The SDN Column

In these days of the loose lip, fast buck, perpetual demonstration and the "no" discipline, it is a poor man indeed who has no advice for his federal government. Fortunately, I have some advice for the nation's leaders, and it's timely, too.

I have a suggestion for a "site" for talks with the North Vietnamese.

I suggest a place that likely would cause some apprehension among the communist world, especially that within the Soviet sphere of influence, yet it is a place that the Russians and their close friends could hardly oppose.

It is Prague.

Yes sir. The capital of little Czechoslovakia. Because some interesting things have been going on there in recent weeks — things that are of particular interest to Americans.

★ ★ ★

Czechoslovakia has been behind the iron curtain since World War II, and rather rigidly so. Its leaders have been what might be described as "straight - laced" communists, and Moscow has called their political shots for them.

A few weeks ago, however, there was a change at the top of the party in Czechoslovakia. A man named Alexander Dubcek took over the top job —president of the presideum, or some such title. All sorts of things began to happen. Dubcek almost immediately ordered sweeping changes. For example, he allowed the public to attend party committee meetings and moreover he allowed the citizens to ask questions of their public officials. He freed the nation's press, allowed television cameras in heretofore off-limits places and began talking like a capitalist in planning a push to build up the country's industrial strength.

This startled Moscow, and it literally horrified Warsaw and East Berlin who were in virtually the same condition as Prague BD (before Dubcek).

Now, a meeting such as that between U.S. representatives and those from North Vietnam could be a big prestige deal for the Czechs and the Slovaks. It could be rather embarrasing for the Moscow bloc, but a venture that the Soviets could hardly oppose since they are working desperately to preserve what influence they can in Prague.

The Prague regime has at least one eye turned toward the West now, and serving as host to the meeting would not be an unpleasant development for them.

Czechosolvakia has not torn down its iron curtain, but it has opened a few windows, and, hopefully, there will be more in the future.—WACIL McNAIR

B52s Batter Cong Depots

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52 bombers attacked Viet Cong sanctuaries on two sides of Saigon today in a new effort to smash enemy troop concentrations within striking distance of the capital.

Intelligence reports persisted that the Viet Cong are planning an attack on Saigon similar to the invasion of the city during the lunar new year offensive Jan. 31.

Despite the reports, only small-scale skirmishes were reported on the outskirts of the capital.

The biggest fight was just below the demilitarized zone near Con Thien where U.S. Marines supported by tanks and artillery killed 72 North Vietnamese troops in a three-hour battle.

Marine losses were listed as nine killed and 17 wounded in the fight that broke out Friday when a squad from the 4th Regiment ran into a North Vietnamese force of unknown size. Two platoons of Leatherneck reinforcemnts and tanks were thrown into the battle.

Enemy gunners made artillery, rocket and mortar attacks Friday on Camp Carroll, a U.S. artillery base east of Khe Sanh, and on the Quang Tri airfield.

Casualties were reported light from the shelling of Camp Carroll and no material damage was reported. A fuel storage area was hit in the 40-minute attack on the airfield and light casualties were reported.

The American B52s made three more raids northeast of Saigon to follow up a series of four raids on targets from 24 to 35 miles northwest of Saigon. Tons of explosives were dropped on bunkers, base camps, troop concentrations and weapons positions.

Other B52s maintained the relentless attack on the A Shau Valley an dthe area east of the North Vietnamese valley stronghold with three more raids.

The air war over North Vietnam Friday cost the Air Force an F4 Phantom downed from unknown causes. The two crewmen were reported missing. It was the 828th announced American warplane lost in the mor than three-year bombing campaign over North Vietnam.

Pilots said enemy ground fire was light to moderate and reported surface-to-air missiles around Vinh.

Lingering monsoons limited American bombers to 96 missions over North Vietnam Friday in the curtailed air war. America's newest fighter-bomber, the F111, returned to action Friday for the first time since Monday night's crash of a third F111.

185 Students In Custody

TOKYO (AP) — At least 185 militant student demonstrators were taken into custody by police Saturday night during clashes between students and riot police in downtown Tokyo.

Police charged 700 rock-throwing Zengakuren students when they began snake-dancing and penetrating the compounds of the Foreign and Finance Ministries.

Flag-waving and placard-carrying radical students began marching after attending a rally in Hibiya Park to oppose the Vietnam war and demand immediate and unconditional return of Okinawa to Japan, immediate withdrawal of B52 bombers from Okinawa and abrogation of the Japan-U.S. security treaty.

US, Soviets Push N-Treaty

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have joined forces to try to win over opposition to their treaty aimed at banning the spread of nuclear weapons.

The two powers made their appeals as the General Assembly's main political committee opened debate Friday on the treaty worked out by the 17-nation disarmament committee in Geneva.

The treaty has brought objections from India, Brazil, Italy, Japan, West Germany and Romania. Communist China and France, both nuclear powers, have spurned the pact.

Debate was launched by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov.

Goldberg said: "This treaty will do more than any treaty of our time to push back the fearful shadow of nuclear destruction. The immediate necessity is that we should take the next step — the endorsement of the treaty by the General Assembly."

Kuznesov told the committee the treaty was essential "to the whole of mankind." He said "the Soviet delegation calls upon the delegations of all member states" to approve it.

Among countries that become parties to the treaty, those with nuclear weapons will be bound not to transfer them to others and those without them will be bound not to acquire or manufacture them.

Goldberg pledged that the United States would "equitably share our knowledge and experience, acquired at great cost, concerning all aspects of the peaceful uses of nuclear energy, with parties to the treaty." He especialy mentioned explosions.

He said endorsement of the treaty "will improve the atmosphere for peaceful settlement of other conflicts." He declared that it was urgent because the opportunity might never recur.

Quest For Nomination Launched By Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey announced today he will seek the Democratic nomination for the White House.

He made his announcement with words of praise for President Johnson and a declaration that "without unity we shall begin to doubt not only ourselves but our goals and ideals."

"With unity, I am convinced those goals and ideals can be achieved," he said.

The announcement of candidacy which Humphrey had foretold with comments during what already had amounted to campaign travels was prepared for a luncheon attended by more than 1,200 supporters, most of whom started the campaign early with a rally three hours before Humphrey's speech.

Humphrey told them, as a candidate "I shall continue to fulfill to the best of my abilities the duties of my office. I shall, as the President has, observe the absolute priority of peace over politics.

"For 1968 is not the year for frenzied or inflammatory rhetoric, or for finding scapegoats for our problems," Humphrey said; "It is the year for common sense. "I will resist the temptation to deceive either the people or myself."

"I have been too close to the presidency to believe that the solutions are simple and the answers easy," he added.

Humphrey made no direct reference to the two announced Democratic candidates to succeed Johnson, who shunned renomination. His candidacy pits him against Sens. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Eugene J. McCarthy, his fellow Minnesotan.

Kennedy and McCarthy already are battling for support in presidential primaries, the next one in Indiana May 7.

"I intend to fight hard for the nomination, but I do not intend to divide either my party or my nation," Humphrey said.

"In this effort I shall do my best. And I ask no less of those who will join me. For democracy is only what democracy gets done," Humphrey said.

"I enter this course with a determination to win," he continued. "And I shall base everything I do on one conviction: That this country, working in a spirit of unity, can overcome any obstacle in finally realizing the fullness of freedom, the prize of peace, and the happiness of human opportunity—here and in the world."

Humphrey said Johnson "acted bravely and beyond all personal interest" in rejecting renomination in an effort, the President said March 31, to bring unity to America and peace to Southeast Asia.

"We do not yet know the outcome of the President's initiative for peace in Asia," Humphrey said. "We are hopeful, but without illusion. Only time and events will give the answer.

"We do know, however, that in our country a sense of balance has been restored," he said.

He said Johnson's action dramatized the nation's most urgent need—the need for unity.

The time has come, Humphrey said, to put aside "selfish ambition and pettiness" and to recognize that the United States has more strength than weaknesses.

"The time has come to express a new American patriotism," he said. "Not a patriotism expressed alone in flags or parades, but in a willingness to get down to the hard, tiring, endless work that every generation before us has paid out to keep alive the vision of what American can be.

"The time has come, in short, to reaffirm once more that we can do whatever we must do to carry forth the unfinished and peaceful American revolution."

Heavy Hail Batters Area To Northeast

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Severe thunderstorms prowled Northeast Texas early today, covering the ground with hailstones as big as baseballs. Damage to cars and rooftops was reported.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said a vicious storm swept over Diana, Tex., some 18 miles north of Longivew, unleashing heavy hail that damaged housetops and covered the ground white.

Greenville was lashed with heavy hail and windblown rain late Friaay night. Waxahachie, about 30 miles south of Dallas, was pounded by baseball-sized hail. Police reported damage to some automobiles.

Severe thunderstorm warnings were up through most of the night in North Central and Northeast Texas.

The turbulent weather was triggered by a weak cool front lying across the Dallas area. The intense thunderstorms built up in a 100-mile wide belt to the south and east of the front.

Bermuda Declares Emergency State

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Bermuda's government declared a state of emergency today after an outbreak of burning and looting by predominantly Negro gangs in the second straight night of violence in the island's capital.

The executive council sent 300 armed troops of the Bermuda Regiment into Hamilton's poorer section to reinforce nearly 250 riot police.

Police said the rioters had dispersed by 3 a.m. after an 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew was ordered until peace returns. All fires were reported under control.

Meanwhile, the predominantly white governing United Bermuda party—UBP—denounced what it called inflammatory statements in the last few days and the predominantly Negro Progressive Labor party—PLP accused the UBP and Hamilton police of racism.

The two parties will contest an election in mid-May under new election rules in the British colony giving the PLP greater influence. The PLP wants to restrict immigration of the English, who the party claims keep Negroes out of better jobs. It also wants independence for the island.

Five persons were injured, one seriously, and 15 were arrested, police said. One of the injured was John Patton, deputy leader of the UBP, who suffered a broken arm, apparently when he tried to intervene.

U.S. tourists fled to their hotels and downtown bars and restaurants closed as the rioters, many moving around in cars for hit-and-run raids, set cars and buildings afire.

An estimated 300 youths gathered near a furniture store which had been set ablaze for the third time within 48 hours.

The offices of the government's Transport Control Board were extensively damaged. The nights climbed to aquarter of a million dollars.

Israelis, Egyptians Exchange Gunfire

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Egyptian troops exchanged fire across the Suez Canal for 75 minutes today, the first time in more than a month, an Israeli army spokesman said.

Two Israeli soldiers were slightly wounded, the spokesman said.

The Israelis accused the Egyptians of firing first at troops on the east bank of the canal in the vicinity of El Firdan, near Ismailia, about 45 miles south of Port Said. The Israelis returned the fire.

DEAR ABBY: John and I have been married for seven years and I think I have a problem.

When we were first married, John decided that he wanted to go back to the university and get his B. A. degree, so I agreed to continue to work and support us so he could. John got his B. A., then decided he wanted a Masters, so I agreed to continue to work until he got that. Well, right after he got his Masters, he wanted his Ph. D., so I agreed to continue working.

I've supported both of us for seven years now. I will be 28 on my next birthday and would like to quit my job and have a family while I'm still young enough.

John could easily get a teaching position at the university and support us both, but he now says he's "out of the mood" of having a family, and he doesn't want me to quit working. I am at the end of my rope, and any comments would be appreciated.

DISTRESSED

DEAR DISTRESSED: Part of the problem is your reluctance to look John in the eye and tell him what is on your mind or else why would you be writing to me? If necessary, practice in front of a mirror, and learn how to say (convincingly), "Look, Baby, I have had it with the working. Let's YOU support US for a change!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 24 year old man who has gone with a girl for four years, tells her she is "perfect" for him, and then balks at giving her an engagement ring? It's not the money because he is in business for himself and can well afford it.

He says an engagement ring is only a "symbol," but if I am so insecure that I need a "symbol" to be assured of his love for me, he will give me one — on the condition that I don't tell anybody.

I am about ready to throw in the towel. Can you help me?

FED UP

DEAR FED: Any "man" who would offer a girl an engagement ring on the condition that "she doesn't tell anyone," is a little boy grown tall. And tell Junior that an engagement ring symbolizes that "THIS GIRL IS SPOKEN FOR" — so why the big secret?

• • •

DEAR ABBY: While driving thru a small city in upstate New York I became ill and a doctor hospitalized me for 15 days. I was in this semi-private room, and had a "roommate."

My first "roomie" was a 10-year-old kid who watched TV around the clock. I was trapped in an oxygen tent and almost lost my mind.

My next "roomie" was brought into my room at 3 a.m. He'd had a snootful and missed a curve at 70 miles per hour. His wife tore in, hysterical, and proceeded to chew him out. She called him some interesting names, immediately repented, then stood outside the door and cried for two hours while her mother gave her the old "I-told-you-so" routine.

That afternoon about 500 relatives came to visit him. At least a dozen of them pulled out cigarets and were just about to light up when they were calmly told by my roommate that the "guy in the other bed" was in an exygen tent! I kept expecting to be blown to bits any minute. After they left, his wife sat on his bed and cried for another two hours.

By this time I was begging the nurses to put me in the morgue so I could get some rest.

My next roomie was a man whose wife adored him. She was there 16 hours a day, seven days a week and talked all the time. Somehow I got well enough to go home.

Abby, please print his. Maybe someone will remember it if (God forbid!) he ever has to share a room in a hospital.

Midland Great Dane Produces Rare Litter

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A female Great Dane named Cleopatra set a possible record when she gave birth to 11 harlequin puppies at the Shady Acres Kennels.

Cleopatra is black with a white blaze and her mate, Viking Prince Eric, is a black and white harlequin, as are all their offspring.

According to information from a Great Dane record book, some breeders of Great Danes try as long as 10 years in an effort to produce a litter with at least 25 per cent of the puppies having the black and white harlequin markings.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Hollywood actor Warren Beatty, who once performed in the Waa-Mu Show, the annual spring musical production at Northwestern University, this year is lampooned in it.

Arrested In Shooting

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Nicolas Mendoza Jr., 39, of Pasadena, near Houston, was shot to death at a Corpus Christi residence Saturday. Police arrested a woman.

Windshield wiper blades should be replaced at least once a year, according to safety engineers of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company. The blade rubber loses its effectiveness after being used from six months to a year because of the baking action of the sun, windburn, petroleum fumes from vehicles, dirt, smog and smoke.

Body Recovered From Sam Rayburn Lake

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) —The body of Jesse Belton of Houston who drowned in Sam Rayburn Reservoir in East Texas when a boat capsized April 12 was recovered Saturday.

A search continued for the body of a second victim, Loretta Ann Burke, 14, also of Houston.

Five persons were in the boat when it overturned and three were rescued.

Maybe It's Safer With Head-Hunters

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. (AP)—The Rev. Jeremiah, Murphy, awakened in a parish house at knifepoint and robbed of $300 by an unidentified assailant, says he wonders which is safer—civilization or the head-hunting jungles of New Guinea where he finished four years as a Catholic missionary.

"In the jungle I didn't even bother to latch the door," Father Murphy said.

Students Attempt To Recover US Flag

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovak demonstrators today struggled with North Vietnamese students in an attempt to recover an American flag torn down from the U.S. Embassy's flagpole during an antiwar demonstration.

Czechoslovakian spokesmen told newsmen, "We regret this incident, we came here to protest against American aggression, not to insult the United States."

Van Nelson Cuts Time

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Tireless Van Nelson, who accounted for one of the opening day's three records, took aim Saturday at becoming only the second athlete ever to score a "triple double" in the Drake Relays.

The St. Cloud Minn., State senior won his third straight Drake three-mile Friday, clipping nearly four seconds off the mark he established a year go with a 13:17.4 clocking.

Nelsom, the Pan American 5,000 and 10,000-meter champ, goes after his third straight six-mile title today, an event in which he also holds the record.

Surprisingly, Air Force Lt. Jim Murphy, voted the outstanding performer in the Kansas Relays after winning the 5,000 and 10,000 meters, didn't produce his expected tough opposition. He never was in contention and finished fourth.

Kansas' Jim Ryun grabbed a share of the spotlight despite ordinary times in a couple of anchoring efforts. But the performances were enouraging since it was only his second time in competition since suffering a pulled hamstring muscle in March.

Ryun's 1:48.2 half-mile helped the Jayhawks to a 7:21.8 two-mile relay victory in the afternoon, after he ran 1:48.6 in the morning in guiding Kansas to the best time of 3:19.8 in the sprint medley preliminaries.

Ryun said he had no trouble at all with his leg. In fact, he said, he felt he was progressing much faster than expected.

The sensational miler is slated to run his speciality today in anchoring the Kansas distance medley, in addition to anchoring the sprint medley.

He graduated in 1963 from Snyder High School.

Rioting Erupts Near Palace Of Justice

ROME (AP)—A savage riot between students and police erupted today around the Palace of Justice in Rome near the Vatican.

Police riot squads using jeeps and clubs smashed into a demonstration of an estimated 3,000 students. Students overturned automobiles for barricades and snatched up tables and chairs from cafes to throw at police. Police used high-powered water jets in return.

Nearly 100 persons were hurt.

The demonstration was called to demand the release of two students recently arrested on charges of setting a store afire.

French Interests Grow In Africa

By KENNETH L. WHITING
Associated Press Writer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — France is successfully playing both ends against the middle in Africa while the United States, Britain and Russia watch enviously from the diplomatic sidelines.

President Charles de Gaulle's government pursues self-interest with little regard for criticism. "De Gaulle must do it with mirrors," said one American diplomat in South Africa.

If the United States so much as abstains on a technical vote involving South Africa in the United Nations, it is criticized in black African capitals. France sells Mirage jets, AMX tanks, Panhard armored cars, Alouette helicopters and Daphne submarines to South Africa in open defiance of U.N. sanctions.

Britain is scorned in Zambia and Tanzania for not using force to topple the breakaway white regime in Rhodesia. French interests do business as usual in Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital.

French aid to Africa is p ed only under the strictest terms. American and Soviet aid often is labeled "neocolonialism" even when granted with no strings attached.

Russia, Britain and the United States have had to defend their positions on the civil war in Nigeria. One French bank is reported to have loaned $6 million to secessionist Biafra for arms purchases.

Black African miliants sneer at Washington for supplying weapons to Portugal under the NATO agreement—weapons which may be used against 'freedom fighters" in Angola and Mozambique. There are signs that France will become the main supplier of jet aircraft and bombs to Portugal's armies in Africa.

African states in the U.N. bitterly criticized the United States or providing transport planes to help end insurrection in the Congo in 1964. French paratroopers flew into Libreville that same year to crush a coup against the pro-Paris Gabon government, without raising a ripple.

Some U.S. officials suspect the hand of De Gaulle is somewhere behind the recent eviction of the Peace Corps from Gabon, a country with provides uranium to France.

The ties between Paris and most of its former African territories are almost as strong as before independence.

The Organization of African Unity, which includes all black-ruled nations, has been foundering but the 14-nation French speaking Afro-Malagasy Joint Organization, known as OCAM or its initials in French, gains stature and influence.

OCAM countries include some 58 million people—one-third the population of black-ruled, sub-Sahara Africa. They depend on agriculture but also boast iron ore, uranium, gold, bauxite, diamonds and oil deposits.

OCAM is basically a conservative group except for the Brazzaville Congo which flirts with Communist China. Even Brazzaville relies heavily on French aid.

Most OCAM nations have mutual defense pacts with Paris and some 6,600 French troops are based in several strategic spots of its former African empire.

French aid to Africa, almost all of it to French-speaking areas, was $465 million in 1966. U.S. aid to Africa in that year was $169 million.

French aid buys considerable influence. Frenchmen occupy high government posts in African capitals to administer the aid and the influence. Almost 12,000 French government workers and technicians live in Africa. More than 90 per cent of high school teachers in the Ivory Coast are French.

Countries which might be inclined to resist French influence can reflect in the troubles of Guinea and Dahomey before doing anything which might upset Paris.

France was so irritated by Dahomey's fourth coup in five years that it suspended the $10 million a year Paris provided to keep the unstable West African country afloat.

Guinea decided before independence to go it alone after 1960 rather than lean on French help. French technicians left and took with them everything from telephone wire to toilet seats. Vital statistics were burned. The country is virtually bankrupt and relies on handouts of U.S. food. De Gaulle has ignored a recent request from President Sekou Toure to reopen "honest and fruitful" cooperation."

Most French-speaking leaders in black Africa revere De Gaulle as a stern father figure much in the style of a powerful tribal chief.

Predicts New Gold Rush

LONDON (AP) —A leading British commentator reported today signs of a new rush for gold and predicted that the price will rise.

Patrick Sergeant, financial editor of the London Daily Mail, said international bankers were worried by rumors of a major deficit in the U.S. balance of payments in the first quarter of this year.

These rumors, he said, suggested that the deficit may be worse than the $1.8 billion in the last quarter of 1967.

Gold closed on the London free market Friday at $38.65 an ounce, a gain of 30 cents over the previous day and the highest reached since the market reopened April 1. Turnover was estimated at up to 10 tons, twice the daily norm.

The pound sterling sagged to $2.3965, the lowest since March 14.

Pate, secretary of City Council; Mrs. Joe Alexander, secretary of West Elementary and treasurer of City Council; Mrs. Ruby Anderson, treasurer at Stanfield; and Mrs. James Stehley, treasurer of Northeast Elementary.

PTA Units Hold Joint Installation

PTA officers from all units for 1968-69 were installed in a ceremony at Stanfield cafeteria Monday evening. City Council President Mrs. Marvin Dozier welcomed those present and introduced the installing officer, Mrs. Allene Massingill.

Mrs. Massingill started her impressive ceremony by mentioning the change of seasons and with it comes a change in leadership of PTA. It has long been a custom to usher in spring and in some countries the Maypole dance is included in the celebration. The Maypole was chosen as a device to provide the background for the installation service.

The Maypole was representative of the great PTA organization bearing its colors of blue and gold. Connected to this standard were ties of service in various colored ribbons extending from the top. Each color represented an officer in PTA. As each office was called, officers stepped to the Maypole and picked up her designated color.

Purple was the color chosen for the presidents, as purple is a royal color, and as each one leads and encourages her PTA unit it is indeed a royal calling.

Lavender represented the vice presidents, as a color to complement the royal purple as each will complement the program and accept other assignments to aid the president.

The recording secretary's color was white for purity as her records must be for the benefit of future meetings and business of the association.

Pink was the chosen color for corresponding secretaries because it is a cheerful gay color which must be the manner in which the correspondence is attended.

Gold was chosen for the treasurer's color as it surely designates the office of treasurer.

The parlamentarian's color was blue for in the function of her office she must be sincere in the study and performance of duty. As each officer took her color in hand, a circle was formed around the Maypole.

Mrs. Massingill went on to say the Parent - Teacher movement has unlimited potentialities for advancing human welfare. It offers an effective program for the practice of democracy and development of good citizenship. It devotes to resources and volunteers, services to promoting the well being of children and youth.

The objects as set forth by the National Congress, Parents and Teachers, have guided us for 59 years and shall continue to chart our course. Each officer was charged to dedicate himself anew to the fulfillment of these objects.

Following the program a social hour was enjoyed. Cake and coffee were served from a gaily decorated table by Mrs. Pat Pate, Mrs. W. S. Salmon and Mrs. Floyd Allmand presided at the registration table.

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS — Mrs. Nathan Mearse was presented a life membership by Northeast Elementary PTA, Mr. Frank Miller received a life membership from City Council PTA, and Mrs. Billy Earl Roach was recognized as having been presented a life membership by Stanfield Elementary.

SERVICE AWARDS were presented to the above group of women by Mrs. Marvin Dozier, out-going president of City Council PTA. From left, Mrs. Elmo Crowder, Mrs. Lloyd Allmand, Mrs. B. J. Middleton, Mrs. Billy E. Roach, Mrs. J. C. Massingill and Mrs. Franklin Pruitt.

"BOSS NAMED" — Mrs. Inez Teaff, vice president of ABWA announced the "Boss of the Year" as Mr. Wayland Holt. Pictured above Mrs. Mary Ellen Meador does the honors of crowning her boss.

Men Fight To Stay In Driver's Seat

Women are better drivers than men — but the male still hates to turn over the reins of the family buggy to his wife. The reason is ego — not safety— according to research.

"Women average only 218 accidents for every ten million miles driven — against 276 for men," says Robert Olney. "Yet a recent survey of interstate travelers showed 41 per cent of the men refused to share the driving with their wives.

"The main reason we discovered was male ego. Men have lived through the demise of men-only clubs, watched the female divert pants and hats to their own fashion tastes even light up cigars and pipes. The car to the contemporary male is as much a symbol of manhood as eagle feathers were to the Indians — and he fights to preserve his hold."

While women currently have a better safety record than men, they're losing ground fast. According to the National Safety Council, the number of male accidents has leveled off — but the rate for females has soared from 178 for every 10 million miles in 1958 to the present total.

"Where the male does relinquish his driving rights, it's usually on a long trip and only after he's worn out," continued Olney.

"Sharing the wheel is actually an excellent safety practice. Vacationers average 11 hours and 560 miles a day on the interstate — and many drive until they're just too tired to go on. The best way to avoid fatigue — which is a major cause of highway accidents — is to change drivers frequently.

Other solutions include frequent stops and side trips off the interstate to break the monotony. The problem with the latter is 71 per cent claim they don't know where to find points of interest — and 40 per cent who have made side trips admit to getting lost on back roads.

Travelaide was created to serve as a communications vehicle for travelers driving through the "interstate tunnel" — to direct them to interstate services and attractions.

The guide is available free to tourists at service stations along interstate routes.

"A total of 147 billion vehicle miles — equivalent to 14 round-trips to Venus — were traveled on the interstate system in 1965," says Olney. "The figure will jump to an estimated 309 billion vehicle miles when the interstate system is completed in 1972. Driving maps and guides are critical to help these travelers find where they're going — and enjoy getting there."

Mary Kay COSMETICS

Some years ago there was a man whose business was tanning hides. One day he decided that if one could take an old, stiff, ugly, big-pored hide and turn it into a beautiful, small-pored soft piece of leather like a glove — then, somehow the same miracle could be wrought with human skin — particularly since there were living cells with which to work.

He experimented with his own skin, using in a modified form the things used in tanning hides. At 73 he had smooth, unblemished skin like that of a much younger man.

From this original discovery evolved MARY KAY COSMETICS. You, too, can enjoy this beauty secret. Let me show you that "No Woman Need Ever Look 40!"

Holt Named 'Boss Of Year' For ABWA

The Snyder Country Club was the scene of the annual American Business Women's Association "Boss Night" banquet Thursday evening.

The large horse - shoe assembled tables were laid with white linens, ribbons of gold and black and yellow spring floral arrangements. A large variety of books were placed down the tables in keeping with the year's theme of ABWA "education." The head table focal point was an antique Bible graced by a tall white taper and red rose buds. Dinner music was furnished by Mrs. Linda Rehm.

Wayland Holt gave the invocation and Mary Ellen Meador, president, gave the welcome, response was by Mr. Stanley Noah, 1967 "Boss of the Year." He spoke briefly on employees and the important place in business that women play today. "If all women would retire from the business world and go back to the kitchen, the world would have a economical recession."

Greetings and introductions were given by Vondell King, toast mistress. Lois Leach gave the vocational talk on her duties as a professional secretary. Clara Mae Noah told briefly of the "Aims of ABWA."

Mrs. Ellen Crosland of Big Spring, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Glenn E. Faison, Minister of Music and Education at First Baptist Church, Big Spring. He gave an inspiring talk on "History on Education in Religion," in keeping with the organizations theme. He told of the earliest methods of teaching religion, up to the present, stressing that the home is one of the most vital spots of instilling religion into our children. The examples they have set before them in the home at an early age will travel with them throughout life.

Experienced homemakers remember when the term "spring lamb" was heard every year. Then it meant that this choice meat was available only during March, April, and May. Today the phrase means little. Some shows up on meat counters the year round, although, like many foods, it still has its peak season. Most animals go to market when they're less than a year old, and their meat is lean, tender, and tops in flavor. A magazine article suggests take care, when you buy, not to confuse lamb with mutton, which comes from more mature animals, usually 1½ to 2 years old.

Mrs. Bills Speaks At SCSPAS

Scurry Chapter of South Plains Archaeological Society met Thursday evening, April 25, at the Snyder Savings & Loan Community Room.

Donald Huddleston is president of Scurry Chapter and Pat Bills is secretary - treasurer. John Portis represents the Chapter on the Historical Survey Committee. Twenty - two members and guests were present.

Pat Bills gave a most interesting program on a burial mound that she and Mr. Bills have been working on for several months. This mound was located in Coryell County. Besides many arrowheads and broken pieces of artifacts, it also contained the skeleton of a woman. From bone and skeletal study, this woman was estimated to be 30 to 35 years of age, a little over five feet tall, and her bones showed definite signs of rickets. Evidence of abcessed teeth were proved by X-rays. Dart projectile points at site indicate that the burial could have taken place from about the time of the birth of Christ to 1000 AD. No definite conclusion of date could be made without Carbon - 14 tests, however.

Mrs. Bills spent many hours preparing this unusual program, complete with charts and snapshots of the site and method of excavating.

If you haven't already done so, you might try adding raw mushrooms to a green salad. Although you may have to acquire a taste for them, they do look impressive in a salad.

Junior Troop 327 (Mrs. Franklin Pruitt and Mrs. G. J. Nunley, Jr.): After the Song Festival on April 5, Nita Mijares, sister of Elizabeth Mijares from Troop 327, gave a party for all the girls in this troop. A Teddy-bear cake, cookies, and sherbet punch were served from a lovely table decorated by Nita. Marshmallow flowers were favors. Nita directed the girls in several games. At the party it was announced that the troop is planning to go to Sondra Caverns after school is out.

On April 6, Troop 327 hiked from the Santa Fe depot to Camp Ila Ru. At the camp the girls prepared desserts to go with their sack lunches. Good hiking manners and hiking games and songs were discussed. After clean - up the girls hiked back to Snyder. This is the third year the girls have gone on this hike. Many thanks to Mr. Newton for letting us use his place!

The Roadrunner patrol presented the play "Cinderella" for their troop last Tuesday. Cast included: Elizabeth Mijares as Cinderella, Cecile Pruitt as the Prince; Mary Spivey, the king; Sawanna Roach, step-mother; Lynn Bollinger and Cathy Scott, step-sisters; Marla Watkins, fairy god-mother. This patrol is working on the Magic Carpet Badge.

On May 10th, this troop will have an overnite at Camp Boothe Oaks.

Whatever cut of lamb you buy, look for pink-to-reddish lean meat with a fine velvety texture and waxy-white, smooth firm fat. The outer fat will be covered with a natural pink paper-thin skin called "fell" that helps the meat hold its shape and juiciness during cooking. For highest quality, always check for a U.S. Government grade of PRIME or CHOICE, a meat packer's grade or the supermarket's own brand.

New Fronts Open In Poverty Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government and business are moving on some new fronts to combat poverty as the Poor People's Campaign gears for its Washington demonstration.

And a coalition of five religious groups has told the Supreme Court the poor have a constitutional right to government relief.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey announced Friday a $59 million program, financed largely by private firms, to build six factories in Los Angeles and Brooklyn, N.Y., in which slum residents will be hired and trained for jobs.

It is the first large-scale project of its kind, with business contributing $52.1 million to the project and the government chipping in with $6.9 million.

"These contracts represent important progress toward our continuing efforts to provide meaningful employment for that large body of Americans who have been untouched by our record prosperity," Humphrey said.

President Johnson's stated goal is to find 500,000 jobs for the hard-core unemployed by 1971.

At the White House, the newly formed Urban Research Institute held an organizational meeting, electing as president William Gorham, former assistant secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The private, nonprofit group plans a massive research program aimed at solving such city problems as joblessness, housing, crime, traffic and air pollution.

Five national organizations asked the Supreme Court to recognize a constitutional right of the poor to get relief payments from the government.

"Provision for the basic needs of the poor has been recognized as a duty of society since biblical times," they said in a brief.

"Children who starve because our government fails to provide them with relief are deprived of due process of law in violation of the 5th and 14th Amendments," the groups said.

The friend-of-the-court brief was filed by the American Jewish Congress, the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds, the National Conference of Catholic Charities, the National Council of Churches and the Young Women's Christian Association.

The brief came as the court was preparing to hear arguments next week on whether states may constitutionally deny welfare benefits to poor people because they haven't lived in the state for a specified time.

In Atlanta, Ga., the Southern Christian Leadership Conference was seeking 650 mules and 325 wagons for its caravan of poor people headed for Washington. They plan nonviolent demonstrations aimed at pressuring Congress to enact massive welfare programs. Those demonstrations are scheduled for next month.

Safety Urged For Bicycle Riders

"Bicycle safety is everybody's business," Chief Stephen Clark of the Snyder Police Department said today, "and I urge all parents, motorists and bicycle riders to be aware of that responsibility, particularly this time of the year."

Cycling's Chief Clark noted, has become the nation's number one outdoor recreation activity, and is recognized by many authorities as an excellent source of physical fitness, fun and family recreation, but it is our responsibility to make sure it is approach.

Chief Clark observed that for 14 years, the American bicycle industry has designated May as American Bike Month, saluting the nation's cycling fraternity, and cooperating in a nationwide safety effort. Throughout the country, he said, thousands of groups cooperate in community-wide bike safety campaigns in May. Many bicycle retailers offer free inspections, and most distribute free safety literature.

"I'm happy to support this nationwide safety effort," Chief Clark said, "and add my voice to those urging that our cyclists ride safely in May and every month. As summer approaches, more people will be using bikes to get to ball parks, picnic grounds, and recreation facilities of all kinds. Motorists must respect their right to be on the roads and cyclists, in turn must also act responsibly."

To help increase knowledge of safe-riding techniques, Chief Clark made the following suggestions:

1. Bicycle riders should observe and obey all traffic signs, stop signs and signals and other traffic control devices.

2. Night riding without a white headlight and red tail light or reflector is unsafe.

3. It is not safe and proper for a bike rider to carry a passenger.

4. Bikes should be inspected twice a year by a reliable service man.

5. The headlights of a bicycle should be seen from at least 300 feet.

6. Bike riders should give hand signals when stopping or turning.

Voters Test Popularity Of Kiesinger

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — Voters in Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger's home state of Baden-Wuerttemberg go to the polls Sunday in an election overshadowed by a distant assassination attempt and its violent aftermath.

The three parties represented in the State Landtag—parliament—fear that an outsider, the rightist National Democratic Party, NPD, will profit from concern aroused by the bloody demonstrations that followed against leftist student leader Rudi Dutschke in West Berlin on April 11.

The widespread leftist-led outbursts extended to Esslingen, at the doorsteps of this staid capital of the Swabians. The NPD is rated as virtually a sure bet to win a foothold in the seventh of West Germany's 10 state parliaments in the balloting.

Trying to forestall this, Kiesinger hit the state campaign trails for his dominant Christian Democratic party, CDU, and Willy Brandt, vice chancellor and foreign minister, toured the state for his Social Democratic party, SPD.

Adolf von Thadden, the NPD's national chairman, has taken a hard line against the demonstrators and predicted that the party would win 10 per cent of the vote—five per cent more than the minimum necessary to win proportional representation in the Landtag. Some observers believe he is being tactically conservative in his prediction.

The election ranks as a warm-up for the 1969 national election and as a test of the popularity of Kiesinger's federal coalition government in Bonn.

Kiesinger had been minister-president—governor—of Baden-Wuerttemberg for eight years until he resigned to form the federal coalition with Brandt's Social Democrats in December 1966.

The CDU is hoping to win an absolute majority. Expectations are that the SPD will, as in other recent state elections, lose votes. This would again demonstrate that the junior coalition partner is gaining little profit from the novel coalition.

The CDU now has 59 of the 120 Landtag seats. The SPD has 47 and the Free Democratic party 14.

Newlyweds In Altoona Met During Bitter Pleiku Battle

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — Bitter street fighting was at its height in the Viet Cong's Tet offensive in January when badly wounded Capt. Lawrence Dring and a sergeant bashed in the door of a house in Pleiku. That's when Dring met the girl he marries today.

"I'm afraid we weren't very polite," Dring recalls. "We kicked open the door, and there was Rebecca. I thought 'What's a nice girl like you doin' in a place like this.'"

Miss Rebecca Gould, a civilian nurse, was huddled in the house with other personnel of the church-sponsored Vietnam Christian service while fighting raged around them. She helped save Dring's life as she and a doctor treated his severe wound.

The Green Beret captain and the nurse will be married by her father, the Rev. Theodore Gould, in his Grace Methodist church at Altoona.

"You might say we saved each other's lives," Rebecca said. "If it hadn't been for Larry and his company, we probably would have all been six feet under by now."

Dring, 30, a Special Forces officer from Summerville, S.C., had taken his company of Vietnamese mountain tribesmen into a section of Pleiku shortly after dawn to look for snipers.

Instead of scattered sniper fire, they ran into two battalions of North Vietnamese infantry.

"We got shot up pretty bad," Dring said. "A hand grenade knocked me flat, then 'Charlie' put a round through my leg. An American tank came up, but 'Charlie' blew that up."

Not until Dring burst in on Rebecca and her friends did he discover how badly he had been hit. "There was a wound 18 inches long in my right leg and six inches of artery had been torn out," he said. "I said to myself, 'Well, captain, this is the fifth time you've been wounded and now you've had it. You're going to die!'"

Rebecca and a doctor worked feverishly on Dring and the other wounded. They fed albumin into Dring and fought to keep him awake. With the help of troops who smashed an opening in a wall at the rear of the house, they got Dring to an ambulance and an Army hospital.

For 10 days Dring lingered on the brink of death. Doctors gave him 13 pints of blood, and he gradually came around.

Rebecca, a pert, brown-haired girl, was around, too. Her residence and civilian clinic had been shot up by small arms and mortar fire, so she helped out at the Army hospital.

"She looked real cute running up and down the corridors in her dungarees," said Dring.

When the captain was strong enough to be evacuated by airlift, Rebecca went to the airstripp to see him off. "I was standing near the plane waving," she said. "An officer asked me if I knew that fella, and I said, 'Yes.' He told me to go up the ramp into the plane. I did, and while I was talking to him he proposed.

"I said, 'yes.'"

Dring was flown back to the states. Rebecca went to Saigon, then to Malaysia and arrived back in this country a month ago.

Completions Tabulated

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission reported Saturday there were 115 oil wells and 48 gas wells drilled in Texas last week.

This raised the total oil well completions for the year to 1,583, compared to 2,127 a year ago at this time, and gas well completions to 742, compared to 867 for the same period in 1967.

The commission said 133 wells were plugged, including 57 dry holes.

There were six wildcat oil wells drilled last week — two in San Antonio's No. 2 District, and one each in the Houston, Corpus Christi, Abilene and Midland districts. There were 12 wildcat gas wells drilled — four each in San Antonio's No. 2 District and the Corpus Christi District, 2 in the Kilgore District and one each in the Houston and Midland districts.

MEXICO CITY — A group of ladies and gentlemen from Flint, Michigan, have written asking about the Chihuahua - Topolobampo train ride and want details on the trip.

This spectacular run was inaugurated four years ago and already has become one of Mexico's majestic wonders. It crosses 600 miles of the Western Sierra Madre Mountains that extend over a large section of Chihuahua State. Although the rail line officially starts at Ojinaga (across the border from Presidio, Texas) the real ride begins at Chihuahua City. From here every Tuesday and Friday a train leaves for Los Mochis on the Pacific Coast. However, this is a night train and you get no view of the towering mountains and bottomless canyons. Plus 28 bridges and 73 tunnels. I would recommend that the eager tourist take the "autovia" (a diesel - powered coach car) which makes the entire 13-hour run in technicolor daylight. These fast, self - contained coaches leave Chihuahua every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The return from Los Mochis on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. The fare is surprisingly low — about $7.50 first class and $9.00 (US) special class, one way. Snack bar service is available on board and the only difference between first class and special is that the special provides you with reclining seats. The coach stops for 15 minutes at the famous Copper Canyon. This is a region sparcely inhabited by Tarahumara Indians, one of the most primitive tribes on the American continent. When you get to Los Mochis, you have the opportunity of catching a bus to Topolombampo, a fishing town and slowly - growing resort some 12 miles up the coast. Bus service is good and there are taxis available. Topolobampo also has a good restaurant and some nice scenery.

INFORMATION ON THE CARNIVAL SEASON IN MEXICO?

It's going on now. These festivals start 40 days before Lent and end when everybody is beat down for Holy Week. The better known let - goes takes place in Veracruz, Mazatlan an Merida. Everything from masked balls to street dancing an float parades. Strictly uninhibited but loads of fun. The carnival shindig can be traced back as far as ancient Greece and Egypt where religious - magic festivals in honor of the gods were a yearly must. When Christianity came to Rome, the new religion adapted these pagan precedents to its own calendar. In Mexico a similar mingling of ancient rites (many of them dancing entreaties to the gods to end the dry season) with Christian traditions brought over by the Spaniards took place soon after the conquest. If you're a festival buff you'll enjoy them. But I'm afraid you'll have to wait for the pre-Lenten season next year.

DO WE NEED A PASSPORT FOR VISITING MEXICO?

No, a tourist card does the trick. You can get these at the border when you cross but you will need a birth certificate or other evidence of your U. S. citizenship. The tourist cards used to cost $3 (US) but now are free, courtesy of the Mexican Government which is extending greater facilities to travelers. The card is good for six months in Mexico.

Racial Issue Smoulders Uneasily In Great Britain

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The colored collector on the suburban railroad asked for the first time in memory to see my ticket.

He clipped it. "Okay, mate," he said in immaculate cockney, thereby signifying that things weren't quite the same.

He was a Jamaican, here 15 years on a passport declaring him a citizen of the United Kingdom and the colonies. In asking for the ticket, as was his right, he declared both his Englishness and his authority amid the strange spring haze enshrouding British politics.

In the past 10 days, unthinkable things have happened here. The smouldering unease over racial issues has pushd to the brink and then pulled back. Politicians have talked of national suicide and rivers of blood, and 50 million people have been inundated in a torrent of words.

Not a shop has been looted. No one has been shot or even bruised. Yet color has become the year's hottest political issue and may well decide the nation's next government.

Until this week no sane person could have forecast that a thousand tough London dockers, Laborite voters to a man, would have marched through London yelling support for a stone-faced professor of Greek on the far right of the Tory party.

It happened.

Until this week no one could expect that Michael Foot, leftist firebrand of Labor's parliamentary caucus, would be complimenting Tory leader Edward Heath as a man of real responsibility.

It happened.

Or that Quentin Hogg, an old-style Tory and professional stirrer-upper, would get the credit for taking the heat off an explosive situation.

It happened.

It started last weekend with a speech by Enoch Powell, 56-year-old Greek scholar and wartime brigadier, demanding an end to colored immigration and declaring the nation was heading for suicide.

Given a few years, he said, every British city would have its Negro or Asian ghetto and Britain would be on the verge of race war.

What he said was less important than the way he said it. The speech was peppered with references to "grinning pickaninnies," terrorizing dear old English widows.

Tory leader Heath immediately fired Powell from his post as defense spokesman in the Conservative inner councils.

Powell, who commands the support of perhaps 20 of the 259 Conservatives in Parliament, accused Heath of political cowardice. Thus disarrayed, the party went into Tuesday's debate on the government's race relations bill.

The bill is intended to extend to housing and employment, a system of conciliation already working in other racial areas.

If a colored man feels that he has been barred or badly treated in a public place such as a restaurant or pub, he can take his complaint to a conciliation board. The board tries to determine if the insult was real or imagined, and if it is real obtains an undertaking from the premises complained about that the discrimination won't happen again.

The argument now is whether a system which works in this public domain can work in the field of private property. In short, whether an Englishman who offers his house for sale can be obligated to sell to a person who he knows will not be welcomed by his neighbors.

The bill duly passed its second Commons reading — approval in principle—by 313 votes to 209.

The great bulk of Conservatives, Powell among them, voted against it in the hope of changes later. The party leadership, with Hogg as its spokesman, indicated it would later support the bill if tougher clauses could be removed during line-by-line consideration in committee.

Thus a debate billed as a stormy one ended like a tea party. But outside Parliament the battle raged.

The dockers paraded in Parliament's forecourt singing "Powell's a jolly good fellow" and "I'm dreaming of a white Christmas."

Powell announced that of more than 4,000 letters only six opposed his view that all immigration should stop. Newspapers reported mammoth mails breaking down 50 to 1 pro-Powell.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson significantly kept out of the argument. He left the government's talking to Home Secretary James Callaghan and lesser ministers.

What Is Going On In Red Romania?

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Writer

BUCHAREST (AP) — What is going on in Communist-ruled Romania?

Bucharest hotels are jammed with businessmen, tourists, visiting dignitaries. A babble of French, German and English—especially German—drowns out the soft, Latinate lilt of Romanian.

An unmistakable accent from the front door of the Athenee Palace Hotel booms: "You must come and see us in Texas."

Along the broad shopping avenues outside, state-owned stores display refrigerators, washing machines, radios and television sets, available on the instalment plan. Imported and domestic textiles are draped in the show windows.

There are more privately owned automobiles than you would expect to see. Outdoor restaurants and cafes are packed. The narrow waterways of Cismigiu Park are crowded with colliding boats.

This is not the dour Romania of the 1950s when every pronouncement from Bucharest came through to the West like a chill blast from Siberia.

Communist Romania seems to be go-go-go these days.

New apartments are going up throughout the country: 51,000 new, individual suites last year and 57,000 planned for 1968. An automobile assembly plant at Pitesti will be completed this year to turn out French Renault passenger cars under license. Another iron and steel combine is near completion at Galatz.

A new 400-room luxury hotel is being built in Bucharest under an arrangement between the government and Pan American's hotel subsidiary, Intercontinental.

Romania geared itself as an industrial country against the explicit advice of Russia's former Premier Nikita Khrushchev, but is still growing an exportable agricultural surplus. The country's industrial growth rate is about 11 per cent annually, one of the highest in the world.

Romania expects to produce 4.9 million tons of steel this year and raise production to six million tons by 1970.

The country's borders are wide open to tourists, with visas available on entry. There were 1,200,000 tourists last year and the National Travel Office expects 1,500,000 this year.

Junior Editors Quiz on MEDITERRANEAN

QUESTION: How did the Mediterranean Sea get that name?

* * * *

ANSWER: The Mediterranean was the heartland sea — the core, the center from which our Western civilization emerged and went out to influence all the earth. Study the ancient map by the Greek geographer Hecataeus which we illustrate. We suggest you get a modern world map and compare the two. The ancient map looks clumsy and queer; but you can see that while the other parts of the world are exceedingly confused, the Mediterranean Sea (black area going across in center) is quite accurately shown. You can see the boot shape of Italy and you will recognize Greece, The Holy Land and the Nile River. These are clearly shown because the people living there knew more about their own areas than about the rest of the world. Notice how the land goes all around the Mediterranean Sea. It was because of this that the Romans gave it its first name, Mare Internum, meaning inland sea. But later, as the great Roman Empire spread outward, they gave their sparkling blue sea a more imposing name: Mediterranean, meaning middle of the earth. Rome was the center of their huge empire; hence, its home sea was the true center of the Western world at that time.

New Water Flood Projects Set In Mitchell Oil Field

Two major secondary recovery projects — both water floods — have been approved or the Westbrook (middle Clear Ford) pool in Mitchell County. It is calculated that an extra 26 million barrels of oil will be produced as a result of these acfivities.

The discovery of this reservoir, completed in 1921, was the first commercial crude oil producer in West Texas.

The water floods for the middle Clear Fork horizon, the sources of practically all the oil from the Westbrook area, is found at about 2,900 feet.

Standard Oil Co. of Texas will be the operator for the Westbrook, North (middle Clear Fork) Unit of 7,700 acres on which there are now 100 producing wells.

Twenty - two of those will be used as water injection holes when the entire program is completed. Engineers calculate that an additional recovery of 17 million barrels of crude will be produced as the result of pressure maintenance by water injection in the unit.

American Petrofina Co. of Texas will be in charge of the Westbrook, Southeast (middle Clear Ford) Unit of 3,480 acres with 138 wells presently listed on the proration schedules of the Railarod Commission.

Additional recovery from this unit is calculated at nine million barrels. Seventeen injection wells are planned.

The Westbrook (middle Clear Ford) reservoir in 1967 is credited with yielding 1,361,000 barrels of crude to bring its cumulative production to January 1 of this year to 34,407,000 barrels. Industry authorities estimates present reserves at about 25.5 million barrels.

CRMWD Projects Making Progress

Projects of the Colorado River Municipal Water District are pressing forward on a wide front.

Work will start Monday on the construction of a 7,500 - ft. long dam for the side storage on the Colorado River, two miles northwest of Colorado City. The entractor, Lyles & Lyles of Ballinger, has been preparing roads and the site during the past week. The dam will have a core trench under it to prevent seepage or washout. It will be a horseshoe affair to impound mineralized water from the normal low and the initial flush flow of the river. This operation is expected to help improve the quality of water in the Robert Lee dam, 40 miles downstream.

Panhandle Construction Company was stymied by the weather during the past week in laying pipeline from the Martin County well field toward Big Spring. So far the project has some four and a half miles of 36-in. pipe in the ground and two more miles of pipe on the right of way. However, four highway crossings have been laid.

Crews have completed field work on routes for pipelines from Moss Creek Lake, southeast of Big Spring, to the pipeline serving Sun Oil's plant in Coke County; also from this juncture northward to the side storage. The route from Moss Creek to the new reservoir at Robert Lee is being staked.

In the lake basin above Robert Lee, Roland, Scherer, contractor, has completed dirt work on three oil well mounds and is almost finished with two others. Seventeen will be built in all. Rip rap will be started soon.

For the first time since early winter, Clement Bros., contractor for the dam, put in a full week, thanks to the weather. Good Progress is being made. Indications are that SH 158 will be routed around the dam by June 1, freeing Clements to complete core work for the dam.

Peyote User Is Found Not Guilty

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Judge E. James Kazen found David S. Clark innocent Friday of possession of peyote, saying the state anti-peyote law violates the religious rights of the Native American Church of North America which uses the cactas fruit in ceremonies.

Kazen said:

"In view of the evidence and findings, the court finds and concludes that Article 726-D of the Penal Code of Texas is unconstitutional as it applies to this defendant who possessed and used peyote in good faith in the sincere and honest practice of peyotism, a bona fide religion, and therefore the defendant is found not guilty."

Clark had testified that to make possession of peyote illegal was to violate the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, permitting the free exercise of religion.

"We believe that peyote contains the Holy Spirit and those who consume peyote in our ceremony are put in direct contact with almighty God," Clark said. He was arrested Feb. 9 in Mirando City.

Kazen classified the drug as dangerous and with hallucogenic properties, but added it was not harmful to the mental or physical processes of the user.

Sam Houston Clinton Jr., a defense attorney with the Texas chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, said he was "completely satisfied" with the decision.

Clark, a Navajo Indian, said he had never observed any ill effects from the use of peyote. He said "It's bitter and doesn't taste too good."

The church claims a membership of 200,000 in North America.

Nixon Praised By Young Eisenhower

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (AP) — David Eisenhower, the grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, has taken to the rostrum to praise his future father-in-law, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower, accompanied by his fiance, Julie Nixon, spoke Friday to an audience of some 900 South Hadley High School students about Nixon's stand on civil rights and the Vietnam war.

"Whereas McCarthy says let us begin anew, Nixon's theme is let us restore and then begin," young Eisenhower said.

After the speech, Eisenhower answered questions from the audience.

Miss Nixon said later she had mixed feelings about her fiance entering politics, but said she would support him 100 per cent if he decided to do so. She said they planned to be married before their college graduation.

Julie is a sophomore at Smith College in Northampton, and Eisenhower is a sophomore at Amherst College in Amherst.

Cliff Robertson Hospitalized Briefly

CASTAIC, Calif. (AP) — Actor Cliff Robertson was hospitalized briefly Friday after a biplane he was flying while filming a movie flipped after striking power lines.

Robertson, 43, suffered a cut on his nose and bruises when his DeHaviland Tiger Moth hit the lines about 50 feet from the ground.

He was treated and released from Golden State Hospital in Newhall, a Universal Studio spokesman said. The spokesman added that the plane was demolished.

Robertson is in Castaic, 25 miles northwest of Los Angeles, for the filming of the movie "Sunshine Patriot."

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

DO SOMETHING YOU'D DO FOR NOTHING

Q — "My parents have always wanted me to become a lawyer. I'm more interested in aeronautics. What would you advise me to be?" —R.D.H., Jr., Greenwood, Mass.

A — Whatever you really want to be. It's a little-known fact but according to the U.S. Department of Labor, there are 21,741 different occupations to choose from!

CANDLESTICK MAKERS, ETCETERA. In this country, there are men and women who are water witches and wharfingers, graphologists and grape growers, zoologists and taxidermists and doll doctors, antique dealers, "terradynamic" engineers and typesetters and stagehands and thousands more. Without getting into the techniques of how to choose your future right now, let's talk about WHY.

THE RIGHT REASONS. As elementary as it sounds, the important thing in choosing your career is to choose for the right reasons. What are the right reasons? Here's a pretty good benchmark: Do something you'd do for nothing. Do something you think will bring you satisfaction and the kind of pride in achievement that keeps you vitally absorbed in what you're doing. Do something that makes you feel good. Do something you love to be doing. Do this, and you will have found a gateway to real and lifelong happiness.

SOMETHING FOR PARENTS TO CONSIDER. Sometimes parents want a certain career for their sons and daughters because it has prestige; status, a fine income, something impressive so that when somebody asks, later in life, "How's your son doing?" the parent can answer something like, "Great! He's a big executive downtown, in line for the company presidency, makes a lot of money, lives in the best suburb, has two cars, two children and his own cabin cruiser."

That's not bad and I'm not knocking it. Unless, of course, the son really doesn't LIKE being a big executive downtown. But with that big house, cars, cabin cruiser and so forth, he's got to work at it anyway to keep up the payments.

SIGNIFICANCE OF WORK. Whatever your career choice, it's not always the salary or stature or security. (Although when you choose your career for the right reasons, the odds are you'll be well paid because you're good at it.) A healthy regard for the future and a rainy day is basic, but beyond that, your work must give you personal rewards — excitement and involvement and purpose. Do something you'd do for nothing.

FOR SAFER FOOTING — Rusty Staub, Houston Astros outfielder who hit .333 in 149 games last season, wears two different sets of shoes when he plays on the synthetic turf in the Astrodome. At left is the regular baseball shoe which he uses while batting. He wears a soccer style shoe when he plays the outfield.

Rusty Staub May Be 1st Astro Superstar

By FRANKECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Almost seven years ago, or before the Houston Colts, now Astros, were born, Grady Hatton left his Beaumont, Tex., home to double check on a 17-year - old red - haired slugger playing high school ball in New Orleans.

The scouting reports were so high on first baseman - outfielder Daniel Joseph (Rusty) Staub that Hatton, now manager of Houston's National League team but then director of player personnel for the embryo team, thought he'd better get a look at the left handed batter 18 teams were scouting.

"It was in the summer of 1961," recalls Hatton, "and Staub was leading a championship American Legion team. After a while I got so high on him I couldn't trust my own judgment. I called in more scouts to see if they could find any flaws. They couldn't."

On Sept. 10, 1961, the day baseball could sign Staub, nine clubs had made bids. That night only the Houston and Philadelphia teams were in the running.

Houston apparently made the best offer for Staub signed the next day for $125,000 over a four year span.

Now, after three years of ribbing by veteran players because of his huge bonus, Rusty Staub is regarded as Houston's first superstar.

He became 24 on April 1, but when he talks about hitting .333, as he did last season for the fifth best batting average in all baseball, you get the feeling that Rusty Staub knows what it's all about.

"I held back until I saw the ball," Staub confesses. "I kept my head still because movement causes poor timing. Watching all the hitters helped.

"I stopped trying to go for the long ball. I thouhgt I was a home run hitter when I signed but now I don't go for the plump (the long ball), especially since we play 81 games in the Astrodome.

"If I had played in Chicago, Philadelphia or Cincinnati I might be regarded as a home run hitter. I stopped trying to go for the long ball last season. I stayed back in the batter's box and waited a lot longer. I was very disciplined.

"I might have hit a bit higher but my legs were bad all year.

"I had a lot of help during my career but you have to think things out for yourself. I applied myself and concentrated on hitting the ball where it was pitched.

"Regarding the chances I had (with men on base) I'm pleased with the 74 runs I drove in last year, but I'm hoping to do better."

He drove in 81 runs in 1966 but hit only .280, his previous high.

Last year he came on like a new Stan Musial. He was hitting .368 in late July on the strength of 49 base hits in 30 games. He hit safely in 28 of them and for the month of July hit .426 to lead such veterans as four - time batting champion Roberto Clemente and Orlando Cepeda.

When Houston first trained here in 1964, Staub stood erect with his feet wide apart. He had the good level swing.

This spring he still had that swing but he is crouched at the plate and getting a better look at every pitch.

He hit only .216 in 1964 and the Houston brass, rather than force feed their highly regarded youngster of 20, sent him to Oklahoma City of the Pacific Coast League. It was just what he needed. He hit .314 in 71 games and in 1965 came back to stay.

"I always had the feeling I could hit better," says Staub. "I needed the experience and I had to learn to be patient."

Rusty Staub made 182 hits [illegible] year, hit [illegible] games and led both leagues in doubles with 44. Ever the pitchers have learned to respect the popular red head. Of his 60 bases on balls last season, 21 of them were intentional.

"Give him a good start this spring," says Manager Hatton "and you're going to see why so [illegible] young man back in 1961."

CHANGES STYLE

Miller Barber Leads At Dallas

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Even the veteran pros change their style during a round when they discover they are unconsciously violating the rule for hitting the ball.

That's what happened to Miller Barber, the tour veteran from Sherman, Tex., in the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic Friday. His adjustment brought him into the lead at 36 holes with 135—five under par.

"I first realized that I had been hitting the ball at a slant and it was going to the right when I drove into the water on 14," said the balding 37-year-old.

"So I started hitting it perpendicular and never had any trouble thereafter."

Barber bagged a six-foot birdie on 15 and got two more birdies on the front nine.

He fired a two-under par 68 and took a one-stroke lead going into the third round over Jack McGowan, who set a competitive course record of 65 in pulling into a second place tie with Harold Henning of South Africa.

Henning had a 69 with a fabulous putting job getting him out of repeated trouble. He had only 25 putts for the day.

McGowan and Henning were tied at 136.

Gary Player, another South African, who led the tournament after a first round had his troubles Friday, including three-putting from six feet for a bogey and hitting a tree for another bogey. He managed only 71 and fell to a tie for fourth with Jack Montgomery, who shot par 70. Each had 137.

Arnold Palmer continued to shoot good golf despite a painful hip injury and his 68 pulled him into a tie for sixth at 139 with Kermit Zarley, who carded a 68.

Bunched at 140 were Bill Casper, Jack Nicklaus, Dale Douglass and Kel Nagle. Casper and Nicklaus fired 67s, Douglas 68 and Nagle 71 Friday.

Canadien-Hawk Clash On Tube

MONTREAL (AP) — Montreal meets Chicago in the fifth game of their best-of-7 Stanley Cup playoff Sunday afternoon, but chances are slim that goaltender Gump Worsley will be in he nets for the Canadiens.

Worsley, a 39-year-old veteran of 19 years of pro hockey, suffered a sprained neck Thursday night in Chicago as the Hawks won their first game of the series 2-1.

The Canadiens won the first three contests by 9-2, 4-1 and 4-2 scores. Sunday's fifth game will be televised nationally in the United States by the Columbia Broadcasting System starting at 2 p.m. EDT.

Worsley, this year's Vezina Trophy winner along with teammate Rogatien Vachon, was knocked out at 8:57 of the first period in Thursday's loss.

The injury occurred as Bobby Holl collided with him in scoring Chicago's first goal. Hull added a second in the middle period to insure the Chicago victory.

Worsley whacked his neck on the goal post in the collision and was removed from the game on a stretcher. He was taken to hospital for preliminary examination, but was released in time to catch the train to Montreal with the team.

The Montrealers hit town Friday afternoon and Worsley was sent to hospital for a further check. He wound up with a protective collar around his neck but no sign of serious damage.

However, Montreal Coach Toe Blake indicated he'll take no chances with Worsley's health and Vachon is likely to get the starting call Sunday.

Vachon had not played since March 31 before replacing the injured Worsley Thursday night. However, during the regular schedule Chicago counted only four goals against him in three starts. He shut out the Hawks on one occasion.

Meanwhile, the Hawks will be without veteran right winger Eric Nesterenko for Sunday's game. Nesterenko, a fine defensive player, suffered a shoulder separation in the first period of Thursday's contest and could be lost for the series if it goes a sixth game in Chicago Tuesday and a seventh in Montreal Thursday.

Sal Olivas of New Mexico State led the major college football players in total offense with 2,184 yards.

In two seasons at University of Texas at Arlington, Tex., coach Burley Bearden's football teams have a 16-5 record.

Keen Track Rivalry To Be Renewed

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — One of the nation's keenest collegiate track rivalries—that between Villanova's Wildcats and Tennessee's Volunteers—will be resumed next Friday and Saturday in the 12th annual Quantico Relays, the third stop on the Eastern outdoor circuit.

They will be challenged, however, in the collegiate division by such newcomers as the U.S. Military Academy—surprise winner of last week's Queens-Iona Relays—and Florida, and such familiar faces as New York U., Georgetown, D.C., and St. John's of New York.

More than 1,500 athletes from almost 100 colleges and clubs have entered the Marine-sponsored track carnival, the first annually on the East Coast which collegians and club entrants are thrown together in open individual competition.

The Baltimore Olympic Club will feature three-fourths of Trinidad-Tobago's Olympic 1,600-meter team of 1964—Ed Roberts, Kent Bernard and Ed Skinner. Roberts, twice named the outstanding performer here, will be after his fourth title in the 100yard dash.

Olympic sprinters Paul Drayton of the United States and Dave Segal of Great Britain will run for the Philadelphia Pioneer Club, along with former Southern University quarter-miler Theron Lewis.

Other former Olympic performers scheduled to be on hand include three-time discus champion Al Oerter of the New York A. C. and onehalf miler Benedict Cayenne of Maryland State, and such women stars as Wyomia Tyus, Marilyn White and Willye White.

Hurdlers Richmond Flowers of Tennessee and Erv Hall of Vallanova are expected to continue their heated pursuit of each other. Flowers defeated Hall here last year by eight-thousandths of a second.

ChiSox Nip Twins, Yanks Blank Detroit

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The go-go Yankees and their mini-bats still get a lift every now and then from Mickey Mantle, who's not quite ready to forget the long ball fashion of the past.

New York slid to both Minnesota and Detroit Friday night, riding five stolen bases and a light attack to a 3-0 lead over Detroit and then getting a two-run Mantle homer to wrap up a 5-0 three-hitter for Mel Stottlemyre.

The homer was the 521st of Mantle's career, tying him for fourth place on the all-time list with Ted Williams. Ahead are Jimmy Foxx's 534, Willie Mays' 565 and Babe Ruth's 714.

In other American League games Friday, Chicago halted its season-opening 10-game losing streak by nipping Minnesota 3-2, Boston rapped Baltimore 8-3, Washington outlasted Cleveland 5-4 in 14 innings and Oakland outslugged California 8-4.

In the National League, Cincinnati tripped New York 3-1, Atlanta dropped Philadelphia 3-1, Chicago edged Houston 3-2, St. Louis took Pittsburgh 2-1 and Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 4-1.

Mantle's homer was his third this year and was greeted with a standing ovation by the Yankee Stadium crowd. The ball was recovered and presented to him after the game.

Can he catch Foxx this year?

"Yes," Mantle said. "I think I will stay healthy."

Three of the steals set up runs for the Yankees. "We've got to play that way," said Manager Ralph Houk. "We don't have enough power to wait for the long ball."

Chicago Manager Eddie Stanky nonchalanted the White Sox' streak-breaker, saying, "My food's going to taste the same; I'm going to sleep the same."

And he again took his post-game stroll in the outfield, swinging a lead bat as he walked.

Tommy Davis homered for Chicago and Minnesota pitcher Dave Boswell's throwing error set up the other two White Sox runs in the sixth.

Lee Stange pitched six innings of relief allowing just three hits and Mike Andrews' seventh-inning homer broke a tie helping the Red Sox past the Orioles.

Run-scoring doubles by Joe Foy and Reggie Smith knocked in the final two Boston runs in the ninth.

Ed Stroud scored Washington's tying run in the ninth and then doubled home the winner in the 14th against Cleveland. A pair of clutch singles by rookie Del Unser in the seventh and ninth twice tied the game for the Senators.

Frank Howard and Fred Valentine homered for Washington and Dennis Higgins earned the victory with five innings of scoreless relief.

Tony Horton had a two-run shot and Max Alvis rapped four hits for Cleveland.

Rick Monday's run-scoring single broke a 3-3 tie in the fourth inning and Oakland went on to score three more runs in the frame to beat the Angels. John "Blue Moon" Odom got the victory with help from Jack Aker.

A PLACE IN THE SUN (LAST) — Although the Chicago White Sox were winless in their first nine games this season, manager Eddie Stanky took time out from a workout at the home ball park in Chicago to catch a little sleep in the the stands, soaking up sunshine. Team had a firm grip on last place in American League. (AP Wirephoto)

Alcaraz' Late Blast Sinks Dodgers, 4-1

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Luis Alcaraz wrote a chapter of his biography for the San Francisco Giants, but made the rest of it read like a novel.

Alcaraz, batting .125 with a .328 average and 22 homers, raised his average to .231 this season.

Sadecki got him out twice before Alcaraz slammed his first homer of the year, giving the Giants a victory.

The 26-year-old rookie third baseman completed the first chapter Friday night by slamming a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning, giving the Los Angeles Dodgers a 4-1 victory over the Giants.

"We didn't have a book on him," said hard-luck loser Ray Sadecki, who entered the ninth with a one-hitter and a 1-0 lead before Willie McCovey's error opened the gates for four unearned runs.

"That was the first time I've ever faced Alcaraz. I threw him a lot of curves earlier and got him out, but I used a fast ball in the ninth and was surprised he pulled it so well."

Bob Veale also threw two bad pitches and saddled himself with another loss as the St. Louis Cardinals beat him and the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 on Tim McCarver's homer in the seventh inning.

In other National League night games, the Cincinnati Reds took advantage of the New York Mets' loose fielding and Tony Perez' hitting for a 3-1 triumph and Sonny Jackson's bat backed Pat Jarvis as Atlanta tripped Philadelphia 3-1.

In the afternoon, the Chicago Cubs sent Houston to its sixth straight loss 3-2 on Lou Johnson's run-scoring single in the ninth and the four-hit pitching of Bill Hands.

In the American League, Boston defeated Baltimore 6-3, Oakland stopped California 8-4, the New York Yankees blanked Detroit 5-0, the Chicago White Sox trimmed Minnesota 3-2 and Washington nudged Cleveland 5-4 in 14 innings.

The Dodgers mobbed Alcaraz after his first major league homer snatched the victory, but the skinny Puerto Rican was the most excited.

"When I turn first base, Gilliam (first base coach Jim Gilliam) said it was gone and I couldn't believe it," Alcaraz said. "I went crazy."

Instead of trotting around the bases, he ran full speed.

Alcaraz, who led the Texas League in hitting last year with a .328 average, had his first runs batted in.

Two bloop hits and McCovey's ground out in the first inning had given the Giants their lead and Sadecki struck out 11 and gave up only a single to Zoilo Versalles in the fourth inning protecting it until his defense failed.

McCovey dropped Versalles' pop fly to open the ninth and Jim Lefebvre later singled home Versalles with the tying run before an intentional walk set up Alcaraz, ending Sadecki's eight-game winning streak.

While Sadecki lost for the first time in three decisions this season, the narrow defeats are piling on Veale, who is 0-3 despite giving up only seven runs in 34 2-3 innings this season.

Orlando Cepeda tagged him for an opposite field homer in the fourth inning on a "lazy slider," and McCarver hit a "slider that had no zip" as Bob Gibson picked up his first triumph with a 4-1 victory for his fourth straight victory.

"It's not the breaks," Veale insisted. "I just can't get things rolling. If I had shut them out, I would have been in business."

Two bad throws by catcher Jerry Grote and one by loser Tom Seaver helped Cincinnati to all its runs as Perez drove in one with a sacrifice fly and set up another with a hit.

Jackson drove in two runs for Atlanta with singles, including the tie breaker in the seventh as Jarvis gained his first victory with a six-hitter.

Johnson's hit for the Cubs came with the bases loaded and none out against Larry Dierker with the score tied. Billy Williams, who singled in an earlier run, set up the inning with a leadoff double.

Russell, Celtics Rap LA 127-119

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boston's player-Coach Bill Russell continues to give demonstrative lessons in basketball with the latest providing his club a 2-1 championship playoff edge over Los Angeles.

Russell's defense and the team's hot shooting which saw four Celtics, including Big Bill, hit 20 points or more, brought a 127-119 victory Friday night before a throng of 17,011 at the Forum.

The partisan Los Angeles crowd saw Boston build an 18-point edge and then battle to thwart a fourth-quarter rally which brought the Lakers within three.

"Larry Siegfried played his greatest game as a Celtic," said Russell. "John Havlicek also played a great game and Bailey Howell did a fine job on Elgin Baylor."

The coach didn't mention his own 25 points, 16 rebounds, nine assists and the many Laker shots he blocked, but that performance by the 33-year-old superstar proved the deciding factor.

The triumph on the Laker court provides Boston with the advantage going into Sunday night's fourth game here.

"They outshot us, they outrebounded us, they blocked more shots and they got more second shots," said Laker Coach Bill van Breda Kolff.

Jerry West paced the Lakers with 33 points and Baylor had 28, but the latter was held to only four in the first half as Boston jumped into a 69-62 lead. At one point the Celtics outscored Los Angeles 24-4 and that bulge couldn't be overcome.

Boston's scoring proved the versatility of the attack with Havlicek contributing 27, Siegfried 26, Russell 25, Sam Jones 20 and Howell 17.

In the American Basketball Association, Pittsburgh and New Orleans take their final playoff back to Pittsburgh Saturday night, tied 2-2 in the best-of-7 set.

Longhorns, Frogs Win SWC Tilts

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas took another step toward the Southwest Conference baseball championship Friday and Texas Christian marched right at the Longhorns' heels. Texas A&M had its chances dimmed somewhat.

The Longhorns scored three unearned runs after two outs in the ninth inning for a 4-2 victory over Rice while TCU opened up with four home runs in an 8-4 triumph over Baylor.

Texas A&M, after losing the opener 9-6, came back with an 8-1 victory in the nightcap of a doubleheader with Southern Methodist.

In a non-conference game, Texas Tech defeated Abilene Christian 4-1.

The same teams played each other in singles games Saturday.

The Texas rally started when pitcher Jim Street, who got his fifth conference triumph, reached first on an error, one of three Rice miscues in the game.

Street struck out 10 batters and gave up five hits, one a two-run double by Jerry Reed that gave the Owls a 2-1 lead in the eighth inning.

Jeff Newman hit two home runs and Ed Driggers and Bill Ferguson added one each as TCU stayed 1½ games behind Texas in the standings. The Longhorns have an 11-4 record and the Frogs 9-5.

TCU's first three batters hit and scored in the opening inning. Driggers led off with a homer, Larry Pell singled and then Newman slammed his home run. Newman started the third inning with his second four-bagger.

Southern Methodist's Wally Hoyle cracked a two-run homer in the sixth inning of the opener to tie the game at 6-6 and smacked a run-scoring double in the next frame to produce the winning tally.

In the nightcap, Rick Schwartz tossed an eight-hitter for the Aggies and teammate Dave Elmendorf's three-run homer got them off to a 4-0 lead. Joe Staples of the Aggies hit a home run in each game. The Aggies are now 7-5 in the conference.

Buddy Hampton of Tech missed a no-hitter and shutout when Abilene Christian's Jim Hooker poked a single to score Bob Knight in the eighth inning. Hampton struck out 18 to set a Tech school record.

Limeys Are Enthusiastic

By GEOFFREY MILLER

BOURNEMOUTH, England (AP) —British tennis officials said today that the world's first open tournament has succeeded beyond their wildest dreams.

Australians Rod Laver and Ken Rosewall, old sparring partners of the professional circuit, faced each other in the final for the first prize of $2,400.

Derek Hardwick, chairman of the British Lawn Tennis Association, said: "We expected open tennis to be a success, but it has turned out to be a bonanza.

"About 20,000 people have watched the first five days of play, and that is twice as many as we have had at this event in the past. We hope other countries will take heart from this and stage open tournaments of their own.

"We hope also that amateur players from abroad will be encouraged by the success of Mark Cox and enter all the open tournaments they can."

Cox, 24-year-old British amateur, sensationally knocked out professionals Pancho Gonzales and Roy Emerson before falling to Laver Friday.

Laver and Rosewall could not estimate how manyw times they have played each other in the last five years. Both Laver and Rosewall reached the final without dropping a set.

Alabama's freshman football team won three of its four games, including a 7-3 victory over Tennessee. The Tide bowed to Ole Miss 21-2.

Albuquerque Grabs Share Of West Lead

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Shreveport Braves opened a 1½-game lead in the Eastern Division and Albuquerque regained a share of first place in the Western Division of the Texas League Friday night.

Shreveport made it three games in a row over the Memphis Blues 3-2 in 12 innings and took the four-game series three games to one.

Albuquerque moved back into first place with Amarillo by beating the Giants 9-6 behind a 14-hit attack and strong relief pitching.

San Antonio's unbeaten right-hander Archie Reynolds shut out El Paso 4-0 on seven hits for his third triumph, and Dallas-Fort Worth defeated Arkansas 5-2 as Glen Clark hit a home run and a triple.

Sonny Kopacz of Shreveport slammed the first pitch offered him by Memphis reliever Ron Locke for a triple to score Walt Hriniak with the winning run in the 12th inning. Hriniak had singled with one out.

Lloyd Flodin's 330-foot home run for the Blues in the ninth inning had tied the score, 2-2.

Gene Garnell, the fourth Braves pitcher, got the victory although starter George Stone tossed a one-hit shutout for the six innings he worked and retired the first 12 batters he faced.

Memphis right-hander Steve Renko did not give up a hit until Shreveport bunched three singles and a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning for its second run. The Braves got an unearned run in the fifth.

Amarillo jumped off to a 5-1 lead after two innings, Albuquerque. Relievers Henry Williams and Dick Dare scattered six hits the rest of the way. The Dodgers rallied for four runs and a 7-5 lead in the sixth inning with Jim Barfield's pinch-hit double scoring three of them.

San Antonio could get only five hits off El Paso's Jim Holbrook but the Missions bunched three of them for three runs in the second inning and the other two for the final tally in the sixth. Gene Noble scored two of the runs, each time after a triple by George Pena and Johnny Hairston.

In Dallas-Fort Worth's victory, Clark's home run tied the game at 2-2 in the fourth inning and his triple sent home the go-ahead run in the next frame.

Roric Harrison stopped the Travelers on seven hits but needed help from Paul Doyle who came on in the eighth and retired the last five batters, three on strike outs.

New three-game series opens tonight with Amarillo at Arkansas, Dallas-Fort Worth at El Paso, San Antonio at Memphis and Shreveport at Albuquerque.

Sees Successful Kentucky Derby?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Churchill Downs opens its gates today for a 94th season of thoroughbred racing amid what President Wathen Knebelkamp says is a sure sign of success for the historic Kentucky Derby.

Knebelkamp takes his encouragement from the tulips which are in full bloom in the paddock and infield gardens. He says he hopes the flowers still will be in splendor a week from now after 100,000 fans have pushed onto the grounds to watch the running of the Derby next Saturday.

Leading up to the most famous race in horse racing is a major prep on the Opening card —the $6,000 Stepping Stone Purse.

The seven-furlong Stepping Stone attracted a field of five Derby eligibles, including Kentucky Sherry and Captain's Gig.

Brothers Land Most Bass

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP)—Don and Phillip Cole, brothers from Denton, Tex., caught the limit of 15 fish each for a total weight of 44 pounds 9 ounces Friday in the State Bass Tournament at Sam Rayburn Lake.

This was below the first-day high of 46 pounds 14 ounces caught by Leon Vick and Eddie Braun of Waco and Lake Whitney Thursday.

The biggest fish caught Friday was 4 pounds 8½ ounces by Mrs. James Brock of Lewisville.

In the individual division, Friday's leader was Gus Bierman of Fort Worth with 21 pounds 13 ounces.

Clear skies and calm winds improved fishing conditions Friday. The last day of qualifying was today.

Three In SWC Golf Race

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas, Texas Tech and Baylor took lopsided victories Friday and stayed in contention for the Southwest Conference team golf championship.

The Longhorns beat Texas Christian and Tech defeated Arkansas by 5-1 scores and Baylor whipped Southern Methodist 5½-½.

With each having one match to be played next week, Texas leads with 26½-9½, Tech has 22½-13½ and Baylor has 21½-14½.

Texas A&M, which was scheduled against last-place Rice today, was tied with Tech for second place. Today's match was the Aggies' last of the season.

Tiger Netmen Win Match

Snyder High School tennis players decisioned Brownwood netters in tune-up matches for the state meet.

Meeting at Abilene, Snyder's John Phillips downed 1967 state singles champion Logan McNatt of Brownwood, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3. McNatt was edged out of the running this year in the regional meet.

The Snyder doubles team of Ronnie Maddux and Terry Book, decisioned Brownwood's Joe McCluskey and Bobby Jones, 8-6, 6-2. McCluskey and Jones will go to the state meet next week as representatives of Region II. Snyder's boys doubles team was eliminated in the Region I meet.

THE BARD GOES MODERN

What's Next In Shakespeare?

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Modern producers are tough on the Bard, but modern schools don't take it too hard.

Shakespeare in every kind of dress, ancient and modern, has now given place to Shakespeare in no dress at all.

Remember "Romeo and Juliet?" That's the one they turned into a Broadway musical and have now done for the movies with the lovers sitting naked on a bed.

Remember "Taming of the Shrew?" That was Elizabeth Taylor, in an almost topless dress, and Richard Burton, strutting like a peacock when he wasn't beating her up.

"As You Like It?" That was the tranuvestite comedy of boy playing a girl playing a boy, put on at the National Theater with an all-male cast.

What's coming next: Whatever it is, it's unlikely to shock even Shakespeare purists who are learning to be unshockable. Most scholars see little harm in modernizing Shakespeare, so long as you don't tamper with his meaning. In fact, they've seen innovators play merry hell with the output of William Shakespeare through the ages.

The first cuts in his text were political. It was a question of keeping one's head when all about were losing theirs.

The next cuts were cuts of convenience — because the benches were too hard, the night too cold, the audience restive.

Quite a few of the Victorians had the notion they could do a rewriting job which would make Shakespeare more acceptable for the family trade in the straitlaced 19th century.

Then came the era of the popularized versions in modern dress—Hamlet in a polo-neck sweater, Lear in a tailcoat. Then the operas, the Broadway musicals, color movies, even capsuled doses for television.

While Shakespearean blank verse was massacred in countless church halls and schoolrooms up and down the country, the business boomed. "Hamlet" was filmed at Elsinore in Denmark, "Midsummer Night's Dream" was played under the midnight sun in Lapland, "The Tempest" was performed by puppets on strings in sacred Stratford itself.

Then, in 1959, Shakespeare came from across the Atlantic in a form that few could recognize on his home ground.

Thirty young people from Brownwood, Tex., did a Western version of "Midsummer Night's Dream." The Forest of Arden became the Texas of the 1850s. The actors tilted their Stetsons, scratched their ears and drawled.

Producer Alex Reeve said not a line of the text had been changed. But somehow it sounded different in a Texas accent.

In 1964 the innovators breached the citadel of Stratford-upon-Avon, Will's hometown, itself. The Memorial Theater presented a halfdozen of the Bard's historical plays, linked by bridging scenes, in sequence, as "The Wars of the Roses." Clifford Williams, one of the directors involved, said it wasn't really so difficult. All you had to do was to think in the Shakespeare idiom to fill in the needed script.

That was the year of the 400th anniversary of Will's reputed birth date—when Sir Fordham Flower, chairman of the Shakespeare Birthday Trust, could say: "Everything to do with Shakespeare is booming."

It had been booming with the big-time musicals—"Kiss Me Kate" ("Taming of the Shrew"), "The Three Caskets" ("Merchant of Venice") and "West Side Story" ("Romeo and Juliet").

Since the 400th anniversary fervor, the Royal Shakespeare Company has plugged away at giving the Bard a new image. Now old-time histrionics are out; the company plays as a team all the way. Some of the innovations have been daringly avant-garde. And the public loves it.

Italy's movie maker Franco Zefferelli made a new kind of breakthrough. The Shakespeare stories were told in colorful pictures with often only a secondary emphasis on the words. Again most of the scholars approved.

"I like the Zefferelli films very much indeed," said Prof. Nevill Coghill, former professor of English Literature at Merton College, Oxford, and the man who largely launched Richard Burton on his acting career.

"They are full of invention and faithful to Shakespeare as far as they go."

Coghill is working on a movie script of "The Tempest" for Burton and Sir John Gielgud.

Tevor Nunn, newly-appointed 28-year-old artistic director of the Royal Shakespeare Company, opened the 1968 Stratford season with "King Lear," with "Julius Caesar" to fellow.

Word from Stratford was that Nunn conditioned his actors in "Lear" by making them recall related situations in their own families and showing them photographs of torture scenes taken during the war.

Flaming jets of propane gas flare from atop King Lear's throne. The battle scenes are in ballet style, but real tempered steel swords are used instead of stag props when Edgar encounters his half-brother, the evil Edmund.

Poland's Jan Kott, currently visiting professor in drama at the University of California at Berkeley, Calif., has written a book of essays on Shakespeare, in which he compares "King Lear" to Samuel Beckett's "Endgame," as representative of the Theater of the Absurd.

It's doubtful if such publicity would have offended Will. In his day he was denounced as a fascist and a homosexual, a thief who purloined his themes from better men, a forger and even a [illegible] Queen B[illegible]. Born 1564—still going strong.

DPS Ready In Event Of Rioting

AUSTIN (AP) — If riots come to Texas, the Department of Public Safety is ready with specially trained and specially equipped squads, DPS assistant director Wilson Speir said Saturday.

DPS officers throughout the state have undergone an intensive, accelerated riot control training program, Speir said.

"It is a tribute to the people of this state that we have avoided the tragic incidents of lawlessness that have occurred elsewhere in the country, but it is the policy of this department to be prepared to maintain law and order wherever violence might be threatened," Speir said.

"It also will be our policy to use whatevery legal means are necessary to prevent the breaking of the laws of this state insofar as possible, and to apprehend anyone who does violate the law," he said.

"Since unlawful rioting generally is urban in nature, the Department of Public Safety stands ready upon request to assist any local law enforcement agency in the suppression of lawlessness," he said.

"We hope it won't be necessary to use (the training and equipment), but we're ready if we must," he said.

Engineer In Lamesa

LAMESA, Tex. (AP) — H. M. Ables has become resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department, replacing A. W. Partain, who retired after 39 years. Ables, a native of Waco, received a degree in civil engineering from Texas Tech.

Wise's New Film Coming To Ritz

With many citations as one of the best pictures of the year, Robert Wise's "The Sand Pebbles" comes on May 11 to the Ritz Theatre direct from its roadshow engagement.

Robert Wise, Academy Award winner for both "The Sound of Music" and "West Side Story," produced and directed "The Sand Pebbles" in Panavision and DeLuxe Color on locations on Taiwan and in Hong Kong with a shooting schedule that lasted for more than half a year in the Orient.

Called "fascinating" by Life magazine, "The Sand Pebbles" stars Steve McQueen, who, Time magazine says, "gives the sharpest performance of his career." Also starring are Richard Attenborough, Richard Crenna and Candice Bergen, lovely daughter of famed ventriloquist Edgar.

Nominated for eight Academy Awards, "The Sand Pebbles" is based on the late Richard McKenna's enormously successful adventure novel. Robert Anderson wrote the screenplay from the book which won Harper's $10,000 prize in 1962. It is a drama of post - World War I China fought over by war lords and foreign "treaty powers" and of an American gunboat caught in the middle of the turmoil.

"The Sand Pebbles" was the first major American motion picture ever to be made on Taiwan. Filming on the edge of Red China culminated with a "junk fight," where in the American gunboat is faced with a blockade, one of the most unusual sea battles ever filmed.

TO IMPROVE INCOME

Farmers Calling For Unity

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cries for unity in agriculture keep sounding among farmers and some of their leaders anxious to find ways of improving producer incomes.

Such cries are being heard along with proposals for bargaining by farmers, like organized labor, for better prices for their products.

The idea of greater areas of agreement among farmers for bolstering their economic positions have come to the fore many times in the past but without positive results.

The goal of farm unity is about as far away as it has always been. Often, lawmakers interested in farmers' problems have bewailed the splits among producers on ways of solving those problems.

Recently a group of farm organization leaders tried to bring about a show of unity. They discussed farm problems and studied ways of reducing their differences and expanding their agreements.

Organizations represented included the National Farmers Union, the National Grange, The Mid-Continent Farmers Association, the National Farmers Organization plus a number of farm commodity organizations. The meeting was hailed as a big step forward.

Not participating were several important farm organizations. They included the American Farm Bureau Federation, which claims it has nearly half of all commercial farmers as members; the American National Cattlemen's Association; and several other livestock groups.

The attempt to bring about farm unity brought a retort from Shuman that such a goal is an impossibility.

"If all farm and ranch organizations were merged into one, the resulting policy compromises would please no one and a flock of new groups would be launched immediately," he said.

"Recent atempts to bring local farm organization units together have illustrated the wide variation in viewpoint on basic policy issues that exist in every rural community. . . . should be. There are no simple 'yes' and 'no' answers to the complex social, economic and political issues that face our nation."

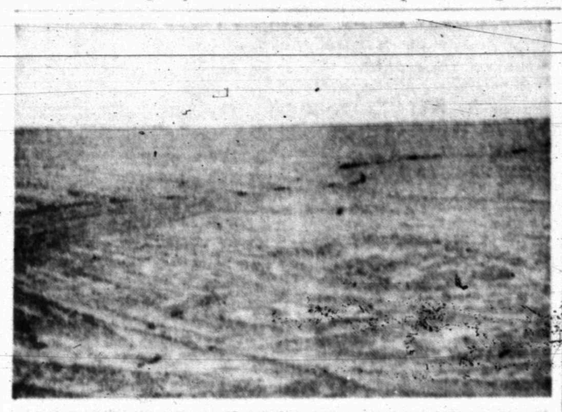
Most differences revolve around government programs and policies for bolstering farm incomes by means of production and price controls, farm subsidies and land retirement. The Farm Bureau and many livestock organizations want less government effort for farmers.

Those seeking farm unity contend it is necessary if agriculture has any political power. They argue that farm disunity gives many congressmen an excuse for not supporting farm-aid legislation.

"Vive la difference!" said Shuman, adding that competition among farm organizations is good. He said that if there were only one such group, complacency would prevail as leadership would not be challenged by the threat of membership loss to another outfit."

"New programs and services would seldom be initiated for fear that they would disturb the status quo," he added.

But those who say they want unity declare they will not be turned from their goal. It looks like a long uphill battle to narrow farm differences.



THIEF OR FRIEND? Rain can be a thief or a friend. The picture at top shows rain as a thief. The soil was bare and not terraced, and a 2.5 inch rain has washed a gully across the field carrying top soil with it. The bottom picture shows rain as a friend. This farm is terraced and farmed on the contour. Crop residues were left on the soil surface and all of the 2.5 inches of rain that fell was stored in the soil, and no soil was stolen from the field by the rain. (SCS Photos)

Rains Move Topsoil From Unprotected Farm Land

Each year top soil is illegally removed from Scurry County farms and ranches. Laws are violated. Charges such as abuse, defile, desecrate and pollute could be made.

The laws of God and nature are being violated. Somebody will have to pay the penalty for breaking these laws, or for allowing them to be broken.

If you caught your neighbor or a stranger scraping top soil off of your farm, what would you do? Your first impulse would be to shoot him on sight, or you would at least have him arrested. Yet, top soil is still being removed and not much is done about it.

The Thief that is removing top soil is actually our best friend. Yes, the soil is being stolen by the rains which only come to help. The best way to prevent the rain and water from stealing soil is to carry out a conservation program consisting of a conservation cropping system, crop residue use, terraces, diversions, and contour farming.

The following farmers have completed new terraces or rebuilt terraces in 1968: James Baird Trust, R. E. Minor, Raul Rosas, C. L. Noble, E. Halley Smith, David Strayhorn, Hugh Roberson, J. B. Patterson, George Brumley, Vestal Booth, Von Roeder and Clark, L. F. Smith, Sam Houston, Wayland Huddleston, Tommy Pate, Clarence Williamson, Frances O. Austin, Robert B. Pierce, C. A. Sullivan, Billy Pylant, Mozelle Roggenstein, and T. B. Knight. These farmers are not going to let rain steal their soil.

Cornerstone To Be Set

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Scottish Rite leaders from across Texas will join in cornerstone leveling ceremonies May 4 for the Lee Lockwood Texas Scottish Rite Library and Museum.

John McKee, president of the Scottish Rite Foundation of Texas, said ceremonies will climax the annual Scottish Rite seminar.

The seminar, conducted in the partially completed lower level of the million dollar structure, will encompass reviews and projections of programs for the 67,000-member order.

Traditionally, special emphasis is placed on support for the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas, the Scottish Rite Dormitory for Girls at Austin, the Scottish Rite Foundation's scholarship program, the Order of DeMolay, Rainbow Girls and Masonry in general, McKee said.

He said particular emphasis this year will be given to encouraging Texas Scottish Rite Masons to support the library and museum.

Delegations from Dallas, Amarillo, Texarkana, Waco, Austin, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio and El Paso are expected.

Texan Pleads Guilty In Denver Court

DENVER (AP) — Royce Edward Curry of Canton, Tex., pleaded guilty Friday to assaulting two FBI agents and to two Dallas charges of interstate transportation of a stolen car and bond jumping.

FBI agents said the East Texas man tried to elude two other agents at a Denver coffee shop because, he said, he wanted nothing more to do with the law.

A pre-sentence report was ordered for the 24-year-old Curry.

Puerto Ricans Favor Rocky, Humphrey

By HAROLD J. LIDIN
Associated Press Writer

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Two undeclared presidential candidates already enjoy solid support among potential Puerto Rican delegates to the U.S. political conventions.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who says he does not want the Republican nomination, has looked for and found good friends among the men who will likely represent the Statehood Republican party at the convention this summer.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has strong support among the eight delegates the Democratic State Committee of Puerto Rico can send to the Democratic delegation.

The unresolved question is whether this friendship can out pull the magnetism the name Kennedy holds for Puerto Rican Democrats and the vigorous push Robert F. Kennedy is making to nail down Puerto Rico's eight delegates.

Operating in part through his campaign aide, Theodore Sorenson, Sen. Kennedy has contacted Sen. Luis Munoz Marin, and at least two of the three rivals for the Popular party gubernatorial nomination.

Observers generally agree that former Gov. Munoz Marin could decisively influence the choice between Humphrey and Kennedy in Puerto Rico.

During the Kennedy administration, the then governor, Munoz Marin, was a White House adviser on Latin American affairs. His relations with the Johnson-Humphrey administration, however, have not been so close—especially since the Johnson decision to intervene militarily in the Dominican Republic in 1965.

However, some veterans from the Munoz regime believe that Humphrey—not John F. Kennedy, was Munoz' original preference for president in 1960.

Some Democrats have a current reason for preferring Humphrey over Sen. Kennedy. As one Democrat put it: "Bobby Kennedy sees the Puerto Ricans as people who live within his senatorial district. Humphrey understands Puerto Rico as Puerto Rico."

Rare Crane's Death Proved Accidental

WASHINGTON (AP) — A whooping crane found dead last week in Kansas was killed by accident, the Interior Department said Friday following an autopsy.

A high school boy found the dead whooper April 17 on a highway near Dorrance, Kan., under a power line.

The Interior Department said the bird suffered multiple bone fractures and may have hit the power line or some other object and plunged to earth.

Only 48 whooping cranes are known to exist.

Two States Exempt From Time Change

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most clocks in the country will be set ahead to Daylight Saving Time on Sunday, but not the ones in Hawaii and Arizona.

Hawaii and Arizona were the only states to exempt themselves—by special legislation—from the Uniform Time Act adopted by Congress in 1966.

The act, which is overseen by the U.S. Department of Transportation, requires all states to observe DST from 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April to 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October.

While compliance with the act seems relatively simple, it could be difficult if you live in parts of Indiana or Michigan.

In Indiana, for example, all the counties except six near Chicago and six at the southwest corner of the state were given permission to remain on Eastern Standard Time.

The 12 exempted counties, however, which are normally on Central Standard Time, have been instructed to set their clocks to Central Daylight Time.

This was done to place all the clocks in the state on the same time.

In the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, the counties to the west are in the Central time zone, while the four eastern counties are in the Eastern time zone. This means that half the peninsula goes on CDT Sunday and the other half on EDT.

The reason for this is that the eastern counties feel closely tied to the Lower Peninsula of Michigan, while those to the west feel they are geographically bound to Wisconsin.

Millard Cope Scholarship Award Set

SAN ANGELO — A $300 scholarship memorializing the late Millard Cope, former publisher of the San Angelo Standard Times, will be awarded this spring to a freshman journalism student entering Angelo State College this summer or fall.

West Texas high school graduates planning careers in newspaper work are being invited to apply for the scholarship, according to Fred Conn, Mr. Cope's successor as Standard-Times publisher. Applications should be addressed to the Journalism Department, Angelo State College, San Angelo, Texas.

The freshman scholarship will be financed out of proceeds from a $25,000 trust established by Mr. and Mrs. Houston Harte of San Angelo as a memorial to Mr. Cope, who died in January, 1964.

In all, $1,200 is available for Cope Memorial Scholarships for the 1968-69 school year. The other $900 will be used for renewal of sophomore, junior and senior scholarships, provided present holders maintain eligibility.

Currently holding the Cope scholarships are Nelda Fischer of Mereta, who will be a sophomore in 1968-69; Deanna Lorfing of Paint Rock, junior next year; Cynthia McBride of Los Fresnos, senior next year; and Tim Gette of San Angelo, who will graduate from Angelo State this spring.

The new freshman scholarship recipient will be chosen by a special committee consisting of Dr. Lloyd D. Vincent, ASC president; Fred V. Barbee of Seminole, president of the West Texas Press Association; and Conn.

Applicants for the scholarship should submit a statement of why they wish to become newspaper journalists, a brief outline of their high school or other experience in journalism, and samples of their work, Conn said.

Applications should be sent to the ASC journalism department not later than May 15, Conn said.

Enraged Market Manager Refuses To Let Thugs Win

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—A 25-year-old supermarket manager became enraged when five bandits took $1,113 while his mother was on duty as a clerk. The manager, Guy McHarty took three bag boys with him and chased the getaway car in a running gun battle Friday that ended with the capture of four men.

The manager's mother was held captive while the men rifled cash registers at the Winn-Dixie store but was left behind uninjured when the men fled.

McHarty fired a carbine at the getaway car for five miles during the 80-mile-an-hour chase until he plugged one tire, forcing the bandits to stop.

One of McHarty's helpers, Dave Dzemcsak, 19, was wounded in the groin when, police said, one of the bandits fired at his pursuers from under the getaway car. He was reported in good condition at a Miami hospital.

Three of the men surrendered and lay face down, hands behind their heads on the busy roadside of Interstate 95, under the gun held by McHarty until police arrived.

A fourth man, whom police said was wounded by McHarty's M1 Carbine during the chase, was found an hour later crouching in a nearby palmetto thicket during a search by a 100-man posse. The man's orange shirt was covered with blood from the wound. The fifth man escaped the search which was aided by a helicopter.

Bag boy Frank Warren, 19, who drove his own 1968 Mustang as the chase car while McHarty sniped at the car tires, used one of the bandit's pistols to help stand guard. Warren's left forearm was slashed by windshield glass that shattered when hit by a bullet during the chase.

"They were firing at us with four guns. We saw pistols coming out of every window," McHarty said.

Police said McHarty was deeply disturbed about wounding Jerome Holland, 17, who was wanted by Miami police for robbery and jailbreak.

"I was just aiming for their tires," McHarty told police.

But why did he risk his life to catch the bandits?

"Those damned guys grabbed my mother," McHarty said, sobbing after police took over.

Watson Is Sworn In

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Marvin Watson Friday became the third native Texan to take a cabinet post.

Watson, a former Lone Star Steel Co. executive from Dallas, became the new postmaster general with praise from President Johnson and an outpouring of applause from well-wishers in the White House Rose Garden.

Other Texans in cabinet posts include Secretary of Commerce C.R. Smith and Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

Watson was Johnson's special assistant and appointments secretary before the President named him to the cabinet to replace Lawrence F. O'Brien. O'Brien resigned to join the presidential campaign forces of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

After the swearing in ceremonies, Watson presented to Johnson seven sets of silver coin cuff links bearing dates of important events in Johnson's life.

They will join other cufflinks the President has been collecting for display in the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library on the University of Texas campus at Austin.

Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas administered the oath of office. Mrs. Watson and the three Watson children were present.

Change Expected In Oil Industry

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The petroleum industry has been warned that the prolonged slump in drilling and exploration operations is minimizing the need for statewide crude oil production allowables.

An official of the Independent Petroleum Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors says proration of production already has become almost a thing of the past in such states as Oklahoma and Kansas.

Warren L. Baker, executive vice president, says it will be only a short time until only prolific producing fields will be prorated below maximum efficient rates if current trends continue.

In an article published in the March - April edition of the association's official publication, Baker said the domestic crude oil producing industry is passing into a new economic era that will bring drastic change.

"State regulation of production will still be a desirable necessity in large fields," he said. "However, the goal will shift from one of holding surplus production to market demand to a purpose of keeping each field within its maximum efficient rate so as to avoid physical waste. At the same time, the basic economy impetus will shift from restriction of surplus production to an economy of maximizing crude production as market demand for domestic oil approaches producing capacity."

Baker said state, federal and industry groups must direct their efforts more and more to the defelopment of incentives which will expand domestic exploratory drilling, enlarge secondary recovery operations, and encourage facilities for recovery of oil from tar sands, shale and coal.

The approaching new era, he said, should see the drastic decline in drilling activity come to an end.

The domestic industry drilled a record 68,259 wells in 1956. Only 33,828 were drilled in 1967, compared to 37,881 in 1966.

Baker said the industry is experiencing its first major change in basic domestic economic conditions in the last 40 years.

"Since the late 1920s the economy of the U. S. oil producing industry has been under constant pressure from excessive domestic producing ability," he said. "To avoid physical waste of a valuable natural resource, crude oil production was restricted to market needs by means of state regulation. Proration of production became quite stringent in the more prolific producing states."

However, Baker said, economic conditions have been undergoin drastic change in supply-demand relationship in recent years.

"Producing ability has not expanded sufficiently to keep abreast of rising market needs, and actually has decreased in some states," he said.

"Proration of production has become almost a thing of the past in such states as Oklahoma and Kansas. Production today is restricted to any appreciable degree only in Louisiana and in New Mexico. Recent low discovery levels presage it will be only a short time until a small number of prolific producing fields will be the only production that will be prorated below maximum efficient rate levels."

Baker said January - March operations offer hope that the 1968 slump in drilling activity will be less drastic than in recent years.

He said the average number of active rotary drilling rigs making hole in late March dropped to a near record low of 1,016 but that final figures on March are certain to exceed the year earlier level for the first time in four years.

Verdict Is Instructed

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP) — An instructed verdict of innocent was returned Friday in the murder trial of Walt Jones, charged in the truck bomb death of Raymond Earl Hawkins.

Both Hawkins and Jones were residents of San Marcos, Tex. The bomb death of Hawkins occurred in Luling in November 1967.

Dist. Judge Paul Huser instructed the jury to return the innocent verdict after Dist. Atty. Wallace Barber entered the motion. Judge Huser earlier ruled that certain state evidence was inadmissable.

It was the third trial for Jones. Once it was decided no jury could be selected. His second trial ended with the jury hung and unable to reach a verdict.

His associates said he bettered the recently set mark of Mike Mealey of London, England, who spent 61 days underground.

White is a country singer when he's not buried alive.
