Probe To Prove Expenditure Of Union Funds By Beck

By HERBERT FOSTER and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
United Press Staff Correspondents

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate investigators set out today to show defiant Teamster boss Dave Beck they can prove what he did with some of the $322,000 they claim he took from his union's coffers.

The special rackets committee said it would trace $85,000 of the sum from West Coast Teamster treasuries to Beck and his personal bills. They recalled Beck's mysterious friend Nathan W. Shefferman for help.

Beck, the beefy president of the nation's largest union, was standing by for more testimony too. Committee members were waiting to quiz him about more than $170,000 which showed up in union books as repayment of loans. The committee insists the funds were neither loans nor gifts.

AFL-CIO To Act

Without waiting for conclusion of the investigation, the AFL-CIO high command moved swiftly to crack down on Beck for refusing to answer the committee's questions.

No sooner had Beck pleaded the Fifth Amendment Tuesday than AFL-CIO President George Meany summoned an extraordinary meeting of the 28-member Executive Council for Friday to consider the issue.

Members of the council willing to comment were generally critical of Beck's refusal to answer questions, but most reserved their formal opinions until the case is aired Friday. Several said, however, that Beck's stand appeared a clear violation of the AFL-CIO ban on use of the Fifth Amendment before congressional committees.

One senator, a member of the rackets committee and himself a former union official, was more outspoken. Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich) told the United Press Beck had given all organized labor a "black eye." He said if he were in Beck's shoes "I would resign."

Beck Clams Up

In testimony Tuesday Beck, gave the committee practically no information. Claiming several constitutional protections including the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination, he refused to say whether he "misappropriated" the $322,000. On the same ground, he refused to surrender his personal records—even when served on the spot with a committee subpena.

The pudgy Teamster boss appeared to have skirted successfully the threat of a contempt of Congress citation that at first appeared possible when Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) ruled he had not properly invoked the Fifth Amendment.

Beck later invoked the Fifth

Israelis Report Syrian Ambushes

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Corresponden.

Israel reported today that Syrian troops opened fire on an Israeli settlement at midnight and that marauders from the Gaza Strip ambushed an Israeli truck Tuesday, seriously wounding one civilian.

Egypt's semi-official news agency reported in Cairo that Saudi Arabia had moved troops to the outskirts of the Jordanian port of Aqaba, but a Jordanian military source denied the report in Amman.

However other sources said the Saudies had moved troops all along the western shore of the Gulf of Aqaba in what could be the start of a new Arab move to blockade Israeli shipping in the narrowwaterway.

The Arab moves sharply increased tension in the Middle East as U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold ended his Cairo mission and left for New York without solving the future of the Suez Canal or the U.N. Emergency Force.

West Has No Comment

The West was silent pending a formal report from Hammarskjold on his mission, but in Bermuda a highly informed source said, "Everybody accepts the fact that for better or worse Egyptians are going to operate the canal." The statement came after the Anglo-Canadian conference.

The semi-official Middle East News Agency said in Cairo that Saudi troops had taken up positions just outside Jordan's port city of Aqaba in the first move by Saudi Arabia to close the Gulf to Israeli shipping.

The Saudi troops are expected to move into Aqaba proper when British troops stationed there under a now defunct treaty with Jordan move out. That would place the Saudies only a few hundred yards from the Israeli port of Eilat at the north end of the Gulf.

Other Saudi troops were reported stationed along the entire coast of the Gulf as far as the islands of Tiran and Sinafar which control the entrance to the Gulf at the strait of Tiran.

The Saudi military moves followed a recent announcement that the nation would take "all measures" to prevent the establishment of any Israeli right to send ships through the Gulf.

A New Role

Cairo sources said the move indicated Saudi Arabia was willing to relieve Egypt of the task of blockading Israeli shipping since Egypt is under heavy pressure and Saudi Arabia has emerged as one of the keystones in U.S. Middle East policy.

Hammarskjold left Cairo by plane at 9:15 a.m. (2:15 a.m. EST) after telling the Egyptian foreign minister at the airport, "Goodby, Mahmoud, I have been very happy during my stay here."

Fawzi replied, "Goodby, Dag, I hope to see you soon." He then turned to U.N. Assistant Secretary-General Ralph Bunche and said, "See you at 4:30 this afternoon."

Bunche flew as far as Beirut, Lebanon, with Hammarskjold who planned to talk there with John J. McCloy, a New York banker who serves as his financial adviser. McCloy will go to Cairo later to try to solve the problem of who will pay for clearing the canal.

The question of the future of the UNEF was in doubt. Israel has indicated it would demand the withdrawal of the force because it would hamper Israeli's defense of its borders against Arab marauders.

Dave Beck Is Criticized By AFL-CIO Men

WASHINGTON (UP) — Several members of the AFL-CIO high command today sharply criticized Teamster President Dave Beck for loosing a flood of Fifth Amendment pleas rather than answer the questions of Senate investigators.

But most willing to comment said they would wait until the AFL-CIO Executive Council's extraordinary meeting Friday before taking a stand.

The council was certain to have before it a demand that it punish Beck by attempting to break his power as head of the nation's biggest labor union. That could start a monumental struggle within organized labor.

Beck's use of the Fifth Amendment Tuesday before the Senate Rackets Committee apparently flouted the AFL-CIO Executive Council's code of ethics.

The code states that a union official who invokes the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination is unfit to hold office and should be ousted. Beck voted against the ban when the council passed it.

The council, at Friday's meeting, is expected to consider two moves:

—Recommending ouster of Beck from the 28-member council itself.

—Calling on the Teamsters to clean house by ousting Beck and other officials or face being kicked out of the AFL-CIO.

Beck Quiz Is Hot Show

WASHINGTON (UP)—The quizzing of Dave Beck, who rose from laundry truck driver to the biggest wheel in the Teamsters Union, is providing the hottest show on Capitol Hill since the 1954 Army-McCarthy hearings.

It is taking place in the same arena — the cavernous caucus room of the Senate Office Building where white marble walls stretch two stories high, cameramen cuss each other in the crush and newsmen are packed at press tables like sardines without olive oil.

Only the red carpet has been changed. The old one wore out.

The taxpayers show up for this one. They were in line 2½ hours before Tuesday's opening session waiting for seats.

There was the big man who

Ike Hits Budget Cuts By Congress

WASHINGTON, (UP)— President Eisenhower today vehemently attacked piecemeal budget cuts by Congress as fatuous and the most foolish kind of economy.

As for a specific recommendation by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) that the $71.8 billion budget for fiscal 1958 be cut by $5 billion, the President said he did not believe a cut of this size could be accommodated within the security and welfare requirements of the United States.

Byrd made the reduction proposal in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate today.

In his most vigorous discussion of the budget to date, the President challenged Congress to decide for itself whether the American people wanted to cut down on payments to veterans, agricultural benefits and the construction of new schools. He said these are the only expenses that could be chopped down, because to reduce expenditures for defense, mutual aid and the Atomic Energy Commission would be to invite international trouble.

Negligent Homicide Charges Filed Here

Two counts of negligent homicide and one of driving on the left hand side of the road were filed in county court this morning against Henry Thomas Ray of Amarillo.

The charges arose out of an accident occurring February 20 on Highway 60 just east of Pampa in which the car driven by Ray collided with a car in which Marie Minnick of Pampa was a passenger and which resulted in her death.

The last report received by the County Attorney's office was that Ray is still a patient in an Amarillo hospital, and no plea has been entered by him at this time.

Real Sooner State For Divorces?

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP) — Oklahoma Senators gleefully toyed with a bill Tuesday that would make it a real Sooner state on the divorce circuit.

The measure would drop Oklahoma's resident requirement for divorce to five weeks. As one of its sponsors, joining in the banter, pointed out, "it takes 90 days in Florida, six weeks in Nevada, three months in Arkansas."

Sen. George Miskovsky, who authored the bill, sat by rather glumly at first. "It's not fair to play horse with my program," he said. His original measure had been overhauled by a committee.

Miskovsky joined in the fun, however, and asked "will it save

The site committee was expected to make a report on available sites and the approximate costs of these sites at the meeting tomorrow and will give this report when the directors meet, which will be sometime in the near future.

New Surge Of Cool Air In Pampa Area

A new surge of cool air pushed into the Top o' Texas today as residents were continuing operation "dig out" from the blizzard of Saturday and Sunday.

Wather forecasters said today that the area, still counting the cost of one of its worst blizzards, may get more snow later today and Thursday.

They did not indicate, however, that there is any chance of a repeat of the weekend blizzard. A new cold front is pushing into the area and it is expected to be colder tonight, with temperatures from 26 to 34 degrees throughout the Panhandle.

The front is expected to produce showers as it moves farther into the state.

In Pampa residents were still digging cars out of large drifts ate yesterday. Reports by the office of the city engineer this morning indicated that streets were opened in Pampa so that all residents could have a route to town. All of the streets were not opened this morning, but by using a round about way most places in town could be reached.

The drifts in some instances, allowed only one way traffic and city crews were attempting to open up the other sides of the streets today. Several of the side streets had not been opened but the crews will try to open these today.

The melting snow Monday and the freezing temperatures Monday night caused considerable damage to the paving of the streets. The moisture seeped into the cracks in the streets and when frozen caused large sections to break.

City crews were busy today placing sand in all of the holes and the workmen reported that as soon as the streets dried up repair work would begin on patching these holes.

Motorists were urged to use extreme caution in driving on streets that were damaged, in order that damage would not result to their cars, according to the city engineer's office.

Reports late this morning indicated that no fatalities had resulted in Gray County as a result of the blizzard, but that roads into some areas were impassable to normal traffic.

Employees of the county barn in Precinct 2 reported today that trouble was being encountered in opening some of the county roads. The roads were already muddy from previous moisture and this mud is causing the clearing equipment to become stuck on many roads.

Only a few cows and other animals were lost by farmers and ranchers in Gray County, according to reports received by Ralph Thomas, county agent. Thomas reported however that drifts prevented the checking of a large portion of the herds and that a full report would probably not be available for several days.

At least 100 heard of cattle were lost in the storm by Alfred Cowan, who has a ranch north of Miami. Cowan could lose more as all of the herd has not been checked due to the drifts He reported that one cow, with twin calves, had kept calves alive by trampling down the snow around them.

The death toll from the big blizzard stood at nine persons and at least 1,200 head of cattle. Ranchers feared when the final livestock count was made hundreds more would be found dead.

Elderly Woman Dies

Mrs. R. D. Clevenger, 85, became the ninth person killed by the blizzard Tuesday night when she died in Moore County Memorial hospital at Dumas.

She and her son, Melvin, 42, were rescued Monday morning eight miles west of Etter. They had been stranded in their car since Saturday and were hospitalized in critical condition from car-

Persons Are Asked To Claim Chains

All persons and firms that loaned tow chains and tire chains to the National Guard during the blizzard are requested to call for the chains at the police department.

Jim Conner, chief of police, reported this morning that all of the chains loaned to the guardsmen for emergency use are at the police station but the officers have no way of knowing what chains belong to what individuals or firms. The officers are trying to return all of the equipment loaned to the emergency crews, Conner reported.

Conner also thanked all of the people that loaned equipment for use during the emergency and reported that much of the work could not have been accomplished without the extra equipment.

From Solicitors' Review Board

Spring Rackets Warning Issued

Aubrey L. Jones, secretary of the Pampa Solicitors Review Board, alerted residents of Pampa recently against spring rackets which, he said, plague many home owners.

Citing a bulletin from the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local Chamber of Commerce is affiliated, Jones stated that a small group of questionable operators take advantage of spring weather to perpetrate various hoaxes on the unsuspecting public and are now in operation.

"These gyps," Jones said, "who constitute only a small minority of the various trades and industries in which they engage, have long been a persistent source of public complaint."

Types of itinerant swindlers to be watched for, according to Jones, are phony "tree surgeons," hawkers of fake "humus" or lawn dressings, bogus "termite experts" and fake "roofing experts." Jones also warned against offers of combination storm windows and doors of various types at extremely low prices. He said a minority of unscrupulous firms in the field use these offers as "bait" and then try to switch the home owners to a more expensive product, or are really offering an inferior product at exorbitant prices.

Jones also warned in particular, against itinerant hawkers of shoddy merchandise who take to the road during the spring time selling fake "Irish lace" and "British woolens." Jones added that this particular operation is usually handled by a clan of itinerants known as the "Williamson Gang." This particular clan, Jones said, has been in Pampa recently and was quickly sent on its way due to the fast thinking of a local merchant.

Jones summed the situation up by recommending that homeowners follow the following points:

"1.) Beware of the man who rings the doorbell and states that he just 'happens to be' in the neighborhood with his gardening supplies or home repair equipment. Do not permit such persons to conduct any activity on the premises until information concerning the firm and its reliability has been obtained.

"2.) Check 'amazing' bargain offers before any money is spent or any investment is made. If a mail-order is involved, secure information on the firm before remitting money.

"3.) Beware of salesmen who use the so-called 'model home' pitch. It is a standard sales approach used by unscrupulous promoters.

"4.) Beware of 'bait' advertising. Do not do business with any firm which knocks its own advertised goods and attempts to switch your interests to something else.

"5.) You will be safe if you do business with firms of established reputation on all landscaping improvements or home repairs.

"6.) Always investigate the possibility of securing the product from your local businesses. You may secure anything from lawn tertilizer, seeds, magazines to termite control right here in Pampa."

Texas Has Gone Too Far

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — This time Texas has gone too far.

There's a fellow here who says he'll grant, for the sake of argument, that Texans may think bigger, wear wider brimmed hats, have bigger feet, and maybe even bigger heads, than anybody else. But he will not let them put up a big front about the brassiere sizes down there.

He took umbrage at a newspaper dispatch which said a Texas manufacturer makes the world's largest brassieres and which suggested that Texas women require such. The local man, Arthur Garson, a bra maker who thinks so much of his product that he named it Lovable, declares he sells more large sizes in California, Minnesota, and even New York than they make in Texas.

Furthermore, he claims it's not the chest measurement, which we see printed, that counts — it's the cup size. A small girl who wears a 34C, he says, is proportionately more magnificently endowed than an Amazon who wears a 40B. We had one of his flunkies measure the depth — that is, the forward thrust — of a 40B cup (it was four inches) as compared with a 34C cup (3½ inches). You can make what you want of these little-known figures — anyhow, it's reporting in depth.

Is That So!!!

Calvin Frashier, owner of the Form-O-Uth brassiere company in McLean, the firm referred to in the above story, had a retort for Mr. Garson this morning.

Frashier said, "That's just typical Yankee talk. We make them as big as anyone, with an expansion of up to six inches if desired."

Five Fined In JP Court Here

Five men were fined a total of $290 and costs late yesterday morning by Justice of the Peace Bill Graham after they pleaded guilty to charges filed against them by the sheriff's office as the result of a disturbance at the Rocket Club Monday night.

The sheriff's office received a call from the Rocket Club at approximately 11:40 p.m. Monday that several men were fighting and the five men were arrested by the officers.

Fined $50 and costs on each charge of disturbing of the peace and intoxication were Weldon DeFrane and LeRoy Vernon Head. Gordan Wayne Nolan was fined $25 and costs on each charge of disturbing the peace and intoxication.

Jimmy Nance was fined $15 and costs on a charge of intoxication and Jim Parker was fined $25 and costs on a charge of disturbing the peace.

The sheriff's office reported that all of the men were oil field workers from this area.

Intent To Murder Charge Is Filed

Charges were filed this morning in 31st District Court against Katherine Morris of assault with intent to murder in connection with the shooting of her estranged husband, James Morris Jr., Friday evening in the Owl Bar, 405 Maple.

At that time, Mrs. Morris alleged to have fired at her husband with a revolver creasing the top of his head with a bullet.

Bond was set at $1500 by Justice of the Peace W. A. Graham and the case will go before the grand jury Friday.

H. L. Price Dies Here; Rites Set

Harry L. Price, 69, a retired lumberman, died about 7:30 p.m. yesterday at Highland General Hospital.

Mr. Price was born in Odell, Neb., and moved to Skellytown in 1936 from White Deer. While living in Skellytown he was manager of the Tulsa Rig and Reel Lumber Co., retiring in 1955 to move to Pampa.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Emma Price, of Pampa; one daughter, Mrs. Sam C. Dunn of Amarillo; one son, Richard Price of Pampa; his mother, Mrs. Lester Price of Chickasha, Okla.; four grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Duenkel-Carmichael Chapel with Rev. Ronald Hubbard officiating. The body will be taken to Chickasha where graveside services will be held Friday at 2 p.m.

Parent Education Club Continues Study Of Children With Topic On Adolescence

Continuing its year-long study of the child from infancy through the teens, Parent-Education Club's latest program on "Adolescence — Reflected Picture of Your Child's Growth," was presented in the home of Mrs. A. L. Smalley, 1729 N. Russell.

Members were privileged to have a teen-age guest panel from Pampa Junior High School to help answer questions on adolescence. The panel consisted of Karen Capps, Mary Sturgeon and Zoy Coronis; Gary Schultz, Jim Scott and Darrell Kirbie.

Memes. Fred Vanderburg and Gene Fatheree, who, in charge of the program, asked questions of the teen-agers on allowances and money, punishments, dating and "going steady," clothes fads and parent-child relationships, then turned the panel to the entire group of mother's for questioning.

The young people's comments proved to be of invaluable aid, as may be judged by the following:

"My parents have made something pretty wonderful out of my brother, who is twenty, so I think if I stick by their advice, they'll make something out of me."

"The kids that get in trouble usually have had too much freedom or not enough."

"I prefer not have an allowance, because when I just ask for money to cover my needs, I can always explain where the money's going."

"I can talk to my mother because she doesn't jump on me, and I know she's going to try to understand."

"Mother usually punishes us by 'grounding'—us (that's keep us home with no privileges). It hurts worse than anything."

"Kids our age are not old enough to know if we love anyone enough to live with them the rest of our lives. We aren't capable of that kind of love yet."

"I think dating lots of different girls develops personality, I never have gone steady."

"Sometimes mother flies off the handle and hits at me a little, I don't mind much. She's kinda small . . ."

"Going 'study' doesn't always mean a lot Usually, it isn't very serious and doesn't last too long."

"I'd rather not go steady to a dance" (from a boy) "and have to stick to one girl. I like girls to come without a date, too, and then I can dance with a lot of them."

And from the same boy "It doesn't suit me to like a girl a whole lot for a while and then get mad. I prefer more lasting friendships with many girls. I'm too interested in sports to date much."

"My parent's advice sometimes sound pretty corny, but usually when I take it, things turn out best."

The general conclusion of the club members was that if these six students were representative of all teen-agers, there is nothing to worry about.

Mmes. Homer Johnson and Warren Fatheree gave a detailed account of their visit to the 36th annual convention of the seventh district of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in Amarillo, Mar. 15, and presented the club with a certificate for its one hundred per cent subscription to the "Texas Clubwomen."

Mrs. H. L. Meador was thanked for taking over the chairmanship of the club's entry into Beta Sigma Phi's table-setting contest in place of Mrs. Fatheree, who was ill. Parent Education Club's table won third place.

Lady In Gray Shoes Will Be Style Leader

Nobody. . .but nobody is going to be more elegant this spring than the lady in the gray shoe.

You've worn gray casuals before with your gray flannel or tweed skirts, but the newness of gray this year is in dressier shoes to go with fine - textured gray wool for day, gray chiffon or silks for after dark.

There'll be pale grays — ascot, pussy willow, and dove — as well as deep hues such as elephant gray. There'll also be grays with a taupe cast such as cottonwood.

Gray is a perfect team-mate too, and thus gives rise to combinations of gray suede with black patent or grained calf. A toe of gray suede meets a back of black patent leather scroll trim on the sides. A black polished calf pump has a tie tip of gray suede with a band of white across the square throat.

For dress there's gray kid trimmed with gunmetal rhinestones; a pump of patrician silhouette in pearlized gray kid, or silver gray kid with a toe tip of printed leather in pastel shades. Buttersoft gray calf also lends itseld to self buckles tipped in gold or silver. And a softly grained gray calf has an arrow-shaped red overlay studded with gold nailheads on the toe.

Building Trash-Burners Demonstrated For Lefors Home Demonstration Club

(Special to The News)

LEFORS — Mrs. H. L. Braly demonstrated the building of a barbecue pit at a called meeting of the Lefors Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. L. D. Rider.

Using hollow cement blocks, she placed three blocks to each side and one at the rear leaving the front open and stated that the base could be either gravel or cement.

She then built the walls up by placing grate rods on the second level of blocks and placed one row of blocks above the grate. The chimney can be extended as high as desired. She especially emphasized the fact that the end of the grate rods should be wrapped in newspaper to prevent cracking of cement.

Mrs. Braly also gave a talk and showed diagrams on the construction of a trash-burner.

One purpose for the special-alled meeing was to fill out dates in the year books, which was completed.

A council report was given by Mrs. C. E. Vincent. She announced the district meeting to be held at Palo Duro High School in Amarillo, April 4th, and urged everyone to go that possibly could.

The serving of confections at the Rifle Club meetings was discussed but no definite decision was made.

Mrs. C. E Vincent resigned as president of the club due to her inability to be present at all meetings. Mrs. J. D. Smithee, vice president, was elected to fill the vacancy and Mrs H. L. Braly was elected vice president.

Refreshments of coffee and banana-nut cake were served by Mrs. Rider.

One guest, Mrs. R. C. McPherson, was present and the following members: Mmes. O. O. Bishop, H. L. Braly, B. J. Deihl, John Hatfield, Charles Roberts, J. D. Smithee, C. E. Vincent, L. D. Rider and Larry Rider.

RUTH MILLET

"I saw one of your high school teachers," a friend back from a teachers' meeting told me the other day, "and though she wasn't sure you would remember her, she asked to be remembered to you."

Then the friend told me her name.

I remember her all right. She was the kind of teacher you never forget.

First of all, she had a sense of humor — a gay, kidding way of handling students. It made her not just a teacher but a human being high school students liked to be around.

She could be tough, as all good teachers can. But there was never any meanness to her toughness. And you caught the brunt of it only when you knew you deserved it.

She didn't look like a schoolteacher. That is, she didn't look like a student's idea of what schoolteachers look like.

No one would ever have called her prim. Maybe she wasn't actually pretty (I'm not sure now) but she seemed to be, with her vivid make-up, her eye-catching clothes with always some unexpected accent of bright color.

Even her walk was out of character. She swung down the corridors as carefree as though she were taking a walk in the country instead of going from one classroom to another.

Her enthusiasm could have been just part of her youth, for at that time she was one of the school's younger teachers.

But the friend who saw her said she hadn't lost her enthusiasm. So it must have been because she loved to teach.

Looking back on the teachers you remember with fondness and respect, you usually find they had that one thing in common. They liked to teach.

It's a shame any student ever has any other kind of teacher. For those who love their work teach much in addition to the subjects they take up in their classes.

How to save up to 1/3 on your out-of-town phone calls

By making your Long Distance calls station-to-station, you can take advantage of bargain rates—about 1/3 lower than for person-to-person calls. This means you can make three out-of-town calls for about the price of two. Start the station-to-station habit with your next Long Distance call . . . and save money.

Here's how easy it is to make a station-to-station call

Just tell the Long Distance operator:

* The city you're calling
* The telephone number you're calling

Like this: "Denver . . . TAylor 5-4171"

If you don't know the number, just give the operator the name and address of the party you're calling, and tell her: "Please make this call station-to-station."

That's all there is to it. The operator will give you the number to jot down for future use . . . and your call will be charged at the lower station-to-station rate.

He Cooked For Hospital

Pete Smaltz, who works at Pannandle Packing Company, was credited this morning with "really doing a good job," over the stormy week end when he made it to Highland General Hospital to cook for the patients and others marooned by the snow.

A hospital representative called in this morning to tell about Smaltz getting to the hospital before noon Sunday after it was learned that regular cooks couldn't make it. He went as far as he could in a truck and then walked the rest of the way and stayed on the job cooking until late Monday when the regular cooks could return.

Senator Says Beck Should Resign Post

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Pat McNamara, a former union official, said today Teamsters chief Dave Beck is giving all organized labor "a black eye" by refusing to testify before Senate investigators.

He said if he were in Beck's shoes "I would resign."

In an interview with United Press, the Michigan Democrat accused the burly president of the Teamsters Union of "covering up for Dave Beck on his income tax troubles—and to hell with everyone else."

The gravel-voiced senator added he does not think Beck, in subsequent appearances, will have a change of heart and start answering questions of Senate investigators at which he balked Tuesday.

"I think he is going to disprove the theory that money talks," McNamara quipped. This was an obvious reference to the hundreds of thousands of dollars of union money Beck is accused of misusing.

McNamara said a man in Beck's position "is not just speaking for himself" when he is called by the Senate Rackets Committee to testify on his use of union funds.

"He is talking for his members and all of organized labor more or less, about 15 million Americans," the senator declared.

But McNamara added that Beck has made clear that "his whole concern is with his own selfish interests."

"He has not been acting anything like what I think the president of a great labor organization should and, if I were in his position, I would resign," the senator said.

McNamara was an official of the Pipefitters Union in Detroit before he was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1954.

the lodges?" Several of Oklahoma's plush new state park lodges are floundering financially because of a lack of visitors.

Another senator wondered "If this bill is passed, will you continue to call them lodges?"

A proponent said "It will help the lodges, it will help the schools, it will help the justices of the peace and the lawyers. People are moving about fast now. There's no need for a long waiting period. It will save our lodge program.

Miskovsky suggested the state could advertise "Don't go to Reno. Don't go to Arkansas. Don't go to Florida. Come to Oklahoma and get your divorce and see the semi-centennial at the same time."

However, Reno seemed in little danger of losing its position as the U.S. divorce mecca. The bill was shelved and its proponents indicated they might bring it out again when comedy relief is needed.

Texas Legislature Activity Today

By O. B. LLOYD JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP)— The Ten Commandments were injected into legislative debate Tuesday as opposition developed to a proposed code of ethics for legislators, state officials and employes.

The code is sponsored by Rep. Ben Glusing of Kingville. It would declare legislative policy that no legislator, state official or employe should engage in outside activity or interest, financial or otherwise, "in substantial conflict with the proper discharge of his duties in the public interest."

Rep. Cecil Storey of Longview expressed opposition and asked if Glusing would accept an amendment attaching the Ten Commandments to the bill.

Glusing answered that if everyone followed the Ten Commandments there would be no need for the code of ethics or for criminal laws now on the books.

Rep. Carlton Moore of Houston charged the proposal was "an insult to the intelligence of the members of the House," and said the bill is unnecessary because of the oath of office now taken by members covers the subject adequately.

Debate on the measure, one of three proposals drafted by the Texas Legislative Council dealing with conduct of public officials, was cut short when the House adjourned.

The Senate gave final approval to 42 local and uncontested bills and passed a bill aimed at assuring prompt payment of small insurance claims.

The insurance bill, sponsored by Sen. Ottis Lock of Lufkin, would require insurance companies to pay legitimate health, accident and hospitalization claims within 30 days or face a 12 per cent penalty plus legal costs.

Fire Causes Minor Damage

A fire resulting from the drying of sand in a garage at 1017 E. Scott resulted in the only alarm received yesterday by the local fire department.

The alarm was received by the firemen at 2:53 p.m. and caused minor damage to the interior of the garage. Fire Chief Ernest Winborne reported that cardboard lining the walls of the garage became ignited while the sand was being dried.

Amendment explicitly on a specific question. Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told newsmen he did not believe the group will try to cite him for contempt.

Beck Won't Resign

Shefferman, who followed Beck to the witness chair late Tuesday, was more responsive. He testified he paid some $24,500 to Beck in 1949 and 1950, and identified two checks totalling nearly half that amount.

But Shefferman said he paid the money to Beck because the Teamster president "was entitled to it" for giving Shefferman an entree to labor circles and helping him land some business.

Beck's bellicose testimony, given sparingly from the shelter of the Fifth Amendment, mostly featured things he declined to say. But he did state, in his customary half-shout, that he does not "under any conditions" intend to resign from his union presidency. He said he will be a candidate to succeed himself at the big union's convention in September.

Beck refused to say whether the union paid for his hand-made ties and whether it poured nearly $200,000 into his Seattle home and others being built on his property. He also declined to say whether he gave a true account of his financial dealing with the union on a recent television program.

Confronted with a transcript of the program on which he said he had repaid "every cent" of some $300,000 to $400,000 in interest-free loans from the union, Beck declined to say whether his statements were true or whether, in the words of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis), he was "lying."

bon monoxide poisoning. The son still was in critical condition today.

The death toll among livestock continued to rise, meanwhile, as many ranchers were able to get out in pastures for the first time today.

The toll among animals was heaviest among those penned in enclosures when the storm struck late last Friday night. Calves were too weak to bear up under the violence of the storm and older cattle in pens bunched up when the wind struck and smothered.

Little Moisture Received

County agents in Moore and Sherman counties said the blizzard which piled up snow as deep at 14 feet in drifts left little beneficial moisture. The only snow left today was piled up in cuts and arroyos. Much of the flat prairie land was swept bare by fierce winds that accompanied the snowstorm.

State Highway 15 between Booker and the Oklahoma line was the only main thoroughfare still blocked Tuesday night.

Ranchers across the Panhandle feared up to 20 per cent of their herds perished in the storm.

Stockman Loses 500 Head

No kind of life escaped the storm's wrath. Near Hereford, two farmers reported nearly 120 hogs dead and another said 2,400 laying hens had been killed in their cages.

One stockman, Richard Adams, counted 500 dead cattle on his ranch near Dumas and in the same area. Roscoe Beard found 100 of his dead.

All said it would be two or three days before an accurate count could be given.

Near Hereford, O. C. Hill reported 300 heard of cattle missing and Jack Hart, who ranches north of Gruber, had found 200 cows Tuesday, of which eight were alive. Near Canyon, Bob Carter reported finding 50 cows dead during a short search.

wasn't there. Former Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa), who recently became Beck's attorney, but, as he made plain at the time, did not show up to sit with him. Instead Beck was counseled — frequently — by Arthur D. Condon, a member of Duff's firm.

But Beck seldom let the senators forget that one of their former colleagues was in his corner. For more than an hour he hauled "Big Jim" Duff's name into nearly every answer, saying Duff advised him to invoke the Fifth Amendment, though sometimes he phrased it more elegantly than that.

One assiduous reporter figured Beck invoked Duff's name about 100 times.

Finally Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich), himself a former union official, announced he was "not at all impressed" by the invocation of "ex-Senator" Duff — and he stressed the "ex."

The crowd applauded.

Like Arithmetic

Any person acquainted with simple arithmetic is familiar with this fact; If a column of figures is to be added, and an error occurs as the first two numbers are joined in sum, it matters not how correct the addition may be from that point on, the final answer will be wrong.

Specifically let us take the following numbers and add them: 5, 6, 7, 8, 4, 3, and 1. The answer should be 34. If, as we add the 5 and 6 together, we get the sum of 10, then it doesn't matter how correctly we put the other number into the total, our answer will be 33 and incorrect.

Arithmetic is like this. It makes no allowance for good intentions. It makes no allowance for excellent addition AFTER an error is made. ANY error in any problem brings on the wrong answer.

We sometimes think that our foreign affairs are related to this same rule of addition. If a basic error occurs in our dealings with another country, however fine our intentions, or however right our moves may seem to be after that first fact, the end result is wrong. This is the situation which confronts President Eisenhower as he endeavors to punch his way out of the dilemma of the Middle East.

To begin witth, this nation made a fatal error in its dealings with the people of Israel and Egypt. We sanctioned, encouraged the U. N. to sanction, the formation of the new State of Israel. To do this, we, of necessity, wronged the Arab peoples. And it is that original error in the column of figures which adds up to the Middle East which continues to plague this country.

The act of lending our moral and financial support to a scheme which ousted a particular group of persons from their land, and installed a second group was horribly, terrifyingly wrong. And since then, every move we have made in the same area has antagonized someone.

If we back Nassar, we are wrong. If we back Israel, we are wrong. We slapped down England and France for backing Israel, thereby endangering our relations with these people. As it stands, presently, we have antagonized Britain, France, Egypt, and currently Israel. It is getting to the point that whatever we do in this area, we will end alienating everyone.

Now we are in the position of insisting that the wrong answer we reach as we add the figures, must be accepted as the right answer by force of arms. But our willingness to shed American blood and to spend American treasure to back up an erroneous answer is dismal. People in other countries can add, too. And while they may view our actions as rightly motivated, which is doubtful, they cannot help but condemn them.

Here's the way it adds up now. To begin with, we befriended Israel and antagonized Egypt. Israel loved us, Egypt hated us. To offset this hate, we offered arms and money to Egypt so they could resist communism. Promptly the Israelis hated us and the Egyptians, rather than regaining an affection for us, began to look at us as international meddlers who could be manipulated.

Next, we withdrew our help from the Egyptians. Their hate returned. And the Israelis viewed us with increased suspicion. England and France now sided with Israel. We ordered them to stop, thereby antagonizing them, and virtually every other nation in Europe.

And the final blow fell as Eisenhower called for blanket powers to commit our troops to battle in this area, at his own discretion and at a moment's notice. Now, no one trusts us, and who can blame them

Before the formation of the State of Israel we were on good terms with both Egypt and the Jews; we were on excellent terms with Britain and France and, for that matter, with most of Europe. But now where are we?

Britain: Suspects us and is angered by Eisenhower's actions.

France: Suspects us and doubts if we can be depended upon in a crisis.

Israel: Hates us for going back on them.

Egypt: Hates us and is going to play us for all we are worth.

Italy: Wonders what we will do next and resolves not to get too close to us.

West Germany: Fears our influence may prevent an ultimate unification.

Perhaps one day the wisdom of our first President, George Washington, may be more clearly seen. He advised us not to make the original error. He told us to keep out of entangling alliances with ANY other country.

Until we go back to the beginning and correct original errors, we will continue to come up with the wrong answers. Instead of being irretrievably involved with all nations, as Mr. Eisenhower supposes, we should revert to Americanism and mind our own business.

Only in this way can we correct the mistakes of the past and rectify our sagging prestige abroad.

The Answers Are Obvious

Indiana is the 18th state in the union to pass a right-to-work law and the first highly industrialized state to pass such legislation.

In the Hoosier state public indignation over the wounding of a baby by gunfire in a labor dispute was credited with sparking the passage of the bill. Recent national disclosure of dubious practices by labor bosses probably helped also.

We trust this spirit is catching and a lot of legislatures throughout the country will follow suit. Certainly there is nothing fair about laws which require membership in an organization as a condition of obtaining or keeping a job.

Anent the right-to-work laws, the Associated Farmer publication of the Associated Farmers of California, Inc. has published the following "test" of six questions,

1. Do you believe that all Americans should be compelled to join a religious movement?

2. Do you believe that all veterans should be compelled to join a veterans organization?

3. Do you believe that all American citizens should be compelled to join a political party?

4. Do you believe that all businessmen should be compelled to join a Chamber of Commerce or the National Assn. of Manufacturers?

5. Do you believe that all farmers should be compelled to join the Associated Farmers, the Farm Bureau, or the Grange?

6. Do you believe that all employees should be compelled to join a labor union?

We believe the answers to those six questions are obvious.

National Association Of Manufacturers Condones Collective Bargaining And Strikes

I have a letter from the office of the President of the National Assn. of Manufacturers telling me how newspapers should be interested in the monopoly power of labor unions. They sent me a 32-page booklet, in which they say that for more than a year a group of outstanding labor-management expert studied the question of union monopoly power.

Judging from the booklet, they have a strange concept of an "expert". Why it would take anybody a year to realize that labor unions that practice collective bargaining that take away from an individual his right to make an individual bargain (and I know of no other kind) are a menace to every man in the United States, is more than I can understand. And yet this man out of the office of the president of the association calls them experts. I read the booklet with interest.

It occurred to me that the men on this committee are anything but experts, if we use the Golden Rule and the Stealing and Coveting Commandments and the Declaration of Independence as guides to determine what is right and what is wrong.

Nor do these "experts" do as Voltaire said, "If you would discourse with me, define your terms." Nor do they follow Lord Kelvin, who contended that if you cannot reduce to numbers and measure what you are talking about your knowledge is meagre and of little value. If you can, you know something about it. They make no effort to define what they mean by collective bargaining. Yet these experts under their chairman, Leo Wolman, make this statement in the Foreword: "There is no dispute over the right of employees to bargain with their employer as a group, or over the right of employees to refuse to work, acting individually or striking in concert."

Now whether there is a dispute, whether the employees have a right to practice collective bargaining depends upon what the employees are trying to bargain for. If they are trying to bargain, as every union I know of is trying to do, for those who want to make an individual bargain and refuse to let them do so, then they have no such right if we use the Golden Rule and the Commandments and the Declaration of Independence as standards of what is right. If you use as a standard man-made or civil laws, they might have such a right. But any man-made or civil law that violates the above eternal laws that no man made or no man can unmake is, as Emerson said, void.

We wonder who Ernest Swigert representative of the president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, regards as an expert. How does he define an expert? A man could be an expert to one person and a novice to another.

The book recognizes that we have civil laws that give labor unions an advantage; that they have created a double standard of right and wrong. The "experts" cite many cases of tyranny and injustice practiced by the labor unions. Yet their last chapter starts out in this manner:

"A sound approach to dealing with the pressing problem of union monopolistic practices and excessive private power must be based on the assumption that unions have proper and legal functions to perform which our American industrial society has accepted."

Now, that is some loose statement. No student of right or wrong, no close reasoner would ever write such a statement as that. They do not define what excessive private power is. Nor do they tell how society accepts a practice. They write just about as loosely as any dreamer or socialist or communist would write. Society never accepts anything. Only individuals accept this or that. Just what right has the National Assn. of Manufacturers to say that the American industrial society has accepted collective bargaining that takes away from an individual his right to make an individual bargain to be a proper function?

There are many employers outside of the National Assn. of Manufacturers who do not accept labor unions as having "proper functions" whose aims are to prevent an individual from making an individual bargain as a means of getting a fictitious wage. The late Henry Ward Beecher said, "Organized labor is the worst form of despotism ever devised by the human mind." And yet the National Assn. of Manufacturers is saying unions have proper and legal functions. They are implying that there are some unions that try to bargain only for themselves and have no desire to bargain for anybody but themselves. No one would object to that kind of a union. I have never heard of such a union in my 60 years as a worker and employer. But even that kind of a union has no more [illegible] right to simultaneously quit without notice than the employer has a moral right to discharge his employees without notice. The only way labor unions that practice collective bargaining have of helping any individual is like all socialists and communists, by injuring some other individual.

Evidently the National Assn. of Manufacturers does not believe in a really truly free economy and natural division of labor. They seem to want the government to step in and regulate employers and employees. The solution never will work. They had much better advocate the repeal of all labor laws that interfere with employer and employee making individual or collective bargainings.

Any employer who wants to attempt to rob his customers by making a collective-bargaining contract that runs up his costs and prices should have a perfect legal right to do so. And any employer who refused to make a collective-bargaining contract and refuses to hire anybody who wants to make a collective-bargaining contract should also have the privilege of doing so. Then the customers would have the final say as to which employer was serving them the best. But labor unions know very well that their means of exploitation could not work if it was not supported and abetted by laws that give them an advantage.

The columns are open, of course, for rebuttal of the above.

Beck Gets Free Housing In Home He Sold To The Union

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In a difficult and tedious presentation of the interlocking interests of Frank Brewster, the Seattle satrap of the Teamsters Union, and George C. Newell, the insurance agent who reaped $330,000 in commissions on union policies in one single year, I erred in reporting that certain money which Brewster received from Newell was carried on the books of the affiliated fund as loans.

The insurance man did give Brewster 3,000 or 4,000 shares of stock in the Affiliated Fund, Inc., a New York investment trust, but the affiliated fund, itself, took no part in the dealings between them. And it does not lend money. The Affiliated Fund, Inc., is an open-end investment company, with assets of $366,000,000 and 135,000 shareholders, located at 63 Wall Street, New York City. It did not issue checks or make loans to Brewster nor do any loans appear on its books. H. I. Prankard, president of the company, has told me that the policy statement of Affiliated Fund, Inc., on file with the securities and exchange commission prohibits the company from making loans to anyone. Apparently Newell thought this was a good stock to give his friend.

My piece was based on testimony taken by a Congressional Subcommittee in Los Angeles two and a half years ago and ignored by Congress, although this Subcommittee was doing the spade work on the pea-patch, which is now yielding a rich political harvest for Senator McClellan, of Arkansas, and Joe Kennedy's precocious brat, Bobbie.

The statements were so confusing that two Congressmen, Howard Miller, of Kansas, and Sam P. McConnell Jr. of Pennsylvania, both said they were not at all clear on the figures presented by their own accountant after examination of Newell's books. My own confusion was caused by the frequent occurrence of the word "fund," referring to health and welfare insurance moneys contributed by rank and file Teamsters and their employers.

The committee's accountant said:

"Mr. Newell showed me a copy of his income tax return for 1953 which showed a payment of $5,170 to Brewster.

"I asked the reason for this payment and the extent of it. He said that for the past three or four years he had given a 1,000-share block of Affiliated Fund, Inc., to Brewster and that the reason he had given it to him was in connection with their horse-racing business, although the income tax return indicated that it was as a result of the union (insurance) business."

Affiliated Fund is listed at about $5.79 a share and Newell's gifts to Brewster would have been about $15,000 or about $20,000. Previous questions had elicited from the accountant a flat statement of his professional belief that these gifts of affiliated fund from Newell to Brewster were "payments to union officers in connection with this welfare fund business."

Brewster had as partner in two other racing stables, of which he has had at least four in recent years, John J. Sweeney, the secretary-treasurer of the Western Conference, under Beck. Sweeney died suddenly of a heart attack in Brewster's presence as they took their luxurious ease beside a swimming pool at Palm Springs, Calif., last November.

Working stiffs of the unions are not included in the clientele of Palm Springs but Hollywood trash and the underworld are heavily represented in any typical social roster. There is a sprinkling of respectable citizens, too.

In the same inquiry, Charles O. Cross showed up accompanied by his attorney who turned out to be the redoubtable John C. Stevenson, formerly John C. Stockman, who landed in Seattle on the lam from a set of indictments charging him with swindling suckers in a bucket shop in Buffalo.

Cross, the statistician for the Los Angeles Joint Conference of Teamsters' Locals, was a dull witness and the Committee at the time booted the significance of the fact that this conference picked Stevenson as its mouthpiece. He was notorious in Seattle and the northwest generally in the early days of the Roosevelt Administration and notwithstanding his escapades back East, got himself elected to the county commission and had the gall to run for governor. He professed to be a dentist as well as a lawyer.

He finally beat the raps in New York State when the prosecutors decided that they could not convict him and let the indictments die. However, one complaining witness, who confronted Stevenson and said he was the same Stockman he had known to his sorrow back in Buffalo, insisted that Stevenson paid him off.

Stevenson came back onto public notice last fall when I examined a whole sheaf of racing documents in the Los Angeles office of the California Racing Board, including interlocking partnerships and the registration of four sets of colors. Thus, I discovered that Brewster had listed J. C. Stevenson as one who would vouch for his character.

Brewster is not only Beck's chief assistant in the Western Conference with absolute control over the interstate transportation of commerce by truck and much of the railway traffic in eleven states, but his aggressive rival as well.

Beck has his roots deep in Seattle and it is doubtful that Congress can throw him out of his fat sinecure as national president of the Teamsters, with a right to unlimited expense accounts 365 days a year plus $50,000 salary and free occupancy of a home which he sold to the union for $162,000 by action of his own executive group without reference to the membership. The union constitution spells out all that.

But Brewster wants Beck to get out of the West, live in Washington and let him run the Western Conference.

Both Beck and Brewster have been friendly with Stevenson for about 20 years. It is a situation so weird that respectable citizens of Washington and Oregon do not try to understand it. They just accept it.

McClellan Expose of Union Heads Outs Other Misdeeds

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The McClellan expose of the Teamster bosses' alleged corruption and contemptuous use of members' funds, as well as forthcoming revelations of similar misdeeds in other great labor organizations, means that the unions' management will be placed under the same kind of Federal controls that were imposed on business, industry, utilities and investment houses as a result of the Pecora, Hugo Black and Teapot Dome investigations 25 years or more ago.

Prospective legislation will not be aimed at the unions so much as at the labor hierarchy's secret and undemocratic control and power over millions of innocent and uninformed members. It will be designed to free millions of workers from the same sort of autocratic rule that Wall Street once exercised over the nation's economic system.

In view of the McClellan disclosures — and the Beck-Brewster-Hoffa stuff is only a start — it is believed that the legislative crackdown will have general and popular support, especially among dues-paying members and their wives. Not even the most extreme pro-labor member of Congress, in Capitol Hill's opinion, will now dare to oppose the proposed reforms.

Not a single so-called "radical" member of House or Senate, including those from factory dominated states or districts, has dared to criticize the McClellan inquiry, or to defend its victims. George L. Meany, AFL-CIO president, is as seriously concerned as the lowliest and put-upon truck driver in the Beck - Brewster - Hoffa outfit.

Legislation now under discussion is designed to "democratize unions which have been conducted by their officers as secret societies and personally owned corporations. As planned, it will be hygienic rather than punitive insofar as the nation's workers are concerned.

These remedial measures will propose Federal regulation of union funds, their source and use and require the same kind of public effect on the Supreme Court's tions must file. They will provide for annual elections, possibly supervised for honest voting and counting as the National Labor Relations Board now safeguards balloting on collective bargaining and union disputes in factories.

They will bar political use of members' dues, even when spent under the guise of 'educational" purposes. In fact, the McClellan developments may have a realistic effect on the Supreme Court's decision in the case involving the United Automobile Workers' role in the Michigan senatorial contest.

Constitutional experts in Congress insist that all these statutes can be justified under that document's "commerce clause," which has been interpreted — or "strained," as many lawyers contend — to discipline business and industry. They could be incorporated in the Taft-Hartley Act, whose relatively restricted and feeble controls appear to be warranted by the current hearings into labor management.

Moreover, if Congress does not act favorably on forthcoming labor reform proposals, it is almost certain that the states will take heed. Adoption of more state right-to-work laws, which bar the closed shop, will undoubtedly result from this evidence of union oligarchies" czaristic authority.

Meany's still shaky AFL-CIO faces its most serious crisis. If he does not discipline the Beck crowd, his organization will suffer in the public and political mind. If he acts forcibly, he may lose the 1,400,000 Teamsters and their annual $,000,000 contribution.

However, when the Puritan from Arkansas and his Bostonian lawyer, Robert Kennedy, get through, millions of oppressed workers in the Teamsters and other unions may stage a revolt of their own against bossism and czarism. They have been shown to be the heaviest losers.

Some Facts And Figures On Life In This Island

By HENRY McLEMORE

MALTA—There are 3,715 donkeys in Malta, and it costs ten pounds to operate a fireworks factory here.

Not only that, but Malta imports aboue 161,000 pounds of eggs in the shell each year, and the lowest temperature ever recorded in Mar was 4.3 degrees Fahrenheit.

Unlike some travelers, who go sightseeing the second day they reach a place for the first time, I gather information. And I get it the hard way, not from a guidebook. I stop every person I pass and ask them questions. I may make a nuisance of myself, but when I leave a country I am loaded, and in this day and age of quiz shows, one never knows what scrap of knowledge might mean the difference between poverty and riches.

I make a lot of friends by my question asking, too. The man who told me that Malta was first settled by the Phoenicians in 1500 B. C. asked me to his house for tea, and his son took me for a ride in the family car after informing me that Malta's water supply is obtained from two underground sources, both of which are dependent for their replenishment upon the rainfall.

I learned about the City Gem restaurant, with its lovely view of the harbor and just about the best broiled lobster I ever ate, from a lady in a red coat whom I halted to inquire about the mail service. It is very good, by the way. Air mail is dispatched daily, and surface mails, via Syracuse, leave thrice weekly.

My best informant was a retired British colonel. He not only acted as my guide to the city for more than a half day, but told me a thousand fascinating facts about Malta, some of which I am happy to share with you.

It costs ten shillings a minute to talk to Eria by telephone and it is more than double that rate if you call Australia. But the report charge is the same on both—four shillings.

If you get sick there are fourteen Government and four private hospitals to help you get well, and if you are beteewn the ages of five and fourteen you are required to attend school. The smallest school, incidentally, is a bungalow in the hills of Eardja with only twenty pupils.

There are no trains or street cars in Malta and buses and ferries are the only means of public transport. Buses are identified by their coloring. If you want to go to Marsacala don't catch a bus with a brown and yellow band, for that one goes to Naxxa. The one with the light red and blue bands goes to Marsacala. Other colors and their destinations are: Ghain Tuffieha (red-white band), Siggiewi (yellow-red band), Qormi (yellow band), Mgarr (white-light blue band). If you're color-blind, buy a car.

No people were more heroic in World War II than the Maltese. The tiny island (95 square miles) endured bombing without let-up, and there is a plaque, bearing F. D. R.'s praise of the island, on a building on Kingsway. The Maltese equivalent of one pint is one mezzo (2 terzi), and one mondello equals 2016 2/3 square feet. But it takes six mondelli to equal one tumolo, and sixteen tumolo to equal one salma, which is about four and one-half acres. Remember this when you next buy land in Malta.

Field Marshal The Right Honorable Viscount Gort is the only winner of the Victoria Cross ever to serve as Governor, and the best buys are Maltese lace and silver and gold filigree work.

If there are any Maltese cats here they are very shy, because I haven't seen one yet.

Kuenn Paces Detroit Past Cincinnati, 8-4

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Harvey Kuenn is serving sharp notice this spring that he may be the "man to beat" for the American League batting title.

The experts have been forecasting a battle among Ted Williams, Mickey Mantle and Al Kaline, but he's geared for a fast start that could leave 'em all far behind. He's belting the ball at a .404-clip, has hit in 10 straight games and connected safely in all but one of the 15 games he's played.

Kuenn enjoyed his best day of the spring Tuesday when he drove in five runs with a homer, two doubles and a single to lead the Detroit Tigers to an 8-4 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. The victory was the Tigers' fourth in six games after they started their Grapefruit League campaign with eight defeats in 10 contests.

Mueller Grand-Slams

The Pittsburgh Pirates scored their 10th win in 16 exhibition games when they got two-hit pitching from Dick Hall, Nelson King and Elroy Face to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-0. The Pirates walloped Murry Dickson and Jim Davis for 11 hits, including a homer by Bill Mazeroski.

The New York Giants, who are developing into a real spring surprise, downed the Chicago Cubs, 7-6, and now have won 11 of 16 Grapefruit League games. Don Mueller pulled this one out of the fire with a grand-slam homer with two out in the ninth after Bob Speake's four runs-batted-in provided the Cubs with a 6-3 lead.

The Baltimore Orioles handed the puzzling Cleveland Indians their seventh setback in eight games when they rallied for three runs in the ninth and a 7-6 decision. Wayne Causey tied the score with a two-run single and then 19-year old sensation Brooks Robinson, who knocked in three earlier runs, delivered him with the game-winning tally.

Dodgers In Rout

The Brooklyn Dodgers poured over seven runs in the third inning and went on to rout the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-3. Doubles by Don Newcombe, Gino Cimoli, Carl Furillo and Charley Neal featured the big uprising against southpaw Harvey Haddix.

Roy Sievers' ninth-inning single was the big blow of a battle of homers as the Washington Senators tripped the Kansas City Athletics, 8-7. Bob Cerv hit two homers and Gus Zernial and Hal Smith one each for Kansas City while Harmon Killibrew delivered a grand slam round-tripper for the Senators.

Jimmy Piersall homered in the 10th inning to enable the Boston Red Sox to shade the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League, 6-5. Red Sox rookie outfielder Marty Keough hit two homers while Jim Baxes homered twice and Steve Bilko blasted a round-tripper for Los Angeles.

Pirates, Giants, Dodgers Win

Yankees Loaded--Stengel

EDITORS: This is the ninth in a series of the 1957 prospects of the major league clubs.

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., (UP) —Even Casey Stengel admits the Yankees "are really loaded" this year.

Stengel shooting for his eighth pennant in nine years as skipper of the Yankees, points out that "I have guys who can play four positions. My problem is not whom to play, but to remember the names of all my guys so I can tell the right ones to go in there."

Stengel, however, doesn't believe it will be a "walkaway."

"Not so long as you have clubs like the Tigers, White Sox, Red Sox and Indians in the same league," he said. "But I must be honest and say I'm very optimistic."

He started running down his pitching staff, leading off with southpaw Whitey Ford (19-6). Then in order he mentioned Don (Perfect Game) Larsen (11-5), Bob Turley (8-4), Tom Sturdivant (16-8), Bob Grim (6-1), and Johnny Kucks (18-9).

Add Two More

Add to them the two hurlers the Yankees obtained from the Athletics Art Ditmar (12-22) and Bobby Shantz (2-7), and Stengel asks: "Who figures to have better pitching?"

The answer is, no one.

Mickey Mantle, the triple crown champion—having won the American League hitting title with an average of .353, the runs batted in crown with 130 and the home run title with 52—will anchor the outfield in center with Hank Bauer in right. That leaves left field open and right now it looks like one of the Yankees prize rookies, Tony Kubek will win the job.

Stengel was prevented from giving Bill Skowron, the hard-hitting first baseman, a thorough workout at third when Skowron fractured his thumb, so he probably will start the season at first base.

McDougald is sure of the shortstop job and Stengel considers him the best in the league.

"He won't hit with that guy in Detroit (Harvey Kuenn) or field with that fella in Chicago (Luis Aparicio), but overall in both departments he does a better job," Stengel claims.

Pepper-pot Billy Martin will be either at second or third base. However, Andy Carey, who has been the regular at third, has been hitting hard this spring and could keep the job.

In the catching repartment, brilliant Yogi Berra will be supported by Elston Howard and Darrell Johnson.

Morrow Equals 2 Track Marks

ABILENE, Tex. (UP)— Two world record times were equalled and three Abilene Christian College records were set as Olympic sprint champion Bobby Morrow led ACC to a 71-53 win over North Texas State Tuesday in a dual track meet.

Morrow beat teammate Bill Woodhouse by three strides to win the 100 yard dash in 9.3 seconds. He then broke the tape a step ahead of Woodhouse in the 220 yard dash to win that in 20.0 seconds.

Because of 14 to 18 mile an hour winds, neither mark can be considered for world records but both will stand up as new school marks.

Pampa Teams In ABC Meet

Two Pampa teams will compete in the American Bowling Congress tournament in Fort Worth this week end. They are Friendly Men's Wear and Brown and Hinkle, Inc.

The two teams will bowl in the booster division. They will bowl Friday night at 7 as teams and will then compete Saturday morning in singles and doubles action.

Representing Friendly Men's Wear will be John Koontz, Ed Myatt, Bob Baker, N. S. Hegwer and Ray Stephenson. Bowling for Brown and Hinkle will be Bill Ladd, Dale Haynes, Bill Murphy, Jim Clifton and John McFall.

Three other Pampa teams — Cabot Office, Your Laundry and Tex Evans Buick — compete in the tournament two weeks ago. Your Laundry and Tex Evans finished in ninth and 10th places but were soon nosed out of those positions.

Banquet Tickets Remain On Sale

Approximately 100 tickets remain to be sold for the annual Pampa Harvester basketball banquet which will be held Friday night at 7:30 in the high school cafeteria.

An estimated 450 tickets are expected to be sold before the banquet starts. Tickets are on sale at the chamber of commerce office at $2.50 each.

Highlight of the banquet will be a speech by Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, former basketball coach at the University of Kansas, who is now a noted radio and television commentator and after dinner speaker.

Special guests of the banquet will be the Pampa Harvesters, the Shockers, their coaches, dates, parents, cheer leaders and pep band. The Hustling Harvester award will be given to one of the players named to receive it by secret ballot of the team. Coach Clifton McNeely will make the presentation. Each player will also be introduced and the basketball queen will be crowned.

Serving as master of ceremonies will be Jon Jones, minister of the Harvester and Mary Ellen Church of Christ. Johnny Campbell, chairman of the chamber sports and recreation committee, will introduce Dr. Allen and Warren Hasse will lintroduce the special guests. Dinner music will be provided by Mrs. Maxine Milliron.

Meeting Of Legion Team Set Thursday

A meeting to organize an American Legion baseball team for the summer will be held at the Kerley-Crossman Post 334 Thursday night at 8, according to Lester A. Jones, commander of the post.

All interested persons are asked to attend the meeting. The manager and coaches will be named at the meeting and organizational plans will be made.

The Pampa team will compete with Amarillo, Borger and other teams in the northern counties of the Panhandle. The district winner competes in regional play and on to national play. The team will be sponsored by the American Legion.

Pampa Track Team Entered In District Meet Saturday

The Pampa Harvester track team is entered in the District 3-AAAA track and field meet in Canyon this week end and the Amarillo Sandies are picked as the favorite of the event.

The Sandies won the team championship of District 1-AA last year. The conference has been realigned this year and is comprised of seven members — Pampa, Borger, Palo Duro, Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock and Monterey.

Coach Dwaine Lyon put his team through a lengthy indoor drill yesterday following the team's arrival from Odessa and the West Texas Relays. The team became snowbound in Plainview Sunday and remained there until Monday afternoon. They did manage to practice outdoors on the Plainview High School field Monday afternoon but may not get another chance to drill outside the rest of the week.

Coach Lyon plans to enter the entire team in the district meet on the West Texas State campus. He took only nine to Odessa and the others were scheduled to compete in the Panhandle Relays last week end but rain and snow forced cancellation. Most of the Pampans will enter the meet without previous experience this season.

Most of Pampa's points in the district meet Saturday are expected to be made in the hurdles, the discus and the relay events. Dick Barrett won third place in the low hurdles at Odessa Saturday and he's the District 1-AA champion of that event. Earl Cooper won fifth place in the discus and will be among the favorites Saturday.

Alton Thygerson, Bill Brashears, Frank Snow, Dickie Watkins, Cooper and Barrett are among the top relay entries.

The Sandies made 20½ points in the highly-competitive West Texas Relays last week while three others managed to scratch in the scoring. Borger and Pampa each made four points and Palo Duro made one point. The two Lubbock schools and Plainview were also entered but did not score.

Four New Wrestlers Lined Up For Monday Night Bouts

Bad weather forced cancellation of Monday night's wrestling card but the sponsoring Pampa Shrine Club has four new grapplers lined up for next week's program.

Making their debut here will be the Mills brothers — Al and Tiny— as well as Kurt Von Poppenheim and Tory O'Toole. Others on the card who need no introduction to fans here are Larry Hamilton and Don Curtis. Tommy Phelps, another veteran of the Pampa ring, will be the referee.

The Mills boys (no relation to the singers) will bring their 600 pounds of wrestling ability into the main event when they take on Hamilton and Curtis in the main event tag team match. The contest is slated for the best of three falls with a one-hour time limit.

Each of the Mills brothers weighs over 300 lbs. and stands over six feet tall. Although not much is known of the two, they are reported to be colorful wrestlers and will probably put on a good match with Hamilton and Curtis. Hamilton made his first appearance here two weeks ago and Curtis has wrestled here on several occasions. Both are popular with the fans.

The semifinal event, slated for two out of three falls and a 45-minute time limit, has Poppenheim going against O'Toole. Hamiltonn meets Al Mills in the 20-minute, one-fall opener.

Slave Girl Moolah, worldd champion female wrestler, will appear on the April 8 program, according to the Shrine Club.

Tickets for the programs are on sale at Modern Pharmacy. Admission is $1.50 for ringside seats, $1.25 for reserved bleacher seats, 90 cents for general admission and 50 cents for children.

Anglo-American Alliance Strengthened By Conference

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Bermuda conference undoubtedly has strengthened the alliance between the United States and Great Britain.

President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met as old friends. Reports of the conference reflected an atmosphere o cordiality. The two leaders announced agreement on a number of big issues.

But it is likely that Britain under Macmillan's leadership will show a considerable degree of independence in its relations with the United States.

The breach in the alliance which resulted from the British-French invasion of the Suez Canal Zone was a serious one.

Breach Influenced Eden

It certainly had a great deal to do with the resignation of Sir Anthony Eden. Eden pleaded ill health when he stepped down. He really is in bad health. But his condition was aggravated by strain.

Eden's resignation, and Macmillan's succession to the prime ministry, constituted an important turning point in British politics.

Eden had succeeded Sir Winston Churchill after having been his political heir for many years. He carried on where Churchill left off.

But Macmillan's succession to the prime ministry last Jan. 10 marked a distinct break in the continuity of British policy toward the United States.

Resentment is still strong in Britain over the attitude President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles took toward the Suez invasion.

Aimed At Ike, Dulles

There seems to be feeling among many Britons that the President and Dulles went out of their way to humiliate Eden, aside from the fact that they made no attempt to conceal their anger over the British-French action.

Britons seem to feel also that for a long time their country had acted as a sort of junior partner in the Anglo-American alliance.

The immediate effect of the Suez dispute was to take Britain closer to France. Another was to weaken the reluctance of Britain to tie its economy more closely to continental Europe.

It will be necessary for Macmillan to make sure that nothing he does can be criticized, either inside his own Conservative Party or outside of it, as permitting Britain to be a tail dragged along by an American political kite.

Mideast Divergence Remains

The Bermuda communique issued after the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks spoke of agreements on Middle Eastern policy. But there remains wide divergence on some aspects of it.

Britain still feels that the right course in the Suez dispute is to get tough with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt. It would be surprising if Macmillan did not feel that the United States let Britain down on that issue.

It is unlikely that President Eisenhower approves of Macmillan's determination to reduce the strength of British forces assigned to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as an economy measure.

Events in the next few months probably will show that though the Anglo-American alliance has been strengthened it has not been restored fully.

Pupil-Assignment Test Due In South

By ED ROGERS
United Press Staff Correspondent

The U.S. Supreme Court's refusal to review lower-court orders integrating two Virginia school systems may set up a first major test of one of the South's pupil-assignment plans.

The Virginia Legislature has empowered a three-man board to assign pupils to particular schools for non-racial reasons if courts deny them the right to segregate on racial grounds.

This plan, which U.S. District Judge Walter Hoffman of Norfolk called "unconstitutional on its face" is similar to those adopted by a number of Southern states.

Virginia's pupil-assignment law is the first phase of Gov. Thomas B. Stanley's "no integration anywhere' legislative program enacted last September.

Officials of the two school systems planned to confer Thursday night with State Atty. Gen. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. about the effect of the decision.

The Supreme Court order handed down Monday in effect left standing lower-court orders to integrate schools of Charlottesville and Arlington, Va., by certain deadlines, some of which have already passed.

Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People indicated the lower courts probably will set new dates, probably next fall, instead of ordering immediate integration.

Cushing, Okla., is the point of greatest concentration of oil pipe lines in the United States.

Many Still Need Inspection For Vehicles

AUSTIN, Mar. 27 — Only two-thirds of the total number of vehicle owners in Texas have received their 1957 vehicle inspection stickers, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety said today. He warned against the last minute rush at inspection stations at the close of the inspection period April 15.

"Of the more than four million vehicle owners in Texas only about 2,500,000 have had their cars, trucks and other vehicles inspected, leaving more than 1,000,000 to act within the remaining three weeks."

The state police director reminded motorists of the impending deadline with a note of concern.

He suggested that automobile owners visit a near-by inspection station now before inspection lines become long and they suffer an undue loss of time and effort.

In commenting generally on the inspection program Col. Garrison said the correction of mechanical defects in vehicles operated upon our state highways plays a substantial part in preventing traffic accidents.

The Roman province of Lusitania corresponded to modern Portugal, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Whatever You Do . . . Tip!

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UP) — Waiter Kyriacos Mitiadou was fined 10 pounds ($28) Monday after pleading guilty to charges of knocking down, kicking, jumping on and spitting at a diner who refused to give him a tip.

THAD SAYS . . .

Thad Hutcheson

"In 1952 and again in 1956, we Texans endorsed President Eisenhower and his policies by landslide majorities. His leadership, I believe, has been good for Texas and the entire country.

"The President's task has not been made easier by a Congress controlled by the opposition party. Legislation he has asked for has often been delayed or thrown out altogether. An unfriendly committee recently cut 26 million dollars from the drouth relief appropriation he asked for. My election would provide the President the friendly Senate he should have to hasten and complete his programs. Thad Hutcheson is the only candidate for the Senate who has been endorsed by the President. I urge you to send me to Washington to work with Mr. Eisenhower."

Reforms To Be Enacted—Daniel

AUSTIN (UP) — Gov. Price Daniel predicted Monday night a great number of legislative reforms will be enacted and that new evidence of skullduggery in high office will come to light.

The Governor made a speech in Houston for statewide broadcast in which he forecast convictions and punishment to follow investigations being made by legislative committees.

"The result is the disclosure of facts concerning former state officials and employes which will make honest people sick at heart. You will receive more shocks and disappointments as this clean-up progresses, but in the end, after thorough and honest investigations, you will be pleased to find that the great majority of your public servants are worthy of your confidence and your trust," he said.

Calls For Clean-Up

Daniel called upon the public to join him in a crusade "not only for a clean-up in government but for a clean-up campaign against those in every walk of life who willfully violate the laws of this state."

The goal, he said, was to make "honesty, integrity and respect for the law the cornerstone of our government..."

Daniel said the greatest encouragement he could offer was that the Legislature is "cleaning up rather than covering up official misconduct."

The Governor's talk was what he called the first of a series of periodic reports on the program of "progress and good government which I have advocated as your governor."

Predicts Reforms

Daniel predicted legislative enactment of "the greatest number of governmental reforms since the administration of Gov. James Stephen Hogg," and said the reforms would include:

—A "strict lobby registration law" to "weed out the few unscrupulous people who have tried to buy their way into the legislative halls."

—A "code of conduct for state officials, legislators and employes" to "prevent conflicts of interest whereby some in the past have attempted to represent both private interests and public interests at the same time."

Lobbying Law

—A law requiring registration of all persons practicing for pay before state agencies.

—Complete reorganization of the Texas Insurance Commission to "wipe the slate clean and select a new State Board of Insurance to operate as a unit and to employ a commissioner of insurance to coordinate the work..."

—Establishment of a state law enforcement commission to investigate "ways and means of preventing crime, improving law enforcement and exposing any future violations of the law by by state officials and employes."

—Establishment of a paid parole and probation system for "closer supervision of those who have been convicted of felony offenses and granted paroles or probation."

—Heavier penalties for narcotics law violators, including the maximum death penalty for those who are guilty of a second offense.

—Expansion of the Youth Development Council "or reorganization of the agency to devise better means of preventing juvenile delinquency..."

The governor said "at least 10 measures sponsored by the Texas Press Association, known as the good government bill, could be added to the list. He said they deal "with much needed improvement in the conduct of public business."

Oklahoma Bus Is Stranded Near Canadian

(Special to The News)

CANADIAN — A school bus from Crawford, Okla., returning the girls volleyball team from a tourney in Briscoe Saturday was stranded about one mile east of the "Y," located south of Canadian.

The girls and chaperons managed to get to a farm house owned by Elmer Keahey of Pampa. The house was boarded up, but the 20 occupants of the bus managed to break into the house and weathered out the storm.

One of the girls who had sugar diabetes was unconscious when insulin was finally taken to her. Her father had walked a mile and a half in the blizzard to get insulin to her, but it was the wrong kind.

The bus occupants were finally rescued about 4 p.m. Sunday and were taken to Canadian.

About .40 to .50 of an inch of moisture was received from the snow in Canadian. Schools were open today in Canadian.

Reports indicated that lots of cattle were lost in the blizzard. Oil field crews were stranded and had to stay at the rigs.

Several travelers were stranded and had to stay in Canadian until the roads were opened late yesterday.

Operations were still in progress today in opening roads throughout the area.

Capitol Hill News

WASHINGTON (UP) —Southern Democrats in the House vowed today to grasp the economy axe more firmly in their own hands.

Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va) of the House Rules Committee said the southern bloc is not satisfied with the budget cuts made so far this year.

He said that from now on the southerners will look for additional economies in appropriation bills after they emerge from committee.

The southerners planned to start this afternoon with the administration's labor and welfare appropriation bill.

The House Appropriations Committee already has cut the $2.9 billion bill $118 million—3.9 per cent.

But Smith said the bill still has "plenty of fat" in it. About 20 southerners met in his office Monday to frame amendments to cut it.

Other congressional news:

Rackets: The Senate Rackets Committee summoned Teamster President Dave Beck to a drama-packed hearing to surrender his personal financial records. The committee already has accused Beck of taking at least $270,000 in union money for his own use. Beck's scheduled appearance came amid new rumblings of Teamster rank-and-file revolt.

Housing: Key members of a House Banking subcommittee planned to draft a "veterans preference" plan as part of an omnibus housing bill. The plan would make it easier — and possibly cheaper — for veterans to buy FHA-insured housing. The House passed a bill making it easier for veterans in rural areas to get direct loans from the government. But the House refused to put federal funds into GI housing loans for big city veterans.

Loan: The Senate has passed and sent to the House legislation to permit Britain to postpone any seven annual payments on its U.S. debt between now and 2001. The bill resulted from a British request to postpone an interest payment due last year to help ease the strain caused by closing of the Suez Canal.

Labor: Senators prepared to introduce bills to eliminate the "twilight zone" between federal and state authority in labor disputes. However, an AFL-CIO spokesman said the "twilight zone" could be eliminated by the National Labor Relations Board.

Farm: Chairman Allen J. Ellender of the Senate Agriculture Committee warned the proposed corn acreage increase bill would "kill the soil bank." Ellender's committee approved the bill—favored by the administration—over Ellender's opposition.

Engineers To Invite Bids On New Runway

Tulsa District Army Engineers plan to invite bids on April 5 for construction of a new 13,500-foot runway and heavy-duty parking areas at the Amarillo Air Force Base, Amarillo.

The new runway will be 300 feet wide and will be 22 inches thick on a 6-inch filter base course. Approximately 950,000 sq. yds. of portland cement concrete will be required in the construction of the runway, taxiways and aprons.

Other work will include approximately 310,000 sq. yds. of asphaltic concrete overrun, blast pads, shoulder stabilization and runway reconstruction; approximately 52,000 sq. yds. of double - bituminous overrun surfacing; and grading, drainage, airfield marking, underground electrical duct and hydrant refueling piping.

The new runway NE-SW is located southwest from the present airfield and the estimated cost is expected to exceed $10 million.

THE BIG THRILL — Symbolic of a new life for young "Guilio" is Old Glory, fluttering from its staff on the SS Independence, as it steams up New York Bay. The boy, last name unknown, was one of 20 Italian orphans arriving in the United States for adoption.

J. H. SAUNDERS for MAYOR

J. H. Saunders has belonged to the Christian Church for forty eight years.

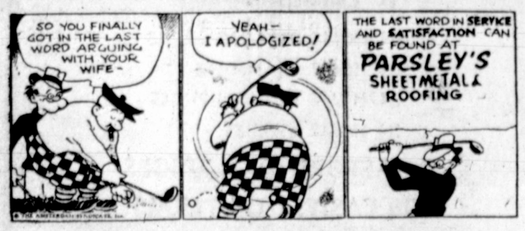

At the age of 20, J. H. Saunders was manager of a large wholesale and retal mercantile store for two years. He then returned to Pampa and went into the Real Estate business for a number of years. Then he moved to Dallas, Texas, where as a union carpenter, he helped erect the largest all-steel and concrete building ever built in Dallas. He then joined the Texas Rangers for some time. Returning to Dallas he was manager of twenty-three chain grocery stores for five years. He then went back into the real estate business and while in the real estate business he appraised property for the Rio Grande Insurance Company. Then when the Central Boulevard was put through Dallas Mr. Saunders was appointed as an expert appraiser to appraise property taken by the City of Dallas for this right-of-way. J. H. Saunders knows law enforcement, knows about concrete construction work, knows the value of both residence and business property.

A vote for J. H. Saunders means money for the voters and for the City of Pampa.

Your support will be appreciated.

POWER...to haul up to 33% more!

DODGE PowerGiants

Most Power of the Low-Priced 3!

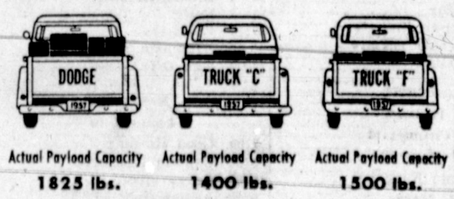

Everybody agrees . . . the main reason for buying a truck is to haul a payload. That being the case, doesn't it make sense to get the truck that's powered and built to carry the most in its weight class? Of course it does! That's why so many truck owners are switching to Dodge.

Dodge gives you the most powerful V-8's of the low-priced three, ranging from 204-hp. pick-ups to 232-hp. tandems. And Dodge trucks are built especially tough to handle bigger loads. For instance, Dodge pick-ups can haul up to one-third more than other competitive makes.

Dodge makes hauling these bigger loads easier, too. Shorter turning radius lets you needle in and out of tough traffic spots in a jiffy. Power steering is available on most models, and the extra convenience of a push-button transmission* can be yours only with Dodge.

Think it over. After all, it's just plain good business to get the most for your money . . . and your dealer can prove the most truck for your money is Dodge.

*Available in all low-tonnage and Forward-Control models.

Actual Payload Capacity 1825 lbs. | Actual Payload Capacity 1400 lbs. | Actual Payload Capacity 1500 lbs.

Facts prove the Dodge D100 pick-up beats both competitive low-priced models in payload. Model compared is a Dodge 6, 100 pick-up, 7½-foot body. In larger pick-ups the Dodge lead is even greater.
