Trustees strive to retain budget under $13 million

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

A late hour budget session was conducted by Snyder school board members Tuesday as they attempted to make final cuts in the 1985-86 spending estimate.

Trustees remained until past 11:30 p.m. for the 3 hour workshop, struggling to keep this year's budget figure at or under the $13 million mark. The current year budget totals $12.4 million and $13 million would spell an increase of 4.7 percent.

Tuesday's time was used also for line item decisions, with many cut from the budget or placed on hold in light of a guaranteed 13.7 percent increase in school taxes due to the county's declining tax base.

This 13.7 percent will equal 6 cents on the tax rate, an amount trustees must fund to generate the same amount of taxes raised last year, some $9.7 million.

Assuming Snyder ISD's tax value had remained the same — a fact which did not occur primarily due to a 13.8 percent drop in oil values — the board's tax spending estimate as it now stands would have equaled just over a 3 percent tax increase.

This would total approximately 1.8 cents on the tax rate.

Superintendent Bob Hawes Tuesday called the budget "bare bones," adding it was a spending estimate "without hidden contingencies."

His recommendation regarding the tax rate was for 51.5 cents per $100 valuation, an 8 cent rise from last year. It has been noted that just over 6.1 cents of this increase can be attributed to a decline in the tax base.

To a school taxpayer — using the example of a $50,000 home — 8 cents on the rate will produce an added tax bill of $40. For property valued at $500,000, this goes to $400.

The majority of Tuesday's budget workshop was involved with "line item" discussion, proposals previously discussed but as yet not acted on.

Trustees indicated their preference Tuesday, outlining if administrative officials should include them in or out of a 1985-86 budget still due one final read next Aug. 13.

At that time, the school board plans a public hearing regarding the budget to allow public comment. The first reading of both the budget and the tax rate are expected after that public hearing.

Items given the tentative green light Tuesday were:

—A central administration budget of some $1.4 million, up from last year's $1.1 million. Included in this was a salary raise from $198,760 to $206,739, a 4 percent increase.

—A $55,000 expense related to purchasing new telephone equipment systemwide. It is estimated this purchase will pay for itself over a 3½ to 4 year period due to the loss of lease costs.

—A $43,000 expense related to cleaning the exterior of district buildings next summer plus further encapsulation work related to asbestos ceilings in the district. It was noted that the cleaning expenses should be funded assuming other "contingencies" related to building maintenance do not arise during the school year.

—A $37,500 expense to replace the central boiler at West Elementary, a need that surfaced last month. It was noted that all boilers throughout the system are approximately the same age and that similar expenses at other campuses are likely "only a matter of time."

—An $8,000 expense for an expanded eight-week summer kindergarten next year — up

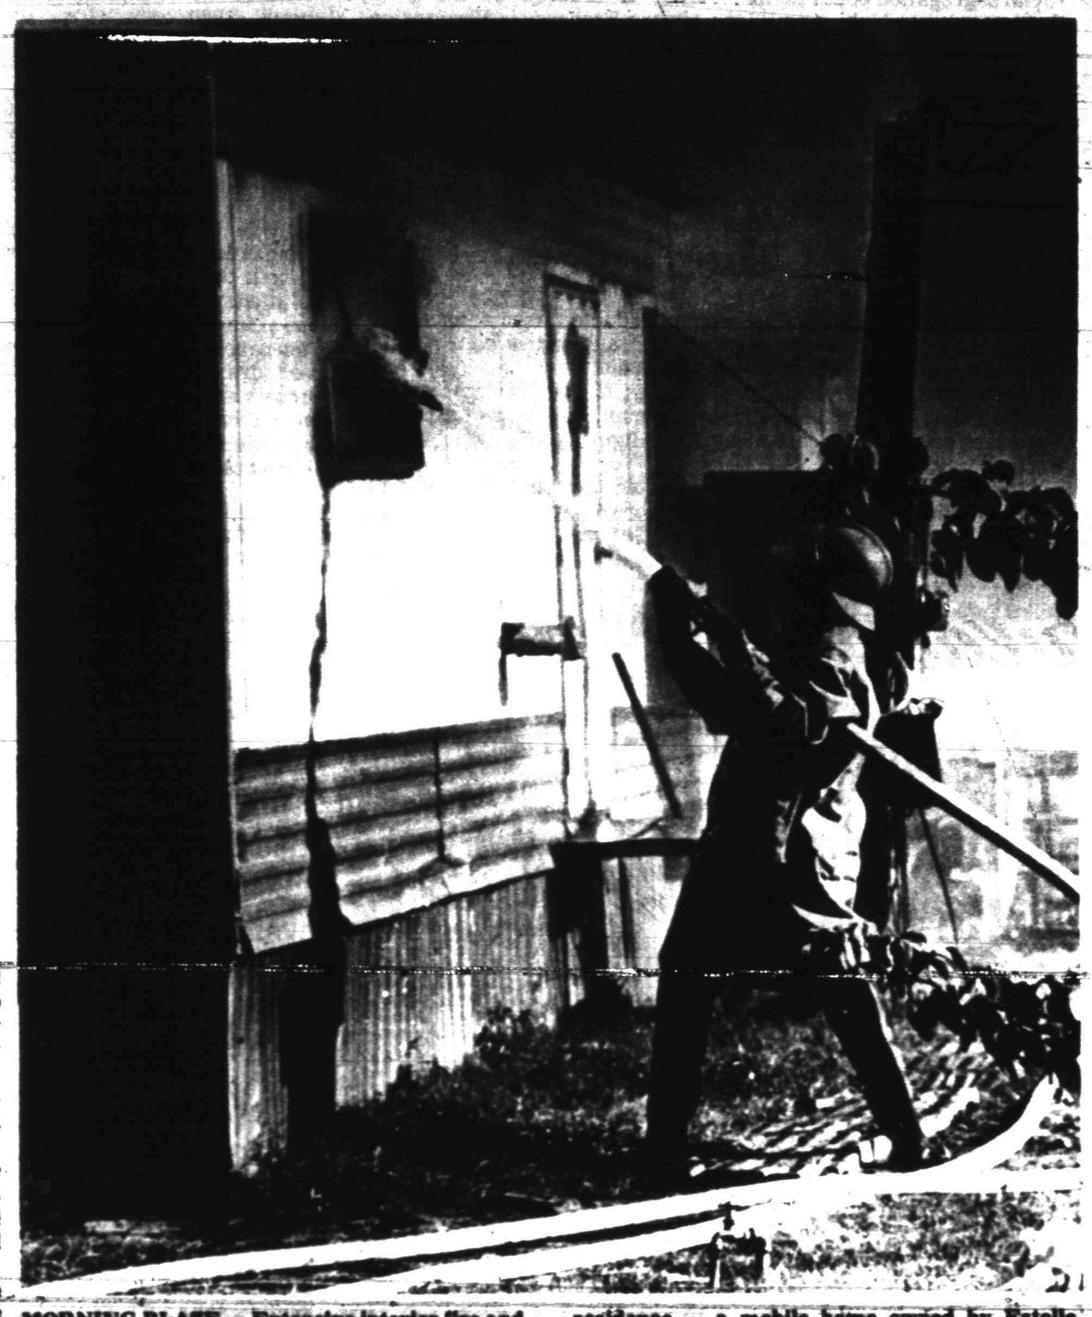
132nd court trial begins

The felony injury to a child trial of 21-year-old Rosalio Gutierrez Jr. began shortly after 9 a.m. Wednesday with jury selection.

This process was said continuing at noon in 132nd District Court.

Gutierrez was indicted in June on a charge of causing serious bodily injury to his 18-month-old daughter. The offense is alleged to have occurred last May.

The suspect is represented in the case by local attorney Pete Greene. Prosecuting for the state is District Attorney Ernie Armstrong.



MORNING BLAZE — Extensive interior fire and water damage was reported Wednesday morning at the Glenda Tealer residence, 1906 Ave. O. The alarm was sounded around 9:29 a.m. While the residence — a mobile home owned by Estelle Rendon — sustained damage, no injuries were reported. The cause of the fire was undetermined. Unemployed total hangs at 5.5 level

For the second month in a row, unemployment estimates for Scurry County remained at the 5.5 percent level, the highest figure reported here the past three years.

The latest monthly labor market information released through the Texas Employment Commission estimates some 599 individuals out of work locally.

These figures include an estimated civilian labor force of 10,823 with 10,224 of these employed.

The last time a greater unemployment level was noted here goes back to 1982. In October of that year, the percentage of unemployed was set at 7.5 percent.

The TEC estimates for 1985 have ranged from a 5.1 percent figure in January to the year's low of 3.9 percent in April.

In addition to the Scurry County figures, the TEC regional office in Sweetwater also reported unemployment figures for the five other counties it serves.

Regarding comparisons of county employment levels of a size similar to Scurry, the county's 5.5 percent estimate was lower than either Nolan or Mitchell Counties. The other TEC estimates include:

—Nolan County: 8.8 percent unemployment estimating a

Contract day cutback questioned to trustees

The three school counselors for Snyder High School voiced their concern Tuesday regarding a planned cutback in contract days for their positions during the 1985-86 school year.

This cutback is part of other reductions proposed for staffers classified as support personnel, those not involved with day-to-day classroom activities.

The recommendation was made by administrators based upon an in-district survey of such positions and how respective salaries compare to others district-wide.

Regarding the counselor's request to delete the cutbacks for their positions, trustees noted during a subsequent budget discussion that a second planned survey of district salaries might result in changes regarding the posts.

For the present, however, they left the salary changes in the 1985-86 budget estimate "as is."

As proposed, the three counselors would see their contract days shrink from 213 to 208 days next year. This would eliminate the final week of their contract period, which normally extends after the regular school year ends.

As part of the proposal, the recommendation was also to freeze their salaries for a two-year period, a stipulation also objected to Tuesday by the counselors.

Meeting with the board were James and Janet Wesson and John Short, who each addressed trustees with their questions.

Wesson noted that the five-day reduction would equal some $900 per year in salary for each. He noted that at one time counselors worked a 220 day schedule "and while the days to work have decreased, our work load hasn't."

Short also commented that by losing the last week of the contract period, the counselors would have their time cut short during the busiest period of the year.

Mrs. Wesson also commented to the reduction in pay, noting that each staffer was looking toward retirement, which is calculated based upon the highest salary paid over a three-year period.

Because of this, reducing their salary at this point in their

Guilty plea to oil theft offered here

Dwayne Elmo Loveall of Big Spring was placed on felony probation for five years Tuesday afternoon after entering a guilty plea to a charge of theft of crude oil filed against him in April of 1984.

Loveall was indicted by a Borden County grand jury in May of 1984. He had been arrested April 23 by law enforcement officers in Lubbock for hauling a 152 barrel trailer full of crude oil without proper manifests.

He was alleged to have stolen that load of oil from a tank battery near Vealmoor in far

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Woman is the only being that can skin a wolf and get a mink."

We noticed just this week where Gov. Mark White was "playing governor" in the TV show Dallas.

White has finally gotten into a line of work for which he is imminently qualified--he's been "playing governor" going on three years now.

White made a guest appearance on the weekly night-time soap opera involving the oil-rich Ewing family. Like most things the governor does, he had to do his one-liner over twice before he finally got it right.

Someone has suggested that the governor ought to get a report card for his state-house performance. If he gets a "D" in any area, then he should be suspeneded for no less than six weeks. Remember guv--no pass, no play governor.

It appears that Tennessee has landed the GM Saturn auto plant. Talk of new industry has caused many towns to offer rewards for leads on new business.

Over in Lamesa, the chamber of commerce has offered a $1,000 reward to any citizen who can help land a new payroll for that community.

A couple of weeks ago, Holly Sugar plant in Hereford had ordered a new boiler. Enroute to the Panhandle, the Lamesa DPS stopped the load and declared it to be overweight and overheight. The boiler has been detained until all the problems of transportation are solved.

The massive boiler, parked on the road south of town, has sparked much interest in Lamesa. One guy went into the chamber office and said it represented half a industry, and suggested the DPS claim half of the reward.

If we learn from our errors, some of us would be a lot happier with a less complete education.

Ask Us

Q. — How much water is being used out of Lake Thomas for drinking purposes?

A. — According to CRMWD officials, during 1984, pumpage pulled some 5 ft. out of the lake. They note if the lake had been full, this amount of water use would have lowered it only 1½ ft. In addition, on an average the lake loses some 6 ft. per year due to evaporation.

In Brief

Dad acquitted

FORT WORTH (AP) — A Tarrant County jury has acquitted a man charged with the sexual assault of his 2-year-old daughter.

But Bennie Harold Boyd, 34, still faces a murder charge in the Oct. 31, 1984 beating death of his daughter, Una Yvette Boyd. Her case was considered one of the city's worst instances of child abuse, officials said.

Boyd had earlier confessed to raping and beating his daughter, but he recanted his statement in trial testimony last week.

One of the jurors, Sally Sroczynski, said the defense attorneys presented "just too much evidence" that the little girl's assailant was another man.

Boyd was separated from his wife and was rearing the 2-year-old himself in an apartment he shared with Michael Doyle Gray and Gray's wife.

Son victim

CASTROVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Medina County paramedic called to an accidental shooting discovered that the victim was her 9-year-old son.

Shane Michael Zinsmeyer was shot once beneath his right armpit on Tuesday with a .357-caliber Magnum revolver while playing with his 10-year-old classmate.

Linda Zinsmeyer, a paramedic for five years, went into shock when she discovered her son's lifeless body on the lawn of his best friend's home.

"You can see these kinds of things time and time again, but it's a little different when it's one of your own," Police Chief Leonard Crawford said. "It sent her into a state of shock."

Shane's friend was showing him the gun in a backyard shed when it discharged Tuesday, Crawford said. Investigators said the work shed where the two boys found the gun had been locked, but the youths unlocked the door.

U-way budget

United Way budget committee members were to hear budget requests for the 1985 Scurry County United Way campaign Wednesday afternoon at Snyder City Hall.

Requests from 10 local organizations involving some $121,000 in funds sought were to be considered by the nine-member committee.

To South Africa...

Ambassador to U.S. recalled

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Against a backdrop of rising official criticism in the United States, the white-minority government has recalled its ambassador-designate from Washington for consultations.

The government also announced Tuesday it would restrict attendance at riot victims' funerals, closing one of the last legal avenues of peaceful protest in South Africa.

The Foreign Ministry announced that Herbert Beukes, who was named ambassador-designate on June 3, was being called back, but a spokesman refused to say why.

The South African action followed the Reagan administration's recall of its ambassador, Herman Nickel, in June and its sharp criticism of South Africa's racial segregation policy of apartheid, under which 5 million whites rule 24 million voteless blacks.

Both houses of the U.S. Congress have approved legislation that would penalize South Africa economically for its policies, but they have yet to agree on a compromise measure.

Beukes has been the deputy chief of mission at the South African Embassy in Washington. In a diplomatic rebuff by the United States, he was not allowed to formally present his ambassador's credentials to President Reagan.

Foreign Minister R.F. Botha has been annoyed by Washington's recall of Nickel and recent statements by the U.S. State Department criticizing the state of emergency which the South African government declared in 36 cities and towns on July 21.

The emergency was declared July 21 after 11 months of protests in which more than 500 people, all but three of them blacks, died.

Louis le Grange, minister of law and order, announced in Port Elizabeth that he would impose regulations restricting attendance at funerals for riot victims.

Funerals for slain blacks often have drawn thousands of mourners and militants and have been a form of protest against white rule in a nation in which political assemblies are banned.

Four women abducted from restaurant, then released

GREENVILLE (AP) — Four women abducted from a restaurant have been released by two men who led authorities on a 20-mile chase along an interstate highway, police said.

The women, employees and the owner of the Western Sizzler, escaped early today, said a police spokesman. But the two assailants were last seen fleeing east along U.S. Highway 175, said Lt. Jim Fortenberry.

A dispatcher said Dallas police reported the fourth woman was found in the trunk of her car shortly before 6 p.m. The woman sustained a leg injury, said dispatcher Lora Gasway.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: As a door-to-door solicitor for a non-profit charity, I knock on about 1,500 doors a week.

Frequently—all too frequently—when I ring the doorbell, it is opened by a 3- or 4-year-old child—and there is no adult present.

It would be so easy for someone to grab the child and run—or simply to walk right into the house! This is extremely dangerous, with the possibility of robbery, kidnapping or child molesting.

Each time this happens (four times yesterday), I caution the parents who eventually come to the door, but I believe a nationwide warning should be given.

I hope you see the value of printing this.

JOHN G. WORD,
SANTA ANA, CALIF.

DEAR MR. WORD: I do. And along the same line:

DEAR ABBY: I am employed by a company that takes telephone surveys, and very often a child answers the telephone. (This is anywhere from noon until 9 p.m.) When I hear a child's voice, I ask, "Is your mother or father at home, please?" And, Abby, more often than not I am told, "No, I'm home alone." When I ask when their mother will be home, I am told, "She didn't say" or, "Not until later."

Please tell your readers to instruct their children that if they are alone at home, they should never give that information to a stranger. It's better to say, "My mother can't come to the phone right now."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 39-year-old married man who has just had a vasectomy. As part of the surgery, the doctor used two small metal staples, which he said will remain permanently where he placed them.

I need to know if these staples will trip the alarm when I go through security at the airport.

Please don't tell me to ask my doctor. I'm afraid he might laugh at me for asking such a dumb question, so I'm asking you.

J.B. IN NYC

DEAR J.B.: The answer is no. And by the way, there are no "dumb questions"—only foolish people who don't ask questions because they're afraid of appearing dumb.

DEAR ABBY: Our neighbor leaves for work at 6 o'clock every morning, and when he is picked up by a co-worker, there is a lot of horn beeping, yelling and door slamming.

Their driveway is right next to our bedroom. My alarm is set for 7, but with all this commotion going on every morning, my husband and I are awakened at 6. We have two small children and the last hour of sleep is very important before I start my busy day.

My husband says I shouldn't say anything to them as it might cause hard feelings, and that's the last thing we want. We like our neighbors, but I am disturbed by their lack of consideration for others at that hour.

Do you have any suggestions?

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: Unless your neighbors are made aware that the horn beeping, yelling and door slamming is disturbing you, nothing will change. I suggest that you tell them in a friendly way what you have told me. It should make for friendlier neighbors—not hard feelings.

DR. ROBERT TAYLOR — is a very accomplished person. At the age of 34, he is a successful veterinarian, a world champion in the rodeo sport, a professional sculptor, and above all, a devoted family man.

Indeed, he is a busy man, but he loves life and tries to live it to his fullest effort.

Dr. Taylor is currently making a change in his life from being full-time practitioner to full-time artist. Due to demand, he could not stay ahead of his art sales, so he has become full-time sculptor with the intention of being professional artist indefinitely.

His bronzes are of many subjects, but he enjoys subjects pertaining to wildlife and the western cowboy the most.

Dr. Taylor has never had any education in sculpting, but you would never guess it by the quality of his work. Of course, the anatomy he had in Veterinary School has been very beneficial. It is evident by the accuracy of detail and proportion.

Dr. Taylor's works are also represented by several galleries in Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona.

Dr. Taylor and his family currently make their home in Snyder.

Newcomers Group adopts new name

Eight women, all newcomers, met July 23 in the home of Gingah Williamson to discuss various problems and future plans for getting acquainted with Snyder, Scurry County, each other and contacting other newcomers.

One of the items they discussed included a name change from Newcomers Group to New Friends. According to Mrs. Williamson, the group is not a club, has no dues, rules, regulations or officers. "We are just a group of women who feel strongly that even new arrivals in Snyder should have someone they can truly call a new friend and somewhere to go for support," she said.

Mrs. Williamson also pointed out that new people in Snyder are not familiar with the services or opportunities offered within the city and county. The women explore the many and varied options offered here as they become acquainted with each other.

Some of the activities they have had during the past year include shopping trips, a family picnic, a husband-wife dinner, and visits to the Scurry County Museum.

For future meetings, they are planning more shopping trips, lunch at the Dodson House and a cookie exchange during the Christmas holidays.

New Friends will be meeting at 10 a.m. Aug. 27 in the home of Chris Burns, 4704 El Paso St., for coffee. Anyone who is new or feels new to Snyder is invited to visit, enjoy the refreshments and get acquainted.

Style show date changed by Lucky 13 Sports Club

The date on the style show which will be sponsored by Lucky 13 Sports Club has been changed from Aug. 10 to Aug. 17 due to a conflict in scheduling.

Reservations may be made by calling Kelli McLarty at 573-5523 on or before Aug. 9. Tickets are $10 each and will include an 11:30 a.m. buffet luncheon at the Willow Park Inn.

Styles will be shown by The Carriage Wheel, Margaret's and The Clothesline.

Proceeds from the show and buffet will be used for the maintenance and continuation of the club and its activities.

Scurry Charter Chapter of ABWA holds new member installation

The Scurry Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association met July 25 in the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

During the business meeting, Debra Lang was introduced as a new member and she was installed by Pam Murray. In other business, the members voted to hold a bake sale Aug. 6 at Everybody's.

There was a discussion concerning the national meeting which will be held Oct. 9-13 in San Antonio. They also discussed the upcoming White Buffalo Day.

The guest speaker for the evening was Shanna Hart, a spring graduate of Snyder High School and a Brazile exchange student.

Miss Hart informed the group that Brazil is the largest South American country and that Portuguese is the national language.

She assisted her "Brazil Mother" in learning English and she was in turn helped with her Portuguese.

The country produces coffee, cocoa, sugar, cotton, rice, oranges and several different types of bananas, according to Miss Hart.

She was one of 250 American students who participated in this program.

Lisa West, an employee of the Scurry County Tax Appraisal District for the past four years, presented the vocational talk on the computer process which is her main function on the job.

ALMOND BANANA BARS

- 1 cup chopped natural (unblanched) almonds
- 1 1/2 cups whole-wheat flour
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 3/4 cup wheat germ
- 1 cup dark brown sugar (packed)
- 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1 1/2 cups mashed bananas (about 3 large)
- 2 eggs
- Buttermilk-caraway icing (optional)

Spread almonds in shallow pan and place in 350-degree oven for 10 to 15 minutes until lightly toasted. Remove from pan and cool.

Mix flours, wheat germ, sugar, baking powder, salt, ginger and cinnamon in large bowl. In another bowl, combine buttermilk, oil, bananas and eggs. Pour banana mixture into flour mixture, add almonds and mix. Pour batter into greased and floured 9-inch square baking pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until pick inserted into center comes out dry. Cool. Glaze with buttermilk-caraway icing. Cut into bars. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 18 bars.

BUTTERMILK-CARAWAY ICING

- 2 tablespoons buttermilk
- 1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 1/2 cups sifted powdered sugar

Mix buttermilk, caraway seeds and almond extract into powdered sugar.

Cooney plans retirement

NEW YORK (AP) - Gerry Cooney, who failed in his only bid for the world heavyweight boxing title and then spent three years trying to get a rematch, has retired from the ring.

Cooney wasn't available for comment Tuesday, but his manager, Dennis Rappaport, said the 28-year-old fighter was frustrated because he couldn't get a rematch with heavyweight champion Larry Holmes.

Holmes is still upset by the financial arrangements for the 1982 fight, which he claims favored Cooney, and by what he felt was unfair treatment of him by the news media. Holmes was miffed by the racial overtones surrounding that fight - with Cooney emerging as a "great white hope" of almost mythical proportions.

"He always wanted another shot at Larry, but it has become abundantly clear that Holmes has no intention of giving Gerry a rematch," Rappaport said. "That being the case, Gerry felt he couldn't deceive the public by giving anything less than his best against other opponents.

Holmes, however, said that if Cooney really wanted a rematch, "he would've come right back to the gym and fought like hell and fought real opponents and I'd have had to fight him again."

Cooney's career was hampered by injuries and personal problems. Many felt the injuries were merely excuses, and Cooney wound up fighting more with his managers than against foes in the ring.

WW dove season cancelled

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission today cancelled the September white-winged dove hunting season, a two-weekend hunt that has meant big money for the Lower Rio Grande Valley for many years.

The 3-1 vote came after agency experts told the commission the dove population in the area has suffered because of poor nesting conditions.

Ron George, the agency's white-winged dove program leader, told the commission there are only 360,000 of the doves in the Valley this year, the lowest population since 1963 and 30 percent below the long-term average.

George attributed the population decrease to "an extremely poor breeding season due to conditions resulting from a harsh winter freeze plus heavy wind and rain damage during June and July."

He said hunters would still be able to shoot a maximum of two white-winged doves when the regular mourning dove season opens Sept. 1.

George estimated the state would lose about $250,000 that about 45,000 hunters normally would spend to buy special $6 wing-winged dove hunting stamps. The money goes to the white-winged dove habitat program.

Businessmen in the Valley have said they stand to lose millions of dollars because of the cancellation.

Congressman favors ban

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Texas congressman, with the support of the American Medical Association, is seeking a ban on professional boxing, equating it with cockfighting.

But the consensus at a congressional hearing Tuesday favored standardized safety rules instead.

"To an aficionado of boxing, a ban seems extreme," said Rep. Bill Richardson, D-N.M., sponsor of a measure that would establish a national boxing commission. "Yes, we should do all we can to correct some of the problems which have led the AMA and some members of Congress to advocate a ban of the sport. No, we should not make this sport illegal without first trying to right the health and safety wrongs which exist."

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, said the bill he has introduced "makes no bones about it - it seeks to abolish professional boxing." It would regulate amateur boxing.

"We call ourselves a civilized nation, but our civility with respect to brutality of one animal over another extends so far only to chickens and dogs and bulls, not to human beings," Gonzalez testified before the House Energy and Commerce Subcommittee on Commerce, Energy and Tourism.

"Those of us who allow the boxing industry to continue, who repeatedly shirk the responsibilities with which we're charged in the protection of the health and welfare of our constituents, only perpetuate human degradation and the industry that thrives on the exploitation of gullible, foolishly courageous young men," Gonzalez said.

"Banning boxing is in my judgment not the answer," testified Rep. Pat Williams, D-Mont., sponsor of a bill similar to Richardson's.

"Banning boxing today will simply mean that America's prizefight capitals will become Juarez and Montreal," he said.

Buffs clout Gainesville, 5-3

BELTON – Snyder's Buffs fashioned a five-run lead, then held on to defeat Gainesville 5-3 in first-round action of the Texas Junior Teenage League State Tournament here Tuesday.

The Buffs, undefeated in post season play, were scheduled to take the field again at 8 tonight against either Monahans or Belton. The week-long tournament is double elimination.

Snyder opened the scoring in the third inning when Randy Morris singled, moved to second on a balk, third on a fielder's choice and came in when the Gainesville short stop muffed a ball hit by Mark Garcia.

The score remained 1-0 until the Buffs came up with four runs in the fifth. Joey Felan walked to start the action. He came home on back-to-back singles by Scott Lanier and Mark Garcia. Skip Coward then hit a ball which was errored by the second baseman and Lanier and Garcia both scored.

Later in the inning, Coward moved to third on a wild pitch and scored on Kevin Combest's sacrifice fly.

Snyder avoided a comeback attempt in the fifth when Garcia mounted the mound in relief of starter Felan and struck out a Gainesville batter with the bases loaded.

Gainesville scored all three of its runs in the sixth stanza. This time, Coward climbed the hill with the bases loaded and recorded two straight outs to get Snyder out of further trouble.

In all, the Buffs got five runs on five hits - all singles by Coward, Combest, Morris, Lanier and Garcia. Don Hassett was the losing pitcher.

Felan picked up the win for Snyder in four and two-thirds innings. Garcia pitched two-thirds and Coward one and two-thirds. Pitchers are allowed 14 innings throughout the tournament.

Gainesville got four hits.

Other teams here include Port Lavaca, Borger, Athens and Hillsboro. No other tournament scores were available.

Gun club meets 7:30, August 1

The Canyon Gun Club will hold its monthly meeting 7:30 p.m. Aug. 1 in the Snyder National Bank community room.

Members are urged to attend. This will be the last meeting before the club's gun show.

VB workouts nearing; other key dates listed

Two-a-day workouts for varsity and junior varsity volleyball at Snyder High School will begin Aug. 12, Coach Vicki Nelms reports.

However, girls planning to participate in volleyball should be aware of several other key dates.

All ninth grade girls need to report for physicals at 5:30, Aug. 6 at the main building of the high school. Also, anyone who has transferred into the school system, or who has not participated in athletics, or anyone who has had surgery or any other medical problems during the past year should report for a physical.

Workout equipment for those in varsity and junior varsity volleyball may be picked up at 10 a.m. Aug. 8 at the main high school gymnasium. Anyone who cannot do so should contact Coach Nelms at 573-8529 or 573-4237 and give her their shoe size.

Two-a-days on Aug. 12 will begin at 8 a.m.

The first varsity scrimmage is scheduled for Aug. 19; the first game for Aug. 20.

Stabler gets settlement

HOUSTON (AP) - Ken Stabler's lawyer says the former pro football quarterback has agreed to a settlement of a $20 million libel suit in which the remaining defendants were the National Broadcasting Co. and RCA Corp.

The attorney, Craig Ball, said the terms called for Stabler to receive money but that all details, including who will make the payments, were confidential.

"Mr. Stabler is very satisfied and happy," Ball said.

The suit was filed in 1982 against NBC; RCA, the network's parent company, and the New York Times, citing reports alleging that Stabler had ties to organized gambling and had thrown games or shaved points.

Suicide bomber kills three in Israeli patrol

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A suicide bomber detonated his explosive-laden car near an Israeli patrol in the southern Lebanese town of Arnoun today, and a witness said three soldiers and five Lebanese were killed.

However, an Israeli army statement said two soldiers were slightly wounded in the attack and taken to a hospital. It said they were part of a patrol to prevent terrorist activities in the security zone north of the Israeli border.

Israeli military sources who spoke on condition of anonymity said preliminary reports indicated that the driver and one other Lebanese were killed in the explosion.

There was no way immediately to reconcile the conflicting casualty reports, and no claim of responsibility for the blast.

A U.N. official said peacekeeping soldiers heard an explosion in the area of Arnoun followed by heavy machine gun fire.

Journalists based in the market town of Nabatiyeh near Arnoun said the explosion occurred at 8 a.m. at the public square facing Husseinieh mosque.

One injured Lebanese, who was rushed from Arnoun to the hospital in Nabatiyeh told reporters he saw "at least three Israeli soldiers laying dead and two others being treated for wounds."

The injured witness, who spoke on condition he not be identified said at least five Lebanese civilians were killed in the blast.

Arnoun is near the Crusaders-built medieval castle of Beaufort, four miles from the Israeli frontier.

The witness said the suicide bomber, parked at Arnoun's Barakeh Square, waited until the Israeli foot patrol, accompanied by an armored personnel carrier, was close to his car. Then he detonated the bomb.

The bombing occurred at the edge of the security zone the Israeli forces left in a southern Lebanon after withdrawing most of the troops from Lebanon in June.

Wednesday's bombing was the fourth suicide attack this month against Israeli troops and their militia allies of the South Lebanon Army which man the border buffer zone.

Meanwhile, sources in the Shiite Moslem Amal militia said most of the 50 aging Soviet-made tanks that Syria gave to the Shiite Moslem Amal militia are ringing the south Beirut refugee camp where Shiites battled Palestinians this summer.

A government source said Tuesday that Amal would use the tanks to "confront the Palestinians," but militia officials said they would be used as part of a Syrian-sponsored plant to restore order in Moslem west Beirut.

Some of the T-54 tanks were reported to be heading for Moslem positions on the Green Line that separates Beirut into Moslem and Christian sectors.

However, most of them were positioned around the Bourj el-Barajneh Palestinian refugee camp in the Shiite-dominated southern suburbs, said Amal sources who spoke on condition they not be identified.

Shooting is drug related

LAREDO (AP) — The bullet-riddled bodies of two men have been discovered in this South Texas city in what police believe could have resulted from a drug deal that soured.

Police said a 28-year-old man was arrested late Tuesday and held in Webb County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond in connection with at least one of the slayings. The victims, aged 38 and 37, were pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Danny Valdez.

"Someone had it in for them. It looked like they were each shot seven or eight times, but it was hard to tell which were the entering wounds and which were the exiting wounds," police officer Irma Sanchez told the Laredo News.

The victims' bodies were discovered near the Chacon Creek bridge in South Laredo, Valdez said.

The body of one man, identified as a Mexican citizen, had two bullet holes in the face, one in the chest and another in the head, authorities said.

Police said the other victim, a resident alien, was shot in each eye, once in the left temple and four times in the back.

Officers said that more than one large-caliber weapon was used, possibly including a .38-caliber pistol.

Police said two weapons, which were not linked to the killings, were found on the victims' bodies.

The men had been dead about two to four hours before police got the call shortly before 8 a.m. Tuesday, officers said.

Your Birthday

Aug. 1, 1985

Be patient in the year ahead if the fruits from your labors seem slow to ripen. Time is on your side and you will eventually receive everything due you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Companions aren't apt to be as enthusiastic about your ideas today as you will be. Don't give those who disagree with you a bad time. Major changes are ahead for Leos in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today you might have to contend with some additional duties. If you make more of them than they really are, the tasks will be even more distasteful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Subdue impulses today to take financial risks or to speculate on something about which you know little. Betting in the blind will prove foolish.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Normally you're a tenacious person in pursuing your objectives, but today if you suffer a setback, you might toss in the towel instead of exerting a second effort.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Smile and treat life's happenings philosophically today. If you walk around with a chip on your shoulder, someone in a nasty mood will knock it off.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It behooves you to be penny-wise today. Limit your spending to essentials and try not to assume any new obligations that require future payments.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Strive to be tolerant and considerate in your personal relationships today. People with whom you'll be associating will require all the tact you can muster.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 19) Try to be helpful to the deserving today but, by the same token, don't let someone who is a user make you feel obligated to comply with his or her wishes.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Monitor your conversations carefully today or you might unwittingly pass on hearsay information about a friend. Your news isn't founded on fact.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unfortunately, there aren't apt to be any shortcuts to success for you today. You can still be an achiever, but you'll have to earn what you hope to attain.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your feelings could be hurt today if you take things others say to you out of context. Their words won't be intended to wound, so don't think they do.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be doubly watchful and cautious in your commercial dealings today, especially if you're involved with one who has gotten the best of you in the past.

India legislator is slain

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Unidentified gunmen shot and killed a young legislator of the ruling Congress Party, his politician-wife and a party worker at the lawmaker's home in the Indian capital today and then escaped.

Witnesses said the two gunmen opened fire with British-made Sten automatic guns as legislator Lalit Maken, 34, and his wife, Gitanjali, stepped out of their New Delhi residence to drive to Parliament.

Maken, hit in the stomach, and his wife ran into the house but the gunmen chased them inside and kept firing, said the lawmaker's sister-in-law, Santosh Kumari.

After they gunned down the legislator, they fired at Mrs. Maken and Balkrishan Khanna, a Congress party member, she said.

The lawmaker's driver, Suresh Malik, also was wounded in the shootings. He was listed in stable condition in Lohia Hospital.

City Police Commissioner Ved Marwah said the assassins escaped on a stolen scooter.

The motive for the killings was not known, but police said they appeared to be the work of professional killers.

Maken, 34, was involved in bitter trade union rivalry in the capital, where he headed federations of federal government employees and city bus workers. He also reportedly was on the "hit list" of Sikh terrorists for his alleged role in the anti-Sikh carnage following the Oct. 31 slaying of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

Maken and his wife, the then president of the National Students Union of India, the Congress party's student wing, were regarded as strong supporters of the late Sanjay Gandhi, Mrs. Gandhi's younger son and heir-apparent.

Authorities sealed the capital's borders with neighboring states and launched an extensive hunt for the slayers. Police began a search of the city airport and railroad stations. Marwah announced a 100,000 rupees ($8,335) reward for information leading to the arrest of the two men.

Indian President Zail Singh, Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi and senior government officials rushed to New Delhi's government-run Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital to see Maken after the shooting.

More vitamins aren't a must

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I read that a variety of substances hinder digestive absorption of minerals, such as calcium and iron. Does this mean that if people take mineral supplements, they should take more than the RDA, or does the RDA take into account the fact that absorption will probably not be complete?

DEAR READER — The Recommended Daily Allowance is an average value calculated for healthy American adults. The RDA does not take into account disease factors, medicine or other compounds that can affect absorption.

If you suspect that something you are ingesting is interfering with normal utilization of vitamins and minerals, ask your doctor to advise you. I do not suggest that you increase your supplement to "overcome" incomplete absorption. Remember that you actually may be getting more than you think, because you are adding supplements to what I assume to be an already adequate dietary intake.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had hepatitis when I was 5. Now I'm 40. Recently my new dentist was taking my medical history and I mentioned that I'd had hepatitis 35 years ago. He and the hygienist practically ran to put on rubber gloves. I was embarrassed and confused. What's the story?

DEAR READER — Although you recovered from hepatitis, you are probably still harboring an inactive virus in your system. If these enter the body of a susceptible person, he or she can develop hepatitis. Such a risk is quite small, but if a drop of blood from your gum were to touch a cut or abrasion on your dentist's finger, you could — in theory — transmit the hepatitis virus to him. Statistically, dental professionals run such a high risk of contracting hepatitis from their patients that many experts recommend the universal use of hepatitis vaccine by dentists and oral surgeons.

Your dentist is being cautious and I am certain he did not wish to embarrass you. However, if he goes through many more days like that, he will be a nervous wreck. He and his hygienist would probably calm down and enjoy their work more if they were vaccinated against hepatitis.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My elbows get dry, flaky and itchy. Why does this happen and what can I do to prevent it?

DEAR READER — You may have simple dry skin. As a first step, use lanolin-containing lotion. If your elbows continue to bother you, call a dermatologist for an opinion.

If you have questions about MENOPAUSE, you can get answers in Dr. Gott's new Health Report on the subject. Send 75 cents plus a self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Menopause.

Probe costs home chain $1 million

GALVESTON (AP) — A Houston-based nursing home chain has spent more than $1 million to defend its Texas City facility and five current or former employees accused of murder, a financial officer for the chain says.

Robert E. Stoddard Sr., comptroller for Houston-based Autumn Hills Convalescent Centers Inc., said Tuesday that costly legal fees have "taken away from patient care" at the chain's facilities.

Stoddard's testimony came during the fifth week of pretrial hearings in State District Judge Don Morgan's court in Galveston.

Autumn Hills and the five other defendants in the case are scheduled to stand trial on murder charges starting Sept. 9 for the 1978 deaths of two elderly women residents at the chain's Texas City facility.

The murder indictment returned against Autumn Hills in November is the third such set of charges issued in the investigation. Since the first murder indictments were returned March 1981, the firm has reduced the number of nursing homes it owns from 16 to six.

Of the two previous sets of indictments, one was dismissed and another case was dropped because of a plea bargain that eventually was withdrawn.

Challenger crew readies satellite launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Challenger's robot arm waved a small science satellite above the spaceship today, ready for launching, while engineers said they were sure that faulty heat sensors caused the shuttle's chilling engine cutoff.

The satellite, plucked out of the cargo bay Tuesday night by an astronaut operating the 50-foot arm, was studying a mysterious glow that envelops the shuttle as it speeds through invisible waves of outer space plasma.

The satellite, called PDP, for plasma diagnostics package, was scheduled to be released tonight to fly free for several hours to make other readings.

While most of the science mission's 13 experiments were working well, the astronauts and ground specialists were trying to figure out how to correct the main instrument, a $60-million pointing system intended to focus telescopes on the sun. The device is a key element of four experiments.

Mission manager Roy Lester said new computer software and other procedures were being developed and "we're confident we'll get the science intended for that instrument."

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced late Tuesday that bad sensors and not a broken part caused the engine shutdown Monday.

The problem, in which two 5-inch-long sensors indicated fuel pumps were overpating, is not expected to delay the next shuttle launch, of Discovery on Aug. 24.

An agency statement said a study of radio data indicated that fuel pumps on the engines performed normally.

Computers, receiving the false information from the sensors, ordered one of the three main engines to shut down 5 minutes, 45 seconds after launch while Challenger was still firing toward orbit.

A sensor on a second engine also indicated an extreme temperature rise and threatened to shut that off. Mission Control felt the reading was wrong and told shuttle commander Gordon Fullerton to disable the sensors so the remaining engines could continue to burn.

Flight director Cleon Lacefield said that if a second engine had been lost Challenger and its seven-member crew would have fallen to Earth, probably on the Greek island of Crete or in the Mediterranean.

Another flight director, John Cox said heat sensors had occasionally failed in the past, but never three on one flight. He said improved detectors have been built and will fly on Discovery next month.

The spacecraft computer instructed the two remaining engines to fire for an extra 86 seconds and Challenger achieved orbit, though at a lower altitude than the 241 miles expected. NASA said the 195-mile orbit is high enough to permit a full weeklong flight, with only a small loss of science data.

The PDP satellite was examining the glow observed gleaming off spaceship surfaces by most shuttle crews. It apparently is caused by a strong interaction between the ship and surrounding plasma — an environment of gases, radiation and magnetic fields.

Fast thinking saves shuttle

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Split-second decisions by controllers acting on reflex saved the space shuttle Challenger when an engine automatically shut down, leaving it in an orbit lower at one point than the altitude of most jet airplanes, an engineer said.

A spacecraft at such a low orbit quickly would have been dragged to Earth, Bob Yackovetsky, a guidance and navigation officer in Mission Control at the Johnson Space Center, said Tuesday.

He said the quick-thinking mission controllers ordered the firing of an orbital rocket engine that sent the spacecraft to a safe altitude.

One of three launch engines shut down on Challenger as it was climbing toward orbit on Monday, and the astronauts had to inhibit a computer instruction to prevent a second engine from stalling.

The two working engines burned for 96 extra seconds, giving the spacecraft orbital velocity, but Challenger was still in trouble.

"We were still in a critical situation because the orbit was something like 150 miles by 3 miles," said Yackovetsky. This would have put Challenger lower than the 80,000-foot altitude commonly used by commercial airlines.

Mission Control engineers quickly calculated an Orbital Manuevering System rocket burn that would raise the spacecraft to a safe orbit. That burn came 33 minutes after launch and put Challenger into a stable orbit of 124 miles by 165 miles.

"If we had not executed that OMS burn, we were looking at an abort once around," said Yackovetsky. This means that Challenger would have been forced to return to Earth by landing at Edwards Air Force Base in California or at Northup Strip near White Sands, N.M.

The OMS burn was performed, "and only then did we know we would be in orbit for the mission," he said.

"During the first engine shutdown, it was pretty much straightforward," he said. "No one was fazed by it. We all felt pretty confident."

But when the second engine threatened to stall, the engineer admitted, "I was apprehensive. We were in a failure case for going down over Africa."

During the emergency, said Yackovetsky, the Mission Control team acted on reflex, performing jobs they had practiced in hundreds of hours of simulated spaceflight.

But he admitted, "The adrenaline really flowed. That keeps you at a peak, keeps you sharp."

Afterward, there was a "sense of relief," he said. "We felt that a burden had been lifted."

Senators criticize Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican senators, complaining that they were "sold down the river" by President Reagan's refusal to endorse new taxes or delay Social Security increases, say new attempts to craft a package of spending cuts may now be almost meaningless.

Senior members of the House and Senate budget committees met into the night Tuesday, exploring places to slice domestic programs. But wary senators said the best they could hope for was "half a loaf" of deficit reduction.

"The president's decision to scuttle yet another responsible budget, sponsored by Senate Republicans and Senate Democrats, may well doom our final opportunity to make significant deficit reductions this year," said Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash.

"I regret to say the president has sold us down the river again," Gorton said in a statement.

The president raised the hackles of Senate Republicans on Monday when he rejected their deficit-reduction proposals including: a levy on imported oil; making inflation adjustments in Social Security and other benefit programs every two years instead of annually, and adjusting personal income tax rates to account for inflation every two years instead of annually.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., said Tuesday the Senate was facing up to the immense threat of annual deficits in the $200 billion range, but said: "I'm not sure that it's fully understood by some who advise the president."

The top Democrats and Republicans on the House and Senate budget committee met for seven hours Tuesday, working into the late evening hours as they tried to forge an agreement before Congress leaves for its August recess at the end of the week.

"We went through almost everything" looking for agreement between the two houses, said Senate Budget Committee Chairman Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M.

House Budget Committee Chairman William H. Gray III, D-Pa., said having Social Security and taxes off the bargaining table made the discussions easier, since "we know what the lay of the land is."

League scholarships go to SHS graduates

Two recent Snyder High School graduates have been awarded $1,250 Houston Endowment Scholarships from the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation.

Scholarship recipients include Chelle Krueger and Sue Ann Smylie.

Chelle plans to attend the University of Texas at Austin and major in political science. Her honors at SHS included being a member of the first place winning one-act play cast of 1982, 1984 and 1985. She was also a member of the third place winning play at the 1983 state meet.

She was a member of the National Honor Society; Lucky 13 civic club, serving as president; a recipient of the National English Merit Award; and a recipient of the Randy Bearden Award for choir.

Sue Ann plans to attend the University of Texas at Arlington and major in mass communications.

At SHS, she was also a member of the one-act play casts which won at the 1984 and 1985 state meets in addition to the third-place winning play at state in 1983. She was a member of the National Honor Society; listed in Who's Who; a participant at Girl's State; a National English Merit Award winner; a recipient of the National Physical Education Award; a participant in UIL solo and ensemble competition; and a member of the choir, the Swingers, French Club, FCA, student council and the science team.

Bones found in home that of animal

HEREFORD (AP) — A forensic pathologist said Tuesday that bones found in the basement of a house in this Panhandle city were animal bones.

The bones were discovered Monday after a 17-year-old girl told authorities she was held by a man inside the home and saw human skeletal remains in the basement.

The girl, who also told authorities the man allegedly threatened to bury her beneath the home, was treated at Deaf Smith Memorial Hospital and released on Monday.

Dr. Ralph Erdmann, an Amarillo forensic pathologist, examined the bones and said they appeared to be from a dog or a cat.

The Hereford girl told police a man had allegedly beaten her at the home. He then tied her up and put her in the basement area of the house, where she saw the bones, she claimed.

Assault charges were filed against Florentino Carbajal, 20, of Hereford and he was held in lieu of $25,000 bond set by Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal, authorities said.

KNGHTS OF COLUMBUS INSTALLED — The new Our Lady of Guadalupe Council 8875 of the Knights of Columbus officially came into being Monday evening with the formal installation of officers. Stripper sues city over job turndown

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — A striptease dancer has filed suit against the city of Topeka and two city officials over her contention that she was denied a job as a firefighter because of her work.

Michele Richards, 22, filed suit for $360,000 in damages earlier this week against the city, Mayor Douglas Wright and Fire Chief Joe Douglas Jr. The fire chief recommended to the mayor who should be chosen.

City Attorney E. Edward Johnson said he wasn't prepared to discuss the suit.

Although Miss Richards passed tests conducted by city officials and the Civil Service Commission last May, she was not among the 16 people chosen by Douglas for placement in the fire department. More than 700 people competed for the openings in an eight-stage process.

Douglas said the woman's work as a stripper didn't affect the decision.

"That information came out fairly early in the process, but it didn't really make a difference," he said. "Some were plumbers, some were carpenters. My concern when they come here is, 'Can they do this job?'"

Miss Richards, who said she has worked as a stripper for more than three years in Topeka, Dallas, New Orleans and Denver, said she applied for the fire department job to do something different.

"I don't want to be a stripper all my life," she said. "I've wanted to be a firefighter for a long time. That's why I took the emergency medical technician course. I thought it would give me a lead over the others. I trained with weights for three months so I could pass the physical agility test."

Her attorney, Fred Phelps Sr., said the city's decision not to hire her was a violation of her constitutional rights.

"Dancing and saying that you dance are modes of expression protected under the First Amendment," Phelps said. "This is a good girl. She ought not be doing that dancing, but all she ever wanted to be was a firefighter."

Latin countries may unite in igorning foreign debts

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Latin American radicals, speaking at a conference convened by President Fidel Castro, are closing ranks behind his call for their nations to ignore payments on their aggregate $360 billion foreign debt.

At Tuesday night's opening session of the five-day conference, several speakers said Latin American nations face economic disaster unless they unite in a debtors' rebellion against Western creditor countries and institutions.

Castro opened the gathering, telling more than 500 delegates from Latin American and Caribbean countries that the gathering was "the widest and most pluralistic meeting that has ever been held in this hemisphere."

Castro, who has argued that payments on the debt would require a degree of austerity that few Latin American governments are strong enough to survive politically, was expected to outline his position later in the conference.

He has said the portion of the debt owed to U.S. banks should be absorbed by the U.S. government and financed by defense spending cuts.

The conference, which represents Castro's most ambitious effort yet to win acceptance into the Latin American family of nations, has attracted political leaders, academicians, economists, union chiefs and church leaders.

But most governments indicated they are wary about allowing Castro to assume a role as arbiter of the debt issue, and few sent official emissaries.

The highest ranking foreign delegate at the meeting is Nicaragua's vice president, Sergio Ramirez. Also present was Hortensia Bussi de Allende, widow of the late Chilean President Salvador Allende, who received enthusiastic applause.

All of the Tuesday speakers expressed support for Castro's view on the debt. Several coupled their comments on the debt issue with denunciations of American policy toward Nicaragua and El Salvador.

Bolivia's planning minister, Freddy Justiciano, said the foreign debts amounted to "economic strangulation."

Attempts to pay off creditor nations, he said, would be "taking bread away from the mouths of those who did not contract the debt."

A Mexican economist, Alonso Aquilar, said he agreed with Castro's view that the United States should assume the debt repayment.

Cuban officials have said that leaders of virtually all leftist parties in the hemisphere are attending, as well as two former presidents — Wolfgang Larrazabal of Venezuela and Bolivia's Guevara Arce.

A number of former presidents turned down invitations, including Carlos Andres Perez and Rafael Caldera, both of Venezuela, and Luis Echeverria of Mexico.

Latin American businessmen also showed little interest in attending. An association of Panamanian busineses groups noted that Castro rejects capitalism and said it would be incongruous to accept an invitation from a man intent on their destruction.

Man charged in one of two deaths

CONROE (AP) — An ex-convict who works in a convalescent home was arrested in the grisly slaying of one of two women found dead in the Conroe apartment they shared, police said.

Police had been questioning the 24-year-old man, who was charged with murder, for several days in connection with the July 16 slayings, said Conroe police spokesman Rodney Meadows.

The suspect was being held in lieu of $75,00 bond in the murder of 30-year-old Marietta Bryant, Meadows said.

Ms. Bryant and her roommate, Carol Ackland, 46, were found dead with their throats slashed in the Conroe apartment they shared. Meadows said authorities believe the two women had been dead five days to a week when they were found, Meadows said.

Meadows said the suspect who was arrested formerly lived in the same apartment complex as the two slain women, but moved to Cleveland. He is employed as a nurse's aide at a Willis convalescent home, Meadows said.

The suspect previously served three years in the Texas Department of Corrections, Meadows said, but police declined to discuss on what charge he had been convicted.

Leading indicators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's main forecasting gauge of future economic activity rose sharply last month, perhaps signaling a turnaround from the weak growth of the past year.

The Commerce Department reported today that its Index of Leading Indicators shot up 1 percent in June, the biggest increase since January.

The index, which is watched for signals it can give about changes in the course of the economy, has been decidedly weak for the past year.

Since last June, it has registered six monthly declines, reflecting the weak economic growth which has plagued the country for the past year.

The overall economy grew at a near-recession pace of just 1 percent in the first half of this year as U.S. manufacturers lost sales to foreign competition.

The government reported Tuesday that the country suffered its second highest trade deficit in history last month, a $13.4 billion imbalance.

While the country's deteriorating trade performance is not expected to improve any time soon, many economists are looking for a rebound in activity in the second half of the year, fueled by declining interest rates and increased consumer spending.

The Reagan administration on Monday released a revised forecast calling for growth to spurt to an annual rate of 5 percent from June through December, five times the pace of the first half of the year.

While most private forecasters labeled this prediction highly optimistic, many are calling for at least a modest rebound in coming months.

The June upturn in the leading index bolsters that view. However, economists have cautioned against reading too much into one month's change in the index, which is subject to major revisions as late data is compiled.

The index for May was first reported to have risen by a strong 0.6 percent. However, that was revised today to show a gain of only 0.1 percent.

The reason for the big revision was given as a change in the estimate for the amount of business inventory buildup.

The 1 percent rise in June left the index at 168.5 percent of its 1967 base.

In other economic developments, sales of new homes edged down 0.1 percent and nationwide construction contracts overall were down 12 percent in June, government and private sources reported Tuesday.

Even so, the total of second-quarter contracts for new construction set a record nationwide, the reports said.

New single-family homes were sold at an annual rate of 669,000 units last month after a revised 5.7 percent May increase, the departments of Commerce and Housing and Urban Development said.

President Harry S. Truman in 1947 established what became known as th Truman Doctrine to help Greece and Turkey resist Communism.

Prison chief is criticized

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Texas prison director Ray Procunier is criticized in a lengthy report about alleged prison brutality for his handling of employees allegedly involved in the beating of inmates following a disturbance.

Procunier, who resigned last month, is criticized for handing out nothing stronger than mild reprimands and scattered demotions to a dozen prison employees accused of using violence against the prisoners.

The confidential draft being circulated among lawyers involved in the 13-year-old Texas prison reform lawsuit was issued by Ohio attorney Vincent Nathan, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

Nathan was appointed by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice to oversee the prison sytem's compliance with his prison reform order.

A two-month investigation into an October beating resulted in the demotion of two prison officers and reprimands of six guards, as well as the admonishing of four administrators for not preventing the beating, according to the report.

According to the report, the guards stormed a cell where another guard had been held hostage and kicked and beat inmates with nightsticks. The inmates reportedly had been subdued and were being transferred to another part of the prison.

Procunier, recently replaced by Lane McCotter, had said he expected the criticism from Nathan, but defended his actions saying chaotic conditions in the prison system forced him to support the officials.

Despite Nathan's criticism of Procunier's actions, the former director has generally received high marks from prison reformers for his efforts to improve conditions in the Texas prisons.

"I admired his ability to break logjams and to get change started," said William Bennett Turner, an attorney for the inmates. "He was no gray bureaucrat."

Nathan is expected to file a final report with Justice after state officials and inmate lawyers review and comment on it.

Horse show benefits local Noah project

Despite low attendance attributed to a last-minute change in location and conflicts with other events, a total of $300 was raised for the benefit of the Noah Project in Snyder at Saturday's open horse show and playday at the Scurry County Coliseum.

The show was jointly sponsored by the Maverick Horse Show Association and the Sundowner's Riding Club with half the entry fees in the Jackpot events donated to the Noah Project's shelter for battered women serving Scurry and Nolan Counties.

All-around winners in each category were awarded $25 gift certificates from Bar-H-Bar Western Wear in Snyder.

Judge for the show was Max Tomlin of Roscoe.

Winners in each event were:

Military to consider blood tests for AIDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pentagon advisory board is considering an AIDS blood-screening test that would be given to military personnel and recruits, the Washington Post said in today's editions.

The newspaper said an 11-member board of medical specialists from universities and hospitals is conducting a full review of the impact of the disease, acquired immune deficiency syndrome, on the military.

Included in that review, the newspaper said, is the question of whether military personnel found to be carrying AIDS antibodies should be discharged.

Blood-screening tests can detect the presence of an antibody in a person's blood. But that indicates only that the person has at some point been exposed to the AIDS or a similar virus and not whether he has had AIDS or could be a carrier of the usually deadly ailment.

The review began last month by the Armed Forces Epidemiological Board at the request of Dr. Clinton Jarrett, deputy assistant secretary of defense for health affairs, the paper said.

Before blood tests or other forms of screening could be imposed on active-duty soldiers or recruits, the proposals would have to be approved by Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger.

Homosexual activist groups have said the blood test should not be used as a screening device because it is unreliable and will be used to discriminate against homosexuals.

The test has been used since March by both military and civilian blood banks to screen out contaminated blood. Currently, base medical commanders are told the names of soldiers who donate to military blood banks and whose blood tests show the presence of AIDS antibodies, officials say.

Parents guilty in game disturbance

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — A Little League baseball pitcher's mother has been convicted of charges she pulled a knife on two women during an argument and his father was found guilty of disorderly conduct.

Dora Jackson, 33, of Texarkana, was upset because of a derogatory comment made about her son during a May 27 game and pulled a knife on two women who tried to intercede in the dispute, said City Attorney Jim Hudson.

Mrs. Jackson was convicted last week of assault, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and making terroristic threats, Hudson said. Floyd Jackson, 33, was found guilty of disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Jackson brought assault charges against the two women, who were acquitted, he said. "Luckily, the baseball season is over."

Shultz starts in-depth meeting with Soviets

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Secretary of State George Shultz held his first in-depth meeting with new Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze today, with an agenda including arms control, human rights and the November summit between the superpowers.

The session was expected to last at least three hours. Arms control and other experts from both sides were also expected to take part.

Shevardnadze arrived at the suburban residence of U.S. Ambassador Keith F. Nyborg in a black Zil limousine flying the Soviet flag.

The Soviet minister was greeted outside by Shultz before the two men retired to a room where they were to meet over a green-covered table equipped with two microphones.

Shultz was acompanied at the residence by Max Kampelman, the chief American negotiator at Geneva arms talks; Paul Nitze, Shultz's senior advisor on weapons controls, Rozanne Ridgway, assistant secretary of state for European affairs; Moscow ambassador Arthur A. Hartman and Mark Palmer and Jack Matlock, two U.S. specialists on the Soviet Union.

Among those in Shevardnadze's delegation were Viktor Komplektov, deputy foreign minister; Vladimir Lomeiko, the Soviet Foreign Ministry's press spokesman, and veteran Washington ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Officials accompanying the two men declined to make any substantive comment about the meeting, although some noted that the two had exchanged greetings Tuesday at the opening of a 35-country meeting here marking the 10th anniversary of the Helsinki Accords.

In speeches to the conference Tuesday, they accused each other of breaking the promises made at Helsinki in 1975.

Shultz, 64, and Shevardnadze, 57, were the most widely watched figures at the three-day Helsinki conference, which ends Thursday.

Budget items scrutinized from four weeks — for students identified as limited in English usage. This measure is part of House Bill 72 mandates.

—A $7,000 expense for a management study slated later in the year, an attempt to determine if the district is "in-line" regarding salary with similar sized schools in this area.

While these budget line-items were kept in the spending estimate, others were "placed on hold" for the present.

The single largest such request was offered by Hawes, who suggested that the district "over the next few years" work toward raising its unencumbered fund balance from $500,000 to $2 million.

This fund is used for "contingency" items and is built into the budget as carryover funds. Hawes noted school experts statewide recommend that districts have at least two months operating funds "unencumbered."

Traditionally, the Snyder ISD has allocated $500,000 for this purpose, an amount trustees indicated Tuesday they are still "comfortable with."

Other items which were placed on hold regarding the 1985-86 budget included:

—A $29,370 request for 12 added CAI (computer assisted instruction) terminals for three elementary schools.

—A $50,000 estimate to enclose classroom areas at Stanfield Elementary. Campus administrators and teachers had requested this renovation to reduce noise levels in the school building.

—A $50,000-$55,000 estimate to add a second workover each year for the district's floor areas. The request was for two rather than one stripping and refinishing of these floors annually.

—A $5,000 request to add trees and plants at school campuses. As a alternative, school trustees suggested a plea might be made to school parents to donate such landscape items.

—A request to place annually in the budget furniture replacement expenses on a larger scale than currently used. As now handled, such items are left up to individual principals as part of their budget requests.

While not finalized Tuesday, a further budget cut of some $35,000 was noted due to the possible reduction of some four teacher aide positions for the district.

labor force of 7,953, 7,251 of these employed. This leaves some 702 individuals out of work.

—Mitchell County: 6 percent unemployment estimating a labor force of 4,604, 4,328 of these employed. This leaves some 276 individuals out of work.

—Fisher County: 5.5 percent unemployment estimating a labor force of 2,241, 2,118 of these employed. This leaves some 123 individuals out of work.

—Stonewall County: 2 percent unemployment estimating a labor force of 1,172, 1,149 of these employed. This leaves some 23 individuals out of work.

—Kent County: 6.1 percent unemployment estimating a labor force of 488, 458 of these employed. This leaves some 30 individuals out of work.

Tuesday arrests

Snyder police officers logged two misdemeanor arrests Tuesday.

One local man was arrested for unpaid traffic fines and a local woman was jailed on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Fire run made

Snyder firemen were called to a mobile home fire about ¼ mile northwest of Rip Griffin's Truck Stop at 4:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Upon arrival, it was determined the blaze was confined to a pile of trash and grass, however.

southwestern Borden County.

Since Borden County comprises part of the 132nd Judicial District which includes Snyder, Loveall entered his plea before District Judge Gene Dulaney here under a consent change of venue order.

Obituaries

Ernest Dickey

TAYLOR — Funeral services are set for 2 p.m. Thursday at the Condra Funeral Home in Taylor for Ernest Elwood Dickey, former Snyder resident.

Dickey, 60, died early Wednesday morning at his home in Taylor.

He was born Jan. 9, 1925 in Lexington County.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. E. S. Dickey of Taylor and four brothers — Billy and Glen Dickey of Houston, Otis Dickey of Taylor and Owen Dickey of Snyder.

Also surviveing are two sons, Cody Dickey of Lubbock and Kelly Dickey of College Station along with one daughter, Tammy of Lubbock.

He was the uncle of Mary Rinehart of Snyder.

career could ultimately affect their retirement benefits, she said.

Overall, the five deleted days for the three staffers was projected at a school district payroll reduction of $2,800.

All trustees attended Tuesday's meeting, including newly sworn-in trustee Charlene Light. Others present were Mike Reed, J.M. Kaysar, Allen Grimmett, G.A. Parks Jr., Mike Jordan and J.D. Hinton.

In other action, the board:

—Met with Chief Appraiser Ray Peveler to discuss the 1985-86 Scurry County Appraisal District budgets for collection and appraisal. No vote regarding the budgets was taken but it was noted that in lieu of a dissenting vote, the budget is approved automatically.

—Authorized administrators to repair the wreck-damaged 1981 Chevrolet assigned to Superintendent Bob Hawes, a repair estimate set at $2,800. The cost to the district will be the $500 deductible. Hawes was involved in a two-vehicle traffic accident in the vehicle July 3.

—Accepted the resignation of Janice Jones, longtime secretary for the school superintendent. She and her family will be moving to Midland.

—Approved several policy revisions as outlined by the Texas Association of School Boards to comply with provisions under new school laws.

Hostage families encouraged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peggy Say, whose brother has been held captive in Lebanon since last March, says she's encouraged that the U.S. government is laboring to gain freedom for him and six other American hostages.

In talks Tuesday with Reagan administration officials and members of Congress, Ms. Say and relatives of other kidnap victims urged the administration to take immediate steps to secure their freedom.

"Our frustration level had just about reached the eruption point," Ms. Say said after meeting with Robert Oakley, head of the State Department's counterterrorism office. "I think the families finally felt that somebody's listening to us."

Following a news conference on the plight of the hostages, Ms. Say and the other relatives met in closed-door discussions with Oakley, lawmakers and other administration officials.

The State Department subsequently issued a written statement quoting Oakley as having told the familes: "I realize that the absence of visible progress toward the release of the seven Americans can easily be construed as an absence of effort on our part.

"The only satisfactory evidence that a serious effort is being made is, of course, the return of the hostages. But I can assure you that there is a constant effort at all levels of the administration."

Ms. Say is the sister of Terry Anderson, a correspondent for The Associated Press. Anderson, a native of Lorain, Ohio, and a former resident of Batavia, N.Y., was kidnapped in west Beirut in March.

Ms. Say said the group hopes to meet with Vice President George Bush on Thursday and persuade him to head a committee to focus on the problem.

Jeremy Levin, a Cable News Network correspondant who escaped after being held in Lebanon for nearly a year, said the kidnappers are demanding the release of 17 Arabs being held in Kuwait for the 1984 bombings of the American and French embasssies.

He accused the administration of failing to share that information with the public, adding that people lack a clear idea of why the hostages are being held.

"Without that public expression of concern," Levin said, "I think it is likely that the government will continue to treat this crisis differently from the (TWA Flight 847) hijacking crisis, and these men will continue to suffer, as I did, in squalid solitary confinement, locked away in a dark room, wrists secured to the wall with a chain too short to permit standing."

Oakley said one difficulty has been the captors' unwillingness to identify themselves "or enter into any meaningful dialogue."

"Our policy toward giving in to such terrorist blackmail remains firm," Oakley said in the statement. "We will not and cannot give in to such demands or encourage any other governments to do so."

Defense funds raised to aid Carl Parker

AUSTIN (AP) — State Sen. Carl Parker, who is facing a third grand jury investigation into allegations of promoting pornography, prostitution and drugs, says lobbyists and his Texas Senate colleagues raised more than $40,000 for his legal fees at an Austin fund-raiser.

"I thank my colleagues in the Senate. It's not easy to put your name on an invitation for a guy under attack," Parker told the Austin American-Statesman.

"The money will help keep me from financial ruin and help me combat this gross injustice," Parker said.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, said the money was raised Monday night.

The lawmaker, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, twice has been indicted by Jefferson County grand juries which looked into operations of Happy Times Video Inc., a firm accused of selling pornographic films from a house once co-owned by Parker.

The indictments were dismissed because of questions about how the grand jury investigations were handled. Authorities asked Attorney General Jim Mattox to direct the third investigation, which is expected to end next month.

Parker said he borrowed $200,000 when his legal problems began last year. "That money is gone," he said. He has spent an additional $80,000 for his defense against charges he insists are politically motivated.

Sens. John Montford, D-Lubbock, and Don Henderson, R-Houston, were hosts for the fund-raising event, which attracted 250 to 300 people.

"I'm worried about how he's being treated down there. There is some concern about the abuse of the district attorney's office. I consider Sen. Parker a close friend, and I'm not a fair-weather friend," Montford said.
