The SDN Column

We're going to have a couple of elections here within a week, although one appears to be merely a formality. The seat in the Texas Senate vacated recently by David Ratliff must be filled, despite the fact that district passes out of existence at the end of the year. Bill Tippen, an Abilene lawyer and former member of the Texas House of Representatives, is the only candidate for the post, which will be filled in a special election called for June 6. This is the Tuesday following the second primary election.

The State Senator for the district likely will go to Austin for only one special session. It is known definitely that a special session of the legislature must be held to take action on a state budgett for the coming year. The last regular legislative session produced only a one-year budget.

There has been some speculation that two special sessions might be needed this summer, but now it appears more likely that only one will be held.

The second primary, or runoff, should attract another good turnout at the polls, although some counties which do not have runoffs in local races may not have the participation they attained in the first primary on May 6.

Voters are being warned that they must vote in the same party primary in the runoff that they did on May 6.

Anyone who voted in the Republican Primary on May 6 and switches to the Democratic Primary on June 3, or vice versa, will be in violation of Article 240 of the Texas Election Code, Secretary of State Bob Bullock has warned. Such violators could be fined from $100 to $500.

The Rev. Jim Appleby, pastor of Avenue D. Baptist Church, was telling an unusual dog story the other day. He said that W. A. Hancock, a senior deacon in the Sardis Baptist Church in Fisher Connty, was hospitalized for several days, and his dog missed him very much. At the same time, there was a revival meeting going on at the Sardis Church, and every time a congregation assembled for a service, Hancoock's dog appeared at the church.

"Rev. Tom Robertson called this to my attention,"said Rev. Appleby, "and we agreed that it was a testimony worth having that man's best friend would look for his master first at Church. That dog knew that when there was something going on at his church, Mr. Hancock would be there. It might be interesting to follow some folks'dogs to see where they go look for them," Rev. Appleby concluded.—

Dallas Holdup Man Surrenders To Police

By JOHN HOTARD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — A man who held a young woman hostage for hours at pistol point surrendered the weapon shortly before 9 a.m. today in the Dallas Police Headquarters, a police spokesman said.

The man, demanding that a jet plane be put at his disposal, agreed about an hour earlier to go to downtown headquarters from Love Field and negotiate with Police Chief Frank Dyson.

It appeared he still had some control of the situation in headquarters until he gave the pistol to Assistant Police Chief Paul Townsend.

A Police spokesman identified the man as Virgil Lee Fuqua of Dallas.

The woman who was held hostage is Mrs. James Roberts, 20, of Waco.

The abduction began early Thursday when a man held up the grocery store being operated by her husband.

The man forced Mrs. Roberts to drive him to a Fort Worth air field to try to get a plane, and when none was available the pair drove to Dallas, the man demanding that a jet plane be ready and fueled for him.

In Dallas, the man demanded another weapon and handcuffs for Mrs. Roberts.

Meanwhile, Chief Townsend negotiated with the man and persuaded him to leave the Volkswagen with his hostage and enter an unmarked police car to drive downtown to talk with Police Chief Frank Dyson.

A route to headquarters was cleared and all persons except Dyson were removed from the third floor of the police station while neogitations went on. All doors were heavily guarded.

Dyson said the man still had his gun while they talked but the man made no threats and was very quiet and composed except that he became "excited about having to face up to jail."

The chief said the gunman did not appear to be on drugs or any other stimulant.

Negotiations in Dallas lasted about five hours, including the talks in Dyson's office.

Thadd Johnson, father of Mrs. Roberts, said Fuqua had a minor gunshot wound in one hand. Johnson said his daughter grabbed the pistol at one point, and the man suffered the wound in wrestling it from her.

Johnson, a former Waco law enforcement officer, arrived at Love Field about 4:30 a.m. He operates an industrial security company and trailed his daughter and her captor to Dallas, using police radio frequencies.

Jimmy Roberts was bound with wire during the robbery in Waco, said Waco Police Sgt. A. P. Vahalik, but managed to free himself. An undetermined amount of money was taken.

Holiday Set Here Monday

Monday will be a general holiday in Snyder, area residents were reminded today.

Government offices, including city, county, state and federal agencies, will observe the Memorial Day holiday, and it also is one of the general holidays approved by a majority of retail merchants.

A survey made this week by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce revealed that most merchants plan to be closed for the holiday, although the decision is left strictly to the individual firms.

Banks and offices of utilities firms will be closed for the holiday, which in their case, along with the government offices, makes Friday the last business day until Tuesday, May 30.

Snyder Public Schools will be in session Monday, however. They are required to log 180 teaching days, which means that school must continue through Saturday, June 3, even without the holiday.

Pioneer 10 Is Beyond Mars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pioneer 10, the cereal-bowl-shaped spacecraft bound for Jupiter, opens a new era today in man's exploration of space. It passes beyond the orbit of Mars to become the first spacecraft to push into the trackless reaches of the outer solar system.

Ahead lies a months-long passage through the hazardous asteroid belt, a region of space debris where an object weighing only a millionth of an ounce could wreck the $50 million spacecraft. In December 1973, it is to reach massive, puzzling Jupiter where titanic radiation storms in the planet's atmosphere might tear the space probe apart as it sweeps by taking measurements with a battery of instruments.

"It's a big, important step—this first push beyond Mars," said Charles F. Hall, Pioneer 10 project manager at Ames Research Center in Mountain View, Calif.

"But it's just one more step down a path that we hope eventually will take us to all the planets."

Coincidentally, Pioneer 10's milestone came one day after President Nixon and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin signed in Moscow a treaty for cooperative ventures in space. One will put U.S. and Soviet astronauts into earth orbit together by 1975.

Since its launch from Cape Kennedy, Fla., March 2, Pioneer 10 has been streaking away from earth at about 75,000 miles per hour—the fastest a man-made object ever has flown.

It remains perfectly on course, Ames controllers report, and only a few minor problems, such as trouble with a star-sighting device that keeps the spacecraft oriented properly, have bothered engineers.

After passing Jupiter, Pioneer will be hurled onward by the planet's powerful gravity, making it, several years from now, the first man-made object to leave the solar system.

Centuries later, it will wander among the stars of the Milky Way. Attached to Pioneer 10 is a gold-etched plague with a drawing of a man and woman and scientific symbols which scientists hope might tell beings in other worlds where the object came from and when.

PUSH TOWARD ARMS CURB

Summit Yields Fifth Accord

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon and Russian leaders, pushing toward the heralded arms curb climax of their Moscow summit talks, gave formal approval today to the fifth American-Soviet accord signed in three days.

The latest agreement is designed to insure against dangerous confrontations between American and Soviet warships that frequently shadow each other on the high seas.

Signing the document were John Warner, U.S. secretary of the Navy and Adm. Sergei Gorshkov, commander in chief of the Russian navy and deputy defense minister.

Nixon and top Soviet leaders had wrapped up another round of summit talks about an hour before the 5 p.m. signing. They have been conferring quietly about long-range European and Asian issues dividing their countries, as well as about such topics as limitations on strategic arms.

Known as the Washington-Moscow Naval Agreement on Prevention of Incidents On and Over the High Seas, the accord does not affect merchant ships or fishing vessels but only ships and aircraft of the two countries' armed forces.

Under its provisions, military commanders must make increased use of signals, refrain from making simulated attacks and use greater caution and prudence in approaching military units of the other country.

The fact that agreements carefully prepared for "finalization" during the President's visit were but a fraction of the summit picture was underlined by Nixon's surprise journey Wednesday evening to a country dacha for dinner and conversation with Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev and others. The session began about 7 p.m. and continued for five hours.

Nixon and the Soviet leaders resumed their talks about 11 a.m. today. White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen the discussion Wednesday night centered on international matters, and he indicated Vietnam was among the topics. He reported that Nixon and the top Soviet leaders talked first while cruising on a lake near the dacha and did not sit down to dinner until about 11 p.m.

In keeping with the timetable for what Nixon has termed the most carefully planned summit ever held, the fifth in a series of U.S.-Soviet accords was ready for announcement today.

This deals with rules to prevent accidental confrontations between American and Soviet warships on the high seas. The subject, like the other past and prospective summit agreements, was carefully talked out by lower-ranking officials from both countries before Nixon arrived Monday.

On Friday, if all goes well, a two-part agreement limiting the deployment of strategic offensive and defensive nuclear weapons will be signed.

Economic Indicators Favorable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's leading economic indicators pointed today toward a sharply expanding economy in the months ahead.

The Commerce Department said its composite index of leading indicators increased 1.4 per cent in April and, on top of that, the March advance was revised upward to 1.9 per cent.

The March revision was the sharpest increase in the indicators in a year and the April gain of 1.4 per cent was also regarded as strong advance.

Although the index of leading indicators is not regarded as a precise measure of the economy, it is supposed to shed light on the general way in which the economy is headed.

Based on the two-month increases, the trend is toward acceleration. The Nixon administration has said it now must watch the economy closely to make sure that it doesn't expand too fast and touch off a new round of inflation.

Of the eight economic indicators available for April, only one showed an adverse situation. The indicator for the ratio of price and labor costs declined slightly.

All the others which make up the index, the average workweek, initial claims for unemployment insurance, new orders for durable goods, contracts and orders for plant and equipment, building permits and industrial materials prices, showed increases.

The index climbed to 140.2 per cent of the 1967 base. It has increased in 17 out of the last 18 months.

Cost Of Market Basket Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The retail cost of a "market basket" list of food dropped $9 last month, with middlemen absorbing $6 of the reduction and farmers $3, the Agriculture Department announced today.

On an annual basis, the market basket—theoretically enough food for a typical family—cost $1,283 or 0.7 per cent less than in March.

However, at an annual rate of $1,283 the market basket in April cost consumers 0.7 per cent more than last January and 3.7 per cent more than in April last year.

Last Friday the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced grocery prices in April dropped 0.2 per cent from March. The market basket indicator, however, measured prices for the entire month while the BLS based its report only on the first week.

Officials noted the market basket is restricted to prices of food produced on U.S. farms and does not include imported items and seafood. However, the report said, meat prices continued to decline throughout April, which decline was not figured into the BLS analysis.

The April decline was the second in a row for the market basket after it soared to a record annual rate in February of $1,297. The drop in March was $5 with farmers absorbing all the decrease.

The farmer's share of the April market basket was $498 and the middleman's $785 for transporting, processing and selling the food items. Compared with a year earlier, the farmer got 5.6 per cent more and the middleman 2.5 per cent more.

The Agriculture Department, in other reports, has predicted grocery prices will rise about 4 per cent for all of 1972, compared with 2.4 per cent last year.

Prices of raw agricultural products are not controlled under Phase 2 economic policies, but the Nixon administration has put pressure on middlemen, particularly retail food chains, to go easy on widening price spreads.

Some rollbacks, in fact, have been ordered by the Price Commission.

Five Killed In Plant Blasts

KILN, Miss. (AP) — Five women have been killed in a series of explosions at an ammunition manufacturing plant which one survivor described as a "nightmare Fourth of July."

Company officials said they did not know what touched off the first blast Wednesday at the Ingram Industries facility in sparse piney woods near this southwestern Mississippi village.

The plant employs 145 persons, mostly women.

Star shell flares and tracer bullets produced by the company were set off and sailed through the sky in a spectacular but dangerous display.

They set fires in the grass and pine trees on the 20-acre plant site, touching off more explosions as slowly spreading flames reached sheds and bunkers where explosives were stored.

Even firemen were ordered out of the area when flames menaced a 60-pound drum of lead styphnate, described by company officials as more dangerous than nitroglycerin.

Firemen, civil defense officials, highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and city police from Gulfport and Biloxi waited all afternoon and into the night for the big blast of the threatened drum.

But the only sound was the crackle of bullets in the distance, popping off in the heat, and the occasional "whoomp" of an exploding phosphorus flare.

John Hogue of New Orleans, Ingram's plant safety supervisor, said the first explosion occurred in a small building where five women were mixing chemicals to go into star flares.

He said all five were killed.

Mildred Carroll, 43, of Kiln said she was in a nearby building at the time.

"First I heard the explosion and it blew all the flares in the air," she said. "Some were blown into other areas, where black powder and phosphorus are stored. Then I saw a big ball of black smoke, then a big mushroom shaped cloud of white smoke went up, then all the star flares went up."

Hogue said the plant had "an elaborate safety system we had to live by. There were federal inspectors around frequently."

He said there was no immediate estimate of damage.

Husband makes her afraid to get sick

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband has many fine qualities, but he has one serious hangup. He absolutely refuses to let me go to a male doctor!

For some reason, he believes that male doctors are in the profession to get their kicks from viewing the anatomies of their female patients.

When I became pregnant, my husband insisted that I go to a woman doctor. There was only one, and she wasn't a specialist in obstetrics or gynecology. She was a general practitioner. And she was in a town 75 miles from where we lived. I went to her, but complications set in after I went into labor, and she called in an obstetrician [a man] and when my husband got the news he nearly left me. The fact that this obstetrician saved my life and my baby's life didn't matter to my husband.

Don't tell me my husband needs to see a psychiatrist. He'd never go. He thinks they are all quacks.

What do I do if I need a specialist again?

AFRAID TO GET SICK

DEAR AFRAID: Get the best professional care available, and if it happens to be a man, and your husband leaves you because you had a male doctor, you haven't lost much.

DEAR ABBY: Now that women have demanded equal rights, particularly in the area of employment, I wonder how many females will apply for jobs as ditch diggers, plumbers, coal miners, garbage collectors and slaughterhouse butchers?

I am aware that not all women in the world are pushing for equality, but those who are have made so much noise about it that I can no longer give up my seat on a bus to a lady. And I will never stand back and let a lady go first, unless, of course, she wants to jump out of a window, or off a bridge.

Sincerely Yours,
JOHN IN OREGON

DEAR JOHN: After you, sir!

DEAR ABBY: We had a family party and invited my daughter's widowed mother in law, Anna, and we told her to bring Henry [her boyfriend]. Well, Henry was so rude and obnoxious, we were embarrassed before our friends.

Our problem is that our daughter is being married, and we want to invite Anna to the wedding, but we sure don't want her to bring Henry. Would it be proper to invite Anna and tell her not to bring Henry because he might spoil it for all the other guests?

How can this be done without hurting anyone's feelings? When I say Henry is obnoxious, I am not exaggerating. Even my husband, who doesn't get upset often, said Henry really got to him.

Can you help us? TOUGH DECISION

DEAR TOUGH: There is no way to tell a woman that her gentleman friend is "obnoxious" and therefore not welcome to accompany her without hurting her feelings. I say, invite Anna and let her bring Henry. I doubt that Henry would "spoil" the wedding for all the other guests.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. J. S. AT STANFORD: The late W. Beran Wolfe, an American psychiatrist, put it this way: "Freud found sex an outcast in the outhouse, and left it in the living room, an honored guest."

Actor Arrested

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Character actor Michael A. De Anda has been booked for investigation of possessing heroin for sale, authorities say.

De Anda was arrested Wednesday after narcotic agents found 5.6 pounds of uncut heroin in the actor's home, a spokesman for the California Bureau of Narcotic Enforcement said.

Tailgating Radar Is Tested

NEW YORK (AP) — An experimental automobile radar system designed to prevent rear-end or "tailgating" collisions was announced today by RCA.

The radar, mounted on the front of a car, tracks the car ahead on the highway or in heavy traffic, recording distance apart and speed.

When the separation between the cars is too small for the speed, radar flashes a light and sounds a warning buzzer for the driver.

Eventually, said engineers at RCA Laboratories, Princeton, N.J., the system's data processing circuits could be designed to feed signals to equipment that would automatically control the throttle and brakes.

The system therefore has the potential, RCA said, of preventing cars from running off highways into dangerous objects such as bridges.

RCA said the radar requires further testing but expects it could be mass-produced within five years at a cost to the consumer of $50 to $100 per car.

If the system were adopted for use, the company said, legislation would be required mandating a special reflector mounted on every vehicle where the rear license plate is now. The reflector could be produced for under $10, RCA said.

RCA said nearly 25 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents in the United States are rear-end collisions. In 1970, the company said, there were 3.8 million rear-end collisions, 2,100 of them fatal accidents.

N. Vietnamese Shell Kontum

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnamese gunners slammed hundreds of rockets and artillery shells into Kontum today in the most intense attack on that city of their two-month offensive, following the infiltration of sappers into the town.

U.S. sources said the heavy shelling appeared to indicate that the North Vietnamese were about to launch a drive to seize their second provincial capital.

Similar heavy shelling attacks forced the South Vietnamese to abandon northernmost Quang Tri Province May 1. The provincial capital of An Loc on the southern front 60 miles north of Saigon, has been under siege for 49 days but has managed to hold, though it is virtually destroyed.

Six hundred to 800 rockets and shells from captured U.S. made 105mm howitzers hit Kontum between dawn and dusk.

Early in the day, North Vietnamese sappers backed by tanks attacked the city from the south. South Vietnamese military spokesmen said that by dusk all of them had been killed, driven out or had withdrawn. But U.S. sources said that as night covered the city, some of the sappers were occupying former South Vietnamese bunkers near the airstrip.

The North Vietnamese also made new assaults on the northern front above Hue and on two sides of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city. Heavy fighting was also reported on the southern front in the Saigon area as the North Vietnamese offensive began its ninth week.

Long before the North Vietnamese launched their offensive on March 30, U.S. officials said Kontumn a major provincial capital in the highlands, would be one of the chief objectives. Quang Tri, the country's northernmost provincial capital, fell on May 1, and An Loc, another provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon, has been under siege for seven weeks.

Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported from Kontum that North Vietnamese tanks, artillery and mortars bombarded the city, starting a fire in a gasoline storage area in a military compound on the northern edge of the town.

Heavy shellfire landed in a storage area in another military compound about a mile south of the city. It appeared that a number of small secondary explosions were touched off, Paine reported.

South Vietnamese fighter-bombers were making low-level attacks against North Vietnamese positions less than a mile from the city's northern limits, and U.S. B52s bombed enemy concentrations less than two miles to the north.

Field reports said 80 North Vietnamese and 12 South Vietnamese troops were killed in fighting Wednesday north and west of Kontum.

Burt Lancaster Is Acquitted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Burt Lancaster has been acquitted on a charge of misdemeanor drunk driving.

A Municipal Court jury returned its unanimous verdict Wednesday after brief deliberations in the trial stemming from the actor's arrest last Aug. 6.

66 Perish In Fire

JAKARTA (AP) — Sixty-six persons were killed and 32 ships destroyed in a fire that swept through Jakarta's main harbor area Wednesday, police reported.

Two of the ships destroyed were owned by an American oil firm, the independent Indonesian-American Petroleum Co., but it was not known if any Americans were aboard.

Authorities ordered an investigation into the cause of the fire. There was speculation the final death toll might be higher.

Police said frogmen recovered the bodies of 55 victims, some of them trapped inside their burning ships.

Port officials declined to speculate on how the fire started but said they found a leak in a pipe from an oil terminal near the harbor.

"Workers had noted the leakage from the pipeline, but nothing was done about it until the tragedy," said one official.

The oil terminal was not damaged.

A police official said seconds after the fire broke out at dawn the sea suddenly became a blazing inferno with people and boats racing to get out of range. But they were caught by surprise and most of them were either burned alive, drowned or trapped in their sinking ships."

Fifty-seven persons were treated for injuries.

Losses from the fire were estimated at more than $1 million.

Louisiana To Oppose Ruling

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The attorney general of Louisiana has served notice the state will strongly oppose a ruling by a special federal master that placed the Texas-Louisiana borderline at the middle of the Sabine River.

Atty. Gen. William Guste vowed he would continue to "assert Louisiana's position that the boundary of the State of Louisiana is the western boundary of the Sabine River."

At stake in the case was the right to an estimated $1 billion in oil, gas and other enterprises.

Louisiana contended treaties guarantee it the entire river and riverbed, while Texas said other treaties provided for the border to be located in the middle of the river.

Panel Approves Shultz

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee approved without opposition today President Nixon's nomination of George P. Shultz to succeed John B. Connally as secretary of the Treasury.

The vote came after Shultz told the panel strong efforts must be made to control federal spending before any higher taxes are considered.

Shultz, now Nixon's top budget officer and former secretary of Labor.

Search Pushed For Terrorists

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — West German authorities pushed an intensive search today for terrorists who bombed the U.S. Army's European headquarters in Heidelberg, killing three Americans and wounding five others.

Investigators said that so far they had no clues. But the West German Interior Minister, Hans Genscher, said police were concentrating on an extremist group, known as the Baader-Meinhof Gang.

A group called the Red Army Faction, believed a part of the gang, claimed responsibility for the bombing on May 11 that killed an American lieutenant colonel at a U.S. Army Headquarters in Frankfurt and for recent bombings at police stations in Augsburg and Munich.

The Heidelberg bombing Wednesday night was the fifth terrorist attack in West Germany in the last two weeks and the second on a U.S. Army installation. It occurred despite security checks begun at all American bases after the Frankfurt blast.

Bombs also exploded early today at two American buildings in Paris—the consular section of the U.S. Embassy and the American Legion post. Police reported no injuries, but both explosions wrecked the lavatories in which they had been planted.

A group calling itself the Committee of Coordination issued a communique claiming responsibility for the Paris bombings as a protest against U.S. policies in the Vietnam war.

Two American airlines were warned today that bombs had been planted in their Paris offices. Police searched the Pan American and TWA offices but found no explosives.

Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany expressed shock and indignation at the Heidelberg bombing and said his government would do everything in its power to catch the terrorists.

Ten young Germans taken into custody by police were questioned Wednesday night but released after identity checks.

The bombs exploded in two cars parked about 150 yards apart in lots facing a data processing center, an officers' club and a film theater.

The first explosion blasted a hole seven feet high and five feet wide through the steel wall of the data processing center. A captain and two enlisted men were killed.

The second blast, about 15 seconds later, damaged more than a dozen cars and shattered windows in the officers' club and theater building about 100 yards away.

Rex Gribblen an American civilian employed by the Army; was in the club when the bombs went off.

"People started hitting the floor when they heard the blast and saw smoke coming up from the first explosion," said Gribble, of Oakland, Neb. "The reaction was, 'There it goes.' There was no question of what it was."

Five injured persons were treated for lacerations caused by flying glass.

BUDDY POPPY GIRL—Little Miss Dawn Marie Farmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Farmer, has been named Buddy Poppy Girl in Snyder by VFW Post 8231 and the Ladies Auxiliary. Dawn hands Mayor Bill Seale the first poppy as he signs the proclamation declaring Friday and Saturday Buddy Poppy Days in Snyder. Nell Fowler and Roy Hendricks, chairmen of poppy sales, said the poppies, made by disabled veterans will be sold throughout the city May 26-27. Proceeds of this worthy-fund raising compaign are used exclusively for the benefit of needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans, in the desire to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living." The Buddy Poppy Girl is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ginbey, who are both members of the VFW and Auxiliary.

Buddy Poppy Sales Mark 50th Year

Fifty years of nation-wide Buddy Poppy sales by Posts and Auxiliaries of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be marked in 1972.

Replicas of the Flanders Poppy, immortalized in Col. John McCrae's poem "In Flanders Fields," were sold by local veterans groups as a memorial flower as early as 1918, and the sale was organized on a national level in 1922. That year, the Veterans of Foreign Wars conducted a nation-wide sale of artificial poppies made by women and children in the war-devastated areas of France. The money paid by V.F.W. posts for the poppies served to alleviate the suffering of French widows and orphans.

The "profit," realized on the contributions from the public, went to establish local relief funds for needy veterans and to establish a service bureau to handle compensation claims of disabled veterans.

The first nationwide sale was so successful that a planned service bureau became a reality and was the forerunner of the present system of full-time service offices in every state and in Washington D.C.

Profits from the annual Buddy Poppy sales continue to provide a large percentage of the total operating costs of these offices. The facilities of V.F.W. Service Offices are available free of charge to all veterans, regardless of their affiliation with the V.F.W.

Since 1924, all Buddy Poppies sold by V.F.W. Posts and Auxiliaries are assembled by disabled veterans in Veterans hospitals and facilities throughout the United States.

The sale of Buddy Poppies is still conducted by volunteers. The public continues to support it, as evidenced by a total sale of 14,000,000 in 1971. Over two million dollars were raised to be devoted exclusively to the aid and assistance of needy and disabled veterans and their dependents, and the survivors of deceased veterans.

The 1972 sale in this area will be held on Friday and Saturday,

WOMEN

B&PW Club Has Garden Party

Mrs. Nellie Smith was hostess for the May meeting of Business and Professional Women's (B&PW) Club Tuesday evening. Assisting her in serving the picnic style supper were her sister, Mrs. Mildred Beid from Bakersfield, Calif., and her grandson. Guests included Mrs. Madge Derryberry, Bob Easterwood, Wade Davis, Maxie McNew, and Mary Starnes.

Mrs. Travis Rhoades, past District President, conducted the installation of new officers. They are: Mmes. Lester Victor, president, Faye McCollum, vice-president, Nellie Smith, secretary, Amon Weaver, treasurer, and Florence Leftwich, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Victor appointed committees for the 1972-73 club year: Yearbook and Program: Frances Brown, chairman, Allene Massingill and Mrs. Mal Andress; Membership: Mrs. Forrest Beavers, chairman, Mmes. Frank Nachlinger, Belle Shipp, and Sterling Williams; Finance: Mrs. Robert A. Clark, chairman, Faye McCollum and Gladys Spikes; News Service: Mrs. Ina Mae Fargason, chairman, and Mrs. Travis Rhoades; Telephone: Florence Leftwich and Nellie Smith. Mrs. Eima Rainwater was reelected representative to the Martha Ann Women's Club.

Frances Brown gave a review of Pearl S. Buck's work and Mrs. Wade Davis presented the program. She gave a talk about a trip she made with her family to the Church of Christ missionaries in Australia. She said many of the modern conveniences we take for granted here are lacking in Australia in some areas, for example: methods of washing, plumbing, disposals and use of electrical appliances in the kitchen. She also informed that Australians buy their newspapers daily rather than by subscription. She said stores lack the fine fabrics found in the States. She displayed several of her souveniers, including coins and the aborigine boomerang.

Mrs. Mal Andress will hostess a backyard picnic in August.

WITH STRONG ANTIBUSING PROVISION

Senate Okays Education Bill

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $21.5-billion education bill containing a strong antibusing provision has sailed through the Senate but faces tougher going in the House.

The bill cleared the Senate 63 to 15 Wednesday with most of the opposition coming from Northern liberals who objected to the antibusing rider.

In the House, such opponents will be joined by antibusing members who object because the rider doesn't go as far as a previously passed House version.

Overshadowed by the busing controversy are the sweeping provisions in the bill. The measure would continue a dozen higher-education programs for three more years; launch several new ones, including direct aid to colleges; authorize funds to help schools desegregate, and establish a national institute of education for research.

House supporters of the bill are hoping the many benefits it contains for students, their families and educational institutions will be enough to outweigh members' objections to the busing provision.

Recognizing the difficulties facing them, however, supporters persuaded Speaker Carl Albert Wednesday to postpone the vote on the bill for at least two weeks to give them time to drum up support.

The opponents also are expected to make use of the extra time, however, and an opening shot in their campaign was fired Wednesday by the Congressional Black Caucus. The 13 black House members denounced the busing provisions and said they will vote against the bill.

Center Sells For $9.1 Million

HOUSTON (AP) — A high bid of $9.1 million has been submitted for the Sharpstown Center which is being sold to satisfy creditors of the now-defunct Sharpstown State Bank.

The bid, submitted Tuesday by three New York businessmen, was the highest of 15 bids seeking to purchase the real estate, part of the collapsed financial empire of Houston businessman Frank W. Sharp.

Submitted the bid were Meshulam Riklis, Arthur M. Fischer and Paul Yapowicz.

Fay Wants Statement Corrected

HOUSTON (AP) — The co-chairman of Albert Fay's gubernatorial campaign says he has sent a telegram to Secretary of State Bob Bullock asking him to correct "your unbelieveable statement that Henry Grover's campaign expense report is legal on its face."

Thad Hutcheson of Houston said he told Bullock in the telegram dispatched late Wednesday night:

"It is obvious that Grover's report on its face violates Texas election code because it shows under oath that his campaign funds paid off $30,000 to Bank of the Southwest, $27,000 ... and $57,000 on obligations to one individual, $3,000 and $1,000 to River Oaks Bank for purposes described only as 'others.'"

Fay and Grover are locked in a runoff election in the Republican gubernatorial race.

Hutcheson said he also told Bullock in the telegram that none of the figures were mentioned as campaign loans or contributions.

"Even more important," Hutcheson said, "nowhere in his report did Grover show how he spent this more than $100,000 in alleged campaign expenditures which makes a mockery of our campaign expense reporting laws."

Hutcheson challenged Grover to file a sworn supplemental report by Friday that "these were in fact campaign loans, his reasons for previously not listing them, and detailing, as the law requires, how he spent this enormous amount of unreported money for legitimate campaign purposes."

Known as Dinosaur National Monument, the 330-square mile preserve along the Green and Yampa rivers in Colorado and Utah has been completely remapped by the U.S. Geological Survey.

Vida Blue Makes Brief Debut Against Angels

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Here comes Vida Blue. Oops—there goes Vida Blue.

Oakland's illustrious left-hander made his long-awaited debut Wednesday night, but he didn't make it very good.

Pitching one inning of relief in a brief warmup for his first start, Blue gave up two hits and two walks and took the defeat as the California Angels beat the A's 6-5.

"He had to be nervous," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams. "The first time out, he's got to have a lot of pressure on him."

Blue, a 24-game winner who claimed both the Most Valuable Player and Cy Young awards last season in the American League, was a stubborn holdout this year and didn't sign his contract until several weeks of the season had elapsed. He's slowly peaking toward his first start this weekend.

In the other American League games Wednesday night, the Chicago White Sox defeated the Texas Rangers 5-1; the Minnesota Twins nudged the Kansas City Royals 1-0 in 12 innings; the Baltimore Orioles trimmed the Boston Red Sox 4-1; the Detroit Tigers topped the Milwaukee Brewers 5-3 and the New York Yankees beat the Cleveland Indians 4-2.

Blue got the call against California while a sparse crowd of a little more than 3,000 at Oakland Coliseum applauded his entrance. The score was 4-4 when the stylish southpaw came in and threw four straight balls to Art Kusnyer.

Then he fired a wild pitch, allowing Kusnyer to take second, before walking Sandy Alomar. Ken Berry and Vada Pinson followed with run-scoring singles, both solid shots.

Those two runs proved to be the winning margin, giving Don Rose his first major league victory. The young California pitcher entered the record books with a night's work that included a two-run on the first pitch thrown to him in the big time. Only six others in the history of major league baseball have done it.

Rick Reichardt doubled home three runs to cap a five-run burst in the first inning that carried hot Chicago past Texas for its 12th victory in 13 games. Tom Bradley stopped the Rangers on four hits, including Dick Billings' ninth-inning home run.

Texas starter Bill Gogolewski was rached for five hits and all five runs in the White Sox' decisive rally.

Rod Carew's run-scoring single broke a scoreless tie in the 12th inning, lifting Minnesota over Kansas City. The single scored Danny Thompson, who had opened with a double off Dick Drago.

The rally gave the victory to Jim Kaat, who had pitched a five-hitter for 11 innings and worked out of tight squeezes in both the 10th and 11th. Wayne Granger pitched the final inning for the Twins to save Kaat's fifth victory in six games.

Andy Etchebarren's two-run single capped a four-run rally in the eighth inning as Baltimore erased a one-run deficit and came back to beat Boston.

The Oriole rally was aided by an error by Red Sox second baseman Doug Griffin that allowed Terry Crowley to score from third with the tying run. Then Brooks Robinson walked with the bases loaded, forcing in the go-ahead run before Etchebarren came through with his base hit off Lew Krausse.

Aurelio Rodriguez struck a two-out, bases-loaded single in the eighth inning, giving Detroit its victory over Milwaukee.

Jim Northrup triggered the rally with an infield hit and was sacrificed to second. After an intentional walk to Mickey Stanley, Ed Brinkman flied to right, but pinch-hitter Gates Brown walked to load the bases and set the table for Rodriguez.

Rich Hinton, making his first start of the season, gave up only five hits in seven innings and Thurman Munson drove in two runs as New York defeated Cleveland.

Hinton, a left-hander obtained from the Chicago White Sox last winter, left for a pinch-hitter and Sparky Lyle finished up, allowing an unearned run in the ninth. Munson capped a two-run rally in the sixth with an RBI single, then had another run-scoring base hit in the eighth as the Yanks came up with two more runs.

Frazier Defends Crown Tonight

By DAN EVEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Slugger Ron Stander and champion Joe Frazier clash here tonight in the first championship fight in Nebraska's 105-year history.

Frazier is rated a 10-1 favorite to retain his heavyweight title in the scheduled 15-round bout which is expected to draw a capacity crowd of 10,050 to Omaha's Civic Auditorium.

Frazier's fourth title defense also will be witnessed by a national television audience. TVS will carry the bout beginning at 10 p.m. EDT on a 150-station network.

"He is the stonest of all stone animals," said Stander, the unranked challenger from crossriver Council Bluffs, Iowa, "but I am going to be in there to the finish."

The form, however, forecasts the finish could come early for the 27-year-old "Bluffs Butcher."

Frazier will carry a 28-0 pro record into the bout and has put all but four of his victims away by knockouts.

Stander is 23-1-1, but has met only Manuel Ramos among the name fighters.

The challenger also has the reputation of being a "bleeder"—he has had 60 stiches in his pro career—although he has knocked out 15 opponents.

"Neither fighter is the type who is going to back off," said Dick Noland, Stander's manager. "But I think Ronnie is in good enough shape to stay in there the distance."

Frazier, 28, will be making his first outing since stopping Terry Daniels in four rounds Jan. 15 in New Orleans.

"Joe has trained just as hard for this fight as when he met Jerry Quarry, Bob Foster or Muhammad Ali," offered Frazier's manager, Yancey Durham.

The chief benefactor from the bout will be the Yancey Durham Jr., Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation.

Frazier is donating half of his share of the proceeds to the foundation. Manager Durham, whose four-year-old son has the disease, is giving all his share.

The sponsoring Cornhusker Boxing Club is giving $5,000 and Stander has promised a share of his cut of the purse.

Frazier is guaranteed $150,000 from television and 40 per cent of the live gate after taxes. Stander's share is 20 per cent of the gate and half of the foreign television money.

Nicklaus, Trevino Head Atlanta Field

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, returning to action after a virus infection, flamboyant Lee Trevino and south African Gary Player headed a strong field of 114 in today's opening round of the $130,000 Atlanta Golf Classic.

"Last week I was sick with a virus and I'd like to be in better shape," said Nicklaus, "but I'm all right now. I hope the layoff helped me. We'll just see if it did this week."

Nicklaus, the game's all-time leading money winner, is making this event at the hilly, 6883-yard, par 72 Atlanta Country Club course his last scheduled appearance until the United States Open at Pebble Beach, Calif., June 15-18. It's there that the Golden Bear will go for the second leg of an unprecedented pro Grand Slam of golf titles in the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters, which he won in April.

Nicklaus, who lost a sudden-death playoff to Gardner Dickinson in last year's Atlanta Classic, practiced Tuesday and played in Wednesday's pro-am event. "I wanted to play two days before the tournament, more to get my legs in shape than anything," he said.

The illness forced Nicklaus out of last week's Danny Thomas-Memphis Open, which Trevino won by four strokes.

Before playing at Memphis, Trevino had said he was coming to Atlanta to win one. "I'm not like Jack," Trevino said, "I want to win the tournament I'm playing in, no matter what it is."

Trevino and Player, who holds the best over-all scores in the five previous Atlanta tournaments, missed last year's playoff by one shot, tying for third place.

Dickinson was forced to withdraw because of a neck ailment, but the other four former champions are in the field—Bob Charles, Bob Lunn, Bert Yancey and Tommy Aaron.

Among the other leading contenders are Australia's Bruce Crampton, Jerry Heard, Frank Beard, Dave Hill, Bruce Devlin, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Bobby Mitchell.

Girls Softball Program Planned

The executive committee of the Snyder Area Miss Softball America program met Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Loren Sullivan.

Included among those present were Patrick D. Quinn, national director from Anaheim, Calif., and Mrs. James Upton, area commissioner for girls softball.

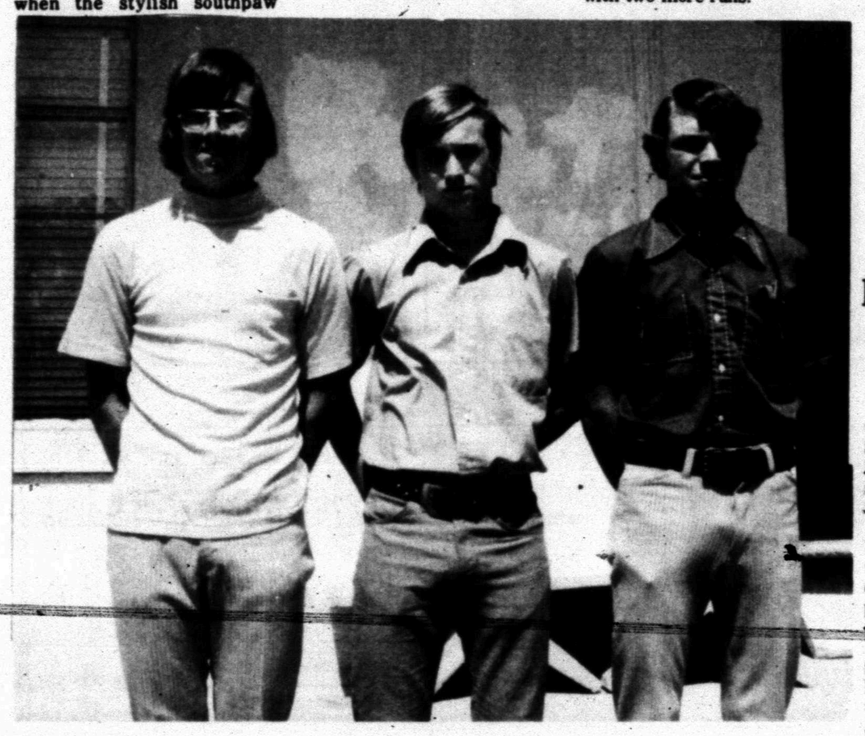

Registration was held from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. today at all Snyder schools. Any girl who lives outside the city limits also may sign up for the program if she can provide her own transportation.

Other registration periods will be held at 7:30 p.m. today and from 10 a.m. to 12 o'clock noon Saturday at Lamar Junior High.

Spokesmen for the program said sponsors, boosters, and volunteer workers in coaching, officiating and operating concession stands are needed. Anyone wishing to help with the program may call either Johnnie Bounds at 573-7189 or Terry Tyson at 573-6262.

Registration fee is $6, and registration forms must be signed by parents. Also, participants must furnish proof of their age.

Pimlico racetrack, home of the Preakness, is in its 102nd season.

NBA-ABA Stars Play Despite Threat Of Fine

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Eleven National Basketball Association stars, under threat of fines or suspensions by Commissioner Walter J. Kennedy are scheduled to meet their American Basketball Association rivals tonight in the second All-Star game between the leagues, at the Nassau Coliseum.

Kennedy said Wednesday that any NBA players in the nationally televisied game, begining at 7:30 p.m. EDT would be subject to fines, the minimum of which would be the amount they received for playing in the game.

Kennedy said the players were informed by registered mail sent by the owners of his intentions and said further penalties could be brought against the NBA players.

The commissioner said that he quoted in his letter Section 17 of the NBA rules, which forbids any player from playing in an exhibition game without permission of the league and club owner.

Larry Fleisher, attorney for the NBA Players Association, maintained that players from both leagues would be present for the game. He noted that the commissioner had attempted to halt last year's game which the NBA won 125-120, at the Houston Astrodome. There were no fines or suspensions following that game.

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph and team owners have endorsed the game, which will give some proceeds to charity and some to the players' pension fund.

The winning team is scheduled to receive $33,000, while the losers will split $17,000. It all 11 players on each team participate, it will mean $3,000 for the winners and $1,500 for losers.

Minnesota's recent 49-48 victory over Purdue gave the Golden Gophers their first Big Ten basketball crown csince 1937.

Bee Bee Bee Not In Belmont

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bee Bee Bee, who won the Preakness in an upset last Saturday, will not be entered in the Triple Crown Belmont Stakes, trainer Del Carroll said Wednesday.

"For one thing, he's a poor shipper. For another, I think he's had enough racing for the moment," Carroll said.

Carroll also said Bee Bee Bee will not run in the Jersey Derby May 29 but added that current plans call for him to run in the $50,000-added Richard Stakes at Delaware Park on June 18.

Jim Simons of Butler, Pa., who led the U.S. Open after three rounds last year, is a senior on the Wake Forest golf team.

WELL, BACK TO THE OLD DRAWING BOARD!

American Society Is Committed To Credit

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Further evidence of our society's commitment to credit is the announcement that savings and loan associations are now authorized to grant mortgages on $45,000 homes with only $4,500 down.

The increase, from a previous high of $36,000, was granted by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in response to the pressures from young couples who, unlike their parents, have no hangups about debt.

For confident young homemakers of today there is an entire lifetime to pay off debt, so why hurry.

While this attitude may be considered foolish by some, it does contain a considerable element of logic. But it also depends upon sustained earning power—otherwise there could be trouble.

This is the reasoning: I am young and have not had enough time to accumulate the large down payments that builders and lenders demand. But I have enough income to pay off large monthly installments.

If I make enough money to handle the installments, why should I be denied the opportunity to live in the house of my choice? When I am old I might have the money, but I won't have the need for the house.

All I ask is that you have faith in me. Consider me as a person who has a life expectancy of another 45 years, who will work 40 of them, and who will make a total lifetime income of at least $800,000.

You will see, therefore, that my loan request is actually modest in relation to my lifetime income. What I seek from you, the lender, is the chance to use this money now, when I have great needs, rather than in my old age, when all I can do is leave it to somebody else.

Once upon a time the lender was concerned about lending money for a term that exceeded the life expectancy of the borrower. Now he is less inclined to be concerned about age, more about property value.

In other words, while the loan is being made to a certain individual who might possibly pass away before paying off the loan, the property on which the loan was made remains on the same foundation—and probably has grown in value.

Whatever the reason, it means more credit. And no matter the fears, the repayment experience to date suggests that Americans are able to handle more credit than we once believed possible.

Houston Stock Show Has Tripled

HOUSTON (AP) — Retiring Houston Livestock Show president Buddy Bray says the show's size has tripled in the past seven years.

He will be succeeded by Tommie Vaughn, Houston automobile dealer.

Bray said at the show's annual meeting Tuesday that net income at this year's show was down 3 per cent because of higher expenses and a reduction in revenues. However, he termed it a success with a total attendance of 597,664.

He said the exposition plans to spend $1.2 million this year on an addition to the show building which it built at a cost of $7.3 million.

Bray said this addition will provide 22,000 square feet which will be used for office space and meeting rooms.

Junior Editors' Quiz on MIRRORS

QUESTION: How are mirrors made?

* * *

ANSWER: In the making of mirrors, a sheet of plate glass is ground and polished and cut to size. It is then flushed with distilled water, a base coat of tin chloride is applied and the glass is rinsed. Then it passes under a mechanical [illegible] drops a silver salt solution on the back surface. After the silver coating, the mirror goes to an electrolytic bath and a layer of copper is deposited over the silver film. Then a coat of lacquer and one of paint are applied over the copper for added protection.

At first, the coating on the backs of mirrors consisted of an amalgam of tin and mercury. The vapors from the mercury proved to be dangerous to the workers involved in the manufacture of mirrors. The silvering or backing of mirrors has improved over the years. There has also been a great progress in the polishing of glass used in the manufacture of mirrors. Mirrors are now used in interior decoration, in microscopes and telescopes.

Loneliness Causing Chief Ills

HOUSTON (AP) — Author Vance Packard says a breakdown in community living and an increase in loneliness are America's chief ills.

Packard said in a talk here he believes the great mobility of American society is the cause for social and psychological isolation that he sees among people today.

Packard said he believes his books have occasioned "dramatic changes for the better in the country."

He said, for example, that "The Hidden Persuaders" prefaced a "Crackdown on a flim-flam in advertising."

He said current concern with pollution and descreation of the landscape was forecast in "The Waste Makers."

He said corporations are more attentative than formerly to giving workers a greater sense of responsibility and achievement in their work, a theme which appeared in "The Pyramid Climbers."

On status-seeking, a phrase be popularized. Packard finds that status objects today are different. Whereas in the 1950s a big car was a prime symbol, Packard thinks having a child in a good college counts more today in the one-up department.

Among young people, he is amused to discover a kind of "inverse status-seeking by raggedness" in which children from affluent families effect the "customs of the poor."

These same young people, Packard said, have an "anti-achievement attitude" that rejects their parents' goal of economic success.

"These kids are clearly headed downwards," Packard said. "at a critical period in their lives they have missed out on taking steps necessary to prepare themselves for leadership roles."

He predicted America's future leaders will be the sons and daughters of blue-collar workers and farmers because they still have the goal of doing financially better in their lives than their parents did.

Wind Tunnel Experiments

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Wind tunnel experiments, normally associated with testing of aerodynamic designs, are being counted upon to help find ways of combating blowing sand.

The experiments are being conducted through Texas Tech's vegetable research program.

By means of a wind tunnel which can be set up in the field, researchers are finding out just how much injury plants can withstand from sand-laden wind.

"Hopefully, our experiments also will help us determine methods whereby vegetable growers can accurately assess the severity of wind and sand damage to their plants themselves," said Dr. John D. Downes, professor of agronomy and director of the program.

He explained that such methods are extremely important since inability to accurately measure plant damage can lead to replanting when it is not actually needed.

Additional experiments with a wind tunnel adapted for greenhouse testing are being carried out at Big Spring. Similar tests also are being conducted on cotton and grain sorghum.

Trapp To Head Meteorologists

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Glenn H. Trapp of Rochester, Minn., has been named meteorologist in charge of the Corpus Christi Office of the National Weather Service. He replaces Russell P. Mozeney, who has retired.

Trapp entered the Weather Service in 1958 following four years in the Air Force as observer and forecaster. Prior to becoming meteorologist in charge of the Rochester office, he served at Lansing and Detroit, Mich.

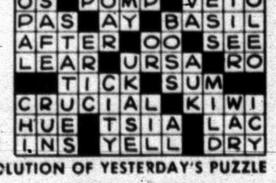

Tech, Qualitron Aero Sign Lease

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A five-year lease agreement has been signed by the Texas State Technical Institute and Qualitron Aero establishing a government aircraft repair and renovation facility on the James Connally Campus.

Operations will be set up in the large hangar formerly occupied by General Dynamics.

The nation's scheduled airlines will buy some $2.5 million worth of fuel, parts and services during 1972, says the Air Transport Association.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Heat Mounts In Runoff Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Wayne Connally hurried back to Austin today to rebut recent charges by his opponent, Bill Hobby, and injected a 4½ year old charge against Hobby into their bitter campaign for lieutenant governor.

Connally delayed a trip to Lubbock to tell a Capitol news conference Hobby still has pending against him in Houston a September 1967 charge of aggravated assault against minor.

An article in the Houston Post, of which Hobby is president and executive editor, said Hobby was released on $400 bond after Mrs. Marcia Tips filed a charge, alleging Hobby spanked her 11-year-old son after the boy had twisted the arm of Hobby's son.

The senator said he knew of the complaint before the May 6 primary but is just releasing it because Hobby brought up Wednesday the "red herring" of the Sharpstown stock scandal.

Hobby made public what he said were copies of two checks totaling $3,072.48 from National Bankers Life Insurance Co. to Connally. He also released what he claimed was a copy of a letter from Connally to then-president of NBL, John Osorio concerning a deer hunt at "the ranch."

Oserio was named in several indictments based on an alleged plot to raise artifically the price of NBL shares in the Texas stock scandal.

Hobby said Connally "should not be considered for election until he answers two vital questions: 1. How does he explain his involvement with John Osorio, National Bankers Life and the Frank Sharp banking bills? 2. Why did he knowingly violate the Texas election laws" by accepting campaign contributions from corporations?

"I see no difference in my selling hunting rights and Mrs. Hobby selling space in his newspaper to the Sharpstown interests," Connally said.

He said Osorio—a "casual acquaintance"—asked him about NBL employes and their friends hunting at Connally's West Texas ranch in September 1969, and a Dallas man later followed through on the trip for 10 men. "It was nothing but a pure and simply hunting arrangement," Connally said.

Connally said he was never contacted by Osorio or any "single human being" about the banking bills.

Connally said if corporations contributed to his campaign "they made a mistake ... and we'll probably give the money back although we were not at fault ourselves."

Meanwhile, in the governor's race, Rep. Frances Farenthold spent most of Wednesday in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where she made 15 stops for speeches.

Police Wake Van Cliburn

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Van Cliburn was awakened Wednesday morning by a Russian secret policeman who insisted on coming into his hotel room to look out the window, the pianist said.

The cop hunched in the fourth-floor window of the National Hotel to make sure nothing happened to President Nixon as he laid a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier across the way.

"Why did he have to do it so early?" Cliburn asked. Nixon was in the Alexandrovsky Gardens at the tomb well before 9 a.m. Cliburn has been asked "by a White House staff member" to play for the President at a dinner Nixon is having Friday night for Soviet officials at the residence of U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam.

"I'm waiting for some indication that they have approved of the program I submitted: Some Chopin, something by Debussy and a piece by Scriabin," Cliburn said.

He said the pieces he will play for Nixon are different from the program a Moscow audience heard in the Conservatory Tuesday night as Cliburn began his fifth concert tour of the Soviet Union.

Cliburn, who "greatly respects" the First Family, said he has known "her (Mrs. Nixon) longer than I've known the President. I met her on a shopping trip at Bloomingdales in New York in 1963.

"They both have what I would call catholic tastes in music," he said. "President Nixon enjoys classical music from the 19th century."

Cliburn will be the only American performing at the Nixon dinner Friday. Metropolitan Opera soprano Roberta Peters, who is also in Moscow on a concert tour, was asked to sing but said, "I've got an engagement at the Met Saturday night, and there won't be time. I am very sorry but there's no other way."

Australia's population at the end of 1971 was 12,881,100 the government statistician reported.

Miss Texas' Dad Is Charged

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — The father of Miss Texas, who competed in the Miss U.S.A. contest in Puerto Rico last week, has been charged by federal authorities with assaulting an airline steward.

Malta Douglas Peters Jr., 45, of Austin was arrested by a sky marshal on a commercial flight between Miami and San Juna. He is the father of Susan Lynette Peters, Miss Texas.

The FBI later took Peters before Federal Judge Hiram Cancio and Cancio charged him with assault on a flight steward, James Carr.

Authorities said that the arrest and the charge all took place Monday night. No details were given.

A federal court spokesman said Wednesday that Peters was released to his San Juan lawyer, Luis Limeres Grau, after $10,000 bail was posted.

Limeres Grau told the court that Peters was confined to the government psychiatric hospital, part of the Puerto Rico Medical Center.

Heroin Drive Launched

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Lack of support for police across the nation has left cities wide open for drug peddlers, says the regional head of a new federal program aimed at heroin traffic.

Police departments "just haven't been provided the money or manpower by the community for effective drug law enforcement," Cecil Emerson of Houston said here Wednesday.

As a result, he said, "the field was left open for the street level pusher to peddle his wares to anybody and everybody."

Emerson, a Dallasite recently named director of a five-state headquarters based in Houston, said the Nixon Administration established its drive against heroin traffic to correlate the activities of the many federal agencies dealing with drug problems at the local level.

Called DALE—Drug Abuse Law Enforcement—the program will operate in key U.S. cities with teams of federal, state and city agents.

In Texas, DALE will concentrate in Houston, Dallas, Austin and San Antonio.

Emerson told the local Junior Bar Association that San Antonio will present a big challenge to the DALE program.

"San Antonio is going to be a very, very crucial testing ground for DALE because of the city's nearness to the Mexican border and the concentration of narcotics here," he said.

DALE has been in operation in the San Antonio-Austin area since May 1.

8 Killed In Week's Combat

SAIGON (AP) — Eight Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week and seven were missing, the U.S. Command announced today. It said another nine Americans died of nonhostile causes, including air crashes not due to enemy action, and 22 were wounded.

The total of 24 dead or missing was 12 less than the week before, when 13 men were reported killed in action, 18 died of nonhostile causes, five were missing and 26 were wounded.

Casualties among both North and South Vietnamese continued to increase due to the North Vietnamese offensive.

The Saigon command reported 757 South Vietnamese troops killed last week, 2,351 wounded and 214 missing in action. This was an increase of seven killed and 32 wounded compared to the previous week, but the number of missing was 130 fewer.

The government claimed 4,028 enemy killed and 106 captured last week, compared to 3,613 killed and 56 captured the week before.

Total casualties for the war, according to the allied commands, are:

—American, 45,755 killed in action, 303,031 wounded, 1,590 missing or captured, 10,179 dead from nonhostile causes, and 140 missing not as a result of hostile action. Most of these are troops killed in air accidents in which the bodies have not been recovered or have not been identified.

—South Vietnamese, 143,484 killed in action; 365,718 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, 835,691 killed.

The U.S. Command's weekly summaries have reported a total of 431 American casualties between the start of the enemy offensive March 30 and last Saturday. This includes 76 killed in action, 73 missing in action, 56 dead of nonhostile causes, 15 missing due to nonhostile causes and 211 wounded.

South Vietnamese casualties during the same period have been 5,671 killed and 17,690 wounded, while the government claims 30,015 of the enemy killed.

Perez Jiminez Welcomed Home

CARACAS (AP) — Some 20,000 cheering supporters have greeted former dictator Marcos Perez Jiminez on his return to Venezuela from a self-imposed exile.

Perez Jiminez, overthrown in a military-backed coup in 1958, said on his return Wednesday that he plans to run for president in 1973. He said his present trip to Venezuela will last only five days.

After leaving the country in 1958, he was returned to Venezuela from the United States to face embezzlement charges.

Santone Agency On Probation

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A local anti-poverty agency has been placed on probation because of alleged political activity, it was reported today.

The San Antonio Express said directors of the Economic Opportunities Development Corp. took the action against one of its delegates agencies, the Southside Neighborhood Assistance Corp., in a closed session Tuesday night.

The charges are being probed by the Office of Economic Opportunity, the newspaper said.

It reported that employes of the agency are accused of such matters as participating in political activity during working hours; using supervisory positions to influence employes to take part in political activities during their off-duty hours; and offering employment in return for working on behalf of political candidates.

A secret report given to directors of the Opportunities Development Corp., the county's chief anti-poverty agency, mentions no candidate by name, the Express said. Executive director Gene Rodriguez Jr. said in the report that the matter "is not a result of recent charges made by political candidates," but has been undergoing investigation since early March.

Former congressional aide Albert Bustamante, a runoff candidate for county commissioner, had charged last week that employes of two poverty agencies—the Neighborhood Assistance group and the Mid-West Communities Development Corp.—were working while on duty for his opponent, incumbent Commissioner Albert Pena, and other candidates.

The Neighborhood Assistance group is on probation until the Justice Department and the U.S. Civil Service Commission have reviewed the investigative report being prepared by OEO officials, the Express said.

Edmundo Zaragoza, executive director of the Neighborhood Assistance group, said he has not received any official word on the probation. He also denied the political activity charges.

Officials of the Opportunities Development Corp. declined to comment on the matter because of a resolution adopted by the directors, instructing the staff not to discuss it.

Exploding Star Discovered

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Astronomers have discovered the brightest exploding star observed in 35 years and alerted observatories around the world to watch its fiery convulsions of death.

They hope the unique observations will unravel puzzles about the still poorly understood process through which a star burns up its nuclear fuel, collapses, explodes and then becomes one of the strange pulsars that emit regular bursts of radio energy.

"This may turn out in the next two years to be one of the most studied objects in astronomy," Charles Kowal, a member of the staff at the Hale Observatories of the California Institute of Technology, said Wednesday.

Kowal first observed the exploding star, called a supernova, May 13 in a photographic plate of a galaxy in the constellation Centaurus 60 billion billion miles from earth. It was so bright on the plate he thought an asteroid just a few million miles from earth might have been passing across the field of view of the Hale telescope atop Mt. Palomar.

"Whatever it was, it sure leaped out at me," he said in an interview.

Two nights later, the astronomers trained a larger Palomar telescope on the galaxy and confirmed that they were seeing an exploding star.

Exploding stars are observed several times a year. But until now, they've always been too distant to be valuable research tools.

A male deer rarely places his hind foot precisely in the print made by a forefoot.

The female deer always covers her prints exactly as though her tracks had been made by a two-legged animal.

TOP HOMEMAKER—Jana Rogers was named the outstanding homemaker in Snyder High School yesterday morning at the annual awards assembly program in the school auditorium. Here, she poses with her trophy.

DRAMA TECHNICIAN—Robert McCommon was recognized at the Snyder High awards assembly Wednesday for receiving a $500 scholarship as the state's top drama technician. It is the highest possible award for technical work in high school dramatics.

Curry Reveals Threat

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Tarrant County district-attorney-elect Tim Curry said Wednesday that he has had police protection for about 10 days after his life was threatened.

Curry said Texas Rangers and Fort Worth police were made aware of the threats, and members of the Tarrant County Crime Intelligence Unit have been assigned to protect him.

"We are guarding him 24 hours a day," Police Chief T.S. Walls said.

Sources said that a 36-year-old man arrested Monday was one suspect in the case. One authority said he believed the man was under "contract" to murder someone in Tarrant County.

The man was charged with possession of a pistol by an ex-convict. He also is charged with murder in Corpus Christi, and in 1966 was convicted on armed robbery charges in Rockwall County.

Drive Slated By HSU Exes

Snyder alumni and ex-students of Hardin-Simmons University have started a drive to provide scholarship funds for at least one deserving Snyder High School graduating senior who plans to attend Hardin-Simmons next school year.

An effort is being made to contact personally each ex-student living in Snyder. However, to avoid the possibility of being missed and to help facilitate the endeavor, H-SU alumni and exes may contact Roy Carter at Snyder High School, 573-5682, or Elmer Spears, 573-3682, for further information or to make known the amount of participation. Pledges are being sought on a semester basis.

Texas Is Dry, Hot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Although a few skimpy showers turned up during the night, it was generally dry and hot across Texas again today.

Skies were clear aside from partly cloudy conditions at a spot or two in the Texas Panhandle and West Central and South Texas. Fog hung low in early morning around such widely scattered points as Alice, Brownsville, Cotulla, McAllen, College Station, Houston and Palacios.

During a thunderstorm Wednesday evening a tornado spun across the countryside 10 miles northeast of Perryton in the north edge of the Texas Panhandle but caused no damage. There was shower activity from near Austin eastward into Louisiana and around Childress in the Panhandle.

Joint Space Mission To Test Rescue Techniques

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new U.S.-Soviet agreement signed in Moscow Wednesday by Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Nixon will provide mankind with the first capability of rescuing men in distress in space.

The rendezvous and docking in 1975 of a Soviet Soyuz spacecraft carrying two cosmonauts, and an American Apollo spacecraft with two or perhaps three astronauts, will test rescue techniques that would be called upon in any future space emergency, officials told newsmen here Wednesday.

Furthermore, the newly designated "international rendezvous and docking mission" will give the U.S. aerospace industry a $250-million shot in the arm—much of the money going to the major Apollo contractor, North American Rockwell Space Division, Downey, Calif.

Dr. James C. Fletcher, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said contractor employment for the new docking mission should rise from 200 currently, to a peak of about 4,400 by the end of 1974.

Fletcher said it will take two years to build and test the docking module—the separate 10-foot-long, five-foot-diameter compartment that will link the Soviet Soyuz to the Apollo command-and-service module.

The astronauts and cosmonauts will spend two-hour periods in the docking module to make the adjustment between the low-pressure, 5 pounds per square inch, pure oxygen of the Apollo craft and the almost natural mixed atmosphere of Soyuz at 15 pounds per square inch.

Fletcher said the Moscow agreement on the joint mission assures retention of the highly experienced Apollo team for work on the Space Shuttle and other future programs.

"It is our hope that this first mission is the precursor of future joint manned and unmanned efforts which will enable both nations to avoid duplication and reduce the costs of space exploration," Fletcher said.

The 1975 mission will join the two spacecraft in earth orbit for two days.

Plant Rejects Union Move

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — An attempt by the Teamsters Union to organize the Trailmobile Division's Pullman Inc. plant here has failed by 357-268 vote.

Employes at the truck-trailer manufacturing plant Wednesday rejected the union move by a vote of 357-268 despite the efforts of Teamsters' representatives from the Shreveport, La., Truck Drivers and Helpers Union No. 588.

The Longview plant has 650 production employes.

Wallace Pledges Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stricken Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has reassured Democrats that his delegates to the national convention will support the party's presidential nominee.

"Wallace has publicly committed his delegates to comply totally with the call of our convention," said Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien.

"That commitment included the provision that no delegate can take part and later support a candidate other than the Democratic nominee."

But he added that Wallace has not promised his own support for the Democratic nominee.

O'Brien's statement Wednesday came one day after he visited Wallace at Holy Cross Hospital, in Silver Spring, Md., where the governor is recuperating from gunshot wounds following an attempted assassination last week during a campaign rally in Laurel, Md.

Wallace's condition is showing marked improvement and speculation mounted that he would be transferred today to Montgomery, Ala.

O'Brien, speaking with reporters following a speech at the National Press Club, said only "good faith" would prevent Wallace from defecting and launching a third-party presidential movement if his bid for the Democratic nomination fails.

Wallace is expected to attend the Democratic National Convention at Miami Beach in July even though he probably will be bedridden for three to five more weeks.

"I feel pretty good for a man who got shot four or five times," he told reporters in his hospital room Wednesday. "It will take time to get over."

No Big Increase In Juvenile Crime Here

Although there has been a big increase nationally in juvenile crime during the past 10 years, there has only been a negligible increase locally, according to Bill Zimmerman, Scurry County Juvenile Officer. He spoke at a noon luncheon meeting of the Snyder Kiwanis Club, held yesterday at the Steak House.

Zimmerman said the modern court system goes back to the Napoleonic Code where people were judged according to their age. Anyone under seven was not held responsible for his actions and the ages of persons 7 through 25 were taken into consideration. Anyone over 25 was held accountable for his actions.

In 1907, Zimmerman said, the state passed its first juvenile laws which remained on the books until 1958 when the Texas Youth Council was organized.

"We are still operating under practically the same law as in 1907," Zimmerman said. In 1968, the state passed a law providing for the appearance of a child before a grand jury if he commits a crime for which the death penalty is called for. If an indictment is brought, he can be tried as an adult if he is 15 years of age. However, the death penalty cannot be involved, although he may receive a life sentence.

Zimmerman said youths over age 10 and under 17 are referred to his office when they commit juvenile crimes. The county judge is the juvenile judge for Scurry County.

The juvenile officer said 125 to 130 juvenile cases were handled 10 years ago. For the past seven or eight years, the number has been 75. Last year, there were 64 cases.

"This is real good considering we have over 3,000 juveniles in the county," Zimmerman pointed out.

Zimmerman praised law enforcement officials and school officials for their cooperation with the juvenile department.

He said that less than 5 per cent of juvenile crimes in Scurry County are committed by girls.

"There is a slight increase in crime in the spring and fall," he said, "and most delinquents come from broken homes."

Zimmerman said the State School for Boys at Gatesville has tripled in its capacity to handle juveniles in the past 14 years.

Roy Meador, a club director, urged Kiwanis to support the summer girls softball program.

The meeting was presided over by Doug Flynn, first vice-president, in the absence of Rev. Jack Riley, president.

Mike Simpson, a student at Western Texas College, was a guest.

Kremlin Office Americanized

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon's Kremlin office has been Americanized with such touches as two cans of his favorite pipe tobacco.

The tobacco, from Garfinkel's in Washington, is alongside his pipe and reading glasses on a small square table in front of the walnut desk.

A small group of newsmen who got a peek at the office and several other rooms in the President's seven-room suite found them functional but not especially cozy.

Along with the desk and table, the office has a sofa and modernistic chairs with nubby green upholstry, paneled walls and one glass-front bookcase.

There is a dictating machine which Nixon uses, a television set and a console radio.

A plain black telephone links the President to the impressive array of communications gear brought from Washington. By picking up the telephone he can be in instant contact with the White House via satellite.

The office is to the right of a sitting room with a three-seat sofa, four upholstered chairs and a fireplace.

To the left of the sitting room is a dining room in which the Nixons dined together Tuesday night on food prepared by White House cooks in the kitchen of the Grand Kremlin Palace.

The table seats 12 on straight-back chairs upholstered in green. As elsewhere in the suite, the rugs look Oriental but have square patterns in green and brown. On the white walls are pastoral scenes.

Just outside the presidential suite is a reception room used for meetings of presidential aides. Up a short flight of stairs are rooms where such White House staff members as Henry Kissinger and H. R. Haldeman are staying.
