trestle when the negroes attacked him.

He was either knocked down or thrown over the side to the hard, sandy river bed 12 feet below. His pistol was found in the sand near the spot where he landed. Browning crawled and stumbled to a filling station and a passing motorist took him to the county jail.

'Gold in Hills' Cast Applauded In L'Nora Act

Hundreds of people today were interested in the Little Theater's new production, "Gold in the Hills Or The Dead Sister's Secret," after seeing two members of the play's cast carry off first and second honors in the movie star impersonation contest at the La Nor theater last night. Neal Bean who with Ben Guill won first as Hardy and Laurel will play the role of Big Mike Slattery, owner of a saloon on the Bowery, and Miss Peggy Arnold who won second as Mae West will be Old Kate, drunken, toughened hag in the play.

Ely Fonville who impersonated Le Tracy last night is a loud-mouthed Bowery guide in the play. Little Theater members have known for quite a while that Neal Bean is a comedian worth seeing and hearing. His role in the 1890 thriller gives him another opportunity to furnish amusement. Miss Arnold has an amusing, if shocking, role in the melodrama.

The "hero" of the play is Charles Barrett, "beneath whose flannel shirt there beats an honest heart." Miss Beth Blythe is the heroine, and Dick Hughes is the villain (ha, fooled again!). The play will be presented at the city auditorium Monday night Oct. 23, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Because the play is a burlesque on the old type of melodrama, hisses, but not boos, will be welcomed by the Little Theater when the villain appears. Admission will be 45 cents.

They'll Be Married—Together

IT'S GOING TO BE orange blossoms soon for Daisy and Violet! For when the Hilton sisters, famed Siamese twins, arrived in New York from a stage tour of England, as shown here, their smiling announcement was that they'd both be married in a double ceremony about Christmas. Violet, left, is to marry an English boxer and Daisy's husband, she said, is to be Jack Lewis, Chicago orchestra leader.

NEW YORK NRA HEADQUARTERS IS BESEIGED BY 3,500 RADICALS—MOUNTED POLICE RUSH STRIKERS

Policeman Jeered By Horde of Noisy Rioters

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—A demonstration at NRA headquarters by 3,500 workers which was blamed by NRA officials on radicals dissatisfied with code provisions, was broken up today by mounted policemen and club-swinging patrolmen.

Fifty-three persons, ten of them women, were arrested on disorderly conduct charges. The rioters attempted to rush guards at the headquarters, in the Hotel Pennsylvania across Seventh avenue from Pennsylvania station and were pushed back by police guards.

More than 2,000 strikers in the cleaning, dyeing, and tailoring industry assembled at the hotel at 10:30 a. m. Under terms of the mediation right wing unions were to be recognized and cut prices in the industry were to be abolished.

Banners carried by the demonstrators proclaimed a right to select their own labor organizations. The original 2,000 gathering at the hotel were shortly augmented by 1,000 more from the left wing of the boot and shoe workers, also on strike. At noon the demonstration was swelled by the addition of 500 men's custom tailors.

A delegation of twelve was finally permitted to enter to confer with Thomas J. Donovan, acting head of the NRA interpretations bureau, and Ivar Aakelsen, executive secretary of the mediation committee.

While they conferred, the paraders on the street jeered at arriving policemen, and unseated one of the mounted contingent.

DEATH THREAT IS MAILED TO POSTAL CLERK

AMARILLO PAIR TAKEN AFTER PICKING UP 'MONEY' CAN

An extortion plot, in which Bob Sanford, Pampa postoffice employee, was asked to pay $125 on pain of death for failure or for reporting receipt of the extortion letter to officers, was promptly foiled yesterday evening when an Amarillo man was arrested as he presumably attempted to obtain the "money."

The man's brother, also of Amarillo, was arrested today in connection with the case. Both are held in jail here for federal operatives. Sanford received the letter in a Pampa envelope yesterday through the mails shortly after it was placed in the Pampa postoffice at 4 p. m. The letter directed him to place the money in a Prince Albert tobacco can and leave it beside the "city limit" marker on the Amarillo highway in West Pampa.

Pipes Plots Capture.
Postal authorities notified officers and County Attorney Sherman White, Sheriff C. E. (Tiny) Pipes outlined a plan to place an empty can at the place designated and to arrest any person who called for it. Sheriff's officers and Deputy Constable R. H. Mumford were placed at strategic points overlooking the spot and ordered to "get their man" dead or alive.

Meanwhile, Sanford drove down past the place, turned around, came back to the marker, left the can, and drove back to Pampa. By the time Sanford had reached the Hobart street crossing, a man had crossed the railroad track opposite the marker and had picked up the tobacco can, placing it in his pocket. Officers closed in and ordered him to throw up his hands, which he did without resisting. He was unarmed.

Letter Printed.

The suspect was brought to the courthouse and questioned at length. His movements were traced. A brother was held when he appeared at the police station to make inquiries.

The extortion letter contained three pages of instructions and threats, all printed in pencil. It was as follows, in part: "Well, you know you promised my buddy you wouldn't tell the law about the car, but you did. Now, we don't want him to get stuck and we can get it thrown out before court begins next week. "But it will take $125. So you get the $125, put it in a P. A. tobacco can, take it out on the Amarillo road just across the railroad out of town about half a mile west, on the Amarillo road. There is a sign, says Pampa City Limits. Put can with money and this letter down by the bottom of the post."

"Just come back to town as the nothing had happened."

Sanford Kidnaped.
The letter continued with death threats if Sanford failed to place the money or if he told officers, and was signed as "A Pal" of a youth who kidnapped Sanford several months ago near Clarendon and stole his car. The youth later was held for car theft.

Local officers believe there is no connection between the abduction and theft and the extortion plot, except that the plot was based on the assumption Sanford would see a motive through connection with the trial of his abductor.

MAY LAY STONE

Postmaster Cecil Will Inquire If Congressman Jones May Yet Attend Ceremony

Possibility that a cornerstone laying ceremony may yet be held for the Pampa postoffice building was suggested today by Postmaster D. E. Cecil. The contractor has not even placed the stone for a few days and is working on other parts of the building. Congressman Marvin Jones could not be here for the time originally set, but he is en route to the plains and will be consulted as to whether he could come here soon for a ceremony.

RELIEF MUST COME, INFLATION OR NO

There is precious little sense in worrying about the demand for inflation unless we also are willing to worry about the things that caused the demand.

That we are going to have something like a final, definite showdown in inflation this winter is becoming obvious. The pressure for inflation that has been put on the White House in the last month or so is only the first breath of a gale that will break loose when congress convenes.

And to read some of the indignant outcries being raised these days is to get the impression that demanding inflation is a crime against nature. We are reminded over and over again of the doleful things that happened to Russia and Germany when they sent their paper up in the windstorm.

Stick a pin through your newspaper at random and you are likely to impale an interview with some economist or other full of dark prophecies and dire forebodings.

All this pessimism may be entirely justified. That, at the moment, is hardly the point. The important thing is to realize that the clamor for inflation does not arise from sheer human perversity and wrongheadedness, but that it proceeds from the contemplation of wrongs which a great many people have decided they are not going to endure any longer.

If you borrow a dollar which is worth one bushel of wheat and find, when you come to pay it back, that it is worth three bushels, you have been gypped, and no fine talk about the sanctity of sound money is going to make you feel any better about it.

It is precisely that which has happened to millions of Americans in the last few years. Debt has turned into a self-increasing snowball, and it has become a load which is just about too heavy to be carried any farther.

Paying for a dead horse is never much fun; when the corpse goes on rising in value before you can get your payments in, you hardly can be blamed if you decide that the rules of the game ought to be changed a little.

Inflation may be the height of folly. But an even loftier peak would be to fight against inflation without offering any remedy for the wrongs which have made inflation look desirable.

If we are not going to have inflation we must have something that will whittle our debts down to the size they were when we contracted them.

Dairy cows in Idaho must not be fed beer, rules the state welfare commissioner. Well, then, how can the farmers keep the cows from going dry?

Money in circulation went up $57,000,000 in one week, reports the federal reserve system. Funny, but all the money we see keeps going down in amount.

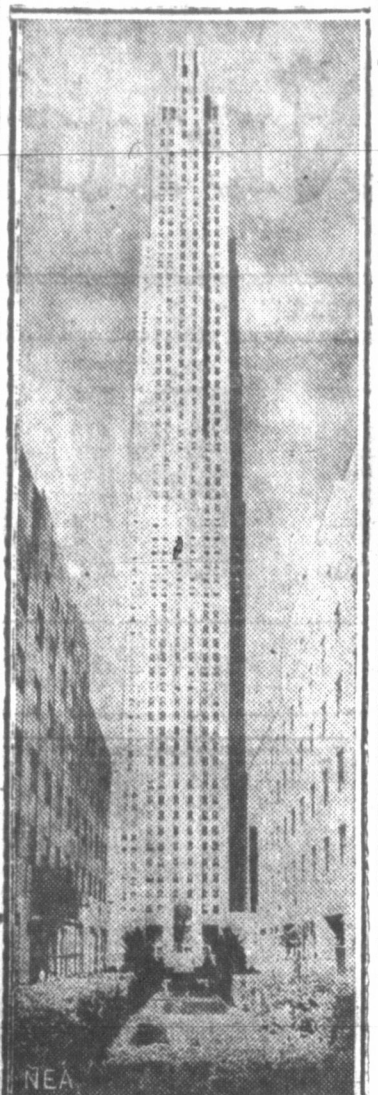

Psychologists say girls reach maturity much earlier than boys. But they reach middle age much later.

"All I want is an audience," says Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton. That's probably why she's taken so many husbands.

Dancer Given A Suspended Term

DALLAS, Oct. 13. (AP)—A district court jury today returned a five-year suspended sentence verdict in the trial of Louis Ruthardt, 24, for the death of Jo Betty Sell, his 17-year-old dancing partner, at a night club near Dallas, May 30.

Miss Sell died at a Dallas hospital several hours after she had complained of feeling ill as she sat at the night club between Dallas and Fort Worth with Ruthardt and the leader of the orchestra. Ruthardt went to Grand Prairie, nearby, for a physician, then brought her to the hospital where she died 45 minutes later.

On Rent Advances.
A reader hands us this very logical contribution:
"Circulation of wage and salary money has increased in Pampa during the last three months, and there is more money being spent by a larger number of people, but the NRA does not justify increases in house and apartment rent, although the demand for residential quarters now seems to be greater than in the last two years. There is one vital reason why landlords should not insist on higher rents at this time. Salaries have not been raised enough to justify it. While there is more money and more people working, employees cannot afford rent hikes. It must be borne in mind that salary increases have been largely confined to employees who receive less than $14 a week. And they cannot afford high rents. Generally, employees who receive more than $14 per week have had no increase in salary."

TWO EMPLOYERS REFUSE TO SURRENDER BLUE EAGLE INSIGNIA

REJECT PLANS FOR MINIMUM PRICE MARKUP

GOVERNMENT WILL AID IN STOPPING PRICE SLASHING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (P)—NRA officials moved to override challenges of President Roosevelt's recovery powers today, after joining farm administrators in rejecting proposals for minimum price markups in retail stores.

Senator Wagner of New York bluntly forecast "they will be required to appear," as he summoned the national labor board to act on the refusal of Western Kentucky coal operators to attend an arbitration hearing yesterday.

Hugh S. Johnson ruled that no employer may voluntarily surrender a blue eagle.

Chairman Wagner determined to submit to the labor board for an immediate decision the Weirton Steel company's (West Virginia) refusal to arbitrate its strike before workers returned to their jobs.

Johnson awaited a formal report before his next step against two New Rochelle, New York, employers who refused to obey his order to surrender their blue eagle insignia.

While these actions crowded one upon another at NRA headquarters and President Roosevelt was notified by steel owners of a conditional recognition of the check-off in captive mines, Johnson met with Secretary Wallace and George N. Peek, farm administrator, on the retail price problem.

They agreed to recommend against administration approval of a minimum retail mark-up of 7 1/2 per cent over delivered cost in grocery stores and of 10 per cent in other retail units.

Instead, the industrial and farm chiefs will recommend lending the government's aid to prevent price cutting by classing the sale of merchandise below invoice costs to the retailer as an unfair trade practice.

The Wallace-Johnson meeting harmonized recent differences over price fixing. Peek had opposed the 7 1/2 per cent mark-up proposed by the food and grocery industry, while Johnson had favored the 10 per cent margin urged by other retail traders.

BLOODHOUND SHORTAGE
QUINCY, Ill.—Eliza couldn't get chased across the ice on the stage of a Quincy theater until Uncle Tom went into the negro district and found two dogs to do the work.

The bloodhound shortage was caused by the burning of a truck carrying equipment for presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

RECOVERY

Former Champion May Be Brought Here to Fight

If a suitable opponent can be found, Promoter B. W. Kelly expects to bring Odie Ludlow, 160-pound fighter, to Pampa October 19, he said today.

Ludlow was amateur champion in 1931 and was a member of the American Olympic team.

Sought as his opponent is Jimmie Bradley of Fort Worth. Preliminaries are already arranged for a local fight card.

ALL OFFICERS HAVE TO DO NOW IS CATCH 'PRETTY BOY', VERNE MILLER AND WILBUR UNDERHILL

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13 (P)—Hoodlum hunters went after criminal quarry in the southwest almost light heartedly today.

Harvey Bailey and George (Machine Gun) Kelly were put away for keeps. That simplified the hunt. A triumvirate remained.

Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd and Wilbur Underhill, long familiar names south of the Missouri river and the Kaw, were sought along with a blond newcomer from the north, Verne Miller, world war machine gunner and former Huron, S. D., sheriff who "went bad."

"Floyd is just a cross-roads chicken thief," according to C. A. Burns, chief of the Oklahoma bureau of criminal investigation. But other authorities have rated him as "the most dangerous gunman in the southwest."

Underhill likes to be called the "tri-state terror," an appellation gained from his depredations in the Ozarks area of Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma. He and Bailey led the Memorial day break of eleven convicts from the Kansas state prison. Two murder convictions stand against him. Bank robbery is his forte.

He and Ed Davis, 30-year-old life term, are the only convicts of the Kansas fugitives unaccounted for. Two men who robbed the Farmers and Merchants bank of Tyrone, Okla., October 9 boasted they were Underhill and Brady. Photographs of Underhill were identified as those of a participant in a $2,000 bank holdup the same day at Baxter Springs, Kansas.

Miller, a machine gunner for pay; Underhill and Floyd all are wanted for the slaying of their friend, convict Frank Nash, and four officers at the Kansas City union station, June 17.

Bailey was wanted in that case, too, but his conviction along with Kelly and seven others in the $200,000 Charles F. Urschel kidnapping left disposition of the charges in doubt. Bailey, Kelly, and four others were sentenced to life imprisonment.

Bob "Big Boy" Brady, escaped Kansas convict, also indicted for the Kansas City slayings, lies wounded in the New Mexico penitentiary. He was shot Friday in attempting to escape arrest.

A dozen of the measures enacted by the 1933 Montana legislature were attacked in actions reaching the state supreme court.

Mrs. A. L. Prigmore was dismissed from Worley hospital yesterday.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
901 N. Frost Street
"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 15.
The Golden Text is: "All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation" (II Corinthians 5:18).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ" (Ephesians 1:3).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Christ was the Spirit which Jesus implied in his own statements: 'I am the way, the truth, and the life,' and my Father and one." This Christ, or divinity of the man Jesus, was his divine nature, the godliness which animated him. Divine Truth, Life, and Love gave Jesus authority over sin, sickness, and death. His mission was to reveal the Science of celestial being, to prove what God is, and what He does for man" (page 26).

BUSINESS MEN'S BIBLE CLASS
Meeting at the City Hall 9:45 a. m. The Interbiblical period will be studied again Sunday morning. Particular thought will be given to the Greek and Roman influence that existed in Palestine during the days of Christ's earthly life.

This class has often wondered what people do with their time since there are shorter working hours. It has not improved attendance, but perhaps the class officers and teachers are responsible for that. At any rate, we have a good class and a profitable hour every Sunday. We miss the member that is absent and welcome the visitor and are happy to receive new members.

Fire Prevention Parade Seen By Many at M'Lean

McLEAN, Oct. 13.—With the entire student body from each school, the municipal band, and the fire boys hanging on to the fire truck, a fire prevention parade was viewed by hundreds of people Wednesday afternoon.

The parade grouped near the post office and a short program was given. Short talks were made by John Sparks, Boyd Meador, and Supt. C. A. Cryer. Songs and yells by the high school pep squad added zest to the entertainment.

The band furnished several numbers. A. R. McHaney acted as drum major and led them through several maneuvers.

A "hook-up" demonstration was made in record time by the fire boys who are all volunteers.

Posters, made by the pupils from each room in the grade school and from each class in high school, added color to the parade. The posters were carried to the city secretary's office, where they will be judged and cash prizes given to the winners of each division.

Elder J. H. Davis of Dallas. Services begin each evening at 7:30.

Black-Draught Gives Refreshing Relief
"I have suffered a great deal from biliousness and constipation," writes Mrs. D. C. Jones, of Waterloo, Ala. "When I get bilious, I have a bad taste in my mouth, I get dizzy and have the headache. When I take Black-Draught, it relieves me and I feel like a new person. I don't think there is a better medicine than Black-Draught."

Children like the new, pleasant tasting SYRUP of Black-Draught.

WARD PARENT-TEACHER GROUPS HOLD INTERESTING SESSIONS

MRS GREEN IS SPEAKER FOR SAM HOUSTON

MRS. McCOLM ELECTED PRESIDENT TO FILL VACANCY

ELECTION of Mrs. L. L. McCollm as president to replace Mrs. Roy Bourland, resigned, featured the business meeting of Sam Houston Parent-Teacher association yesterday, while an address by Mrs. Gladys Green, dean of women at West Texas State Teachers college, was the main program attraction.

Mrs. C. P. Buckler, vice president, was in charge of the short business session when Mrs. McCollm's name was presented by the nominating committee. The new president announced her committee appointments for the year.

Association Aids Band
Members voted to sponsor the school band, and contribute $50 to it. They will also install a steam table in the school cafeteria.

Miss Wilma Chapman's first grade room received the prize for the largest attendance of mothers. A membership goal of 150 was set by the membership committee.

Preceding Mrs. Green's address, Mrs. J. M. Dodson sang. The visitor chose The Home Aids the School, as her subject.

Teachers formerly had all the care of the child during school hours, she said, while parents were of two types, those who look upon the teacher and those who stood behind the teachers regardless of circumstance.

Cooperation Secured
The Parent-Teacher association has brought cooperation between the two forces, and educators stress the fact that no problem children are found from stable homes that work with the school, Mrs. Green said.

She stressed present-day students as good, bad, and bewildered, with the latter group the largest. Lack of financial security is a new problem upsetting to the youth of today, and the child should be protected as far as possible from its effect in the home, but financial drawbacks are less disturbing than mental static between members of the family.

Parents make and mould the character of the child, the speaker stressed, and the child should be the teacher's. Parents who give a child a good emotional set-up do a tremendous job.

Higher education will become increasingly expensive, she warned, and schools are trying to match this factor with "cooperative homes," which will help the child to fit into the community acceptably if he cannot attend college.

"Modern youth will solve the lack social structure, but the highest cooperation and standards between parent and teacher are absolutely necessary," she concluded.

Girl Scout Hike Ends at Bonfire For Two Troops

Girl Scouts of troops three and four formed an army and went on a hike Wednesday afternoon, marching about the school ground and through the city park in soldierly fashion.

They were armed with wooden "swords," and the drummers used tin cans and cooking utensils to keep time for the march. West of the park, they played games and then built bonfires of their "swords" to roast marshmallows and apples.

Those present were Dorothy Ann Dilley, Minnie Baird, Clara Marie Hartell, Frances Helen Koonce, Eleanor Ruth Gilman, Margie Coffey, Frances Coffey, Betty Rains, Betty Curtis, Betty Jane Blythe, Lillian Rice, Dorothea Thomas, Annie Johnson, Norma Lee Lane, Sylvia Belle Gray, Irma Bibens, Pearl Bibens.

TRAVEL SIGHTS TOPIC OF CHILD STUDY PROGRAM

Dates of Meetings Are Changed By Club

Wonders seen in travel were discussed by members of the Child Study club yesterday, meeting at the home of Mrs. Rufe B. Thompson with Mrs. Roy Tinsley as leader.

The program was built around the theme, "Pity for the man who has no delight in wonders."

A change in the meeting date for the club was made in the brief business session. Second and fourth Tuesdays of each month will be meeting days through this season, instead of Thursdays.

How to get the most from new sights, and how to teach children to observe, were brought out in the talks.

World Fair Sights.
Mrs. Roger McConnell spoke on sights at the Chicago world's fair. She described the art museum and pictures that impressed her especially, the crystal fountain of colors, the travel and transport building, and the house of wonders at the fair.

Choosing Venice as "A Place I Should Like to See," Mrs. Frank McAfee mentioned the canals, the duca palace, and St. Mark's cathedral as the chief sights of that city.

Teaching Children to See.
How and what to teach children to observe on sight-seeing trips was discussed round-table fashion. Members agreed that children should be helped to see natural beauties and historic points, encouraged to investigate, and prepared for the trip before leaving home.

Children of three members contributed a musical program. Jack Hessey played Whispering Hope as a piano solo; George Saunders gave a violin solo, Humoresque; and Frances Thompson played Beautiful Blue Danube on the piano.

Individual pumpkin pies topped with whipped cream, sandwiches, and coffee were served.

Mrs. A. N. Dille, Jr. will be the next hostess, and Mrs. McConnell leader of the program.

Fire Prevention Stories Written By 5th Graders

Stories of fires and firemen were written by fifth grade pupils of Woodrow Wilson school during fire prevention week. These two were selected from the group:

FIRE
Betty Jean—High Fifth
The Brown family had just come back from their vacation. Jane and John, the children, were twins, and when one did anything the other did also.

John and Jane were great hands to play with matches and other explosive things. When Mrs. Brown caught the children they were spanked. Still that did not break them.

One day Mrs. Brown was away from home. She told the children to be careful. After noon, John went out of sight. John went to the window for matches. He got the box and took it outside. Jane and John were going to play Indian. They built the fire, put an old canvas up for a tent, and were ready to play.

A sad thing to say, when mother came home she found the house burnt down. But where were Jane and John? The children were safe at a neighbor's house. Mrs. Brown was glad to find her children.

I am sure Jane and John will never do that again.

THE BRAVE FIREMAN
Ruthell Wade—Low Fifth
"Fire! Fire! Fire!" The cry rang up and down the dark street. The great hotel was ablaze. People were jumping from windows.

There were firemen on the roof. One heard a voice below. Through the smoke a man was seen on a window sill. His face and hands were black with smoke. Yet he appeared to be very calm, exercising the greatest control.

"Do not risk your lives to save me," he said calmly. "You cannot do it."

To Wed Scout

Marvels of the Antarctic have lured Paul Siple, famed Eagle Scout of Erie, Pa., to his second voyage with Com. Richard E. Byrd, but his heart stays in Pennsylvania. The reason is Miss Ruth I. Johannesmeyer, of Meadville, above, who has given out the news of their betrothal. They will be married when the explorers return.

WHEELER GIRL AND PERRYTON OFFICER WED

Bride Honored At Pre-Nuptial Party

WHEELER, Oct. 13.—Miss Nora Underwood of Wheeler and Dell Tallifaro of Perryton were quietly married at the home of the bride last Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Kirby of Wheeler Methodist church read the ceremony with only the immediate family present.

Mr. and Mrs. Tallifaro, left immediately to make their home in Perryton, where he is deputy sheriff. Mrs. Tallifaro was honored Friday night with a farewell party at her home. An enjoyable evening of dancing and games was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mills and daughters, Florine and Frances, Mr. and Mrs. Graham, Bud Simpson, Pete Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Underwood and family, Oshell Goad, Mr. and Mrs. Nell McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Underwood, Mrs. May Krass and daughter, Pauline, the honoree and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Underwood.

Personal Notes.
Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lewis, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Price Harrison of Pampa, were in Wheeler Sunday.

Dr. W. I. Joss of the Wheeler hospital spent the week-end visiting in Greenville and Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Swarthout and children of Pampa visited relatives here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddy of Pampa spent Wednesday fishing near Wheeler.

Burglars Break Into 2 Places; Tools Are Taken

Officers today were investigating theft of a kit of carpenter tools from a house being built by W. S. Baxter at 533 South Cuyler.

The back door was unlocked, the tools removed, and the door left standing open some time last night.

Fox Big & Lumber company reported that its office door had been broken open, but nothing was missing and the safe had not been molested. The door was opened by breaking the glass, which shattered inside the room for 10 feet.

Chief of Police John V. Andrews received the information that two men were held in jail at Arnett, Okla., and that silverware they had in their possession may have been stolen from some Pampa residence.

Three men have been arraigned for drunkenness this week in Justice W. S. Baxter's court.

MEMBER DRIVE IS ENDED AT HORACE MANN

PRINCIPAL AND VISITOR ARE SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM

PUPILS of Mrs. T. A. Cox's room enlisted 94 percent of their parents in Horace Mann Parent-Teacher association for this year, and were declared winners in the membership contest which closed at the meeting yesterday.

They will be entertained soon by the association. Mrs. M. K. Griffith's room was second in the campaign.

Miss Josephine Thomas, principal, and Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar were speakers on the program. Mrs. Jim Stroupe was leader. The Rev. C. E. Lancaster pronounced the invocation, and Miss Hermine Stover entertained with a beautiful violin solo.

Education For Temperance
Miss Thomas' subject was Character Development Through Education Against Liquor and Narcotics. Repeal of the eighteenth amendment does not mean that citizens of this nation approve the use of liquor, she said, but that the underworld has become so wealthy through unlawful liquor traffic that thinking people feel that the problem can be handled more successfully through education rather than compulsion.

Such qualities as love, nobility, truth, and beauty must fill the lives of boys and girls so there is no need for compulsion, the speaker continued. Ideas of force are being broken down and the era of love is replacing them.

It is the duty of parents and teachers to teach the truth to young Americans, she stressed, that they may be free to act for their best interests.

Mrs. Hunkapillar spoke on united work of parents and teachers for the good of the child.

Dr. Thomson to Have Pastorate In Miami Church

MIAMI, Oct. 13.—Dr. Earl Thomson of Pampa has accepted the call of the First Christian church of Miami, and will take up his duties as pastor Sunday, Oct. 15.

Dr. Thomson has been preaching at the Sunday 11 o'clock hour for the Miami church for some time, but was not officially called until Thursday of this week.

The church is well organized and much progress is anticipated under his leadership.

The doctor will continue his practice of dentistry in Pampa, where he has been located for the past 5 years.

"The Christian life is a call to service whether it be professionally or spiritually," he said.

FIFTH AVENUE FASHIONS

Satin Scores for the College "Date"
Black satin, smooth and sleek and sophisticated, is on the list of every college girl who wants to look her smartest for that important dinner date. If she's wise, she chooses faille satin, using the ribbed side for the main part of the frock and the lustrous side for the bodice.

And when the bodice has the new soft shoulders, "sailor" revers and a high pointed line in front to give the new "hour-glass" look—when the skirt is slim and pleated and paneled—the result is devastating, and as charming for the young matron as for her younger sister.

Size 16 requires 4 yards 3/4-inch material, used reversibly. Width about 1 1/4 yard. For other Easy-to-Make models, see the new Fall Fashion Book. It also contains much of fashion interest on fabrics and colors.

Banner Bearer

A short, stockily built girl, red-dish-blond hair hanging to her shoulders, held the limelight in Communist demonstrations in the east. She is Ann Burial, "Red Flame," pictured here after she led a delegation to textile code hearings in Washington.

Canadian Bride Is Honored With Shower Thursday

CANADIAN, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Nollie Bentley was honored yesterday afternoon by a lovely bridal shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Evans.

Dainty refreshments were served to forty friends, who presented her many beautiful and useful gifts.

Personals.

R. N. Mathews of the Best Way

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—The long trial through the federal courts is ended for Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania.

A jury's verdict cleared him late yesterday of charges that he caused the sending of lottery tickets across the state borders in the promotion of a fund-raising enterprise for the Royal Order of Moose, of which he is director-general.

Theodore G. Miller, head of the lodge's propagation department, also was given his freedom by the verdict.

The two had been on trial for three and a half weeks, facing a government contention they were responsible for the "Mooseheart charity balls" in which national cash awards were distributed to holders of lucky tickets. It was the second trial for Davis, the first ending in a mistrial more than a year ago.

The Piggy-Wiggly store here is celebrating its fourth anniversary with a sale today and tomorrow.

PAMPA LIBRARY HAS NEW BOOKS ON OLD TOPICS

First-Class Fiction Available For Readers

Many weekly menus for food are devised; why not also menu for mental food? Mrs. J. Todd Jr. answered The NEWS' query by providing such a menu. The books listed below are recommended, but there are hundreds of others in the public library which will afford pleasurable and profitable reading for adults.

FICTION
PETER ABELARD, by Helen Waddell. The story of Heloise and Abelard has long ranked among the great love stories of the world and it has often been told in many forms.

ANTHONY ADVERSE, by Harvey Allen. This novel is a story of the adventures of a hero in search of his soul.

DARK HAZARD, by W. R. Burnett. Dark Hazard is not merely an emblematic title; it is the name of a dog. Everyone who begins the story will read through to the end. It moves with speed. It is brilliant and satisfying entertainment.

AS THE EARTH TURNS, by Gladys Hasty Carroll. A chronicle of events of one year in the lives of the family of Mark Shaw, a Maine farmer of today.

HISTORY
A GUIDE THROUGH WORLD CHAOS, by G. D. H. Cole. For readers who like a liberal view of world economics, as distinguished from the popular view, this book offers many helpful chapters. Cole is an outstanding economist unfettered by political party theories.

THE FIRST WORLD WAR, by Lawrence Stallings. A pictorial history of the great struggle, with 513 photographs chronologically arranged, giving in effect a panoramic moving picture of the great war.

BIOGRAPHY
MARIE ANTOINETTE, by Stefan Zweig depicts Marie Antoinette as an "average woman" whom the drama of revolution forced into playing an heroic role.

ANDREW JACKSON, by James Marquis. This volume carries Andrew Jackson through his military campaigns and to the age of 55. Another volume will follow, covering the presidential years.

RELIGION
CHRISTIANITY AT HOME, by Harry Emerson Fosdick. In this volume are compiled 252 sermons which will bring freshness and vigor of liberal thought to the difficult problems of the 1930s.

ECONOMICS
WHAT EVERYBODY WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT MONEY, by George Douglas Howard Cole. This book treats of the question of money, its functioning in the economic world. Among the topics are: Money and the world crisis, currency and central banking, capital, public finance, debts, credit, prices, and inflation.

Chicagoan Tells of World's Fair

John C. Hertel, noted author, musician, traveler, and lecturer, spoke to the pupils and patrons of the Merten school in Pampa Tuesday morning on the "A Century of Progress" that is now being conducted in his home city.

The educator, in an instructive way, described to the youngsters a few of the many wonders, marvels, and curiosities to be seen at the world's fair. Mr. Hertel has had wide and varied experience on the American platform as an orator and entertainer. He plans several chapel appearances while in this section of the country. While in Pampa, Mr. Hertel is the guest of Rev. E. S. McKenzie, pastor of the Church of Christ.

OPPOSE PRISON
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Opposition to the proposed establishment of a federal penitentiary for the most desperate type of criminals on Alcatraz island in San Francisco Bay was expressed here today by chamber of commerce leaders.

Indiana unemployed relief rolls decreased 8.2 per cent in August, as compared with July.

Daryl Douglas of Lansing, Mich., gathered more than 200 signatures of famous men and women in less than a year by correspondence.

C. E. Gould of Skellytown was in Pampa on business today.

COCKROACHES CAN LIVE FIVE YEARS!

THE RINGS of a rattlesnake's tail give little indication of the reptile's age. Rarely is a snake found with more than 10 or 11 rattles. After that number is reached, the whip-cracking effect at the tip keeps them broken off. The new rattles grow at the front of the tail, next to the body.

'CLUB HOUSE' USED BY INDIAN MEN 1,100 YEARS AGO DUG UP

BY F. B. COLTON.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—An American "club house" 1,100 years old, where "hen pecked husbands" of the early day may have found peace and quiet has been dug up near Santa Fe, N. M.

This club house was used by Pueblo Indians of 11 centuries ago, nearly 700 years before America was discovered. It was a gathering place for Pueblo men-about-town when the Saracens were establishing their kingdom in Spain and Haroun-al-Rashid of Arabian Nights fame was ruler of Baghdad.

The ancient club house consisted of a circular pit in the ground roofed with poles. The men folk of the Pueblo tribe gathered there to gamble and swap stories, says Dr. Frank H. Roberts of the Smithsonian Institution, in announcing the find. Tree-rings in the timbers of the roof show that the club house was built about 835 A. D. Tree rings provide a reliable calendar for dating events in the past, because the thickness of the rings varies from year to year, according to the amount of rain and sunshine available to nourish the growing tree. Rings in redwood trees dating back many centuries from the present serve as a "master" calendar, with which rings of ancient timbers or logs can be compared to fix their dates.

Besides serving as a club house, the round pit-dwelling unearthed by Dr. Roberts was used as a chamber for religious ceremonies. It was found in a Pueblo village that fills in what had been a blank spot in the 1,200 years of history of the Pueblo Indians, which extends from about 750 A. D. to the present.

This village, excavated by Dr. Roberts and students of the laboratory of anthropology at Santa Fe, shows how the old "hole-in-the-ground" villages of the Pueblo gradually changed to the "apartment house" style of cliff dwellings still in use today.

At first adobe roofs were used for both dwelling and religious purposes. Small out-buildings above ground were used to store grain, then for some reason the Indians moved into dwellings above ground, composed of several rooms, patterned after the grain store houses. But tradition led them to continue using the round pits for religious purposes. The village dug up by Dr. Roberts represents this transition stage.

Finally, about 950 A. D. began the development of the big apartment houses of many stories.

Russo-Japanese Relations Near Breaking Point

MOSCOW, Oct. 13 (AP)—The tightly drawn cord of diplomatic relations between Russia and Japan was stretched a bit nearer the breaking point today.

It was strained farther with reports from Khabarovsk, Siberia, of the arrest of two more Soviet officials of the Chinese Eastern railway in Nippon's puppet state, Manchukuo.

Only a few days ago, a sensation was created here with the publication of what allegedly were documents describing a Japanese plan to seize the CER.

One by one, it was said, the few remaining Soviets among the road's officials were to be removed, eventually giving Manchukuo complete control.

The two latest arrests reportedly were made as Soviet Consul General Slavitski at Harbin renewed his demands for an answer to his previous reports.

Meanwhile, from Tokyo came a foreign spokesman's statement which indicated Japan's stand remained unchanged.

"Several days of careful deliberation," he said, "will precede Nippon's next move in the controversy."

SOONER GRID IS TOO MUDDY FOR WORKOUT

RESULTS WILL NOT BE RECEIVED HERE BEFORE 8:40

SHAWNEE, Oct. 13. (Special)—Gloom settled over the students and fans of Shawnee today as it was announced that Baer, star quarterback and passer of the local football team, is ill of diphtheria and will not play against the Pampa Harvesters.
The East Texas Teachers yesterday in time for a short work-out, but found the field too muddy to use. The Harvesters will face a powerful Shawnee team despite the absence of Baer.

THOUGHTS of Pampa football fans turned toward Shawnee, Okla., today as the Harvesters rested there before their game tonight, with the powerful Sooners.
The local schoolboys left here yesterday at 9 o'clock and hoped to obtain use of the Shawnee field for one night practice. With Shawnee depending upon passes and accustomed to throwing them at night, the Pampans wondered what effect the unusual conditions would have upon them.
Coach Odus Mitchell spent much of the week training his charges in a pass defense. The Harvesters also will attempt to hold the ball as much as possible, plugging away for first downs and delaying their punts. The first half is expected to be close. What will happen in the second period is a question which has the fans worried.
The contest is set for 8 o'clock tonight but may get under way a bit late. Fans are asked not to call The NEWS before 8:40 and to allow at least 30 minutes between quarters. The scoring will be rushed as fast as possible by telegraph by Harry E. Hoare, sports editor of The NEWS.
The Harvesters were in fair condition. Charlie Johnson, lineman, was left behind because of his foot fracture, sustained early in the season. Work of Buck Mundy at tackle was expected to put him in the line-up to share at least part of the game with Mackie, who also is doing well.
The rest of the starting line-up was to be the same as at Big Spring. Coaches Mitchell and Fox are with the team.

Rail Official Kills Himself

AMARILLO, Oct. 13. (AP)—William Balfour, 62, general transportation inspector for the Santa Fe railway, was found dead in his apartment here today, a bullet hole through his right temple, his right hand gripping a small pistol.
He apparently had been dead since Wednesday night, physicians said. The body was found by a maid. B. R. Clark, justice of the peace, returned a verdict of suicide.
Balfour had been with the Santa Fe 42 years. He came to Amarillo from New Mexico, but had been connected with the line in Kansas City and Colorado in former years. He is survived by Mrs. Balfour, who was visiting a married daughter in San Pedro, Calif.

Picket Army Melts Before Gas Attack

Throng of pickets, with women and children in their midst, jamming the street near the entrance to the Weirton Steel Co. plant at Weirton, W. Va., stampeded to safety as state troopers loosed a gas attack. Efficacy of the bombs is shown graphically in the above views of the same spot before and after the gas attack. Now Governor Kump has promised an investigation of charges that troopers used ruthless tactics in dispersing the crowd.

MUSTANGS AND RICE PREPARED FOR A BATTLE

OWLS READY TO HALT VAUNTED PASSING ATTACK

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Four Southwest conference aggregations expect to rise to their full football stature with hostile aerial raids and chalk-line ground assaults in the two championship combats on Saturday's program.
The realization they are in the turmoil of the most spirited campaign in several seasons will send Southern Methodist against Rice and Baylor against Arkansas, at Houston and Little Rock, in melées which are expected to prove the championship caliber of all four units.
There will be other games. The Oklahoma Sooners and Texas Longhorns will engage in a colorful intersectional clash at Dallas. Texas Christian will entertain Simmons at Fort Worth. Friday at San Antonio, Texas A. and M. meets Texas A. and I. But football, good and hard, as will be played by the four conference teams, holds the spotlight of interest.
With superior material on each team serving as a contributing factor of confidence, Texas football fans are in for thrills and chills Saturday when Coach Ray Morrison turns fleet Robert Wilson loose against Rice; when Coach Jack Meagher lets Fay Lagow tear into the Mustangs; when Coach Fred Thomson fires Ralph LeForge at the Baylor Bears; and when Coach Morley Jennings gives the signal for Kroney and Williams to dig for pay dirt against the Arkansas Razorbacks.
Southern Methodist rules a slight favorite over Rice. Coach Morrison has his daring Mustangs on edge for a terrific battle, air or ground. When his sophomore team smothered Texas Mines last week, 27 to 6, they resembled conference champions. However, their competition at Houston will be bigger, tougher and more experienced.
Coach Jack Meagher's Rice gridsters have perfected what they believe to be an air-tight defense for the Mustangs passing attack. They have Fay Lagow, one of the hardest charging of all linemen, to aid in halting the Mustangs running.
By virtue of their impressive 13 to 0 victory last week over Texas Christian, the Arkansas Razorbacks are favorites to whip Baylor. Ralph LeForge galloped 90 and 35 yards to score touchdowns against the Christians, who have a powerful line. Joe Biddle has scored three touchdowns in as many games for Arkansas. Only one touchdown has been scored on the Razorbacks.

GRID DEATHS NOW ARE TWO AHEAD OF LAST YEAR'S TOLL

Fourteen Already Killed; 12 Died in Same Period in 1932 Season.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—Alarmed by the mounting number of deaths from football injuries, mostly in high school ranks, authorities of the game redoubled their efforts today to bring about closer supervision, better medical attention and a closer study of the rules.
Coincident with an Associated Press survey which revealed 14 deaths attributed directly or indirectly to football already this season as compared with 12 at the same time a year ago, Major John L. Griffiths, athletic commissioner of the Western conference and president of the National Collegiate A. A. and Dan E. McGugin, of Vanderbilt, president of the American lost some of its wallop last week when Tulsa beat Oklahoma and Nebraska whitewashed the Longhorns. Bohn Hilliard, Texas half-back and leading conference scorer with 33 points, will not play because of an injured ankle. The weak Texas line is not expected to hold the speedy Oklahoma backfield that features Bob Dunlap, a triple threat star.

Texas Christian has an easy mark in Simmons if the Christians play up to standard. The Texas A. and M. Aggies are overwhelming favorites to trounce Texas A. and I.

DOZEN FROGS DISCIPLINED FOR HAZING

Under 'Suspended Sentence' For Clipping Heads. Of 13 Male Freshmen.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (AP)—For clipping the heads of 13 male freshmen, which the university's discipline committee deemed "hazing," 20 students of Texas Christian university were under suspension today, with the penalty suspended during good behavior.
The scholastic fate of the students involved—and incidentally, the university's chance for winning again the Southwest conference football championship—hinged on the committee's decision. A dozen football players were believed to have been involved.
The clipping followed the football game last Saturday between Texas Christian and the University of Arkansas, which T. C. U. lost 13 to 0.
Before a hearing, students involved said they had agreed that no ringleaders would be named and that all would stand to take the same punishment. Many of the varsity football squad had declared they would strike and Jack Graves, captain, said "if any of us get kicked out on account of this, all of us will go."

MAJOR TEAMS FACE STRONG GRID ELEVEN

RAMBLERS MUST BEAT INDIANA TO STAY IN RUNNING

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—Tomorrow will bring decisive tests for a half dozen teams annually conceded a place near the top of the football rankings.
Southern California, Pitt, Michigan, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Purdue and Northwestern are confronted with the kind of opposition that should determine just how far they are going to travel along the road that leads to championships.
Both Notre Dame and Northwestern are asked to rally from opening game disappointments. The Ramblers, outplayed and held to a scoreless tie by Kansas, will seek to regain lost prestige against Indiana's Hoosiers who took advantage of one break to earn a tie with Minnesota's highly regarded Big Ten title contenders.
Northwestern has even more ground to regain for the Wildcats were beaten by Iowa in their opening game two weeks ago. A decisive triumph over the invading forces of Stanford will for far toward wipe out the memory of that unexpected reverse.
Michigan, undisputed champion of the Big Ten a year ago, will rule a favorite over Cornell but will find the Ithacans, ably coached by "Gloomy" Gil Dobbie, a handful. Pitt, likewise, will be the public choice over Navy in the East's one big-time struggle of the day.
Tennessee, in the advance notices at least, has been regarded as the most formidable power within the Southwestern conference, but line Vols will be no heavy favorites over Wallace Wade's Duke outfit. Purdue on the face of its hard-earned victory over Ohio University, seems to rate no better than an even choice

Clubs Kelly

"First round honors" in the fight to send George "Machine Gun" Kelly to prison were won by J. C. White, federal agent, above. Kelly, at the behest of his wife, swung on White with his manacled hands as they entered the Oklahoma City federal building. The agent struck Kelly with his fist, then, as the prisoner came on, clubbed him with his gun, raising an "egg" on Kelly's forehead.

"STATE" WILL OPEN

Opening of the State theater for the winter season was announced today. The doors will open at 7 p. m. John Wayne will be featured in a western picture. Prices will be 10 and 20 cents.

against Minnesota, but Southern California will be expected to continue its winning ways even though the opposition will be furnished by the St. Mary's Gaels, defeated 14-13 by California a week ago.

If football dynamite seems more likely to be concealed in these seven games, there are at least a score more important contests involving sectional or intersectional prestige.

Prison System Is Now Almost Self-Sustaining

BY R. W. BARRY.

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 (P)—Many will perhaps remember the fuss about centralizing the Texas penitentiary system a legislature or two ago, when a committee representing both houses took a long, almost nation-wide, expensive jaunt to inspect modern prisons with an idea of making recommendations to the Texas legislature.

The legislators were closely divided on centralizing the prison property and disposing of some of its widely scattered farms. Many wanted to industrialize the prison, build a central plant near Austin—probably in the pretty cedar hills northwest of the capital—and equip it with all kinds of machinery for making commodities.

The then governor, Dan Moody, made a special speaking tour thru the state in the interest of centralization, immediately on eve of the convening of a special session in an effort to have "the people back home" persuade the legislators they should vote for the proposition he advocated.

The legislature was sharply divided over the plan, but the governor and other advocates of the idea never were able to put it over. The main walls of the prison still are in Huntsville and the farm still scattered over South Texas.

But, under the management of Lee Simmons and the direction of the prison board, that penal institution is getting along splendidly. The board has just announced that it had not used all the money appropriated to it for the biennium ending on August 31 last and was able to turn a million or so back to the state treasury.

Simmons and the board have put the prison on an almost self-sustaining basis. The prisoners plant, cultivate, and harvest much of the food they require. They make shoes and do other self-supporting things.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

Editor, The NEWS:

A traveling salesman for Christmas cards was heard to remark here that he had little success in Shamrock. Without exception the Shamrock merchants, professional men, bankers, and others admitted that they intended to send out printed or engraved cards at Christmas, but THEY SAID THEY WOULD BUY THEM IN SHAMROCK.

This seems an admirable practice and I think the Pampa business men should use the same principle by buying their cards and other things from Pampa firms.

We have a big home market if the home people will only look about them and trade at home. And by people I mean business men and store managers as well as employees. (Name on file.) A READER.

State Professor Is Given French Honor

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 13.—(Sp.)—Dr. Lucile Dora, professor of French at the University of Oklahoma, has been awarded the Cross of the Legion of Honor by the French government.

The award was conferred "for distinguished service in the cause of education."

The Sooner professor is the first American woman to be given the award. It was conferred while Doctor Dora was in France during the past summer where she attended lectures at the Sorbonne and did research in the National Library in Paris.

Dr. Dora, who has been a member of the university faculty since 1908, holds degrees from the University of Paris, the University of Montpellier and Helmholtz college in London.

Outrageous Fortune

—By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: The man Nesta Riddell claimed as her husband has fled. Nesta told him he had stolen the Van Berg jewels and shot their owner. Flashes of memory he cannot pin down make him fear she tells the truth. Caroline Leigh thought the man may be Jim Randall, her cousin; Nesta would not let her see him, however. Now Caroline has caught sight of a man passing her cottage late at night. He looks a little like Jim. She follows him; she is sure it is Jim.

CHAPTER 21

"Jim—what is the matter? Why do you look like that, as if you didn't know me?"

He said in a heavy, shaken voice: "I don't know you."

The hands let go of his arm; she stepped back. He had a sense of emptiness and loss.

And then she was laughing—such a pretty laugh, low, and full of something that was very young and innocent.

"But I'm Caroline! Darling—didn't you guess? I don't call that a bit bright of you. Who did you think I was?"

He shook his head.

"I don't know... Caroline?"

Caroline stopped laughing, because something in the slow tentative way in which he said, "Caroline," made her stop.

"Jim—what's the matter? Jim darling."

After a moment he said:

"Why do you call me that?"

And all at once Caroline began to feel cold. The dream was changing in the way dreams do. One minute she had found Jim and her heart was singing with joy, and the next there was a vague something that was cold and frightening. She didn't know what it was, and that made it worse. She said:

"What do you mean, Jim?" and he caught her up in a loud harsh voice.

"Why do you call me Jim? Jim What?"

Caroline said, "Oh!" and backed away.

"Jim—what's the matter?"

"Jim What?"

"Aren't you well?"—That was just a whisper.

He controlled his voice.

"Tell me why you called me Jim."

"Because it's your name. Don't you know?"

"Jim darling, don't you know that you're Jim Randall?"

He went past her in a blundering sort of way, past her and as far as the stone steps which led up to the heavy door. He sat down on the second step and leaned over his knees with both hands covering his face. It was just as if a dam had broken. All those things that had been battering against his consciousness came flooding in through the breach. He was giddy and buffeted.

He sat there and knew that he was Jim Randall, and that this was Hale Place where he had grown up. This was Hale Place, and he was Jim Randall. But of course he was Jim Randall.

Who was Jim Randall? "You're Jim Randall, and I'm your wife."

Who had said that? Nesta—Nesta Riddell. "I'm Nesta—I'm Caroline dell—Nesta—Caroline—Jim Riddell—Jim Randall."

He lifted his head like a man coming up out of deep water.

"I'm Jim Randall and this is Hale Place."

Caroline was sitting on the step beside him. Her hand came out and touched his.

"Didn't you know?"

"No."

"Oh Jim, but you know now."

"Yes." He gave her hand a tight squeeze. "It's awfully odd—"

He stopped, laughed a little uncertainly, and let go of her. "Odd? It makes my head go round."

Caroline did not speak. She didn't really want to speak. She wanted to sit quite still and let the knowledge that Jim wasn't drowned sink right down into her. It was like silver water coming in with waves of joy. It was like a tide of light and happiness.

She didn't feel dizzy like Jim; she felt safely, blessedly, secure and fixed. Everything was right again, and Jim was here; if she put out her hand, she could touch him. But she didn't really want to put it out.

Just for the moment she had all the happiness that she could hold, one drop more, and it might be over and drain away. When he got up, she leaned her shoulder against the stone balustrade which flanked the steps and watched him with shining eyes.

He walked to the edge of the edge of the grass and, turning, looked again at the house. That was just how she had seen him from the window. How long ago? Half an hour? It was very strange to think that the world could change and be quite a different world to you in half an hour.

Jim stood and looked at the house. He looked at it for a long time. Then he walked to the edge of the gravel sweep and back then. He did this several times, and just at the end a little whispering dread stirred in Caroline's mind.

She pulled herself up by the balustrade and stood on the step above him. He said:

"Caroline, I'm in a mess."

So that was why she had begun to be afraid. She said:

"What sort of a mess, Jim?"

"I don't know that it's fair to tell you—in fact it's not. I'm confused still, but I do know that. You oughtn't to dread it."

"How dreadful!" said Caroline.

"Where else ought I be?"

"In bed—and you'd better be getting along, my dear. I don't know how you came here at all."

"Oh, I followed you. All romantic. Darling—it really was. I looked out of my window and you lifted up the latch and came into the garden and stood looking up. And I knew you at once, so I followed you. And if you think, after that, I'm going back to bed without even hearing all about everything, well, you've just got to think again darling—and quite differently."

This was AR OD AR OD AROD. This was a Caroline he knew—a sweet, imperious, gently obstinate Caroline, with a laugh in her voice and a coaxing hand on his arm. Since she could speak at all he had been "Jim darling." He said heavily:

"All the same, you'd better go."

"As if I would! Jim—tell me—what's the matter?"

"Go home, Caroline."

"You're home."

He pulled away from her roughly.

"Don't talk nonsense." Then, on a changed voice, "Caroline—go."

The laugh went out of her voice as she said:

"You know I won't go. You know I won't."

"I know you ought to."

"We ought to do lots of things that we won't do. And this is one of the things that I'm not going to do."

She came down from the steps and slid a hand through his arm. Her voice dropped on to a deep loving note.

"It's no use, darling—you have got to tell me. Better get it over. You can't make me go."

"I ought to be able to make you."

"Come and sit down," said Caroline seriously. "Now, Jim—what have you been doing and why did you let me think you had been drowned?" Her voice went down to despairing depths.

"Did you?"

"Yes—in the Alice Arden. And there was an SOS about a man in hospital at Elston who had lost his memory and I went to see if it was you, and they said—Jim, they said that he had just been fetched away by his wife. That wasn't you?"

"Yes."

"How could it be you?"

"It was."

"How could it be?"

Jim was silent. He did not know of any answer to her question.

She went on in a trembling voice: "I went to Leddington. The nurse said you had my letter—a bit of it—the bit with my name—with Caroline—so I went. But it wasn't you—Jim—it wasn't you."

"You went to Leddington?"

"I found the woman. She dropped a bill and the nurse gave it to me so I found her. Her name was Riddell—Mrs. Riddell. She was the most horrible woman. But it was her husband who was in the hospital at Elston—it wasn't you."

Jim did not speak. "It couldn't be you—you're not her husband."

He spoke in a loud, harsh voice. "She says I am."

Jack Westrope Plans To Ride At Texas Meet

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13.—Sp.—Jockey Jack Westrope, America's premier rider, who is under contract to Lou Smith, and who is attaining tremendous success at Rockingham Park, probably will ride at Arlington Downs, Smith, who will handle the forthcoming Houston meeting, plans to send Westrope to Texas to become acclimated, immediately after the Rockingham meet, concludes Earl Porter, another great rider, will accompany Westrope.

T. Courejolles, Arlington Downs' track superintendent, reports his preliminary plans for the accommodation of the thoroughbreds to race at the Texas Jockey Club's 21-day meeting, starting October 19, as progressing splendidly. Courejolles is in close contact with Judge Joseph A. Murphy, general manager of the meeting, who now is in Detroit concluding the fair grounds meeting there. The new barns and loose boxes are practically complete.

Kieves, one of G. Leroy King's crack gallopers, this week won her second consecutive victory at Detroit's fair grounds. This two-year-old is to race at Arlington Downs, and race enthusiasts predict she will set some new records over sprint distances.

Indian Village, adjacent to Juneau, Alaska, now boasts a modern sewage system constructed largely by Indian labor.

Puts the Jinx on Body Odor!

Science Says Good-Bye to Medicine-Smelling Soaps!

Science has made a new discovery about body odor. It is caused by stale perspiration curds, and requires deep-cleansing. It cannot be ended by ordinary soaps, because their slippery lathers cannot reach into the pores and cleanse them. Instead the soap combines with the waste material and forms clogging curds!

Kirk's Coco Castile soap works in an entirely different way. No matter how hard the curds are, because their slippery lathers cannot reach into the pores, actually removes the embedded stale perspiration curds—then rinses out completely, and in a flash. Thus it ends body odor at its source!

Delightful to use, Kirk's Coco Castile is entirely free from M. S. (medicine smell), and stimulating to the skin. A big generous cake. Half again larger than the average toilet soap, and now at the lowest price in history! At this new reduced price, it is America's outstanding soap bargain. Be sure to ask for Kirk's Castile by name—at your grocer's.

L'NORA NEWSREEL SHOWS NAZIS HURLING BOMBS AT GREEN ARMY

Colonel Roscoe Turner is seen in the current issue of the Pampa Daily NEWS-Universal Newsreel landing at Floyd Bennett Field, N.
Y., at the end of his record-breaking west-east transcontinental flight in which he crosses the continent in ten hours and five minutes. Graham McNamee, noted radio announcer and the screen's talking reporter, describes these and the other important events in the reel at La Nora theater.

Flying out of the haze the famous aviator taxis to a quick landing, after experiencing poor flying conditions all along his route from Burbank, Calif. Turner's mark, set with a specially constructed Wedell-Williams plane, smashed the record set by James Haldip in 1932.

Other important events described by McNamee include picturesque and hectic views at Oji, Japan, during an odd festival; breath-taking scenes in Moscow, where 46 armen leap through the air in a mass parachute jump; exclusive pictures of a head-on collision between two automobiles at Pismo Beach, Calif.;
views of Richard G. du Pont setting a new sail-plane distance mark at Shenandoah National Park, Va.;
spectacular scenes at Graz, Austria, as Nazis hurl bombs into the midst of 10,000 members of the newly formed Green Army; the arrival of HMS Norfolk in New York harbor; thrilling views of a world's championship rodeo at Pendleton. Over-remarkable pictures of a roaring oil well fire at Conroe, Texas, that starts with a terrific explosion and causes $100,000 damage; and impressive views at the world's fair at huge crowds greet the famous Canadian Essex Scottish regiment.

Equipoise May Be Exhibited at Arlington Downs

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13.—(Sp.)—
Despite the fact that the opening of the Texas Jockey Club's initial meeting at Arlington Downs is almost a month off, horsemen thruout the nation are displaying intense interest in getting their charges started toward the magnificent W. T. Waggoner racing plant.
Opening day has been set for Oct.
19, and the meeting will hold forth through November 11 (Armistice day), when a gala farewell program will be staged.

Judge Joseph A. Murphy, who will be manager of the meeting, and who now is concluding an engagement at Detroit, announced the dates of nominations for the big stake events which will feature the racing at Arlington Downs, and, in keeping with his arrangements at the Detroit meeting, purposely decided on late closing dates inasmuch as this procedure has proven in previous meetings. The nominations for the inaugural and Fort Worth handicaps will close on Oct.
11, eight days before the start of the meeting. The closing date for nominations for the Texas Derby has been set for October 14. The Waggoner handicap closes on Oct.
28, and the Dallas handicap on November 4.

Professor Seeks Folklore In An Annual Contest

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 13.—(Sp.)—
High school and college students have been asked to submit folklore material in the form of articles, essays, stories, sketches, and poems in the annual contest sponsored by the Oklahoma Folklore society.

Dr. B. A. Botkin, assistant professor of English at the university of Oklahoma and president of the society, is in charge of the contest which closes Jan. 1, 1934.

Material to be published.
Worthwhile material received will be published in "Folk-Say," regional miscellany edited by Dr. Botkin and published by the University of Oklahoma Press.

Volumes of "Folk-Say" will be awarded to first and second place winners in the high school and college divisions of the contest.
Folk Beliefs Wanted.
"The material may be submitted in the form of collections or creative or clerical interpretations and may express regional backgrounds as well as traditional lore," Dr. Botkin said.

Material desired includes folk beliefs such as animal and plant lore belonging to folk cures and weather wisdom, omens, and luck signs, ta-boos and miscellaneous superstitions; folk sayings such as proverbs, metaphors, and place names; folk songs and ballads; folk tales and legends; and customs and occasions such as occupational practices, play-parties, square dances, and other gatherings.
Manuscripts will be judged for authenticity, flavor, and literary value.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Paul in Antioch.
Scripture Lesson: Acts 11:19-30:12-25.

19. They therefore that were scattered abroad upon the tribulation that arose about Stephen traveled as far as Phenicia, and Cyprus, and Antioch, speaking the word to none save only to Jews.

20. But there were some of them, men of Cyprus and Cyrene, who, when they were come to Antioch, spake unto the Greeks also, preaching the Lord Jesus.

21. And the hand of the Lord was with them: and a great number that believed turned unto the Lord.

22. And the report, concerning them came to the ears of the church which was in Jerusalem: and they sent forth Barnabas as far as Antioch.

23. Who, when he was come, and had seen the grace of God, was glad; and he exhorted them all, that with purpose of heart they would cleave unto the Lord:

24. For he was a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit and of faith: and much people was added unto the Lord.

25. And he went forth to Tarsus to seek for Saul:

26. And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch. And it came to pass, that even for a whole year they were gathered together with the church, and taught much people: and that the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch.

27. Now in these days there came down prophets from Jerusalem unto Antioch.

28. And there stood up one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit that there should be a great famine over all the world, which came to pass in the days of Claudius.

29. And the disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send relief unto the brethren that dwelt in Judaea:

30. Which also they did, sending it to the elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

Acts 12:25. And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, where they had fulfilled their ministry, taking with them John whose surname was Mark.

Golden Text: For I am not ashamed of the gospel: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth: to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.—Rom. 1:16.

Time: Church at Antioch founded, A. D. 38-41. Saul goes to Antioch, A. D. 45.

Place Antioch, Jerusalem.

Introduction

The persecution at Jerusalem that culminated in the stoning of Stephen scattered the disciples into many parts of Palestine and Syria. Many of them doubtless stopped in nearby cities, hoping to return to Jerusalem when the storm of hate subsided; but some of them traveled as far as Phoenicia, the rich province skirting the coast, Cyprus, the great island in the eastern part of the Mediterranean sea, and Antioch, the populous Syrian city situated on the River Orontes a few miles from its mouth.

Antioch

The migration to Antioch was perfectly natural since, with a population of nearly half a million, it was at the time one of the greatest cities of the Roman world, only Rome and Alexandria standing ahead of it.

Founded by one of Alexander's generals in 301 B. C., it was the center of commerce in a rich region and the capital of the province. In earlier days it had been the residence of the Seleucid kings; now it was the headquarters of the Roman governors of Syria and a favorite resort of the Roman Emperors. The groves of Daphne "near the city made it a famous seat of licentious idol-worship. It was also an educational center, having a great library and a school of philosophy. But the chief distinction of Antioch lies in the fact that here the most vigorous of the early churches was founded and flourished, sending out streams of refreshment among the nations.

First Gentile Church

The first preachers arriving at Antioch from Jerusalem intended to confine their ministry to the Jews in the city. But others in the company who hailed originally from the island of Cyprus, some sixty miles westward, and from the city of Cyrene on the north coast of Africa, addressed themselves to work among the Greeks. Others had here and elsewhere wrought among the Greek-speaking Jews, but now for the first time the Greeks were directly addressed. "The hand of the Lord was with them; and a great number believed, and turned unto the Lord."

Thus the church at Antioch was established with a mixed membership of Jews and Gentiles who wrought together harmoniously and effectively, winning many converts an exerting great influence.

Barnabas Is Sent To Antioch

Tidings of the wonderful work at Antioch reached the mother church at Jerusalem whose members were filled with anxiety lest the new church should be rent by discordant elements, filled with all sorts of error, and corrupted if not overtaken by the paganism around it. They therefore determined to send a fraternal messenger to Antioch with a view to offering all needed encouragement, counsel and help.

Far the best man to go on this mission was Joseph, who by his fellow-disciples had been named Barnabas. He was a Levite, and thus acceptable to the Jewish element in the churches both at Jerusalem and Antioch. He was a native of Cyprus, and doubtless had many acquaintances in Antioch. He had won distinction as a generous contributor to the benevolences of the church at Jerusalem. He had won reputation as "a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit and of faith."

Barnabas Seeks Saul

To such proportions the work soon grew that Barnabas found himself unequal to the demands upon him. He must have help, and help of the right kind. Barnabas believed that the man for the place was Saul of Tarsus: Born in the capital of the province of Cilicia; son of Greek-speaking Jews who were loyal to the ancient faith, his father being a strict Pharisee; a Roman citizen by inheritance; educated first at Tarsus, which was a university center, and then in theological lore at Jerusalem under the tuition of the great Gamaliel; and now in the prime of life as a preacher in his native region.

With nature and gifts complementary and with the hearty cooperation of the church membership, Barnabas and Paul labored unremittently and with great success in Antioch.

Disciples First Called "Christians"

Public attention was so attracted by the activity and achievements of the church under its aggressive leadership, that the disciples in their loyalty to Christ now first received the designation of "Christians"—a term evidently applied by outsiders. The Romans were probably responsible for the appellation by simply adding their "ion" to the Greek word "Christ," which in turn represented the Hebrew word for "the Anointed One"; so that as the triple inscription on the cross introduced Christ to Romans, Greeks, and Hebrews, so now the designation of his followers includes in its very nomenclature the people of power, of culture, and of morality.

Famine in Jerusalem

While things were going well with the growing church in the prosperous city of Antioch, the shadow of death and famine was discerned by the prophets of Jerusalem, some of whom came to Antioch and bore the ominous intelligence. The pronouncement of these was Agabus, who under impulse of the Spirit delivered the definite prophecy of the famine which actually took place right away (perhaps 45 A. D.), and so during the reign of the Emperor Claudius (41 to 54 A. D.). Unless relief was sent in good time, such a dearth was sure to work untold hardship and suffering in the church at Jerusalem, which was already heavily burdened with its charity work and doubtless liberally supported the Apostles in their ministry.

Relief Fund Sent From Antioch

In view of this situation, the church at Antioch determined to make a contribution for the relief of the brotherhood at Jerusalem, called on to give according to his ability, and the offering must have been creditable to the generosity of the givers. The amount was sent to Jerusalem by Barnabas and Paul.

Barnabas and Saul in Jerusalem

How long the relief committee from Antioch remained in Jerusalem, we are not told, but it was until after "they had fulfilled their ministry" of affectionate distribution of the funds entrusted to them. This was done through the "elders," or the leading men of the church. There can be no doubt that they explained the situation at Antioch, and told of the revival in that city and the outreach of Christianity to the Gentiles. Moreover, they have given much consolation to the church at Jerusalem, so lately ravaged by the death of James, who had been killed with the sword, and by the imprisonment and subsequent flight of Peter from the metropolis.

Return With Mark to Antioch

When the time came for their return to Antioch, John Mark, a cousin of Barnabas, perhaps a native of Jerusalem and a prominent worker in the church there, accompanied Barnabas and Paul to Antioch whence he was to attend them on their first missionary journey.

BEXAR COUNTY COMMISSIONERS WANT ARCHIVES FROM TEXAS UNIVERSITY AFTER 34 YEARS

BY R. W. BARRY.

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Bexar county commissioners' court is tired of waiting for the University of Texas to complete a task or translating and classifying 87,500 documents known as the "Bexar Archives."

On September 30, 1899, the commissioners' court sent the archives to the university and requested they be placed in order and translated as rapidly as it may be able, and as fast as the translations are made, it shall furnish copies thereof to be placed with Bexar county records." The court discovered recently the archives never had been returned. It will take up the matter with the university, it announced.

The documents consist of approximately 175,000 pages of Spanish manuscript, containing not only the official records of the department of Bexar, but other valuable material dealing with the history of the southwest, George W. Huntress Jr., county clerk of Bexar county, pointed out to the court.

He said recorded in these archives is practically all the history of governments concerning Texas affairs from 1727 to 1935.

Representative John M. Mathis of Houston is a stern chairman. At a committee meeting the other day in the house, Representative T. H. McGregor of Austin got involved in a parliamentary tangle.

"The chair will understand that my ignorance in this instance will not alter the parliamentary rules," explained McGregor apologetically. "That is very true," replied Mathis dryly.
