Bloody Fighting Waged In Jordan

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Field Marshal Habis Majali ordered the Jordanian army to observe a temporary cease-fire today to give guerrilla forces an opportunity to surrender without further bloodshed.

Majali's statement was broadcast by Jordan's official radio from Amman, the capital.

The cease-fire order came in the second day of sharp fighting in Jordan. It spread into northern Jordan near the Syrian border during the day. The army claimed it was in control in Amman and the former guerrilla stronghold of Zarqa, 15 miles northeast of Amman.

MOPPING UP

A military communique said King Hussein's forces controlled 16 Amman districts and were carrying out mopping up operations.

There remained no word about the Wahdat area in the outskirts where 54 hostages from last week's air hijackings are believed held. Neither side has mentioned the hostages in the past two days.

The wording of Marshal Majali's cease-fire order made it clear he was not prepared now to negotiate with the guerrillas on the terms he had offered them on Thursday. King Hussein named Majali to head the Jordanian government on Wednesday. Fighting broke out shortly afterward.

'COMMON ENEMY'

The top guerrilla command rejected Majali's cease-fire offer on Thursday. The terms included acceptance by the guerrillas of an army safe conduct to the front line with Israel, where they could fight "the common enemy."

The broadcast did not state the time limit for the cease-fire.

Guerrilla communiques broadcast by radio stations in Syria and Iraq claimed fighting continued in Amman and elsewhere. Bloody clashes were reported during the night.

Guerrilla radio broadcasts said army tank units attacked Palestinian strongholds and that heavy fighting was going on in what the commandos had described earlier as "liberated areas."

NO INDICATION

The guerrilla broadcasts from Baghdad and Damascus said the tanks launched a three-pronged attack on Ramtha, Turra and El Kassarat, villages controlling the Amman-Damascus highway, the Palestinians' pipeline for supplies from Syria.

The government radio in Amman gave no indication of the military situation in its first broadcasts today. It said shortly before midnight the army was in control of Amman and military governor Habis Majali warned the guerrillas that his forces had been holding back their firepower to save lives but could increase their attacks tenfold if the commandos keep fighting.

Radio Damascus proclaimed that northern Jordan, from Amman to the Syrian border, was a "liberated area." It delivered an order from guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat naming himself the administrative authority and calling for the resumption of normal activities in the area.

HUNDREDS CUT DOWN

Guerrilla spokesmen in Amman told newsmen that hundreds of civilians had been cut down in crossfires between guerillas and army troops in Amman.

Radio Baghdad said one of the northern towns where heavy fighting raged was Irbid, Jordan's second largest city. "The main target is the refugee camp and neighboring residential districts," the broadcast reported.

Irbid, in the northwest corner of Jordan near the Israeli frontier, is where 12,000 Iraqi troops are based. Although the guerrillas have appealed for intervention by the Iraqis, and Iraq's ruling Baath party had promised aid if needed, there was no indication the 12,000 men were involved in the fighting.

No figures were given in casualty estimates for any of the fighting. Reports of casualties generally used such terms as "hundreds" or "scores."

'SAVE YOUR LIVES'

The guerrilla command rejected an offer for safe conduct to the Jordanian-Israeli front if the commandos would lay down their arms and quit the capital and surrounding areas.

Rich Greek Cleared In Wife's Death

ATHENS (AP) — A panel of lower court judges rejected today a public prosecutor's request that Greek shipping multimillionaire Stavros Niarchos be indicted in connection with the death of his wife. The prosecutor said he would appeal the decision to a higher court.

VOWS APPEAL

Prosecutor Constantine Fafoutis, who has been handling the case since Eugenia Niarchos died on her husband's private island last May 4, said he would file an appeal within the next 10 days in accordance with Greek legislation.

The three-man lower court panel rejected a recommendation that Niarchos be indicted on charges of causing bodily injury leading to his wife's death.

A spokesman for Niarchos issued a statement in London that said:

"The decision of the judicial tribunal to reject the proposal of the Piraeus district attorney, Mr. Fafoutis, for an indictment puts an end to a protracted legal procedure which has caused considerable grief to Mr. Niarchos and his whole family.

STAVROS NIARCHOS

85,000 AUTOPSIES

"It can now be disclosed that the leading British expert Dr. Donald Teare, professor of London University, who has specialized in forensic medicine for 32 years during which he has conducted no less than 85,000 autopsies including some 1,200 cases of barbiturate poisoning, was invited to comment on the Piraeus district attorney's report to the judicial tribunal.

"In a signed statement, Prof. Teare said that he is in full agreement with the findings of his Greek forensic colleagues who were appointed by the judicial authorities and goes on to say that in all his experience he has never read a report which 'so completely disregards all which has been scientifically proved' as the one by Mr. Fafoutis.

"Now that this case has been fully clarified, Mr. Niarchos hopes he may be allowed the privacy of his grievous family bereavement."

OVERDOSE

A board of medical experts had previously ruled that Mrs. Niarchos, 42, had died from an overdose of barbiturates. But Fafoutis based his recommendation on the allegation that there were numerous bruises on Mrs. Niarchos' body at the time of death.

Another Niarchos' spokesman, Constantine Dracopoulos, quoted the 61-year-old shipowner as saying that he "never doubted that Greek justice, with its reputation for strict impartiality and fairness, would finally vindicate" him.

Direct Vote For President Bill Breathing

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It's still breathing," said Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, after the Senate struck a heavy blow at a constitutional amendment to provide for direct election of the president.

After a 54-36 vote to cut off debate on the proposed amendment—six short of the required two-thirds majority—Mansfield said Thursday tentative plans call for a second attempt next week.

He said no decision will be made before Monday. This will give Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief sponsor of the electoral reform measure, and other supporters a chance to round up more votes.

If a second petition to put the Senate's debate-closing cloture rule into effect is filed Monday, it would come to a vote Wednesday.

Failure to muster a two-thirds majority to choke off debate on a second try likely would be fatal to the proposed amendment, although nothing in the Senate's rules prevent repeated attempts.

Harrelson Innocent

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — A 12-man jury found Charles Harrelson innocent today in the slaying of Houston businessman Alan Berg.

Harrelson, 32, was charged in the May, 1968, slaying of the carpet firm executive.

The state's strongest witness, Sandra Sue Attaway, testified she set up a rendezvous with Berg for Harrelson and that she saw the defendant kill Berg.

FAKE

Bomb Holdup Of Dallas Bank Thwarted

DALLAS (AP) — A former fireman who tried to rob an Oak Cliff bank with a fake bomb Thursday was thwarted by two detectives driving in the vicinity.

Detectives Tom Sewell and Eugene Lipe were working on overtime status and near the bank when a robbery alarm was broadcast.

"He didn't even know we were there until I put my pistol in his back and my partner put a pistol in his belly," said Sewell.

The pair rushed into the bank with drawn guns to surprise Richard Shirley Rawlinson, 37, who surrendered immediately. He was arraigned and ordered held without bond.

"It's not loaded! It's not loaded!" Rawlinson screamed as the officers seized him. An assistant vice president had placed more then $3,000 in the briefcase Rawlinson carried when the detectives arrived.

Guy L. McShan, senior vice president of American Bank & Trust Co., said Rawlinson entered the bank during the noon hour and inquired about a 90-day loan.

McShan said that when he asked for collateral, Rawlinson pulled a red apparatus from his coat pocket and said it was a bomb detonator. He said the briefcase contained the bomb.

As McShan led Rawlinson toward the vault, he nodded to a switchboard operator who correctly understood the signal. The operator alerted other employes and an assistant cashier pressed a silent alarm monitored at police headquarters.

Black Panther McLucas Gets 12-To-15 Gig

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Black Panther Lonnie McLucas was sentenced to 12-to-15 years in prison today for his conviction on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder in the slaying of a fellow Panther last year.

Judge Harold M. Mulvey, who presided at the lengthy trial of McLucas this summer, set bond for the North Carolina native at $35,000.

"I've thought a great deal about what I'm about to do," Mulvey said before imposing the sentence. The maximum penalty on the charge is 15 years.

The Superior Court judge said that in setting the high bond he took into consideration the charge that McLucas violated parole by coming to New Haven from his home in North Carolina last year. McLucas had been placed on parole after serving a term for robbery in New York.

McLucas was convicted by a Superior Court jury Aug. 31. The jury acquitted the 24-year-old defendant of charges of binding with criminal intent, conspiracy to kidnap, and kidnaping resulting in death.

Nixon To Assure Israeli Leader Of New U.S. Help

WASHINGTON AP) — Israeli Premier Golda Meir conferred with President Nixon today on Israel's developing need for more U.S. support in its conflict with the Arab states—and on the possibilities of starting active peace negotiations with Egypt.

Nixon was prepared to assure the Israeli leader of extensive new U.S. economic assistance and continuing military help. He was also prepared to urge her to get into active peace talks promptly.

GOLD CHAIRS

Mrs. Meir went to the White House after meeting for almost two hours with Secretary of State William P. Rogers at the State Department.

Seated in gold-colored chairs in the President's office, the two chiefs and two aides on each side posed briefly for photographers as they got into their discushions.

The plain-spoken 72-year-old Israeli leader went into today's round of talks with Nixon and other high U.S. officials expected to emphasize her government's dissatisfaction over American failure to demand that Egypt roll back missile bases deployed near the Suez Canal in alleged violation of the military standstill agreement sponsored by the United States.

Against the background of new Middle East turmoil centered in Jordan, Mrs. Meir was scheduled to meet Secretary of State William P. Rogers at the State Department. That meeting was to be followed by a White House conference with President Nixon, who returned to Washington Thursday night following a two-day visit to Kansas and Chicago.

U.S. officials hoped Nixon's fresh assurance of support would be sufficient to offset Mrs. Meir's concern that Israel had been placed at a severe military disadvantage on the Suez front since the cease-fire went into effect Aug. 8. She has refused to let her representatives engage in preliminary peace exchanges with Arab envoys at the United Nations because of the missile issue.

The United States has backed Israel's charge that Egypt has violated the military-standstill accord which is part of the cease-fire agreement. Washington has called on Egypt and Rusia, which supplies the antiaircraft missiles, to "rectify" the deployment.

But the Nixon administration has refused to say what "rectification" means, and officials here see no prospect that the new antiaircraft emplacements will be pulled back from the cease-fire zone.

LET DOWN

Diplomats report Israeli leaders feel they have been let down by the United States.

The Nixon administration is designing an Israeli aid package, reported to total $400 million to $500 million, but officials say no final decision on exactly what the package will contain has been made. The aid would be given over several years.

It is understood that Israel, which has been under growing economic pressures because of the costs of war, sent the United States some time ago a shopping list of things it needs. The cost: $1 billion over five years.

Substantial American economic assistance to Israel stopped about eight years ago. The United States has supplied military armaments in considerable quantities since that time but they have been sold—not given—to Israel.

The funds will serve an estimated 50 students, he said.

The NDSL fund will provide 90 per cent of the loans and HCJC will supply a matching 10 per cent. The Loans are repayable, usually when the student has completed school.

POLICEMAN SHOT TO DEATH

'Hey Baby, I've Got Something For You'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A policeman was shot to death at point-blank range in his patrol car early today and the slaying touched off a six-hour siege by police against snipers in a building housing a Black Panther headquarters.

One armed teenager was critically wounded in the ensuing exchange of gunfire as he fled the building, police said. Others who fled fired on police from nearby buildings.

One man was arrested and charged with the policeman's death.

FIVE INJURED

Five policemen had been injured in an earlier disturbance at police headquarters when a crowd of blacks demanded release of a prisoner. Police arrested six persons in that incident.

Dead was Patrolman William Miscannon, patrolling in a predominantly Negro inner city area.

Walter Shaw, his partner, said a Negro man approached their car said, "Hey baby, I've got something for you," and fired a pistol at the officer's head.

The attacker fled in a car. Shaw was hospitalized in a state of shock.

Shaw's call for aid brought 30 policemen to the area. Snipers fired as an ambulance arrived for Miscannon.

In the ensuing gunfire, several persons ran from the Black Panther building and fired at police from other buildings in the block of small businesses.

Police lobbed tear gas into the headquarters building before moving in to search the premises.

They found the building empty.

Officers identified the wounded youth as Troy Montgomery, 16. They said he came out of the building with a rifle in his hand and a bandoleer of ammunition over his shoulder.

HOW MANY?

Police were uncertain how many persons had been in the building and fled during the siege.

John Melvin McClellan, 26, of Toledo, was arrested nearby and charged with murder of Miscannon.

Police Chief Anthony Bosch says he does not believe Miscannon's death was instigated by Black Panthers but suspects those firing took advantage of the situation.

He said he was not sure those who opened fire from the Panther headquarters were Panthers. "I have no knowledge that they are yet," he said, "I have a little reason to believe that, but I haven't determined it as of yet."

Head Start Children Due Television Aid

Children in the Head Start program soon are to have the advantage of television programming to help in their studies, thanks to help on several fronts.

Arrangements have been made to install 10 sets, so that the youngsters may view educational programs. These were made available from a motel which was changing out its sets, through contacts made by Frank Goodman, Floyd Young and Mrs. Bertha Bedford. This group also has arranged for connections and raised some money to finance cable facilities. The sets are now being checked out and will be in service soon.

This report was the highlight of several matters discussed Thursday evening at the quarterly meeting of the Howard County-Big Spring Community Action Committee.

Residents of the Head Start neighborhoods have been active in raising volunteer money to help provide special facilities for the training program, said D. A. Brazel, chairman.

Keith Swim, director of federal programs for the Big Spring Independent School District, gave a report on various aspects of the Head Start program as well as on the new public service career program under which teacher aides are being trained.

Antiskyjack Legislation Stacking Up In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — While security procedures attempt to weed out potential airplane hijackers before they get aboard, government and airlines officials are working on the tougher problem of foiling a hijacker and bringing him to trial.

Antihijacking legislation is piling up in Congress, and international extradition measures and airfield boycotts are being discussed at the United Nations and among intergovernmental organizations.

ARMED GUARDS

But one U.S. government official suggests the primary responsibility for solving the problem lies with the commercial airlines.

Secor D. Browne, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, told the International Aviation Club in Washington Thursday more is needed than armed guards aboard aircraft, and weapons-screening devices and hijacker behavioral profiles in terminals.

"Every effort should be made to control the hijack while it is in progress," he said. "This should be a plan of attack in addition to armed guards, and development of such a plan lies squarely in the hands of the individual managements of the carriers themselves."

JET JUNGLE

He said airplane crews should be trained to cope with a hijacker and take advantage of his confusion in the jungle of a modern jet.

The international problem of bringing a hijacker home to trial was being discussed today at the International Civil Aviation Organization council meeting in Montreal.

President Nixon sent a team headed by Secretary of Transportation John Volpe to urge all countries to suspend airline services with nations which detain passengers, crews or aircraft, or fail to extradite or prosecute hijackers.

The U.N. General Assembly heard demands Thursday for international activity to stop aerial hijackings and kidnaping of diplomats.

$28 MILLION

In a related appeal, the president of the Air Line Pilots Association appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to urge stern measures including an air boycott of uncooperative nations' to halt hijacking.

Charles Ruby, the pilots' spokesman, endorsed Nixon's decision to post armed guards on commercial flights, and advocated compulsory extradition of hijackers and even greater security measures than in wartime.

The committee will review a host of deterrent proposals, including Nixon's request for an additional $28 million to recruit and train 2,500 security guards to ride shotgun on commercial airliners. Another proposal would have United States airlines boycott nations that harbor or encourage aircraft hijackers.

Browne, the CAB chief, said even if an international agreement is worked out to prosecute hijackers or extradite them for trial, past experience shows there's a good chance they won't stand trial for hijacking.

8 TO 1 ODDS

Since 1961 there have been 160 hijackings and 63 unsuccessful attempts involving U.S. planes. Of the 39 individuals apprehended, he said, two were acquitted, nine are awaiting trial and 28 were convicted. But of the 28, many were not even tried for hijacking with its minimum penalty of 20 years and maximum sentence of death, and only eight received sentences of more than 20 years.

"That means the odds are at least 8 to 1 against landing in jail if you do decide to try to hijack an airliner, and even higher against your being tried under the hijacking law," Browne said.

Browne chided airlines for not putting into use a $600-a-unit weapons-detection system at their terminal facilities. He said Eastern Air Lines, which had been the victim of 16 hijackings and four attempts before the installation, has been victimized only once since.

London Ha! For Humorist

NEW YORK (AP) — Humorist S.J. Perelman, 66, best known for his sardonic commentary on the American scene, says he will move to London next month permanently.

Calling England "a far more rational society than our own," Perelman said, "Today, the news in this country is so filled with insanity and violence that the newspapers, from which I derive many of my ideas, have scant room for the sort of thing that turns me on."

He said Thursday he had sold the 91-acre farm in Bucks County, Pa., which he and his brother-in-law, the late Nathanael West, bought in 1932, and planned to move to London on Oct. 21.

Perelman, born in Brooklyn, has written 18 books, including "Parlor, Bedlam and Bath," "Westward Ha!" and the recently published "Baby, It's Cold Inside."

Harrelson's Fate In Hands Of Jury

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — The fate of Charles Harrelson is in the hands of a 12-man jury which was to begin deliberation today on his guilty or innocence in the death of Alan Berg.

Harrelson, 32, of Houston, is under indictment alleging he killed Berg, a Houston executive in May, 1968.

The state's strongest witness is Miss Sandra Sue Attaway, who told the court she set up a rendezvous with Berg for Harrelson and that she saw Harrelson kill Berg.

Much of the defense attorney Percy Foreman's five hour and 50-minute closing argument dealt with the reason why the jury should not believe her.

KNEW HIM WELL

He said Miss Attaway, who once lived with Harrelson, manufactured her story at the bidding of Bernard Weadock, with whom she now lives. Weadock led officers to Berg's remains.

"Everything that fitted into scenario... came from the Houston papers," Foreman said.

Brazoria County Dist. Atty. Ogden Bass said if the state has a case at all, it has to come from the witness stand. He said the state provided 22 different elements to corroborate Miss Attaway's testimony.

SURPRISE WITNESSES

Bass also questioned why two surprise witnesses, who said Friday Harrelson was with them about the time of the alleged murder, did not come forth before.

The two brothers, Leon Price of Trinity, and Trinity County Judge J.V. Price, testified Harrelson was in Trinity selling a horse to Leon Price.

"This is a man who's a judicial officer, knowing he has an alibi for a man who is charged with violating a law in the state of Texas," Bass said. "But does he come forward? No, not until his brother calls him and reminds him."

Foreman also said no issue in the case was more definitely proved than the fact that Miss Attaway was Harrelson's common-law wife. Under Texas criminal law, a wife cannot testify against her husband.

The jury has been instructed to ignore Miss Attaway's testimony if it had any doubt that she was Harrelson's common-law wife.

Available in three models — 2-door sedan, 2-door coupe and 2-door station wagon — the Corolla has undergone extensive styling and engineering refinements.

The Corolla features new sports styling — everything is changed, from the front grille to the rear bumper — with a longer hood and a shorter rear deck. Subtle styling innovations such as the elimination of vent windows, also add to the Corolla's clean lines.

The new Corolla also features a longer and wider body for 1971 which, combined with new curved side windows, affords the driver and passengers additional interior room and comfort.

The Corolla's lightweight 4-cylinder power plant now develops 73 horsepower at 6,000 rpm and still delivers the Corolla's traditional 28 miles-per-gallon economy.

The Corolla power plant also features an improved two-barrel down-draft carburetor for quicker starts in all types of weather and driving conditions.

Toyota has given the Corolla a plush new bucket seat interior. The fully reclining, foam-cushioned bucket seats are richly upholstered in comfortable and durable ventilation-perforated vinyl. The front seats now give adjustment of up to 6.25 inches for greater driving comfort.

Toyota has built even more safety features into the new 1971 Toyota Corolla.

City Fathers Hold Breakfast Session

City commissioners over breakfast this morning exchanged information with city adminstrators on such topics as the budget, employe retirement, county fire protection and planning for the Cosden Country Club. Mayor Arnold Marshall was out of town and unable to attend.

Budget suggestions from the Chamber of Commerce Governmental Economy task force, co-chaired by Lanny Hamby and Jack Watkins, were relayed to the commissioners. Commissioners said none of the suggestions will be incorporated into the proposed budget prior to the public budget hearing Sept. 30.

Clarification of costs and benefits involved in the proposal for changes in the city's employe retirement plan were presented by George Zachariah and Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson. Additional options were discussed and new cost estimates are to be presented at the commission meeting Sept. 22.

Herb Prouty, city attorney, told the commissioners he had drafted a proposal for county fire protection on a temporary basis and given it to Bill Eyssen, county attorney. The proposal, designed to meet the need for fire protection outside the city until the new County Commissioners Court takes over in January, contains no cost figures. The commission asked that Charles Smith, finance director, begin preparing cost estimates on several alternative fire plans.

City Manager Larry Crow said he had discussed with Gene Schrickel of Schrickel, Rollins, and Associates the possibility of the city using his services as planning consultant for the Cosden Country Club development. Crow said Schrickel is now preparing estimates of the cost of conducting a study on possible uses of the club after the city takes over in January.

Failure to execute a safety play, while developing his long suit, led to South's downfall in the three no trump contract presented today.

South was confronted with a choice of calls on the second round. Over North's rebid of two hearts, South was tempted to jump to four diamonds, which is forcing to game. He chose instead to leap to three no trump, reasoning that nine tricks would be easier to take than 10 or 11.

West opened the queen of clubs and the king was played from dummy. A diamond was led, East followed with the eight and declarer put up the jack which won the trick. He continued with the king and East was in. A club return dislodged South's king. He played the queen of diamonds, however East showed out and West was revealed to have a second stopper in the suit. When the latter got in, he cashed enough club tricks to send the declarer down to defeat.

South could have won the hand by leading a small diamond instead of the king after the jack held, for East is left with the lone ace. However, this is an unnatural play and would have been based on a peek at his opponent's holding.

A more legitimate play was available which would have enabled him to salvage his contract. It is suggested that when the first diamond is led from dummy, South put in the nine from his hand. Altho this gives West an opportunity to win a cheap trick with the ten, the latter is not in position to continue the attack in clubs without giving South an additional stopper in that suit.

West's best return is a heart. Declarer puts up North's ace, enters his hand with the ace of spades and leads the king of diamonds. East is in with the ace and returns a club. South puts up the ace, cashes the queen and jack of diamonds pulling the remaining cards in that suit, and runs for cover with nine tricks—four diamonds, two clubs, two spades and one heart.

Property Owners Lose Suit To Deny Funds For UTPB

AUSTIN (AP) — A suit to choke off state funds for development of the University of Texas of the Permian Basin was dismissed Thursday by Dist. Judge Herman Jones.

John Stayton of Austin, attorney for the five Ector County property owners who filed the suit, said he was uncertain whether the judgment would be appealed.

Stayton had asked Jones to order State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert not to pay out any of the money appropriated for the Odessa school.

NOT SURE

The UT campus at Odessa will teach the junior and senior years of university work and offer graduate courses leading to the master's degree.

Stayton said the plaintiffs own an interest in oil and gas under the 600-acre tract deeded to the university for the school. He said he wasn't sure if any actually lived in Ector County.

He told Jones the university had not lived up to the law requiring it to acquire the land for the school by Dec. 31, 1969.

Although the deeds were accepted before that date, Stayton asserted the land was not actually "acquired" since it was not yet suitable for a campus because of oil and gas wells, high pressure pipelines and pumping stations on the tract.

'CORE CAMPUS'

The area designated as the "core campus," however, was shown on maps introduced in evidence as largely free of oil and gas installations.

UT lacks the power to force the oil companies to move their equipment and to drill slanted or "directional" wells to get their minerals, Stayton added.

"The conditions of the University of Texas may not be fulfilled in 50 years. They may never be fulfilled," he said, referring to UT requirements for the oil and gas installations.

Stayton also objected that Ector County had bought 280 acres of the site as "park land," then donated it to the university.

"This (a university) is not a county purpose and the county knew it, which is why they went through all this folderol about purchasing it for park purposes," he said.

LEGAL FRAUD

"This is a legal fraud on the taxpayers of Ector County," he added.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Malcolm Quick said Jones's court was not the place to attack Ector County's action, since that was not part of the plaintiffs' original pleadings.

He also said the university had discretion to choose a site, and there was no fact issue over whether the site was suitable.

UT is now spending its appropriation to plan the Permian Basin campus, he said, "but they are being severely cramped by this action here."

Rep. Ace Pickens, Odessa, sponsor of the 1969 law creating the school, sat at the counsel table with Quick but did not present arguments.

Two Men Missing After Oil Blaze

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Two men were missing in the aftermath of an oil blaze which sent smoke clouds billowing 8,000 feet high over the outskirts of Beaumont Thursday.

The huge fire was still burning 12 hours after lightning struck a storage tank shortly before noon. The flames quickly spread to an adjacent pipeline complex, where several lines ruptured and ignited.

The missing men were Timothy Young, 60, and W. I. Powell, also 60, both of Beaumont.

R. P. Medlin, general manager of the Mobil Oil Corp. tank farm, said the men were working in the area of the explosion and fire which occurred Thursday around 10:30 a.m.

Firemen had contained the fire a few hours after it broke out, but the blaze continued to rage in the north part of the complex late Thursday night.

A 20-block area near the fire, including the Charlton-Pollard school a half mile away, was evacuated at the height of the blaze.

Officials had thought earlier there were no casualties, but a further check revealed the two missing men.

Roy Dickerson, a company spokesman, said the plant would be shut down for several days. No damage estimates were immediately available.

Bangle Sale Set Tonight

Members of the Beta Sigma Phi chapters in Big Spring and Coahoma will be out in full force at football games this evening to help combat chronic respiratory diseases.

They will be offering the familiar bangles of the Tuberculosis Association outside stadium gates to all who will lend a hand to the fight against tuberculosis, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, etc.

All who make a gift of any amount will be given the bangle to wear as a symbol of support.

Members of the chapters have taken the bangle sale on as a project to aid the Big Country Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association raise funds for research, education, etc. The association was created in April, 1969, to combine the efforts of 32 county TB chapters in this region. The state association recommended the combination on grounds that respiratory diseases recognize no county boundaries but are more apt to be a regional problem.

Represeting Howard County on the board are Audrey Elmore, RN, county health nurse, and Mrs. Fred Hyer, Big Spring.

Blind Carpenter

JOHNSBURG, Ill. (AP) — Clarence J. Smith, who is in his middle 50s, is blind and is known among his neighbors as the "Sightless Carpenter."

"I guess I am just a stubborn Dutchman and wouldn't give up," he said.

He builds lawn furniture and has been in the business for many years.

Losing his sight began the day after Christmas 1934 when a piece of steel broke from the hammer head he was using and pierced his left eye. The eye was destroyed by the accident and the infection that resulted spread to his right eye which soon lost its sight. By Easter, 1935, he was totally blind.

"I just couldn't sit around and do nothing," he said.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Some friends of ours have gone out of their heads over a personal tragedy. Their 18-year-old daughter left home to marry a serviceman she had known only two months. The police were called to avoid bloodshed when she left, and her father warned the girl and this serviceman never to set foot on his property again.

Now the father falls asleep on the porch every night with a loaded shotgun in his hand. An accident could easily occur under these crazy circumstances.

He will not listen to reason. He even got his son to round up a bunch of toughs to try to find the serviceman and beat him up.

Are there any counselors in this area who could talk some sense into this man in his angry state?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Counselors? A man who sits with a loaded gun and murder in his heart needs restraining first, not counseling. For his own good and the good of his neighbors, your friend should be reported to the legal authorities and the local mental health organization. He sounds sick and violent. A dangerous combination. And since you are his "friend," — you do it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A few days ago I received in the mail the most unusual announcement I have ever heard of in all my born days. I would certainly like to know if you or any of your readers ever saw or heard anything to match it.

A couple of friends of mine, whom I seldom see, but exchange Christmas cards with, sent me an announcement. I will use fictitious names and give you an otherwise exact copy of it.

"Mr. and Mrs. G. Whiz Folks
DIVORCED
July 31, 1970:
County Court House
Asheville, N. C.
G. Whiz Folks
Seaside Motel
Smalltown, N. C.
Annie Folks
P. O. Box No. 224
Daytona Beach, Fla."

My problem is: Should I send them congratulations, separate gifts, sympathy cards, or what, exactly am I expected to do — if anything? This thing sure floored me and I am not putting you on, Abby.

C. B. IN MURPHY, N.C.

DEAR C.B.: Send them both "get well" cards. Yes, I've heard of such announcements. It's a rather cutesy way some of the more sophisticated set use to let their friends know they are officially divorced, and therefore available, in the market or what-have-you. It also helps their friends keep Christmas card lists current.

* * *

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

CULTIVATES 'BAD SEED'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A local man, arrested on charges of raising marijuana plants in his backyard, said fatherly concern prompted him to cultivate the crop.

"I grew it for my son so he would not come in touch with the bad element which sells marijuana," Louis C. Catz, 41, said after his arrest, according to Allegheny County detectives.

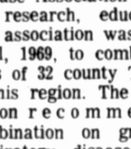

Catz waived a hearing on a state drug charge and was released under $2,000 bond. His 18-year-old son was reportedly out of town.

Less cash, more carry.

Consider the Jim Beam half gallon:
(1) The World's Finest Bourbon Since 1795 costs less per drink.
(2) There's a handle on it. Easy to carry, easy to pour.
(3) There's less chance of running out; less need to run out for more. A sensible way to enjoy the Bourbon that has been a family art since 1795.

A LOVELIER YOU

Woman With Charm Is Appealing, Sought

By MARY SUE MILLER

"Charm is a sort of bloom on a woman," wrote James M. Barrie. "If she has it, she doesn't need anything else. If she hasn't got it, nothing else matters."

We might give that thought a whirl as we break out our fall finery. In spite of Mr. Barrie, nobody can deny that, in looking our best, we both take and give pleasure. Viewed in that light, a fine appearance becomes a feminine obligation. But not the end-all.

Appearance forms only the facade of a personality. A Lovely's behavior is the measure of her lasting appeal. When her actions are charming, her company is in demand and treasured.

And small wonder, for she has mastered the social graces of tact, timing and tolerance. She has developed a well of sympathy, understanding and good humor. She is aware and cares.

To a young girl, the quest of charm may seem a difficult undertaking. A rocky road. Let her remember that a worthwhile goal is never won without will and wit. Double dips of both qualities are needed just to acquire a winsome amount of tact, the first step to charm.

To a woman, charm becomes a way of life and its own reward. With a charming appearance the corollary.

OES Group Will Attend State Meet

Representing the chapter at the grand chapter meeting will be Mrs. Orbin Daily, worthy matron, and Orbin Daily, worthy patron. Others planning to attend are Mr. and Mrs. Steve Baker, Mrs. Charles McCarley, Mrs. O. C. Mason and Mrs. Lois Peters.

Mr. and Mrs. Daily presided at the meeting, and Mrs. Baker and C. R. McClenny, grand officers, were recognized.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I've found a very inexpensive protective covering for my washer and dryer.

I took a fitted, twin-sized bottom sheet that was wornout and ripped it in half, crosswise. Then hemmed the torn edge.

The fitted end fits over the dial panel of each machine. It's easy to slip on or off and while it's not the best looking cover, it's cheap and effective!

Dear Heloise:

Looking for something in which to soak my hairbrushes and combs, I spied an empty milk carton. So I rinsed it out and put in lukewarm water and dishwashing detergent, then plopped in my brushes and combs.

The carton is tall enough to thoroughly cover the items and the best part is that it keeps your bathroom sink free.

After reading your hint about putting powdered coffee cream in a plastic catsup bottle, I saved another such bottle and put my sugar in it. The only difference is that I cut the opening larger than I did the one for coffee cream.

Now I keep a pair of these plastic bottles on my breakfast table where they are in constant use.

You know how wonderful florist clay is for arrangement of all sorts, as well as many other uses . . . but . . . how difficult it is to remove the clay from vases, dishes, etc.

Ky Is All Set To Speak At 'March For Victory'

SAIGON (AP) — A senior aide to Nguyen Cao Ky said today the South Vietnamese vice president is not reconsidering his visit to the United States to attend a "March for Victory" rally, and his decision right now is "irreversible."

"He will tell the American people why we are fighting," said Col. Phan Van Minh, Ky's chief of staff. "He is not reconsidering. He is all set to go. We are working on his speech. All arrangements have been made."

Ky will leave Saigon next Tuesday, stopping off first in Paris where he is the chief of the South Vietnamese delegation to the peace talks. He has boycotted the talks for 18 months. From Paris, Ky is scheduled to fly to the United States, arriving in Washington Oct. 1.

The "March for Victory" rally is scheduled for Oct. 3 in Washington. It is sponsored by the Rev. Carl McIntire, a fundamentalist radio preacher.

Minh's statement that Ky definitely was going ahead with his plans came after he was asked for comment on reports from Washington quoting U.S. officials as saying that Ky may now be reconsidering his visit.

Earlier, key Republican and Democratic senators in Washington advised Ky to stay home and not become involved in American internal politics by speaking at the rally.

PUBLIC OPINION

The senators included Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and some of President Nixon's most faithful Republican supporters in the Senate. They said in a series of speeches that the proposed visit would aggravate existing American conflicts and constitute a wrong-handed and misguided tampering "with the political process and public opinion of another country."

Minh said news reports of their remarks had just been made available to Ky, and there had been no comment yet from the vice president.

"We had considered the problem before the vice president made his decision" said Minh.

FIGHT PRESSURE

McIntire flew to Saigon last weekend to persuade Ky to stand up under what he called pressure from the White House and State Department to stay away from the Oct. 3 rally designed to encourage support for an all-out military effort in Vietnam.

Meanwhile, Senate critics, who include supporters of the Nixon policy, were explicit in condemning the trip.

In a strongly worded speech, Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said Thursday Ky's acceptance of McIntire's invitation can only intensify U.S. dissent over the war.

Allott, chairman of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee, often echoes the President's views in the Senate.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Americans can solve their own problems over the war. "We have enough discontent in this country already."

Jobless Bill To Cover 400,000 More Texans

AUSTIN (AP) — A new federal law will provide unemployment coverage for 400,000 additional Texans, the Texas Employment Commission said Thursday.

This will amount to the biggest one-step increase in coverage since the start of the federal-state unemployment insurance program.

Also, the commission said, 100,000 more employers will be liable for unemployment insurance taxes.

The changes go into effect Jan. 1, 1972.

The law provides for the payment of extended unemployment insurance up to a maximum of 13 weeks in times of high unemployment. The government will pay half the extended benefits. Extended benefits will be paid once regular benefits are exhausted.

SMALL FIRM

In Texas, about 100,000 jobs in non-profit organizations are added to coverage. Employes of a church, association of churches, or school other than institutions of higher education are not covered.

More than 183,000 Texas jobs in small business are covered by defining an employer as one who employs one or more workers in 20 separate weeks in a year, or an employer who has a payroll of $1,500 in a calendar quarter.

Jobs in state hospitals and state institutions or higher education in Texas totaling about 88,000 come under coverage.

Faculty, research and administrative employes of institutions of higher education are not eligible for benefits during the summer vacation if they have a contract to resume work after the vacation.

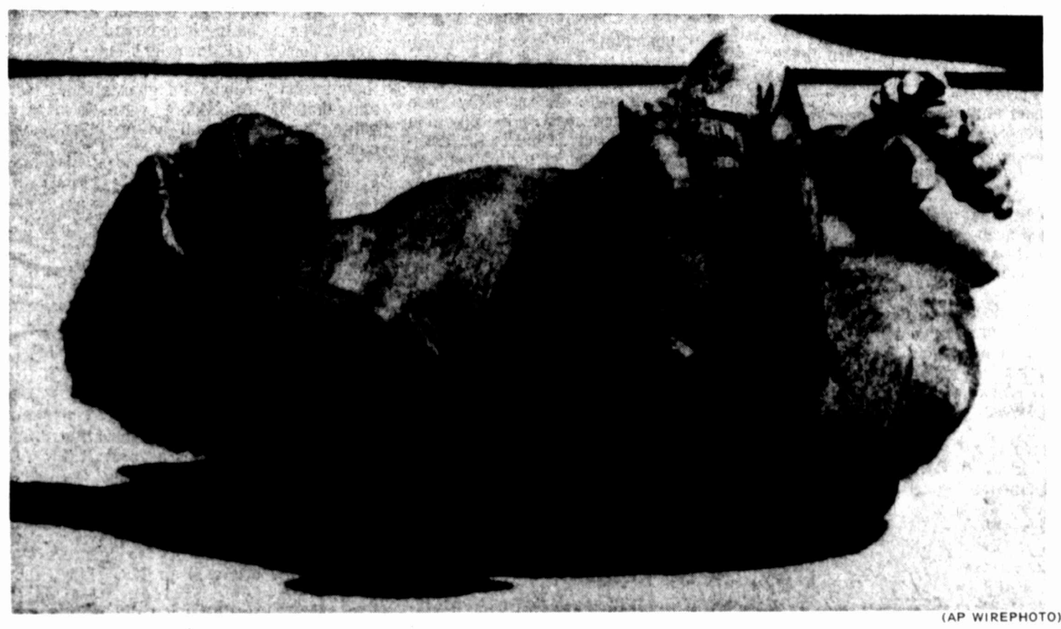

An estimated 10,000 agent drivers and outside salesmen in Texas, formerly excluded from coverage as being self-employed, will be brought under coverage by changing the definition of "employe."

VIRGIN ISLANDS

As many as 9,000 Texas workers in agricultural processing will be eligible for benefits.

The bill does not cover farm workers, clients in sheltered workshops, certain students or their spouses, or minors engaged in work-study programs.

About 8,000 jobs held by United States citizens, residents of Texas, employed by American employers outside the United States will be covered, except for service performed in Canada and the Virgin Islands.

Landmark Decision

HOUSTON (AP)—A trial involving an integration suit brought by the Justice Department against the International Longshoremen's Association in Texas ended Thursday.

The last witness was a Negro longshoreman who testified that members of all-black Houston Local 872 favor a merger with its sister all-white union.

The Justice Department is trying to force some 37 locals in ten Texas ports to merge.

The testimony of Ernest Clabron, called as a governmental rebuttal witness, conflicted with that of Local 872 President James Stewart, a key defense witness.

The case was heard by U.S. Dist. Judge Reynaldo Garza of Brownsville, who said he would probably rule in early February.

"I think this is going to be a landmark decision not only involving the ILA but also other unions which have segregated locals," Garza said.

Chavez Unfurls Lettuce Boycott

SALINAS, Calif. (AP) — Farm labor leader Cesar Chavez is bringing his most potent weapon—a nationwide boycott—to bear on all U.S.-grown lettuce that doesn't carry his union's label.

He announced Thursday the boycott will focus on 64 major cities across the country and "it will be on until the last lettuce grower is signed."

The United Farm Workers Organizing Committee leader used the same tactic in bringing the nation's largest table grape growers to the bargaining table early this summer after a bitter five-year dispute.

One Salinas area grower now carries UFWOC's black Aztec eagle label—Inter Harvest Co., a subsidiary of the giant United Fruit Corp. and the nation's largest.

Chavez moved his UFWOC organizers into the valley less than a week after the rival Teamsters union announced it had signed most valley growers to contracts covering an estimated 13,000 field workers.

Herbert Fleming, a spokesman for about 70 grower-shippers who have signed Teamster contracts, said, "Chavez will be trying to boycott produce that is grown, harvested and shipped by (Teamsters) union workers."

Chavez contends the Teamsters contracts are "sweetheart" agreements and says his AFL-CIO affiliate represents the field workers.

The Salinas Valley produces 70 per cent of the nation's solid-head lettuce.

UFWOC field workers, now in their fourth week of striking, have slowed shipments of lettuce from last year's high of 242,000 24-head cartons daily to 195,000 daily this year as prices climbed doubling in some places.

Dumping Raw Sewage Rap

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Charging that it violated clean water laws by dumping raw sewage into the San Antonio River, the Texas Water Quality Control Board has filed suit against the city.

The suit charges that raw, untreated sewage was discharged into the river when two relief valves were opened on Aug. 3 and that the discharges continued on Aug. 4.

San Antonio city officials have said sewage discharges were ordered as Hurricane Celia approached last month and forecasters predicted as much as six inches of rain for this area.

The suit also says the city has "grossly violated" its permitted sewage quality discharge on 50 or more separate dates between Jan. 1 and Aug. 3.

The suit further alleges the Water Quality Board believes there were "numerous similar violations" between June 1, 1967, and Jan. 1, 1970.

"The defendant should be penalized for each violation proved in an amount not less than $50, nor more than $1,000," the petition says.

Crackdown On Diphtheria Violators Pose Problems

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A planned crackdown on diphtheria quarantine violators poses problems, but police say attempts will be made to enforce it.

The health department announced plans for strict enforcement of quarantines here as a growing epidemic broke a record set 34 years ago.

CITY'S 97TH

A five-year-old girl became the city's 97th confirmed diphtheria case of the year Thursday, making the epidemic the worst here since 1936 when 96 cases were recorded.

The largest diphtheria outbreak on record here was 344 cases in 1914.

Two children have died in the current epidemic. Many patients have recovered but others are still hospitalized.

More than 20 quarantine signs have been posted at scattered homes where diphtheria has struck, but the health department says some families have flatly ignored orders to remain confined.

NO ARRESTS IDEA

To prevent the disease from spreading, health director William Ross said quarantine violators will be prosecuted. Violators could be fined up to $1,000.

Police Chief George Bichsel pointed out there are problems involved in enforcing the quarantine.

No arrests are planned, the chief said. But as a last resort, he said, warrants for flagrant violators' arrests could be issued after their quarantine is listed. This generally takes about 10 days, he said.

When police receive complaints of violations, Bichsel said, officers will attempt instead to convince quarantine breakers of the urgency of remaining confined and persuade them to stay indoors.

Policemen will step up their patrols in areas where quarantined families continue to ignore the health department's orders, Bichsel said.

JAIL WOES

He noted that "real problems" could develop if violators were jailed while still under quarantine. "You can imagine what it would be like if the jail was quarantined," he said.

Sheriff W. B. Hauck said he will not allow anyone under quarantine to be placed in the jail, which serves both the city and county. Otherwise, he said, "everybody in the jail would be quarantined—no one could go in or out."

Customs Agents Return Package Of POW Letters

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Customs officials say they have returned a package of 379 letters from American prisoners of war in North Vietnam which was seized from a peace-movement courier at Kennedy Airport.

The package, taken by Customs agents as an undeclared item Wednesday night, was made available Thursday night to courier Robert Scheer, officials said.

Scheer and other members of the U.S. Peoples Anti-Imperialist Delegation said they obtained the letters during a Southeast Asian trip.

Scheer said he was going to distribute them to the prisoners' families.

The letters were seized, Scheer said, by Customs men who took him to a private room, threatened to search him, and "treated me like a common criminal."

His group filed suit in U.S. District Court seeking the return of 9,000 feet of motion picture film shot in North Korea and of two seven-inch reels of audio tape, which they said also were seized by Customs agents.

TAOS, N.M. (AP) — A. D. H. Lawrence festival, commemorating the 40th anniversary of the British novelist's death, will begin Sept. 30 near this northern New Mexico community, famed for its artists in residence.

A $15,600 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to the University of New Mexico will enable 12 top D. H. Lawrence scholars to participate in the month-long festival.

Included in the festival will be panel discussions with Lawrence scholars, movies of Lawrence's works, exhibitions of memorabilia and other activities.

State Screwworm Cases Skid Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only 110 cases of screwworm infestation were reported during the first eight months of this year, the lowest incidence since eradication efforts began in the Southwest in 1962, says the Agriculture Department.

Texas reported 83 cases; New Mexico 25; Arizona 21; and California 3, the department said.

A Devotion For Today . . .

So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. (Psalm 90:12)

PRAYER: O God, to whom a thousand years are as but a day, hear the plea of one whose years are like a shadow that lingers but a few short hours. Give me the courage to face the uncertainties of life here and the assurance of the blessed life hereafter which Jesus promised. In His name. Amen.

Time To Pay Attention

Years ago, the petroleum industry began expressing its concern over what appeared to it to be shortsighted government tax and regulatory policies relating to the oil and natural gas industry. They warned that these policies could curb incentive and lead to shortages and higher prices. Today, the nation is threatened with both.

As Mr. William D. Smith writes in The New York Times, "If an industry could have a facial expression, the United States oil industry would be wearing a bittersweet smile. The smile would be a result of having seen recent events prove some of its serious forecasts and urgent warnings correct. The pleasure, however, is mitigated by the pain that the industry is nonetheless suffering from having seen its predictions come true." Mr. Smith then reviewed the failure of utility-type regulation of gas producers the sudden soaring costs of oil importations from the Middle East and the long-term decline in exploratory drilling as a result of lack of incentives in the oil industry. The petroleum industry has persistently warned of all of these matters, and its advice has been just as persistently ignored by politicians, consumer protectors and regulatory agencies.

Clearly, the time has come to listen to those who know the most about the energy business. One such authority, the president and chief executive officer of a major oil company, declares that to define and attain national energy goals in this decade is "of utmost importance to our national welfare. I think these goals can be stated in broad terms as follows: We must have adequate supplies to meet our requirements. We must have these supplies at reasonable costs. And we must have them in a form which is compatible with our national objectives on environmental quality." These are not the words of a self-serving oilman. They are the words of a concerned citizen who knows what he is talking about.

Automatic Consumer Protection

So much has been said of the need to protect consumers from the chicanery of manufacturers and retailers — in fact practically all business — that many people have lost sight of the elementary principles of the competitive, free market system that offer built-in consumer protection of the highest order.

The house organ of a major chain retailing organization describes how the products it sells to its customers are put through rigorous testing procedures at its central office. Its Merchandise Testing and Quality Control Center, occupying two floors of a New York skyscraper, performs over 100,000 individual tests each year. No government testing bureau could be more thorough. Everything from wearing apparel and household appliances to toys and TV sets are tested for quality, safety and performance. There's one marked distinction between the consumer protection efforts of a retailer such as this and a Washington agency. The retailer's reputation and the life of his business depend on how well he satisfies his customers. In other words, the retailer has a selfish interest — to stay in business — that impels him to make quality control a personal concern.

This is the strongest recommendation for the self-policing methods of the free market. The merchandise testing and quality control of this one major retailer is an illustration of how the system works. It is unfortunate that more consumers cannot see it firsthand.

Russia Complicates Air Piracy Issue

WASHINGTON — Although the Soviet Union joined with other members of the U.N. Security Council last week to adopt a resolution appealing for the release of all passengers and crewmen who were hijacked by Arab guerrillas, a strange comment later come out of Moscow. It blamed Israel and the United States for creating the tensions that led to the seizure and destruction of the planes.

THE COMMENTARY, as published in the official Soviet Communist newspaper, "Pravda," declared that Israel and "some western capitals" are using the hijackings as a means of wrecking the Middle East peace talks. This is a curious development, because the Soviet newpapers did not print comprehensive dispatches about the hijackings, but only brief items. The Soviet people did not get any details about the guerrillas' threats to kill passengers. The Russian newspaper carried only two short news reports of the destruction of the three airplanes in Jordan and the explosion of the fourth at Cairo airport. The Russian people were really not told exactly what did happen and who was responsible.

IT IS DIFFICULT to understand how four of the countries whose citizens were hijacked — namely, Great Britain, West Germany, Switzerland and the United States — could be regarded as responsible for creating "tension" in the Middle East. It is also puzzling just why the Soviet government should see fit to deny its people all the news about the hijackings, unless the belief was that the full story might prejudice the people against the Arabs, on whose side of the Middle East dispute the Kremlin has been aligned.

FOR THERE IS no doubt that the acts of the Palestinian commandos aroused resentment throughout the world and did more harm to the Arab cause than anything that has happened since the Middle East crisis began. When Israel announced the other day that it had taken about 450 Palestinians into custody as a means of offsetting the demands of the guerrillas and perhaps easing the way for a general release of all prisoners, there were few adverse comments made.

BUT THE TASK that now faces the five nations — Britain, West Germany, Switzerland, the United States and Israel — in negotiating for the release of all captives is one that involves passengers and crew members on three aircraft from those same countries. Of these, at least 38 have been identified as American citizens. As long as Israel has 450 hostages, it is not likely that force will be used by the Palestinian guerrillas against the prisoners they hold.

WHAT IS MOST disappointing is the slowness with which the negotiations for the release of the prisoners are being carried on. The United Nations has confined itself to an appeal to "all parties concerned for the immediate release of all passengers and crews without exception" and to a call on all countries to take all possible legal steps against further hijackings. But the Palestinian rebels did not comply with the request of the Security Council, and more than 50 persons are still being held.

PRESIDENT NIXON has taken action to suspend airline service to various countries which refuse to punish or extradite hijackers, and to arm airliners with security guards. But the piracy which gave rise to the present clash between the Palestinians and five nations has not yet been resolved, and there are no signs that the U.N. has decided to initiate any steps to organize a military force to secure the release of the hostages.

Billy Graham

Jesus said to the rich young ruler, "Sell all you have, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me." Matthew 19:21. What I want to know is: does that apply to us today? With poverty all around us, does the Lord expect us to give what we have to them?

M.J.A.

When Jesus spoke these words, "Sell all thou hast, and give to the poor, and come and follow me," the righ young ruler went away sorrowful, the Bible says, Personally, I believe Christ's demand that he follow Him was what made him turn away, more than the requirement that he sell everything and give to the poor.

It is easier to give away material things, than to make a full commitment to Christ, and follow Him in every area of life.

This, however, is not to say that Jesus is not still asking that we share what we have with the poor. He loved the poor, and the poor loved Him. In His first sermon He said, "I am come to preach the Gospel to the poor."

But, it is clear that Jesus did not make the same demands upon everyone who wanted to follow Him. To Nicodemus He said, "Ye must be born again." To Peter, James and John, He said, "Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men," etc. He meets everyone of us on our own ground, and He makes the terms. Possibly the righ young ruler's sin was the love of possessions, and He hit him at his most vulnerable point. Most of us love material things, and if they are our first love, He may make the same demand of us.

Unemployment Rate Rehashed

NEW YORK (AP) — Notes on the current state of the economy, specifically about business at the crossroads between recession and recovery, the seasonal nature of the stock market and the extent of unemployment:

—If you've wondered why businessmen always must peer into the future, you have a good example at hand, because the profits go to the ones who accurately forecast the next—and maybe imminent—economic turn.

The specific questions now facing all types of businessmen is this: Should we stock up now on goods to sell in anticipation of buying strength in the next few months? Or should we wait until we're more certain?

The classic situation involving this decision occurred right after World War II. Some companies foresaw a return to the depressed conditions of the 1930s and so retrenched. Others foresaw the boom and had the goods to sell.

Businessmen currently appear to have decided on an upturn, because in July they added nearly $170 billion to their inventories, the biggest monthly gain of 1970.

But, there is no great amount of evidence that they expect the recovery to lead to a boom. More liked a mild advance.

—Will the stock market fall with the autmun leaves? It often has in the past. Although quite often also the market recovers before winter, the autumn slide is a confirmed cycle in the stock market.

Are such cycles mere statistical accidents? Hardly. They result either from mass anticipation of business changes that regularly take place or, more accurately, from how the public interprets these changes.

—The unemployment rate has now risen to 5.1 per cent of the civilian labor force and, it would appear, is headed higher.

Although it is no consolation at all to workers in areas where unemployment is much higher, such as in Seattle, Wash., and in the cores of many industrial cities, the figures may not be as bad as they appear.

Joblessness among married men, for example, is less than 3 per cent, although rising. And much of that plus-5 per cent rate is temporary, accounted for by seasonal workers and by others between jobs.

While it is likely that the basic unemployment rate will always be the chief criterion of the job market's health, another measure is quite often used by those who must analyze the situation more closely. This is the average duration of unemployment.

In 1969, the average length of unemployment was about 8 weeks, although it fell to about 7.5 weeks just one year ago. In the spring and early summer the duration grew, and reached more than 9 weeks in June.

However, this still leaves the average length less than in all but 11 or 12 of the past 16 years. In 1961, the average length of unemployment topped 16 weeks.

Hey, Fat Women!

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you want to make mosquitoes keep their distance, eat a plate of snails with garlic butter. The mosquitoes didn't mind the snails, but they can't stand garlic — particularly at close quarters.

It's a waste of time worrying that you may be hit by a "falling star." Astronomers have calculated that an object as big as the entire continent of North America is likely to be struck by a meteorite 100-inches or more wide only about once in 50,000 years.

We might all live longer if we spent more money trying to find out how to. Specialists estimate that a major biomedical research program could increase healthful life expectancy by five to 15 years, but the amount now spent per person on such research is about eight cents a year—the price of a single candy bar.

What should a mother do if her child tries to get its way by holding its breath until it turns blue, faints or even goes into convulsions: The best attitude she can take is one of "purposeful neglect," says a Johns Hopkins Hospital specialist. Such tantrums by the child don't do physical harm to it, he says, and can best be disregarded unless the family wants to submit to being dominated by these tactics.

Delivery problems: Biting dogs are a bane of U.S. mailmen, but those of other countries have worse perils, notes the National Geographic Society. Camels chew on Egyptian mailmen, jaguars ambush Brazilian mailmen, one in the Tongan Islands was browsed on by a shark, and a few years ago Afghanistan suspended rural deliveries because too many mailmen were dined on by leopards.

Cutting it short: one reason people put on weight may be because their intestines are too long. Three Danish surgeons reported to an international medical convention that they had caused 10 excessively fat women to lose up to 300 pounds—and keep it off—by operations which removed a section of their intestines, thus lessening the amount of food they absorbed.

It was Josh Billings who observed, "I never knew a man who lived on hope but what spent his old age at somebody else's expense."

Traffic Quiz

SEATTLE (AP) — A local woman became tired of the dust ruining her laundry. So she hung a sign outside which read: "Wash Out."

She was arraigned in the local court on a charge of erecting illegal traffic controls. Her attorney claimed that all day long cars sped past the home of the woman on a rural road, despite the sign.

To Your Good Health

Yes, Have A Broken Nose Set

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the possible outcome if a broken nose is not set? How serious is it? Is blindness likely? R.R.

A broken nose doesn't cause blindness.

There are two principal consequences if a nose is not set. One is deformity that is visible. This may be a crooked nose, a depression called a saddle nose, or some general flattening.

The other common consequence is deformity inside the nose. The septum, or partition between the nostrils, consists of cartilage. It can be torn loose from it bony attachment, or it can become seriously deviated, or bent, with the airway (one side or both) becoming obstructed, interfering with breathing.

This in turn can cause subsequent troubles: recurrent infection, postnasal drainage or "drip," voice changes, nosebleeds. When such serious damage occurs to the septum, there usually is a lot of bleeding at the time of the fracture.

If a fracture is not corrected immediately, it should be checked within a very few days, after the bleeding has stopped, to have the nose set.

If there is too much delay, then surgical procedures may be necessary later on.

Maybe I should put it this way: if your nose is broken, or you think it may be, have it checked promptly, to have it set or to determine definitely whether it needs setting.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I enclose 25 cents and a long-self-addressed and stamped envelope for booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart." What should be the diet of a cardiac patient?

Mrs. C.W.

Diet for a heart patient isn't complicated as a rule — just a few points to keep in mind, and they will vary according to the individual, so let your doctor guide you on that.

Mainly:

—Salt may be severely restricted if the patient has much swelling from edema (fluid accumulation in tissues).

—Reduction in calories may be necessary if the patient is overweight, but not otherwise.

—In coronary cases — if the patient has had a coronary occlusion or "heart attack" — cholesterol and excessive fats may need to be limited.

—Small but more frequent meals can make some heart patients more comfortable. But if the usual three meals a day do not cause discomfort, there's no point in changing. Big meals may provoke anginal pain or other distress.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of this helpful and comforting booklet, "Acne — The Teen-Age Problem." DID YOU HEAR about the strike at the dairy?

A member of the Milkers Union complained he had too many cows to handle in his allotted time.

Actually, it was the cows who went on strike, on the grounds that the pun was beneath them, and further it was cruel and human treatment.

Security Problems For Ky, Kosygin

WASHINGTON — Two visitors are expected in this country in the near future whose coming is regarded with trepidation, if not downright fear. It is a dismal sign of the times that their security cannot be guaranteed, and that if officialdom were less polite they might well be urged to cancel the visits.

Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam says he means to ignore the efforts "they" are making to dissuade him from responding to an invitation to take part in a "March For Victory" in Washington on Oct. 3. He does not define "they," and State Department officials insist they are maintaining a strict hands-off position.

THE INVITATION came from the Rev. Carl McIntire of the International Council of Churches. The council is an ultraconservative organization that spends a great deal of time and energy attacking the National Council of Churches and the social action commitment of many denominations. McIntire flew out to Vietnam to persuade Ky to ignore any and all attempts to keep him away.

In Saigon Ky makes a valid point when he says he needs no official sanction from Washington for his visit. After all, he notes, Vice President Spiro Agnew visited Vietnam without any official invitation. So why should not the Vice President of South Vietnam visit the United states?

BUT HE IS the second ranking official of the ally in Southeast Asia to whom the United States has committed so much in blood and treasure. Protocol and, far more important, security would be involved from the beginning to the end of his stay. His participation in the "March For Victory" would be highly inflammatory, likely to incite violent opposition from the anti-war faction.

THE OTHER visitor will come as a matter of right. Premier Alexei Kosygin of the Soviet Union is reported preparing to visit the United Nations on the occasion of the U.N.'s 25th anniversary on Oct. 24. The General Assembly will be in session and the date is likely to draw a number of heads of government. They will be invited to address the congress of the world organization, as has occurred in the past.

KOSYGIN'S VISIT is not a certainty, although it is rated by specialists here as a large possibility. There has been speculation that President Nixon on a visit to mark the U.N. anniversary and address the General Assembly would meet with Kosygin. This prospect gives the State Department a mild case of the jitters, since summit meetings, whether formal or informal, arouse expectations that cannot be fulfilled. The last thing anyone wants is another Glassboro, N. J., encounter such as when Lyndon Johnson sat across the table from Kosygin in a vain exchange.

THE REAL WORRY, however, is security and the likelihood of massive demonstrations difficult to control. The Israeli showing of Soviet-backed Egyptian violations of the cease-fire, at least partially substantiated by American sources, has heated the atmosphere to the boiling point. With the terrifying intervention of the hijackings and the holding of hostages, it is not likely to improve in the days just ahead.

THE DEMONSTRATION has increasingly become a tactic of impassioned causists. What the mass protest achieves is questionable. Conceivably, it has a negative impact, putting policymakers on notice with a warning loud and unmistakable. But it can also heat up the divisiveness in a nation already deeply divided.

Voting Age And The Constitution

WASHINGTON — A month from tomorrow the Supreme Court will open hearings on Congress's lunatic law giving the vote to 18-year-olds, and I trust the Court's new makeup will not be horn-swoggled by one argument for the law offered by that eminent constitutional lawyer, Sen. Teddy Kennedy.

But I confess my trust is a fragile thing. The Court still suffers the presence of too many members of Earl Warren's judicial Mafia, and we could wind up with a ruling that eventually might prompt some addlepated Congress to tender the vote to toddlers or, contrariwise, limit it to citizens over 40.

KENNEDY'S principal thrust in advocating the law, legislation for which he initiated, is the hoary cliche of "invidious discrimination." We should not deny the vote to 18-year-olds, says this youthful Blackstone, while they are considered old enough to be drafted, married, employed and taxed. He bases this argument on the equal-protection clause of the 14th Amendment, which he would stretch to a new and dangerous limit.

VERY WELL. Forget the draft bit for a moment. I rise to speak for some other kids who suffer from the same "invidious discrimination" that causes a sob to rise in the Kennedy throat. I refer to the child of 17 or 16 or 15 or 14 — or even 12, in some circumstances — who is now married, employed and taxed. Indeed, I bleed also for the 10-year-old who must pay a tax on any summertime earnings over $600.

If the Kennedy argument has validity, these tads also should be given the vote. They meet all Teddy's qualifications except that pertaining to the draft, and in this vicious world heaven only knows how long they'll be exempt from shouldering a gun in, say Outer Mongolia.

IN SHORT, the point that demolishes the Kennedy argument and that of other professional youth-lovers, is that reason demands an arbitrary constitutional threshold for the right to vote.

Although you'd never know it to judge from the nonsense mouthed by advocates of the new law, that threshold exists. Section 2 of Article 1 of the Constitution leaves the states free to fix voter qualifications. Assorted amendments have diluted some of these states' rights, of course, but the very amendment cited in Kennedy's argument incorporates 21 as the age when a citizen becomes entitled to vote.

TO BE SPECIFIC, the 14th Amendment is also designed to reduce the representation of any state which might abridge the voting rights of its citizens over 21. Age 21 was committed to print because it was the age generally accepted by the states. Today, 46 states still set 21 as the proper minimum age for voting, and only two have a voting age as low as 18.

SUPPORTERS of the vote for 18-year-olds by Congressional fiat are fond of comparing the action with the enfranchisement of blacks and women. But they fail to remind their audiences that both blacks and women were given the vote by due process, that is by amending the Constitution, not by mere legislation.

U. S. Bomber Raids Blocking Offensive

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Flight after flight of warplanes today pounded the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops who have blocked the government's first offensive of the war some 50 miles north of Phnom Penh.

North Vietnamese troops attacked the Cambodian force along Highway 6 Thursday and killed four government soldiers.

Enemy soldiers were still operating to the rear of the government's forward line today. Three mortar rounds were reported fired on the Cambodians as more government reinforcements moved in.

BAN NEWSMEN

The enemy was also reported reinforcing and resupplying.

For the first time, the Cambodian command ordered field commanders not to let foreign newsmen cover the action today. No reason was given, but one officer in the town of Skoun said the move might be aimed at preventing foreign journalists from seeing strikes by American jets. No confirmation was available.

Cambodian engineers repaired the last of three bridges destroyed by enemy guerrillas between Skoun and the government forces' forward lines. Field commanders put strong forces around the newly mended bridges to prevent more sabotage.

Sources in Saigon said U.S. bombers were continuing their raids along the highway between the Cambodian troops, strung out for several miles along the road some 50 miles north of Phnom Penh, and the enemy-surrounded city of Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of the capital.

GET MOVING

The raids are aimed at blocking North Vietnamese reinforcements and destroying their supplies.

The division-size Cambodian task force is being challenged by an enemy force of more than 2,000 men. Some North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have moved toward the Cambodians' rear positions and field commanders fear the enemy force might cut off the Cambodians' northward drive aimed at recapturing some of the country's heartland.

The Cambodian spokesman would not speculate on when the government's first major offensive would get moving again. It has been stalled since Monday, when Cambodian forces suffered heavy casualties in fighting at Taing Kauk village.

Twenty to 30 government troops have been reported killed and more than 100 wounded in the 12-day operation. Enemy casualties are not known.

GRAB WEAPONS

In another development, a South Vietnamese military delegation turned over a large amount of arms, munitions and equipment to the Cambodian army. It was understood the war materials were provided indirectly by the United States and are in addition to the $40 million military aid promised Cambodia for this fiscal year.

The U.S. Command in Saigon has announced the loan to Cambodia of six helicopters, which are being flown by South Vietnamese crews, and some C47 aircraft.

Enrollment Gains Over 1969 Tally

Enrollment in Big Spring schools last week showed a gain over a year ago, but the 7,308 included 104 in the kindergarten program which did not exist a year ago. Without the kindergarten figures, the total would be 7,204, just .7 of one per cent below the 7,256 on the comparable date a year ago.

Gain for the week was 78, with 36 occurring in the elementary level where 3,781 (including kindergarten) were registered, and 44 in the secondary level (15 in junior high and 29 in senior high). The junior highs had 1,235 and senior high 2,121. Special education showed 171, down two.

Senior Citizens Invited To Meet

Senior adults will have a chance to speak out Monday on what they feel are the basic needs of their age group.

The Howard County panel of the Conference on Aging will conduct a meeting at 10 a.m. Monday at the First United Methodist Church, to which every person over 55 years of age is invited.

The purpose is to get the opinions of people from every cross section on what the needs of the elder citizens may be. These viewpoints may vary widely, but the committee is anxious to get any and all ideas. Therefore committee members urge as many of the senior citizens as possible to attend the meeting.

Insect-Eating Bird Is Friend

The purple martin is one of nature's ways of dealing with the insect problem, Patty Shapland told the Big Spring Organic Soil Makers at their meeting Monday at the United States Experiment Farm.

Fourteen members attended the meeting, presided over by Bill Brown, and made plans for entering an exhibit in the fall garden show. The next meeting will be Oct. 12.

Miss Shapland briefed the club on the bird's ability to combat insects and pointed out that insecticides are the martin's worst enemy.

She urged members and others to erect martin houses to attract the bird, a member of the migratory swallow family whose flight pattern brings it through here.

She described the martin as being a clean, friendly and avaricious eater of bugs. Checks have shown that it is not uncommon for them to eat as many as 2,000 mosquitoes per day, and that they help keep a garden and lawn free of insect pests.

UF Campaign Plans Made

Division chairmen for the 1970-71 United Fund campaign have been gathering their fund raising teams this week.

To raise funds for the 14 local community service agencies, campaign chairman Ken Perry and co-chairmen Tom Ivey have divided the work load among the nine chairmen named last week.

John Burgess, Lowell Jones, Gene McElroy, Maj. P. L. Braddon, D. D. Pittman, Lee H. Williamson, Mrs. Wade Choate, Larson Loyd, and Paul Meek will set up the teams to handle campaigns for contributions from the various sources.

The Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts, the two YMCAs the local USO, Salvation Army, Half-Way House, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Texas Rehabilitation Center, Air Force Aid Society, the Summer Recreation Center, the West Side Youth Center, and the Big Spring Milk and Medicine Fund are the agencies included in the United Fund.

Although each gift helps all the agencies, donors are asked to remember that a fair contribution is based on the total of the contributions they would make to each agency separately.

The campaign slogan this year is: "If you don't do it, it won't get done."

Clothes Found 'All Cut Up'

KERMIT — A search is continuing today in Winkler County for a 27-year-old housewife missing from her home since about midnight Tuesday.

Thursday afternoon officers found a dress and undergarments tentatively identified as belonging to Mrs. Nancy Mitchell. Police said the clothing was "all cut up," but said there were no bloodstains.

Gene Mitchell, an employe by Trans-Western Pipeline Co., reported his wife missing from their Kermit residence about 1 a.m. Wednesday when he returned home from work. The couple's two children, ages 6 and 7, were asleep in their beds and said they had heard nothing.

Police said there was no sign of a struggle in the home. A statewide all-points bulletin was issued for the missing woman Wednesday, and early Thursday a Department of Public Safety helicopter out of Midland was called in to aid in the search.

The clothing was found in a three-to-five-mile-long area on the north side of SH 302 east of Kermit.

Mrs. Mitchell is described as being 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighing 110 pounds, with blonde hair and blue eyes. Police said they will continue the search as long as necessary.

FBI Eyes Threats Against Crosby School Trustees

CROSBY, Tex. (AP) — The Justice Department and the FBI are investigating threats made against two trustees of the Crosby School District over integration.

U.S. Atty. Anthony Farris said Thursday he was told the threats were against the lives of the trustees and their families.

Farris declined to identify the two but the Houston Post said they were board President Oliver Thompson and Albert J. Schmidl.

Billfold Missing

Officer D. Bruce Kiser, San Angelo Police Department, who attends classes at Howard County Junior College, has reported his billfold missing. He told police here that in addition to $180 cash it contained identification cards, badge, and credit cards.

Decision Awaited On Publicity Issue

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — S. Sgt. David Mitchell's lawyer offered today to pay the expenses of certain witnesses if he could have the right to subpoena them for Mitchell's court-martial in connection with the alleged My Lai massacre.

Ossie Brown said it was unfair to require the defense to tell what the witnesses would testify before being given the right to subpoena them.

The Army is not similarly restrict, he said.

DRUM UP MONEY

Brown said if the court refused to give the defense equal treatment, then he would insist that the Army also tell what its witnesses would say on the stand before it would be permitted to subpoena them.

As a third alternative, Brown offered to "somehow drum up the money" to pay the expenses of those witnesses.

The military judge for Mitchell's court-martial may rule later today on this motion and also on a defense motion on pre-trial publicity. He watched television news film on the My Lai incident Thursday.

Col. George R. Robinson viewed films of newscasts of the alleged My Lai massacre from 8 a.m. to 4:20 p.m. Thursday. He saw film of 82 prime time network newscasts and two news features by the NBC Today show.

The defense says Mitchell cannot get a fair trial because of this national television exposure of the mass killing that reportedly occurred in the South Vietnamese hamlet on March 16, 1968.

NIXON ANGLE

It also urges certain statements by President Nixon and other high officials in some of the newscasts unlawfully influence Mitchell's commanding general to order him court-martialed.

Mitchell cocked his head to one side as he heard Eric Severeid of CBS say in a Nov. 28 broadcast, "War ennobles some men. It brings out the worst in others."

He fingered his pencil-moustache as he watched film on his own news conference at Fort Hood last Dec. 12, where he denied seeing any massacre.

He betrayed no emotion as he looked at pictures of the bodies of naked babies and women heaped on a dirt road.

The pictures reportedly were taken at My Lai by an Army photographer and were widely published last year.

Mitchell's civilian lawyer, Ossie Brown, of Baton Rouge, La., may have cringed inwardly as he listened to himself saying on NBC last Dec. 31, "This is America. I think we can get a fair trial here. . .At least I hope we can."

FAIR TRIAL

Brown's position now is that Mitchell cannot get a fair trial anywhere.

A 45-minute reel, put together by the Army, proved too much for the projector, which broke down half-way through the last reel and had to be replaced.

The first five reels covered newscasts in the short period from Nov. 17 to Dec. 10.

Mitchell, 30, is accused of assault with intent to murder. The Army says he shot dead, "about 30" civilians at My Lai. He has denied the charge.

If convicted, he can be sentenced to 20 years at hard labor, a dishonorable discharge, and forfeiture of pay and allowances.

Fresh Thunderstorms Crop Up In West Texas

By The Associated Press

Fresh thunderstorms cropped up this morning in the Lubbock area and in parts of East Texas, and there was more rain in usually dry far West Texas.

Showers also fell along the coast from near Galveston to Palacios, and in the northeast corner of the state from around Mount Peasant to Texarkana.

None of the rainfall appeared to be nearly as heavy, however, as the deluges of five and six inches reported in some areas the past two or three days as the remains of Tropical Storm Felice kicked up a fuss.

Light showers popped out again around El Paso and more were expected in normally dry sections east and south of there in West Texas, already soaked by accumulations of two to five inches over a three-day period. In this case the Weather Bureau blamed vestiges of Hurricane Ella, which went ashore in Mexico last Saturday and gradually worked up the Rio Grande Valley.

Much of the new thunderstorm activity developed before dawn in a sector embracing Tyler, Palestine and Corsicana, and from Lubbock and Brownfield westward into New Mexico.

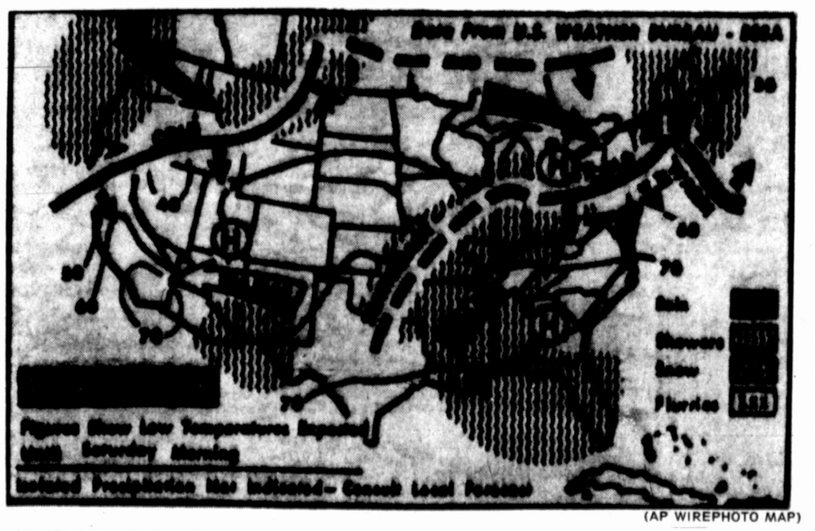

A dissipating cool front still lingered across Central Texas, meanwhile, without exerting much effect.

Still more scattered showers were expected tonight or Saturday in most sections, plus occasional thunderstorms in West Texas.

Fair Housing Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top enforcement official in the government's fair housing program resigned today, accusing the Nixon administration of actively opposing efforts to eliminate discrimination in housing.

Robert J. Affeldt, director of conciliation for the Department of Housing and Urban Development's fair housing program, said he resigned because he was "very, very frustrated" with the administration.

The administration, Affeldt said at a news conference, "is not only indifferent to fair housing but is actively opposing it by acts of commission and omission.

"As a result of this policy the fedeal government is encouraging and perpetuating racial discrimination in housing, employment and education," he said.

Affeldt, who described himself as a political independent but said he was recruited by the Nixon administration to the $24,000 a year job, is returning to his post as a professor of law at the University of Toledo, Ohio.

The October program will deal with the background of the child with learning disabilities — how to recognize these traits.

Subsequent programs will deal with how testing is conducted, what the specialists look for, how the psychologist and neurologist fit into the picture, and role of the counsellor in dealing with the children.

MORE GIFTS

THE WILLS FAMILY SINGERS will appear Sunday at Grace Baptist Church to help celebrate the church's 11th anniversary. The Wills Family will be at the church all day and will perform during Sunday services.

Husband's Role Hard For Ex-Priest DuBay

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As the ex-priest headed for his study one morning to work, his wife called out from an adjoining room, "Make sure you don't come in and talk to your wife! Get right in there and work off all that guilt!"

Irritated, baffled, he went ahead and settled down to his typewriter. But feigning affection, he said, "Honey, is there something you want to talk about?"

"Jesus!" she snapped. "Can't you ever come in and say, 'Hi! You're beautiful, and I love you'?"

He was shocked, silent, refusing to listen further.

That's a real-life scene in the troubled but still enduring marriage of former Catholic priest William H. DuBay as he describes it in the current issue of McCall's. It's been rough, he says, adding:

"We're still not sure our marriage will survive."

DuBay, 35, married two years ago to an Episcopalian divorcee, the former Mary Ellen Rochester, now 31, after he was suspended from the priesthood, is one of many ex-priests who have married, and he says they face special problems.

"The trouble is marriage can trap a priest in a situation for which he is not prepared," DuBay says. He says not all priests are "completely unfit for matrimony, but it would be hard to think of a background more at odds with it."

The main difficulty is not hang-ups about sex, he contends, but rather a fear of "intimacy, close personal contact with another human being." He adds this may stem in part from being schooled against sex.

"What priests are not prepared for is a constant, day-afterday relationship with a woman," he says. "The church has successfully implanted in its priests an almost crippling inability to carry out a healthy relationship.

DuBay was suspended in 1966 after he called for dismissal of now retired James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, then archbishop of Los Angeles, accusing him of not taking the lead in fighting racism and of repressing priests who did.

Disciples Grant Funds To Aid In Fight Against Diphtheria

FORT WORTH, Tex. — A special grant to be used in immunizing underprivileged people in San Antonio against diphtheria and other dread diseases has been made to an ecumenical coalition of neighborhood clinics by the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Texas.

An initial check for $500 was mailed Monday to the Committee of Coordinated Comprehensive Community Clinics, federation of 16 neighborhood clinics operated by various denominations. Another $500 is to be provided "if and as it is needed" to purchase medicine for a program of inoculation at the clinics.

San Antonio is experiencing a diphtheria epidemic and recently had two polio deaths.

The emergency grant is from funds being given by Texas Disciples for "Reconciliation," the Christian Church's nationwide program to combat poverty, racism and other causes of the crisis in human relations.

Daniel Saucedo, executive director of the Disciples-related Inman Christian Center in San Antonio, is chairman of the clinics committee, sometimes called the "Five C's" because of the initials of its long name. Saucedo also is a member of both national and state steering committees for the Disciples' Reconciliation program.

Describing the need to the Texas Reconciliation Steering Committee over the weekend, Saucedo said that the incidence of diphtheria is higher in Bexar County neighborhoods where underprivileged people, mainly Mexican-Americans, live.

But residents of those areas of high population density are having trouble getting immunization, he continued, because a shortage of personnel has prevented the dispensing of medicine at points close to the people.

The Five C's will use the Reconciliation grant to purchase medicine that will be dispensed at the neighborhood clinics by volunteers.

Saucedo pointed out that San Antonio and Bexar County in recent months have had 89 confirmed and verified cases of diphtheria, 2 deaths from polio and 335 leprosy cases.

Nationally, the Christian Church is raising $4 million for Reconciliation projects in such areas as education, housing, employment and community organization. Texas Disciples are seeking 10 per cent of the total or $400,000 in a campaign that was launched a year ago.

Evangelists Appear At Temple Revival

Baptist Temple will hold an eight day revival beginning Sunday and ending next Sunday. The revival will feature a Midland evangelist and a "singing preacher." Both men will arrive in time for Monday's services. Morning service will be at 10 daily and 7:30 services nightly.

The Rev. L. L. Moriss, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Midland, will present sermons at each service of the revival. The Rev. Moriss has been active in the ministry since he was 15. He was born in Tyler.

Dr. Moriss attended the College of Marshall, which is now East Texas Baptist College, Baylor University and Southwestern Seminary. He received his B. A. from Baylor University, his Doctor of Divinity Degree from East Texas Baptist College, and an honoroary Doctor of Divinity Degree from Baylor University.

Dr. Moriss has held various offices in the Southern Baptist Convention and in the Baptist General Convention of Texas, including chairman of the board. He is also active in Midland civic groups.

Tracts, pamphlets and books by Dr. Moriss have been printed by various religious magazines, journals and printing houses. Dr. Moriss received the George Washington Honor Medal in 1962 and 1963. The award was presented by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa. He was listed in "Who's Who of the Southwest" in 1959.

Evangelist Jerry Wayne Bernard, who has been termed the "singing preacher," will present gospel stories in sermon and song at each service of the revival.

The Rev. Bernard was born in 1937 and grew up in an orphan's home. He became a professional comedian, tap and modern jazz dancer, and a mimic and pantomine artist. In 1954, he decided to become a preacher and refused an opportunity for a screen test to go into motion pictures. After his training at Baylor University, he entered the field of evangelism and revival.

THE BOLD GOLD . . . BIG SPRING'S FINEST FACES YSLETA BEL AIR HERE AT 8 O'CLOCK

Steers In Comeback Try Against Ysleta

Big Spring offers resiliency and grit against Ysleta Bel Air's speed and cunning in its first home game of the season at 8 o'clock here this evening.

The Steers failed to get on the board against powerful Monterey last week, losing, 21-0. Bel Air flexed its muscles against Albuquerque Valley, winning 35-0.

The Steers will have their regular quarterback, Dave Duncan, going with them tonight. They made the mistakes expected of a young, untried ball club last week and expect to profit from them.

Their offense bogged down after some early pyrotechnics and Monterey found it could eat up yardage on rollouts. The Plainsmen have a liking for running up the middle but, stopped there, they consistently used their end sweeps for long gainers.

Junior Mike Adams figures he learned a lot at quarterback for the Steers last week and he'll be posed to alternate with Duncan.

The locals will also be depending heavily upon Roddy Caffey, their running back who was never lassoed by the Plainsmen; Joe Chavez, Arthur Trevino and others.

Duncan has any number of receivers he can go to when he passes, and he likes to take to the air. John Weeks, Tommy Fletcher, Caffey, Chavez and David Englert will be among his favorite targets.

Bel Air boasts one of the state's better quarterbacks in the 170-pound Bobby McKinley, who is only a junior. McKinley runs the option very well and is a dangerous passer on drop-back passes.

Mike Alvarez, a good open field runner, and James Porras are boys who lend him assistance in the Ysleta secondary.

Billy Avery is McKinley's favorite passing target and is considered very dangerous when he gathers in the ball. End Kenny Legge is another who will drift down for pass receptions. He has great moves after getting the ball.

Big Spring's best bet at stopping the Bel Air express is to halt the speedy Bel Air backs before they get started.

Bel Air uses an odd offensive formation, one the Steers will see only once all year. The visitors run off a pro set with three of the backs lined up one behind one other. Trying to devise a defense to stop it has occupied all the coaches' time this week.

After tonight's game, the Steers play only one more practice game before launching 5-AAAA play. The locals go to Snyder next week.

Probable starters:

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

In the '60s, Big Spring lacked only two games of playing .500 ball against football teams in a conference that is generally conceded to be one of the toughest schoolboy leagues in the nation.

The Steers wound up winning 33, losing 35 and playing one tie over the ten-year period. But for an 0-5 season they experienced at the dawn of the decade (1960), they would have been able to join the only three clubs able to boast a .500 or better record during the era — Permian, San Angelo and Abilene.

One more victory in any of the ten seasons and the Longhorns would have made it. Permian's 52-17-1 record during the period was the most imposing. The Panthers were slightly better than San Angelo, which finished with a 51-17-2 record. Abilene was only slightly better than Big Spring, having won 37, lost 30 and tied three.

* * * *

What was the highlight of the 60s in Big Spring athletics in your estimation? Quite probably it would have been either 1963 or '64, when Don Robbins was at the helm. The Steers finished 5-2 both years and were factors in the pennant races each time.

In '63, the Longhorns were upset by Odessa High but managed to beat both Permian and San Angelo. The following year, they beat Odessa handily, measured Cooper by two touchdowns and again edged Permian and San Angelo but suffered frustrating losses to Midland Lee and Abilene High.

Until Emmett McKenzie came along and was given time to implement his program, the Steers were never able to win in district. They joined in 1956 but not until 1961, when the Steers knocked off Midland Lee, 14-0, could the locals break the spell. They wound up winning four of seven conference starts that year, however, and have done reasonably well ever since.

* * * *

By seasons, here's how the provincials fared against league opponents during the decade:

1960 — Won 0 lost 5; 1961 — 4-3; 1962 — 3-2-1; 1963 — 5-2; 1964 — 5-2; 1965 — 3-4; 1966 — 2-5; 1967 — 2-5; 1968 — 4-4; 1969 — 5-3.

Monterey has been the dominant team in Lubbock football for many years now but not everyone there is enamored of the Plainsmen.

Students at the other schools naturally could be expected to root for their own teams. Some of the adults who follow schoolboy football there, however, resent the continued successes of the school in football and other sports.

They can't understand how Monterey manages to retain its school boundaries, and for that reason all its athletes, when the students at other schools within the city are constantly being shifted from one area to another and are forced to bus across town for classes.

To them, it smacks of politics. The clout, they reason, originates in Lubbock and is felt in Washington, where orders for the school boundaries originate.

Some of the people in the Lubbock High area grumble that they never know from one year to the next what they're going to have in the way of a football team because of the variety of baffling decisions relating to student transfers handed down by Washington bureaucrats.

Bill Yeoman, the University of Houston's head coach, and the late Vince Lombardi were assistants on Earl Blaik's staff at West Point at one time.

Yeoman said recently that, to him, Lombardi's best attribute was "his ability to communicate with each man that he must do his part, the responsibility of the individual to the whole."

Rams, Dallas And Steelers Given Edge

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The memory of their Super Bowl humiliation and the bitter taste of Hank Stram's off-the-cuff comments in the film version of the game should fire the Minnesota Vikings to an early peak for Sunday's rematch with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Although Joe Kapp will be among the missing and Gary Cuozzo will be at the controls, the old Hand picker still sticks with the Vikings to win the opener.

A full schedule of 13 National Football League games stretches from tonight through Monday with only one inter-conference game — the Chiefs and Vikings. It looks like a rough year ahead but here goes with the first stab:

Friday Night

Los Angeles 27, St. Louis 21—Roman Gabriel vs. young Jim Hart with that Ram rush putting the big heat on Hart. Les Josephson will miss opener, Willie Ellison taking his place. New look Cards have six changes. This is the year of the Rams.

Saturday Night

New York 24, Chicago 17—Giants won't be trying any onside kickoff in final minutes this time. Fran Tarkenton, with running help from Ron Johnson and Tucker Frederickson, should get enough points to stand off Gale Sayers' stunts. Jack Concannon starting pitcher for Bears.

Sunday

Minnesota 23, Kansas City 21—The big test for Gary Cuozzo as Joe Kapp's replacement and a chance for the Chiefs to make up for some of their Super Bowl embarrassments. Although both coaches talk about "just another game," this one will be for blood.

Oakland 28, Cincinnati 17—Capacity crowd at New Riverfront Stadium will whoop it up for Paul Brown's Bengals but they still have a quarterback problem. The Lamonica-Stabler combo too tough for Cincinnati defense.

Pittsburgh 21, Houston 20—
Green Bay 14, Detroit 13—
Baltimore 21, San Diego 14—
Washington 27, San Francisco 24—
Atlanta 21 New Orleans 17—
Dallas 31, Philadelphia 10—
Denver 30, Buffalo 14—

Monday Night

Cleveland 24, New York Jets 20—

THIS WEEKEND
Night, Day Races Set

Motorcycle races will be resumed in the old Sahara Drive-In Saturday night at 8 o'clock, at which time entries will use the short course.

Big Spring Raceways Inc., sponsors of the events, will follow up with another program starting at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The public can watch the proceedings from the comfort of a conveniently-located grandstand. Concessions stands and restrooms are located nearby.

Trophies will be offered to winners in each event both Saturday and Sunday.

Several out-of-town drivers are due to be in the field again. The local representation will likely be out in full force.

Leader Says Wind Would Help Him

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland (AP) — Bruce Devlin, a 32-year-old former master plumber and now a golf course architect, went into the second round of the Alcan Golfer of the Year Championship today with a three stroke lead over Americans Lee Trevino and Bert Yancey, and said:

"If this wind keeps up, then, I'll be lucky."

Devlin, an Australian who now lives in Florida, shot a three under par 69 over Portmarnock's 7,117-yards par 72 course beside the Irish Sea.

He was followed after the first round by Trevino, of El Paso, Tex., former U.S. Open champion, and Yancey, of Pompano Beach, Fla., with 72's.

Devlin said, "Those winds yesterday built up terribly and anybody able to control them was lucky. I happened to be lucky."

Dave Hill of Evergreen, Colo., the second money winner on the American circuit last year, finished last in the field of 26 with an 83 and said, "Well, how do you manage to even stand up on the green to putt in this sort of weather? I can play well in warm weather, but I certainly find it difficult in this sort of atmosphere.

"If I had to play in a wind like this in the United States, I would just give up," Hill said.

"But I'm here to play in this tournament, and I'll keep on trying. I doubt if my game will come together. I like it warm and that's when I play my best."

Winds up to 60 miles an hour gusted over the Portmarnock course and provided terrible trouble for players from all over the world who qualified for this tournament which carries a $53,625 first prize and a second prize of $14,625.

Rich Bassett Out Front In Robinson Tournament

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP—When you have sponsors like Jackie Gleason and TV producer Jack Philbin there's not too much to worry about, says slender Rich Bassett, surprise first round leader of the $100,000 Robinson Golf Classic.

Bassett, 29, former Duke University player, is a non-winner since joining the PGA tourney trial in 1967. He collected only $4,879 last year and so far this season his earnings are $1,012.

Bassett birdied eight of the first 12 holes of the par 35-36—71 Crawford Country Club Thursday and finished with a sizzling 30-35—65.

"If I'm lucky enough to win the $20,000 first prize, I'll just about be even with my sponsors," he said. "I've been practicing hard, mainly on chipping and putting, and maybe it will start paying off."

Bassett, of Miami, Fla., said the Gleason-Philbin combine has been backing him on the tour for the last 3½ years. He met them while working at Shawnee Inn in Pennsylvania.

Locals In Split

SNYDER — Big Spring teams split two games with Snyder Travis here Thursday evening.

The Goliad eighth graders lost, 12-0, after losing their quarterback, Barry Canning, early.

The ninth grade Toros captured their second straight decision, turning back Travis by a score of 20-16.

TWO IN A ROW — Baltimore manager Earl Weaver holds the champagne last night after his Orioles clinched the title in the eastern division of the American League — for the second year in a row.

O's Break Out Bubbly

By The Associated Press

Champagne flowed in the losers' clubhouse at Washington, while Cleveland's biggest winner treated himself to a short beer.

The Baltimore Orioles celebrated their second successive American League East championship Thursday night, despite a 2-0 loss to the lowly Senators, with a traditional bubbly bath. They had clinched the title when Boston beat the second-place New York Yankees 5-4 in a 10-inning afternoon game.

At Cleveland, Sudden Sam McDowell subdued Detroit 6-2 to become a 20-game winner for the first time in seven major league seasons, then took one quick sip of champagne to accommodate a photographer before switching to more pedestrian brew.

PREFERS BEER

"I'd rather drink beer," said the 6-foot-5 southpaw, passing the champagne bottle. "I've been drinking beer all year long."

In other American League games, Minnesota moved closer to the West Division title with a 4-3 victory over California and Milwaukee nipped Kansas City 4-3 in 13 innings.

In the National League, Philadelphia nipped Pittsburgh 3-2; St. Louis pounded the Chicago Cubs 9-2; Houston slammed Los Angeles 10-5 and San Francsico nudged San Diego 4-3.

The Orioles were riding a bus from Baltimore to Washington when Tom Satriano's run-scoring single in the 10th inning at New York broke a 3-3 deadlock and mathematically eliminated the second-place Yankees.

"Next year, we're going to try and win it ourselves," said Frank Robinson, recalling that Baltimore also had clinched the division title in 1969 without taking the field.

Then the Senators, who had postponed the inevitable Wednesday night with a 2-0 victory over Baltimore, repeated the shutout count behind Dick Bosman's five-hitter. But Earl Weaver's defending AL kings shrugged off the run famine and quenched their thirst in a post-game party more lively than the 1969 affair.

"The first half of the season is over," proclaimed Coach Billy Hunter. "The next half starts in October."

Mustangs Seek First Victory

ACKERLY — Both teams will be trying to revert to winning ways when the Sands Mustangs visit Meadow tonight for an 8 o'clock practice game.

Sands yielded to Grandfalls, 12-6, last week while Meadow was yielding to a much-improved O'Donnell team, 22-6. With three minutes to go in the third, Meadow and O'Donnell were tied, 6-6.

Coach James Blake of Sands has set about to improve his blocking in practice this week and has made several personnel changes.

Terry Wilkes, son of the Meadow superintendent of schools, is the leading threat for Meadow. Standing 6-3 and weighing 168, Wilkes is speedy — he finished third in the district 220 last year. An All-South Plains wingback last season, he has been moved to fullback.

Runnels' eighth graders fashioned their second straight football win here Thursday evening, taming Snyder Lamar, 28-0.

Bob Zellars' Yearlings scored two other touchdowns that were erased by penalties. The visitors got beyond midfield only once. Zellars was able to play 31 of the 49 boys he had suited out.

The Big Springers drove 54 yards to the enemy six in the opening period only to miss a first down by inches.

In the second, with 4:45 left in the half, QB Bobby Bradshaw counted from four yards out on a sneak at the end of a 20-yard Runnels drive following a poor Snyder punt. It took three plays for the Yearlings to get in.

Bradshaw then passed to Noe Luevanos for the two extra points.

Runnels counted twice in the third. Albert Smith returned the second half kickoff 58 yards down to the Snyder 24. Two five-yard penalties moved the Yearlings back to the four but Doug Robison got that back with a run. Smith then counted on a 24-yard end sweep, with 6:20 left. The try for extra point failed.

A short time later, end Jerome Franks blocked a Snyder punt on the enemy 20 and fell on it at the three. Bradshaw sailed across on the first play, then passed to Luevanos for the two extra points.

Runnels counted again with 6:40 to go in the fourth after a short Snyder punt gave it possession on the foe's 35. Robison counted on the third play of the game from the 20 on a sweep.

In the third, Smith intercepted a Snyder pass and ran 65 yards to pay dirt but that score was nullified. Clarence Pollard later boomed 26 yards on another scoring thrust but that, too, was nullified by a penalty.

On defense, tackle Jerry Mintz, ends Franks and Randy Easley, linebacker Pete Lopez and cornerback Smith were standouts for Runnels.

On offense, fullback Smith, Bradshaw, running backs Pollard and Robison, end Luevanos and tackles Steve Wilkerson and Stan Partee were impressive.

The Yearlings go to Colorado City for a game next Thursday.

In ninth grade action, the Lamar team humbled the Big Spring Brahmas, 22-6.

Gail Opposes 3-Way At 8

GAIL — The Borden County Coyotes seek their second straight eight-man football victory in a game with Three-Way here at 8 o'clock tonight.

Three-Way was one of the two teams to humble Gail last year. Bud Gray's team turned the trick by a score of 48-22. Borden County wound up with an 8-2 record in 1969.

Coach Bobby Dyess, with 10 lettermen around whom to build this year, likely will go with a team consisting of Lane Griffin 136 and Jimmy Hodge 165 at ends, Roby Rios 150 and Mike McHenry 155 at guards, Virgil Whitaker 150 at center, Rick Hendley 140 at quarterback and Pat Harding 183 and Charles Billeck 145 at halfbacks.

The Coyotes play their only 11-man game of the season next week, when they host a traditional rival, Sands.

The Gail club routed Bula, 52-18, in their inaugural contest last week and coach Dyess got a chance to use all 32 boys on his squad.

Latin Pupils Will Return

HOUSTON (AP) — Striking Mexican-American pupils will be back in public school Monday following the end of a three-week boycot.

Mexican-American officials said Thursday the parents of the 3,500 children kept out of school will be told to enroll the youngsters.

Most of the children have been attending strike schools since the nation's sixth largest independent school district opened Aug. 31 under a court-ordered integration plan.

It was that plan which made the Mexican-American Education Council call the walkout.

It maintained that the pairing of 25 predominantly Mexican-American and Negro schools was not fair in that it did not consider the chicano as a separate ethnic minority.

Lionel Castillo, chairman of MAEC, said negotiations with school superintendent Charles Garver had resulted in agreement on 17 of 20 demands made by the council.

'New' Peace Plan Has Familiar Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Viet Cong's "new" eight-point peace plan has a familiar and unacceptable look to Washington officials.

Under the enemy offer, presented in Paris Thursday by Viet Cong Foreign Minister Nguyen Thi Binh, Saigon's Thieu-Ky government would be replaced and the United States would have to promise to get its troops out of South Vietnam by next June 30.

MRS. NGUYEN THI BINH

In return, the Viet Cong would refrain from attacking the withdrawing allied troops and would discuss future peace arrangements including release of prisoners.

U.S. authorities here and in Paris have agreed to scan the Binh proposal carefully for any possible new openings. But in general, they said, it appears to be a retread of past offers.

Although a Viet Cong spokesman said the plan contains new points, the text received here showed Mrs. Binh herself described the material only as an elaboration of the Viet Cong's previous 10-point proposal.

Officials here noted the enemy already had proposed a time limit for U.S. withdrawals. Last December the enemy offered a six-month limit.

The 10-point plan and other North Vietnamese-Viet Cong proposals have provided for negotiating a prisoner release after the fighting ends. And ouster of the Thieu-Ky regime is standard fare in enemy demands.

U.S. officials said the American ambassador at the Paris peace talks, David K. E. Bruce, is willing to talk with Hanoi-Viet Cong envoys about any point they may put forward as part of unconditional discussions.

But the United States, they said, will not accept such demands as conditions for the beginning of serious peace negotiations.

Thus, the prospect for progress toward a negotiated end to the Vietnam war does not appear any brighter now than when the Paris talks began 2½ years ago.

Boycott Of Advertisers In Houston's Papers Bid

HOUSTON (AP)—A group of northside residents, the United Parents of Houston, called Thursday for a one-day boycott of Houston schools next week.

It is to be followed by a one-week boycott of advertisers in Houston's two major newspapers.

The 250 persons attending the meeting were also urged to cancel their subscriptions to the Houston Post and Houston Chronicle.

Referring to the boycott, Mrs. Rita Barrow said, "That's the way black people got things done—by breaking a few laws. And I think its going to take the same thing to get things back the way we want them."

Northside parents called a one-day boycott last Monday which school officials said was not effective.

The boycott of newspaper advertisers is geared to pressuring the newspapers and advertisers into taking a stronger stand against the school desegregation plan ordered by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, a spokesman said.

The parents want the district to return to the freedom-of-choice plan.

Engineer Meeting

The Permian Basin section of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers will have a 7:30 p.m. barbeque dinner meeting on Sept. 22, at Texas Electric Service Company's offices located at 301 South Dixie, Odessa. Kenneth E. Esmond of Freese-Nichols and Esmond will present a program on the "Permian Basin Railroad."

Panel Approves Three Protested Textbooks

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Textbook Committee has approved three high school world history textbooks criticized at a hearing for their approaches to such topics as communism and evolution.

Thursday's action followed a hearing Tuesday before the committee.

Once approved by the State Board of Education, the books would be eligible for selection by local school districts.

Two non-controversial books round out the list of five recommended world history books from which districts could choose.

WORLD HISTORY

The controversial textbooks are "A Global History of Man," published by Allyn and Bacon; "Man's Cultural Heritage," Lippincott; and "Living World History," Scott Foresman.

The approved books that were not criticized at the hearing are "Shaping of Western Society and Tradition and Change in Four Societies," Holt, Rinehart and Winston, and "Exploring World History," Globe.

Mrs. Mel Gabler, Longview, a frequent critic of textbooks, asserted at the hearing Tuesday that "A Global History of Man" would be "much, much more appropriate in a class on propaganda than in world history."

The book also was attacked by Mrs. Charles Baker of Sanger, textbook committee chairman for the Texas Daughters of the American Revolution.

PARROTS OTHERS

Mrs. Baker also criticized "Man's Cultural Heritage," saying, among other things, that it preached evolution and gave a "somewhat slanted" view of South Africa.

"This text parrots the opinions of others while ignoring the great deal of progress, happiness, personal security and improved personal standards of living enjoyed by all its (South Africa's) citizens without the interference of outside pressures," she claimed.

"Living World History" was criticized by Mrs. Gabler, who suggested that "if it is deemed necessary to retain conjectures about prehistory . . . scientific evidence in support of sudden creation should be included in an amount equivalent to that used in support of faith in the philosophy of evolution."

Sunday To Mark World Peace Day

"Universal Education-Aid to Peace" is the theme of this year's World Peace Day. Sunday, members of the Baha'i Communities, located in over 2,700 American cities will observe the day.

The purpose of World Peace Day is to spread the recognition of America's spiritual destiny to raise the standard of peace in the world. It is sponsored annually by the U.S. Baha'i Community.

This year the Baha'is are observing International Education Year. A series of regional and national conferences devoted to various aspects of education.

The World Peace Day theme this year stresses the importance that Baha'is place on education and the part it can play in bringing about world peace.

Sewalt Jumps Roping Place

DENVER, Colo. — Two professional rodeo contestants scored double wins over the weekend, according to the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Ronnye Sewalt, Chico, Tex., won the calf roping and $1,719 at rodeos in Fort Madison, Iowa, and St. Louis, Mo. Shawn Davis, Whitehall, Mont., won the saddle bronc riding and $1,539 at the same two rodeos.

Sewalt's winnings moved him into second place in the race for the 1970 world calf roping title, edging out Oklahoma's Barry Burk, who was winless over the weekend. The leader is Junior Garrison, Marlow, Okla., who has won $20,490.

Sewalt has $18,530 and Burk has $17,847. Davis, three-time world saddle bronc riding crown holder, is in the process of demonstrating one of the greatest comeback stories in professional rodeo.

He suffered a broken back in early 1969 and didn't compete again until three months ago. Since then he has won more than $5,000.

Leaders in the various events are:
