Soviet Vote Tops Agenda At Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO—(P)—Russia's bid for three Soviet votes in a world assembly based on "sovereign equality" among nations Thursday goes before the first business session of the United Nations Conference.

Word of this plan ended hopes of some United States delegates that Russia might not raise the troublesome three-vote issue.

Foreign Commissar Molotov notified the chief delegates of the 45 other United Nations here, after Wednesday's first meeting, that this proposal would be presented to the organization session of the steering committee.

The specific proposal is that the Ukrainian and White Russian Soviet Republics should get conference seats and become thereby charter members of the assembly of the proposed war organization.

Top Developments

Two other top developments ushered the conference into its second day after delegates heard President Truman declare that the world's future is a choice between chaos and the organized enforcement of peace. They were:

1. It was reported that Molotov had received a reply from Premier Marshal Stalin to his report on talks with Secretary of State Stettinius and British Foreign Minister Eden on the big-three deadlock over Poland. The reply apparently had not been communicated to either Stettinius or Eden.

2. The sponsoring powers agreed (Continued on Page 2)

R&B Recovered Free Oil In DST At 9,727-82 Feet

By JAMES C. WATSON

Shell Oil Company, Inc., and The Texas Company, No. 1 Radliff and Bedford, Southwest Andrews County exploration in section 4, block 73, psi survey, recovered 700 feet of clean oil and 120 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud during a 60-minute drillstem test in the Silurian at 9,757-82 feet.

There was a steady blow of air throughout the test. Operators made new hole to 9,807 feet in dolomite and lime, and are to take another DST on that section.

The project showed oil earlier in the week at 9,710-57 feet, when 330 feet of oil and gas cut mud was recovered in 13 minutes on an unsatisfactory test.

This well had already tested for commercial production in the lower Permian and in the Devonian. TP 1 Foy Oil.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 1 Foy, 660 feet from north and 1,580 feet from west lines of section 28, block D, John H. Gibson survey, Northeast Yoakum County exploration, was making hole below 5,130 feet in lime, and was showing for one-half barrel of oil per hour and no water.

This test is a southeast offset to Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1-9 Hudson, just over the line in Southeast Cochran County, which discovered production of around 100 barrels per day for the San Andres-Permian, about two and one-half miles northwest of the closest proven area in the Slaughter field.

Trying Again

Continental Oil Company No. 1-D Settles, South Howard County, which had sulphur water in the Ellenburger at total depth of 10,122 feet, was putting in 25 sacks of cement on top of a retainer set at 9,870 feet, after having run 50 sacks of cement below the retainer.

G. E. Day and associates No. 1 McBurnett, in section 11, block L, GH&SA survey, in Schleicher County, was perforating casing at 5,615-5,710 feet in the lower Strawn to test.

The Ellenburger section between 6,065 feet and total depth at 6,363 feet had 150 barrels of brackish water and no oil when tested.

Richardson & Bass No. 24-E Walton, in southwest corner of section 5, block B-2, psi survey, on south side of the Keystone-Ellenburger field in North Winkler County, had tested for 89 barrels of oil per hour, flowing through a one-half inch choke, from Ellenburger pay bottomed at 9,900 feet. Operator was preparing to complete the well.

A Lot Of Mud

An interesting sidelight on this project is that owner had to pump in 10,000 barrels of drilling mud in a cavern in the Ellenburger at 9,676-9,730 feet, to regain circulation. (Continued on Page 5)

Republicans Charge 'Steamroller' On Trade Hearings

WASHINGTON—(P)—Republicans hurled charges of "gag" and "steamroller" Thursday as Democrats objected to what they termed a minority party effort to open secret State Department files on reciprocal trade negotiations.

Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.) asked Agriculture Secretary Wickard to put in the Ways and Means Committee tariff hearing record a statement of all duty concessions the United States offered Great Britain during the trade negotiations, but not finally put in the trade pact.

Rep. Robertson (D-Va.) objected, saying Simpson wanted confidential information, and declared "never in history has a committee of Congress required the Department of State to open its secret files of treaty negotiations."

Gearhart Charges "Gag"

"Gag" was charged by Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) and the California asked "does the gentleman from Virginia take the position that the Democratic Party has repudiated the Wilsonian policy of open commitments openly arrived at?"

Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, Ways and Means Republican leader, said "We know the Democrats have 15 votes to our 10 on this committee, and you can run a steamroller over us anytime you want to."

The exchanges subsided and Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said the matter would be taken up with the State Department later.

This battle followed a Democratic charge to Republicans were conducting a filibuster to prevent passage of legislation extending and broadening the Reciprocal Trade Act before it expires June 12.

OPARations All Meats Except Mutton As Cut Of May Supply Is Seen

WASHINGTON—(P)—

Civilians will get even less meat next month—and they'll have to give up red points for all kinds except mutton.

In addition, margarine and most cheeses will cost more points, as will some meats.

Announcing new point values Thursday, OPA estimated that 99 1/2 per cent of the available meat supply will require ration points. This compares with 94 1/2 per cent now.

On a weekly basis, the total supply of all meats available for civilians during the May rationing period beginning Sunday and ending June 2 will be about 2 1/2 per cent less than at present.

OPA predicted supplies of veal, lamb, mutton and pork will be a

City Council OKs Budget For New Year

The City Council in a four-hour session Wednesday afternoon adopted a budget for the present fiscal year calling for estimated expenditures of $252,000 for the year. The city's income for the year is estimated at $247,000.

The budget adopted contains a provision for expenditure of $10,000 for construction of a new city jail, but the erection of the jail has not yet been approved by the council. The provision was made in the budget in event the council should approve erection of the structure.

The request for building a new jail was made by the County Welfare Board. The board in its request pointed out there are no facilities in Midland for segregation of juvenile and adult prisoners. The recommendation also pointed out the greatly increased number of juveniles being arrested as one reason for the need of improved jail facilities. A report made by the board to the council said that 45 youths were arrested during the first three months of the year and were held for an average of from five to seven days.

The council voted to allow a skating rink to erect its tent on a lot across from the Scrugg Motor Company on West Wall Street, with the city to grant a license by the month at the tax rate of $25 per month. The contract with the skating rink will provide the rink must close at 10 p. m. and there will be no loud music.

Councilmen voted to give City Secretary J. C. Hudman authority to sell a lot owned by the city which adjoins the Dunagan Sales Company warehouse.

At the request of Fire Chief Luther Tidwell, the council voted to allow three rooms on the second floor of the fire station to be combined by removing partitions to be used as a recreation room by members of the volunteer fire department.

Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.) asked Agriculture Secretary Wickard to put in the Ways and Means Committee tariff hearing record a statement of all duty concessions the United States offered Great Britain during the trade negotiations, but not finally put in the trade pact.

W. L. Kerr Is Appointed On STC Board

AUSTIN—(P)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson Thursday appointed William L. Kerr of Midland, a former district judge to the board of regents of State Teachers' Colleges.

Kerr's nomination, sent to the Senate for confirmation, replaces the appointment of Henry T. Fletcher of Presidio County. Fletcher was appointed April 19, but declined because of the pressure of personal business. The term of the appointment expires Jan. 10, 1951.

Kerr came to Midland County in June, 1944, to enter the private practice of law, after resigning as district judge at Pecos. Prior to serving as district judge he was district attorney.

Kerr has been very active in civic work since coming here. He is president of the Men's Club of the Trinity Episcopal Church.

Governor Stevenson notified Kerr Tuesday of his appointment.

Clemency To Be Requested For Marshal Petain

PARIS—(P)—Andre Mornet, procurer of the high court who will prosecute Marshal Petain on charges of treason, said Thursday "Petain deserves death for his policies" but he would ask clemency for the aged military leader.

A group of French officers sent from Paris to arrest Marshal Petain arrived at the Swiss border Thursday and the formal surrender of the former Vichy chief of state was believed to have taken place, official quarters indicated.

The 69-year-old marshal, his wife and others of his party traveled in a four-car caravan led by motorcycle escort.

The convoy passed Olten at about noon on the winding road which leads to the Swiss border town of Vallorbe, 73 miles to the southwest. The marshal was the object of a small but spontaneous demonstration at Wädenswil, where women and children presented flowers and chocolate to Mme. Petain.

Letter Made Public

Members of his entourage meanwhile made public a letter the aged former Vichy chief of state wrote April 5 to Adolf Hitler announcing his decision to return voluntarily to France.

The letter, which seems likely to stand as the theme of his forthcoming defense, declared:

"I am informed that the French authorities intend to place me on trial in absentia before the high court of justice.

"Preliminary discussions begin April 24. This information imposed an obligation which I consider as imperative and I address myself to your excellency to aid me in accomplishing my duty.

"... as chief of government in June, 1940, at Bordeaux I refused to leave France. As chief of state during the grave hours which came again for my country, I decided to remain at my post at Vichy.

"The Reich government compelled me to leave April 20, 1944. It is not true I sought refuge on foreign soil to evade my responsibilities.

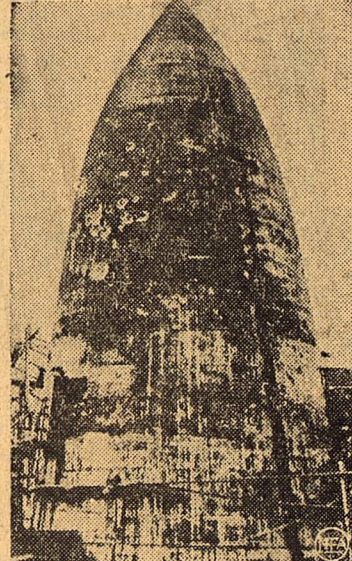

"It is in France alone I can explain my act and I am the sole judge of the risks that attitude implies. I have then the right to demand that your excellency gives me immediately the facilities...

Nazi Naval Flotilla On Lake Constance Surrenders To Swiss

LONDON—(P)—A German naval flotilla on Lake Constance has surrendered to Swiss authorities and will "remain in Swiss ports until the entire Lake Constance shore has been occupied by the Allies," the Swiss radio announced Thursday.

The French First Army has reached the Western end of Lake Constance. The German-Swiss frontier runs through the lake, which is a 204-square mile sheet of water carrying a number of small steamboat services.

The Swiss announcement said the German vessels were interned in the Swiss ports of Arbon, Romanshorn, Rorschach and Schaff and that their crews had returned to the German port of Lindau.

Three Allied Armies Assaulting Hitler's Last-Stand Redoubt

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press War Editor

Soviet forces which swung around Berlin from the north smashed today to a point within 14 1/2 miles of U. S. Ninth Army lines, the German High Command indicated, as two historic junctures loomed. Three Allied Armies on a 180-mile front assaulted Hitler's last-stand redoubt area in the south.

All of Bremen except the dock area and a park north of the center was captured by the British.

German resistance was pictured by a Moscow dispatch as beginning to weaken inside flaming Berlin, and the German radio said the front "now runs through the heart of the city."

German forces were in confused retreat from Italy and Swiss and Rome reports said town after town was falling to patriot forces sweeping the Germans from the great northwest industrial area. A Bern dispatch said Mussolini had arrived at a place near the Swiss frontier. Earlier reports said he had fled Milan as patriots revolted.

Two American armies were but 41 miles from Munich, birthplace of Nazism, which rapidly was being encircled. The U. S. Third Army of General Patton bore down from the north across the Danube, and Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh was the same distance away from the northwest. Patton was 11 miles from Austria and 72 from Hitler's hideout at Berchtesgaden.

Okinawa GIs Smash Jap's Front Line

By LEONARD MILLMAN

Associated Press War Editor

Notable infantry gains on three Pacific battle fronts, including the smashing of the first Japanese defense line on Southern Okinawa, were reported Thursday as Superforts bombed the Japanese home island of Shikoku for the first time.

The U. S. 24th Corps' breakthrough on Okinawa, 325 miles south of Japan, was no sweeping advance. But it was general along the entire line and gave Yanks control of the skyline stretching across the island and overlooking the secondary defenses before the capital city of Naha.

A third of the Japanese garrison has been killed, leaving perhaps 40,000 to be eliminated before the battle is won.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced 21,269 enemy soldiers have been killed in the Okinawa operation, including more than a dozen American casualties. Comparable days of fighting, were 7,424, including 146 dead, 296 missing and 5,982 wounded. The comparison excludes 4,700 American naval casualties, including 989 dead, and unestimated but probably far higher Nipponese naval losses.

Philippine guerrillas topped reports from the Southwest Pacific with the capture of Vigan, its airfield and nearby Bantay on Northwestern Luzon. Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported the guerrillas, supported by American air forces, have virtually mopped up Ilocos Sur and Ilocos Norte provinces.

Vigan, an original Japanese invasion point, is 60 miles north of the slow, bitter Baguio front. The U. S. 33rd Division pushed to within 2,000 yards of this battered, but still strongly defended, enemy headquarters.

Truman's Call At Pentagon Causes High Excitement

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON—(P)—A presidential call at the Pentagon, Army nerve center, put this capital on the alert Thursday for possible transcendent developments abroad.

Significant in President Truman's one hour and 48-minute visit at the War Department headquarters across the Potomac Wednesday were these factors:

1.—He met there with the highest military and diplomatic officials in Washington.

2.—At the Pentagon are all the facilities for the closest possible liaison with battle fronts in Europe as well as in the Pacific.

3.—This was the Commander-in-Chief's second meeting in three days with virtually the same officials, suggesting the conferences related to a developing situation, or situations, abroad.

Also At Meeting

4.—Those at the last meeting with the President included Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff; Secretary of War Stimson; Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of Naval operations; Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to the Commander-in-Chief, and Under-Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew, ranking State Department official now in Washington.

None of the conferees gave a clue to the nature of the Pentagon meeting.

Some Fateful Questions Answered

President Truman's first address to Congress and to the people as their new Chief Executive answered many questions which had disturbed the minds of his countrymen in the four preceding days. And when he had given the answers the great majority of his countrymen must have found their minds eased and their fears quieted.

Earlier Truman had pledged vigorous prosecution of the war to victory, the conference at San Francisco as scheduled, and the carrying out of President Roosevelt's programs and policies. But this last was only relatively possible, since the program was now seen through different eyes, and future decisions to match constantly changing events would have to be those of Harry S. Truman.

Would there be a change in the high command?
"This direction (of the war) must and will remain—unchanged and unhampered," the new Commander-in-Chief promised.

Would there be any backing away from this country's full commitment to an international organization for peace?

"It is futile to seek safety behind geographic barriers," the President said. "Real security will be found only in law and justice. . . . We have learned to fight with other nations in common defense of our freedom. We must now learn to live with other nations for our mutual good. . . .
To destroy greedy tyrants with plans of world domination
we cannot continue in successive generations to sacrifice our finest youth. In the name of human decency and civilization, a more rational method of deciding national differences must and will be found."

What approach would the new President bring to the occasionally difficult position of the United States in the Big Three, and to its relations with its great Allies?

"Nothing is more essential to the future peace of the world," said Truman, "than continued co-operation of the nations which had to muster the force necessary to defeat the Fascist powers. . . . The responsibility of the great states is to serve and not dominate the peoples of the world.
America has become one of the most powerful forces for good on earth. We must keep it so."

What approach would the new President take in achieving these ends?

To the members of Congress he said, "Only with your help can I hope to complete one of the greatest tasks ever assigned to a public servant."

To these and other answers to the fateful questions raised by the sudden passing of Roosevelt, President Truman revealed himself as a man concerned but hopeful, humble and unafraid.

And in doing so he revealed himself a sa pilot who, though new and untried and wholly different from his predecessor, has taken the helm in steady and capable hands.

Kamerad!

Nazi thought is mystifying at best, and when expressed in a smattering of English it becomes even more so. Thus we can't be sure what was going through the mind of the German soldier we read about who gave himself up to the Americans with these words:

"Surrender—New York—Detroit—John L. Lewis—Surrender."

We can scarcely hope that Nazi education taught and identified those names in a very flattering light. But still there's an outside chance that what he was really trying to say was this:

"I surrender to the people who piled on a narrow island the world's most imposing mass of masonry to house a great rich city which stands today unbombed and unharmed."

"I surrender to the people of another great city, one of many arsenals, whose planes and bombs and guns have blasted our own great arsenal of the Ruhr to rubble, and all but leveled our once proud capital of Berlin."

"I surrender to a country where a strong man can defy the orders and wishes of his government, wrongly and in time of war, and still live."

"In short, I give up."

Cobs Are Added, Make More Beef

WOOSTER, O. —(P)— America's livestock farmers soon may be using corn cobs to stretch the nation's corn crop for production of more beef and pork.

The Ohio State Agricultural Experiment Station here has conducted tests for two years on using a higher-than-normal ratio of corn cobs to shelled corn for stock feeds.
Nature's ratio is four pounds of corn shelled from one pound of corn cobs. Recent tests have been conducted with normal corn-and-cob meal and meal in which an extra cob has been ground into the meal for each ear of corn.

Paul Gerlaugh, Chief of the Animal Industry Department here, says
"our results in two completed tests and a third test which is under way, have been such as to indicate that the cobs have been worth half as much as their weight in shelled corn."

Lynan Peck, chairman of the American Feed Manufacturers Association Nutrition Committee recently said, "We may and probably will be short of corn before 1946 gets here. People are burning corn cobs to get rid of them. This is a vast economic waste that could stretch our corn crop to produce more beef."

haste that mountains of equipment were left behind.

About a hundred miles from the

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Dick Newcomb Goes Fishing by Proxy

Bob Newcomb used to be the best fly caster in the county.
Never missed a Saturday at Seward's Creek. But come the war, and Bob's son going off in uniform, he just lost interest in things like fishing.

But the other day Bob got a letter from the South Pacific
... kind of a homesick letter:
"I'm thinking of you, Dad, fishing in Seward's Creek; cooking trout over an open fire; and keeping the beer cool in the stream. Keep an extra bottle for me."

So Bob spent his next day off exactly as Dick dreamed of his doing—fished Seward's Creek again, and cooked the trout, and kept the beer cool in the stream.
And you knew he was doing it for Dick.

From where I sit, it's what the men overseas would have us do —keep alive the little customs,
the small pleasures, they remember—keep them alive till they come home to share them.

Rotarians Witness Film On Bolivia

Midland Rotarians saw a motion picture produced by the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs which showed something of the geography, customs and industry of Bolivia.

Following showing of the picture
at the luncheon at the Scharbauer, Lester Grant, who lived in Bolivia a number of years ago, added some details of life in the country which were not given in the film.

At the time Grant lived in Bolivia the primitive Indian workers in the rubber producing industry were all slave workers. If they did not produce their quota of rubber they were subjected to having a finger cut off.

Most of the rubber and tin mining industries of Bolivia are owned by persons who generally live abroad and seldom see the country,
Grant revealed.

The general theme of the picture shown was that while Bolivia is still an extremely primitive nation as a whole, progress is being made.

County Agent J. H. Greene operated the motion projector.
Clint Lackey of Lubbock, manager of the West Texas Gas Company here for 10 years, was present and expressed his pleasure at being able to be present for the Thursday session.

C. H. Shepard, president of the club, who presided, announced that Delbert Downing would speak at the Friday meeting of the Odessa Rotary Club.
Percy Mims was program chairman.

Why feel old at 40, 60 or more—
why be the victim of the older years?
If life apparently has lost its zest,
you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple, inexpensive method that may change your whole outlook on life. Why not try and regain the pleasures of living you once enjoyed.
Why be discouraged—why not re-

Brooks-Bizzell Marriage Rites Announced Here

Announcement has been made here of the marriage of Miss Virginia Brooks and Cpl. Delmar Ray Bizzell, both of Midland, on April 9 at the home of Judge Stokes in Odessa.

Witnessing the ceremony were Mrs. T. E. Bizzell Jr., Mrs. J. E. White and C. M. Beasley.

The bride was attired in a blue wool ensemble and wore black accessories. Her corsage was of carnations.

Bride Is MHS Graduate
Mrs. Bizzell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brooks of Midland and formerly of Moran. She graduated from Midland High School in January. Corporal Bizzell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Bizzell, attended Midland schools and has been in the U. S. Army since December.

The couple will make their home for the present in Mineral Wells where he is stationed at Camp Wolters.

TED FIO RITO'S BAND IS KNOWN BY THEME OF "SKYLINE MUSIC"

Ted Fio Rito, who will appear with his famous orchestra at the Post Service Club of Midland Army Air Field on April 30 and May 1, got the idea from his theme, "Skyline Music" in the air.

The band was flying to New York. For a long time Ted had been trying to think up some new and distinctive way to present popular music. As the plane flew along, the band leader found himself listening to the drone of the motors. He noticed a trombone in the baggage rack and suddenly it all came to him.

Skyline Music
In a flash he had the trombone down, assembled, and in the hands of his first trombonist. Ted told him to play the same tone that trombones were making, and "Skyline Music" was born.

The other passengers were not upset until Ted told the trombonist to slide for a power dive effect. One woman screamed, and the hostess took the trombone away and locked it up in the baggage compartment.

It was natural for Ted to think in airplane terms, since his birthplace is Newark, N. J., where one of the first big commercial airports is located.

The local appearance of the orchestra is being sponsored by the National Association of Air Forces Women, through arrangements with the Music Corporation of America.

Social Situations
THE SITUATION: A war wife shows you a highly impractical gift her husband has sent her from overseas.

WRONG WAY: Say, "Isn't that just like a man? I'll bet you would rather have had something more practical."

RIGHT WAY: Say, "Isn't it lovely! Want to know of him to send something so exciting?"

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

New First Lady Will Not Follow In Footsteps Of Eleanor Roosevelt

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeature Writer

Indications are that, in Mrs. Harry Truman, America will have a decidedly different type of First Lady than it has had in the last 12 years.

While President Truman indicated his intention of following President Roosevelt's policies, those who know his wife predict that her White House career will be a definite contrast to Mrs. Roosevelt's, which was crisscrossed with writing, speaking and traveling. Friends say:

"Mrs. Truman prefers to stay in the background. She takes a great interest in Mr. Truman's career and help him with it. But after that her first interests are her daughter and her home."

America generally knows very little of Mrs. Truman. During the last presidential campaign the country looked with interest on Republican candidates' wives, but most people forgot to look at Mrs. Truman—until after her husband's selection as Democratic vice-presidential candidate. Then they saw a gray-haired woman, shrewd and plumper than Mrs. Roosevelt, who sat unruffled, and laughed at the swarm of reporters and cameramen who besieged her box.

"No speechmaking," she said of the coming campaign. "I never have. Probably I shall help with Mr. Truman's speeches—that is in the editing of them—as we have always done in Washington. Two heads are better than one, when it comes to re-arranging words and phrases."

During the President's career as Democratic Senator from Missouri, Mrs. Truman served as his clerk at a salary of $4,500 a year. Mrs. Truman said on the eve of the last campaign that he never made a report or delivered a speech without her editing it.

People from Missouri call the new First Lady a "folksy person"—cordial, unaffected and possessed of an air of dignity. Most of her comments center around her husband. She dresses generally in simple tailored clothes. In cool weather she often wears grey or dark suits with simple white blouses and brimmed hats of the sailor type. In summer she likes printed or dotted crepes with white accents and white shoes.

grandfather of Mrs. Truman (born Bess Wallace) served as the town's first mayor. After World War I, in which Mr. Truman served overseas, they were married. They have one daughter, Margaret, now 21, who attended George Washington University, majored in music and hopes to be an opera singer. On home evenings Margaret and her father occasionally play piano duets or she sings to his accompaniment.

In their simple five-room Washington apartment, Mrs. Truman daily rose early, got her husband's breakfast and started Margaret to school.

"Beefsteak and fried potatoes are what my husband likes," she once said.

Between household tasks Mrs. Truman has given several hours daily to work at a United Service Organization canteen.

"I do just what the chairman of the day asks me to do—just like everybody else," she said in describing her work.

Reading is her favorite recreation. Her favorite authors are Charles Dickens and Sir Walter Scott. Recently she has been studying Spanish.

Recitals Announced For May 5 And 12

Mrs. Maude Leonard is presenting her piano and voice students in spring recitals to be held May 5 and 12. Both programs will be given at 8 p. m. in the North Ward auditorium.

If the highways in the United States were laid out end to end in a single long line, there would be a filling station for each mile.

Take Off Ugly Fat With This Home Recipe

Here is an inexpensive home recipe for taking off ungainly weight and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Just get from any druggist, four ounces of liquid Barcol Concentrate. Add enough grapefruit juice to make a pint. Then just take two tablespoonsful twice a day. Wonderful results may be obtained quickly. Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back breaking exercise or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle and get your money back.

Germans Haven't Learned How To Deal With Texans

By KENNETH L. DIXON

U. S. NINTH ARMY FRONT —
Apparently the Germans were not told how to deal with fighting Texans — never ambush a range rider unless you can get his sidekick too.

When Maj. John M. Aylor of San Angelo led a reconnaissance party north of Hanover recently, his jeep was immobilized by the first blast when ambushed by a German anti-tank gun. His gunner was killed and driver wounded.

The Germans gloated when they captured Aylor and the wounded driver after their ammunition gave out. They didn't know that Aylor was executive officer of the 11th Cavalry Group and that his friend and commander was Col. Andrew A. Frierson, another Texan, from Dallas.

Temper Burned
Frierson's temper burned when he heard of Aylor's plight and legend has it he swore he would rescue John if he had to chase the krauts clear to Berlin.

Anyway, during an ensuing attack Frierson's cavalry group shovelled a spearhead 20 miles into German territory, took 12 towns and killed, wounded or captured innumerable Germans.

But while Frierson's fighters headed east, Aylor and his driver had been taken north to Hanigsen. Despite this, the Texans triumphed again because of tenderfoot German tactics.

Refused Information
Aylor refused to give information to a German naval captain at Hanigsen and was taken on a 10-mile hike as a prisoner.

Anybody knows Texans are used to the saddle so, after 10 miles, Aylor's feet were killing him. But his mind was sharp.

He noted the German captain seemed somewhat insecure, too, so he started talking about how well American medics treated sore feet.

In short order he persuaded the naval captain to surrender.

Then the burgmeister of Hanigsen agreed to surrender the town if no harm came to it.

And now the Germans know about Texans—but too late.

Nation's Highest Award Is Presented To Hillsboro Parents

TEMPLE—(AP)—The parents of a Texan who saved his command post at the cost of his life Wednesday received the Congressional Medal of Honor awarded posthumously to their son by the late President Franklin Roosevelt.

Troops standing at rigid attention stirred slightly when the citation was read and Brig. Gen. O. A. Corder ended in a low voice: "Signed—Franklin D. Roosevelt."

The Texan was Second Lt. James Lindell Harris, of Hillsboro.

Present at Camp Hood were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Harris, and two sisters. The parents operate a farm in Hill County.

THE WAR TODAY

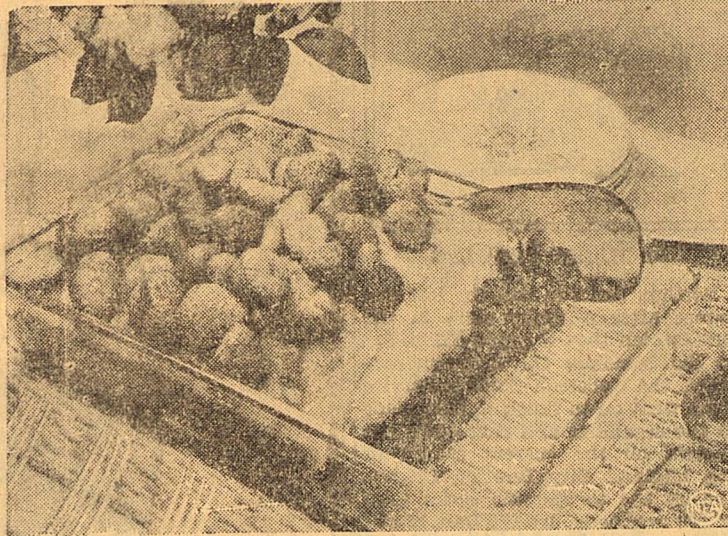

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Destruction of Hitler's Berchtesgaden home with a 12,000 pound earthquake bomb has provided a happy departure from the general war-practice of not gunning for heads of states, although unfortunately the chances seem small that the barbarian was in his house.

The dictator's death might easily end the war immediately, making it unnecessary to sacrifice more Allied lives to clean up the last pockets of German forces. That is, it probably would end the war if his death became generally known to the scattered forces, since loyalty to him provides the main reason for continued resistance of the Nazi fanatics.

Under normal circumstances it has been the practice for bombing expeditions—both in this war and the last one—to avoid the residences of rulers and other chiefs of state, who fall in the category of civilians. The case of Hitler the Hun, however, is unique in that he not only is the actual military commander but, more to the point, his hands are wet with the blood of hundreds of thousands whom he has murdered, and he is a fugitive from justice.

Strawberry Upside Down Cake

Strawberry Upside Down Cake a treat

During the last war even the Germans followed the code of not molesting rulers.

American Corporal Risks Life To Save Small German Girl

By HAL BOYLE
WITH THE U. S. FIRST INFANTRY DIVISION—(P)—A small, pig-tailed German girl stood frightened in the middle of a shell-swept street, and to a New Jersey corporal she was just a kid in danger and he risked his life to save her.

Because he was wounded his name may not yet be used. The girl was one of a group playing in a Lichtenberg street just after 16th Regiment doughboys had captured the town.

Shelled Own People
Heedless that the town was filled with German civilians the Nazis pasted it with a savage barrage of mortar and artillery shells. From a vantage point just outside, a self-propelled gun raked the street with shells and machine gun fire.

The screaming children ran to cellars. All except the little girl who stood helpless with terror.

A German mortar shell hit a few yards from her. Steel fragments ripped through her legs and the youngster fell to the ground, her screams drowned out by the blasts of shells falling nearby.

The young corporal saw her fall. He could hear the deadly machine gun bullets zinging down the street. Without hesitation he dashed out to the child.

Corporal Was Hit
As he ran from the shelter of a building, another shell burst near the girl and fragments struck the American in the face and chest.

He fell, but slowly regained his feet, blood streaming into his eyes and blinding him so he had to grope to reach the child.

She was unconscious when he reached a combat first aid station, carrying her in his arms as he staggered through the bullet plowed street. Then he collapsed from shock and loss of blood.

"Those dirty Nazis, shelling their own kids!" exclaimed the medical corps attendant.

"This fellow makes you proud you're an American."

Pennsylvania Democrats Want Truman In 1948

WASHINGTON—(P)—A delegation of Pennsylvania Democrats, headed by Senators Guffey and Myers, endorsed President Truman for a second term in a call at the White House Thursday.

David L. Lawrence, national committeeman for Pennsylvania, reported that the President made no comment when the subject was raised.

In the first open discussion by political leaders of the possibility Truman would be asked to run for another term in 1948, Lawrence told reporters.

"We told him we were solidly in back of him."

"Does that mean in 1948?" he was asked.

"Any time," he said.

On further questioning, he said "The whole delegation assured him we were for him in 1948."

Occupations Group To Honor Employers

The diversified occupations students of Midland High School were looking forward to the dinner which they will give at 8 p. m. Thursday in the Crystal Ballroom of the Scharbauer Hotel for their employers and training sponsors.

Joe L. Reed, district supervisor of trade and industrial education, will be the speaker. J. B. Terry Jr., president of the diversified occupations class, will act as master of ceremonies.

Harrington Bruised When Car Overturns

A. J. Harrington received emergency treatment for bruises at the Western Clinic Wednesday night after the car in which he was riding overturned 15 miles south of Midland.

Gene Harwell, who was with Harrington, was not injured. Leon Smith, of Abilene, brought the men to Midland.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 3 State National Bank of El Paso, trustee, Central North Pecos County prospector in section 23, block 140, T&STL survey, was taking a drillstem test to bottom at 4,551 feet in line.

Humble No. 1 Buchanan, East Midland County wildcat in Baldridge survey No. 32-692, ten miles southeast of Midland, was making hole below 11,166 feet in sandy shale and lime.

Parrott Cut Fluid
Humble No. 1 Parrott, East-Central Upton County exploration in section 3, EL survey, was bottomed at 10,743 feet in chert, mixing heavier mud, after drilling fluid had become cut with oil and gas.

Humble No. 1 Gresham, one mile west of same operator's No. 1 Parrott, and in section 2, block Y, Indianola survey, was on total depth of 7,671 feet in sand and shale and was making a trip.

Northern Ordnance, Inc., No. 1 Sorrell, Concho County discovery for gas in the Bend basal Pennsylvanian, in section 206, Eliza Kemper survey, in Northwest Eden, tested for 20,500,000 cubic feet of gas per day from 3,265-87 feet, and from 3,294-3,302 feet. Total depth is at 3,322 feet.

In Detrital Zone
Texaco No. 1 Blinberry, in southeast quarter of section 19-22S-38E, northwest outcrop to discovery for Clear Fork-Permian production in the Drinkard area of Southeast Lea County, New Mexico, which missed pay in that section, had reached 7,472 feet in detrital, and was drilling ahead.

Texaco No. 1 Reeves, Central Lea County wildcat in section 26-18S-35E, was bottomed at 5,655 feet in lime and was to take a Schlumberger survey. No report has been released in a drillstem test supposed to have been run Wednesday.

Chalmette Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Lakeshore fee, Northwest Andrews County prospector in section 24, block A-26, psl survey, was treating perforated section at 7,044-7,210 feet, with 2,000 gallons of acid. No test of the zone was made before the treatment.

Magnolia Quits Ralph
Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-A Ralph, section 12, block A-37, psl survey, on northwest ¼ of the Fullerton field in Northwest Andrews, is being plugged and abandoned.

It drilled to total depth of 10,931 feet in Ellenburger. That section had no oil. It tested several other zones, up to one above 7,200 feet—but nothing developed.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 TXL, in southeast quarter of section 7, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, and furtherest northwest well completed from the Devonian in the TXL area in West Ector County, reported a 24-hour flowing potential of 1,435.20 barrels of

Texas-Exes Elect New Officers

AUSTIN—(P)—The new president of the Student Association at the University of Texas is Clayton Blakeway of San Angelo.

Richard Mollison, of Raymondville, was named vice president; Majorie Darlick of Moulton, secretary. Raymond Renner of Lamesa was elected chief justice, and Margaret Conrad of Houston was elected editor of the Cactus. Harris Smith of San Angelo was elected head cheer leader.

Taking office without opposition were Horace Busby of Fort Worth as Daily Texan editor, and Mickey Nebenzahl of Mercedes as associate editor of the Texan.

40 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1.375-1. The gauge was based on a six-hour flowing test.

The oil is from 588 perforations in casing at 7,895-8,042 feet. That section had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid. The flow was through a one-half inch choke.

Had Sulphur Indication
Sinclair Prairie Oil Company No. 1 McKnight, Northwest Crane County Ordovician exploration in section 6, block B-22, psl survey, was making new hole under 10,756 feet in Ellenburger dolomite.

At 10,693-750 feet, a one hour drillstem test was run. Recovery was 20 feet of drilling mud with a slight indication of sulphur, but with no sulphur water, or oil or gas.

Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 Richardson, section 12B2, BS&F survey, Northwest Garza County prospector, was setting a plastic plug just under casing-seat at 3,391 feet, to shut off water so hole could be deepened from current bottom of 3,449 feet.

The project had shown a little oil and some water in tests made since the plug on the 7-inch casing had been drilled out.

Truck Loading Limit Increase On Docket Of 49th Legislature

AUSTIN—(P)—A truck load limit increase bill urged as a war necessity Thursday moved toward final passage in the 49th Legislature.

The measure—already approved by the Senate—raises the legal load limit from 38,000 to 48,000 pounds. It passed to final reading by a vote of 74 to 61 Wednesday, and early action on final enactment was expected.

The House spent much of an all-day session Wednesday debating a Senate-passed bill which would permit the State Board of Education to control distribution of free textbooks, as well as their purchase.

Under the present law, textbooks are purchased by the board and distributed by the State Department of Education.

The measure finally failed of passage on second reading by a one vote margin, 66 to 67, but whether this meant final defeat remained somewhat in question. It was likely some parliamentary maneuvering to revive it would be made.

The House finally passed and sent to the governor a Senate bill extending to Aug. 31, 1947, workmen's compensation coverage for members of the Texas State Guard.

In a night session, the Senate in a little less than two hours, wiped the calendar clean of 69 bills. Of this number 40 were House bills which it passed and sent to the governor.

It amended and returned to the House for concurrence eight measures, passed and sent to the House 16 of its own bills, tabled two and removed two from the uncontested slate.

Governor Stevenson Signs Three New Bills

AUSTIN—(P)—Bills signed Thursday by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson included those:

Permitting the liquor board to sell confiscated liquor at OPA ceiling prices to licensed dealers and requiring all law enforcement officers to report on the quantity of seized liquors in the same manner that liquor enforcement officers are required to.

Permitting tenth gallon graduations in certain gasoline pumps. Authorizing state banks to make farm and residence loans to veterans as contemplated by title three of the servicemen's readjustment act.

A TEXAN ON LEYTE Says:

"Seeing 'em unload IMPERIAL SUGAR was like meeting a friend from my old home town!"

Yes, we have received a number of letters from service men in all parts of the world saying they are enjoying IMPERIAL—Pure Cane—SUGAR, or saying they saw it unloaded at the docks. Even though it means a scarcity at home, we know you are glad that our fighting men are getting the energy sugar they need. Can all you can of fresh fruits this season, but plan your canning carefully to make sugar quotas go farthest. You'll find IMPERIAL of real help because it is lump-free and quick to dissolve.

CAN ALL YOU CAN BUT USE SUGAR CAREFULLY

Ask for IMPERIAL! Same fine quality whether in cloth or paper packages.

Cubs Win Over Cincinnati In Only Game Held

By The Associated Press

Cholly Grimm strummed a happy tune on his banjo Thursday with his Chicago Cubs in second place and winning form by Claude Passeau and Paul Derringer easing his pitching worries.

Passeau relieved Hank Wyse Friday against Pittsburgh but worked only one-third inning so Grimm waited until Wednesday's first starting effort, a 4-0 shutout of Cincinnati, before counting on him too heavily.

Reds Hit Safely Five Times

Cincinnati hit safely only five times, all singles. Passeau didn't confine his efforts to pitching, hitting his first home run since 1942.

All other big league games were postponed, leaving the field open to discussion of new Commissioner Albert B. (Happy) Chandler, and naming of 10 new members to the Hall of Fame.

The diamond immortals were Roger Bresnahan, Dan Brouthers, Fred Clarke, Jimmy Collins, Ed Delahanty, Hugh Duffy, Hugh Jennings, Mike (King) Kelly, James O'Rourke and Wiltbert Robinson.

Roundup
By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

NEW YORK—(P)—The choice of Senator Happy Chandler as baseball commissioner looks from here like a victory for the group that favored a "promoter" instead of another judge for the job. The Giants' Horace Stoneham, who joined with Larry MacPhail to help swing the election, has been outspoken on the idea that when the war is over baseball will need a man who will "sell" the game in order to restore its old-time popularity. Chandler seems to fill the bill and one of his first statements was that baseball should be that surplus government owned athletic equipment should be distributed among the kids. Another likely change is in baseball's attitude towards horse racing.

You wouldn't expect a Landis from a guy who was raised in the Kentucky blue grass country. And it will be a real innovation the first time the new commissioner tunes up his barber-shop tenor on "Rainbow in the Sky."

A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody Piloting, Making Double Plays, Smash Hit At New Jersey High

By BILL BLOOME
NEA Special Correspondent

ENGLEWOOD, N. J.—A pretty girl is like a melody at second base for Dwight Morrow High of Englewood, N. J.

According to Billy Beck, Janet Bette Jacobs, manager and second basegirl, is as good a ball player as you would want to look at in the Jersey school's league. In a normal year, says coach Beck, Janet would be in his regular second sack. But he is blessed with an exceptional inner quartet this season and Janet has to be relegated to second string.

Janet, 16, 5-4 and 120 pounds, brunette and very attractive, has been playing ball as long as she can remember. Her brother Bob, former Dwight Morrow football player and now a battalion adjutant at OCS, Fort Monmouth, N. J., was her first tutor.

Definitely not the tomboy type, Janet simply likes to play ball. The boys on the squad accept her as they would any candidate. She shags flies, takes her turn in batting practice and goes through infield practice. The boys give no quarter and she asks none.

Beck, who spent last summer assisting Carl Hubbell at the New York Giants' school, doesn't pamper her.

Janet has good form (batting) at the plate. A switch hitter, she steps into the ball with a 34-inch willow like a big leaguer. She hits a sharp ball and gets good distance. A good waiter, hurlers don't find her easy to pitch to. Beck is especially proud of her proficiency with the drag bunt. She beats out a lot of them.

But it is her ability at defensive play that makes one gape. Like a professional, she hits the bag left foot first on the double play pivot and makes the resultant snap throw to first as though it were second nature. She has the sixth sense baseball looks for, moving in the right direction with the crack of the bat.

Ladylike at all times, Janet is looking forward to college and a journalistic career, not sports especially.

But Janet Bette Jacobs ought to make a good baseball writer.

Dateline: PACIFIC

By HAROLD STREETER

KWAJALEIN, MARSHALL ISLANDS — (P)—Kwajalein Atoll, which looks from the air like a coral necklace linked at wide intervals by irregular beads (islands), presents the Pacific's strange war in miniature.

Just a little over a year ago, Kwajalein Islands, particularly Roi, Namur and Kwajalein, were invaded to obtain air and naval bases from which to spring 1,300 miles into the Marianas. Soon the bulk of the U. S. Pacific Fleet was anchored in its lagoon.

Today the atoll is almost smothered. It has passed its peak of power and become a comparatively peaceful rear base.

A group of American war correspondents, touring Pacific bases in a plane of the Air Transport Command, landed at Kwajalein.

"The war is so far ahead now it just isn't worth expending material and labor to surface roads," an officer explained.

Yet, in a 200-mile radius east and south—in part between him and the United States—there were an estimated 10,000 Japanese on other bypassed atolls of the Marshalls.

Those Japanese don't know they are licked although the core of action is far northwest of them at Okinawa.

Five Japanese were picked up recently by monthly bush-boating patrols on a tiny island in Kwajalein Atoll. They wanted to test the fishing at Kwajalein, 150 miles from where they had come in small boats from Maloelap.

These Japanese were fat and healthy indication of the condition of uncaptured others.

Daily raids by Maj. Gen. L. E. Woods' Marine planes always draw anti-aircraft fire.

German Youth Presents Problem To Americans

By HAL BOYLE

IN SAXONY —(P)—Germany—thanks to Adolf Hitler—already has its "lost generation" from the Second World War.

It consists of its boys and young men—and a large percentage of its girls—from ages 10 to 20.

It is hard to see how any policy that the Allies can design to rebuild Germany along Democratic lines can find mass support among these groups of young people, who have been fed in their most formative years on the fuhrer's "blood and muscle" doctrine of race superiority.

The Nazi party had a very careful system for grooming its future leaders, and the most aggressive and talented young men and women have drunk so deeply and so long of its propaganda that they are permanently affected. Their country's defeat apparently has made most of them only more romantically and fanatically devoted to the leader who led their nation to ruin.

Hard And Cruel

They have been taught to be hard and cruel and ruthless—and as a class they are. There is more hate in the eyes of these knee pants legions than in all the army's millions of trained soldiers. Soldiers know when they are licked, but these Hitler Jugend lads haven't developed enough sense to realize what has happened to their country because of Hitler, Himmler, Goering and Goebbels.

Our troops despise Hitler's boy soldiers like they do the Japanese because they are unpredictable. These 12 to 16 year old boys are more dangerous than ordinary soldiers because they are more ignorant. They do not realize the hopeless situation and likely as not will try to snipe from the roadside at armored columns—which is the surest way of committing military suicide. The Americans hate to shoot and kill boys, but a crazy boy with a rifle is even more of a menace than a trained soldier.

I have seen scores of these dirty faced boys in prison camps and pens and their only reaction is one of sullen pride at being grouped with older soldiers in defense of their fatherland.

Bowling

By ELMER KEGGLER

Settling down to win the last two games after a shaky start in the first, which they dropped 837 to 712 to the Honolulu Oil Company entrant, the Roberson Sinclair Service team went on to finish in first place in the standings and ring down the curtain on the current season of the Midland City Bowling League. Led by the three-game series total of 533 registered by Lt. Dan Markley, closely followed by Cpl. Edward Jones' 509 and M/Sgt. Ted Dykes' 505, the Roberson Sinclair outfit were tops after the first set-to. And the winners spotted Honolulu some 144 pins.

Pee-Dee Is "Muy Caliente"

Starting off with a big bang—196 pins—in the first game, E. J. Grommon went on to register a series total of 558, placing him as high total man for the evening. In so doing, Grommon led his team—the Weaver Texaco Service Company—to two wins out of three over the Junior Chamber of Commerce entry. Just two or three weeks back the Weaver quint appeared permanently situated in the cellar berth, but wound up the season in sixth place, one game up on the JayCees.

Bradford & Co. Not So Hot

Dunagan Sales Company team, a late season rapid comer, did the unthinkable stunt of rapping the once-leading King-Parrott Service Club team for three in a row. That placed Dunagan Sales in fifth place and bumped the Service Club entry into fourth, two games behind the Mackey Motor Company quintet. Chuck Bradford, Young, McAshan and Scott were somewhat off their usual well known high scores, but "Shorty" Beals, ably substituting for Capt. H. ("Call me Red") Harrington, had a nice series, winding up with a total of 522, being the one bright mark in the King-Parrott debacle.

Mackey Motors In Nice Finish

Mackey Motor Company's team, in the running throughout the season, was minus the services of Cecil Coombs, who had been called to Fort Worth, but Sheriff Ed Darnell, Al Clement, Hill, S. Hall and L. Hall had enough of what it takes to thoroughly thumb the Shell Oil aggregation for the best two out of the three-game block.

Much interest was manifested in the season's finale at the Plamor Palace alleys, and the razzberries, as well as the cheers, flowed rather freely.

Amarillo Has 64 Softball Teams

AMARILLO—(P)—Speaking of softball—Amarillo has it.

Sixty-four teams start a city-wide tournament May 1 and it will run until Aug. 30 with more than 1,300 youngsters participating. All are under 14 years of age.

What's more, another 1,000 boys are standing by until more leagues are formed to allow them games leading to two play-off series plus a world's series at the season's close.

The Amarillo Boy's Softball Association is sponsored by civic-minded citizens.

Purpose of the organization, according to Cal Farley, executive director, is to interest "our youth in athletics and thus improve their physical conditions, decrease juvenile idleness, teach obedience, and offer supervised group games."

THE AMERICAN HOUSE

By Virginia Chase

IV
WHEN I saw the inside of the American House I felt a little cheated. The carpets were red and green, to be sure, but their roses had been worn almost beyond recognition, and, although ornate, the wicker suite in the parlor was too hard to suggest casual living. The tin tub fell short of my expectations—I had expected a kind of Roman bath—and the sign CAUTION above the faucets belied stories of extravagance. The dumb-waiter, which I had pictured as a kind of agile automaton, proved to be no more than a crude framework (topped by an enormous knob), which moved with creaks and tremors.

Still there was the furnace, a great black monster, sending out long tentacles into the darkness of the cellar. There was hot water—in season. There were two telephones, one for local calls, the other for long distance. And there was the electric bell. You had only to press a button in any of the upper rooms and a gill net moved unsteadily in a glass-covered case in the office. The mechanism was out of adjustment, and no one downstairs could be sure what room was calling, but the buzz was impressive.

Otherwise the place was undistinguished. The kitchen was in the basement of the old house. Its concrete floor and gray sheathing gave it a moist, tasteless look. It had a huge, square stove with a rusted top, bearing a copper tank, grown green like boats below the waterline; a table covered with oilcloth that looked as though it had been scaled; a row for pots and a rack for knives and cleavers; a high milk closet, screened with mosquito netting; a large pump with a long, perpendicular handle, which filled the tank in the attic; and a sink, also rusted, with a shelf above it where a row of lamps stood.

At the head of the kitchen stairs was the serving room, once half of the whole first floor. On the back, two windows looked out over the yard; on the side, two high ones over the Landing; and on the front the two that had faced the village were now painted gray, like the walls. Between them were shelves stacked with heavy, white dishes—plates, cups, nappies, butter chips tied up like silver dollars. . . .

A swinging door opened into the dining room—not too easily because of the uneven meeting of the floors. Here in each corner was a table set for six and in the center a larger one, which we came to know as the Transient Table. All of them were swathed in cheesecloth, and above each hung a spiral of flypaper.

Across the hall was the office, running the depth of the entire building, old part and new. It was finished in brown sheathing. One row of armchairs, leather-seated, lined the front; another formed a semi-circle around the stove, which stood in the middle of the room. The desk was in the back corner. On it were a cigar case, a clipper, a contraption for cutting plug tobacco, a circular inkwell with a wire helix, a paper weight of polished copper, and a register with a mottled leather cover. Opposite the desk were a safe, a row of tin wash basins, a roller towel, and a chocolate-colored water tank with a red rose above its spigot.

On the second floor were the parlor, the bathroom, the linen closet, and four bedrooms. The parlor was directly at the head of the stairs, facing the village. It was our greatest disappointment. Though my mother had never passed on any stories, we had heard them, just the same. There had been parties in that parlor, wild parties, parties that had lasted until 12 o'clock. There had been wine and cigars. People had played cards, perhaps even gambled there. Yet it had turned out to be only a small, dingy room, with stiff, varnished furniture, primly placed.

THE bedrooms in the house were furnished alike throughout. Each had a bed, a commode, a straight chair, and a bureau with a swinging mirror—all highly varnished. The floors were covered with straw matting, and the walls were papered with brown "postcard." The rooms were fairly large, but they differed in contour, for those on the back of the third and fourth floors were cut off by the roof and distorted by dormers.

Our rooms were on the corner of the second floor. The one my parents shared was toward the village. Ours looked out over the back yard, now muddy and rutted. It had five windows—one on the back; one, painted over like those in the serving room, facing the hall; and three on the side. Of these, two were so high that you had to stand on tiptoe to see out, and the third was a porthole.

We drew lots for the walls, but we divided the closet less peacefully. It was a very small closet, well cut into by the chimney. There were 12 hooks in it, and a nail.

"I shall have the nail," Sue said. "I'm the oldest."
That started us off.
"How old you are doesn't have anything to do with it," Julia insisted.
I backed her up noisily.
"Girls, girls," my mother called. "No quarreling! You'll just have to manage somehow. It's only for a little while, anyway."
Poor Mama! She really believed it.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Another old-timer who has passed away is Comdr. Winfield Liggett Jr., who was in my estimation one of the nicest partners at bridge. While his name is not so universally known as that of Work and Whitehead, nevertheless, many of the Bridge books published during Liggett's day were ghost-written by him.

After receiving his medical discharge from the Navy, he devoted most of his time to bridge and he was known as being a specialist in no trump.

However, I will never forget to day's hand. Liggett was one of the few men who ever had a contract of seven spades when his opponents held the ace of trump.

You will notice there was not much approach bidding in those days, but Liggett reasoned that if his partner could jump to six spades, he must have that missing ace, so he went to seven spades.

He won the opening lead with the ace of clubs. Most players would simply spread the hand and concede down one. But Liggett played a small spade from dummy, put on the ten spot, and West played the eight of clubs. Liggett said nothing and East failed to ask his partner if he had no spades.

Liggett now led the king of spades, on which West played the ace. Of course West had revoked and that gave the declarer the right to two tricks. West only took one so he had to give that trick back to Liggett an dthus seven odd was made against the ace of trumps.

He Was Only Trying To Milk A Little Gas

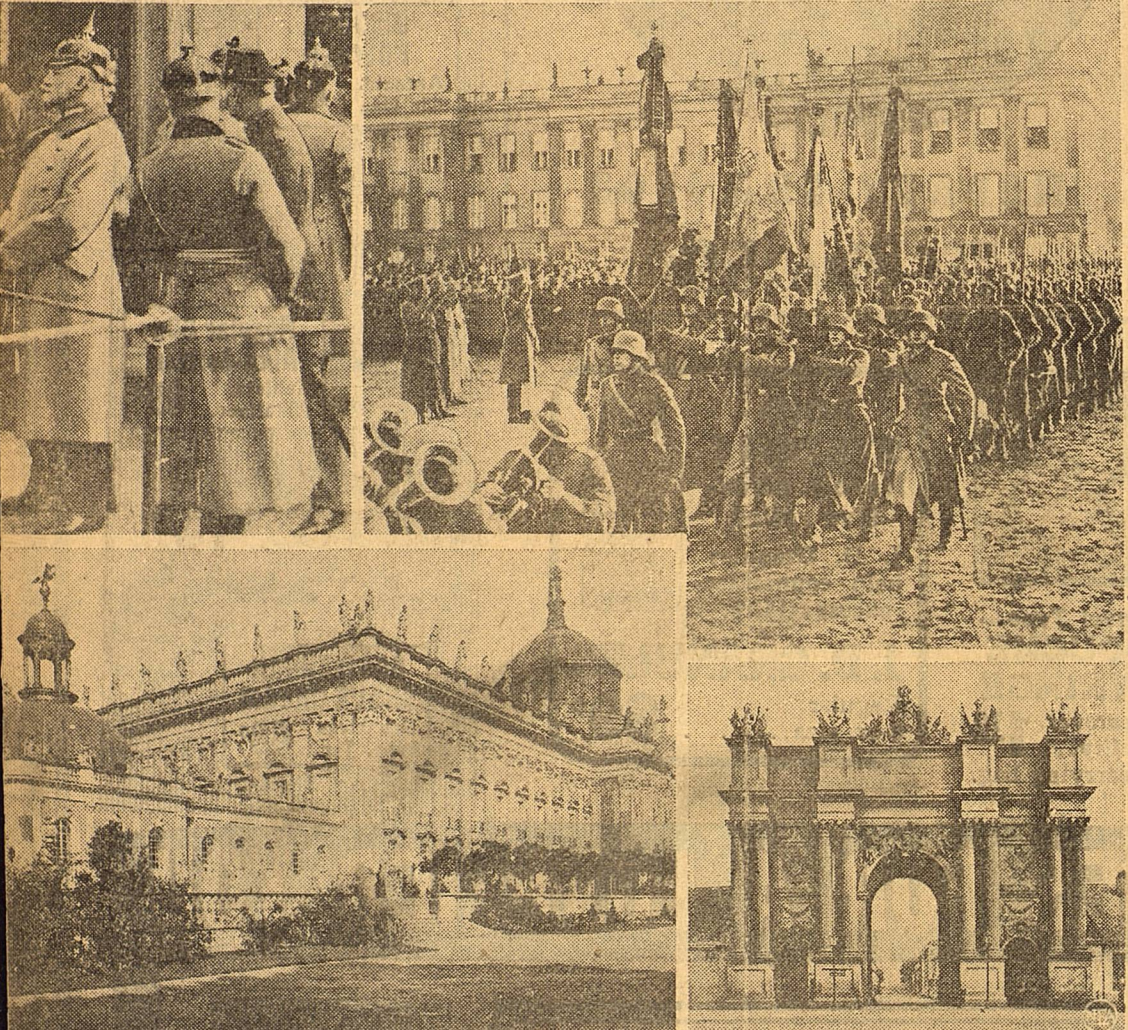

RIO DE JANEIRO—(P)—Cattleman Irondino Alves Ferreira was desperately in need of gasoline—an item of great scarcity in wartime Brazil—but he knew the government was concerned over an acute meat shortage in this city of 2,000,000. So he proposed to trade the government 50,000 choice head of cattle a month for 1,000 liters of gas.

Meat is still rationed in Rio, and Cattleman Ferreira, as far as is known, still needs gas.

POTSDAM: Cradle of Prussian Militarism

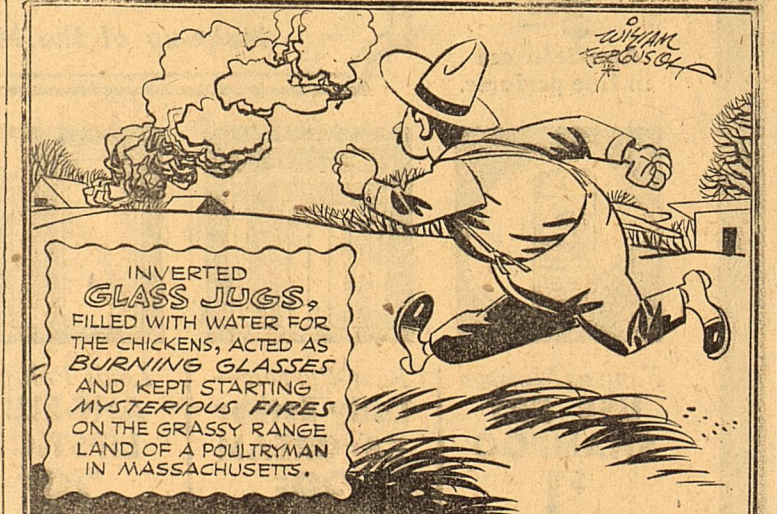

No city in all Germany—not even Berlin—is such a symbol of Prussian militarism as is suburban Potsdam, picturesquely set on an island in the Havel River, about 18 miles from the capital. Potsdam was the cradle and nursery of the Prussian army, whose father was Frederick the Great. Capital of the province of Brandenburg, it was the home of Prussian kings and later, German emperors. Potsdam is said to have more palaces than any other city in Europe, most of them in flamboyant baroque style. Among the most noted are the Potsdam Palace and Sans Souci. Photos above show, top, left a Potsdam gathering of typical Prussian officers of the "old army"; top, right, a goose-stepping parade of Hitler troops who sought to perpetuate the Prussian tradition of iron discipline and ruthless warfare. At lower left is the Potsdam Palace, and at lower right, the Brandenburg Gate, erected in 1770.

Private Knows That War Is Not Only Booming Of Guns

By JOHN LYNCH

GREENVILLE, MISS.—(P)—Pfc. Roy E. Rievey, of Greenville, used to think that war was all men and tanks and guns . . . but Private Rievey knows now that war is also women and children—and babies; lots of babies—even babies being born on the battlefield—and one baby in particular being delivered by radio . . .

Pfc. Rievey was in a medical station somewhere in Germany, when the radio broke the tension of the operating room.

"Calling American Aid Station! Calling American Aid Station," came the tense, quivering voice over the air.

A tired Army doctor left a wounded man's side and flicked the receiver over.

"American Aid Station, come in," the medical officer barked.

"Say, doc," said an excited G.I. voice, "Get ready. I'm bringing in a German woman—hurry! She—she's gonna have a baby."

The doctor sprang to an erect position. "Roger! Get her in son, we're waiting."

Everybody in the aid station got up then waiting for the medical aid man to appear from the shell-battered field to the east bearing the German mother. Enemy? Yes! But woman—a mother about to have a baby. No time to think about high side she was on—babies aren't on any side . . .

Again the radio came to life.

"Doc! . . . I can't make it. The baby's being born now!"

Exhaustion seemed to leave the doctor as he calmly took the microphone in his hand. His voice rumbled to a measured, deliberate resonance.

"Now, listen son, take it easy. Here's what you do . . .

Take It Easy, Son!

The doctor talked on, still in that low, measured tone. "Take it easy, son," he would say from time to

Luftwaffe Leader Dug Own Grave With His Messerschmitt

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER STATION, ENGLAND—Having the tables turned on him, the Luftwaffe leader dug his own grave in a German field, ploughing in with a shiny new Messerschmitt 109 as a shovel. An Eighth Air Force P-51 Mustang performed the rite.

It happened in combat, and Capt. John L. Sublett, 357th Fighter Group flight commander, from Alpine, Texas, describes the action: "I saw a 'raggle' of 109's tearing through a Mustang formation and the Hun leader got my attention. He tried to get away but I squirted him at 4,000 feet and he tried to get rid of me by flying over a flak field. I ignored the hot lead sent up at me and put round after round into that olive-drab colored Nazi plane. It suddenly dropped nose and its churning propeller dug a ditch across a field."

This was Captain Sublett's eighth air victory. He has destroyed nine German planes, one on the ground. The Texan flier notched two kills near Berlin when his group set an Eighth Air Force record by destroying 57 1/2 German aircraft on one mission, 56 1/2 in air battle.

The 22-year old ex-flying instructor's wife, the former Miss Cvetla B. Nixon, lives at Alpine. She formerly lived at Odessa, Texas.

time. The radio reception switch would click back and forth.

"Gee, this is tough, doc!" Then silence. More and more directions went out from the patient medical officer. The crowd in the room had stopped giving blood plasma and binding wounds and sprinkling sal-tilamine. Everybody forgot the war to attend this tense drama punctuated by the roar of guns at the front a few hundred yards away.

Finally the doctor sank back limp on a box. "That's it," he told the men around him. "Poor guy—get a drink ready. He'll need it when he gets here!"

Soon a watching corpsman shouted: "Here they come!" Everybody looked out.

Doctors tenderly took the mother and tiny infant inside. They were fine—but the godfather wasn't doing so well. He toppled into the waiting arms of his buddies . . .

"Gee," he croaked. "That was worse than taking Aachen!"

Russian War Bride Receives Passport

ANDIMESHK, IRAN.—(P)—Comely Tatiana Ostapenko is the first Russian wife of an Allied officer to be granted a passport from the Soviet Union.

A former actress and singer, she is married to Maj. John F. Waldron, South Orange, N. J., a Medical Corps officer who went to Moscow in 1941 with the American Military Mission. They have a son, seven months old.

Major and Mrs. Waldron met in Moscow in 1942 during the German blitz. She and the baby recently joined him at his Persian Gulf command post.

El Paso Is A City That Has Troubles All Of Its Own

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

The strangest things happen in El Paso!

In the old Wild West days sheriffs and their men grimly pursued villains who stole horses. Horse thieves were just too low to mention in the presence of women.

But now El Paso police are busy chasing—the horses! They plaintively report a sudden crop of "horse calls" and say they are kept busy rounding up loose horses and mules all over town.

What Is Fair?

The housing problem took a new turn recently when a tenant asked county officers to arrest her El Paso landlord.

He had, she said, moved his furniture into the house where she was living.

The landlord said he couldn't find a place to live, either. He said he bought the home sometime ago, and was tired of waiting for the woman to move.

Still No Bullfight

And what town except El Paso could have—of all things—bullfight trouble!

They held a rodeo early in April, and as an extra added attraction they wanted to stage a bullfight. When District Attorney Roy D. Jackson heard of it, he announced it was illegal. It was, in fact, a penitentiary offense. Further, he added, it was a violation of the state penal code.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Chris P. Fox protested it would be a "clean" bullfight with no gore. No horses would be used. An American bullfighter named Douglas Henderson was to be the matador.

"It's even against the law to rope a steer," said Fox. "It all depends on how the animal is roped. The same could be true about a bullfight. It all depends on how the bull is fought."

The rodeo was held—sans bullfight.

He Beefed About It

MANILA.—(P)—All day long a Coast Guardsman loaded sides of beef into a landing barge. At first they were light as pork chops, but as the day lengthened they became heavy as millstones. Tugging at the last quarter of beef, the Coast Guardsman grunted: "Whatever came of those meatless Tuesdays?"

Gets a Kick Out of His Bet

Horseplay with the painted mascot of the 7th USAAF "Missouri Mule" bomber is the way Maj. James C. Logan of San Antonio, Tex., has of advertising that he lost a bet. Chief bombardier for his group, he bet 10 bucks his outfit would have best score on a Jap target on his recent birthday. His own bomb fell a bit short, bringing the group's almost perfect score down low enough to lose the wager.

Italians Establish Laborers' School

RIMINI, ITALY.—(P)—A technical school for unskilled laborers, believed to be the first free trade school in Italian educational history, has been established in this Adriatic port city under joint auspices of Eighth Army AMG authorities and the town's business and professional men.

The sponsors hope to train 5,000 students by the end of the year in carpentry, bricklaying, steelworking, plumbing, plastering, roofing, glazing and concrete construction.

The entire cost of textbooks, tools and equipment will be met by Rimini contractors and civic leaders.

U. S. MILK CONSUMPTION

The civilian population of the United States consumes 84 per cent of all the milk produced for the United States—our men in uniform getting only 16 per cent of the total milk production.

Linear Measurement

CHICAGO.—(P)—Coroner A. L. Brodie, providing newsmen with certain details concerning the body of a murdered man, said:

"The victim was 5 feet 6 inches in length."

"Don't you mean in height?" suggested a reporter.

"No," the coroner replied. "We measured him lyin' down."

Americans Still Routing Japs Out Of Iwo Jima Caves

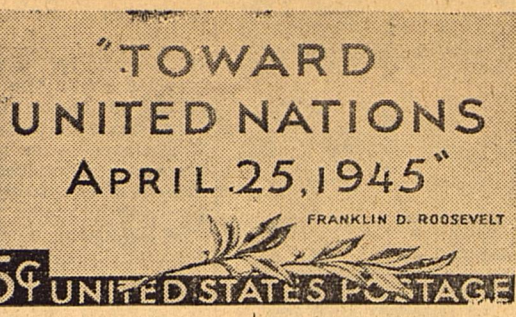

By ELMONT WHITE
IWO JIMA—(P)—Down on the ripped up end of Iwo Island near Japan, infantry patrols were blowing up caves daily as late as mid-April.

There still were live—and fighting—Japanese in the caves, too. Sometimes they surrendered. At other times they were mute when Japanese—language appeals were shouted into the cave mouths. Then they were blown up.

As many as 120 within one four-day period surrendered in answer to such appeals. No one knows exactly how many others died in the blast of cave-sealing high explosives.

American-born Japanese boys—the Nisei—are responsible for the surrender of practically all of the scores and scores of prisoners taken on Iwo Jima; and each new prisoner has volunteered to help persuade his companions to yield.

"War Is Over"

"Americans are building an airport right over your head," they shout into the silent cave mouths. "The war on Iwo Jima is over. Bulldozers are waiting to close up your cave..."

One patrol had three Japanese interpreters waiting outside a cavern entrance—when out came a note written mostly in French. It had been written by a Japanese captain, the son of a lieutenant general of the Iwo defenders. An officer recalled enough French to translate most of the note.

"I realize the war on Iwo is ended," it said. "I want to give up. Will you shoot me at sundown? What do you wish me to do?"

In a test recently completed by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, it was found that the average life of a synthetic tire is about 50,500 miles, 37,000 miles from each new tire, with 23,500 additional miles per tire after recapping.

Curbstone College Classes In Street

LONG BEACH, CALIF.—(P)—A curbstone college which brings traffic safety information to the man in the street on the street has been established here.

Sidewalk meetings, comparable in some aspects to old-time medicine shows are staged to meet a growing traffic safety problem.

With a population increase from 164,271 to 300,000 in four years, Long Beach had forty-four pedestrian deaths and eighteen motorists killed in 1943. The curbstone college is one of several measures adopted to meet the situation.

Back Home Again

DECATUR, ILL.—(P)—Mrs. Wilder Manley's car was all but demolished in an accident last November. It was in a garage for repairs five months. On the first day it was in service again it caught fire—and was towed back to the same garage.

Lemonade is called "lemon squash" in England.

Not Yet Washed Up

DES MOINES, IA.—(P)—C. R. Thomas, at the age of 80, is working in a laundry. He is believed to be the oldest laundry worker in the country.

A camera that takes three dimensional pictures has been developed for the use of the armed forces. The pictures look like jumbled masses to the naked eye, but the film takes on depth when viewed through special lenses.
